Home Buyers' Guide Gives Novices Points

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — You've taken the plunge — Mentally, at least. You're going to buy a house!

Your job, your family, your finances pretty much dictate the size house you'll be looking for, how much you'll pay and in what area you'll do your house hunting. Question now is what kind of house will be your best buy?

This, today, is likely to be a house that was built two to five years ago, in the opinion of Col. R. R. Smith and Maj. E. A. Michalski, two Air Force officers who have summed up in a new home buyer's guide some pretty pertinent information for the novice house hunter—the outgrowth of their own home buying experiences.

Discussing the advantages of a home a few years old, the guide points out that in most localities the cost of building has risen steadily so that you literally get less new house for your money than you did a few years ago. The builder of a new home, too, usually will incorporate a 20 per cent profit for himself into the purchase price and most people are in no position to bargain about that price, while the seller of an existing house is almost always content just to have his investment returned and, often, is even prepared to come down on his original asking price.

GOP Pushing Another Civil Rights Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans is pushing ahead with their drive for new civil rights legislation despite Senate rejection of President Eisenhower's two-pronged rights program.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.), undismayed by Tuesday's administration setback, planned to introduce legislation embodying the civil rights plank of the Republican platform.

Javits also said he would back this up with a resolution seeking to change the Senate rules and tighten curbs on filibusters such as those used by Southerners to stall civil rights measures.

The New Yorker's move to inject the controversial issue back into the post-convention session of Congress followed a resounding GOP defeat on civil rights.

By a 54-28 vote along party lines, the Senate tabled — and thus killed — the President's program which he had recommended in a special message to Congress Monday.

Republicans charged the action showed that the Democrats had no intention of living up to campaign promises to enact strong rights laws in support of their own liberal platform plank.

Countering the accusation in a state of political crossfire, the Democrats contended that GOP leaders were politically motivated in introducing the issue.

They claimed it would have tied up the Senate in endless debate and prevented consideration of major "must" legislation in the short session which leaders hope to adjourn by Labor Day.

ning to 7 per cent, contrasted with the 4½ per cent that could be found three or four years ago in most parts of the country, assuming the existing mortgage on such a home can mean a substantial saving, not only in interest but in much of the cost of closing and in avoiding the discounting that has become standard for most loans today.

The price inflation in land has been 8 per cent annually for the past 10 years. Used homes, built when land values were not quite so high, will be on lots 25 to 50 per cent larger than new homes in the same price range. The land itself may have been treated to a few years of fertilizing; lawns probably are established and landscaping usually will be superior to that in a new home.

The neighborhood around an existing home will have taken shape and you'll be able to see what it's like and draw some conclusions about what it may become.

The older house, the guide points out, has withstood the test of a few years. The signs of poor construction will have begun to show; many flaws will have been discovered and dealt with. In addition, a house that has been lived in usually has interior improvements: recreation rooms have been finished and decorated, garages added, expansion attics finished off, second bathrooms installed, outdoor living areas established.

The authors warn, however, it is prudent to be wary of a house that has been "over-improved." A swimming pool, built-in hi-fi systems, greenhouse or similar refinements may have made a house more pleasant to live in, but they may have raised the price tag — "and you don't want to pay $30,000 for a house, not if it is in an area of $18,000 homes."

WRIGHT TO SPEAK

AUSTIN (UPI) — Rep. Jim Wright (D-Tex.) of Fort Worth, a possible candidate to succeed Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson if Johnson is elected vice president, will be among the speakers featured on the two-day Texas Electric Co-operative program beginning in Austin Thursday. Wright will speak at the closing session Friday.

Thailand is the only country in southeastern Asia which has never been ruled by a European power.

U.S. Aim: Man On Moon In Fifteen Years

RAY CROMLEY, paper Enterprise Assn. WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Corps of Engineers already is figuring out how to set up a military base on the moon, with underground barracks, pushing ahead with their own though the scientists think we'll get one man there in 15 years.

They are getting ready to build a laboratory with a new world of its own. Inside, atmosphere, living conditions, the dangers — everything would be as near like the moon as the engineers can make them.

Subject, of course, will be how to build that base in proper barracks and tent, considering such factors as food, light, power, vehicles and sun tan lotion.

The first Army conclusion, even before the moon laboratory is built: the first man to step out on the moon is going to have a real rugged time.

In the first place, he will have to be "grounded," perhaps with a wire to the ground like the old-fashioned radio sets. That would carry off electric charges on anything metallic that he's wearing or carrying, including any gold fillings in his teeth.

Without circulating atmosphere, charges caused by the photoelectric effect of sunlight will tend to build up on all metals including vehicles and tools unless they are grounded.

This man on the moon must be protected against meteorites and any other small objects flying off other heavenly bodies. These presumably would come, perhaps in sizeable numbers, at considerable speeds. Man on earth is protected by the atmosphere, which catches these particles, slows them down and burns most up. In fact, only a microscopically small fraction gets through. But they might be very dangerous for any man on the moon.

He must be protected against solar and cosmic radiation. There is a strong belief that without heavenly radiation flares would kill any unprotected man on the moon.

He must be shielded from accidentally looking at the sun. One look will result in instantaneous, permanent and total blindness.

He must have special vehicles and construction equipment, because most of those on the earth depend on the heavy pull of earth's gravity for their efficiency. And the moon's gravity is only a sixth as great. He'll have to have special surveying instruments. Spirit levels won't be very practical on the moon.

He'll carry all of his own power and food. All the water he expects to use while on the moon must be brought with him. All the air he breathes will have to come with him from earth.

