

Texas Voting Described As Heavy

By JOHN M. NOLAN
United Press International
Texas, braving cool and damp weather at some points, flooded the polls today to vote in the hotly-contested presidential race. Texas' 24 electoral votes could decide who fills the White House for the next four years. A record 2.25 million Texas voters were expected at the polls before they close. Reports from across the state at mid-morning showed long lines waiting when the polls opened for a 12-hour stretch at 7 a.m. At El Paso, a reporter described the voting "extremely heavy" and called length of the lines waiting at poll opening "unheard of." Similar reports came from Dallas, San Antonio, Houston, Austin and the Rio Grande Valley. Both Republicans and Democrats predicted an "overwhelming" victory for the state's 24 electoral votes. But qualified observers considered the race a tossup and said it could be so close that a few votes one way or the other could tip Texas back into the GOP camp for the third straight time or put it into the Democratic column once again. The weather forecast was a little dismal, but not considered significant enough to keep voters away from the polls. Skies were generally cloudy and some light rain fell at scattered points. But at Dallas, a light rain failed to deter hundreds of persons who waited for the polls to open. Hundreds more voters lined up in Houston—some arriving as early as 5 a.m. The early voters drank coffee and sat on folding chairs and some played cards; others just talked and waited. Observers at Houston said it was apparent that many precincts would not complete voting until long after the polls close. Every person in line at that time will get to vote. Millard Clegg, election judge at Houston's precinct 8, said voting lines stretched out two blocks when the polls opened. He said some voters probably would have to wait three or four hours. Voting ranged from light to "very heavy" at Austin. Travis County expects a record vote, along with the rest of the state. San Antonio reports indicated heavy voting also, and in the Lower Rio Grande Valley counties of Hidalgo and Cameron voters also swarmed to the polls. Texas is one of the pivotal states in the presidential election and so uncertain that it became one of the major battlegrounds of the campaign. Both Vice President Richard Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy made two trips through Texas seeking support. President Eisenhower boosted the GOP cause with a visit, former President Truman stumped Texas for the Democrats, Henry Cabot Lodge, GOP vice presidential candidate, made a whirlwind visit, and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson crisscrossed the state conducting an intensive campaign in his dual role as Democratic candidate for vice president and re-election to the U.S. Senate. Bob Johnson, head of the Texas Election Bureau in Dallas, predicted the vote might exceed 2,250,000, substantially topping the 1952 record turnout of 2,073,000. But he doubted it would reach 2.5 million as some officials were predicting. Texas has 2.7 million registered voters. While the presidential race was the big issue on the Texas ballot, voters were also casting ballots on many statewide races including governor, congress and four constitutional amendments. Most of the races, however, were considered little more than "going through the motions" with Republican opponents given almost no chance of beating Democratic candidates which settled the

Nation Casting Largest Vote In Choosing A New President

Principals Cast Votes Over Nation

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — President Eisenhower voted today for Vice President Richard M. Nixon—but only after a lady election official forced him to wait five minutes until the polls were officially opened. The chief executive flew from the White House to the Barlow Township firehouse by helicopter at dawn to cast his ballot in the presidential race. Mrs. Fred Swisher, an election judge, told him: "You have five minutes to wait." Laughing at himself, Eisenhower replied: "I've got to make it legal—I don't want to come this far and lose my vote." BOSTON (UPI)—A smiling Sen. John F. Kennedy and his expectant wife Jacqueline voted here today at 8:46 a.m. and then flew to their Hyannis Port estate to await the nation's verdict. A crowd of about 300 had gathered at the ward 3, Precinct 6 polling place — the West End branch library—when the Kennedy's arrived from the Statler-Hilton Hotel. Mrs. Kennedy, who expects a baby in three weeks, had motored from Hyannis Port on Cape Cod this morning to vote with her husband. LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A confident and optimistic Vice President Richard M. Nixon returned today to the scene of his earliest success to cast his ballot at 7:30 a.m. The vice president and his wife Pat smiled and waved at the crowd of 150 persons that had gathered in the early morning at the polling place in East Whittier, then entered the modest residence of Roger McNey to vote. The home was within a mile of where Nixon grew up. Nixon got to sleep at 3 a.m. and was up at 5 for a breakfast of orange juice and coffee before joining a motorcade for the 33 miles from the Ambassador Hotel.

Ballots Cast Today For Electors, Not Candidates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The upwards of 65 million persons marking ballots today will in fact be voting for 537 presidential electors and not directly for the candidates for the White House. Although this distinction was meaningless until a few years ago, it could result this year — in case of a close election — in withholding sufficient votes from the presidential candidate of the States' Rights Democratic party and won 39 electoral votes but failed to prevent President Truman from winning an electoral vote majority. Each state casts an electoral vote equal to the total number of its senators and House members in Congress. This each state has at least three electoral votes and New York had the biggest bloc, 45. In some states, only the names of the presidential candidates appear on the ballot. In others such as Georgia and Alabama, the names of only the party slates of electors are on the ballot. Georgia's slate of 12 Democratic electors is not legally bound to support Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, although most of them have pledged themselves to him. Of Alabama's 11 Democratic electors, six have never committed themselves to Kennedy. In Mississippi, with eight electoral votes, there is an independent slate of unpledged electors running against those committed to Kennedy and Nixon. next step in the Castro program would be the assignment of a "revolutionary counselor" to each of the nation's courts "to insure that revolutionary justice is carried out." Castro, President Osvaldo Dorticos and every member of the cabinet except the premier's brother Raul were among about 550 guests who flocked to the Russian embassy Monday night to celebrate the anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. U.S. charge d'affaires Daniel Braddock was the only diplomat invited to the reception who failed to appear. He declined without giving a reason and sent no one to represent him. Unconfirmed reports said the WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation voted today in another historic presidential election which will set its course for the next four to eight years in the next cycle of the cold war. As the strident shouts of the campaign faded into the silence of the voting booth, the choice lay between Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican nominee, and Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate. The voters also were electing 34 of the 100 members of the United States Senate, all 437 House members, 27 governors and thousands of other state and local officials. A record turnout of between 65 and 70 million voters was expected. The weather bureau promised chilly but otherwise fairly pleasant weather for most of the country along with scattered showers in the midlands.

Congo Chief To Denounce Aggressions

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—President Joseph Kasavubu of the Congo was reported prepared to denounce the United Nations for alleged "aggressions" in the new African republic when he goes before the General Assembly today. Kasavubu arrived from Leopoldville late Monday to try to get the assembly to recognize his representatives as the official Congolese delegation. The debate on whether to seat Kasavubu's delegation or one sent by ousted Premier Patrice Lumumba was scheduled to open Monday but was postponed because of Kasavubu's late arrival. The 99-nation Political Committee arranged to continue the weeks-long debate on the disarmament question. Only four nations were on the speaker's list this morning. The rival Congolese delegations have been here since the assembly opened in September but the United Nations has refused to recognize either in view of the still-unsettled situation in the Congo. In Leopoldville, Pascal Kapella, a spokesman for the high commission set up by strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu to run the country, said in a broadcast Monday night that Kasavubu would raise these points: —Discussion of "aggression by U.N. troops". —"No interference by the United Nations in internal affairs."

City Commission Awards Contract

Brody - Ennix Construction Co. of Amarillo, was awarded a contract for water and sewer line replacements in Pampa today by the city commission. The firm's bid of $229,004.67 was low among the three received. In other action in the short session the commission agreed to a settlement with Dura Homes Inc., the firm which constructed the Mesilla Park project, of $13,500, and held the second reading of an ordinance to annex 200 feet of property bordering on Kentucky and Harvester streets, where the Pampa Youth and Community Center is under construction.

