'Fight' To Defend West Berlin, Commanders Tell U.S. Troops

Orders Being Issued To 4,000 In Garrison

BERLIN (UPI) — The U.S. Army Saturday told its soldiers "to fight like hell" to defend West Berlin.

The virtual order of the 4,000 man U.S. garrison here to stand to the last man if necessary to fight for West Berlin was contained in instructions issued to troop commanders for a lecture to soldiers.

The soldiers who stand guard in this city 110 miles inside Communist territory will be told during the lectures next week "to fight like hell, if necessary, for U.S. rights and a free Berlin."

The GI's will have it impressed on them that if surrounding East German Communists overpower the 16,000-man West Berlin police force, Western allied troops will be called out to restore order.

The Army told its outpost garrison to realize that not only 2,200,000 West Berliners but the whole free world looks to it to defend Democracy.

Such lectures on current events are held for troops all over the world from time to time. The lectures were started during World War II but were given much greater stress after the Korean War showed that some soldiers were unaware of the meaning of the world struggle between freedom and Communism.

As part of this "troop information program," the Army has scheduled a special lecture for troops here called "Soldier, why are you in Berlin?"

The lecture was scheduled at this time because of renewed Communist threats against the city and charges that the Western Allies have forfeited their rights to remain here.

Rayburn Hits Ike's Legislation

'Utterly Amazed' At List's Length

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Speaker Sam Rayburn (Tex.) said Saturday it would take Congress "from now until Christmas" to pass all the legislation President Eisenhower requested in his message to Congress this week.

Rayburn said he was "utterly amazed" that the President would present such a long list of recommendations for major legislation.

The House speaker said it all proved that Eisenhower didn't know too much about the legislative process.

"It takes time to do anything in the Congress of the United States," Rayburn said.

The congressman said he would be "thankful" if Congress could wind up its work by Labor Day.

Rayburn also struck out at Republican charges that the Democrats are big spenders.

"During the last seven years of Mr. Truman's administration," he said, "we spent $335 billion and fought the Korean War that cost billions of dollars during that time."

"In seven years of Mr. Eisenhower, beginning in 1954, his administration has spent $499 billion — $164 billion more than the Democrats spent in the previous seven years."

5 Sailors Die In Explosion In Atlantic

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — An explosion in the aft engine room of the minesweeper U.S.S. Exultant killed five crewmen Friday night in a tragedy at sea 70 miles off the Georgia coast.

Fire following the explosion raged for an hour in holds of the ship, apparently fed by fuel oil leaking from blast-ruptured lines.

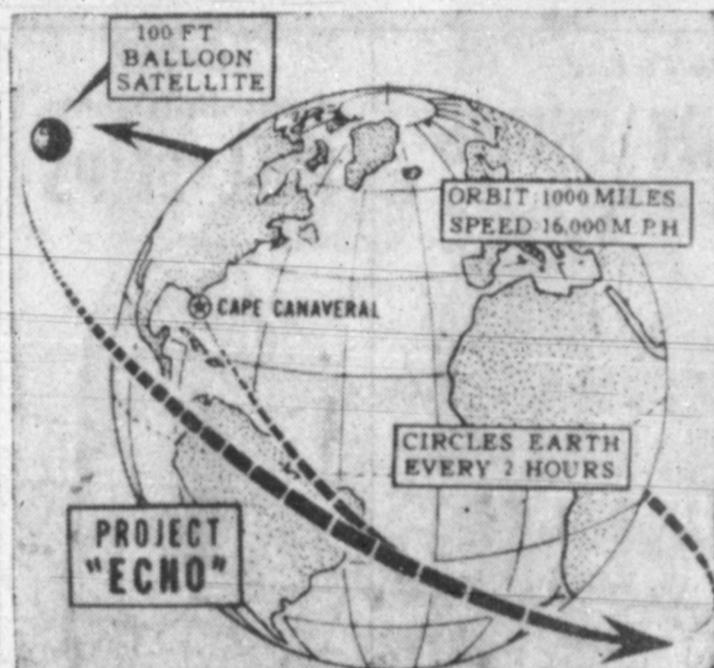

Crews from the Exultant and a sister minesweeper, U.S.S. Nimble, braved flames, smoke and fumes in narrow passageways to extinguish the fire.

The Navy had few details of the accident pending a shipboard investigation and inspection headed by Capt. W. E. Benbow, commander of Mine Squadron Eight, who went immediately from Charleston, S.C., and boarded the disabled sweeper.

The 165-foot vessel was under tow and was expected to be brought to Savannah early Saturday night.

The Navy withheld names of the crewmen killed pending notification of next of kin. It said there were no other casualties or injuries reported among the four officers and 60 crewmen aboard.

Globe-Circling 'Echo' Is Giant U.S. Step In Space

EXPECTED ORBIT — Newspaper spots the expected orbit of Echo I, a 10-story-tall "radio mirror" balloon that has been launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla. Designed as a forerunner to global communications network, the aluminum sphere will be the most brilliant object ever orbited by man. The 100-foot star will be brighter than the planet Venus and easily visible to earth bound men.

By ALVIN SPIVAK
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's new Echo satellite whizzed around the world every two hours Saturday charting new paths in communications progress for mankind.

The 10 story high "Radio Mirror" balloon, hailed by U.S. scientists as a step toward global television and inflated bases in space, chalked a series of new "firsts" to its credit.

The first simultaneous transmission — reception of recorded messages on a transcontinental bounceback from California to New Jersey.

The first live telephone conversation carried on coast to coast by way of the radio reflector 1,000 miles in space.

Both developments were announced by the Bell Telephone Laboratories at Holmdel, N. J., whose scientists conducted the experiments in conjunction with others at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Goldstone, Calif.

In addition, the Collins Radio Co., a Cedar Rapids, Iowa, electronics firm, said it used Echo to exchange radio messages with Alpha Corp., its subsidiary in Dallas, Tex.

Collins said it bounced "live voice test counts" off the aluminum-coated sphere to Alpha, 700 miles away, and Alpha sent back identical radio messages. Collins said this was the first north-south exchange via Echo.

The 100-foot wide satellite, its

9 Killed In 2-Car Crash

READING, Minn. (UPI) — Nine persons were killed and another was critically injured Saturday in a two-car collision which scattered bodies and wreckage for 100 yards and left 38 children motherless.

The two vehicles crashed on a straight stretch of highway near this southwestern Minnesota community.

The cars hit with such impact that one overturned and burned in a ditch and the other had its top sheared off.

Six of the victims were mothers and three were men. There were seven persons in one car and three in the other.

The seven in the one car, which had its top sliced off, were traveling to their homes in Wilmont after working all night at the Campbell Soup Co., at Worthington, Minn.

Six of the seven were killed. They were Mr. and Mrs. John Voss Jr., 42 and 39, Mrs. Matt Gerber, 56, Mrs. John Schroer, 39, Mrs. Ted Voss, 49, and Mrs. Larry Bunkers, 43. Mrs. Bunkers died a short while after the crash in a Worthington hospital. The seventh passenger, Mrs. Ernie Lueck, 36, was in critical condition at the Worthington hospital.

Three persons were killed in the second car, which overturned and burned.

The victims in the second car were Robert Joe Buchman, 21, Sibley, Iowa, Mrs. James Buckner, 20, Worthington, whose husband is based with the military police in Germany, and an unidentified person, who police said was badly charred. Buchman was the owner of the car, police said.

The victim was later identified as Jack Clark, 17, who would have been a senior in high school at Worthington next fall.

Safe Peeled At Bottling Plant; $1,574 Missing

Burglars peeled the safe at the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. early yesterday morning and made off with an estimated $1,574. It was the third time the firm's safe has been cracked in the past four years.

Robert Mack, manager of the bottling company, estimated that about $900 of the haul was in coins and the rest in cash, checks and charge tickets.

The burglary was discovered by James Quarry, an employee, when he reported to work about 6:50 a.m. Saturday.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan, chief deputy Shirley Nickols, and Police Captain Denny Roan, who assisted in the investigation, said the burglars had knocked the knob off the safe door and removed the pin from the lock to gain entry. They found the tools used near the building.

"I don't know whether it was a professional job or not," Jordan said. "But it was a clean one."

Jordan said he and Nickols were unable to find any finger prints in the office or on the rear door, where the burglars gained entry.

"Whoever did it was definitely wearing gloves," Jordan said.

He also noted that evidence led him to believe the safe job was done between 2 and 4 a.m.

U.S. Gives 'Boot' To Russ Official

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States Saturday ordered a Soviet Embassy first secretary out of the country on charges he paid a young American citizen — now a self-styled Nazi — to try for a federal job.

