Lumumba Accepts Compromise UN Order To Belgian Troops

Premier Declares Crisis Over

By RAY MOLONEY
United Press International

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Premier Patrice Lumumba said today he has withdrawn his call for Soviet military aid in the Congo but said he would fly to New York this afternoon to confer with United Nations leaders.

"The Congo crisis is now over," he said.

Lumumba had threatened to call for Soviet intervention if Belgian troops did not leave the Congo immediately. He backed down after the U.N. Security Council adopted a compromise resolution early today merely asking Belgium to pull out quickly.

Lumumba told a news conference this morning that the U.N. decision was a "great victory for our republic."

The U.N. action and Lumumba's statement greatly eased tension which at one time threatened an outbreak of East-West hostilities in the Congo.

Lumumba said the Security Council vote meant that individual appeals to Russia are "no longer warranted."

The 36-year-old premier said he hoped "friendship with Belgium will be restored" and added "the Congolese people have always believed in their friendship."

He appealed to Belgians and other European residents to remain on their jobs in the Congo so the new nation may be brought out of the chaos into which anti-white demonstrations plunged it. The Congo now faces grave food shortages and mass unemployment.

Lumumba announced the conclusion of an agreement with "an international financial group" which includes financial and bank.

Belgium Told To Withdraw With Speed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The Security Council unanimously called on Belgium today to withdraw its forces "speedily" from the Congo and then turning to its next cold war crisis involving the U.S. RB-47 shot down by Russia.

The United States and Russia, who gave the debate ominous overtones by warning each other to stay out of the Congo, voted together with the other nine members of the council for a compromise resolution put forth by Tunisia and Ceylon.

Russia, insisting it was not "frightened" by the U.S. warning, declined to press to a vote its own resolution which would have labeled Belgium an aggressor and given it a three-day time limit to withdraw from the Congo.

The council started its debate Thursday without waiting for Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba, who had asked that it be delayed until he could get here. The vote came after midnight.

Lumumba's travel plans were a mystery. A Guinean diplomat said Lumumba definitely would leave Leopoldville today in a U.S. Air Force Globemaster. He said the Congolese premier wanted to talk with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld about U.N. assistance to combat the menace of "peoples."

Retaliation For Sugar Quota Cut

3 American-Owned Sugar Mills Taken Over In Cuba

HAVANA (UPI) — The government today published a decree announcing the "intervention" of all three sugar mills owned by the Cuba American Sugar Co. and all properties, belongings and rights of the company including its Havana headquarters.

The decree was signed by Premier Fidel Castro and Antonio Nunez Jimenez, president of the Institute of Agrarian Reform which is charged with taking over foreign-owned properties in Cuba.

The government already had announced plans to take over the Delicias and Chapparra mills of the company worth an estimated $75 million. Today a third mill, Mercedita in Pinar del Rio, was added to the list.

A company spokesman said news of the Mercedita takeover was "news to me."

The Delicias and Chapparra mills were declared under a "state of intervention" Thursday which meant they faced imminent confiscation—the first sugar producers to feel Castro's wrath for the recent cut in the U.S. sugar quota.

The owners had 24 hours remaining of a 48-hour ultimatum to show cause why the properties should not be totally confiscated.

They were accused of "creating an alarm" by preparing to abandon milling operations in Cuba in view of the present political situation. Nuna Gottardi, a company spokesman, said the charge was not true.

Tommygun, carrying militia were posted at both plants, located at Puerto Padre on the north coast of Oriente Province. Administrative offices were padlocked, bank funds frozen and records impounded.

Demo Liberal Quits Politics

HOUSTON (UPI) — Mrs. R. D. (Frankie) Randolph of Houston bowed out of active politics today.

"It is time that new blood takes over," she wrote liberal leaders. Mrs. Randolph decided on her virtual retirement when she was not reelected as National Democratic Committeewoman. She was replaced by Mrs. H. H. Weinert of Seguin.

"I plan to go to the Piney Woods and rock in a chair and read," she said.

There were reports that Mrs. Randolph would resign as head of the Democrats of Texas Clubs, a statewide Liberal organization. But she denied them.

Unchecked Forest Fires Threaten S. California

S ANGELES (UPI) — An estimated 300, to 400 firefighters battled today to contain unchecked forest fires threatening vast areas of southern California.

Firefighters hoped today to contain two of the five major fires but the other three were still raging.

A stifling heat wave with above 100-degree temperatures, high winds and a long dry spell have plagued efforts by more than 4,000 men to quell major fires and dozens of smaller ones.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has reliably reported today to have received an intelligence report that the Russians and Communist East Germans may be preparing a "military move" against Free West Berlin within the next 30 days.

Man Hasn't Even A Sporting Chance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tax cheaters, big and small, your days are numbered. Uncle Sam is putting a mechanical Sherlock Holmes on your trail.

The automatic tax inspector—actually an electronic computer—will go into operation late next year and will be scanning all tax returns from individuals and corporations by 1969.

The Internal Revenue Service currently picks tax returns at random to check. Thus, the returns of many cheaters are never even looked at.

The new electronic eagle-eye, in addition to nabbing tax evaders, will speed up refunds to honest folks.

Fourth Consecutive Monthly Rise

Consumer Price Index Hits New Peak

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Higher prices of fresh fruits and pork sent the cost of living to a record high in June, the government reported today.

The consumer price index rose 0.2 per cent and hit a new peak for the fourth consecutive month.

Although the advance in food prices was mainly responsible for the increase it was somewhat less than is usual for June.

The increase lifted the index to 126.5 compared to 126.3 in May. The index is based on a 1947-49 average of prices taken as 100.

The June reading meant that a basket of goods and services which cost $18 in 1947-49 cost $12.65 last month.

Arnold Chase, the Labor Department's price chief, held out hope that the index would stabilize in July and decline in August.

The increase in living costs offset a rise of 18 cents in average weekly take-home pay of a factory worker with three dependents. His real buying power was unchanged from May to June and was 1.7 per cent less than in June 1959.

About 600,000 workers will receive pay increases on the basis of the June index, the department reported. In aircraft and electrical equipment manufacturing, about 235,000 workers will get two cents an hour more and 115,000 workers will receive one cent an hour.

An additional 200,000 workers, mostly in trucking, will get two cents and 50,000 will get one cent.

1960 REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION

Lodge Gains Favor As Running Mate For Nixon

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI) — Mounting world tension swung sentiment toward U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge today as a running mate for Richard M. Nixon on the Republican presidential ticket.

With Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller insisting that he is not available for second place, GOP leaders leaned toward Lodge to emphasize foreign policy in the fall election campaign.

Rockefeller was reported under growing pressure from some GOP leaders in pivotal states, who worried whether Nixon would be strong enough to help state and local tickets.

But in the absence of a "yes" from Rockefeller, they felt Lodge's standing as a national figure would make him the strongest candidate. They cited his work as U.S. representative in U.N. debate on the Congo, Cuba and other world problems.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, national party chairman, was the only other serious possibility for the vice presidential nomination except for Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton if the choice should be made from the farm belt.

Morton has built up a strong following in state Republican organizations during his 15 months as party chairman. He has backing among party leaders who think they will need a "gut fighter" in contrast with Lodge—while Nixon campaigns on the high level next fall.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, darling of the conservative wing, said Thursday night he thought there was no chance he would be tapped because his state of Arizona borders on Nixon's home state of California.

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, who has disagreed with Goldwater on labor policy, said when he arrived here Thursday that a Nixon-Goldwater ticket would be doomed. Mitchell himself has just about faded out of the picture as a candidate for the vice presidential nomination.

Morton said in a TV interview Thursday night that he expects Nixon to follow traditional prac-

Hope To Disprove Soviet Lie

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United States may disclose some of its carefully guarded military secrets today in an effort to prove the Russians were lying when they said they shot down an RB-47 reconnaissance bomber over Russia July 1.

