Civil Rights Voting Slow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today tackled a maze of bills to safeguard Negro voting rights, including a revised administration plan designed to meet Southern objections.

A number of voting proposals already in the hopper were likely to come — raised the prospect that the House would reach a final vote on its rights bill until Friday. Democratic leaders had set Thursday as the target date.

Senate continued to plod with its civil rights debate for the House to send it to the Senate.

Democratic Senator Mike Mansfield (Mont.) predicted in forecasts the Senate would accept without change what legislation the House passed. This would avoid the delay of Senate-House compromise efforts.

Mansfield told a reporter the Senate might have to invoke cloture to limit debate when it takes up the House-passed bill. Southern senators have tried to talk civil rights legislation to death.

The Senate leader said he expected the House bill to be largely a voting rights measure embracing the Administration's revised federal election reform formula, backed by Democratic civil rights advocates.

One change in the GOP voting plan would permit a hearing for state officials at an earlier stage in the procedure leading to appointment of a voting referee. The officials would be heard before a federal judge decided whether a pattern of discrimination existed to justify naming a referee.

Another revision would require that the referee live in the judicial district where he would guard Negro voting rights.

SPLIT — Genevieve Long, one of the members of the Finch-Tregoff jury that failed to agree in murder trial held in Los Angeles, indicated the panel was split by violence, fear and prejudice. Mrs. Long blamed two jurors for the deadlock and said they refused to listen to arguments by the remainder of the panel. Mrs. Long also reported that one juror threatened another and that racial prejudice was present in the jury room.

City Planning Approval Given

Pampa City Commissioners voted today to consult with a planning company to develop a long-range plan for the city. The city will participate with Berger on the plan, if everything goes according to schedule, thereby reducing the cost.

Commissioners also voted to give M. Roberts permission to operate two additional taxicabs, bringing the total number to six. Commissioners also ordered both the Yellow Cab and City Cab to operate on the rate schedule now in effect.

Mayor Ed Myatt put it rather bluntly to both cab company owners when he told them, "Either operate on the rate schedule as set out in the resolution, or make application for a rate change."

KEEPING FIT—Syngman Rhee, South Korea's 84-year-old president, chops wood to keep fit. Rhee, the only president the young republic ever had, is almost certain of gaining a fourth term in elections today due to the death of his sole opponent. Rhee must receive one-third of the total vote to be elected officially.

Can't Reach Miners

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hopelessly trapped seven days in the west tunnels of an Island Coal Co. mine, rescue teams, battling the clock against time, met with bitter disappointment this morning when their way into two areas engineers believed the men may have barricaded themselves against the fire, and killing carbon monoxide.

Found no trace of the victim except four abandoned lunch trays.

Rescue workers then entered a labyrinth of tunnels off the main haulage way where they are not in the third they are strong out dead the back end of the mine.

Deputy Mines Director Paul said as he emerged from the Creek Vice President Camelia added: they went into the slope at the rear of the mine they were they could not have reached the first day.

250 feet from the point on main haulage way where the teams had turned into a room, a slope starts up to an entrance 2,500 feet away on the side of the mountain.

The area was worked out ago and a solid wall blocks the way.

William Donald, safety engineer who was the entombed miners, had been working in the area for four weeks and "he should know that the entrance at that point was blocked."

Pioneer Speeds On

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's Pioneer V sun satellite, its radio voice signaling loud and clear, streaked farther into space today charting the way for future interplanetary travels.

The National Aeronautics & Space Administration (NASA) said the 34.8-pound "Pioneer-V" satellite would be 644,430 miles away by noon e.s.t., heading for a centuries-long orbit around the sun between earth and Venus.

The beachball-sized sphere has long since broken the long distance radio communications record of 407,000 miles set by the first U.S. solar satellite, Pioneer IV.

Pioneer V's tiny five-watt transmitter was performing perfectly, NASA said. An official who heard its voice relayed by long distance telephone from a tracking station said it was a pure, high-pitched, sustained tone unmarred by any static sounds.

In addition to providing a tracking signal, the satellite's little transmitter is relaying information periodically on command about radiations, charged particle clouds, magnetic fields, and micrometeoroids in space.

Finch-Tregoff Jury Actions Under Scrutiny

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The district attorney's office today wants to know more about the stormy behavior of the Finch-Tregoff murder trial jurors during their fruitless deliberations.

"I feel it is incumbent on us to make an inquiry into the statements of threats of physical violence and of suggested improper conduct," said Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson.

"If threats of physical violence were made, as has been reported, we might have a felony or a misdemeanor to unearth concerning the jury."

McKesson said he planned at an unspecified time to talk with all seven women and five men jurors about charges of prejudice and amoral advances during their eight days of deliberations.

The jury became hopelessly deadlocked Saturday and the three-month, four-day trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his mistress Carole Tregoff was declared a mistrial.

McKesson also revealed he has not decided who will prosecute Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 29, in a retrial on charges of murder and conspiracy in the July 15 gunshot slaying of the physician's wife.

