SAM LEVENSON: "If you're willing to fight..."

Education Is Serious Business To Levenson

By BOB CUNIFF
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Sam Levenson is an obsessed man. The school teacher turned humorist can't rid himself of the idea that America's schools should be doing a lot better.

Some 100 nights a year, free of charge, Sam gives PTA audiences a large dose of his night club act. Then he gets down to business: "What's to be done about the schools?"

"I hate to say this," Sam tells his audience, "but the wrong people seem to get on those trains up to the state capital. The people who count — the thinkers and community leaders don't seem to be bothered whenever it comes time to stand up and be counted for better schools. New roads — yes, they'll be there. Or a new post office. But somehow, schools don't seem to matter that much.

"As far as I'm concerned, nothing matters more. If our school systems break down, what's to be done of the American dream? Everywhere you find some of the most important people in town fighting bond issues to build new schools.

"They'd rather not pay more taxes, even if it means depriving their own children of a better future. It is incomprehensible to me that intelligent people could think that way.

"Or maybe the intelligent people don't speak up — just don't want to be bothered. Well, if people will carry the day, and that's what they do, too often."

It is obvious that Sam has an aching social conscience. He feels deeply about many things and tries to convey his feelings any way he can, using his act as one "thought" vehicle.

"I try to slip ideas into my monologues," he says. "But then I get the word that the TV show is running long and we'll have to cut. What happens is that the ideas get cut and I'm left with the jokes."

When a PTA audience, in a question-and-answer period after his talk, asks how he would improve schools, Sam says: "If you're willing to fight, plenty can be done. Obviously, we'd get better teachers if they earned more money. And if a school is a clean, pleasant place, it will be more conducive to learning.

"But you have to be willing to write letters, ring doorbells, and fight every inch of the way. Not many people seem to care that much."

Sam also is developing another idea.

"We don't know how to teach patriotism in this country. Kids should be taught, from the time they start reading, about the great things America can provide, and the great honor it is to be an American.

"I find too many cynical people nowadays who are willing to get all the benefits of being an American, but think it's too embarrassing to say that they love their country.

"We tend to take America for granted. If we take that attitude

Compact Car Austerity Trend Being Discarded By Makers

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT (UPI)—Compact car owners, who only a few months ago swore off practically all car conveniences in favor of economy, are gradually abandoning their austerity.

A Chrysler Corp. official who specializes in sales trends of extra cost equipment on cars says each month shows an increase in the percentage of compact cars equipped with various optional accessories.

For example, during April, the last month for which complete figures were available, sales of backup lights on the Valiant were up 1 1/2 per cent from the previous month. Sales of heaters on the Chrysler Corp. compact were too long, we're going to pay the price. And I'm not talking about Russia. All this business about the education race with Russia. That's not as important as the race we're conducting with history. We have to run hard to win that race."

up .7 per cent during the month, power steering sales were up .05 per cent, windshield washers were up .8 per cent and automatic transmission sales were up 5.1 per cent.

The increases still left installation of extra cost accessories on compact cars far below installations on standard-sized cars but the official said he was sure the gap would be narrowed considerably in the future.

"In most cases optional equipment on compact cars will probably never reach the degree of acceptance it has on standard cars," he said. "But, with a few exceptions, the gap between the two should be very narrow in a year or two if the present trend continues."

The percentage of compact cars equipped with white sidewall tires already is approaching the percentage for standard cars. Chrysler figures showed 63.6 per cent of its standard cars were equipped with white sidewalls while 61.3 per cent of the Valiants were similarly equipped.

The official said some accessories, like power brakes and power steering, may never reach the degree of acceptance that they have reached on standard cars.

Power brakes appear to be losing their popularity as options on even the standard cars, he said.

"The lighter compacts don't need power assists as much as standards do," he said. "Improvement of standard brakes is making the power brakes less popular even on the bigger cars and continued improvement of standard brakes is likely to lead to further decreases in sales of the power option.

Power steering, on the other hand, is the fastest-growing accessory on standard cars and appears to be the most likely candidate to be made standard on all large cars in the near future, the official said.

Next to power steering, the most rapidly growing accessory on the big cars seems to be air conditioning, he said, although here again the compacts are dragging down the overall figures.

Search For Lost Plane Abandoned

BODOE, Norway (UPI) — Search parties just about gave up hope today that they would find any trace of six crewmen and a U.S. Air Force RB-47 missing since Saturday in a flight over the Arctic Ocean.

The air rescue center here which is directing the search said planes would continue to scour the area but there was little chance now they would have any success.

Airmen experienced in flying over the area said few persons could survive the arctic conditions in an open dinghy for more than 60 hours.

The Finnish freighter Kersti found a yellow balloon last night floating in the general area where the missing plane is feared to have crashed but there was no indication it came from the plane.

Myrtle A. McBride Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Myrtle Alma McBride, 643 N. Banks, died at 6:30 this morning at Highland General Hospital. She had been ill for the past 14 months.

Mrs. McBride was born in Gorham July 25, 1936. She came to Pampa from Dickens in 1964 and has lived here since then.

She was graduated from Dickens High School in 1954. Mrs. McBride is survived by her husband, E. R. McBride, a son, Danny Wayne; a daughter, Donna Kay; parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Brown of Pampa; six sisters, Mrs. Joe Jeffers, Mrs. Bobby Seitz, Earlene Brown and Betty Brown of Pampa, Mrs. R. O. Ingram of Kansas City, and Mrs. Jimmy Wamer of Ponca City, Okla.

Stray Bullet Fatal To Girl

WETUMPKA, Ala. (UPI) — A 9-year-old girl, playing outside her family's cottage at Lake Martin, collapsed at her father's feet with most of her head shot away Sunday night.

Elmore County Sheriff Lester L. Holley said Barbara King may have been struck by a high-powered rifle bullet fired from across the lake.

John L. King, Barbara's father, her brother, Tompy, 10, and a cousin, Richard King, 9, witnessed the death.

Holley said the three children were playing with firecrackers but the small fireworks could not have caused the death.

"We don't have anything to go on," Holly said. "I don't have any idea what killed her, but I'm not going to stop until I find out."

Chief State Toxicologist C. J. Rehling of Auburn was to examine the body in an effort to find what killed the girl.

3-Alarm Blaze Hits Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH (UPI) — A three-alarm fire caused $75,000 damage Sunday night at the Fort Worth Rendering Co. plant on the city's north side.

Fourteen units fought the blaze before bringing it under control. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

Stevenson trying to draft Stevenson for a third try at the White House. It said Brown's endorsement "cannot assure the nomination of Senator Kennedy."

This move came while Kennedy was already under fire from former President Truman, who favors Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri for the nomination, and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, now Kennedy's chief rival.

Both accused Kennedy of being a party to a rigged convention. The memo was sent by James E. Doyle, manager of the organization.

Kennedy gets a chance to give his own answer in a televised news conference today from New York.

