Bonuses Plague Kentucky Try On Castro Home

Must Come Up With Huge Sum

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Kentucky's state government today faced problems of paying a quarter of a billion dollars in bonuses to veterans of four wars, one of the major headaches being the question of a Kentucky veteran, the bonus law, endorsed at the last November, passed by the General Assembly last week signed by Gov. Bert T. Combs, provides payments for veterans, or their surviving widows, parents or children of a World War I veteran, both World Wars and the Korean conflict. Payments run $15 a month for foreign service, up to $600 a month for stateside duty, up to $800.

The Kentucky veteran must have entered the service from Kentucky, been a resident of the state last Nov. 3, and must live in the state when the payment is made. This provision raised a howl of protest from the thousands of Kentuckians who left the state to go to work in the states of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, and other states. Many of them "commute" back to the state on weekends and consider themselves Kentuckians.

Plane Misses In Bomb Try On Castro Home

By MATTHEW F. KENNY United Press International

HAVANA (UPI) — An unidentified small plane dropped four bombs near Premier Fidel Castro's beach villa at Cojimar Sunday and escaped. Castro apparently was not in his beach house at the time.

At least three of the bombs were believed to have fallen in the sea. Four loud explosions were heard and a petty officer at the navy radio station in Cojimar castle said it was believed the "bombs" were mortar shells of the type that explodes on contact.

The petty officer said he was one of several military men who opened fire on the mystery plane. "I used a submachine gun," he said. "When the plane flew off its engine seemed to be sputtering. It may have been hit but I'm not sure."

Guards at the Castro villa — one of several houses he uses — also opened fire on the plane, which quickly flew out of the immediate area to drop the bombs. One of the bombs was believed to have exploded in a swampy area about 250 yards from the Castro residence.

Observers said the Premier's visits to the villa were never announced in advance, and that if the attack were staged with the idea of killing him it would be a matter of pure guesswork to find him there.

The unidentified plane actually may have had as its prime target an Esso Standard oil installation in the Regala area, about eight miles from downtown Havana and not far from Cojimar. Regala is heavily industrialized.

Castro probably was not in Cojimar villa because he was busy in Havana with details concerning a new government action announced Saturday.

The government established a "central planning board" that will have sweeping powers to regulate all private and public enterprise in Cuba.

Directly under Castro's supervision, the board will be charged with the "re-consideration of the nation's general economy." It is authorized to set "general norms for orienting private economy" to the goals of the Castro revolution.

Rival Group Attempt Airport Demonstration

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) — President Eisenhower today arrived at heavily guarded San Juan airport where rival groups attempted to demonstrate for and against Puerto Rico's commonwealth with the United States.

The President's plane landed at 11:53 a.m. on the first leg of his 15,500 mile journey of personal diplomacy that will take Eisenhower to Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay in the next 10 days.

Ike Says U.S. Armed Might 'Incalculable'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower has told the nation that the United States has "incalculable" military power ample for the present and tailored to meet the need of the future.

The President replied to Democratic critics of his defense program in a nationwide radio-TV speech Sunday night on his two-week tour of South America. He leaves today on the 15,010-mile trip.

Reaction to the address was divided. A leading Democratic critic, Sen. Henry M. Jackson (Wash.), said the President had failed to come to grips with the real defense policy issues. He said Eisenhower failed to mention progress on missiles.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) said he agreed that the United States has a powerful defense force. But he said he would press Senate missile investigations because the real issue is "whether our plans are adequate for our needs in the foreseeable future."

Chairman Overton Brooks (D-La.) of the House Space Committee said he was disappointed that the President did not mention U. S. defense against intercontinental ballistic missiles or compare U. S.-Soviet missile strength.

Eisenhower got Republican support. Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) said the Chief Executive "has done well."

He was greeted in perfect sunny weather by Puerto Rico's Gov. Luis Munoz as he stepped off the Boeing 707 jet plane that brought him here from Washington in three hours and four minutes.

A crowd of something over 5,000 persons was on hand to meet the President, kept under tight control by a strong police guard.

Rival political factions displayed banners of greeting and placards urging immediate independence for this island which has voluntary commonwealth ties with the United States.

About 10 minutes before the President landed, representatives of opposing political factions shouted at each other across the road leading to the airport — where they had been kept at a safe distance.

Each group started across the road occasionally and threw pamphlets at the opposing faction, one of which wanted to continue Puerto Rico's commonwealth status and the other which wanted immediate freedom. Prompt police action separated the groups each time.