May Set New Record

A record vote in Pampa and Gray County loomed today with heavy balloting being recorded early this morning and a continued stream of voters moving in and out of voting booths as noon neared. The record for Gray County was established in 1952 when 8,982 cast ballots in that presidential election, Charlie Thut, Gray County Clerk, said.

Most pre-election public opinion polls indicated an edge for Kennedy but unpredictable factors like voter reaction to Kennedy's Catholic faith clouded the forecasts. And a dissenting voice came Friday night from pollster Elmo Roper, who reported that his survey showed Nixon leading by a 48 to 47 margin with four per cent of the voters listed as undecided.

The presidential candidates, who carried on the most wide-ranging campaign in history, continued their rigorous pace through election eve before retiring to vote and to await the returns. So did their running mates, Republican Henry Cabot Lodge and Democratic Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson. "You must make your judgment between sitting and moving," said Kennedy in his final appeal to the voters on a national television network Monday night. He said the choice today was "shall we go forward" under the Democratic program "or shall we sit still" with the GOP.

"In other great periods of crisis, we have chosen to go forward," Kennedy said. "Far from standing still, you have advanced dramatically," said President Eisenhower on a Republican telecast with Nixon and Lodge. "And you will continue to advance given assurance that the climate of confidence will be sustained and that the system of free, competitive enterprise will

U.S. Space Projects Flop Today

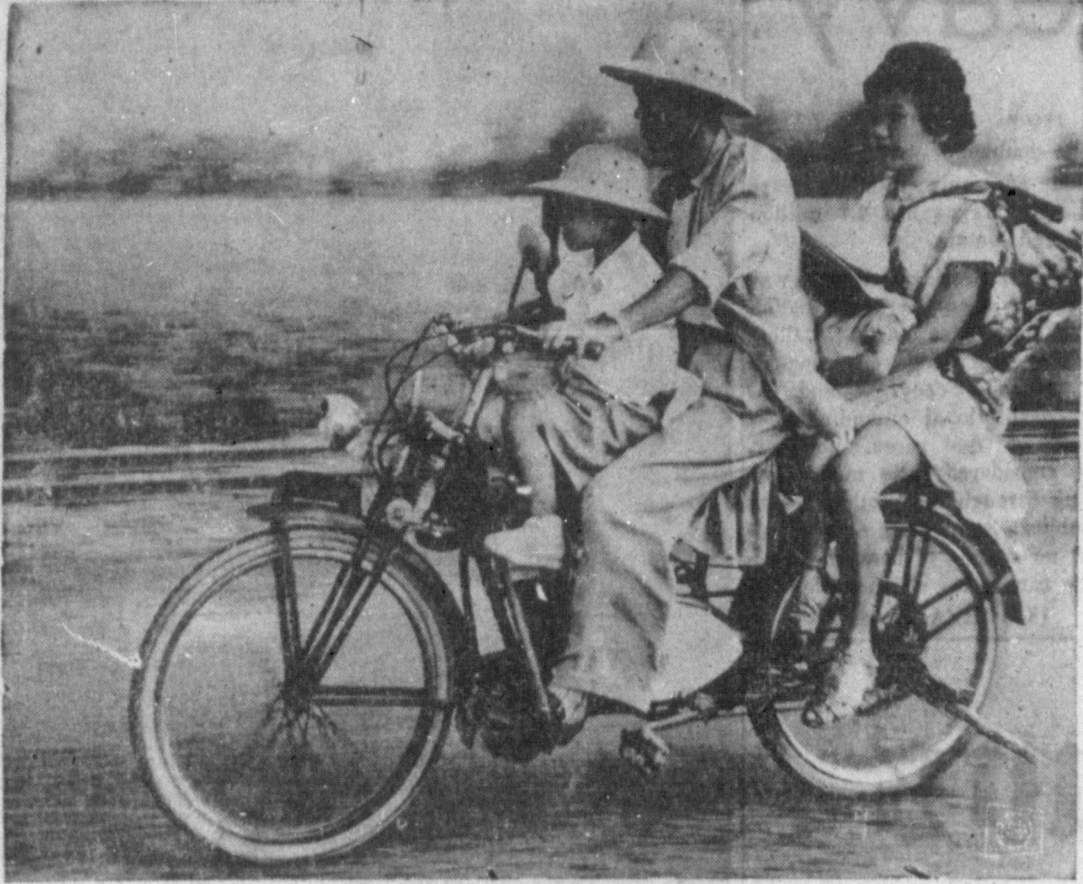

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A test shot of a Mercury space craft and its pilot escape system failed today over the Atlantic Ocean. The National Space and Aeronautics Administration reported that the space craft failed to separate from its Little Joe booster rocket after being fired from Wallops Island, Va. Both the capsule and the booster rocket plummeted into the ocean 13 miles from the experimental station. NASA spokesmen said a salvage effort is being made. The rocket carried the capsule to an altitude of 53,000 feet to test its structural strength but a malfunction made the two fail to separate. Reliable operation of the escape system is essential for the survival of America's Astronauts if anything should go wrong at the outset of manned rocket and satellite flights scheduled for next year. Similar escape system tests have been made with Little Joe launchings at Wallops in the past. But today's was the first with a spacecraft identical to the one which will carry Astronauts into space next year.

Firemen Issue Call For Toys

City firemen are ready to begin their annual repair of toys to be given needy youngsters and Fire Chief Ernest Winborne said those wishing to donate broken or new toys may bring them to Central Fire Station.

"If they have no way to bring them to us, we will go get the toys if people will call us," said Winborne.

The firemen will again be aided in this project by members of the American Legion. Following repair of the toys they will be taken to the sub-stations where firemen of those stations will paint the articles, the fire chief noted.

Detroit News Buys Hearst Paper There

DETROIT (UPI) — Sale of the Detroit Times by Hearst Newspapers to the Detroit News, the only other afternoon daily newspaper here, was announced today in a joint statement. The Times, published nearly 40 years by the Hearst chain, ceased publication immediately.

Today's editions of the Detroit News appeared for the first time with a combined Detroit News-Detroit Times logotype at the top of page one.

H.G. Kern, general manager of Hearst Newspapers, said the sale was necessary because publishing costs — including labor, newsprint, equipment and supplies — have risen "far more rapidly than have revenues."

The Times for many years had been waging an uphill struggle for circulation against the larger News and the Detroit Free Press, the morning daily in Detroit.

never be weakened by political meddling."
He said the country could get that assurance by voting for Nixon and Lodge.
After the president spoke from Washington, Nixon made his appeal from Chicago. He urged the voters to decide not on a basis of personality or party label but to choose "the man who can best serve America." The election, he said, is a faithful one because it involves the future of the United States and the free world.
For whatever they were worth, victory forecasts were volunteered by both sides.
Robert N. Finch, Nixon's campaign director, said the vice president's campaign had crested at the proper time and that the GOP ticket would carry the pivotal states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Texas and California. He did not claim New York, which provides the biggest prize of 45 electoral votes, but said a presidential candidate could win without it.

courthouse saw the heavy trend continuing. Rankin said that the count at the time was 575, and he did not see signs of a slack off. Rankin received 1,900 ballots, but the total was expected to fall slightly below that figure.
Aleneed voters were slow in getting to the polls. Some 30 had balloted as of 11 a.m. But here again the election judge, Marvin Hall, foresaw some 100 ballots being cast before voting time expires. This, he said, would be a heavy vote.
At Horace Mann School the vote was 514. This, poll officials said was "very heavy" and indicated a record for that point.
"I don't believe we've tabulated that many here by 11 o'clock," said one of the officers at the school.

