SMALLPOX EPIDEMICS

would never occur if everyone, especially children, could be effectively vaccinated, writes Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer. At present there is an increasing lack of vaccination among school children. This constitutes a menace. Modern safeguards have removed every legitimate objection to vaccination. The virus is made from calves, and consequently is incapable of transmitting human blood diseases. Among some ten million vaccinations performed in the Philippine Islands, there was no loss of life or limb or demonstrable injury to health. A primary vaccination with one successful revaccination will, as a rule, protect throughout life from the milder forms of smallpox, but this is not true in the severer types of this disease. Therefore, Dr. Brown urges vaccination at least every five years, so that you will have the greatest protection possible and the least chance of being sick.

ANOTHER TESTIMONIAL TO ANGLO-U. S. BOND

The hardy American may be a rough and ready gent who has reverence for practically nothing but home and mother, but it does seem sometimes as if he had never quite outgrown his ancient habit of tipping his hat whenever a king passed by.

The British empire is mourning another monarch, and to judge by the amount of sentiment stirred up in the United States by the event one would almost be led to assume that 1776 was all a regrettable mistake; that the only thing we can do, as gentlemen, is invite the redcoats to come back and camp on the summit of Bunker Hill.

Even the people of London itself can hardly have had the scenes at King George's deathbed served up to them in greater detail. Certainly they can not easily have gone any farther than we have in the matter of awed speculation about the personality, future, and possible marriage of the new monarch, Edward VIII.

We have had Edward's entire past rehased for us. We have gone once more into his falls from the saddle, into his ability as a dancer, his sunny smile, his notions of styles for men and his fondness for the company of attractive women of high but not regal birth.

We have seen endless lists of the European princesses who will be eligible to marry him, if he will have them.

We have had reams of good paper spoiled by sirupy articles about dainty little Princess Elizabeth, daughter of the Duke of York, who bids fair to attain an American popularity second only to that of Shirley Temple.

All this might lead a cynic to suspect that there is something in the complacent British assumption that the United States is, after all, just one more British dominion—a dominion which perversely fails to take the oath of allegiance to the British crown, but which, none the less, is fundamentally sound.

Now it would be easy enough to go on like this for another column, wagging the head sadly over the apparently incurable Anglomania of the American people. But once we have had our fun with the notion, we might as well go on to recognize the fact that all this intense American preoccupation with British royalty is the visible symbol of a deep, underlying community of interest between the two great English-speaking nations.

When all the trite remarks about blood being thicker than water have been made, the fact remains that there is a strong sentimental bond between the great empire and the great republic.

We exasperate each other almost to tears, now and then, and we can remember some pretty severe squabbles, but the bond is still there.

America's innocent interest in England's new king simply underlines the fact.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The farm organization lobbyists and the administration have produced a substitute program for the AAA—which already is undergoing repair. Once again the consumer is a conspicuous absentee.

Secretary Wallace wanted some provision for consumer protection in the new soil conservation-domestic allotment act through which it is hoped to control production and pay benefits to farmers. The administration, from both standpoints of good politics and public policy, wanted it.

But the farmer lobbyists turned them down, apparently unwilling to place any potential brake on farm prices or on processors and distributors of food.

Many farm leaders really want export subsidies for surplus crops, which the administration thinks are deadly poison—an unworkable scheme for subsidizing foreign consumers at the expense of American consumers.

Republicans and General Johnson are clamoring in ostensible sympathy. Hence the tossing overboard of the consumer, lest a fight for him spoil everything.

At the same time, there's keen appreciation within administration ranks of the fact that city consumers resent the 25 per cent increase in retail food prices since 1933 and blame it on a program which they believe has created a scarcity of food.

The AAA was a political liability in other than farm states and failure to take that fact into account in the new legislation may prove costly in the election campaign.

What Wallace wanted in the bill and what the farmer lobbyists refused to accept was a guarantee to consumers that the program would not reduce food supplies below normal domestic requirements.

"We want to be sure," Wallace recently said, "that there will be the same quantity of food per capita available to the American people that there was in the twenties."

The bill as introduced leaves the extent of crop reduction and amount of food supplies to executive discretion. Such discretion is notoriously susceptible to the influence of pressure groups—and farm lobbyists have shown themselves as predatory as any group when their chance came to force up prices.