Special radiators or coolers both in his living quarters and in his "moon suit" for outside wear are necessities to protect him from the intense heat of the mid-day sun on the moon which lacks the cooling effects of the earth's atmosphere. This "air conditioning" for a man moving around on the moon will be no mean trick. In darkness, of course, there will be the problem of heating a man in the moon's intense cold.

Proper atmospheric pressure — the one he's used to on earth — must be maintained inside the moon man's "moon suit" and living quarters. And the proper humidity.

The Army Engineer research men think they can solve some of these problems by burying the barracks under ground, supplying heat, air conditioning and a host of other requirements by buried atomic power plants. They've even made some initial drawings of what these underground quarters would look like.

They've got ideas of a combination bulldozer, crane boom, winch and fork lift which could be operated either by a driver on board in a pressurized cab or remotely by radio.

But they're not certain what will work and what won't until the theories are tried out in their proposed moon laboratory.

★ ★ ★ Moon Orbit Shot In Fall

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Some time between October and the end of the year, the U.S. will attempt to put a satellite in orbit around the moon. If that shot fails, then the second moon satellite shot will go up about three months later.

These shots will trigger off what's turning out to be about a 15-year program to put an American on the moon in the mid-1970s.

It will be a slow-but-steady program under the guidance of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Even success with the first shots won't mean the space testing of crude lunar craft until mid-1961. And the first attempt at a rough landing or hard landing of a small amount of instruments on the moon won't come until late 1961 or early 1962, depending on the success of the first test vehicles.

It won't be until 1963 when some 150 pounds of delicate instruments can be "soft" landed on the moon. And not until 1966 will it be possible for a sizeable amount of radio-guided equipment to be landed on the moon.

By the early 1970s, the main test of putting a man down on the moon would come. There's no doubt in the minds of U.S. government scientists that the Reds will have a man on the moon considerably before that.

Foreign Commentary

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—South Africa, by racial conflict, has come to the globe-spanning, multi-British commonwealth with promises to be its biggest asset.

Last week South African Premier Hendrik F. Verwoerd ordered referendum Oct. 5 to decide whether his fellow-countrymen would accept a republic.

British officials expect a narrow margin in favor of one.

In that case, South Africa must consent of the other commonwealth nations for her to remain member under the new constitution setup.

Other commonwealth countries including India, Pakistan, and Ghana have taken the step and have been given green light without trouble. But South African problem is different.

South Africa's policy of "apartheid" or racial segregation, which sparked bloody rioting earlier this year, has been denounced by most other commonwealth members—particularly India and Malaysia, which are independent commonwealth member in October, is expected to be equally vehement.

As expected, South Africa asks to remain in the commonwealth. British officials fear Ghana, Malaysia and Nigeria—perhaps India, Pakistan and others—will turn thumbs down. Officials admit this would create a situation without parallel in commonwealth history — one as precedent-shattering as the crisis that flared when India decided in 1947 to become a republic. After deep and lengthy soul-searching that problem was solved by an arrangement under which India, while adopting a republican form of government, agreed to recognize the British sovereign as titular head of the commonwealth.

Traditionally, all commonwealth decisions are the result of collective agreement. No vote ever is taken at a commonwealth prime ministers' conference.

Theoretically, therefore, refusal of one or two other members to accept a South African republic in the commonwealth would be tantamount to a veto.

Britain has not revealed her position. But it almost certainly would support acceptance of South Africa.

Navy Ships Crash While Refueling

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The aircraft carrier USS Bennington and the destroyer USS Edwards collided during a refueling operation Wednesday, the 11th Naval District announced today.

There were no injuries. But the destroyer's superstructure was so severely damaged in the collision that she had to head back to Long Beach, Calif., naval shipyard for repairs.

The USS destroyer Cogswell was sent to the Edwards' aid to accompany her back to Long Beach. Both ships were proceeding under their own power, the Navy said.

The carrier Bennington received superficial damage to her right side and one of her elevators. She was able to continue on her training mission.

Divorce Sought By Arlene Dahl

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—Actress Arlene Dahl celebrated her 33rd birthday today — estranged from her husband Fernando Lamas.

Miss Dahl filed a divorce suit Wednesday, charging her husband of six years with extreme cruelty.

"I made every sincere effort to save my marriage and have reluctantly concluded that this is not possible," she said.

The couple has a son, Lorenzo, 2.

Bomb Threat Stirs Capitol Employees

AUSTIN (UPI) — A woman called the state capitol this morning and told an elevator operator, "there's a bomb planted in the northwest corner of the fourth floor in the capitol."

Three Austin policemen, two detectives, and four firemen searched a score of filing cabinets and desks in the comptroller's and legislative budget board offices in that area of the capitol, but found no evidence of a bomb.

Elevator operator Buford Cooper said the call came about 7 a.m. when the heavy flow of employees to the capitol begins. He said the caller hung up after the threatening message.

Dog Is Honored For Saving Baby

CHICAGO (UPI) — A majestic looking German shepherd named Keg was cited Wednesday night as the most heroic dog of 1960.

Keg rescued 22-month-old Karen McMannis after she had stumbled into Kelly Creek near Bozeman, Mont.

The dog jumped in after the tot, clamped his powerful jaws into her shoulder blades and towed her to safety.

Keg was the honored guest at a banquet in a Loop hotel.

Boys' Ranch Rodeo Set For September 4-5

Two hundred sixty-one boys at Cal Farley's Boys' Ranch are working hard to complete plans, preparations and practice for the biggest Labor Day event in the Golden Spread... the 18th Annual Boys' Ranch Rodeo... Sept. 4 and 5.

