Hears Friend Dying Over Telephone

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (UPI)—A barmaid heard her friend dying Tuesday night because of an unbroken telephone connection, called Mickey Mask at the tavern.

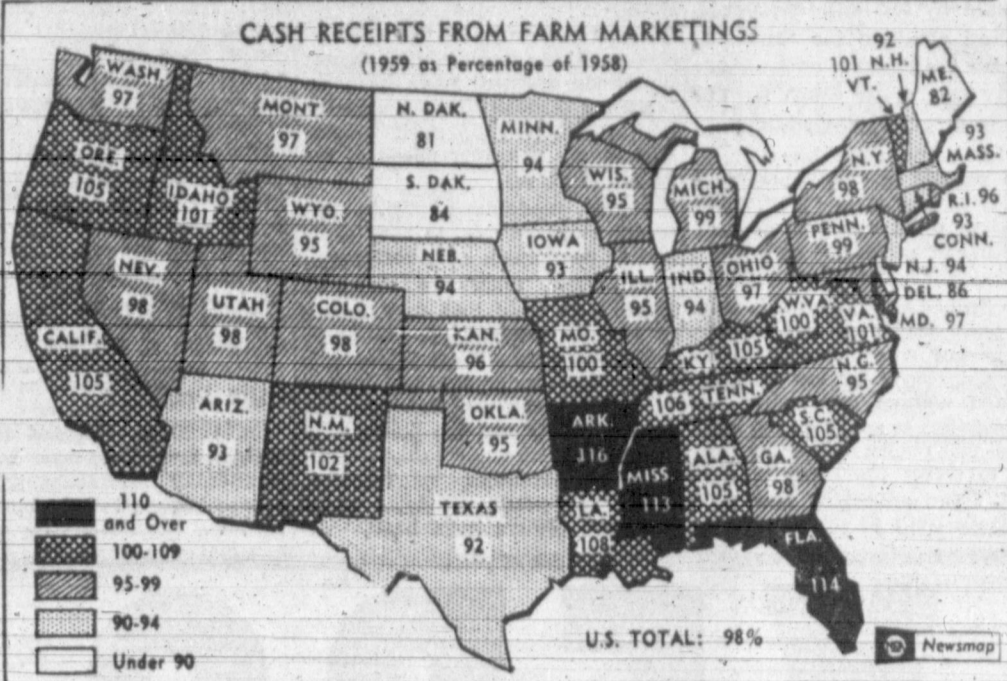

Richard Alfred Thompson, 43, called Mickey Mask at the tavern where she works, and asked her to leave early and meet him. She promised she would try, and hung up.

A few minutes later, she picked up the telephone and heard heavy breathing on the other end. Thompson was found in the motel where he lived shot in the head. He died three hours later at a Dallas hospital.

Police said he left a suicide note, some cash, and the dead to his car signed over to Miss Mask.

WINS COUNCIL SEAT

NEDERLAND (UPI)—I. A. Biriski defeated Jack Evans, the incumbent, by a two-to-one margin in a city councilman election Tuesday.

FARMERS GOT LESS IN '59 MARKETINGS—Farmers' cash receipts from farm marketings were two per cent less in 1959 as compared to 1958, in the national average. In two states cash receipts were about the same; they were lower in 32 states and registered significant percentage rises in three states only: Arkansas, Mississippi and Florida. Data from Agriculture Department's agricultural marketing service.

Novel May Have Inspired Kidnaping

PARIS (UPI)—French police, apparently lacking other clues, were reported today to be studying the possibility that last week's Peugeot kidnaping was inspired by a five-year-old American source close to the case said Lionel White's novel, "The Kidnap," contained a plan corresponding blow-by-blow with that used by the abductors of 4½-year-old Eric Peugeot, who was returned unharmed when his family paid $100,000 ransom.

They noted these coincidences:—The ransom notes and telephone messages sent by the kidnapers might have been copied, almost word for word, from the book.

—The kidnapers in the novel were amateur criminals, as police believe the Peugeot kidnapers were.

—White's book commented that fingerprints are no threat to a man who has no police record—and the Peugeot kidnapers made no attempt to erase their fingerprints from ransom notes.

—The theory that the Peugeot kidnapers were amateurs "going by the book" was said to encourage police, who hoped they might be able to trap their quarry if the abductors tried to smuggle the ransom money out of France.

Fear For Ike's Safety In S. Korea

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—The man charged with President Eisenhower's safety were reported fearful today that a visit to Korea next month might involve him in anti-government demonstrations.

While the demonstrations have been aimed at Korean President Syngman Rhee, there was a feeling among American security men that the anti-Rhee feelings might easily include Eisenhower if the President is Rhee's guest.

Eisenhower's wishes, even on foreign trips, are seldom overruled flatly by his protectors, but the Korean situation could present such a case. It also seemed unlikely that the President would pursue his plans to visit the troubled Far Eastern republic as long as the State Department is publicly critical of Rhee's conduct of his internal affairs.

This was Eisenhower's last full day at the Augusta National.

Barring a change in plans, the President and Mrs. Eisenhower will fly back to Washington Thursday afternoon to be on hand Friday to greet French President Charles de Gaulle when he arrives for a state visit.

Wild Fans Cheer Elvis

EL PASO (UPI)—Rock 'n Roll idol: Elvis Presley needed a police escort and a heavy fence to hold back an estimated 2,000 wildly cheering fans Wednesday.

His train laid over in El Paso for an hour and 40 minutes early today. He was en route to Hollywood for the first time since his Army discharge, and will star in a film called "GI Blues."

Before it left his private car on the end of the Southern Pacific Sunset Limited, he held a short press conference and said he plans to remain his old hip-swinging self.