Doyle's memorandum was understood to have gone to Stevenson delegates in California and other states. It said "persistent reports" indicated that Brown might endorse Kennedy soon and that the action "would be arranged to make it appear that it is the decisive factor."

It will not be, Doyle said. He said the Stevenson organization's best estimate indicated that Brown's active support of Kennedy would mean no more than an additional 20 votes for the Massachusetts senator.

"This will leave Senator Kennedy about 80 votes short of a first ballot nomination, even if he exhausts his entire ammunition," the memo said. It said he would lose votes on the second ballot.

Sweet Services Tomorrow At 1

Pallbearers will be Jess Brown, Roy Cahill, John Branham, Floy Emerson, Melbin Brawley and Hermann Kooper.

Mr. Sweet, who lived in Pampa since 1956, is survived by his wife, Mildred; three sons, Kenneth, David and Ronald of Pampa; two brothers, Guy of Pierre, S.D., and Orville of Chamberlin, S.D.; and one sister, Mrs. Charlie Short of Elk City, Okla.

LAWMAKERS

The recess followed an all-night session prompted by a Senate-House battle over terms of a bill to authorize President Eisenhower to curtail or halt sugar imports from Premier Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Both the House and Senate agreed on the principle of the need for the anti-Castro legislation. At issue was the question of who should benefit from any cutback in Cuban sugar imports.

Adding to the congressional confusion was a White House threat, relayed through a presidential aide, that Eisenhower would call back Congress Tuesday unless the sugar question was resolved.

Finally shortly before 4 a. m., bleary-eyed Senate-House conferees, meeting for an hour in the office of Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) hammered out a compromise that amounted to a defeat for domestic beet sugar growers and a victory for refiners of imported raw sugar and sugar growers in 15 foreign countries.

The compromise bill was approved by the House at about 8 a. m. and the Senate followed suit two hours later on a roll call vote of 32 to 24. With this obstacle removed, the Senate recessed at 8:33 a. m. and the House quit at 8:31 a. m.

In the Wisconsin mishap, a father and his six young children were killed after a runaway trailer carrying horses tore through the family car. Only the mother, Mrs. Lorraine Meister, 28, survived.

Police said the trailer broke loose from a car which was towing it and careened into the side of the Meister auto, ripping it open "like a tin can."

Mrs. Meister's husband, Richard 29, and their six children, Kathryn, 9, Karen, 8, Robert, 7, Brian, 4, Colleen, 3, and Daniel, 1, were killed.

Mrs. Meister, in a state of shock, but otherwise unharmed, crawled from the car and began crying for her children.

Before being led away in an ambulance, she pleaded with rescuers to remove Daniel's body from where it was pinned in the wreckage by the car's steering wheel.

ECONOMIC

Basically it was a pocketbook struggle between American beet sugar growers and West and Gulf coast refiners of imported raw sugar and sugar growers in 15 other countries.

The final measure added up to a defeat for the Senate and the beet sugar growers. That accounted for the opposition on the Senate's 32-24 roll call vote for passage. The House approved the bill by voice vote.

In seeking new sources for sugar to replace any reduction in Cuba's 1960 shipments, the president would be authorized to permit domestic growers to provide no more than Cuba's share of the anticipated deficit in shipments from Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

This amounts to about 156,000 tons. The president is believed certain to allot domestic growers the maximum amount authorized.

Any cuts in Cuba's basic quota of 2.2 million tons would have to be off-set by purchase of sugar from 15 other foreign countries which have marketing quotas.

Cuba is reported to have already delivered more than 2.2 million tons against this 1960 quota.

Five of the 15 other countries, all with small quotas, would get first preference in replacing sugar cut from Cuba's quota.

These countries are Haiti, The Netherlands, Formosa, Panama and Costa Rica. The United States would buy enough additional sugar from these countries to bring their 1960 marketings to 10,000 tons each.

The Philippine republic was the big foreign winner. It would be entitled to supply 15 per cent of any additional sugar required by the United States this year because of cuts in Cuba's basic quota.

The former-chief executive, in implying that the convention was controlled in advance by Kennedy forces, absolved the senator from complicity.

Truman said that Kennedy is "a victim of his overzealous backers, which is unfortunate and unfair to him." He refused to name any backers and sidestepped a question about whether Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler was among them.

About Kennedy's qualifications for the White House in the present world situation, Truman said: "Senator are you certain that you're quite ready for the country or the country is ready for you in the role of president in January, 1961?"

Truman said he had hoped that someone with the "greatest possible maturity and experience" would be available at this time and urged Kennedy to "be patient."

The former president, who is backing Sen. Stuart Symington for the presidential nomination, also named Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas as a possible candidate who has "grown in skill and esteem in his service to the nation and the party."

Speaker Sam Rayburn has been definitely selected for two key roles in Johnson's convention battle. Rayburn will be Johnson's top floor manager, and will also place him in nomination. This was decided at a series of strategy conferences last week.

Panhandle Oil Activity Down, Report Indicates

Drilling activity went further into a decline in the Panhandle area, as noted in the weekly newsletter of the Pampa office of the Texas Railroad Commission.

The oil and gas division report for the week ending June 30 showed that there were 14 applications to drill oil and gas wells. Four of the intentions to drill are for depths of more than 4,400 feet.

Completion activity was up, with 20 wells being recorded as finished. Three dry holes were plugged during the report period.

Refinery In Cuba Seized Last Week

Texaco Chairman Explains Reason For Firm Refusing To Process Russian Crude

NEW YORK (Sp1) — The Cuban government has ordered Texaco to run Russian crude oil in its refinery at Santiago de Cuba and the company has refused to comply with this regulation.

Texaco has operated in Cuba for more than 50 years. During that time we have consistently tried to conform to all the laws of the country and to provide an ample supply of petroleum products to our many customers throughout the island. In 1955, under the provisions of Law-Decree 1758 of 1954, Texaco sought and received authorization from the government to build in Santiago de Cuba a refinery with a capacity of 20,000 barrels daily. Without the assurance of being able to refine its own crude oil, we have consistently advised the Cuban government that we cannot agree to run in our refinery crude oil from sources other than our own.

In addition to what we consider an improper and illegal request to purchase and refine Russian crude, the Cuban government has failed to provide the dollar exchange necessary to pay for importations of crude oil to our refinery. In fact, deliveries made over 15 months ago remain unpaid. We have offered to continue our importations provided the Cuban government supplied the necessary dollar exchange, but it has refused to do so except on condition that we purchase Russian crude oil.

Business conditions in Cuba under the Castro regime have gradually become more and more intolerable, and this action on the part of the Cuban government is not entirely unexpected. While we have not made any attempt to determine the amount of the claim which we will have against the Cuban government for the seizure of our properties, it will approximate $50 million dollars. Until these properties are returned or our claim is determined, it will not be possible to state what adjustments may be necessary in the company's reserve or surplus accounts.

