Cloudbursts Hit Big Spring Area In Storms' Wake

Powell Creek lake was coursing around its spillway Monday morning in the wake of localized thunderstorms which turned loose young cloudbursts in some areas.

Heavyets hit the territory south and south west of Big Spring, with falls up to four inches reported in Glasscock county. West of Big Spring the amount topped two inches, heavier than the 1.24 reported by the U. S. weather bureau at the airport and the 1.21 at the U. S. Experiment Farm north of the city.

Glasscock Gets Flood-Size Rains Sunday Night

GARDEN CITY, May 16 (Sp)—Torrential downpours that were practically of flood proportions in some areas covered Glasscock county Sunday night.

Approximately 125,000,000 gallons of water was added to the Powell Creek reservoir on the strength of torrential rains in the Forsan sector. Moss Creek lake, three miles to the northwest, was not raised perceptibly. Powell was raised 3 1/2 feet.

Considerable area of the southwest and central western portions of Howard county will have to be replanted. The eastern half and the northern part, above Fairview, where young lakes appeared, did not have such heavy showers.

M. Weaver reported 1.4 inches on his farm a mile and a half north of town, and beyond that the old Moore school house had 2.15 inches. Wilkerson ranch, extreme western Howard county, measured 2.4 inches.

A. J. Stallings reported about an inch and a half in the Lomax vicinity, where the J. Y. Robb farm reported "good rains."

Southeastern Big Spring had 1.56, according to one gauge, and beyond Couden the fall began to slacken rapidly to an inch around Midway and to approximately half at Coahoma. Hettie Read, north of Coahoma, reported 1/2 of an inch. Knott had half an inch and around Ackery and northward only a sprinkle was reported. Intense rain fell at Luther, in north-central Howard county, and near there Virgil Little reported .55 of an inch, added to half an inch received Friday night.

The area immediately below Forsan was hard hit by a violent storm which dumped water in sheets to inundate the highway. Sections of the Big Spring-Garden City road were closed.

Some of those obliged to replant will do so for a third time. Meantime, a comeback on the strength of rains that have persisted since mid-April.

Streets washed badly in Big Spring and deltas piled up at some intersections on key streets. City workers were concentrating Monday on clearing these. Detention dams on Main and Gregg streets and the Birdwell tank in the center of the city trapped large volumes of water from intermittent, and at times intense, showers during the night.

GROMYKO SLIPS IN INTERVIEW

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—Andre A. Gromyko has switched from "no" to "maybe." "Americans and Russians can work together if they want to," the Russian No. 1 deputy foreign minister said yesterday.

Grant Permission For Tidelands Suit

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The Supreme court today granted the government permission to sue Texas and Louisiana in an effort to establish paramount rights of the United States to rich oil lands off their coasts.

The court authorized the filing of suits in a brief order. No explanatory opinions were handed down. Justice Jackson took no part in the case.

Soviet News Agency Hits West Powers

MOSCOW, May 16 (AP)—The official Soviet news agency said today the Western Powers were going to talk things over "behind the backs of the Soviets" before the Paris session of the foreign ministers council convenes.

Texas and Louisiana, with millions at stake, argued that the United States may not sue any state unless it consents to be sued. They refused to give their consent. The two states contended that if the federal government was permitted to file suits against them, similar suits may be filed against 19 other coastal states and the seven states bordering the Great Lakes.

'I FIGURED WE WERE ALL DEAD DUCKS'

AMARILLO, May 16. — "Our nado. When the hail began battering our roof so hard that it sounded like bricks, I sensed something was coming. I had never seen strange weather like this. I got my family together and got them under a bed in the bedroom. I had our youngest child, Mike, 14 months old, huddled up to my stomach. My wife was holding Marilyn, She's three years old. And Mark, who is four, was there with us.

Four Persons Killed By Amarillo Storm

Estimate Damage Over $1 Million

AMARILLO, May 16. (AP)—A skipping, whipping tornado chewed up a four-square mile area in southern Amarillo last night, killing four people. About 65 were injured.

It was the first destructive tornado in the 62-year-old history of this Panhandle capital of 102,000 people. Captain Polk Ivy of the Texas Highway Patrol, state liaison officer in the disaster area, said local officials predict damage will total "something over one million dollars."

Dawn found Red Cross and volunteer workers still picking their way through acres of shambles. It looked as if a big kitchen mixer dipped in, stirred everything up and then spewed it around.

Although many sections of Amarillo were hit, the tornado's most destructive blow fell on the southern area dotted largely with new homes of veterans. A near cloudburst—and hailstones as large as a man's fist—added to the damage.

Ambulances and highway patrol units funneled into Amarillo from a 200-mile radius, bringing injured to the crowded hospitals. Red Cross people flew in from St. Louis.

To property damage there may be added heavy loss to crops in the wheat-rich Texas Panhandle—that part of the state which juts up to the north, bordered by New Mexico and Oklahoma. Hail such as fell here would destroy the near-ripe wheat—but smashed communication lines made it difficult to discover the extent of the hailstorm.

Three carloads of pigs, smashed free from their freight-car prisons, rooted in the wreckage here. Curious sight seers thronged streets littered with tossed rooftops, smashed cars, shredded lumber and toppled trees. Some rooftops had been blown a mile.

Night rescue work was carried on by the lights of cars, ambulances and trucks. Electric power was out. The dead were: Mrs. Lois Martin, 30. Eva McPherson, 56. George McPherson, 67. Mrs. Charles Maserang, age unknown.

Cars by the hundred massed at the edge of the storm's handiwork. One person on the edge of the throng was heard to cry: "Let me in there. I have a home in there."