Officially, no one is supposed to mention the soil conservation-domestic allotment bill and the excise law which will be proposed to finance it in the same breath. Just as an attempt will be made to "fool the supreme court" into thinking that the prime purpose of the former is soil conservation instead of federal regulation of agriculture, which the court majority has held unconstitutional, a clumsy effort will be made to disguise the excise law as a general revenue bill—even though most of the money is to be collected in the same old way and from the same folks.

Everybody will be in on these secrets—except the supreme court!

Taxes on processors probably will be higher than the AAA taxes. "Soil conservation" is expected to be more expensive than "agricultural adjustment."

The Treasury scheme as now proposed may be revised before it sees the light of day. But in any event the disguised processing taxes will be an obvious form of sales tax, no longer clothed with the promise of agricultural adjustment for the general welfare. Some New Deal lawyer think that's a dangerous "opening wedge."

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Jan. 29. (P)—The injunction granted by a Dallas district court restraining enforcement of the chain store tax law passed at the first called session of the legislature was not a surprise. In fact, it was confidently expected by George H. Sheppard, state comptroller, and others.

Attorney General McCraw planned to press for a speedy decision in the suit and announced he would seek vigorously to uphold constitutionality of the tax.

Many members of the legislature doubted the law would be constitutional when they voted for its enactment. Likewise Governor Allred was dubious as to its validity when he signed it.

The law was passed in the closing hours of a hectic session, the final legislative action being house concurrence in senate amendments to the original house bill. Several representatives who stoutly supported the measure at first argued for rejection of the senate revisions so a workable bill could be drafted by a conference committee.

They changed position, however, when it was suggested that concurrence represented the only probable opportunity for passing and that if the measure was sent to a conference committee it would mean its death.

Sponsors of the tax hoped to make the initial law the basis for a stronger amended act at a subsequent session.

The chief threat to constitutionality lies in the exemptions relieving certain classifications of establishments from provisions of the law.

Authors of the bill made no secret of their purpose, offering equalization of competition between chain stores and independent merchants as their motive with the revenue to be decided secondary. This contention was raised by the chains in their petition for injunction. They alleged "the prime and motivating purpose of the legislation is the death sentence on chain store operation."

The 15 companies attacking the law asserted their total annual tax would be $716,817. This classification was somewhat out of line with estimates of state officials who had placed the revenue from the tax at about $750,000 yearly from all sources. The law proposed a levy of $1 on stores under single ownership, graduated to $750 on stores in chains of 50 or more.

BONUS' LEGISLATIVE COURSE MARKED BY FIFTEEN YEARS OF "POLITICAL PERSISTENCE"

BY BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington) The hand-wagon progress of soldier bonus legislation represents one of those strange political turnings which even the politicians themselves find it difficult to explain.

For years no cause seemed more hopeless than that of the bonus, and those who would benefit directly by it, formed only a small percentage of the entire citizenship of the country.

The movement faced not only a stone wall of executive opposition at Washington, but a discouraging table of outside influences elsewhere.

The circumstances all were against it. The country plainly was tired not only of the world war and all things martial. Times were hard, taxpayers were beset by increasing worries, and much of the natural sympathy and public spirit of American life was washed out in renewed class antagonism and desperate individual struggle for existence.

Four successive presidents vetoed bonus bills in words of emphatic protest. Organized business, always a formidable political foe, threw its full force against the proposed legislation, and many of the ablest and most respected men in national life condemned it as unwise and unjust.

Political Reasoning It testifies to the political sagacity of the bonus advocates that they concentrated so much of their pressure at the one point where action could be taken—in congress—rather than scattering it ineffectively among the voters generally.

FAMILY BIBLES WILL PLAY BIG ROLE IN PROOFS FOR PENSIONS

BORAH SCORES 'SORDID' GROUP IN GOP RANKS

ASSERTS VOTERS HAVE BEEN ROBBED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—Spurred on by Senator William E. Borah's denunciation of the "selfish and sordid interests pulling the strings" in the republican party, the anti-"old guard" leaders in New York state opened their drive today for delegates pledged to the Idahoan.

Addressing a "Borah-for-president" rally last night in Brooklyn, the senator charged the voters of New York and of many other states "have been disfranchised" in the selection of a presidential nominee by a "self-appointed and self-anointed" group meeting in "secret" conclaves, behind closed doors, long after midnight.

It would be playing into the hands of this group, he said, if unscrupulous delegations were sent to the Cleveland convention.

Contrary to the expectations of some of those sponsoring the rally, Borah did not announce his candidacy for the G. O. P. nomination. His words, however, were generally interpreted as authorizing his friends to enter his name in New York's preferential primary.