Eisenhower, smiling and relaxed, appeared to be unaware of the demonstrations as he told the crowd in his arrival remarks that he brought Puerto Rico "greetings from your fellow citizens of the 50 states of the republic."

Part of the crowd burst into a chant of "We like Ike" after he had inspected the guard of honor and received formal greetings from Munoz-Marin.

But there was no applause during the President's speech for the simple reason that the crowd could not hear him. There was no public address system. Microphones visible on the field appeared to be inoperative.

19 Die In Fires Over Country

WHARTON, Tex. (UPI) — Officers early today found the charred bodies of four small Negro children in the ashes of their home which burned to the ground Sunday night.

Deputy Sheriff Marvin Adams said the children had been left alone in the house since 2 p. m. Sunday. Cause of the fire could not be determined.

Adams said the parents of the children, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Waddell, had been separated for some time.

"They left the children alone yesterday afternoon and didn't return until late last night, after the fire," Adams said.

OBERLIN, Ohio (UPI) — Seven young children, five of them from one family, burned to death Sunday night in a flash fire that ripped a single-story frame house here.

Firemen said a defective oil heater, which exploded, trapped the children.

Patrol Busy Over Weekend

A series of minor accidents plagued highway patrolmen over the weekend.

Patrolmen Standley Schmelzer and Vernon Cawthon said a motor wreck in Lefors at 10:30 a. m. Saturday slightly injured Joe Jovey, 15. He received head injuries and was taken to the hospital and released.

The officers said Harvey was a teenager in a car owned by Glenn Gene Harvey of Lefors, when he was struck by an auto driven by Joe Jovey, also of Lefors, near the hospital and released.

At 2 a. m. Sunday, John Winston, 32, of Rt. 2, Pampa, was struck when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel and overturned six miles west of White Deer. He was admitted to Highland Hospital, where his condition is listed as good today.

Two men escaped injury in another one-car turnover at 9 p. m. Sunday, five miles south and one mile west of the Celanese plant.

The investigating officers said an automobile driven by Carey Herman Galloway, 21, overturned when he swerved to miss a bucket on the road. Neither Galloway nor passenger, Robert Morris, were injured.

Shipboard Murder Case Over Tuesday

BOSTON (UPI) — The state prepared to complete its case against Dutch radio operator William Van Rie, charged with the shipboard murder of pretty Lynn Kauffman, Tuesday with testimony from a tiny Indonesian cabin boy.

The prosecution had planned to end its phase last Saturday but cabin boy Gadong did not arrive.

The state had announced the diminutive Oriental ship servant would arrive Friday but deputies waited in vain for several hours at the airport.

Asst. Dist. Atty. John F. McAuliffe said a message from California saying Gadong had run out of funds sent him for his air trip from Thailand came too late to get him here in time for the Saturday session.

The state said Gadong's testimony probably would take only half of Tuesday's session and defense counsel, brother attorneys W. Langdon and Walker Powers

Jr., announced they were prepared to begin presentation of the defense immediately. W. Langdon Powers missed Saturday's crowded court session because of a virus but was expected back Tuesday.

Directly under Castro's supervision, the board will be charged with the "re-consideration of the nation's general economy." It is authorized to set "general norms for orienting private economy" to the goals of the Castro revolution.

Cold Front Moving In Said 'Tricky'

By United Press International

Texas can expect another round of tricky weather today and Tuesday as a new wintry blast heads for the state.

Temperatures were to warm up over the state today before a Pacific cold front slips into the Panhandle. The front will bring occasional snow to the Panhandle late today or tonight and will cause a sharp drop in temperatures over most of the state by Tuesday.

Thick fog and light drizzle bothered extreme South Texas early today, but the rest of the state reported generally fair weather. Forecasts called for an increase in southerly winds today, shifting to northerly over the Panhandle late today.

Rain was forecast for the central section of the state tonight.

Low temperature reports early today ranged from 23 degrees at Dalhart to 44 degrees at Brownsville. Maximum temperatures Sunday ranged from 49 at Dalhart to 67 at Presidio. Most afternoon readings Sunday were in the 50s.

Rainfall reports for Texas for the 24-hour period ending at 6 a. m. today included Brownsville with .04, Corpus Christi with .16, Houston .50, Galveston .63 and Beaumont .61.

The five-day extended forecasts for Texas called for temperatures 4 to 8 degrees below normal. East and Central Texas (See COLD, Page 3)

Bargains Highlight Holiday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Speech makers on bargain hunters had their annual George Washington's birthday fling today with 99-cent autos and a speech the first president never delivered heading the list.

