Threat Of Flooding Apparently Halted

MATAGORDA, Tex. (UPI)—Two hundred volunteers today appeared to have won out over the raging floodwaters of the Colorado River which had seriously threatened a dirt levee protecting Matagorda.

The floods came from more than two feet of rainfall brought into the Gulf Coast area over the weekend by a tropical disturbance. At least 11 persons were killed in Texas and Arkansas during the past four days as a result of the floods and storms.

The volunteers at Matagorda, which included jail prisoners, sheriff's deputies, and civil defense workers, stood watch overnight along the river levee to sandbag any break that might develop.

The river itself rose a bare one-tenth of a foot overnight and word came that it had started falling at Bay City, just 21 miles to the north.

Officials said Matagorda's levees were soggy today, but they expect the river to begin dropping around noon. At dawn today Bay City reported the river had dropped nearly two feet from its peak Monday.

All highways leading into Bay City were open today. The city for a time over the weekend was inaccessible by road traffic.

Some flooding still was reported northeast of Houston today where Cypress Creek spread out of its banks and deluged large sections.

Some 25 to 35 expensive homes, some in the $50,000 class, were flooded and in some cases water was lapping up to the eaves.

Traffic was re-opened on U.S. Highway 290 at dawn. The highway was blocked off Monday night after up to two feet of water spilled across it in some places.

Some homes were flooded in the Hoel Wells community and in surrounding rural areas northeast of Houston. Also hit was some homes in the North Shore addition at the upper end of Lake Houston.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Houston predicted no more rain for at least 24 hours, except for some scattered showers around Port Lavaca, one of the cities hardest hit by floods over the weekend.

The storm dropped up to 30 inches of rain in three days, turning the tidal flats along the Gulf of Mexico into a sodden quagmire of mud. At the same time, the Colorado, Brazos, Sabine, Trinity and Neches Rivers surged dangerously near bankful stages.

None of them had spilled over their banks at last report, but they were still rising.

Jerry Griffith, a meteorologist at the Houston Weather Bureau, said it was the worst Gulf Coast rainstorm in his bureau's records, which date back to 1873.

City Water Use Shows Expansion

Pampans used 4,718,100 gallons of water, yesterday, the second highest amount consumed this year, city engineer Monroe Moore told the city commission this morning. The most water used in a 24-hour period this year was June 20 when 6,725,700 gallons were used.

Yesterday's total raised the amount of water consumed this month to 100,731,900 gallons.

Otherwise, the city commission meeting was quiet today.

A five-room frame house at 921 Ripley was sold to L. B. Haggard, who submitted a high bid of $363.50. The house must be removed from city property within 30 days.

Three other bids on the house also were submitted. H. E. Harrison bid $326; W. H. McDowell offered $315 and C. M. Wood bid $125 for it.

Commissioners heard the first reading of ordinances 542 and 543. Ordinance 542 will require a permit for constructing or rebuilding a sidewalk, driveway or curb; 543 provides for a July 19 hearing on engineer estimates for repair work on Pampa streets.

Heat Wave In Forecast

By United Press International

A new heat wave was expected to begin in Texas today on the heels of cooling rains that touched off floods on the Gulf Coast.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted temperatures would reach 100 degrees or more across Texas this afternoon. Clear skies should help the temperatures rise.

Weathermen at Matagorda today battled the raging floodwaters of the Colorado River—one of the last threats from a tropical disturbance that raged inland and killed 11 to 15 persons in Texas and Arkansas during the past four days.

Weathermen predicted a few isolated thundershowers in Texas today and Wednesday, but the showers were not expected to worsen flood conditions.

Overnight lows ranged from 80 degrees at Corpus Christi and Presidio to 58 degrees at Dalhart at the top of the Panhandle.

Tonight's lows, generally should be in the 70s.

Crash Of AF Tanker Kills 5 Crewmen

BETHEL, Maine (UPI)—All five crewmen were killed Monday night when an Air Force tanker plane crashed and exploded "into a thousand pieces" in the foothills of the White Mountains.

The huge KC-97 from Plattsburgh, N.Y., Air Force Base burned like a flickering comet as it plunged into the rugged forest in the hamlet of Nevry, six miles north of here.

Identification of dead was withheld pending notification of kin.

Volunteers walked and motored nearly two miles up a narrow mountain road to the widely-strewn wreckage.

Trucks and bulldozers to penetrate the dense forest were dispatched from Dow Air Force Base at Bangor, 160 miles away.

Two Air Force officers from Plattsburgh, Majors William Cook and W. D. Burnham, began a preliminary investigation into the crash.

Bernard Powers, a garage operator, said he heard a "very loud wailing noise" and thought the million dollar craft would hit his house.

"I saw part of it on fire and then the fire seemed to flicker out. Then it crashed and exploded."

Cuba Faces Punitive Measures

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress soon will hand President Eisenhower unprecedented power to deliver punishing blows against the economy of Cuba and its anti-American regime headed by Fidel Castro.

The House Agriculture Committee by a 33-0 vote launched a bipartisan push Monday night for legislation to grant the President's request for authority to cut Cuban sugar marketings in this country.

The committee action came as the United States submitted a new memorandum to the Organization of American States accusing the Castro regime of a series of "provocative actions" which have increased Caribbean tensions.

Key House members agreed today that the sugar measure—which action had been blocked for weeks by a partisan row—would be sped to the White House within two weeks.

Its enactment would give the President a powerful economic lever in dealing with Castro who has been denouncing the United States while making friendly overtures to the Soviet Union.

Cuba supplies American consumers with about one-third of their sugar. About one-half of Cuba's sugar is delivered to the United States under a U.S. program which assures American suppliers higher U.S. world prices.

Commissioners To CRMWA Meet

The city commission attitude of not wanting to help subsidize water for other members of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority will be aired at a meeting of the authority's coordinating committee in Plainview tomorrow.

Commissioner Jack Vaughn and water authority delegate Fred Thompson will attend the meeting which will begin at 10 a.m.

A major topic expected to be discussed is a change in the proposed water rates which will be beneficial to some of the cities in the authority.