The State Department said the official, Valentin M. Ivanov, "grossly violated the established norms of diplomatic behavior."

The department did not elaborate on its charges regarding Ivanov's relationship with the American, Roger C. Foss. But Foss said in a published interview he understood that Ivanov wanted him to act as a "sleeper agent" in a government post.

Police Lt. D. L. Day checked the plant around 1:20 a.m. while he was on routine patrol, but found nothing amiss.

Although the area is outside the city limits, Day said the police check it nightly as an aid to county officers.

Jordan said five money bags and a desk drawer were used to carry away the loot.

Lumumba Threatens Crisis U.N. Forces Relieve Belgians In Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE (UPI) — Swedish soldiers of the United Nations forces began relieving the Belgian Army in rebellious Katanga Province Saturday. Premier Patrice Lumumba of the Congo immediately threatened another crisis by demanding that all white troops leave the Congo at once.

The agreement to relieve Belgian troops was worked out by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and Katanga President Moise Tshombe in two days of talks in this tense city while Katanga police broke up anti-Tshombe demonstrations.

A series of announcements by Hammarskjold and Tshombe said the Swedes took over guard duties at the airport at 5 p.m. (11 a.m. edt) and that other U.N. troops would arrive on Monday and Tuesday to complete the takeover ordered by the Security Council.

The new contingents will be Irish and Ethiopian — half white and half Negro.

Defiant statements by Tshombe here and by Lumumba, in Leopoldville, showed that the Congolese crisis was far from ended. Tshombe said the actions made it clear that Katanga Province, which "seceded" from the Congo on July 11, would be able to maintain its independence.

Gordon Carey, field director for CORE, said about 30 "participants" from throughout the nation will attend. He said they will hear lectures, and take part in discussions on CORE's principles of non-violent demonstrations.

Carey said the participants, many of whom are college students, also may stage some sit-in demonstrations at segregated Miami lunch counters.

Sit-In's School Set

MIAMI (UPI) — A training institute for anti-segregation demonstrators will begin here Sunday.

The institute is held annually by the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

The Rev. Martin Luther King of Atlanta, well-known crusader for civil rights, was scheduled to appear during the institute. Leaders said today, however, that they were not certain when he would arrive.

Gordon Carey, field director for CORE, said about 30 "participants" from throughout the nation will attend. He said they will hear lectures, and take part in discussions on CORE's principles of non-violent demonstrations.

Carey said the participants, many of whom are college students, also may stage some sit-in demonstrations at segregated Miami lunch counters.

'One Father To Another' Tearful Powers Pleads To 'K' On Behalf Of Son

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI) — The sobbing father of U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers pleaded with Premier Nikita Khrushchev Saturday "as one father to another" to save his boy—"The son of a working-man from a plain American family."

Oliver Powers made his tearful appeal at a news conference as it was disclosed that the Soviet government has ruled out any American interview with the accused pilot—even by his family—until after his spy trial.

The defendant's wife, Mrs. Barbara Powers, flew into Moscow Saturday only hours after her father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mrs. Ida Powers had arrived for the trial of the pilot scheduled to begin Wednesday.

The pilot's wife brushed aside newsmen at the airport, explaining she was "awfully tired." She had told a correspondent on the plane trip from Brussels: "The first thing I want to do is to see my husband, and then Mrs. Khrushchev."

Powers' father, a shoe repairman and ex-coal miner from Virginia, broke into tears as he told newsmen of the emotional appeal he had written to the Soviet premier on a piece of hotel stationery. He said he was trying to contact Khrushchev in hope of arranging a personal interview Monday.

The elder Powers spoke to Soviet and Western newsmen in the lobby of the Sovietskaya Hotel. At first he muttered that he was not sure he wanted to read the statement. His voice was low and his words broken.

Powers spoke with newsmen some five hours after he and his wife arrived aboard a British airliner, accompanied by Mrs. Powers' physician, Dr. Lewis Inggram, and a family friend, Sol Curry.

Nixon Doesn't Favor Ike's Farm Policies

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon admitted Saturday night that he and President Eisenhower have not seen eye to eye on farm policy for several years.

"Now that I am a candidate in my own right, I will urge my own approach," Nixon said in a televised news conference. "The agricultural views I have been urging have not been adopted by the administration."

However, he said, "there are no differences once a policy has been adopted" and added that he had not objected publicly to the President's defense of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's policies.

Nixon said it will be the same way if he is elected, policy differences will be argued within the administration but a solid front will be presented once a policy is set.

Nixon also said he would not try to duck responsibility for major administration decisions, both in foreign policy and otherwise; because, "I do not take the position that I am not a part of the administration."

Nixon's press conference climaxed a one-day invasion of normally Republican Maine in his direct assault on the backyard bedrock strength of his Democratic opponent, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

A holiday-mood crowd of more than 100,000, described by Police Chief Leon T. Webber as the biggest for any event in the history of this city of 80,000, lined the sun-warmed streets and crowded a big city stadium to see Nixon and his wife, Pat, and to hear the GOP presidential nominee speak briefly.

Before leaving Washington at noon by chartered airliner, Nixon conferred for half an hour by telephone with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who is vacationing at Seal Harbor, Maine, a long drive from Portland. Rockefeller urged that both Nixon and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, begin their bids for New York's 45 electoral votes as soon as possible.

Vast Changes In Social Security Law Urged By Senate Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee Saturday approved legislation calling for sweeping changes in the Social Security law affecting millions of elderly men and women.

It voted to let men collect retirement benefits at age 62 instead of 65 and also to raise from $1,200 to $1,800 a year the amount of personal income both men and women receiving Social Security benefits can earn.

But the committee refused to pass a politically-hot medical care for the aged program under Social Security. Instead it offered a compromise closer to a more modest program already approved by the House.

The lower retirement age for men, like the present system for women, would be entirely voluntary and would not increase the Social Security tax for either employers or employees.

A man could choose a reduced benefit for life, starting at age 62, or wait until his 65th birthday and draw a full benefit. He also could retire, with a smaller benefit cut, at any time between 62 and 65.

About 1,800,000 men now between the ages of 62 and 65 would become eligible for benefits immediately if Congress approved the lower retirement age.

The committee's action is subject to approval by the Senate, where a full-scale battle is in store over the medical aid issue. There were no immediate indications of general Senate sentiment over the age change, or whether the House would go along with this and other revisions of the Social Security bill.

Benefits for men retiring on their 62nd birthday would be cut to 80 per cent of the amount they would receive at 65. The benefit would be increased five-ninths of one per cent for each month between 62 and 65 that they wait to begin drawing payments.

Congress lowered the retirement age for women to 62 in 1956 but only about half of those eligible have decided to take the reduced benefits.

While going along with the House provisions for federal-state medical aid to needy persons over 65, the committee bill also would provide increased federal payments to states for health care an estimated 2.4 million persons on old age assistance.

NASA issued slightly modified figures Saturday placing the satellite's orbit at a range of 945 to 1,049 miles from earth and its speed at 15,975 miles an hour, carrying it around the world once every 118.3 minutes.

The 137-pound "Echo I," launched Friday, was given a bi-partisan tone in the simultaneous coast-to-coast transmission and reception of messages during the satellite's 11th pass over this country at 3:07 a.m. edt.

Echo's success was but one of several American space achievements in the last several days, a period which the Air Force said Friday encompassed its "biggest 24 hours in missile-space history."

An Air Force plane brought the "Lucky 13" Discoverer satellite capsule here Saturday for President Eisenhower to see at the White House Monday. The capsule plucked out of the Pacific Ocean Thursday night, was the first-man-made object ever retrieved from a space orbit.

A few hours after the Echo I success, Air Force Maj. Bob White steered an X15 rocket ship to an altitude of almost 25 miles, higher than man has ever flown.

In the struggle, Fenton told police, he struck the child's head on the horn ring of the car. He then threw her body in the pond.

Rattlesnake Rattles Pampan

A found one-half foot short rattlesnake literally rattled a local resident out of his wits Friday evening.

Alwin Traylor, an employee of Phillip's Petroleum Co., was walking beside the railroad tracks adjoining Hobart St. Park when he saw the reptile, coiled and ready to strike.

Traylor took off.

"I was going to get something to eat. He was right under my feet when I saw him. I ran over and got a fellow who went back with me to where I'd seen it. The thing was still there, and he shot it," said Traylor.

"Boy, I was scared," said the visibly shaken Pampan, as he cast a final look at the then harmless eight-rattled reptile.

Charlie Harris of Pampa underwent surgery Thursday for a dislocated hip.