Patriotic organizations laid wreaths at Washington's tomb at nearby Mt. Vernon, Va. The Senate and House followed their annual custom of listening to readings of Washington's 7,641-word Farewell Address, which he issued for publication but never delivered publicly.

The bargain hunters faced an obstacle this year. A snow blanket of up to two inches fell on the capital Sunday night and threatened to snarl the usually heavy traffic brought out by the holiday sales.

Customers began lining up for the 3-day money-saving orgy as early as Sunday. Hundreds turned out in the early hours today well ahead of store openings.

One enterprising merchant didn't take any chances on his customers being frozen out. He hired a large bus and parked it in front of his store to provide shelter for the waiting buyers.

California Death Penalty Still Favored

SACRAMENTO Calif. (UPI) — The California Legislature will vote down any attempt to abolish capital punishment, a United Press International survey indicated today.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown brought the controversial issue into the spotlight Friday when he granted convict-author Caryl Chessman a 60-day reprieve just 10 hours before he was scheduled to be executed at San Quentin Prison.

Brown said he would call a special session concurrent with a scheduled March budget session through the Legislature, a chance to express themselves once more on capital punishment.

The Legislature has defeated bills to ban the death penalty eight times in the past 27 years. The latest attempt was made last year when the assembly voted down an eight-year moratorium, 43-35.

A majority of the present legislators, contacted by UPI during the weekend, said they would vote against such a bill in the special session. They were also overwhelmingly against clemency for Chessman.

Finch Trial On Tuesday

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The final phase of the sensational murder trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch, and his young mistress, Carol Tregoff, opens Tuesday with attorneys presenting summations of nearly two months of often-conflicting testimony.

The handsome tennis-playing surgeon and his red-haired former receptionist might learn by the end of the week the decision of the jury of seven women and five men. Testimony ended last Thursday and the trial was recessed through today for the Washington birthday holiday.

Prosecutor Fred N. Whitchell said he will ask for the death penalty for both Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 23. They are accused of murder and conspiracy to murder Finch's estranged wife, Barbara Jean, 33, last July 18.

The state in the trial which began Dec. 8 has attempted to prove that Dr. Finch and Miss Tregoff plotted Mrs. Finch's slaying so they could be married without sharing $750,000 in community property with his wife. Mrs. Finch in her divorce suit sought all of the community property.

17 Dead In East Storm

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Snow was falling again on the New York State thrumway today, but the movie-like events of the weekend were just memories to motorists who were home or heading home.

Hundreds of persons were mangled in upstate New York towns and highway stops by a storm which dropped more than two feet of snow on some parts of the East.

It was similar to the old theater-cinema plot of strangers snowed in together under one roof for a night. But it had its serious aspects too. At least 17 persons were known to have been killed during the storm.

Blue skies returned Sunday but there were still snow flurries which gave way to another, though lesser, storm Sunday night. More snow up to three inches was expected, the Weather Bureau said.

Earthquake Kills 47 In Algerian Mountains Sunday

SETIF Algeria (UPI) — At least 47 persons were known dead today in the earthquake which shook the rugged mountains of eastern Algeria early Sunday.

The violent earthquake, which was preceded by several minor tremors, toppled hundreds of huts and buried scores of victims in the debris. At least 88 persons were injured.

Arab villagers said they "heard the mountains roar and saw a blinding flash of light" when the quake started. The terrifying sound of the trembling mountains was the "roar" they heard, but French officials believed the "blinding light" may have been the effects of fear.

The disaster area, centered in the region of Melouza, 100 miles southeast of Algiers, is part of the Mediterranean earthquake belt. About 300 persons were killed in an earthquake that hit the same area 12 years ago.

The quake shook the desolate area where the Hodna and Bibans mountain ranges meet, beginning at 3:10 a. m. e.s.t. and continued several minutes. Most of the victims were women and children who were indoors at the time. The menfolk were outdoors at work.

Beloved Relative Dies

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II, her joy over her new son tempered by grief at the death of a beloved relative, began a week's mourning today for Countess Mountbatten, her aunt by marriage.

The Queen learned Sunday that the 58-year-old countess, wife of Britain's chief of staff and a former vicereine of India, had died in her sleep during a tour of hospitals in British North Borneo.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it, Lewis Howe. Adv.

Sadness Amid Joy For Elizabeth

The body is being returned here by airliner for burial.

Press reports reaching here indicated that the countess' death was the result of a heart attack. Doctors had warned her that continuation of her strenuous schedule might prove fatal.

She married Lord Louis Mountbatten in 1922, when he was a naval lieutenant. Mountbatten, now an admiral and an earl, is Britain's top military officer. He is a cousin of the Queen and her husband's uncle.

