Russia Reorganizing Eastern Germany

West's Invitation Is Spurned by Move

BERLIN—(AP)—Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Russian commander in Germany, ordered the establishment today of an economic commission for Eastern Germany—the Soviet occupation zone.

In so doing, he spurned repeated invitations to integrate the economy of the Russian Zone with that of Western Germany.

His order obviously was the Soviet answer to a strong economic union of the British and American Zones, Sokolovsky previously demanded dissolution of that merger.

Trio Marooned 12 Hours When Home Burns

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sullivan and their 12-year-old nephew, Eddie Mandas of Colorado Springs, were marooned, barefoot and thin, for almost 12 hours as their home on the Sullivan lease about five miles south of town burned to the ground about 1:30 Wednesday morning, during the most intense period of the blizzard.

Mr. Sullivan, 64, is in Worley Hospital being treated for frostbite of the hands and feet and burns about the neck, face and head.

Sokolovsky granted the commission power "to issue orders and instructions binding on all German organizations in the Soviet Zone of Germany in harmony with orders of the Soviet military administration."

The commission was empowered also to "examine questions of the reestablishment and development of peacetime industry in the Soviet Zone of Germany as well as coordination of the activity of the central German administrative organs for individual branches of the economy."

The commission was ordered to carry through according to plan reparations deliveries and to satisfy the needs of Soviet occupation forces in Germany.

In an authorized interview, an official of the central Soviet administration for finance denied the move represented establishment of an "east German government." He said the aim simply was "to reorganize the administrative body" for the Soviet Zone.

The commission was told to set up a "joint committee" similar to that established for the economic council of the British and American Zones.

(Pravda, Moscow Communist Party newspaper, said in a Munich dispatch today the Americans are taking a dim view of other British-administered areas of Germany.)

(Pravda said the United States is buying into Ruhr mines and German factories to get permanent footholds in the German economy.)

The Americans are giving former Nazis back their industrial firms, the paper said, and their program of reparations from capital equipment aims at removing all competitors to American firms which are leaving untouched the total German war potential.)

The economic administration for the U. S. and British Zones is prescribed in a military government proclamation effective last Monday. It will consist of a two-house legislative council by state legislators, an allied-appointed high court and five executive committees, all Germans. These last will be under a chairman, virtual premier, and will head national departments of economy, finance, transportation and food. The administration will have no police powers.

In the Allied Control Council, Jan. 20, Sokolovsky said the plan would split Germany in violation of the Potsdam Agreement. He demanded that it be shelved.

The French Foreign Office about the same time sent notes to the U. S. and Britain objecting that the setup would recreate German bureaucracy.

JAPS DEMOBILIZED

TOKYO—(AP)—Allied Headquarters said today more than 6,500,000 Japanese servicemen have been demobilized, the backbone of the Imperial Navy smashed and nearly 1,000,000 tons of ammunition destroyed.

FATHEREE SELLS DRUG STORE HERE

Clyde F. Fatheree this morning announced the sale of the Fatherree Drug Store to T. A. Perkins, who formerly operated the Perkins Pharmacy in the building where the Berry Pharmacy is now located.

Until recently Perkins was with the Modern Pharmacy at 115 W. Kingsmill. He is to assume operation of the business Monday.

Fatherree will operate the Pampa Wholesale Company which he recently purchased at 400 W. Kingsmill, located in the Masonic Building. For a time, until new quarters are completed at 117 S. Cuyler, the Firestone Company will share business quarters in the Masonic Building.

Search parties found the bodies about a quarter of a mile apart. The storm victims had abandoned their car nearly five miles from the nearest farmhouse. The auto was two-thirds filled with snow.

At the time, Melvin Miller's parents were in Wichita, Kans., where another son, 18, was hospitalized, in a serious condition, as a result of a fall from a granary.

NEW BUSINESS IS OPENING HERE

John Phelps, resident here since 1935, has announced the opening of the Plains Nursery and Floral Co., 317 E. Brown. The new business will have its formal opening tomorrow, Valentine's Day, he said.

Phelps, who has had former experience in the nursery and floral business, said he had a 50-by-140 foot space for a nursery at the location, and that plans were already made for future expansion.

Skies Clear Over Texas

(By The Associated Press)

Skies were clearing rapidly over Texas today and lifting temperatures promised early relief from paralyzing conditions brought on by snow in the West, ice in the North and Central sections.

Clouds had lifted as far east as Dallas at 8 a.m. Light rains were still falling in the extreme east and along the Gulf Coast.

The temperature dropped to zero the lowest level of the current cold wave, at Amarillo and Pampa. The Dallas Weather Bureau said warmer weather was in store tonight and tomorrow for the Panhandle, swept Wednesday and yesterday by the winter's worst blizzard, which claimed three lives and virtually stopped travel.

The forecast called for partly cloudy and warmer weather in East Texas. The Weather Bureau said the clouds for the most part would be high, providing little obstruction to sunshine.

Despite the severity of the blizzard which covered the Panhandle and most of the South Plains, total snowfall was light. The Weather Bureau said that an average of only one to two inches on the level remained on the ground over most of the area.

Former Borgan Dies in Storm

Melvin Miller, 20, of Fowler, Kans., formerly of Borgan and a graduate of Phillips High School, was one of three found dead near Fowler, as a result of the blizzard, by searching parties Thursday morning.

The other found dead in snow drifts were Miss Phyllis Moehler, 19, and her sister Louise.

Miller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Miller of Fowler, Kans., residents of Borgan for 18 years, who moved to Fowler four years ago.

BORGER BLAST FOUND; NO DEATHS, INJURIES

BORGER—(AP)—The explosion which shook Borger at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday is no longer a mystery. Sheriff Hugh Anderson learned the blowing up of a heater in a wash tank on the Continental Oil Lease 1 1/2 miles west of the Columbian Carbon plant.

No one was hurt.

The blast vibrated buildings and rattled windows.

HST Insists Curbs Are Still Needed

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman still thinks the country needs price controls in spite of the severe break in the grain market.

The word from Republican leaders in Congress today is that he still has little chance of getting them.

Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich.) of the House Banking Committee went even further. He said Congress may have to start thinking about ways to keep prices from going too far down.

Price Break Blamed on Reserve Law

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Two Midwest senators today pushed repeal of a law which shuts off wheat export when reserve supplies in this country fall to 50,000,000 bushels.

Senator Young (R-Ind.) said he thinks this provision in a foreign aid bill passed last December is one of the reasons for the sharp break in grain prices.

He said it forces foreign buyers to look for wheat in other exporting countries when U. S. supplies fall to the floor level. That, he declared, tends to shut American producers out of the world market and depress prices in this country.

Young said Congress should investigate the motives of officials of all four major commodity exchanges who supported the repeal requirement before it was adopted.

The automatic ban on exports, he said, (1) helps speculators who gamble on a drop in the cost of wheat and (2) penalizes U. S. farmers.

The North Dakotan gave his views in a statement explaining a bill he has prepared with Senator Bushfield (R-S.D.) to wipe out the wheat carry-over clause.

"Carry-over" is the portion of a crop held in storage from one crop year to the next, including seed. The 150,000,000-bushel requirement was written into the 1917 special session.

Young said it is working out as "unreasonable, unfair and discriminatory" to the American farmer and may prove "disastrous."

The broadcast confirmed rumors that one of the Marine pilots, Charles J. Brayton, Jr., Fort Jay, Governors Island, N. Y., was wounded fatally.

The unlicensed acts of the United States Armed Forces and military police in various parts of China and their aid to Chiang Kai-Shek in wanting civil war are facts known to everyone," said the broadcast.

"This is utterly imperialist, aggressive activity and the great American nation will tolerate no longer this aggression since October 1945, U. S. Armed Forces and Military personnel have continuously carried out aggression and military reconnaissance against the liberated areas, as well as making unreasonable demands."

The broadcast said the five Marines had "advanced against a position" of the Communists near a village north of Tsingtao Christmas Day. It said the U. S. Navy had been asked to "apologize."

Adm. Charles M. Cooke, Jr., commander of U. S. Navy forces in the Far East, said in Shanghai Monday he could not confirm a rumor that one Marine had been killed. He said he had no news of the five since they were captured Christmas Day.

CARS COLLIDE ON ICY STREET

The icy intersection of Foster and Cuyler yesterday afternoon sent a sedan and pickup truck crashing into each other as the sedan attempted to make a left turn into Cuyler from Foster, police reported this morning.

Police said the crash occurred at 2 p.m. when a 1942 Chevrolet sedan, driven by Ralph H. Baxter, 1004 Duncan, traveling east on Foster attempted to turn north on Cuyler, and a 1941 Chevrolet pickup truck, driven by John E. Keogh, 404 N. Crest, going west on Foster, met head on.

Damage to the pickup was estimated by police at $200 and $175 damage to the sedan. There were no injuries or arrests, police added.