All indications are that this nationally-known rodeo will be the fastest, most competitive and thrilling the boys have ever had and in anticipation of a record-breaking attendance at the two-day show, 1,000 more seats are being installed.

Only Boys' Ranchers will participate in the riding and special events and through a series of elimination contests, the top eighty riders will be selected to compete for points and prizes to be awarded under R. C. A. rules.

Boys from eight to 18 will ride in calf, steer, junior and senior bull and bronc busting competition; the clowns and special attraction participants will be Boys' Ranchers and many of behind-the-scenes activities will be handled by the boys themselves.

Featured at both performances will be the military band from Amarillo Air Force Base, representatives from various riding clubs throughout the Panhandle and surprise attractions.

Both performances will begin at 2:30 p.m. Admission will be 75 cents for children, $1.50 for adults and $2 reserved section. Proceeds from the rodeo will go to help the Boys Ranch expansion program.

It's In Miami, Yet! New Detective Series To Have Three 'Eyes'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Hot Diggy. They've got a new detective show coming up on television that is different from all the rest. Instead of taking place in New York, Chicago or Los Angeles, the new series is located in Miami, Florida.

How's that for using a little imagination? The new program, "Surfside 6," is another feature that distinguishes it from other private eye thrillers. It boasts three detectives instead of the usual one or two. Detective shows go by formula.

Birth Records Are Required For New Pupil

AUSTIN (Spl) — Attention parents: It's later than you think. This comes from W. D. Carroll, state registrar, whose vital statistics staff at the Texas State Department of Health is responsible for handling the flood of requests for birth certificates for children entering school for the first time this September.

Carroll's problem is this: There is a tendency among parents to put off requesting copies of their youngsters' birth records until the last moment. When too many parents delay in this manner, the results are obvious: a work-overload.

The condition does not result from any lack of effort on the part of Carroll's staff. "Our limited Vital Statistics Division staff — despite long hours of night and weekend work—can process just so many requests before school begins," he explains.

More than 282,000 children are schools of Texas for the first time expected to enter elementary schools of Texas for the first time this fall. The estimate is based on calculations made by the Texas Education Agency.

A good many parents — some of whom may have waited — too long in past years — have already requested and received birth records on this year's new scholars, but tens of thousands of additional records will have to be processed between now and the time that first school bell rings in September.

More than one youngster has been forced to postpone his first days at school simply because his parents couldn't produce proof of his age when it came time to register him.

Carroll's advice to parents: "Send in your request today to the local registrar, county clerk, or the State Department of Health."

All you have to do is give the child's name, date and place of birth, the mother's maiden name, and the name of the father. This information, with the legal fee of one dollar, should be addressed to your local registrar, the county clerk, or to the State Department of Health, Section on Records and Statistics, 410 East Fifth Street, Austin.

Something else: Be prepared to show school officials a record of "shots" your youngster has had. Depending on local school board regulations, proof of immunizations against smallpox, whooping cough, diphtheria, and other diseases may be required. (A weekly feature of the Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health.)

A half-hour program gets along nicely with a single hero—"Peter Gunn," "Mr. Lucky," "Johnny Staccato." An hour-long series requires two good guys—"Hawaiian Eye," "77 Sunset Strip," "Bourbon Street Beat."

"Surfside 6," filming at Warner Brothers Studios for a starting date on ABC-TV in the fall, co-stars Troy Donahue, Lee Patterson and Van Williams. Evidently Miami is a tougher city than the others.

If a 90-minute or two-hour weekly detective show were to crop up it is conceivable a whole squad of private eyes might be used, requiring viewers to buy programs to tell one hero from the other. "I don't think that will ever happen," said co-star Patterson. "The main reason there are three of us in 'Surfside 6' is that Donahue is doing very well in movies now, and with me and Van alternating, it will give Troy time to star in feature films."

The new whodunit is full of innovations.

In this one the detectives are rich. They own a plane, a jet-powered boat and keep their offices on a house-boat.

There's that old imagination working again, boy! And here's something else. Instead of just one regular gal hanging around the premises as in "Hawaiian Eye," "Peter Gunn" and the rest, "Surfside 6" has two. Count 'em, two gals.

The only thing "Surfside 6" lacks is horses and a lovable dog — and don't be too sure they won't crop up somewhere along the way.

There are more than 51 million telephones in the United States and Americans make more than 138 million calls a day.

THE PROMOTER—Steeplejack Jerry Williams takes time out from painting a Columbia, Mo., flagpole to promote a "Yes" vote in a wheat referendum. Wheat growers will decide July 21 whether they favor restricting supply in return for support prices or unlimited production, lower prices.

NO RING BIG ENOUGH—Two youngsters grasp brim of a huge sombrero in Los Angeles, possibly to prevent their friend wearing it from soaring away. There's no ring big enough to hold this hat, not even in the Democratic convention city.

Slant-6 Engine Scheduled For Dodge Trucks

DETROIT (Sp) — Dodge today announced that its 1961 trucks will feature the only Inclined 6-cylinder gasoline engine in the industry.

The new overhead valve engine, which is slanted 30 degrees to the right, develops 140 horsepower at 3,900 RPM. It has a displacement of 225 cubic inches and produces 215 lb.-ft. torque from 1,600 to 2,800 RPM.

In addition to its thriftiness with fuel, the new engine has other advantages for truck operators.

"Inclining the engine has made it possible for our designers to lower the hood height and increase accessibility to the engine compartment," M. C. Patterson, Dodge general manager, explained. "In our new light- and medium-duty models, the hood forms the top part of the fender housing. As a result of this new design, the top surface of the fender housing is lower, exposing more of the engine and making it even easier to service."