The twister seemed to hit first on 28th St. It moved south. Roofs left houses in the whirling wind and trees were uprooted and laid on their side.

Louis Nordyke of the Amarillo Globe-News said officials at the tradewinds airport in Amarillo reported 45 planes were destroyed and that two hangars were flattened. Damage there alone was estimated at $200,000. Nordyke said Massey-Harris, biggest farm implement dealer in the Panhandle, reported another $200,000 damage. Most of it was in badly needed wheat combines and other harvesting equipment.

Tornadoes hit elsewhere in the Panhandle. They knocked out telephone and telegraph lines, but the damage at places except Amarillo was believed light.

State highway patrol units from Lubbock, Plainview, Fort Worth and Wichita Falls came to assist in rescue work. Gov. Beauford Jester's office at Austin called for blood plasma.

South Amarillo was a scene of twisted, grotesque wreckage. The twister missed the giant U. S. helium plant, located in the direction from which the twister came.

Ten or more cars of a moving Santa Fe freight train were blown off the track. It was suddenly still, just before the twister hit, then it was like a great explosion.

CAPTAIN AND EX-PASSENGER

Four Polish diplomats were at the court when the car with Eisler arrived. Police Ambassador Jerry Michalowski has a date with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin later in the day to protest because Scotland Yard men lured the squirming Eisler from the ship.

At his hearing in Southampton earlier, before four men and two woman magistrates, Eisler remained silent.

The accompanying letter to Mayor Dabney from Albert Sidney Johnson, the state association's vice president, says "I want to extend our congratulations and express the fervent hope that Big Spring will receive a similar award for 1949."

Miraculous Escape Told By Storm Victim

AMARILLO, May 16. — "Our nado. When the hail began battering our roof so hard that it sounded like bricks, I sensed something was coming. I had never seen strange weather like this. I got my family together and got them under a bed in the bedroom. I had our youngest child, Mike, 14 months old, huddled up to my stomach. My wife was holding Marilyn, She's three years old. And Mark, who is four, was there with us.

He had been torn away from us while the house was spinning. I was covered with lumber and boards and so was the rest of my family but I dug myself out and then dug them out of the lumber and the mud and we got to this hospital."

12; June, 11; Sam, 9; and John, 4—huddled in the living room of their home while the house came to pieces. They escaped after the roof blew off by running out under a tree. Persefield said: "I have never heard such a roar. It was really terrific. After we ran outside I saw a car go up the street and back and tried to halt it, but then I saw that the car was not being driven, it was being blown."

Local RC Ready To Aid Storm Victims

The Howard-Glasscock county chapter of the American Red Cross is standing by to give aid to Amarillo if needed. As news of the tornado at Amarillo were received, Jack Y. Smith, chapter chairman, communicated with national, reiterating the chapter's readiness to send aid. However, the Potter county chapter and national moved it promptly and to need of assistance outside of the immediate area was indicated.

Mentally Ill Should Not Suffer Because They Cannot Plead Case

Behind the bars of Texas mental hospitals are 15,000 persons who can neither vote nor speak of their own desperate needs.

Yet these citizens, more than any of us, depend on the generosity of our democratic processes for their food, their shelter, and their very existence. Their fate is ultimately in the hands of the Legislature, which must provide the money for their care.

Insanity is, to most of us, an unpleasant and fearful illness. It is human nature to put distressing things from our thoughts, and apparently this is just what we have done with our mentally ill. Neglect and indifference over many years must account for the concentration camp conditions which exist today in Texas institutions.

But we can no longer excuse our neglect by claiming ignorance, or by pretending that the situation does not exist. This newspaper recently printed a series of factual articles on the seven Texas hospitals. The conditions which were described should have convinced anyone that our mentally ill can be neglected no longer.

Hospital superintendents, private doctors, relatives of mental patients, and citizens in every walk of life, have commended these articles. Excerpts have been read on the floor of the Legislature. Letters, statements, and public comments leave no doubt that Texans are horrified at the way our mentally ill are being treated. Governor Jester has asked the Legislature to meet the problem adequately.

The appropriations bill for these hospitals is being held back behind the departmental and higher education bill. Reports from the Capitol have suggested that the Senate is hesitating over the $22,000,000 necessary building program it carries for the next two years. This in spite of urgent warnings from doctors and administrators that without this building expansion, mental patients will overflow into the jails shortly.

Finance problems of the state are relatively severe. Many big single-shot appropriations bills for new agencies or activities are being held back. Yet the Senate voted $30,000,000 for a new road program, and other millions for additional school costs. The departmental and college bills call for enormous sums. Important as these things may be, none can claim priority over the elementary human consideration of adequate care of the helpless mentally ill. Concentration pens in obsolete firetraps and barred cells in county jails are not the answer.

Too often in past years, the building program for the state hospitals has had to take the scraps after other appropriations were made. It is the earnest hope of the people of Texas that neither the Senate nor the House will let this happen now, in what we choose to term a period of enlightened humanitarianism.

The plight of the mentally ill has been brought to public attention. It is conceded, and the state's urgent needs have been pinpointed by hospital administrators, by Governor Jester's messages to the Legislature, by studies made by legislators and state agencies.

The mentally ill should not suffer simply because they cannot appear to plead their own tragic conditions and their own pathetic needs. The Texas tradition to help those who through no fault of their own cannot help themselves should guarantee human care and adequate medical treatment of our mentally afflicted.

John L. Trying To Live Up To Picture Painted By Biographer

WASHINGTON, MAY 14. (AP) JOHN L. Lewis, whose scowl and tactics may have made him seem sort of set in his ways, isn't too old to learn.