Mayor Ed Myatt said he and the commission were definitely against helping subsidize water for any other cities, and that this view would be brought out at the meeting tomorrow.

Tanker Sinking Crew Removed; Skipper Remains

CHARLESTON, S. C. (UPI)—A Navy destroyer took 10 crewmen off a stricken oil tanker early today, leaving only the captain and four crewmen aboard the ship which was slowly sinking in the Atlantic about 130 miles off the Georgia coast.

Twenty-eight crewmen of the 10,000-ton Sinclair Oil Co. tanker SS George McDonald were rescued Monday night shortly after a dangerous rupture in the vessel's seawater casing—which serves as a cooling system for the turbine engines—flooded the engine room.

The Esso Scranton, another tanker on its way to Baytown, Tex., was within 30 miles of the McDonald when the accident happened. The Scranton plucked the 28 men from lifeboats and proceeded with them to Jacksonville, Fla.

The McDonald's skipper and 14 crewmen at first refused to abandon their ship even though at 3 a. m. the McDonald's deck was reported awash and its bow 20 feet lower than normal.

But as the ship continued to sink, the destroyer USS Robinson took 10 more of the crew aboard. These were expected to be transferred to one of three cutters at the scene and brought here.

The Coast Guard said the ship was not expected to remain afloat past 4 p. m. and the cutters were standing by to rescue the remaining men aboard before it sank. Those still aboard were there on the slim chance that the tanker might remain afloat, and they did not wish to abandon it to possible salvage.

Puts Itch In Castro's Beard

Cabot's 'Radio Swan' Beams News To Cuba

A privately-owned U.S. radio station situated on a small island in the Caribbean is beaming uncensored world news to Cuba and other countries in the area. It has become quite an itch in the beard of Cuban Dictator Fidel Castro. In fact, the radio station has prompted several angry outbursts in recent days from the bearded "liberator."

One of the owners of the commercial venture is Thomas D. Cabot, Boston, president of Godfrey L. Cabot, Inc. Cabot was in Pampa yesterday, but declined to be quoted concerning the highly controversial venture. He said only that it was personal and had no connection with any of his business activities.

Castro charges that the station is a State Department anti-Castro propaganda outlet.

The station is based on Swan Island, near Honduras. The island itself is the center of a still unrenounced sovereignty claim by Honduras.

According to United Press International, the project threatens to open an old fight between the U.S. government and Honduras over who owns the Great and Little Swan Islands. The State Department said they are U.S. territories by virtue of continuous possession since their discovery by American traders in 1857.

Cabot said he visited the island last November and that it is owned by the family of an associate in "Radio Swan", Sumner Smith. The island is 97 miles from the coast of Honduras and 300 miles southwest of Cuba.

Until very recently, the U.S. Information Agency was planning almost the same project to fill what the government feels is an urgent need to get straight news to Cuba. Most Cuban newspapers and radio stations are now government-controlled. The U.S. abandoned the project because of what they termed "interference and licensing" problems.

The Cabot family for more than a generation has encouraged freedom of the press. The Cabot Prizes, awarded annually to outstanding newsmen by Columbia University in New York City, is a part of the family's endeavor in this respect.

Cabot and his associates in the free-radio venture operate under the name, Gibraltar Steamship Corp. and began beaming regular broadcasts more than a week ago between the hours of 8 p. m. and 10 p. m.

Horton W. Heath, commercial manager for the station, said the station broadcasts music, soap operas and news in both Spanish and English, and that the station reaches 15 countries in the Caribbean, Central America and the northern fringes of South America.

News for the broadcasts is obtained from ordinary state-side news sources, which Castro calls "propaganda."

"It is strictly a commercial venture," Heath said in an interview last week with United Press International, "and just a coincidence that it is what USIA had thought of. We plan to get advertisers. We haven't got any yet, but we are negotiating."

Finished By Soviet Walkout

GENEVA (UPI)—The West called a halt today to the 10-nation disarmament conference in the face of a Communist walkout and ordered the conference record sent to the United Nations.

The action marked the complete collapse of the talks which had begun with high hopes three weeks ago.

It meant that the problem of international disarmament would go back to the United Nations where it will be debated by more than 80 nations in an open forum instead of a select group meeting in closed session.

The representatives of the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada gathered for a formal session this morning at the Palais des Nations despite the fact there was no hope of the Communists showing up.

For 30 minutes the five delegates, who since March have sought some means of reconciliation with the Soviets on the arms question, waited in silence. Then Britain's David Ormsby-Gore took the chair and called the meeting to order.

He described a meeting he had had with Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin Monday night when the latter made it plain the walkout was final.

The shadow session adjourned briefly for the participants to confer of the record. Then Ormsby-Gore reconvened it long enough to formally pronounce as dead three months of delicate East-West negotiations on the arms race.

He ordered the records sent to the United Nations where Russia was pressing for a General Assembly debate on the disarmament issue.

The western delegates had decided to hold today's meeting primarily to dramatize their determination to keep alive even the slightest hopes of slowing the arms race.

Extreme Measures By Reds Claimed By Ike As Victory

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower says his personal diplomacy has been so successful that it drove the Communists to extreme measures to block his visit to Japan.

The President told the nation Monday night that Russia and Red China forced the Japanese government to cancel the Tokyo trip because they realized his worldwide missions have helped to obstruct Communist imperialism.

His radio-television report on his 22,000-mile Far East tour drew mixed reaction from congressional leaders.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) said he hoped and prayed Eisenhower was correct in believing that the Asian tour had produced beneficial effects for the free world.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) called the speech "an adequate answer" to Democratic critics of the President's trip.

Eisenhower said the Communists suffered a sharp setback, even though they blocked his Japanese visit. He said ratification of the U.S.-Japan security treaty was a "signal defeat" for the Reds that far outweighed cancellation of his Tokyo stop.

The President said he had no plans for any more such trips before leaving office next to January. But he said he would not hesitate to travel again if the need arose.

And he urged his White House successor to follow his lead.

"So long as the threat of Communist domination may hang over the free world, I believe that any future president will have to travel again if the need arose, and he urged his White House successor to follow his lead.

