Solon Challenges Ike On Missiles Position

Jackson Wants 'Specifics' On U.S. Deterrent Strength

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) today challenged President Eisenhower to give the American people "specifics" on U.S. and Soviet missile progress in his radio-TV report Sunday night.

"I hope it will not be another generalized reassurance that we have overall deterrent strength," Jackson told newsmen. "The people want to know specifically."

The President announced Wednesday he would deliver a 15 minute address at 6:15 p.m. e.s.t. Sunday to discuss his defense policies and the South American tour he starts Monday.

Additional testimony on the defense controversy was scheduled in Congress today. The House Space Committee called Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris (Ret.), former head of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency. The Senate Space Committee summoned Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

Jackson, a frequent critic of administration defense policies, said there were "useful specifics" which Eisenhower could give the nation "within the framework of security requirements."

"He should tell the American people whether Russia is ahead of us in ICBM's — within the limits of security," Jackson said. "The American people are entitled to know where they stand vis-a-vis the Russians."

"It is not sufficient to equate bombers with missiles," he added. Jackson said the President (See SOLON, Page 4)

Ike's Defense Plan One Of 'Deterrence'

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of five dispatches on the nation's defenses by the military affairs writer of United Press International.

By CHARLES CORDDRY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The missile controversy has distracted attention from President Eisenhower's over-all defense plan as spelled out in his fiscal 1961 budget.

It is a hold-the-line plan that gives unqualified satisfaction to very few and worries very many. Military chiefs support it only with major reservations, and some field commanders challenge some of its basic premises.

The plan calls for $10,377,000,000 in new money, a cut of 78 million dollars from this year. Actual spending will increase 30 million dollars to a total of $10,995,000,000.

The true measure of U.S. military strength is whether it can back up American diplomacy, serve as a believable deterrent to aggression in the eyes of the Russians and win war if it should come.

Eisenhower says unequivocally that the military plan does just that.

He is standing pat, asserting he considered all the issues now being raised publicly before he put his budget together. He is depending on his great prestige as a former five-star general to win national support for his view.

Republican supporters in Congress have been having heavy going in the face of attacks by such Democratic leaders as Sens. Lyndon Johnson (Texas) and Stuart Symington (Mo.) and Speaker Sam Rayburn and Rep. Carl Vinson (Ga.), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

State Weather Clear, Cold, Quiet Today

By United Press International
Texas' unpredictable weather was clear, cold and quiet today.

In the wake of howling wind storms and tornadoes that left a path of destruction along a 300-mile swath from San Antonio to Beaumont.

At least seven persons were injured and property damage ran to thousands of dollars in South Texas and the upper coastal region.

TOP O' TEXAS — Increasing cloudiness and cold tonight, Friday cloudy, cold and windy with rain or snow in afternoon, High 42, low 26.

Funnel clouds and tornadoes skipped across the landscape in Southeast Texas, destroying or damaging two homes in Harris county and injuring four persons. Three others were injured in a violent windstorm at Port Arthur, where wind velocities reached 75 miles per hour in gusts.

The twisters hit at Angleton and at Katy. They destroyed the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald K. Perkins and damaged the home of Herman Wyrmyr nearby.

Mrs. Perkins, 26, and her son Gerald, 3½, suffered extreme injuries (See WEATHER, Page 4)

Finch Trial To Be Rested

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The defense and prosecution both were set to rest their cases today in the murder trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff.

The trial was not expected to reach the seven-woman, five-man jury until late next week, however, because of a long weekend recess until next Tuesday when closing arguments will begin.

Swedish maid Marie Anne Lidholm was one of a few rebuttal witnesses scheduled to testify in the windup of evidence today. Her lengthy previous testimony was the state's only eyewitness account of events of July 18 when Mrs. Barbara Finch was killed.

Wednesday lawyers for the 42-year-old doctor and his mistress conferred with Judge Walter Evans on his legal instructions to the jury. The prosecution has said it will seek the death penalty for both on charges of first degree murder and conspiracy to murder.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Fred Whichello and Clifford Crall were understood to have told Judge Evans they feel the only other be second degree (unpremeditated) murder or manslaughter.

PROTEST DENIAL OF LEGAL ACTION—Pickets appeared in San Francisco for a three-judge federal appellate panel denied Caryl Chessman's appeal for new legal action and a stay of execution. He is scheduled to die Friday at San Quentin Prison. The pickets, Mrs. Trent Brady, Norbert Nichols, Al Williams and Trent Brady, left to right, plan to conduct a daily protest and a walk across the Golden Gate Bridge Friday in an attempt to stave off the upcoming execution.

Attorneys Strive To Save Chessman's Life

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — Caryl Chessman today faced—with slim hopes—the final 24 hours of his 11½ year battle to escape execution for the crimes of robbery, kidnap and rape.

His attorneys, blocked at every legal turn in the past week, sought to win an extension of life for the 38-year-old convict-author, who broke seven previous appointments with the gas chamber.

Jurists Critical Of U.S. Justice

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Prominent jurists from Spain, Argentina, Panama and Mexico Wednesday added their criticism to the growing clamor over U.S. handling of the Caryl Chessman case.

Chessman, Los Angeles' "Red Light Bandit," is scheduled to die in the San Quentin gas chamber Friday.

One Mexican attorney attending the National Legal Congress in Mexico City said the U.S. will be "committing homicide in the name of the law" if it carries out the Chessman execution.

Other comments came from Judge Secundino Torres Gudino of Panama and from Amilcar A. Mercader, former president of the Buenos Aires Court of Justice.

"If Chessman is executed it will create an enormous lack of confidence in U.S. laws," Torres Gudino said. He added U.S. laws ought to be modified "substantially" because they "provide severe penalties for minor offenses."

Mercader said the impending execution "causes me deep concern."

"I have asked myself," he said, "whether the time he has spent on 'death row' has not been worse than death itself."

Several judges and attorneys attending the legal conference said they were "very familiar" with the Chessman case. It has received much attention in Mexican newspapers in recent weeks.

AF Takes Quick Action To Prevent Another 'Boo Boo'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has issued a new ironclad rule—designed—to prevent publication of any more training manuals like the one saying Communism had infiltrated some American churches, it was learned today.

The new regulation was dispatched to every major Air Force command within hours after publication Wednesday of excerpts from the Air Force Reserve training manual on security which linked U.S. churches with Communism.

The manual brought angry protests and demands for an investigation from the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., mentioned in the manual. The Air Force and a congressional committee launched immediate investigations. The manual was withdrawn.

Chairman John E. Moss (D-Calif.) of the House Government Information subcommittee charged today that a five-year-old training manual used at all Air Force installations contains the same general statement on the public's right to know as one in the reserve manual.

In a letter to Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr., Moss said the basic manual stated, "another rather silly remark often heard concerning security is that Americans have a right to know what's going on. Most people realize the foolishness of such a suggestion."

Moss branded such statements as "vicious," "shocking," and "insidious." He said his subcommittee was meeting with Air Force officials to determine details of the reserve manual and (See BOO BOO, Page 4)

Elvis Presley Reconverts

A Major Industry Sheds Its Uniform

By FRED SPARKS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

BAD NAUHEIM, Germany (NEA) — Sgt. Elvis Presley, a thing as peculiar to the 20th Century as atomic power, Walter Reuther and frozen chicken legs, will return next month to civilian life and the rock-'n'-roll trail that zoomed him from a $25-a-week truck driver to a $25,000-a-week National Institution.

In the months ahead civilization will stop pondering de Gaulle, missiles, Khrushchev and Wall Street and follow a tremendous soap opera:

Have two years of relative military oblivion cooled Presley fans? Can Elvis still fill Madison Square Garden by twitching on a knee cap? Has he gone arty, upstage? Tune in tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow.

I've played hare-and-hounds with the Presley saga in New York when he first invaded the home via TV; in Paris where he went on the widest furrough since V-E Day; and in Bad Nauheim where he spent most of his Army career mothering a jeep. While I'd gladly pawn this portable to buy 100 shares of Presley Common, I won't make any hard predictions, merely record some hard facts.

It is true that Elvis wants to be a serious actor, the inevitable transfer from clown to Hamlet, duck tail to long hair.

His pin-up is Frank Sinatra, the bread-stick thin crooner who won an Oscar for a meaty role in

"From Here to Eternity." Elvis is shopping around for a script that will give him the same chance for a Cinderella transfer, something like "War and Peace" or "The Ten Commandments." (In Bad Nauheim I noted that Elvis is now reading hard cover instead of comic books!)

Don't be surprised if he enrolls in Actor's Studio, the New York assembly line for talent that blessed the boxoffice with Jimmy Dean and Marlon Brando and taught Marilyn Monroe to talk instead of grunt.

When news of this fresh Presley ambition was flashed to New York and Hollywood—and decoded over double martinis—it shook the juke box industry, RCA-Victor records, Paramount Pictures and regiments of camp followers with vested interests and expense accounts.

Conference calls linked both coasts and soon a delegation of somber, sofa-shaped gentlemen descended on Bad Nauheim like foreign ministers gathered to write a non-aggression pact. Directed by "Colonel" Tom Parker, the corn-pone P. T. Barnum who is Elvis' principal agent, these masters in temperament offered a soothing remedy:

"Now, Elvis Boy, they cooed to Sergeant Presley, 'we'll run a red carpet across America and you do some smasha one night stands and this big, big movie 'G. I. Blues.' Then, so help us, when you're back in the saddle and all steamed good we'll find you a juicy, dramatic role, even tailor made one—Hemingway, Saroyan, O'Neil, even that Shakespeare cat."