"I see no reason to change my style, and I do not intend to change my style of singing," he said. But he added that he didn't think he could do "one musical after another as a rock and roll singer" and he wants to progress into more dramatic type films.

Presley appeared at the back of the private car and was nearly hauled off by two women, who appeared in their early 30's. They clutched at his clothing and grabbed at his hands. Police ran them away and said they could not figure how they climbed over a high rock wall and iron bar fence.

The singer left the train flanked by four husky policemen and greeted the crowd at the Union Station. A high chain fence separated him from the crowd as he strolled up and down the walk chatting with the fans.

CHANNEL WORK PLANNED

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army Engineers asked the Senate Public Works Committee Tuesday for authority to deepen the Texas ship channel project in Galveston Bay to 40 feet and widen approaches. They estimated the cost would be $1,600,000.

POSSIBLE CAPTURES ESCAPEES

WEATHERFORD (UPI)—A posse captured Luther Eugene Crippen, 22, and Kenneth Keith McQueen, 24, less than an hour after they pulled a knife on a jail trusty and escaped in a stolen pickup truck. They were surrounded in rough country after wrecking the truck.

IT'S THE LAW
★ in Texas ★
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

What is Law?
While getting ready to observe LAW DAY U.S.A. on May 1st, perhaps we should ask ourselves the question... "What is law?"
The English language uses one word "law" to express two distinct ideas, I found. In many foreign languages these two meanings are expressed by two different words. When we speak of the "rule of law", we are thinking of the whole body of law, under which we live together in a civilized society.

In Latin the word law in its broad concept is "jus", but for a specific statute it is "lex", from which our word "law" is derived. In France it is "droit" and "loi"; in Spanish: "derecho" and "ley".

The French word for law is identical with the word for "right". This is not a coincidence. The whole purpose of the law is to define and enforce our rights. We are forbidden to speed on the highway so that others may enjoy their right to travel the same road in safety. Laws specifying how wills and deeds shall be made have been adopted for the benefit of the people.

Our rights are in three broad groups. First, specific legal rights; thousands of these have been established through the years as the law strives to keep itself responsive to the changing needs of the people it serves.

Second, fundamental rights such as the right to vote, to bear arms and to participate in government.

And third, there are "basic rights" so basic that they belong to all men everywhere. Call them God-given rights, if you will—rights guaranteed under law and named in the Declaration of Independence—Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Law guarantees us freedom, peace and progress, ideals which are, and always have been, dependent upon the adequacy of our legal system and the protection awarded the individual by our courts.

LAW DAY U.S.A. is the American way; it is America's answer to communism.

(This column prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Honey Of Cake Gives Gay Spring Welcome

Something old, something new can be said of Fruited Honey Cake, too. The something old is honey used for baking cakes since the time of Genesis. And the something new is instant coffee an easy-to-use product of modern times.

Since creation, men as well as bees have savored honey. The Hebrews, at New Year, symbolized the sweetness of the coming year with honey cakes. The ancient Greeks were famous for their cakes of honey, milk, fruit and sesame flour. While the Romans enjoyed spiral-shaped dessert cakes, a mixture of honey and flour which was baked, soaked in wine and sprinkled with poppyseed. Even in the Orient, the home of sugar cane, cakes made of honey were prescribed offerings to the gods.

Today, we suggest using this delightful food in Fruited Honey Cake, a treat filled with dried currants and finely chopped dried apricots and topped with a thin honey glaze. The instant coffee is not liquidified, but sifted with the other dry ingredients and added to the creamed mixture of butter, honey and brown sugar. There's no trouble in measuring honey; if you remember to butter the cup before using.

Liquid honey should be stored at room temperature in an airtight container as it absorbs moisture and odors when exposed to air. Liquid honey that has crystallized on standing may be reliquidified by immersing the container in a hot water bath.

FRUITED HONEY CAKE
Squares pan, 8-inch
Preheated 325 degree oven
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
1/2 cup strained honey
1/2 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
2 eggs
1-3 cup dried currants
1/2 cup finely chopped dried apricots
2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon instant coffee
1-3 cup milk

1 teaspoon vanilla
Butter and flour pan; set aside.
Cream butter, honey and brown sugar. Add eggs and beat until fluffy. Stir in dried fruit. Sift dry ingredients; add to creamed mixture alternately with the milk, mixing until well blended, starting and ending with dry ingredients. Stir in vanilla. Pour into prepared pan and bake 60-70 minutes. Remove from oven and cool completely. Top with Honey Glaze.

HONEY GLAZE
1-3 cup strained honey
2 tablespoons water
Boil honey and water in saucepan 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; refrigerate until cold. Pour over cold cake.

Gingersnaps Give Spice To Gravy

Sauerbraten is a rich, hearty feast from Germany, which is enhanced in flavor with spicy old-fashioned gingersnaps to give the gravy special flavor.

SAUERBRATEN
4-pound pot roast of beef
2 cups vinegar
7 cups water
1 large onion, sliced
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
10 peppercorns
4 whole cloves
2 bay leaves
1/4 lemon, sliced 1/4 cup fat

Hors D'Oeuvres Are Guaranteed Witless

Whether you like to entertain big groups frequently or prefer just to have a few friends drop in every so often you probably welcome new hors d'oeuvre ideas.

Highest on the list usually are those which can be made in advance without waiting away by party time. Also very popular are tempting hot tidbits which can be prepared beforehand and need only a few minutes of cooking just before serving.

The best way to be ready for all events is to keep a few staples like sour cream, tins of oysters or clams, and nuts on hand. A new product which has become a favorite staple of busy hostesses is 4-C's red-flavored bread crumb mix. The cheeses and spices already in it make it a quick one-step addition to many recipes.