At 60 he's trying something new: A smoother way of getting along with the public and the coal mine owners, his old antagonists.

Lewis has been a famous labor leader at least 30 years. He's moved from strike to strike and crisis to crisis in the coal fields.

He has roared at and denounced roundly, publicly, and loudly, the mine owners with whom he's had to bargain for his miners.

And year by year, whether or not you liked his tactics, he's won new and greater benefits for them.

But there's always been a question in people's minds: Could he have done the same for his miners without the great strikes that cost the nation coal, the owners profits, and the miners wages?

The question never will be answered, of course, but Lewis' tactics have won him a lot of public criticism.

MAYBE THE BAD REVIEWS HE'S been getting in recent years every time he has come thundering into public view have disturbed him.

At any rate, he's not so set in his ways that he's not willing to learn something new. And he's willing to pay to learn.

On his payroll now he has Allied Syndicates, Inc., to help him out in his public relations.

And a friend of long-standing, George Creel, who headed Woodrow Wilson's committee on public information in World War I, has slipped into town for a month to give Lewis a hand.

Creel at 73 is four years older than Lewis. He's an old-time newspaperman, author and magazine writer. And he feels this way about labor management relations:

If labor and management are going to do decent bargaining when they sit down together, it's a good idea for them not to build up ill-will before hand by name-calling.

This week Lewis' publicity firm, Allied Syndicates, Inc., got out a 5½-page sketch of Lewis. You can be sure it's favorable to him.

It pictures him as a spiteful genial man, which he probably is in a petty of the times he's roared and scowled. It says:

"In private life, Mr. Lewis is by no means the 'gruff scowler' that many cartoonists and writers have endeavored to depict. He is one of the most affable, big-hearted men on the American scene."

And tomorrow Creel will distribute a report on the miners' health and welfare fund which Lewis won from the mine owners.

TRUSTING CREEL, LEWIS HAD MANY times asked him to come with him a bit. But some time ago Creel got sick in China, went to Baltimore for treatment, and stopped off here a month on his way back to California to help his friend, Lewis.

In the past few years Lewis has been explosive, has called big strikes, has been fined for contempt of court, and has gone roaring on his way.

Now suddenly probably under the soft-stroking of his publicity advisers his mood and approach seem to have changed, and softened.

In other springtimes when his contract with the mine owners was coming to an end, Lewis rumbled and hit the war drums.

This year it was different. He has started dealings with the owners on a new contract in a quiet and peaceful mood.

But you'll have to wait to learn how long that will last if the mine owners don't see things big John's way.

Individuals Disagree On Whether Mankind Is Getting More Cruel

NEW YORK, MAY 14. (AP) — THE POOR Man's Philosopher asks:

"Is mankind getting more cruel? This is a question in many minds today. And many have decided in their own hearts that the answer is: 'Yes.'"

Such a conclusion is bad indeed for the world. For if a majority of people really believed mankind were getting more cruel, then mankind would soon actually be more cruel. For what men believe they are, they tend in time to become.

But most people just wonder about whether cruelty is dying or growing. Here is what a few have said to me:

Today's Birthday

MARGARET SULLIVAN, born May 16, 1911, in Norfolk, Va., daughter of a broker. Now famous for her role in "The Voice of the Turtle," she became an actress against the wishes of her family. From recitations at six, she advanced through school plays and finally held her way through dramatic school in Boston by selling books at the Harvard Co-Op. She was one of the founders of the University Players' Guild at Falmouth on Cape Cod. In 1936 she got the lead in the Southern company of "Strictly Dishonorable." Several years in the movies followed, before her triumph in "The Turtle." Marriages to Henry Fonda and William Wyler ended in divorce. She is now the wife of Leonard Hayward and the mother of three children.

A NEGRO STEWARD—"PEOPLE ARE more cruel, because they aren't as polite as they were even 20 years ago. And how about these stories in the papers of children killing other children? Isn't that a terrible sign of what's wrong?"

A Combat Veteran—"I don't know. But I do know we had more fellow feeling between men fighting overseas than we do now at home in peace."

A Businessman—"People aren't getting more cruel. They're just being crowded harder—that's all."

An Experienced Editor—"The cussedness man was born with just has more chance to show itself now."

A Salesgirl—"When I get up in the morning, I don't think people are getting any more cruel. But by 5 o'clock in the afternoon I'm not so sure. I guess how you feel about that depends on what's happened to you."

IT IS A MIXED UP QUESTION AT best. Perhaps in no other generation in history have the devil and the angel in man's dual nature contended harder for the mastery of his soul.

In what other 35-year period have more people been starved to death, destroyed in warfare, executed in mass murders, or killed by accidents?

Yet in what other similar period have more people won or sustained political independence? In what other period has mankind made more social progress, achieved greater economic freedom, or made such startling conquests over disease?

It is hard to decide whether many of mankind's steps are forward or backward. Life grinds people differently than it did a century ago. The wears and tears are different.

Taxpayers Footing Doctor's Bills Of Solons Fighting Socialized Medicine

WASHINGTON — They don't want it advertised, but the same senators and congressmen who balk at voting a health program for others are accepting "socialized medicine" for themselves.

Their aches and pains are treated by a government doctor whose fees are paid by the taxpayers. He is Dr. George W. Calver of the Navy, who guards over the health of the nation's lawmakers.

Ever since two congressmen died of heart attack in 1928, Dr. Calver not only has kept on office on Capitol Hill, but serves as "family doctor" to members of Congress.

Twice a year, he also sends congressmen out to Bethesda Naval Hospital for complete laboratory tests. All the bills, except prescriptions for medicine, are charged to the taxpayers—though the laboratory fees alone would cost $150 at a private hospital.