Plan 13-Day Trip

Headed by Key Club President Bill Byerly, a three-man delegation left today to attend the 17th annual convention of Key Club International in Boston, Mass.

Byerly, along with Mike Palmer, Key Club secretary, and Merv Cooper, last year's chairman of the committee on support of churches, will be among 83 club members from the Texas-Oklahoma District who will make a 13-day tour of the Midwest and eastern portions of the United States.

As first-place winner in the oratorical contest at the Texas-Oklahoma convention in Dallas April 8, Cooper was awarded an all-expense paid trip to Boston and will compete with 29 other district winners from the United States and Canada at the convention. Subject will be "Seek Individual Excellence," the theme of the convention.

Palmer has entered the International talent competition choosing the popular piano division. His entry will be "Sabre Dance Boogie."

The local club also won first place at district for its "Pampa Pilgrimage," the single service competition and the "Pilgrimage" will be entered in International competition along with the club scrapbook.

Organized in March, 1958, the club is sponsored by Pampa High School and the Downtown and Top O' Texas Kiwanis Clubs. Last year the club held a Leadership Banquet, Back to School Radio Days, and

Fighters Gain On Forest Fire

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (UPI)—A thousand firefighters worked feverishly today to build containing lines around a 9,000-acre timber fire on the north rim of the Grand Canyon.

Ranger M. O. Olson said there was a chance the eight-day blaze in Kaibab National Forest probably could be contained by late today, if the winds continued calm.

Amarillo Amvoys See, Hear Of Pampa's Rapid Growth

Pampa businessmen Chamber of Commerce directors and city and county officials were guests of the Amarillo Amvoys at a luncheon yesterday at the Coronado Inn. About 70 attended.

The Amvoys, members of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce and a group of Amarillo businessmen, arrived in Pampa at 10 a.m. and were escorted by police and city officials to the Coronado Inn for coffee. A tour of the hotel was then conducted by the hotel board of directors with a visit to downtown Pampa following.

At the luncheon they heard Mayor Ed Myatt speak on the growth of Pampa and problems facing the city. H. V. Wilks, president of the Chamber of Commerce, also spoke on chamber activities.

Miss Barbara Linsford, vocal soloist, and Maxine Milliron, organist, provided entertainment for the luncheon.

A tour of Pampa followed the luncheon with E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the chamber, as guide. Places visited were sites of a proposed convalescent home and youth center; new housing developments; the three new schools, Robert E. Lee Junior High, St. Vincent's Catholic School, and Stephen P. Austin grade school; Central Park; fire stations; the football stadium; new churches or additions to churches and the newer downtown business firms.

This was the third in a series of tours by the Amvoys to learn more about Panhandle cities. Other towns visited were Plainview and Hereford. They plan to visit other towns later in the year.

RUNNING OUT OF STEAM — The fanatic leftwing Zengakuren student group, shown above massed in front of the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo, ran out of steam today. Less than 1,000 showed up for a desultory, spiritless demonstration in front of the Parliament building when more than 20,000 were expected.

Rockefeller A Holdout At GOP Meeting

GLACIER PARK, Mont. (UPI)—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller told the nation's governors today that the Eisenhower administration is seeking "unrealistic shelter" with a "bargain basement" defense program that needs immediate expansion.

The governor, still the only holdout on a GOP governors' endorsement of Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, called again for a $3.5 billion boost in military and civilian defense spending.

His detailed criticism of current defense policy was contained in a "background" paper on his report as chairman of the governors' conference special committee on civil defense.

Rockefeller said the sober defense facts "mark the 1960's as a decade of danger." He said the nation is in a "paradox of peril" in that while militarily stronger than ever in its history it is, in a relative and realistic sense, "more exposed to fatal danger than ever in our history."

While Rockefeller was providing most of the GOP news at this 52nd annual Governors' Conference, Democrats were portioning out the political highjinks among many of their members.

Four "favorite son" presidential candidates were meeting this morning to talk over the presidential convention situation. They said their session was not a "stop-Kennedy" movement.

Boom Unlikely During 1960 Say Leading U.S. Economists

By WILLIAM J. EATON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leading business economists were split sharply today over whether there will be a recession near the end of 1960 but they agreed that a boom is unlikely.

Most of the experts predicted modest improvement in the economy in the second half of the year, but one forecaster said there were signs that the nation's fourth postwar recession was just around the corner.

The views were expressed at the midyear Business Outlook Conference sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. There was general agreement that:

- Interest rates would continue to decline, resulting in lower home mortgage costs this fall and early next year.
- Lagging steel production would pick up within two months to keep pace with increased demands from auto and appliance manufacturers.
- Construction spending in 1960 would slip below the total spent in the previous year, nearly $24.5 billion in 1959 for the first time since the end of World War II.
- The most pessimistic outlook came from Frank K. Morris, research director of the Investment Bankers Assn., who said "the signs of an imminent recession are growing stronger all the time. I don't think they should be ignored."
- Dr. Emerson P. Schmidt, chief economist for the chamber, forecast further "modest" economic improvement to record-high levels despite a few snag spots in the economy.
- Schmidt said government spending, exports, steel production, investment in new plants and equipment and home building all would rise in the last half of the year to contribute to the slight economic improvement.
- L. S. Hamaker, speaking for the steel industry, forecast a near-record year with production of 115 million tons of ingots. He said an "inventory adjustment" has caused sharp layoffs in recent months but predicted the industry would rebound in the last half of the year and continue into 1961.
- Miles L. Colean, a consulting economist representing the construction industry, said the outlook for easier money would benefit builders and home-buyers. He said the overall picture was "mildly optimistic."
- But Colean said construction spending this year would fall about 2 per cent below the 1959 total, mainly because of a slowdown in private homebuilding.

Tornadoes Hit Two States; Two Killed

By United Press International

Tornadoes skipped across parts of Nebraska and Colorado Monday night, killing two persons and inflicting extensive damage.

Alan B. Crowe, 54, Topeka, Kan., and Marvin W. Cox, 52, a Holyoke, Colo., farmer were killed when a twister swooped down on a rural area northeast of Holyoke and trapped them in their cars.