By coincidence, another Mountbatten was critically ill — the 73-year-old Marquess of Carisbrooke, a cousin of the Queen, who recently suffered a cerebral hemorrhage.

Carisbrooke is the only living grandson of Queen Victoria and the father of Lady Iris Mountbatten.

Prince Philip, the Queen's husband, adopted the name Mountbatten when he gave up the title of Prince of Greece that was his by birth. The Queen announced two weeks ago that any of their descendants who is not born a prince or princess will use the name Mountbatten-Windsor.

Philip told the Queen about the countess' death after her doctors had assured him that she was strong enough to bear the shock. She promptly ordered the period of mourning.

The death dimmed the rejoicing — marked by the boom of saluting cannon, an aerial review and the appearance of hundreds of flags — with which Britain over the weekend celebrated the birth of its new prince.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman announced Sunday that both the Queen and her 7 pound, 3 ounce son were "doing very well."

Some 50 firemen fought the blaze nearly four hours before bringing it under control. Witnesses said the victims were trapped on the second floor of the building, a converted private residence.

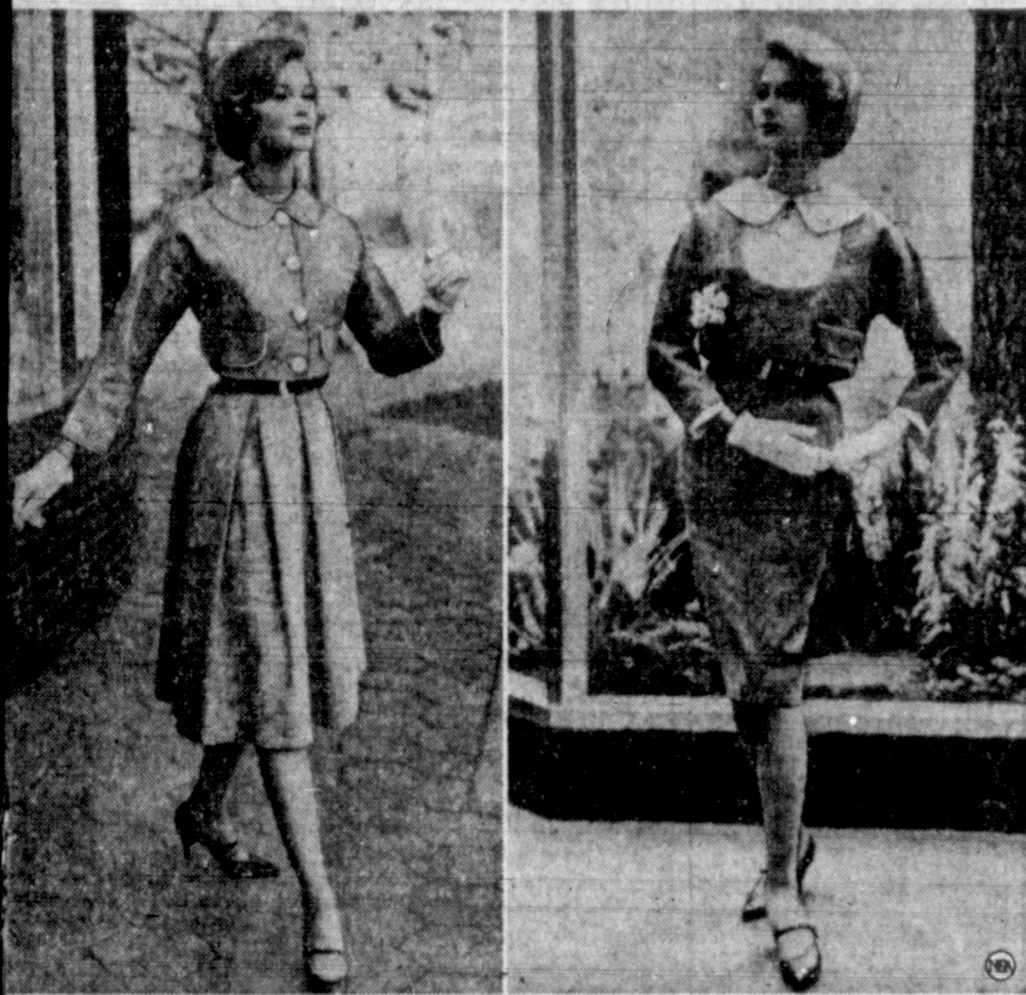

Three of the victims were identified as Mary Elizabeth Hoffman, 5; her brother, Harry J. Hoffman, 3; and Otis Rowan, 57.

