Rockefeller Entry Welcomed

Morton Welcomes A Fight For Nomination

CHICAGO (UPI) — Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton said Saturday he was certain Richard M. Nixon would be the GOP presidential candidate but "welcomed" Nelson A. Rockefeller to make a fight for it.

UN Takes Command in Congo

Lumumba Hopes For Soviet Aid

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Swedish Maj. Gen. Carl Horn arrived Saturday to take command of hundreds of United Nations troops pouring to the violence-wracked Congo to restore order.

Tunisian troops fanned out into Leopoldville where the Congolese Army first mutinied, and officers, thinking they had come to fight for the Congo urged them to "attack the Belgians."

Sen. Kennedy Pledges A Vigorous Campaign

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Democratic candidate John F. Kennedy vowed Saturday that he intends to wage a very vigorous presidential campaign against Richard M. Nixon.

Gurman Lays Claim To Speaker Post

AUSTIN (UPI) — Rep. James Gurman of Gobeer revealed Saturday the names of 70 of the 76 candidates he will need to become the speaker of the Texas House of Representatives.

Gurman claimed he has nine votes pledged but said he was able to reveal their names until he can obtain their permission.

He said he was "going to attempt to make a fight within what I consider the rules of fact."

As for the August session of Congress, Kennedy said he hoped

"We will have a free and open convention," Morton told a news conference on his arrival in Chicago. "I do not know what Gov. Rockefeller intends to do but as of this time I believe Vice President Nixon is sure of the nomination."

Morton was bitter in his criticism of Sen. John F. Kennedy's speech accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

Morton described Kennedy's speech as "a brutal hatchet job completely out of place in an acceptance speech."

"When Sen. Kennedy insinuated the Vice President of this country is crooked and demanded a cut of the cards, I don't like it," Morton said.

Morton told newsmen he thought a Nixon-Rockefeller ticket would be strong and acceptable throughout the country but that he had no intention of "badgering" Rockefeller.

"Gov. Rockefeller has said he does not want to be vice president and I take him at his word," Morton said. "However, minds change and events change and you can never tell."

Morton arrived in Chicago in true political fashion. He was greeted by a crowd carrying banners and placards, proposing him for second place on the ticket and predicting a GOP victory in November.

At one time, he stopped to chuck 7-month-old Richard Nelson of Chicago under the chin. The baby held a miniature "Morton-for-vice-president" placard in his hand.

Morton said former president Truman could not "stomach" the Democratic meeting in Los Angeles and that Adlai E. Stevenson, two-time Democratic candidate, was a "pathetic figure trying to buck the Kennedy steam-at its bob tailed August session. In the international field, Kennedy tapped Adlai E. Stevenson as a key foreign policy advisor during the November election campaign. His action lent weight to speculation that the two-time Democratic candidate might be Secretary of State in any Kennedy administration.

Rep. Chester Bowles of Connecticut, Kennedy's pre-convention foreign affairs adviser who also figures in Cabinet speculation, will join Stevenson in receiving foreign policy briefings from the Eisenhower administration.

Kennedy's statement underscored what has become increasingly clear—the forthcoming election battle could be one of the roughest in recent history. Nixon already has said he would travel anywhere and do everything legitimately possible to capture the White House.

Following up the attack he delivered against Nixon in his acceptance speech last night, Kennedy said he wanted to make it clear that his campaign against the Republican presidential candidate "is going to be very vigorous."

He said he was "going to attempt to make a fight within what I consider the rules of fact."

As for the August session of Congress, Kennedy said he hoped

Rocky A La Adlai

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is sticking to his previous decision not to seek the presidency and there are no plans for his name to be placed in nomination at the Republican convention. Commenting on a Chicago statement by GOP Chairman Thruston B. Morton that Rockefeller would be "welcomed" as a candidate, a spokesman said: "He is not seeking the nomination. He has said he would accept a draft. His position is unchanged." "The governor's office knows of no plans for anyone to nominate Mr. Rockefeller at the convention."

WELCOME TO PAMPA—These three Japanese Boy Scouts and their leader are welcomed by Hollis Alford, field director of the Adobe Walls Council of Boy Scouts. They will visit here and leave with 160 area Scouts, Explorers and leaders at 6 a.m. Wednesday for the fifth National Jamboree at Colorado Springs. Left to right, are Hitoshi Oshima, 13, of Hyogo Pref; Kenji Yasuno, 18, of Tokyo; Hirotaoka Hokkyo, 15, of Hyogo; Alford; and Yutaka Sumitani, leader, from Osaka.

Japanese Boy Scouts On 3-Day Visit Here

By LEE GRIMSLEY Daily News Staff Writer

Three Boy Scouts and their leader got their first glimpse of Texas yesterday. And chances are it looked strange to them, especially since they are accustomed to the rice fields and architecture of their Japanese homeland.

The three Japanese Boy Scouts are Hirotaoka Hokkyo, 15, of Hyogo; Hitoshi Oshima, 13, of Hyogo; and Kenji Yasuno, 18, of Tokyo. Yutaka Sumitani, 48, of Osaka-fu is their leader.

They arrived in Pampa yesterday and were met by H. V. Wilks, city commissioner and manager of the Celanese Chemical plant here.

Wilks will act as host during their three-day stay in Pampa.

Today, the four Japanese will tour a Gray County ranch and get first hand knowledge on such things as raising cattle, oil production and growing wheat.

Tomorrow, they're sure to get a lively background of the Top O' Texas. After tours of the Celanese and Cabot plants, they'll have lunch with M. K. Brown, one of the oldest Gray County pioneers.

Tuesday, Wilks plans to take the group to the city commission meeting, and later to the Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon. Wednesday morning the Boy Scouts will go to Lubbock where they will join groups of other Japanese who made the trip to Texas, and head for the national jamboree at Colorado Springs.

However, they plan to come back to Pampa Aug. 2 on their way back to Japan. Wilks again will be their host.

The night of Aug. 2 probably will be the one they will remember longest about their trip to Texas. They will attend the opening performance of the Top O' Texas Rodeo as guests of Wilks and the city.

The next two days will be spent touring various business firms and civic clubs here. They will go to Lubbock Aug. 5, and from there will begin their trip back to Japan.

Agonizing Decision Delivers To Kennedy Three Southern States

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Three Southern leaders—and only three—put their money on Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy and won.

One did it a long time ago, a second made an agonizing decision two days before the national convention opened, and the third could do it only privately.

Gov. John Patterson of Alabama made his decision several years ago and never wavered. He stayed with Kennedy even when the Massachusetts senator said he wanted a strong civil rights platform and was not seeking Southern votes at the convention.

Gubernatorial nominee Terry Sanford of North Carolina waited until 48 hours before the convention opened and then, in a news conference, endorsed Kennedy. It was a difficult decision for Sanford. Kennedy was not the choice of the state nor of the delegation.

One delegate, casting his vote during a poll of the Tar Heels, looked at Sanford and said, "Johnson—for principle, not for patronage."

Between them, Patterson and Sanford delivered 9 1/2 presidential votes for Kennedy, a small number but all there was for him in the South.

The silent supporter was South (See DECISION, Page 2)

U.S. Embassy Guarded

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — A detachment of riot police Saturday guarded the U.S. Embassy to protect it from possible attack by Communist and pro Castro elements which have staged two anti-American demonstrations here this week.

Three persons, one of them a policeman, were hurt in a clash Friday night when some 200 Communist-led students left a peaceful anti-American rally and attacked the office of the daily newspaper, Zocalo, which is anti-Communist.

They showered some 500 policemen with stones, smashed windows, burned a truck and beat up bystanders. One policeman was cut by flying glass.

OAS Moves To Prevent Soviet Bid For Cuba

Peru Leads Neighbors

By HENRY RAYMONT United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American hemisphere nations, in emergency session, launched a move Saturday to block Russian designs on Cuba and the rest of Latin America.

At a special meeting of the Council of the Organization of American States (OAS), Peru called for a meeting of the hemisphere's foreign ministers to deal with growing soviet ties with Cuba.

The United States, Ecuador, Uruguay, Brazil, Chile, Colombia and Argentina immediately backed Peru's request. But a council vote was postponed until Monday to allow other delegates to receive instructions from their governments.

Peruvian delegate Juan Bautista de Lavalle called for "a coordination of will to reject the interference of any extra-continental power or of any totalitarian ideology."

De Lavalle was reported preparing to ask on Monday for the American states to jointly warn Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to stay out of their affairs.

Diplomats said Peru also was consulting with other delegations on a plan to include in the foreign ministers' agenda an explicit appeal for the United States and Cuba to settle their differences.

At the urging of Latin American delegations both the United States and Cuba tempered their statements at Saturday's meeting and avoided what might have been a blistering row.

Cuban Ambassador Carlos M. Lechuga spoke of U. S. "reprisals" and "aggressions" against his country but delivered no major indictment.

U. S. representative John C. Dreier was prepared to blast charges at the Cuban government if Lechuga opened up.

Dreier "welcomed" Peru's initiative. He spoke of "growing evidence of the desire of the Soviet Union to intervene more directly in the affairs of this hemisphere."

Khrushchev, who has fully endorsed Cuban Premier Fidel Castro in his fight with the United States, last week threatened to defend Cuba with rockets if this country intervenes.

Father, Son Die In Plane Crash

HURST, Tex. (UPI) — A Piper L-4 crashed in a pasture and exploded Saturday just after taking off from a private airstrip, killing a man and his son.

The victims were L. L. Ceaser of Fort Worth, commander of Squadron One of the Civil Air Patrol, and his son, 16-year-old Larry Ceaser.

Ceaser was killed in the crash. Larry, who suffered third degree burns over his whole body, died later in a hospital.

The light plane took off from Ross Sexton airstrip between Hurst and Euless and immediately plunged into a pasture just off U. S. 183, bursting into flames and exploding.

The cause of the crash was not known.

U.S. Has Proof Of Cuban Lies

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)

—The United States Saturday replied to Cuba's "aggression" indictment before the United Nations Security Council with evidence of "outright falsehoods" in Fidel Castro's hate-America campaign.

Top Soviet Pair Quit

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev and Kliment Voroshilov, his predecessor as titular head of state, were disclosed Saturday to have been released from post posts on the Communist Party Central Committee.

The official government newspaper Izvestia announced Brezhnev had given up his post as secretary to the Central Committee in order to devote more time to his presidential duties. He remained, however, as a member of the Central Committee's Presidium.

The newspaper said also that Voroshilov, 80-year-old veteran of the Communist Party, had been released from the Presidium of the Central Committee at his own request.

The documents attached to the memorandum stressed the Castro charges that the United States was responsible for the "bombing" of Havana by an old B-25 bomber last October 21. Actually, the plane dropped leaflets, and casualties in Havana were caused by ground fire from Cuban Army guns.

Will Keep Him Posted

President's Offer To Candidate Still Good

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—President Eisenhower offered Saturday to keep Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy informed of cold war and international developments during the forthcoming campaign.

The President scheduled an arrangements conference here Monday to set up the "briefings on the international scene" for both Kennedy and Democratic vice presidential candidate Lyndon B. Johnson.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the briefings for Kennedy and Johnson—if they want them—will be given by a "responsible official" of the government's Central Intelligence Agency.

The policy of informing opposition candidates on foreign relations has been in effect under both Democratic and Republican administrations since World War II.

Hagerty also disclosed that the President has scheduled an "unusual" Sunday meeting with Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson and Attorney General William Rogers and will confer Tuesday at the summer White House with Secretary of State Christian Council against Cuba's charges of "harassment, threat and aggression," circulated a memorandum citing chapter and verse to disprove Cuba's accusations.

The memorandum, previously submitted to the Organization of American States, was entitled, "Provocative Actions of the Government of Cuba Against the United States Which Have Served to Increase Tensions in the Caribbean Area." It was accompanied by details of case histories of Cuban-American incidents designed to expose "inaccurate, malicious and misleading reports" spread by the Castro government that the United States has committed aggression against Cuba by air and sea attacks.

Lodge sent a letter along with the memorandum to Dr. Jose A. Correa of Ecuador, the currently monthly chairman of the 11-nation Security Council, which said the 11-page memorandum and the attached case histories, were to be submitted to the Council for consideration.

The United States said that despite provocative actions by Premier Castro's government, the United States had responded "with patience and forbearance" in hopes of preventing the situation from getting worse.

The documents attached to the memorandum stressed the Castro charges that the United States was responsible for the "bombing" of Havana by an old B-25 bomber last October 21. Actually, the plane dropped leaflets, and casualties in Havana were caused by ground fire from Cuban Army guns.

In addition Eisenhower will confer on Tuesday with Malcolm Moos, his adviser on speeches (See OFFER, Page 2)

Opposition To Loyalty Stand 'Fizzles Out'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Southern opposition to the Democratic Party's "loyalty pledge" fizzled out Saturday in a sudden post-convention burst of North-South harmony.

All but one of the members of the party's national committee, Judge Tom R. Brady of Mississippi, readily signed the statement pledging their support to the national ticket of Sen. John F. Kennedy and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson.

Outgoing party chairman Paul M. Butler granted Brady a reprieve to consult with his Mississippi party superiors. He said this was only "fair play" in the case of committeemen bound by their state executive committees.

"I am certain his (Brady's) statement will be in the hands of our executive committee in the next two weeks," Butler said. Brady nodded his agreement.

How Kennedy Did It: 3

Tide Turned In Cabin Creek, W. Va.; Vital Decision Not To Do Something

Last of three dispatches
By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LOS ANGELES (NEA) — Sen. John F. Kennedy clambered onto the hood of a white station wagon, grabbed a microphone and launched into what sounded at first like one of his standard way-side talks.

The place was a grubby little shopping center in Cabin Creek, a West Virginia mining town. Some 200 people listened.

Suddenly he turned to a topic he had always left to others to rise: his religion. He slammed out point after point. It was a declaration of independence from any limit or influence by the Catholic Church on his conduct as a public official.

Four times his audience burst into applause. At the end they cheered. People with the senator seemed something new in the air.

With the voting three weeks off, the West Virginia primary had become a bitter affair turning on his charges that absent rivals, Sens. Stuart Symington and Lyndon Johnson, were "ganging up" on him by backing Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

For days the Kennedy Camp was plunged in gloom. They had expected Humphrey to pull out if he lost Wisconsin but he was in there jabbing harder than ever.

The choice to go into West Virginia had been hard. Humphrey's open challenge was difficult to ignore. Worrying over the Wisconsin perils, Kennedy wanted another primary for possible insurance. West Virginia seemed the only practical prospect.

When the religious issue flared brightly after Wisconsin, and new reports indicated Kennedy weakness in populous southern counties, the game was feared lost.

It was the lowest point in the senator's presidential fortunes. There was talk he might not get 40 per cent of the total Democratic vote.

Kennedy reacted vigorously. As Cabin Creek indicated, he brought his religion into the open, discussing it fully and often.

He made another decision. Convinced the Johnson-Symington gang-up was real, he began hammering Humphrey as a "shadow candidate" standing in for others. Though the black reports continued until the final pre-primary weekend, currents underneath were shifting markedly. Says a Kennedy intimate:

FFDA before new drugs were marketed, and at the same time the committee should set the "highest standards" for their manufacture.

"Jack quieted West Virginians' fears by speaking out on religion. He won their votes by attacking Humphrey as a ghost candidate. I figure he switched 100,000 votes in the last two or three weeks."

After his crushing 87,000-vote victory in West Virginia, Kennedy smashed Sen. Wayne Morse by more than 50,000 votes in his own state, Oregon.

After Oregon, there could have been California, but there was not. On March 2, Kennedy decided not to enter that state's June 7 primary with its tempting prize of 81 votes—winner take all. It was one of the most fascinating moves in recent political history.

Early soundings suggested Kennedy could have beaten Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, Humphrey, or both. Victory and its aftermath would have given him wide public attention only a month before convention, and probably settled the nomination right there.

Kennedy's decision to stay out was a close one. The reasons: Entry against Brown would have split California Democrats badly, with perhaps disastrous results in November. The governor could have been gravely damaged.

A California campaign would have cost greatly in time and money. But Kennedy's negative decision had its positive aspects. Said an aide:

"Knowing Kennedy as you do, you can bet he didn't yield up 81 votes and perhaps a sure nomination without getting something in return."

The gains included Brown's assurance of substantial Kennedy representation on the California delegate slate. Kennedy took no chances. When the slate-pickers caucused at Carmel-by-the-Sea in late February, his top field man, Larry O'Brien, installed himself secretly in a nearby motel.

Emissaries darted back and forth as the job of selecting went on. O'Brien and others steered matters as best they could. When he left his hide-out, he felt sure Kennedy had a rock-bottom one-third of the delegation, plus the prospect of many more if his national position developed well.

It did, and Governor Brown's announcement for Kennedy the day before the convention opened provided one of the major pushes for the senator's bandwagon.

Kennedy won the nomination because he built his campaign structure in every corner of the country, and every part helped support every other.

Wheat Vote Polling Places

The wheat marketing quota referendum vote will be held July 21 from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. with polls at Grandview School, Laketon Store, McLean City Hall and the Pampa Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

All wheat producers and their wives are eligible to vote. Anyone who can't vote on that day may vote absentee sometime before then at the county office.

Cotton measurement has begun in the county and a reporter will visit all cotton farms in the near future. Planted cotton that has been plowed up or destroyed should be reported.

Pampan Trains At Ft. Riley, Kan.

Cadet Earl C. Bogard Jr., son of Mrs. Ruth E. Bogard, 112 E. Francis, is receiving six weeks of training at the Army Reserve Officer Training Corps summer camp at Fort Riley, Kan. The training is scheduled to be conducted July 29.

During this training Cadet Bogard is receiving practical experience and instruction in tactical, technical and administrative subjects, with special emphasis being placed on the duties of a second lieutenant.

The 22-year-old cadet is a graduate of Pampa High School. He is a student at the Kemper Military School, Boonville, Mo.

Single Name For Drugs Urged To End Confusion

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Because every drug has at least three names and certain ones have as many as a dozen, "one of the nation's most respected organs of medical science sees 'an urgent need for reform.'"

It reminded that "some of the least glamorous events in medical history are associated with efforts to obtain excessive prices from the use of misleading or special terms for medicinal products."

The New England Journal of Medicine, owned and published by the Massachusetts Medical Society, was speaking through its committee on advertising, which has jurisdiction over its advertising content.

The three basic names any drug has are 1.) a chemical name; 2.) a generic name; 3.) as many trade names as there are manufacturers entitled to make it. The committee centered its fire on trade names.

"There are a dozen trade names for reserpine, (which is a generic name,) six for isoniazid, and so on through a long list of agents, a practice that is confusing and has no merit other than to increase the profits of the manufacturer, who often has made no scientific effort and taken no risk in the development of the product," it said.

Drug-naming now works this way: The chemists who create a new drug give it a chemical name. When it is ready for market, the manufacturer patents it and then gives it a trade name which is copyrighted, a double measure of protection.

Then the manufacturer, the Federal Food and Drug Administration, and the council on drugs of the American Medical Association get together and give it a generic name which is the common name anyone may use to designate the particular chemical formulation.

The committee granted that trade-name drugs usually were made with great care and the added protection of the trade name encouraged manufacturers to develop new drugs which could help not only the industry "but the public as well."

"Unquestionably, however," it added, "trade-name protection is for the most part a device to protect the interests of a manufacturer, and it presumably increases the cost of drugs to the consumer."

The committee urged a reform which would just about do away with trade names in favor of generic names. Generic names would be selected by a committee of experts appointed by the

'Universal Theft'

Many An Employee In Business For Himself

NEW YORK (NEA) — Please grasp the handrail tightly. Here we go again — through the Personnel Office and down into the American Mind At Work.