A number of aluminum components have been introduced to minimize the weight of the engine.

There parts are the water pump housing, water outlet elbow, oil pump housing, distributor case, and alternator frame. Intake valves also are aluminum to minimize the effects of high temperatures.

Carburetor and air cleaner are located on the left side of the engine, feeding each cylinder individually for improved fuel economy. The exhaust manifold, mounted on the same side, has large radius curves for minimum back pressure.

Another highlight of the engine is a 35-ampere alternator, which replaces the conventional generator.

The alternator system charges even at idling speeds, and reaches its peak charge rate quickly. Low cut-in and rapid build-up of power keep the battery charged even during start-stop operations.

Reducing maintenance costs by giving trouble-free service 2 to 3 times longer than a conventional generator, the alternator system also lengthens battery life by eliminating the extreme cycling of the charge.

The new 140-horsepower engine will be standard on all conventional half-ton, three-quarter-ton, and 1-ton models in the 1961 Dodge line. It also is standard on half-ton and three-quarter-ton 4-wheel-drive units, and on three-quarter-ton and 1-ton forward-control models.

PERFECT FOIL — German actress Ingrid Van Bergen may find the route to Hollywood through the maze of "The Counterfeit Traitor," true-life spy drama now filming in Europe. She plays an Allied agent who shelters "counterspy" William Holden.

WATERSPOUT SIGHTED — GALVESTON (UPI)—The U.S. Coast Guard reported four waterspout sightings in the Gulf of Mexico Tuesday. Waterspouts are closely akin to tornadoes over land, and are common during the largest of those sighted Tuesday summer shower season. The largest of those sighted Tuesday dissipated after seven minutes.

Death Of Stars Eliminates Two New TV Shows

By JOE FINNIGAN UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Producer Bob Anders is one of Hollywood's unluckiest picture makers, having lost two TV series when his star actors died suddenly.

Anders had Wayne Morris playing a somewhat inept sheriff in "They Went Thataway" and the actor suffered a fatal heart attack. Another Anders show, "Command," lost one of its stars when Louis Jean Heyde died suddenly.

In both cases, Anders had shot the pilot films to show potential sponsors before his performers died. Now, sales of the shows on a series basis is practically impossible.

The producer has some satisfaction in knowing that his "Thataway" pilot has been sold and will be shown over CBS Monday as a one night replacement for "Hennessey."

But, even though he sold the pilot, Anders figures to lose $60,000 on the series if he doesn't get himself a new star and go back into production.

satire made the role an ideal one for Morris, Anders claimed. "Nobody ever realized what a great comedian he was," Anders said. "And, if I'm going to replace him in the same image, it will have to be with somebody like Don DeLores."

PICTURE NEWS

AROUND THE WORLD

POST HASTE—Mail service went into high gear in Luton, England, where the first self-service drive-in post office opened. Mrs. Barbara Adams is placing a letter in the coin machine that offers motorists stamps and envelopes.

WHAT DAT?—Looks like a doodlebug invasion from outer space, but it's actually four Hughes Model 269A helicopters landing tandem style at the Hughes Tool Company in Culver City, Calif. Scheduled to go into immediate commercial production, the new whirlybirds cruise at 85 miles an hour, have a ceiling of 11,000 feet and a range of 195 miles. They have a gross weight of 1550 pounds and can carry 635 pounds.

KIDDY-CORNERED—There's an art to the old pastime of standing on the corner, which is still popular in Vincennes, Ind. This youngster is taking lessons in it from his father and a neighbor as they let the world go uneventfully past on a hot summer afternoon. As long as they stand in the shade, life isn't too unbearable.

GOOD WILL AMBASSADOR—And a flying one to boot. He's Tony Lavelli, former All American basketball star, and he's accepting keys to Seattle, Wash., from the city's mayor (left). Tony's an "Ambassador at Large" for the President's Council on Youth Fitness, and puts on one-man shows.

ONE OF MANY—She's pert Carole Reinhart, 18, a sophomore at the University of Miami and the "1960 Florida College Queen." A music major, Carole will compete in the finals of the National College Queen Contest in New York in September. Sponsored by the Knitted Outerwear Foundation, the contest is judged 50% for beauty and 50% for brains.

PAYING THE PIPER—A smoke dream comes true for pipe fanciers at this tobacco bar in Bad Godesberg, West Germany. Samples of tobacco from all parts of the world can be had, and this pretty hostess supplies a light. The shop lets customers select and combine various tobacco types.

FROM THE PAST—And very much of the present, too, are these six people, all of whom began their careers as stars of silent movies. Left to right are: Carmel Myers, Aileen Pringle, Reginald Denny, Gloria Swanson, Leatrice Joy and Esther Ralston. They were at a party in New York to celebrate a new weekly TV show, "Silents Please." Silent-film will be shown, and films by all these stars will appear in the future.

A WYNNING TEAM—Three theatrical generations share the scene in Hollywood as Ed Wynn, his son Keenan, and grandson Ned (right to left) relax between scenes for a new movie. Their first joint acting effort as a threesome is in Walt Disney's comedy, "The Absent-Minded Professor."

IT'S A STUDY—Teen-age German archaeology students Gudrun Engeli (left), 16, and Lone Drews, 17, are deep in the dust of centuries at Ercolano, Italy. They're examining fragments of the grandeur that was Rome at a special school practice location set up for future archaeologists.