Elvis wasn't sure. He popped his gum. He drummed fingers on his motorcycle boots. He hitched the skin tight black jeans favored off duty.

Then came the clincher, the fast sell. "And how about this, Elvis Boy? Your first TV appearance—a spectacular—will be in April TOGETHER WITH FRANK SINATRA!"

That cut the mustard. Next morning Elvis—who had taken to brooding and even scanning the papers—was his old self again. In his Bad Nauheim town home he sang before his coffee, sitting on the edge of the Presley Special, a bed big enough to park two sports cars.

His neighbors heard him, loud and clear, as he spent 25 minutes, after his shower, singing while admiring himself in a huge mirror. (No, not yet an ounce of excess blubber; those multi-million dollar snake hips still as slim as a cafeteria pork chop.)

It's not true that Elvis has been blacked out, forgotten. When the draft board first tapped him, song and movie manufacturers with dividends at stake won a deterrent time-to-record-24-Presley-songs-for-monthly-release. Elvis, home or abroad, has kept the coins flowing.

He has weekly received thousands of sickly-sweet, "Oh-I-Love-You" letters.

Postal Rate Increase Plan A Dead Issue This Session

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower's brand new plan to boost postal rates was counted as a dead letter in Congress today.

There is "not a chance in the world" that the election-year Congress will approve Eisenhower's 504 million dollar-a-year postal package, said one prominent member of the House Post Office Committee.

The sentiment was the same in the Senate. Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) of the Senate Post Office Committee said "this is coming at a mighty late hour and unless there is evidence of more desire for it, I don't think there will be any hearings."

The President's new plan was unveiled to Republican congressional leaders Tuesday. It contains some features of his 355 million dollar proposal last year that Congress ignored.

The new plan repeated the administration's 1959 request for a one-cent boost in regular letter and air mail rates. It added a one-cent hike for postcards and increases in second and third class rates.

House Democratic Whip Carl Albert (Okla.) predicted that the administration proposal "won't get to first base."

Other congressional news:

Foreign Aid: Secretary of State Christian A. Hester goes before the House Foreign Affairs Committee to urge approval of President Eisenhower's $4,175,000,000 foreign aid request. The President wants $2,175,000,000 in economic assistance and 2 billion dollars in military aid for the nation's allies in the fiscal year starting July 1. Congress seemed certain to make some cuts in his request.

World Court: Former Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.) said it would be "most unwise" to repeal the 1916 restriction he wrote permitting the United States to determine which cases involving this country the World Court could try. Connally made the statement in a letter to be read at a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing on proposals to eliminate the legislation. Americans for Democratic Action urged in prepared testimony that the Connally restriction be repealed as an example to other countries.

Highways: The nation's governors handed Congress a plan to pump 200 million dollars into the faltering interstate superhighway program. Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut presented the proposal in meetings with Senate and House leaders. Details of the plan were not disclosed.

Nine letters from Vietnam and two from Germany thanking local Junior Red Cross members for Christmas gifts sent to those countries have been received by the Red Cross office.

Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary of the Pampa chapter, said the Vietnamese letters included one to Carver School and eight to Woodrow Wilson. The letters from Germany came to Horace Mann school.

The text of most of the letters from Vietnam reads:

"Our school had celebrated a cheerful feast to distribute precious gifts for us and we are happy yet. Now we write this letter to thank for you good mind toward us and on the other hand sincerity. We send you our gratefulness with this letter, today I thank you very much because I received your present."

The panels will consist of three officers with the rank of major or higher. They will review publications in which "policy, propriety, decency, security, or need-to-know" might be involved.

After approving a manuscript and eliminating any offending matter, the panel members will have their names printed on the title page so there can be no doubt about who approved the publication.

Anyone For Brunch? Here's Brilliant Idea

Anyone-for-Brunch?
Once thought to be a practice in which only the late-rising could indulge, brunch is now accepted as a delightful part of the average family's weekend. Having friends over to share your pleasure, one more people would enjoy it if they knew how easy it can be.
Here's a menu that old and new brunch fans will relish. It's a breeze to prepare and promises exciting eating for everyone, guests included. Starting with tomato juice, it highlights delicious Corn-Crisped Chicken, served with hot spiced fruit and French Cheese Bread. And of course, coffee all around.
Corn-Crisped Chicken, the main dish, is a simple three-step operation. Just dip broiler-fryer pieces in evaporated milk. Roll immediately in corn flake crumbs seasoned with Ac'cent for a true flavor impact - chicken more delicately sweet, and crumbs richer in toastiness than ever before. Then bake on a shallow pan lined with heavy-duty aluminum foil. That's all. There is no need to watch or turn the chicken. One hour later you're ready to offer guests a completely greaseless dish with a "fried chicken" look and taste. And if you're guest list outnumber the servings in this recipe simply double-up all the ingredients - it will still take only an hour to bake.
Peaches, pineapple and cherries laced with unsulphured molasses blend into a Hot Spiced Fruit Medley that's just right to serve with, or over, your chicken dish. Five minutes of simmering is all the time it takes.
Fill horizontal slashes in the French bread with cheese - either tarty or mild - whichever you and your guests prefer. Then pop the bread in the oven to warm so the cheese can melt its way into the center. A sprinkling of cinnamon before serving will add a special taste twist.
There's nothing like a terrace for brunch-time serving, but if you're indoors-bound a bowl of flowers on the table will bring the outdoors in. Wherever places are finally set, it's still the food that counts, and we're sure you'll agree this menu is a winner.

CORN-CRISPED CHICKEN
1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving pieces
1 cup packaged corn flake crumbs
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon Ac'cent
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Heavy duty aluminum foil
1/4 cup evaporated milk
Combine corn flake crumbs with Ac'cent, salt and pepper in pie plate or shallow dish. Line shallow baking pan with aluminum foil. Dip chicken pieces in evaporated milk then roll immediately in seasoned corn flake crumbs. Place chicken pieces, skin side up, in foil-lined pan; do not crowd. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about one hour, or until tender. No need to cover or turn chicken while cooking. Serve with Hot Spiced Fruit Medley.
Yield: 4 servings.

HOT SPICED FRUIT MEDLEY
1 can (20 ounces) cling peach halves

HAM GLAZE
As an easy yet delightful tasting glaze for a smoked ham, try this combination. The glaze is called Orange Glaze. Combine 1 cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, a teaspoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 2 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate and mix well. About 20 to 30 minutes before the ham is done, spread with the Orange Glaze and return to oven to finish cooking and for glaze to set.

Food Sense . . . . Not Nonsense

Pie on the breakfast table could be the pie-in-the-sky answer to what teen-age Jill and Jack should have for breakfast - a fast recognized by the thoughtful nutritionist. She advises parents who want their teenagers to eat a good breakfast: Let the unusual spark the menu way. If Jack's fancy reaches for berry pie and Jill's for coconut cream, these teenagers are not so far-fetched. For they are eating foods they need each day . . . fruit or milk and eggs plus cereal products.
To some, cheese or sliced tomatoes may seem to be pie-in-the-sky breakfast fare. But a marketing research organization reports that ten percent of all natural cheese eaten is served as breakfast; that more different foods are served at breakfast than at any other meal.

If you are having trouble getting your teenagers to eat breakfast, call at halt to conformity. Dazzle your family at the breakfast table. Let them enjoy eggs in banana cream pie, in egg nog, or in waffled French toast. Or maybe a complete change or a hamburger breakfast is due. If vitamin C-rich fruit becomes an irksome routine for breakfast in your house, why not switch to a cluster of grapes or a baked apple? Let dinner provide the vitamin C-rich fare: broccoli, deep-green leafy vegetables, melon, or berries.
Depart from the too-tied, no-longer-true-to-you fare that causes teenagers to rebel. Charm them by making their pie-in-the-sky choices within reach for family meals when their choices, like pie, furnish needed nutrients.

MILK BREAK DUET WITH . . .

Buttermilk Doughnuts

Courtesy Meadow Gold Dairies

Homemade doughnuts are fine treats for the family and friends. Serve them slightly warm and sugar-coated with glasses of milk or steaming cups of cocoa. Buttermilk is the liquid ingredient that gives tenderness and flavor to these feather-light doughnuts.

How About A "Sinker Spree" With Wholesome Buttermilk Doughnuts?

How about have a "sinker spree" soon?
One of the most tantalizing aromas anytime—anywhere—is that of homemade doughnuts. Fresh, warm and sugar-coated. And the beauty of them is that they are truly a wholesome treat for after school refreshments, to serve when friends drop in for a visit, or as a breakfast treat on these cool days.
Chose a not-so-busy morning or afternoon to make them. Here are a few basic hints which will assure success, even for beginner cooks.
First, take a recipe that forms a moist dough. Buttermilk is a liquid ingredient which is frequently used because of the flavor and tenderness it imparts. Mix ingredients lightly until all of the flour is moistened. Last, fry the doughnuts in fat that has been heated to the correct temperature. A deep fat frying thermometer is the best way to eliminate guesswork.
If you don't have a heavy pan in which to fry the doughnuts, don't scurry out to buy one. Your electric fry pan will do nicely.
For fragrant, feather-light doughnuts, try this recipe developed in the Meadow Gold Test Kitchen. It calls for buttermilk as well as warm mashed potatoes. To save time, Beatrice Cooke, home economics director for the dairy company, suggests that you use instant potatoes reconstituted with part water and milk.
BUTTERMILK DOUGHNUTS (About Five Dozen)
3 eggs, beaten
2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups warm mashed potatoes
1-3 cup butter, melted
1 cup buttermilk
6 cups sifted all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg
Add sugar to eggs; beat until well-mixed. Stir in potatoes, butter and buttermilk. Add sifted dry ingredients and mix only until flour is completely moistened. Chill dough at least 1 hour. Roll one-third of dough at a time on lightly floured surface to one-half inch thickness. Cut with a floured doughnut cutter. Let rest 10 - 15 minutes. Fry in hot, deep fat (370 degrees) for about 1 1/2 to 2 minutes on each side, turning once.
When doughnuts are golden brown, lift from fat to paper toweling to cool slightly. Then roll in confectioners' sugar, or a mixture of granulated sugar and cinnamon. Frost some, if you wish, with chocolate butter icing and sprinkle on tiny candies or chopped nuts.