According to statistics recently released from bonding, surety and private investigation companies, U.S. business and industry are being robbed blind—from the inside.

Bonding companies are paying off claims to the tune of four million dollars per day—estimated in some quarters to be about 10 per cent of what's actually filched, pilfered or stolen on an organized basis by employees.

It makes breaking and entering look like child's play. For every thousand dollars stolen from business and industry by outside thieves, $50,000 in cash and merchandise are taken by 30 to 80 per cent of employees.

To fight the problem at the source, American business and industry have turned, logically, to scientific fact-finding at the employment office.

Personnel men have been armed with psychological tests, improved techniques of interviewing, detailed job application blanks and — here and there — lie detectors. And guess what:

Well, it turns out that the desire to filch, pilfer or steal is almost universal. And furthermore, many job applicants put down false statements on their blanks in such critical areas as dates of prior employment and reasons for leaving.

Oddly, however, these things seldom count against an applicant's getting the job. According to new survey of personnel administrators by the Industrial Relations News:

1. Nearly half of the respondents say they don't check references until after the applicant has been hired.

2. If a negative reference turns up then—well, nobody's perfect—so he stays on the job.

3. And when they're listed as references, over half of the companies surveyed say they never speak unfavorably about a former employee.

"I just don't understand some companies," says Lincoln M. Zorn, who runs an industrial lie detector service. "If you know what questions to ask and—more important—check out, you'll know of a man you're hiring."

On the other hand, I.R.N.'s surveyors heard one personnel man after another explain: "Experience and ability to do the job are more important than a small falsehood about the past. . ."

For the criminally-minded, the small capitalist, the man in desperate need of paper clips or grommets, U. S. company policy adds up to a great big pie in the sky — all the bigger because it has to feed an army of security agents called in to keep the situation in hand.

Take the firm of Management Safeguards, Inc., which will place undercover operatives wherever the filching is heaviest—at a cost just under $1,000 per month per private eye.

"More and more companies," an MSI spokesman said, "are retaining our services on a year-round basis as a preventive measure."

Is there anyway to stop the mess?

Sure, the specialists say. And depending on their specialty, the best way is a periodic lie detector test or constant policing or closer cost control or like that.

At one point, however, the experts agree. And that is on the boss who says, "Stealing is inevitable so I'll take a calculated risk."

By and by, the experts say, the risk gets less and less calculated until it demoralizes everybody — and maybe the boss himself. There's more than one case on record like that.

Little Leaguers Hit By Lightning

Gary Staples, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Staples, Wichita, Kan., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Anderson, southeast of Pampa, was one of five Little Leaguers knocked unconscious under a tree they were standing when struck by lightning last Tuesday in Wichita.

All five are reported doing fine now and have been released from the hospital. Gary received a jagged burn on his chest, and the bolt knocked his shoes off. Witnesses report that all the boys were knocked about two feet off the ground.

All the boys were nine years old.

PLANE VICTIM RETURNED

MANILA (UPI) — The body of Mrs. Clyde Kelly, 71, Springfield, Ohio, who was the only person killed in Thursday's Northwest Orient Airlines plane ditching, was to be flown back to the United States today.

The other passengers, including Mrs. Kelley's husband Guy, 60, were saved by Philippine and U.S. Air Force rescue craft. Cause of her death was not certain, but one survivor believed she drowned in escaping from the plane.

Chivalry Of Old Still Exists In Mind Of Ex-Pampa Youngster

Pamela Minnich, 11, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. James Minnich, formerly of Pampa, now of Olathe, Kan., found out recently that the chivalry of old still exists.

However, this young lady found herself with not one knight in shining armor to rescue her from distress, but 19. And the armor was Marine Corps uniforms.

Pamela will undergo a delicate heart operation Tuesday at the University of Kansas Medical Center. She'll need between 16 and 20 pints of blood to enable her to use the heart and lung machine during surgery.

A neighbor of the Minnichs who works at the Olathe Naval Air Station decided to help, and 19 Marines stationed there volunteered to give the blood.

Neither Pamela nor her parents knew anything about this until the Marines stopped by to see Pam on their way to Kansas City to give the blood.

According to Mrs. Minnich, Pam is just a little nervous over the operation, but was pleased at all the masculine attention even though she refused to name any of the 19 Marines as a boy friend.

The Minnichs didn't know about the heart condition for a long time, but an artery leading to Pam's heart has been constricted since birth causing her heart to do four times its normal work.

The operation will attempt to open the constriction. If this isn't possible, the vessel will be removed and a plastic one put in its place.

The doctors kept putting off the operation because they knew that medical advances would be made, according to reports from Mrs. Minnich. Now the mortality rate on this type of operation is one in 20.

"This still sounds awfully high to us," said Mrs. Minnich, "but it's so much better than it was just a few years ago."

The Rev. Minnich is pastor of the Church of the Brethren in Olathe. He was pastor of the Pampa church in 1957 and 1958. Pam attended Sam Houston School while living in Pampa.

State Of Cambodia Content To Stay Strictly Neutral

By ARTHUR J. DOMMEN United Press International SAIGON (UPI)—The people of Cambodia, a small kingdom of four and a half million inhabitants in the Indochina peninsula, have just expressed their confidence in their leader, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, and by implication, in his policy of strict neutrality between East and West.

A vote of over 99 per cent "pro" has been followed by a declaration on the part of the prince that he will assume the functions of "head of state." The position has been created in the strongly monarchy-conscious country by an amendment to the constitution.

Prince Sihanouk, who claims that he is not understood by the Western powers who are providing technical and material aid to his country, was king of Cambodia from 1941 to 1955, when he abdicated in favor of his father, the late King Norodom Suramarit.

The throne plays an important role in Cambodian life, and it has been empty since the death of King Suramarit last April 3. The succession, which is not hereditary, could go to any of some 183 princes of the royal blood.

Prince Sihanouk has declared he will not return as king. While the question of the royal succession is left open, there is and over, Joan Baker, 58; wagon race, for men 15 and over, Doug Thompson $1.

Ribbons and cash purses will be awarded the first three places in all events except the boys' calf riding. This event will have prizes awarded.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Riding Club or the White Deer Jaycees and at the White Deer rodeo.

A parade will be held at 1 p.m. and the rodeo performance will be held after the show.

Plans are to have a polo game after the barbecue.

Lefors Club Installs Officers

LEFORS (Spl)—Lions Club officers for the year beginning July 1 were officially installed at the regular night meeting Monday.

They were: Ray Chastain, president; Fred Blackwell, first vice president; John Archer, second vice president; Walter Elliot, third vice president; Wayne Walls, secretary; Jeff Stubblefield, treasurer; R. E. McDonald, tail twister; Warren Walls, lion tamer; Alex Sweet and B. J. Thacker, nominating directors.

Campaign managers were Chastain, Blackwell, Archer, Elliott, B. D. Vaughn, Joe Dan Watson, H. R. Cates, Wayne Walls, Thacker, Stubblefield, Swann, Harold Sims, Keith Geisler, and J. P. Bussell.

"Go Southwest Young Man," a film, was shown by Southwestern Public Service Co.

A financial report of the year was given by David Robinson, and Boyd Beck and Ray Chastain reported on their trip to Chicago to the Lions International Convention.

Sharon Hines, outgoing Sweetheart, was presented with a gift.

TANKER AGROUND AGAIN

NEW YORK (UPI)—The disabled oil tanker Alkaid aground again Friday night, being towed from the United States seaway where it had earlier grounded with a torn hull.

However, tugs freed the 603-foot Panamanian registered vessel and towed it to a shipyard for repairs.

WD Rodeo Set July 30

WHITE DEER (Spl)—The first White Deer Rodeo, sponsored by the White Deer Riding Club, will be held July 30.

Because of the amount of stock entries for each event will be limited. Entries must be turned in to the chairman of each event, and will be accepted until quotas are filled.

Events, their chairman, and entry fees are: Head and heeling, Clayton Powers, $2.50 per team; calf roping, Sonny Freeman, $1; 183-prince of the royal blood, call riding, for boys 12 and under, Don Crutchfield, $1; bareback bronc riding, Charles Jackson, $10; barrel riding, for women 13 and over, Joan Baker, $8; wagon race, for men 15 and over, Doug Thompson $1.

Ribbons and cash purses will be awarded the first three places in all events except the boys' calf riding. This event will have prizes awarded.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Riding Club or the White Deer Jaycees and at the White Deer rodeo.

Pampa Traffic Commission Offers Safe Driving Tips

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of driving tips prepared by the Education Committee of the Pampa Traffic Commission.

Weather Affects Driving

Going on vacation? In less than a day, in less than 300 miles, you could encounter six different weather conditions each of which could be equally dangerous and which could make your eyes and ears deceive you.

The first of these is rain. According to a recent survey, 13 per cent of all accidents occurred in rain, and 18 per cent of all fatalities happened on wet pavement.

What to do:
1. Slow down. Reduce speed to at least 10 m.p.h. when it begins to rain or you come upon wet pavement.

2. Test pavement for slipperiness by tapping your brakes lightly; pick a time when no other cars are nearby for this test.

3. Drop back far enough so the car ahead won't spray road grime on your windshield. This traffic film distorts what you see and no windshield wiper is fast enough to keep it off.

4. Be certain your tires have plenty of tread. You might get away with slick tires on dry pavement, but when it rains that is suicide.

The second weather-killer is ice and snow. Even with a limited amount of driving during ice and snow conditions these killers account for nine per cent of the accidents. Even at 20 m.p.h. it takes five times as far to stop on ice as on dry pavement.

What to do:
1. Slow down. Reduce your speed by at least one-half of normal speed and keep at least twice as much distance between you and the car ahead.

2. Avoid all sudden changes by keeping an even pressure on accelerator, steering wheel and brakes. Pump your brakes for a slow, safe stop. When wheels slide, release, and pump again.

3. When possible stay on familiar roads to reduce unexpected situations.

4. Remember, melting ice is just twice as slick as frozen ice.

5. In a skid, turn the wheel in the direction of the skid.

6. Use chains when roads are completely covered with ice or snow. This will cut shopping distance in half.

7. In all cases keep your windshield and rear glasses clear; you can't drive if you can't see.

Freezing rain is the most dangerous form of ice. You can't see it until you are on it; and where freezing rain is present, temperature can vary 20 degrees within a mile.

Fog, another killer, while the least dangerous still accounts for four per cent of the accidents.

1. Reduced speed is still the first requirement.
2. Be especially careful in valleys and when driving near bodies of water. That is where fog is the thickest.

3. Use the low beam of your headlights, only when in fog. The tiny particles of water that make up fog act as mirrors and blind both you and the oncoming driver. Your park lights are no good at all.

4. Turn on your windshield wipers; fog condenses on glass and reduces visibility.
5. Guide on the righthand edge of the road; and if you must stop, get well off the road.

Darkness: Two thirds of the fatal accidents occur at night. Your lights shine about 300 feet ahead; and if you are driving over 55 m.p.h., you can't possibly stop within that distance.
1. Again, slow down when it gets dark.

2. Keep your windshield spotless; a little film of dirt can reduce vision by 40 per cent.

3. Never look directly at oncoming lights; dim your lights and guide on the right side of the road.
4. Reduce smoking; excessive smoking causes eyestrain.

The first thing to do anytime weather conditions threaten is to slow down. Even on clear days there are still some dangers. For example, the early morning and late afternoon sun may distort the

New Hours At City Hall

LEFORS (Spl) — The Lefors City Council decided at a meeting Tuesday to install a bulletin board outside of the city office. New hours of utility collections and other city news will be posted on the board.

The city office will be open on Saturday mornings the first ten days of the month to collect water, electric and telephone bills. Mrs. Eddy Clemmons, city secretary will handle the business.

Mrs. O. O. Bishop, representing a local club, was present to ask the city to maintain the city park. It was voted to pay B. J. Diehl $50 a month to maintain the park, and Diehl in turn promised to put the money back into the park in the form of needs, equipment and improvements.

The city also has contacted Southwestern Public Service to have two poles erected to light the park by August 13, which is the date set for a formal dedication.

colors of traffic lights; so take extra precaution at every intersection.

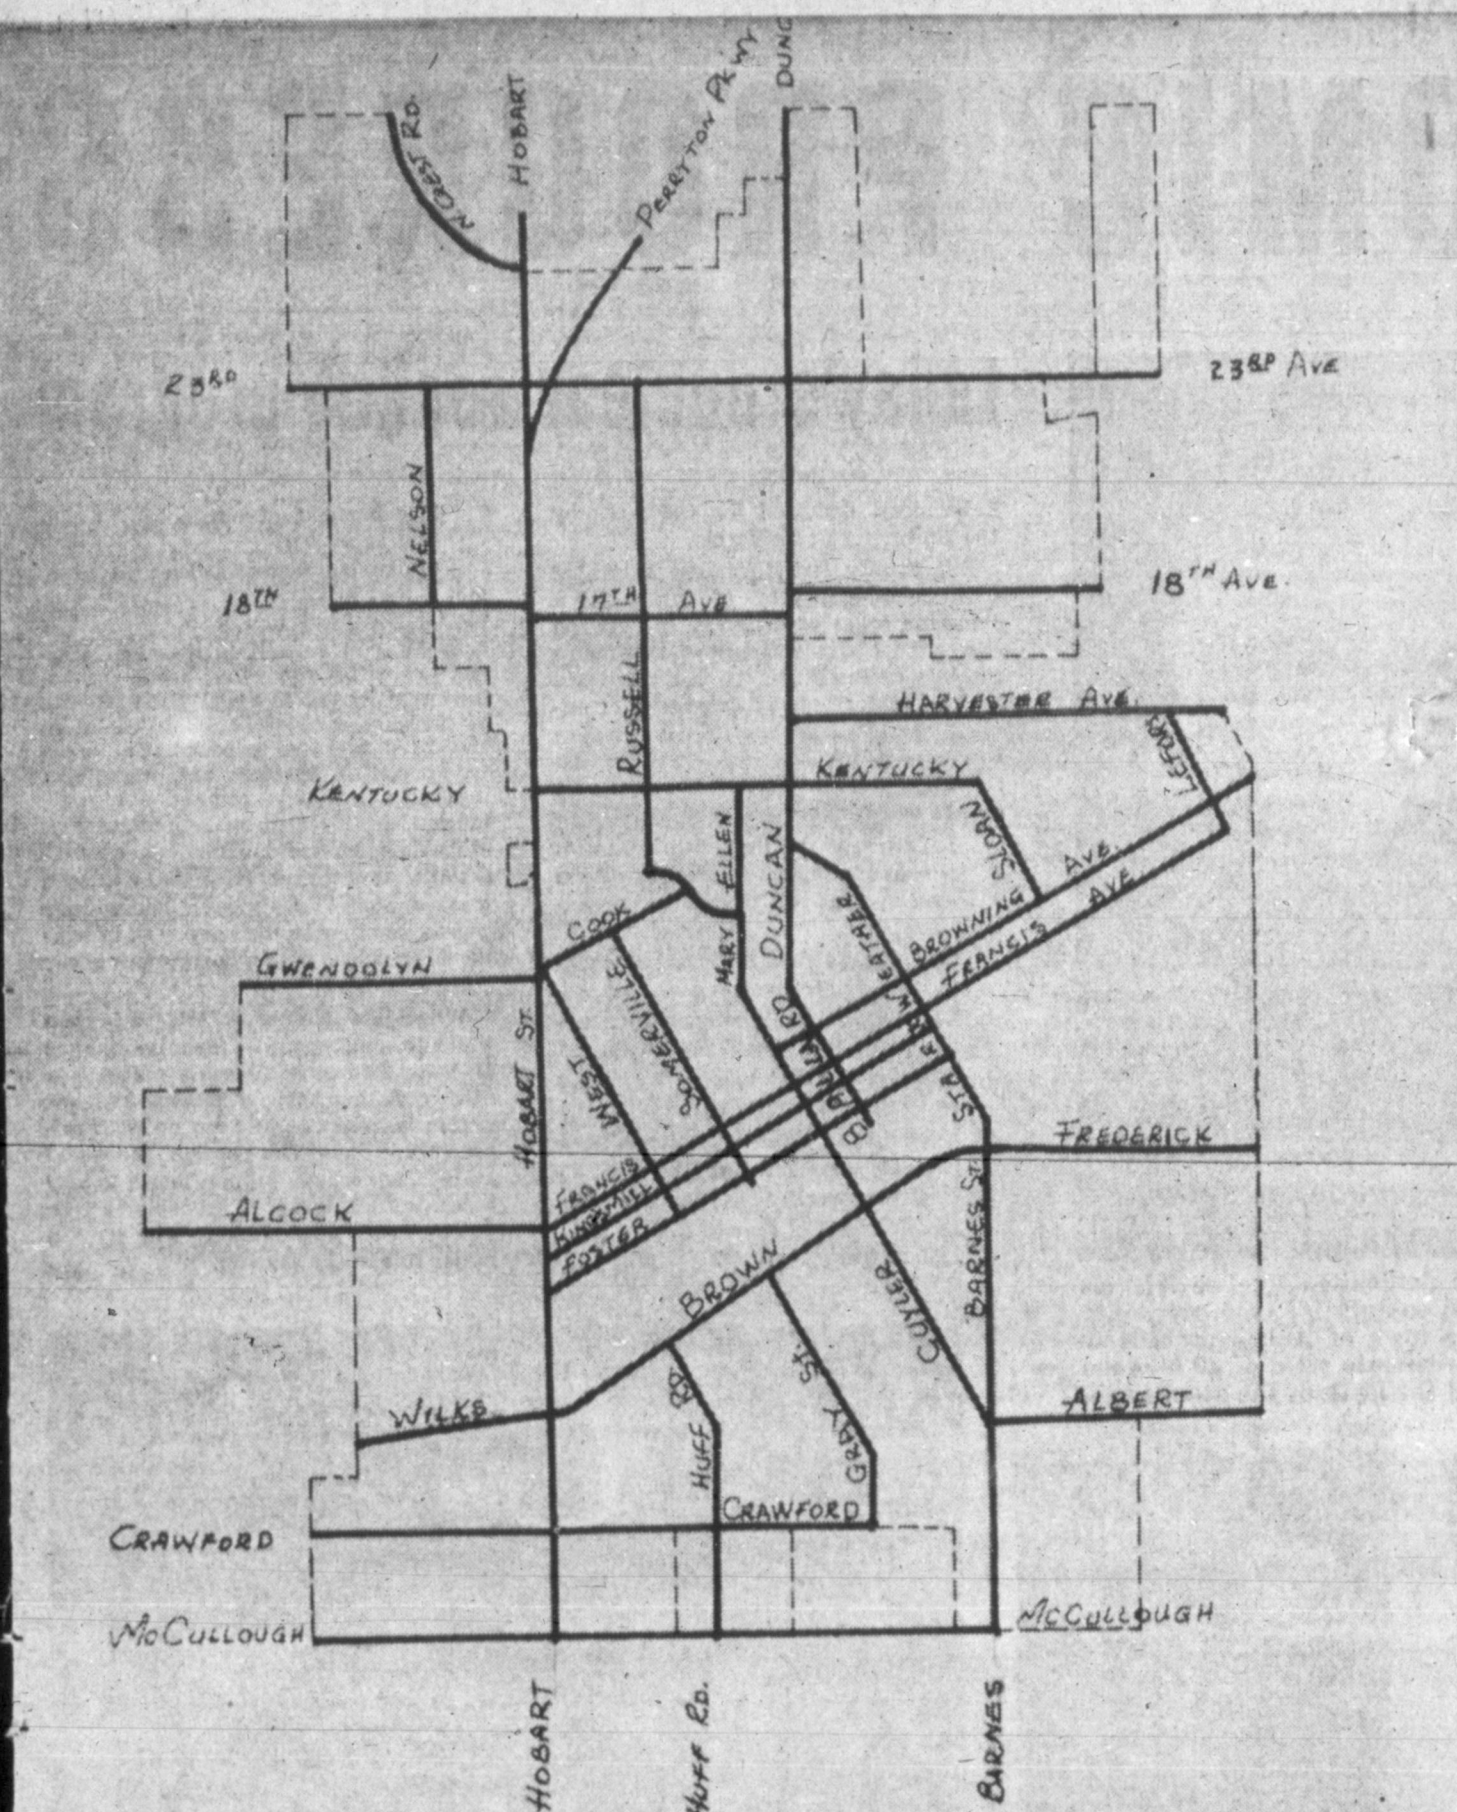

With a healthy amount of respect for the weather conditions and these few precautions, you won't be fooled and may live to enjoy another vacation.