"It will depend when and where the retrial is held," said McKesson.

His refusal to say definitely that deputy district attorneys Fred N. Whichello and Clifford Crall again will handle the state's case threw in doubt the identity of counsel for both sides at the retrial.

Both Finch's attorney, Grant Cooper, and Carole's counsel, Robert Neeb-Jr., have said they still were undecided whether they will be available to represent their clients in a new trial.

McKesson will move on Thursday to have a new date set for the second trial of the accused lovers who remain in county jail.

Springlike Weather Short Lived

By United Press International

Cloudy skies, scattered drizzle and heavy fog blanketed wide areas of Texas today. Light snow fell at Dalhart in the tip of the Panhandle.

The drizzle and fog covered the eastern half of the state from the Rio Grande to the Red River and west to Childress. The fog was so thick at San Antonio early today that the city's airport closed.

A weak cold front, located from near Childress to San Angelo and Del Rio early today, carried a promise of clearing skies as it moved over the state. Areas behind the front already had cleared early today.

Robert Bland, at the Fort Worth Weather Bureau, said he doesn't expect the new front to bring any extremely cold weather. Lows tonight were expected to range from 20 degrees in the Panhandle to 40 in the northern portion of South Central Texas.

Overnight lows varied from 28 degrees at Dalhart to 64 degrees at Brownsville. Other lows included 33 at Amarillo; 47 at El Paso, 39 at Corpus Christi, 40 at Dallas, 38 at Texarkana, and 57 at Victoria.

Scores of Texas stations reported measurable rainfall for the 24-hour period ended at 8 a.m. today. The reports included 63 of an inch at Dallas; Brownsville with .05; Wichita Falls .08; Laredo, a trace; San Antonio .12; Fort Worth .40; Austin .13; Waco .14; Texarkana .58; Beaumont .02; Houston .13, and Corpus Christi .10.

Maximum temperatures Monday ranged from 43 degrees at both Dallas and Fort Worth to 87 degrees at Presidio, highest in the nation.

Thieves Slay Post Office Inspectors

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police and government agents conducted separate investigations today into the killing of two undercover postal inspectors by a gang of mail thieves.

Three suspects were seized shortly after the shooting Monday night but witnesses were unable to identify them as the three men who killed John McAlliff, 36, and Ben Spizzirri, 42, the inspectors.

McAlliff and Spizzirri were shot to death as they arrested the gang for stealing five bags of government mail from a nearby freight house.

The inspectors, dressed as laborers, had been working on odd jobs around railroad freight yards while keeping a watch for mail thieves.

The government immediately clamped a lid of secrecy on the shooting.

"We'll handle this ourselves," Jerome Williamson, chief postal inspector for the Chicago area, told city police. Williamson said he had been ordered by Washington to conduct an independent investigation and give Chicago police no information.

For their part, Chicago police theorized the gang was familiar with the area.

Kelton Man Is Accident Victim

WHEELER (Sp.) — Jess Rogers, 50, of Kelton, was found shot to death in a barn at the Tommy Bryant farm near Kelton yesterday.

Rogers was an employee of Bryant. According to reports, Bryant noticed something wrong at the farm, and on investigation found the body in the barn.

Rogers was shot with a .22 caliber rifle. Investigation showed the wound was self-inflicted.

Survivors include his wife and five children.

British Paper Says Ike Endorses Nixon

LONDON (UPI)—The Times of London carried the following dispatch today from its Washington correspondent:

"President Eisenhower has openly endorsed Vice President Nixon as the man to succeed him at the White House—not that any other Republican has been in sight since the withdrawal of Governor Rockefeller.

"He twice spoke of Mr. Nixon as his 'personal choice' at a weekend dinner of the Gridiron Club, an exclusive body of American newspaper correspondents in Washington whose functions are largely given to political satire. Ironically they have been barred from using this delectable morsel of political intelligence under their rule that 'reporters are never present' on such occasions.

"With the exception of Senator Humphrey (Minnesota) every conceivable candidate, Democrat or Republican, was present to hear Mr. Eisenhower's warning farewell remarks, the first of many he will be making this year. Speaking of the lonely burden of the presidency, he said his heart would be with his successor who ever he might be.

"Mr. Nixon sat on the other side of the chairman, and the President suggested that the simplest solution was to have him move over to his place. He has never given such an unreserved endorsement as this, and Mr. Nixon and his close associates are said to have looked dumbfounded.

"There have been moments when the true relationship between the two men has looked a little doubtful. Mr. Eisenhower, assuming that he would exert great influence on the nomination of the Republican candidate, has (See BRITISH, Page 3)

As Peace Maker After Arms Cuts

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States called today for establishment of an international police force within the United Nations framework to preserve world peace after national arms and armies are slashed.

Frederic M. Eaton, U.S. delegation chief, made the proposal at the opening session of a 10-nation disarmament conference.

The controlled Soviet press rejected as "dim" and "incomprehensible" a bold, chest-thumping plan offered by five Western nations.