The Security Council called a meeting at 2 p.m. e.s.t. to hear the latest Soviet charges and American counter-charges in the third major cold war incident to go before the United Nations this week. The others were Cuba and the Congo.

Six wives and widows of the Americans aboard the RB-47 arrived in New York today to attend the Security Council meeting. One was in tears as they arrived as guests of U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

The United States contends the Russians shot down the plane over the Barents Sea at least 30 miles from land in a provocative act. Russia claims the plane was over Russian territory and therefore its flight was an aggressive act threatening world peace.

Washington experts said the United States might have to disclose a closely-guarded secret to substantiate the U.S. position that the plane was well outside territorial limits when Russian fighter planes attacked and shot it down.

The Air Force has not specifically explained the RB-47's mission but indicated it might have been studying magnetic effects on radio communications and navigation equipment, both vital to military forces.

Rain Responsible For Cool Night

Turbulent weather moved into the Pampa area late yesterday afternoon, but did little except cool things off.

Rainfall at the Pampa Daily News rain gauge measured .13 inches for the night.

Heavy rains in the Canadian area were reported over the police radio band but no official measurement was available.

Financial Review

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — General Elec. Co., nation's largest electrical equipment company, has discovered how to get the missile and space vehicle business.

The method is as simple as ABC. You keep the costs down by ever increasing vigilance and research.

That vigilance has saved the United States government $7.54 million in 1959, $5.6 in 1958 and bids fair to run to more than $6 million in 1960, according to G.H. Jacobsen, cost improvement specialist for GE's missile and space vehicle department.

That $6 million saving for 1960 is an estimate. It could be far from the mark. In 1959, the target was $5.26 million and the actual saving was $7.54 million. Hence this year could reach above the $8 million mark.

Doesn't sound like much in these days of billions for this and for that. But it's considered very significant in a highly competitive business where there is no benefit of assembly lines—and every job is different from the one before.

Jacobsen explained that things are moving a bit slower this year because the department has received a tremendous amount of new business, and he said that it would be a little while before the men could become familiar enough with the new techniques to begin to take advantage of cost improvements.

General Elec. some time ago concluded that the only way to get the space vehicle business was to keep the costs down, so it set about to research the best methods to do just that.

GE's work for the government is on a cost plus fee and a cost plus incentive basis. It produces missile nose cones, space vehicles, and other hardware.

"Cost improvement, rather than merely production, is the basic aim of GE's missile and space vehicle department," says Jacobsen.

"We recognize three types of savings attained in cost improvement—cost reduction—continuing to do something, but at less cost; cost elimination—ceasing to do something which was being done; and cost avoidance—not doing something that was going to be done.

"Cost improvement wins us contracts by enabling us to bid lower than anticipated costs."

General Electric's cost improvement program is based on four basic ground rules:

1. A change of results in reduction of a previously accepted cost the proposer, at the very start, must seek out less expensive ways of doing a job, otherwise, proposals become mere choice of alternate courses of action.
2. Deliberate initiative effort must be involved—the idea may be originated or implemented or both.
3. Measurable savings must be produced.
4. The proposal must be in effect during the current calendar year, unless additional time is needed to prove out ideas or collect savings costs."

UPI Sends Big Staff To Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI)—Is there any chance Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will wind up as Richard M. Nixon's vice presidential running mate?

How will the Republican platform stack up against the Democratic Party declaration? What kind of a campaign will Nixon wage against the rival Kennedy-Johnson ticket?

To assure complete news coverage of these and other developments at the Republican National Convention, United Press International has mobilized a big, hard-hitting crew of newsmen backed by an elaborate communications network.

An advance guard of UPI reporters and photographers, fresh from the Democratic convention in Los Angeles, has been on the scene since early this week to cover the pre-convention proceedings.

Additional experienced men, including top editors and political writers from the Washington Bureau, will arrive over the weekend to record the Republican activities. They will be augmented by the regular staff of the Chicago Bureau.

Special UPI bureaus have been set up in the Conrad Hilton Hotel and in the International Amphitheatre, where the convention sessions will be held, to handle news relating to the Republican meetings.

These special facilities were established under the supervision of Gene Gillette, Central Division news manager; Jesse Bogue, Central Division news editor, and James F. Darr, division communications manager.

Some UPI reporters will work in the press box, directly alongside the speakers' rostrum in the convention hall. Others will mingle with delegates on the floor and send reports to the press box by walkie-talkie radio.

Headquarters and on key delegations and watching the smoke-filled rooms.

Hundreds of thousands of words will be written and edited for transmission on UPI wires to newspapers and radio stations throughout the world. Hundreds of pictures also will be processed and distributed to news outlets.

The shock troops of the UPI news corps will be veteran members of the Washington bureau, headed by UPI vice president and Washington manager Lyle C. Wilson, and Washington news editor Julius Frandsen.

Wilson, a top political authority, will write daily interpretive columns. Other main dispatches will be written by Raymond Lahr, chief political writer; William Merriman Smith, White House reporter; and Jack V. Fox, special writer from New York. Kirtland I. King, New York state news manager, will provide special coverage of Gov. Rockefeller.

Attorney Indicted

AMARILLO (UPI)—Two former sheriff's deputies and an Amarillo attorney today faced indictments handed down by the Potter County Grand Jury as a result of a legislative crime probe last March.

The indictments name G. R. (Dick) Bufkin, a former sheriff's captain who headed the department's criminal division; former chief deputy Curtis Travis, and attorney Branch T. Archer.

All three men were linked by witnesses before the House General Investigating Committee with a gambling protection racket.

Girl Scouts Off Saturday On Camp Trip

Girl Scout Troop 38 will leave tomorrow for a six-day camping trip to Aspen Park Guest Ranch, Red River, N. M. The troop has earned money for the entire trip over a three-year period selling Girl Scout cookies, peanuts, calendars, Christmas cards, and operating a concession at the Chamber of Commerce fireworks display in 1959.

Activities included in the trip are hiking, outdoor cooking, swimming and rides on the ski lift. On July 28 the group plans a visit to Taos, N. M., where they will join Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Smith, Pampa, who will have a day's activities planned including participation in the annual Fiesta de Taos, Indian ceremonial dances, a tour of historical points of interest.

The troop and leaders will return to Pampa July 28. Scouts making the trip are Joyce Collins, Juanita Colville, Diane Edminister, Pam King, Pat Lude-man, Adele Murphy, Marion Nes-lage, Jan Pendergrass, Betty Taylor, Brenda Thompson and Sue Horton.

Leaders accompanying the group are Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ludeman, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Pendergrass and Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Taylor. Members unable to attend are Suzanne Johnson and Sandra Bowen.

CATHOLIC PILGRIMS

Sumptuous jeweled fabrics typify the evening gown, long or short, for autumn. This dress, by Cell Chapman, is in champagne silk satin, its bodice beautifully jeweled and poised over a seissor-draped skirt. Matching jacket is not shown.

Baubles, Bangles, Bugle Beads Sparkle Autumn Evening Dresses

By GAILE DUGAS, Newspaper Enterprise Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — There's a really new look to autumn evening gowns this year. It comes from a combination of rich fabrics with slim, sheathlike lines. The slim lines appear in both long and short evening gowns. One top designer showed a magnificent short evening coat in turquoise-and-coral silk brocade collared in sable. It was worn over a companion dress cut on simple, very nearly straight lines. But the fabric made it the absolute height of luxury. These new evening gowns are frequently beaded throughout with bugle beads, paillettes, crystals or sequins. Or, sometimes the top is solidly beaded and combined with a domed skirt in rich satin. (When this is done in one of the amethyst or grape shades, it's dazzling.) There are slim formally with two-piece look, usually combining a longer top with a slender skirt, sometimes an elaborately jeweled "sweater" top is worn with narrow crepe skirt. The elongated, fitted bodice appears again and again in both long and short evening dresses. (There are more long evening gowns this year, many of them sit at the hemline to permit graceful movement.) Where the skirt is not slinky, it's arched and rounded at the hips. It's pretty in both short and long lengths. Satin, brocade, chiffon, velvet and peau de soie, silk damask and cut velvet are magnificent fabrics used for evening. And they're cut in clear, light colors: pink, lilac, gold and turquoise. The vintage shades are reserved for gowns with a really royal look: plum amethyst, claret and burgundy. There are jade and moss greens, silvery grays and creamy whites.