Forty minutes before the Holyoke tornado hit, another twister struck rural Sedgewick, Colo. The funnel cloud knocked out power and communications for almost five hours but caused no injuries.

Still another tornado cut a 10-mile swath across southwestern Nebraska, near Sidney. The twister struck eight farms but injured no one.

Tornado-like winds damaged farm buildings near Venturia, N.D., 75 miles southeast of Bismarck. Hail and high winds accompanied a thunderstorm at Linton, N.D.

An elderly man drowned in a near cloudburst at Virgo, Wis. The victim, Olaf Bagstad, about 68, died when a flash flood swept down a dry creek bed at his house trailer.

The threat of floods persisted in the Gulf coast area of Texas, hit by the hardest rains in Weather Bureau history in the past four days.

About 200 weary volunteers stood by today to battle the flood-swollen Colorado River in case weakened dikes give way. The flood crest passed Bay City, Tex., Monday night without incident and Matagorda, 25 miles downstream, expected the crest about noon today.

The tropical disturbance killed 11 to 15 persons in Texas and Arkansas. Damage in the Houston area alone was set at $1,500,000.

Glamor Gone From Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gone is the glamor, the milling throngs in the hallway and most of the press. But the charges remain murder in the first degree against Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carol Tregoff, his lover.

The courtroom in the old hall of justice is small by comparison to the modern splendor of the first trial held in the nearby county courthouse. Selection of the jury is the same. Tedious.

The first day of the second murder trial preliminaries ended with nine women and three men tentatively seated in the jury box.

Selection of the panel resumed today.

The 43-year-old surgeon and his 25-year-old former receptionist are charged with slaying his socialite wife Barbara Jean, 33, outside their suburban West Covina, Calif., home last July 18.

Jurors who heard the first trial indicated they favored conviction of the doctor but acquittal of Miss Tregoff.

Funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Daudie Mize will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Dukenkel-Carmichael Funeral Chapel with the Rev. H. Z. Gillman of Borger, pastor of Jehovah Witness Church, officiating. Interment will be in Memory Gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Mize, with Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. Hammond, Mrs. Ethyl York, were killed in a car-train wreck early Monday as they were returning from a religion convention in Fort Worth. The car, in which they were riding, plowed into the engine of a Rock Island passenger train just as it reached a crossing at 1:05 a.m. Monday near Jericho, 16 miles north of Clarendon on State Highway 70.

Service arrangements are incomplete for Mr. and Mrs. Hammond and will be announced later, according to a spokesman for Dukenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Interment rites for Mrs. Y. O. K. who resided at 1315 Ripley, will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in Dukenkel-Carmichael Chapel.

Mrs. York was born Mar. 24, 1893 in Wilmington, N.C. and came to Pampa in 1944 from Dumas.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery beside her husband, F. A. York who died in 1955.

School Official Fights To Be Reinstated

AUSTIN (UPI)—Ousted Brown-boro school Supt. Homer D. Bass continues his fight before state education officials today in his effort to gain reinstatement.

This is the latest development in the strife-torn school situation at Brown-boro. Earlier this month, a school board meeting at Brown-boro erupted into a wild fight, having one man shot to death and several injured.

Bass told State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar Monday he was fired for no valid reason. But Eugene Cavin of Tyler, representing the Brown-boro School Board, painted a different picture. Monday's testimony centered around employment of relatives, the withholding of business from

The immediate fear of Western diplomats was that Soviet walkout tactics also would apply to the nuclear test ban conference, where 20 months of tedious negotiation had brought the United States, Russia and Britain to the verge of a treaty.

Today marked the 221st session of the nuclear conference. Although Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin has toughened his stand considerably in recent days, he did not say flatly that a break-off was near.

Indictment Assessed For Accused Killer

BALTIMORE (UPI)—The government will ask a federal grand jury today to indict a 31-year-old itinerant saxophone player accused of murdering five persons, including four members of the Carroll Jackson family in Virginia.

The musician is lanky, handsome Melvin Davis Rees Jr., being held on $100,000 bond in Memphis, Tenn. His arrest Friday touched off police efforts to pin on him a series of unsolved murders dating back more than seven years.

Investigators were reported to have found at the home of Rees' parents in Hyattsville, Md., a .38 caliber pistol in an accident case and a handwritten account of the January, 1959, kidnap-murder of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll V. Jackson and their two little daughters.

Leon H. A. Pierson, U.S. attorney for Maryland, will ask the grand jury to indict Rees for the kidnaping of Mrs. Jackson, 27, and her 5-year-old daughter, Susan Ann, whose bodies were found in a shallow grave near Gambrills, Md., two months after they disappeared.

The federal kidnaping statute carries the death penalty. The federal government cannot prosecute for murder.

Virginia state police have charged Rees with murdering Jackson, 29, and the couple's other daughter, 18-month-old Janet, whose bodies were found near Fredericksburg, Va.

Pampa Pilgrimage and its annual banquet and participated in Muscular Dystrophy drive, March of Dimes and Santa Claus Parade.

Funds to send Byerly and Palmer to Boston were raised, in part, by club members working in the slag piles of the Pampa Foundry. Sifting through the slag, the boys recovered scrap iron and unburned coke. At wages of one cent per pound, members recovered 19,701 pounds to assure their delegates appearance in Boston.

The Scrap Iron Pick Up drive continues in spare time to help raise the club's budget for next year. A service program has been outlined by its Board of Directors calling for $1,975 to be used for others next year.

The Boston convention will attract between 2,000 and 2,500 boys from the more than 2,000 clubs in Canada and the United States. Bill Nelson, Melbourne, Fla., is president of the Key Club International.

The convention will present prominent adult and youth speakers, panel leaders and training officers. Highlights will be the oratorical and talent contests, tours of Boston, appearance of Miss Kim Novak, presentation of the Ralph Edwards Award and presentation of club activity awards.

Climax of the convention will come July 6 when the house of delegates, which will include Palmer and Byerly with Cooper as alternate, meets to consider business of the international organization and elects an International Board of Trustees to serve from July, 1960, to June, 1961.

