South Africans Marching In Protest

Passive Demonstration At Baton Rouge

Negro Students Sit On Steps Of Capitol

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — An estimated 5,000 Negro college students, angry about summary arrests of Negroes lunch counter sitdowns, marched upon a Baton Rouge and state Capitol today.

Of the 5,000, about 3,000 converged at the skyscraper Capitol. They knelt on the long flight of limestone steps, singing and praying.

An Offer By Soviet

Would Junk San Timetable

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union offered to unhook the four-year timetable from its general disarmament plan in an apparent concession to the West today, but Western spokesmen said it did nothing to crack the arms dead-

Dusty, Cool Over State

Eighty cooler weather stuck in the state today in the wake of a cold front and a dust storm tipped up by 60 mile an hour near skies covered the state today and the Weather Bureau predicted a warmup Thursday.

Small craft warnings went down Texas and Louisiana coasts at break and wind warning flags were lowered on North Central Texas lakes.

The state forecasts called for fair weather in portions East, South Central, North Central and Southwest Texas. Lows tonight were expected to be in the 40s in Northwest Texas and around 50 in North Central Texas. Tuesday's duster reduced the visibility at Lubbock to less than a mile.

Beer Stolen

Four cases of beer were stolen from a Pampa beer truck some time last night, and police are searching for a tipsy burglar.

The truck, parked at 215 E. Tynge, was broken into through a side door. The burglary was discovered by Lt. D. L. Day at 2:37 a.m. today, after a routine check.

Attitude Of Demo Chairman Criticized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic senatorial campaign of today deplored Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler's repeated challenges to the South and said they were damaging the party.

"I sincerely hope that Butler's statements are not a calculated move to drive the South completely out of the Democratic Party," Sen. George Smathers (Fla.) told United Press International.

The chairman of the senatorial campaign committee, Smathers, is to try to get Democrats elected to the Senate. He is expected to be Florida's favorite.

DRAMATIC BILL — New Jersey Assemblywoman Mrs. Mildred Barry Hughes wears a pair of home-made spiked "knuckles," confiscated from a juvenile, which she used to dramatize a bill to the Legislature in Trenton. Her bill is designed to make such weapons illegal.

Mrs. Hughes said Roman gladiators used similar weapons and called the device a "cestus." It is simply a leather band studded with nails.

Hundreds In Nebraska, Iowa Flee Flood Path

Rampaging rivers swollen by heavy rains and melting snow drove thousands of persons from their homes in flood ravaged Nebraska and Iowa today.

Hail the size of golf balls, 60 mile an hour winds and tornadoes added to the misery in the flood belt.

The worst floods in a half century submerged whole communities in southeast Nebraska where the rampaging Platte River surged over hundreds of square miles.

More Taxes On Payroll Talked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chances were growing today that Congress might levy higher payroll taxes this year on persons covered by the Social Security program who earn more than $4800 a year.

This prospect stemmed from the fact that the House Ways & Means Committee was likely to recommend soon an election-year liberalization of Social Security benefits.

There is strong sentiment for holding the cost of the liberalization to a level that could be financed without an across-the-board boost in the Social Security tax rate. To do so, the committee would have to forego a general hike in monthly benefits.

However, the committee might wind up approving a package of various liberalizing features that would require some additional revenue.

If so, the committee was likely to decide to provide the extra money by raising from $4,800 to $6,000 the annual earnings base against which the 3 per cent tax is applied.

Should the tax be applied to the first $6,000 in earnings, it would mean a $36 a year tax increase for covered employees earning that much. Their employers would have to match the contribution. Self-employed persons earning $6,000 or more would be hit by a tax increase of $54.

Persons subject to the higher tax would qualify upon retirement for higher benefits than they are entitled to now. This is so because the benefits are geared by formula to contributions paid into the multi-billion-dollar Social Security trust fund.

The present 3 per cent tax rate for employees and employers is scheduled under existing law to jump to 3.5 per cent in 1963, 4 per cent in 1966 and 4.5 per cent in 1969.

Settlement May Be Reached Today In Strike Of Actors

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The first actors' strike in the history of the motion picture industry might end today, 23 days after its start.

A spokesman for the striking Screen Actors Guild (SAG) predicted:

"It is almost certain we... will reach a settlement at (today's) negotiating session."

Reports that a settlement between the 14,000-member SAG and the seven major motion picture studios had been reached Tuesday were denied Tuesday night in a joint statement by SAG and the Association of Motion Picture Producers (AMPP), the representative of the studios.

The SAG spokesman who predicted end of the strike said the tentative formula for a new contract included the following terms:

—Payment by the studios of 2 to 3 million dollars to the actors' pension fund.

—Payment of 8 per cent of the producers' net profit, minus 40 per cent of the gross for distribution rights, from sale to television of films produced after Feb. 1, 1960.

Actors originally had sought a share of profits from all post-1948 films sold to television.

The strike which started March 7 hit all actors — from stars to extras — and halted work on the eight motion pictures under production at the seven studios: United Artists, Paramount, Warner, Disney, Columbia, 20th Century-Fox and MGM.

KILLED IN CRASH

AUSTIN (UPI) — A light plane crashed in a fogbound field one mile south of Austin Sunday, killing a 30-year-old Austin man, the victim was William Ellis, the Cessna '198' plane's only occupant.

—Payment by the studios of 2 to 3 million dollars to the actors' pension fund.

'Hot Potato' Passed To Continue Vice Probe

AMARILLO (UPI) — Two developments Tuesday brought a promise of swift action in the investigation of Amarillo crime and vice that led to the resignation of Randall County Judge Roy Joe Stevens and the suspensions of three Potter County deputy sheriffs.

The Potter County grand jury proposed that a special "blue ribbon" grand jury continue the investigation started by the Texas House General Investigating Committee last week. In effect, the recommendation served to pass the hot potato of possible misconduct to another grand jury.

At the same time, a seven-man grievance committee of the Texas Bar Assn. met to decide what action to take against Stevens. The committee, headed by Bruce L. Miller of Hereford, released no statement concerning its plans. However, Davis Grant, chief counsel for the Texas Bar and a former assistant Texas attorney (See PROBE, Page 3)

Ike To Detail Nuclear Test Ban Formula

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower was expected to give further details today on the new Anglo-American formula for a nuclear test ban agreement with Russia.

The President planned to hold a news conference shortly after his return from Camp David, Md., where he and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan conferred for two days. Macmillan returns to London tonight.

The two leaders announced Tuesday they had agreed to offer Russia a short-term, voluntary moratorium on small underground nuclear tests if the Soviets would sign an air-tight treaty banning major blasts indefinitely.

They also stipulated that, as a condition to the unpooled moratorium on the underground tests, the Russians would have to join in a coordinated research program to determine how such explosions could be detected effectively.

Senate reaction to the Eisenhower-Macmillan agreement was favorable. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter hurried back to Washington from Camp David to report to Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

137 Here Cast Absentee Ballots

Gray County Clerk Charlie Thut said today 137 absentee ballots have been cast in Saturday's school board election. Thut said four additional ballots are in the mail.

Pampa voters will have a choice of three candidates to cast their ballot for in the race. They are Bob Andis, Dr. R. M. Hampton and Marvin Bowman.

The elected official will serve a three-year term on the board.

Negroes Warned Against Violence

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Negro demonstrators whose ranks swelled to 15,000 marched toward Parliament in Capetown today to protest a wave of pre-dawn arrests that accompanied a government declared state of emergency.

Armored cars blocked off the locked doors of the buildings as Prime Minister Henrik Verwoerd announced inside that the government would not hesitate to use "adequate force" if necessary to crush violent protests against South Africa's white supremacy policies. The Negroes retreated without violence.

More than 10 Negroes were killed in clashes with police during the nationwide "pass law" protest demonstration last week. Sporadic violence has flared since.

The state of emergency affecting all of South Africa except for minor rural and tribal districts was declared Tuesday but was disclosed by the government only today.

In a quick follow-up, police rounded up more than 100 leaders of African nationalist groups and white organizations opposed to the government and its racial policies.

News of the arrests circulated quickly. A crowd of Africans estimated at 10,000 formed in the black settlement of Langav and marched on Parliament House in Capetown to protest the arrests.

Police said the marchers were kept under complete control and eventually were halted a quarter of a mile from the South African House of Assembly.

The House of Assembly went into session at 2 p.m. and 15 minutes later Verwoerd announced that the demonstrators had increased to 15,000 but had been split into two groups and were returning to their settlements.

The proclamation empowers the government to rule virtually by decree with the right of arrest and detention of persons for periods of up to 30 days.

The announcement said the state of emergency was declared (See SOUTH, Page 3)

Strength In Pacific Army To Boost Okinawa Force

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army announced today that it will strengthen its Pacific forces by sending a battle group of 2,000 paratroopers and full equipment to Okinawa in June.

The Army will draw the battle group from its famed 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., and will assign it to the 25th Infantry Division which has headquarters in Hawaii. The division's other four battle groups will remain in Hawaii with the newly assigned unit as a forward, ever-ready element.

The move is intended to give Adm. Harry D. Felt, U.S. Pacific commander, the means for a "more flexible response" to any aggressive action in the western Pacific, the Army said.

Board Of Education Will Meet Today

Members of the Pampa Board of Education were to have met in executive session at 4 p.m. today.

According to Superintendent of Schools Knox Kinard, a statement to news media will be released following the meeting.

Killers Of Family Ordered Hanged

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (UPI) — An all-male jury found ex-convicts Richard Eugene Hickock and Perry Edward Smith guilty Tuesday of murdering four members of a prominent farm family and ordered them hanged by the neck until dead.

Smith, 31, and Hickock, 28, were convicted for the shotgun deaths of Herbert Clutter, 48, a prominent wheat grower and one-time Eisenhower appointee to the Federal Farm Credit Board, his wife, Bonnie, 45, and two of their three children, Kenyon, 15, and Nancy, 16.

The court appointed attorneys for the two killers said they would file a routine motion for a new trial. Such motions usually are denied.