The American proposal was designed to supplement this three-stage Western plan, presented earlier to the first East-West meeting in nearly three years to break a 15-year disarmament deadlock.

"There must come into being, as national armaments diminish, an international force within the framework of the United Nations to preserve the peace," Eaton said.

He said it must be "a force to ensure that the seeds of conflict do not mature to the point where small nations less endowed with the elements of national power, or even large nations, would be threatened by a more powerful and more highly organized state."

"The establishment of such a force will be fraught with great difficulties, but how much more difficult and unhappy the alternative—the continuing mounting diversion of the efforts, energies and lives of men to the production of the means of their own self-destruction," Eaton said.

The American delegate said the purpose of the Geneva talks was to establish "a world of peace under law" but he stressed that "a disarmed world is not necessarily a secure world" and "we must design a plan broad and promising in scope and yet realistic in conception."

The initial reaction by the Communist world promised months and perhaps years of continued deadlock while Russian statesmen try to sell Premier Nikita Khrushchev's plan for eliminating all armies within four years.

The West has criticized Khrushchev's plan as "unrealistic" and too rapid, lacking in necessary step-by-step controls.

Today's meeting was the first East-West disarmament conference since the Russians stalked out of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee in August 1957. Since then, terrible nuclear weapons and potentially dangerous space satellites have become almost commonplace.

The Western arms plan called for gradual scrapping of national armies and conventional weapons and eventually an end to military satellites and nuclear rockets. It set no time limit.

The urgency of making the conference succeed where others have failed was keynoted by French disarmament expert Jules Mich.

He said the alternative to East-West agreement was the threat of what he called the absolute weapon — a satellite with a nuclear warhead "hanging over our heads like thousands of swords of Damocles."

Five nations from each side comprise the conference, giving the Communists for the first time the "parity" they have demanded in disarmament negotiations.

For the West it is the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada; for the East the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria.

Working Fine Up Changed

Style parking tickets will be in Pampa starting April 1, with a new schedule of violation fines.

Operation Court Judge Robert Pherson said today a parking ticket will cost the receiver 25¢ if paid within 24 hours, $1 in from two to four days, a fine to 10 days, and $3 0 days. McPherson said a ticket will be issued after 30 days.

He will go into the mail to inform holders of parking tickets they can settle current tickets for 25 cents each take advantage of the opportunity before April 1. After April 1, a warrant will be issued and will be $2 per ticket plus $1 of the warrant.

Mail Delivery Service Extended

Postmaster O. K. Gaylor said mail delivery service will be extended Monday.

He said the extension will include the 1500 block on Dogwood Lane; 1700, 1800 and 1900 blocks on Fir St.; 2200 block on North Christy; 1100 and 1200 blocks on S. Finley and the 2300, 2400 and 2500 blocks on Navajo.

Gaylor said to receive mail service, the home owner must have his house numbered and a mail box installed.

Extension Agents In Session Today

Extension agents and secretaries from 20 Texas counties will attend a sub-district training meeting on office management and filing today and tomorrow in the Bright Room of the Coronado Inn.

The purpose of the meeting is to acquaint extension agents and secretaries with new filing systems and management handbook.

Attending the meeting will be agents and secretaries from Gray, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Robert's, Wheeler, Donley, Collingsworth, Hutchinson, Carson, Armstrong and Hansford counties.

Representatives from Castro, Oldham, Dallam, Potter, Deaf Smith, Moore, Hartley, Sherman and Randall counties will attend the Wednesday meeting.

436 Complaints From 23 States Citizens Report Instances Of Denial Of Voting Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Rights Commission has received a total of 436 complaints from citizens in 23 states that they have been denied voting rights. Most but not all were from the South.

The figures cover complaints filed with the commission since its inception in 1957. Of the total, 288 were sworn complaints, 60 were unsworn and 88 were of a general nature.

The commission's investigations into voting cases prompted its recommendation for some kind of federal overseeing of registration and elections which is now the "heart" of the current civil rights debate.

Alabama, scene of a commission hearing and a Justice Department suit, led the states with 140 complaints. Louisiana Negroes filed 106 complaints, and those from Mississippi, 66.

But a non-Southern state, California, was fourth with 47.

There were complaints from every Southern state, including Arkansas 5, Florida 15, Georgia 2, North Carolina 20, South Carolina 2, Tennessee 11, Texas 1, and Virginia 2.

Other states with voting complaints were Indiana 1; Kansas 1; Kentucky 2; Massachusetts 1; New York 4; Oklahoma 3; Pennsylvania 2; West Virginia 1; and Wisconsin 1.

Rep. Prince H. Preston (D-Ga.) requested the figures from the commission, said "this million dollar baby (the commission) has been settling around with a mere handful of complaints on voting rights that the proponents of this legislation would have you believe is a must."

Every state except Hawaii and

North Dakota Has Filed Complaints

North Dakota has filed complaints with the commission on other discrimination including housing, transportation, education, eating establishments, and administration of justice.