The special Texas-Oklahoma district tour left Dallas today picking up other members in Oklahoma City tomorrow. The special tour includes stops at Chicago; Detroit; Windsor and Ontario, Canada; and Ford Motor Company plant in Detroit. They will take a Great Lakes steamer from Detroit to Cleveland and a train to Buffalo, Niagara Falls, New York City and then to Boston arriving on July 3.

The group will leave Boston July 6 and spend two days and nights in New York City. They will see a Broadway play, visit Radio City Music Hall and tour the city.

Members will arrive back in Oklahoma City on July 10.

Traveling with the Pampa delegates are President Joe Janeway and Secretary Johnny Moose of the Borger Key Club.

The Pampa delegates will summarize their trip at the monthly meeting of the Pampa Key Club, July 16, at 7 p.m. in the Youth Building at the First Methodist Church. The public is invited to attend.

County Council For Jr. RC Discussed By Group Leaders

Three Junior Red Cross workers have returned from a leadership training camp held June 18-25 at Goddard, Kan.

"We learned something about every phase of Red Cross work," said Stan Michno, Lefors, who will be president of the Pampa High School Junior Red Cross next year.

Other boys attending the camp were Bill Eads, Pampa High School, and Gene Davis, the first person from a Pampa junior high school to attend the camp.

An idea discussed which the boys hope to put into effect here is to set up a county council. This council would consist of officers from Pampa High School, Pampa Junior High, Robert E. Lee Junior High, St. Vincent's Catholic School, Lefors High School and McLean High School. The council would then plan individual and combined programs for the year.

There were 113 delegates from 16 Midwestern states at the camp. Texas was second only to Oklahoma in the number of representatives attending.

Included on the program were discussion groups, required water safety classes and specialized instruction classes. In the specialized division, Michno was in radio-TV broadcasting. Eads in public information and Davis in recreation.

Ed Showers, director of Junior Red Cross for the Midwestern area, was camp director.

Next year, the organization hopes to send more recordings of Pampa's school choirs and bands to foreign countries and to also send albums containing pictures and clippings about this area of the United States.

Next year, Junior Red Cross sponsored a toy dance, with admission being a $25 toy to be given to children at Christmas. High school packed a chest of school supplies and health items sent to another country, and the grade schools packed and sent 225 gift boxes.

They sponsored a senior citizens party and are planning another one for August, decorated Christmas trees for the hospitals, and sent a delegate to the Junior Red Cross state convention in Tyler and the national convention at Kansas City.

Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richardson of Anson; Mr. L. T. Meadows of Romoland, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Homer of Skellytown. All of their children were at home for the weekend with the exception of one son.

David Scarberry, 211 North Gillespie, and Gary Shultz, 1000 East Fisher, both spring graduates of Pampa High School, have been awarded band scholarships at Texas Christian University Ft. Worth.

New African Countries Will Boost UN Membership To 90

EDITORS NOTE: This is the first of three dispatches on the emergence of nine African territories as independent states, with probable complete freedom for five more before the end of the year. This dispatch outlines the impact the new nations may have on the United Nations, along with a description of the countries.

By HUGH WATERFIELD
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — On July 1, there will be six new national flags fluttering under the hot blue African sky, along with six new applicants for membership in the United Nations.

Assuming they all are accepted, this will raise the membership of the world organization to 90 nations, of which 17 will be African states.

Before the end of this month, eight African countries will have achieved independence and a ninth on July 1. Three of these, members of the French community, have agreed in advance to federate. Two others, one Italian-administered and one British, have voted to merge.

Africa will be overhauling Asia and pulling up fast on Latin America as the largest geographical group in the U.N.

This increase of African membership could make the Afro-Asian group substantially the largest bloc in the U.N., with a membership of 27, compared with 21 Latin American countries.

Before the end of the year, African membership in the U.N. is likely to be further increased by the addition of Nigeria and four more members of the French community.

Thus, if they can reach agreement on controversial issues, the African bloc could wind up controlling more than one-third of the total U.N. membership, with the result that the General Assembly would be unable to pass a resolution on a matter of importance against their united opposition.

The necessary two-thirds majority would be impossible.

The Security Council already has approved the admission of two new African members to the U.N. this year — the republics of Cameroon and Togo, both formerly French-administered U.N. Protectorates.

Another French territory, — the Mali Federation, made up of Senegal and the French Sudan, recently achieved independence. Mali is a sprawling northwest African territory two-and-a-half times the size of Texas, but with a population of just under seven million.

One of the new countries is Madagascar, the world's fifth largest island, whose last queen, Hova, surrendered to the French in 1896, has an area of 228,000 square miles — two and a half times the size of Great Britain — and a population of six million.

Other French communities granted freedom are Chad, the Central African Republic, the French Congo and Gabon. The first three have decided to federate into the Union of Equatorial African States, which will adopt the shorter name of the Equatorial Union.

East Africa got its first independent state on June 26 when British Somaliland was rushed into independence almost as fast as the Belgian Congo, from direct colonial rule by Britain only a year ago.

Four more French territories — the Ivory Coast, the Volta Republic, Dahomey and the Niger Republic — also are advancing toward independence this year.

But the event of the year in Africa, from the point of view of its long-term impact, comes on Oct. 1, when the British Federation of Nigeria hoists its independence flag.

Nigeria's last census, 10 years ago, showed its population was 32 million. A natural rate of increase would put it at 38 million today.

Up to now, the leading state in Africa has been the white-ruled Union of South Africa. But Nigeria, with a population more than three times that of the Union and with its vast mineral resources, wealth in oil and rapidly expanding industries, is expected to weaken considerable power in Africa.

Spirit Of Becoming Single Nation Prevails In Africa

EDITORS NOTE: This is the last of three dispatches on the emergence of nine African territories as independent states, with probable complete freedom for five more before the end of the year. This dispatch assesses the effect of independence and other recent developments on relations between the peoples of Africa.

By HUGH WATERFIELD
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — There is no common language in Africa. The Africans themselves speak hundreds of languages.