THIS MORTAL COIL—All wrapped up in his work, a shy youngster appears more frightened by the camera than by his menacing playmate in New Delhi, India. The lad is a snake charmer's assistant and works with a mean-looking, deadly cobra for a living.

ONE TOO MANY—Born with five legs, this unusual Guernsey bull calf also has an extra foot in the middle of its extreme right leg, and an extra toe on a rear foot. The animal is owned by Walter Goolsby of Boynton Beach, Fla.

HE KNOWS HIS STUFF—Real as life, these two birds have been mounted by a new type of taxidermy developed by Jon Gurnee, 24, who's checking his handiwork in Watsonville, Calif. Interested in taxidermy since childhood, Gurnee worked out his new freeze-drying technique while earning his master's degree in zoology at the University of California in Berkeley. He is now with the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

SURROUNDED—And by two interested young ladies at that. Young Tristram Millington-Drake seems to be suffering in silence as the little girls inspect the fancy ruffled shirt he wore as a wedding attendant in London, England. They seem to think it's out of this world.

IN THE NOONDAY SUN—While on their lull ch hour, some New Yorkers are taking advantage of the lull in another way than by eating. They're stretched out on benches in Battery Park, and proving that not everyone in the big city is always dashing hither and yon.

Lee Grimsley's Sportbeat

Bud Moans The Blues

Bud Wilkinson has an unusual quality. The Oklahoma football coach, in a pessimistic manner, is one of the great optimists of the nation. As usual, Wilkinson has the crying towel out.

In the Oklahoma football prospectus, he is quoted as saying: "We had an excellent spring practice from the standpoint of interest, morale and desire to improve. Our line has adequate potential, but our backfield is the weakest I can recall since coming to Oklahoma."

"If we could meet our first four opponents, — Northwestern, Pittsburgh, Texas and Kansas—at the end of our schedule instead of at the start, we'd have a better chance to survive and develop our sophomores.

"Our Big Eight conference race should be most interesting. Those teams that everybody is rating the strongest can lose any Saturday to any opponent.

What the congenial Wilkinson possibly is trying to say is: "Don't be surprised if we win the national championship." But he doesn't want to get any team too riled up at the Sooners.

Sooners Seem Strong

Wilkinson rates the Sooners' backfield situation as critical.

The Big Red has lost such standouts as quarterback Bobby Boyd, fullback Prentice Gautt and halfback Brewster Hobby.

But what about names like quarterback Bennett Watts, halfback Mike McClellan and fullback Ronnie Hartline to fill these gaps?

On paper, it doesn't appear that the Sooners will be as weak, as Wilkinson would like some coaches to think.

As usual Oklahoma's roster contains an over-abundant stock of Texans, including some outstanding sophomore prospects.

No less than 26 Texans, including four from Amarillo and one from Borger, are on the roster.

The Amarillo players are Duane Cook, sophomore guard from Palo Duro; Monte Deere, sophomore halfback from Palo Duro; Billy White, junior tackle from the Sandies; and Marshall York, senior tackle who also played for the Sandies.

The lone Borgerite is quarterback Bob Page, a senior who is due to see a lot of action as an understudy to Watts.

The Sooners also have collected two prize sophomores from below the Red River.

Paul Lea, a halfback from Terrell, and Sweetwater fullback James Parker, are both in Sooner uniforms. They both gained all-state honors a couple of seasons ago, and played in the coaching school all-star game last year at Fort Worth.

In addition, Wilkinson has succeeded in corraling the elusive Stamford halfback, Mike McClellan, who first went to Baylor, then jumped to Oklahoma.

The Wheel Of Misfortune

Each year, at about this time, Jim Brock, the portly publicity agent for TCU athletes, revives an old game.

It's called "the TCU Football Poll."

This game has been played every year since 1934, and for the most parts, it has proved to be disastrous for the participants.

The rules are simple: You receive a notice in the mail, complete with a form but no return envelope.

You then list your choice of teams, in correct order, as to how you think the Southwest conference football race will end.

In the past 25 years, the sports writers who play this game have been right five times.

This occurred in 1938, when TCU was picked to win; 1943, '45, and '50, when the Texas Longhorns were selected; and in 1958 when TCU again was the top choice.

Here's a list of the participants' pre-season winners, and how they actually finished the season:

SMU, 1934, third; Rice, 1935, third; A&M, 1936, third; Arkansas and A&M, 1937, third and fifth, respectively; TCU, 1938, fifth; SMU, 1940, tied for first; Texas, 1941, second; A&M, 1942, fifth; Texas, 1944, second; Texas, 1946, third; Rice, 1947, third; Texas, 1948, second; SMU, 1949, fifth; Baylor, 1951, second; TCU, 1952, fourth; Rice, 1953, tied for first; Texas, 1954, fifth; Rice, 1955, seventh; TCU, 1956, second; Baylor, 1957, seventh; and SMU, 1959, fourth.

It's easy to see why coaches regard the poll as the kiss of death. This corner's picks went something like this: TCU and Baylor to tie for the championship, followed by Arkansas, Texas, Texas Tech, SMU, Texas A&M and Rice in order.

The Stilt Signs With Warriors

By United Press International National Basketball Association stars may consider Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain as something of a nuisance but they generally hailed his "return" as a challenge to the rest of the league.

The 7-foot-2 Philadelphia Warriors center, who announced at the close of last season that he was retiring, changed his mind Wednesday and signed a three-year contract calling for more than $60,000 a season.

Bob Cousy, the "old pro" of the champion Boston Celtics, summed up the opposing players' general reaction when he said: "It'll benefit the league, it'll benefit the Warriors, and it'll benefit Chamberlain."