New York with 91 complaints led in this category. Of these, 45 dealt with administration of justice, two with transportation; seven with housing; four with education; five with employment; 14 miscellaneous and the rest crank letters.

Other states with a heavy load of complaints were California 67; Ohio 41, Texas 41, Illinois 40, Alabama 32, Florida 36, Missouri 27, Pennsylvania 31, and the District of Columbia 30.

Those with 20 or more complaints included Georgia 27, Louisiana 25, Michigan 24, New Jersey 22, North Carolina 22, Tennessee 23, Virginia 23, South Carolina 19, and Arkansas 7.

Domestic Federal Spending Up 86 Per Cent In 10 Years

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—War and the welfare state are an expensive combination. Ask any taxpayer.

War, cold or hot, gets more than its share of the blame for that. Ask any taxpayer why his taxes are so high and why government deficits are so frequent and you are pretty sure to get the wrong answer.

The taxpayer probably would cite national defense costs. At 45 billion dollars, national defense is the largest budgeted spending item. Sharp pencil calculators of Tax Foundation, Inc., 30 Rockefeller Center, New York, have come up with figures which put a different focus on government spending.

Tax Foundation calculates that government spending for domestic-civilian purposes in fiscal 1961 will soar to $35.7 billion. This figure includes regularly budgeted spending, plus expenditures from the highway trust fund.

The blockbuster statistic turned up by the Tax Foundation is this: The domestic-civilian spending figure for fiscal 1961 represents an 86 per cent increase since the Korean War. In the same period, defense spending will have increased only 1 per cent.

The big bulge in spending over the past 10 years is accounted for by the cost of what the taxpayers or the politicians, or both, insist that government must spend directly or indirectly in behalf of U. S. citizens.

An upward trend of non-defense spending is well established. Trends are difficult to check and more difficult to reverse. It is reasonable to believe, therefore, that non-defense spending will take another big hike in the decade 1960-70.

That would fix the U.S. taxpayer even more firmly in one of those hopeless heads I win, tall you lose spots. Congress and the next president might have the courage to slug the U.S. taxpayer with higher rates, sufficiently high to pay the government's bills.

Higher taxes would be much the lesser of two evils. The alternative would be to hold the tax line by a continuation of the deficit spending which has afflicted the nation for more than 30 years.

Another 30 years of such and the U.S. taxpayer would be done in with him. Deficit spending is a basic cause of the rotting of the U.S. dollar, more often called currency inflation.

The U.S. dollar lost half of its purchasing power—its value—in the 20 years 1939-59. In comparison to 1939, the U.S. dollar is worth less than 50 cents today. This capital-city suffered a jolting reminder this month that inflation is with us.

Street car fares went to 25 cents a ride, from 20 cents. Four single rides for a dollar now in contrast to 20 rides for a dollar not many years ago. That is currency inflation.

A combination of an economy-minded president and an economy-minded Congress might put the brakes on spending, deficits and the rotting of the dollar. No such combination is in sight.

Wheat Measuring Slowed By Weather

Wheat farmers are advised by Miss Evelyn Mason, manager of the Gray County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, that due to wet weather wheat measurement is going very slow.

"Reporters will measure your wheat just as soon as they can get around. Please make plans to be available so the wheat can be measured since there are many wheat farms to be measured in a short time," said Miss Mason.

Changes have been made for this year in the area that can be counted when excess wheat is destroyed on a farm to place the wheat within the wheat allotment. Adjustment credit will be given only for areas of regular snags with not more than four sides. If the entire wheat field is destroyed, this restriction will not be effective. It shall be used in cases where part of the wheat field is disposed of to reduce the wheat acreage to the wheat allotment. Irregular shapes of destroyed wheat cannot be counted to place the farm in compliance.

School Board Suspension Of Girl Upheld

Action by the McLean School Board in suspending a student for driving her car during lunch periods was upheld yesterday in the 7th Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo.

McLean school officials suspended Marica Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde A. Andrews, for driving her car during the lunch period, which violated a school board rule.

According to the school, the rule in question was that all student cars must be parked on the school parking lot during school hours and must not be driven from the time school starts until school is dismissed.

Testimony disclosed that M i s Andrews parked her car a block from school grounds. For all practical purposes, she was driving the car to school, ruled the court.

The rule was issued by the school board as a safety measure. Testimony disclosed that prior to the passage of the rule, 50 to 60 cars a day were driven to school by students, and during the noon recess the cars created a traffic hazard around the playground of a nearby elementary school.

Justice Alton B. Chapman suggested a change in the wording of the rule to prohibit driving completely during the lunch hour to prevent similar problems in the future.

Swygart Rites Set Tomorrow

Funeral services for Jess W. Swygart, retired Shell Oil Co. superintendent, will be held 2 p.m. tomorrow in Duenkel - Carmichael Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Bob Strong, associate pastor of First Baptist Church, officiating.

Mr. Swygart, who resided at 518 N. Faulkner, was pronounced dead on arrival in a local hospital following a heart attack incurred in the County Courthouse, while purchasing auto license tag.