Cherry Dumplings Highlight For Noting George Washington's Day

February is a month for celebrating all kinds of holidays. In the home, it's usually up to the homemaker to bring about any special remembrances.
Certainly, February 22nd, Washington's Birthday won't be complete without the dinner meal featuring some type of a special cherry highlight.
For this February, 1960 celebration, home economist and recipe to offer. It's called Cherry Dumplings. Served hot, they can be topped with cream or ice cream.
This dessert specialty is prepared in a frying-pan or electric skillet and simmered 18 to 20 minutes. The dumplings feature lard as the shortening.
CHERRY DUMPLINGS
1 can (14 ounces) red sour pitted cherries
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons lard
1 egg, slightly beaten

Sesame-Cheese Muffins Will Win Unsolicited Praise From Guests

You'll be proud to introduce these Sesame-Cheese Muffins to your family or guests. It's a project that will win you unsolicited praise from all that have the opportunity to try them.
Note that sharp cheddar cheese, minced onion and toasted sesame seeds play an important part in this muffin recipe.
However, Reba Staggs, a home economist well known in the field of recipe development, comments that the shortening called for in this recipe is lard.
It might be to your advantage to give lard an opportunity to prove itself in your kitchen, especially in these Sesame-Cheese Muffins. However, lard is used in all types of baking, so see for yourself the great "shortening power" lard has to offer.
SESAME-CHEESE MUFFINS
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons lard
1/2 cup finely grated sharp cheddar cheese
1/2 cup finely minced onion
1 tablespoon lard
1/2 cup milk

Easy-Do Pizzas For Small Snack

Has this ever happened to you? The guests stay a little longer than expected and you feel as if you should serve a small snack. The problem which most often prevails is what will the refrigerator or pantry shelf yield on an emergency basis?
EASY-DO PIZZAS
1 pound prk sausage links
2 tablespoons water
4 slices bread, toasted
4 slices mozzarella cheese
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1/2 teaspoon oregano
Place sausage links and water in cold frying-pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Remove cover and brown links. Place a cheese slice on each slice of toast. Then arrange 3 sausage links on each. Combine tomato sauce and oregano. Spoon sauce over each sandwich. Bake on a cookie sheet in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.) 6 to 8 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

Tomato Soup Base For Jiffy Soup

Tomato soup - the kind that comes in cans - can also be used as the base of a jiffy-quick and taste-tempting clam soup.
TOMATO CLAM SOUP
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) Heinz Condensed Tomato Soup, undiluted
1/2 cup milk
1 can (10 ounces) minced clam or 1 cup minced clams and 1/2 cup clam liquor
Combine ingredients in saucepan; heat to boiling. Makes 2-3 servings.
Serve any of these tomato based soups as the introduction to a meal and salad meal or use it as the main dish. If you choose to make the soup the main attraction, try serving it with hot corn bread (hot buttered French bread with the Crunchy Corn Chowder) and a salad.
Spread Beeswax on cookie sheets to keep cookies from sticking during the baking process.
SAUSAGE-APPLY RINGS
As a garnish for a pork roast or as an entree for a light luncheon, shape pork sausage into small balls, and cook until done. Place each ball on a glazed apple ring. For variety and in accord with special holidays, tint the apple rings either red or green. It's the clever homemaker who will use this idea.

Takes Little Time To Create Cookies

Cookies are almost a necessity in most homes. Homemakers usually endeavor to keep a variety of cookie recipes available so that the family critics will be satisfied with each new culinary performance.
OLD-FASHIONED SUGAR COOKIES
3/4 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 cup lard
1-2 cups sugar
3 eggs
3 tablespoons milk
Sift together flour, salt, baking powder, nutmeg and cloves. Cream lard and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add 1 cup of sifted ingredients to creamed mixture. Stir in milk. Add remaining sifted ingredients. Roll out dough to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut out and sprinkle with sugar. Place on a greased cookie sheet and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 8 to 10 minutes. Yield: 4 dozen cookies.
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Boil cherries and sugar in a frying-pan for 3 minutes. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut lard into dry ingredients until crumbs are about the size of small peas. Combine egg, milk, vanilla and almond extract. Add only until moistened. Add butter or margarine to cherry sauce and bring it to a boil. Stir full. Sprinkle tops of muffins with remaining cherry sauce and sesame seeds and spoon about 1/2 teaspoon melted butter or margarine over each. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 18 to 20 minutes. Yield: 1 dozen medium muffins.

Another Farm Problem:

Broadening Blight Of Rural Decay

By MARY KAY FLYNN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

ARROW ROCK, Mo. (NEA) — Broadening rural decay is accompanying the gradual disappearance of American family farm life as Grandma used to know it.

Small towns and villages, once surrounded by prosperous farms, are desperately trying for survival in the wake of an exodus of farmers to the cities.

A short drive down many a gravel road will reveal a losing battle. Abandoned schools, churches, farmhouses and barns stand amid weeds and brush. Some of the deserted buildings are used for storage of grain and machinery.

In Arrow Rock, one of the oldest towns in central Missouri and formerly an important stop on the old Santa Fe Trail, three Protestant churches have consolidated with the combined congregation still numbering only about 30 persons each Sunday. Residents, faced with a steadily declining farm economy, have moved away.

At New Hampton, a strictly rural area in the northern part of the state, more than half the houses are occupied by single individuals — usually old-age pensioners.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently estimated that 40 per cent of the nation's farmers have extra jobs and that farming accounts for only two-thirds of the farmer's total net income. To some others, the farm serves merely as a "sleeping place."

Often called "sundown" or "time and a half farmers," these two job men are employed by the government on construction projects and in factories, restaurants and business establishments. They farm evenings, weekends and holidays.

One farmer, bitter over the financial plight of his rural neighbors, remarked:

REAL JAM
LONDON (UPI) — Brenda Hickson, 25, was impatient when the bath water didn't run fast enough, so she stuck her finger in the water tap trying to clear it to make the water run faster. An hour later, firemen had to break down the door of the bathroom to free her. Blushing Brenda, just barely managed to cover herself with a nightgown.

LITTLE LIZ
You can't clean up the world with soft soap. It takes a lot of wit to get the job done.

"For years farm children have been gathering walnuts and marketing them in town for spending money; this year the adults were gathering up walnuts."

In order to supplement sagging incomes, many farm wives hold several other jobs too. In Missouri, several garment factories supply buses which haul farm women to and from work.

Farm authorities and the farmer may differ on the factors contributing to the steady national decline of farm income and the number of farms, but all agree on one thing: new serious problems — personal and social — are being created.

To 48-year-old Lawrence Bowers of Delia, Kan., who has spent a lifetime on the farm, the problem is personal. His voice filled with emotion, he explained that he is quitting the farm because he "can't make ends meet" despite expansion and working 16 hours a day.

"I had more money when milking only 14 cows than I do now with a Grade A barn and 34 cows," he lamented.

"The social consequences of the migration from rural areas reaches far beyond our rural communities," says Fred V. Heinkel, president of the Missouri Farmers Assn. "The farm problem is intertwined with the big cities' problems of snarled traffic, congested schools and added taxes."

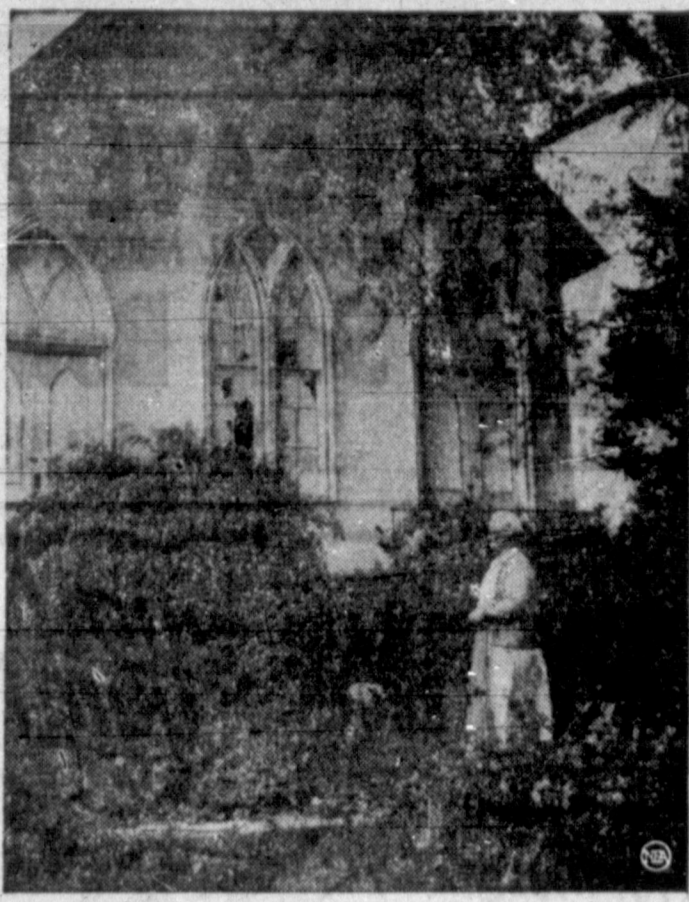

Heinkel contends that fair and equitable prices for agricultural products would restore prosperity to rural areas and reduce some of the pressure on urban communities.