Eleven Perish as Fire Sweeps House

UTICA, N. Y.—(AP)—Eleven persons were believed to have perished today in a flash fire that wrecked a two-story frame dwelling near the New York Central Railroad tracks in western Utica. Five bodies, including those of three children, had been recovered six hours later.

Fire Chief Leo Barry said 14 other persons had escaped. Three members of one family, who jumped from a second floor window, were hospitalized.

Firemen found the charred body of three-year-old Dana Louis Hoage in the rubble. She was identified by her uncle, Dana Paye, Jr.

The walls of the long, ramshackle building, in Cedar Street, collapsed before most of the second floor occupants could get out, firemen said.

St. Elizabeth's Hospital said Mrs. Ella Paye, 48, was in critical condition with three-fourths of her body burned.

Her husband, Dana Paye, Sr., suffered first and second degree burns of the face and head.

Their daughter, Catherine Paye, 19, received first and second degree burns of the face and arms and suffered shock.

Mary Hoage, 13, who jumped from a second story porch into a snow bank told other members of her family waiting in a room to be rescued when the building collapsed.

She and three other survivors were taken to a nearby home.

Firemen said they had accounted for 14 people in the hospital and in neighboring houses.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

The Hoage girl said Dana Paye, 16, and Herman Paye, 62, of Sandy Creek, who had been visiting the Paye family, had escaped.

Fortis Sprague, 41, who fled through a first floor window said Henry Alquist, his wife, and two children, Gail, 5, and Dolores, 3, had made their way out.

Mary Hoage gave this account: "I was sleeping with my sister-in-law, Mrs. Shirley Hoage. There were 10 or 11 persons upstairs at the time."

"Shirley woke up and started coughing. The room was filled with smoke. She grabbed the baby, Michale Allen, and ran to the front room to get up my mother, Mrs. Ruth Hoage."

"My mother woke up my sister, Virginia, and she got her baby, Lee."

"They all stayed in the front room and yelled for help."

"I went on the porch and tried to get my sisters but could not find them. I jumped off the porch into a snowbank in my night clothes."

"I told the others I would catch the babies if they would drop them to me, but they said firemen would help them and they waited. That was the last I saw of them."

The temperature was about three degrees above zero. A 35-mile-per-hour wind whipped clouds of snow and sleet. On a country road, eight miles south of Stratford, the car hit a big snowdrift and stalled.

The gasoline supply ran out and the car's heater stopped. Desperate. See HOME BURNS, Page 8.

CRIPPS WARNS BRITONS TO USE VOLUNTARY PLAN

LONDON—(AP)—Britain's top economic planner says the labor government may have to choose to keep down wages and profits.

Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer and minister of economic affairs, told the House of Commons so last night. He urged British government to accept voluntary controls.

The French government also moved against price boosts. It sent the National Assembly in Paris a bill to outlaw all price increases since Jan. 15 not justified by production costs. A lawbreaker could be jailed for a year and put out of business.

British unions some 5,000,000 strong have been insisting upon higher pay despite Prime Minister Attlee's hold-the-line plea in last week's government White Paper.

Cripps reiterated the appeal for voluntary measures to stem wage and profit rises. Then he asked the house:

"Can we take them in a democratic way by free choice, or are we to demand the imposition of them by force?"

Sir Stafford asked that wage negotiations either be postponed or "conducted in the light of the principles laid down in the White Paper" that is, no boosts.

He said the government plans to freeze manufacturers' prices and distributors' profits at the December-January level, perhaps in a month or so.

Meanwhile, the manufacturers and distributors are to hand in plans for voluntary price-and-profit rollbacks on both controlled and non-controlled goods. "The freeze will be to hold things steady while they make their plans."

Plan to Settle Disputes Set

DALLAS—(AP)—Labor's plan for settlement of jurisdictional disputes in the building industry is moving toward reality.

The Associated General Contractors of America yesterday approved the plan proposed by Edward J. Gray, American Federation of Labor official.

The group then appointed four members to a board of trustees created in the plan.

Gray's proposal calls for a five-man board. Jurisdictional disputes not settled locally within 10 days would be referred to it for action.

Two members of labor and two of business would serve on the board with an impartial chairman. The four employer representatives appointed will, with four from labor, select the impartial chairman. He will then appoint the two members of labor and business to serve on the joint board.

Named here were Edward P. Palmer, New York City, and James D. Marshall, Washington, D. C., to represent general contractors.

Paul M. Gerry, Washington, D. C., and H. R. Cole, Washington, D. C., to represent the seven national organizations of specialty contractors, which had ratified the joint board action on Feb. 10.

Gray told the contractors he expected the AFL council to ratify the plan and that "we can proceed immediately with representatives of the employers to put the board into operation."

Scout Circus Is Tomorrow

Three months of work and preparation have gone into this year's edition of the Santa Fe District Scout Circus to be presented tomorrow night at 7:30 at the Junior High Gym. Scout Executive Hugo Olsen said all persons in the area were invited to the event which is expected to surpass in popularity any previous Scout circus here. There will be no admission charge.

Final arrangements were worked out last night at a meeting of Scout committees, Scoutmasters and Cubmasters. During the meeting, Jimmy McCune showed a film presented by the American Youth Council, "Making Way for Youth."

Hurley Laycock has been named circuit director. Jimmy McCune, chief announcer, and C. K. Trease, general arrangements chairman.

The circus is presented in honor of those of the community who have helped in the Scouting program.

Directors of the various events were named. Exploring Post 80 is in charge of opening and closing ceremonies. C. W. Andrews and Claude Wilson will be in charge of the signaling event. C. L. Gallegos and James L. Brown, cycling. Lewis Chamberlain and Dr. H. L. Wilder, German harp. Frank H. B. Cartwright, freemaking act, pack 4, pack 22, and pack 14.

Stanley Brandt, pioneering; E. L. Gallimore and Roy Kretzmer, Indian dancing; Robert Gray and Dr. H. L. Wilder, first aid; Frank In Baer, physical fitness; Joe J. Calhoun, aviation.

Olsen said troops and packs over a wide area of the Santa Fe District will participate in the program, which will last about an hour and 15 minutes.

Harvesters Meet Sandies Tomorrow Nite

Tomorrow night in the Armory in Amarillo, the Pampa Harvesters will ring down the curtain on their 1948 conference basketball season, when they meet Amarillo High School's Golden Sandies in the final District IAA conference game for both teams.

This will be the Harvesters' last scheduled game of the year. Amarillo meets the Berger Bulldogs in Amarillo tonight and a win over the Bulldogs, who hold a record of 10 wins against 10 losses, will clinch the Harvesters' championship for the year.

The Green and Gold squad coached by Cliff McNeil, has a season's record of 22 wins and two losses, and a conference record of seven wins and two losses. The Sandies have won 12 of 22 games, but have lost 10 conference games, being defeated in league play.

Five of the six Pampa members will be playing their last regular scheduled conference game. Left from Pampa are: Tom Humberston and Kim will all be graduating this summer. The Harvesters' starting line-up: Darrell Davis, who is the only man returning to next year's squad. Davis is a forward.

All of the six Sandies regulars, Byler, Sharp, Watson, Farmer, Ellis, and Wilson will be playing their last conference game for the Sandies.

In the eventuality of a tie for the conference championship between the Harvesters and the Sandies, a play-off series would be necessary. The games would have to be played next week.

LA-TEXAS LOOP NOT TO OPERATE UNTIL '49
COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The new class D Louisiana-Texas Loop will not start the 1948 season, President George Trautman of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues announced today.

Trautman said one or two of the six clubs were unable to complete their parks in time for the season opening. The league plans to be ready for a 1949 season, he said.

Valley Open Moves Into 2nd Round Today

With a Splash

The Clarendon boy, who fought for Lubbock here last year, outpointed David Gonzalez of San Angelo, an Abilene team member, but didn't look too good in the process. He wasn't aggressive during the first two rounds and had to make strong finish in the third to get the close vote.

It was, frankly, one of the night's duller bouts. Davis next will meet Fred Morales of Temple in a Saturday night contest.

Morales, a surprise of last night's card when he outpointed Houston's Henry Kagawa, the 19.6-pounder who had been picked to breeze to the title this season, also will have a fight.

Another Pampa district champion, representing the Amarillo region, will make his Fort Worth bow tonight. The lethal lefty, Eugene Cooper, winner of 65 consecutive bouts but never before a contender in the state meet, will oppose Manuel Vega of San Antonio.

The winner will go to the quarter-finals as will the victors in three other Friday night contests featuring Amarillo delegates.

Lolo Jimenez of Amarillo, substituting for Buster Holman, the regional featherweight champion, will not make the trip to Austin to fight against the Valentine Luna, the 1947 bantam champion.

Johnny Hernandez, Amarillo lightweight, will meet Bobby Smith of Tyler and is favored to win.

Dickie Brown, Amarillo heavyweight, goes against Bud Stager of Beaumont, who is regarded highly.