The other victim, Mrs. Curtis Steward of Oklahoma City, suffered several fractured ribs and another fractured bone in her left leg. She is being held for treatment at the hospital.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Wilks and N. Hobart at 11:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Steward, driving north on Hobart in a 1959 Chevrolet, went through the intersection on the wrong side of the street and plowed head-on into a 1956 Ford driven by Harris.

Sending A Boy Off To College First Time Takes Arranging

By LEE GRIMSLEY
Daily News Staff Writer

It's always an occasion to remember, getting a son ready for college for the first time. And if he happens to have a scholarship, it would seem that all of the parents financial problems are solved. But Mrs. Sharon Haralson will disagree — especially after she has spent the summer getting her 18-year-old son, Terry Joe, ready to enroll at the University of Arizona. "I'm sewing on name tags and stamping his name in shirts," Mrs. Haralson said. "I told Sharon yesterday that I didn't realize Terry Joe had so many clothes. But, according to Mrs. Haralson, putting name tags in clothes and getting them washed and ironed, isn't half the job. "It's a big job getting various papers in order," she said. "You have to have a permit to let him drive the car so that no one will throw him in the 'jug' if he is asked to show ownership papers on his car. "And there's insurance papers to cover clothes, typewriters, golf clubs and things like that. "This all is involving a little more work than I thought." Mrs. Haralson admits, though, that her husband lends a big helping hand in the ordeal. "He's furnishing all the money it takes," she said. The Haralsons have another son, 16-year-old Randy, who will be a junior at Pampa High School this year, and probably will see a lot of action for the football team. Terry Joe will play for the University of Arizona this fall, and has played for three years with the Harvesters.

Mrs. Haralson is one mother who is glad her son is going out of state to college. "I'd a lot rather see him go there where he can't come home every week or so," she said. "Of course I'll miss him, but he'll have to stay at school instead of coming home all the time, and he'll have a better chance to study and make a success of college."

Evangelist Is Kiwanis Speaker

The Key Club deserves the full support of Kiwanis International, Rev. Lewis H. Stuckey Jr. told the local Kiwanis Club at its noon luncheon meeting Friday. Rev. Stuckey, pastor of the Methodist Church in St. Jo, Texas, is delivering the messages at the Pampa Revival which ends tonight. "The support of the Key Club is worthwhile," Rev. Stuckey said, "even if it takes all of your time and efforts." Rev. Stuckey made frequent references to the Key Club's tremendous growth in recent years. It now numbers some 80,000 members, he said. "When the Key Club was first formed, Kiwanis International thought it would be a pet child project," Rev. Stuckey commented. "But it has passed that stage now — it is conceivable that in the future it will be equal in size to Kiwanis International." Rev. Stuckey also praised the work of young people's organizations in the various churches here in staging the religious rally which is now in process. "I had one young man ask me why it took the youth organizations of 12 churches to work for Jesus Christ," Rev. Stuckey said. "I couldn't answer him without being a little bit ashamed."

Proposal Defeated

Wheeler County residents have voted down a proposal to combine the tax collector and the sheriff's offices. The vote, 454 to 103, included ballots from 14 voting sites and 12 absentee ballots. "Shoot! I don't worry," Mrs. Haralson said. "Before a game I always tell them to go out there and get with it. "Deep down, though, I guess I do worry some. But I try not to show it."

ALL WORK, AND MONEY TOO — Mrs. Sharon Haralson is a busy woman. In addition to trying to get her son, Terry Joe, ready to go to the University of Arizona, she also helps her husband, a Pampa gasoline distributor. (Daily News Photo.)

Department Of Public Safety Is Marking 25th Anniversary

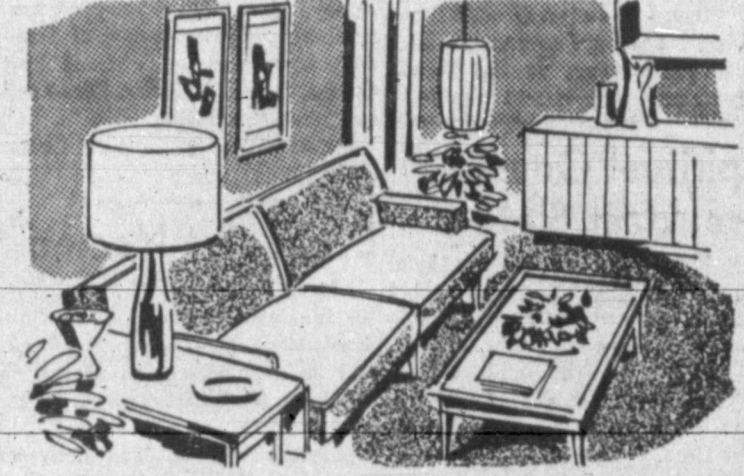

The Texas Department of Public Safety this week marked its 25th anniversary as the state agency responsible for the enforcement of laws protecting the public safety and providing for the prevention and detection of crime in Texas. Governor Price Daniel congratulated Col. Homer Garrison Jr., department director, and employees of the department upon the occasion. The governor said: "Texas' Department of Public Safety in its first 25 years has become one of the outstanding law enforcement agencies in the world. Much of the credit should go to Col. Garrison who has directed the department for 22 years. I congratulate Col. Garrison, his staff and all members of the department on this 25th anniversary. Garrison, who was assistant director for the first three years before being named director, said: "All of us who have been concerned with the public safety in Texas are proud of the strides that have been taken in state law enforcement and the regulation of the traffic flow in our state since the inception of the department, Aug. 10, 1935. "However, we face much the same challenges we did 25 years ago — a relatively small force to combat increasing crime and traffic accidents due to ever-changing techniques and population increases. Garrison pointed out that the DPS in its first year had the task of patrolling some 20,000 miles of rural highways with a force of 140 patrolmen; while in 1960 it is responsible for 53,000 miles of rural highways with 773 patrolmen. "Statistically speaking," he said, "this would mean that in 1935 we had one patrolman for every 145 miles of highway, and in 1960 we have one patrolman for approximately 70 miles of highway. "While this would appear to be an improved situation, however, it is completely offset when it is considered that there were less than a million and a half vehicles on the road then — compared with four and a half million today," he concluded.

Nine Cases Of 'Red Nose' Found

Nine cases of red nose, a virus-type disease that affects cattle, have been found by one Pampa veterinarian following a report from other veterinarians here that they had not come in contact with the disease in recent months. Dr. T. J. Worrell said these cases have resulted in loss of two calves. In each case, he said, the cattle had recently been purchased and had been in feed lots — places where the disease usually breaks out. The doctor said the disease is "hard to treat" and that treatment takes from one week to 10 days.

Don't Be Afraid To Use Color!

Color can work decorating magic for you! And the wonderful thing about it is that you don't have to be a magician to use it. The great beauty of nature that exalts us is largely the beauty of color. Yellow is the color of the sun — bright and cheerful. Red is intense heat — when modified it produces cozy warmth, or exciting drama. Blue is peaceful — gives a restful effect. Green is the garment of growing things — it is tranquil and alive. All other hues are the result of combinations of these basic colors. When you plan your color scheme, determine right off what you want color to "do" in your room: Do you want it to add or diminish light? Must it stimulate or relax? Add a sense of greater spaciousness to a small room, or contribute coziness to a large one? The answers to these and other questions will dictate which colors to use. The simplest color scheme of all — the monochromatic scheme — was chosen for the room sketched above. Varying shades of beige walls are tinged with yellow have been used throughout. Beige walls are tinged with yellow to give the effect of sunlight in a room of northern exposure. Golden brown upholstery fabrics and the soft patina of the hand-rubbed wood finishes add richness. An interplay of textures keeps the room from being monotonous. We all respond emotionally to color. That's why the colors you are to live with are of primary importance to you. If you would like some professional advice on how to choose and combine the right colors for your home, come in and consult with our trained decorators. Anytime.

Parents Have A Responsibility To Prepare A Child For School

By VIRGINIA IRWIN
Daily News Staff Writer

Entering school is an exciting adventure for a six-year-old child, and it is one of the biggest steps in his young life. But it will be a smoother journey if the child has been properly prepared.

Of course, this preparation must begin when the child is still an infant," said Mrs. Floyd Smith, who has been a first grade teacher for about 15 years and who now teaches at Lamar Elementary School.

Education starts at home. Adjustments for school must begin in the younger years. An attitude must be established that school is pleasant, and that the child will make new friends and have fun in school," said Mrs. Smith.

Another elementary school teacher mentioned that today the predominant feeling is that school is simply something that has to be endured.

"It is no longer the privilege that used to be," she said.

Mrs. Smith continued, "A child should have a feeling of confidence and security when he enters school. The best way to produce this is for the child to live in an atmosphere of love, kindness and friendship. Emotional adjustment is also very important. In my experience, I've found that the lack of love between parents is the largest factor in any problem I've had with a child's emotions."