But Jack Cornelius, president of the Oklahoma State Board of Agriculture, says that the reasons for the "alarming migration" (mostly westward) of farm people from Oklahoma are complex. He believes it would take much more than balanced farm prices to "keep 'em down on the farm."

Cornelius cited vertical integration, which crowds out family farms; mechanization, with resulting larger farms, and "unorganized farm operators operating in an organized economy" as contributing to the dilemma.

As a member of the board of regents of Oklahoma State University, Cornelius noted that there has been a steady decrease of agriculture majors in the state's colleges in the past decade. A reason for that is seen perhaps in the experience of Donnie Vaughn, 22, who according to his neighbors, had one of the best young herds of dairy cattle in the Weaubleau, Mo., area and was an excellent operator. Vaughn has sold the herd and leased a filling station.

"I can't make the same money with less investment," he explained.

BAPTIST CHURCH, Arrow Rock, Mo.: At the last service, there were five persons in the congregation.

Foreign News

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

On Dec. 2, 1923, President James Monroe pronounced a doctrine which declared that the Americas—continents—no longer were to be considered subjects for colonization by European states and that any foreign interference in the American Hemisphere would be regarded by the U.S. as an unfriendly act.

The Monroe Doctrine was designed to protect the "peace and safety" of the United States, and the democratic governments of the fledgling states of South America.

President Monroe had no way of foreseeing the world of 1960, with the Soviet team of Khrushchev and Mikoyan in action and a Communist Russia plausibly portraying itself as the patron of underdeveloped states, some of them at the United States' doorstep.

Thus super-salesman Anastas Mikoyan won a moral and economic victory the full extent of which still must be measured in his deal to supply Cuba's Fidel Castro regime with a 100-million-dollar credit and to buy 5 million tons of Cuban sugar over the next five years.

The United States cannot afford to let Cuba fall under Soviet domination, economic or otherwise. The question is how to prevent it.

The Cuba situation is but a dramatic manifestation of others which President Eisenhower will encounter in his south-of-the-border tour.

The first will come in Brazil, which also has been offered vast credits by the Soviet Union.

While Eisenhower is not expected to conclude formal deals with any nation during his trip, it has been predicted that Brazil will place before him specific requests. These would include a 100 million dollar wheat loan, more loans for expansion of industry and an increase in Brazil's U.S. sugar quota.

Requests for U.S. aid in addition to the vast amounts already received will be made against the background that, if not from the U.S., they can be had from Russia.

These could be interpreted as a form of economic blackmail but they are the facts of life.

CHECKOV—Russia has issued these stamps to mark the 100th anniversary of Anton Checkov's birth. They depict the famed writer as a young man, top, and at a later period in his life, bottom. Checkov died in 1904.

News In Brief

CBS LIMITS 'CASTS'
NEW YORK (UPI) — The Columbia Broadcasting System announced today it would refuse to carry any political broadcasts or telecasts scheduled to run simultaneously on two or more networks or two or more stations in one city.

CBS said its editorial board "adopted this policy in order to avoid the dangers of such saturation purchases during political campaigns as would significantly diminish the choice by the viewing or listening public among programs."

NOT WORTH IT
TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (UPI) — The burglary trade is just too costly these days, according to Richard Weiselberg, 26.

Weiselberg, accused of pulling a $100 tavern holdup, said he spent 350 of the money on taxi and bus fares to get out of town.

"CORVAIR HANDLES BETTER, STEERS MORE EASILY, RESPONDS MUCH MORE QUICKLY AND HOLDS THE ROAD MORE SECURELY THAN ANY STOCK FOUR-DOOR SEDAN EVER MADE IN THE U.S."

—Jim Whipple, Car Life

If you think we're enthusiastic about Corvair, leaf through the leading automotive, sports and science magazines and see what the experts are saying. Then, by all means, drive one yourself.

"Corvair's steering is so light that at parking speeds it feels power assisted; it is so precise as to be absolutely without play, and it is fast enough to allow complete control over every situation."
—Karl Ludvigsen, Sports Cars Illustrated

"Steers like a feather and it is extremely quick... This is a beautifully designed automobile, engineered by real pros."
—Tom McCall, Mechanix Illustrated

"Most surprising thing to me outside of the excellent handling characteristics was the feeling of roominess inside... I didn't have the sensation of driving a small car and the headroom was greater in the Corvair than in some standard size cars."
—L. H. Houck, Automotive News

"So far as shopping goes, the Corvair is a housewife's dream. It's small and easily maneuvered without any power steering, and so easily parked... it's a lot easier to unload a cart full of groceries into a front trunk at the supermarket than it is into a rear one."
—Rosemary Francis, Popular Science

"I want to state as firmly as I can that the Corvair handles as beautifully and is as safe as—if not safer than—any family car on the road today."
—Jim Whipple, Car Life

Part Of Missile Muddle Is Production Planning

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third of five dispatches on the state of the nation's defenses by the military affairs writer of United Press International. The following deals with the ballistic missile program and why the United States lags behind Russia in ICBM's.

By CHARLES CORDDRY United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Congress centers on the U.S. in great defense debate raging in Congress centers on the U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) program. The issue is not over the quality of the American ICBM or the speed with which it was developed. The big argument concerns the adequacy of administration plans for producing the ICBM in greater quantity in view of Russia's evident all-out effort.

needs the ballistic missile program of the Air Force alone in scope, says the Air Force. And as a scientific achievement, it probably is outpaced only by the taming of nuclear energy. Yet it has been made clear in the controversy now raging in Congress that in these most complex weapons in the history of warfare Russia is outproducing the United States.

Democrats and Republicans agree on that. Democrats say the United States could be in mortal peril over the next few years as a result. Republicans say that other weapons will offset the Russian missile superiority, and that there will be no gap in American power to deter war.

an advanced ICBM, the Minuteman, before producing vast numbers. The U.S. ballistic missile program:

The Atlas ICBM. The first U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile. Now operational in the hands of troops at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. A second squadron will become operational at Warren Air Force Base, Cheyenne, Wyo., this spring. Thirteen squadrons are planned over the next two years.

Titan ICBM. A liquid-fueled missile like the Atlas, but said by the Air Force to have greater range and payload. Fourteen squadrons are planned. It is about a year behind the Atlas in development.

Kamikaze' Jap Tag For Women Drivers

Miss Ban, multitasking singer-actress Japanese, is proud of her hard-to-earn Tokyo driving license.

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA) — The Japanese have a word for women drivers — "kamikaze." And the mental women drivers use the same scornful term about their own behind the wheel. The word "kamikaze" is familiar to most Americans in connection with the suicide pilots of World War II. But these days the word occurs on the streets of Tokyo, where men and women drivers carry on the same motor-vehicle version of the battle of the sexes as we have in the United States. Miss Ban, 24-year-old Japanese singer, actress, dancer and pianist, is the proud possessor of a Japanese driver's license. And she's prouder of her ability to pass a rigid Tokyo test than of the fact that she can sightread Bach and Beethoven. "It is no small thing to pass a driver's test," says the lovely, smiling bride of comedian Roger Brodhead. "There are not many women who drive, but in Japan when a woman knows how to drive she handles a car sensibly and well."

Miss Ban said that in order to win an operator's license in her home town the applicant must go to a driving school for at least two months at a cost of about 20,000 yen (over $50). You take your test, under official supervision, when the school deems you ready. And the test not only includes a half-hour spin about Tokyo, a city of narrow, crowded and unnumbered streets, but also an examination on the car motor and how it works. "But despite the test," Miss Ban said, "Japanese men, and particularly police, give a woman driver a hard time. I once had a terrible argument with a policeman. I went to a party in a kimono and my date had too much to drink, so I drove home. An officer stopped me and his attitude was immediately suspicious. "In Japan the man is supposed to be boss. Any time you compete with men in any way, they don't like it."

Miss Ban's driving ability, along with her five-foot-three, 108-pound good looks, recently won for her the title of "Miss Datsun," and she will represent the Japanese-made motor car in the United States. "Driving in America is wonderful," she said. "Compared to Japan, the roads are so wide and the streets so free of people. I love to drive here. "The first time my husband drove with me was in California, and he was very nervous. We were engaged then, and he didn't have much confidence. But he relaxed and now I do all our driving because he knows what a terrible time he has behind the wheel." And how does Miss Ban feel about American women drivers? "I used to think women made better drivers than men and had a sort of sixth sense in a car. But American women drivers are pretty terrible."