Continental Announces Plant Expansion At Ponca City

HOUSTON (Sp1) — Plans for a $2,200,000 expansion of Continental Oil Company's research and development facilities at Ponca City, Okla., which include doubling the size of the main research laboratory and adding some 135 scientific personnel in the next five years, were announced Saturday by President L. F. McCollum.

With the addition of the new $2,200,000 facilities, Continental will have invested approximately $8,500,000 in research installations in Ponca City since 1950.

The new facilities will include a $1,900,000 addition to the main research laboratory built at Ponca City in 1952, and a $300,000 laboratory service building, said McCollum. The research addition will connect with the existing laboratory and will cover some 40,000 square feet of space, about the same as the present main laboratory.

Work on the new facilities will start late this fall, with completion expected in early 1962. Conoco's present five-year research plan calls for employment of 135 additional scientists and technicians, bringing the research staff at Ponca City to nearly 600 persons by early 1962.

The addition to the main laboratory will be a three-story reinforced concrete structure that will blend with the architecture of the present facility. Air-conditioned and featuring the latest in research equipment, it will provide for expansion of research work presently done by the research and development department's production, petroleum products, petrochemical and central research divisions.

Announcement of the addition to Conoco's research facilities marks a further step in a research expansion program started at Ponca City more than 10 years ago. While Conoco has conducted research work for many years, it research and development department was formally organized in 1949, with a staff of some 100 persons. Earlier research work was done by individual departments.

Asphalt Making Boosts Oil Industry

By MAC SEBREE
United Press International
TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—The manufacture of asphalt for the nation's road and street system has become a major segment of the oil industry.

The question of whether asphalt or concrete is better for highways and streets has been a continuing controversy among highway builders for years, with highly vocal partisans on both sides.

A comparison test between concrete and asphalt on a test stretch near Oklahoma City, put in by the Oklahoma Highway Commission, has been somewhat inconclusive—with concrete's greater first cost somewhat offset by higher maintenance costs with asphalt.

But the fact remains that the oil industry has sold a great amount of asphalt to the highway builders over the past 50 years. Roadbuilders take the lion's share of the nation's asphalt production. Texaco, Inc., reports that about 70 per cent of its asphalt output goes into the construction and upkeep of state and county roads and city streets.

The remainder finds its way into roofing and asphalt shingles, linoleum, floor tile, electrical insulation, waterproofing and rust preventive coatings, automobile battery, boxes, telephones, rubber, tires, garden hoses, and a long list of other products.

Texaco went into the asphalt market in 1903 after a group of sharp eyed oilmen in Texas had noticed that a black residue remaining after the refining of certain crude oils bore an interesting resemblance to asphalt.

With tests and experiments they found it not only looked like asphalt—it was asphalt. And a purer grade, too, than lake asphalt, which contained quite a bit of foreign matter.

Today petroleum asphalt has almost completely supplanted natural lake asphalt, because of its relative low price as well as because points of manufacture are closer to markets.

Natural asphalt was popular before the automobile arrived. Asphalt from Trinidad's Pitch Lake was used in 1876 to put down the first pitch pavement on Pennsylvania Ave., in Washington, D. C.

But the high cost of importing natural asphalt and a lack of proper storage facilities once it got here, put it in a price bracket beyond the financial reach of most communities.

It was used almost exclusively for the heavy duty requirements of big city streets, which its resiliency took the pounding from steel-rimmed wagon-wheels and solid rubber tires.

Oilmen claim that asphalt is today the leading highway building material. They quote Federal Bureau of Public Roads statistics, indicating that more than 94 per cent of all paved mileage constructed by state highway departments is surfaced with asphalt.

10 Wildcats Successful In 65 Tries

AUSTIN (UPI)—The odds against hitting oil with a wildcat well last week in Texas were 6.5 to 1.

There were 10 new discoveries brought in and 65 dry holes, according to weekly statistics from the Texas Railroad Commission.

Two strikes came in at each of the Refugio, Midland and Wichita Falls districts. Single finds were made in the San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Abilene and San Angelo areas.

The commission granted 321 regular drilling applications, for a 1960 total of 7,860 compared to 9,883 applications last year. Completions totalled 207 oil and 22 gas wells, for totals so far this year of 5,036 and 972, respectively.

Oil and gas well completions at the same time in 1959 numbered 6,062 and 1,016.

The number of wells in the state showed a net increase of 108 to 195,801 although the average calendar day allowable as of

Big Flowing Well In Libya Is Announced

HOUSTON (Sp1) — Completion of an oil well in the Dahrha Field of Libya, which flow - tested at the rate of 11,500 barrels per day, was reported here today by Continental Oil Company, the Ohio Oil Company and Amerada Petroleum Corporation.

Located in concession 32, the F-9 well is the largest yet brought in by the group. It is the third largest ever completed in Libya.

The well, flowing 46-degree gravity crude, extends the Dahrha Field two and one-quarter miles southeast from the group's F-2 well which has tested at the rate of 8,000 barrels per day. Crude from the new well flowed through perforations from 3,065 feet to 3,105 feet and 3,120 to 3,130 feet. The well's total depth is 3,374 feet.

The F-9 well is the group 11th oil or gas producer in the Dahrha Field.

Sun Employees Share Profits

PHILADELPHIA (Sp1) — More than 10,000 Sun Oil Company employees have evidence today that practicing the old fashioned virtues of thrift and prudence never goes out of style.

Their proof: about $7.3 million worth of shares they are receiving from the liquidation of Sun's latest stock purchase plan. That amounts to 158,693 shares—double the number of shares they purchased through their voluntary investment five years ago.

In addition, their savings have already earned them about $533,000 in cash dividends.

Participants sharing in the stock liquidation comprise a record group of 10,092 employees located principally throughout the United States and Canada. The 1955 plan Sun's 30th consecutive one, was liquidated on June 30.

Here's how the plan has worked for them: for one year they invested up to 10 per cent of their base salary, and for each dollar they paid into the plan the company contributed 50 cents. That money purchased Sun Oil stock which was held in their accounts.

For the next four years a growing surplus fund, including dividends on it, was also turned into shares and credited to the subscribing employees. They also received periodic cash dividends from all stock held in their names.

Since Sun's first plan matured in 1931, 1,930,928 shares have been distributed to participating employees.

An Afternoon With Jaqueline Kennedy

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy may or may not get to the White House at 30. But if she does there will be a lot of fresh touches, and a good many original observations bouncing off the brocade walls.

Sen. John F. Kennedy's beautiful brunette wife rarely "projects" in her public appearances. But there's none of that trouble in the living room of the Kennedy's handsome old red brick Georgetown house.

Breazing in from a luncheon date in a summery chartreuse linen dress, she rested a soft drink for her interviewer and settled herself easily in a highbacked wing chair.