Cousy, contacted at the summer camp he operates at Pittsfield, N.H., then commented, "and it'll make a better team of the Celtics, too."

"Now, we'll have to worry about Chamberlain again."

CHICAGO (UPI)—Both the 1960 College All Stars and the National Football League champion Baltimore Colts planned light final drills today in the last warmup before their meeting Friday night in the 27th annual All Star football game.

The Colts, three touchdown favorites to rack up the 17th win for the professionals in the series, were to arrive this morning and run through practice under the lights at Soldier Field, site of the game, tonight.

The collegians worked out briefly in Soldier Field Wednesday night and will have the usual loosening up workouts at Northwestern University today.

The usual crowd of 75,000 was expected for the game, which will be both broadcast and televised on a national network. The kickoff will be at 10 p.m. e.d.t.

The weather forecast was favorable, calling for fair skies and temperatures around the low 80s or high 70s, probably cooler at night.

Chisox By Five, Veck Predicts

CHICAGO (UPI)—Bill Veck fired a shot into the Comiskey Park gloom today with a prediction that his Chicago White Sox would win the American League pennant by five games.

The White Sox president forecast a late season surge for his club like that of the 1959 Los Angeles Dodgers and said his team would be an excellent bet "right now" for longshot players who relish long risks.

"Were two and a half games out right now," he said, after Wednesday's 6-0 loss to the New York Yankees. "At this time last season, the Dodgers were six games out and they won the pennant. We can do the same thing."

"The White Sox ought to be about 6 to 1 right now," he said. "Bet 'em if you want to make some money."

Floyd's Now A Hero

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Floyd Patterson, the heavyweight champion who's never been really "accepted" in his own country, is a hero today in the home of the man he conquered.

That was evident Wednesday night when a turnaway crowd of 40,000 Swedish fans gave Patterson a roaring welcome in his first appearance of a European tour. The crowd set a record for Sweden's second largest amusement park and was 15,000 more than Ingemar Johansson attracted 13 months ago when he returned home as his country's first world boxing champion.

Tears of surprise and happiness welled in Patterson's eyes after the rousing welcome and the 25-year-old Negro, who regained the title by knocking out Johansson in five rounds last June 20, told the crowd:

"I have never been received so warmly in my life nor could I have ever dreamed that this would happen to me."

Patterson, first heavyweight champion ever to regain the crown, was besieged with autograph seekers but didn't mind a bit.

"There are nearly eight million people in Sweden," he said, "but I will write my name for everybody if they want it."

"I'm also prepared to meet Ingemar anytime," he added, "my left hand is slightly bruised but otherwise I am in very fine form."

Missions Recapture 2nd In Texas League Chase

By United Press International

San Antonio edged Puebla 9-8 in Pan American Association action Wednesday night and climbed back into second place in the Texas League because Victoria split a doubleheader with Monterrey.

Monterrey won the opener 7-4, but the Rosebuds rebounded for a 7-2 nightcap win. Valley, Texas League leader, exploded for three runs in the sixth inning to come from behind and beat Veracruz 3-2 and give Tommy Bowers credit for his five-hitter.

In other games, Amarillo beat the Mexico City Red Devils 7-5. Poza Rica stopped Tulsa 3-2 and Austin skidded to scant percentage points away from the cellar-dwelling Gold Sox by losing a pair to the Mexico City Tigers 8-6 and 5-3.

San Antonio used five pitchers to hold down Puebla after the Missions exploded for seven runs in the third inning to capture a 9-0 lead. The Parrots bunched four runs in the bottom of the third, and kept single runs coming in later innings threatening to put the game into overtime.

Austin pitcher Ron LeMaster was injured in the eighth inning of the second game with the Tigers. He collided with Mexico

Vernon Law's gunning for a 25-victory season that would match the highest win total by a Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher in 58 years.

And that simple statement also explains why those amazing Pirates look like they just might breeze to their first National League flag in 33 years.

The Pirates slumped at mid-season when Law went into a temporary decline and the experts figured that some one of the other contenders would catch them with late drive. But now Law's back on the beam and the Pirates are whizzing along on a new drive that may soon have them out of reach.

Law extended his personal winning streak to five games and the Pirates' skein to seven games Wednesday night when he tossed a four-hit, 3-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs. It was the 13th game this season in which he has allowed two runs or less and raised his won-lost mark to 16-5—the best in the major leagues.

With a little less than a third of the season to go, Law can be the first Pittsburgh pitcher to win 25 games since Burleigh Grimes in 1928. Not since Jack Chesbro posted a 28-6 record in 1902 has a Pirate pitcher topped 25 victories but even that goal is not beyond the durable, finely-conditioned 200-pound right-hander.

The victory maintained the Pirates' five-game lead over the St. Louis Cardinals, who beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-5, in 10 innings. The Los Angeles Dodgers shaded the Milwaukee Braves, 3-2, and the Cincinnati Reds beat the San Francisco Giants, 5-3, in other NL games.

The New York Yankees retained their 1½-game American League lead with a 6-0 decision over the Chicago White Sox, the Baltimore Orioles dented the Detroit Tigers, 4-2, the Boston Red Sox topped the Cleveland Indians, 6-1, and the Kansas City Athletics routed the Washington Senators, 13-1.

The Pirates snapped a six-inning shutout when Dick Koenig walked Joe Cunningham with bases filled in the 10th. Lind Daniel, who shut out the Pirates for the last two innings, walked 10th game against three. Bill Skowron hit his 21st homer and Stan Musial tripled in St. Louis.