RUTH MILLETT

Once again it's open season on country cousins—the time of year when city dwellers descend by the carload on friends and relatives who live in the country because it is such an inexpensive way (inexpensive for the visitors) to spend a weekend or a vacation. Every year about this time I start getting wailing notes from country cousins who are fed to the teeth with playing unpaid hosts to city dwellers who largely ignore them the rest of the year. "Why is it," they ask, "that cousin Sue doesn't think it would be a bit of trouble for us to board and baby-sit her eight-year-old for the summer?" "Why do carloads of unexpected guests from the city always manage to arrive an hour or so before mealtime and think that feeding six extra persons is a snap if they just say charmingly that they want to take "pot luck"?" "Why do distant relatives who wouldn't think of inviting my family for a week of city living in the wintertime feel free to invite themselves for a week of country living in the summer?" "Why do so many city folks think that because a country dweller has a garden it doesn't cost anything to board half a dozen extra persons for a week?" "Why would a family who would be amazed to see a carload of country folks arrive at their city home unannounced think that they'll be welcome if they arrive in the country as uninvited guests? I can't answer the whys—but I don't blame the country cousins for asking such questions. Nor can I blame them for resenting having their summers made hectic by a series of free loaders. Having guests is just as much trouble as in the city. The only course I can suggest for country cousins fed up with dispensing unreturned hospitality all summer long is to arrive unannounced for a visit in the city homes of those who have been their uninvited guests. That ought to fix them.

Garden Club Hears Tips On Choosing Trees, Shrubs For Panhandle Area

R. L. Studebaker, senior horticulture major at Texas Tech, Lubbock, spoke on "Trees and Shrubs" at a meeting Monday of the Pampa Garden Club at the home of Mrs. Ralph McKinney, 2348 Duncan. 3. Does it have interesting or ornamental factors? Some factors of interest are: Appearance of bark, blooms, fragrant flowers, interesting color, berries and fruit. 4. Does it make a good shade? Several desirable shade trees for this area are Arizona Ash, Ginkgo and Honey Locust. 5. Is it free from bad habits? Some undesirable habits are: Bearing pods or berries which are unsightly when dropped on lawn; scattering seedlings; unpleasant odor and overpowering root systems. 6. Is it hazardous? For instance, thorny shrubs may be dangerous to small children, and fruit and nuts can be dangerous when they fall on walks or drives. 7. Does it have winter interest? Some desirable factors are: pattern of growth, interesting bark texture and irregular shape of trunk. Nineteen members and six guests attended.

Lyle Gage Honored At Surprise Party

Lyle Gage was honored with a surprise birthday party Monday night in his home at 2241 Mary Ellen. The table was centered with an unusual centerpiece fashioned by J. C. Hopkins. The birthday cake was iced with white icing decorated with red roses and candles. Written across the cake were the words "Tonight's the Night." Refreshments of home-made ice cream, cake and coffee were served. Those attending were Evelyn and Bill Parrish, Nancy and Gene Imel, Sandra and Morris Enloe, Geneva and Bob Schiffman, Mary Terrell and Emma Wheyles. For summer, one-size stretch gloves are done in a handcrocheted version. They come in black or white.

Mrs. Quirk Honored With Housewarming

A many-layered, slinky silk chiffon gown is magnificently embroidered in brown-and-silver bugle beads for fall evenings. Side slit permits ease of movement in this design by Bill Blass for Maurice Rentner.

Baptist Women's Union Holds Meeting, Mission Study Program

The Women's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church met in the church parlor recently for a Mission Study Program. Before the program a short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. R. L. McDonald, president. The program opened with Mrs. Sid Harrison leading a song service with Mrs. Ronald Howell at the piano. Opening prayer was by Mrs. Charles Miller. Mrs. Ed Miller, mission study chairman, was in charge of the program and introduced the book to be taught entitled, "Educating Youth in Missions." The following subjects were presented: "Today's World," by Mrs. Ed Miller; "Looking at Youth," by Mrs. S. E. Waters; "Guiding Youth," by Mrs. Ronald Howell; "Youth in Women's Missionary Union," by Mrs. Pernal Scoggins; and "Youth and Women's Missionary Union Ideals," by Mrs. Rufe Jordan.

Dear Abby... Golf Sand Traps Beat Other Vices

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There are many jokes about "golf widows" and, believe me, they're not funny. My husband is sweet, generous and loving, but he spends every spare minute on the golf course. Could you give me a cure? Or maybe some other golf widows have some suggestions. Don't tell me to go with him because I have children and a house to take care of.

Please print this because one of the few things my husband does when he comes home from playing golf is read the paper. GOLF WIDOW DEAR GOLF WIDOW: When you consider how many other traps men have fallen into during their "spare moments", a sand trap isn't so bad. Quit beefing. Lots of women would love a husband whose only vice was chasing a little white ball.

MATURE PARENT

Just before dinner, Mr. B. listens to a newscast which reports a powerful senator's attack upon his favorite presidential candidate. He's furious. Through dinner he regales his family with threats of personal and national doom if the candidate of his political party is not elected. He itemizes the opposing party's past foreign policy mistakes and criticizes all its members as "suckers." As his wife is serving dessert his 17-year-old son names his father's political party and says: "They've made foreign policy mistakes too, dad. Just today in history class, the teacher was saying that both our political parties have had a rough time finding a workable foreign policy toward the Soviet bloc. She said..." Mr. B. explodes. Declaring that his son is too wet behind the ears to entertain any political opinions, he roars: "I'll have no pussy-footing talk of that kind in this house!" Yet Mr. B. regards himself as a Strong Man, the stalwart, independent Head of the House upon whom his wife and children depend. He is quite incapable of perceiving that this view of himself is absolutely contradicted by his demand for his son's agreement with him. If we are truly strong and independent parents, we do not need, of course, the support of children's agreeing opinion. In this tense political year, it's wise for us to consider this fact. We may find ourselves in political disagreement with our teenage children. If we find ourselves getting upset when they refuse to share our opinions, we need to wonder why we crave their agreement—and look at the probability that we are not the stalwart, self-sufficient souls we claim to be but are in truth, pretty wobbly dependent ones. Fathers particularly need to look at it. Otherwise like Mr. B. they may develop high blood pressure. They can't have their cake and eat it, too. They can't claim to be sturdy moral characters—and then blow up whenever youngsters refuse their political agreement. We have to make up our minds on these matters...Let's either admit our need for young people's support of our opinions—or as a genuinely strong person, maintain them without their support. If fathers want to avoid family tension in this year of political tension they'd do well to settle this conflict in themselves.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Stop wondering. If you loved this man you'd be trying to figure out some way to make a go of it. A woman doesn't mind working like a horse all day if she can come home to a man she really loves. Your friend offers you only temporary relief from boredom, but it takes more than that to make a successful marriage. Widen your horizons. CONFIDENTIAL TO MOREY: When a man plays poker, the only one who is SURE to "clean up" is the host's wife. "What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want To Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper. It is important to select a face powder that enhances your skin. And avoid the white rice powder look of earlier days. Select powder that matches your skin tone or is slightly darker. And if you have dry skin, use a light-weight powder.

Crops May Be Nation's Best

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN - United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite a cold, wet spring, the 1960 crop season bids fair to become one of the nation's highest production years.

The Agriculture Department's Crop Reporting Board said the preliminary all-crop production index computes to 118 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

This anticipated huge crop is in prospect despite the fact that farmers ended the first half of the year behind schedule.

The switch in weather accounted for a remarkable change in crop prospects. The Crop Reporting Board in its July estimates said prospects for all crops point to a favorable outlook for most areas of the nation.