The talk had barely begun when the Kennedy's two-and-a-half-year-old daughter, Caroline, a kitten in each arm, came in to say hello. Watching her go, Mrs.
Kennedy said she devotes much of her time to Caroline.

"This life is very hard on a little child. She kisses her daddy goodnight, and when she looks for him in the morning, he's in Oregon or some place.

"Lots of women, if they had the choice, would prefer to do the cooking and let someone else take care of the children. With me it's the other way around. I don't want to cook. I want to take care of Caroline.

Jaqueline wonders, in fact, why anyone wants to cook around their place.

"It's hard to find someone to cope with the crazy hours. And six for breakfast, five for lunch and who knows what for dinner."

Though the house is well staffed with servants, she is the manager. She's also the decorator, and has given the house a casual, "airy" feel. In the ad-

"She kisses her daddy goodnight . . . In the morning, he's in Oregon."

Ag Department Urges U.S. To Look To Tree Planting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Look To Your Timber, America," is the theme and title of an Agriculture Department booklet calling for tree planting now if the United States is to have the timber it needs by the year 2000.

By 1975, the booklet points out, there will be 215 million persons in the United States. And by the year 2000 the population will be between 275 million and 360 million. That means, according to forestry experts, that within 40 years the United States in order to meet timber needs must more than double the growth of sawtimber from today's 47 billion board feet to 105 billion board feet.

The booklet emphasizes four ways of stepping up growth: Increase tree planting; keep new cuts lands productive; strengthen the control of diseases, insects and fire; and use more of the timber now being cut, including dead and culled trees.

The booklet is based on a 700-page report, "Timber Resources For America's Future," prepared by the Forest Service in 1958 under the leadership of Richard E. McArdle, chief of the agency. Collaborating with the Forest Service in this comprehensive appraisal of the timber situation in the United States were state foresters, other state agencies, forest industries, and other private and public organizations.

"I hope everyone reads this 16-page booklet, especially landowners," McArdle said. "They should become acquainted with the situation we face. It's a challenge to all American people — one I'm sure we can meet if we start now to intensify forest practices. We have the land and we have the know-how."

"The key to adequate future timber supplies lies with small timber land owners such as farmers' businessmen, retired people and the like, who own most of the commercial forest lands. Industry and public land alone cannot meet anticipated demands. Furthermore, we can't expect to import much timber. The countries growing it will use it."

Noted Writer Gives Collection To TU

AUSTIN (UPI) — Earle Stanley Gardner has given his famous collections to the academic center of the University of Texas, the school announced Saturday.

Gardner is the creator of Perry Mason and author of more than 100 books which have sold more than 110 million copies in the English language editions alone.

The Gardner files range from informal notebooks to manuscripts, revisions, proofs and published works. Among the most notable materials which will go to the university are comments on publishing and records reflecting the writing profession and the book trade from 1920 to 1950.

Gardner is best known as a writer of detective novels, which he wrote under his own name and under the pseudonym, A. A. Fair. His collections represent one of the most complete records of a writing career ever compiled. Gifts to the University of Texas include not only a distinguished library, but a complete collection of other materials Gardner hoped would be of benefit to young writers.

He has long been an expert in plotting, and his gift to Texas includes all of his secret plot methods, together with notes showing exactly how his plots have been constructed, according to Dr. Merton Minter, chairman of the Board of Regents. The author said he had decided to make his gift to the university because of friendship with Dr. Minter and Park Street, a San Antonio lawyer.

The forces of Gen. Frederick Funston captured Emilio Aguinaldo, leader of the Philippine insurrection in 1901.

Leading Contenders Predict 235-250 For LBJ On 1st Ballot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The three leading contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination agree that Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson will get between 235 and 250 first ballot votes from the South at the national convention.

The 10-state South, not including Texas, will have 291 votes in the Los Angeles balloting.

Of this total 29 are pledged to Florida's favorite son, Sen. George A. Smathers, on the first ballot.

Johnson, on the basis of a state-by-state delegate breakdown released by his supporters, gives himself slightly more Southern votes than do either Sen. Stuart Symington or Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Alabama is the biggest Southern puzzler.

Johnson claims 20 votes, gives Kennedy 5, Symington, 3, and Stevenson, 1. Kennedy credits himself with a hefty 10, allots 5 or 6 to Symington and Stevenson and 12 or 13 to Johnson. Symington gives Johnson 19 in Alabama, claims 5 and allots 4 to Kennedy.

Supporters of the 51-year-old still unannounced candidate claim 248½ votes from the South.

The Johnson survey credits Kennedy with 9½ Southern votes, Symington with 3 and Adlai Stevenson with 1.

Symington, who concedes he must wait until Johnson or Kennedy or both falter, claims 10 Dixie delegate votes.

Rep. Charles Brown (D-Mo.), Symington's campaign manager, gives Johnson 24½, Kennedy, 5½, Stevenson 2.

Brown also lists four North Carolina votes as undecided but concedes they may go to Kennedy.

Kennedy's figures are not as prices. In one state - by - state breakdown his supporters claimed 20 votes from the South.

However, he has never publicly given a breakdown for the other candidates. According to some sources, he credits Johnson with around 235, Symington with one or two, and Stevenson with one or none.

There is no controversy between the candidates on seven of the ten states.

Two of them, Virginia and Tennessee, with 33 votes each are committed to Johnson.

Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi and South Carolina are uncommitted but all three candidates agree that they will vote for Johnson as a unit.

The only dispute centers on Alabama, North Carolina and Louisiana.

Kennedy claims 5 of Louisiana's 28 votes. But Johnson and Symington contend that he will only get one-half of a vote, that of Camille Gravel, the retiring national committeeman.

Johnson claims 33 in North Carolina to all she has to say. She feels herself very well informed on affairs, but adds: "I get it all by osmosis from Jack and others."

Jacqueline keeps her little blonde daughter wholly free of the turmoil of politics ("I never let her see a Kennedy button). But she herself has learned to campaign — in three day spurts. She enjoys the excitement. Conventions she sees as offering maximum suspense — a little too much.

"There's so much chaos. All those men not going to bed for five days, and shooting a n d stomping around."

Obviously, a Jacqueline Kennedy regime in the White House could open up refreshing possibilities. Protocol might never be quite the same again.

olins and gives 4 to Kennedy. Symington credits Johnson with 28 in that state, gives 1 to Kennedy, 4 to himself, 2 to Stevenson and 4 undetermined. Kennedy claims about 5 in North Carolina, splits 1 between Symington and Stevenson and credits the rest to Johnson.

'Father Of Automation' Is 34-Year-Old Consultant

By WARREN FRANKLIN United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—John Diebold, at age 34, is one of the world's leading authorities on automation and owns the two management firms at which he once applied for jobs.

He coined the word "automation" itself and wrote one of the classic books on the subject when he was but 26.

In seven years he has built a foremost management consulting firm specializing in automation. The firm, which has expanded its operations to Great Britain and continental Europe, was founded with zero capital. It has never borrowed and every cent in the business has been earned.