LIVER CANAPE
Remove a liver paste from tin in one piece, or use a midjet liver-roul, removed from the tin. Roll in 1/2 c. 4-C's red-flavored bread crumb mix, pressing it firmly into the meat. Make a slit in dough according to directions on box and roll out into an oblong 1/4 inch thick and large enough to completely cover the liver. Brush hands with cold water for easy handling. Shape into 6 baskets using greased muffin pans for a form. Shape handles last when candied cereal is slightly stiffer. Chill for one hour, remove baskets from muffin cups. Fill with your favorite ice cream and freeze. Let soften slightly before serving. Makes 6 baskets.

National Cherry Pie Baking Champ Gives Official Recipe From Contest

CHICAGO — With the recipe printed below, to Ann Williams of Wattsburg, Pa., won the National Cherry Pie Baking Championship, winning out over 49 other state champs at the 28th annual National Cherry Pie Baking Contest held here.

Her winning cherry pie, adjudged best by an outstanding panel of youth leaders, food editors, and food industry home economists, won for Jo Ann a college scholarship, a Hotpoint electric range and an educational trip to New York City and Washington, D.C. More than 200,000 young people from every state participated in the event.

Jo Ann's winning recipe was as follows:

2 (20 oz.) cans frozen cherries, thawed and drained (4 cups drained cherries)
1 cup cherry juice
1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 teaspoon almond
Mix pastry (recipe below) and roll rest while preparing filling.

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan; gradually add cherry juice, stirring to smooth paste. Boil over moderate heat for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Reduce heat. Stir in 1 cup Old Fashion Gingersnaps crumbs, finely rolled, about 13. Gradually add remaining marinade. Bring to boiling and cook until mixture thickens. Remove from heat and stir in 1/2 cup commercial sour cream, if desired.

GRAVY: Melt 1/2 cup butter or margarine; blend with 1/2 c. cup flour. Heat until bubbly and brown, stirring constantly. Reduce heat. Stir in 1 cup Old Fashion Gingersnaps crumbs, finely rolled, about 13. Gradually add remaining marinade. Bring to boiling and cook until mixture thickens. Remove from heat and stir in 1/2 cup commercial sour cream, if desired.

Get Ready To Welcome May With Gay Baskets

Certain to be a favorite with youngsters are these May Baskets made with Nabisco Rice Honey's and filled with their favorite ice cream. A double, delicious treat to welcome the month of May.

MAY BASKETS
25 caramels (1/2 pound)
2 tablespoons water
3 cups Nabisco Rice Honey's
1 pint ice cream

Melt caramels with water in the top of a double boiler. When mixture is smooth, add Nabisco Rice Honey's, mix well until they are evenly coated. Remove from heat but keep over hot water. (Moisten hands with cold water for easy handling.) Shape into 6 baskets using greased muffin pans for a form. Shape handles last when candied cereal is slightly stiffer. Chill for one hour, remove baskets from muffin cups. Fill with your favorite ice cream and freeze. Let soften slightly before serving. Makes 6 baskets.

Mix 1 c. cottage cheese with 1 tbsp. mayonnaise and 1/4 tsp. cayenne form into 1" balls and roll in red-flavored bread crumb mix till well coated. Chill and serve on toothpicks.

BROILED RYE ROUNDS
Butter thinly sliced party rye bread very thoroughly and cover with smoked beef. Dust well with red-flavored bread crumb mix and put in hot oven 425 degrees for 10 minutes. Serve at once.

FLAVORED NUTS
Put 4 oz. extra large shelled pecans in large frying pan with 2 tbsp. olive oil. Heat for 2 min. Add 1/2 c. red-flavored bread crumb mix and shake back and forth over high flame till all the nuts are coated. Large almonds or Brazil nuts may be done the same way.

SEAFOOD SNACK
Roll well drained raw clams or oysters in red-flavored bread crumb mix and saute very quickly in very hot butter. Serve on toothpicks with lemon mayonnaise dip.

Nut-Flavored Olives Add Dash To Salad

When a cheese dish is on the menu instead of meat, accompany it with fruity nut-flavored olives to brighten the serving plates and add additional satisfying qualities to a meal.

Serve the tiny Spanish green stuffed olives that have most distinctive flavor, suggest Mario Olive Co. home economists. With cheese soufflé you might serve onion stuffed olives. With Welsh rabbit you may prefer the satiny anchovy stuffed olives. With cheese omelet serve pimiento stuffed olives.

CRUST
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
4 tablespoons milk
Mix flour and salt together, cut in shortening. Add milk gradually, tossing with fork until all flour is moistened. Cover and let rest while filling is being prepared. Form dough into ball, divide dough in half and roll out one part for bottom crust. Place in 9-inch pie pan. Roll out remaining dough and cut in half-inch strips for lattice top.

Ham Loaf Supreme Has Something Special That Tempts Appetites

Dinner-in-a-loaf, whether the loaf be meat, fish, bowl or vegetable, offer several opportunities for imaginative cooks. Ham Loaf, Supreme, an ideal destination for the leftover portion of an ample ham, illustrates some of these opportunities.

If it's a skillful blending of complementary ingredients one wishes, a meat loaf such as this is a good place to find it. During the baking the finely ground ham and such other ingredients as catsup, eggs, onions, mustard and cloves weave a few fabric of flavor. On top, a brown sugar and orange glaze adds a crowning taste touch.

In terms of economy this ham loaf, like its culinary cousins, slips easily into the food budget. Using Corn Flakes or packaged Corn Flake Crumbs in loaves such as this helps to stretch the number of servings to be had from more expensive ingredients.