The fourth was identified only as a man named Bowman.

No Perch Too Precarious For Artist To Capture Essence Of Concrete, Steel

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Virginia Livingston goes to any height for the love of painting.

No perch is too precarious to restrain the grandmother's enthusiasm for capturing the essence of New York's symphony of concrete and steel.

"I prefer to look down on the city's big buildings rather than up at them," the artist said during an interview.

What she has seen from recent visits to lofty places is featured in her one-woman exhibition at the Museum of the City of New York. Seven of the 39 paintings — mostly skyscrapers — were bought on sight shortly after the show opened. Prices paid ranged from $75 to $250.

Mrs. Livingston has worked from the top of the Whitehall, Woolworth and R.C.A. buildings. She has painted from a penthouse terrace during the coldest of days. To protect herself from the wind, the artist bundled herself in a chair-lounge cover.

When hospitalized recently, she painted from a wheelchair rolled by attendants to the windows of her choice.

"It wouldn't be fair to call me a young Grandma Moses," Mrs. Livingston said. "Grandma Moses started from scratch. I had a headstart."

The greying, impish-looking artist — "fifti-ish" — gave up a career as a fashion illustrator for a newspaper syndicate in the 1920s. Marriage was the reason. Ten years ago, with children grown and married, she picked up the brushes again.

"At the time," she said, "I wondered if I had any talent left from the old days."

In no time at all, the "talent" came back. "It took perseverance, hard work, study and determination then — and it still does," Mrs. Livingston said.

She recommends a similar course to any woman — fiftyish — who considers starting up again in a career that was shelved decades ago when love came along.

In the rebirth of her career, Mrs. Livingston is granted more than a passing grade among New York artists. I numbering in the thousands.

The competition is brutal, Mrs. Livingston said.

There was pride in her voice when she told of having a backlog of commissions to do portraits and cityscapes. She has so much in the way of "orders" that she knows she will be kept busy — and self-sufficient.

During the last few years, her paintings have been exhibited in the Salon de L'Art Libre in Paris, at the Corcoran and Smithsonian galleries in Washington, D.C., and at the National Academy of Design.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Veal Arm Shoulder Steak.

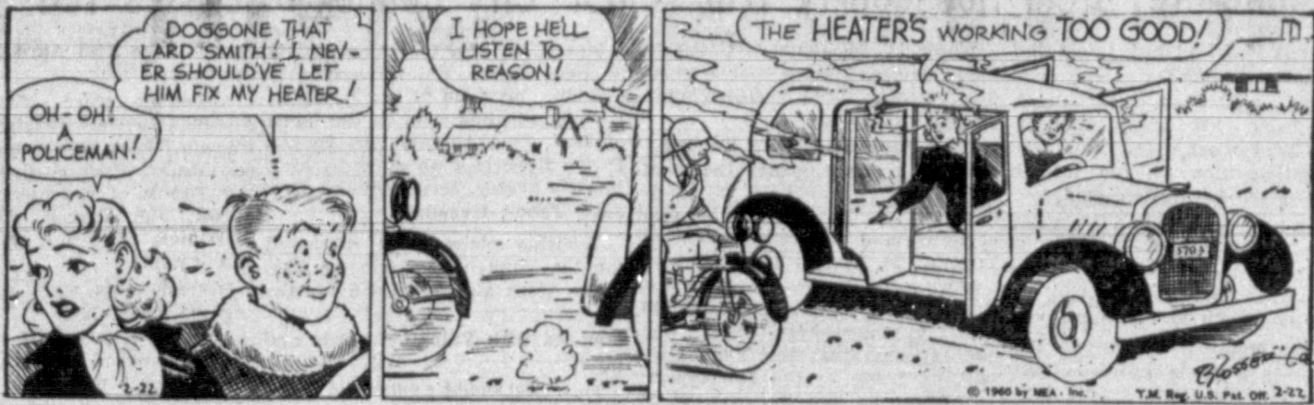

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It is cut from the shoulder section of the carcass. It resembles the veal arm roast but is cut much thinner. One distinguishing characteristic is a small round arm bone. There is a small amount of fat which surrounds the steak.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. It is best prepared by braising, since veal contains a very small amount of marbling.

Russia Against Field In Winter Olympics

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI) — It was Russia against the field in the Winter Olympic Games today with a determined United States hockey team, a dedicated skating beauty and a wayward skier keeping Uncle Sam from being a complete also-ran.