A few other things that Mrs. Smith mentioned that should be done throughout the pre-school years are:

- Develop a reading readiness in the child by helping him pick out and discuss interesting things in pictures and by having both parents read stories to him often.
- Arouse the child's curiosity and broaden his experiences by taking him to the zoo, park and other such places.
- Try to answer all questions the child asks, and answer them in terms he can understand.

Be consistent in treating all problems.

"There are some things that can be done within a year before the child begins school," said Mrs. Smith.

Here are a few:

- Make sure your child can play and get along with others, that he knows how to give and take. Have him spend several hours every day away from home and parents before he starts to school.
- A child must respect authority before entering school.
- He should be taught a degree of independence: Can care for his own possessions, put on own coat, boots, etc., has good toilet habits, and knows way to and from school.
- Teach your child good grooming. Get him up early enough for a good breakfast and to dress neatly.
- A child should be able to listen while another is speaking and to answer in sentences.
- Label all belongings of child.
- Teach him to be cheerful.
- "Above all," said Mrs. Smith, "parents should ask themselves if they are ready for "Junior" to go to school."

"Parents must be willing for their child to grow up. Entering school is really the first step in growing up. The must be willing to share the child with someone else. They must help their child to like his teacher if he doesn't and accept the responsibility to cooperate with the child, teacher and school."

"Parents must realize that Junior isn't necessarily the genius they think he is. Of course, there are two extremes here. Some parents don't care at all, won't help the child and don't encourage him. Others push too hard and try to force the child too far."

Teachers have an adjusting problem too. They must get used to a different group each year. They must learn how to handle a child. And, especially when grades come out, they must cooperate with the parents.

"We want to talk and discuss problems with the parents," said Mrs. Smith. "During the first two weeks of school, the children attend school only one-half day. The other half, the teachers spend visiting each child's home. This is the time to tell and discuss specific problems. Many times I have found that if I had been told certain things at this time, many later problems could have been alleviated."

"We are more than willing to talk with parents anytime. But they should know their child, learn his capacities, work with and help him and be willing to cooperate with all involved."

Mrs. Smith suggested a pamphlet that parents can send for and which she says could be very helpful. It is Pamphlet No. 108, reprint of 1953 and can be obtained from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Office of Education, Washington, D.C. England, the Deep South, the

Highway Network Frauds Hearing Being Postponed

By DAVID BURNHAM
WASHINGTON (UPI) — House investigators have put off until after the November election further hearings on possible fraud in the multi-billion dollar super-highway program.

Chairman John A. Blatnik, D-Minn., of the investigating subcommittee told United Press International today that the hearings were being delayed to avoid any charges of politicking.

He said he had scheduled at least three hearings between Thanksgiving and Christmas plus a closed-door subcommittee briefing for Aug. 24.

Blatnik said the briefing would bring members up to date on the subcommittee's widespread investigation and grant formal approval for the three post-election hearings.

He refused to pinpoint the states involved in fall inquiries. But it was known that staff investigators have been working in New Southwest and Midwest. The subcommittee several months ago exposed a $500 million scandal in the construction of an interstate highway by-pass around Tulsa, Okla. The disclosure prodded the Bureau of Public Roads to revamp its inspection procedures on state-operated construction jobs.

But Blatnik said, "We think there is still a serious lack of supervision and control by the bureau in almost every section of the country."

He indicated the subcommittee investigators had collected evidence of fraud and collusion between state officials and contractors in many parts of the country. Among the types of fraud discovered by the subcommittee, Blatnik said, were collusion among bidding contractors, undetected faulty workmanship, malpractices in buying land and unusually high fees for consulting engineers.

13 Accidents In County During July

Nine injuries and $4,612 in damages resulted from 13 accidents in Gray County during July, Texas Department of Safety, Region Five, Lubbock, reports.

There were no deaths, according to Sgt. E. G. Albers, State Highway Patrol supervisor for this area.

This hiked the year's total to one death, 75 injuries and $70,232 damages for the first seven months.

Speed was the deciding factor in a vast majority of these accidents, St. Albers pointed out, saying "Slow it down. Leave a little earlier. Start in ample time to arrive at your destination as planned, allowing time for delays along the way."

Texas CROP Meet Tuesday

H. M. Nichols, assistant director of the Texas Christian Rural Overseas Program, will direct a meeting of the Gray County organization at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the First Methodist Church here.

All ministers and laymen are invited to attend. Paul R. Bowers, county CROP chairman, said the goal is to have every church in the county represented at the meeting.

A film will be shown emphasizing the need for overseas relief through the use of a church world service. A discussion will follow.

CROP has been aiding refugees and disaster areas, said Bowers.

"CROP is a Christian approach toward caring for the needy. Economically, it is a sound way to move surplus and other products. These people use the food to keep themselves free and to help themselves become self-sustaining again," Bowers noted.

Brigitte Bardot Has Lost That Certain Something

By ROSETTE HARGROVE, Newspaper Enterprise Assn. PARIS (NEA) — Everything's going wrong for Brigitte Bardot. She can't seem to lead the life of an ordinary young French woman even though she has tried. Every place she goes, she's hounded. Every word she says is interpreted. Such are the problems of the sex symbol of the 19th Century, the gal with enough money to "retire" at 25, France's top ranked motion picture star. She wasn't doing badly until he got tied up with her husband Jacques Charrier, 24, who tied her own to a wedding ring. Almost from the moment they wed, there have been rumors of a crackup in BB's marriage.

go on living with him. Why does the public want us to divorce? Why can't we be left alone? Shades of G G (Greta Garbo)! Even Raoul Levy, producer of her latest film, "La Verite," (The Truth) couldn't seem to leave them alone. He chased the jealous Charrier off the set. Charrier wound up in the hospital again for hibernating cure. "Whatever Jacques does is wrong," says loving wife BB. "But what can I do to stop all these absurd rumors about me? The coalmad down the street can say he is my lover — what is to prevent people from thinking it is true?"

But it is not true. Actually BB has great devotion and infinite patience toward Charrier.

Aside from her marital troubles, detractors also harp on her financial skill. The highest paid star in France for the last five years, BB reputedly pinches her pennies while making shrewd investments.

Do TV Commercials Project The Image Admen Strive For?

By WARD CANNEL, Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — As every body knows, it is the commercial that pays for the TV program. But does the commercial pay for itself? Do we look, listen and buy the way we're supposed to, considering the expensive thinking, meticulous research and tediously correct process that the advertising agencies pour into the TV sales pitch? Well, there seems to be some doubt — or at least some question — if you take a look at a few items commonly believed on Madison Ave. and a few recent questions still unanswered.

BB is looking for something in "The Truth."

Do TV Commercials Project The Image Admen Strive For?

Item: Thank heaven for the kiddies. They remember your sales message, your story line, the name of your brand far more than adults do. On the other hand, surveys find, a message from Nutsy-Cream Chocolates makes the kids want candy all right. But who says it's Nutsy-Cream they ask for?

German peace group was published by the Soviet Tass news agency, which said, "Khrushchev points out that so far, all our efforts to achieve disarmament have not met with the proper understanding on the part of the Western leaders."

Do TV Commercials Project The Image Admen Strive For?

Then how is it that a survey by adman Mike Mooney turns up "too many people for sponsor comfort" who say without hesitation that comedian Jack Benny is sponsored by Jello and emcee Ed Sullivan is sponsored by Lincoln - Mercury? This hasn't been true in either case for years and years. Item: If as much consumer research and depth interviewing went into program planning as goes into ad campaigns, the TV lineup might look a lot different. Then how is it that you can make a telephone spot-check and get numbers of people to say they are faithful viewers of a certain show — even though it's been off the air for a couple of years? Item: At any given moment — now, tomorrow, next week — TV admen are bringing their "years of experience and skill" to land any number of new accounts. Then why is it that sponsors change agencies? Or that a program can be top-rated while its sponsoring product's sales fall? Commercial fail in the presentation. The proof comes out of long-term series of controlled viewer responses to commercials conducted by the Scherwin Research Corp. and reported in its monthly bulletins. Item: The most frequently depicted figure in commercials is a mother — fixer, feeder, purchaser, nurse, healer, washer, mender, sweetheart, companion — sometimes harried, but always saved by the Right Product at the Right Time. But just let the little woman be shown — as she often is — confronted by drudgery like unwashed clothes or by maternal incompetence like sickly children BEFORE she discovered Wheaton, and wham! — the commercial flops. On the other hand, let her be the super-efficient find-of-all-trades, Scherwin has found, and not only will she resent it, but so will her husband. Item: The battle of the sexes has always been an eye-catcher. But if she wins, he won't like the commercial. If he wins, she good, if it's a stand-off, what good is your pitch? Item: Love, properly applied, exerts a strong influence on viewers. But what is the proper application? Most of the time the man's got to do the pursuing or the ladies object. But if you're trying to reach the men, the women have to do the chasing. And where does

Prince At Helm Of Laos Rebels

TOKYO (UPI)—Radio Peiping in its first mention of the uprising in Laos said Thursday night the Laos revolutionary committee has appointed Prince Souvanna Phouma as prime minister of the new revolutionary government.