Griphenhagen & Associates, one of the founding firms in the management consultation field which employed Diebold after his graduation from Harvard Business School, is now part of John Diebold & Associates. Alderson Associates, a Philadelphia marketing firm, the other place where he said.

"But I do not think that is a real danger. We are living in a time in which we can think and plan ahead. We are not going to allow that to happen."

It all happened because Diebold, who sailed the Atlantic during World War II as a merchant marine cadet, became interested in the shipboard fire control mechanisms developed in crash programs during those critical years to aim naval guns at enemy targets.

"The application of these same principles in industry led to development of computing machines, magnetic tape control of machinery, and devices which control entire manufacturing processes, particularly in oil refineries and the chemical business."

The next step in the world of automation envisioned by Diebold is the tying together of separate manufacturing operations controlled by the computers into a single communications network.

Diebold admits that most of the world fears the advent of automation as a significant factor in society.

"They immediately think of possible future mass unemployment."

Skilled Study Of U-2 Photos Gives Details Of Russ Might

By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It's astounding what you can learn from a picture taken 70,000 feet up over the Soviet-Union—especially when you have an infra-red camera and electronic equipment, too.

It's also astounding what you can't learn, too.

That's what trained military photo interpreters at the Department of Defense say.

Take pictures like the one shown here, photographed from 13 miles up by a U-2 over the naval air base near San Diego, Calif. Or rather take similar pictures of Soviet air bases or industrial centers.

Experts at Defense Department say a trained photo interpreter can sometimes tell what a factory produces and even estimate closely how much it produces. This is done by close study of the size and shape of the buildings, site layout, the stockpiles in the yards, the rail and road connections, the kind of truck parked in the yards.

the kind of factories or other buildings nearby.

He can add to his knowledge if the pictures taken directly overhead are supplemented by oblique shots taken at an angle.

He can gain some additional information, perhaps detect camouflage, by the use of infra-red photos. Infra-red helps distinguish between one material and another. Thus, it tells that camouflage "brick" isn't what it pretends to be.

In some cases, interpreters can pick out missile sites. Individual things on a missile site—like the missiles themselves—can be hidden, but an intercontinental ballistic missile site must be large. It has a characteristic pattern, camouflage or not.

But taking the pictures isn't easy. Good pictures like the one on this page must be taken on clear days with no fog, or haze, or rain or snow or clouds. There are quite a few places in the Soviet Union where such days are a rarity. You may have to wait for years for a chance at a good photo.

Some of the most likely missile sites are in the worst photo weather areas.

And for every factory you can "interpret" from a photo there are many more you can't. That is, you can't unless you have some additional knowledge to help you. Like reports from refugees, or spies or information from magazine articles.

Then, too, you can photograph an area, and six months later, the photo may be out of date. Consider then the problem of photo interpretation. A picture may cover about 10 square miles. The Soviet Union covers eight million square miles. Since pictures overlap some, that's over a million pictures to interpret.

To keep up to date, the survey should be done over every year or two. Because photo interpreting is a slow and tedious job, there simply aren't enough interpreters to keep up even if you have the pictures.

But a thorough covering of the Soviet Union with 13-mile-high pictures would give a pretty good general knowledge of overall Soviet industrial-economic potential. And if the survey were done over a period of not too many months it might give a rough idea of the size of the Soviet fighter and bomber forces.

Combined with electronic radar detection equipment, such a survey would make it possible to spot radar defense rings. This, of course, would be crucial knowledge in time of war if U.S. bombers are to get through.

It would be possible, by photographing the new roads and new railway trackage, to determine more exactly the mobility of Rusian troops in case of war.

In general, though, complete surveys are impractical. Refugee reports, hints from magazines and newspapers, reports from scientific periodicals, from spies, give indications as to what the Soviet Union may be doing one place or another. So pictures are taken in the suspect areas.

This means a good many areas are missed.

So Department of Defense scientists are now looking for some way to do preliminary photo interpretation by electronics. This equipment won't be developed quickly. But it will be essential when spy satellites continuously circling the earth produce a flood of pictures that swamp any number of photo interpreters.

Fears Of Jet Air Travel Groundless

By ROBERT J. Serling
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Do jetliners: —Cause miscarriages? —Make people more airsick? —Lead to deafness among ground crews? —Give stewardesses varicose veins and more frequent menstrual periods? —Create greater fatigue among pilots?

When the jet age began in October, 1958, there were frequent warnings that subsonic air travel would lead to various medical difficulties.

But Dr. Otis B. Schreuder, medical director of Pan American World Airways overseas division, says all these fears have proved groundless.

Does jet travel or flying in general cause miscarriages? A review of Pan Am's medical records shows that nearly seven million passengers flew the Atlantic between 1953 and 1959 without a single case of miscarriage reported.

Schreuder, in a paper read recently to the Aerospace Medical Association meeting in Miami, quoted statistical studies which concluded that flying has no ill effect on pregnancy — either in jets or conventional piston engine aircraft.

Do the jets make people more airsick? Schreuder says the airsickness rate on piston aircraft is slightly higher than on the jets.

Overall, Dr. Schreuder concluded, jet travel seems to be healthier. During a period when Pan Am carried 126,439 passengers, only one "medical emergency" was reported for every 2,677 pas-engers. Most of these were minor such as faintness. As with pilots, the paying customers are benefitting from the lack of noise, absence of vibration and improved pressurization.

AWOL Soldier Attacks Girl

TUPELO, Miss. (UPI) — Lee County officers were continuing without clues today their search for AWOL soldier Johnny Priddy, 29, for the choking and attempted rape of his 15-year-old niece.

The girl told Sheriff Frank Carter that Priddy, AWOL from Ft. McClellan, Ala., drove her to a secluded spot on U.S. 78 and "nearly choked" her to death "as he tried to rape her Friday."

Carter said Priddy and his wife, the victim's aunt, live near Ft. McClellan. He said Priddy formerly lived in Tupelo and that when he invited the girl into his car, she "naturally did not expect anything."

State Business Slump Over

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas business activity snapped out of a spring slump in May and came within three percentage points of the all-time high posted in February, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

The business index compiled by the University of Texas agency showed May activity to be 235 per cent of the 1947-49 average, a reversal of the downward drift in March and April.

"This is a welcome change in the index," said Francis B. May, a statistician for the bureau.

She said the gain represents changes in all sectors of business activity measured in terms of retail trade, wholesale and retail trade.

In February, Texas business hit an all-time high of 238, bettering the previous high of 226 set in July, 1956. The index slipped to 223 in April of this year.

But business researchers pointed out that the weakness of the oil industry is still holding back economic growth.

"Unless other producing states are willing to share the modest increase in demand for domestic crude oil," the report said, "Texas will continue to bear the brunt of the severe conditions brought on by the world-wide surplus productive capacity."

