$1.5 Million Damage Set In Refinery Blast

Fire Continues To 'Burn Out' At Cargray Plant

Damage was estimated today at between $1.5 million and $2-million in the explosions and fire that swept through the Dorchester Corporation's Cargray gasoline plant near Skellytown yesterday afternoon.

The fire, which started when an isopentane tank exploded from an unexplained cause shortly before 2 p.m. yesterday, burned out of control through the afternoon and part of last night.

B. L. Bentley, plant superintendent, said the damage probably would reach close to $2-million. He told newsmen today the plant is a total loss, although several processing tanks are still standing. The engine room on the south side of the plant was not destroyed, but was badly damaged by heat.

After the initial explosion the fire spread and other tanks of pentane, propane and gasoline let go in succession.

Officials of the plant, where some 18 men were employed, said all the workers were evacuated as were families of workers who lived in seven houses in the Cargray camp, only a few hundred feet from the plant.

Officials said 13 men were on duty when the blast occurred. They quickly ran out of the plant to safety.

Only one man was injured. He was Ernest E. Foote, 57, a loading foreman. Foote, recovering today in Highland General hospital here in Pampa, was walking near the first tank that exploded. He was struck in the forehead by a piece of flying metal and blown about 12 feet. His shoulder was fractured.

Superintendent Bentley said it was possible the initial explosion came from a malfunctioning valve.

Police, highway patrolmen, sheriff's officers, fire fighting equipment and ambulances from Pampa, Borger, White Deer, and Skellytown rushed to the scene at the first alarm.

Soon traffic in the area was heavy with sightseers. Roads were blocked off and officers hurried motorists through the area with warnings of danger from fumes of highly volatile isopentane which were wafting through the area.

For hours it was impossible to approach closer than 200 yards of the blazing, smoking inferno.

Highway patrol officers were still at the scene today keeping spectators away. Officers said there is a possibility of explosion which could be set off when the tanks which were left standing begin to cool.

EXPLOSION AND FIRE—This is the scene at the Dorchester Corporation's Cargray plant, ten miles west of Pampa, at mid-afternoon yesterday when the holocaust was at its height. Huge clouds of black billowing smoke spewed out of the flames as tanks of volatile liquids exploded. Plant officials said today destruction was almost total although buildings and equipment structures still were standing. The heavy loss was caused by warping and twisting from the heat, they stated. Employees in asbestos clothing, still were working at the scene today to contain the fire. (Daily News Photo)

Flood Wake Leaves Thousands Homeless In 6 Western States

Cold Grips Northeast; Heat Wave In Third Day Across South Plains

By United Press International

Floods left thousands homeless in six Western states today and arctic cold maintained its hold on the Northeast. The record-setting heat wave went into its third day in the southern plains.

Fog cut visibility to as little as 200 feet in the upper Midwest, halting air travel in parts of Iowa and Montana.

Sub-freezing temperatures nipped parts of North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland had up to 2 inches of new snow. Snow and freezing drizzle grazed highways in North Dakota.

The number of homeless in flood-stricken California, Idaho, Nevada, Colorado, Utah and Wyoming approached 5,000. There were 3,600 homeless in Idaho alone.

The sun came out in the Los Angeles area Monday for the first time since Feb. 7. However, another half inch of rain fell, bringing the six-day total at Los Angeles to 7.95 inches. Some parts of California had more than 12 inches of rain during the period.

California counted 15 weather deaths. The latest were three teenage boys killed Monday when their cave collapsed at Ocean Beach.

The latest California rain sent streams of mud 3 feet deep oozing down hillsides. Nearly 100 cars floated down Los Angeles Beachwood Drive and crashed into parked autos. At least 40 roads were closed in the Los Angeles area and the Malibu Canyon tunnel was threatened.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie declared seven Idaho counties disaster areas. Civil defense officials considered asking that California's Los Angeles County be declared a disaster area.

The Reese River sent 2 feet of water surging through streets of Battle Mountain, Nev. Indian Village, east of Battle Mountain, was evacuated. National Guardsmen were mobilized to attempt to plug a break in the Reese River dam.

National Guardsmen used bazookas to blast an ice jam on the White River which sent flood waters 18 inches deep through Rangely, Colo., and forced 160 persons to flee homes.

Schools were closed and highways blocked throughout the flood areas.

An estimated 750 persons were homeless in Wyoming due to flooding along the Big Horn River, swelled by a fast-melting 100-inch snow pack in the Wind River Mountains.

Residents of many floodstricken areas were warned to boil drinking water to guard against contamination.

Snow closed schools in a dozen Virginia communities.

Temperatures remained in the 60s early today as far north as Kansas and Missouri. But the heat wave broke sharply and readings in the 30s were reported across Nebraska, Omaha, Neb., had a high of 34 Monday while Wichita, Kan., set a record with a high of 81.

Records also were set at Midland, Tex., with a high of 88, and at Oklahoma City, where a new mark was set for the second day in a row when the mercury reached 84. Gage, Okla., had a high of 90 degrees.

At Lubbock, Tex., the high of 86 Monday set a record for the third straight day. Even warmer weather was expected today.

Los Angeles Is One Of Hardest Hit Storm Areas

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A six-day storm that battered Southern California with a fury unequalled in six years was over today—but in its wake was death, damage and debris.

The first day of sunshine in nearly a week Monday was marred by the death of three San Diego teenagers who were buried when a rain-soaked cliff caved in. On all, the storm claimed an estimated 20 lives.

Damage from the relentless torrent that dumped 8.03 inches of rain on Los Angeles ranged in the millions of dollars. City and county officials said the area might be declared a disaster area in order to secure federal aid for repairs and reconstruction.

As much as 10 inches of precipitation fell in outlying areas, forcing hundreds of lowland and foothill residents to flee their homes because of swirling floodwaters.

Several incidents of mudslides were reported Monday as rain-soaked earth forged down hillsides and into streets threatening to move houses from their foundations.

Actress Rhonda Fleming had to evacuate her residence, when it was threatened by a slide and the $100,000 home of actor Richard Boone was also periled.

In one instance, Monday after a pre-dawn cloudburst that dropped a half an inch of rain in an hour some 100 tons of mud piled onto a Hollywood Hills road when a large retaining wall collapsed. Automobiles seemed to float downhill as they slid through the ooze and stacked against one another, running into street signs and roadside trees.

The wall of mud pushed one house off its foundation and into the street.

The flow ran down to Hollywood Boulevard, closing sections of the famed street for several hours.

Another Kennedy Heckled In Israel

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Pro-Western students scuffled today with Communists heckling Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, youngest brother of the President, when he appeared for a speech at Hebrew University.

When small Communist groups began shouting "Kennedy go home" as the young Boston attorney entered a large lecture hall, crowds of other students jumped the Reds, shouted them down and ripped up their anti-American posters.

Kennedy gave the Reds a single glance and then went into the hall, where he received a warm welcome and delivered a 20-minute speech. His contact with the Reds was less hectic than that of another older brother, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, in Tokyo last week.

Goldberg Moves To Check Strikes At Missile Sites

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg has moved quietly to check a sharp increase in the number of strikes that have interrupted construction work at Air Force missile sites.

Inter-union squabbling was listed as the cause of about half of the disputes in a report made available today.

Government figures showed there were 22 stoppages in January that resulted in the loss of about 2,500 man-days of work on the missile bases.

This was the worst record for any month since President Kennedy established a special commission last April to enforce a no-strike, no-lockout pledge in the building of the sites.

Disputes among craft unions over job assignments started most of the trouble, according to a report prepared for Goldberg.

Stoppages at two installations—Larson Air Force Base at Moses Lake, Wash., and Lincoln Air Force Base at Lincoln, Neb.—accounted for 85 per cent of the lost time.

Goldberg already has called in leaders of five construction unions to demand that they live up to their no-strike commitment. He said he would summon "the contractors involved in some of the disputes because they shared the blame."

ADDICTION INCREASES
TOKYO (UPI)—Juvenile sleeping pill addiction is on the increase again in Japan, police reported today.

They said 96 boys and girls were taken into custody in January for using the pills as an intoxicant. It was double the monthly average in 1961.

Senate Group Awaiting Full Report On Powers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senators today apparently had no plans to call Francis Gary Powers for testimony but expected a full report on the government's interrogations of the U2 pilot.

The position of two key Senate groups became known after Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Powers' release from a Russian prison represented little progress on "the issues that divide the Communist and the free worlds."

Rusk said in a radio interview that it helped to get "unnecessary irritations" out of the way. "But I would not draw any conclusions from this return of Mr. Powers with respect to questions like Berlin or Southeast Asia."