Stan Williams singled Frank Howard with the run gave him his 12th win for Dodgers and handed Lew Dettie his seventh defeat for Braves. Willie Jones' two pinch double capped a three-inning rally that sent the Reds to extend the losing streak to six games.

Bill Skowron hit his 21st homer and Stan Musial tripled in St. Louis.

Jackie Brandt, Dave Nicholson and Jim Gentile hit home runs for the Red Sox. Willie Williams pitched a shutout ball to win third game although Hoyt Hain finished up after Norm Homered for Detroit in the ninth.

Ted Williams hit the 512th homer of his career. Rookie Earl Wilson pitched a hit for the Red Sox. Willie Williams placed him third on all-time homer list behind Ruth (714) and Jimmy Foxx and raised his season total to 16. He also contributed a double and a two-run Red Sox rally in first inning.

Pittsburgh Steel Plant Idle As 300 On Strike

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation's sprawling Pittsburgh works remained idle as negotiations between the management of the Monongahela Connecting Railroad (Moncon) and representatives of 300 striking employees reached an impasse early today.

J&L's two plants here are dependent on Moncon, a subsidiary, for carrying material into the mills and raw steel out to connection points with major rail lines.

About 12,000 J&L steel workers were furloughed Wednesday morning at 7 a. m. when 21 consecutive hours of bargaining between Moncon officials and Brotherhood of

Indicted Cleric Now A Fugitive

EDINBURG, Tex. (UPI)—Dist. Atty. Robert Lattimore today ordered an all-out search for a fugitive Roman Catholic priest under indictment on charges of trying to rape a pretty, young college coed.

A grand jury Wednesday indicted the Rev. John B. Feit, 27, on a charge of attempted rape and Judge S. N. McWhorter issued a new warrant for his arrest.

"Now he is a fugitive," Lattimore said. "His attorney says he is deliberately keeping him out of the jurisdiction of the state."

Fred Semaan, a prominent San Antonio criminal lawyer, told Lattimore by telephone several days ago that he had placed Father Feit in an out-of-state hospital, and would surrender him in "about three weeks."

At that time, Lattimore said he wasn't worried about the whereabouts of Feit, because "all ports of exit" were closed to him, and the courts in Edinburg do not go back into session until September.

Father Feit has already been extensively questioned about the murder of Irene Garza, a school teacher who had won several beauty contests. She was kidnapped, raped and bludgeoned to death last Easter eve.

The murder occurred a short time after Maria Guerra, 20, a pretty Pan American College coed, said someone crept up behind her as she knelt to pray in a Catholic church at nearby McAllen, forced a handkerchief over her face and tried to rape her. She named Father Feit in a written statement.

Joy Riding Trio Killed

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI)—It took Mrs. Fletcher Moncrief more than an hour to identify her three children. She fainted each time she was asked to look at one of their broken bodies.

The three Moncrief children—Michael, 19, James, 14, and Carolyn June, 16—went "joyriding" Wednesday night in a borrowed Cadillac convertible with their cousin, Nancy Ann Easley, 15.

Nancy was believed to have been driving. I was traveling over 100 miles per hour on highway 70 three miles northeast of Hot Springs when the car suddenly passed a truck and went out of control.

The car skidded 100 feet along the shoulder of the road, whipped back across the pavement to the opposite shoulder and then smashed into a concrete bridge abutment.

When state trooper Glen Minton arrived, the three Moncrief children had been thrown out of the car and were dead. Nancy was pinned in the wreckage. She was still alive, but died within minutes.

Mrs. Dino Soncini, the wife of a wealthy Hot Springs businessman owned the car. She said she lent it to an 18-year-old boy who was a good friend of the family. He in turn lent it to the four victims.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—So far this year, the stock market appears to have acted in its time-honored role of forecasting future trends of general business, observes Thomson & McKinnon.

Most people have now come to the conclusion that extravagant earlier predictions about business are not going to be met—at least right away. The market seems to have known this for some time.

However, several factors seem to indicate that pessimism has become unduly widespread, at least in the stock market, the firm notes. Among these are the steady liquidation in credit, and the diminishing volume of liquidation on each decline.

Harsco Corp. will earn about $2.40 a share this year, virtually unchanged from 1959, according to a study by Ira Haupt & Co. The company's successful growth via numerous acquisitions can be seen through the 35 per cent rise in share earnings during the past five years and 16 per cent earned on invested capital last year.

Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co. says that whenever a situation seems undervalued by its statistical and fundamental market measurements, and if its technical pattern also indicates higher levels, the advice is to buy it and forget what the averages or other individual issues are doing at this time.

Prentice-Hall, Inc. reports that the stock market weakness suggests that the "scared" investment money is anticipating a business recession in 1961. More and more investment funds are being shifted into industry groups or specific situations regarded as less vulnerable to recession.

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. says the slow upward plodding of the list in the face of poor earnings reports and international developments would seem to indicate that the market has currently seen its worst and that higher prices are likely to be witnessed.

Funny Bone Hoax Told

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—Two young men touched off a "bone scare" Wednesday but then got worried when things got out of hand and confessed it was all a hoax.

The bones were discovered by workmen digging a ditch in front of William Tranquilli's home. The workers unearthed a human skull and other bone fragments.

Police were called to investigate thinking, perhaps, the bones were those of a long forgotten murder victim.

The find was dutifully reported by newspapers and radio stations across the state.

That's when Tranquilli, 20, and his buddy, Al Stephens, also 20, decided things had gotten out of hand.

"We didn't dig all this publicity" he said. "So we called up the papers and radio stations to let them in on it. But it was too late. They had gone to press and it was on the air."