In case of serious illness, members of Congress are admitted to Army and Navy hospitals. They pay $8.75 per day—slightly more than it would cost them to stay home, and about one-third what it would cost a private hospital.

Yet this small fee covers doctors bills, nurse service and even surgery.

Dr. Calver also keeps a special watch for heart trouble which used to kill 28 victims in Congress in a single year. By running his celebrated patients through his own heart clinic, he has cut down on congressional deaths by 7 per cent.

Meanwhile the senators and congressmen who receive all this medical pampering have bottled up the President's health program which would offer similar benefits to the American people.

For anyone except congressmen, the doctors' lobby would call this "socialized medicine."

Not only do the lawmakers but their staffs can go to Dr. Calver for treatment. His office handles approximately 60,000 patient-visits each year—a full-time job not only for Dr. Calver but also an assistant doctor, nine nurses and three Navy enlisted men.

NOTE—Though no longer with the Navy, Dr. Calver still draws a rear admiral's pay.

ALLEGED FRIEND President Truman is still waiting to learn whether handsome Curtis Calder, chairman of the giant Electric Bond & Share Holding Corporation, is going to accept the post of Secretary of the Army. Meanwhile, congressmen recall Calder as a friendly lobbyist seen around Capitol Hill during the days of the holding corporation fight, but who actually didn't know the big shots as well as he imagined.

Calder was fond of telling people how he and Speaker Sam Rayburn were bosom pals.

"I just dropped in on Sam," Calder told Ganson Purcell, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission. "We've been friends for years. You know, I am from Texas, too."

A day or so later Chairman Purcell bumped into Speaker Rayburn himself.

"Say," said Rayburn, "who is that fellow from Electric Bond & Share? He was around to see me the other day. What's his name? He claims to be from Texas—though, as a matter of fact, he comes from Kansas. I never can remember his name."

"Do you mean Calder?" prompted Purcell.

"Oh, yes, that's it," replied Rayburn. "He claims we knew each other back in Texas."

A few times later Chairman Purcell happened to meet Rayburn again and once again the Speaker asked the name of his alleged friend from Texas. Again Purcell told him, and this time Rayburn wrote Calder's name down on a piece of paper.

But the third time Purcell bumped into Rayburn, once again the Speaker had forgotten the name of his supposedly intimate pal from Texas. Apparently they weren't such good friends after all.

NOTE—Rayburn took the position that the people of Texas should have a chance to own and operate their own utility companies. Calder, as head of Texas Power and Light, and of Dallas Power and Light, took exactly the opposite position.

UNION CLEAN-UP As the AF of L Executive Committee meets in Cleveland today, a total of five locals of the Pressmen's Union have demanded a thorough investigation of the manner in which the late George Berry gutted the Treasury of the union he was supposed to protect.

Many rank and file members of the union have petitioned AFL officials to protect their interests. Unless they get AFL aid they fear their hard-earned pension benefits will be lost. For it is extremely difficult to hold an election and throw out present union officials.

The last time such an election was held, according to Lewis W. Thomas, Sr., chairman of the 1926 recall committee, it got nowhere. The ballots against President Berry were taken by ear to Rogersville, Tenn., the union's headquarters, by a union member named Dooley.

"However," recalls Thomas, "the road to Rogersville is and on the way, Berry's men from the Tennessee mountains waylaid the car and shot the tires off it. Dooley arrived at Rogersville on foot the next day.

"When he got there, Berry welcomed him in a very sorrowful voice. 'Why, Brother Dooley,' he said, 'you are late. We counted the ballots yesterday. I am terribly sorry but we can't count yours—under the bylaws.'"

Members of the union claim they probably wouldn't have much more luck today holding a recall action against the present leaders of the union.

GREETSS RR MEN When the editors of Railway Brotherhood Journals filed into President Truman's office the other day, Truman greeted them with:

"I understand there are no Wednesday Democrats in this group. I also understand that you boys did quite a job in the recent unpleasantness."

Truman referred not to the last year, but to his political conflict with the Republicans in November.

"We did our best, Mr. President," replied Irving Lippe, editor of the Railway Trainmen's hard-hitting "Trainman News," which was on the Truman main line all during the campaign.

"However," Lippe continued, "how are we going to make out in the little unpleasantness on Capitol Hill, involving Taft-Hartley repeal?"

"I think we're going to make out okay," grinned the President. "But we'll need all the help labor publications can give us."

NOTE — What the President didn't know when he wisecracked about "Wednesday Democrats" was that one of his visitors was an associate of Alvanley Johnston, boss of the Locomotive Engineers, an outspoken supporter of Tom Dooley in the last campaign—Paul M. Smith, editor of the Locomotive Engineers Journal.

Walker Said Recovered From Mental Problems

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A new Robert Walker is expected back in Hollywood this week.

The troubled actor returns to his studio and he is reported to have recovered from his mental problems. He starts work soon in "Please Believe Me," a comedy with Deborah Kerr and Peter Lawford. Walker takes over the role for which Van Johnson was announced.

Harold Lloyd has set the first of the reissues of his old films. "Movie Crazy" will be released this summer. Although it was made in 1932, Lloyd tells me test runs have shown it to be just as funny today.

James Cagney is a tough guy again after years of playing heroes. His current "White Heat" is his toughest role since "Public Enemy." There are at least a dozen murders and Cagney, his wife and mother get bumped off.

Following this bloody epic, Jimmy goes into his dance for "The West Point Story." "You've gotta have variety," says he. "I learned that back in my vaudeville days. They kept yelling, 'Change your act!'"