Both convicts admitted they killed the Clutters to "wipe out witnesses" after they broke into the Clutter farm home in Holcomb, Kan., last Nov. 15 to commit robbery. Their loot amounted to $50 in cash, a portable radio and a pair of binoculars.

Foreign News

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

For nearly a year now events have been taking place in Iraq which combine to make good news for the West.

Maj. Gen. Abdel Karim Kassem, Iraq's premier and strongman, has been cracking down on the Communists.

This does not mean that Kassem is moving toward Western alignment. Rather, it appears to mean that he is moving away from his Soviet ties toward neutralism. And a neutral Iraq, with its oil and its port of Basra controlling the entrance to the Persian Gulf, is vastly to be preferred to one aligned with Russia.

The latest clear indication that Kassem is clipping Communist wings came in the announcement that the death sentence pronounced on former Premier Fadhil Al-Jamali has been reduced to 10 years of imprisonment.

Jamali's early execution had been one of the key planks in the Communist platform.

Kassem's growing disenchantment with his Communist allies first became apparent last July. On July 5, 1959, Kassem ordered that the Communist-dominated people's resistance movement place itself under army control. This was a semi-military group of about 35,000 members, most of whom were club-swinging youths who took over the streets of Baghdad and spread terror after dark.

But last July, Kassem finally cracked down.

In that same month, he shook up his cabinet, reducing the powers of Dr. Ibrahim Kubba, his pro-Communist minister of economics.

In February of this year, Kubba was dropped from the cabinet altogether.

Also in this year, while licensing other political parties in preparation for a return to parliamentary government, the Kassem regime refused a license to Iraq's main Communist Party. Instead, it licensed a splinter group referred to by the main party as a "disrupting gang."

Control of Iraq would provide international Communism with its most important mid-eastern plum, and fulfill the Soviet Union's historic wish for an outlet to the Indian Ocean.

Time still must tell whether Kassem can remove the Communist influence or whether he did indeed go too far.

Taxes Keep Jump Ahead Of Profits

By ELMER C. WALLER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Production of goods and services more than doubled in value in the period from 1946 to 1959 and taxes kept just a few jumps ahead.

Net national product amounted to $200 billion in 1946. By 1959 it had risen to $439 billion, an increase of 120 per cent.

In the same period, federal, state, and local taxes rose from $50 billion to $124 billion, an increase of 148 per cent.

The $124 billion tax take amounted to 28 per cent. Back in 1946 it was 25 per cent.

The tax foundation presents this thesis on taxes as a "thought to consider as you pop your federal (or state) income tax form into the mail."

If it's any consolation, the rise in population has kept the per capita average tax within better percentage bounds than the actual tax figures.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Wednesday, March 30th, the 90th day of the year, with 276 more to follow in 1960. The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Mercury, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in History:
In 1840, Beau Brummel, fashion plate of England, died broke and in rags in a French charity ward.
In 1833, Dutch painter Vincent Van Gogh was born.
In 1858, the first pencil with an eraser attached was patented.
In 1867, the U. S. agreed to buy Alaska from Russia for $7,200,000.
In 1909, the world's first double decker bridge, the Queensboro span, opened in New York City.

A thought for today: American poet, essayist and diplomat James Russell Lowell said: "It is by presence of mind in untried emergencies that the native metal of a man is tested."

"They would authorize $5 billion in first year expenditures—over and above budget estimates—more than enough to kill off the prospective fiscal 1961 federal budget surplus."
"In addition, they would add at least $6.8 billion in longer range spending."

PROBE

The Potter County grand jury that proposed the special grand jury was empaneled in 47th District Court. It suggested empanelling the blue ribbon jury in 108th District Court, explaining in its report that it has only five weeks left in its own term and the investigation would take more time than that.

But the suggestion immediately raised a legal question from Judge E. C. Nelson of the 108th Judicial District. He pointed out that the 108th, encompassing Potter County only, was created by the 10th Legislature in 1927 to handle civil cases only.

Also, he said, it might not be legal to have two grand juries in session at the same time. The 47th Judicial District takes in Potter, Randall and Armstrong counties.

Tom Bursey, foreman of the present grand jury, said it has requested a transcript of the legislative investigation, but said in his report that "the matter will require the undivided attention of a grand jury composed of members who have the time available."

Stevens, 37, resigned under fire from his post as Randall County Judge last Saturday, but he is still a practicing attorney in Potter County.

Witnesses at the committee hearing linked his name with gambling interests and said he had consorted with prostitutes and had been staging wild sex parties with teen-age girls.

The sheriff's deputies who will be suspended Friday are chief deputy Curtis Travis, criminal capt. Dick Bufkin and deputy Happy Nall. Sheriff Paul Gaither said they would remain on suspension until they are cleared of the charges against them, or proved guilty.

Two of them were accused by Mrs. Lester Davis of taking payoffs from her estranged husband, who used to operate a gambling palace in Amarillo. The third was accused of tipping Davis when raids were planned on his casino.

In another development Tuesday Tommy Thompson, editor of the Amarillo Globe-Times, revealed that a person who sounded like an elderly woman called him by telephone to warn that the Ku Klux Klan would run Stevens out of Amarillo.

"If people in Amarillo don't do something about Stevens, there are people in Borger who will," Thompson quoted the woman as saying. "She said her father and grandfather were Ku Klux Klan members and that a cross would be burned in Stevens' yard unless he left soon."

Thompson said he didn't take the threat seriously.

Church Duty In Combatting Youth Crime

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Dr. W. A. Criswell, pastor of the nation's largest Southern Baptist church, said Tuesday churches have a vast duty in the war against crime.

Dr. Criswell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas, spoke to some 10,000 persons at the denomination's first nation-wide Sunday School convention underway at Fort Worth.

The clergyman decried the rising youth crime rate.

He said, "Last year more than 800,000 boys and girls entered into careers of crime, including murder, burglary, larceny and sex offenses."

More than 20,000 Sunday School officials are expected to attend the three-day convention which ends Thursday.

In his keynote address, Dr. Criswell also warned Southern Baptists not to address their teaching ministry to the masses, but always to think in terms of winning one person at a time.

Earlier during the opening convention session, Dr. James L. Sullivan, executive secretary of the denomination's Sunday School board in Nashville, Tenn., noted that men tend to become like the one thing that they worship — "their own little God."

Outlining the purpose of the Baptist Sunday School program,

FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

DALLAS (UPI) — Joseph Kirk, 71, was found shot to death at his home in West Dallas Sunday and the death was ruled suicide.

Police said Kirk's son, Allen, found the body with a .22 caliber pistol across the man's chest. Kirk had been in ill health.

THIEF WORKS QUIETLY

DALLAS (UPI) — George Rayford keeps a "bugler" chasing a pistol on a chair by his bed at night. But Rayford said a burglar got in the house early Sunday and worked so quietly that he managed to steal the weapon without awakening Rayford.

Dr. Sullivan said that Bible study is designed "to help men to know Christ, so that they might know the mind, nature and will of God."

RULE SUICIDE

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — The deaths of two men shot to death in separate incidents Sunday to day were termed suicide. They were Manuel Avala Tamez, 44, and Plern Johnson, 42. Tamez was found sprawled in the back of his store. Johnson was found on the grounds of the Protestant Orphan Home.

(Continued From Page 1) in 80 of the 309 magisterial districts in South Africa, torn by racial violence. The districts comprise virtually all of South Africa with the exception of tribal and minor rural districts.

Indications were that some branches of the administration had not been advised.

A spokesman at the Justice Ministry, asked about the authority for the arrests, said only that South African law empowers authorities to act under emergency regulations four days before they formally take effect.

Supreme Court Justice Joseph Lodorf placed a priority phone call to Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's office in an effort to find out whether an emergency had been proclaimed.

Negroes Move West With Sitdowns

The sitdown movement by Negroes seeking to lower racial barriers in the South was centered Tuesday in Baton Rouge, La., where nine Negro college students were arrested for trying to get service at all-white lunch counters.

At the same time, Negro leaders in Nashville, Tenn., announced they would soon resume anti-segregation demonstrations.

The arrests of seven Southern University students at the Greyhound terminal and two others in Baton Rouge brought to 18 the number of Negroes arrested in the last two days in lunch counter sitdowns.

Almost half of the student body at Southern University, an all-Negro school, has agreed to delay further sitdown demonstrations until school officials reveal what disciplinary measures would be taken against offenders.

The students also decided to give up their junior and senior proms and use the money to finance future demonstrations.

In Nashville, Negroes disclosed plans to continue anti-segregation protests to prove that the Columbia Broadcasting System "had nothing to do with" wide-spread lunch counter protests in the Tennessee city last week.

4-H Auction Set April 23

Letters have been sent by county agents and the home demonstration agent to farmers in this area asking for consignments for the 4-H Club auction to be held in recreation park April 23 at 10 a.m.

According to Cecil Regier, assistant county agent, the sale should prove to be a large one. Some of the items consigned are two tractors, four used cars, five trucks, two plows, four bicycles, numerous washing machines, refrigerators and other household items.

April 7 is the deadline for listing items on the sale bill. Items consigned after that date will not be listed. The sale is sponsored by Gray County 4-H Clubs and according to Regier, they will sell anything, except livestock, for a 5 per cent commission.

Preventative Measures For Cancer As Way To Save Life

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Three scientific experts on cancer dangers in industrialized society agreed today that cancer prevention rather than treatment is the way to save lives.

They disagreed, however, on the means of prevention.

The experts — one in government, one in industry and one an academician — formed a panel at a seminar on cancer research sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

The government expert was Dr. William C. Hueper, chief of the environmental cancer section, National Cancer Institute of the U.S. Public Health Service. He said cancer danger potentially existed in the air we breathe, the food we eat and the water we drink.

Hueper urged a vigorous campaign to identify, publicize and ruthlessly root out every cancer hazard in the industrial environment in which we live. He accused segments of industry of obstructing such identification and publicizing.

The industry expert was Dr. R. E. Eckardt, director of the medical research division of Esso Research and Engineering Co., Linden, N.J. He minimized the extent of the danger and said a campaign such as that recommended by Hueper would be "hysterical."