Texas Foundation Of Women's Club Plan District Convention In Lubbock

Club women of the large forty-nine county 7th District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs will meet together for the first time since 1924 and 7th District will be divided for the first time into three new districts. Club presidents will be honored at this last convention of the old district. All presidents are urged to make an special effort to present a complete record of outstanding achievements of the last year — as requested by Mrs. A. T. Cocanougher, District President. In addition to the written reports which must be sent to Mrs. George Poulson, Lorenzo, by February 10, each president will be expected to make a three minute oral report at the convention. Additional and detailed reports on achievements in special departments of the overall program should be sent to the respective departmental and division chairmen. Yearbooks to be judged for the awards to be presented at the District Convention must be sent to Mrs. Dan Eldridge at Ft. Worth. Press books should be mailed to Mrs. John Cadenhead, Box 236, Meadow by March 10. The program for the two-day convention is now being prepared by Mrs. Cocanougher, and the District Program Committee — Mrs. T. L. Dunlap of Littlefield, Mrs. Clark Estes and Mrs. Nell Odom. Some highlights of the program will be a luncheon style show on Tuesday, followed by a review of "Green Grows the Ivy," a biography of Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, U.S. Treasurer who will be the principal speaker for the banquet session Tuesday evening. Club reports will be given Tuesday afternoon. Individual club awards will be given Wednesday morning following departmental reports. Clubs are urged to send contributions for the Coronado Markers projects to Mrs. Roy McQuatters, Littlefield, before the Convention dates. An estimated $350 will be needed to purchase each marker. The Highway Department has agreed to set up these markers, providing for small roadside parks. When the money is provided by the Clubs, the procuring of the markers is to be the last big project of Seventh District.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am so heartsick over what has happened to me I don't know what to do. All my friends at school (I am a sophomore in high) are telling me there is a terrible rumor going around said it. How can I get to the bottom of it? Everyone says they are sworn to secrecy. What does a girl do when she has done nothing wrong but gets a bad reputation anyway?

WORRIED SICK
DEAR WORRIED: People who tell you "there is a terrible rumor going around about you," but refuse to reveal what it is or who said it are not friends. Ignore the talk and hold your head high. As long as you continue to behave properly, those who took part in circulating the gossip will appear foolish.

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever heard of a wedding shower for a MAN? Well, I have just been invited to one. (I am a woman.) This fellow in our office is getting married and someone in the office dreamed up the idea of giving him a shower. They told us not to spend too much money, but to bring something sort of cute and suggestive. What should I take?

GIRL FRIDAY
DEAR GIRL: Keep it clean and bring a bar of soap.

DEAR ABBY: Is there anything I can do about the way my daughter-in-law keeps house. She washes a cup and saucer only when they are all dirty and she needs one. I have seen her go to the kitchen sink and rinse out my son's shirt and then she spreads it out (wet) on the kitchen table over egg shells, bread crumbs and dirty dishes and presses it a bit. It makes me ill to see the way they are living.

My son wasn't raised like this, Abby. He never complains and you never hear a cross word between them. Can a man forget his early training in two years of marriage? I could go on and on, but what's the use? How can I help her?

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: You can help her, but teaching her — if she ASKS you. Don't volunteer. If your son is happy, close your eyes and let your mouth follow suit.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ENVI-OUS": Don't envy her. You'd look "electrifying" too, if everything you had on was charged.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Long And Leggy Look Steals Show At Florentine House Of Fashion

By SHEILA WALSH
United Press International
FLORENCE, Italy (UPI) — The Florentine cycle of the Italian spring-summer style show goes into its first full day today but Tuesday night's curtain-parade of a "long and leggy look" may have stolen the whole show. The Roman fashion houses of Antonelli, Carosa and Schubert were to share honors today with Guidi, the only Florentine designer to take part in the showings in this renaissance city's Pitti Palace. Rome's shy young man of design Roberto Capucci opened the high fashion section of the Florence show with a str Tuesday night. He came up with a long and leggy look that won a standing ovation from an international audience of buyers and press in the palace ballroom. Capucci's "Woman of Spring" is sophisticated, dramatic and compact. The elongated silhouette featured in his collection is long on leg and high on hat. His tunic dresses and suits, with wrist length jackets, taper smoothly over the hips to knee-high hemlines. Capucci tops them off with high, starkly simple-hats shaped like wastebaskets. In another mood, Capucci showed belted and belted tunics for daytime and evening wear. Most impressive was a lavender three-quarter length tunic with tiny lime polka dots over a lavender undershirt. Capucci also illustrated his law of diminishing undershirts in a strapless, kelly green short evening dress. Starting from a firming belted waist and curved fullness over the hips the five-layer skirt narrows down to a knee-tight hemline. Travel umbrellas are light, slim, and pack well. One will help you keep fashion - fresh when on the go.

Red Griggs the pipeline

It looks as if the Harvesters have come out of their slump, in time to salvage something from their district season.

The Harvester cagers close their season tonight against Amarillo. If they play even half as well as they did against Plainview, they should have little trouble beating the Sandies. (They defeated the Sandies by 22 points earlier this year.)

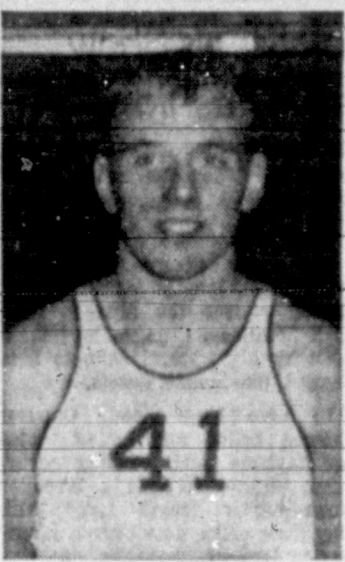

The Plainview game was Pampa's best contest of the year—with the possible exception of the second Denton game. Actually, there's no way of comparing those two encounters, because they were entirely different types of games.

It's too bad the Harvesters couldn't have played that kind of game earlier in the district season. If they had, I think the district standings would have been quite different from what they are now.

Two things happened Tuesday that, had they happened earlier, would probably have pulled Pampa out of its long slump, and enabled the Harvesters to finish with a good district record. First, Pat Carter regained his shooting eye; and second, Pampa's reserves played like veterans. "In the clutch."

Three Players Showed Improvement

Carter's usual fine shooting from long range has been badly missed by the Harvesters in recent games. Since Carter was Pampa's only really good shooter from distances of 20 feet or more, an extra burden was placed on the "inside" men and they were unable to take up all the slack.

... hitting bucket again

However, Pat began to hit his long ones again Tuesday, getting 13 points. Carter, who for quite some time had an amazing percentage of .500 or more on his long shots, will be back for another year. If he keeps up his percentage, he should be an even more valuable player next year than he was this season.

Two other players who will be back next year are Larry Stroud and Marshal Terrell. They came into Tuesday's game after Joe Timms and Craig Winborn fouled out in the fourth quarter, and played a creditable part in holding down Plainview's score.

The Harvesters have been plagued at times this year by key men fouling out. But it certainly didn't cause any problems against Plainview.

Stroud and Terrell have always been sharp shooters. Stroud, in fact, has the best shooting percentage on the team. All they needed were some experience and the confidence that goes with it. They should be greatly improved players next season.

Allen Wise, already an excellent rebounder and defensive man, needs only to shoot a little more to become an all-around first-rate player. He has a high percentage on the shots he's taken, but is reluctant to shoot very many times in a game. He'll be back next season.

Area Cagers Hitting The Hoop

Ernie Reusch, 6-6 center from White Deer, will grab his 200th rebound for the McMurry Indians sometime this week. He had 197 at the end of last week, and was McMurry's number two rebounder. He is also scoring at a 10.3 per game clip.

Jerry Pope, sophomore from Pampa, is the number five scorer for the TCW Horned Frogs. Pope has an average of 8.2 points per game for the season, and 8.9 in eight Southwest Conference games.

The Texas Longhorns and the Texas Tech Red Raiders should have a real shooting match this Saturday night in Lubbock. Texas has hit an average of 48.3 percent of its field goal attempts in conference play, and for the season has the third best mark in the nation. 49.7. Tech has a 43.5 average in Southwest Conference play.

Three Longhorns are among the top five most accurate shooters in the Southwest Conference. They are Brenton Hughes with 57.9 percent; Jay Arnette with 53.5 percent; and Donnie Laster with 48.4 percent. (These percentages do not include Tuesday's game with A&M.)

Del Ray Mounts, the sensational Perryton sophomore playing for Tech, is the number four percentage shooter in the conference, with a 49.7 average. Mounts is currently running neck-and-neck with Clyde Rhoden of Arkansas for the Southwest Conference scoring leadership.

1960 Winter Olympics Get Underway Today

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI)—The 1960 Winter Olympic Games, which thus far have produced nothing but discord instead of the international goodwill and harmony they are supposed to promote, open today.

Here in a scenic little valley of the Sierra Nevada, Vice President Richard Nixon was to declare the games officially open in a pageantry of pomp and ceremony equalled only in this quadrennial world athletic competition. Some 800 athletes from the 30 nations competing will march in their brilliant uniforms with their national flags held proudly aloft in what may be a snowstorm.

Six inches of snow was forecast for this 20-million-dollar resort built especially for these games. While that wouldn't hurt the ski runs it could hold down the crowd to less than the 25,000 expected.

It was hoped that when Nixon says "I now declare the VIII Olympics officially open" that all the strife which has marked the preliminary preparations would subside.

But it didn't appear like it would work out that way. For on the eve of the opening, one of the biggest rubarbs of them all broke out — and there have been a lot of big ones.

Five U.S. officials selected to serve as judges, referees and in other key capacities in the speed skating competition were dismissed by Sven Lattman of Sweden, vice president of the International Skating Union (ISU).

"We had to do it to bring order out of the mess here," Lattman told United Press International.

"The American officials have been doing their best, but they are inexperienced to handle a big meet like this," he explained. "Most of them have had no experience whatsoever in speed skating. To make the Olympic speed skating contests a success, it will be necessary to bring in men who know what it is all about and that will be done now."

He revealed that the U.S. officials were being replaced by one each from Norway, Sweden, Russia, France and Japan.