Sweden was closest to Russia with 23 points, followed by Germany with 28 and then the U.S. with 16. In the medal department it was three for the U.S. but none of them gold — only one silver and two bronze. But there is a gold one coming up Tuesday night when the U.S. will be awarded the 24 medals already won.

What's more they were favored to pick up at least one more gold medal today, perhaps two. There was no prospect for a first place for the U.S. in today's three championship events.

Aggies, SMU Meet Tuesday

By ED FITE
United Press International

The Southwest Conference basketball triumvirate is due for the week's stretch battle for the top spot on Saturday. The big explosion that will cut triple leadership to two winners or less comes off Tuesday night in Dallas when two of the leaders — Southern Methodist and Texas Tech — collide in a crucial contest.

The winner will emerge either as the undisputed leader or as a coin flipper with the Texas Tech Longhorns, who will be heavily favored to stay on the top rung by beating Baylor at Austin the same night.

The SMU-Aggies clash will mark the end of the round robin among the three leaders and leave strictly up to the also-rans to fight in their say-so about the event's champion.

Texas knocked off the Aggies late last week but fell to draw the leadership into the tie among Texas, A&M and SMU. All three clubs won their Saturday fixtures and started their bid-to-top week with identical 8-2 league records.

The odds are longest against the Aggies, who must play three of their four games on the road, and a shortest on Texas, which figures to have only one tough task left in their bid to crown themselves Fayetteville Friday night.

SMU, which whipped the Aggies 64-44 on the latter's own floor, will be a slight favorite to again down

Crocker Comes From Behind To Win Tournament

LAKE WORTH, Fla. (UPI) — Day Crocker dropped an 80-yard approach shot in the 10th hole for an eagle Sunday and came from behind to capture the Lake Worth Women's Open golf tournament title.

She had started the round five strokes back at Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., and one stroke behind defending champion Betsy Lewis of Spartanburg, S.C.

But Miss Suggs hit most of the mid traps on the back nine to make a 78 and wind up in third place with a 72-hole score of 288.

Miss Crocker, a Uruguayan playing out of Wichita, Kan., won with five over par 283 and Miss Lewis was second with 286. She led a one-over-par 71 for the final round.

Miss Suggs was the leader Friday and Saturday.

Joyce Ziske, Waterford, Wis., who scored her third eagle of the tournament Sunday, finished fourth with 74-291. Mickey Wright of San Diego was fifth with 78-293.

Miss Crocker was one under par for nine holes after getting a birdie two on the short par three eighth hole. Her drive was only six inches from the cup.

The eagle shot came on the 10th hole when she socked her approach shot with an eight iron. The ball dribbled into the cup for an eagle three.

What's more they were favored to pick up at least one more gold medal today, perhaps two. There was no prospect for a first place for the U.S. in today's three championship events.

Sweden was closest to Russia with 23 points, followed by Germany with 28 and then the U.S. with 16. In the medal department it was three for the U.S. but none of them gold — only one silver and two bronze. WILLY CHAMBERLAIN — another day, another record

Ho Hum! Will Sets Another NBA Record

By United Press International

Basketball records continue to be wiped out as long as Philadelphia's sensational rookie Willie Chamberlain reigns in the National Basketball Association.

The 7-foot, 1-inch star of the Philadelphia Warriors scored 38 points today in a 129-122 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

Chamberlain also broke the Madison Square Garden mark of 57 points, established by the Knicks' Richie Guerin against Syracuse last Dec. 11.

The Philly phenom hit on 25 field goals and six free throws. Guerin paced New York with 41 points.

Adding salt to the Knicks wounds, the Syracuse Nats clinched a playoff berth for the 14th consecutive year by edging the Detroit Pistons, 122-120, thus eliminating New York.

George Yardley was the Nats' top scorer with 26 points, but the Pistons' Gene Shue tallied 39 points to take game honors.

The Boston Celtics tuned up for post-season action by defeating the Royals, 115-108. Jack Twyman of the Royals and Bill Russell shared scoring laurels with 27 apiece.

Elgin Baylor tossed in 35 points as the Minneapolis Lakers defeated St. Louis, 112-98, to tighten their grip for the last playoff spot in the Western Division.

January Wins Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Don January pocketed $2800 today for winning the $20,000 Tucson Open golf tournament.

The 30-year-old Denver professional shot his worst round of the four-day meet Sunday — a one-under-par 69 — but still was good enough to beat out Bob Harris of Winnetka, Ill., by three strokes.

January had a 72-hole total of 271 with a 35-34 card on the final round and a cumulative card of 67-67-68-69.