On several occasions, the senator gave an indication of his intentions. Early in his address, he said:

"You doubtless have read recently the long and learned story of my great unfitness for the presidency. He said he would not go into this, "at this time," but declared the fitness of any presidential nominee must be determined "in the open" and cannot be decided upon in the "back room."

After the rally, Senator Borah conferred with W. Kingsland Macy, former chairman of the republican state committee and leader of the "republican progressive committee" organized after the "old guard" ousted Macy. Another conference was William Ziegler Jr., treasurer of the state committee under Macy.

Another conference was planned for today before Borah's departure.

"We'll have our drive going in full swing in a few days," Macy declared.

Senator Borah prefaced his discussion of some current issues with the remark:

"I may be wrong, but I'm never in doubt."

He touched upon numerous topics, but devoted more attention to the question of personal liberty, of preserving our civil rights under the constitution.

The expenditure of 519,000,000 marks on 100,000 dwelling units in 1935 led German officials to claim world leadership in such building last year.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS GIVEN TO VET QUERIES

Information Given on Procedure in Pay-Off

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—Here is pertinent information on bonus pay-off procedure in question and answer form:

Q. Where may application blanks on which to apply for the cashable $50 bonus bonds be obtained?

A. They will be available within the next few days at 50 offices of the veterans administration scattered throughout the country and at local units of veterans' organizations.

Q. Where should the application be sent?

A. If a veteran owes money to the veterans' administration on his bonus certificate, he should send the application to the office where the loan was obtained.

Q. And if the loan was obtained from a bank?

A. If it is still unpaid, the application should be sent to the veterans' administration in Washington.

Q. How about a veteran who has no loan?

A. The application should be mailed to a regional office of the veterans' administration, the one nearest his home.

Q. What information must be given on the application?

A. The number of the adjusted service certificate, its date of issue and amount, the "A" number of the certificate, the name of the veteran, place and date of his birth; his army serial number; date of his enlistment and discharge; rank and organization at time of discharge.

Q. What if the veteran has lost documents containing information required on the application blanks?

A. He should give as much information as he can.

Q. Should he mail the application, or file it in person?

A. He should mail it.

Q. Should he write a follow-up letter to hurry things?

A. Officials say such letters will delay matters, not hurry them.

Q. How soon will veterans receive the bonds which are cashable after June 15?

A. Officials hope the distribution will be completed "by summer" but they counsel "patience" in view of the magnitude of the task.

Q. What if a veteran changes his address after making application?

A. He should keep the veterans administration informed of all such changes.

Q. What means of identification will be used?

A. In general, fingerprints will be relied upon. The prints of the four fingers of the right hand must be placed upon the application blanks.

Q. How about veterans who lost their hands?

A. They will be identified by their service records, or the affidavits of public officers.

In this connection, it might be stated that in addition to the county indebtedness here mentioned, most property within the county is being taxed for school indebtedness and city property has a third indebtedness to support. Reports filed in September, in accordance with the provisions of H. B. 575, passed by the 42nd Legislature, revealed total time warrant and bonded debt of county and subdivision as $3,335,041.85. From this report the following distribution of local taxes is taken:

County—Interest and sinking $157,326.88; general purposes, $92,198.85; total, $239,525.73.

Cities—Interest and sinking, $92,549.12; general purposes, $11,493.85; total, $104,042.97.

Indep schools—interest and sinking, $78,588.77; general purposes, $191,894.93; total, $270,473.70.

Common schools—interest and sinking, $2,674.00; general purposes, $33,946.91; total, $36,620.91.

Totals—Interest and sinking, $331,138.77; general purposes, $319,524.54; total, $650,663.31.

The percentage of the tax collected for debt charges is approximately 51 per cent while the average for the State is 44 per cent. The current percentage is materially higher on property in the City of Pampa where the following tax rates and percentages are now in effect:

County—interest and sinking fund, .63, general, .60; per cent; general, .41, 39.4 per cent; total, 1.04.

School—interest and sinking fund, .28, or 28 per cent; general, .72, 72 per cent; total, 1.00.

City—interest and sinking fund, 1.35, or 90 per cent; general, .15, 10 per cent; total 1.50.

Total—interest and sinking fund, 2.26, or 63.8 per cent; general, 1.28, 36.2 per cent; total, 3.54.