Early-Day Big Spring Possessed Ample Recreation Facilities

They tell me early-day Big Spring, like every other frontier town, owned more saloons and gambling halls than it did all other business combined.

Judging from the kind and number of complaints that reached local courts between 60 and 70 years ago, the law enforcements agencies had their hands full with the cow pokes who came to town on the weekend seeking an escape from boredom.

Of the first 24 persons arrested and brought before justice court here, 20 were charged with participating in an affray and/or assault.

You can draw your own conclusions on that point. Obviously, some of the boys couldn't hold their liquor. Likely as not, they agreed to disagree in some bar and one invited the other outside into the street where they went at it hammers-and-tongs.

The boys, no doubt, interpreted it as good, clean fun since there are no records of any getting anything worse than a skinned nose or a blackened eye. The sheriff, the constable or who ever had been commissioned to uphold the law seemed always to be on the lookout for such excitement, however, and the energetic lads usually wound up in the paddy.

It never cost much to engage in an imbroglio, maybe a $1 fine or so, but even that was not a lot for the waddle in that era. Very few second offenders are found on the records. If they decided they wanted to have it out with some one again, they probably invited them out "onto the prairie" the next time.

Playing cards was a much more serious offense locally. Three persons plucked here for that infraction in 1882 paid $10 each for the privilege. That was a lot of those days.

Neither the law nor the business men relished the idea of a gun fanner coming into town and shooting up the place, even though he might have been taking part in his idea of a July 4 celebration. One James Dunlivan was arrested here on such a charge on Aug. 19, 1882, and fined $5 and costs for taking such liberties. His offense simply was listed as "shooting across the street."—TOMMY HART

Today And Tomorrow—Walter Lippmann

Sending Of Envoy To Gen. Franco Would Seem Gesture Of Approval

The trouble with sending an Ambassador to General Franco now is that the action will be misunderstood. The Ambassador was withdrawn as a gesture of disapproval and an Ambassador cannot be sent back now without its being taken in Spain and throughout the world as a gesture of approval.

The gesture of withdrawal was, as Senator Connally says, quit rightly, a mistake. It is a mistake we have often made. It is the mistake of treating diplomatic recognition as a testimonial to be accorded governments that we like and denied to governments that we do not like. But in fact we do not maintain Embassies abroad or receive them here to express our feelings and opinions about foreign governments, but in order to transact our business with them. The question, therefore, ought never to be whether they are good governments or bad governments but simply and solely whether they are governments with which we are not at war.

The withdrawal of an Ambassador is a meaningless gesture unless it is intended as a warning that even severer measures will follow unless the issue is settled. If the severer measures—the rupture of diplomatic relations, embargo and blockade, and in the last resort war are not contemplated, then—the gesture is a mere bluff, indeed a bluff which will quickly be called. There is no graceful or satisfactory way of acting when a bluff has been called. And that—as respects the Ambassadors is our predicament with Franco. In order to correct the original mistake, which did not impress him or hurt him, we would now have to make the still bigger mistake of appearing to have made up our minds to help him.

The best thing to do under the circumstances is to do nothing at all. We have an Embassy in Madrid and Spain has an Embassy in Washington, and whether the head of the Embassy has the rank of Ambassador or is only a Charge d'Affaires is not a question of any real importance. The machinery is quite adequate to the business which has to be transacted, and relations are sufficiently correct, and quite cordial enough. If we still had Ambassadors in the two capitals, little would be different than it is except the seating arrangements at dinner parties.

The real argument, of course, is not about Ambassadors but about whether Franco Spain should be treated as an ally, made eligible for Marshall aid, given military equipment, and brought into the military system of the Atlantic pact.

The ardent advocates of sending an Ambassador at once are urgent because they think of Franco Spain as a "base." They see that it is protected by the Pyrenees mountains. They think it is manned by a large fighting army. They know it is governed by a general who is firmly anti-Communist, and puts up with no nonsense from Communists, Socialists, labor unions, liberals and all the others who have to be considered in governing countries like France, Italy, Belgium and the like.

But this picture of Franco Spain as a strong, indispensable, dependable ally, worth cultivating no matter what our other allies think, is a product of wishful thinking and of blatant propaganda. Franco Spain is not strong but so weak, so poor and so primitive that to make it the kind of "base" we hear about would take years and a program of capital investment on a grand scale.

As for Franco being more the stilled submission of the disarmed masses of the people to a dreary and bigoted military dictatorship. There is no reason to think that strain of war, or that the Spanish people would continue to submit if arms were put in their hands. The order and stability which so impress the casual visitor are a thin crust and under it there is a smoldering discontent. This discontent is not confined to the Communists, of whom there are many more, but exists—waiting for the opportunity to express itself—among business men, monarchs, among the clergy, in the army.

This is no time to embrace Franco and lose forever the confidence and good will of all the Spaniards in all walks of life who will eventually remove him. Nor is this the time to entangle ourselves in the internal affairs of Spain as we have become entangled in the internal affairs of China and of Greece.

Hoffman Predicts Kremlin Will Adopt 'Live And Let Live' Policy

PAUL G. HOFFMAN, DIRECTOR OF the Economic Co-operation Administration, told an Indiana University audience the other day that "our way of life will be secure if Europe is strong and free in 1952."

Mr. Hoffman's prediction of course is based on the fact that the Marshall Plan is due to wind up its operation in 1952. He said the plan had "stopped the Kremlin cold" in Western Europe, and that if recovery is accomplished by then "it is more than probable that the Kremlin will decide on a policy of 'Live and let live.'"