The lights and water for the park are to be furnished by the city, according to Wayne Wall, publicity chairman for the city council.

Rev. L. M. Berry requested that restrooms be installed at the city ball park, where summer baseball is played. The council members donated their council fee of $5 each toward the building of modern restrooms, and will welcome donations from any other citizen of the community. Donations can be left with the city secretary.

Present for the meeting were Mayor Frank Wall, Councilmen Jimmy Hannon, Bill Teel, Wayne Wall and Herman Cates. One member, Eli Radabough, was absent due to illness.

15 YEARS OF ATOMIC PROGRESS

From the first atomic bomb to today's nuclear rocket program

LOS ALAMOS, NEW MEXICO.—The Laboratory that ushered in the atomic age with the first man-made nuclear explosion 15 years ago this summer, is now moving steadily toward the conquest of space by nuclear rocket propulsion.

Almost exactly on the 15th anniversary of Trinity, when Los Alamos scientists detonated the first atomic bomb in southern New Mexico on July 16, 1945, some of the same men will conduct two nuclear rocket propulsion reactor experiments at the AEC's Nevada Test Station.

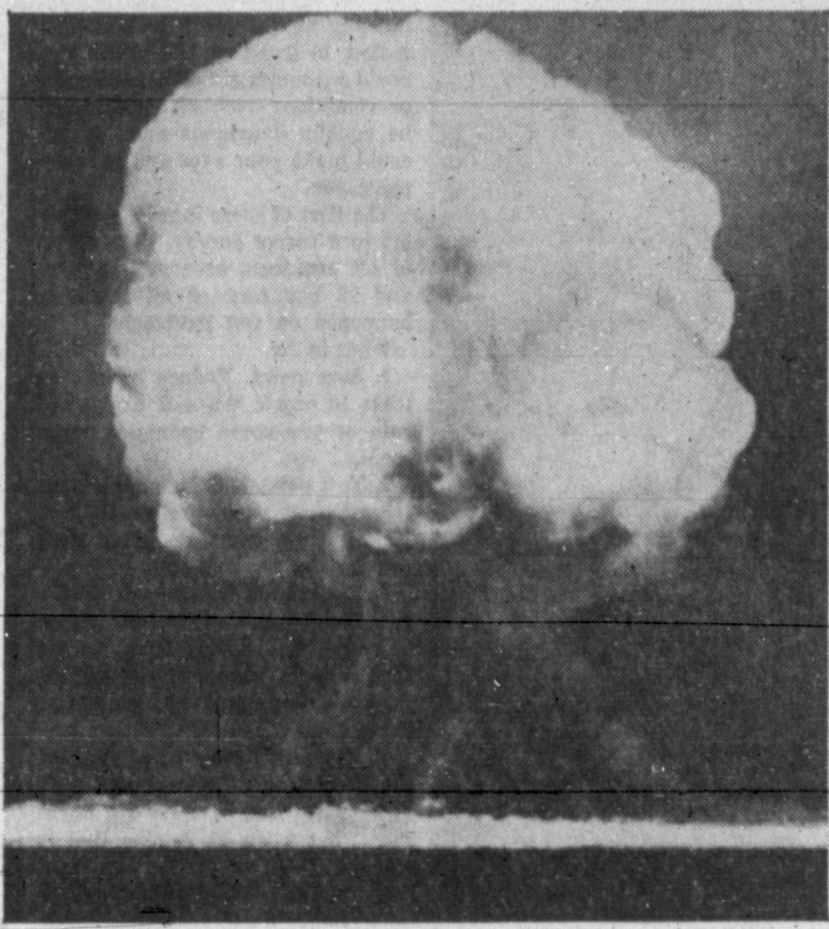

These scientists and engineers from Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory make up the world's most experienced team of experts in the art of handling explosive nuclear reactions. While there is a vast difference between an atomic bomb and a reactor, the devices being tested this summer may well be considered more like "slow" bombs than fast reactors, since they produce in seconds the energy an ordinary nuclear power reactor would put out in days.

Their total energy release is only a fraction of that exerted by an atomic bomb, but directed as thrust it is potentially many times that of chemically-fueled rockets. Nuclear rocket engines are intended to take up where chemical rocket motors stop—in deep space. Many scientists believe that inter-planetary travel will be possible only with nuclear rockets.

The Los Alamos propulsion reactors are called Kiwis, after the flightless New Zealand bird, because they can't fly. In fact, they are mounted upside down to keep them from taking off inadvertently. They are not yet even prototypes of a rocket motor. But one day, perhaps five or ten years hence, it is more likely that one of this strange breed of atomic "birds" will be mounted right side up to become the first Rover engine, designed to fly.

Rover is the name of the project under which the nation's nuclear rocket propulsion program is being conducted jointly by the National Aeronautics and Space Agency and the Atomic Energy Commission. Its principal work is being carried on by Los Alamos Scientific Trinity fireball, 15 seconds after detonation by Los Alamos scientists of the first nuclear bomb on July 16, 1945, rises into the air above the desert near the town of Alamogordo, New Mexico. The explosion had an approximate yield of 20 kilotons (20,000 tons) of TNT and heralded the birth of the atomic age.

Laboratory, operated for the AEC by the University of California.

But Trinity and Rover are separated by more than 15 years of history and a thousand miles of distance. In between lies almost the entire span of man's mastery of the atom, the evolution of a limitless future for peaceful uses of nuclear energy. Los Alamos has contributed much to that history. Here are some of its accomplishments in the past decade and a half:

Isolation of the first visible quantities of plutonium, and much of the development of plutonium metallurgy.

The world's first nuclear and thermonuclear weapons.

The world's first homogeneous reactor and first "fast" reactor.

The world's first camera operating at 15 million frames per second.

Detection of the free neutrino.

Direct conversion of reactor heat to electric power.

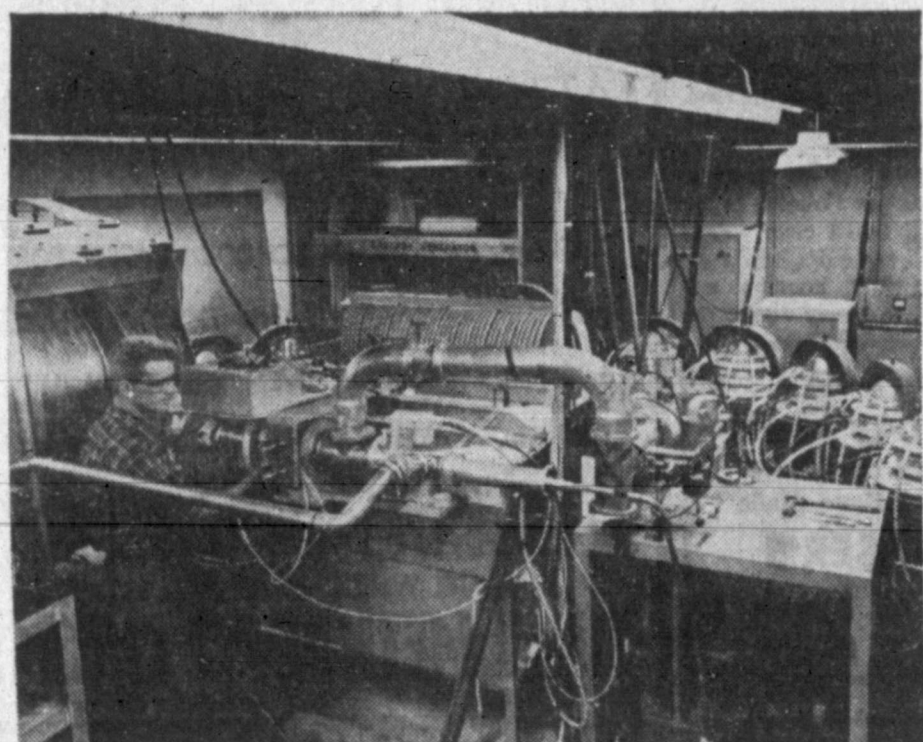

Development of remote control critical assembly systems.

Development of whole body radiation counters.

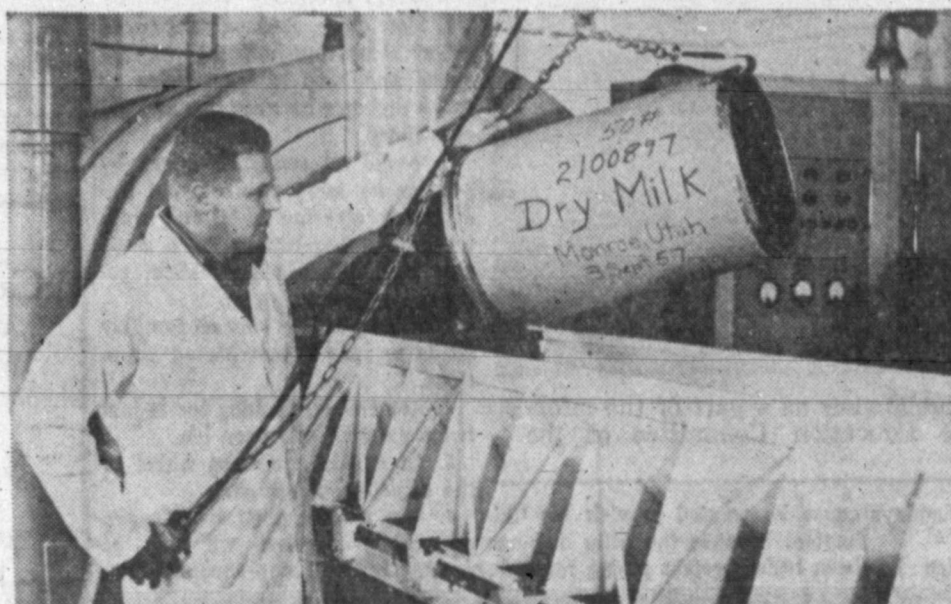

Controlled thermonuclear reactions.

In adding the Rover project to this list, much more will be added to the sum total of human knowledge. Much has yet to be discovered about the behavior of materials under the extremes of pressure, temperature and radiation the Kiwi reactors produce. The electronic control systems are marvels of ingenuity, involving remote, automatic mechanisms directed by computers, with multiple safeguards against runaway reactions. Almost everything that has been learned since Trinity will help in one way or another in the huge task of converting nuclear fission energy to nuclear rocket thrust.

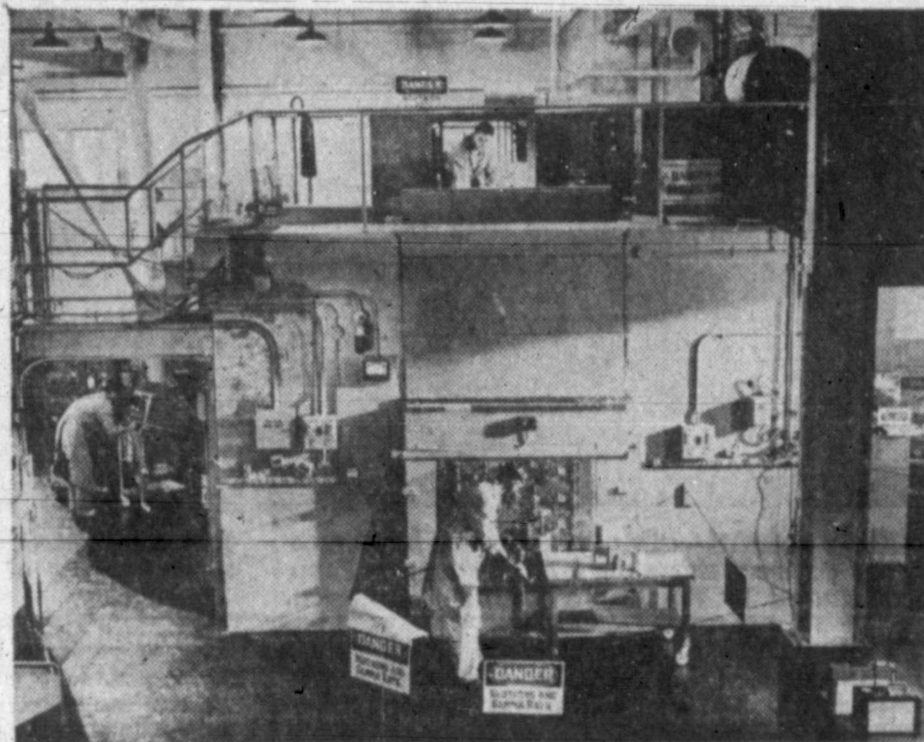

What Los Alamos will be doing on the 30th anniversary of Trinity, another 15 years hence, is almost a matter for science fiction speculation, except that fiction is hard put to keep up with science these days. The shape of the world in 1975 is perhaps beyond man's ability to conjecture, but it is probably safe to assume that Los Alamos will play a major role in the shaping.

Scylla G., a Los Alamos device used for controlled fusion research, produced the first known thermonuclear reaction on a laboratory scale. Temperatures attained with Scylla, for a period of about a microsecond, exceed 10,000,000 degrees Centigrade.

Foodstuffs from all sections of the world are checked for radioactivity at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory which maintains an extensive monitoring system on fallout. The detection apparatus is also sensitive enough to trace minute amounts of natural radioactivity in human subjects.

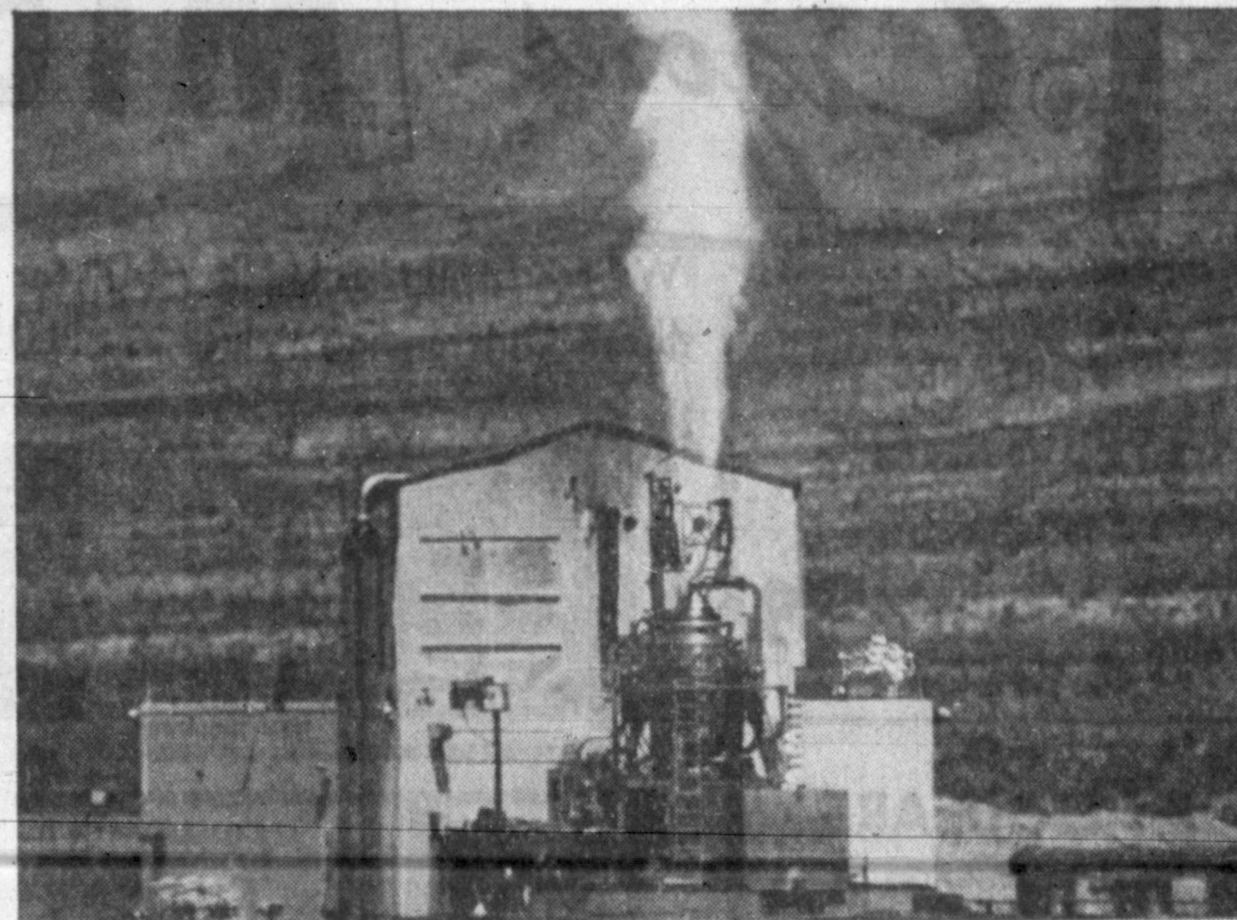

The world's first homogeneous (liquid fuel) atomic reactor, known as the Water Boiler, was built at Los Alamos during World War II and is still in use as a research tool. The basic design of this reactor has been used in a number of other reactors in the United States and abroad.