The department said food grain production now looks to be about 18 per cent above last year.

The big gainers, of course, is wheat, an anticipated crop of 1.35 billion bushels — this is 80 million bushels more than the 1959 crop.

On the economic front, there is a different picture for farmers especially for the last half of the year. Government reports indicate there will be fewer hogs and eggs and slightly more milk than a year ago.

But more beef, peaches, potatoes, and wheat. The demand for farm products continues favorable both at home and abroad.

Quotes In The News

NEW YORK—Soviet movie director Ivan Pivryev, comparing the but supplies may outrun demand for a number of products.

Here are some of the things that could upset or disturb the farmers' appetites during the last half of 1960: Rising government expenses, the threat of inflation, labor unrest, the future of the soil bank, the wheat problem, the international situation, and the political campaign.

The present hog situation means that farmers probably will get more money from their porkers than they got last year.

The spring pig crop was slashed a whopping 16 per cent below last year's swollen totals.

And if hog producers carry out their present plans, the fall pig crop will be 3 per cent less than a year ago.

The spring and fall cutbacks will reduce pork supplies which means retail prices of pork will be higher and prices to farmers for live hogs will be higher.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Cmdr. James O. Osborn, skipper of the nuclear sub George Washington, in a message to President Eisenhower informing him of the first Polaris missile firings from a submerged sub.

"From out of the deep to target—perfect."

CHICAGO—Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), expressing doubt that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller would accept the GOP vice presidential nomination.

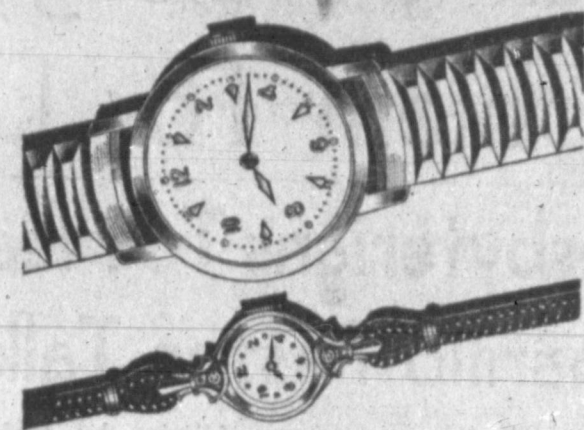

"Rockefeller has said 'no' too often. But after Lyndon Johnson jumped over the fence I'd believe almost anything."

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—J. W. Davis, 75, who wants more money for his land than the state is willing to offer in buying it for a superhighway, disputing the story of deputies who said they went to his home and couldn't find him.

"Some deputy came to my home and I got my shotgun and he left."

DEDICATE WAR MEMORIAL

ST. AVOLD, France (UPI)—A monument to American war dead was dedicated here Tuesday with a message from President Eisenhower.

John McCloy, former U.S. high commissioner to Germany, read the message at the U.S. military cemetery here, where 10,500 dead of World War II are buried.

"The people of the United States join with me in rendering homage to those who rest forever here in the friendly soil of France," it said. "They bear eternal witness to the common aims and aspirations of our two nations."

A leaking gas pipe was found about 75 feet from the building Tuesday but officials still were puzzled how gas could have seeped into the store, which had no gas connections.

Lack Of Clergymen Growing Problem For U. S. Churches

Presbyterians To Hear Amarillo Pastor Talk

Rev. Murray W. Travis, pastor of the Northminster Presbyterian Church in Amarillo, will be guest preacher at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday for the morning worship service at 8:30.

Program Set At First Baptist

"The Greatest Thing in the World" is the subject Dr. Douglas Carver, Pastor, First Baptist Church, has announced for the morning service of worship.

Would you want your son to become a clergyman? If he showed a tentative interest in the ministry, would you encourage him to give his life selflessly to a high calling? Or discourage him by emphasizing the sacrifices, the long hours, the poor pay?

Churches are asking America's parents to answer these questions honestly... to examine their consciences and determine whether their materialistic ambitions for their children may not be a basic factor in the present shortage of ministerial candidates.

Hardin To Head Gospel Meeting

A series of gospel meetings are being conducted next week at the Central Church of Christ.

Bible School Set Monday

The Pampa Ministerial Alliance in cooperation with the Exceptional Child Assn. will sponsor a Bible school for mentally retarded children from 9 to 11 a.m. Monday through Friday at the First Methodist Church.

Foreign News

The Man of the Week: United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

The Place: United Nations Headquarters, New York.

The Quote: "I believe that, to the Congo needs international assistance, such assistance should, within the framework of the United Nations, be given by its sister African nations, as an act of African solidarity."

This week, quiet-spoken, Swedish Dag Hammarskjold made a progress report to the United Nations Security Council on the dispatch of U.-N. emergency forces to the strife-torn Congo.

In response to his appeal, troops from Ethiopia, Ghana, Tunisia and Morocco began pouring into the Congo in a giant airlift aided by planes provided by the United States and Britain.

The new arrivals swelled in numbers from 700 to 2,000, then to 3,500 and finally probably would total well over 10,000, possibly as many as 25,000.

They would not all be African. There would be contingents from Sweden, the Irish republic, from Canada and from Latin American nations. But there would be none from the major powers, and, as much as possible in the particularly sensitive areas, they would be African.

It was the quiet diplomacy of Hammarskjold in November 1956 that accomplished the impossible in a moment of life or death for the U.N.

On that date the first troops of a U.N. emergency force arrived to take up positions along the true line between Egypt and Israel. His diplomacy had arranged the cease-fire and his diplomacy had obtained permission from a sovereign nation for establishment of U.N. troops on its soil.

It was a tremendous boost for U.N. prestige and opened up the possibility that, with the right man, the post of U.N. secretary-general could be one of great power.

In his report to the Security Council this week, Hammarskjold was pushing the U. N. toward new heights of prestige, and demonstrating again the workings of his "quiet diplomacy."

His plan to use Africans wherever possible in the Congo emergency had a two-fold purpose. First, mutinous Congolese troops could be expected to react with less resentment against troops of their own color.

Clary Corp. shows a very bullish pattern of ascending bottoms and provides an excellent buying opportunity. Chartcraft has recommended the issue twice before.

Bache & Co. points out that one stock which has almost completely resisted the downturn is Union Bag-Camp Paper Co. Bache looks for the net to climb this year to $2.70 a share, up from $2.57 last year, with earnings going to $3.50-$4.00 sometime in the next two to three years if economic conditions are favorable.

Purcell & Co. says that Olin Mathieson represents a sound investment value with worthwhile capital gain potentials from present depressed prices. Earnings are estimated at better than $3.00 a share.

Rockefeller Inherited A Political Tradition

By LYLE C. WILSON United Press International
CHICAGO (UPI)—Politics also makes strange grandsons, as witness the case of Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller, governor of the state of New York.

Nelson A. Rockefeller was named after his maternal grandfather, Sen. Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island. You might say this young Republican new dealer inherited a political tradition. But you would better say it with considerable qualification.

Aldrich was a hard shell Republican U.S. senator, 1881-1911, who died unshriven of a conservatism unmatched among present day political leaders.

The politics and policies of the late Sen. Aldrich and those of his grandson are so utterly different as to make it amazing that each bears the same party label. The very old timers will connect the senator's name with the Payne-Aldrich Tariff Bill of 1909.

The dictionary of American history relates that: "The (Payne-Aldrich) tariff... led to the decisive defeat of the Republicans in the congressional elections of 1910."

It was this political trend and such conservative Republican leadership that brought Theodore Roosevelt in 1912 roaring off the bench to create the Bull Moose Party and to run for president.

Such is Gov. Rockefeller's political heritage although the young man is at least as far removed from the political credo of his maternal grandfather as from the ruthless business practices of his more famous grandfather, John D. the first.