Appearance, too, counts at mealtime. Roast Ham Loaf, Supreme, surrounded by clove-studded apple peaches and dairy green broccoli spears is a colorful spot on any dinner table. Another attractive garnish which might be used on the loaf is a row of orange twists fashioned from paper-thin orange slices.

HAM LOAF, SUPREME
4 cups Kellogg's Corn Flakes or 1 cup packaged Kellogg's Corn Flake Crumbs
1 pound ground ham
1/2 cup catsup
4 eggs, slightly beaten
3 tablespoons minced onions
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 tablespoon orange juice or water

Combine 1 six-ounce can tomato paste, 1 cup chopped dill pickles, 1/4 cup chopped onion, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon honey, 2 tablespoons soy sauce, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard and 1 1/3 cups water. Place browned chicken in casserole and pour barbecue sauce over green for 1 hour or until chicken is tender. Recipe yields 4 to 6 servings.

GUNN BROS. STAMPS - THE MOST POPULAR STAMP IN THE SOUTHWEST

Background On Korean Rioting

By ARNOLD DIBBLE
United Press International

How did it all start and where will it end—those bloody riots in Korea?

These are questions that trouble free Asia—and many capitals of the free world. What's it all about? An exposition in question and answer form may add to understanding.

Q. When did the riots start?

A. The first riots occurred in Masan in Southern Korea on March 15—election day. At least 15 persons were killed, others injured and—more shock to most of the nation—many of those arrested were sickeningly tortured.

Q. Why were the riots touched off?

A. This is a complicated question. But basically it boils down to politics. The background is this: In 1956, 10 days before the election, the Democratic (opposition) presidential candidate, Patrick Henry Shinnick, died of a heart attack. The opposition whispered that, maybe, death didn't actually come from natural causes. Nevertheless, Democratic vice-presidential candidate John M. Chang was elected.

In mid-February of this year less than 30 days before the election—Democratic presidential candidate Chough Pyung Ok died in Washington. Eighty-five year-old President Syngman Rhee was re-elected unopposed, and his Ki-Poong, was elected vice president with almost as great a majority as Rhee himself.

Rhee and Lee not only won the rural areas but in the cities as well. In all previous elections, the Democrats had carried the cities by margins of up to three-to-one.

It all added up to more years of autocratic "one-man rule" to the gloom-stricken Democrats. In this atmosphere, passions rode high and the riots in Masan were touched off almost naturally.

Q. Did the Communists, as charged by some government officials, trigger the riots?

A. No one knows for sure, but the best indications are that the Communists had little to do with the actual outbreaks. It seems certain they fanned the fires to the best of their abilities—but there are few live Communists in South Korea.

Q. What is the U.S. role in all of this?

A. The United Nations Command—which for all practical purposes means the United States—controls all of Korea's armed forces. By releasing the 18th ROK Division for martial law duty in Seoul, the United States actually put itself on record as supporting the Rhee government.

Q. What is the United States likely to do next?

A. There are signs that behind the scenes the United States is putting great pressure on Rhee to "liberalize" his regime. There were reports the United States is pressuring Rhee to call new elections and to demand the resignation of the vice-president elect.

Q. What is likely to happen next in Korea?

A. As UPI Correspondent Charles Smith said from Seoul today when asked this question: "Who knows?" So long as martial law is in effect, the situation probably will remain quiet. But, once it is lifted, new outbreaks probably can be expected.

In 1940, the phrase, "The 194 BURN VICTIM DIES"

HOUSTON (UPI)—Mrs. Margaret Amason, 34, who was badly burned a week ago in an explosion in her apartment, died early today at a hospital. Police reported they had found several gas jets turned on in the apartment after the explosion. Neighbors told officers Mrs. Amason, mother of three children, was separated from her husband and had been depressed.

With a strong fashion emphasis on beige and white this spring, white jewelry takes on special significance. Its frosty dazzle will be seen with the neutrals, with white, with colors. We show here the tailored look (left) in gleaming ovals of white linked with gold-and-black trim. Jumbo pearls (center) are massed at the base of the throat in a necklace which is ideal for the open or wide-away collar. White plus a color (right) is the idea translated into this red, white and blue choker. Such "flag colors" are among top color combinations for 1960 head jewelry. They are stunning with white or neutrals.

African Violet Tour Taken By Society

African Violet Society members entertained with a progressive dinner party in connection with their tour of members' homes to view African Violet displays. The group first met in the home of Mrs. Lee Moore, 415 N. Duncan, for an appetizer; then to the home of Mrs. F. Dirksen, 1607 Mary Ellen, where a salad plate was served; the last stop was in the home of Mrs. J. E. Carlson, 2223 Charles, for dessert.

Mrs. Lamb Has Class Luncheon

GROOM (SpI) - Ruth Class of Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. E. L. Lamb for a covered-dish luncheon. During a brief business meeting an offering was taken for Buckners Orphans' Home. Devotional on Easter was given by Mrs. Mattie McAdams. Special guests were the Rev. J. Walter Davis, pastor and William Lawrence.

Beige And White Places Strong Fashion Note In Milady's Jewelry This Spring

NEW YORK (NEA) - The biggest color in jewelry for spring is no color at all: bright white. This comes, of course, from the fact that white and pale neutrals are top fashion in ready-to-wear. But there's nothing quiet about this white jewelry. Rather, it's full of razzle-dazzle and boldness and is meant to give a stunning emphasis to a simple, well-cut dress or suit in white or whitened beige.

Charm School For Business Women Planned By COC

A "Charm School for Business Women," sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. Chamber of Commerce manager, E. O. Wedgeworth, said the clinic is designed to include such things as: how to increase your income; how to make your personality and appearance work for you; how to handle your customer so he will be happy to spend his money with you and your firm; how to dress effectively.