Eckardt recommended removing from the environment "excessive amounts of those substances that are associated with an increased risk of cancer to the human beings." He said the substances themselves could not be removed.

The academician was Dr. Philippe Shubik, faculty member of the Chicago Medical School. He favored thorough scientific investigations with experimental checks and statistical counterchecks before proceeding. Shubik said it was logical to assume that "if an agent is found to cause cancer in an animal, it would probably give rise to the same disease in man."

PAMPA SCHOOL BOARD

By this time, no doubt, you have been in several discussions pertaining to the Pampa School Board Election. In my opinion this is good, for it is only by open discussion that a satisfactory answer can ever be reached on any problem.

A VOTE FOR ME WOULD BE A VOTE FOR THE FOLLOWING PRINCIPLES:

The school board acting as a legislative body within the law given our school system.

To employ a competent superintendent and see that he carries out the policies.

To keep a complete and up-to-date, written School Board policy available to all.

To prepare and publicize a well-rounded School Budget.

To adopt all salary schedules for teachers and school personnel.

To adopt textbooks with the assistance of the Superintendent and faculty.

To have a well-rounded health program, and to employ a sufficient number of school nurses.

To encourage our Exceptional Children's Program. To approve all curricula.

To have a complete, up-to-date library. To encourage public comment and to solicit public cooperation.

To play future building programs. That the board be responsible to the people for its actions.

To make an annual inventory of equipment and supplies. To have open meetings regularly scheduled and to encourage all news media to be present.

With an open mind I can approach any school problems that may arise, and reach a decision that is satisfactory to our tax payers.

A recent survey throughout the country shows that teenagers are physically not a very rugged lot compared to teenagers in other countries. Too much sitting in front of a TV set and too little exercise. This, in turn, gives rise not only to flabby muscle but to all these skin problems that teenagers complain and worry about. The teen-ager who wants a trim figure has to work for it. She must walk, not ride. She must have fresh air daily. She must watch her diet. She cannot, in short, afford to be lazy and careless. Clear skin and a good figure are helped immeasurably by (left) a daily glass of orange juice, which contains the all-important vitamin C. Ten minutes of spot exercise each day, without fail, will keep a teen-age figure trim. This exercise is designed to keep the waistline in line. Instead of riding every place she goes, this gal (right) is bright enough to walk. She knows that walking pays dividends in sparkling good looks.

Diet And Exercise Are Teen Beauty Insurance

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Beauty Editor

There's many a teen-age girl who spends her evenings flipping the pages of a magazine, with a box of chocolates at her elbow. She chews away at the candy while she sighs over the slim teenage models.

She'd be a wiser, and far more beautiful girl hereafter, if she'd realize that proper diet, exercise and a diligent beauty routine will make her attractive, while all the sighs in the world won't do a thing for her.

Teen-age models are disciplined people. They don't look lovely just by accident. Aside from their schoolwork that is part of every young girl's daily life, they must watch diet, exercise, care for their hair and complexion scrupulously — and work as well. Not many teenagers lounge in front of the television for them.

Vitamin C consumption is extremely important for both the dental health and complexion beauty of young people. Since citrus fruits are high in vitamin C, you'll satisfy your hunger and do much for your health and good looks if you eat citrus fruits and cut down on the sweets.

Take a hint from the teen-age models you envy, and watch your figure. When a bulge appears, start immediately to do spot exercise that will get rid of the bulge before it becomes too noticeable. There are many simple exercises that will remove that spare tire you may have developed from too much lounging and too many rich desserts.

Learn to take care of your own hair. Have it styled so that home care will be easy for you, and by all means keep it clean and shining.

Wash your face thoroughly several times a day, and never, never apply new make-up over old.

To bring a glow to your cheeks and a sparkle to your eyes, take a daily walk. It will help your figure, too. And it can be a pleasant way of developing beauty now that the fine spring weather is on the way.

Remember, no one can look beautiful without working at it. And youth alone isn't enough. You can't wish yourself into loveliness. And after you've developed the habit of eating properly, exercising, and caring for your hair and skin, the good habits you need will be formed.

When you come home from school, drink orange juice instead of soda, and try a "citrus snack" instead of many sweets between meals. Your complexion will improve, your beauty will gradually disappear, and instead of sighing over the beauty of a model, you'll find that you're kind of nice to look at yourself!

Floral wig hats are getting another big whirl this spring. You can have a head covered with pansies or daisies or rosebuds and green leaves.

DEAR ABBY...
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My son and daughter-in-law have three children, all under five years old. All of a sudden they decided to go on a trip. They asked me to keep their children and I was glad to do it. They left on a Friday and said they'd be home Monday morning. I didn't hear a word from them until the following Friday. I couldn't sleep nights for worrying about what could have happened to them.

They telephoned me on Friday (a week from the day they left) and told me they had been home since TUESDAY! I didn't mind taking care of their kiddies for the entire week, but don't you think they should have called me when they got home? They said it was none of my business when they got home. I think they took advantage of me. I'd like your opinion.

MIXED UP GRANDMA
DEAR GRANDMA: You THINK you took advantage of me? That's the understatement of the year! Their lack of consideration for you — let alone their own children — is disgusting. Don't put yourself in a position to be abused again by these ingrates.

RUTH MILLETT
Do you save letters from your children—those written their first summer at camp, from grandma's house, from college, or an army camp letters about their first real job letters after they are read and starting a new home? I hope you carefully save them all. You'll enjoy reading them over in the years to come and some day you can give them to your children as a record of their growth and a memory of the past.

Today I have been re-reading the letters I wrote home through the years, carefully saved in folders by my father and given to me by my mother who came across them when she was going through his files.

Those letters brought back the past as nothing else could. "Why I had forgotten all about that," I kept thinking as I read. Or "was I ever that young?" Or "how bright and uncomplicated the world seemed back in the days before World War II was even a threat."

There is no pretense, no false modesty, no striving for effect in the letters children write home. So they give a true picture of what the writer is happy about or worrying about at the moment, what big dreams he has for the future, what choices he is making and why.

So save your children's letters for them—from the very first one right on through the years.

Then one day you can give each child his own letters and it will be a wonderful gift. For it will say, "this is you. This is how you came to be the person you are today. This is your own story."

I guarantee that it will be a fascinating story. For the mind forgets so much that ought to be remembered.

DEAR ABBY: I took my child to the dentist and was asked to wait outside. When the dentist finished, my child told me in great sobs that he wanted me in there with him. I felt like a heel.

The next time we went to the dentist, I was ordered to wait outside again, but when I heard my child gagging and crying I ran in to wipe his tears. The dentist said very coldly, "GO BACK AND SIT DOWN, MOTHER!"

This upset me and my child. Do you think I should fine another dentist?

DEAR ABBY: Thanks to my mother, who is a marvelous seamstress, I have a large and beautiful wardrobe. I am 16 and have two good friends the same age. Both these girls have the same bad trait. They ask to borrow my clothes and they don't return anything until I go after it. Or else if they do bring it back, the zipper is broken, the seams are ripped or the clothes are soiled.

I hate to turn them down because I like them both, but what do you do in a case like this?

Years of Marriage, Children Leave No Marked Evidence On Four Beauties

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—The secret of youth? Four beauties who this week completed 10 years in the same annual series of fashion shows are enough to convince me it's the Texas air.

All are married, range in age from 33 to 41, have among them five children, and a total of 51 years as mannequins.

But if the years have made any inroads, they're not detectable.

"Oh yes they are," said one of the veterans. "Our feet are two sizes larger and never stop hurting."

The four are:
Irma Austin, 41, a native of Annapolis, Mo., a model for 13 years, the wife of an aircraft plant supervisor, the mother of a 6-year-old daughter who also models, a brunette who is 5 feet, 7 inches tall in her socks, measures 35-25-37 and candidly admits she "constantly fights the battle of the bulge."

Ann Daniel, 39, (or as she puts it "39!"), a native of Ardmore, Okla., a model for 12 years, married for 21 to an airlines pilot, mother of a 16-year-old son and a 2-year-old daughter, brunette also with 119 pounds distributed on a 5 feet, 6 inch figure which measures 35-24-36.

Vera Holder, 36, a Dallas native, model for 15 years, wife of an automobile dealer, no children — "Just a French poodle named Mr. Pepin," brunette, the same weight as Mrs. Daniel, but an inch taller with 35-25-35 measurements.

And Zane Hayes, born in Richmond, Tex., the wife of an airlines pilot, mother of two children, a son of seven and a daughter of three, a golden blonde with Texas-size blue eyes, and 120 pounds on a 5 feet, 7 inch frame which measures 34-24-35.

All, close friends, each spring model swim suits, sun suits, sportswear, dress suits, sportswear and evening wear for the Dallas Fashion Manufacturers Assn., representing 26 firms which for the last 10 years have held "preseason" for visiting reporters.

Year-round, the four are booked steadily for fashion shows, for photography, and television commercials.

But modeling comes second to home and family. All run their own homes — Mrs. Daniel with the aid of a maid one day a week and "an electric dishwasher"; Mrs. Hayes with some help; the others, all on their own, with Mrs. Holder explaining "no one else can please me."

Puff Peels Off To Become Clean

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Beauty Editor

It's a mistake that even otherwise fastidious and well-groomed women make. They open a compact and out pops a grubby puff. If you doubt that this can happen, take a look at the puff in your compact right now.

Well, someone has come along with the first really new puff idea in years. It appears to be a single powder puff. But it actually is layers of puffs compressed into one. When the outer layer becomes soiled, you just peel it off and you have a new, clean puff ready for use.

This way, you can have a clean puff each day. There's a month's supply compressed into a single puff. And of course, it takes up no more room in your handbag than a single puff.

This new puff idea comes faced with shining satin, lettered in gold and in nine pastel colors. It's the ideal way to eliminate grime, grease and dirt that can clog your pores and cause blackheads and blemishes.

Fur jackets for spring get white eyelid-embroidered collars — from the hands of Parisian designers.