The fame of John Davison Rockefeller, who founded the family fortune, rests now in the popular mind on good works, on faint mental images of a very old man giving dimes to little children, on a widely publicized graham-crackers-and-milk diet to combat stomach ulcers and on the most monumental distribution of all time of private funds for the public good.

The old man's gigantic philanthropies and his folksy way with small change created a lasting public image under the auspices of one of the greatest public relations men of them all. His name

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Walter K. Gutman of Stearns & Co. says the $3.00 earnings estimate this year of Chance Vought still stands because it was made on a conservative basis. He says the second half is likely to look better than the first six months as compared with last year.

Chartcraft, Inc., reports that Reynolds & Co. thinks that Marine Midland Corp., the largest bank holding company in New York State, is an attractive, investment-type issue.

"ABIDING IN HIM"

"If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love." John 15:10

All Christians desire to abide in the love of Christ. Jesus tells us there is a way that we may abide in His love and that is by keeping His commandments. Some may feel that keeping His ordinances is an impossibility but, 1 John 5:3 (Amp. Ver.) tells us that "These orders of His are not irksome — burdensome, oppressive or grievous." They become easy because He (Christ) imparts spiritual strength to enable us to live righteously.

There are benefits that can be ours through abiding in His Love. 1 John 3:22, "Whatsoever we ask, we receive of Him, because we keep His Commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in His sight." We always find that a promise from God is made upon a condition that must be met by us if we desire to appropriate the benefit that can be derived from the promise, when the benefit is activated on our behalf. The promises of God always contain very beneficial materials for us and His demands are never unreasonable, but rather by making these demands, He causes us to draw a little closer to Him, that in that close relationship we may know Him better and trust Him more. The closer the relationship with Him, the more we learn to love Him and confide in Him.

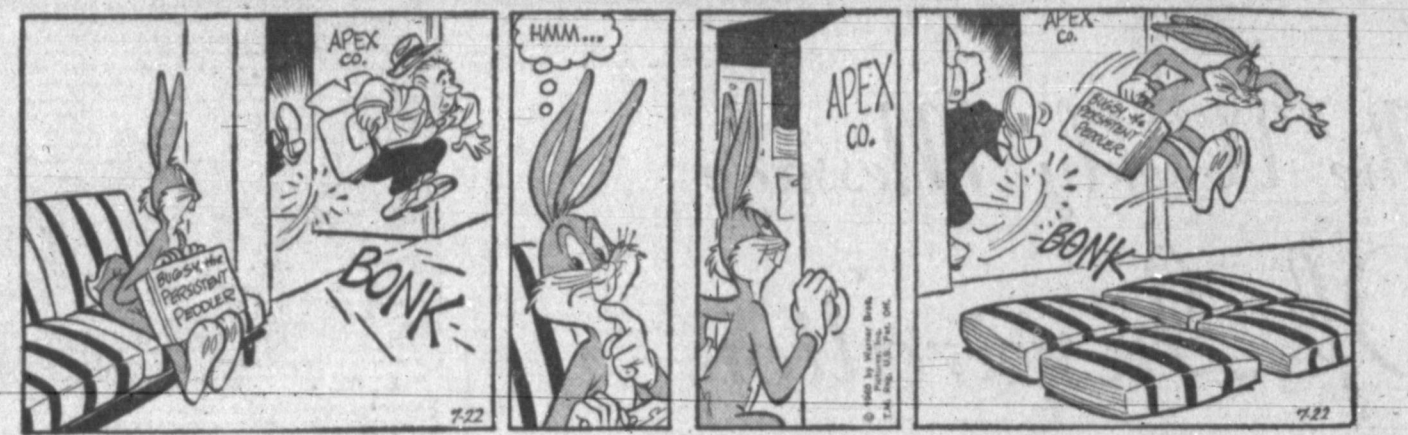

Why not learn more about God and His word by attending in the church of your choice this Sunday.

Pirates Holding To First Law Stops Dodgers, 4-1

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

Vern Law's shaken his slump and so the Pittsburgh Pirates look ready to shake a leg again in the National League pennant race.

The big right-hander couldn't have picked a better time to return to form because both the Milwaukee Braves and the Los Angeles Dodgers were closing in fast on the front-running Pirates. Three losses in four games and five in seven had cut their lead over the Braves to a half-game.

Law came through when the Pirates needed him most Thursday night turning in a solid five-hitter to beat the Dodgers, 4-1, and restore Pittsburgh's first-place lead to 1 1/2 games. Battery mate Hal Smith, who makes like Babe Ruth in the Los Angeles Coliseum, hit two homers for the second straight game and now has connected for six of his nine circuits this season in that stadium.

The St. Louis Cardinals snapped the Braves' seven-game winning streak with a 9-4 triumph; Robin Roberts pitched a one-hitter to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 3-0 win over the San Francisco Giants, and the Chicago Cubs beat the Cincinnati Reds, 8-1, in other National League games.

The Detroit Tigers moved into a fifth-place tie with the Washington Senators by beating them, 9-5, in the only American League game.

Law, 30, hadn't won a game since June 21 and had seen his record deteriorate from 11-2 to 11-5. But he looked like the early-season "whiz" again Thursday night when he beat the Dodgers for the third time this season. Rival pitcher Johnny Podres singled home a Los Angeles run in the second inning but Law went on from there to hold the Dodgers hitless until Duke Snider doubled in the ninth.

Roberto Clemente singled home the Pirates' first two runs in the third inning and Smith's homers in the fourth and seventh innings completed their scoring. It was only the Dodgers' third defeat in 13 games and dropped them into a third-place tie with the Cardinals, each six games out of first place.

Bill White's two-run double was the key blow in a six-run Cardinal sixth inning that was helped along by two Milwaukee errors. Larry Jackson gained credit for his 12th win although Lindy McDaniel stopped the Braves in the final 2 1/3 innings. Carlton Willey suffered his fourth defeat.

Connie Leaders On Move Again

NEW YORK (UPI) — Continental League leaders today offered the American Association and International League a 40-cent indemnities formula designed to remove a big obstacle which has delayed the formation of the third major league.

Presidents Ed Doherty of the association and Frank Shaughnessy of the I.L. said they would present the proposal of their club owners promptly. But there was no assurance the minor leaguers would be satisfied with the indemnities being offered them for the invasion of their territories by the Continental League.

At the conclusion of a two-day meeting Thursday, CL owners voted unanimously to offer the invaded cities of the two triple-A leagues 40 cents for each admission these minor league franchises collect during the season in which the Continental League gains major league status.

Cowboys Lose Veteran Sanford

FOREST GROVE, Ore. (UPI)—The Dallas Cowboys lost the services of veteran center Lee Sanford Thursday because of an old knee injury that is giving him trouble.

Sanford, who played National League Football for the Baltimore Colts and the Chicago Cardinals, originally injured the knee while playing for Louisiana Tech in 1958.

He was obtained in a trade last week with the Colts, but said he had decided to retire because the knee wasn't bearing up under the training grind.

Fred Doelling, a rookie defensive halfback who played collegiate ball at the University of Pennsylvania, was summoned to Evanston, Ill., where Otto Graham is training the College All-Star squad for its clash Aug. 12 at Chicago with the world champion Baltimore Colts.

Doelling became the fifth Cowboy rookie to report to Evanston. Already working out there are quarterback Don Meredith of SMU, halfbacks Jim Mooty of Arkansas and Don Perkins of New Mexico, and tackle Paul Rochester of Michigan State.

Cowboy head coach Tom Landry, meanwhile, used the afternoon practice session for the first full uniform drill of the week. The team worked out in light gear during the morning.

Rymkus Likes Cannon's Play

HOUSTON (UPI)—Lou Rymkus, head coach of the Houston Oilers, sent the squad through a full-speed 45-minute scrimmage Thursday and praised the work of Billy Cannon, Charles Tolar and Vernon Sewell.

End Coach Mac Speedie said the outstanding pass receivers of the scrimmage were Al Witche, formerly of Baylor, Bobby Marks of Texas A&M and Charles Hennigan of Northwest Louisiana.