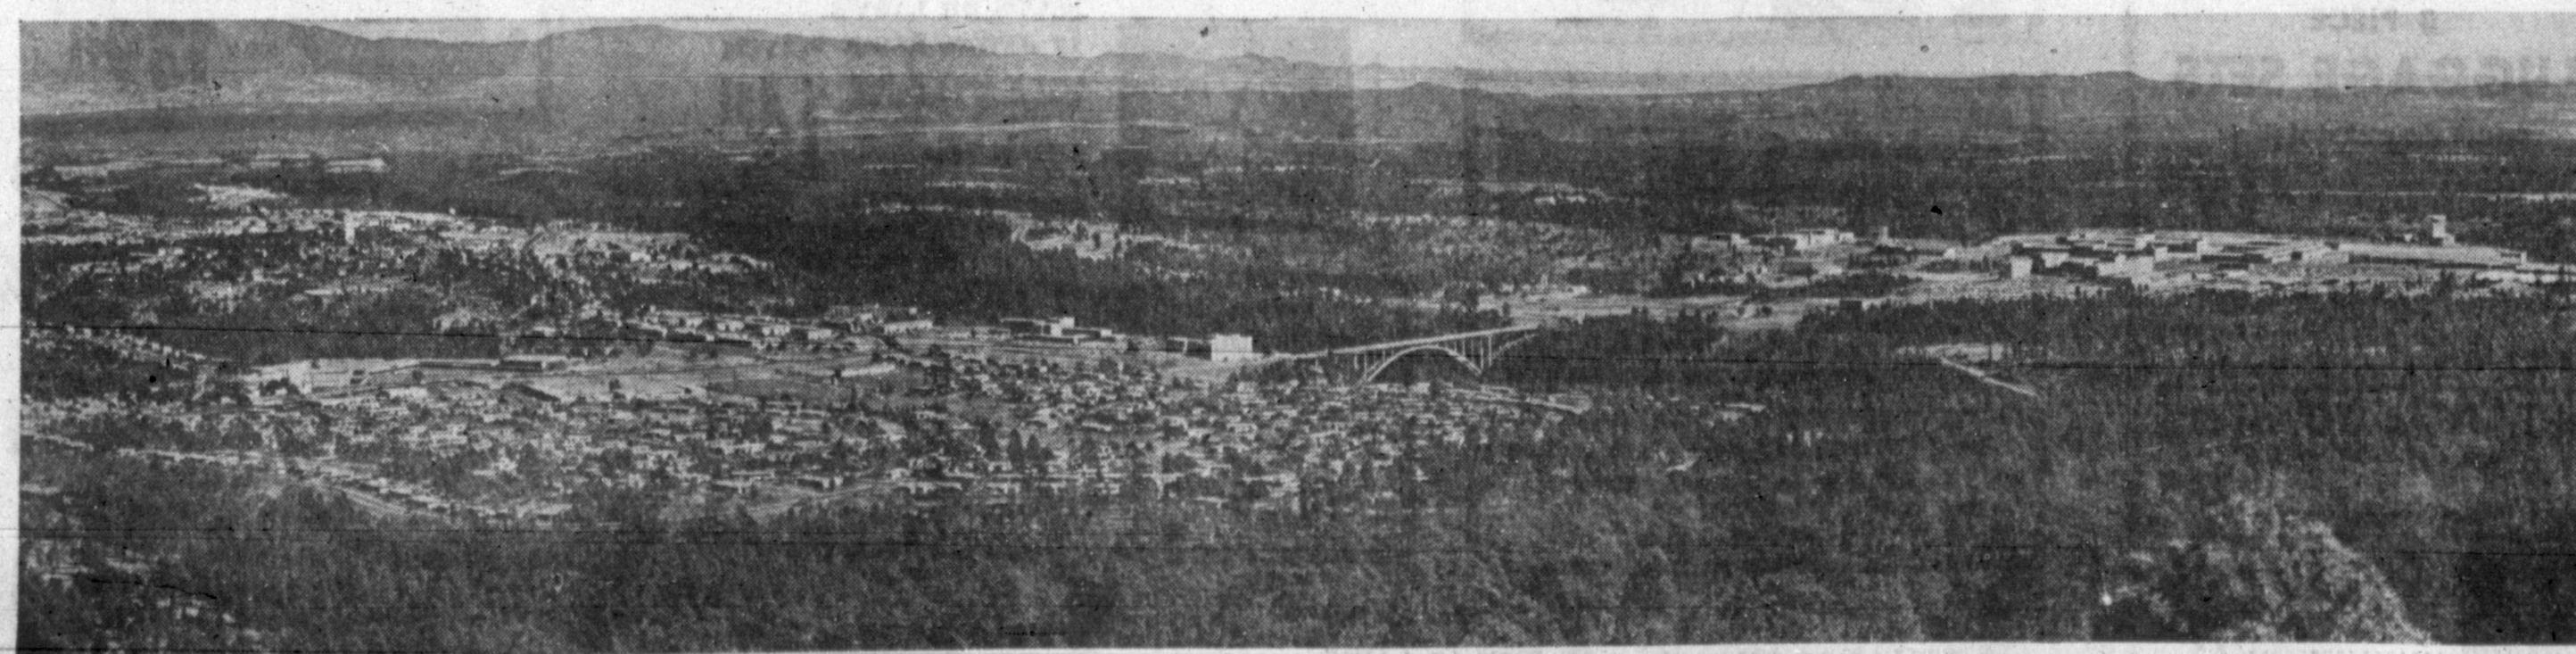

Control room at Nevada Test Site for conducting nuclear rocket propulsion experiments operates under the direction of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory. During reactor power runs, nearly 600 signals are fed into the room from the test cell located two miles away. Present goal of experimenters is to operate at temperatures up to 5400 degrees. Barring unforeseen complications, LASL scientists hope to develop a flyable prototype engine by 1965.

Kiwi-A, the first reactor to investigate the feasibility of nuclear rocket propulsion, was successfully operated on July 1, 1959. Advanced concepts of the Kiwi design are being tested this summer by Los Alamos scientists in Nevada.

Fifteen years after the first atomic bomb detonation, the community and laboratory at Los Alamos represent a government investment of more than a quarter-billion dollars. Laboratory buildings, to the right of bridge, are spread over a technical area covering 77 square miles of northern New Mexico's high mountain country. The permanent staff numbers 3200 scientists, engineers, technicians, and support personnel. More than 430 Ph.D's are represented among 1154 degree-holding employees, 220 of them in physics. The Laboratory is operated by the University of California for the Atomic Energy Commission.

shots with Como.

NEW YORK (NEA) — A fast-rising comedy team is disproving the widely-held belief that nowadays you have to be exposed on TV over a long period of time before you can become a top star.

These two—(Marty) Allen and (Steve) Rossi—have only been on TV twice in their affiliated lives. They appeared in two questioning spots with Perry Como last winter and spring. They helped, of course, but Allen and Rossi think the help was very limited.

"TV is over-rated as far as making stars," says Marty Allen. "A good average comedian could go along for years, making a decent living, even if he never was seen on TV."

They teamed up a year ago. Allen, the older of the two, had a long record as a comic, both as a single and part of a team. He's short, stocky and has a face that always reminds people of other people. In fact, he keeps track of whom he's told he looks like (Alan Carney is leading, closely followed by Harpo-Marx and Jimmy Savo).

Rossi, a handsome 26-year-old, grew up from the Mitchell Boy Choir to recording fame. At the time he met Rossi, he was the production singer in a Las Vegas hotel.

Today, just about a year after their first meeting, they're headlining at the Copacabana here. For fresh talent, this is quite a coup. And they feel they made it this far, this fast on the strength of their talents, not because of a two

So far, a definite Allen and Rossi style has not materialized. They do a bit of Martin and Lewis type of act (Rossi sings, Allen mugs); they have borrowed from Bob Hope and others by using topical gags; they pantomime, dance, clown; they use brief skits. Everything has their own individual stamp, of course.

As for their future TV plans, they just shrug. If something good comes along, fine, but they're not worrying about it. They flatly refuse to work the Jack Paar Show, unless they're on Paar's panel — they figure a five-minute spot, doing part of their act could hurt them, especially if Paar takes it into his head to make some crack. They feel their future is in the top nightclubs, plus perhaps movies and-or Broadway (Rossi could be a singing leading man with Allen as the comedy relief).

There are other reasons they don't worry. Allen is married to the reservations clerk at one of the biggest resort hotels in the Catskills — "So we always have a room," Marty says. And Rossi writes songs, many in collaboration with Paul Anka.

Marty Allen almost discovered Anka. While playing in Canada, he was invited to dinner at the home of a friend of his club-owner. The man trotted out a fat little boy with a guitar. Allen kept on eating.

"What should I do with the boy?" the father said.

"You could put him in the closet," said Allen.

Despite this inauspicious beginning, they're all friends today.

AROUND TV TOWN — Perry Como and Bob Hope will trade guest spots next fall. . . The first taped Western, Wrangler, was postponed until later this summer, because the expensive English-made videotape cameras broke down—the tubes popped and the cables snapped when the heat of the summer came along. . . Bob Merrill reports on a disadvantage of show business—he hasn't spent a birthday at home in 15 years. . . The big Jackie Gleason spectacular next season will be all-Gleason—he created the idea, he'll co-write it, he'll star in it, he's casting it, he's written the theme-music and he's just told the advertising agency he has some ideas for integrating the commercials. . . Don't breathe this around, but Edd Byrnes, the idol of the rock 'n' rollers, doesn't like r'n'r — his favorite singers are Sinatra, Mathis, Peggy Lee.

ROSSI, ALLEN (right). Stars off TV.

Mark Twain Returns To Split Actor Holbrook's Personality

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Let us ponder the strange success of Hal Holbrook because it demonstrates once again what happens to people who get ahead by developing a winning personality.

In real life, Holbrook is a young man who has found considerable fortune and happiness by going about the countryside in a wig and a white mohair suit making believe that he is Mark Twain. In his wake, Holbrook has already left:

A wide revival of interest in Twain's works.

A book, a record and a scholarly controversy over the psychological factors in Twain's life.

A movie which Coronet films will show to millions of school children, giving Twain a foothold in still another generation.

Now Twain himself had one of the best personalities in the history of the world. Not only did it give him two fortunes in his own lifetime, but it is still quite potent 50 years after his death. Unqualified observers estimate that Holbrook is making about twice what Charlton Heston got for leading the children of Israel out of Egypt.

MARK TWAIN watches over Holbrook.

Well, it turns out that this kind of double life is not what people have supposed for all these years. And after 12 years studying Twain's life, works and habits, Holbrook has discovered that it is too big a job for one man.

"I don't really understand it myself," he said. "Six years ago, when I first took Twain out solo, I used to set everything up myself. But now I seem to be unable to get along without a stage manager who goes along with me, drawing travel expenses and a salary, and also:

"A lawyer, an accountant, a secretary, a typist, a press agent, a newspaper clipping service, a travel agent, desks, file cabinets, dictating machines, typewriters.

"And then, even with all this help, I find it takes me exactly the same amount of time to do everything anyway.

"If I were just an actor playing a part, I'd merely do the show every day, answer fan mail and go to interviews with reporters."

Curiously, this complicated corporate structure plagued Twain, too. He tried several times to escape into other fields and investments only to lose his shirt.

"I'd like to do some other parts," Holbrook said. "I don't want to divorce Twain. I think I've proved that he and I are no falsh-in-the-pans. I'd just like a separation."

But it is questionable whether they can get along without each other. And while it is commonly supposed that the role can devour the actor, in Holbrook's life, this danger has become an eternal stand-off.

"Of course I got into costume and make-up to do that record," he explained. "I don't know if I could have done the job as well on my own.

"The padding in the suit, the wig, the cigar, the wig-it's what gives me the feeling, the rhythm. . . I'm sure I couldn't do as well without his clothes and face."

But if Twain has come to depend on Holbrook for a proper presentation, Holbrook leans as heavily on Twain.

"I don't think I'm him," Holbrook said. "And neither does anybody who knows me. In fact, I am learning more about myself.

"On the other hand, it is a little odd to have to get dressed up to look exactly like him before people know I'm Holbrook and say hello."

Brenda Lee Has Two Top Tunes

CHICAGO (UPI)—A 15-year-old, girl named Brenda Lee had a rock tight hold on the nation's popular tunes list Saturday, her ballad "I'm sorry" still atop United Press International's weekly survey of the 20 top songs and her "That's All You Gotta Do" in 10th place.

What's more, both songs were part of the same record.

Holding second place again was the Hollywood Argyles novelty piece "Alley Oop," followed by Roy Robinson's "Only the Lonely," up to third from sixth.

In fourth place was Brian Hyland's "Itsy Bitsy, Teeny Weeny, Yellow Polka Dot Bikini," the song with the title as big as the lyrics.

In fifth was Duane Eddy's "Because They're Young," followed by Safaris' "Image of a Girl," the Fendermen's "Mule Skinner Blues," Connie Francis' "Everybody's Somebody's Fool," which slipped from fourth, and the Everly Brothers' "When Will I Be Loved."

The top 20—(Figures in parentheses indicate current spot, last week's position and number of weeks on survey).

(1-2-6)—I'm Sorry, Brenda Lee, Decca

(2-2-8) — Alley Oop, Hollywood Argyles, Lute

(3-5-5) — Only the Lonely, Roy Orbison, Monument

(4-3-3) — Itsy Bitsy, Teeny, Yellow Polka Dot Bikini, Brian Hyland, Kapp

(5-5-8)—Because They're Young, Duane Eddy, Jamie

(6-7-6)—Image of a Girl, Safaris, Eldo

(7-5-5)—Mule Skinner Blues, the Fendermen, Soma

(8-4-8) — Everybody's Somebody's Fool, Connie Francis, MGM

(9-4-4)—When Will I Be Loved, Everly Brothers, Cadence

(10-10-6)—That's All You Gotta Do, Brenda Lee, Decca

(11-12-3)—Tell Laura I Love Her, Ray Peterson, RCA-Victor

(12-15-2)—Please Help Me, I'm Falling, Hank Locklin, RCA-Victor

(13-0-1)—Finger Poppin' Time,

A 'LEGAL WESTERN' — Jeffrey Hunter and Constance Towers are romantically teamed in "Sergeant Rutledge," a new courtroom Western picture, which starts Thursday, and plays through Saturday at the CAPRI Theatre. Filmed in Technicolor, the suspense-filled movie also stars Billie Burke.

Democratic Conclave

A person who witnessed the recent Democratic national convention and did not find himself with a degree of despair and disillusionment does not know what century or era he has been born into. The chronicles of ancient Rome, one fears, could no more clearly spell out the destiny of the United States and Western civilization than the Los Angeles orgy.

The Golden Rule

The history of man's development is marked by two things: Individuals almost always take the shortest and most direct route to the satisfaction of their uppermost desires. This means that they are apt to violate the rights of others in their most economical use of their own energy.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON
NEW YORK — I have no way of knowing if you have been exactly breathless over this, but let me be the first to tell you, that the girl who will play Lollita in the motion picture version of the novel of the same name has been found. Or just about found. She is 13 years old, a student in a Long Island junior high school, her father is departing in a few days for Europe on a four-month Ford Foundation grant and she, her mother and two sisters are going to stay in their old home town, Honey Grove, Tex., until all this blows over.

Word Baker recently directed an off-Broadway musical hit called "The Fantasticks". Before that he had directed a hit revival of "The Crucible", as well as a TV version of Truman Capote's play, "The Grass Harp". Word is the one who received the Ford Foundation grant and is the father of the girl. Now, don't get lost. All this is going to straighten itself out for you presently.

Word is the kind of father who believes that children should have godfathers. Particularly girl children. Robert Benton, art director for Esquire magazine, is the girl's godfather, and on his desk at the magazine offices there is a lovely photograph of her.

The Man of the Week: James Monroe, fifth president of the United States (1817-1825).

The Quote: "The American continents are no longer subjects for any new colonial establishments." On Dec. 2, 1823, in a message to Congress, President Monroe enunciated the policy which since has become known as the Monroe Doctrine.

Last week Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev sought to bury it, just as he once promised to bury capitalism. "We consider that the Monroe Doctrine has outlived its time, has outlived itself, has died, so to say, a natural death. Now the remains of this doctrine should be buried."

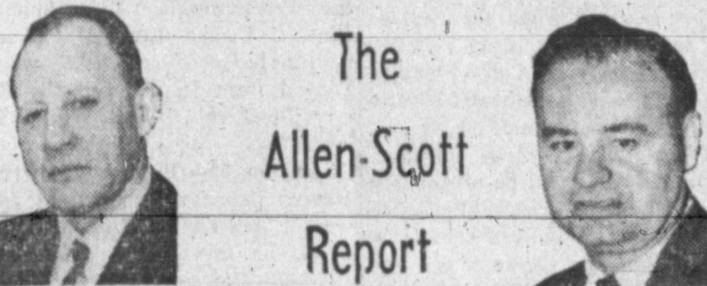

To which White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty had this succinct reply: "That's what he thinks." Not for 30 years has the Monroe Doctrine been so directly attacked and not for more than 100 years had a foreign power so directly challenged it.

It was a coincidence that the Monroe Doctrine evolved during another period of strain with Russia. Czarist Russia then was extending her settlements southward from Alaska and by imperial order sought to ban navigation and fishing within 100 miles of North America's northwest coast.

Monroe's message to Congress was a denunciation of the Czar's order and a warning to other European powers against any attack on the newly-independent nations of Latin America.

While the doctrine never was written into law, its spirit was contained in three inter-American treaties—the Rio Treaty of 1947,

PAUL SCOTT

BUTLER, DEPARTING, TO TRY TO BLAST THROUGH CONTROVERSIAL RESOLUTION ON 'ADVISORY COMMITTEES'
LOS ANGELES — National Chairman Paul Butler is quitting a job as turbulently as he has filled it the past five years.

As a departing blast, the bitterly controversial Indian, whose term expired the day following the close of this Convention, is planning to try to rush through a resolution approving the system of Democratic advisory committees he established over the opposition of the party's Congressional leaders.

Speaker Sam Rayburn, Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson and other high ranking legislative chiefs flatly rejected invitations to be members of these Butler-created advisory groups. They contended that would be inconsistent with their Congressional positions and responsibilities.

Principal reason for this stand was Butler's truculent argument that his advisory committees were the "policy making bodies" of the party.

This unprecedented claim was vehemently repudiated by the Congressional leaders. In an undercover maneuver to outflank them and put the National Convention's stamp of approval on his long embattled scheme, Butler will include a resolution to do that with a number of routine promulgations that are traditionally adopted at the close of national conventions.

These include declarations thanking the host city, the volunteer workers, etc., etc., all non-controversial resolutions. But Butler's will be far from that. His intent is to put the full weight of the National Convention behind the advisory committees of the party, and by implication to spank the Congressional leaders for rebuffing Butler's creation.

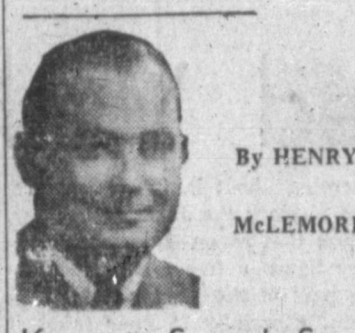

Whether he will get away with this remains to be seen. Apparently in an effort to guard against a challenge of his proposal, he has allowed no one to see a copy of it. He drafted it himself, and it is supposed to be a closely guarded secret.

CONVENTION STARTS — Governor Luther Hodges was one Vice Presidential hopeful who did not have to be asked if he would like to be Senator Kennedy's running mate. The North Carolinian, who declared for Kennedy before the Convention, sent word to him through former Governor Dennis Roberts, Rhode Island, of being available for second place. Roberts, a pre-convention Kennedy campaigner, is a close friend of Hodges.

The Bogota Charter of 1948 setting up the Organization of American States, and the Caracas Resolution of 1954. The Caracas Resolution specifically banned establishment in the western hemisphere of a state dominated by international communism.

It was this latter point which particularly roused Khrushchev's anger, and at the same time gave a possible inkling of the course to be followed by the Soviet Union in its relations with a Communist-orientated Cuba. "There are no Communists in Cuba," Khrushchev said. Thus, by a denial of communism in Cuba, Khrushchev apparently hoped to destroy in advance the possibility of joint action by the American states against the Fidel Castro regime within the framework of the Caracas Resolution.

Keynote Speech Sends Henry Under The Bed

A week has passed since Senator Church's keynote speech in Los Angeles, and I'm still under the bed.

I expect to stay here until the Republican Convention keynote tells me that all is fine in our country, and that it is safe for me to come out.

Keynote speeches of "out" administrations have always scared me close to death. The Republican one of 1953 drove me into the cellar, where I shivered and shook until the Democratic keynote sounded the "all clear". And it was the same in '48, '44, and on back.

I never have been able to fortify myself against keynote fright. When an obviously sincere man, blessed with eloquence, stands up and says the country is teetering on the brink of ruin, and indicates it might not last out the night, I get the shakes.

My fright isn't lessened by the sight of thousands of people in the audience hanging on his every word and applauding like crazy when he paints his gloomiest pictures.