Dear Abby...

Freezer Causes "Hot" Hubby

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband bought me a deep freeze three years ago and now all I hear from him is, "Don't feed me any more of that blankety blank stuff from the freezer!" Isn't a freezer for women who must bake and cook when they have time, and then freeze it until they need it? My husband says it's to preserve fish and game between hunting and fishing seasons. A book came with the freezer telling me how to freeze cakes, pies, and left-overs and I follow the instructions to the letter. Half the time, when my husband says the food is dry and tasteless, he doesn't know what he's talking about because I've given him fresh food, but he won't believe me. Can anyone REALLY tell by the taste if food has been frozen or not? TO FREEZE OR NOT TO FREEZE: Most frozen foods, if properly processed, could pass for fresh in a blindfold test. It depends on the food, how long it's been frozen and how it is served. Your husband is probably all heated for nothing.

Mrs. Pflug Feted At Lullaby Party

LEFORS (Spl) — Mrs. Gerald Pflug was guest of honor at a baby shower given recently in the home of Mrs. B. D. Vaughn. Hostesses were Meses, Lee Airington, Jeff Stubblefield, Bill Teel, Joe Archer, B. D. Vaughn, C. H. Earhart, Lr. spence, H. L. McCarter, and D. D. Lewis. A corsage of pink and turquoise rosebud baby box was presented to the honoree arranged on pink net and tied with pink ribbon. Coffee, tea and cake were served from a table appointed with an arrangement of garden on a pink and blue cloth. Guests attending were Meses, David Robinson and Linda, Bill Cody, Tommy Northcott, A. T. Cobb, Jake Leggett, C. B. Grendel, Walter Pflug, and Vernon Northcott.

DEAR ABBY: I heard that over half the Presidents of the United States were Masons. Is that right? SIOUX CITY SUE

DEAR SUE: No. But Truman, F. D. Roosevelt, Theo. Roosevelt, Harding, McKinley, Johnson, Garfield, Buchanan, Polk, Jackson, Monroe, Taft and Washington were. Also, Jefferson and Madison.

DEAR ABBY: If you are interested in teen-agers, you will print this story. I don't know whether it's true or not, but it doesn't matter because it served its purpose for me.

A fellow and his date pulled into their favorite "lovers' lane" to listen to the radio and do a little necking. The music was interrupted by an announcer who said there was an escaped convict in that area who had served time for rape and robbery. He was described as having a hook instead of a right hand. The couple became frightened and drove away. When the boy took his girl home, he went around to open the car door for her. Then he saw — a hook on the door handle.

Chuck Robinson Notes Birthday

LEFORS (Spl) — Chuck Robinson celebrated his fifth birthday at a party given recently in his home by his mother, Mrs. C. G. Robinson.

The small guests played Bingo assisted by their mothers and serenaded the honoree with the sing of "Happy Birthday" as the candies were blown out. Chocolate cake and ice cream were served.

Guests were Walter Griffith, Sherrie Pinner, Debbie Vernon, Lynn Foshee, Jerry Pinner, Wyatt Fenno, Linda Griffith, Jannis Roberts. Sending gifts, but unable to attend were Fern and Diane Hughes, Glenda Vernon.

Adult guests were Meses, Clois Pinner, Kenneth Vernon, C. E. Fenno, E. L. Foshee, Charles Roberts and the hostess.

Knitted suits and dresses can look dingy and uncared for because of dust that clings to them. Try vacuuming these garments in between visits to the cleaners to give them a fresher look.

Earth, Stars and Man (13) Men of the Ice Age

by Don Oakley and John Lane

No one will ever know when the first human fossil was found. Undoubtedly over the years many curious bones were discarded or thrown into lime kilns by our puzzled forefathers.

An amusing "first" was the skeleton of an "ancient sinner" found by one Johann Scheuchzer at Altdorf, Germany, about 1705. He was convinced he had come across one of those wicked men who had perished in Noah's Flood. He named it Homo diluvii testis—the witness to the flood. Unfortunately, it was later recognized to be not a man but a salamander.

Numerous relics of prehistoric men had been found by the middle of the 19th century—carvings of extinct animals, axes mixed with mammoth bones—but no human bones. Nevertheless, anthropologists were convinced that such diluvial ("flood" or ice age) men had existed. It was not until 1868 that actual remains were found by Louis Lartet in a cave (called "Cro-Magnon" in the local dialect) near the French village of Les Eyzies. An old man, three younger men, a woman and an unborn baby had died there in some mysterious way.

Strangely enough, these primitive men were splendid specimens, far from being brutes. They were robustly built, with a brain development as good or better than their descendants, modern Europeans. Cro-Magnon remains have since been found throughout Europe and numerous different types and cultures have been identified.

In 1879, fantastic paintings were discovered amazingly well preserved in a cave near Altamira, Spain. They were dismissed as forgeries by unbelieving prehistorians. They were too masterful, too advanced, too obviously recently made. But later discoveries of more painted caves in France and elsewhere made the fact undeniable: Man had reached great artistic heights tens of thousands of years ago.

This was Cro-Magnon man (officially Homo sapiens diluvialis): Brave hunter, artist, but also often a fierce and superstitious cannibal. He appeared in Europe some 50,000 years ago, but where he originated is still not known. As to who came before him, men were soon to learn.

Livestock Survey Cards Due In Mails

Rural mail carriers from the Pampa Post Office will leave some livestock survey cards along their routes beginning November 16.

"Information reported on these cards is used to set the yearly inventory of livestock and poultry on Texas farms," Postmaster K. Gaylor explained.

In distributing the cards, rural carriers pick boxes at random along their routes.

"This means that not every box will get a card," Gaylor said. "For this reason, it's important for everyone who gets a card to return it filled out so that USDA can get a true sample of the state's livestock holdings."

Purchasing Agent Group To Meet

Members of the Purchasing Agents Association of the Texas Panhandle will hear a talk on public relations by Melvin Munn in their monthly meeting at Amarillo Wednesday, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Earlier a workshop will be held, beginning at 4 p.m., with Edwin Ruthven of the Republic National Bank of Dallas in charge.

Among Panhans expected to attend are: Jack D. Cooper, W. T. Fain, C. W. Henry, R. W. Curry, O. M. Prigmore, K. D. Reeves, A. L. Bampers, John T. Locke and M. Q. Wilson.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

American voters today place upon the shoulders of one man the most awesome burden ever to be borne by a single individual.

A minute with pencil and paper produces a list of more than a dozen major world problems which the new president must meet. Some are so pressing that he scarcely will have a chance to take off his coat and roll up his sleeves before having to deal with them.

Some go back through both Republican and Democratic administrations but have become no less important with time.

All are dangerous and all have in them, if not the possibilities of world war, at least the possibility of changing world history.

Here is the list:
Disarmament.
Nuclear control.
The Algerian revolt.
Divided Korea.
Southeast Asia—Laos and South Viet Nam.
Berlin and Germany.
The rise of Neutralism.
The future U.S. attitude toward the United Nations.
Cuba.
Other Latin American relations.

The Middle East — Palestine, and relations with the United Arab Republic, Iraq and Jordan. The Congo and the contest for influence among the new African nations.