Lattman decided to take the drastic action—which was another black mark on the way these games are being conducted—after two days of final warmup tryouts in men's speed events. The competition was poorly organized, about one third of the times of the competing skaters were corrected after being announced as official, and nothing seemed to go right.

Lattman declared, too, that the U.S. officials involved also depended "too much on machines." So the U.S. officials were sacked.

It looked like there would be recriminations. Some of the top officials of the U.S. Olympic Committee told UPI they were not surprised. But they have been taking such a beating that they were expected to start defending themselves. Just what grounds they could defend themselves on were not known.

The only thing known was that today at 1:30 p.m. p.s.t. the games will be opened and on Friday actual competition starts. Maybe the 2,000 doves of peace which will be fired during the ceremony will mark an end to the bickering. But no one was betting on it.

Skater Has Two Ambitions In Life

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI)—There are two driving ambitions today in the pretty blonde head of a shapely little package named Barbara Ann Roles.

This 18-year-old Miss from Arcadia, Calif., wants first of all to win an Olympic gold medal in figure skating. She also wants to get married and have a "bunch" of little figure skaters.

The second will have to wait on the first. Barbara, daughter of thoroughbred trainer "Slim" Roles, has been training grimly for 12 years to win the coveted Olympic gold medal at which she will get her shot starting Saturday morning. Even the fact that world champion Carl Heiss is an outstanding favorite to beat her doesn't worry the 116-pound bundle of beauty on blades.

"You have to beat everybody," she dimpled with a loss of her blonde bob. "I haven't even watched them. I've just concentrated on my own figures and I hope to win a medal."

Barbara has worked hard at it. Day in and day out, with the exception of a two-week vacation, she practices from six to eight hours a day.

"Well," Barbara pondered, "I'm figuring on skating four more years. I'd like to make one more Olympic team. That would give me another chance at a gold medal. But that's enough."

After that, it will be time for romance and from the greetings of the male sex as she skips through the Olympic Village the line forms on the right.

"I love to cook," bubbled the five-foot, three-inch lass who is majoring in English at Pasadena City College. "Just because I like it and not for any other particular reason."

She also likes to dance and swim. But her first love, athletically speaking, is the figure skating which she started at six when she "just went along" with a neighborhood friend who was taking skating lessons. Barbara's been at it ever since.

Senator Stars Sievers, Lemon Allison Hold Out For Raises

By United Press International

A solid bloc of Senators — Roy Sievers, Bob Allison and Jim Lemon — voted "no" today to a proposal that they sign for what Washington owner Cal Griffith is offering.

"I think I was the last to sign the past four years," Sievers said without attempting to boast of the distinction, "and it's beginning to look like I'll be last again this time."

Sievers, who is resisting a deep salary slash, has sent back two contracts unsigned. Allison and Lemon also have returned unsigned pacts, but in their cases each is looking for a bigger raise. Allison and Lemon, along with Harmon Killebrew, who already has signed, provided the Senators with their strongest 1-2-3 punch in more than two decades last summer.

Some of the other clubs reported more progress in the contract-signing department. The Milwaukee Braves landed a "big one" in Red Schoendienst, who finally accepted a cut estimated at $5,000. The popular 37-year-old redhead said he felt it as a fiddle and that the Braves had no need to put any kind of "insurance" clause in his contract.

Young Jerry Walker, being counted upon for a regular starting pitching assignment this year, okayed terms with the Baltimore Orioles, and the White Sox announced the signing of outfielder Joe Hicks and left-handed pitcher Gary Peters.

Infielder Alex Grammas came to terms with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Berry, No. 1 Pass Catcher

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Johnny Unitas did the throwing for the Baltimore Colts last season, and end Raymond Berry did a heap of catching for the National Football League champions.

Berry won the league's pass receiving championship with 96 completions. He also gained the most yardage and scored the most touchdowns among the receivers, official statistics revealed today. He gained 899 yards and caught 14 touchdown passes.

Three Baltimore players were in the top six among the receivers. Lenny Moore of the Colts, along with Del Shofner of Los Angeles and Tommy McDonald of Philadelphia, tied for second place with 47 receptions, while Jim Mutscheller of Baltimore and Billy Wilson, San Francisco, tied for fifth with 44 each.

Rounding out the top 10 were Frank Gifford of New York (42), Jim Dooley of the Chicago Bears (41), Billy Howton, Cleveland (39) and Jon Arnett of Los Angeles (38).

Max McGee of Green Bay had the highest average gain per completion at 23.2 yards and the longest completion of the year was an 88-yard touchdown pass caught by Harlan Hill of the Bears.

Hank Wins Bout, But Breaks Hand

CHICAGO (UPI)—Middleweight Henry Hank, victorious for the third straight fight over a bigger foe, begged today for a chance against another 160-pounder to show how well he can fight — anytime six to eight weeks from now.

Hank will be out of action for the six to eight weeks as the result of a fractured right hand, hurt on the last punch of his fight Wednesday night against Sixto Rodriguez, in which Hank scored a technical knockout at 2:41 of the sixth round.

The costly punch was the last one Hank threw in downing Rodriguez, the California state champion and the world's fourth-ranked light-heavyweight. Hank is rated third among the middleweight challengers.

It was Hank's 29th knockout triumph in 52 fights and the first time in 29 fights that Rodriguez has been stopped.

FINAL GAMES — Jim Crinklaw, left, and Leslie Stanfield will be playing their final games tonight for their respective teams. Crinklaw, captain of the Shockers, will move up to the Harvesters next year. Stanfield, a Harvester senior, will be playing his last game for Pampa, as will Craig Winborn, Joe Timms and Phillip Gist.

Schaeffler Risked Life For Olympics

By LOWELL THOMAS
Written For UPI

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI)—One of the heroes of the VIII Winter Olympics is a man who almost gave his life for the games during last week's "big storm" in Squaw Valley.

Had Willi Schaeffler been swept under by the roaring torrents while trying to save the downhill course on Squaw Peak, a fall would have been cast over the games that even today's opening pageantry could not erase. A Bavarian and former German ski ace, Willi Schaeffler came to the United States some years ago and almost single handedly has, as coach, built Denver University until it dominates the collegiate winter sports world.

When the miracle of bringing the 1960 games to Squaw Valley was accomplished, someone was smart enough to ask Willi to take a year's leave of absence from Denver and set up the skiing events.

The greatest problem here was the creation of a downhill course. It had to be long enough to satisfy international standards. That was Willi's task.

The project was a success. Until last week's rains came. It rained and rained, and rained some more. Tiny Squaw Creek became a roaring river, changed overnight into a formidable foe.

Willi, during the storm, performed a superhuman task, saving his precious, hard-built course from disaster.

At the height of the storm, he was working in a net covered area when the rampaging creek, gaining strength by the second, undermined the nets and washed them out.

Willi was thrown into the stream. Had he been washed under the next net, he would have been a dead duck.

But he's a man of tremendous strength. He grabbed a branch protruding from the bank and held on until a crewman, hearing Willi's cries, ran with a ski pole, pushed it to Willi and helped haul him out.

Willi Schaeffler didn't want this story told until the Olympics opened. He was modest—and afraid it would mean adverse publicity for Squaw Valley.

But the games are open now and Willi can be proud of the job he did.

Play Sandies In Amarillo For 4th Place

AMARILLO — The Pampa Harvesters will try to keep for place in District 3-A, and even their district record, when they meet the Amarillo Sandies at p.m. tonight in Amarillo. The Harvesters are tied for fifth place, with a 6-7 district record. The Sandies are tied for fifth, with a 5-8 mark. Tonight's game will be the last of the season for both teams.

The Harvesters, who knocked Plainview out of the district on Tuesday, will have a 17-8 season record if they win tonight.

Pampa will be trying, in tonight's contest, to follow up Tuesday's brilliantly played victory over Plainview with a win over the Sandies, and thus close a mediocre season on a pleasant note. The Harvesters probably have a good chance of winning, since they defeated the Sandies, 69-47 at a previous meeting. However, Sandies have played in street and have been able to beat their best teams in the district at times. They are also especially dangerous in the Armory, a little cracker-gymnasium — with its wooden bleachers. Most teams find it extremely tough to play there.

The Sandies have a height advantage over the Harvesters, averaging 6-2 compared to a Pampa 5-8. Amarillo's two tallest players are Wayne Rivers, 6-4, and Hat Denney, 6-6. Other probable 8-0 starters are Johnny Garcia, 6-1; Gary Pattinson, 5-11; and Jerry Avery, 5-7. Pattinson is team's leading scorer.

Pampa starters will be Craig Winborn, 6-3, who is averaging 15.5 points per game; Pat Carter, 5-7, who is hitting 11.9 points per game; Joe Timms, 5-11, who is averaging 7.4 points; Allen Williams, 6-2, who is hitting at a 6.4 clip; and Phillip Gist, 5-11, who is averaging 6 points per contest.

The Shockers will close the season in a preliminary game at 6:15 p.m. They will be trying to keep a winning record for the season, as they are now 12-11 and a loss would give them only one record. The Shockers defeated Yarnigans, 37-25, the last time two teams met.

Larry Stroud, Bill Neslage, Crinklaw, Don Curry, Jim Stephenson, Charles Pan, Lloyd Ball, George Simmons, Mike Stewart and Harold Burgess are all expected to see action for the Shockers.

Citizens Bank won its 26th victory in 27 starts this season whipping a team of Pampa High School seniors Wednesday night 92-58.