Rusk appeared on Washington Viewpoint.

At least two Senate subcommittees wanted detailed reports on what Powers had said after his release. Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of a Senate watchdog subcommittee said he planned to follow the matter closely.

Russell said, however, he did not now expect Powers to be called in person before the panel, which rides herd on activities of the Central Intelligence Agency.

"We have had two or three meetings at which the U2 matter was thoroughly reviewed. We had been told of the negotiations and were kept advised of the progress," Russell said, in an interview.

Russell said his group met with John A. McCone, director of Central Intelligence, last week.

Fort Suggests Repeal Of City Water Ordinance

The Pampa City Commission heard an impassioned plea today from Commissioner L. P. Fort that city water rates reflect the philosophy of "equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

Fort voiced the opinion that Ordinance 41, setting out the various scales of water rates for different classifications of use, be repealed, placing everyone on the same water rate. "The country club, Fairview Cemetery and even the churches should be paying their full share of cost for water," Fort stated. Further, the commissioner said that if "something is owed the country club and the cemetery for any reason, the city should pay them and then start charging for water on an equitable basis. We have had so many special deals so long that some interests think they are owed special privileges."

Mayor E. C. Sidwell suggested that a more detailed study should be made before the ordinance is done away with in favor of another rate program.

The commission, on receiving a letter from Gordon Lyons, President of the Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development pledging chamber-BCD cooperation, agreed to a joint dinner meeting between the commission and chamber-BCD board Thursday at 7:00 p.m. in the Coronado Inn.

The commission heard the first reading on the annexation of parts of Zimmer Street located in the Jarvis-Sone Addition. A second reading was also heard on the establishment of a semi-commercial area on the west side of Banks Street, in the block immediately north of the Youth Center.

The commission voted to accept the Zimmer Street annexation.

The commission also voted to accept the establishment of a semi-commercial area on the west side of Banks Street.

Paris Continues To Seethe With Trouble

PARIS (UPI) — Masses of French workers took a half-day off today and an estimated 100,000 Parisians turned out to march in an elaborate funeral procession for eight persons killed in street riots last Thursday. Police did not interfere.

The strike, led by the Communist-run General Labor Federation, brought long distance trains all over France to a four-hour halt and cut transportation and utility service here.

Residents of downtown Paris—the "city of light"—found themselves lighting candles because of a shutdown in electricity. Garbage went uncollected, many offices and factories did not open until noon and mail service was spotty. Flights at the two Paris airports were cut sharply.

The huge funeral procession filled the broad Avenue de la Republique and stretched its length to Pere Lachaise cemetery, where four of the victims were buried. The others were taken to cemeteries outside Paris.

Some of the mourners carried wreaths almost nine feet tall. The procession, led by Communist bosses Maurice Thorez and Jacques Duclos, took 50 minutes to reach the burial ground.

Former Premier Pierre Mendes France, not a Communist himself, rode in the impressive line of mourners.

The commission voted to accept the Zimmer Street annexation.

The commission also voted to accept the establishment of a semi-commercial area on the west side of Banks Street.

Plans Go Ahead For Orbit Shot Tomorrow

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Space officials went ahead today with plans to fire astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. into orbit Wednesday despite tricky weather which churned up the sea in one of the Atlantic recovery areas.

In the hope that the weather would turn cooperative by launch time, technicians worked through the first phase of the pre-shot check of Glenn's rocket and spacecraft.

Lt. Col. John A. Powers, spokesman for the Mercury man-in-orbit program, said that from a technical standpoint "all systems are in a 'go' (ready) condition."

"The launch is still set for no earlier than Wednesday," Powers said.

Weathermen were finding it hard to make forecasts for more than a few hours ahead because of unsettled conditions in the sea where Glenn would land if his flight were limited by time to one orbit.

The decision Mercury bosses have to make is whether to "shoot for a hole" in the weather during the five-hour launching period, 7:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. EST, or to order the eighth postponement in two months.

In the words of Robert R. Gilruth, director of Project Mercury, the situation was "touch and go."

Miami Weather Bureau officials said disturbances keep forming at the south end of a large low pressure trough east of Puerto Rico. The trough runs east of Bermuda up into Newfoundland.

The forecast for Cape Canaveral cast some doubt on the possibility of putting Glenn through three full orbits. It said the cape was likely to be shrouded with clouds or fog which might continue to mid-morning. This could delay the launch long enough to limit to only two orbits.

Technicians meanwhile began the first half of the two-day split countdown, an exhaustive item by item check of the equipment on which Glenn's fate depends. Everything went all right, officials said.

African Leftists Join UN Debate On Cuba Versus U.S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The "left wing" of Africa makes its voice heard for the first time today in the U.N. debate on Cuba's charge of U.S. "aggression."

Delegates of Ghana and Mali were on the list of speakers scheduled to be heard in the General Assembly's main political committee.

Diplomats looked to Ghana and Mali for any signs of support for the Communist demand for criticism of U.S. "intervention" in Cuba.

The first voices of the Afro-Asian group were heard Monday when the United Arab Republic and Indonesia contended themselves with a generalized appeal for a peaceful settlement of the Havana-Washington squabble.

The powerful, 51-nation Afro-Asian group usually is in the midst of an U.N. debate involving a small power versus a major power.

But the Latin Americans were understood to have passed their word among the Afro-Asians that they considered the Cuban affair a hemispheric problem and would appreciate no interference from other quarters.

Neither Indonesia nor the United Arab Republic even mentioned the Communist resolution before the 104-nation committee.

Soviet Summit Proposal Gets U. S. 'Maybe' Reply

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. answer to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's call for a summit meeting on disarmament appeared today to be: "Maybe later — on two conditions."

The conditions: —That disarmament talks in Geneva make real progress at the foreign ministers level first — in other words a significant break in the disarmament stalemate before heads of government step in. —That tensions in East-West crisis spots such as Berlin and Laos continue to ease.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk Monday night rejected Khrushchev's proposal to begin the 18-nation disarmament talks March 14 in Geneva at the summit level. Rusk said: "What is now called for is some systematic, step-by-step and determined and qunegotiation. We do not believe that this kind of negotiation can best be carried on at a heads of government level."

But Rusk did not slam the summit door entirely. The issues, he said, "ought to be explored first through other channels with a possibility that heads of government may be able then to remove any remaining points of difference or put their final conclusions into operation."

Rusk's statement was made in a radio interview as the United States conferred with allies on a reply to Khrushchev's proposal. He appeared on Washington Viewpoint.

His rejection of a disarmament conference starting at the summit level appeared to be shared by the other major governments involved.

British Ambassador Sir David Ormsby Gore, emerging from a meeting with Rusk Monday, told newsmen: "I don't think it will be suitable that heads of government start this conversation. At a later date, maybe."

A meeting beginning as an 18-nation summit was seen by diplomats here as the most cumbersome possible way of going about things. It would be, diplomats felt, a lengthy speechmaking session in which the leaders involved would probably "freeze" their positions rather than negotiate.

Rusk, in his statement, said there is a general feeling here and in many Western capitals that summits must have advance preparation — that otherwise they may end "in disagreement, and an increase in tension."

If it comes from a haphazard stop we have it. Lewis Hyde. (Adv)

Got Its Start

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — The restaurant of today probably owes its beginning to the medieval monastery, castle and college, according to dieticians at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Actually, the restaurant and cafeteria of today are relative late-comers to the human scene, the food specialists report.

Group feeding began in the middle ages, when religious orders, royal and noble households and colleges found large numbers of hungry persons on their hands.

Man's desire and ability to travel brought public eating places, first inns and taverns that offered lodging along with food. Poor tavern food service brought places that specialized in food — restaurants.

According to University of Michigan researchers, the modern cafeteria originated during the California gold rush. It solved two problems confronting the Forty-Niners — how to feed large numbers of men in a hurry and how to serve food without waitresses.

Spy Exchange Focuses Attention On Espionage Struggle In World

Editor's Note: The exchange of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel has focused attention on the espionage struggle going on beneath the surface of the cold war. A series of three dispatches reports on the situation.

By LOUIS CASSELS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Espionage is a venerable activity which all nations have publicly deplored and privately practiced since the dawn of history.

The Bible records that Moses sent spies into the Promised Land to find out how much military opposition the children of Israel could expect when they moved in. Joshua sent secret agents into Jericho to check on the morale of its defenders. They returned with a report that "all the inhabitants of the country do faint because of us."

The basic purpose of espionage is the same today that it was in the days of Moses and Joshua: to appraise the strength of an enemy or potential enemy, and make sure he does not spring any surprises on you.