Phouma, until recently Laotian ambassador to Paris, is a leader of the conservative Laotian Peoples Assembly and, has advocated neutrality in Laotian foreign policy. In November 1957 he helped form a coalition government with Communist Pathet Lao rebels.

Peiping quoted the Vientiane, Laos, radio as saying the appointment of Phouma as premier followed a conference called by Laotian paratrooper Capt. Kong Lae, leader of the revolutionary committee, of general staff and national assembly representatives.

Hepatitis Noted In City Area

Polio showed a marked decline in Texas during the first half of 1960, but infectious hepatitis soared, the State Department of Health, reports. Polio cases totaled 25, for the first 25 weeks compared to 101 cases for the same period last year. Infectious hepatitis cases reached 1,191 during the 25-week span, more than double the amount (566) for the last five years. It was pointed out that the disease rise is nationwide, and that in it has been noted in certain sectors.

Infectious hepatitis is hard to combat, local doctors point out. The virus has not been isolated and many facets of the disease are not known, they explained. Pampa and the Panhandle area have not escaped this disease. One local physician said, "We've had one to two patients hospitalized all the time during the last several months." Some of this rise, he explained, can be attributed to the fact that doctors now recognize the disease more quickly than in the past. However, he said, this does not take away from the fact that the disease is on the upswing. Difficulties in ascertaining the disease early are posed by signals that usually accompany the common cold: lassitude and fatigue. It affects the liver and can be noted by soreness over the liver, and, as it progresses, a yellowness in the eyes.

"This would lead one to believe this is yellow jaundice. However, it affects the patient differently and should not be construed as such," he pointed out. Bed rest has proved to be the best method to combat it, the doctor noted, saying he has found this to be true in patients he has treated. The disease is very debilitating and convalescence is slow. There is no specific treatment, but it has been shown that immune globulin is successful in preventing the disease in close contacts, the health department advised. There are various ideas on how the disease is transmitted, ranging from chronic carriers to minute quantities of blood by injection. But, the department says, these are not definite.

Colts Issue Warning To NFL

Jerry Pope said it at breakfast yesterday morning: "That Ray Berry just isn't real." And, after watching the star Baltimore Colt end perform against the College All-Stars on television Friday night, we'd have to agree. Berry made one spectacular play during the game when he speared a pass from Johnny Unitas in the end zone with one hand.

However, Berry stepped out of the end zone a split second before he gained control of the ball, and the play was nullified.

Ex-Harvester Played A Lot

It seemed that Baltimore Coach Weeb Ewbank might have known there would be a large television following of the game in Pampa, for he kept ex-harvester Harold Lewis in the lineup for a large portion of the game.

Lewis subbed for both starting halfbacks — Lennie Moore and Alex Hawkins — but since the Colts kept to the air lanes most of the game, he carried the ball only once for three yards.

Don Meredith, SMU's answer to Doak Walker, appeared to be awfully cool during the game, especially when you consider the size of the Colt defensive line that was chasing him.

Meredith was only trapped a few times on passing attempts, although he was rushed hard every time he rolled out. The rest of the time he led the Colts a merry chase in the backfield before he finally got rid of the ball.

Wanted Pronto: One Ref

Anything can happen in football department: When the Baltimore Colts and College All-Stars came out for the start of the second half, the ball was put in position for the kickoff, but nothing happened.

The players began walking around the field, talking to each other, for a short time before the reason for the delay was discovered.

One of the officials was late in getting back on the field.

The announcer, who had been trying to explain the delay, commented: "I'd have named a hundred reasons for the delay without ever thinking of that one."

'Player Of The Decade'

Williams Still On Top

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Ted Williams was named "Player of the Decade" Saturday by the Sporting News.

The national baseball weekly announced that the Boston Red Sox star, who at 41 is the oldest player in the major leagues, received almost no opposition. Selection was made by veteran players and sports writers in various major league cities.

Stan Musial was the first to receive the award. He won it in 1955 over such players as Williams, Joe DiMaggio and Bob Feller.

J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of The Sporting News, announced that the 1960 award to Williams covered the past five years.

From now on, he said, the award will be made every 10 years.

Williams has been plagued since 1956 by illness and injury, just as he has throughout most of his major-league career, but he came through with two batting titles.

In 1957 he hit .388, the highest in either league since he hit .406 in 1941, his third season in the majors. In 1958 he started out slowly but came from behind in an exciting race with teammate Pete Runnels to take the title with a .328 mark.

Roberts Named Buff Assistant

CANYON (UPI)—John Roberts, a Stillwater, Okla., product who played his college football at Texas Tech, has been named to the coaching staff at West Texas State College.

Head Coach Joe Kerbel announced the selection of Roberts, who served as assistant freshman coach at Texas Tech last season, his first following graduation. He became the fourth aide hired by Kerbel.

Ford Fires Three-Hitter At Senators

Like the television announcer said: "These other National Football League coaches are probably sweating right now after seeing how sharp the Colts look."

Unitas turned in a highly creditable performance, completing 14 of 24 passes, three of them for touchdowns. This was the Baltimore golden boy's 38th straight game in which he has connected for at least one scoring try.

Another impressive performance was turned in by Billy Pricer, the former Oklahoma fullback who subs for Alan Ameche, a Colt starter. Pricer—displayed dazzling speed for a fullback and ripped off 42 yards in eight carries.

Pro Shoots A Record 61

A new course record of 61 was posted Friday by Pampa Country Club professional Hart Warren, who capped his effort with a 20-foot chip-in with a six iron from the edge of the 18th green.

Warren gave par a fit. He chipped 10 strokes off the 'goal' score of 71 in pitching and putting his way to a 31 on the front nine, and climaxing the tour with a bristling 30.

A Liberal, Kan., visitor, Tommy Greer, said of Warren's performance: "I've never seen anything like it. I shot a 71 (par for the course) and he splattered me 10 strokes."

Warren was beside himself with his effort. "I've been a professional for 15 years. I've never had a hole-in-one, but this compensates for that."

With that L. L. Garren, one of the four who witnessed Warren's feat made one of the understatement of the year: "Boy, I'd say it oughta!"

Included in Warren's efforts were 10 birdies, no bogies and a near-unbelievable 23 putts.

The Pampa pro opened up as if he was to have a day for himself. He started with birdie, birdie, par, birdie, and closed out the first nine with two more birdies and three pars.

This gave him a chance to snap the nine-year-old record of 62 posted by Dick Turner, San Angelo Country Club pro, in 1951, and he was quick to capitalize on it with his eye-popping 30.

"The guy was fantastic. He fired 'em in from all over," said Jim Deaton, the third of four golfer, who played with Warren.

The other member, Tommy Adkins, pointed out the amazing long putts and consistency off the tee by Warren.

"Just get this: He was in the rough twice, and dropped in putts of more than 15 or 20 feet on Nos. 1, 11 and 12. The rest were darn near 'gimmies,'" said Adkins with a shake of his head.

Ironic though it may seem, Warren's playing partners had respectable scores. Greer finished with a par 71; Garren posted a 75; Deaton a 74, and Adkins had 75. But it was as they said — they were never in the chase.

Warren, but you'd never believe it, had had luck on several holes. He lipped the cup on three different occasions and, as his playing partners agreed, could have gotten home with a 58 or 59.

The veteran golfer, busy in the midst of preparations for the Top O' Texas tourney slated at the 6,287-yard course Sept. 2-5, was understandably posting his best score ever. He did notch a 64 some time list at 150. But he agreed that this figure could be topped.

The tourney, a medal play affair of 72 holes in the championship flight, is expected to attract golfers from throughout the state.

Qualification will be held Friday, Sept. 2, with title play Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

A $50 prize is attached to the medalist for each day's play, with appropriate awards going to the winner and runner-up of the President's division, a 36-hole event.

Top O' Texas Golf Tourney Set Sept. 2

Some 150 to 160 entries are expected for the 28th annual Top O' Texas Golf Tournament scheduled at the Pampa Country Club, Sept. 2-5.

Malcolm Douglas, city golf champion and tournament director, said he thought that, "since we've been contracted by a number of people who have never played the course before, I'd say 160 entries wouldn't be too far off."