In other highlights of business activity, business researchers reported:

—Total electric power consumption in May dropped 1 per cent below April after taking seasonal factors into account.

—Total retail sales in the state dropped 6 per cent to an index of 232. Declines in the sales of both —Total non-agriculture employment in Texas reached 2.8 million, up 1.1 per cent over a year before.

Candles Light Ceremony For Altrusa Installation

DORIS E. WILSON

Pampa Altrusa Club installed its new officers for the 1960-61 service club year in an inspirational ceremony conducted by Mrs. Irl Smith in the City Club Room Monday evening. Using a religious connotation

"In the beginning God said, 'Let there be light.' Mrs. Smith likened the duties of each officer to that of a candle. "As Altrusans," she said, "the candle has a special significance, because candles can only give us light by burning themselves out. Just as candles function through the giving of themselves, we as Altrusans must give of ourselves in service." The speaker's table was lined with rainbow-hued candles and centered with a large white candle. "Tonight let us think of this white candle as the Great White Light of Altrusa International and the reflections that come from it shows the many colors of a rainbow. Each of these colors from the candle has a meaning. The wonderful program of Altrusa International takes on many different hues as it is interpreted through the activities of local club members.

Officers installed in the ceremony were Mrs. Clyde Vanderburg as president; Mrs. L. Harkins, as vice president; Mrs. D. B. Hutchens, recording secretary; Jay Flanagan, corresponding secretary; Lorene Locke, treasurer; Mrs. Roy Kay and Mrs. Irl Smith, board of directors.

Mrs. Smith requested that Mrs. Vanderburg take a blue candle as a symbol of service and strength and light it from the White Candle to serve as the guiding light for this year. "Your life is so colorful, we cannot restrict you to just one color, but Altrusa stands for service in Pampa and we know that you will certainly reflect the blue light of service to our community," Mrs. Smith cheered. Each succeeding officer lighted a candle from the central candle in a colorful ceremony, which depicted Mrs. Harkins as vice president with a red candle for faith and courage; Mrs. Hutchens as recording secretary a green candle symbolic of the growth of the club; Jay Flanagan as corresponding secretary, a yellow candle to reflect warm sunshine, a symbol of friendship and fellowship and a sun shine link between the club and the many places to which letters will be sent in execution of duties as corresponding secretary. Mrs. Joe Tooley standing in for Mrs. Locke, as treasurer, lighted a gold candle to symbolize the "pot of gold" at the end of the rainbow and at the end of a treasurer's year in office. Mrs. Kay, incoming board director, lighted a violet candle from the Great White Candle to reflect a beautiful ray of sharing. "As director of the club a challenge comes to share knowledge, experience, talents and serv-

Commandments For Parents Of Teeners Developed By Group Of Pediatricians

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Memo to parents of adolescents: Teenagers are reaching out for the ability to do without YOU.

For peace on the homefront during this phase of child raising, the American Academy of Pediatrics suggests that mom and dad pay attention to the following rules: —Don't argue. Because the adolescents are insecure, they are defensive and argumentative if given a chance. —Avoid giving orders. Use suggestions. —Ask him to assist; don't be too quick to assist him. —Listen; don't talk. —Trust; don't police. —Treat them as if they are grown up.

Sounds like an invitation to run up the white flag in the child-raising area — making parental authority as firm as a wet noodle. But you have to accept the academy's advice on faith to see if it works. The committee of expert child-raiser coming up with the commandments for parents of adolescents studied for months before putting down the rules. "Foremost, the adolescent interested in himself," the child specialists said. "Unsure of his developing personality, bit determined to become a person in his own right, he resists advice and efforts to mold him. "Consumed with regard to his appearance, he resents implications that anything is wrong, denies defects, becomes unduly upset by any blemish, and is very unappreciative of remarks concerning his appearance. The pediatricians suggest that adults treat the adolescent as if the adult feels that the teen is somebody, refrain from pointing out defects and teach by example instead of advice. "When in doubt, the adult should treat the teen as if he is older—not younger—than he is," the pediatricians said.

RUTH MILLETT

Since women do the gossiping and men wouldn't stoop to anything so low, how does it happen that a wife has such a hard time ever really surprising her husband with her tidbits of news?

She: "Mabel called me up today and told me that Ed and Jean are getting a divorce. I can hardly believe it. Aren't you surprised?"

He: "Nope, I heard they were having trouble some time ago. As a matter of fact, Jean has already filed for divorce."

She: "Our new neighbor, you know, the young divorcee three houses down, was at the beauty shop today and I overheard her saying..."

He: "Before you go any further you might as well get your facts straight. She isn't a divorcee. She's a widow. I happen to know because Joe sold her that house."

She: "I'll bet you'll never guess who is driving around in a new foreign sports car. It's some kind of a French car. I think. Anyway it's real expensive."

He: "You're not talking about Joe, are you? Well, it's not French, it's British—and he got a real good buy on it."

She: "I don't see how that Bill and Helen can afford a trip to Europe after buying that new house and getting all new furniture for it. She must have money of her own."

He: "I'll bet all the women are yakking about that. But it just so happens that Bill made some very good investments in real estate. I know for a fact he sold one piece of land for enough for three trips to Europe."

The question is: Where do our men, who never gossip, pick up all their information?

And why, if they aren't interested in other people's business, do they always seem to know so much about it? Maybe some of you men readers can explain this strange state of affairs.

Yanks Boost Lead To 3; Bucs Beginning To Fall

YANKEE BOMBER — Mickey Mantle continued to improve his slugging yesterday as the New York Yankees boosted their American League lead to three games.

British Open Starts Today

By HENRY THORNBERRY
United Press International
ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UPI) — Twenty-four Americans led by Masters and U. S. Open champion Arnold Palmer of Longport, Pa., teed off among a record field of 385 players from 28 countries today in the 100th British Open Golf Tournament at hallowed St. Andrews.

Even before play got underway over St. Andrews' old and new courses, many among the field, described by the royal and ancient golf club as the most powerful in the history of the tourney, blasted the sponsors for the poor condition of the links. Their remarks set off a bitter flow of comment not calculated to make the centenary celebration a happy one.

Palmer, bidding for a golfing "grand slam," was not among those who criticized the playing conditions. He remained a solid 7 to 2 favorite to win the tourney which would give him three legs of the "grand slam."

A victory here and in the Professional Golfers' Association championship at Akron, July 21-24, would complete the series and make him the first player ever to win the masters, U. S. Open, British Open and the U. S. P.G.A. in one year.

Palmer, a long hitter who is at his best under pressure, teed off in a threesome that included Harry Bradshaw, the Irish star, over the new course, generally acknowledged to be the easier of St. Andrews' two courses.

Today's play and tomorrow's play are listed as qualifying rounds. Each entrant will play one round on the old course and one on the new. The top 100 golfers will go on to play an 18-hole round on Wednesday and a 36-hole round on Thursday. The field then will be further reduced to 50 who will play in the 36-hole final on Friday.