I get the feeling that the applauding audience is mad, else it would be running for a hiding place instead of cheering.

By the time Mr. Church had finished, I could picture down-trodden and enraged farmers charging the countryside, pitch-forking Republicans as they went. I didn't dare close my eyes lest I open them to find a Russian battalion camped in my yard, or an intercontinental missile coming down the chimney.

I looked at my daughter, Megan, and wondered if she would ever get enough to eat to grow up, what with food costing what it does under that arch-villain of all time, Dwight Eisenhower. Even while under the bed, I wouldn't have been surprised to find the bedroom filled with rioting natives of countries who have, according to the keynote, come to hate us with a passion.

But even at my darkest hour here under the bed, I have not completely given away to despair. For I know that if the country can manage to survive for a few more days, and can keep a fingerhold on the abyss, the sun will shine through once more.

That happy day will come when another sincere man, also blessed with eloquence, is introduced at the Republican Convention and launches into his keynote address.

I will come inching forth from my hiding place as the Republican keynote paints the farmers as happy and contented, the Soviet missile lead as a myth, food as reasonable and the world in love with America.

Everything the Democratic keynote said was terrible, the Republican keynote will say all is grand and lovely.

Never mind who is right and who is wrong. Anything to get out from

Further Federal Inroads Of Education Field Planned

A few years ago, when the federal government began to make a few tentative ventures into the control of surplus farm products, no one dreamed of the complicated regulations that would be in force today, of the swarm of bureaucrats investing every county in our farming areas, of the $9 billion locked in surplus commodities and of the over $6 billion annual cost of the whole complicated, unsatisfactory program. Who would have thought in 1935 that in 1960 we would be spending more on the farm program alone than the entire cost of the federal government at that time?

In like manner, when the first few steps in the domain of housing were taken by the federal government in the matter of rent control and subsidies for slum clearance, who would have dreamed that we would so quickly pass over into government domination of the whole housing industry?

Now we stand on the threshold of government entering the field of education. Who can predict what genie will come out of this bottle? Political leaders promise us that there will be no control, but we have heard this over and over and, if we are capable of learning from experience, we know that the thin end of the wedge will give place to the thick end as the government becomes ever more deeply involved in school problems. It is just not possible for government administrators in Washington to lay out billions of dollars for teachers' salaries and school construction without promulgating a great quantity of administrative-law in connection therewith.

As we contemplate the significance of these events, we ask ourselves, "Is it the deliberate intent of the American people to centralize the control of their economic, educational and cultural activities in the Washington bureaucracy?"

Already banking, transportation, communication, housing, farm, education and labor problems revolve more and more around Washington. Is it the purpose of the American people to continue this process until we regiment ourselves under a strongly centralized government and are well on the road toward totalitarianism?

It is useless to say that, as long as we have the voting power, we can change all these things at will. We can no more do that than we can unscramble an egg. Once the fabric of a free society is destroyed, and the people learn to depend for direction and sustenance upon the central government, nothing short of violence and catastrophe will ever change it. It is easy to enter the domain of socialism but great pain and suffering are exacted of the people who would extricate themselves from its toils. We could turn back today with only minor dislocations and inconveniences.

What do you say we organize a National Assn. for the Prevention of Cruelty to the Inattentive Child?

I don't know of any organization that's got a copyright on the initials NAPIC. And that seems to be the way most drives get started.

What do you say we organize a National Assn. for the Prevention of Cruelty to the Inattentive Child?

Wouldn't it be awful if the Democrats spoke their piece last, and there wasn't a Republican keynote coming along to cheer us up?

under the bed! I am grateful that we have two parties, and I am even more grateful that, as a rule, the "outs" have the first say.

DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN

I rather suppose that every child rates an occasional scolding for "inattentiveness."

It's no easy matter to interrupt the "long, long thoughts" of youth with orders to bathe, get dressed, put on rubbers, hurry to the bus stop, finish homework or go to bed.

Unhappily, the child's inattentiveness cannot always be attributed to the greater attractiveness of what goes on in the youthful world of fantasy.

Sometimes the youngster is operating under a handicap. And, more often than not, the handicap is one that can be corrected or removed if it's detected in its early stages by an observant parent, teacher, nurse or school doctor.

Here are some of the conditions that may tend to blunt the child's attentiveness, particularly in class:

Undernutrition whether due to an insufficient quantity of food or to a poorly balanced diet. Insufficient sleep due to bad housing conditions that necessitate sharing the room (and even the bed) with other children and perhaps adults.

Unsanitary living conditions that place insurmountable difficulties in the way of body cleanliness and evacuation. Overcrowding in the school room with the usual accompaniment of poor ventilation.

Hearing defects due to blockage of eustachian tubes by nasal secretions or enlarged adenoids. Anemia due to overdependence on milk and failure to provide a mixed diet containing needed quantities of iron.

Thyroid deficiency, readily corrected by small daily doses of an effective extract. Overindulgence in caffeinated beverages (coffee, tea, cola, drinks), resulting in restlessness and an inability to concentrate.

Overdoses of antiepileptic drugs about which needlessly embarrassed parents have failed to notify school officials.

But that's not all. What makes the inattentive child's burden the more difficult to bear are the taunting words of classmates and eventual acceptance of a scholastic rating that never rises higher than a "just passing" mark.

What do you say we organize a National Assn. for the Prevention of Cruelty to the Inattentive Child?

I don't know of any organization that's got a copyright on the initials NAPIC. And that seems to be the way most drives get started.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

REV. RICHARD CREWS
First Christian Church

In day of turmoil and stress the Church is a symbol of calm and balanced living.

It offers you a sanctuary from the noise and confusion of the world, where you can "reap the harvest of the quiet mind."

It offers the great spiritual resources of God's love and guidance "if with all your heart you truly seek Him."

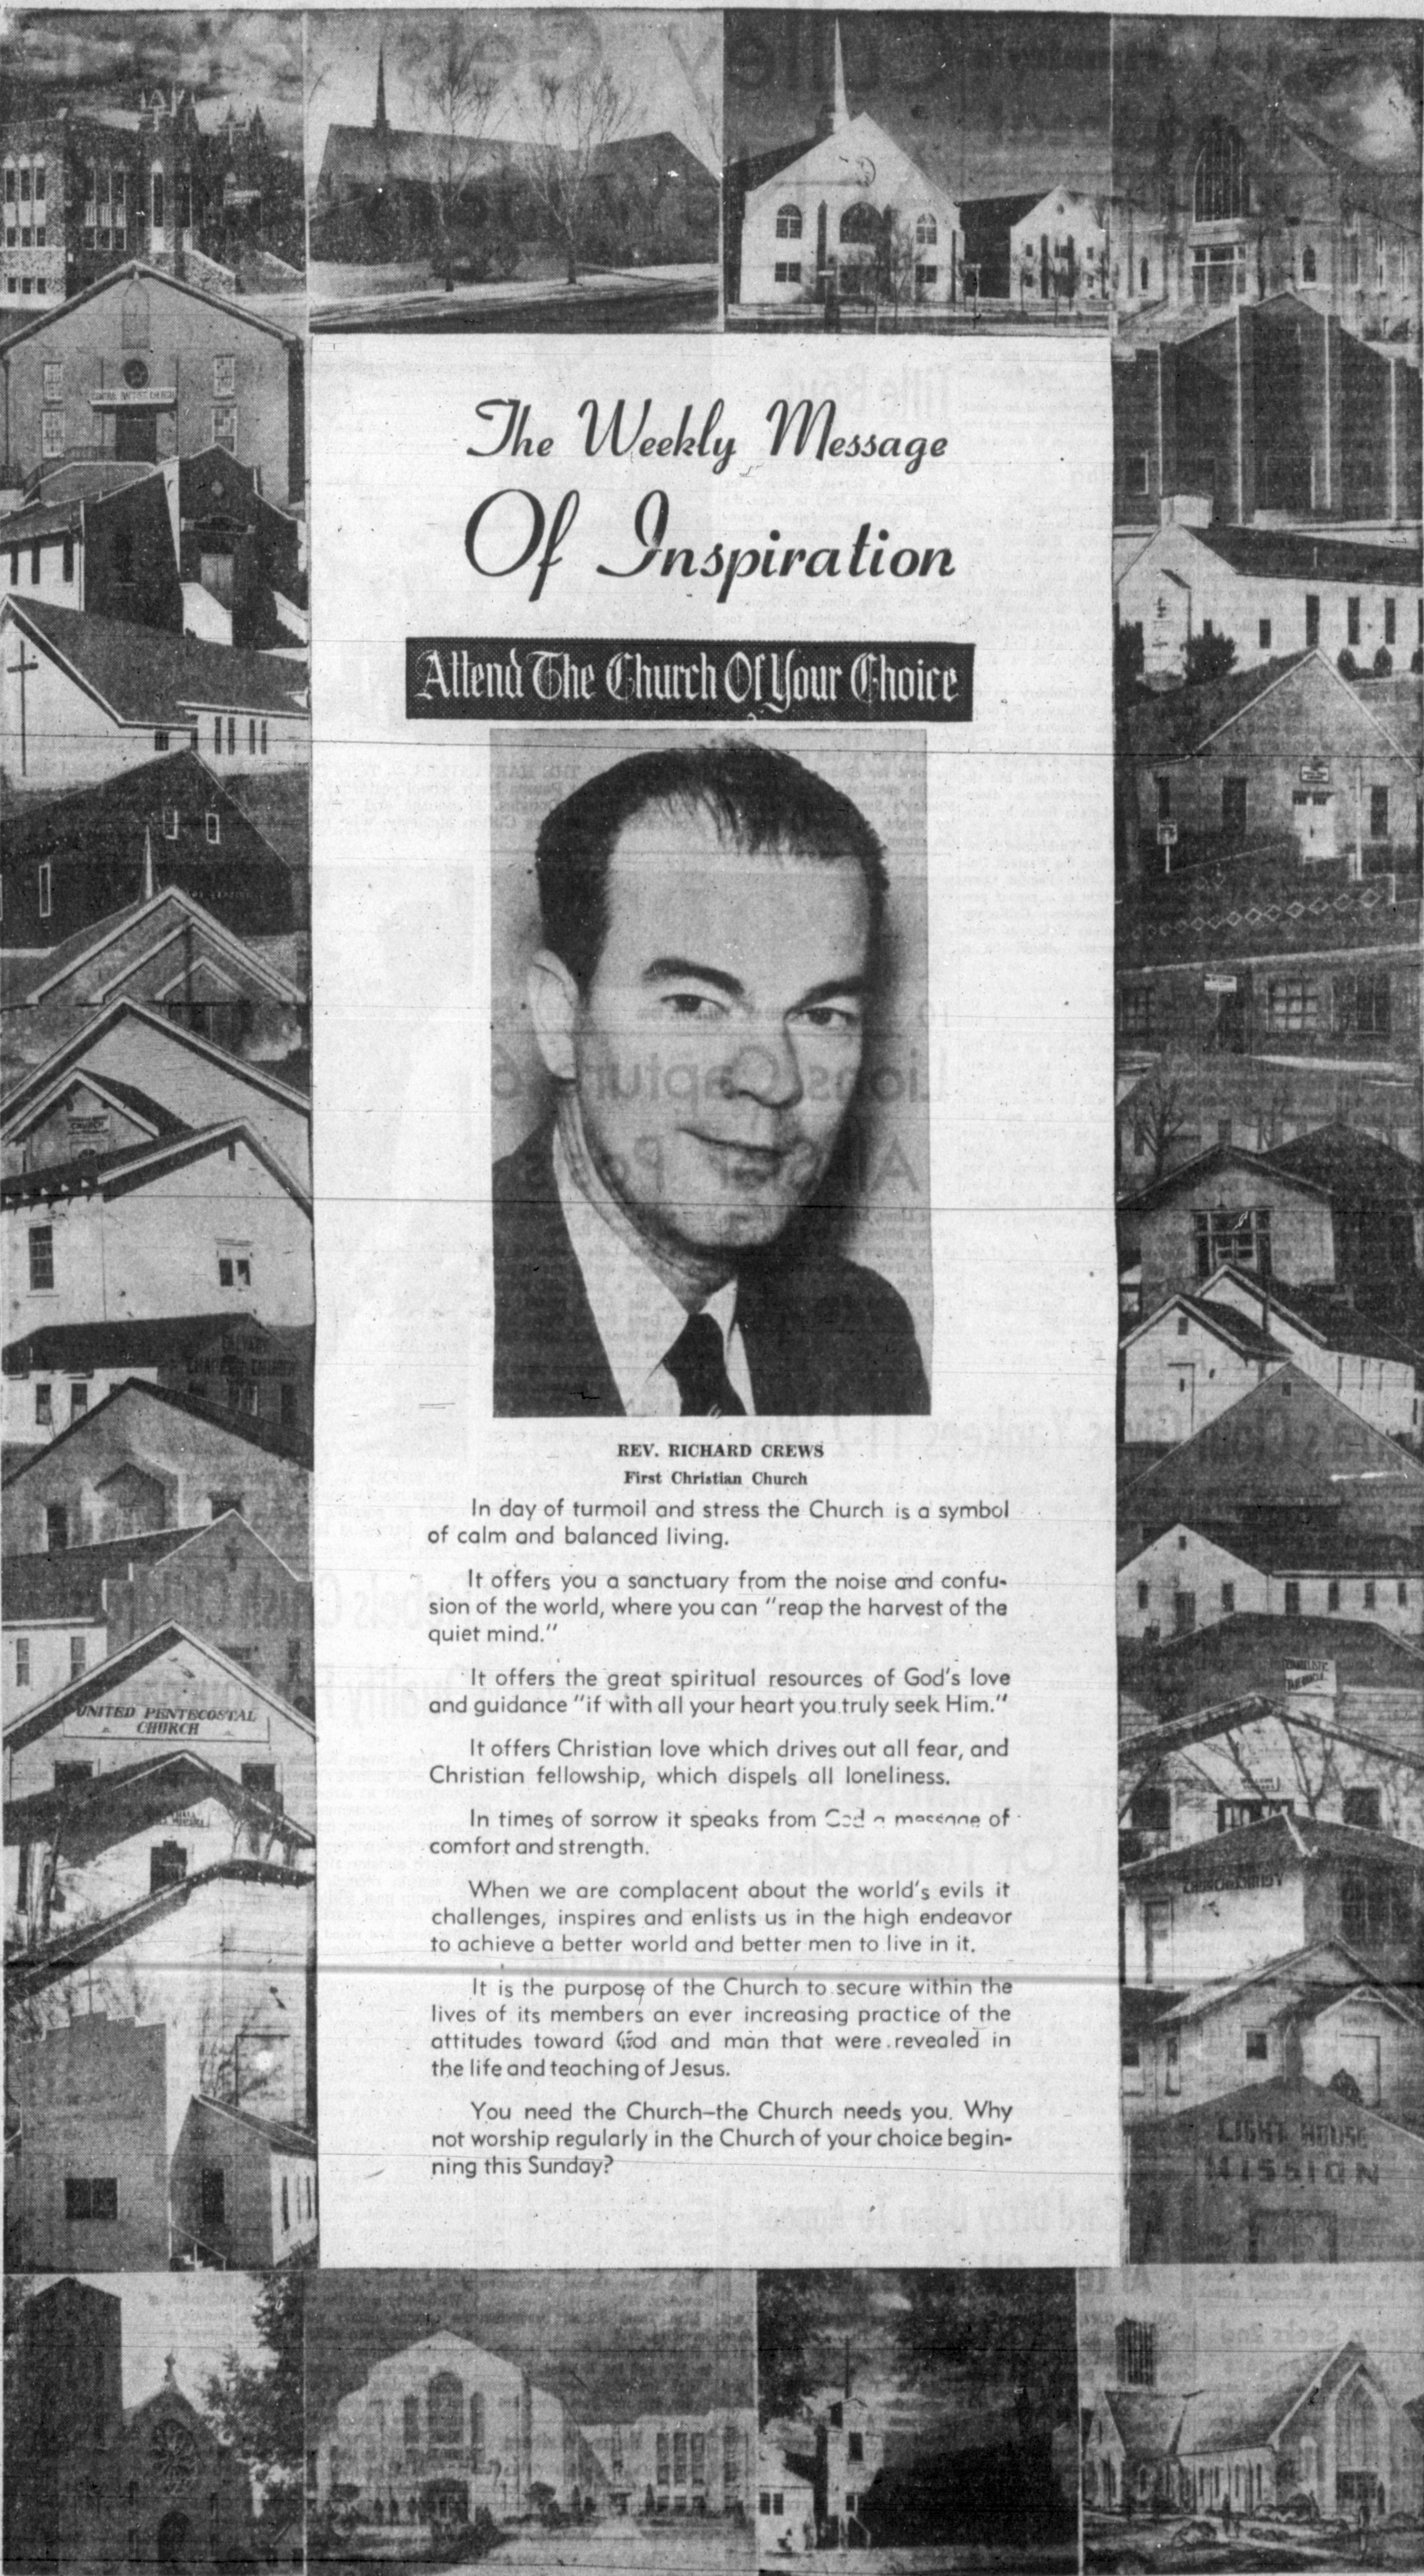

It offers Christian love which drives out all fear, and Christian fellowship, which dispels all loneliness.

In times of sorrow it speaks from God a message of comfort and strength.

When we are complacent about the world's evils it challenges, inspires and enlists us in the high endeavor to achieve a better world and better men to live in it.

It is the purpose of the Church to secure within the lives of its members an ever increasing practice of the attitudes toward God and man that were revealed in the life and teaching of Jesus.

You need the Church—the Church needs you. Why not worship regularly in the Church of your choice beginning this Sunday?

Preview Of Pigskin Fashions

Football Roundup of 1960, the first grid publication of the year, reared its tantalizing head on the news stands last week.

Between its covers, an assorted mixture of collegiates and pros on the front and Billy Cannon on the back, are the opinions of various writers across the nation about the outcome of this fall's grid wars.

There is only one thing lacking — a pre-season all-American and all-pro team.

But there are plenty of descriptions of major college teams throughout the country, plus the prospects in the National Football League, American Football League and Canadian League.

Whether the guesses of the writers are correct or not won't be known until December.

But chances are they'll be about the same as those in the rest of the forecasts that are yet to come out.

Texas Favored For SWC Flag

Here's a rundown of the way the college football races are supposed to come out in leading conferences:

Southwest — Texas, paced by brilliant quarterback Mike Cotten, will win the title and return to the Cotton Bowl. Baylor, the surprise of the year, will climb into the runner-up slot, followed by Arkansas and Texas Christian. Best bets for all-America are E. J. Holub, Texas Tech center, and Robert Lilly, tackle from Texas Christian.

Border — New Mexico State should crush its way to the title and a Sun Bowl bid, but the Aggies can expect some rugged competition from Temple State and Texas Western. West Texas State, in the first year of Joe Kerbel's reign, should finish last.

Big Ten — Pete Elliott's Fighting Illini of the University of Illinois is picked to improve a 5-3-1 record of a year ago and win the championship hands down. That is unless Michigan State and Northwestern, two more ranking powers, don't upset the standings.

Southeastern — Names like Billy Cannon, Johnny Robinson and Charlie Flowers are missing from the SEC this fall, but evidently it doesn't make much difference. Louisiana State and Mississippi are tabbed to battle right down to the wire for the title again this year, with Ole Miss enjoying a slight edge.

Big Eight — Contrary to the moans of Bud Wilkinson, the thinking is that the Sooners will romp to their ump-teenth Big Eight Conference championship. Kansas is a strong choice for second, but the experts are predicting a disappointing third-place finish by Missouri.