If this was important thousands of years ago, when armies advanced on foot to fight with swords and spears; it has become, in former President Eisenhower's words, a "vital necessity" in this age of nuclear bombs and continent-spanning missiles.

Russia and the United States have been spying on each other for years on a scale unprecedented in human history. Francis Gary Powers and Col. Rudolf L. Abel were only two of thousands of men engaged in this dangerous, clandestine phase of the cold war, which will continue as long as nations have reason to fear one another.

How Russia spies on the United States, and how the United States spies on Russia, will be covered in more detail in subsequent dispatches. This dispatch will be concerned with some features which their intelligence operations have in common.

First, they are expensive. Official U. S. sources estimate Russia's outlay on espionage and subversive activities at approximately $2 billion a year. The amount available to America's principal spy outfit — the Central Intelligence Agency — is a secret which is carefully guarded by distributing CIA funds throughout the federal budget under various innocuous headings. Congressional sources say the CIA gets upward of $400 million a year, and some guesses run as high as $1 billion.

A second common denominator is the heavy reliance that both place on simply gathering up information which is publicly available. There is no point in sending a spy to take surreptitious photographs of a city's waterworks if you can obtain a set gratis from the local Chamber of Commerce.

A former Soviet agent who defected to the West told the FBI that military attaches of the Soviet embassy in Washington are able to obtain about 95 per cent of the information they send to Moscow through public channels. For example, ordinary highway maps, industrial brochures, newspapers, magazines and broadcasts, and congressional hearings.

The CIA, in turn, obtains openly about 80 per cent of what it knows about Communist countries. It buys every Communist publication it can lay hands on, and analyzes about 200,000 pieces of Soviet bloc literature every month. It also obtains road maps, railroad time tables, statistical reports of Soviet government ministries, and the texts of speeches.

The higher percentage of information which Russia is able to gather openly simply reflects the fact that America is a free society, while Russia is a police state. Part of the price a free society pays for keeping its own citizens informed is that it makes it somewhat easier for foreign intelligence operatives to do their work.

A third resemblance of U. S. and Soviet intelligence is that both make full use of modern technology.

The U2 plane which Powers was flying over Russia is a good example. This long-winged jet was designed to fly at altitudes of more than 80,000 feet, and equipped with cameras which could take sharply defined photographs of Soviet ground installations from that height.

U2s made regular flights over Russia for nearly four years before the Powers incident created an international furor that made it necessary to call them off. They brought back millions of photographs.

That Russian spies also use ultra modern techniques was made clear at Abel's trial in 1957. Possing as a Brooklyn photographer, this highly trained agent used such devices, as hollowed-out cans, cuff-links and bolts to transfer micro-filmed messages.

SILENT RAIDER—As her crew looks on, the second of West Germany's growing submarine fleet is launched at shipyard in Kiel. Twelve of the deadly, 350-ton U-boats are scheduled to join the undersea fleet. Scene is reminiscent of World War II when German "wolf packs" sent thousands of tons of Allied shipping to the bottom of the ocean.

FUND-RAISING DINNER

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — More than 2,000 Democrats are expected to be on hand at the Fontainebleau Hotel March 10 when President Kennedy addresses a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner.

TO ESTABLISH RELATIONS

RABAT, Morocco (UPI)—Morocco and Communist Albania have decided to establish diplomatic relations, the Moroccan press agency announced Sunday. There has been no official announcement, but the agency is controlled by King Hassan II's government. Morocco has diplomatic relations with several other Communist countries, including Russia, which is feuding with Albania, and China, its ally.

Smuggled Photos Depict Castro Dungeon Horrors

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Cuban underground fighter still in Havana has smuggled to New York at the risk of his life a series of concentration camp type pictures of life in Fidel Castro's Cabana fortress.

The photographs were taken by Hiram Gonzalez, a former Castro army lieutenant now a political refugee in the Argentine embassy in Havana. He fled the Cabana fortress prison a few weeks ago on his third escape attempt.

In smuggling his pictures out, he told his colleagues in the 30th of November revolutionary movement in this country that they should be distributed to the world and he should be identified, even if he became a "sacrifice."

Gonzalez insisted he be identified, Cuban exile friends said, because he wanted to lend maximum authenticity to the pictures, believed the first to be made of the lot of political prisoners under Castro's dictatorial regime.

The young rebel officer spent 13 months in Cabana dungeons to which he was sentenced for being too openly anti-Communist to suit armed forces commander Maj. Raul Castro.

Gonzalez took the pictures with a vest-pocket type camera secreted on his person. He had never before taken a picture. He took many more than the 10 capable of reproduction, but most were lost because of his lack of knowledge of photography.

Gonzalez said his cellmates included three founders of Castro's original 26th of July movement, who not only participated in the unsuccessful 1953 attack on a Batista army post but in the original invasion from Mexico in 1952.

U. S. reporters who visited Cabana fortress in the early days of the revolution confirmed the authenticity of the background in Gonzalez's pictures. The pictures were offered to support what Gonzalez described as "bestial treatment" of political prisoners.

The appointment of a four-star general to head up United States military assistance to South Viet Nam emphasizes just how deeply the nation is committed to halting the march of communism in Southeast Asia.

The announcement naming Gen. Paul Harkins to the "United States military assistance command, Viet Nam" was accompanied by a Pentagon spokesman's reminder that American forces in South Viet Nam are "not in combat."

It is true that so far U. S. troops are not stretched out across the country as they were in Korea.

The three or four thousand American military men in South Viet Nam would make up less than a quarter of one reinforced U. S. division.

But the appointment of a four-star general to the new command inevitably raises the question, is the United States heading toward a shooting war in Viet Nam?

The answer probably is that not even the men at the top know for sure. They hope not.

But one high-ranking American in Saigon grimly put it this way to UPI correspondent Merton D. Perry:

"If we have to get out of here, they will have to shoot us out." President Kennedy put it somewhat more mildly when he said "we are assisting in every way we properly can."

That assistance includes American-piloted helicopters to airlift Vietnamese troops into action against guerrilla hideouts and to deprive the Communists of one of the advantages of their extreme mobility.

It includes tough U. S. Rangers who train the Vietnamese in their own guerrilla tactics and accompany them on missions.

It includes sea patrols in an attempt to cut off reinforcements from reaching the Communist fighters from North Viet Nam.

In terms of money, it means that the United States is investing around $2 billion in the hope that South Viet Nam can become a bulwark strong enough also to afford protection to Thailand, Cambodia and Malaya.

Military men and equipment can, if necessary, be withdrawn.

Division Of Estates Explained

The death of an intestate person (one who has made no will) may give rise to many problems regarding distribution of his separate estate. In the preceding column we investigated the manner of dividing the community estate upon the death of a husband or wife. Now we shall see that, where separate property is involved, a completely different set of rules applies in determining heirship and apportioning the estate among the rightful claimants.

It may be well to recall that the separate estate of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Now, here is a general idea as to how your separate property will be divided if you do not make a will with contrary provisions prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and if, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of previously deceased children, the children and their descendants immediately obtain a full (fee) title in two-thirds of the real estate involved. The surviving spouse receives a life interest in the remaining one-third of the real property, which passes on to the children and their descendants upon the death of the spouse.

The rule for distributing personal property — cash, stocks, bonds, furniture, or any other items not constituting real estate — is different. Here the surviving spouse gets full ownership of one-third, and the children and their descendants inherit the balance.

Now suppose your husband or wife survives, but there are no surviving children or their descendants. In this case the surviving spouse inherits all of the personal property involved.

With regard to real estate, the survivor obtains full title to one-half, and the other half is divided between your mother and father, if both survive you. If only one of them survives, he or she receives only half of this portion, and the other half (or one-fourth of the entire real estate) will be divided among your brothers and sisters (and their descendants) who survive. If there are no surviving brothers and sisters and their descendants, then the one surviving parent inherits the full one-half.

Where no parent survives, but there are brothers and sisters and descendants, the full one-half is divided among these survivors.

And, if there are no parents or brothers and sisters (and their descendants) surviving, then the surviving husband or wife inherits all of the real estate.

Perryton And Ochiltree County Candidates File For Election

PERRYTON (Spl) — The first person to file as a candidate for city offices to be filled this year was Spencer Whippo who has entered the race for mayor. Incumbent Drew Ellis has not as yet announced if he will seek re-election.

In the final few days before the deadline, five more persons filed for places in the May 5 primary election for county offices.

Filing for the Republican nomination, the second in Ochiltree county history, was Mrs. Thelma Garner, seeking the county clerk post.