The American contingent included Johnny Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz., Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N. Y., Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., Dick Metz of San Antonio, Tex., Dick Chapman of Pinhurst, N. C., and Tim Holland of Rockyville Centre, N. Y., among 'his top stars. However, none is given much of a chance for victory and the United States' main hopes rested on Palmer.

All-Star sluggers

Mays, Maris Head 'Stars'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Willie Mays and Roger Maris were the most popular selections for the starting lineups of the 1960 major league All-Star Game, but undoubtedly the most pleased players were newcomers Ron Hansen of the Orioles and Joe Adcock of the Braves.

Four Braves players and four members of the Yankees were among the 16 players chosen by their major league colleagues to start in the All-Star Games at Kansas City, July 11, and at New York, July 13.

Hansen, a 22-year-old rookie shortstop who looks like Marty Marion in the field, was favored by a wide margin over Luis Aparicio of the White Sox for a starting spot in the American League lineup. Hansen is a good fielder and currently is batting .268 with 47 runs batted in.

Adcock finally was chosen on an All-Star team in his 11th National League season. The 32-year-old first baseman currently is batting .304 with 11 homers and 39 R.F.I.'s. Adcock won out in the closest race for any position in either league batting Bill White of the Cardinals, 82 votes to 63.

Besides Adcock, the Milwaukee players selected were catcher Del Crandall, third baseman Ed Mathews and right fielder Hank Aaron.

The two other N. L. outfielders chosen were Mays and left fielder Bob Skinner of the Pirates, while Ernie Banks of the Cubs won the shortstop job and Bill Mazeroski of Pittsburgh will start at second base.

The four Yankees who will start for the American League are Maris, Mickey Mantle in center field, Bill Skowron at first base and Yogi Berra behind the plate.

Frank Mazone and Pete Runnels will be at third base and second, respectively while Minnie Miñoso of the White Sox will play in the A. L. outfield with Mantle and Maris.

BUICK OPEN MUDDLED Littler Blows Up

FLINT, Mich. (UPI) — Gene Littler became fallible on the back nine yesterday and the sudden skid threw the $52,000 Buick Open into a wild scramble as the field headed into today's fourth and final round.

Littler, who flawlessly played through the first 47 holes of the tournament without a bogey, was in front all alone at the nine-hole turn yesterday.

But the pressure finally got to the 29-year-old Navy veteran from Singing Hills, Calif., and after going two under par with a birdie on 10, he bogged four of the next eight holes for a 73 and a 54 hole total of 212, four under par.

Littler's slump on the back nine enabled three other players to catch him and turn the third annual Buick classic into a free-for-all.

Locked in a tie for first with Littler were Don January, who got a 72, Mason Rudolph with 71, and Gay Brewer Jr., who fired a three under 69 yesterday.

And only one stroke back of the leaders at 213 was burly Mike Souchak, who shared the 86-hole lead with Littler, but slipped to 74 in the third round.

January, the lanky 30-year-old from Dallas, Tex., who won the Tucson Open last winter, played in the same threesome with Littler and went into the back nine trailing Gene by three strokes.

But January birdied the 12th and 13th holes, and when Littler collapsed with his series of bogies, Don moved into the lead.

Rome Long Way Off For US Cinder Team

By MURRAY M. MOLER
STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — It was still a long way to Rome today for the men who have been chosen on the track and field team that will carry American hopes into the 1960 Olympic Games.

Four years of competing against each other for the coveted berth of the squad were over with completion Saturday of the two-day Olympic trials in Stanford Stadium—trials hailed as one of the nation's greatest track meets in history.

But the cinder aces will have only a comparatively short rest before they regroup to get ready to meet the cream of the world's athletes when the Olympic games open in Rome in late August.

The trials, watched by a record 105,000 fans, netted the U. S. Olympic committee a somewhat around $175,000 to help finance the expedition to Italy.

The spectators more than got their money's worth. They saw three world records fall, with meet marks equaled or shattered in all but three events—the 100, 400 and 800 meters.

How will the '60 squad stack up against the world? And will this year's team win more—or less—than the 15 gold medals the 1956 team earned at Melbourne?

Form charts on track and field rarely run true. But team manager Pincus Sober "had to say" that times, distances and heights in the trials show "this team is far and away better than anything we have ever taken to the Olympics."

Sober warned the "other teams will be improved too." However, the Yanks are bound to win several first places that will more than nick the over-all Olympic point total the arch-rival Russians will score in other sports.

Take John Thomas and Don Bragg. Thomas' 7 foot, 3.33 inch high jump in winning the trials at an all-time record height should make him a cinch. And Bragg's

83 In Olympics

RECORD ENTRIES LISTED
ROME (UPI) — The Italian Olympic organizing committee has announced an all-time record of 83 nations entered for the 1960 summer games.

The number may be raised to 84, with Somalia, which became independent Friday, likely to be admitted as soon as its national Olympic committee is recognized.

DOYLE SIGNED
BOSTON, (UPI) — The Boston Patriots have signed former Ohio State and Pittsburgh Steeler star Skip Doyle to a 1960 contract. The Patriots will use Doyle at halfback.

LENOIR UPENDED
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) — Unseeded Edwardo Zuleta of Ecuador and Miami Beach, Fla., won the men's singles title Sunday in the Tennessee Valley Invitational. He defeated Billy Lee of Tucson, Ariz., 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Reds Claim Record

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today claimed a new world record of two minutes, 4.3 seconds for Miumilla Shevtsova in the women's 800-meter run.

According to the Tass Agency, Miss Shevtsova accomplished the feat Sunday in a track meet for the Znamensky Brothers Trophy. The report also claimed the former record of two minutes, 5 seconds for Russian runner Nina Otkalenko.

Sheehan Rips Giant Players

All-Night Card Games Revealed

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Interim manager Tom Sheehan, dealing straight from the top of the deck, censured his slumping San Francisco Giants Sunday for all-night card playing and mental lapses on the field.

The stiff clubhouse reprimand came before the game with the Philadelphia Phillies which the Giants won handily, 11-5.

Sheehan, who took over the reins of the Giants after Bill Rigney was fired, laid his cards on the table in demanding that all players be in bed within two hours after a night game.

He said "half a dozen or more" players often got together for card games that sometimes lasted until 10 o'clock the next morning.

The stakes in the games, Sheehan said, started low but usually grew higher and higher with the result that heavy losers carried unhappy memories onto the field with them.

Sheehan declined to single out any player.

The Giants had lost 8 out of 12 games under Sheehan's guidance prior to Sunday's game.

Today's Sport Parade

By JACK CUDDY
United Press International
New York (UPI) — On this Independence Day, the United States holds five of the eight standard world professional boxing championships despite stepped-up world-wide competition due to the jet plane.

How long this advantage will last is very questionable.