Trade and U.S. foreign aid. Most of these have their roots in the cold war relationship between the United States and its allies on the one hand, and Communist Russia and its allies on the other, especially Red China. This must remain the No. 1 problem.

Within each of the problems listed above are numerous smaller ones.

For example, United States foreign policy is keyed to the United Nations. But what happens if Red China should be admitted to the U.N. over U.S. opposition?

U.N. Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjöld is trusted by the United States as an exponent of true democracy. But his term of office runs out in 1963 and Russia already has pledged that neither he nor his like will ever hold the office again. What does this nation do then?
Aside from all this is the practical certainty that one or more of the great world leaders will pass from the scene in the next four years.

PLANE LANDS SAFELY
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A Navy transport plane carrying Rear Adm. David L. McDonald and 53 other persons turned back from 200 miles at sea Monday and made an emergency landing here after one of its four engines failed.
The plane had taken off from the Mayport, Fla., naval air station on a rendezvous with the carrier U.S.S. Saratoga on duty in the Mediterranean.

B58 Hustler Production To Be Ended

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Air Force spokesman announced Monday the B58 Hustler jet bomber production would wind up with the purchase of 116 of the swept-wing airplanes.
The finish of the program had been forecast for months, although some airmen had hoped a small additional number might be provided for in the new budget now being prepared. Production is authorized in the current budget.
When the program is ended, it will have cost $3.2 billion, making the B58 one of the most expensive airplanes ever built.
Spreading the research and development as well as production costs over the total number of planes to be produced gives a per bomber cost of about $27 million.
The plane, capable of reaching twice the speed of sound, carries a crew of three, has a triangular wing and can be refueled in flight to compensate for its limited range.
The Air Force ordered it into limited production six years ago and it first flew in 1956. The present operational squadron, which has 12 airplanes, was formed at Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth, Tex., where the plane is built by Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp.

Reliable Webster defines "luck" as "that which happens to one seemingly by chance; fate; fortune." In the case of the Pampa Harvesters, the definition might be revised to read: "That which happens to the other team."

Seriously, never before have we seen a team that has been completely devoid of any good luck. To begin with, Pampa didn't have the size or speed to win the rugged 3-4A title, but major injuries, a lucky (by the other team) pass interception or an untimely fumble have plagued Coach Baba Curfman's crew since the season opened.

Take Friday night's game with Lubbock for example. The Harvesters were down 21-0 in the second quarter but were battling back. A Roy Don Stephens pass grazed the fingertips of a Green and Gold player—who, had he held on to the ball, would have gone for a long gain, perhaps even a touchdown—but from out of nowhere Lubbock's Max Gatlin snared the football at his shoe tops and raced 40 yards for a touchdown.

Dame Luck Forgets Pampa

With good luck, the play might have scored; with medium luck, the pass would have been incomplete; but, with bad luck, the play boomeranged and Lubbock was ahead 28-0.

A total list of all the injuries would take the rest of the sports page but a few of them who have been sidelined at one time or another this season are Butch Crossland, Roy Don Stephens, Steve Dobbins, Robby Robison, Sherill Miller and Lucky Dunham in the backfield, which is, for all purposes, the starting backfield.

In the line, Bob Folljowell, Duke Garren, Charlie Geise, Dickie Wills, Jim Storms and Jim Boyles have been hobbled at least once since the season opened way back in September — and all seven were starters.

We are not denying the fact that in a couple of games, Pampa has defeated itself with fumbles and an occasional defensive lapse, especially on kickoff and punt returns, but every team will have nights like that.

While we are not superstitious to a fault, we think a good way for everyone to help the Harvesters would be to make Saturday afternoon's contest with Plainview here — homecoming for PHS exes and the last home game of the season — a "Break The Jinx" game.

To do this, fans should bring rabbit's feet — preferably minus the rabbit — four-leaf clovers and any and all other good luck charms to the game.

Pampa High School should institute a "positive thinking week" the next four days, ala Norman Vincent Peale. All students should think nothing but victory.

As for the football team, they'll continue to give their hardest on the practice field — as they've done all season long — and will be out to make Plainview their first victim of the year.

Effigy Hurts Reputation

Some thoughtless fan (or fans), and we use the term loosely, put Pampa on the map Friday morning with the effigy hanging of Coach Babe Curfman.

While the act probably was committed by less than a thousandth of a per cent of the Pampa population, the story — which made all the wire services — gave the whole town a black eye far worse than any losing team could apply. Effigy hangings, for whatever purpose they are supposed to represent, fall into the twilight zone between legality and mob rule, and benefit no one. In trying to degrade Curfman, the "hangman" wound up degrading himself — and the whole town.

A year ago this time, Minnesota coach Murray Warmath was hanged in effigy, jeered and plagued with threatening phone calls. Today he stands on top of the nation's college football powers after a 27-10 victory over then-top-ranked Iowa last Saturday.

Blanda Paces Scorers

Smith Ups AFL Rush Lead, Cannon Second

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Dave Smith, Houston's sprinting fullback who put little Ripon College's phone number in the pro scouts' notebook, continues to set the rushing pace in the American Football League.

The 20-pounder from the little Wisconsin school picked up 83 yards in 12 trips against Denver Sunday to push his season total to 492 yards, 70 ahead of teammate Billy Cannon, who moved to second in a swap of places with Dallas' Abner Haynes as he out-gained Haynes 105 yards to 85 Sunday. Cannon has 422 yards, Haynes 416.

Smith has been on top the rushing statistics since early in the season. And his old Ripon coach, John Storz, says "He set a pattern for pro scouts as far as Ripon goes."

"Since he's done so well," Storz says, "we have been receiving questionnaires about other prospects from all the pro clubs. Before, one or two or three scouts would maybe call us on the telephone. Unfortunately, I don't have another Dave Smith to recommend."

George Blanda, the quarterback who directs the Smith-Cannon fire power for Houston, tacked nine more points onto his total against Denver Sunday and widened his scoring lead over Denver's Gene Mingo to 27 points, 84 to 57. Blanda has scored four touchdowns, kicked 30 conversions and 10 field goals.

Other statistical leaders included Boston's Ted Greene with a 41.7-yard punting average; Dallas' Haynes with a 17.4-yard punt return average; Houston's Ken Hall with a 38-yard kickoff return average; New York's Don Maynard with 52 pass receptions, and Eddie Macon of Oakland and Austin Gonsoulin of Denver, with eight interceptions each.

While Smith held onto the rushing lead, Dallas' Cotton Davidson didn't fare so well among the passers. He hit only nine of 23 against Buffalo and dropped to fourth.

Frank Tripucka of Denver jumped from that No. 4 spot to the top by hitting 36 of 52 attempts for 375 yards against Houston. He has a season total of 127 of 241 for 1,662 yards and a .527 completion percentage that earned him 53 1/2 out of a possible 60 points under the AFL's efficiency rating system.

Minnesota Claims Nation's Top Spot

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Minnesota, conqueror of Iowa, picked election day today to roll up the greatest landslide in the history of the weekly major college football ratings by United Press International — taking over first place with a near-perfect 347

points. That point total, in voting by the 35 members of the UPI board of coaches, was the highest ever recorded in the 11 seasons that the ratings have been issued.

The previous record of 346 points was set by Oklahoma in the final week's ratings for the 1950 season. Since that time, the highest point total had been 345 by Notre Dame midway in the 1953 season. Minnesota set the new mark by receiving 32 first-place votes and three second-place votes.