"I just want to thank all the boys out there who didn't play too well," grinned January as he accepted top prize money. He originally planned to skip the Tucson Open to play in the Venezuela tournament on the Caribbean tour.

Host-par E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, just one stroke behind Don on the start of the final day, dropped to third on the final 18 holes. He tied with Jack Harden, El Paso, Tex., at 275.

For Tommy, it was a farewell to "skating" on the day of his greatest glory.

"I'm having my last fling," he grinned. "It's time to go to work."

In the women's figure skating, the winsome Carol has amassed 625.8 points in the four compulsory figures which have been performed thus far, compared to 580.5 to Holland's shapely miss, Sjoukje Dijkstra. It would take a miracle to keep her from winning the gold medal.

Another U.S. lass, 18-year-old Barbara Ann Ross of Temple City, Calif., was in third place and another teen ager, Laurence (Lorrie) Owen, only 15 and from Winchester, Mass., was in fifth place.

Cabot Shops Leads City Keg Tourney

Cabot Shops is the first weekend team leader in the Men's City Bowling tournament, being held at Harvester Bowl. Cabot leads the field with 3,151, followed by Your Laundry with 3,045. Next are Ideal Laundry 3,035; Colanese Area VI, 3,019; Mobil Oil, 3,005 and Celanese Utility, 2,961.

Grady Milton and J. W. Stamps are the early doubles leaders, with 1,292. Next are Carl Lawrence and Joe Fortin with 1,290 and Bill Hicks and Jack Edwards, with 1,287. Singles leaders are Jimmy Berry with 682, Johnny Ellington with 675 and Kenneth Smith with 669.

In the handicap all-events division Willie Hunt is tops with 1,926, followed by George Thurwith—2,890 and Bill Hicks with 1,888. Stan Brake leads the scratch all-events division with 1,710.

Forty teams, 78 doubles entries, and 146 singles entries bowled during the first weekend. This weekend 87 teams, 73 doubles entries and 346 singles entries are slated for action. There are a total of 1,119 individual entries in the tournament.

Prize money will be awarded at the close of the tourney, to 18 teams, 24 doubles entries, 48 singles leaders, 37 handicap all-events leaders and five scratch all-events leaders.

Team play is scheduled Friday and Saturday, with shifts at 6:30 p.m. and 9 p.m. both nights. Doubles and singles bowling Sunday will conclude the tournament. Shifts will begin at 1 p.m., 3:15, 5:30 and 7:45.

Ohio Could Back Into Big 10 Title

By United Press International

Ohio State's idle wild kids can back into the Big Ten title tonight while Cincinnati and Bradley play key Missouri Valley Conference games that may have a definite bearing on post-season tournament competition.

Indiana's Big Ten contest with Illinois is the pivot for the Buckeyes' immediate clinching of the championship. The Hoosiers are the only conference team that stands a chance of tying Ohio State for the crown. But a loss to the Illinois would set that faint hope-go-by the boards.

Cincinnati and Bradley, the nation's second and fourth-ranked teams, are currently tied for first place in Missouri Valley standings with 9-1 league records.

Bradley may have the worst of the opposition, for the Braves

Buffs Could 'Grab' Border Crown Tonight

By United Press International

West Texas State's scrapping Buffs make their big effort tonight to pull off the unexpected and virtually assure themselves at least a share of the Border Conference basketball crown.

They can't possibly clinch even a tie, but there would be few arguments against their ultimate success if they should stum the New Mexico Aggies at Las Cruces tonight as they did a week ago to night on the Buffs' floor in Canyon.

The Buffs are out in front with a 8-2 record, while the Aggies and Arizona State are a half-game back at 5-2. A victory would put the Buffs out front with only a home game left to play against off-beaten but dangerous Hardin Simmons.

Nothing can be settled until Arizona State completes its schedule March 5 against Arizona unless the Sun Devils should get tripped up good while on an eastern visit next week end to New Mexico State Saturday night and Texas Western Monday night week.

But, the pressure definitely would be on should West Texas win tonight.

If the Aggies win, then the title probably will be riding on the outcome of their game in Las Cruces Saturday against Arizona State's Sun Devils. The Aggies only remaining game after that one comes Monday week when Arizona drops in after testing Texas Western next Saturday.

Last week, New Mexico State bounced back from its 66-65 loss to West Texas to trim Hardin Simmons 63-58. West Texas added a 72-59 decision over Texas Western and Hardin — Simmons beat the Miners 83-73. In non-league play Arizona downed the Air Force 73-66, Arizona State bent Arizona State College 93-74 and Texas Western toppled before Abilene Christian 96-79.