Juniorette Club Has Cook Session

Juniorette 4H Club met recently in Groom School for projects on Favorite Food I and II with Mrs. Wallace Michael and Sandra Clark directing Lesson 7 on "Making Drop Biscuits." Attending were Tanja Weatherly, Barbara Koetting, Sandra Kotara, Patsy Koetting and Justice Britten. It was announced that the next lesson will be "Making Cocoa and Eggnog." Melva Ashberry and Ellen Latta gave a demonstration on how to make fruit salad for Project II members. Attending this session were Ann Homer, Theresia Bichel, Laura Jean Blackwell and Carolyn Brooks. It was announced that the next Project II lesson will be on making a tossed salad.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE Not long ago at a press luncheon given by a large industrial corporation, one of its representatives offered me refreshments and conversation. An unusually attractive, alert-eyed young man, he turned out to be a Phi Beta Kappa who had majored in English literature at one of our fine universities.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Prom time is just around the corner and you could do as many girls a favor if you would print my suggestion: Won't the mothers of SONS urge them to ask a girl to the prom? So many broken-hearted girls sit at home on prom night because the boys have stalled around and put off asking them until it is too late, so they just skip it. All girls can't be best-lookers and best-dancers and most popular. But they all have hearts.

DEAR ABBY: The big problem is this: Whenever anyone in the family tries to tell her in a nice way that she has enough children, she gets mad and tells them to mind their own business. They farm and don't need financial help, but the size of their family is the talk of the county. They act like it's something to be proud of. I think they are a disgrace. I'd like your opinion.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Every Teen-Ager Wants To Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

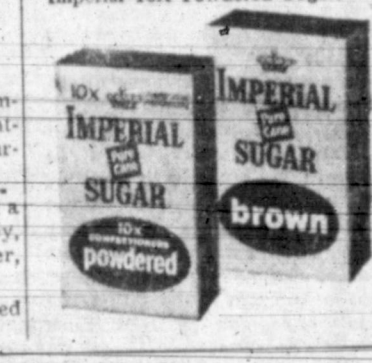

TWO WAYS TO BAKE THE WESTERNER

GOLDEN WESTERNER CAKE homemade with Imperial 10X Powdered Sugar

1 stick (1/2 lb.) butter or margarine 1 1/2-cup. carton Imperial 10X Powdered Sugar 1/2 cup. vanilla 4 eggs Have eggs and butter at room temperature. Cream butter; add Imperial 10X Powdered Sugar; beat till fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time; beat well after each addition. Sift flour 3 times; add gradually to batter. Add flavorings and mix well. Bake in 10" greased and floured tube pan at 325° F. 1 1/2 hours. Cool 4 minutes, then invert pan.

AMBER WESTERNER CAKE You use Imperial Pure Cane Brown Sugar in the recipe above, use one 1-pound carton of Imperial Light or Dark Brown Sugar instead of Imperial 10X Powdered Sugar.