Three candidates are now contesting for the county clerk's job, with the incumbent, Mrs. Helen Herzert, and Mrs. Alene Drake on the Democratic ticket, and Mrs. Garner on the Republican ticket.

Three men, all Democrats, are in the race for county judge, seeking the place being vacated by Gene E. Steed, who is not seeking re-election. Seeking the post are Vance Apple, school tax assessor-collector; H. R. Slaughter, a former judge of Ochiltree County; and Clarence Morris, a teacher in Perryton Junior High School.

Mrs. Ann Suito and Mrs. Juan ita Peterson are in the race for district clerk, a new position on the ballot this year. That office is being divided from the county clerk's office under state law when the Ochiltree county population reached 8,000.

Bob Holt has filed for re-election as surveyor, the first candidate in that race for the salary-less county job.

Battles in the three commissioner positions up for election this year were already drawn, with no new candidates announcing in the last few days before the deadline.

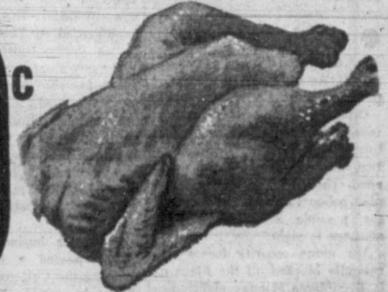

In precinct two, where incumbent Virgil Olmstead failed to file, the Democratic ticket has the names of David Regier, Arthur Swink and Lester Baumann, while W. I. Moleworth stands alone on the Republican ticket.

Incumbent Donald Sell is opposed by Leonard Littau in the race for commissioner in precinct one, while Keith McLain opposes Fay Savage, the incumbent in precinct four. All are Democrats.

Incumbent County Treasurer Carlos Smith, Democrat, is opposed for re-election.

Indonesian Labor Leaders Great

Robert Kennedy

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — U. S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy told Indonesian labor leaders the United States was doing its "best" to settle the West New Guinea dispute "quickly and peacefully."

"We have been friends with Holland for a long, long time," Kennedy said, "and we intend to continue as friends. We fought as allies in World War II and we have boys buried there."

Despite that friendship, Kennedy said "the United States led the struggle for independence of Indonesia more than any other country in the world. Through all our history we have held for our government of people and self-determination."

He said the West New Guinea dispute was a "struggle between two very close friends and we want to try to settle it peacefully. We are doing our best to help and there seems to be a good deal of progress along these lines."

Kennedy visited President Sukarno and other Indonesian leaders, but it was uncertain whether they discussed such things as the New Guinea issue.

Troops and police stood guard on the streets through which Kennedy and his wife rode. Threatened anti-American demonstrations by Communist groups did not materialize.

Mrs. Kennedy had a special escort of her own—two judo-trained policewomen named Dewi and Mardine.

Paris

(Continued From Page 1) march. An estimated 100,000 more persons lined the streets to watch. Officials had feared a possible repetition of the violence that turned last Thursday's demonstration into tragedy, but none developed. The 30,000 special and regular police that had been alerted for possible disturbances were nowhere in sight.

The same security forces successfully blocked off the Place de la Republique Monday night when 20,000 persons defied a government ban to demonstrate. They filed silently through the side streets and no violence resulted.

The demonstration, like the one which turned into tragedy last Thursday, was called to protest against the underground Secret Army Organization (OAS) which is battling to keep Algeria French.

Six bombs exploded in Paris during the day and others went off in Grenoble, Nantes and Versailles. The government blamed them on the outlawed OAS and said they wounded three persons here.

More explosions rocked the cities of Algeria, killing 12 persons and wounding nine. They brought the unofficial total of victims since the first of the year to 763 dead and 1,363 injured.

Weaver Requests 'Open' Suburbs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Robert C. Weaver, who would head the proposed federal department of urban affairs and housing, called today for efforts to "open our suburbs to those non-whites who can afford to live there and want to do so."

Weaver, a Negro and now U. S. housing administrator, said there should be simultaneous redevelopment of older cities to "attract whites back."

Amarillo Youth Takes Dad's Plane On Flight To Raton

RATON, N.M. (UPI)—An Amarillo boy who flew his dad's plane here Monday without permission—and without a flying lesson—said today he didn't know whether to be proud, scared or sorry.

"I always had the feeling I could fly, so I just tried it. It was easy as pie," said David House, 15, who flew his father's new Cessna 172 onto Crew's airport here Monday night at dusk.

House and his 16-year-old track teammate on Tascosa High's team, Craig Adcock, climbed into the plane in Amarillo Monday and took off. David never had had a flying lesson and his father, Walter House, qualified for his pilot's license only last month.

"I watched what my dad did when he went up," said David. "I just did what he said and I made four landings and takeoffs just like daddy," said David in Colfax County jail where he and Craig spent the night.

David said he did not know where he was when he set the plane down, only that it was an

Reds May Allow U.S. Newsmen To Watch Space Shot

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet officials have indicated to at least one American correspondent that Western newsmen may be permitted to cover the next Soviet space shot, it was learned Monday night.

There was no immediate confirmation or official announcement concerning the coverage, but if it is true it would be a major shift in the Soviet policy on space efforts, Western observers said.

All Soviet space attempts to date have been conducted in secrecy with official announcements coming only after successful landings.

It is not known when the next Russian space attempt will take place or what type of shot it will be.

The Russians have come under considerable criticism, particularly from the U.S. press, for the secrecy surrounding its shots in contrast to the open publicity given American space launches at Cape Canaveral.

Soviet launches are believed held at a site 200 miles northeast of the Aral Sea in central Russia.

POINT MUGU, Calif. (UPI)—A Nike Zeus anti-missile missile blew up a few seconds after it was launched Monday night, causing some persons to think an airplane had crashed in flames along the southern California coast.

HOUSTON (UPI)—An official of the American Medical Association (AMA) said Monday an increase in radiation fallout is anticipated in April and "we will be paying more attention to it."

Financial Review

By JESSE BOGUE, UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — A man looks a little odd standing on a crowded sidewalk with his head stuck through a hole in a fence, particularly on a cold day.

Along changing Second Avenue and in other areas of New York City where the tearing down and building seems never to pause, hundreds of well-dressed and otherwise sensible New Yorkers use up parts of their precious lunch hours, or pause on their rush to work, to see what goes on beyond the barricade.

Their activities are duplicated in Chicago, in Detroit, in San Francisco; wherever there is business district building, the sidewalk superintendents are in action.

They are unofficial observers and critics. Yet metropolitan area builders long since have recognized their existence; unless there is danger to the onlooker, the builders pierce the barricades around excavation or construction projects with openings large enough for vision.

When the big buildings begin to rise, one can hear the sidewalk super, occasionally, turn away and say with satisfaction that the "girders are going up."

Maybe so. But was it a girder he saw? Or a column? Or was it a beam even?

For the interested but uninitiated sidewalk superintendent, who would like to talk with understanding about what he saw, Bethlehem Steel Co., which for generations has specialized in the type of structural steel that goes into the skeletons of today's high-rise buildings, has issued a sort of dictionary and guide book.

Equipped with this, the super can talk with assurance when he turns away from the hole in the fence and a less active companion asks, "what'd you see?"

The bodies of the Americans, members of the Army and Air Force, were flown to Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines for positive identification on the basis of dental charts and military records.

The U. S. embassy indicated it would be months before it is determined whether the plane crashed because of mechanical trouble or was shot down by the Communists.

Wreckage was scattered over a wide area on the side of jungle-covered mountain near the town of Biao, about halfway between Saigon and the mountain resort of Dalat.

Reds Claim They Were 'Buzzed'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Moscow radio charged today that two American airplanes buzzed a Soviet oil tanker en route to Cuba.

The broadcast, said a cable from the tanker Maxim Gorky said American planes with wing markings "127-757" and "136-548" buzzed or circled overhead Monday in neutral waters off northern Haiti, near the Windward Passage.

"The provocative buzzing and insolent behavior of the American aircraft, which violates the international rules for sea navigation in peacetime, have made the crew of the ship very indignant," Moscow radio said.

Records Set By Texas Heat Wave

A cold front moved into the Panhandle today and shoved eastward across North Texas but the Weather Bureau said it was so weak and dry it would cause only a slight dip in temperatures.

Even with the cooler air, the Weather Bureau said it will continue "quite warm" in all sections through Wednesday and get even warmer Thursday as the front dissipates.

The unseasonable warmth has set record-highs in several parts of Texas for the month of February.

Both Lubbock and Amarillo had record highs of 86 degrees Monday. It was the third record high in as many days and the second in two days for Amarillo. Pampa had an 85-degree reading in mid-afternoon which also was believed to be a record high for the date here.