Pro Hart Warren saw the entry list at 150. But he agreed that this figure could be topped.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees protected their slim first-place margin by beating the Washington Senators, 1-0, Saturday on Whitey Ford's three-hit pitching, Roger Maris' seventh inning triple and Mickey Mantle's sacrifice fly.

The loss was a heart breaker for Don Lee, who battled Ford on even terms until the seventh and yielded only four hits before bowing out for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

Maris led off the seventh with a line smash that center fielder Peter Whisenant tried for but couldn't grab. The ball rolled past him for a triple and Maris then came home with the only run of the game on Mantle's 340-foot fly to deep right. The loss was Lee's fourth against five victories.

Ford struck out seven and walked four in winning his eighth game compared with seven losses. He held Washington hitless through the first 5 2/3 innings and was in trouble only twice.

Haddix allowed seven hits while his teammates registered 11.

Groat had four hits in four of five at bats. He tripled in the first inning and rode around on Clemente's single. In the third inning, the Pirate captain doubled to left and Clemente used a Ray Sadecki pitch for a home run target.

In the next inning, Bill Virdor walked with two away and Groat singled. Then Clemente sent a chopper which bounded out of Julian Javier's glove and the last run of the game scored.

WE'LL start right off with some news we just felt you couldn't live through the day without... do you know WHY the chocolate doesn't settle to the bottom of chocolate milk???? well, you have come to the right place to find out!!... we can tell you... the makers of chocolate milk can add a blender or gel made from Chondrus crispus... what? you still don't know?... Chondrus crispus is the erudite name for Irish moss, a six-inch seaweed which lives near the tide level in the ocean all the way from New Jersey to Newfoundland... it is never found on a sandy or muddy bottom, but only on rocks... and gathering this Irish moss is a $150,000 dollar business on Prince Edward Island... last year's crop totalled 11,000,000 pounds... it is also known as Carrageen... the moss is gathered after storms, which wash the moss up on the shore, with huge moss rakes weighing as much as 75 pounds, with teeth set on a steel strap 15-18 inches long... a man can rake about 1,000 pounds in a day... the moss comes from the sea free from sand and dirt and foreign elements and not much cleaning is necessary... the weed is dried and washed frequently in salt water to bleach it... four to five pounds dry and bleach to one pound... the gel derived from Irish moss is also used in the manufacture of frosting mixes, pie fillings, and ice cream... there, now, aren't you wiser than you were?

When a person is down in the world, an ounce of help is better than a pound of preaching.
Edward George Bulwer-Lytton

NOW FOR THE LATEST intelligence report from Pampa and environs have seen Daisy Bellamy driving in her new Cadillac more power to her... and the Nortons, Bob and Mary and children Christopher, Michael, and Russell, have returned from their vacation trip... they visited Mesa Verde among other places... and the big amusement park, Elytch's in Denver... Charlie Neal (Young) Gee has been about town now for a week or so... glad to be back in the "States" from Europe... she reports that she enjoyed her stay in Holland very much... have heard about the rousing good time that was had by Harvey and Ruth Nienstiel, seems they had all six grandchildren and two children with husbands home at once... the house was overflowing... and someone was hired to look after the twins, for what one didn't think of to get into, the other one did... bet the quiet after they left was deafening as the hooroar while they were there.

Never ask for tomorrow: it is enough that divine Love is an ever-present help; and if you wait never doubting, you will have all you need every moment.
Mary Baker Eddy

MORE 'N' MORE Pat and Les Sellers... former residents of Pampa have sent announcements of the birth of a boy... named Larry... to friends in the city... a new brother for Karen and David... a charming new couple in town are Bill and Claudia Greenless... the newest addition to the number of dentists in town... a delightful pair... and talking of visitors, which we were not, but let's do it anyhow... Bill Nellis and his wife, Betty are visiting with Bill's parents... Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Nellis... and seeing friends around and about... Frank and Libby Shotwell have had as their guests this past week Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Borgmann and daughter Nancy, of Kansas City... Mrs. Borgmann, of course, is Libby's and Frank's daughter, Erlene... and Gladys Shotwell, daughter-in-law... is visiting also with her children, Leroy and Hugh... we've noticed the cars and excitement around the Shotwell home, and now we know the cause!

WHAT HAS EVER BECOME OF THE camera club that used to be an organization in Pampa... we don't remember having heard anything about it for years... or have we just missed it?... we got to thinking about it the other day... and what reminded us of camera or shutter-bugs was seeing Doris Lou Stephens... her husband Don is such an aforementioned creature... and well he might be, for he has two wonderful subjects in Doris Lou and their son Billy who, although just a baby, is used to having his picture taken by now... Doris Lou is another pretty girl from Ft. Smith, Arkansas... and is active in Pan-Hellenic activities around town... and speaking of cameras and picture taking... Abe and Ann Wallace, Bostonians, are fans also... but the thing we want to mention about them is that Ann is going to be playing with the Amarillo symphony this coming season... she used to play in the Boston symphony... and should make a fine addition to the Amarillo symphony... charming and talented.

INCIDENTALLY... did you know that those vari-colored tulips that are so pretty are really sick plants!... no kidding... the cause of streaking in tulips is a virus, which in nature is transmitted from plant to plant by a plant louse... the virus causes a disease which breaks up the normally single-hue coloring of the tulip into streaked patterns... these "diseased" plants are, however, prized by flower-growers... in fact, in the 16th and 17th centuries in the Netherlands, wealthy Dutchmen paid fortunes for these beautiful plants... they were rare, and only a few knew how to produce the streaked flowers... so all viruses are not strictly harmful, at least to man!

HERE AND THERE Homer and Mary Johnson must be established in their new home on Aspen by now... and it is a lovely one... Sheila Chisholm is going to be teaching in the Pampa Public School Systems this coming year... and so will Frances Ogden... Helene Huff has a story in the Methodist youth paper Twelve-Fifteen this month... three good writers got together recently when Lula Grace Erdman, from Canyon, visited with Helene and with Evelyn Nace... and we just think, in passing, that the last Saturday Evening Post article done by the late Lewis Nardye was a very nice one to have done last... a tribute to his father... you have probably seen it... Tony Welcher, who was in the hospital for a week or two, is prowling around home, now, recuperating... and challenging anyone who comes near him to a game of chess... and he's become a wicked opponent... guess he has had time to figure out some gambits and some good battle schemes... wonder if, speaking of chess, anyone from here is going to enter the chess tournament in Lubbock coming in September?... Ronald Waters has been around town for a couple of weeks this summer... before going back to teaching this fall... notice that the schools are beginning to be spruced up for the deluge of children... the playground equipment at Stephen F. Austin elementary school, at least, was getting a new paint job last week... schools always seem forlorn in the "off season"... don't they?... but in just about three weeks they will be busy.

GUESS THAT is about all we can think of... the flowers are pretty... the grass is green... and you had better enjoy the last three weeks of summer... while you can.

Love, Peg

Mrs. Jack Clyde Freeman nee Beverly Harriet Wilkinson

Bride's Father Unites Miss Wilkinson, Jack Clyde Freeman In Church Rites

Wedding vows repeated at eight o'clock on August 13 united in marriage Miss Beverly Harriet Wilkinson of San Antonio and Jack Clyde Freeman in Harlandale Presbyterian Church, San Antonio.

Miss Wilkinson is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. N. P. Wilkinson of San Antonio. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Freeman of White Deer.

Aisle arrangements were white candles, asters, gladioli and fern ending at the prie dieu, which was flanked by tall chancel arrangements of Candles, asters, gladioli and fern.

Mrs. Foy Dickson of Bellaire was soloist accompanied by Mrs. Robert Hall of San Antonio.

BRIDE

The bride entered the sanctuary on the arm of her uncle, T. C. Wilkinson of Brownwood, for the ceremony performed by her father, the Rev. Wilkinson. She wore a gown of white silk organza fashioned with a Chantilly lace bodice with scalloped neckline and long sleeves, which tapered to points over the wrists. Garlands of applique beaded the front of the full flared skirt. Shirred and draped panels caught with lace flowers formed the fullback, which swept to a court train. Her Veil of Illusion, bordered with Alencon lace, was worn in a Mantilla style. She carried a cascade of white roses.

Miss Sara Wilkinson, bride's sister, attended as maid of honor. Miss Janet Bratton of Bellaire was bridesmaid.

Jim Tom Freeman of White Deer served as best man. Groomsmen were George Watson of San Antonio, Ken Martin of Fort Worth and C. E. Brodish of Abilene seated the wedding guests.

Miss Patricia Davis of Ballinger and Miss Rebecca Orton of Buie were candlelighters. Karen Fagan, Trey of New York City served as flower girl.