African governments are conducted in Arabic, French, English, Spanish, Portuguese and Swahili. Of these, only Arabic is the mother tongue of the majority of the people in the country when it is used.

The "Dark Continent" is vast and communications over most of it are primitive.

But in spite of wide differences of origin, culture, race, tribe and religion, there are strong feelings over almost the entire African continent for the welding of all its people into one nation.

The strongest proponents of this ideal also have found, to their disappointment—and in some cases to their surprise—that there are even stronger realities which make it somewhat remote.

Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, Prime Minister of Ghana, has emerged as the leading spokesman for the eventual creation of a United States of Africa. He and other Ghana leaders and organizations, with their supporters in other African territories, spearhead the Pan-African movement.

Nkrumah's critics believe his main motive is an ambition to achieve immortality as the liberator of Africa.

But the African leader says he believes the liberation of his continent will be surer, swifter and probably more peaceful if it is led by a united movement in which independent African states combine with nationalist organizations in still colonial countries.

He strongly feels that Africa's ultimate freedom will be more secure and its vast resources can be more easily and rapidly used for the improvement of the condition of its peoples if it is combined into one huge united or federal state after total liberation.

Nkrumah was encouraged to believe in the almost imminent possibility of this by the agonizing impact which the liberation of Ghana had on African nationalist movements all over the continent.

Ghana was the first African colonial territory to achieve freedom. To millions of Africans this looked like the beginning of a new life. But to thousands of white settlers and white rulers to the beginning of the end.

However, many African nationalist leaders do not share Nkrumah's urge for rapid political unity. Last month, Chief Samuel Akintola, premier of Western Nigeria, told this correspondent: "Sovereignty is too new a blessing to African countries for them to give it up again in a hurry."

A most positive, but also cautious line was taken by Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia in an interview he gave earlier this year to UPI Vice President Thomas R. Curran.

The Emperor favored unity in principle. But he advised that it should begin with economic cooperation, go on to specific political agreements with neighboring territories and then to closer association, first on a regional basis.

However, the struggle for final liberation of the continent from colonialism and racial discrimination unites some emergent African states but divides them from others.

Above all, the newly independent African governments have all they can handle in tackling the problems of backwardness, ignorance, poverty and disease, which hold back the advance of Africa.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our milkman is a handsome young man about 30 and he's so nice I hate to hurt his feelings. I gave him my back door key to let himself in and put my refrigerator.

My husband says the milkman is supposed to leave the milk outside the door. He is raising quite a fuss about it, too. I like to sleep mornings and don't want the milk to get sour; that's why I gave him a back door key. My husband has no reason to be jealous of the milkman but I believe he is. Should I ask the milkman for the key and tell him to leave the milk outside or what?

LOUISE
DEAR LOUISE: Better to have your husband's wishes outrank the milkman's feelings. Get the key.

DEAR ABBY: Some friends invited my husband and me to dine at a roadside cafe. The four of us ordered steaks. Just as I started to eat mine I noticed a dead fly on it. I pushed it back and asked my husband to order me another one. He refused and traded steaks with me. I told him he shouldn't eat it either, but he said it didn't bother him. I lost my temper and we had a few words.

By this time people at other tables were taking it all in and started voicing their opinions. Some were with me and some were with him. Our host insisted on ordering another steak. Do you think I was wrong to mention the dead fly? Or should I have brushed it off and eaten the steak anyway?

SQUEAMISH
DEAR SQUEAMISH: Telling your husband was fine. He then should have quietly ordered another steak. Since he lacked the courage, you should have let him trade steaks with you instead of making an issue of it. The lively row between you was probably far more humiliating to your host than the presence of a dead fly on your steak.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for the "Live Today" teen-ager who said her parents were too strict and old-fashioned, and with the H Bomb ready to hit us any minute why not have all the fun possible? Well, I'll tell you why not!

God had His reasons for putting us on this earth, and if He takes us away He will also have His reasons. If He wants us to live and have fun, He will give us time, and if He wants us to die, He will see to that, too.

I absolutely agree with your answer, Abby. My mother talks just like you do and I love her for it. We teen-agers should try to understand that our parents have lived their lives and made mistakes and they are being strict with us to keep us from making the same mistakes.

I think this "Live Today" girl just wanted an excuse to have her fun and she needed someone to agree with her. If she's smart, she'll take your advice, I'm no angel, but I know right from wrong and if I get into trouble it will be nobody's fault but my own because I've been taught different. Thank you.

We can't resist reprinting the following article, which we came across this week in CONTROL TOWER, a trade magazine published by Robertshaw-Thermostat Division, Robertshaw-Fulton Controls Company, in Youngwood, Pa.

Consider the following office rules, posted in this country in 1872 by Zachary U. Geiger, sole proprietor of the Mount Cory Carriage and Wagon Works.

- Office employees will daily sweep the floors, dust the furniture shelves and showcases.
- Each clerk will bring in a basket of water and scuttle of coal for the day's business.
- Clerks will each day fill lamps, clean chimneys, trim wicks. Wash the windows once a week.
- Make your pens carefully. You may whittle nibs to your individual taste.
- This office will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. daily, except on the Sabbath, on which day it will remain closed.
- Men employes will be given an evening off for courting purposes, or two evenings a week, if they go regular to church.
- Every employe should lay aside from each pay a goodly sum of his earnings for a period of five years in my service, and who has been thrifty and attentive to his religious duties, is looked upon by his fellowmen as a substantial and law abiding citizen, will be given an increase of five cents per day in his pay, providing a just return in profits from the business permits it.
- So you think you'd prefer THE GOOD OLD DAYS? ? ?

Growing Of Mums Discussed By Club

Pampa Garden Club met Monday morning in the yard of Mrs. Fred Hart, 721 N. Russell with 20 members present.

Mrs. H. H. Boynton opened the meeting by reading the club collection.

Mrs. Waldon Moore, president, conducted the business meeting.

An interesting and informative program "Growing Mums in the Panhandle" was presented by Mrs. Lee Moore and Mrs. Bob Miller.