Two other representatives of the Panhandle region already have advanced to the quarter-finals. Alex Perez, Amarillo middleweight, won by a knockout Wednesday night.

Last night Leon Palaco, Amarillo bantamweight, scored an easy decision over Delbert Humberston of Brownwood.

Palaco started carefully, then pounded out three knockouts in the second and third rounds, and it was surprising that Humberston was able to last.

Walters Waited Six Years as Third Sacker but He'll Crash 200 Victory Circle in Spring

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK (AP)—William Henry Walters frittered away six years as a third baseman, yet the Reds' Old Reliable this spring will crash the victory circle of pitchers who have won 200 or more major-league games.

Bucky Walters requires only two decisions, you see, and was as effective as ever last fall.

It was a great day for Walters when Jimmy Wilson grew tired of seeing him pump the ball on it than any of the Phillies' pitchers possessed, and suggested that he be put where it would do the most good. Besides, Bucky didn't hit well enough to play third base.

The switch was a fine break for Gerry Nugent, too, for it enabled the Philadelphia club owner to remain at half step ahead of the sheriff by selling Walters to the Cincinnati for $55,000 in June, 1938.

It was also a profitable transaction for the Redlegs, spelling the pennants of 1939-40.

Walters, the All-America Boy type, will be 38 with the opening of another season, but has a way of rising to an occasion, and will be hard to turn back this spring. Bucky now totes his own car, a Buick, and he is a member of the Cardinals while the Red Birds still had it.

Something like 25,000 persons were at Crosley Field on Bucky Walters' last Sept. 9, 1947. Bucky and the misuses were showered with gifts ranging from a half dozen live turkeys to a new and expensive automobile.

Voicing his appreciation, Walters said: "This is one game I've wanted to pitch."

And with one exception he limited all traffic to first base, checking the ferocious Braves with only four hits in posting a 2-0 triumph.

In the space of an hour and 28 minutes, July 28, the venerable campaigner yielded but two hits and faced only 29 men as the Rinelanders took the measure of Dutch Bonar and the Phils, led by "Old Bucky" how blind he was in science," observed manager Ben Chapman.

The two shutouts he hurled in 1947 ran Walters' total to 42, and he leads active National League pitchers in that department by a wide margin. He ranks seventh among all-time NL callime specialists.

A pitcher's legs go first, too, and Walters still has good ones under him. His infield experience made him an example of efficiency as a fielding pitcher. A fifth infielder, he is one of the few pitchers to have made an unassisted double play.

Walters, extremely popular, is a tremendous team influence, too. "When I was a rookie," says Ewell Blackwell, the long drink of water who spun the 16-game game, "I was so nervous I missed successive no-hit, no-run games. Walters helped me in 1000 different ways. If it wasn't for Bucky, I think I'd have gotten lost."

When Walters decides to call it a career as an active combatant, he'll make a grand coach of young pitchers.

And Bucky Walters is the kind of a fellow everybody would like to see remain in baseball for a long, long time.

Bears Move Closer to Title By Downing Texas 48 to 39

By The Associated Press

It was all Baylor in the Southwest Conference basketball game today.

The Bears knocked defending champion Texas out of the undefeated ranks and a share of the lead last night, 48-39, to move within three games of a perfect conference season and the championship.

Don Heathington's deadly shooting accounted for exactly half of Baylor's score, while Texas' speedy sharp-shooter Slater Martin was held to eight and Tom Hamilton garnered only nine. Al Madsen paced Texas' scoring with 11 points.

The result left the Bears with nine straight conference victories, put Texas in second place with a five and one record and shoved Arkansas into third.

Baylor held the lead most of the first half, but Texas dead-locked the score just before the intermission. A crisp shot by Heathington gave Baylor a 22-20 lead at the half.

Two conference games are scheduled today, but they mean very little in the championship race.

Arkansas is host to Texas Christian at Fayetteville, Ark., in the first of a two-game series and Rice plays Texas A & M at College Station.

The race is practically over for Baylor. It has only three games left to play. One is against Texas Christian and another with Southern Methodist, both out of the running for the title. This game is the most important. This is with Texas.

Fort Worth Golfer Enters Semi-Finals Of Women's Tourney
PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Four top-flight women golfers will compete here today in the semi-final round of the Palm Beach women's Golf Tournament.

Polly Riley, medalist from Fort Worth, Texas, will meet Carol Dringer of Tiffin, Ohio; Peggy Kirk of Findlay, Ohio, will play with Pat Devany of Groose Isle, Mich.

Miss Riley, a Curtis Cup member, moved into the semi-finals after easily defeating Mrs. Eddie Bush of Wilmington, Del., yesterday.

PRIORITIES IN MANILA
MANILA (AP)—Scores of schools and hospitals in Manila burned out during the war will be rebuilt in 1948, the Philippine war damage commission says.

Such institutions have first priority in the multi-million dollar rebuilding program, which should get into full swing this year.

LA-TEXAS LOOP NOT TO OPERATE UNTIL '49
COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The new class D Louisiana-Texas Loop will not start the 1948 season, President George Trautman of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues announced today.

Trautman said one or two of the six clubs were unable to complete their parks in time for the season opening. The league plans to be ready for a 1949 season, he said.

Hospital Greenhouse Is War Memorial
PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. (AP)—The American Legion auxiliary of Pennsylvania has donated a $20,000 fully equipped greenhouse to the Valley Forge General Hospital.

It was dedicated to "those who fought and died to preserve their nation, to those who fought and suffered the ravages of war and to those still living sound in body and mind who must work for a perpetual peace."

Valley Open Moves Into 2nd Round Today
With a Splash

The Clarendon boy, who fought for Lubbock here last year, outpointed David Gonzalez of San Angelo, an Abilene team member, but didn't look too good in the process. He wasn't aggressive during the first two rounds and had to make strong finish in the third to get the close vote.

It was, frankly, one of the night's duller bouts. Davis next will meet Fred Morales of Temple in a Saturday night contest.

Morales, a surprise of last night's card when he outpointed Houston's Henry Kagawa, the 19.6-pounder who had been picked to breeze to the title this season, also will have a fight.

Another Pampa district champion, representing the Amarillo region, will make his Fort Worth bow tonight. The lethal lefty, Eugene Cooper, winner of 65 consecutive bouts but never before a contender in the state meet, will oppose Manuel Vega of San Antonio.

The winner will go to the quarter-finals as will the victors in three other Friday night contests featuring Amarillo delegates.

Lolo Jimenez of Amarillo, substituting for Buster Holman, the regional featherweight champion, will not make the trip to Austin to fight against the Valentine Luna, the 1947 bantam champion.

Johnny Hernandez, Amarillo lightweight, will meet Bobby Smith of Tyler and is favored to win.

Dickie Brown, Amarillo heavyweight, goes against Bud Stager of Beaumont, who is regarded highly.

Two other representatives of the Panhandle region already have advanced to the quarter-finals. Alex Perez, Amarillo middleweight, won by a knockout Wednesday night.

Last night Leon Palaco, Amarillo bantamweight, scored an easy decision over Delbert Humberston of Brownwood.

Palaco started carefully, then pounded out three knockouts in the second and third rounds, and it was surprising that Humberston was able to last.

Walters Waited Six Years as Third Sacker but He'll Crash 200 Victory Circle in Spring
By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK (AP)—William Henry Walters frittered away six years as a third baseman, yet the Reds' Old Reliable this spring will crash the victory circle of pitchers who have won 200 or more major-league games.

Bucky Walters requires only two decisions, you see, and was as effective as ever last fall.

It was a great day for Walters when Jimmy Wilson grew tired of seeing him pump the ball on it than any of the Phillies' pitchers possessed, and suggested that he be put where it would do the most good. Besides, Bucky didn't hit well enough to play third base.

The switch was a fine break for Gerry Nugent, too, for it enabled the Philadelphia club owner to remain at half step ahead of the sheriff by selling Walters to the Cincinnati for $55,000 in June, 1938.

It was also a profitable transaction for the Redlegs, spelling the pennants of 1939-40.

Walters, the All-America Boy type, will be 38 with the opening of another season, but has a way of rising to an occasion, and will be hard to turn back this spring. Bucky now totes his own car, a Buick, and he is a member of the Cardinals while the Red Birds still had it.

Something like 25,000 persons were at Crosley Field on Bucky Walters' last Sept. 9, 1947. Bucky and the misuses were showered with gifts ranging from a half dozen live turkeys to a new and expensive automobile.

Voicing his appreciation, Walters said: "This is one game I've wanted to pitch."

And with one exception he limited all traffic to first base, checking the ferocious Braves with only four hits in posting a 2-0 triumph.

In the space of an hour and 28 minutes, July 28, the venerable campaigner yielded but two hits and faced only 29 men as the Rinelanders took the measure of Dutch Bonar and the Phils, led by "Old Bucky" how blind he was in science," observed manager Ben Chapman.