WESTERN — Washington is selected to capture the Western Universities AA (see Pacific Coast Conference) title in a repeat performance. Southern California, with the fabulous McKeever twins back in harness, should be a strong second.

Slingin' Sam Eyes AFL Title

Something new has been added in the professional football section — the American Football League.

The Eastern Division is rated as a tossup, now that the Houston Oilers have harnessed Billy Cannon.

The New York Titans, under the direction of Sammy Baugh, Buffalo Bills, Boston Patriots and Houston are all considered to be of championship caliber.

The Oakland Raiders, the last club to join the fledgling league, is picked to be the top contender in the Western Division. The Los Angeles Chargers, Denver Broncos and Dallas Texans are rated as better than average contenders.

If age doesn't catch up with Big Daddy Lipscomb, Gino Marchetti, Don Joyce and Art Donovan, the NFL playoff will be the same this winter as it has for the past two campaigns — the Baltimore Colts vs. the New York Giants. What with Mr. Wonderful, Johnny Unitas pitching to Ray Berry and Lenny Moore, the Colts will be unbeatable. That is if old age doesn't catch them.

Any way, that's the story of the first set of preseason predictions. On paper they look unbeatable. But so did the San Francisco Giants four months ago.

Pirates Slip Past Reds, 6-5

DETROIT (UPI) — Yogi Berra, one of five Yankees plagued by a virus, hit the eighth grand slam home run of his career Saturday to lead New York to a 11-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Berra's blast came in a five-run sixth inning. He also drove in New York's first run with a fourth winning single as the league leading Yanks snapped a four-game losing streak.

A virus which caused stomach disorder struck Berra, Tony Kuback, Hector Lopez, Whitey Ford and Ryne Duren Saturday morning.

But Berra told manager Casey Stengel he wanted to play and contributed the key blow of the game.

PIRATES 6, REDS 5
PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Dick Stuart belted his 13th home run of the season with one out in the ninth inning Saturday to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 6-5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds, ending a brief home slump.

The blast came off loser Jim Brosnan, last of three Reds pitchers, and delighted a crowd of 25,919, including 6,245 Knott-hole Club members.

It gave the Pirates a 10-2 edge in the season's series with Cincinnati and was the 50th victory of the campaign for Pittsburgh.

TRIBE 9, NATS 4
CLEVELAND (UPI) — Tito Francona drove in three runs with a single and double Saturday to lead a Cleveland attack on six Washington pitchers that gave the Indians their second straight victory over the Senators, 9-4.

DODGERS 6, GIANTS 1
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Big Stan Williams rolled to his ninth win of the season Saturday by pitching the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-1 victory over the deflated San Francisco Giants.

CARDS 2, CUBS 1
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — George

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — Deane Beman, of Bethesda, Md., and Jackie Cupit, Houston, Tex., a pair of 22-year-olds from college ranks, advanced Saturday into the finals of the 57th annual Trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

Beman, who lost to Jackie Nicklaus, Columbus, Ohio, in the finals a year ago, won 9 and 7 in his 36-hole semi-finals against Dean Smith, of Wichita. The University of Maryland senior, a former British amateur champion, won despite his worst round of the tournament.

Going into Saturday, Beman was nine strokes under par for the 99 holes he had played over the par 70 Wichita Country Club course.

Cupit, a three-time Missouri Valley Conference champion who graduated last spring from the University of Houston, won one up over 18-year-old Labron Harris, Jr., of Stillwater, Okla. Cupit was five strokes under par.

DALLAS (UPI) — Dizzy Dean, the former St. Louis Cardinal pitching great during the titious days of the famous Gas House Gang, will be at the Texas Old-Timers' Reunion at Burnett Field in Dallas Aug. 8.

Dean, now a member of baseball's Hall of Fame and TV baseball commentator, will participate in all of the activities of the reunion.

Larsen Seeks 2nd Win For Rangers
DALLAS (UPI) — Don Larsen, the former New York Yankee hurler who pitched a perfect game in the 1956 World Series, will make his Dallas-Fort Worth Ranger home debut at Dallas Thursday night.

Culley Gets 2-Year Contract As New Harvester Cage Coach

Given Free Hand To Choose Aid

BY LEE GRIMSLEY
Daily News Sports Editor

Terry Culley was picked to replace Clifton McNeely as head basketball coach at Pampa High School in an executive session of the schoolboard yesterday.

No salary terms were announced, but Knox Kinard, superintendent of schools, said Culley had been given a two-year contract.

Culley said he had been given a free hand in selecting an assistant, but didn't know yet who it would be. However, he did indicate he might offer the job to someone already in the Pampa school system.

Culley has served as an assistant to McNeely, who resigned earlier this week, for the past eight seasons.

Prior to that he was head basketball coach at Comanche High School for one season, compiling an 18-7 won-lost record.

Culley was a standout basketball performer during his collegiate days.

A native of Gladewater, he played two years at Tyler Junior College and finished up at North Texas State College in Denton.

"I'm not sure just how I'll coach the team or the type offense we'll use this year," Culley said shortly after the school board had signed him to a contract. "I'll just have to wait and see what the boys will be suited for."

Culley will have a tremendous job before him, trying to replace the winningest high school basketball coach in the state. During his 13 year stint here, McNeely had compiled an amazing record of 310 wins and 43 losses.

"I don't even dream about having that kind of record," Culley said. "I just wish that Mac was going to be around some more just to offer some assistance."

"Mac and I have been friends for a long time. In fact I think he's the best friend I ever had. And I know he's the greatest basketball coach in the state."

"It's going to be tough to fill his shoes."

Culley shares McNeely's opinion of the coming cage campaign when he says "it looks like things are going to be pretty thin."

But he also agrees with the former Harvester mentor that Pampa should have another district championship contender the following year.

"We've got some awfully good kids coming up from both junior highs," Culley said.

"So things will look a lot brighter after this season."

Culley, who lives at 1509 Williston, is married and has two children — Terry Ann, 8, and Robert Douglas, 20 months.

LA Seeking Title Bout

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The California Athletic Commission approved a license Saturday for Feature Sports Inc., to stage the third world heavyweight championship match of Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson at the Coliseum either Oct. 31 or Nov. 1.

At the same time, the Commission granted another license for promoters Cal and Alleen Eaton to hold a middleweight title bout between champion Gene Fullmer and aging Ray Robinson on Oct. 8—if New York and Maryland lift their suspensions against Sugar Ray.

There was no talk of any other opponent for champion Patterson, despite speculation the winner of Monday's Sonny Liston-Zora Foley might be offered a shot at the crown.

Lions Capture 6 All-Star Posts

The Lions, headed by the league-leading hitter, Jimmy Lollar, landed six players on the Pony League all-star team which was announced last night.

The 15-man all-star squad will participate in the Childress tournament which begins Tuesday and continues through Friday.

Aside from Lollar, who led the Pony League during the regular season with a lofty .317 batting average, the Lions placed Dee Wright, Gene Storris, Kenny Miller, Charles Woods and Larry Johnson on the team.

Four players from the First National Bank made the team, followed by three from Cree Drilling and two from Kist.

The Bankers landed Mike Schole, Gary Laremore, Ronnie Goodwin and James Strickland. Cree placed Larry Gregory, Phil Woodring and Mike Bridges; and Kist landed Mike Steward and Bobby Price.

Ten of the players will carry batting averages of .300 or better into the Childress tournament. Of that number one is hitting above .500 and three top the .400 mark.

The all-star team:

Rebels Crush Childress; Qualify For Tournament

The Pampa Rebels slaughtered Childress, 13-1, Friday night and gained entrance to this week's American League tournament at Amarillo.

The tournament will begin Tuesday night at Potter County Stadium, home of the Texas League Gold Sox.

The Rebels captured the Eastern division title with an 8-1 season record, thanks to the romp past Childress, and a 6-0 district mark.

But their first round tournament opponent won't be determined until the western division outcome is decided.

Borger currently leads the division with a 5-1 record, but Amarillo (5-2) and Palo Duro (3-2) still have shots at the title.

Rebel Manager Lloyd Summer has lined up one more non-district game for his club as a tuneup for the tournament.

The Rebels will play Stinnett in a non-district contest at Optimist Park Monday at 8 p.m.

In the tournament, the Rebels will open Tuesday night's doubleheader with the winner of the western crown.

The nightcap will pit the second place finishers against each other.

Wednesday night the winners of the opening games will open against each other, while the losers play the nightcap.

The once-beaten teams will play Thursday night, and the victor of that contest will meet the unbeaten club for the championship.

The Rebels never looked better than they did in their romp past Childress Friday night.

They banged out 14 hits, including two doubles by Roy Don Stephens and another by Larry Stroud, to score in every inning.

Childress managed only two hits

'Runners Battle Woodward Today

The Pampa Roadrunners got back into action today at Shattuck, Okla., when they meet Woodward in a 2 p.m. game.

Manager Nevt Secrest completed arrangements for the game shortly before the Roadrunners took the field for a game last night.

The 'Runners had three games canceled by last week's rain, and are attempting to make them up.

Olympic Cyclists

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some 250 amateur cyclists will compete for six positions on the U.S. Olympic cycling team on July 23-24. Trials will be conducted on the 6 1/2-mile roadway of Central Park.

SPRITELY SPRITE — John Hooper stayed strapped in the seat of his Austin-Haley Sprite, which collided with another sports car recently at the Pomona, Calif., track. The Sprite bounced high in the air and landed upside down, but Hooper suffered only a broken rib and finger.

Fledgling AFL, With Leading College Stars, Begins Grind

By HARRY GRAYSON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
All eight clubs of the new American Football League were in training yesterday and by now the National League owners who new rocks at the new alignment must realize that its progressive proprietors mean business.

That it had no intention of expanding, the National League created an untenable situation in Dallas by placing a well-stocked club there in opposition to the American League Texas. The result was a $10 million antitrust suit.

The American League has made almost unbelievable progress. It is battling a thousand against the established order to date — in court and in the scampers for preferred college players.

Each club is assured $265,000 in television swag, which acts as a cushion in case one or more of them fall flat on their kissers.

Conference in that there is vastly more interest in professional football now and because they are all starting from scratch.

Salary Should Be Equal To Value To Team

Mauch Eyes Pay Equilization

PHILADELPHIA (NEA) — After exactly one day of championship play, Eddie Sawyer decided that the Phillies were the worst major league squad he ever saw and he chucked it as manager.

It didn't take Gene Mauch much longer than that to turn the revitalized Redcaps into the most exciting Philadelphia club since the Whiz Kids of 1950.

What's the biggest difference between managing in the minors and majors?

"It's harder to bring a big league club together as a unit," replied Mauch, who was hastily called up from the Minneapolis Millers of the American Association to wrap the Phillies into one king-size package.

"Unfortunately, individual performance gets the money up here. If I had my way, a player would be paid according to team value, not just for individual brilliance such as hitting a lot of home runs when they don't mean anything."

It was pointed out to Mauch that after all professional baseball was a business which needed attractions.

"Certainly," agreed Gene, "baseball can use all the individual attractions it can find, but just try to recall one winning outfit that didn't draw well. Take this year's Pirates. No one player sticks out too far ahead of another, but the Pirates possess the most important thing of all. They're hungry and have the healthy approach to togetherness."

When Sawyer threw in the towel, John Quinn knew precisely where to look for his successor. Having obtained permission to dick, General Manager Quinn put in a call for Mauch at 11:30 that night. Gene then was trying to make sense out of the Millers in Florida. Mauch was 27 when he broke in as a playing manager with Atlanta of the Southern Association, a Milwaukee subsidiary, in 1953, and Quinn was the Braves' general manager. Quinn had his eye on

"I got a lot from Billy Southworth when I was with the Boston Braves. From Billy I learned how to analyze the league. He knew what he needed to beat the other clubs — a little here and a little there."

"I spent half the season of 1952 with Eddie Stanky in St. Louis. Now I have as much respect for Stanky as a person as anyone I ever met, but from Eddie I learned what not to do as a manager. Eddie was too demanding. He couldn't realize that the game didn't mean as much to all the players as it did to him and a guy like myself. We were willing to break a leg to win. A lot of players aren't."

Other major league clubs had Gene Mauch in mind when John Quinn pagged him.

Everybody agrees that this personable young fellow knows the business and has added a few wrinkles of his own.

Within the past several days a very reliable source said Commissioner Ford Frick already had notified Doherty the American Association will lose two of its cities immediately.

Does this mean that Houston, at long last, will be in the big leagues next season? It very well could. Houston has been mentioned in just about every story you've read about expansion in the last six months. The recent census, which established Houston as the nation's sixth largest city, certainly did the chemical center no harm.

While nobody appears willing to identify the cities to be taken, it is positive the National League would return to New York, and that the cities most likely to get the other franchises are Houston, Minneapolis and Dallas.

If the expansion is to 10 clubs in each league, then presumably it would be New York and Minneapolis in the National and Houston and Dallas in the American.

Should it be a nine-club expansion, Houston would find itself competing against Minneapolis, a city that has a big league stadium ready. For this reason, you'd naturally feel skittish about Houston's chances since that city has no stadium of major league proportions anywhere near ready.

Doherty said his opinion was based on conversations with people in the major leagues.

"I talked just recently with a couple of club owners, and they say it's coming next season," Doherty continued. "Nobody will say which cities will be taken, or how many, but the talk now seems to center around 10-club leagues."

From whom did Mauch learn most of his baseball?

"Leo Durocher was the first major league manager I was exposed to," recollected Gene, "and he had the impact on me that such a forceful manager would have on an impressionable 17-year-old."

the Mississippi fullback, to the Los Angeles club.

The American signed 68 per cent of the stars in last fall's college output, giving it practically a corner on name players.

This included the All-America backfield of Cannon, Flowers, Richie Lucas of Penn State and Northwestern's Ron Burton. The Buffalo Bills landed Lucas. Burton went to the Boston Patriots with Ger Schwedes, the Syracuse luminary, and numerous others.

Houston grabbed all All-American tackles, Don Floyd of Texas Christian and Wisconsin's Dan Lanphear. The Oilers also lassoed Bob White, the Ohio State battering ram. This is just to give you a rough idea of how the American so abruptly cut in on what would have been the elder league's new talent. And don't think it didn't hurt.

Each outfit is budgeted at a million dollars and wealthy backers appear ready to lose at first in order to succeed in the end.

Each club is assured $265,000 in television swag, which acts as a cushion in case one or more of them fall flat on their kissers.

The American League has still another advantage over the late lamented All-American

Conference in that there is vastly more interest in professional football now and because they are all starting from scratch.

Paul Brown of Cleveland got the jump on the All-American Conference and was three years ahead of the other clubs before it started. They never did catch him.

The American League has a competition and a full share of celebrities to sell. So, it's New York, Buffalo, Boston and Houston in the Eastern Division and Dallas, Denver, Los Angeles and Oakland in the Western.

Just try and keep up with pro football this fall.

tonio's Jesse Rogers, with 16 each.

Thomas, although he has played in only 54 of his team's 87 games, was second in runs batted in with 68.

Amarillo, though in last place, leads in club batting with .281, while Austin, in a virtual tie for the cellar, was hitting .274.

Hiller paces the league in hits, 121, and three others are above the 100-hit level—Joe Arenivar of Amarillo with 114, Manuel Mota of the Valley Giants with 108 and Al Paschal of Victoria with 102.

Arenivar and Ducote share the lead in the run-scoring category with 64 each.

Valley's Ron Herbel set the pace among pitchers with 18 victories and only one loss. Jack Curtis of San Antonio was the winningest hurler with 12 wins and five losses, while Bobby Bolin of the Giants and Jim Proctor of Victoria each have 10-4 records.

Curtis also is the league's hardest-working moundsman, having pitched 161 innings, and Bolin is the circuit's strikeout king, with 110. Austin's Charley Gorin has chalked up 109 strikeouts and Herbel 105.

Howton Quits Browns
CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Billy Howton, one of the National Football League's top pass catchers for the past eight seasons, has notified the Cleveland Browns that he plans to retire. After eight seasons with the Green Bay Packers, Howton was obtained by the Browns last year. He played college ball at Rice.

Big League Expansion Is Due In '61, Doherty Says

By BOB RULE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOUSTON, Tex. (NEA) — Ed Doherty is a knowledgeable baseball man and in his capacity as head of one of the five best leagues it is almost daily contact with the game's top brass.

So when Doherty, youngish president of the American Association, tells you expansion is coming in the big leagues immediately, you quite naturally snap to attention.

"I have no doubt about it," Doherty told me, "expansion is coming in 1961."

He quickly explained he was expressing a private opinion, that he had been told nothing officially. And it might be pointed out that this comes from a man who doubtless would prefer for the major leagues not to expand. Expansion can only damage the league of which he is president. That's why his statement is so important.

"There is more indication of expansion now than at any time in history — immediate expansion, too," Doherty went on.

Doherty said his opinion was based on conversations with people in the major leagues.

"I talked just recently with a couple of club owners, and they say it's coming next season," Doherty continued. "Nobody will say which cities will be taken, or how many, but the talk now seems to center around 10-club leagues."

From whom did Mauch learn most of his baseball?

"Leo Durocher was the first major league manager I was exposed to," recollected Gene, "and he had the impact on me that such a forceful manager would have on an impressionable 17-year-old."

AND THEN THERE IS THE STORY of one of our friends, who shall be nameless to avoid embarrassment, who watched all the convention proceedings... and who suffered Wednesday through all the nominations of favorite sons and what not... and THEN... when the nomination speeches were at an end, and the hoorawing was done and the time for the roll-call of states and the voting to begin... calmly fell asleep and woke up after it was all over... having missed the only part really fun to watch!

The most agreeable thing in life is worthy accomplishment.
Edgar Howe

AND THEN THERE IS ALSO THE BIG FISH STORY... subtitled: "The One That Didn't Get Away"... or "Answer to a Fisherman's Prayer"... this little epic concerns the battle of the seven-and-one-half-pound bass and a certain avid fisherman whose name we shall call Harvey Nensiel... once upon a time this man Harvey went a-fishing on a lake somewhere around Pampa... it was an auspicious day... because he didn't forget to take along the tackle and because the fish were biting... all went well so that man and fish came out of the lake together... the proud man the catcher of one of the largest Bass around here... then came the parade of friends and well-wishers to Harvey's home to view the remains... and to congratulate him enviously... and with a self-satisfied grin Harvey retired, momentarily tired from the battle... but the battle of the fish and the sequel to the story runs thusly: if you will think back to a day more than two weeks ago, a day when the sun chose to stew everyone here... (the hottest day we have had so far this year, if we remember rightly)... on that day fish and fisherman's WIFE, that all-suffering character... in this case named Ruth... went out of the house together on their way to Amarillo... to the house of a taxidermist... wife and fish, fried or simmered together on the trip to Amarillo... both arriving slightly cooked and they spent the rest of the day driving around Amarillo in search of the man who would stuff the beastie... so that it could hang in the place of honor on the patio of the Nensiel's charming home... this errand having been accomplished, and the battle over, fisherman's wife also retired, very tired, from the battle, leaving the taxidermist and the fish to their fates... and the only moral that we can draw from this story is that we don't know which is worse... to stand over a hot stove cooking the fish or to cart its carcass all over Amarillo on a sweltering day to have it stuffed! We leave the decision to you... it will be on display soon... the fish, that is.

The lives of great men and women are miracles of patience and perseverance.
Mary Baker Eddy

MOST OVERWORKED WORD in the English language for the next few months will be the word GREAT... this favorite of all political candidates and the mainstay of all political speeches... a word about which, no doubt, no politician could live... this will be a great country... a great party... a great candidate... and a great anything else that comes along... including this great column... we seem to be in a mood of great levity today.