A reception was held in the social hall of the church immediately following the ceremony. Miss Frances Moore of San Antonio was guest registrar assisted by Miss Sue McCaffree of Richardson.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wilkinson wore blue lace over blue taffeta dress designed with scalloped neckline and sleeves. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Freeman, chose gray silk chiffon with gray accessories.

The couple left immediately for a wedding trip to Corpus Christi. Upon their return, they will make their home in San Antonio.

Members of the houseparty included Misses Betty Fry of Abilene, Miss Linda Merriott of Stamford, Candy Noblitt and Mrs. Guy Andis. Polaroid pictures were taken of the guests.

Refreshments were served from a checked tablecloth accented with a winner's wreath on which was inscribed on purple satin ribbon, "Cowgirl Sponsor." Three barrels were encircled with gold mums denoting the path of the prancing stall on placed at the starting line.

Dear Abby... Should Shed Pounds For Trip To Alter

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a sister who has promised you for years that when she got married you would be her maid of honor and, when the time comes, she asks somebody else?

I am 20 and she is 22. She didn't even ask me to be a bridesmaid and she is having six of them!

My mother hinted that maybe it was because I weigh 192. But Abby, I am five feet, eight and very large-boned. People say I am "striking" and "statuesque" — never "fat". Am I wrong to feel hurt because I was —

"OVERLOOKED": It's pretty hard to "overlook" 192 pounds of anything — even when it's stacked five feet eight. If you wonder why your sister didn't keep her promise, ask her. If your mother's suspicions are correct, perhaps you had better do something about whittling down that weight.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a fine provider, has no bad habits and he gives me everything I want. But he is very pig-headed on one subject. He won't let me go to a male doctor for anything.

I have to drive 110 miles to see a woman doctor because there aren't any women doctors where we live. We never did locate a women dentist so, when I had my dental work done, my husband went with me and stood right there while the dentist worked on my teeth. The dentist almost threw us both out.

Should I put up a fight about it, or should I let him have his own way? It is very inconvenient.

ANNNOYED: It's easier to put up with your husband's "pig-headedness" than it would be to change him. Some men are narrow minded and have no good qualities to offset it.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would print this to keep some girl from making the same mistake I made. I went with a boy for four months. The only place he ever took me was out to park. He told me he loved me and believe me, Abby, I was crazy over him.

When it came time to ask someone to the Club dance, he asked another girl. I felt so hurt I wanted to die. A friend of mine asked him how come he didn't take me and he said, "She's okay for a make-out, but a fellow likes to be seen in public with a girl he respects."

LEARNED A LESSON

CONFIDENTIAL TO LAURIE: I am with your mother. You're too young to 'dye'.

Mounting Deficit

It is sometimes interesting to contrast political promises against political performances. Many persons recently have expressed concern over the declared Democratic Party objectives of increasing the federal budget. We believe there is reason for concern. The American people are being lobbied systematically and thoroughly by their elected representatives and by their bureaucracy. This lobbying process has continued year in and year out, thru good times and bad, and thru both Republican and Democratic administrations. Right now the Democrats, in a bold new bid for adventuring further with federal goods, have promised to increase federal spending by 12 billion more dollars than the very first year they take over behind Kennedy. They are promising the following increases: Defense Spending $2,500,000,000 Aid to farmers 4,500,000,000 Food for needy 1,000,000,000 Federal aid to schools 1,100,000,000 New Aids for home mortgages 700,000,000 Housing for aged 300,000,000 Public assistance 300,000,000 Youth Conservation Corps (replaces CCC) 400,000,000 Water-pollution control 50,000,000 Aid to airports 50,000,000 Medical socialization 400,000,000 Other proposals 600,000,000 But the Democrats have offered to lower interest rates on debt presently being serviced. This would save about $3 billion a year. Thus, the net cost of the new proposals is supposed to total about $9.9 billion out of a total of $12.2 billion in new expenditures. This means that the federal "peace-time" budget would rise from $80 billion to something real close to $89 billion. Social security costs would increase from about $12.3 billion to about $15.8 billion. But while your blood pressure is mounting as you think of all this money being taken away from you and from the rest of the productive people of this nation, take a close look at the Eisenhower record, too. The seven Eisenhower budgets to date rack up a total of spending of $498.3 billion. That is just a fraction under one half a trillion dollars.

THE NATIONAL PURPOSE In recent weeks, a number of the nation's leading newspapers have published a series of articles entitled "The National Purpose" by men prominent in public life. Discussion of this subject is worthwhile inasmuch as great burdens and responsibilities are laid upon today's citizens and they should understand where they stand. Unfortunately, many discussions of the national purpose are misleading. They suggest a direction for the United States that is away from liberty and private initiative. Former Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, for instance, said in one such article that the supermarket is "our temple" and the singing carillon is "our litany." He charged that "we have stressed so much our aim of stopping communism for our own security that self-interest has often contaminated our generous aid programs." Mr. Stevenson insisted that we must add Tom Paine's words—"My country is the world"—to any statement of national purpose and deplored what he called "the mystique of privacy" in the United States. In summation, he said: "I believe the old idea of America and its government as a positive instrument for the common weal is being restored once again after all the cheap sarcasm about 'bureaucracy' and 'creeping socialism.'" Mr. Stevenson's words indicate that American "liberals" want a national purpose that includes an ideal of internationalism as the ultimate in the good life. It also indicates they repudiate private life and private action in favor of big government. This is one point of view, but not one that American conservatives can regard with anything but dismay. The common weal, to use Mr. Stevenson's phrase, can best be protected by the individual action of each citizen, not by master planners in government agencies or any international organization. If the United States follows the Stevenson prescription and views bureaucracy as a constructive force, the people of this nation will be abdicating their responsibility for their own future and that of their children. Instead of running down private life and private action, public men should insist that whatever impedes these features of our national existence should be removed. This may mean elimination of the numerous regulatory agencies or the abolition of the dozens of bureaus that make it hard for individuals and companies to build for the future. In other words, the aim in American life should be precisely as Thomas Jefferson set it forth many years ago, namely, less government. To be sure, government should be a positive force in certain areas—in the areas of national defense, for instance. But in general, the least government in the 20th century is the best government. Rather than being a freeing force in human affairs, government blocks progress. The way to release human energy in the United States, so that the economy may make even greater strides, is not to pass a lot of new laws and establish more bureaus with large supplies of red tape. The way to national success is to cut through the maze of regulations and restrictive union practices which hold back capitalism from its greatest development. No country ever became rich because it had a large force of bureaucrats or planners. Those nations that have enjoyed the good life have been free nations in which merchants and inventors, explorers and enterprisers of one sort or another could forge ahead without first getting a plan of action stamped "approved" in a national capital. Therefore, the national purpose of the United States should be to cut the strings of socialist control and let freedom ring.

How To Reduce Taxes

By LEONARD E. READ From The Freeman

A clay cone, now on display at the Louvre, was excavated by the French at the site of ancient Lagash, a prehistoric city located in Mesopotamia. The messages on the cone were etched with a reed stylus on soft clay during the third millennium B.C. While the experts on Sumerian civilization may not agree precisely in their interpretations, the consensus is that the three signs mean "freedom from taxes." There are two features to observe about these ideograms. First, the word "freedom" here puts in its earliest written appearance. Second, is the remarkable clarity used to depict "taxes." These Sumerians expressed in a symbol the nature of governmental "take" better than we express the process in our modern languages. The barb or fishhook or harpoon characteristics suggest, so very clearly, that this instrument is one which will be thrust into, but hardly retrieved from whatever it penetrates. The nature of taxation thus revealed itself at the very dawn of history, and experience confirms this early disclosure: Taxes are easy to increase but almost impossible to decrease. We need not go beyond the experiences of our own country in this century to verify the one-way tendency of our taxes. They continue to penetrate inexorably deeper, always advancing, never receding. Look at the record: The population of the U.S.A. increased from 76 million in 1900 to 174 million in 1958 while government expenditures per person (in terms of 1947-49 dollars) rose from $56 in 1900 to $580 in 1958, a more than tenfold expansion of governmental assessments per person — man, woman, and child. SPENDING AND INFLATION Where is the end of all this? If the trend of the past few decades be projected into the future — the near future even — the prospect is that of a once great economy flying to pieces. The expenditures of government (now equal to 35 per cent of the people's earned income) have long since passed the point where they can be met by direct tax levies. Inflation — increasing the volume of money — is then resorted to. This reduces the value of the monetary unit. Serious in our country? The dollar has lost 52 per cent of its purchasing value since 1939! Historically, in most instances, governments resort to inflation when the collection by government reaches 20 to 25 per cent of the country's earned income. As a role this is the level beyond which direct tax levies become politically inexpedient. Inflation, therefore, becomes the only alternative means of financing excessive expenditures. And the more over-expanded the government, the more the inflation! Inflation in the U.S.A., however, is more dangerous than in other countries and for a simple reason. We are more specialized than other people are or ever have been. We are so specialized that all of us are dependent upon the exchange of our numerous specializations. In a highly specialized economy such as ours, the exchanges are not by barter; a circulating medium of exchange is necessary. This is the so-called Atlantic Charter. In 1945, President Harry Truman announced that Japan had accepted the terms of unconditional surrender and World War Two was over. Thought for today: U. S. President Franklin Delano Roosevelt said: "The test of our progress is not whether we add more to the abundance of those who have much; it is whether we provide enough for those who have too little."