The rating was, of course, a tribute to Minnesota's 27-10 conquest of Iowa at Minneapolis last Saturday. The game was history's first meeting between teams rated at that time No. 1 and No. 2 in the nation.

Iowa, which had been first last week with 343 points, tumbled all the way to sixth place this week with 194.

Minnesota now boasts a 7-0 record in a stunning turn-around from last year's 2-7 mark when Gopher students were hanging coach Murray Warmath in effigy. Still between the Gophers and a perfect season are a home game against Purdue this week and a road game against Wisconsin on Nov. 19.

The No. 3 spot in the ratings was thrown open when Duke upset third-ranked Navy, 19-10, Missouri, wallpopping Colorado, 16-6, in a long stride toward the Orange Bowl, moved up from fourth to take No. 2 while Ohio State came up from fifth to take third with its 36-7 rout of Indiana.

NCAA Certifies Eleven Post-Season Grid Games

NEW YORK (UPI)—The NCAA today certified 11 post-season football games to wind up the 1960 college gridiron season.

The only newcomer to the list is the Gotham Football Hall of Fame Bowl game in New York, Dec. 10, according to an announcement released by the NCAA Service Bureau.

Fifteen games were certified last year — the greatest number since the immediate post-war period — but only 12 of these were played.

Prior to the enactment of legislation at the NCAA-convention in 1951, which provided regulations governing such competition, as many as 31 different post-season games were played annually.

In addition to the Gotham Bowl game, six others will be played during December this year. The traditional New Year's Day games will be played on Monday, Jan. 2, because the holiday falls on Sunday in 1961.

Here is a list of the NCAA-approved bowl games:

- Dec. 10 — Gotham Bowl at New York
- Dec. 17 — Liberty Bowl at Philadelphia
- Dec. 17 — Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston, Tex.
- Dec. 30 — Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.
- Dec. 31 — Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.
- Dec. 31 — Prairie Bowl at Prairie View, Tex.
- Dec. 31 — Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.
- Jan. 2 — Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.
- Jan. 2 — Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.
- Jan. 2 — Orange Bowl at Miami.
- Jan. 2 — Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

Quarterbacks Host Ladies

Tonight is Ladies Night at the Harvesters Quarterback Club, as the group meets for the next to last time of the year at the high school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

Sharon Harison, Quarterback president, said that the meeting would be highlighted by the films of the Pampa-Lubbock football game and a scouting report on Plainview, the Harvesters' Saturday opponent here.

Big 'O' Sets Pace

NEW YORK (UPI)—Elgin Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers double-timed the National Basketball Association statistics leaders today with a high tally of 270 points and 189 rebounds.

The former Seattle University All-America ousted Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson from the scoring lead by netting 90 points in his last three games. The "Big O" has scored 224 points, while Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia vaulted from eighth to third place with 206.

Robertson, however, continued his surprising role as a top playmaker with 82 assists for a 9.2 average, almost double the 5.0 mark of runner-up Rod Hundley of Los Angeles.

Montreal Trio Spark In NHL

MONTREAL (UPI)—The Montreal Canadiens' triumvirate of Bernie (Boom-Boom) Geoffron, Dickie Moore and Jean Beliveau today ranked 1-2-3 in the National Hockey League scoring race with 23, 22 and 21 points, respectively.

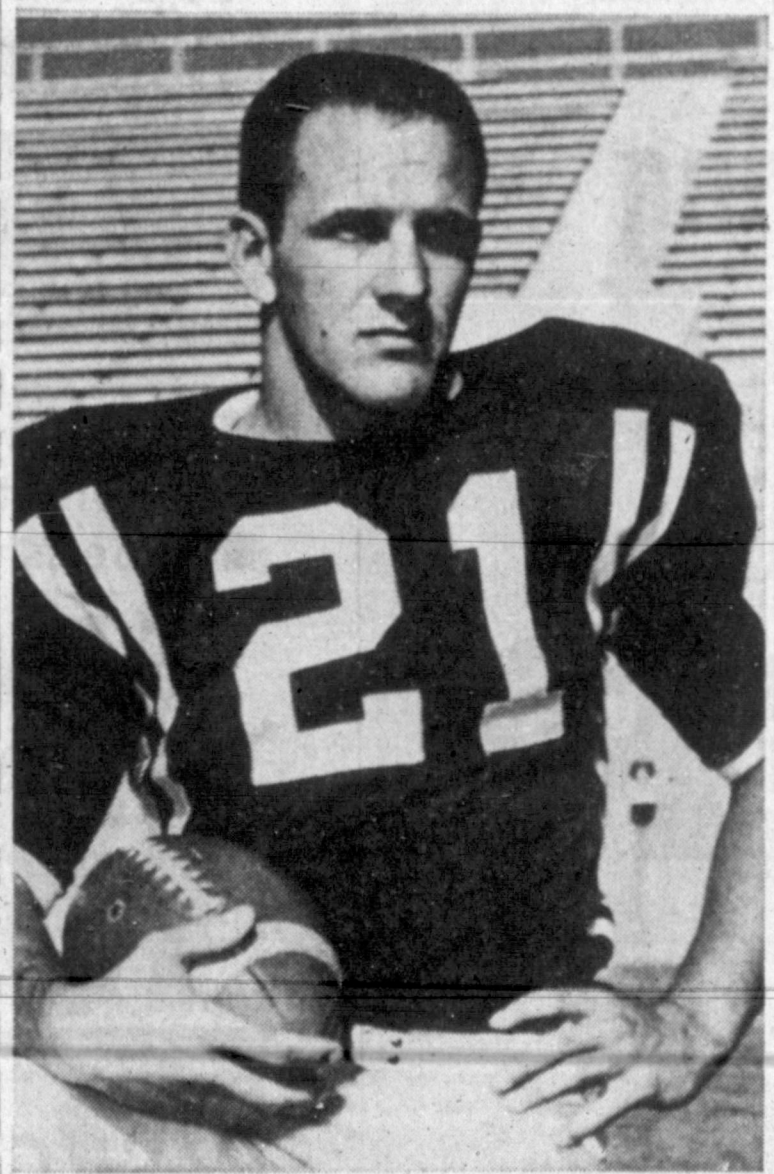

For the first time this year, goalie Glenn Hall of Chicago slipped out of the lead as the NHL's stingiest netminder. Beaten 13 times in three games, he now has a goals-per-game average of 2.78. Toronto's Johnny Bower took over the lead with a 2.57 mark and Detroit's team of Terry Sawchuck and Hank Bassen is next with 2.69.

George Blanda, the quarterback who directs the Smith-Cannon fire power for Houston, tacked nine more points onto his total against Denver Sunday and widened his scoring lead over Denver's Gene Mingo to 27 points, 84 to 57.

Blanda has scored four touchdowns, kicked 30 conversions and 10 field goals. Other statistical leaders included Boston's Ted Greene with a 41.7-yard punting average; Dallas' Haynes with a 17.4-yard punt return average; Houston's Ken Hall with a 38-yard kickoff return average; New York's Don Maynard with 52 pass receptions, and Eddie Macon of Oakland and Austin Gonsoulin of Denver, with eight interceptions each.

While Smith held onto the rushing lead, Dallas' Cotton Davidson didn't fare so well among the passers. He hit only nine of 23 against Buffalo and dropped to fourth.

Frank Tripucka of Denver jumped from that No. 4 spot to the top by hitting 36 of 52 attempts for 375 yards against Houston. He has a season total of 127 of 241 for 1,662 yards and a .527 completion percentage that earned him 53 1/2 out of a possible 60 points under the AFL's efficiency rating system.