Four of the squad were on the injured list, and did not participate in the scrimmage.

They were George Blanda, 10-year veteran with the Chicago Bears, rookie Bob White, an all-America fullback from Ohio; Linebacker Hugh Pitts of TCU, and fullback Doug Cline of Clemson.

Bill White's two-run double was the key blow in a six-run Cardinal sixth inning that was helped along by two Milwaukee errors. Larry Jackson gained credit for his 12th win although Lindy McDaniel stopped the Braves in the final 2 1/3 innings. Carlton Willey suffered his fourth defeat.

Rebels, Stars Seeking Titles

The Rebels go back to Potter County Stadium in Amarillo tonight for the American Legion tournament.

Both the Rebels and the Pony League All-Stars can win two games tonight and come home champions, or they might wind up just playing one game apiece.

They beat the Tascosa Sheriffs, 6-4, last night behind the tight pitching of Jerry Glover, and eliminated them from the tournament.

If they win tonight's first game, they'll play another contest for the championship. If they lose the opener, it's all over for them.

The Rebels were to have left at 5 p.m.

The All-Stars left for the Pony League tournament at Childress at 12:30 this afternoon.

They are in the same situation as the Rebels. If they win their opener there tonight, they'll also play for the title.

Palmer Clings To Narrow One Stroke Lead In PGA

12 Still Eye Open Title

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI)—If Mickey Wright is correct, there are 12 entries still in the running for the U.S. Women's Open golf championship.

She told newsmen following her one-under-par 71 which set the first round pace Thursday. "I think the winner will have at least one round of a 75 or a 76 on this 72-par, 6,137-yard Worcester Country Club course."

Twelve women finished the opening round with a 76 or better score but such favorites as top 1960 money-winner Louise Suggs, Patty Berg and Barbara Romack were all above the 76-stroke mark set as tough to beat by the first day leader.

Miss Marilyn Smith of French Lick, Ind., second with a par-matching 72, said "I never felt better. My chipping game was great today." She had an eagle on the par-five, 440-yard 12th hole to rank one stroke back of the tall Miss Wright.

Mickey, 25-year-old resident of Chula Vista, Calif., shot six birdies and five bogeys to get her one-under-par score. She said, "I got five birdies in the last nine rounds I played before this tournament and today I got six in one round. I've hit a streak. But I always do in the Open."

Mrs. Marlene Bauer Hage of Crystal River, Fla., who tied with Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay for third with a 72, admitted she was upset when she blew a two-foot putt on the second hole. "I know I was upset because I turned around and blew my drive on the third tee," Mrs. Hage said.

The field of 53 will be pared to 40 in the second round today, the survivors going into the 36-hole finals Saturday.

Wants Elimination Bout NBA Favors Liston

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Boxing Association's latest poll threatened today a possible 1961 split in Floyd Patterson's brand new $35,000 golden, bejeweled heavyweight crown.

Patterson, who had recaptured the world title from Ingemar Johansson on June 20, donned the glittery new crown at a New York dinner Thursday night, only a few hours after NBA President Anthony Macaroni had announced at Providence, R.I., the result of a poll of his NBA executive committee.

Macaroni said the poll of 14 committeemen favored a heavyweight elimination between champion Johansson of Sweden and top-ranked Sonny Liston of Philadelphia to determine which should fight Patterson for the title.

Patterson and Johansson are already matched by a return-bout contract for a third bout probably at Los Angeles, Oct. 31 or Nov. 1. In connection with that, Macaroni's Providence statement added: "While the NBA will not try to prevent the third Patterson-Johansson match, I feel that for the good of boxing Johansson should first meet Liston to prove his right to the third bout."

The possible bomb in Macaroni's announcement was this: "If a third Patterson-Johansson match is set, ignoring the result of our poll, I will present these facts to our annual convention at Mexico City on Sept. 4 to decide on the future course we should take in the heavyweight division."

The September action at Mexico City might well result in an order for the Patterson-Johansson winner to defend within six months against Liston or risk having the title vacated.

A highlight of the dinner was D'Amato's placing of the $35,000 crown on Patterson's head. D'Amato explained he had bought the crown for Floyd because of his "long loyalty through trying times, his persistent determination and work to recapture the title, and his magnificent triumph on June 20."

Oilers Rip RGV, 6-2

United Press International

Jim Beauchamp, hard-hitting 22-year-old outfielder, is Tulsa's hero today.

He swatted a grand slam homer that broke up an overtime ball game in the 11th inning Thursday night giving the Oilers a 6-2 victory and a sweep of the series with league leading Valley.

With it, the Oilers vaulted over Victoria into third place, two and a half games behind San Antonio.

In other games, San Antonio blanked Amarillo 1-0 behind the three hit pitching of Jack Curtis, and Victoria split a double-header with Austin. The Rosebuds clobbered the Senators 15-2, but dropped the second game 3-1.

Ted Thiem, the winner, and Dick Hughes scattered six hits for Tulsa. Vic Davis was charged with the loss, but Verl Tjebenthaler was on the mound when Beauchamp swatted the big one.

Don Miles belted a pair of homers for Victoria in the Rosebuds' seven-inning first game victory with Austin.

Giles Shelves New York Bid

CINCINNATI (UPI) — National League President Warren Giles has shelved a bid by the Madison Square Garden Corp. for a New York franchise in the senior circuit.

"I appreciate the interest in the National League," said Giles after the Garden corporation revealed the offer. "But we're not in a position to discuss with anyone at this time, application for a franchise in the National League."

In a telegram to Giles, the garden asked to meet with representatives of the league to discuss a franchise and said there were three solid foundations upon which it could base its application:

1—The Garden is one of New York City's great institutions and has operated continuously and successfully since 1890.

2—The Garden is highly experienced in the field of sports, having owned and operated the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League since 1926 and the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Assn. since 1946.

3—The Garden is wholly owned by Graham-Paige Corp., with assets totalling approximately $20 million.

Oldtime 'Slugging Pitcher' Dies In Skid Row Hotel In LA

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A lonely death in a Skid Row hotel room was the fate of Walter Thornton, who gained fame as the "slugging pitcher" of the old Chicago Nationals before 1900 and was married to one of the glamorous actresses of his time.

Thornton's death was reported Thursday, when authorities found some relatives after a week's search. He was 85 when he died July 14.

But friends said the former outfielder-fighter was not forced to live on Skid Row by poverty.

They said he was there by choice because he loved to reminisce with oldtimers. He used to preach at the Midnight Mission there, trying to aid the drunks and bums.

In his youth, Thornton's life wasn't so grim.

He reigned as one of the Cubs' best players from 1895 through 1898 and was married to Sara Andrews in 1900. She was an actress of the Lillian Russell era.

He alternated between the pitcher's mound and the outfield in 1897 and 1898 and finished his career with a .313 batting average.

Snead Fires Two-Under 68 To Gain Second At Akron

BY LEO H. PETERSON
UPI Sports Editor

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Golfing's new king — Arnold Palmer — and one of its old ones — Sammy Snead — led the field in the second round of the PGA championship today.

12 Still Eye Open Title

Palmer, driving well but putting only "so-so," showed the way as the 4-1 favorite when he fired a three under par 67 over the long narrow fairways of the 7,165-yard Firestone Country Club course.

That was one stroke better than Snead, and two blows better than Paul Harney and Freddie Haas. Right behind them came Don January, Ken Venturi, Doug Sanders and Don Fairfield with even par 70's.

Palmer, with official money-winnings of $66,610 already in his pocket, is trying to add the PGA crown to the Masters and U.S. Open championships for a "big three" slam.

The iron-nerved, muscular Pennsylvanian came from behind to win the Masters and the Open. Now he's in front and he isn't used to that.

"But I'm hoping to stay there," said Palmer.

He complained that his putter—which has been his bread and butter club—let him down "a bit" Thursday in carding that 67. He shot the front nine in 34, one under the card, and the treacherous back nine in 33, two under.