The two shutouts he hurled in 1947 ran Walters' total to 42, and he leads active National League pitchers in that department by a wide margin. He ranks seventh among all-time NL callime specialists.

A pitcher's legs go first, too, and Walters still has good ones under him. His infield experience made him an example of efficiency as a fielding pitcher. A fifth infielder, he is one of the few pitchers to have made an unassisted double play.

Walters, extremely popular, is a tremendous team influence, too. "When I was a rookie," says Ewell Blackwell, the long drink of water who spun the 16-game game, "I was so nervous I missed successive no-hit, no-run games. Walters helped me in 1000 different ways. If it wasn't for Bucky, I think I'd have gotten lost."

When Walters decides to call it a career as an active combatant, he'll make a grand coach of young pitchers.

And Bucky Walters is the kind of a fellow everybody would like to see remain in baseball for a long, long time.

Bears Move Closer to Title By Downing Texas 48 to 39

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE POWER OF THE HOLY SPIRIT

(Scripture: John 14:25-26; Acts 2:1-4; Galatians 5:22-26)

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

It is one thing to have a formal and intellectual belief in Christianity, and to accept its tenets in a general way, possibly to attend church regularly, and to conform in an outward way with the conventional demands of religion. It is much more, if not another thing, to have the power of what might be called a God-filled life.

This, indeed, is precisely what the New Testament, in many places, sets forth as the possible richest endowment of the Christian. Paul's prayer for his fellow Christians (Ephesians 3:16) was that they "might be filled with the fullness of God"; and Peter (II Peter 1:4) wrote of being "partakers of the divine nature."

Jesus spoke of a special endowment of the Spirit, a Comforter who would come, following His death and resurrection, and bring to the disciples' remembrance the things that He had said to them. Then came the experience on the Day of Pentecost when a power and influence that the disciples had not known before was manifest, accompanied by remarkable signs and wonders, especially the "speaking with tongues." But most notable was the sermon by Peter, who had lately denied his Lord, but who now, under the power of the Spirit, spoke with such courage and directness that 3000 were converted.

Paul warned that faith, hope and, above all, love, were the abiding and essential elements in the Christian, for the absence of which no speaking with tongues, or wonder-working gift of miracles, could alone (see I Corinthians 13). But there has been a great tendency in religious circles to associate the presence and working of the Holy Spirit with unusual manifestations and experiences of ecstasy, often amounting to hysteria.

However much those of a stoical disposition may conceal it, there can hardly be a great experience of religion without deep emotion. But emotion, and ecstatic experiences, without relation to character and action, can be of no real religious value, and in themselves they give no evidence of the Holy Spirit's presence and power.

The evidence of the Spirit's en-

Brethren Peace Caravan to Be in Pampa Next Week

Early last fall a group of Brethren Young People, college students and college graduates, formed a Youth Caravan for the purpose of promoting peace and goodwill through the churches of America.

The seven young people of this Caravan are now finishing up their work in Texas. Receiving Sunday at the local Church of the Brethren, one half of this Caravan will begin work in Pampa, commencing services on Sunday morning. Sunday night, Tuesday night, Wednesday night, and Thursday night. On Monday night, while the team rests, the church will show the motion picture "Colossians" which is based on the Passion Play.

The members of the Caravan who will spend the week in Pampa will be Miss Mary Lov Rowman, graduate of North Manchester College, of Ohio; Melvin Ruthroff, McPherson College student of North Manchester College of Kansas; and Edison Sower, also of Ohio. Before joining the Caravan, Mr. Sowers spent a number of months in the Panhandle of Texas and the adjoining territory, collecting wheat for relief.

The meetings will all be opened to the public. The programs will be in the form of open forums and discussions on the subject of international goodwill and world peace. The public is invited to attend these discussions and to take an active part.

Holy Souls Church

There will be special services at Holy Souls Church during Lent. SUNDAY MASSES: 6, 8, 10, 11 a. m.

WEEKDAYS: 6:45 and 8 a. m. MIRACULOUS MEDAL NOVENA: Every Sunday night at 7:30. LENTEN DEVOTIONS: Sunday evenings - 7:30

Wednesday evenings - 7:30 Stations of the Cross - Fridays: 2:45 p. m. and again at 7:30 p. m. Two series of sermons will be preached during the Lenten season. The Sunday night series—"The Passion and Death of the Redeemer of the World"—will be preached by the Rev. O. W. Meyer, C. M.

The Wednesday night series—"God's Law of Obedience"—will be preached by the Rev. Francis Kunz, C. M.

All services open to the public.

Services are much more real and solid. Paul lists them very specifically in the "fruit of the Spirit," which, he says (Galatians 5:22-23), is "love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance."

Compare these evidences with the similar sum in addition given by Peter, another authority on the Spirit-filled life, in II Peter 1:5-7. And Peter sums it all up: "For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ."

"By their fruits ye shall know them."

Women in the Church

By MARY FOWLER

The Board of Missions of the Methodist Church plans to recruit and send to Japan in 1948 about 40 young women and young men to form "The Fellowship of Christian Reconstruction in Japan."

They will go for a three-year period to teach English, music, or physical education in high schools and colleges; and to take part in sports, fellowships, clubs, religious meetings, etc. All instructions and activities will be carried on in English. College graduates, 21 to 25 years of age, are sought.

Prayer Is Like . . .

A FITCHER—to carry the water of life.

INCENSE—with which to worship God.

A BOW—to carry the arrow of our need.

THE PORTER—to watch the door of our lips.

THE GUARD—to keep the fort of our hearts.

THE HILT OF THE SWORD—to defend our hands.

A MASTER WORKMAN—who accomplishes things.

A BAROMETER—to show our spiritual condition.

THE CHARIOT—to hold our petitions, the Spirit being the wheels thereof.

THE TUNING OF AN INSTRUMENT—to get in tune with Heaven's melody.

THE KEY OF RELIGION—to wind up in the first place, and to keep it going each day thereafter.

Know Your STUFF

About Washing Machines.

In the market for a new washing machine? Shopping pointers, offered by home equipment specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will help you to know your stuff about types and special construction features.

A washer made by a reliable manufacturer and bought from a local dealer with a dependable service department is generally the most satisfactory purchase.

Read carefully any guarantee of materials and workmanship made by the manufacturer. The Underwriters' Laboratories seal is your assurance that motor and electrical connections have been approved as safe.

The automatic type of washer which fills itself with water, washes, rinses and damp-dries clothes saves time and labor. It costs more than the "standard" or non-automatic type. Before you invest in the automatic washer, make sure that your household water system provides enough pressure for the machine; that you have plenty of running hot and cold water, reasonably soft.

In the non-automatic type, some machines have wringers, others have spinners which damp-dry a tubful of clothes at once. Both can do equally good jobs.

Four features you'll want in a good non-automatic washer are:

1. Control levers placed so that they are easy to reach. 2. Rubber-covered swivel casters which simplify moving the machine around and which lock to hold the washer steady when in use. 3. Easy-to-read waterline. 4. A device for grounding washer frame to avoid electric shock.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Feb. 15.

The Golden Text is: "I will set my tabernacle among you; and my soul shall not abandon you, and I will walk among you, and you shall be my people" (Leviticus 26:11, 12).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Ye, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee" (Isaiah 26:8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Because Soul is immortal, it does not exist in mortality. Soul must be incorporated to be Spirit, for Spirit is not finite. Only by losing the false sense of Soul can we gain the eternal unfolding of Life as immortality brought to light" (page 355).

ST. MATTHEW'S MISSION

There will be special services at St. Matthew's Episcopal Mission on each Wednesday evening, beginning Feb. 18 and continuing until Easter. The worship service will be preceded by dinner in the Parish House at 6:30.

Newsprint Exports Not in Aid Plan Says State Dept.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The State Department said Thursday it is not urging shipments of U. S. newsprint to Europe or anywhere else.

Moreover, it said it has no plans to send newsprint to Europe under the recovery program even though an ample supply of paper would help maintain a free press there.

The department's position was set forth in a letter to Senator Capehart (R-Ind.), which his office made public.

Capehart wrote the department Jan. 14 saying that he had heard the department is advocating newsprint exports.

THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST

Now if any man have not the spirit of Christ he is none of His.—Romans 8.

Once again, as a demonstration of what we believe to be the spirit of Christ, in the revealed will of God, we are observing Good Will Sunday, February 15, by inviting Rev. W. L. Smith and his St. Mark's Methodist congregation (colored) to be our guests at the morning worship service. Special music will be furnished by the two church choirs. The service will open at 10:50 o'clock.

In order not to violate any State or Local Laws the two congregations will be seated separately. Visitors, both white and colored, are invited to come in and enjoy this service.

Matt & Jeff

I'M GLAD ALL THIS SNOW CAME DOWN IN FLAKES INSTEAD OF ALL AT ONCE!

JEFF, GET A SHOVEL! WE'RE GOIN' TO WORK FOR THE CITY!