BOB LANGFORD
... former Pampa gridder makes good

Langford Makes 160 Pounds Felt

Small Pampan Is Poison To NMSU Foes

UNIVERSITY PARK, N.M. — Strychnine is a poison. Give a little bit of it to someone and "poof," he's gone.

Bob Langford is a linebacker. Give him a chance to play against football opponents and "poof," they're gone.

One-hundred and sixty pounds is all this New Mexico State half back can muster, but he's Mountain Dean as far as Aggie grid foes are concerned.

A sterling example of Langford's effectiveness is found in a review of the Arizona State game. The Aggies won, 27-24, in a game that was anything but a defensive duel. Langford played only defense, but his credentials were first rate — 13 unassisted tackles, 16 assists and one intercepted pass.

The pass interception came after New Mexico State had scored the go-ahead touchdown, and stopped a Sun Devil drive with less than three minutes remaining.

"When I hit the ground after intercepting the pass I immediately looked at the clock and knew we could stall it out. I can't tell you how good it felt," Langford said.

James Robert Langford is a quiet, unassuming youth from Pampa. A lantern jaw is all that keeps him from falling into the choirboy-looking class.

Langford plays football for the simple reason, "I like contact." Prying brings out of him that it "feels good" when you lay a shoulder pad into someone.

Tom Moulton, Aggie line coach, recalls Langford's play at Pampa High School in 1957. At that time

Moulton was coaching at Amarillo High School.

"We beat them bad," Moulton said, "but Langford was the whole show on defense. He must have made 90 per cent of the tackles."

At Pampa High Langford was student body president, all-school favorite and a member of the honor society. In sports it was football, basketball and baseball. He won the "Fighting Heart" award in football, which explains itself, and was all-district.

After high school Bob wanted to attend West Texas State and play football. "I guess I was too little, because they didn't want me," he said. Then it was one semester at Frank Phillips Junior College at Borger and on to New Mexico State.

Bob was asked how a little guy can determine where a play is

Well Hogs Prep For Mustangs

By United Press International

A crippled Arkansas Razorback football team has proven too tough for such Southwest Conference stalwarts as Texas Christian, Texas and Rice, so you might imagine Southern Methodist's reaction to the news that all the Hogs would be in there rooting this Saturday.

SMU, which has had trouble scoring, much less winning, must face the healed up Porkers in Fayetteville next Saturday afternoon with the added thorny fact that it'll be homecoming day in the Ozarks.

Coach Frank Broyles' team needs a victory over SMU and one the following Saturday to assure itself of a New Year's date in Dallas for the Cotton Bowl.

Arkansas trainer Bill Ferrell issued the news Monday that his cripples were "healing up" and that all hands apparently would be ready to compete against SMU.

That meant that No. 1 fullback Joe Paul Alberty would be back in action for the first time since a foot injury in the first quarter of the Texas game; and that his No. 1 understudy, Curtis Cox, also would be able to play despite a painful jaw injury.

The Razorbacks worked out for about an hour Monday after seeing movies of their victory over Rice won in the final 25 seconds by Mickey Cissell's field goal.

For what it might be worth, SMU's training room report also was encouraging to Coach Bill Meek, who learned his club will be in the best shape since the conference opener against Rice. Halfback Glynn Gregory and end Pat Neill both will be ready for action Saturday.

The Texas Longhorns, who will try to eliminate TCU from title contention at Fort Worth Saturday, didn't get that encouraging a report. Fullback Ray Poage and halfback Jack Collins are hobbling as a result of back and knee injuries suffered in the Baylor victory last week. Coach Darrell Royal warned his team it will be facing "the biggest team we will run into this year" in the Frogs and he cited 6-7 quarterback Sonny Gibbs as an example. At Fort Worth, Coach Abe Marlin took no chances and spent most of a two and one-half hour drill with contact defensive drills aimed at halting the breakaway threats of the Longhorns' James Saxton. The Frogs, idle last week, were in good physical condition.

Carry Back Is Favored

By United Press International

Carry Back, one of the top 2-year-olds in the eastern racing circuit, gets the favored billing today in the 47th running of the $45,950 Remsen Stakes at Aqueduct.

Mrs. Katherine Price's brown colt, fresh from a victory in the Garden States, will tote a high weight of 120 pounds against 13 prospective rivals in the mile fixture.

Carry Back also has won the Cowdin this year and finished second in the Dover and Christiansa.

Calumet Farm's On-And-On, with earnings of $371,568 for 1959 and 1960, heads a field of 12 entered for the $24,100 Princeton Handicap at Garden State Park. Tick Tock, 1958 winner of the event, will shoulder 120 pounds, two less than On-And-On, as chief contender in the six-furlong test.

At Aqueduct Monday, Louis E. Wilfson's Loyal Lady II won her third straight race by beating Cee Zee by 2 1/2 lengths in the Juniper Valley Purse. The winner paid $5.70 and traveled the six furlongs in 1:11 3-5.

The stewards at Aqueduct handed Willie Shoemaker a 10-day suspension for a "careless" ride Saturday.

Tuscan Flash and Shiawasee, both trained by Johnny Forbes, finished one-two as an entry in the American Lumber Purse at Laurel.

Bobby Corle's brilliant ride aboard Tuscan Flash enabled the winner to overcome a three-length deficit in mid-stretch and beat the front-running Shiawasee by three-quarters of a length.

Tuscan Flash's time of 1:44 4-5 over the grass course was a full second shy of the track record. It resulted in a $3.80 winning payoff.

At Narragansett, Axie grabbed an early lead and breezed to a 5 1/2 length victory over Rebel Dandy. Axie, timed in 1:49 1-5 for 1 1-16 miles, paid $6.20.

Division Of Labor

If men did not divide labor and tried to supply all their own wants, most of us would perish in a very short time.

The thing that seems to be causing the predicament we are in today is that instead of having a free and natural division of labor on a voluntary basis, we are substituting forced, arbitrary involuntary division of labor.

It would seem that the free and natural division of labor is the ideology of the Hebrew-Christian religions and the American way of life as set forth in the Declaration of Independence. The Declaration was an attempt to put into operation in a big way the ideologies of the Decalogue.

We have so slowly departed from the free and natural division of labor, which the Founding Fathers tried to establish as a beneficial way of life, that we do not perceive what is taking place. We have practically changed the structure of the American governments — federal, state and local. The governments are the big instigators in the arbitrary, forced division of labor.

The sole purpose of the governments as set forth in the Declaration should be to protect the free and natural division of labor — that is, a free market so that all people, not just some, can help establish values. But instead of doing this the government has been the big instrument in making it difficult for free men to voluntarily divide labor. This interference started largely when the American people fell for the belief that the majority in a local community had a right to force the minority to pay for schooling that they did not believe could educate. This had been growing for some 100 years, until most people do not realize that this is one of the worst forms of interference with the free and natural division of labor. Organized labor is a powerful means in interfering with the free and natural division of labor. This thought occurred to us when we saw riggers, while helping erect a printing press, not being allowed to do any machinist work, or the machinists not being allowed to move and put in place any of the parts of a press.

This artificial division of labor causes men to stand in idleness, waiting to do what has to be done. This artificial division greatly reduces production, wastes the greatest of all wastes, human energy, and causes men to lose their own self-respect, their own integrity, and makes them afraid to stand up and publicly defend what they are doing.