Temperatures ranged from 93 degrees at Presidio and 91 at Childress down to a high of 71 at Galveston. Presidio was the hottest spot in the nation as well as Texas.

There was considerable low cloudiness and fog over south central and Southeast Texas once again this morning, and clear to partly cloudy skies over northern sections.

Low temperatures early today ranged from 47 degrees at Lubbock and Amarillo to 55 at Corpus Christi.

Four Burglaries Listed By Police

Four burglaries were reported to police in the past 24 hours. Monday afternoon the son of Mrs. Gena Rice, 304 N. West St. reported that the distributor in his car had been stolen from the parking lot at Pampa high school.

About 2:30 a.m. today, police discovered two boys milling around an old abandoned car on McCullough St. west of Clark St. When police arrived on the scene, the boys picked up some old clothes, rugs and an air breather out of the car and drove away.

Police followed and arrested the two youths in the 1200 block of Wilcox. The two boys, Cecil Wallthell, 1228 E. Darby and Randall L. Shelton, 910 S. Schneider, both 18, were charged with vagrancy and fined $20. Both were being held in city jail today.

About 7:55 a.m., A. E. Berry, an employe at Radcliff Supply company, 112 E. Brown reported that someone had broken in and stolen some small change from a soft drink machine.

About 8:10 a.m., Jean Lewis, owner of the Lewis Hardware, 311 S. Cuyler, discovered after arriving at work, that someone had entered through the air conditioning unit in the ceiling and broken into the cash register. About $38 in cash was taken.

Concert Audience Warmly Receives Israeli Pianist

By BILL HALEY Last night the Pampa Community Concert Association closed its current season with a concert by the Israeli Pianist David Bar-Illan. Two years ago a duo team of pianists from Israel, Eden and Tamir, appeared in Pampa. At that time, due to the antics of anonymous front row hecklers, the artists and the audience ended up at loggerheads. This time the feeling was exactly reversed. The audience although small responded with a spontaneity and enthusiasm that has seldom been heard at a community concert.

Instead of the usual Bach or other classic opening piece, Mr. Bar-Illan began with the Mendelssohn "Rondo Capriccioso." This was followed by "The Wanderer" by Schubert and after that came a suite by a contemporary and relatively unknown composer, Ben-Haim.

The last half of the program consisted of a group of Chopin pieces. Every number was performed in a manner that clearly reached and moved the audience. With the help of his superb piano, Mr. Bar-Illan was somehow able to "fill" the acoustically "dead" auditorium, a feat with which others — even groups of musicians — have not been too successful. The Chopin came through as if the composer himself were playing the music. This was particularly true of the lovely, introspective F Minor Ballade.

Mr. Bar-Illan was clearly the best thing the Community Concert Association brought to Pampa this season.

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China denounced today stepped-up American military aid to South Viet Nam and called it "a grave threat to peace in Indochina and Asia."

But U.S. Marine Corps Lt. Gen. Alan D. Shapley, who just returned to Tokyo, from South Viet Nam, said it was his personal opinion that it would be virtually impossible for Red China to intervene as it did in Korea.

Shapley said he was "quite sure" the Communists will be routed out of Viet Nam but he predicted it would take several years.

Shapley said the problems of distance, terrain and logistics were so great "I think there is no possibility of any large scale Chinese intervention."

Shapley is the commanding general of U.S. Fleet Marine Forces in the Pacific. He made his remarks at a news conference, at the same time a Communist New China News Agency broadcast quoting a commentary in the official Peiping People's Daily newspaper was being monitored here.

Rogers To Push Pampa Air Plea

The Aviation Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce made arrangements today for Rep. Walter Rogers, congressman from Pampa, to represent Pampa at the hearings before the Civil Aeronautics board in Washington Feb. 28, according to Ralph Prock, chairman of the committee.

Prock said it was decided that Congressman Rogers would represent Pampa in conjunction with the oral arguments in connection with the southwestern area local air service case.

Prock pointed out that Pampa was one of 150 southwest towns which have made application for new or improved air service. Central Airlines has made application for service between Amarillo and Dallas-Ft. Worth with stop-offs at Pampa and Wichita Falls.

In other business at the meeting, test plans were set up for an aviation safety clinic to be held in Pampa during April.

Prock said that it was his opinion that would not happen and he also doubted there would be further "heavy infiltration" from Communist North Viet Nam.

Invitations Out For 'Whing-Ding' Ignoring Obscure

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—In the mail came an engraved invitation that set hearts aflutter among the more social conscious recipients.

"The vice president requests the pleasure of your company at a cocktail party and dinner to be given in honor of the occasion," it said.

Some who received the invitation headed straight for the telephone and dialed the "R.S.V.P." number listed on the card. When you live in Washington and the vice president invites you to dinner, you don't waste much time accepting.

Not until they heard the voice on the other end of the line did many of the people on the invitation list suspect that something was screwy.

The R.S.V.P. number, they discovered, put them in touch with one of those dial-a-prayer services which give out recorded messages of inspiration over the phone.

Those who received the invitation should have read it more carefully. They should have noted that it did not say what the occasion was or what the vice president was vice president of.

Then they would have known that it was some kind of a joke and would not have made fools of themselves by thinking they were being asked to dine with Lyndon B. Johnson. Certainly they would not have bragged about it to their friends.

Oh, well, I'll know better next time.

Several days after I swallowed the bait, I learned that the invitation was the handiwork of the William A. Wheeler Association of the Politically Obscure, otherwise known as "WAWA."

According to Tim Colcord, the association's "vice president in charge of being secretary," it was forged by a group of congressional staff employes for the purpose of "honoring the obscure and obscuring the honored."

The association's motto is "Wheeler? Who is he?" That was the classic line spoken by former President Rutherford B. Hayes when he was told that William A. Wheeler was to be his vice presidential running mate.

Once a year, the association members get together to bestow awards on politicians who might otherwise have gone undecorated, and who would have preferred it that way.

There is, for example, the "Harold Stassen Always a Bridesmaid but Never a Bride Award." Another is the "George Washington

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Carpenter
...feted on Golden Date

McLean Pioneers Feted By Children At Reception On Golden Wedding Date

McLEAN (Sp) — Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Carpenter were honored with a reception on their Golden Wedding Anniversary in their home north of McLean. Hosts were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winsett of Roswell, N.M., Dr. and Mrs. Charles Finley, Dr. and Mrs. Jim Carpenter of Lubbock.

The serving table was appointed with a gold-bordered white nylon net cloth over white satin centered with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums flanked by gold tapers. Crystal and silver appointments with individual bridal cakes and napkins inscribed in gold "Grace and Charlie, 1912 1962" completed the decor. Mrs. E. L. Sitter presided at the silver coffee service; Misses Kay Sue Finley, granddaughters of the honorees, registered guests. Other members of the houseparty were Mmes. Glenn White of Shamrock, S. A. Cousins and Wilson Boyd of McLean.

In the receiving line were the honorees; their children, granddaughters, Christie and Cherrie Carpenter. Two granddaughters, Ann and Frances Winsett of Roswell were unable to attend.

On Feb. 6, 1912, Miss Grace McMurry became the bride of Charles Marvin Carpenter in a home ceremony performed by a Baptist minister, the Rev. M. Goodwin in the home of the bride's brother, Charles McMurry, near Clarendon. The couple's first and only home has been in the McLean community. Both Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter are native Texans and Panhandle pioneers. Mr. Carpenter came to Gray County in 1902 from Buda in south Texas. At that time, the town of McLean had only a post office. Mrs. Carpenter came to the Texas Panhandle from Archer County seven years later as a teacher in McLean School.

When Mr. Carpenter was asked what his occupation was at the time of his marriage, he replied, "I was a cowboy" and he has remained close to that occupation to the present time, for all of his adult life has been spent as a rancher and stockman. Although, he has been retired from active duty for a number of years, he and Mrs. Carpenter continue to live in their ranch home.

Dear Abby....
December Love Can Be As Warm As May's

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I know you don't approve of eloping, but this case is different. My Lady Love and I have been keeping company for six years and we want to get married without having the whole town know it.

I am a widower and she is a widow and our children think we are a pair of old fools for wanting to marry at this stage of our lives. I'm a young 77 and my Lady Love is 73. I am serious. Where can we get married on the Q.T.?

DEAR NO: In any small town (preferably out of state) where the newspaper will not be read by those who know you. Applications for marriage licenses are a matter of public information. Good luck, kids!