DOIN' WHAT?

SHOVELING SNOW OF COURSE!

BUT I AIN'T GOT A SHOVEL!

WELL, GET ONE!

WOT TH--WHAT DO YA EXPECT TO DO WITH THAT LITTLE SHOVEL?

AW! NOW YOU BROKE IT!

VERY LITTLE SHOVELING!

GOSH, UNCLE PHIL! I-I HAD NO IDEA YOU'D FALLEN IN LOVE WITH MRS. CUTIE! B-BUT SHE'S A MESS--SHE MUST HAVE A HUSBAND ALREADY!

SHE'S A WIDOW, MICHAEL! HER HUSBAND KICKED THE BUCKET SIX YEARS AGO!

GOLLY-YOU'VE TAKEN THE WIND RIGHT OUT OF ME! D-DID YOU TELL HER YOU WERE IN LOVE WITH HER BEFORE SHE LEFT TOWN?

NO, MICHAEL! TRUE ROMANCE CAN'T BE RUSHED! BUT I IMAGINE SHE KNOWS HOW I FEEL--SHE'S A VERY INTELLIGENT WOMAN!

THAT'S JUST WHY I'M AFRAID YOU'VE TAKEN TOO MUCH FOR GRANTED, UNCLE PHIL. HOW DO YOU KNOW SHE'S IN LOVE WITH YOU?

YOU'LL GET YOUR ANSWER TO THAT QUESTION AT THE STATION, MICHAEL. SHE'S PROBABLY COUNTIN' MINUTES UNTIL I ARRIVE!

ARE WE ALL SET TO GREET HIM IN THE MANNER THAT YOU SAID WE'LL EXPECT, MRS. CUTIE?

YES--BUT YOU'LL HAVE TO BE THERE TO MAKE IT COMPLETE. YOUR HIGHNESS AND HIS TRAIN ARRIVES IN TWENTY MINUTES.

Mental Hygiene and Air Travel Are Varietas Club Topics

The members of the Varietas Study Club met last Tuesday in the home of Mrs. R. W. Lane, 1208 N. Russell.

The president, Mrs. F. E. Imel, conducted the business which started with the members repeating the Club Collect in unison.

The president gave the club council report, mentioning tentative plans for a concert to be sponsored by the Council of Clubs in the near future. She also announced the District Convention of Federated Clubs to be held in Pampa March 5, 6, and 7.

Upon request of Mrs. Frank Wilson, education chairman, ten dollars was appropriated from the club funds to purchase library books for Carver School.

Two subjects were presented during the formal part of the program, Mental Hygiene and Air Travel. Mrs. H. T. Hampton gave a review of and read extracts from the book, "Peace of Mind," by Dr. Loth Leibman.

Mrs. J. G. Doggett spoke on "Shyways of Tomorrow," stating that there were 8,000 registered "Shyways of Tomorrow," stating that 38,000 persons travel daily. She further stated that two unusual uses of airplanes are the hopes of producing rain by plane and sky-writing, which is done 18,000 feet above the earth.

Mrs. Doggett emphasized the fact that airways are selling time and pointed out that a plane can fly from coast to coast in 12 hours. Mrs. Lee Harrah emphasized the fact that aircraft is an instrument of peace and security.

The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with valentine hearts and cupid on a reflector flanked by tall red candles.

The refreshments consisted of cake squares decorated with red cherry heart toppings, heart-

Plan a Fireside Party for Family

Long winter evenings always bring jolly family gatherings about the fireplace. Many such nights will be spent with everyone's favorite reading or pursuing his quiet hobby. Every so often, it's fun to plan an informal, homey party with everyone young and old-joining in the fun.

The first part of the evening can be spent playing all sorts of games. Then everyone can help in the popping of huge bowls of popcorn to be eaten with shiny juicy red apples. Let the party end with merry stories told to the tune of the last crackling embers of the fireplace. After such an evening, every member of the family is certain to go off to bed with a greater appreciation of what fun "just staying home" can be.

The corn may be popped in a shake-it-yourself popper, a skillet or an electric popper. Pop only a small amount at one time to allow plenty of room for expansion. One fourth to one-third cup of unpopped corn is the capacity of most poppers. It should be cooked over a low heat and must be kept moving constantly during popping to prevent burning. When all the corn is popped, pour it into a large bowl. (A porcelain enameled mixing bowl or saucer-pot is ideal because the smooth finish will not absorb the butter and it will be very easy to wash when empty.) Sprinkle the corn with salt, add the desired amount of melted butter or margarine and mix thoroughly.

Yugoslavia Is Topic For Club Program

Mrs. E. L. Greene, Jr., and Mrs. M. C. Overton were leaders for the program of the Twentieth Century Forum Club which met in the home of Mrs. Aubrey L. Steele last Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Overton gave a paper on "The History of Yugoslavia." She talked of the racial, religious and political conflicts that prevented the west front between Partisans and Chetniks in their battle against the Nazis.

Mrs. Greene talked on "Present Conditions in Yugoslavia," based on the report of Jack Cabot who has returned from seven months tour of duty in that country, speaking of Communist-dominated Yugoslavia. Mrs. Greene said, "Their vast military preparations, vicious propaganda and ruthless police organization, their international policies, even their 2-year plan, their educational organization and indoctrination of their youth all have but one supreme end in view, the downfall of the United States as the bastion of Capitalism, the triumph of Communist tyranny throughout the world."

Refreshments with valentine favors were served during the tea hour.

It was announced that the next meeting would be a guest day with Mrs. Frank Carter, 1016 Mary Ellen.

Las Cresas Club Reveals Spring Dance Schedule

The Las Cresas Club met last Tuesday night in the home of Miss Janice Mayes, 215 Sunset Drive. Plans were made for dances to be held from now until school is dismissed in May.

Three of the main dances to be held this spring are: The annual Las Cresas "Scarecrow" dance to be held March 12. At this dance a gift is presented to the boy in high school that is voted, by the members, to be the Club Sweetheart for the year.

The "Kid Day" Dance, which is always held on April 1, was discussed. Since this is a special date in high school all "kids" will be admitted free.

The Spring Formal, which is held in early spring, will take place on April 24. This dance is especially for the girls to show off their new spring formal.

On Feb. 28, a dinner dance will be held at Miss June Anderson's for the club members and their dates.

Club sweatshirts were discussed and ordered. Nominations were made for the "Scarecrow" of this year. They will be voted on later this month.

Refreshments of cupcakes and cookies were served to Irma Jean McWright, Joyce Harrah, Barbara Carruth, June Anderson, Rosmond Allen, Vinita Cowan, Berenice Homer, Mary Lou Mazy, and the hostess. Next week the club meeting will be held at Mary Lou Mazy's.

20th Century Culture Club Has Program on The American Home

Mrs. Jack Merchant was hostess for the Tuesday meeting of the Twentieth Century Culture Club.

The program of the afternoon was presented by students of Miss Thelma Henslie, speech instructor at Pampa High School. A forum on the subject, "The American Home, Gone, or Going Strong?" was presented with Dick Hughes serving as moderator. Others in the group were Pat Bolin, Nickie Frasier, Ariene Gilmore, David Lamb, and Don Lane.

A refreshment plate was served to fourteen members.

It was announced that the next meeting will be held on Feb. 24. At this time Mrs. Bob Bradshaw, of Borger, will present the program on home decoration. Mrs. Fred Radcliff will be hostess.

Local Girl Earns Scholastic Honor

Mrs. H. M. Stokes received official word this week that her daughter, Edith Mae Morrow, a student at WTSC, Canyon, had earned the right to have her name placed on the honor roll for the fall semester of 1947. This is one of the highest scholastic honors that can be earned in that institution. Miss Morrow's grades were high enough to rank in the upper 5 percent of the students enrolled in the college, according to statement made yesterday.

Mr. Truman knows that appeasement... is not peace—whether it is urged by reactionaries or radicals.

Pampa Girl Enrolls At Stephens College

COLUMBIA, Mo.—Miss Angela Duncan of Pampa, Tex., has enrolled at Stephens College for women here for the second semester term which opened Feb. 3.

New students at the college are being honored at hall parties and meetings to acquaint them with campus life.

Miss Duncan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wade Duncan, 1013 Charles, has been assigned to Wales hall, one of the 25 residence halls on the Stephens College campus.

WE, THE WOMEN

NEA Staff Writer

Women are forever being warned of the importance of building up a man's ego, but it is just as important for a man to keep up his wife's ego if he wants a happy home.

So here are a few pointers for husbands:

Remember never to credit any other woman with both beauty and brains. That rare combination belongs only to the woman you married—she is a unique.

In an all-out effort to make a hit with your dinner hostess, don't say "I wish you'd teach Madge how to barbecue chicken."

When she models a new dress for you, don't let your first comment be, "What's it going to set me back?"