April Is Month Of Gay Caprice

April is a month of caprice. Of birth and beginning-of colts in a pasture, and kittens in a basket, and bursting buds strung on trembling branches.

Nature, perennial housekeeper, is busy redecorating, strewn her first flowers and needle-pointing the earth in fine little stitches of green. The sun plays hopscotch across wet sparkling grass, and the air is as soft and sweet as a baby just bathed.

April is a time clean and fresh as the wash on the line. Women shine windows, attack closets, and polish floors, then coax sons and husbands into similar attacks on yards, basements, garages.

In April, doors long shut against winter are flung wide and children, wild with freedom, come tumbling out like bear cubs from their caves.

It is the month when mothers must gird themselves against frantic pleas to go coatless, sweatless, barefoot even. "And honestly, if I didn't stop them I believe they'd go stark nude!"

But fathers, watching as they romp, sometimes grin reminiscently. "I know—I don't blame them."

For the pipes of April call up something lively in the spirit. "Come play!" they invite. "Cast off all of the worrisome garments of winter!"

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There comes a time each year when the sports editor is known around the office as "that lucky bum." The time is in early February of any dismal winter.

This reflects no personal disapproval of the sports editor nor any meaningful suggestion that chance has favored him above others. This merely is an acknowledgement that the sports editor's calling enables him to fly southward at the onset of the awful, awkward age of any year.

The sports editor flies to Florida or Arizona or wherever. There, with all bills paid, including bar checks if they are not too large, the sports editor observes and comments on the spring training of the athletes of major league baseball. This annual chore is regarded as a light touch by other reporters, including political writers, most of whom began in the sports department somewhere and most of whom wish each February that they had stayed in the racket.

All things come, the saying goes, to he who waits. And this is the year when sports writers, if they are any good at all, wish that they were political writers. Instead no mere matter of weather and sunshine will be involved in this. On the contrary.

This is the year when the political writers will brave the awful smog and worse traffic of Los Angeles, Calif., to report the goings on at the Democratic national convention.

Let the sports writers have baseball in Florida and Arizona during the cold and slushy season of the year.

I will take the Democratic national convention in July. There is coming up in Los Angeles next July the best show of the year, more likely the best show in many years. If the sports writers were doing it, they would call it the battle of the century.

Eddie Follard, who writes politics out of Washington, says when the Democrats get into a family quarrel they like to say that it doesn't mean they are divided but only that they are keeping fit.

That does not cover what is coming up next July. The Democratic Party is headed for a convention which will compare in bitterness and impact with the granddaddy of them all. That one was the 1924 Madison Square Garden, New York, affair.

In 1924 the embattled southerners were fighting for prohibition, mostly, and to some extent against the nomination for president of a Roman Catholic, Alfred Emmanuel Smith. This year the southerners will be fighting for what they regard as their way of life; fighting against the combined effort of their own party and the federal government to break down the racial customs of the South.

It is a fact that Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) is a Roman Catholic and a front contender for the 1960 Democratic nomination. But it is issues of race and racial relations which inflame the South today and which will burst with nuclear impact among the Los Angeles delegates.

Something must give in a situation of that kind. What gives and who is politically killed or wounded when it happens will be the main story of the Los Angeles convention.

Teenagers Need To Grow Before They Get Married

By HELEN THOMAS
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teenagers should grow up before they get married, a family sociologist says.

David M. Fulcomer, a marriage counselor and professor at State University, told United Press International that "very little of high school age are ready for marriage."

"Marriage," he said, "is for adults." But he added there is a trend in the United States "to ward forcing children" to grow up in a hurry.

He said parents are trying to make adults out of adolescents by forcing them "to go steady" without preparing them for the pitfalls of such relationships.

Fulcomer is the leader of a work group on current trends in marriage and family size at the White House Conference on Children and Youth.

His group has explored the problems of marriage, divorce and remarriage as they affect children. It is expected to make recommendations today.

Fulcomer's panelists have reached the following preliminary conclusions:

- Community action is needed to discourage pushing children into social adulthood.
- More adequate and more uniform data on divorce should be collected from the states, with a Washington clearinghouse.
- More counseling services are needed for marital and premarital problems.
- More research is needed on remarriage of divorced persons.
- More research is needed on the effect of family size on family relations and personality development.
- A uniform state mandatory waiting period for marriage is needed.

Lenten Devotion

By FR. AIDAN M. CARR, O.F.M. CONV. St. Anthony On Hudson, Kennesaw, N.Y. Written For UPI

Lent helps Christians to achieve a mastery over themselves; to reaffirm man's goal as a child of God and brother of Christ. In a world that is so concerned about what one has than about what one is; that hold out the false promise of happiness through pleasure — the church now invites all to remember that the state of one's soul is what really matters and that true happiness (not pleasure) is the purpose of human life.

It is a mistake to regard Lenten restraints as somehow intended to rob life of exuberance, warmth, and vitality. Lent is no killjoy. It is a gentle (if firm) invitation to rise to spiritual heights through some slight imitation of Christ's splendid self-mastery. "Follow me," he whispers to every man. "I am the way, the truth, the life." And in calling us to be like him in honoring the father, he reminds us that self-conquest through mortification is necessary if we are to do God's will and not merely our own.

Penance brings to all who sincerely accept it a precious chance to reflect, once again, that if we want one way to share Christ's glory, we must now share his cross.

By the Very Rev. BASIL S. GREGORY Rector, St. Constantine Greek Orthodox Church Chicago

Lent is an appointed period for spiritual exercise, which looks for a catharsis of our soul and body, a new growth in faith, a return to Christ and living with him according to his saving commandments.

It was the practice of the ancient church to instruct the catechumens, the newly-converted persons to Christianity, during Lent, in order that they may be ready for baptism on Holy Saturday and thus be able, in the renewedness of their life, to greet the risen Christ on Easter Sunday.

Also, during Lent, the early church emphasized the need of preparation to all Christians, in order that they might more worthily meet the risen Lord, and re-establish their life in the life of Christ.

For this reason, as Christians, we are called upon during Lent to repeat and work for our growth in spirit and in knowledge of the Lord. Our church tells us that we can accomplish this by meditation of our Lord's life and sacrifice and imitation of his example, but also by a period of self-examination and spiritual re-birth and rehabilitation.

This is accomplished much easier if we are able to transfer our human attention from material need and desire to a spiritual evaluation of life and eternity. This is the purpose of Lent today; to guide us back to Christ by living in Christ, or as in the

Appeal For Tax Gifts In Beaumont

BEAUMONT (UPI)—The city council has decided to ask industry to help pay Beaumont's bills through "contributions" because big business doesn't pay city taxes.

The decision came at a city council meeting Tuesday, but it wasn't decided how much to ask industry for.

The major industries near Beaumont are just outside the city limits. It has been planned that way. During the past several months, industry has made contributions to other nearby cities.

Words of St. Peter, "Grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and saviour Jesus Christ."

and Beaumont decided to get in on the act. Port Neches got $100,000 and Port Arthur, already getting contributions, had its amount boosted to $300,000. Jefferson County also got a donation.

The major industries near Beaumont are Mobil Oil, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Du Pont and Olin-Mathieson chemical plants, and Bethlehem Steel shipyards.

Cards To Identify Census Takers

Householders will not have any difficulty identifying the takers of the 1960 census of population and housing when they start their rounds on April 1, district supervisor Clyde Cook pointed out today.

Each census taker will be provided with a red, white and blue identification card to be worn on the lapel. This card bears the seal of the Department of Commerce and the words "Census Enumerator, official credential" are printed across the face of the card. Persons posing to be census takers who do not have this identification card should be reported immediately to the local district census office.

Census takers will be further identified by the portfolio containing their supplies. The portfolio is brown and bears the legend, "1960 Census of the United States," printed in green ink. In the portfolio the census taker carries his supplies of report forms, maps, pencils, and other tools.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market still lacks "bounce" despite the "optimistic tone" which has prevailed during the past two weeks, according to R. E. Buchsbaum of W. E. Hutton & Co.

In his latest stock commentary, Buchsbaum says issues performing with above average vigor are in a minority.

"Nonetheless, the recuperative powers of some of the rails and oils are worthy of note," he adds. "Technically, the averages have reached a point where additional consolidation is in order."

Alan C. Poole of Hemphill, Noyes & Co., draws this comforting note from history: "No bull market has ever ended in a presidential-election year in the past 60 years."

Standard & Poor's outlook says Timken Roller Bearing is "attractively priced." It is selling some 20 per cent below the 1959 high.

Ira Haupt & Co. says that based on earnings projections for 1960 the stock of American Broadcasting Paramount could carry well above present levels in the market. "Healthy increases in gross revenues and profits seems assured and per share earnings could exceed 2.80, (up from about $1.85 a share in 1959)."

Red Griggs ★ the pipeline

This is the third in a series of columns on Little League rules and their interpretations, for the benefit of umpires, scorekeepers, managers and fans of Little League baseball.

A series of 14 problems and rulings will be covered. 1. A batter hits a fair ball to the outfield and reaches first base safely, overrunning the base. After passing first base, and noticing that the fielder has allowed the ball to roll past him, he continues to second without retouching first base. Upon appeal, the umpire called the runner out for not touching first before going on to second. Was this correct? The runner should not have been called out for retouching first base. He was entitled to go directly to second base from his position when he noticed that the ball had not been fielded clearly. Although he was running out of the base line, this was legal inasmuch as he was not trying to avoid being tagged out.

What About 'Extra' Catcher?

2. Can a base runner be standing off the base he has acquired step back off the base after the pitcher has delivered the pitch but before it has reached the batter and be considered as not having left his base too soon? No, this cannot be done. Rule 7.15 states that the runner shall not leave his base until the pitch has reached the batter. The fact remains that he was off the base while the pitcher was set and ready. Returning before the pitch reached the batter did not legalize his action.

3. Can a manager or coach, because he has a weak catcher, bring an infielder in and place him behind the catcher to retrieve passed balls when there are runners on base? Rule 6.03 states very clearly that all defensive players, except the catcher, must be in fair territory when the ball is put in play. To place any player back of the catcher is in fair territory when the ball is put in play. To place any player back of the catcher is in fair territory when the ball is put in play.