DEAR ABBY: At Thanksgiving time I met a man my mother didn't approve of. Words cannot express how much I hated her when she tried to talk me out of going with him. He told me he was coming back at Christmas for two weeks and he would bring me an engagement ring. I was so overjoyed I told all my friends. He didn't write. He didn't phone. He didn't even show up. I couldn't locate him where he said

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

Should children be allowed complete freedom with the refrigerator? Yesterday our older girl, without asking me, used up half a meat loaf I had planned to use for supper, to make sandwiches for some friends she brought home from school. She does this all the time. I can never count on fruit, milk or even eggs because of the way she feeds her friends. But when I try to tell her that my food budget can't stand it, she gets angry and says she can't wait to have a home of her own. She is 15 years old.

ANSWER: What did you say when your daughter told you that she was impatient for a home of her own? Did you say:

"You'll have one before you know it, darling. But in the meantime you're living in this one. And even Daddy who earns our food has to tell me when he's bringing home people to eat in order to be sure I have enough food to give them. When you live in a family, they have to help you plan. So instead of fighting with me, why don't you help me plan ways to feed your friends without breaking the budget?"

I think that you didn't say this because you felt threatened by your daughter's criticism of the way you run your refrigerator.

That was too bad. Because her criticism represented a most natural impatience for the day when she'll be running her own, it had nothing to do with you at all but with forces of growth in your daughter for which you are no more responsible than you are for changes of seasons. Her criticism was not directed at you but at time — at the years that must be lived through before your daughter can realize her dream of independence and the management of her own refrigerator.

So we are silly to respond to this kind of adolescent criticism defensively. Nearly always the teen-ager's criticism of the way we do things expresses his hope of doing them differently. It's his way of declaring his intention of leaving us. Instead of saying, "Of course you'll do things in your own way in your own home," we rush to justify the way we budget food, serve meals or organize family holidays and plead for "responsible" understanding of our problems. It never works.

But once the adolescent is reassured that we are all for that different home of his own, he finds it easier to put up with the restrictions of the one he's living in.

Nutrition And Economy Homemakers' First Consideration In Menu Planning

By MRS. T. G. GROVES
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

Mrs. T. G. Groves presented a program on "Money Saving Meals" at the recent meeting of the Merten Home Demonstration Club held in her home, 500 Powell.

"Nutrition is the first consideration a homemaker has for all members of her family," Mrs. Groves stated. "Even the most experienced cook finds it helpful to have a simple guide to go by. The Texas Food Standard of daily portions of milk, eggs, meat, green and yellow vegetables and fruits remind her of health safety rules needed each day. Magazines, newspapers and television programs with menus and ideas will help her in planning for better and lower cost meals."

"Economy is the second consideration," the speaker said and quoted these points to remember: "make a budget and hold a tight string on the purse. The budget is a good plan for saving on grocery buying for menus and must be worked out for each family."

Delegates Named To Grand Lodge

Mrs. Golda Bennett presided as noble grand in the absence of Mrs. Eura Davis, at the Thursday evening meeting of Pampa Rebekah Lodge 355 held in the IOOF Hall, 800 E. Foster.

Mrs. Gladys Mayo served as vice grand. The officers' banquet was postponed to a later date due to illness of Mrs. Davis' husband and other members.

Mrs. Ola McAfee was elected representative and Mrs. Eula Kilian as alternate to the Grand Lodge to be held in Galveston this Spring.

Mrs. Bernice Ladd, lodge deputy, conducted a School of Instruction to conclude the meeting. Thirty-nine members were present.

What one family can afford to spend may be completely out of line for another.

"Planning meals ahead and purchasing in quantities saves time. Preparing foods at home lowers the food budget as partially prepared and ready-to-serve foods may cost more. Select foods in season and on the plentiful list. Waste is a number one cost of food; watch for servings per can or container. Leftovers can be saved or frozen for rush day meals of soups, casseroles or meat pies. Skillet and oven-meals save much preparation and serving."

During the business meeting, Mrs. D. F. Flynn was elected president by acclamation to replace Mrs. Walter Murphy, who is moving to Alva, Okla.

Mrs. Murphy was honored by the group at a Coffee given in Mrs. Flynn's home. As a token of appreciation for her service to the club, she was presented with a necklace and ear rings by the members.

Mrs. Bob Brandon was elected to assume the duties of vice president.

Mrs. Flynn was also named as a candidate to council as a delegate to the THDA district meeting to be held in Pampa on April 12.

Mrs. Loyd Laramore was welcomed as a guest.

It was announced Mrs. Vard Smith, 2218 Chestnut, will be hostess for the next meeting to be held Feb. 20 at 1:30 p.m. The program will be on "Stain Removal."

Refreshments were served during the social hour to Mmes. Jack Prather, V. Smith, D. F. Flynn, Loyd Laramore, William Groves, Bob Brandon, Jack Howard, A. M. Nash and Mrs. Groves.

City Manager Speaker At Mann PTA Meeting

John Koontz, city manager, was guest speaker at the Thursday afternoon meeting of Horace Mann PTA held in the school auditorium.

Mr. Koontz in discussing "Effective Learning For Community Strength," said "To achieve community strength, it will take the combined efforts of city officials, teachers, churches and parents to teach our children their places in the community."

In answering the question "What kind of things can be done with little children to make them better citizens of tomorrow?" Mr. Koontz stated, "The parent's job is to teach children to obey and respect their elders and to teach them to take care of community property. Parents should give their small children extra protection and when they reach the age of 12 to 15, give them extra love and affection. When a child needs punishing, see that he receives it, rather than covering for him. Take a strong hand."

"How does the community help to teach our children to be better citizens?" was asked of the speaker to which he replied "Strong cooperation between parents, schools, churches and every community place. To have a strong community we need the cooperation of everyone.

As part of the program, the Horace Mann School Band, under the direction of Charles Meech presented "Referee's March," "The Three Roses," "Chopsticks," "Melody Lane," and "Fight, Team, Fight."

Jay Channell, minister of the Harvester-Mary Ellen Church of Christ, presented the thought "If a student doesn't go out as a better citizen, we have not taught everything that should have been taught in the classroom and by all other means of teaching."

During a business meeting, conducted by Mrs. James Reeves, president reports were given by Mrs. Walter Davis, secretary and Mrs. Paul Turner, treasurer.

Sam Begert, school principal, Mrs. Earl O'Neal and Mrs. Ralph Collinsworth were named to the nominating committee.

Announcement was made of the need of toys for the Exceptional Children's classes. Articles may be taken to the Pampa Junior High School.

Announcement was made of PTA Founders Day as being Feb. 17; of the Pampa Class

April Showers Won't Wilt These New Spring Suits

NEW YORK (UPI)—Come spring a man can walk out into a shower in his new suit and nothing much will happen to it. The crease will be in the pants to stay and even the jacket will shed water.

The authority for the statement is George Weintraub, vice president in charge of sales for Joseph H. Cohen and Sons, probably the world's largest manufacturer of suits in the mass volume $50-$75 range.

Weintraub, whose firm turns out about 30,000 suits a week in its Philadelphia factory, says the spring suits treated with a new silicone process (Cravenette) will shed ink too but no one recommends trying it.

The spring suits already are en route to the retail houses and Weintraub reports these trends: lighter weight clothes of wool and Dacron blends (45 per cent wool, 55 per cent Dacron), dark suit colors and muted Madras sports jackets.

"There's no question," he said. "People want to feel the difference in the spring. They like the feel of lightweight clothes when the weather changes."

—they don't want to look like a Yankee.

"We have the big duty of serving the masses — what Mr. America wants to buy. Mr. America wants a three-button suit with one-pleat trousers. Mr. Young America wants to look like the East — the eastern look of Yale, Harvard and Princeton.

"The junior executive, the career man wants the vest. He wants the plain front trousers and he wants to look like Mr. East. So by next fall I believe the two button suit will make big inroads."

When President Kennedy turned up on television wearing a two-button suit manufacturers expected the model to make up as much as 10 per cent of the sales by fall. The figure was less than two per cent.

Weintraub, whose firm uses a process called "Crees - Lock," said: "Firms like us probably will go to 100 per cent permanent creased trousers in the future. The figure now is about 60 to 75 per cent."

"A man buys a $50-$75 suit and he buys a crease locked in. Rain, slush, snowstorms. Nothing. Little touching up occasionally. Is all that is necessary. Used to be just wool with permanent crease but we are doing it with the 55 - 45 combination."

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Having advanced almost 35 points from its January low in the industrial average, the market has now reached the point where a heavy supply of stock is available, says Richard T. Leahy of J. W. Sparks & Co.