When she has spent the day making new draperies for the living room, don't dismiss the subject with a careless "say, they look swell." Tell her how much they improve the room, and how smart she is to have made them.

Talk to her when she is in the mood for talking. It's pretty deflating to a woman's ego to have a husband who doesn't think anything she has to say is as interesting as the evening paper.

Let her be a clinging vine occasionally. Women need to be made to feel there is someone they can lean on in bad moments, the way men need to be made to feel they are capable of meeting any emergency.

Health Awards Given Texas Cities

AUSTIN—(AP)—Awards for good water works and sewerage systems were received Wednesday by 13 Texas cities.

Dr. George Cox, state health officer, presented awards at the Texas Water Works and Sewerage Short School held at Texas A. & M. College.

The annual plaque for completing the greatest improvements on its sewage treatment plant since 1947 went to the El Paso County Water Control Authority at Uvalde, Edinburg. Big Spring and Greens Bayou received cups, and Wichita Falls, Silsbee, Texarkana, Grand Prairie, Lott, Comanche, El Paso and Corpus Christi were named to the honor roll.

Models' Laboratory Is Without Girls

BETHLEHEM, Pa.—(AP)—Lehigh University has opened a models' laboratory. But this lab has no women in it. The only models are structural ones.

It is designed to provide facilities for instruction and research on new development projects in connection with a civil engineering degree.

Models of the Holston River and German Creek bridges in Tennessee and the Cleveland (Ohio) Lakefront Ramp have been constructed.

Pack of Wild Dogs Chases Railroader

Pottsville, Pa.—(AP)—Samuel Bolich outran a snarling, hungry pack of wild dogs—"but I really had to run," he said.

Bolich, a trackwalker for the Reading Company, said he climbed to safety on top of a railroad car standing at the foot of Hawk Mountain.

The dogs fled two hours later when a railroad maintenance crew approached.

"Those dogs sure looked hungry," Bolich commented.

PREGNANCY DIET REQUIRES CARE

Throughout pregnancy, particularly during the last four months, it is essential that the diet be watched very carefully—both for the proper development of the child and to assure the continued health and strength of the mother. It is wise not to eat too heavily at this time, but the prospective mother should make certain to get a sufficient quantity of necessary vitamins and minerals.

A quart of milk each day will furnish over one-third of all the protein required, and in a readily assimilable form. Unfortunately, plain milk is often uninteresting or downright distasteful to many adults. Crisp paper drinking straws will provide a simple solution here. Milk sipped through straws has added taste enjoyment. A little molasses in each glassful will also help, besides taking care of some of the daily iron requirement.

Straws now come in home packages, designed for convenience and economy. They will not only help make milk more appetizing, but will stimulate a greater interest in all other healthful beverages.

Fair Enough... by Westbrook Pegler

Those adherents of Henry Wallace who boast that, whatever his faults, their man is honest, have made a serious political mistake. This mistake will redound to the advantage of historical truth. It will stimulate persons who go exploring in the wastes and caverns of myth, fallacy and fraud in search of truth. No man is completely honest, and most of us are content to have it said that they are honest in all the occasions in which character, integrity and self-respect are the foundations of confidence. Had Wallace's friends been content to accept such a reputation for this soapy fellow of theirs and let him go drooling on his way, the popular imagination would not have been running the back of his hand across his mouth; they would have had an advantage of decent men. But they have talked too much. They have summoned the chastity of the gods to challenge their proposition to the world. Wallace has refused to answer whether he wrote all or any of the imbecilic letters to the late Nicholas Roerich, the Russian guru, or mahatma, which the end of the New Deal cabal concealed from the voters in 1940. Henry Wallace is Roosevelt's personal nominee for vice president. The man who wrote those letters was, by American popular standards, as dizzy as a dervish. These letters are revolting in their idiotic, juvenile prattle of English. One authority on oriental philosophies states that the writer certainly did not understand any of these philosophies but obviously had dabbed in one or more of the terms. I have picked up some of the terms, and the Englishman, hanging around a Piccadilly bar, essays to acquire the American twang and slang and then makes an ass of himself by extolling something which will stay with them much longer than the dollar. They are learning to labor, to produce, to build up instead of tear down; they are learning there is an inestimable satisfaction in that feeling which comes when a job has been successfully done. It's business as usual with them—come had rain, sleet, snow and the worst elements can throw at them. One kid we call them that in the simplest feeling of friendship is an example of the man who would take him out on his route in a few moments. "No," he said, "I'll go on. I've got a little collecting to do along the way."

The temperature was three degrees above and the north wind was playing havoc with any illusions one might have of comfort in the "great open spaces." The narwhal is a playful Arctic whale, frequently seen crossing tundra in a manner suggesting fencing. World government is absolutely essential to avoid catastrophe; therefore, it is possible. —W. T. Holiday, president, Standard Oil Company (Ohio). The surface of the Canadian Sea is 26 feet below sea level.

Gracie Reports By GRACIE ALLEN I see where a big beverage manufacturer, speaking at a bottlers' convention, urged the government to mint a 7 1/2 cent coin for soft-drink use. It sounds like the old-fashioned nickel doesn't pay expenses any more. It looks to me as though this idea is only going around Robin Hood's barn in reverse. Personally, I think that the government, instead of inventing a new coin, ought to invest in a few long-lived living costs that would restore the nickel to its old-time glory. Or, if the U. S. mint wanted to create a really useful coin, I'd suggest one with a nonskid handle grip — one that couldn't slip through a finger and could only be spent on a rainy day. Personally I'm a little afraid of tinkering with coins. The economists say we have a 50-cent dollar now and that's going quite far enough for me.

Citizen Commissions WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Most political posters in Washington probably figure that General Eisenhower's self-scratch from the presidential race leaves the Republican nomination open for either Taft or Dewey. But a few free thinkers here are wondering if there may not be some way for the progressives in the Grand Old Party to grab the elephant goods and go places. It is an interesting, even if extremely long-shot, possibility. When the Republican National Committee met in Washington in mid-January to discuss finances, there was little or no sentiment in favor of ex-Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota. Gov. Earl Warren of California, any of the progressive Republican members of Congress. It was all Taft or Dewey.

Oh, yes — and John Bricker of Ohio. It's a GOP tradition that the party leaders—not the people—pick the candidate. We end in Willie's nomination in 1940 was just a once-in-a-century accident. Party leaders are dedicated to the sacred cause of seeing that their steam roller is never again wrecked in the ditch that way. So Senator Bricker is the man many party big-wigs would really like to see as the radiator ornament on their machine. Bricker is not openly a candidate. He is openly supporting Taft. But if Taft and Dewey fight each other to a stalemate at Philadelphia next June, don't rule out the possibility of a deal to put over John Bricker, the handsome silver-haired knight from Columbus.

PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICANS MAY GET CHANCE It is exactly this prospect which now encourages progressive Republicans to think about striking another blow for freedom. They take hope in the fact that Gallup polls so far have shown Truman can beat Taft and Dewey even with Wallace running as a third party candidate. This is why Republican progressives are beginning to hope they can put over a candidate. But who? Here is a real opportunity for the poll-takers. If the voters of the country could express their preferences, the results might startle the paunchy party leaders right off their perches. It might show, for instance, that the biggest man in the Republican Party today is Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan. The progressive label could not have hung on him in his earlier years, but he can wear it today. He has rather definitely told his Michigan backers he is not interested in the presidential nomination. He will be 64 years old on March 22. That's pretty well along for anyone to start being President—though Harry Truman will be 64 on May 8. But Vandenberg, teamed with Stassen nor Warren, would be a hard ticket to beat. If Vandenberg is out of the race, progressives feel that the country might fare much worse than by settling for Stassen and Warren, if it wanted vigorous young leadership. It wouldn't make much difference which headed the ticket. Their biggest drawback is lack of Washington experience. Maybe that's an advantage.

GOP PROGRESSIVE BLOC What spoils the chances of these two candidates more than anything else is the fact that there is no organized bloc of progressives in the party. There is the making of such a movement in Republican congressional delegations, particularly in the Senate. If they moved together, it would be impossible to laugh off a combination including Aiken and Flanders of Vermont, Tobey of New Hampshire, Lodge and Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Vandenberg and Ferguson of Michigan, Cooper of Kentucky, Thye of Minnesota, Morse of Oregon. Others probably belong in this club. Ives of New York, for instance, if he were not pledged to Dewey. There is no intention of slighting anyone. It would be a pleasure to welcome others to the clubhouse. More might join the movement if there were real progressive leadership. The important point is that there is still a germ of the old Theodore Roosevelt progressivism alive in the party. There are millions of Americans who would like to see the Republicans step out again on the T. R. path. They've been waiting for it for years. They voted for F. D. Roosevelt while waiting. They will never have a better opportunity to rejoin the party, as progressives, than right now.