There are two principal reasons for this higher than average proportion. The greater part of public improvements within the county has been built since 1926 and was necessarily built from the proceeds of bond issues. Few Texas counties have experienced the rapid growth and expansion that came to this county in the decade just closing, and such expansion necessitated much public building and road work.

The second reason referred to is that part of the county indebtedness which is maturing rapidly and which calls for principal payments much heavier than the interest payments.

Recently much has been said and written concerning the huge increase in taxation within the last twenty or thirty years. Probably the cost of operation of every branch of government has increased, but it is doubtful if the cost of any function of local governmental units could show the towering ruins of roads and schools. These purposes, according to reports filed under the provisions of H. B. 575, above mentioned, received of the total taxes collected for local units, (amounting to $650,663.31), $144,226.41 and $307,094.42, respectively. These sum do not, of course, include registration fees and state aid received on roads nor school revenues received from the State. Since the providing of roads and schools are undoubtedly the most popular of all the functions of local units and expenditures largely in this connection, it might be stated that in addition to the county indebtedness here mentioned, most property within the county is being taxed for school indebtedness and city property has a third indebtedness to support. therefore valuable. However, there can be a reasonable question as to whether this intangible value offsets the increased cost and whether business will be handled as efficiently when the personal interest is partially removed.

The powers of the commissioner's court, while extremely broad in many respects, are sharply limited by the provisions of constitutional and statutory law and regardless of need, the court is unable to effect elimination and consolidation of offices or revision of official duties. Following adoption of a constitutional amendment, the Legislature in 1933 passed a law providing that a county government, with the approval of its citizens, might be revised. So far as we know no county has attempted to take advantage of this act and until the plan has had a trial its value and merits may be questioned. However, if this act does make possible a compact organization with definite manner of control and co-ordination it is worth serious study and should present a pleasing contrast to our present plan wherein each department is primarily responsible to the public and only nominal control is exercised by the court, which is in name, head of the county government.

MEMPHIS, Jan. 29.—At a meeting recently of local citizens interested in the reorganization of the Boy Scout movement in this city, committees were appointed and active work gotten under way toward a revival here of this great boys' work which has been allowed to lapse the past several years.

Present at the meeting were Lloyd M. O'Neal, deputy regional executive for Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico, and C. A. Clark, Scout executive of the Adobe Walls area council, of which Hall county is a part, both of whom have made several trips to this city the past couple of weeks, in an effort to revive the movement here.

The first step in reorganizing Scouting here was the organization of a campaign executive committee, to have charge of the campaign organization. This committee was named as follows: Russell Middleton, chairman; Hayes O. Lutz, C. K. Webb, H. J. Gore, Riley W. Carlton; Raymond Thomason, Fred V. Clark, and J. Claude Wells.

The production of machinery in Germany jumped 210 per cent between January, 1935, and January, 1936.

The governor's body lay in state in the capitol here today, where Long's rested five months ago. Tomorrow night it will be taken to Winnfield, Allen's boyhood home, for funeral services and burial.

Noe proclaimed a 30-day period of mourning and closed state offices until Friday. All state schools are to be closed tomorrow.

BANK LOOTED
ROWENA, Jan. 29. (AP)—Burglars blasted a hole about two feet wide into the brick and concrete vault of the First National bank here sometime Sunday night, got about $275 in bank change and broke into about 75 customers boxes from which undetermined valuables were taken. Sheriff W. A. Holt of Runnels county and Police Chief Sam Haynes and Carroll Bates, finger print expert, from San Angelo were here today investigating. The bank safe was intact.

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 29. (AP)—The policies of the late Huey P. Long survived today despite the death of Governor O. K. Allen, one of the late senator's principal lieutenants.

Gov. James A. Noe, who became the state's chief executive after Allen died yesterday of a cerebral hemorrhage, declared:

"To the people of Louisiana I say that there will be no change in policy in any way whatsoever in the governing of this sovereign state."

Noe will fill out Allen's term of office expiring May 11.

In the confused days following the fatal shooting of Senator Long last autumn Noe, prosperous oil man from Monroe, led an abortive revolt against Allen's leadership of the Long faction by announcing for the governorship in opposition to the administration's candidate.

The bolt was short-lived, however as he soon withdrew the race and worked with the Longites in their successful campaign for retention of the state's chief political prizes.

Observers today were most interested in the disposition of the unfilled senate term of Senator Long. Allen had been nominated to fill this out in the recent primary.