That's a prophecy which invites analysis, and since the ECA director isn't here to do it for us, let's take a look at it ourselves. As I see it the position is this:

It's true that the "cold war" aspect of the Communist offensive has been halted along the Stettin-Adriatic line through Central Europe. However, the revolutionary tactics of Communists in western European countries—especially the powerful French and Italian parties continue in full force. They will gain control of their governments if it is humanly possible.

MEANTIME, OUT IN THE FAR EAST Communist armies are sweeping southward across China. Northern Korea is communist, and is reaching for control of the southern half of that strategic land. Burma, Indonesia, and other Asiatic countries are torn by Communist uprisings. As the signs now read—the Orient is likely to become increasingly a theatre of conflict between Communism and Democracy.

This being so, what basis do we find for predicting that our way of life will be secure if Europe is strong and free in '52?

Well, for one thing, while the Far East might in time become the decisive theatre in the battle of the isms, the fact remains that the Western world's greatest immediate threat comes from Europe. True, that threat has lessened measurably with the success of the Marshall Plan and the signing of the Atlantic Pact, but the danger still exists and will continue to exist, despite Western Europe's recovery, until some further great development takes place.

What new development could alter this grim picture? There seems to be only one answer to that at this reading. It would be the failure of Communism to hold the peoples of the various countries which have been absorbed into the Soviet bloc. That is to say, the rejection of Communism by these peoples.

What reason is there to suppose they might reject it? The answer is that present day Communism isn't the text-book brand of the ism which many folks had thought it to be. As Hoffman says, "basically, Communism is a rather idealistic concept, carrying with it connotations of sharing and universal brotherhood. In its pure form, almost the worst thing that can be said about Communism is that it won't work."

RIBBON RAMBLINGS

This is not a tall Texas tale, but a tall Oklahoma tale, we wish it were a Texas tale, but bring the denomination we are, we decided to use it any way.

In Luther, Okla., there are two dogs who are faithful churchgoers. Sunday morning they lie sleeping peacefully in the yard. A church bell rings. Nothing happens. Another bell peals out. Still they sleep. Then the Methodist church bell rings. Up the dogs get and off they trot to church where they lie outside and sleep during the services.

Mentioned something about retiring not long ago and since we have heard about a man who never worried about retiring because he never had a permanent job—he just "filled in" for another man for 57 years and seven months at the Homestake gold mine up at Lead, South Dakota.

It all started because of an early day custom of a miner getting another man to take his place when he wanted a holiday. One day in 1891, a man named E. M. Ryan was asked to fill in for a worker for a day. He said he would and while on the job next day, the foreman asked him who he was working for. When he called the name, the foreman said "You had better come out tomorrow, and on second thought, you had better continue coming out until Nobb gets back."

"Well Nobb hasn't returned yet," says Ryan, "nearly 58 years later, and I came out every shift since."

Looks like eventually, we'll be using so many substitutes that we will actually forget which are the subs and which are the real. It is reported that Kansas, "the wheat state," may soon become known for its contribution to newspaper manufacture, if experiments now being made succeed.

In an experiment, the Chicago Tribune published a Midwest edition on paper made from wheat straw, oats and other farm products.

The verdict was that the wheat straw paper was equal to newspaper made from tree pulp.

Program features will include a vocal number by Arnold Marshall, cut-outs by Peggy Toops and a cello solo by Mary Louise Hendricks. Leatrice Ross will speak briefly concerning the work of the hostess committees.

Cayuses Entertain Angelo In First Of 3 Tilts Tonight

Baker May Be Guests' Hurler

San Angelo's Colts, managed by the astute Sam Harshaney, an old favorite here, put into Big Spring tonight to open a three game Longhorn baseball league series with the Big Spring Broncs. The two clubs ring up the curtain on their imbroglio at 8:15 o'clock.

Pat Stacey, the local straw boss, will probably lead with Fernando (Trompoloco) Rodriguez, his strong armed right-handed mound ace, who has won two victories in two decisions.

Harshaney is due to counter with Jimmy Baker, a left hander who gave the Hosses fits last year. Harshaney himself will be either at third or behind the plate. He can play at either place with authority.

Ken Cluley, outfielder; Jake McClain, second base; Miles Smith, third sacker; and Red Cowley, short stop; are all back with the Colts this year. A newcomer to the Angelo ranks is Johnny Kluck, heavy hitting outfielder. Kluck is better known here as coach of the San Angelo high school basketball team.

The Colts have hit a slump after a great start but have too good a ball club not to snap out of the doldrums. With Baker in there in his starts to date, they've looked like championship material.

Tonight's game will be the first meeting of the season for the two clubs.

Ramos Records Fifth Victory

BALLINGER, May 16 — Big Spring won the odd game of the Ballinger series, 7-0, behind the dazzling elbowing of Lefty Julio Ramos here Sunday afternoon.

Ramos set the Felines down with three scattered blows, walked only two and struck out six in recording his fifth mound triumph of the season. He has not been beaten.

The Hosses staked Ramos to a one-run lead in the first frame and then drove Jose Garcia out of the box with a three-run outburst in the second.

Ace Mendez snapped out of his batting slump by collecting two doubles and a single in five trips. Ramos helped the 11-hit offensive no little with a two-baser and a brace of singles.

Only Pinky Higgins and Charley Young were able to solve the Ramos' slants. Higgins collected two of the flows and Young the other. The triumph served to protect the Hosses' 2 1/2 game lead over Vernon, which beat Midland.

Looking 'Em Over

by Tommy Hart

A. D. (Shadow) Ensey, the hard-working owner of the Odessa Oilers has made an offer to Don Clark, the Howard County Junior college athlete, to join his listing ball club.