Tranquilli also told police they didn't have to worry, either, because the bones were those of an Indian who probably lived hundreds of years ago and were unearthed in a state park many miles away.

"We just planted the bones in front of the house because we thought it would be funny to see what happened," Tranquilli said. "This didn't do anybody any good except the museum," he added. "They got an extra human skull they probably didn't need anyway."

New Type Zeus Missile Tested

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (UPI)—The Army successfully fired a radical new version of the Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile Wednesday as another step in preparation for eventual tests against Atlas ICBM's.

$10,000 House Gone To Dogs

DEVINE, Tex. (UPI)—Mrs. Robbie Hardcastle had a house. It's a $10,000 pile of debris today because a stray dog crawled underneath it.

Mrs. Hardcastle tried and tried to get the dog to come out Wednesday. Finally, she gave up and called the city.

Water Supt. Kurt Sollock and three other men came to help. They started pumping a spray of insecticide and diesel oil beneath the house. They thought the fumes would force the dog out.

Suddenly, the house blew up. Possibly a pilot light ignited the fumes. The blast scattered debris for 200 feet. The four men were knocked to their knees, but luckily they weren't seriously hurt. The house was described as a "total loss."

The dog? He survived. At last report he was howling somewhere underneath the rubble, and the men were still trying to get him out.

California Soprano To Star In 'Alcina'

DALLAS (Sp) — Blanche Thebom, mezzo-soprano star of the Metropolitan Opera Co., San Francisco Opera, London's Covent Garden and international concerts, will join the Dallas Civic Opera Co. in November to create the leading mezzo role of Ruggiero in Handel's "Alcina."

The American prima donna postponed a New York Carnegie Hall recital to come to Dallas to sing in the 18th century baroque opera which has never before been staged in America.

In the cast will be the new European diva, Joan Sutherland, making her first appearance in America in the title role of the temptress, Alcina. Franco Zeffirelli, director-designer of European opera and London's Old Vic, will direct, with Maestro Nicola Rescigno conducting.

Also signed by General Manager Lawrence Kelly for the "Alcina" cast is Joan Marie Moynagh, Irish-American lyric soprano, for the role of Alcina's sister, Morgano. Miss Moynagh, Massachusetts singer who received an award from Cardinal Spellman for study at Pius XII Institute in Florence, Italy, has sung in the Dublin, Yugoslavia, Santa Fe and San Francisco opera seasons, was chosen by Eugene Ormandy for the Worcester Music Festival, last season opened the New York City Handel Festival in Carnegie Hall, and this summer has been in Bogota, Colombia, for performances of "Messiah."

Financial Review

By HENRY J. BECHTOLD
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The two political parties are in agreement that vigorous economic growth is a must, but they differ in their ideas on how to accomplish it.

The Republicans say the main spring of this growth lies in the private sector of the economy. "The only effective way to accelerate economic growth is to increase... initiative and investment, productivity and efficiency," their platform says.

The Democrats have set a 5 per cent annual growth rate as imperative, but say it should reflect massive federal spending and other federal intervention in the economy.

The November elections will tell us which growth pattern we can expect to follow the next four or eight years, but meanwhile the tax foundation offers its solution to stimulate economic growth — tax reduction and tax reform.

The foundation notes that the big test over the next decade will be to create more than 13 million new jobs for our rapidly rising population.

Since industry invests about $13,000 per worker, it adds, the economic growth involves the provision and investment of nearly $200 billion of new private capital.

The only possible source for this huge sum, according to foundation chairman Roswell Magill, is savings from income received after taxes. "If taxes are too high, there can't be much money saved; new jobs can't be created."

But, he states, economic growth can be stimulated by a tax system that leaves private investors with enough savings and encouragement to promote vigorous private enterprise.

The biggest trouble-maker today, Magill asserts, is the income tax — individual and corporate. "When individual rates take up to 90 cents of an extra dollar of income with enough savings and encouragement to save money for investment in new enterprises that will create jobs."

The corporate income tax, which now takes up to 52 cents of every dollar of a company's profit, "is another serious obstacle to business growth," Magill says.

He adds that when the new Congress convenes next January, tax reduction and tax reform should be high on the list of priorities "if we really intend to remove the obstacles to creation of 13 million new jobs in the next 10 years."

There can be little argument about the need for economic growth; the big question is whether that growth should be government's chief responsibility or whether it should be left, as in the past, to our private economic system.

Socialite Kills Rich Husband At Houston

HOUSTON (UPI) — A wealthy Houston socialite described to police Wednesday how she sprayed five rifle bullets at her estranged husband when he broke into her family home in plush River Oaks Tuesday night.

One bullet hit William Harrison Furlong III, 38, just below the nose. He fell wounded on the carpet and died a half hour later in a Houston hospital.

A witness to the violence was 11-year-old Lynsey Green, Mrs. Furlong's daughter by a previous marriage. The 36-year-old daughter of a millionaire automobile dealer and cattleman had been married three times.

She had hired two off-duty policemen to protect the family from Furlong, but he ordered them to get out of the house earlier Tuesday night. He left after them, and then returned to break in to the house about 10:15 p.m.

Furlong kicked in the glass door of the patio of their fashionable two-story brick house and began to crawl in. Then Lynsey got one of several rifles in the house from her 15-year-old brother, the only other person in the house.

Lynsey told police that her mother grabbed the rifle out of her hands, and began firing at Furlong.

The woman was released by police after making a statement, and officers said the decision of whether to charge the slim brunette with murder will be taken straight to the Harris County grand jury.