While he remains "extremely bullish" on a three- to six-month basis, Leahy says it seems that some retracement may now take place in the market. He says a modest decline to the 705-710 zone in the Dow-Jones industrials would set the stage for a new and stronger assault on the peaks of mid-December, 1961.

Since the market has regained over 50 per cent of the December to January loss in eight sessions, there is likely to be some quick profit-taking on further advances, says Ralph Rotnem of Harris, Upham & Co. However, the analyst adds, recent behavior has probably frightened the bears so that there seems to be a fair chance that late January saw the lows for some time.

Oppenheimer, Neu & Co. says.

Harvesters Hoping To Smash Sandies Tonight

Ohio State Sets New Big Ten Victory Mark

By United Press International
Ohio State's bumptious Buckeyes owned a Big Ten conference record of 24 consecutive victories today and Kentucky coach Adolph Rupp owned added respect for the stalling tactics employed by Mississippi State.

The top-ranked Buckeyes smashed the Big Ten victory mark established by Wisconsin in 1913 by walloping Michigan, 72-57, Monday night at Ann Arbor while Mississippi State snapped Kentucky's 16-game victory streak by upsetting the third-ranked Wildcats, 49-44, at Lexington.

Jerry Lucas, Ohio State's All-American center, had an off night against Michigan, contributing only 13 points. However, the unbeaten Buckeyes still had enough guns to wrap up their 19th victory of the season. Their last conference loss came at the hands of Indiana in the 1959-60 season.

Michigan trailed by only five points with less than eight minutes to play but Ohio State then opened a comfortable lead behind the shooting of John Havlicek, who finished with 15 points. Tom Nole had 17 for the Wolverines.

Mississippi State used a slow, deliberate attack and a shifting zone defense in surprising Kentucky. The Maroons took only 26 shots from the floor and clicked on 18 of them for a remarkable 69.2 per cent shooting average.

Leland Mitchell, who scored 17 points for State, tossed in the game's first basket on a lay-up and the Maroons immediately went into their stall. They frequently held the ball for more than a minute before working quick-moving pickoffs around Joe Dan Gold playing a high post.

This slow-down completely befuddled the Wildcats, who fell behind 28-22 at halftime and never caught up.

"We knew it, we knew it," Rupp moaned at the finish. "The team that got the first basket was going to win and they got it."

Coch Babe McCarthy, of Mississippi State admitted his boys "did a great job" in tying Kentucky for the Southeastern Conference lead.

"We planned all the time to use the stall," McCarthy added. "It's not wise to come to Kentucky and try to run them off the court."

Second-ranked Cincinnati ran its record to 20-2 by clobbering visiting George Washington 83-43, and fifth-ranked Bradley hung on to first place in the Missouri Valley Conference by turning back Drake, 83-77.

Cincinnati Coach Ed Jucker used his entire 13-man squad in an attempt to keep the score down after the Bearcats breezed to a 40-13 halftime lead. But even the Cincy subs outscored the Colonials who suffered their 13th loss in 19 games. Paul Hogue and Tom Thacker led the Bearcats with 13 points each.

Bradley totaled 29 field goals to Drake's 28 but clicked on 25 of 26 free throws in posting its 17th victory in 20 games. Five of the Braves scored in double figures, led by All-American Chet Walker's 23 points.

Len Chappell turned in one of the season's greatest performances with a 5-point barrage that carried Wake Forest to a 116-67 victory over Virginia. Chappell totaled 18 field goals and 14 of 19 free throws to help the Deacons tie Duke for first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

All-American Terry Dischinger also enjoyed one of his best nights as he outscored Iowa's Don Nelson, 38 to 21, in sparking Purdue to an 82-75 triumph. In other Big Ten games, Wisconsin rolled to a 103-94 victory over Indiana despite a 44-point spurge by the Hoosiers' Jim Ray and Illinois bombed Northwestern 88-70.

Colorado clung to first place in the Big Eight Conference by downing Oklahoma, 64-56; Miles Aiken's 30 points helped St. Bonaventure whip DePaul, 68-69; Butler rallied to defeat Notre Dame, 66-77; Iowa State outclassed Nebraska, 79-66; Virginia Tech belted William and Mary, 104-65, behind Bucky Keller's 30 points; Vanderbilt edged LUS 70-67; Alabama downed Georgia, 79-72, and Oklahoma State beat Kansas, 72-68.

Yanks Sign Turley, Blanchard To Pacts

United Press International
This is a story that doesn't rate headlines but does rate a moment's pause among those who claim there is no sentiment in baseball.

The story concerns Clint Courtney, who never was one of baseball's bigger names and certainly ranks pretty close to the bottom of the barrel now.

Courtney signed with Houston as a free agent Monday in a move that didn't raise any eyebrows or any hopes that the fledgling Colts are now in prime shape to make a bid for the National League pennant.

Clint has had his day in the sun, such as it was. He'll be 25 next month, he never could run a lick to begin with and about all you can say of his hitting is that he's still in there trying.

Paul Richards, Houston's general manager, knows all this and plenty more. But he's a Courtney admirer.

"I have never seen a ball player who hustled more in all my life," Richards says. "A manager can ask Courtney to go through fire and Clint never asks 'which way,' he just goes."

Richards learned all about Courtney while he was managing the Baltimore Orioles. The club's two other catchers had so much trouble holding on to Hoyt Wilhelm's knucklers that Richards ordered a special out-sized glove which he looked design.

"The glove looked ludicrous and no one cared to wear it. 'Any volunteers?' Richards asked one day.

"I'll wear it," Courtney piped up.

And he did, squatting on his haunches in a game against the Yankees and becoming the first Baltimore catcher to handle Wilhelm through nine innings without a passed ball.

Courtney, however, didn't get his latest job with Houston for that alone.

One day shortly after mid-season last year, Richards was informed that Rochester of the International League, a club with which the Orioles worked, needed a catcher desperately.

"You don't have to go back to the minors if you don't want to," Richards told Clint, "but if you did you'd be doing the organization a big favor."

Courtney listened silently. Richards went on, explaining that he himself might be with a new major league club in 1962, but whatever club it was, there would be a catching job for Courtney.

"Heck, Paul, I dunno if I'm a big league catcher anymore," said the forthright Clint.

"Whether you are or not," Richards promised, "you'll have a job with me."

So Courtney went off to Rochester and Richards made good on his promise Monday. It will mark the fourth time in Courtney's career that he will be working under Richards. You'd almost have to conclude the guy likes him.

There were a number of other signings Monday. Third baseman Frank Malzone, catcher Russ Nixon and rookie pitcher Billy MacLeod signed with the Boston Red Sox.

Malzone hit .266 last season and Nixon .298, but the boy to keep your eye on is MacLeod, a 20-year-old southpaw sidearm who won 15 games in the class B Carolina League last year. This youngster has a fast ball that whistles and could make the big jump to the majors this year.

Pampa Playing In Final League Home Contest

Pampa's Harvesters will try to peak their head out of the loop cellar tonight when they entertain Amarillo's Sandies at the Harvester fieldhouse at 8 p.m.

The Harvesters, who are tied with the Sandies for last place in the district standings with 3-9 records, will be playing their final game of the season before the partisan throng and their next to the last game of the year, Pampa finishes up against Plainview in Plainview Thursday night.

The Harvesters will be seeking to avenge the 72-68 loss the Sandies inflicted on them in Amarillo during the first round of play and also try to up their over-all season mark, which is 15-12 for the year.

This could be the game where Randy Matson makes his bid for the district scoring title also. The rugged 6-6 post man made it 712 in district play this year with 27 points against Monterey's Plainsmen last Friday, tying his total mark for loop action of last year and putting him in an advantageous position of possibly annexing the scoring crown this year.

Currently, Matson is fighting it out with Jackie Swanner of Plainview and Chester Dunavin of Amarillo for the scoring crown going into the last two games of the season. Matson's duel with Dunavin tonight is expected to be a fierce one from start to finish as it was the last time these two stalwarts met, with Matson hitting for 16 and Dunavin finding the range with 20 points.

Rounding out the starting five for the Harvesters will be Wayne Kries and Gordon Balch at the guard slots and Bob Neslage and Lloyd Balch at the forward positions.

A strong bench crew of Keith Swanson, Mike Stewart and Gary Sikes will help bolster the five key men in Coach Terry Cully's attack tonight. Sikes is one of the brighter prospects of the Harvesters for next year, with two more years of eligibility yet. Sikes had six points against league-leading Monterey and showed promise of being a leading candidate to replace either Neslage or Lloyd Balch, both of whom will be seeing action for the final two times this year.