be compelled by the political apparatus to subsidize the citizens of Los Angeles or Dallas. But suppose he expresses his opposition materialistically as he invariably does. He may, for instance, complain about the cost to him. And how much is that? Why, only a pittance — 30 cents, perhaps. What a niggardly position to take! He, with his big income! And, if he argues that anyone, regardless of how wealthy, can be "pennied and dined" to death, he is confronted with the impossible task of naming the instances that take so many of his pennies and dimes. He may even generalize about national financial trends but, to do so, he must talk in terms as incomprehensible to his listeners as are 100,000,000 light years. Opponents of socialism who argue only materialistically would be well advised to add the moral argument. As distinguished from socialism's proponents, with their united front, they are a splintered and fragmented lot. It is next to impossible for them to unite on materialistic terms. The financial injuries done to them are not alike in any two instances, nor do the injuries, imposed in a dribbles, greatly excite the victims. The damage is done more or less unobserved. Nor can these material injuries be photographed, or dramatized with any persuasiveness. Invisible, material erosions of an individual's larger are no match for the huge government dam or the new, merciful thousand-bed hospital. This is a one-sided contest between the seen and the unseen, with the things seen considered real while the unseen is dismissed as imaginary. Supplying groups of the population with government pap as quickly destroys their capacity to fend for themselves as does the hand-feeding of squirrels. Men, as well as animals tend to regard a coddling as a right. Simple reflect on any of the thousands of special privileges granted by government, for more than a year's duration, and see if one can be discovered that is not already regarded as a right. How can it be otherwise if the collectivistic notion is accepted that government is the grantor of rights as well as the dispenser of privileges? The opponents of socialism are on weak ground if they rely on materialistic arguments against those who believe in their privileges as rights. The socialists bring "human rights" to their side; the adversaries only complain about pilfered pennies and dimes. MORAL CASE FOR FREEDOM The purpose of this paper, therefore, is (1) to suggest that arguments on behalf of freedom, when confined to the materialistic — which too often they are — account in part for the seemingly irreversible one-way direction of the taxing process and (2) to draw attention to the moral arguments that must be perfected and presented if any change is to be brought about. Omitting the enormous activities and costs related to the "cold war," at government's expansion in the U.S.A. — and elsewhere, for that matter — is a growth in socialism. It is an increasing practice of the collectivistic concept — the notion that the individual exists for the group, by the group's permission, and for the group's sake. This concept denies the Creator and substitutes therefore the omnipotent State as the source of man's rights and the dispenser of privileges. State supervision of welfare and prosperity is substituted for personal responsibility. The state takes from and gives to, as its political hierarchy sees fit. The Marxian ideal, "from each according to ability, to each according to need," is quite consistently part and parcel of the collectivistic doctrine. Ignored is the idea that government is for the purpose of securing the inalienable rights of man. It cannot be otherwise, for the State, not the Creator, is the ultimate sovereign — according to collectivists. Examples of this from-each-according-to-ability-to-each-according-to-need thesis are the progressive income tax, TVA, government mail delivery, government housing, compulsory social security, security, subsidies to farmers, protection against competition, federal aid to education, and so on. A specific example would be a federal grant for a local hospital. Taking this specific example, the people who seek federal aid for their local hospital, present a united front. They achieve a political unanimity, a wholeness, and their demands come thru clear and loud. Once the hospital is built it stands as tangible evidence of an "accomplishment," a monumental testimony to the "wisdom" of its sponsors. The good it does is visible. It can be photographed and publicized as a concrete instance of community welfare. PENNIES OR PRINCIPLES Now this federal grant-in-aid means of local achievement does have some opponents. An observant taxpayer who resides in New York sees no reason why he should

Hankering

By HENRY McMEMORE

Meg's Tony Is Take Charge Guy

I haven't heard both sides of argument, but I'd bet a guinea that Tony Armstrong-Jones was right in sacking Thomas Cronin, head butler at Kensington Palace. Experience has taught me that all the members of a household staff butlers are the most difficult to manage. They are temperamental enough, goodness knows, and upstairs and downstairs maids, a troublesome bits of baggage sauce. So are outlanders a man's man, but they are as easy to handle as white mice compared to butlers. I am doing my own butting now having been cured of butlers by my last one, James Mackay. I shan't soon forget the scene when he was being removed from the billiard room by being taken to the larder. For four generations McMemore butlers have worn the same livere — khaki pants, blue denim shirt, shoes, and a black leather tie. James wanted to swap the shirt for a khaki one, and I threatened to impose his personal idea of a minimum wage or maximum hours on a nation's citizenry. Moral standards for individuals, fairly well established by all the world's moral and ethical systems, find no reasonable sanction for modification by individuals acting concertedly, whether organized as governments or labor unions or trade associations. No, new rights come into existence by collectivizing two persons or a million of them. If this is not a correct conclusion, then, pray tell, what is the magic number at which new rights originate? SELF-DISCIPLINE REQUIRED The above is only suggestive. It has been set forth merely to stake out the area in which each of us should strive for perfection. For it is only in moral philosophy — the study of right and wrong, a qualitative discipline — that the case for freedom and the rights of man can be won. Short of a growing effectiveness in this area, we are committed to a continuance of the present course. The only end to this course of governmental expansion and its ever-penetrating tax take is, as history seems to reveal, either atrophy or revolution. It is only when we understand that government can have no rightful powers of control, over and beyond the powers that inhere in individuals as moral rights, that we can clearly recognize the proper limitations of the state. With this recognition will come the trimming process: government reduced to the enormously important function of securing the rights of man. Limited to this role — its only competence — government will become an aid, not an ailment; a bargain, not a burden. Taxes will then be a matter of relative unimportance. Summarized, this paper insists that the only way to reduce taxes is for each devotee to liberty to become, as best he can, a moral philosopher. Too difficult? Only if the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments, and the Declaration of Independence are beyond one's scope!

North-South Split

Those upcoming voters in Congress may hurt as much as help the Democratic ticket in November. It's not that Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson are reluctant to do battle with the Republican minority or President Eisenhower over such socialistic issues as medical care for the aged, aid to education and housing, and extension of minimum wage coverage. It is the fact that, on these very issues, the Democratic majority in Congress is sharply split between Southerners and non-Southerners. The Southerners, moreover, are strong enough, particularly in the House, to block or water down those measures to which the party's platform and nominees are committed. Here are the leading candidates for party-splitting votes: Minimum Wage — The Senate will take up and probably pass, Senator Kennedy's bill to raise the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour and extend coverage to 5 million additional workers. But the House has already rejected a substantially similar bill in favor of a much more limited measure backed by Republicans and Southern Democrats, including 18 of the 21 Democrats from Johnson's home state of Texas. The final bill is bound to be watered down. Medical Care — Democratic efforts to incorporate health benefits in the Social Security system were first rejected in the House Ways and Means Committee, by a Southern-GOP coalition. Kennedy and Johnson have a good chance to push the Social Security provision through the Senate, but its fate in conference is another matter. Aid to Schools — Efforts to compromise Senate and House versions of a school construction bill were blocked in June by the House Rules Committee, when three Southern Democrats — Chairman Howard W. Smith (Va.), William M. Colmer (Miss.), and James W. Trimble (Ark.) — voted with four Republicans against sending the House bill to conference. The pending question: can Sen. Johnson's erstwhile campaign manager, Speaker Sam Rayburn, bring his fellow Southerners around? Housing — Again the Southern-GOP coalition on the Rules Committee has blocked action, by refusing to clear an omnibus housing bill for House debate. Since the Senate has already passed its bill, there's nothing Kennedy and Johnson can do until Rayburn finds some way to unlock the House bill. Republicans have already served notice that they hope to capitalize on the Democratic split by demanding action on civil rights. Kennedy and Johnson have no intention of obliging by calling up a bill, but there's not much they can do to obscure the party's division on those welfare measures they are determined to pass before Labor Day adjournment.