He was born in Indiana June 6, 1890 and moved to Pampa in 1946 from Great Bend, Kan. He had retired from the oil company in 1950.

Survivors are wife, Neva; one sister, Mrs. Sylvia Perley of Tulsa; one brother, Will Swygart of Vale, Ore.

The body will be shipped to Pennsylvania, Ind. for burial.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Economist John W. Harriman believes that 1960 will be a good year for the economy, in fact, a record year without a "dangerous boom and without a dangerous decline."

Noting the uncertainties that have arisen from the recent "sharp decline of stock prices in the face of optimistic prophecies for business," Dr. Harriman holds that "consideration of business prospects should be made... by looking both backward and forward."

This approach is logical, the economist for Tri-Continental Corp. points out, since a substantial cause of uncertainty lay in the under-estimation of 1959 results and over estimation of the 1960 outlook.

Dr. Harriman looks for further expansion at a somewhat less rapid rate this year to be followed by a leveling off which could extend beyond the end of the year. He also believes that inventory accumulation will become less influential as the year progresses.

Dismissal 'Astounds' New York DA

NEW YORK (UPI)—Manhattan Borough President Hulan E. Jack took back his $25,000 a year job today but hadn't heard the last of charges he took gratuities from a real estate operator doing business with the city.

Jack suspended himself from the borough presidency, highest municipal job held by a Negro in the nation, last January when charges of conspiracy and violation of the city charter were leveled against him.

General Sessions Judge Gerald P. Cukin dismissed the four count indictment against Jack Monday. He said the conspiracy charge should be tried separately and that the other three counts did not specify that Jack knew his benefactor had business dealings with the city.

Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan said he was "astounded" by the dismissal. He said he would appeal Judge Cukin's decision. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the only one who can remove Jack from office, was studying the court decision.

Jack was accused of allowing real estate operator Sydney J. Ungar to pay $4,400 for remodeling the Jack apartment while seeking a 28 million dollar slum clearance sponsorship.

Jack said the remodeling payments by Ungar were loans.

Forms Must Be Filed Even If No Tax Is Due

The United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare advises farmers that even if no income tax is due, a federal tax return must be filed to report earnings for social security purposes.

If gross farm income for farmers is more than $1,500 and the net farm income is $1,200 or more, farmers must report for social security either the actual net or $1,200.

If the gross farm income is $1,800 or less, a farmer may report the actual net or two-thirds of the gross. To receive social security credit, farmers must report and pay social security tax on at least $400.

Benefit payments to a farmer and his family are figured from the amount of earnings reported. If he fails to report or if he reports incorrectly, the amount of monthly benefit payments may be affected.

There are many factors now that combine to favor the probability of a spring rally retracing half of the winter decline in stocks, says Trendex. "The rally will be ragged and erratic due to the thinness of the market and the nervousness of investors." The firm favors the thin stocks that have appeal to investors who foresee a new industrial era in "space, speed, superlatives and special situations."

Anti-Semitic Wave Charged To Soviets

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) today accused the Soviet Union of touching off the recent worldwide wave of anti-Semitic incidents.

Dodd, who was a prosecutor at the Nuremberg war crimes trials in 1946, also defended the record of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's program of "denazification."

The Connecticut senator said Jews in the Soviet Union were "victims of a policy that can only be described as physical and cultural genocide."

Citing what he called examples of anti-Jewish policy, Dodd said the Soviet Union was conducting an anti-Semitic propaganda campaign "strongly reminiscent" of Nazi Germany before World War II.

He put the blame on Russia in a 10,000 word analysis of recent anti-Semitic incidents. The speech, which Dodd was unable to deliver because of illness, was inserted in the Congressional Record by Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla.).

Dodd is recuperating in Florida from a collapse Feb. 27 from fatigue brought on by overwork. His doctors have ordered him to cancel all speaking engagements this month.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my 6-year-old daughter. She is always running away. I hate to keep her locked up all the time, but the minute I turn my back, she runs away.

She's divorced, attractive and efficient. But she tells the men the filthiest jokes imaginable. Naturally she doesn't have to twist my husband's arm very hard to get him to listen.

The police have brought her back so many times I am ashamed.

She has the nerve to call my husband up at home in the evenings to tell him a new joke. Once we were in the middle of a bridge game and this trollop called, so he left the table and stood there laughing like a hyena while she told him a story.

Saturday she ran away from home at 10:00 a.m. and the police didn't bring her home until 10:00 p.m. My husband is away with the Navy and worrying about this child keeps me on edge all the time. Everyone, even the police, says she must have an emotional disturbance. Can you or anyone who has lived through this problem, help me, Abby?

At the company party, while I helped serve, she was off in a corner telling some of her jokes to a bunch of howling men.

DEAR WIFE: If your daughter had a toothache, you wouldn't hesitate to take her to a dentist. An "emotional disturbance" usually can be cured and deserves as much attention. Talk this over with your family doctor. Running away is a symptom. I urge you to waste no time.