The only reason for jurisdictional dispute between two different unions is the both of them have pushed their wages up so high by interference with a free market that there are not enough jobs to keep everybody employed at these artificial, arbitrary wages.

If we had a free and natural division of labor there would be plenty of jobs for everybody at ever increasing wages and the jobs that were the most difficult would attract people because of their high remuneration. But when wages by force are arbitrarily set higher than the market, of course there is a scramble to get the work at the fictitious wage.

What we need is to get people to understand the blessing — physically, mentally and materially — that comes from a free and natural division of labor and the great harm that comes from the interference with a free market.

Most Prized Possession
An idea, many times, is a person's most prized possession. Therefore, the market place of ideas is fraught with many problems which are identical to any other kind of market dealing in personal property.

Those of us in the business of expressing ideas, and coming as close as we know how to come to truth, are faced with two enormous difficulties:
1) How do we get a person who possesses an erroneous idea to get rid of his possession and accept an idea that is superior to the one he has?
2) How do we get a person to look at his idea in an objective rather than a subjective way?
In actual practice, the first problem is the easier of solution. And as in the rest of the market place, where energy exchanges are the rule, a person, assuming him to be rational, will, after due demonstration and presentation, readily abandon an idea when it can be shown to him that by such abandonment he can have a better, finer, more workable idea.

Stoneham Urged To Sign Casey Stengel

ROME, ITALY — It costs 130 lira to send an airmail letter home, but here goes one to my old and dear friend, Horace Stoneham, proprietor of the San Francisco Giants of the National Baseball League, San Francisco, California.

Seniority as well as friendship entitles me to write Horace, for I have been a member of the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America since 1932 or thereabouts, and my credential card — Honorary No. 176 — is before me as I write.

I first perched in a World Series press box as far back as 1932 and continued to perch there until World War II came along. So no one can say I am exactly a Henry — Come — Lately to baseball. And while any suggestions I may make to the game may not make sense, they do possess the virtue of age.

What I want to write Horace about is the signing of a new manager for the Giants next year. Certainly they need one. Or none at all. It makes very little sense for a club that hits, runs, and fields the way the Giants do, to finish continually as an also-ran.

Horace says he has three managers in mind — two unnamed and Casey Stengel. I want to urge him to forget all about the two mysterious gentlemen, and name Stengel to the job.

That is, if Casey will have it, and something tells me he will. Casey may be as rich as a thief, what with oil wells and bank directorates, and he may be getting well along in years with the ailments that go with age, but baseball is the red corpuses in his blood.

Casey would go crazy with nothing to do but sit at a directors' table, wearing a dark blue suit and a conservative tie, or stretched out in the back yard of his Glendale home clipping coupons. Baseball is his life, has been his life, and will stay his life. Asking Casey to be happy out of baseball is like asking a tarpon to be happy on a wall plaque.

It's a cinch that baseball needs Casey much more than he needs baseball. He provides more newspaper copy than all the rest of the managers rolled into one. He provides the brightest spot of naturalness in a game that, day in and day out, is a hard-bitten, callous business proposition.

And when it comes to ability — no matter what the Messrs. Webb and Topping think about the matter — who knows more about the game, is more talented in getting so much from so little?

Stengel, and no one else, has kept the Yankees up there for so long. If you don't believe it, match his Yankee teams, man for man, against say, the Braves. He hasn't had more than three or four top-notch players for the past ten years, and even some of them were less than serious workmen off the field.

that we can hardly bear the thought. We don't want to be right; we wish to be justified. Instead of seeking truth's sacred altar, we worship with ourselves as our own shrine. Having honestly and diligently pursued truth to the best of our transient ability, we confuse our paltry accomplishments for the quintessence of ultimates.

Faced with this contingency, the market place for idea exchanges becomes sensitive ground. It seems to us that the important thing for all of us to do at this juncture is to practice sufficient self-discipline, in this extremely touch area, so that we disassociate the idea with the man. Only with true objectivity attained, can we hope to better our own understanding.

Only with such an outlook can we pick up a thorny issue which has, perhaps, been overly identified with some particular person, and discuss it frankly without the intent or purpose of harming the person. What we must be free to do is to demolish a faulty argument or premise. What we do not wish to do is to cast the slightest shadow on any person who may have clung to some such argument or premise. In this respect, we have all been at fault at one time or another. Most of us still are.

It is the idea, alone, that concerns us. If, through humanness or inadvertence, it seems that our argument becomes personal, we ask to be forgiven.

HUSSEIN AND KASSEM CHARGE THAT EVIDENCE PUTS NASSER BEHIND RECENT ASSASSINATION ATTEMPTS

WASHINGTON — President Gamal Nasser is up to his old lethal tricks again.

The United Arab Republic ruler is once more seeking the assassination of Jordan's young King Hussein and Iraq Premier Kassem. . . .

Hussein and Kassem have uncovered conspiracies to kill them linked directly to Nasser.

Hussein has evidence that Nasser instigated this latest attempt to murder his two leading Arab foes immediately after returning from the United Nations, where he delivered a sonorous dissertation on disarmament and peace.

Nasser's new assassination plot is extremely sinister in the highly explosive Middle East.

The slaying of Hussein or Kassem could set off a chain of fearful consequences.

Any attempt by Nasser to seize their countries, either openly or covertly, would immediately be resisted with arms by Israel. Should Russia thereupon try to help Nasser, the West would definitely intervene — with inevitable war that might not be confined to this strife-tortured cockpit!

U.S. authorities in both Jordan and Iraq have warned the State Department that "repeatedly determined attempts to slay Hussein and Kassem" may be very difficult to prevent.

They stressed the extreme seriousness of the situation in both countries.

Illustrative is a typical diatribe by Cairo's so-called "Voice of the Arabs" against King Hussein that was beamed throughout the Middle East the day he arrived home from the UN, as follows:

"How eagerly we have looked forward to his return so that he might meet the black fate which awaits him as a result of his crimes and acts of treason. His return from New York and from visiting the Shah of Iran, who recognizes Israel, Hussein has returned after learning a new lesson in treachery against the Arabs; after learning the price of a new plot against the Arab nations; and after renewing the contract for hiring his services to the imperialists and Israeli elements.

Give Thanks To Him Who Made Us

"... Look unto the rock whence ye are hewn..." (Isaiah 51:1) Every man who boasts of his own prowess should think about this rare phrase of Isaiah. Every man who thinks he is self-made and has lifted himself up by his own bootstraps, should read and ponder this bit of wisdom. From whence came the good health that enables him to work long hours with little diminution in his drive? Attention to the rules of health, no doubt contributes in large degree but his physical and mental heritage were not self-acquired. His greatest assets have come to him from his ancestors and not by his own efforts.

Again, what could a man do if he did not live in our free country? Put the boastful man in Russia or China — and how much success would he achieve? This thought makes us immediately aware that we owe an immense debt of gratitude to our ancestors who set up the free government and free economic order which enables the men of determination and ability to achieve success.

Or consider that the founding fathers would not have been able to set up the system of free self-government which we so greatly enjoy had, not their ancestors fought during the long centuries since Magna Charta to achieve the heritage of freedom which many of us have taken for granted and accepted without thanks or realization of the trust committed to us for future generations.

Go back a step further and think for a few moments about the debt that we of the Twentieth Century owe to the ancient Greeks who supplied so large a part of our cultural heritage. Consider the handicaps under which we would have suffered had we not been nourished by this vast stream of thought.