The one thing that seems to make Harry Truman the winter-bloom favorite that he is today is reactionary Republicanism. Truman's greatest political assets are men like Taft and Wherry, Taber and Knutson — the Republican leaders. That's why progressive Republicans are beginning to feel that they have a fighting chance.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES

Conditions in England This is continuation of a radio address made in America by Sir William Darling, member of the British Parliament and vice-president of the Society of Individualists.

"Another disadvantage of a State loan is that every taxpayer of the government making the loan — you in America — feels, quite naturally, that it is his loan. But this is what happens. The cotton exporters want their share, the tobacco people, their share, the film people their share — endless claims, endless annoyances leading to misunderstandings, if not to war; but almost certainly to internal disquietudes which no nation should willingly have imposed upon them.

"Now let me come to the point which I think most concerns all of us. It is what some of you in America refer to as 'Big Government.' I believe that the organization of communities on a large scale is the greatest danger to which the world is faced. "Government is a piece of machinery. It was invented by men for their convenience; and I am sorry to say politicians sometimes, and am a politician, exploit it for their own good. By and large the record of government, throughout the world, is not good.

"What can governments do that we as individuals cannot do? Let me give you an example. I look at government as having one supreme unique function — a function which private enterprise cannot handle; it is the defense of the country. National defense is the supreme duty of government. That, surely, will be conceded. Yet most of you have lived through the war; some three — in no way your country, or my country, or indeed any country, been ready to start. Government has had to rely upon private persons to fill its ranks, develop its army, make its munitions and its fighting machines.

"Why should we imagine then that government, which fails to be ready for its supreme and unique task, should be entrusted with tasks which private citizens have done better for themselves? Still there is a widespread belief among those who are Socialists, a deep-rooted conviction that, somehow, government can do things better than the people can do it for themselves. So our Socialists have no objection to attempting it. I can tell you the result very simply by quoting the remark made by one of my electors. She is a woman, and this is what she said to me: "This nationalization," she said, "is a very queer thing. The more you own, the less you own. We own now the Bank of England in Britain, but I am no better off. We own the coal mines, and I have less coal. We own the railroads, but I can't get a train for my holiday. The Socialists! The more we own, apparently, the less we get."

"All that my woman constituent said is true — and more. We discover that we are approaching a real dictatorship, because the British citizens have no say in what is offered to them; and even they, they have less of the satisfactions which they formerly enjoyed. Under nationalization we have less coal than even during the war. We have a worse day in more ways than one. We have restrictions on power to such an extent that in my own business I am invited to work a night shift permanently in order to lighten the load upon other factories working day shifts.

"I have said in the House of Commons, I have said before Chambers of Commerce, that the businessman is actually the choice of the people. He cannot exist unless the people vote for him every day by purchasing his goods. But men of affairs have defaulted in their duty — their duty to themselves, to their country, to civilization, by failing to defend their system of private enterprise and by not taking their part in community and in national affairs.

"I have said to groups of men of affairs whom I have had the privilege of addressing in the United States and in Canada, that Britain's difficulties are largely due to the failure of men who led in the fields of production but shrank from their responsibilities in politics. They left that field to the theorists — and the Socialists, in Britain, moved in. "I want to put it to you that the people who supply you with the goods and services which you freely choose or freely reject — these are the persons who are overrated and entitled to manage your affairs.

"May you, on this side of the Atlantic, profit by our mistakes and our blunders, and have made many. For us, it may be a long, tough road back again, but Britain, that ancient civilization, will come back. In that faith, let me thank you, and say Goodspeed!"

The Wonderful Wizards of Washington

IT AIN'T THE HUMILITY — IT'S THE WHEAT!

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news By RAY TUCKER BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION Mr. Hoover, who craves headlines, has two programs on the air weekly. They acclaim FBI achievements and captures, usually accomplished through the aid of local or state police. How this particular crook was caught is told in detail.

SCHOOLS — Mr. Hoover's articles revelations and magazine articles tend to tip off present and prospective criminals on how they can break or evade the law, the barristers believe. In the words of an American Bar Association report on criminal law, the radio programs sponsored by the Department of Justice are nothing less than "schools for crime."

Attorney General Tom Clark, however, has rebuffed all attempts to prevent the Department of Justice from becoming a "school for criminals." He encourages any D. J. publicity that will get his name in the headlines, even if J. Edgar's radio programs tend to defeat his anti-criminal objective.

THEORY — General "Ike" Eisenhower is quite upset and disgusted with the belief of certain newspaper and political pundits that, despite his refusal to run for the presidency in 1948, he might be an available candidate for the G.O.P. in 1952. Several newspaper writers at Washington, who have never covered written or understood practical politics, have advanced this theory.

They figure that General Eisenhower, after four years as head of Columbia University, will be an academic and a civilian rather than a military man. Therefore, he would be a logical candidate for the presidential nomination in 1952. What the Eisenhower boosters are saying is that some other Republican — Met's a r's Vandenberg, Dewey or Taft — may capture the White House next fall, without any political aid from General Eisenhower.

In 1952, assuming that the G.O.P. will choose General Eisenhower, he will have no claim for GOP political preferment. In other words, "Ike" will exert no more influence on America than John J. Pershing did after World War I.

ANTI-SEGREGATION — President Truman and his political advisors scoff at Southern threats of political revolt because of the administration's sponsorship of an anti-segregation program. In this historical, economic and political controversy, Mr. Truman has aligned himself with the Negro vote in the great cities, with the so-called liberals and radicals whom Henry Wallace hopes to corral.

REDUCTION — Good news for the taxpayers: The House has passed a tax reduction measure which President Truman will veto. It is doubtful if the Senate would override a presidential veto of the House measure, which digs rather deeply into the Federal treasury. The big news is this: House leaders, to save their faces, had to pass the Knutson measure, providing for a $6,500,000,000 reduction. But, off the record, they have informed Senate Republican leaders that they will subscribe to the Senate cut of approximately $4,000,000,000.

Deadline Set for Aliens to Enter U. S. TOKYO — Americans who have married Japanese may return home to establish residence before the Dec. 27 deadline set by Congress. The U. S. Eighth Army said today their homecoming will be permitted regardless of completion of tours of duty in Japan, or of alien employment agreements. The "alien spouse" act exempts wives of occupation personnel from immigration restrictions, if such aliens establish U. S. residence before the deadline.

The Nation's Press KEYNES AND U. S. DEBT ARE WORTH REMEMBERING IN AN ELECTION YEAR The Chicago Journal of Commerce BY WILBUR J. BRONS The naive nature of the promise that free men can toss crackpot economic liberalism out the window whenever they feel so inclined was better illustrated than in the current controversy over whether "Murrin's Eccles" has been shorn of his influence in the Federal Reserve Board or whether he still has a board majority under his arm, with a surprise housewarming party.

The nub of the debate at the moment is whether Mr. Eccles' deposits (in the form of short-term government issues) live or die. The banking fraternity seems to be hat the Eccles anti-inflation prescription is on the skids. Underlying the debate, however, is a set of circumstances the voter ought to remember and which his government would like him to forget. One of these circumstances, that back in the early '30s, the architects of the more abundant life borrowed a set of blueprints from an Englishman named Keynes.

The first New Deal, which had been damming Mr. Hoover's poor little deficits up and down the land, needed a peg on which to hang its nationalization of a scheme for borrowing and spending the nation to prosperity. Keynes, who had been trying to do the same thing for a British economy in which capital had been all but tided away for a matter of 75 years or more, was handy for the New Deal purpose. In brief, we started upon a deliberate watering of money. The process left us with an unprecedented amount of money in circulation. Harbor burst upon us. We have become so steeped in the fairy tale of government "investment" in "human values" that we are up to the tall man that war need not deprive us of any of our "social gains."

As a result of the theory that deficit financing is harmless if properly handled, we now have a federal debt of more than $266,000,000,000. We would what if we were after World War I. We also have the contention that if government bonds were now left to seek their natural price levels, complete fiscal chaos would result. Any decline below the present pegged prices would, we are told, result in an avalanche of institutional liquidation and impair government's ability to refinance its debt.

What this means is that once having embarked upon unorthodox fiscal methods in the early '30s we are not now likely to get rid of them. The going rate for government obligations is pretty much the basic rate for pricing all other interest bearing securities, hence a decline in the price of government bonds almost certainly would turn the investment market inside out. It's a chance few want to take. So, in the final analysis, voters are not likely to be presented with an opportunity to do anything about it. Regardless of how many Americans would like to see a return to fiscal orthodoxy as steadily as possible, it doesn't appear probable at this writing that any candidate will promise an immediate uprooting of the Keynesian concepts of public debt if he is selected. And there is even less chance that such a promise will be written into a party platform.

These things are worth remembering when politicians come with new schemes for improving the common man's lot.

KELLERVILLE EAGLE SCOUTS—The Boy Scout Troop of Kellerville has the distinction of having five Eagle Scouts. Left to right they are: Duane McPherson, Charles Boyd, Weldon Earls and Carl Wall. Ernest West, fifth member, is not in the picture. McPherson and Earls are Gold Palm Scouts, having received ten merit badges in excess of the requirements for an Eagle Scout. Eagle Scouts compose half of the troop as there are only ten registered.