"I sank some good ones, but missed some easy ones," he said.

He also didn't like the fact that five of his drives caught the rough. But when they strayed he recovered, usually with long irons in a "majestic manner. Typical was his recovery on the 465-yard par four 18th.

Palmer hooked into the wiry rough, with some trees between the ball and the green. But he lashed an amazing three iron shot out of that mattress of grass and even put bite on it to send it to within 20 feet of the pin. It took him two putts to get down, but that three iron shot was the payoff in taking the lead.

Palmer had only five one-putt greens, below his average. But those other clubs in his bag saved him.

He played it carefully. On the 625-yard par five 16th, as tough a hole as these players have had to face in a major golf championship in years, he used a three wood off the tee, "just to make sure that the ball would wind up in the fairway."

Then he used that three wood again for his second shot, leaving him a wedge to the green, where his 18-foot birdie attempt hung on the lip.

Palmer was happy with his game; Snead wasn't.

He stomped off the 18th green immediately to the practice tee, complaining, "I played awful."

Snead, trying for his fourth PGA title, had nines of 35-33. He birdied that long 18th hole when he wedged his third shot 12 feet from the pin and sank the putt. But a lot of other golfers came to brief on the hole.

Becoming Informed

Those of us who are interested in living in a world of greater truth are inadvertently concerned with human thought. We see about us a world of much error in which many people take action, seeking to improve their own status or condition, yet which action will result in the very effect the actor would avoid.

It becomes a matter of great difficulty to restrain one's self and not go about attempting to stop others from taking wrong action. This, we suppose, is an almost universal urge.

Yet, on close analysis, were we to take action to prevent others from taking wrong action or, conversely, to take action to cause others to take right action, we would ourselves be in error, both idealistically and from a practical sense.

The energy of human kind wasted in futile head-on collisions between various types of actions, is enormous. Someone does something we don't like. So, in an effort to show our displeasure, we do something they won't like. We hope to change them. Instead, we infuriate them and inspire them to take further action which we dislike. So it goes.

Action is opposed to action. In the end we have elections or wars. But all of these are blind alleys, traversed by millions who will not pause long enough to glimpse a better and a surer way.

The fact is that all men wish their lives to be richer, finer, better, more abundant. This wish is in harmony with their own true nature.

If they take action which is not conducive of the ends they seek, we need not reprimand them. We need only to abandon intervention full reaction of an outraged nature bring home the lesson. Men do not need to punish other men. They need only to abandon intervention as a policy and to let the harvest be gleaned by the one who sows the seeds.

Our prior concern is with ourselves. And the manner in which we prevent the reaping of a harvest we do not want and would not enjoy, is thru a process which is only dimly beginning to be understood. It is the process of education.

The educational process has a number of steps. The most important are these: 1. The selection of facts. 2. The association of facts. 3. The formation of opinion. 4. The development of attitude. 5. The taking of action.

If we can assume that our selection of facts has been impartial and thorough; that we have associated our facts in a rational manner; that our opinions, therefore, are firm and ripe; that our attitudes are related to the reality of the original facts we have selected; then it would follow that our actions would be proper and correct and no unpleasant reactions would have to be experienced.

If, however, having done the best we can, we still experience the result of improper action, the solution is to go back to the point of beginning and select additional facts so that the entire process is complete from beginning to end. Man is a rational being. He always acts on the basis of his beliefs. His beliefs are simply his attitudes developed thru long usage. His beliefs and his attitudes may be in error. But his actions will be based on them, whether correct or incorrect.

Constantly we have striven thru most of recorded history to correct man's faulty actions with contrary actions. But these are faults in themselves, however benignly intended, for they do not go to the root and permit the individual taking wrong action to correct himself by a further acquisition of new knowledge.

Men advance, not thru restraints and punishments, but thru learning. It is the facts we know which elevate us. Our moments of folly and degradation are invariably the outpouring of our ignorance. And the backlash of nature, spanking us for a mistake, is, if rightly understood, a signal for the imperative of greater knowledge, greater education.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — You are sitting at home, hopefully harming no one, when the telephone rings and Jay Weston is calling to say that the Newport Jazz Festival will see the city of Newport, Rhode Island, for $4,000,000 suffer in losses and damages from the cancellation by the city of three festival events due to the disturbances on July 2. You thank him and hang up and think back to Charlie Hartman—Charlie Jr.

Charlie has just finished his freshman year at Brown. He lived a block away from you in Sea Cliff and from his 13th year you have known him and watched him grow up into a sensible, hard-working jazz music-loving youngster. When he was 14 he turned into a summer gardener and you were one of his clients. He cut a trim lawn, had a hatred for ragged weeds and looked with horror on a single blade of grass that overlapped onto a path. He was a great trimmer of path edges, spending hours with the wheeled trimmer carving away any greenery that marred the perfect, immaculate line. He also always brought along his portable radio and even during the height of the now fading (thank heaven) rock 'n' roll craze would adhere to such stations as played only pure jazz—New Orleans, Dixieland, Memphis, Chicago and Jack Teagarden jewels.

He was graduated from North Shore High and came to talk of going to Brown and of saving his money so he could go to the Newport Jazz Festival. At the other end of the age line was Guy Wallace, a radio and TV commentator and editorialist in his 40s and he, too, was a jazz buff. He knew—knew all the top jazz artists. As you thought of Guy you smiled, remembering something he told you a few days ago. He was sitting in on a recording session and during a break the tenor sax man came over and said: "Man, you're really an OLD cat." Guy nodded from his vast seniority of 44 and said: "Yes, man, and I've provided a lot of alleys in my time."

The saxophonist broke up laughing and rushed back to tell his music - raked cohorts that, "The OLD cat over there, man, he's a sharp cat to this day. Sharp, man, it's nothing cosmic, but it proves they do talk that way."

Anyway, you and Guy recently, on a lolling Sunday, had to do with each other. He was at his station and the news of the riot at Newport came to him as a breeze. He is a jazz-lover and it punished him hard. He called up and said, "Jazz has received a low blow and I want to say something about it. Got any ideas?" So you thought a moment and said here is one that takes about 44 seconds, give or lose three, and it's "OLD cat."

The Old Soldier

The cartoon depicts a political parade for the 1960 election. A man, likely a political operative or a member of the media, is sitting on a bench in the foreground, looking towards the parade. He is wearing a military-style hat and uniform, and is labeled 'DANG KIDS!' and 'MADRY FROMAN'. The parade in the background features a crowd of people marching with signs for 'KENNEDY' and 'NIXON'. The scene is set in a city street, and the overall tone is satirical and critical of the political process.

The Allen-Scott Report

ROBERT S. ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

INSIDE STORY OF VP NOMINATION: INVITATION AND NEED WERE PERSUASIVE
Los Angeles — Two pointed statesman Lyndon Johnson's agreeing to be Onyond Johnson's agreeing to be the running mate on the Democratic Presidential ticket.

One was made by the Texas, and the other by his old friend and campaign manager, Speaker Sam Rayburn.

From the start, Johnson was Senator Kennedy's choice for Vice President. This was also the strongly-held attitude of Representative John McCormack, Mass., Kennedy's convention manager, and Joseph Kennedy, his father, the former Ambassador to Britain.

Another important backstage factor in Johnson's acquiescence was the hearty approval of his wife. Mrs. Lady Bird Johnson strongly favored his taking the Vice Presidential nomination.

As Democratic leader of the house, McCormack and Rayburn have been closely and cordially associated for years. Initially Rayburn was sold to McCormack's plans. The speaker contended Johnson could perform greater service as Majority Leader of the Senate than as Vice President.

But under McCormack's pleading, Rayburn finally said: "If Jack is so eager to have Lyndon on the ticket, why doesn't he say that publicly? I have been reading all sorts of stories about Vice Presidential possibilities that Jack is supposed to favor. So if he really wants Lyndon, as you say, why doesn't he tell the world about it?"