Ensey is desperate for a short fielder who can fill the shoes of Pat Proulx, who jumped the club after only two days with the Oilers. In Clark, he'd not only get a prize but a rookie as well—very valuable chattel at this stage of the race.

Clark wants to go into pro ball but has a stronger desire to finish his schooling. Ensey has ability as a basketball and baseball player would help him make his way. At the present time, he doesn't know what to do.

STU WILLIAMS ARRESTED FOR RHUBARB IN MIDLAND Sensitive Midland baseball fans, it seems, have put another Longhorn leaguer on the spot, this time Stu Williams of the Ballinger Cats who was hailed into Corporation Court on a charge of using abusive language in the presence of several fans.

Last year, Tony Traspusto of Our Town was censured in much the same way. Harold Webb, who probably wishes his customers weren't so testy, rushed to Williams' defense in the court and helped to smooth things over. (The little king ought to put his managerie under glass.)

The incident created such a rhubarb the whole thing will be checked to League President Hal Sawyer, who may have to discipline Williams in some way, probably with a fine.

HOSSES TO PLAY GAMES IN 14 DAYS HERE Those of the baseball faithful who think the home appearance of the Broncs have been all too infrequent since the Longhorn league season opened should be satisfied with a run of home games starting with May 24.

NEW SMALL PLANE HAS SLOW SPEED OF 27 MPH, LANDS ON TINY FIELD

Problem Of REA Poles Pondered By Commissioners

Howard county commissioners court Monday pondered over the problem of removing REA poles on the widened section of the Gall road.

After two conferences with REA directors and officials, the last Saturday with O. B. Bryan, Cap Rock Electric Cooperative superintendent and Martelle McDonald, Odessa attorney, the court said Monday that Cap Rock had declined to remove at its own expense poles brought into light-of-way by the widening process.

The court also received reports of road damage from intense rains in some areas early Monday morning.

In response to an inquiry, Judge J. E. Brown received information from Gibson and Gibson, bond attorneys, for qualifications of voters in the May 28 proposed courthouse bond issue.

The opinion, based on rulings from the attorney general, according to the attorneys, said that "qualified electors of Howard county who own taxable property which is on the tax rolls either for the year 1948 or 1949, are eligible to vote in your coming election."

But if any qualified voter owns property which was not on the rolls for the year 1948 but which has either been rendered by him for the year 1949 or assessed by the tax assessor, he is qualified to vote. This applies to a husband and wife where community property is on the roll in the name of either spouse.

Date for the board of equalization hearing on oil, industrial and utility valuations has been set for June 3-4.

Role Of Southern Churches In Equal Rights Fight Is Lauded

ATLANTA, May 15. (AP)—Southern churches play an important role in the effort to obtain equal rights for all, the Southern Regional Council said Saturday.

"During the past two years," the council stated, "religious groups in the South have shown a growing willingness to take a positive stand for a broader democracy."

The council—a group of white and Negro representatives from educational, professional, business and religious fields—gave a sampling of church pronouncements in human rights:

Southern Baptist convention: "We shall protest against injustice and indignities against Negroes, as we do in the case of people of our own race."

"We shall be willing for the Negro to enjoy the rights granted to him under the constitution of the United States, including the right to receive equal service for equal payment on public carriers."

Synod of South Carolina, the Presbyterian Church in the U. S.: "America cannot be a white oligarchy in which the Negro is required to abide by rules which we had no hand in formulating."

North Georgia conference, the Methodist Church: "It is patent to all that prejudice and race hatred are a constant threat to law and order and the fruitful source of acts of violence and the detestable crime of lynching."

Catholic Committee of the South: "The term 'southern tradition' is misused and dishonored when it is employed to justify a continued state of unjust discrimination against the Negro laborer and privation of the Negro of the community for higher education and professional training."

Commission on Justice and Peace, Central Conference of American Rabbis: "We urge the elimination of all discriminatory techniques consequently, we endorse federal action to abolish poll taxes."

Woman's Society of Christian Service, Southeastern Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church: recommended "that Methodist women work for federal and state legislation to guarantee civil rights to the peoples of this nation."

Honor Casualties Of Berlin Airlift

WASHINGTON, May 15. (AP)—The armed forces Saturday paid special tribute to the 28 Americans killed in the Berlin Airlift who, says Defense Secretary Johnson "gave their lives for their country in the same spirit as those in World War II."

Johnson announced that the national military establishment is sending special certificates of honor to the next of kin. These awards were authorized at the suggestion of Senator Wiley (R-Wis.), a member of the Foreign Relations Committee.

The six Texas airlift casualties and their next of kin receiving the special certificates include:

First Lt. Ralph B. Boyd, Mrs. Wanda K. Boyd, wife, Fort Worth; Maj. Edwin C. Diltz, Mrs. Doris M. Diltz, wife, Fayetteville; 1st Lt. Willis F. Harigs, Mrs. Eustelia L. Harigs, mother, Nacogdoches; 1st Lt. Royce C. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis D. Stephens, parents, San Antonio; 1st Lt. Lowell A. 11 Wounded In Tripoli Riots

TRIPOLI, Libya, May 16. (AP)—Nine Arabs and two policemen were wounded in continued demonstrations here during the weekend against United Nations plans for Italy's prewar colonies, including Libya.

Police used tear gas to disperse a mob moving toward British administration headquarters yesterday, shouting pro-Russians slogans and demands for immediate independence for Libya.

A Jewish policeman was shot in the hand and an Arab policeman was stabbed during the outbreak. Nine Arabs were wounded by police gunfire in similar incidents Saturday.

The marchers yesterday carried banners reading "Down with Bevin, in, we will fight for freedom." Ernest Bevin is British foreign secretary.