Again, what would our lives be like if we had not had the good fortune to be raised in the Christian tradition. If millions of men before us had not responded to the call of God to live above and beyond their animal propensities and had not become vaguely aware that the destiny of men is sonship to God, what then would have been the fate of the boastful, self-made man? Consider our lot if Jesus had not borne the cross up Calvary's hill or Paul had not sacrificed his life in carrying the Gospel to the Gentiles! If Moses had not worshipped long and faithfully until he developed the spiritual sensitivity to become the transmitter of the Ten Commandments, in what kind of world would we be living? Suppose, no one had been capable of understanding and passing on to us the moral law of God? Or suppose that Abraham had not been faithful and had not erected an altar unto the Lord at every place where he pitched his tent in his long wanderings!

Come down to our time, what do we owe to our neighbors, to the honest men who join with us in upholding righteousness, law, order and decency in our several communities? What do we owe to our ministers who blow like a cleansing wind across the shifting scenes of our lives calling us upward in response to the challenge of truth and righteousness? Who among us could stand along with the help of his brethren? Aye let him that boasteth, "Look unto the rock whence ye are hewn!"

In humility let us sink to our knees and give thanks for this great rock from which we are hewn and our wonderful God of power, majesty, glory and love, who created the rock, designed the plan of the world, provided for our salvation and, at last, crowns us with glory and honor and the potential of developing sonship to Him.

We have provided luxurious buildings, free transportation, free lunches and have made school days so interesting and easy as not to call forth real effort on the part of our children. We are offering "education without instruction" and "instruction without authority" instead of overcoming ignorance and teaching the fundamentals of knowledge and how to think. Our teachers are encouraging their pupils to become "frivolously vague about clear-cut matters of intellect and priggishly self-assured about the imponderables of the soul."

Dr. Barzun tells us in "The House of Intellect" that our schools "foster the blurred mind, and make unpalatable the ancient discipline of work."

It's Up To You

Give Thanks To Him Who Made Us

"... Look unto the rock whence ye are hewn..." (Isaiah 51:1) Every man who boasts of his own prowess should think about this rare phrase of Isaiah. Every man who thinks he is self-made and has lifted himself up by his own bootstraps, should read and ponder this bit of wisdom. From whence came the good health that enables him to work long hours with little diminution in his drive? Attention to the rules of health, no doubt contributes in large degree but his physical and mental heritage were not self-acquired. His greatest assets have come to him from his ancestors and not by his own efforts.

Again, what could a man do if he did not live in our free country? Put the boastful man in Russia or China — and how much success would he achieve? This thought makes us immediately aware that we owe an immense debt of gratitude to our ancestors who set up the free government and free economic order which enables the men of determination and ability to achieve success.

Or consider that the founding fathers would not have been able to set up the system of free self-government which we so greatly enjoy had, not their ancestors fought during the long centuries since Magna Charta to achieve the heritage of freedom which many of us have taken for granted and accepted without thanks or realization of the trust committed to us for future generations.

Go back a step further and think for a few moments about the debt that we of the Twentieth Century owe to the ancient Greeks who supplied so large a part of our cultural heritage. Consider the handicaps under which we would have suffered had we not been nourished by this vast stream of thought.

Thinking Will Be Undoing Of Mankind

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Mankind is thinking more thoughts than he ever thought before. This is bad for mankind because he is a rough-dry, bull-tongue thinker, very rumbled in his primitive thoughts when left to his own devices. Prompted by The New York Times and weekly editorial magazines, he gets all jumbled up.

The results are apparent in the rise of a pagan idolatry in a nation supposed to be the greatest in all history which has become, in fact, an autocracy ruled by political agents of minorities. That idolatry is imposed on the people by the press and radio-TV. Thus charlatans who have been elected to the political office of President are now to deity after death and, raised days, calmly anticipate their deification by causing memorials to be built in their honor which in time become "shrines."

To date we have three such memorials. The first is at Hyde Park, the second in Independence, Mo. and the third in Abilene, Kan.

Relatives of the Hyde Park deity turned a quick, thick profit in a few years by commerce in pennants, hot dogs and postcards. Many of the pilgrims also took lodgings for the night. The motto on the business office was "My God How The Money Rolls In."

The traffic included some infidels who went there to hate, but there is no recorded instance of profanation. They knew better. People who think they are right thinkers have intimidated most of those whom they regard as wrong-thinkers. We cannot surmise how far this will go.

I am one of the best homespun thinkers of the age. People are so dumb that they hang on my words, that I was raising money to build a shrine to contain my fan letters and the high-button patent leather shoes and the Fauntleroy lace collar which became a familiar sight around the water-tank of the M and St L railroad in Excelsior, Minn., when I was flipping boxes to joy-ride up to Eureka Junction.

Before I could get my flaps down I had contributed of about $200 which I spent for whiskey.

I really could be a deity if I put my mind to it. I just need a good Hollywood agent to handle my business. Then if I could get Bob Hope, Frankie boy, Jack Benny and Lucille Ball to give me a hand in a cross-country teevy show for a drive on growing-pains or overweight, I could put all my unemployed pals on the payroll acknowledging contributions, and I would be in.

Cancer is all stalked out now and there has even been some claim-jumping and, of course, polio petting out long ago. I bet Winchell is sore about that claim-jumping. In Runyon's last year or so when poor Damon was speechless, he rattled around town with Walter far into the night to keep his thoughts off that Thing. After he died, Winchell went to town on cancer and actually raised millions for both personal relief and hospitals.

Anyway, Winchell is not a guy to share billing with an interloper, no matter who, or to stand for any fly-catching while his act is on. And I would not have the nerve to try to jump his claim. So let Walter handle cancer and I will take Communism.

I am what you could call a counter-thinker. If The New York Times thinks something, I think the opposite. It has been a good rule.

All presidents are politicians and all politicians are frauds. That is an axiom. Suppose a candidate for president in this election had gone on teevy and told the truth about some "minority." That would be suicide.

There is no bigotry in such truth-telling and anyway a man has a moral and constitutional right to be a bigot if he wants to. But bigots against bigotry would slaughter any candidate for telling the truth and if you don't think that is thinking you just can't think. Yet some "minorities" want to put people in jail for trying to protect themselves from persecution by bigots who construe all resistance to their bigotry as bigotry.

It is useless to tell people to calm down and quit thinking so much so fast. In time, thinking is going to do us in.

F. D. Roosevelt and his professoriate incited more thinking and, thus, more hatred among our people at home than all the mad Mahdis of all the sects in history. Outside the United States, the loss of "prestige" which Kennedy squawked about was the direct result of Roosevelt's double-crossing of millions of humanity who had an instinctive, silly respect for Americans as such.

Of course we have lost "prestige." We lost it long before Ike was elected. If you authorize the massacre and deportation of five million East Europeans, do you expect them to kiss your foot?

We are going to hell in a Kalamazoo sack sack so we might just as well get drunk and enjoy the ride instead of trying to think our world uphill again.

CHICAGO — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, addressing a crowd in a 37-degree temperature on the last day of the campaign: "I don't care if I get pneumonia — I don't want any of you voters sick before morning."

HOLLYWOOD — Mrs. Clark Gable, reporting on her famed actor-husband, who is hospitalized for a heart attack: "Clark wants to be able to vote... it is being arranged through hospital authorities."

LOS ANGELES — Superior Judge Leroy Dawson, after the second murder trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Terhoff ended in a second hung jury: "Obviously the case should be retried. We cannot put a price tag on justice."