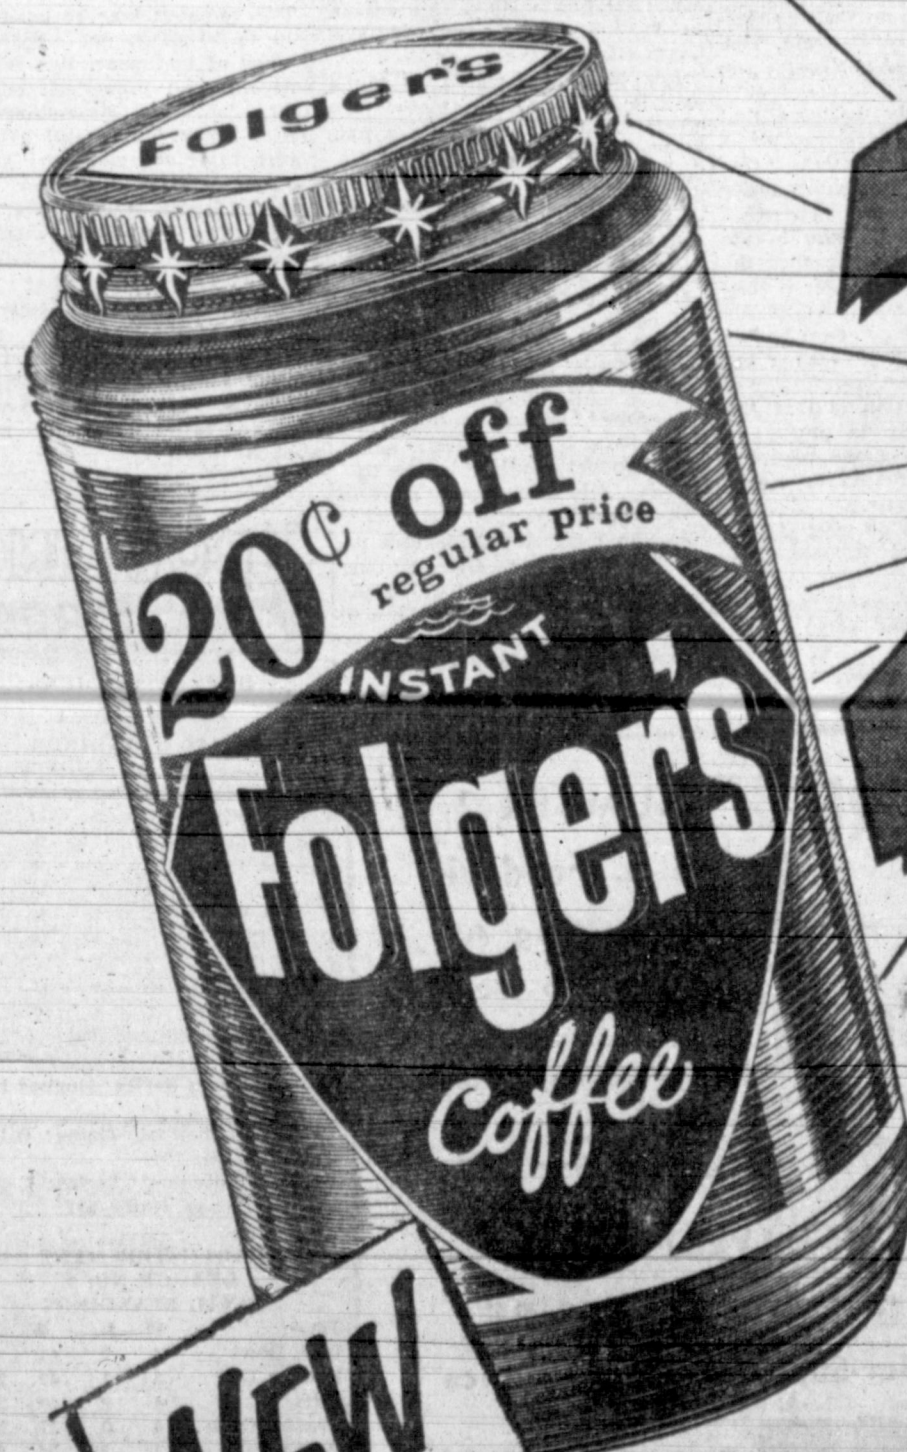

CONFIDENTIAL TO DISGUSTED WITH DAD: Your father means well - but he is making a serious mistake by asking his friends in high places to recommend you for a college that is probably too difficult for you. If you can't get in on your own merits, how long does he think you will stay there?

DEAR ABBY: We got into an argument in our English class. Our teacher said that if a plane crashed in the desert and no living being heard it, it didn't make a sound.

DEAR ABBY: I think my sister-in-law is trying to set a world record. She is 27 years old and has ten children! Believe it or not, she hasn't been out of a maternity dress since she married my brother ten years ago. He is a nice guy, but he doesn't have a mind of his own.

GROOM (SpI) - Baptist Women's Missionary Union met recently in the home of Mrs. Billie Burgin for Bible study. Attending were Misses Violet Harrell, Charles Brown, Jeff Grey, Bobby Cornett, Rudolph Tucker, Billy Agae, Carey McAdams. The Bible study was conducted by Mrs. Grey.

Image Makers Take Cue From Goebbel's Techniques

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — It is a brief, exact 16 years since Adolf Hitler ended his insanity in suicide, bequeathing the lattered Third Reich to his maker, Joseph Goebbel, and his formula for successful salesmanship to his enemy, the U.S.

The purpose of that formula, according to a social scientist who fled Nazi Germany in 1939, was to create an image to whom the people would give "absolute, blind, unthinking loyalty." In these 15 years, the U.S. has applied that formula not only to political candidates but also to beer, autos, cheese and barbage cans.

Image making in this country has come so far, in fact, that a major TV network has just assigned hundreds of thousands of dollars to improve its image by every means it can find — except the logical one of improving what the viewer sees.

The major heir of this legacy, of course, is the motivational research industry. And one of the biggest men in it, Dr. Ernest Dichter, frankly admits that he has learned considerable about psychological selling from what he calls "the intuitive genius of the diabolical Joseph Goebbel."

"In selling products as well as candidates," a Dichter associate adds, "it isn't simply the technical superiority of a brand, nor solely the achievements of a country that counts. Rather, the aura, the atmosphere, the sizzle become more important."

In other words, a created image, now, is in the eye of the beholder, the motive manipulators say. So in politics the rule is: change the eye, not the candidate. To this end, work has already begun.

A recent psychological survey of voters made by the Institute for Motivational Research reveals, in the words of a staff member there: "When the U.S. voter looks around for his ideal image of leadership today, whom does he see as coming closest to filling that image? Nikita Khrushchev the leader of an enemy camp."

Obviously this calls for an image change among U.S. presidential aspirants if they believe this poll. And as other surveys have shown that images do change as the political season swings down to election day, much of the image industry is now trying to sell its services to the political parties.

If they're successful, no voter can afford to be without his handy, pocket guide to the Hitler-Goebbel formula for creating loyalty. You can't tell one image from another without this seven-step program:

1. Utility. This candidate (you name him) is the only one who can solve today's urgent political problems.
2. Morality. He is devoted, unselfish, sincere. His only concern is you.
3. Rationality. He is tremendously efficient, brilliantly able as an organizer, diplomat, general, etc.
4. Modern. He is successful.
5. Sexuality. He is a powerful father. If you follow him you can make no mistake and do no wrong.
6. Magic. He is protected by luck, escapes misfortune, bends fate to his will.
7. Eternal. He is the personification of the future.

Well, it worked for a while in Germany where they didn't waste time having press conferences, examining the record, holding two-party elections or taking surveys like one recently which shows that 65 per cent of Americans do not believe anything they're told in advertising until they've tried the product.

HITLER: Goebbel's created an image.

Foreign Aid Reduction To Be Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House backers of President Eisenhower's four billion dollar foreign aid program-braced today to fight a series of attempts to revise and scale down the plan.

Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said "we think we should be able to hold our position" against a flock of amendments from critics of the program.

Morgan, House floor manager of the bill, said he hoped for passage by nightfall although the still was the possibility that House action might be put off until Friday.