4. Can an umpire call time if a manager, coach or player on the bench or playing field attempts to cause a pitcher to balk? Yes, an umpire should call time whenever he hears or sees talk or actions that might disturb a pitcher and cause him to balk. 5. An intentional base on balls is being given a batter. The batter steps out of the batter's box and remains there. Can the umpire insist that he enter the batter's box while the intentional pass is being issued? Yes, the umpire should insist that he enter the batter's box while being pitched to, regardless of the intent to give the batter an intentional base on balls. If he refuses to enter, the umpire shall direct the pitcher to begin pitching and each pitch, whether or not it is in the strike zone, shall be called a strike. If and when the batter decides to enter the box, the pitches will be called whatever they are from then on.

When To Make A Protest

6. When must a manager protest an incident or violation that occurs during a game? The protest must be made to the umpire-in-chief at once, before any further play occurs. Unless this is done, the manager loses his right to protest.

7. Runners on second and third bases, batter receives a base on balls. The fourth ball is wide, and the catcher misses it. The runner on third starts for home, and the catcher retrieves the ball and tags the runner at the plate. Since the proper batter who should have batted was entitled to first base with no play being made on him, can the runner on third advance or must he be returned to that base? 8. A batter bats out of turn, and reaches first base safely. Before another pitch is made to the batter a balk is called on the pitcher, with the batter-runner going to second base. At this point the defensive manager appeals the improper batter to the umpire. What should be the ruling on this play? Since the appeal was made before the next pitch was made to the batter, and despite the batter advancing to second base on the balk, he should be called out as the appeal was made before the pitch was delivered.

Who's The Chief Umpire?

9. A batter bats out of turn, hitting a ball to shortstop. The runner who was on first base is retired at second base on a fielder's choice, with the batter reaching first base safely. How should this be ruled? If an appeal is made by the defensive team before the first pitch is made to the next batter then at the plate, the improper runner will be removed from first base. The proper batter who should have batted will be called out, and the runner who was retired at second base will be returned to first base. 10. When an infielder starts to field a batted ball and accidentally bumps into an umpire, is the ball dead? No, the ball is not dead. This is one of the very unfortunate situations that can occur and nothing can be done about it.

11. With the bases loaded and one out, the batter hits safely into right field. The runner on first base starts for second and then, believing the ball will be caught, returns to and stands at first base. The batter proceeds to first base, tags the base while the runner is still there, and continues to second base. The batted ball goes by the right fielder, rolling under the fence. Under ordinary circumstances, such a batted ball would be a ground rule double. How should this situation be ruled? The fact that the batted ball entitled the batter to move forward an extra base does not give the batter the privilege of passing the runner who has returned to first base. The rule states: "Any runner is out when he passes a preceding runner before such a runner is out." Therefore, the batter who passed the runner who has returned to first base must be called out. 12. Does the umpire-in-chief of a staff of umpires have the right to over-rule the plate umpire's decision when he is umpiring on the bases? He may be staff umpire-in-chief, but when he is umpiring on the bases he is not the umpire-in-chief of that game. The umpire at the plate has charge of that game. At no time should one umpire try to over-rule another unless the one whose decisions are questioned asks for advice from the other umpire.

Can Hitter 'Change Sides'?

13. We have a switch batter in our league who hits hard from either side of the plate. When he hits left handed the fielders switch to the right side and vice versa. When the pitcher is ready to pitch and the batter notices the position of the fielders, he quickly steps across the plate to hit from the opposite side. Is it legal for him to do so? The rule states he cannot step from one box to the other while the pitcher is in legal position and ready to pitch. If he does, he should be called out.

14. A team announces its starting lineup. In the first inning the visiting team scores six runs. The manager decides to withdraw his announced pitcher and save him for the next game. If this is not legal, what action should the umpire take? This is not legal and the pitcher announced must dispose of the first batter in the batting order before he can be removed. The umpire should enforce this rule whether it is called to his attention or not.

The last three rules and interpretations covered in the manual of umpires and scorers will be covered in a later column.

15. A team announces its starting lineup. In the first inning the visiting team scores six runs. The manager decides to withdraw his announced pitcher and save him for the next game. If this is not legal, what action should the umpire take? This is not legal and the pitcher announced must dispose of the first batter in the batting order before he can be removed. The umpire should enforce this rule whether it is called to his attention or not.

16. A team announces its starting lineup. In the first inning the visiting team scores six runs. The manager decides to withdraw his announced pitcher and save him for the next game. If this is not legal, what action should the umpire take? This is not legal and the pitcher announced must dispose of the first batter in the batting order before he can be removed. The umpire should enforce this rule whether it is called to his attention or not.

Harris Will Fight Liston April 25

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Roy Harris of Cut 'N' Shoot, Texas, and Sonny Liston of Philadelphia will meet in Houston April 25 for a 10-round heavyweight fight they hope will give the winner a crack at the title.

Harris is the sixth ranked heavyweight contender and Liston, a former Arkansas sharecropper, is rated No. 2 in the heavyweight ranks.

Harris, standing in a horse lot and using a feed trough for a desk, signed for the bout Tuesday. It was a typical backdrop for the "backwoods schoolteacher" building that led him to a $100,000 shot at Floyd Patterson's title two years ago.

Liston and Harris have been guaranteed 10,000 each, or an option of 25 per cent of the gate including TV profits. The fight will be held in Houston's 10,000-seat Coliseum and will be beamed via closed-circuit television to several Texas arenas and to New Orleans.

Negotiations are also under way to set up TV showings in St. Louis, Kansas City and Milwaukee. Donald Milheim, head of Texas Boxing Enterprises, said the match could qualify the winner for a challenge to the winner of the Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson rematch scheduled in New York June 22. Both Liston and Harris are hoping it will.

Harris has fought nearly all of his bouts in Houston in compiling his 30-1 record. Patterson is the only man ever to beat him.

Liston, with a 28-1 record, will be making his second appearance in Houston. On March 21 he finished off Cleveland Williams with a second round TKO before a crowd of 9,313 fans. The gross on that fight was $43,000.

Milheim said seats for the Liston-Harris fight will sell at from $3 to $15, with the arena scaled to gross $70,000.

Yager To Pitch CANYON — Keith Yager, a former Harvester pitcher, is expected to pitch for the West Texas State baseball team, when that squad meets South Plains College at Levelland today.

Yager, a left-hander, made the all-district team last year while pitching for the Harvesters. He had an earned average of less than one per game.

St. Louis Hawks Even NBA Series

BOSTON (UPI) — A "dogfight to the end" shaped up today between the Boston Celtics and St. Louis Hawks (St. Louis) Green leading the Hawks right back into the thick of the National Basketball Association championship playoffs.

Green, one of the NBA's "little" players at 6 feet 2 inches, was the spark Tuesday night that enlivened the Hawks to bare their talons for a 113-103 victory over the Celtics at the Garden.

The win, St. Louis' first here all season, squared the best-of-seven series at one game apiece, with the action now shifting to St. Louis. Both games Saturday and Sunday afternoon will be televised nationally, with the teams returning here next Tuesday night.

Bob Pettit paced the Hawks in the scoring column with 25 points. But Green, in his third season in the NBA after starring at Duquesne, was the key over the second half of the game. Green got all of his 13 points in the last two periods and was a cat on the floor.

"Green certainly was the big difference," said Hawks coach Easy Ed MacAuley after the game. "I was kind of worried for a while, with our players getting so many fouls in the first half, but St. Louis saved the day for us in the second half."

Bill Sharman, who led Boston with 20 points, echoed the players' thoughts when he put it: "It would have been a big win for us, but it's going to be a dogfight now right down to the seventh game."

Green, 24, was beaming as the players congratulated him for his sparkling performance. "I'm a lot looser now," he said. "I felt better out there. Sharman was playing me tight in the first half but then he seemed to lay off a bit—just enough for me to put the ball up there. And it seemed to be going in."

The Hawks needed the win badly. They appeared tired and disorganized in the opener here Sunday, losing by 18 points. They were down seven points at the half Tuesday night but put together a 34-point third quarter and a 30-point final period to win going away.

Boston's Bill Russell basted three playoff rebounding marks in the game, gathering in 40 for the game.

Walker Pitches Four-Hitter Haralson Hits 3-Run Triple

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor
AMARILLO — Jimmy Walker and the Pampa Harvesters have done it again.

Last year Walker hurled the Harvesters to their first win over the Amarillo Sandies in several years, on the Sandies' home field. Tuesday history repeated itself, as the little right-hander tossed a four-hitter to lead Pampa to a 4-1 baseball victory over the Amarillo High.

Walker pitched an almost flawless game, allowing only four hits, walking only one man, and hitting one with a pitch. His team-mates played errorless ball behind him, turned in one beautifully executed double play, and made several nice fielding plays.

Overall, you couldn't ask to see a better played high school baseball game. There was only one error in the game, and that, by Amarillo catcher Jerry Rice in the sixth inning, was not really a fielding misplay. Pampa catcher Terry Haralson slid so hard into Rice that he dropped the ball, and had to be charged with an error.

Haralson was the batting hero of the game, as he drove in two runs with his sixth-inning triple down the right-field line, then scored on Rice's bobble.

Pampa was trailing 1-0 at the start of the sixth. With one out, third baseman Gary Hill walked. Shortstop Wendell Ridgway then thumped a Texas Leaguer to right field, for his third hit of the game, advancing Hill to second. But it was Crossland came in to run for Hill. Haralson hit a long drive straight down the right field foul line, barely in fair territory. It hit the edge of the outfield retaining fence and bounced off to the right. Crossland and Ridgway scored easily, and Haralson headed for home. The relay throw came in soon enough to get Haralson at the plate, but he slid into Rice and knocked the ball out of his hands.

Larry Stroud added a spectacular insurance run in the seventh inning, when he hit a towering 360-foot home run over the right-centerfield fence, against the wind. This was Pampa's second home run of the season, and the Harvesters' first baseman's first of the year.