Several other wives have complained about this. Do you think the opinions of eight wives would be sufficient to impress the personnel manager?

DEAR ABBY: Why don't we have marriage bureaus? Every city has employment agencies, both public and private, to assist people in finding jobs. But romance is left to sheer chance. If locating mates were done in a businesslike way, there would be fewerachelors, maiden ladies and other unattached individuals. What do you think?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HOCKTACHINK": That's what you have two ears for. Let it go into one, and out the other.

DEAR ABBY: My husband works for a large concern, and the switchboard girl is my problem.

Instead of the traditional white, try a mauve blouse, scarf, gloves with your navy blue this spring. It creates a fresh, different look.

Safe-Keeping Of Family Records Advice Of Gray County HD Agent

LEFORS (Spl) - "Family Records" was the topic covered by Miss Lou Ella Patterson, HD Agent, for the Lefors Home Demonstration Club, at its regular meeting held in the home of Mrs. C. N. Barber on Thursday afternoon.
A detailed set of records will help the homemaker to know how she is spending money," she began, adding, "An account of money spent for clothing for each member of the family may determine that the clothing-budget is being used unequally for some members of the family."
"Checks are not always a good receipt; so a receipt should be obtained and kept for income tax purposes. Keep guarantees, birth certificates, marriage licenses, inoculation records, medical records, allergy records, a address books, maps, in a certain place, such as a small file, where they can be easily found," she continued, showing examples of each item mentioned.
"Both husband and wife should have some knowledge of the family bookkeeping, and have general idea of the family business," she concluded.
Roll call was answered with, "Where we keep our marriage license."
Mrs. O. O. Bishop, president, opened the meeting with prayer. The minutes and roll call were read by Mrs. B. J. Thacker. Mrs. A. T. Cobb introduced the program.
Mrs. Ted Kendall announced that she would be hostess for the next meeting in the civic center on March 24.
Members of the club who worked at the fat stock show Wednesday, were Mmes. O. O. Bishop, D. T. Pfeil, C. C. Well, B. D. Vaughn, A. J. Rollins, James Gattin, David McBee, A. T. Cobb, Ted Kendall, B. J. Diehl, Jeff Davis, R. W. Beck.
It was announced that the power for the park had arrived. Tuesday, Mar. 15, was announced as work-day for the park project.
Members present were Mmes. C. W. Teeters, Jeff Davis, A. J. Rollins, D. L. McBee, M. L. Rippey, C. N. Barber, B. J. Diehl, James Gattin, Charles Roberts, B. J. Leninger, Ted Kendall, A. T. Cobb, and O. O. Bishop. Visitors were Mmes. P. A. Crutcher and Bert Smith.

Mrs. James Jinks AC Club Speaker

LEFORS (Spl) - Lefors Art and Civic Club met Tuesday night in civic center with Mrs. James Jinks as hostess. Washington's Birthday was used in the theme of refreshments.
"Originality is one of the most necessary things next to good taste," was the quotation used by Mrs. Charles Gilson in her program for the group on "What's My Type?" In absence of models scheduled to appear, she spoke on pastel shades and patterns currently being good for this spring and summer.
In the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Carl Hall, president, it was decided to purchase eight hospital-type towels for the Lefors Ambulance.
It was also decided to sponsor the Brownie Scouts, whose leader is Mrs. Dale Prescott.
Members present were Mmes. Carl Hall, Charles Gilson, Floyd Hines, Clark Stanton, B. J. Thacker, Ray Chastain, Alex Swann, Bud Cumberland, James Jinks, Earl Atkinson, L. R. Spence, C. C. Mullins, Raymond Jordan, and Miss Mickey Sue Johnson.
The next meeting will be Mar. 15 in civic center with a program on handwriting analysis.

Rural Illustrations Highlight Meeting

LEFORS (Spl) - A home mission book, "Mike and His Four-Star Goal," was presented in the rural theme by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Adams, for the Junior GAs and RA's, on Saturday morning in Baptist Church annex.
The study of rural churches was illustrated by a miniature farm, church, farm implements and products.
Following the study, luncheon was served. The tables were covered in snowy white cloths centered with arrangements of green onions, potatoes and carrots. The head table was centered with a picnic basket of fresh cut flowers, and baskets of fresh eggs.
Mr. and Mrs. Adams were presented a gift by the two groups following luncheon.