NOW WE SHALL TRY to settle down a bit... notice that Polly and Gene Sidwell have returned from their tour of Europe... and no doubt are happy to be back and not living any longer out of a suitcase... there is something to be said about home where there is a closet... and speaking of leaving... Cliff and Peggy McNeely will be sorely missed by friends and acquaintances... but we wish him the best of luck and a long career in whatever field he chooses... we saw the twins swimming in the pool several times in past weeks... and they are just like fish in the water... and so they should be... and Tracy Cary is in Washington, D. C., taking a course in genealogy this past week... this subject seems to have quite a following... can it be classed as a hobby?... if so, it seems to be a popular one... and speaking of hobbies... one of the most popular hobbies today is that of doll collecting... and in connection with that we shall have more to say next week... and so it goes.

Diplomacy is the art of keeping cool.
William Jennings Bryan

INCIDENTAL INTELLIGENCE... the current reflection of the growth of the vending industry appears in the news that now there is a machine that will change dollar-bills into coin of the realm... Automatic Canteen Company is manufacturing the thing... a modest waist-high cabinet with a slot into which the dollar bill is fed... you shove the receiving tray into the machine... it begins to hum and within seconds quarters, dimes and nickels begin to clink into a cup... and there you are... if you try to insert a five-peso bill or a piece of play money, the machine looks it over, and firmly but politely pushes the non-dollar back at you... and it doesn't shout cheater at you either.

HERE AND THERE... interesting sidelight to the convention and the nomination of Kennedy... Mrs. Earl New, Jr., was no doubt watching the proceedings with interest, for her family comes from Brookline where the Kennedy boys were born and grew up... and has known them for years... it is always fun to see people one knows rise up in the world... the attractive and energetic Majunta Hills entertained last Thursday in her home with a coffee for new people of the parish... to introduce them around a little bit and so forth... and not only that, but the evening before, she had given a birthday party for her oldest son, Shawn, who at 15, is a very tall and handsome member of the teenage crowd... honestly, Majunta is indefatigable... incidentally, some of the guests at the aforementioned coffee were Mrs. William (Paulo) Lewis... and Mrs. Charlie (Mary) Cawthon... and Mrs. Olan (Sue) Aemisegger.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY... The guilt of not answering letters weighs down on my conscience at night. I suffer and groan in the silence, but nothing can force me to write!
Rebecca McCann

WE WERE PLEASED TO SEE... recently that Beverly Lang is out and about again... and we were delighted to hear about the pretty patio that Mary Jones and her mother, Mrs. Abbot, have worked on this spring and summer... Mrs. Abbot has ringed the patio with white bricks and is training pink roses to go thru the spaces between the bricks... a charming effect... a round-of-parties is beginning for Linda Steele who is to be married in the near future... beginning with one at Sara and Martha Gordon's home... a potter-y shower, we understand... and we were very pleased to hear that Betty Tom Riddle and that handsome Howard Graman are to be married in August... we think they will make a terrific pair.

SO WITHOUT MORE ADD... we shall leave you with this thought... the funniest thing we know is to save the papers from before a convention or an election... and then read them "after the fact" and see how silly the pundits' predictions have been.

Love, Peg

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Fred Dwayne Hedgecok

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Head, south of the city, announce the marriage of their daughter, Constance LaRue, to Fred Dwayne Hedgecok, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hedgecok, Sr., of Stinnett. Double-ring vows were solemnized on July 9 in a morning ceremony performed by the Rev. Winifred Moore in First Baptist parsonage, Amarillo. For her wedding, the bride wore a pink sheath complemented with black accessories and a corsage fashioned from white orchids. Miss Betty Ford of Claude and Jerry Hill of Plains were the couple's attendants. Following a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N. M., the couple will make their future home in Canyon, where the bridegroom is a senior student and will receive a degree in physical education in May. He is a member of Buffalo Football team and a member of the T Club. The bride attended North Texas State and West Texas State College, where she is a member of Chi Omega Sorority. She is a second semester senior and will receive a BS degree in elementary education in January.

Double-ring vows were repeated before an altar flanked with tall white baskets of white mums, tall white baskets of fern and tapered candelabra holding lighted white tapers. For the benediction, the couple knelt on a white satin prie dieu.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride was gowned in Rose Point lace and tulle over taffeta featuring a bateau neckline, three-quarter length sleeves shirred at the elbow. The bride came to points in front and was closed down the back to the waistline with tiny, covered buttons. The bouffant, waltz-length skirt featured back panels of tulle and lace ruffles.

Her fingertip Veil of Illusion fell from a seed pearl tiara. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis arranged with white satin ribbons tied in Lover's Knots.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Barbara Archer, maid of honor, wore a mint-green nylon organza dress fashioned with a bateau neckline and full, gathered skirt enjoined to a three-quarter sleeved, fitted bodice. She wore a matching picture hat, mitts and shoes and carried a nosegay of white split carnations.

Bridesmaids were Misses Jan and Jeanne Atkinson, bride's sisters; Miss Molly Flaherty of Groom, bridegroom's niece. They were dressed identically as the maid of honor and carried carnation nosegays.

Benzel Rippy served as best man. Ushers were Joe Watson and Dennis Carruth, cousins of the bride.

Candlelighters were David Carruth of Borger, bride's cousin and Mike Flaherty of Groom, bridegroom's nephew.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Atkinson chose a gray silk sheath with a sheer tunic, mauve accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Bright wore an ecru linen dress with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

RECEPTION
A reception was given in Civic Center, immediately following the ceremony, by Mrs. A. C. Houchin of Pampa, grandmother of the bride, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Houchin of Canadian, Mrs. Ray Carruth of Borger and Mrs. R. M. Watson of Lefors, aunts of the bride.

The serving table was covered with white net over mint-green taffeta with the bridesmaid's bouquets arranged around white wedding bells for the centerpiece. Mint-green napkins inscribed "Judy and Bob", silver and crystal completed the table appointments. Mrs. N. M. Flaherty, bride- (Continued on Page 15)

Wilkinson-Freeman Betrothal Is Told

WHITE DEER (Spl) — The Rev. and Mrs. Noel Parker Wilkinson, San Antonio, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Beverly Harriett, to Jack Clyde Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Freeman, White Deer.

The wedding is planned for August 13 in Harlandale Presbyterian Church, San Antonio.

Miss Wilkinson is a graduate of North Texas State College, Denton, with a bachelor of science degree in secondary education. Mr. Freeman was graduated from Texas Christian University Ft. Worth, with a B.S. degree in physical education and received his masters degree in education at North Texas State College.

The couple will make their home in San Antonio, where Mr. Freeman will teach physical education in one of the public schools.

Ladies' Golf Ass'n. Plans Tournament

At Pampa Women's Golf Association luncheon held Thursday in Pampa Country Club, plans were discussed for the 3-day Panhandle Women's Golf Association Tournament to be held in the local club August 2-4.

Ruthie Hall, Ass'n president, announced that approximately 100 feminine golfers are expected to attend from Amarillo, Borger, Dumas and Pampa. A luncheon in the County Club is planned for opening day.

Plans were also discussed for local golfers to attend Panhandle Day's play at Phillips Country Club on Thursday, July 21. Reservations should be turned in by noon of the 20th to Barbara Dobbins.

Also included in the luncheon-business meeting, was the announcement of winners from June 16th Scotch Foursome Play, as follows: Joanne Osborne, Billy Don Watkins, low net team; Dot Clark, Lil Hall, low gross team; Mac Hubbard, Betty Brown, high team.

Winners in the June 23 String Tournament were Ruth Hall, low; Juanita Tinsley, high. In the Bingle, Bangle, Bungle play on June 30th, winners were Lil Hall, first and Betty Garren, second.

It was announced that the next regular play day at the Country Club is August 28, which will be an Alibi Event.

Attending the luncheon were Mrs. Charles Ashby, George Casey, W. B. Clark, R. E. Darsey, Jim Deaton, Warren Fatheree, Henry Frazier, M. L. Hall, Scott Hall, Carlis Hills, George Hofess, Ray Kuhn, Jack Osborne, Bob Prichard, Tom Wade, Melvin Watkins, A. J. Carubbi, R. E. Dobbins, C. S. Youngblood, Bob Williams; Miss Shirley Austin.

PLANS SEPTEMBER VOWS

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Tatum, 1631 Dogwood Lane, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lynn, to Gary Mims, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henington of Mineola. The wedding is planned for September 9 in First Methodist Church.

Miss Broadbent, W. Joe Phipps Say Nuptial Vows In Tabernacle Service

The Evangelistic Tabernacle was the scene at 8:30 p.m. Monday of the marriage of Miss Barbara Sue Broadbent, Pampa, to Airman 3rd class W. Joe Phipps, Charlotte, N.C., now stationed at Amarillo Air Force Base.

Officiating at the ceremony were the Rev. Charles Ryne, Pampa, and the Rev. Leo Baumann, Borger, before an altar decorated with baskets of roses and greenery. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Broadbent, 837 E. Brunow. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Phipps of Charlotte, N.C.

Mrs. Leo Baumann, organist, played the traditional wedding march and recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was dressed in an aqua brocade taffeta street length dress, fashioned with a large shawl collar. Her tulle veil of illusion fell from a small white silk leaf-covered hat. She wore a white pearl necklace and earrings and carried a white pearl Bible adorned with rose buds and white ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Wayne Broadbent of Amarillo, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a white linen suit with light blue accessories.

Fred Broadbent, brother of the bride, served Mr. Phipps as best man.

The bride's mother chose a white linen suit with blue accessories complemented with a pink corsage.

During their honeymoon, the couple will visit Mr. Phipps' parents, who were unable to attend the ceremony.

After their return, Mrs. Phipps will be at home with her parents, and Mr. Phipps will leave for duty in Japan.

TO WED IN AUGUST

Miss Carlyn Louise Bailey

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Bailey, 609 Sloan, announce their daughter, Carlyn Louise, is the bride-elect of Jerry A. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Baker of Skellytown. Wedding vows will be repeated on August 12, 7:30 p.m. in Central Baptist Church. Miss Bailey was graduated from Pampa High School in 1959 and is employed by Douglass, Thompson and Douglass. Her fiancé was graduated in 1958 from White Deer High School, attended Frank Phillips College, Borger, and Panhandle A&M in Goodwell, Okla. He is employed by Cabot Carbon Co. (Photo, Roberts Studio)

Pampa Visitor Is Honored At Party

Floyd Hollis Riley of Fort Stockton was honored with a party Thursday on the occasion of his ninth birthday given in his grandparents home, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ward, 719 N. Frost. He and his mother, the former Lela Ward, who have been visiting here, returned to their home in Ft. Stockton Friday.

Games and refreshments comprised the birthday party entertainment.

Guests were Lynda Secrest, Mary Lou Fryeman, Randy Henslee, Craig and David Kemp, Gray Dudley, Carol, John Beth, Tommy Rich, Gary Grady, and Pat Corcoran.

Grandview 4H Club Plans For Review

Grandview 4H Club met in Grandview School this week for further work on garments to be entered in the Gray County Dress Review held July 15 in Lovett Library.

Plans for entering the garments were discussed.

Refreshments were served during the social hour by the hostess, Miss Kathy Davis, to Roselle Baggerman, Karen McCarthy, Connie Burger, Mrs. Dean Burger, adult leader and Miss Lou Ella Patterson, HD agent.

BRIDAL SHOWER — Miss Linda Steele was guest of honor at a bridal shower given Friday evening in the Joe Gordon home, 1811 Charles. Pictured here are the hos-

Miss Linda Steele, Bride-Elect, Honored With Bridal Shower In Gordon Home

Miss Linda Steele, bride-elect of Brent Perry, whose marriage will be performed on August 6 in First Methodist Church, was honoree for a pottery shower and salad supper Friday evening in the home of Misses Sara and Martha Gordon, 1811 Charles, with their mother, Mrs. Joe Gordon as assisting hostesses.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. Aubrey Steele, were presented with corsages of white feathered carnations; the honoree's was accented with a miniature, pottery cup and saucer designed with Blue-Birds.

Miss Sara Gordon was guest registrar.

A highlight of the evening's party was the re-enactment of events in the lives of the hostesses and honoree, who have been friends since early childhood. The skit, patterned after the TV program, was entitled "This Is Your Life, Linda Steele" with Martha as moderator and Sara enacting various scenes ranging from childhood, through elementary, junior high and high school days, up to the present and continuing through, until in years hence, when Miss Steele becomes a "grandmother."

A selection of salads were served from a table covered with a white cloth with a blue organdy over-skirt centered with a five-branched candelabra holding tall, white tapers, which were encircled with white meline nosegays of white feathered carnations.

Tea was served from a smaller, circular table covered with a blue cloth with a white organdy over-cloth extending in a deep-floor-length ruffle. Forming a focal point of the tea table was a giant, crystal apothecary jar with a bride-doll enclosed and with square, crystal votive cups containing Ice-Blue crystals forming a semi-circle around the base of the jar.

Guests dined from individual tables which were covered with white linen cloths centered with stemmed hurricane lamps holding blue tapers and encircled at the base with blue-pompon mums.

Special guests were Miss Judy Prescott of Altus, Okla., who is a houseguest in the Steele home and will be a member of Miss Steele's bridal party.

Mission Program Given By Circles

LEFORS (Spl) — NINA HANKINS CIRCLE, of Women's Missionary Union met Tuesday afternoon in Baptist church for a mission program by Mrs. Frank Cooksey, entitled, "Sharing Possessions." Teel, who played the part of pay check; Mrs. O. C. Mills in the role of trade mark; and Mrs. Davis Robinson as price tags.

Mrs. Tom Florence read the prayer calendar, and Mrs. H. L. Teel led in prayer for missionaries. Mrs. Florence closed with prayer. Others present were Mrs. James Lancaster, and Mrs. Robert Magill.

THE LOTTIE MOON CIRCLE met with Mrs. Jake Leggett for Bible study Tuesday morning at 8:45. Mrs. J. D. Halley presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Bill Tillman led opening prayer, and Mrs. Leggett brought the study.

Osborne, Ginger Hopkins, Jeannine Leith, Phyllis Gardner, Cynthia Duncan, Ruth Smith, Ann Adcock, Bonnie Glaxner, Maynette Loftus, Carol Rose Miller, Dianne Zachry, Jo Ann Jones, Karla Cox, and Lavada Naylor.

Miss Shelton Feted With Bride's Party

LEFORS (Spl) — Mrs. Jim Shelton, the former Miss Vivian Ann Williams, was honored with a bridal shower in Civic Center on Tuesday night.

Hostesses were Meses. B. W. Wilson, L. G. Peirce, E. E. Traywick, Joe Montgomery, E. W. Connell, A. A. Wharton, W. T. Cole, George Fogleman, McRoy Wright, and Jimmy Davis.

Mrs. James Mean registered guests at a table covered with a pink cloth, complemented with a pink rose in a pink bud vase. Background music was played through out the evening. The colors pink and gray, were carried out in the serving table with a white cutwork cloth applied in gray, over pink linen used to cover the table, with a center piece of pink roses in a pink vase placed on a reflector.

The five-layer homemade white cake, topped with wedding bells was served by Mrs. Joe Montgomery as Mrs. Jack Traywick presided at the crystal punch service.

A corsage with a pastel colored sponge background arranged with ribbon and kitchen things, was presented to the honoree, and a similar corsage was presented to the bride-elect's mother Mrs. Travis Williams.

Thirty seven persons attended or sent gifts.

If a friend insists on paying when you thought a meal was to be Dutch treat, accept graciously. Pick up the check next time.

Old Age Happiness Forms HDC Topic

"Why do we fear old age?" was the provocative question asked by Mrs. Jack Howard in opening remarks of a talk presented on "Growing Old" at a meeting of Merten Home Demonstration Club held Wednesday 1:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Walter Murphy, Cities Service Camp.

Mrs. Howard continued the discussion, "Maybe it is because we associate old age with loneliness, infirmity, dependence, boredom and defeat."

"Yet old age does not necessarily mean any of these things," she continued. "We can prepare ourselves in middle-age for financial problems; learn new things, plan to keep on doing something as long as we can."

Mrs. Howard concluded by saying "Starting to learn and develop different interests is difficult at any age, but if you have a real desire and the courage to persist, you cannot fail to have some measure of success."

Mrs. Bob Randon, president, presided over a brief business meeting during which the secretary's report was given by Mrs. A. M. Nash. Roll call was answered by "New Hobbies I Have Taken Up."

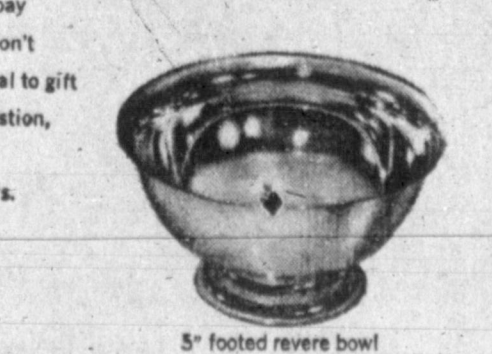

Mrs. Murphy directed a game, which was won by Mrs. Brandon, during the recreation hour. Refreshments were served to Meses. Brandon, Jack Howard, A. M. Nash, Vard Smith, Jack Prather and one guest, Miss Diana Crawford.

Nuptial Vows Said In Home Service

GROOM (Spl) — Miss Minnie Whirman of Amarillo former groom resident, became the bride of James B. Marshall of Amarillo recently. The double-ring ceremony was read by M. Carver, Church of Christ minister, in the home of L. B. Hammonds, bridegroom's grandfather, in Amarillo. The bride wore a street-length dress of pale pink with white accessories and carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of rosebuds. Miss Jerrie Reagan of Amarillo attended as bridesmaid. Fred Marshall of Canyon, bridegroom's father, was best man. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Thurman of Groom, was graduated from Lockney High School. The bridegroom, Canyon High School graduate, is employed by North Texas Texas Producers Ass'n. They will make their home in Amarillo.

Double-Ring

(Continued from Page 13) groom's sister, presided at the punch service as Mrs. Holman Bagwell of Ranger, served from the tiered cake, following the traditional slicing of the first piece by the bride. Reception music was provided by Mrs. Watson at the piano. Miss Linda Smith registered guests. Immediately following the reception, the couple left for a wedding trip to Norman, Okla. For travel, the bride chose a green silk and cotton suit complemented with brown shoes and bag. She wore the gardenia corsage from her wedding bouquet. Norman, Okla., will be the future home of the bridal pair, as the bridegroom plans to attend the University of Oklahoma next semester, where he will major in aeronautical engineering. Mrs. Bright was graduated from Lefors High School this Spring as an honor student and plans to do college work also at the University. Mr. Bright was graduated in 1956, served 12 years with the Navy, and is currently employed by Phillips Petroleum in Borger.

Good Taste Decees That You Cannot Eat Your Cake And Wear Shorts, Too

By ALICIA HART Beauty Editor Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Don't be as concerned about what "they" are wearing as you are about the kind of figure you cut in public. Take a good, long, honest look at yourself in the mirror and decide what you can or cannot wear to be in good taste. Diets, hair styling, well-designed clothes and exercise have given American women another fifteen years of youth. Great-grandmother was considered old when she was 40. Today, things are different. And this is a pleasant thing to see. A lively concern for one's looks is unquestionable healthy. But when it becomes the sole interest in living or when it produces the kittenish airs of a Brigitte Bardot, then it's time to call a halt. It's fine to look and be attractive within the scope of your years. But don't try to turn back the clocks to the day when you were 19. You should have grown beyond this by the time you're mature. Tint your hair, yes, and diet by all means. But leave the shrill giggling, the fluffy ruffles and the youthful-mannerisms to the youngsters. Following the wedding rehearsal on Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Bright, bridegroom's parents, entertained with an informal reception in their home for members of the wedding party.