Tension has been mounting since disclosure early last week of a British-Italian plan for the colonies, under which Tripoli (western Libya) would remain under UN trusteeship for 10 years, but transfer from British to Italian administration in 1951.

Rioters tore down the American flag and stoned windows at the U. S. consulate last Tuesday.

New and bigger outbreaks were touched off by broadcast accounts of the plan's approval at Lake Success Friday by the UN Political Committee. The UN Assembly is expected to vote on it finally today or tomorrow.

Sicilian Bandit Still At Large

PALERMO, Sicily, May 16. (AP)—Eight of the 5,000 policemen tracking down bandit King Salvatore Giuliano were hit by outlaw machine guns yesterday. None was killed.

For three days the vast police forces have been on a "shoot to kill" manhunt for the robber chieftain who has "declared war" on the Italian government.

Whether the lightning "commando raids" on the police were staged by his men or by one of the less publicized outlaw bands which infest Sicily is not known.

The first ambush yesterday came three miles west of Palermo, when a jeepload of police ran into a burst of machine gun bullets. Two were wounded—critically.

Reinforcements rushed to the scene but the attackers had disappeared when they got there. On the way back to Palermo the reinforcements were hit—and this time six were wounded.

Government Opens Bond Selling Drive

This is the starting day of a government drive to sell $1,040,000,000 in savings bonds to the public.

President Truman will make a five-minute radio speech tonight at 10:23 o'clock as part of an hour-long program signaling the start of the campaign.

The bond drive will run until June 30. An estimated 3 million volunteer workers will include 250,000 newspaper carriers, who will distribute literature and order forms.

These bonds, of the series E type, pay off $4 for each $3 invested if held for the 10 years before they mature. They can be cashed in in the meantime.

Court Martial Convicts Negro Of Rape Murder

GUAM, May 16. (AP)—A 20th Air Force court martial today convicted Pvt. Herman P. Dennis, Jr., of the rape murder of Miss Ruth Farnsworth and sentenced him to death. He is from Calvert, Tex.

The 20-year-old Negro airman saluted smartly when the President of the court, Lt. Col. Gerry L. Mason of Las Vegas, Nev., pronounced sentence. The verdict is subject to review by the commanding officer of the 20th Air Force, the Air Force Board of Review in Washington and President Truman.

If the verdict is upheld, the manner in which Dennis will be put to death will be determined later.

Dennis, his half brother, Pvt. Calvert Dennis, and another Negro, Staff Sgt. Robert W. Burns of Spokane, Wash., are accused of beating and raping the San Francisco girl last Dec. 11, Calvert Dennis of Seguin, Tex., is scheduled to be tried next.

The court deliberated one hour and 26 minutes.

The airman's counsel asked the court not to announce the sentence but was overruled. The defense argued publication of the sentence might affect the subsequent trial.

The convicted man, if his half brother and Burns, the prosecution possibly will need Dennis' testimony in the Burns case.

Air Force Rescues Alaska U. Savant

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 16. (AP)—An Air Force C-54 plucked a glider off a snow-covered Central Alaska River island Saturday mid-night to rescue a University of Alaska professor whose plane had piled up in a forced landing two days earlier.

The glider thread-needed to a landing on the tiny Isle Saturday afternoon and its crew of three—Lts. Robert A. Brums of Phoenix, Ariz., and Walter L. Clatt of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Medical Officer Capt. Charles H. Manlove of Portland, Ore., found Prof. Bert E. Griffen apparently unharmed.

The Seattle, Wash., geology professor said he spent two days in his sleeping bag as he awaited rescue after his plane overturned in a forced landing.

WOMAN WORRIES ABOUT HER DOG

FORT WORTH, May 16. (AP)—Mrs. Leon Banner, whose house in Amarillo was wrecked by last night's tornado, is worried most about her dog.

"I know my husband is all right," she said, "I don't care about the house, but I'd hate for our dog to get killed. He's a valuable bird dog, and I don't know what happened to him."

Mrs. Banner is visiting friends here. She said she didn't know about the tornado that damaged a wide area, killing four people and injuring about 65, until she read this morning's paper.

"I haven't been able to get a line through to Amarillo," she said. "A girl in Dallas whose relatives have a house next door to ours called and told me about the damage to our home," she said. "She talked to my husband and he told her the garage was demolished, and the entire west wall of the house was torn off. Our dog house was on that side."

"The girl's last name is Dandy. I'm sorry I can't remember her first name. . . I'm just too upset."

Bill Would Increase Revenue of HCJC

Should the bill, passed on second reading in the House at Austin last week, be given final passage, it would mean approximately $7,500 per annum additional revenue to Howard County Junior College.

The House passed by substantial margin a measure which would increase the per capita payment to junior colleges from $100 to $175. E. C. Dodd, president of HCJC estimated that it would affect approximately 100 non-veteran students here.

Brazos Co-Op To Buy All Whitney Dam Power Output

WASHINGTON, May 15. (AP)—Representative Poage (D-Tex) said Saturday the Brazos River Electric Transmission Co-operative, Inc., Waco, has contracted to purchase all the power produced at Whitney Dam.

Poage said Douglas Wright, administrator of the Southwest Power Administration, notified him Friday the contract had been signed in Tulsa, Okla.

The $42,000,000 government project, now under construction, is expected to be completed by 1952. The co-operative also is constructing a steam plant between Temple and Belton, on the Leon River.

The steam plant, he added, is being built to firm up Whitney Dam power. With power from these and other sources, Poage said, the co-operative "ought to have one of the biggest and best integrated distribution systems" in Texas.