Lefors, Sunray Clash Tonight

LEFORS (SpI) — The Lefors Pirates, champions of District 2-A, will play Sunray Tuesday at 8 p.m., in Spearman, for the 8th district championship.

Lefors, coached by Dale Prescott, has a 23-5 season record and an 11-2 district mark. The Pirates defeated White Deer Saturday in a district playoff game. Sunray, which has a 22-5 season record, defeated Griner Saturday in the 1-A playoff.

American Skier Becomes A Hero

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI) — You might have thought that stubby, square-jawed Tommy Corcoran had won the Olympic giant slalom instead of having just finished fourth.

Members of both the men's and women's U.S. ski teams at the winter games crowded around him in the out-run. The girls kissed him. The men threw their arms around him and patted his back.

Until Tommy Corcoran flashed down KT-22 mountain, weaving and bobbing through the 65 staggered gates in his precipitous plunge down the slick slope blasted by a wind which exploded at times in bursts up to 45 miles an hour.

Sure, he was out of the money in fourth place. But he was only six-tenths of a second behind third place, only one-fifth of a second off second place and a mere one-and-four-tenths seconds off the time which won the gold medal.

"They can't say now," shouted Linda Meyers, "that our boys aren't just as good as the girls."

Even the foreign skiers, Austrians, Scandinavians and Italians, came up, in pairs and one by one, to shake the hand of the grinning 160-pounder who was born in Yakoma and raised in such far off places as Japan and Rome.

"My dad works for International Pharmaceutical Co.," said the five foot, seven inch sudden success in defeat. "We traveled a lot. My parents don't ski but I started at about five when I was in school in Quebec."

Tommy graduated from Dartmouth and took his masters in business administration at Harvard.

Everything Is Set For Title Fight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson, back from Europe, said today "everything is all agreed" and that Feature Sports, Inc., is removing the last obstacle to his June 22 title defense against Floyd Patterson at the Polo Grounds.

Ingemar, who arrived Sunday night by plane from Switzerland via Paris, made his happy statement shortly after Thomas A. Nolan, treasurer of Feature Sports, had announced:

"We are buying out Floyd Patterson Enterprises, including of course all rights to television, movies and radio of the June 22 fight."

Bolan would not disclose, even approximately, what the purchase price would be. But the price probably will be lower than what the state attorney general's antitrust action, started last Friday against Patterson Enterprises as a direct defendant. Some others in the suit were merely called conspirators. No defendants.

The purchase of Patterson Enterprises by Roy Cohn's Feature Sports will permit Cohn's group to put up the rights to TV, radio and movies for open bidding, so that Johansson's share of those proceeds will be larger than if the rights were given to a firm designated by Patterson Enterprises, without open bidding.

'Old Age' Hasn't Stopped Richard

By United Press International

Maurice Richard may be the oldest player in the National Hockey League but father time hasn't aged the quick-like scoring thrusts of hockey's greatest goal-getter.

The Rocket, at 38 swept through for a pair of goals Sunday night to pace the Montreal Canadiens to a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Red Wings and moved them a step closer to their third consecutive National Hockey flag and a chance for a fifth straight Stanley Cup.

Richard's first goal, on a pass from brother Henri, gave Montreal a 1-1 tie in the second period. After Detroit went ahead, 3-2 in the third stanza, the Rocket climaxed a four-goal Canadian spurt that had rookie Red Wing goalie Dennis Riggins completely fooled.

Hemisphere's Smallest Country Has Highest Standard Of Living

EDITOR'S NOTE—One South American country is not likely to ask President Eisenhower for U.S. economic aid on his current tour of the hemisphere. This is Uruguay, last of the four nations the President will visit. The following dispatch, the fifth and last of a series, U.S. Latin American editor Francis L. McCarthy of UPI sketches Uruguay and its problems and outlines the reception he is likely to get in the smallest but most progressive of South American countries.

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY United Press International Here is a Latin American paradox: The hemisphere's smallest country—about the size of South Dakota—has one of its highest standards of living. It is a nation where sheep outnumber humans in the population county by 11 to 1.

Such a country is Uruguay where President Eisenhower formally closes out his four-nation, 10-day air tour of South America. He arrives in Montevideo March 2 and leaves March 3.

Optimistic Over Dam Legislation

LAREDO (UPI) — Rep. Joe Kilgore (D-Tex.) predicted Saturday that Congress will pass legislation for construction of Amistad Dam at its current session. The proposed dam, formerly called Diabla, will be built by the United States and Mexico on the Rio Grande just above Del Rio. It will be the second international dam built by the two nations.