Foods Project Studied By 4H

GROOM (Spl) - "Desserts" are not just added to a meal, but are served to go along with the meal" it was learned at the Juniorette 4H Girls meeting in their study of Unit II of the Favorite Foods project.
The meeting was held in the school on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Clarence Noack, Ellen Latta and Melva Ashberry conducted the second cooking project lesson on "Apple Crisp Dessert."
Attending the session were Cherylene Noack, Margie Akery, Judy Brown, Laura Jean Blackwell, Joyce Akery, Carolyn Brooks, Theresa Bischel and Ann Homer.
Unit I girls learned that "snacks are eaten between regular meals when a person feels hungry," Mrs. Wallace Bischel and Sandra Clark helped the girls make and judge the banana-milk-bread and butter sandwiches.
Barbara Koetting, Sandra Kotars, Patsy Koetting, Jance Britten, Tanja Weatherly and Bonnie Noack learned that milk helps to build good bones and teeth as they participated actively in preparing the snacks.
Mrs. George Latta, leader, supervised the unit meeting. Joyce Akery was hostess to the Juniorettes for their meeting.
Plans were made for a window exhibit to be made during National 4H Week.

Gypsy Setting Forms Scenes For WMU Senior Class Annual Dinner

LEFORS (Spl) - Women's Missionary Union of First Baptist Church entertained members of Lefors High School graduating class, their sponsors and guests with a dinner on Thursday evening.
The annual affair this year featured a gypsy camp setting, with lanterns and trees in the background against a backdrop of mountains and a gypsy wagon. A real-life gypsy tent covered in stars and half moons completed the setting.
Madame Zuzu, portrayed by Mrs. H. L. Teel, lay sleeping in front of the tent during the meal, but came to life to tell a dream she had visioned foretelling the future of the seniors present, in poetic form. The poem was an original composition by Mrs. Teel.
The tables seated four people and were covered in white cloths and centered with Kerosene lamps. Place cards were in the shape of a human palm. The programs featured a beautiful gypsy girl on the cover.
The welcome was given by Mrs. R. N. Cypert, president of the WMU. The response was given by Harry Price, president of the senior class. Invocation was by Joe Archer.
The musical portion of the program featured a girl's trio, Amy Earhart, Shirese Cable and Sandy Call, who sang "Golden Earrings," "Graduation Day," and for benediction, "Now the Day is Over."
Mr. and Mrs. Joe Archer sang "Slumber on My Little Gypsy Sweetheart," and "Dream," to the accompaniment on the piano by Mrs. Ronald Adams, who accompanied the trio also.
Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jacobs, Supt.; Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Mougner, High School principal; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lehnick, sponsor; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Adams, sponsor; and seniors, Margie Cumberland, Harry Price, Margie Nichols, Sharon Hines, Gary Smith, Lee Blankenship, Karen Harvey, Joe Carter, Pat McDowell, Dean Wilson, Garret Robertson, Pat Berry, David Lewis, Bill Phillips, Sharron Mooningham, Jerry Carpenter, Clara Williams, Butch Northcott, Mary Bronner, Joe Wagner, Judy Atkinson, Barbara Archer, and Juanita Woolen.

FHA Chapter To Hold Style Show

WHITE DEER (Spl) - Modeling clothes provided by merchants in Pampa, Skellytown, and White Deer, members of the White Deer chapter of Future Homemakers of America will present a Spring Style Show, Tuesday evening, Mar. 15, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.
Stores which are furnishing the garments are Highland Children's Shop, Fields Men's Wear, Gilberts, Dunlaps, and Bentleys of Pampa; Freeman's Dry Goods Store, White Deer; and Moore's Dry Goods Store, Skellytown.
High school girls and boys and several children will model sports, daytime, and evening wear, presenting each group in a special setting. An over-all theme of "Springtime" will be used, a pageant and vocal music will provide additional entertainment.
Admission charges will be 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults. Proceeds will be used for a Mother-Daughter banquet to be given by the FHA. The chapter is sponsored by Miss Joyce Copeland.

RUTH MILLETT

If you want to make a hit with your friends' husbands: Always remember you are talking to a man - not just to a friend's husband - and choose your topic of conversation accordingly. The rules out your children, your household problems, your diet, and your husband's opinions.
In other words, get the man talking about something that interests him - whether it is fishing, hi-fi, golf or whatever. If you do he'll decide you are both intelligent and charming.
At evening parties have food the men enjoy. You can impress your women friends at lunch with dainty tidbits. At night feed the brutes. Don't try to prove how much smarter you are than your husband. Nothing chills men quite so fast as a woman who obviously feels superior to men in general and to her own husband in particular.
Listen more than you talk. You'll be amazed at what a hit this makes, especially if you listen with rapt attention.
Don't talk about how old you feel. That's no way to make a man feel young. Besides, it makes a man uncomfortable to have a woman make complimentary remarks about herself.
Don't try to win an argument with any woman's husband. Men lose enough arguments at home.
Don't be afraid to sparkle a little for fear a man's wife will think you are flirting with him.
As you very well know, there is a big difference between flirting with another woman's husband and putting him at ease so that he feels comfortable, happy and pleased with himself.
Simply fix still the secret of a well-dressed woman. Even touches such as flowers must be controlled or they tend to overpower the wearer. Experiment to see where a simple bunch of flowers or artificial fruit will look best. If you have a pointed or squarish chin, place the piece slightly to one side.