As it stood the measure fixed a $4,038,400,000 limit on military and economic aid to free world allies in the bookkeeping year which begins July 1.

This compared with Eisenhower's request for a $4,178,000,000 authorization bill and a $4,160,000,000 measure which was approved Wednesday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Both the House and Senate bill simply set ceilings on spending however. The actual cash must be appropriated in separate legislation and there are signs that there are signs that this amount

Death At 85 Ends Fabulous Life Of Another Romanov

By RICHARD GROWALD
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — Intrigue, death, murder, and royalty were threads running through the life of Grand Duchess Xenia of Russia.

When she was six, in 1881, terrorists assassinated her grandfather, the Czar Alexander II, by blowing him up on a snowy street in St. Petersburg.

Her father, Czar Alexander III, saved her life when revolutionaries dined in the rail train. He used his enormous strength to hold up the rickety roof of their carriage as rescue came.

Her son-in-law, Prince Youssoupoff, helped shoot and drown Gregory Rasputin, the "mad monk" who held a sinister influence over the Czarina of Russia.

Xenia's sister-in-law, Grand Duchess Xenia, escaped the Bolsheviks aboard a British battleship sent to Yalta during the revolution by her cousin, King George V of England.

She lived in exile 43 years, far from the continuing march of bloody events in Russia, and died of pneumonia Wednesday at the age of 85 in a quiet English suburban home.

The grand duchess was married to Grand Duke Alexander Mikhaelovitch, an admiral of the Russian fleet and founder of the Russian air force. They fled together to France and England.

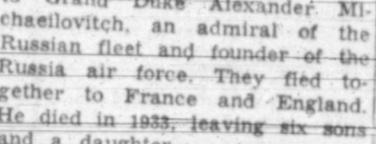

He died in 1933, leaving six sons and a daughter. Xenia's last years were spent in the privacy the Bolsheviks left her. She did in a 22-room "grace and favor" mansion at Hampton Court Palace near London, provided for her use by King George.

She received few visitors but her distant cousins, Queen Elizabeth and Prince Charles, were favorite callers. Her closest companions were a Russian Orthodox priest and nun.

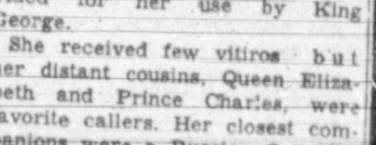

Some feel that the "halo" and situation in "HOME FROM THE HILLS" size for more mature patrons... others feel that it has been expertly handled and that it can be seen by general patronage. We leave the decision entirely up to you.

Foreign News

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

Blood has been flowing again in the streets of long-suffering Seoul, Korea.

It was Korean blood this time, but only 10 years ago, American blood was flowing there, too, in the free world's first concerted armed action against the Communists.

Names famous in military annals were gaining more luster. Here, Col. Lewis B. (Chesty) Puller led the U.S. 1st Marines up from Kimpo Airport to help secure the city in bitter street fighting after the American landing at Inchon on Sept. 15, 1950.

Not far from President Syngman Rhee's official Kyung Mu-dae residence in the fashionable western sector of the city, Col. John Michaelis and his headquarters awaiting the next onward rush of the North Korean and Chinese Communists.

Out of the fighting, both Puller and Michaelis were to win their general's stars.

In the ruined capitol building, after the city was secured, memorial services were held. Under the dome, to the accompaniment of a shower of broken glass, Gen. Douglas MacArthur recited the Lord's Prayer.

A stone's throw from the capitol, with steel-blue mountains as a backdrop were the Naija apartments. They had been designed as luxury apartments but in 1950 and 1951, American newsmen were billeted there.

There were no luxuries but they provided a place to sleep away from the front. The most usual sound was the rattle of typewriters or the roar of a jeep in the courtyard.

To the south, was the ruined Han River bridge where at one end a U.S. Army tank was sunk into a ruined breastwork. Farther on was Kimpo Airport where the wounded were flown out and still farther on, Munsan-ni and Panmunjom where the peace talks were to be held.

Can We Fight A Little War? -- 4

If 'Little' Atomic War Should Be Fought 'Frontlines' Could Be The Safest Place

(Last of Four Dispatches)
By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Even the U.S. Army men planning for a possible war with "little" atomic weapons are confused about what this war would be like.

But some things seem certain from interviews with Pentagon planners:

A general would not be safe any more. The lines would be so wide open that enemy units would constantly infiltrate deep behind "front lines."

An average army division on the front in the late 1960s probably would be spread out over 2,000 square miles.

Helicopters would fly whole companies eight to 10 miles behind the enemy lines. Eventually, squadrons of larger and faster choppers would drop in whole battle groups in one maneuver.

Maneuvering, somewhat like old-fashioned cavalry tactics, would replace frontal attacks. Units would pack up in their troop carriers at the drop of a hat, move out, suck in the enemy, catch it off-balance.

"Local" battles involving only two divisions on each side probably would wander over thousands of square miles of terrain as opposing generals jockeyed for position. Fighting for particular key points would be less important than surprise and maneuver.

Fighting would become spottier. There would be days, maybe weeks of maneuvering, more like the Civil War than World II, followed by a sudden atomic-infantry thrust.

The present idea is that companies would be rushed to the front edge of the fighting front in troop carriers for just two, three or four days and then replaced.

Somewhat like old-fashioned wars, a battle might begin with an atomic "artillery" duel aimed at knocking out the big enemy atomic weapons, usually missiles. Until the big atomic stuff was blasted out, any ground attack would be suicidal.

If the enemy did attack frontally, the likely strategy would be letting its forward troops through, then trying to knock out third and fourth waves and reserves. Finally, an attempt would be made to bottle up and pinch off its own units.