The Harvesters collected a total of eight hits off Amarillo pitcher David Richardson, a right-hander. Ridgway's three singles included a perfectly placed bunt in the second, a double to right in the fourth, and his Texas Leaguer in the sixth. Third baseman Bobby Nutt got two hits, singles in the second and seventh, and stole second base after each.

Amarillo scored its only run off Walker by the second inning, when shortstop Val Tenorio doubled and first baseman George Tiffany singled to score him. The Sandies got two men on base in only one other inning, the fourth. After two out, Right fielder Lyon Proffer singled and Walker hit Tenorio with a pitch, but George Tiffany forced Tenorio at second to end the threat.

Good fielding plays staved off two potential Amarillo threats, as Bobby Stephens made a nice running catch in centerfield in the fifth frame to rob centerfielder Gene Moore of an extra-base hit; and a double play from second baseman Ruben Strickland to shortstop Ridgway to first baseman Stroud nipped a seventh-inning threat in the bud.

Podres, Drysdale Give Dodgers Lift

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press International
The champ was in trouble, but a sudden left-right "one-two" punch — Johnny Podres and Don Drysdale — has everything okay again.

The world champion Los Angeles Dodgers were staggering just two days ago with four straight exhibition losses. But now southpaw Podres' 7-3 routing win over the New York Yankees Monday has been followed by Drysdale's more brilliant 5-0 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday.

As a result, the Dodgers are back at the 500 mark in the Grapefruit League with seven wins and seven losses and are starting to feel better about their chances of repeating.

Drysdale worked seven innings of Tuesday's victory and allowed only two hits. He fanned eight, walked none, and let only one runner reach second. The National League strikeout king now has pitched six innings this spring and has been scored on in only two of them. Clem Labine polished off Tuesday's shutout, giving up one hit in the last two innings.

The defeat snapped a five-game card winning streak. Pacing the champs' 10-hit attack were ex-Card Wally Moon with a double and a triple and Don Zimmerman with two doubles.

Zimmer has been reported on the trading block — and so has Roy Sievers, the Washington Senators' slugger who belted two homers in Tuesday's 5-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Harmon Killebrew also homered for the Senators and rookie Dan Dobek whacked a two-run double at Pedro Ramos got the win.

Sievers supposedly has been offered to the White Sox, who must be more impressed than ever.

Khrushchev Faces Unfriendly Houston Race Crowd On Visit To Lille

By HENRY SHAPIRO United Press International
LILLE, France (UPI)—Anti-Communist demonstrators met Nikita S. Khrushchev today with a 10-foot banner reading "assassin of Budapest" but the Soviet leader bilithely ignored it.
The banner, which also depicted a hammer and sickle dripping blood, was displayed outside the Lille prefecture where Khrushchev spent the night.
It was the first sight to meet his eyes when he stepped out on the porch of the building for another day of travel through French provinces.

The majority of the estimated 2,000 persons waiting outside the prefecture were friendly, however, and Khrushchev waved in response to their cheers as he climbed into a car and sped off for a visit to a woolen mill in the industrial suburbs.
Two stops were lopped from today's busy schedule at Khrushchev's request, allowing him an extra 45 minutes rest before starting out this morning.
The energetic Russian leader gave little visible indication of fatigue and Soviet newsmen said he was "very happy" with the trip, but the schedule changes indicated he was getting either tired or bored with the many stops.
Cut out of today's arrangements were a visit to a big suburban tool plant and a train stop to see a farm in Normandy en route to Rouen.
Thursday Khrushchev returns to Paris for his last intimate opportunity before the May summit meeting to try to pry President Charles de Gaulle away from his close relationship with West Germany.
The Soviet leader has played an anti-German theme daily since his arrival in France.

Houston Race Study Called

HOUSTON (UPI)—Mayor Lewis Cutler said he plans to name a biracial committee Thursday to study segregation problems in Houston, which has been hard hit by Negro lunch counter demonstrations.
His decision came as the attorney for the Houston school system, the largest system in the nation still segregated, warned the school board to come up with an integration plan for the fall or the federal courts would step in.
Joe H. Reynolds, school board attorney, met with Federal Judge Ben Connally and Negro attorney the plaintiffs in a federal court suit against the school board.
Reynolds said he "got the impression" from Judge Connally that if the school board didn't come up with a plan for desegregation by this fall, the judge would issue an immediate desegregation order.

WHILE GAS BURNS—Carl Rulis doesn't use this method to get standees to move back in his bus. He's keeping his fingers limber during a stopover on his Trailways run between Wilmington, Del., and New York City. Weekends he plays for pay.

'Bug' Moon, Scientist Suggests

By JOSEPH L. MYLER United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Man should land microphones on Mars and Venus to listen for any living creatures, a group of space scientists suggests.
This was one of dozens of recommendations made by the space science board of the National Academy of Sciences in two reports on moon and planet exploration issued Tuesday night.
Dr. Edward R. Dyer of the space board staff said the likelihood that neighboring planets harbor any kind of life capable of making a sound is "very, very remote."
But he said, "we don't want to overlook anything."
Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel prize-winner who prepared the reports, said, "It can be considered a reasonable expectation that life does exist on Mars... and it is possible that life may be present on Venus."
Other scientists have guessed that if there are plants on Mars, there also may be some sort of animal life which feeds on the vegetation. Microphones rocketed to Mars might detect such creatures if they exist, Dyer said.
Other space developments:
—U.S. scientists have successfully conducted the first ground test of the Saturn rocket designed to propel men and heavy loads to the moon and planets. Rocket expert Werner von Braun showed the Senate Space Committee Tuesday color movies of the firing Monday of two of Saturn's eight engines on a test stand at Huntsville, Ala.
—L. Col. Howard R. Schmidt, chief of the Atomic Energy Commission's nuclear rocket section, said a combination chemical and atomic rocket capable of landing in tons gently on the moon could be perfected in 15 years.

Evangelist Warns U.S. Must Set Racial Pattern

By ALBIN KREBS United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Evangelist Billy Graham warned today that unless the United States solves its racial problems through the Christian teaching of love the great question of "where is Africa going?" will be followed by the word "Communism"—period.
The 40-year-old evangelist said his 11-week tour of Africa convinced him that Americans must by their own example find an answer to the racial problem or face the fact Africans will be disillusioned with the United States and turn to the Communists.
"One of the greatest opportunities facing the American people is to help the people of that enormous, troubled continent of Africa as they grope their way out of the dark," Graham said.
"The task is a stupendous one and it calls for great patience and love on our part. We must show by example that freedom is as close to our hearts as it is to the hearts of Africans, who for centuries have been truly benighted."
Graham said in a UPI interview he was quite surprised to learn that racial troubles in the United States got scant attention in Africa at the present time— "probably because they have so much trouble of that kind of their own."
But he said time was running short and Americans should tackle the problem of race tension, close ranks, and show the peoples of newly-emerging Negro nations that such complex problems in human relations can be solved.
Graham returned from his crusade for Christ through nine countries in central Africa and Egypt, Jordan and Israel. Today he leaves for Washington, where he will report to President Eisenhower on his travels.

Big Land Boom In Arizona

NEW YORK (UPI)—About the biggest boom in the United States these days is in Arizona, according to Lee Ackerman, real estate, insurance and investment man, who hopes to be the next governor of the Grand Canyon State.
Ackerman was in New York trying to bring down, not just two birds with one stone, but a covey or so of fat partridges.
"I'm warming up a few irons for my own business," he admitted, "and also trying to get some more industries to locate in Arizona. And, of course, I'm not averse to making some political friends among New York Democrats."
So far, Ackerman is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for governor. "But it's quite a spell yet before the election," he said, "and Arizona folks always feel free to do the unpredictable. I could have opposition yet."
A native of Clayton, O., who formerly lived in Larchmont, N. Y., Ackerman has had a big finger in the Arizona boom.
"To the fresh water irrigated farming—cotton, fruits, and vegetables—in the valleys of the Gila, Salt and Colorado Rivers, Arizona now has the prospect of getting more irrigated land by desalting the waters of the Gulf of California," he said, "and a new airport on Mexican soil to serve Arizona, part of California and the Mexican state of Sonora is pretty certain to be built in the future. The Mexicans are enthusiastic about the idea."
Ackerman said a surprising thing about Arizona's influx of people is that so many are coming from the West instead of from the North and East. "Southern California is getting crowded and we are getting people who go there and find it impossible to locate satisfactorily."

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (UPI)—Coy Hubert Herrin, 24, tried to engineer a mass break from the city dog pound but police put the "collar" on him instead.
Police said they caught Herrin prying locks off the pens. Tuesday, Detective K. B. Burr said it might have been funny, but the inmates of the pound have been freed at least 15 times in the past two years.
He filed burglary charges against Herrin.

Liberalism Seeks To Patch Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate liberals began an uphill fight today to patch some gaping holes in the House-approved rights bill.
The committee, after two days of door-to-door deliberation topped a marathon seven-hour vote Tuesday night to severely battered bill to patch what should be done in returning the bill to the Senate's orders, committee changed—and in cases weakened—every part of the House measure.
Senate was scheduled to debate on the bill today but measure's ultimate fate apparently will have to be worked out in a House-Senate conference committee.
Effective combination of the five Southern Democrats and varying Republicans remained in command of the judiciary group's 15-member committee on a total of 32 amendments, were accepted and 17 rejected.
Most of them were Republican.
House Republican Leader Everett Dirksen (Ill.), who earned a floor fight against a change in the administration seven-point bill, offered the amendments adopted.

Tribute To Coal Mining

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An opera singer, Shakespearean scholar, top industrialists and union leaders will join tonight in a program glorifying coal.
A new song—"Coal Powers America's Future"—will be sung in public for the first time.
And some of the nation's biggest coal operators will present a rare edition of Shakespeare's plays to a man they once reviled—John L. Lewis, president emeritus of the United Mine Workers.
These varied events will take place at a banquet sponsored by the National Coal Policy Conference, Inc., a lobbying group made up of mine owners, UMW leaders, and officials of railroads, utilities, and mining machinery firms.
The objective is to convince the 150 congressmen expected to attend that coal is a reliable source of fuel that should be given equal treatment with oil, natural gas, and other fuels.
Lewis, however, is expected to take the spotlight.
In a bit of poetic justice, the coal operators decided to give him a costly set of Shakespeare's plays published in 1793 with annotations by Dr. Samuel Johnson.
The 80-year-old former miners' chief freed from the Bard's works to taunt mine operators during strike-ridden bargaining in past years.
Now, however, Lewis and the operators are cooperating to promote the sale of coal and to seek legislation to give the industry greater tax benefits.