Halting Samaritans

We have often noted that when coercion becomes ordinary, voluntarism becomes rare. The event is being observed almost continuously nowadays insofar as various charity and fund raising campaigns are concerned. Persons who find themselves the victims of taxes for purposes of charity, not infrequently turn down personal appeals to their voluntary charitable instincts.

Erosion Everywhere

Most of us feel the thrust of government predation on a gradual basis. Piece by piece, our freedom is eaten away. Dollar by dollar, our incomes are reduced. Day by day, the debasement of our coin and currency continues.

The Pampa Daily News

YOUR FREEDOM NEWSPAPER We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from the government. Freedom is not license. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, The Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Readers will remember that recently there has been considerable in the press from church organizations criticizing a manual issued by the Air Force for students in the Air Reserve. The part of this manual that particularly stirred the leaders of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. or its numbers was the answer to the question "Does any sizable group of Americans ever fall for the Communist line?" which, unfortunately, is "Yes."

Foreign News

Since taking over as president of Italy in 1955, Giovanni Gronchi has been the man in the middle in the Italian government's game of musical chairs.

He has been so because it is the President's job to find a new premier whenever a government falls, which has been occurring in Italy with monotonous regularity for the better part of the last seven years.

So with the fall of Premier Antonio Segni's government on Feb. 24, Gronchi began a familiar round of consultations.

Italy's situation, once comparable to the unstable governments of the French Fourth Republic, now is almost unique among major nations.

Its most powerful party is the Christian Democratic which commands 40 per cent of the votes in Parliament and from which every Italian premier has been drawn since the fall of Mussolini and establishment of the new Italian constitution.

But the party itself is split right, center and left, which helps to explain why governments may change but faces do not. Depending on the current direction of the political winds, the premiership usually falls to a man who has held the job before -- Segni, Amintore Fanfani, Giuseppe Pella.

Because they have been unable to obtain a clear parliamentary majority since 1953, the Christian Democrats have been forced to rule with a coalition drawn from smaller parties from either right to left. When one of these parties Monarchist, Liberal, Republican or Moderate Socialist, withdraws support, then the government falls.

On the sidelines controlling roughly 37 per cent of the parliamentary votes are the Communists and the left-wing Socialists. Neither ever has been represented in an Italian government.

It is upon these Leftwing Socialists that Gronchi has cast a hungry eye in his search for a coalition which could not easily be toppled. He calls it an "opening to the left."

All post-war Italian governments have been staunch friends of the West and supporters of the Atlantic Pact. That attitude could change should Gronchi's "opening to the left" occur.

It all shines the light from the sepulchre enveloping the majestic, risen, beckoning Christ... and surely, this is the point of it all. Lent is just the means. The resurrection is the end.

Divide And Conquer Politics In Civil Rights Legislation

Civil Rights

The House of Representatives last week commenced the debate on a bill generally called "the Civil Rights Bill". Actually, the "popular name" adopted for this measure was not intended to set forth in a brief statement the purposes of the bill. The major purpose in choosing that title was to use something which would be appealing to the innate sense of fairness in the American people, something which would be inviting to the extent that the people generally would not take too much interest in the "small print" so often referred to. This approach is not different from the approach which has been used by the advocates of centralized government and advocates of world government for the past several years. These proponents were not making sufficient headway in approaching the problem by trying to sell the merits of centralized government in the United States and world government on an international basis, to the people of this country. Hence, they hit upon the idea of progress by the use of a catchy

Lenten Devotion

By The Rev. John T. Tavlardis
St. Sophia
Gree Orthodox Cathedral
Washington, D. C.
Written for UPI

Lent is not the end itself; neither are abstinence, penance and prayer. They are the resources. But lent for us is evidently prerequisite to the crucifixion and the climatic resurrection. It is the opportunity to negate all that the feast on falsely has spawned. And abstinence and penance and prayer do sharpen our spiritual perception. These disciplines permit us to willingly share the pain of Christ's passion and crucifixion so that we also may die.

Then there can be an empty tomb; there may be a resurrection of life and we with it be raised to new stature as "new creatures." His return from Hades deals death to man's fears and empowers us to recoup our spiritual losses. The only problem is that we cannot subjectivize the gifts of the cross and the seculphre without personal involvement in life and intimate communion with Him -- and this is where we often fail.

It hurts to become involved in the life of our brother and to do his bidding. Should we succeed though, the hurt ripens to a fulfilling joy and ever brightly above children. Seven states now have 44 per cent of the children under eighteen. Incidentally, Texas is listed as one of the seven states having the greatest child population. More children are going to school longer. On the other side of the ledger, we find that juvenile delinquency is still rising, that gaps in programs for delinquents are wide, that city slums still provide one of the worst environments for children, although the poorest housing is in rural areas and small cities. There are many other pertinent facts, but space in this newsletter will not permit them to be listed.

Visitors

We appreciated visiting last week with Captain and Mrs. Jack B. Ramsey, who are shortly returning to their home in Tulsa after being stationed at Walter Reed Hospital here in Washington. Lee Williamson and Mr. Neville Bremner were also Washington visitors.