"The selection of a sunny location together with a porous, well-aerated soil are the basic necessities for growing chrysanthemums. Be sure that 25 per cent or more of the soil is humus," the speakers brought out.

"When chrysanthemums are set out, be careful to place them no deeper than they were set in the plant bands. If you do not bury new plants, use the healthy outer plants that come up around the parent plants in early Spring. Plant these in a new bed or completely renovate bed. Allow one square foot of space for each plant," they pointed out.

"Chrysanthemums require large amounts of water. It is a shallow rooted plant and is dependent upon sufficient moisture in the top soil. For this reason mulching becomes a necessity through the hot summer months. Start mulching about July 1."

Among the other pointers discussed by Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Miller were: "When plants are five or six inches high, pinch out one-half inch of top growth. This affects the stem length and the spray formation of abundant flowers. Pinch two or three times; make the last pinch about the middle of July."

"Water the bed thoroughly before fertilizing and then apply any balanced fertilizer in liquid form only. This should be done about August 1."

"New strains have been developed," the speakers informed the group. "Some bloom in August and we also have a lavish display in September and October."

RUTH MILLETT

How does she manage to do so much?

The woman who somehow always finds time to keep in touch with friends, to do kind and thoughtful things for others, to entertain often, to do volunteer work—all this on top of being a wife, mother, and homemaker.

If you'll make a careful study of the woman whose friends ask each other "how does she do it?" you discover certain things about her.

First, she has her life well organized. She has figured out the quickest and easiest housekeeping routines. She plans in advance so that she isn't forever in a last minute rush.

She plans her days to make the best use of her time, instead of going haphazardly from one half-finished job to another.

Secondly, she isn't a time waster. She doesn't hold 45-minute telephone conversations, stretch a drop-in visit to two or three hours, and waste half a day running errand she could take care of in 15 minutes on the telephone.

Then too, she uses business-like methods in any job she does. She files information so that it is easily available when she needs it. She makes a food list so that she can market once a week instead of daily, plans so that one trip in the car accomplishes a whole list of errands and so on.

Because she seems to be able to do so much so easily and so well, most of us just envy her without realizing that we could probably do twice as much as we do if we were as well organized.

"I don't know how she does it," we say with a sign of envy. And yet it is really so simple.

This "superwoman" is just a woman who has organized her life so well that she gets as much accomplished in one day as most of us get done in two or three.

Neatness insurance: when folding the youngsters' clothes, tuck hankies in the pockets as you go.

Lee Grimsley's Sportbeat

As usual, George Wright, amiable sports publicity director at Baylor University, is first off the press with his 1960 football press book.

And in it he writes nothing but glittering adjectives about White Deer's Jeff Bearden, the only player from this area listed on the Bears varsity roster.

At 18, Bearden is the youngest player on the squad. He is 6-3 and weighs 185.

Baylor coaches say Bearden is one of the most promising sophomore wingmen in the fold.

The Bears will be blessed with a wealth of talent this fall, particularly at quarterback. Ronnie Stanley, a 188-pound junior, is currently listed as the starter. He is backed up by Junior Bobby Ply from Mission.

In halfbacks Ronnie Bull, Tommy Minter and Ronnie Goodwin, Baylor should have three of the best breakaway runners in the Southwest Conference.

At first glance the Bears seem to be weaker at fullback than they have been in recent years. The top two men at that post, according to pre-season prognostications, are both seniors — Jim Evans and Robert Starr. Both are considered small as compared to most mammoth fullbacks these days. Evans weighs 188 and Starr 198.

Marlar Sees Buc-Bird Series

David Marlar, the Roadrunner outfielder, has turned to crystal ball gazing, and has come up with a few predictions on what to expect in the world of sports during the near future. Among them are:

Floyd Patterson will whip Ingemar Johansson in their return match, but challenger Sonny Liston can beat either of the two heavyweights.

Jim Gentile, Baltimore's prize first baseman, will win the American League batting championship. Stan Musial is beginning to come back and will perform the same feat in the National League.

And when ordering World Series tickets, send your application to either Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, or Memorial Stadium, Baltimore. That is unless the Chicago White Sox come on too strong.

Cowboys List 30 NFL Veterans

The Dallas Cowboys, that's Texas' entry in the old pro football league, are beginning to beat the drums over 30 National Football League veterans they have under contract.

But a close check of the latest roster reveals only a half dozen who have been topflight pro players — quarterbacks Don Heinrich and Eddie LeBaron; halfbacks L. G. (Long Gone) Dupre and Leroy Bolden; linebacker Jack Patena and guard Duane Putnam.

The Cowboys seem to be in the same rut that the old Dallas Texans were in back in 1952 — namely little outstanding Southwest Conference talent.

Don Meredith, the former Southern Methodist all-American who has become as much a by-word in Dallas as Doak Walker was, probably will have to carry all the popularity load on his shoulders.

boys will have only Dupre, former Baylor star, Rice's Larry Duesitt and Jim Mooty of Arkansas, who cut much of a figure in SWC circles.

Former TCU end Jimmy Gilmore is listed on the roster, but he figures to be too small to stick with a NFL club.

Quotes from the major leagues: Casey Stengel — "I got the platooning idea from John McGraw. He would platooned older players who had lost a step or two. They would play better in 90 games than in 150."

Harvey Kuenn — "It has been a shock to be traded. It upsets your whole routine. Rocky Colavito had more pressure on him than I did."

Mickey Mantle — (About fans booing him) "When I'm going good, nothing bothers me."

Red Schoendienst — "I think 95 games should win the National League pennant this year."

Faithful Flatbush Still True To Bums

NEW YORK (UPI) — Who said there are no Dodger fans left in Brooklyn?

The Bums came back to New York for an exhibition game with the Yankees Monday night and an enthusiastic throng of 53,492, including a multitude of the "faithful" from across the Brooklyn Bridge, gave them a rousing welcome at Yankee Stadium.

They cheered the Dodgers until their voices became hoarse. They booed the Yankees just as hard. And they almost went berserk when one of their old heroes, Gil Hodges, drove in Brooklyn's first home run with a triple in the seventh inning that gave the Dodgers a 4-3 victory.