Olle McPherson, father of Duane, is the Scoutmaster and is to be congratulated for his fine work in maintaining an active troop in this small community. The Cub Scout troop is very active, having taken on renewed interest with the beginning of the year. Rev. Tommie Austin, Baptist minister, is the Cubmaster.

OFFICE Nurse

By Adeleide Humphries

ERIC STOKES Janice Hilary, pretty, efficient young nurse to popular and handsome society doctor Eric Hillbrook, was his office nurse for him. Betty Jane Cox, the other nurse, remarks that things have been going awfully lately. The doctor whose wife is away seems to be under a strain; and once Betty Jane came upon the doctor and Miss Hilary in what looked like a compromising situation. Betty Jane makes Miss Hilary would marry the nice young man, Eric Archer, who came to see her in the office one day.

XV

It was love. That much Janice and Eric knew that much each had confessed, though beyond this amazing discovery they had not ventured. As Eric had said that night when something had drawn them into each other's arms, they would have to talk about it sometime. For the present they were content to postpone the inevitable to live only in the wonder of the present.

It was enough just to be together, sometimes in silence, as that first night driving through the park, when silence had not seemed a barrier but a bond between them; at other times in talking and laughing and sharing the most inconsequential things. It was enough to sit across a small table and look into each other's eyes.

"I cannot believe, my sweet, that you love me," Eric said, not for the first time, his dark eyes looking into hers across the restaurant table. They tried to spend some portion of each evening together. An evening spent apart was one wasted. The hours in the office did not count.

There had been a time or two, at the beginning—was it possible that they had known about their love for almost a month?—when they had forgotten that they must maintain a strictly impersonal relationship during office hours. The morning after that first wonderful evening Eric had broken down a moment to confess that he had not been able to sleep a wink.

"I had to get up, darling," he told her "and walk the floor. Finally I had to go out and walk the streets. What have you done to me, Janice? I'm not the same man I was. I shan't ever be the same again."

"That's the good or bad?" Her gray eyes smiled back into his. "Both," he told her: half seriously half gaily. He wondered if in some ways the change might be for the worse. He knew, for instance, that besides keeping his emotions under check during working hours, it was not wise to try to snatch every possible moment to be with Janice. There were obligations toward other people that must be fulfilled. A man in his position could not simply drop out of sight—from his club and the other places he had frequented for so many years.

And there was that talk that could not forever be postponed. WITHOUT his saying all these things, Janice knew them, too. Only the other day, when she had gone into the utility room, not knowing Eric was there, something had occurred which had made her realize his bliss could not go on indefinitely. She had seen in the heaven that he was on earth. For it was heaven they captured in even the briefest moments together—a look exchanged, an accidental contact such as when, in handing him something that day, her hand had brushed against his.

There, Eric had been startled to find her there inside the small enclosure, the swinging door having noisily closed them in.

Rescue of U. S. Seaman Won Watch From Lincoln

NEW YORK (AP)—Did you ever hear how Abraham Lincoln gave a gold watch to a native missionary for saving an American seaman from being eaten by South Sea cannibals?

This little-known story is better remembered in Honolulu than in Washington. Wilmon Menard tells in the current issue of "Natural History" magazine of the American Museum of Natural History.

The scene was the island of Hiva-Oa in the Marquesas group below the Pacific equator. A Peruvian crew shelled this green paradise, landed, ravished the women and seized many natives for labor in the mines of Peru.

The cannibal tribes swore to get revenge by putting on their bill of fare the next white sailors to land.

Later an American whaler home to fishery. Hearing of the remarkable beauty of the Polynesian girls, First Mate Jonathan Whalon rowed in.

The merry cannibals locked their arms in his, told him the prize beauties lived further up the valley away from the island's mission station.

Whalon neither the first nor the last American wolf to fall for this bait, went along cheerfully. As soon as they were out of sight the cannibals trusted him up and threw him before a stone altar.

As the faggots were piled, word was spread around that the menu for the day would be good old "puaka enata," which can only be translated as "long pig."

Some vegetarians on the island, however, ran to the native missionary, James Kekela, and begged for help.

A white man is about to be roasted.

The Rev. Alexander Kaukau, a white associate of Kekela, meanwhile had got in touch with Kato, the cannibal chieftain, but failed to dissuade him from his

He had taken a step toward her and his strong arms had gripped her against his rapidly beating heart. He had kissed her much more fiercely than that first time he had just released her and was holding her at arms length with both hands his eyes twinkling in the answering look from hers when the door had swung in and Betty Jane Cox had stood staring at them.

Janice did not know how much Betty Jane had seen. But her eyes had been wide, her soft mouth agape. And if her expression had betrayed her, Janice was sure that her own, and no doubt Eric's as well, must have done so much.

Afterwards Eric had said, "That must never happen again." He had given a short laugh. "The office is not the place. It seems to remember now we really feel toward each other, Janice."

No, the office was not the place. And some day they must wake up to the realization that such places as the one where they were now would one day not be the place, either.

Indeed, Janice foresaw, with a sudden flash of perception, that the question would be whether there was any place at all for them: for her and Eric and their love; strange love, unsought, unanswerable.

"What are you thinking of, my sweet?" he asked her now, as though he knew her thoughts had wandered.

Governors to Call Party Hand on Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Five Southern governors will "lay the cards on the table" at a conference with Democratic Party leaders over President Truman's civil rights program, says Gov. Ben Laney of Arkansas.

Laney said Wednesday night the five would go to Washington Feb. 22 to confer with Howard McGrath, national Democratic committee chairman, and added "we intend to set him straight on Southern opinion."

Laney named as others of the conference committee Governors J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Beauford Jester of Texas, Gregg Cherry of North Carolina and William Tuck of Virginia.

The five comprise a committee appointed last weekend at the Southern Governors Conference in Tallahassee, Fla., to demand concessions on President Truman's program.

Laney said the five governors "are in accord on one thing—we don't want any part of the President's so-called civil rights program. We will attempt to iron this thing out with McGrath and other party leaders. We will see if they intend to do anything about it. If they decide not to do anything, then we will take our strongest action."

There was no elaboration on what the "strongest action" might be.

Besides the conference with party leaders, Laney said he planned to propose a mass meeting of Congressional delegations from the Southern states for discussion of the President's program.

"Not yet—let's not come to that yet." His eyes were beseeching. "Not—no tonight. Tell me again that you love me, tell me once more when it was that you discovered that you did."

So it went—the foolish conversation of lovers; the repeated phrases; the trivial details that became momentous. And the warm atmosphere of the model traffic ordinance and with essential provisions of the uniform traffic code of Texas.

The nine-point program:

1. That municipal ordinances and administrative regulations respecting motor vehicles and their use be reviewed and brought into conformity with the model traffic ordinance and with essential provisions of the uniform traffic code of Texas.

2. That the State of Texas publish a summary of its vehicle laws and publish separately in lay language, with illustrations, the substance of its rules of the road.

3. That uniformity in administration, interpretation and enforcement of uniform traffic laws and ordinances is of the utmost importance.

4. That uniformity in traffic signs, signals and markings in conformity with the uniform traffic code of Texas be attained by cooperative action of local, state and federal street and highway authorities.

5. That the Texas Legislature authorize a committee to determine the extent to which motor vehicle laws comply with the national uniform vehicle code and to recommend necessary revisions.

6. That the Governors of neighboring states join in calling regional conferences of legislators and public officials to further the uniformity of traffic laws.

7. That the committee emphasize the need to raise standards of justice of the peace courts.

8. That legislative action be taken to bring authority of general law cities into conformity with the enforcement authority uniform traffic code.

9. That safety financial responsibility laws be enacted.

Political Calendar Will Begin Sunday

The Pampa News' political calendar will make its first appearance Sunday, Feb. 15. It lists the names of candidates who have announced so far.

Listing of candidates' names is not compulsory by law, but serves as a daily reminder to voters as to who is running and for what office.

The calendar is handled by the Advertising Department of The News. Arrangements for candidates' names appearing on the calendar are made with Elton Lathrop, advertising manager.

The calendar will run Monday through Sunday until the day before the Democratic Primaries in July.

More New Chamber Members Added

With the addition of six new members to the rolls of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, the numbers added to the organization since its membership drive began a week ago now total 38.

The six new members are Rogers Dental Laboratory, Nance Wholesale Co., Snow-White Washateria, Gate Valve and Supply Co., Johnson Floor Covering Co., and the Terrace Grill.

All C of C members working in this membership drive are asked to have their reports in to the Chamber of Commerce office before Wednesday noon, stated A. C. Troop, drive chairman.

C of C officials also announced this morning the renewal of the membership of W. P. Williams of Escobedo, Calif. This membership comes from the furthest distance of any members to the local organization.