IN 'LITTLE' ATOMIC war, helicopters would fly whole companies of troops eight to ten miles behind the enemy lines.

The "front lines" of the battle area might go back about 50 miles. Much of the "line" might not even be patrolled, except electronically. It might often be safer to be at the very front. Sometimes it would be better to be out in the open than hidden in a forest.

The G.I. would be kept moving. As far as possible, he would "live" in a troop carrier — or with it. The theory is that he won't march on. On the fast-moving atomic battlefield, you must take advantage of a break within minutes, not days or hours.

Mass attacks of infantry and tanks would be out. They would be too easily blasted out with atomic weapons.

Instead, companies of 300 men or battle groups of 1,500 men would infiltrate, attempting to encircle and chew up the enemy from the rear. Infiltrating, they would be poor atomic targets. The enemy would be afraid of destroying its own units.

In the atomic war, a company commander would be more important than he has been for a long time. Companies might regularly operate almost independently for days at a time.

No one expects fixed trenches. There's one popular theory that units wouldn't want to stop in the same place more than 24 hours even when back of the front. There's another theory that it's better to stay put if you can with a lot of camouflage, contending that you're easier to spot if you move.

But there's general agreement that within a good many miles of the enemy, you'd better move pretty often, camping down no longer than one night, or two nights.

These Army planners in mind that there would be a good deal of fairly long range atomic missile "artillery" on both sides. In addition to the atomic weapons with the company, the battle group, division and corps, there might be huge Pershing missiles.

knocking out enemy targets 200 or 300 miles away, well back of the front lines.

So, there would be no place to hide, even far behind the front lines and even when you're in the rear resting after a round of fighting at the "front."

Senate Accolence Of CAB Chairman Drfee Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate was expected to give Atom Tests: A Senate-House Atomic energy subcommittee scheduled a meeting to consider calling Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, chief U.S. negotiator at the Geneva test ban talks. Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) proposed Tuesday that Wadsworth be summoned to testify before the subcommittee, which is studying problems of test detection. Gore branded as "misleading" communications from Geneva indicating that Russia had accepted parts of President Eisenhower's test ban proposal.

Nike-Zeus: Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.), frequent critic of President Eisenhower's defense policies, conceded Congress could not force the administration to spend money on the Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile. But he urged the administration anew to rush development of the weapon. The Army complained to a Senate armed services subcommittee Tuesday that none of the 137-million dollars Congress provided last year for Nike-Zeus production work had been made available to the Army.

Other congressional news: Drugs: The drug industry angrily challenged charges by Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) that it is not competitive and can charge patients excessive prices. Dr. Austin Smith, president of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers' Ass., told Kefauver Senate Anti-Trust and Monopoly subcommittee that the drug business actually is highly competitive. He noted in preparation testimony that previous witnesses had accused the industry of "operating excesses" in its pricing and promotion.

ADOPTS MANAGER SYSTEM: GALVESTON (UPI) — Voted Tuesday to change to government from a council-manager form to the council-manager form of administration. The vote was 8-1, 4,621. Galveston is the commission form of government 59 years ago, and the first Texas city to use it.

Parental Loving Attention A Factor In Alcoholism

NEW YORK (UPI) — During the first 10 years of their lives 19 low-down alcoholics got much less loving attention from their parents than 19 habitually sober men got from their parents.

The parents of the alcoholics played with their sons less than the parents of the non-alcoholics, and they indulged in fewer displays of affection.

They were less inclined to impose restraints, thereby failing to show a loving interest. And in other ways, they made themselves seem different from other parents.

deprived in infancy also exhibit strange behavior as adults.

Their contribution to some kind of understanding of the causes of alcoholism represented the approach of the behavioral sciences.

Regardless of how much or how little this has to do with the cause of the disease, alcoholism, Drs. G. R. Pascal and W. O. Jenkins were able to separate the alcoholics from the non-alcoholics by these differences alone.

To be sure they were studying real alcoholics, they took 19 inmates of the Knox County (Tennessee) Workhouse. All were serving sentences for public drunkenness and each had been arrested at least five times before for other offenses.

These 19 common street drunks they "matched" with 19 men who had unblemished reputations for sobriety, the matches were made by age, education, I. Q., and vocational skills (or lack of them). All 38 men had the common environmental background of Knoxville and environs.

Psychological investigators of the University of Tennessee, where Pascal and Jenkins are members of the faculty, went to work on them. All 38 were "scored" by what they got from their parents in the way of loving interest — loving interest which a child could recognize.

When the time came to make something of these scores, Pascal and Jenkins were able to pick out the scores of the alcoholics on the basis of scores alone since they had no idea of which score belonged to which man.

Both parents of each alcoholic scored low, comparatively, in active play with their son, in displays of affection, in restraints, in doing what other parents did. The measurement of the latter was regular church attendance. In eastern Tennessee that is an accepted norm.

The mothers of the alcoholics scored low in frequency of contact with them when they were kids and the fathers scored low in imposing punishment for childish delinquencies. Scores for contacts from father and punishment by mother didn't differ significantly from those of the fathers and mothers of the boys who grew up into sober men.

Pascal and Jenkins were conservative in making something of these suggestive contrasts in their report to the Yale University Center for Studies on Alcoholism. The alcoholics had been deprived during the first 10 years of their lives, and it was interesting that experimental animals who are

They acknowledged there were other scientific approaches, which produce suggestive leads, too. They said they did not believe their findings applied only to alcoholics.

"Preliminary studies with duodenal ulcer patients and psychotics of the same socio-economic class as our alcoholics, using the same procedures, indicate that early stimulus deprivation made by pervasive across several kinds of behavioral deviancies," they added.