It was the Dodgers' first appearance in New York since they moved to Los Angeles 2½ years ago. And to the big town's fans, it brought back memories of those old Yankee-Dodger "subway" brawls.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Ralph Dupas, the world's fourth-ranked welterweight contender, today was a step closer to a title shot after baffling Irish Eddie Jordan with a two-fisted attack and fancy footwork to take an easy 10-round unanimous decision.

Dupas, 145, won his fifth fight of the year in six outings and boosted his record to 82-14-6. He

Drott Nearly Made History

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (UPI) — Dick Drott narrowly missed making history at Cooperstown Monday when he tossed a no-hitter for seven innings while leading the Chicago Cubs to a 5-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the 19th annual Hall of Fame exhibition game.

Drott, who hasn't won a game for the Cubs during the regular season, retired the first 19 men in order before he walked Ken Aspromonte on a 3 and 2 pitch in the seventh inning to spoil an otherwise perfect stint.

Moe Drabowsky replaced Drott in the eighth and gave up a single to Tito Francona for Cleveland's first hit of the game.

A home run by rookie center-fielder Dan Murphy in the first inning was all Chicago needed to bring the National League even with the American in victories at nine each. One other game ended in a tie.

Wilhelm Victim Of Solon Rally

By GARY KALE
United Press International

No one was more surprised than Jack Kralick when Manager Cookie Lavagetto of the Washington Senators named him to pitch against the Baltimore Orioles Monday night.

And no one was more surprised than the Orioles when the 25-year-old southpaw knocked them out of first place in the American League by pitching his way to a 5-2, 10 inning victory in his first major league start.

Kralick had relieved in 15 previous games this season and turned in six fireman appearances last year for the Senators before getting the starting nod from Lavagetto.

A wild 10th inning, resulting in three unearned runs for Washington without a ball being hit out of the infield, dropped the Orioles into second place in the American League standings, three percentage points behind the idle New York Yankees.

Hoyt Wilhelm, who usually figures in any wild spree, was the victim of horrid support in a frame in which umpire Joe Paparella tossed out Baltimore Manager Paul Richards for arguing on a tipped foul by Bob Allison.

Allison, with the count 3 and 2, attempted to punch one of Wilhelm's pitches and it trickled foul. Richards claimed it should have been ruled a bunted foul third strike.

It was the beginning of the end as Allison then walked, advanced to second on Lenny Green's bunt single and stole third. Both scored as Marv Breeding's throw to the plate on Julio Becquer's grounder sailed over Clint Courtney's head.

Another bunt by Billy Gardner and Hal Naragon's double play grounder scored the third run.

Baltimore was in arrears twice during the game, but managed to tie the count on each occasion. A triple by Reno Bertoia and an Allison double accounted for the first Washington run. The Nat's scored their second without the benefit of a hit.

The Orioles tied it the first time on two singles and Gege Woodling's sacrifice fly and evened it again when Jackie Brandt tripled home a run in the eighth.

Kralick won his third straight without a loss while Wilhelm suffered his fifth loss in 10 decisions. There was no other action in either league.

Rebels Practice Tonight

The American Legion Rebels, fresh from a 16-9 victory over Children's, will hold a special workout at 6 p.m. today.

Then Friday night the Rebels will play host to Stimmert in an 8:15 contest.

Pampa had little trouble with Children's in its game there Sunday. After the Colts had taken a 5-3 lead in the bottom of the second, the Rebels came back with a seven run outburst in the third to take the lead for good.

Kelly Taylor, a small righthander for Shelby Ruff, gained Little League stardom last night by pitching a no-hitter against B&B Pharmacy.

But errors by his teammates cost him a chance for a shutout and Shelby Ruff had to be content with a 21-2 victory over B&B.

In another Little League contest, Culberson Chevrolet rode behind the five hit pitching of Mike Wise to down Kempa Humble, 11-4.

Taylor was never seriously in trouble throughout the six hitless innings he pitched. But B&B did manage to score single tallies in the first and third innings.

But what the Shelby Ruff players lacked in giving Taylor in defensive support, they more than made up for at the plate, scoring three runs in each of the first three frames and 12 markers in the top of the fifth.

Lin Engle was the top hitter for Ruff, collecting three hits in four trips to the plate. Taylor wasn't bashful with the bat either, rapping out two singles and a double.

Wise, Culberson's leading pitcher, got off to a ragged start by allowing Kempa four runs in the first inning. But then he settled down and pitched shutout ball the rest of the way. He recorded eight strike outs in the game.

Gary Rasco was the leading-hitter for Culberson with two singles and a double. Rodney Hall and Everett Gray each added a single and double. Wise had two singles and Gary Green collected a double.

Clergymen Rip Sex Books

NEW YORK (UPI)—A minister, a priest and a rabbi in a "blunt," adults only television panel show Sunday discussed the exploitation of sex in New York.

The clergymen objected to "grit" and "health" magazines which appear on newsstands and which they said break down the sexual morality of teen-agers.

At the start of the program, "The Way To Go" on WCBS-TV, parents in the audience were requested to send children from the room because the discussion would be "blunt."

The panelists were Dr. Dan M. Potter, executive director of the Protestant Council of New York City; Msgr. Charles Walsh, director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine of the Roman Catholic archdiocese, and the Rev. Dr. William F. Rosenblum, spiritual director of Temple Israel.

Displayed on the program were magazine covers showing scantily-clad girls, photos of so-called "grind-house" movie theater marquees and a 42nd Street book store's front window.

Dr. Potter cited a sharp rise in forcible rape, divorce, adultery, venereal disease, among the young, along with prostitution and illegitimacy.

He placed much of the blame for this on magazines, newspapers, television and other media that lend an aura of fascination to the reports of sexual delinquency.

"As parents, we must become sensitive to the materials our young people are reading," he said.

Msgr. Walsh disputed the convention of certain publishers and many psychoanalysts that the reading of pornography had no harmful effects.

Dr. Rosenblum said the perusal of such material was enough to send some persons "over the brink" into sexual crime.