Lee led Citizens' scoring with points, while Don Fagan had and Debert Daniels 16. For seniors, Kippy Williams scored and Bobby Stephens 15. The score at halftime was 34-50 in favor of Citizens Bank.

Cobb Leads TCU To Win Over Baylor

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Jerry Cobb played "like a wild man" Wednesday night to lead Texas Christian to a 65-51 Southwest Conference basketball victory over Baylor.

Cobb, a 6-4 junior from Dallas, hit 21 points to pace the Horned Frog attack and was a major contributor to the Frogs' domination of the backboards.

Baylor wound up with a 30.3 percentage for the night, but Bruin Coach Bill Henderson said the Bears lost the game because they couldn't hang onto the ball.

Tommy Mescham backed up Cobb with 19 points, while Carroll Dawson and Bob Turner contributed 16 each for the Bears.

The loss left the Bears with a 4-5 record, and the Frogs with a 2-7 mark.

All were voted the outstanding men in their respective fields for 1959 by the Texas Sports Writers Assn. More than 400 persons are expected for the affair at which Michigan State Coach "Duffy" Daugherty will be the principal speaker.

West Virginia, Villanova, Dayton Victims Of Big Upsels

By United Press International West Virginia, Villanova and Dayton have collected plenty of press clippings this season—but nobody's yet found a way to win basketball games with newsprint.

National ranking and tournament recognition failed to impress the opposition Wednesday night as George Washington surprised fifth-rated West Virginia, 97-69; St. Bonaventure stopped ninth-ranked Villanova, 72-70, and DePaul defeated MIT-bound Dayton, 70-66.

Jon Feldman, a 5-9 sophomore, scored 42 points to pace the Colonials in a stretch drive that sent the Mountaineers down to their fourth setback in 20 games.

Elsewhere North Carolina, led by Doug Moe's 23 points, bested a late North Carolina State surge to defeat the Wolfpack, 66-62, and remain in the Atlantic Coast Conference lead.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Charley Scott and Gaspar Ortega will meet in a 10-round non-televised welterweight bout at the Arena here March 14, promoter Herman Taylor announced Wednesday.

Four Pampa Fighters Enter State Golden Gloves Meet

FORT WORTH—Seven fighters from the Amarillo region, including one from Pampa, arrived here this morning for weigh-ins, before the start of the state Golden Gloves tournament tonight.

The state tournament will continue through Tuesday. Winners will be eligible for the national Golden Gloves tournament in Chicago.

Lucky Dunham, 126 pounds, is Pampa's representative among the fighters from the Amarillo region. Others are Albert Cavazos, Levelland, 118; Manny Perez, Amarillo, 135; Gary Watt, Levelland, 147; Martin Berzewski, Amarillo, and Dale Gardner, 112, Amarillo. The team will not have a heavy weight entry.

Two fighters from Pampa will box in the tournament for the Corpus Christi region. They are Bob Wilhelm, 147, and Johnny Clauch, 175, both University of Corpus Christi boxers.

Two other fighters who are well known to Panhandle fans will also be fighting for the Corpus Christi team. They are Billy Fins, 126, defending state champion from Andrews; and Wayne Tedder, 135, defending state champ from Borger.

There is a possibility of all-Panhandle duels for the 126 pound and 135 pound titles.

Minnesota Mess

There have been some interesting incursions against freedom in the State of Minnesota recently. Senator Hubert Humphrey of the North Star State has been rather in the news of late and his opinions in seeking to further a universal welfare-state are rather well known.

But we were not thinking of Mr. Humphrey. In this newest information to come to us, he is not involved. We are thinking of Governor Orville Freeman, who is apparently a friend of Mr. Humphrey's at least insofar as political direction is concerned.

We are still recalling the move made by Governor Freeman at Albert Lea, Minnesota, in the Wilson Company packing plant strike. At that moment the governor of Minnesota indicated that he was staunchly on the side of a progressive share-the-wealth program and opposed to the rights of free men. But we have had further indication than this.

Harry Kirckman of South Stevens Avenue in Minneapolis writes to tell of a new law which has been passed in his state and which he, personally, says he intends to test in a civil suit. This law had the backing of the governor and is a strange indication of the hidden violence that can lie in wait in an apparently harmless-sounding piece of legislation.

According to Mr. Kirckman, this new law on the books in his state contains this phraseology: "Every person who writes, prints, posts, distributes or causes to be written, printed, posted, or distributed, any circular, poster, or other written or printed matter which is designed to injure or defeat any candidate for the nomination or election to a public office, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor."

This is clearly an invasion, of the right of every American to speak his mind openly and without fear. It is a direct abridgment of free speech and we will be most interested in learning how

Tranquilizers

For a number of years we have been hearing scare talk about the alarming increase in mental illness in these United States. Now comes word about mental illness on the decline. And the word comes from the Health News Institute of New York City, which is supposedly fairly well informed on the subject.

Before reporting the reason for this apparent reversal of a trend, we must confess that we are not completely convinced at the moment that the instrumentation employed in obtaining this reversal is necessarily a universal panacea. We are inclined to distrust the politically put answer. And it is certainly true that persons who have, in a few cases, been upset because of national and international trends politically and economically speaking, have been treated as tho they were mentally ill when, as a matter of fact, they were simply better informed.

In short, persons who disagreed with the globaloney of a universal welfare state and who objected when they were taxed and regulated into impotency, were wont to get upset. The fact that they got upset and that many these who are still do, is not an indication of mental illness on their part. Rather, it is an indication of the universal symptom of socialism, which, from another point of view, can be claimed as being an indication of mental illness in the global camp.

Anyway, the Health News Institute comes forward now to say that mental illness is on a decline and that the reason for this decline is the reversal relates to the tranquilizer pill. The Institute gives the following figures: In a four year period

Better Jobs

by R. C. HOILES

Blessings Of Humor I read a very interesting article in The Universalist Leader by Anders S. Lund under the heading of "The Gift of Humor." He quoted Horace as saying: "Laughter often settles things more thoroughly and better than acrimony."

The author relates how, in some churches, officials are selected for one outstanding characteristic—they lack a sense of humor. Then he observes:

"...Humor is too human, perhaps, and they should be divine. The ancients thought that God only showed impatience and anger at the follies of men. I think God must more often laugh at the pretentiousness of men than at anything else. Naturally, the church deals with serious matters, as I say. Death is no laughing matter; we do not joke at funerals. I see nothing funny in human suffering, pain and disillusion. But religion does not deal with these things alone, but with life itself and all its pignora. It is involved with happiness as well as sadness with joy as well as sorrow. As Ecclesiastes puts it: 'There is a time to laugh and a time to weep.' We may have forgotten this; perhaps our church programs are more nearly funeral services than religious services. If anyone leaves our worship services depressed rather than filled with the joy of being in God's great universe, they're off. If a church service should do anything for us, it should leave us with good humor; this is true inner peace, for we have been taken outside ourselves for a moment and seen ourselves and our situations for what they really are.

"Why have religious institutions of the modern day maintained this narrow view of humor and laughter? There are, unfortunately, many traditions behind it. Some traditions have to do with the fears that various religious groups exploited; others with their exclusively priestly worship; others with our own Puritanical inheritance. In times past the smile was considered a crime, and laughter a mortal sin. People were punished for both. A few years ago in Boston, I came across the menu of a church dinner of about 150 years ago. On the bottom of the menu were these words: 'After the dessert, it will be permitted to smile.'"

"As the old hymn states it, 'We should laugh and love and live.' Religion is not gloom but laughter. In Eugene O'Neill's play, 'Lazarus Laughed,' the author imagines Lazarus laughing for joy after being raised from the dead; joy at being alive, joy at finding there is nothing to fear in death. Religion is not gloom but laughter."

Then he relates that laughing at other people is sometimes very harmful, and sometimes it can result in good. The author puts it this way: "Laughter can be a terrible weapon. A dictator must make at least divert it from himself. Once a leader is thoroughly laughed at, he is not taken seriously. Is that perhaps why we do not find enough of it in the church? Suppose people were to laugh at outworn creeds and silly traditions or pompous church officials; the church would have to get busy to justify itself, more dynamically than it does at present. To the world, yes, we have to learn to control laughter, especially if it is directed against someone else, or use this power wisely."

Laugh At Himself "Dr. A. Powell Davies writes in 'In my view, it is an essential ingredient of religion, of honest, wholesome religion. If I were asked what single quality every human being needs more than any other, I would answer, the ability to laugh at himself. When we see our own grosser qualities, how quaint we are, how droll our ambitions are, how comical we are in almost all respects, we automatically become more sane, less self-centered, more humble, more wholesome. To laugh at ourselves, we have to stand outside ourselves, and that is an immense benefit."

"Our puffed-up pride and touchy self-importance vanish; a clean and sweet humility begins to take possession of us. We are on the way to growing a soul."

The author, who was a Chaplain in the Army, relates this experience: "On Easter Sunday, 1946, I had many services in southern Bavaria. I told the soldiers I would be glad to write to their families if they would leave me names and addresses. Before the day was out, I had hundreds of names and decided to have a letter printed, explaining that I had hoped to make the letters more personal, but circumstances prevented this. In the letter I described our services, told of meeting their men, and ended the letter with an Easter wish and the hope that the 'spirit that was in Jesus should be with you also.' I received dozens of replies from all over the United States, but the one I remember best was a most cordial letter, which indicated turn persons into humanoid bovines, contentedly chewing on the mish-mash of collectivism dished up by the U.N. and other government worshippers, then the bright record reported with such happiness is in fact a sordid record of human degradation scarcely matched since Buchenwald.