RUTH MILLETT

Is a woman in her 60s too old to make a satisfactory life for herself in a new community?

That's the question put by a widow whose husband died less than a year after they had bought a home in a town they had chosen for their retirement years.

Now alone and lonely, she wonders if it is possible for her to make friends and find a place for herself in the new community.

Of course, you can do it. You say you are in good health. You have enough money to live on. You have a small, easy-to-care-for home. Those are all wonderful advantages. You are far better off than many widows you age.

Here are a few things you should do immediately:

Make a real effort to get to know your neighbors. Keep the coffee pot on and invite a neighbor or two in for a coffee break whenever the opportunity arises.

Don't miss a chance to be of help to those who live around you—especially the young couples with small children.

Be friendly with the youngsters in your neighborhood and willing to pinch-hit once in a while when a baby sitter is unavailable.

You'll find that at least some of your neighbors will be offering to do things for you and will be interested enough in your welfare to keep an eye on you. A woman living alone needs good neighbors and the way to have good neighbors is to be one.

Find some place to use your talents in community work. Many worthwhile opportunities for service are open to any woman with time on her hands.

Become active in church work. Every church needs real workers.

Don't fret because those who are leading busy lives don't make a special effort to be friendly. Instead, look around for someone else who is new in the community and make the first gestures toward friendship.

Above all, don't get discouraged if the going is slow at first. It takes time to make friends and put down roots in a new commu-

Gray County 4H Dress Revue Winner Represent Local Clubs At District

Arlene Wills was named alternate at the Gray County Club Girls' Dress Revue held yesterday afternoon in Lovett Memorial Library. Miss Wills will represent Gray County 4H Clubs at the district dress revue to be held in Dallas on July 28.

The local dress revue is the culmination of work done in four clothing workshops conducted by the County Home Demonstration Agent Miss Lou Ella-Patterson and the following adult leaders, Meses. J. D. Skaggs, Earl Dalsing, Dean Burger, Keith Davis, J. O. McCracken and John Mackie.

Workshops were held once a week at Lefors, Grandview, Pampa vicinity and Hopkins.

All garments were judged for construction and for appearance on the girl. Ribbons were awarded according to score.

Receiving blue ribbons were Meses Arlene Wills, Janice Mackie, Sharron Mackie, Leahwana Nowlin, Roselle Baggerman, Connie Burger and Kathy Davis.

Red ribbon winners were Meses Sue Fife, Karen Gist, Karen McCarthy, Sylvia Brown, Phyllis Dalsing, Sheila Collins, Neoma Collins, Andrea Jewell and Sharon Wheely.

The very young girls, who are doing their first clothing work, have been working with special clothing leaders and will have their own revue at a later date to model skirts they have made. These girls and their leaders were introduced as special guests at the revue.

Judges were County Home Demonstration Agents Robert Pugh from Lipscomb County and Geraldine Mayes from Hutchinson County.

The revue is held annually to choose a girl to represent Gray County at the district dress revue to be held in Amarillo July 28.

The clothing workshops and dress revue have as their goals to help each 4H girl develop leadership and acquire knowledge and skills that will enable her to plan, buy, make, wear and care for her clothing well. It is also planned to develop grace, poise, good posture and habits of good grooming.

First Christian Church Sharp Group Extends Social Courtesy During Meet

A surprise shower honoring Vicki, newly-adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wally Gibson, was given at the Sharp Group meeting of First Christian Church on Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Murray Castleberry. Mr. Gibson is educational director of First Christian Church.

Mrs. Bob Swanson, group leader, opened the meeting with prayer and gave a devotional taken from Corinthians. She also gave a portion of the lesson "How Churches Today Are Meeting Community Needs." Mrs. Charles Lanehart gave the remainder of the lesson on "Consideration of Community Needs."

Discussion on "Our Church Needs" was held by members with Mr. Gibson as moderator.

During the business meeting, a new rule was adopted to send flowers to only immediate members of a group member's family. Mrs. Lloyd Laramore volunteered to be Hospitality Chairman.

Mrs. O. H. Odom reported that a letter had been received from Mrs. Ruth Musgrave, who had conducted a School of Missions in the church in June, expressing appreciation to the Group again for gifts presented to her for missionary work in Africa.

Mrs. Swanson reported that one box has been filled ready to send to Africa by the Group. She reminded members to bring piece goods and school supplies to the next meeting to make up another box to send. It was announced that the Group will also work on stuffed toys to be sent to Africa.

Plans were also discussed for entertaining members' husbands in September. Meses. Laramore, G. W. Vance and Burl Graham Jr., Charles Beard were appointed to a planning committee for Husbands' Night.

Mrs. K. L. Green reported Christmas cards, ribbons, paper and gifts were in for Group selling. Two teams were appointed with Meses. O. H. Odom and Leon Howell as captains for competition selling.

Mrs. John Gill, CWF president, announced that an ice cream social will be held at the church on Wednesday at 8 p.m. for all families of the church. There will be a nursery for small children, she reported. The CWF executive board meeting will also meet on Wednesday morning at 9:15. Mrs. Gill also reminded members that it is time to pick plums for jelly to be sent to Juliette Fowler Children's Home in Dallas. Members of Sharp Group brought fifty dozen cookies to be sent to the Home.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE.
The T's have become increasingly aware of the severity and frequency of the spankings Mr. T's sister gives her children. The oldest one—a girl of 8—is the special target of this discipline. Mrs. T. writes:

"Though we don't know why these beatings are bad for the children emotionally, we feel that they are and want to know what we can do about the situation."

You can refer it to your local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children which will hold your complaint in confidence.

As to the badness of beating children severely and frequently, it can be simply stated. It creates deep and lasting fear of human contact.

This should not be hard to understand. A parent who uses a child's body to discharge some passion of his own is oblivious of the child and the child's feelings. He is aware only of his need for relief from tensions within himself.

To be so used as a "thing," as an instrument for the release of another person's passion is to develop terror of any human contact.

Children with histories of severe corporal punishment suffer not only from sexual maladjustments but from suspicion of all relationships.

Because children's bodies belong to them, beating the bodies is biologically crazy. It violates the natural independence of their bodies which chew, digest it, breathe and move about without connection to parents.

When we beat a child severely and frequently, we destroy the security of this independence.

We leave him with the conviction that anyone who approaches him may abuse his body. So, to protect himself, he withdraws from people lest they seek contact with him.

People who have been severely beaten as children may experience panic in a crowded bus.

They will avoid contact sports and clothing that exposes their bodies.

They will credit you with unspoken criticism of their physical appearance.

They will imagine themselves to be suffering from diseases they do not have.

Because their bodies have been made a source of humiliation and pain to them, their bodies have become their enemies. Inasmuch as bodies are essential to human existence, they seldom experience much joy in human existence.

But parents who indulge themselves in severe corporal punishment are unable to consider these effects.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson
... on wedding trip

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Jackson, whose marriage was an event of July 3 in First Methodist Church, Shamrock, spent their honeymoon at The Bishop's Lodge in Santa Fe, N. M. They are pictured following an early morning breakfast on the desert. Upon their return, they will make their home at 508 E. 19th.

RUTH MILLETT

One of the meanest and most cruel things that one woman can do to another of her sex is for a middle-aged or older woman to give a young girl a bad reputation.

Usually the remarks are sly: "I don't know what her parents are thinking of to let her come in at any hour of the night," or...

"There may not be any truth in it, but I hear she is kind of wild," or even...

"She's a pretty girl; it's a shame that she is getting a poor reputation. My Janice says... or even..."

"Of course, she's popular. That type of girl always has a flock of boys around."

Just one sly remark, like any of those, can do a girl great harm.

The remark is passed along. With each telling the insinuations become a bit stronger, until a girl's reputation—knowing how terrible she would feel if any busybody ever made an insinuation against her own daughter.

The truth is that the women who do the most gossiping about young girls often are mothers of young daughters.

Their comments may be prompted by jealousy. Maybe they are living in a dream world where they think their own daughter is a little angel who wouldn't do any of the things her friends do.

Costume Jewelry Designer Has Woes Of Looking Exactly Like Liz Taylor

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Elizabeth Bregman is growing used to people mistaking her for Elizabeth Taylor.

One day, Mrs. Bregman joked, she might be so famous as a costume jewelry designer that the movie queen will be mistaken for HER.

The designer is at least on her way. In three and one-half years her firm has grown from a staff of one (Mrs. Bregman) and a couple of New York outlets to 25 production and office employees and sales in better stores nationally.

Mrs. Bregman is about the same age as the actress and remembers as a teenager seeing Miss Taylor in her first big movie hit, "National Velvet."

"Even then," said Betty Bregman, "people said we looked alike."

Today, the resemblance is striking enough for fans of Miss Taylor to ask for Mrs. Bregman's autograph and for fans of Debbie Reynolds to treat her as if she had taken Eddie away from Debbie. Several have hissed, "home-wrecker."

The designer has the same blue eyes, heavy arched brows and jet dark hair as the actress. Her figure may be a little less voluptuous. She weighs 110 pounds, stands five feet four inches in her sock feet, and measures 37, 25 and 37.

When Miss Taylor was in town recently to do some scenes for her new movie, "Butterfield 8," dozens of New Yorkers asked for Mrs. Bregman's autograph.

"I just tell 'em, 'You've got the wrong gal'," she said.

The designer created quite a stir when she and her husband,

Martin, an insurance company executive, went to see the movie "The Rat Patrol" which stars Reynolds.

"You could hear the buzz in theater," laughed Mrs. Bregman. "I guess a lot of people thought well, Miss Taylor's got a lot of nerve to do that."

Does her husband resemble either the late Mike Todd or die Fisher?

"Oh lordy no," she said. "I always being taken for Rock Herson."

ACCURATE OVEN CONTROL AS LOW AS 140°!

At last, here is glorious freedom from the frustrations of dinner delays and dried-out foods. With the remarkable FLAME MASTER oven control, you can cook meals even hours in advance... secure in the knowledge that whenever your family or guests are ready... the meal is ready, at precisely the right serving temperature!

Until now, most temperature settings below 200° have been "guesstimates"—subject to wide fluctuations. The FLAME MASTER provides pin point accuracy at any setting from 550° down to 140°! What's more, it lets you pre-warm your best dishes without danger... thaw foods more quickly and evenly. For example, a 7-lb. turkey can be thawed in about 2½ hours vs. 14 hours at room temperature!

Polly's Quiz

Dear Polly: The living area of our new hilltop home has a magnificent panoramic view of mountains and fields through a large picture window. There is a gray stone fireplace and wood paneling. We own lots of beautiful cooper.

Could you suggest a color for carpeting, drapes and big divan that will not detract from the view? We like monotones with color in accessories.—An Appreciative Reader.

Dear Reader: Why not use a soft sage green for carpeting, drapes and divan? This will enhance the view and look well with your paneling. And your cooper will glow against this pleasing background.

Dear Polly: I've recently had my kitchen remodeled. Cupboards and walls are knotty pine. I have a red counter topping and a red-and-yellow tile floor. Breakfast set is gray and yellow. What style window covering should I have?—Mrs. L. C. S.

Dear Mrs. L. C. S.: The older type windows, such as you have, look very smart with fabric roller shades used over the upper half and cafe curtains over the lower half. Both should be in a small patterned print that combines the colors in your kitchen: yellow, gray, red and brown.

Dear Polly: Our problem is an absence of color in our living room. I'm puzzled on what to do about it. We have a sectional sofa in black and two gold chairs. Since we have two children, what would be a good color for the walls and a practical color for carpeting? Walls and carpet are now gray.—Mrs. P. G. S.

Dear Mrs. P. G. S.: That drab room does need brightening up. Paint the walls a pale turquoise and have a turquoise-and-gold tweed carpet. Draperies in gold-and-white stripes would be smart. Add some turquoise-and-white cushions to the black sofa.

Dear Polly: I need new draperies for my living room but don't know what will blend with my color scheme. The walls are brown and rug is pink and brown. Are big patterns still popular for draperies or are they going plain?—Mrs. Puzzled.

Dear Abby... Top Office Bore With "Toppers" Of Your Own

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There is one person in our office who gets on our nerves. He is a "sentence finisher". No matter what anyone says, he is right there to finish the sentence. For instance, if I say, "Walking out of an airconditioned bar and into the street is just like walking into . . .", he will but in and say, ". . . and ovent".

I know this might seem like a petty problem, but I wish there were some way of breaking him

Mrs. Bivins Is WMU Hostess

GROOM (Spl) — Women's Missionary Union of Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Jack Bivins Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Danny Ashford, president, was in charge of the business meeting. The program, "Centers of Good Will," was directed by Mrs. Charles Banks, assisted by Melva Asberry, Joan Davis, Nina Snyder and Linda Cornett. Prayer was led by Mrs. Billy Burgin. Others attending were Mmes. Viola Harrell, R. A. Snyder, Melvin Asberry, Donald Ritter, Fred Brown, Jimmy Bivins, Charles Brown, Bobby Cornett, Billy Fields and Charles Banks.

Soil Preparation Is Topic For Study

Pampa African Violet Society met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Lee Moore for a program on "History of Soil".

Preparing articles for discussion were Mrs. Cecil Holmes and Mrs. Joe Shelton. Their talks were followed by member-discussion of various formulas to use in potting African Violets.

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Moore, the secretarial report was given by Mrs. Norman Walberg. Mrs. Shelton opened with meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Holly Gray displayed the scrap book which she is preparing for the club.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Attending were Mrs. N. E. Putney of Bloomington, Calif., Mrs. M. Lyle of Pampa; and members Mmes. Holly Gray, Lee Harrah, J. E. Carlson, R. F. Dirksen, Joe Shelton, Cecil Holmes, V. N. Osborne, Norman Walberg.

It was announced, before adjournment, that the next meeting for the Society will be held on Aug. 9, with Mrs. Harrah, 2401 Duncan.

of this annoying habit.

CO-WORKER
DEAR CO-WORKER: Fight fire with fire. No matter what the "sentence finisher" says, finish HIM off with an improvement on his "finish". Should he say (as cited in your example above) ". . . an oven", simply counter with, "No — a steam bath!"

DEAR ABBY: I was married young and had five children in eight years. My husband turned out to be no good so I got rid of him the only way a decent woman got rid of a man — through the divorce court.

Three years later I married the most marvelous man who ever walked in shoe leather. He has been a real father to my children. I told all the children to use their new father's name in school. I never went through any legal rigmarole, but after eleven years everybody knows the children by my second husband's name. Is it necessary for me to do anything now about having their names "legally" changed? Or is it just automatic after a certain period of time?

MRS. F. J. T.
DEAR MRS. F. J. T.: In order for any name change to be legal and valid, it must be approved by the court. A lawyer can tell you how to go about it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy of 15 and can't swim. The reason is simple: I am afraid of the water. I have tried several times to learn, but I can't conquer that fear. I even threw myself in the deep end of the pool (this theory is "swim or drown") but someone had to come in and get me.

Do you or any of your readers know a way to overcome fear of water at my age? Or am I too old?

AFRAID OF WATER
DEAR AFRAID: Many men have learned to swim in their forties and fifties. Enroll in a swimming class. Your local "Y" or Red Cross offers classes free or for a very small fee. Good luck!

CONFIDENTIAL TO VIRGINIA:
"Ugliness" is a point of view. An ulcer is wonderful to the pathologist.

Imports, Used Car Market In Trouble

By GABE KAIMOWITZ
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Some foreign car dealers already are crying in their Danish beer. And used car dealers may be pouring out their complaints to bartenders all over the land in the months to come.

All this because of the entry into the compact car market by Ford, Chrysler and General Motors during the 1960 model year which grinds to a halt as factories make over this summer for 1961 autos.

The four millionth car rolled off the lines this month, a full month ahead of last year.

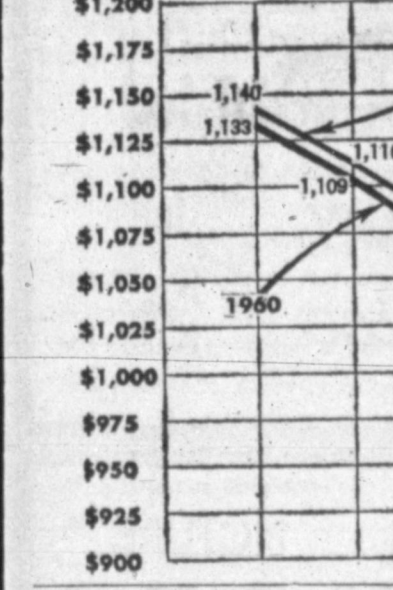

The Big Three apparently will dish out more of the same in the 1961 model year. In some ways by coming down to the small car level, the Big Three also cut off its nose to save its face, permitting the compacts to make serious inroads in sales of other models, particularly those made by their overseas subsidiaries.

That's the story of this model year told by foreign and used car dealers, sales managers, manufacturers' representatives and auto union officials in Detroit and New York in talks with Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dealers expect that this fall January to April comparisons of foreign car registrations

Year	Others	Renault	Volkswagen
1958	96,199	10,727	26,549
1959	123,809	23,438	32,512
1960	120,091	27,396	52,294

Average price of used cars sold at auction

American-made compact models will continue to drive some foreign economy car companies off the road and many, many used cars into lots.

So you can expect to get a better price than usual when buying a used car or exercise your choice to a greater extent by selecting from the widest variety of new models offered since the 1920's.

Foreign car distributors seem to have suffered most.

Through the spring season, sales of seven of the "top 10" foreign cars sold in the U.S. were considerably off from the same period in 1959. The distinctive exceptions were the foreign car front runners, Volkswagen and Renault, which sold well enough to keep over - all foreign car sales slightly ahead of last year (Austin-Healey models also were ahead of 1959 sales but not enough to register significant change in the market).

As for used cars, the number on lots of Ford franchise dealers is at an all-time high. While it is too early for Chrysler to tell what it will do about used cars, sales also are way off. The same is true for General Motors.

In the foreign car market place, the talk has gone back to sports January to April comparisons of foreign car registrations

At Studebaker-Packard where compact Larks and Hawks are turned out, B. J. Corrigan, assistant zone manager, says, "It doesn't always do to get there first."

Corrigan, of course, is referring to the lead taken by his firm and American Motors, makers of Rambler, into the compact field before the Big Three invasion.

The Lark, whose sales have been off this year, now may be given a bigger "brother" in 1961 in an attempt to garner a larger share of the market for Studebaker-Packard.

Rambler is running one-two with Ford's Falcon so at American Motors everything still is hunky-dory. Production is way out in front of last year.

Back at the Big Three "ranch" in Detroit, some shifts already are contemplated to adjust to the changing market less than a year after the compacts arrive on the scene.

Everybody's in motion to get out more six-cylinder cars which only a few years ago were dying off. Everybody except Ford appears to be interested in light-weight, aluminum block engines.

GM's Tempest, the compact yet to come in the Pontiac line, will offer a four-cylinder engine.

Ford is said to be considering a "baby" four-seat car to compete with the Volkswagen-Renault size imports but the Big Three generally will rely on "bigger and better compacts."

radio will be used to beam to South America the Cuban side of the case.

With Cuba established as his base, Khrushchev extended his campaign.

The U. S. Monroe Doctrine has "outlived itself, outlived its usefulness and died a natural death," Khrushchev proclaimed this week.

Once again it may be feared that the truth never will overtake the big lie.