"I am sure he would be very willing to do that," replied McCormack. "I will give him your suggestion at once."

In the meanwhile, Kennedy's father had called on Johnson and urged him to run with his son. Johnson declared he preferred to stay in the Senate.

"A vote is a lot more important than a gavel," he pointed out. The elder Kennedy contended this was a "narrow view," and that as Vice President, Johnson would exercise much more influence than "one vote." In the end, Johnson remarked.

"I am sure he would be very willing to do that," replied McCormack. "I will give him your suggestion at once."

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Following up his recent recommendation to switch out of Aluminum Co. of America and into American Metal Climax, Schroeder Boulton of Goodbody & Co. has revised downward his estimate of Alcoa earnings this year to $2.00 a share, which still assumes a worthwhile pickup in the final quarter.

Until very recently, he says, Alcoa earnings for the full year had been expected to be at least equal to the $2.52 per share earned in 1959.

Boulton feels that the earnings growth of Alcoa, and also of other major aluminum companies leaves much to be desired. He remains inclined to selling the stock whose present price still is equal to about 40 times estimated 1960 earnings.

This recommendation also applies, he says, to Kaiser and Reynolds Metals, which are affected by much the same economics as those affecting the industry leader.

Thomson & McKinnon reports that plenty of support is evident in the oil group and downside risk in these issues is negligible leading to the assumption that they are in for a worthwhile rally. Another overlooked category, T&M says, is the good coppers with Anaconda currently a "statistical and factual buy."

Bache & Co. feels that the chart action of Martin Co. is particularly significant since the stock closed above its November 1959 high, indicating that an important resistance area has been penetrated. Bache continues to look for further gains.

CHILD STRANGLES SELF
FORT WORTH (UPI)—Terry Wayne Simmons, 2, apparently strangled himself with a venetian blind cord Tuesday at his home. His mother found the boy dead with the cord wrapped tightly around his neck.

is called "case finding."
Of some 20,000 patients with infectious syphilis treated in public clinics and hospitals over a five-year period, almost 17,000 (85 per cent) named sources and contacts who then were located and brought in for treatment by health officers.

Of more than 14,000 patients treated by private physicians, only 2,400 (17 per cent) provided this vital information.

Over the five-year period, therefore, it is suggested that some 40,000 syphilis may have been left in, or added to, the infectious reservoir. And that reservoir knows no social or economic boundaries.

Why do you think the private physicians is so remiss in his obligation to assist in case-finding?
Partly, of course, the answer may be personal disinterest, carelessness or laziness. But mostly it's public pressure that demands secrecy.

You may not want to think that a venereal disease will ever afflict a member of your family or household. But then again, there's always that possibility. And if and when the occasion arises, please do try to remember your obligation to the community in which you live.

If the solid support of an enlightened public is capable of helping in the near-eradication of an incurable disease like leprosy, why should it be any less complete if it got behind the efforts of health officers to eliminate the local reservoir of curable venereal diseases.

Ousted Chrysler Chief Tells Of Other Profits

DETROIT (UPI)—Ousted Chrysler Corp. President William C. Newberg chokingly insisted today there was "nothing improper" in the fact that he reaped nearly half a million dollars in profits from firms that sold supplies and parts to Chrysler.

Why then had Newberg, only three weeks ago riding the crest as chieftain of the nation's third largest auto maker, agreed to give back to Chrysler his more than $450,000 in outside profits.

"I want to leave my record clean...I have always met my obligations and I always will," Newberg told United Press International.

Once poised and confident, the 49-year-old Newberg was crushed and nearly incoherent as he spoke

Thursday night. His forced resignation as president on June 30, after only two months in the job, had loosed a storm of speculation in the auto industry over the reasons behind his action.

But both Newberg and Chrysler had kept a tight-lipped silence until Thursday.

Then the Chrysler board of directors dropped a new bombshell by announcing in New York that an investigation had disclosed Newberg made profits "in excess of $450,000" from "interests in vendor companies."

The directors said they "believed it to be their responsibility to seek recovery" from Newberg. "He accepted their views," the directors said, and "made an offer of settlement" which was accepted.

The investigation that led to Newberg's downfall was launched by the man who had groomed him for the presidency, L. L. Colbert. In a formal statement Newberg said: "I entered into the questioned relationships with the vendor companies after advice from counsel and in the belief that they were in the interest of the corporation and that no question of illegality or impropriety was involved."

Newberg refused to say just what kind of "interests" he had in the supplier firms or to name the firms.

STEAL BOOBY TRAP

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Because a burglar entered her home through an unlocked window earlier this week Mrs. Nancy De-lackner rigged a shotgun booby trap to the window and placed a bear trap on the floor inside.

When she returned from work Thursday night both were gone.

YOUNG BUMS

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Jeff Davis, 77, who calls himself the "king of the hoboes," said Monday the good old days are gone.

"I tell the kids in school hobobing ain't what it's cracked up to be," Davis explained. "Bums used to be old men, mainly—but today they're young bums."

MATRON OF HONOR

MANCHESTER, England (UPI)—City Information Officer Terence Usher Tuesday refuted popular stories that it always rains here. In a statement to newsmen he said Manchester has been "clearly shown to be one of the drier cities in Britain."

Outside, it was pouring.

FACTORY GETS APOLOGY

LONDON (UPI)—Author Laurie Lee apologized in court Monday to a piano factory which got all heated up about these lines from a recent Lee novel:

"There was a fire at the piano factory almost every year. It seemed to be a way of balancing the books."

DEMOCRAT CHARGES JOB

WOODVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—Richard T. Watson resigned from the Wilkinson County Democratic Executive Committee Thursday so he could start his new job—alternate delegate to the Republican National Convention.

BEWARE OF BICYCLES

NEW YORK (UPI)—Final Olympic bicycling trials will be held in Central Park Saturday and Sunday so police warned pedestrians to please use only authorized crosswalks.

Rebel Colors Struck Again

By LOWRY BOWMAN
United Press International

ATLANTA (UPI)—Ninety-five years after Gen. Lee handed his sword to Gen. Grant the rest of the South is giving up.

The Civil War will henceforth be known in the South as the Civil War—not the "War Between the States" or "The War for Southern Independence." At least it has a nicer sound than the Yankee "War of the Southern Rebellion."

The rebel colors were struck today at a meeting here of chairmen of Civil War Centennial Commissions from 10 Southern states. They are exchanging ideas for next year's centennial celebrations of events of the war of 1861-65.

"We succumb to the inevitable," said Lyon G. Tyler Jr. of Richmond, assistant director of Virginia's Centennial Commission. "It did have some aspects of a civil war."

Peter Zack Geer, executive secretary to Georgia Gov. Ernest Vandiver, issued the first cautious call for surrender Thursday in welcoming the state chairmen. Geer pointed out that Confederate generals referred to the "Civil War" instead of the more popular "War Between the States." And he said if the South is ready to go along with this radical idea it could help display a national unity in next year's celebration.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn. One of the latest books on bridge is by two Hungarian experts who study play of 67 interesting hands with only two hands shown in each. If the problem is for declarer, big hand and dummy appear and you are supposed to figure out the correct play.

This week's articles will be about hands from the book and if you want to get the greatest enjoyment from them look at declarer and dummy only.

South's two no-trump does not meet with my complete approval, but it seems that South wanted to win the rubber and go home. West opened the five of hearts. East took the king and returned the ten. You are South and win with the queen. How should you play the hand from then on?

You have to knock out two aces one first. Obviously, you want to knock out West's ace if he has one. The East hand presents no danger because West has the heart suit.

You simply remember that East overcalled with one spade. He might have done so with a five-card suit to the nine, but it is far, far more likely that he holds the spade ace so you start by leading a diamond toward dummy's queen and returning the suit if the queen holds. Incidentally if you are allowed to hold two diamond tricks you should go after the spades because three spade tricks plus two in each other suit will give you your contract.