In the middleweight division, Germany—the best fighter pound-for-pound in Europe—is a genuine menace to either Gene Fullmer or Paul Pender, American co-holders of the split 160-pound crown.

Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore is at least 44 years old. Will he reach the end of the trail on the night of Aug. 8, when he is scheduled to defend his 175-pound title against Erich Schoepner of Germany at Toronto? Schoepner, champion of Europe, is not quite as good as his unbeaten record indicates; but he might lick a washed-up Archie.

Joe Brown is ruler of the lightweight class—wherein speed and split-second timing are so necessary that his age of 34 makes him "ripe." Some observers say Dave Charnley of England, British Empire champion, was just beginning to fight when Brown stopped him on cuts—either from fists or a head collision—at Houston, Tex., last Dec. 2. Charnley wants another shot.

Carlos Hernandez of Venezuela is another foreigner who wants a shot at veteran Brown. Hernandez fought our world featherweight champion Dave Moore in an over-the-weight match and knocked him out and broke his jaw.

Probably the most dangerous challenger for Davey Moore's 126-pound title would be Rafu King of Nigeria. He is rated only fifth by the NBA, which ranks Graciano Lamperti of France as number one. But King fought Lamperti ## twice last year and knocked out the Frenchman in the fourth round and was held to a draw in their return bout.

Floyd Patterson became the first man in ring history to recapture the heavyweight title on June 20, when he knocked out Swedish Ingemar Johansson in the fifth round of their return bout at the Polo Grounds. Most observers are confident that Floyd will belt out Ingemar when they meet for the third-time in a "rubber match."

But they were equally confident of a Johansson victory on June 30, and equally confident of a Patterson triumph in June, 1959, when the big Swede floored Patterson seven times and stopped him in the third round.

Benny Kid Paré of Cuba won the welterweight (147-pound) title from our Don Jordan at Las Vegas, Nev., May 27. His two top contenders are Luis Rodriguez of Cuba and Federico Thompson of Argentina.

Jose Becerra of Mexico is banlanweight (118-pound) ruler. All his contenders are foreigners except ninth-rated Herman Marquez of Stockton, Calif., Mexico is the most enthusiastic boxing country in the world today. If it could only produce some heavyweights or light heavies—boy! Those Mexicans are truly grand fighting men—Little Pone—Kinpetch of Thailand wears the flyweight (112-pound) crown. There is no ranking United States contender. Ex-champion Pascual Perez of Argentina is his most dangerous challenger.

The jet plane has stepped up world-wide competition among foreign boxers. They can go quickly from one active boxing country to another—like the Italians go to Australia. But there are so few clubs open in the United States there's little incentive for them to come here. Or little incentive for our own best amateurs to turn professional.

'Runners Try Liberal Today

The Tampa Roadrunners' winning streak still stands at one as they prepare to meet the Liberal Kan. Bluejays in a double header today.

The first game was scheduled to be played this afternoon. The nightcap will begin at 8:15 p.m.

The Roadrunners left the field in the bottom of the 10th inning at Spearman yesterday, after manager Newt Secrest had words with the umpire.

The game will be replayed, beginning with the bottom of the 10th, here Friday night.

At the time the Roadrunners left the field they held a 5-4 lead.

James Walker was the starting pitcher, but he had been relieved by Grady Lantz, who stands to be the winner when the game is replayed.

Kippy Williams was Secrest's early choice to pitch the second game to today's two-night double-header. Gary Heiskell, another right-hander, was to have been on the mound for the afternoon contest.

The New York Yankees have reached the July 4 milestone with their biggest American League lead since 1958, but the Pittsburgh Pirates are slowly losing their edge in the National.

Casey Stengel's crew carried a three-game lead into today's Independence Day program on the strength of Sunday's doubleheader sweep of Detroit, 7-6, and 6-2.

Pittsburgh margin was cut to 3½ games as Los Angeles beat the Pirates, 6-2, and second place Milwaukee defeated St. Louis, 4-3, in 11 innings.

Although there's an old baseball adage that teams leading on July 4 go on to win pennants, the Pirates might be reminded that this often proved a fallacy. The Cubs now have lost four of their last six games.

A pair of three-run homers by Cletis Boyer and Mickey Mantle stretched the Yankees' winning streak to six games and ran their record to 23 victories in the last 28 games.

The Yankees came from behind to deal Detroit its fifth straight setback. Boyer put New York ahead, 7-5 in the opener when he hit his fourth home run in the season in the seventh inning with Mantle and Elston Howard on base. Shortstop Chico Fernandez paved the way for the winning rally with the Tigers' third error of the game.

Roger Maris cut off the potential tying run for Detroit in the ninth inning when his rifle throw cut down Casey Wise trying to score from second. Eddie Yost and Frank Bolling—homered for the Tigers.

Mantle's 19th homer off loser Pete Burnside in the nightcap put the Yankees in front, 4-2, in the fifth inning. Boyer and Bobby Richardson doubled home the last two runs in the eighth as Art Ditmar picked up his fifth straight win and seventh of the year.

Los Angeles took its second straight from Pittsburgh and moved into fifth place by chasing Yngvar Bend Mizell with four San Francisco runs in the 11th inning. Gil Hodges in hit his first homer since May 24 for the Dodgers and Don Drysdale struck out seven as he won his third straight from Pittsburgh.

A bases-loaded single by Del Crandall ended a four-game losing streak and enabled the Braves to salvage the last of a four-set series with the Cardinals. Hank Aaron hit his 20th and 21st homers for Milwaukee and Bill Bruton hit his sixth. Rookie Don Notbart pitched 3-2-3 scoreless relief innings to gain the victory.

In other National League games San Francisco pounded out an 11-5 win over Philadelphia and Chicago whipped Cincinnati, 7-5.

Cleveland, went into second place in the American League by trouncing Washington twice, 5-2 and 11-5. Chicago edged Baltimore, 2-1, in 11 innings and Boston bombed Kansas City, 13-2.

Willie Mays raised his N.L. batting lead to 369 with four hits that included a triple and his 17th homer. Felipe Alou and Bob Schmidt also homered for the Giants. Sam Jones lasted only five innings but picked up his 10th victory. Tony Taylor and Ken Walters homered for the Phils.

Rookie Ron Santo's first major league homer, a three-run blast in the first inning, stood up for Chicago as late-inning homers by Harry Anderson and Wally Post nearly overcame the Cubs' lead. Jim O'Toole, a Saturday bridegroom, was treated unkindly as he fell victim to a four-run Chicago rally in the fifth.

Jim Klippstein's double play pitch to Julio Becquer with the bases loaded in the seventh inning preserved Jim Perry's ninth victory in Cleveland's opener. Woodie Held's 14th homer and Harvey Kuenn's fifth sparked a four-run Tribe uprising in the fifth inning. Homers by Jim Lemon and Billy Gardner averted a Washington whitewash.