Besides the brilliant playmaking of Dunavin, the Sandies will bring two more big guns into the Harvester arena in the person of Jim Hill and Leon Pope. Hill fired in 26 points and Pope had 18 the last time the Harvesters and the Sandies collided.

In the opener, the Shockers will battle the Amarillo B team at 6:15.

The Shockers own a 7-5 record in loop play and a 17-6 record overall. The Shockers will field a starting contingent of Donnie Ayers, Kenny Hebert, Ricky Stewart, Larry Clifton and Mike Bridges.

Lee Eighth, Ninth Could Annex Cage Titles In Contest Today

Lee Junior High eighth and ninth grade cagers will both be seeking to sew up the district titles today when they tangle with cross-town rival Pampa junior high in a pair of cage contests at the Pampa junior high gym.

The ninth grade game starts at 4 p.m. with the eighth grade tilt following.

Both the Lee eighth and ninth grade teams sport 9-1 marks in loop play and need only one more win in their remaining two games to clinch the title. Both teams clinched a tie for the title by virtue of their victories over Dumas last week.

Lee ninth won over Dumas, 34-31 to give them a 11-3 record overall. Lee eighth, on the other hand increased their season mark to 11-1 with their 38-30 conquest of Dumas last week.

Lee ninth will be led by David McDaniels, Robert Howard and Charles Snuggs. McDaniels had 13 and Howard 10 to pace the locals in the Dumas contest.

Leading the way for Lee eighth will be David Cain and Gary Crossland, each of whom found the range with 11 points apiece against Dumas.

Lee's ninth and eighth grade cagers could make it a complete sweep for the local school if they should annex their respective titles today. Lee seventh already has copped their title.

Following their games today, both eighth and ninth grade teams wind up their season against Austin of Berger Thursday here at 4 p.m.

Aggies Sign Three Top Grid Stars

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Texas A&M College announced Monday three top Texas schoolboy football stars have signed pre-enrollment applications.

They are Ed Burt of Sweeny, Bob Cissell of Waco, and Wayne Foster of Lavega (Waco).

Burt is a 180-pound halfback who made the Texas Sports Writers Association's all-state team and won all-district honors three years.

Cissell was on the Wigwam Wisemen All-America squad. He is an all-district 171-pound halfback.

Foster is a 195-pound guard who made the Super-Centex team picked by a Waco newspaper, and was all-district.

Aggie Swimmers Down Raiders

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Texas A&M beat Texas Tech 53-42 yesterday in a dual swimming meet.

Brothers Bob and Bill Baker accounted for 2½ of the Aggie points between them. Bob won two events, Bill won one and placed second in another, and both swam legs on a winning relay team.

Ponies In Win Or Else Tilt Tonight

By United Press International
It's win-or-else for Southern Methodist tonight in the South-west Conference basketball race. SMU travels to Lubbock to take on leading Texas Tech. A win for the Ponies would throw them, Tech and the winner of tonight's Texas-Texas A&M game into the thick of the championship battle.

A loss would virtually eliminate the Ponies, plus the loser of the Lonsborn-Aggie battle.

Tech stands at 6-2 in title play this year. A win would move the Raiders two full games ahead of SMU, now tied with A&M for second place at 5-3. Texas is fourth at 4-3, still within striking distance if the Raiders should falter.

But a win for SMU would make it possible for four-time losers Rice and Arkansas to get back into the picture. One of those teams is due to fall tonight, however, as the two collide at Houston.

The other conference game tonight has Texas Christian hosting Baylor at Fort Worth. The winner escapes the cellar.

Saturday, Rice plays SMU at

PGA Tourney Starts Today

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI)—The annual PGA Seniors championship, a $25,000 tourney, began today with the first of a record 392 golfers teeing off at the PGA National Golf Course.

The huge field, the largest on record, was split into two groups—those 50-54 years old and those 55 and up—with the older bracket firing its first round today and the younger division shooting the first 18 holes Wednesday.

The second round will be played Thursday and Friday, after which the field will be cut to the low 125 scores for third round play Saturday and the final round Sunday.

Defending champion Paul Runyon was back to seek a new title, as was last year's runnerup, Jimmy Demaret.

The winner gets $2,000 of the prize money, plus an additional $2,000 to go to England and play the British senior champion. Runyon also won that contest last year.

Buckeyes Are Still Leading

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bradley, Oregon State and Mississippi State each advanced three places today in the United Press International college basketball ratings, which were topped by Ohio State for the 11th straight week.

Mississippi State, with an 18-1 record through last Saturday night's games, made its first appearance of the season among the top 10 teams, in the No. 8 spot.

Bradley, the Missouri Valley Conference leader, jumped from 8th place to 5th, and Oregon State, a West Coast independent with a 17-1 record, advanced from 9th to 6th.

Meanwhile, Ohio State once again received the first-place votes of 34 of the 35 leading coaches, who comprise the UPI rating board. One coach continued to hold out for Kentucky as his No. 1 choice.

Ohio State, Cincinnati and Kentucky were rated 1-2-3, for the fifth straight week, while Kansas was No. 4 for the third week in a row.

In the matter of points (distributed on a 1-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th place), Ohio State led Cincinnati, 349 to 297, with Kentucky only 9 points behind the Bearcats.

Coach Fred Taylor's Buckeyes, undefeated in their first 18 games, now have led the ratings since the opening week of the 1960-61 season.

Duke fell two notches to 7th place this week, and Duquesne and Southern California each dropped three places to 9th and 10th, respectively.

Bowling Green, 10th last week, dropped back to a tie for 12th place with St. John's. Villanova headed the second 10 group, Utah was 14th, followed in order by UCLA, Loyola (Ill.), Arizona State University, Colorado, West Virginia and Washington.

Mann Sixth Tops Pee Wee Cage Loop

Mann and Houston emerged as the top teams in the Pee Wee basketball loop at the end of the first half of play.

Mann, sporting a 5-0 mark in sixth grade action held a 5-1 in one-half game lead over second place Austin, which is 5-1 thus far.

Houston, on the other hand has a clean 6-0 record for a one game lead over second place Austin in fifth grade action. Austin is 5-1 at this point.

Last week's results in sixth grade action found Austin downing Houston 30-19 and Wilson topping Travis, 32-7 on Thursday. Saturday Houston beat Travis, 34-16; Mann walloped Wilson, 28-13 and Lamar won over Baker, 34-20.

In fifth grade action last Thursday, Houston won over Austin, 11-5 and Travis downed Wilson, 14-9. Saturday's results found Travis easing past Houston, 12-11; Wilson won over Mann, 15-12 and Baker eked past Lamar, 13-12.

Newest Nuclear Sub Is Launched

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (UPI) — The Navy launched its newest nuclear powered submarine in traditional ceremonies here yesterday.

Barb, a vessel whose performance capabilities have not been made public, is named for a famed World War II submarine. Adm. Eugene Fluckey, a Medal of Honor winner who commanded the World War II Barb, spoke at the launching ceremonies. His wife christened the vessel.

The Barb is the third nuclear sub built by Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp. here and is the first of a series of four nuclear subs in the Thresher class to be built by Ingalls. Ingalls earlier turned out two subs in the Skipjack class.

U.S. Planes Defy Block By Russia

BERLIN (UPI)—Allied military and commercial planes flew the air corridors into West Berlin as usual today despite earlier Russian attempts to reserve parts of two of them for their own use. Western officials said there was no doubt the Communists were trying to undercut the West's most important links with the isolated city. The Allies were determined not to retreat an inch. Passengers aboard regular commercial flights over East Germany reported no unusual Russian activity in the corridors. However, commercial planes usually fly higher than the altitudes the Russians had tried to restrict for their own flights.

The officials called the Communist demands the most serious challenge to date of Western rights in Berlin, which lies deep inside East Germany. But they said that any Western backdown would only lead to further demands and restrictions.

Safety Belts

LONDON (UPI) — The British Standards Institution has predicted that more than one million car safety belts will be sold in Britain this year.

Youth Twists For 32 Hours To Win Title Of Champ

HARLOW, England (UPI) — Kevin O'Brien, 21, claimed a new endurance record for dancing the twist Sunday night after 32 hours and 32 minutes of wiggling.

O'Brien outlasted 19 men, 10 girls and three bands to pick up a $140 prize and the title of "world twist champion." The contest benefited a local charity.

Each competitor was insured for $28,000 against dropping dead from exhaustion. They were allowed three-minute breaks every hour to rest on stretchers and every four hours took 20 minutes off to eat.

Mary Moulds, 17, kept up with the men for 20 hours and 40 minutes—in high heels—but she was no match for O'Brien and Les Lane, 21, who lasted 32 hours.