CRIPPLED PLANE SAFE

SHANNON, Ireland (UPI)—An American DC 4 airliner landed safely at Shannon Airport Tuesday night after limping across one third of the Atlantic Ocean on three engines.
Seven crew members and five company personnel were aboard the Seven Seas Co. plane bound from Newark, N.J., to Amsterdam.
A port side engine failed a thousand miles off the Irish coast.

A friend has written asking that we speak frankly concerning the racial issue. We will do so. The recurrent instances of violence committed in various parts of the nation against some individual simply because his race or his religion is different from others is an abomination which dates to the fifteenth century or before.

Lost Battles

It isn't that tyranny first occurs in rural areas. Rather, we fancy that tyranny is apt to be recognized in rural areas before urbanites are aware of its dreadful implication. Always it seems that issues become clear-cut where there are wide open spaces, and the wind blows free, and one's vision is not precluded by roofs and chimneys and walls of brick.

Better Jobs

by R. C. HOLES Nymeyer's Interpretation Of Garden of Eden

For several days I have been quoting how Nymeyer analyzes four theologians—Reinhold Niebuhr, Karl Barth, Paul Tillich and Anders Nygren—in strange interpretations of the Hebrew Scriptures. He especially takes exception to Tillich's interpretation. He cannot see much difference between his interpretation and a pantheist's, and he attempts to prove that the only logical conclusion of a pantheist's is that dust is God.

Then he explains that the editor of "First Principles" is a Christian theist, and he says that "the theist (Christian) solves his problem his way by declaring that there is a transcendent being, God."

Condensed History "In the Hebrew-Christian Scriptures everything pertaining to the origin, and all of the history, of the world up to four thousand years ago is covered in about 7,500 words, or twelve pages in a typical Bible. This early Biblical history is obviously radically abbreviated. The report of a small obscure association, for only one year of its existence, may be longer than the Biblical narrative of the origin of the world, and of man, and his early history.

The features of the story are worth pointing out: (1) A Supreme Being created the universe; (2) the lower forms of life came first, man is the peerless crown of creation; (3) his intelligence and his capacity for good and evil constituted the foundation of his superiority; (4) nevertheless, man was worse off at first than beasts because he had no fur to keep him warm; nor claws to tear animals apart; nor did he have tools of any kind; he was not even a stone-age man; (5) although he had the capacity to take the right road to boundless well-being in his life, he chose the wrong road, and his descendants after him follow in the same wrong road; (6) the consequence of taking the wrong road was to incur distress; and the necessity of harder work, and consequently man has since suffered material privation as well as spiritual impoverishment (spiritual death).

Niebuhr takes this creation narrative symbolically. The events reported, he holds, did not happen that way, but certain truths about the nature of man are correctly symbolized by the story.

A Difference Between Man And The Lower Orders Of Creation

"Whatever life seeks its own welfare. It is not inert, nor passive when unfavorable conditions arise. And what every living thing does for survival, it also does to attain joy of living, pleasure, comfort, opportunity. This is true of plants, bugs, birds, rodents, insects, animals, men.

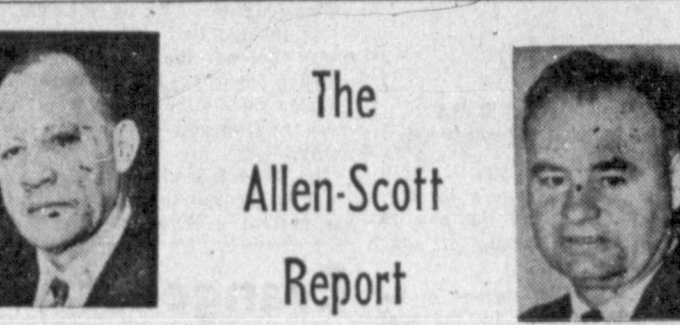

"But the lower orders beneath man do not struggle to survive and to enjoy life by means of cooperation. Trees growing densely show no compassion to each other. Each tree is for itself only and it is either—or, either the individual tree will survive or its fellows will. It is every tree for itself.

"Animals will fight for their dependent young, but eventually every beast is 'on his own.' Animals do run in packs for defense purposes, and bees and other species live together in colonies; there is some division of labor in such communities. But the idea of cooperation, as man has the ability to understand it, is not known in the lower orders.

"After man was created with his endowment of intelligence, there was a crucial decision for him to reach: would he act differently toward other human beings than other living beings act toward their own kind? Or would men, because they were rational, adopt a noteworthy system of genuine cooperation? The alternatives would be that men would live as uncooperatively as cattle, wolves, rabbits, eagles, cats and dogs.

"If a system of cooperation among human beings was to be attained, what specifications would it be obliged to have? "One solution of the problem might be that men would have a different (loftier) motivation than living beings of lower orders. Instead of self-preservation and individual welfare, men might instead have been constructed differently, namely, they might be altruistic rather than selfish (in the sense that they...

The Bad Actor

The Allen-Scott Report

ROBERT S. ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

BUTLER'S FAVORITES — National Chairman Paul Butler has narrowed down his preferences for the top jobs at the Los Angeles convention to five governors, four senators and four congressmen.

As disclosed by Butler to assistants, this first-choice list for temporary chairman, permanent chairman, keynote and head of the Platform Committee includes the following:

GOVERNORS LeRoy Collins, Fla.; Herschel Lovelace, Iowa; Gaylord Nelson, Wis.; Stephen M. Nichols, Colo.; Howard Edmondson, Ohio.

SENATORS Edmund Muskie, Me.; James Clark, Pa.; Frank Church, Ida.; Albert Gore, Tenn.

REPRESENTATIVES John McCormack, Mass.; Chester Bowles, Conn.; Hyle Boggs, La.; Richard Bolling, Mo.

Wisconsin's Governor Nelson has been sounded out by Butler on a possible convention post "other than keynotes." Nelson replied he is willing to consider being either permanent chairman or head of the Platform Committee.

POLITICALS — Former Navy Secretary Dan Kimball has the inside track for next Democratic Committeeman from California. Incumbent Paul Ziffren is still trying to hold on to this prize, but he's definitely earmarked for ousting. This was bluntly indicated at the secret meeting of state leaders that selected the convention delegation. Ziffren demanded that 15 of his wealthy friends be named, but was emphatically told to pipe down.

Whatever else Representative Adam Clayton Powell may or may not be, he is not modest. The Harlem legislator, on trial for tax evasion, inserted one of his speeches in the Congressional Record under the caption, "Adam Powell Fearless Champion."

At a big St. Patrick's Day party in the Capital, United Steel Workers president David McDonald caused a stir by entering arm-in-arm with Senator John Kennedy and beamingly introducing him as "my good friend Jack."

A poll by a New York liberal paper, of Eastern regional officials of the United Auto Workers, gave Senator Kennedy a two-and-a-half to one majority over Senator Hubert Humphrey. Also, the Democratic ticket favored by these union leaders was a Kennedy-Humphrey combination. This decisive Kennedy showing was particularly significant because in Wisconsin the top UAW officials are supporting Senator Humphrey.

District of Columbia Democratic leaders are embroiled in a sizzling three-way wrangle over Senator Humphrey, Senator Wayne Morse and Adlai Stevenson. Delegate slates have been entered for each of them in the May 3 primary for the Capital's a convention delegates. Behind this bitter factionalism is a battle for control of the Central personal welfare, not in the sense of nasty self-seeking at the expense of others). Then the chief concern of each man would have been the welfare of others rather than his own.

Looking Sideways

by WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK, N. Y. — CUFF NOTES: Card in red crayon on dash of privately-owned New York taxi: "I'm no Purist: if my speed seems excessive to you, you may say either 'Slow up' or 'Slow Down.' It seems odd, but that's how our language is." Turned out to be a kid going through night school while driving an inherited cab during the day. His aim: to contribute just one electronically useful thing of major import to mankind— not necessarily just the United States. . . Such as? . . . Well, a new, unthought-of but flawless drive for space vehicles which would obsolete liquid fuels, solid fuels and like "impediments" which have clouded our efforts.

Overheard on Long Island Road commuter train: "Of course, my youngest is odd, terribly odd, but I think that psychiatrist is a faker. She's no more crazy than I am." Now, you see, that opens a fascinating vista. . . I once knew a kid 14 years old about whom there was vast despair both by parents and teachers and who also clinched the verdict once by explaining, when he got zero in an examination at school: "All right, I got zero. It's better than nothing."

And striking scientists in the missile program dumb with awe at the brilliance of his quick, time-cutting, calculation - saving pronouncements. . . Reminds me of a fellow on the Boston Hill parlor while two ladies visiting her mother agreed that "It's a shame the little thing is h-o-m-e-l-y," and were startled when she replied: "Yes, and I am also s-m-a-r-t."

Commuters flooding into and out of New York are changing. . . They once were herded, silent zombies accepting late trains and inconvenience, plus having a negative attitude toward the inane conversations they overheard around them in the trains. . . No more: a new, acid, vinegary, optimistic group is arising. . . We had a fellow on the train late last night who repeated each colorful pronouncement twice with "Know what I mean?" in between. . . Like: "She goes for antiques, know what I mean, she goes for antiques."

Finally overheard on a Fifty Avenue sidewalk: "For Lem? I'll sell you, Joe. I adhered to religious principles and struck a blow for our side at the same time. I have given up sugar in all forms, my beloved Havana cigars and Cuban rum and if that madman down there doesn't come to his senses I'll make my personal Lent last 18 years if I have to." Three titter strangers turned and cheered him.