"Dr. Davis said about laughter: 'Laughter is the challenge of the living soul to whatever is not yet conquered, the promise of supremacy, the courage of the world's new morning vanquishing forever the receding dark.'"

LATEST SOVIET MISSILES LACK DISCONCERTING WALLPAPER WASHINGTON — The result of those two Russian long-range ballistic missile tests in the Pacific are much more disconcerting than has been so far publicly revealed.

The Navy has privately apprised the House Armed Services Committee of the following jolting details: The nose cones of both these ocean-spanning missiles were recovered by the Russians in an astonishingly short time; the first in 20 minutes, and the second in about 40 minutes.

This is the first public disclosure of the recovery of these large instruments - loaded capsules. The Navy has made no announcement about it, and neither has Moscow although loudly boasting about the accuracy of the powerful ICBMs.

Both nose cones weighed "at least several hundred pounds." One Intelligence report estimates the weight at "more than 1,000 pounds." Throughout their ocean-spanning flight and until recovered, the two capsules sent out a steady relay of radio signals in code.

The Soviet missiles, at speeds upwards of 14,000 mph, traversed an estimated 7,760 miles from their launching base at Kapustin Yar, near Stalingrad, to the Pacific target area, some 1,000 miles east of the Marshall Islands.

On the basis of this distance and the size of the recovered nose cones, Navy missile experts estimate the Russian ICBMs had a thrust of 600,000 to 800,000 lbs. That is approximately double the 350,000 lb. thrust of the ATLAS, the only operational ICBM the U.S. now has. Maximum distance so far covered by an ATLAS is around 6,300 miles.

In reporting to the House Armed Services Committee, headed by Representative Carl Vinson (D., Ga.), the Navy stressed the remarkable accuracy of the giant Russian missiles and the speedy recovery of their heavy nose cones. Navy authorities were obviously much impressed by both.

They also anticipate further Soviet missile tests in the Pacific. One reason for this view is the fact that two of the three Russian ships that participated in these tests are still in the large area. The other presumably returned with the recovered nose cone.

Intelligence has advised the House Committee that these Pacific tests are probably the forerunner of a Soviet attempt to orbit earth - girdling satellites with a "mechanical eye."

Purpose of this equipment would be to take "pictures" of the U.S. and other strategic areas and transmit them to Russian stations. One Intelligence report even speculates that such photographic devices were in the nose cones of the tested missiles. According to this account, that is hinted at in a Soviet scientific journal the Library of Congress has translated for the military services and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Looking Sideways

NEW YORK — PARTY NIGHT: You have covered a Saturday night play opening in New York and you are driving back to the country when your bride decides she just has to have some French pancakes with lingon berries—so you stop at a pancake house on the road and because it is Saturday night you wait 40 minutes to be served and it is after 10 o'clock when you get home.

You read until 2:30 because you take books the way some people take sleeping pills and you can't go to sleep without reading for an hour. The book is David Alexander's murder mystery, "The Death of Daddy-O," which is a forbidding title for an intricate, imaginative and amusing killer-diller. You get up at 7:30 to slide through a shower and put on some clothes to drive back into Manhattan for your regular broadcast. When that is done you drive back out again for Sunday dinner and decide you have had all the driving and ramming back and forth to town that you can take for awhile when your bride says: "I think 8:30 will be plenty of time to leave. The party is at 9 o'clock, but we don't want to get there on the tick."

Disarrayed, you ask what party and she says the Theater Guild party for the cast, director, author and assorted friends of "A Majority of One" in celebration of its first whole year on Broadway and we have to go. You sigh and say, "Okay, we'll go, but I won't like it. I'm exhausted."

You leave at 8:30, get there at 9:30, find a place to park and walk into the Salto Japanese restaurant and place is jammed. You say hello first to Sir Cedric Hardwicke, known to you, an irrefutable fact, as Butch. And then Polly Bergen, Nancy Kelly and Gertrude Berg, and having had restorative fun talking to them you gravitate to a young woman whom you do not know but who looks interesting. After a few gambits of conversation she confesses that she is a painter who has "lost something right in here," fishing toward her heart, and cannot paint any more.

You tell her that if she is defeated that easily she doesn't deserve to have any talent and pointing around the room you identify a dozen who have felt depression, bewilderment, disappointment, frustration, but have kept kicking at life until they rose again to stardom.

Leaving this unhappy child, you go sit with Dore Schary, who directed the play, and enter a long but to you fascinating discussion about direction and what unmake any play. He tells you he is going to direct a thing about Denver's famed, unsinkable Mrs. Brown and you give him a short and only mildly naughty anecdote about her. Then you go sit with a colleague named Earl Wilson and from him go back to Nancy Kelly, who tells you a fabulous, hilarious and definitely naughty story about a Martian in a gas station and May Questel all but falls on the floor in uncheckable hilarity. Julie Andrews, who has confessed herself sick of the role of Eliza Doolittle in "My Fair Lady" and hopeful that nobody ever again will ask her to sing even one note of it, comes by with her bridegroom and you exchange a few not noteworthy words. Then you talk to Miriam Howell, New York's most sagacious play and actor agent, after which you start toward Eitel Merman but hear her make a startling statement and decide to let the atmosphere cool for awhile.

What happened was that one of those idiots who is at every party had asked Miss Merman: "Tell me, Miss Merman, what do you do to protect your voice during a long run in a hit?" It was of those silly, pompous questions and Eitel's snapper was: "Something! Are you nuts or something? I just walk out there and let it follow." Poor fellow looked so startled, you hadn't the moxie to intrude. Later, in a dark corner of no romantic use to either of you, you pass ten minutes with Eitel in small, unchallenging discussion. Over nothing but all amiable.

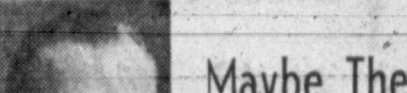

Helen Ponschin, Russian-born but true blue American all the way, comes by and you enter into a long and discursive thing about abstract art which you tell her is nonsense and which she defends as an outlet for the psyche, and since two such persons can never reach a plateau of understanding on that theme, you both depart in opposite directions. You go and sit with Gertrude Berg, one of the most charming and accomplished women alive and have a lovely time in small, happy and unstrained talk and then Sir Cedric comes by and you make a threesome of some sukiyaki. Then you meet the Japanese ambassador, during the first half of the pregnancy. Some very rare cases have been known where an organism has passed from a pet through the blood of the mother to cause damage to the baby's eyesight.

And, finally, if I were mother, I'd knock off smoking—at least during pregnancy. Figures recently released from England indicate babies from nonsmoking mothers average six ounces heavier than those of smokers. Again it is a question as to whether you want to take every precaution.

A final word of caution: None of these steps will be worthwhile if pregnancy becomes a nightmare for you, your husband and other loved ones. Keep active in all the interests you had before you became pregnant. Continue normal work and play.

Maybe The Answer Is To Leave Them Alone

by HENRY McLEMORE

Like the chestnut blight, the problem of what to do with former Presidents of the United States pops up every now and then. It is worth noting, perhaps, that the question is never raised by former Presidents, or the man who is about to become one.

After four or eight years on the job they seem to be perfectly satisfied with the idea of doing little or nothing. There have been a few eager beavers among them, but most of them look forward to a long rest, followed by another long rest, with good substantial cat-naps in between.

We the people, however, don't favor this. We look upon it as a waste of superior manpower, and many leading citizens have advanced plans for the utilization of former Presidents, as witness Jim Farley's recent suggestion that they be made honorary Senators.

In one way, the interest the country has in keeping former Presidents at work is surprising. There never has been a President who wasn't damned by millions at one time or the other, and a day never passes without the head man's being belabored by one, two, or three factions.

Take right now. With upwards of a dozen Democratic candidates for the Presidency loose on the land, speaking from any available stump, Eisenhower is being blamed for everything from an outbreak of measles in Idaho to the high cost of peanut butter.

Today is Thursday, Feb. 18, the 49th day of the year, with 317 more days in 1960. The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter, Saturn and Venus. The evening star is Mercury. On this day in history: In 1678, John Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress was published for the first time.

In 1861, Jefferson Davis was sworn in as President of the Confederate States of America. In 1892, Wendell Wilkie was born.

In 1930, astronomer Clyde Tombaugh discovered the planet Pluto. In 1959, ceremonies in San Francisco marked the opening of the Golden Gate Exposition.

A thought for today: "Wendell Wilkie said: 'There are no distant points in the world any longer... our thinking in the future must be world wide.'" a gentleman of enormous erudition and poise, and since you really don't have anything to say of import to him, you make your bow and go back to the Nancy Kelly corner, this being a lively area with crisp cement freely flowing. By now it is getting on to be that time and you suddenly know you are truly exhausted and have another hour's drive ahead of you, and with sorrow, realize that inside 34 hours you have made three round trips to New York from the country. Half-awake, you drive home.

Rep. Rogers Voted Against FCC Controls On Radio, TV

Rigged TV - And Payola. The committee investigating the misuses and abuses of the air waves has been in session in recent days continuing the investigation on "payola." Payola is a term which is somewhat difficult to define. It came into use as a reference to the practice of slipping money to a radio or TV announcer or star in exchange for that personality mentioning a product or name on the air in a program which was being sponsored or paid for by someone else, or to influence a person to push or give a preferential position to certain products as opposed to other like products.

RED CROSS-RESCUE METHOD - Approaching spring brings warmer weather which can menace skaters who venture out on too-thin ice. The Cleveland Chapter of the Red Cross suggests the rescue method demonstrated above. A length of wood is extended to endangered pair, right.