Most of the patients were young men and women. Most often the disease broke out in the spring and summer. And quite frequently the epidemic appeared to follow spring proms and graduation festivities.

Neither then nor since has it been possible to isolate the mononucleosis virus or alter the course of the disease, which may go on for several weeks and even months.

Although the blood in mononucleosis sometimes reacts to the Wasserman test like the blood of a patient with syphilis, the infection is definitely NOT of venereal origin.

Likely is a mouth-borne infection that may be transmitted by kissing or by use of contaminated eating and drinking utensils.

Quite obviously, the only means available for preventing the spread of this annoying disease is to warn young people against kissing and to use disposable tableware to serve infected persons. The second may be more effective than the first!

In contrast to the origin of mononucleosis, the related infection we used to call "catarrhal jaundice" comes from drinking contaminated water or eating food that has been contaminated by an infected food handler.

On rare occasions, it may be transmitted by syringe injections when there has been imperfect sterilization of instruments previously used for an infected person or a carrier of the jaundice virus. Many doctors now use a disposable syringe.

Must We Cower Before All-Powerful Unions?

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — The only Mafia in the United States are unions, a cabal of privileged henchmen of both political parties with terrorist criminal power extending from the White House and Congress down into the very neighborhoods of our cities and towns. The recent murder in Chicago, by stabbing, of Herman Posner, 73, a brave but reckless rebel against licensed extortion under the charter of a certified notorious union Mafia, was a crime so heinous that it went practically unnoticed outside the city. It was a repetition of the murder of Dennis Bruce Ziegler, under almost identical conditions, 27 years ago. Posner was stabbed in the yard of his modest home. Ziegler was shot dead on his own doorstep two nights after he had begged the Intelligence office of the Internal Revenue to protect him because he was marked for death for giving information regarding the income tax returns of William E. Maloney, the president of the Union of Operating Engineers. Maloney is a despicable thug on the order of Dave Beck, former boss of the Teamsters. He got rich exploiting workers in collusion with contractors against the interests of his subjects and government agencies which were forced to hire union workers on public undertakings. He finally was kicked out but he still is immune to even the routine examination that would be imposed on a subject in

Meg Has Done Splendid Thing For Short Men

I am 5 feet 8 1/2 inches tall, so Princess Margaret is not going to get the usual electric toaster for a wedding present from me.

Nor is she going to get a silver salt and pepper set, which is what I sometimes send when I don't find toasters on sale.

Princess Margaret is going to get a handsome present from me, an unusual one, even if I can't afford it. For in choosing a husband who is well below average height she has done a splendid thing for me, and for every other man who has to stand on tiptoe to reach a cup on the second shelf.

Short men all over the world have been given a tremendous boost in morale, had their egos reinforced, by Margaret's choice Antony Armstrong-Jones to walk down the aisle with her.

With all the work to choose from, the Princess reached down, so to speak, and tapped Antony the head — Antony who, from all reports, is not much taller than the tripod which supports his favorite camera.

What a blow the Princess's choice must have been to the tall men of the world — the men who had come to believe that the world of romance belonged to them.

Hadn't they — the tall ones — been taught by fiction, by movies by television, by advertisements, that they were the only ones the girls wanted, and the only ones who got the girls?

In popular fiction there isn't a pint-sized hero in ten thousand stories. Can you remember ever reading of a hero "rising to his full height of five feet eight inches, inches, and striding across the room?"

On TV all the dominant males are ten feet tall, or thereabouts, fill a door when they walk through, and manhandle small personnel with the backs of their hands. Who strides masterfully across the movie screens of the world? Six-footers or better. Hollywood wouldn't tolerate a short man winking up with the girl and the glory.

In advertisements, who displays the clothes? Not a shorty, you can count on that. As far as the ads are concerned, short men don't wear clothes, drive cars, smoke cigarettes, or become men of distinction.

PAS-AS-YOU-SEE—All eyes are on Toronto, Canada, these days to see how a recently begun experiment in pay television works out. Sponsored by a movie firm, "Telemeter" provides three channels for its 2,000 subscribers. Two carry public service movies and news at no cost. The third shows movies currently playing at theaters—with the commercials or interruptions. Cost varies from 50 cents to $2, depending upon the event. The home viewer just deposits the money in the coin box attached to his set. The box then unscrambles the picture.

Walter Rogers Reports Producers Still Waiting For Word From Ike On Gas Bill

The Gas Bill
A recent letter from a member of Congress to President Eisenhower and the President's reply have caused much discussion in the oil and gas industry. The letter from the Congressman, in effect, asked the President what he intended to do about recommending legislation to free the gas producers in this country from utility-type regulation. The President answered that he strongly favored the elimination of public utility - type regulation of producers of natural gas.

This all sounded very good and built up some high hopes among the oil and gas people. However, the President went on further to say that if those in control of Congress gave some indication that they would join in his effort, he would support the legislation. This meant, in effect, that he did not intend to send to the leaders of Congress a recommendation as to the type of gas legislation he would sign.

The usual procedure has been for the President to send to the Congress a draft of a bill that he would like to see enacted into law. The Congress in turn considers the legislation. Such a recommendation by the President has a tremendous weight on all members of Congress, especially those of the same political party as the President. It is the consensus of many here that the only way a gas bill can be passed this session would be for the President to send up to the Congress the type of bill that he would approve and recommend its passage.

We passed an excellent gas bill in 1956 which the President had said met with his approval. It did everything the President had said he was for and wanted. Many of the members of Congress were following the lead of the President in voting for the gas bill. But, even with that help, the bill passed by a narrow margin of less than 10 voting for that gas bill. But, even Without the help of the President at that time, it is very doubtful the bill would have passed. The reason is that many of the members in the Congress do not come from oil and gas districts and do not fully understand the problem involved. Their districts are made up primarily of consumers of gas and, consequently, their vote for a gas bill can cause them much criticism, because their constituents have been misled as to the purpose of such a bill.

The gas bill which passed in 1956 required a tremendous amount of work on the part of those of us members who are familiar with the problem, and we felt sure that we had answered one bureaucratic daughter, Mrs. R. J. Slattery in Amarillo recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Farley of Skelly Crawford camp fished at Possum Kingdom recently. They fished out at Willow Beach camp and brought home a nice catch.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slaven were in Austin recently. Mrs. Slaven took the state board test for beauty operators. They also visited in San Antonio and across to Del Rio, Mexico, to visit Mrs. Slaven's sister. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dyer, former residents in Eunice, N.M.

Eddie Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reed, was chosen best actor in the district one act play contest at White Deer - Skellytown High School.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fields welcomed a new grandson. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Farris, Pampa.

Mrs. Rosalie Wedge visited her problem. However, the President, to our utter dismay, vetoed the bill. By so doing, he completely pulled the rug out from under those members of his own party who had followed his suggestions and recommendations. When he vetoed the bill he stated that it was a good bill, but that he was vetoing it because of some reported irregularities in outside activities while the bill was being considered by the Congress.

In other words, he permitted an act of alleged corruption by some individual in the nation's capital to influence him into vetoing a bill which he had recommended and thereby punished every honest gas producer in this country, including a good number of small independent operators who have helped to build the economy of the Panhandle of Texas and our general area.

Because the rug was pulled out from under them as outlined above, many members here feel that the members who found themselves landing on their head after following the President's recommendations, will be somewhat suspicious unless the President sends the bill to the Congress setting forth his views on the subject and indicating that he does not intend to veto it.

I write this information because I want the people to know the truth and actual facts concerning these transactions. There is a lot more to this story, but I have written it as concisely as I could in order to keep within the confines of the space available.

A gas bill can pass the Congress this year if the President of the United States will send the bill to the Congress and request that it be enacted.

Small World
The State of South Carolina has spent some illustrious sons to the National Congress, and they have written splendid records. But there is one in particular who has an especial tie to the 18th Congressional District of Texas. One of the counties in the Panhandle bears the name of the great uncle of this fine Representative. I have hopes of being able to bring him home with me sometime so that he can have a look at this fine county and have further reason to be proud of his great uncle. The Representative of whom I speak is Robert W. Hemphill of Chester, South Carolina. His great uncle was a Justice of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Texas and the First Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Texas, and subsequently served as U.S. Senator from Texas. The county bearing his name is, of course, Hemphill County, the County Seat of which is Canadian.

FORFEITED BAIL
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mrs. Florence Adland, 42, mother of the late Errol Flynn's 17-year-old girl friend, Beverly Adland, forfeited $20 bail Monday by failing to show up for trial on a drunk charge.

Mrs. Adland was arrested Feb. 28 outside the home of Jack Andrew Dulin, 32, demanding to see her daughter. She pleaded innocent to the charge and requested a jury trial. Her failure to appear and subsequent bail forfeiture closed the case.

OLD ROCKS
The Palisades are said by geologists to contain rocks about 150 million years old. They make up the lower part of the west bank of the Hudson River.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Today's hand was actually misplayed in an important match by one of the 19 or 12 best players in this country.

The hand is similar to yesterday's in that his trump holding is seven to the ace-queen-ten opposite a void, but there is one major difference. This time the fourth best spade is the seven spot; yesterday, it was the nine. Anyway, South ruffed the second heart and promptly led the ace and queen of trumps. West made his king and East had two more trump tricks with the jack and nine. South had managed to go down one trick.

South had executed what my teammate, Bill Grieve, calls a "nothing play." He had nothing to gain by his play of the queen.

HADDOCK CARRIES ON

LONDON (UPI) — The "Lovers' Club, whose house cat 'per' recently died, Wednesday found a replacement named 'Haddock.'

Suppose he picked up a doubleton-jack! He would still have to lose a trick to the nine.

With most card combinations South would have broken even by his play of the queen, but with the one combination that was actually held against him the nothing play had cost an all important trick.

FEARS AXIS REVIVAL

LONDON (UPI) — Pravda's Tokyo correspondent has taken a dim view of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's visit to Japan.

In a Pravda article relayed to London by Tass news agency the correspondent said the visit was an attempt to revive the World War II Axis alliance between Germany and Japan.