There was some doubt on the course to be taken in the case of the death of a senate nominee, some holding that the state democratic executive committee was empowered to name a new nominee. Democratic nomination in Louisiana is the equivalent of election.

Allen J. Ellender, another Long lieutenant already nominated to serve the full six-year senate term beginning Jan. 1, was prominent in discussions or probable nominees. Wade O. Martin, chairman of the state public service commission, also was mentioned.

FEDERATED CLUBS HEAR VARIED PROGRAMS YESTERDAY

20TH CENTURY GROUPS STUDY AT MEETINGS

NOVELS AND PLANS ARE SUBJECTS OF PROGRAMS

New members were elected in Twentieth Century Culture club and Twentieth Century Forum yesterday, and Twentieth Century club entertained a guest with its members. All three groups met for study and business. The Forum program was on Aviation, and the other two clubs reviewed new books.

Federation business was transacted in Twentieth Century club, meeting with Mrs. Roger McConnell. Mrs. Edwin Vicars was appointed chairman for Woman's Day, which all state clubs observe in the spring, and members voted a contribution to the state Penney art fund.

Mrs. W. T. Fisher was program leader. She reviewed the popular novel, 'The Lord's Anointed,' telling the interesting story of early missionaries in Hawaii. Mrs. Ivy Duncan, giving the biography of Ruth Eleanor McKee, the author, presented a sketch by a woman who knew Miss McKee before her residence in Hawaii.

Other members present were Mrs. Ben Williams, Paul Kasishke, I. B. Hughey, R. B. Fisher, J. M. Fitzgerald, F. M. Culberson, W. A. Bratton, Clifford Brady. The guest was Mrs. Collins of Channing, Mrs. Fitzgerald's mother.

MEMBER IS ADDED BY CULTURE CLUB
Mrs. Ewing Leech was hostess to the Culture club, and the program was on Faith Baldwin's 'Within a Year,' a collection of novelettes.

COMMITTEE TO PLAN PROGRAM IS NAMED
Next season's yearbook committee was appointed in the Forum by Mrs. Arthur Swanson, president-elect.

Mrs. M. C. Overton was program leader. Her topic was Radical Developments in Aviation. Mrs. William Finley discussed 'The Future of the Small Private Plane,' and Mrs. Clarence Barrett spoke of Flying Regulations.

Others attending were Mrs. Roy Bourland, Russell Allen, Robert Chaffin, Don Conley, Damon, Dixon, Arthur Holland, Max Mahaffey, Emma Nunn, Frank Perry, Swanson, Arthur Teed, Dick Walker.

Mrs. Cashman Is Hostess to Club

Mrs. J. L. Cashman entertained Monday Contract club at her home this week, when members filled the two tables. After the games in which Mrs. R. K. Eason scored high, a plate lunch was served.

Players were Mrs. H. L. Harkey, Bert Howell, Robert L. Freney, H. C. Berry, Earle Scheig, John Weeks, Eason, and the hostess.

COUNCIL COMMITTEES FOR A YEAR ARE APPOINTED IN THE NEW H. D. CLUB ORGANIZATION

Home Products Meal Will Be Served At Convention

Standing committees for 1936 were appointed by Mrs. O. G. Smith, new chairman, when the County Council of Home Demonstration clubs had its first meeting of the year Monday afternoon.

The council voted to join the Board of City Development in playing hosts at a Gray County Products luncheon for delegates to the District Parent-Teacher association conference here in the spring.

Rules for the year were adopted; plans were made for a county exhibit in the Amarillo Fat Stock show in March; members voted to enter the Ball 'n' company canning contest again this year, and all club women are invited to make entries in this contest with the understanding that any brand of fruit jars are eligible to contain the products.

Miss Donnie Lee Stroope of Priscilla club was named sponsor of 4-H girls clubs of the county for this year; Mrs. E. A. Shackleton was appointed county recreation chairman, and Mrs. Joe Lewis council parliamentarian.

Committees were named as follows: Exhibit, Mrs. Clyde King, Bell club; Mrs. Chester Nicholson of Kingsmill, and Miss Stroope, Program, Mrs. Walter Smith, McLean; Mrs. Ike Davis, Hopkins; Mrs. Fred Fischer, Meyers.

Finance, Mrs. R. W. Taylor, Merten; Mrs. C. A. Tignor, Priscilla; Mrs. Lawton Höffer, Laketon. Expansion, Mrs. Carl Baer, Kingsmill; Mrs. J. H. Wade, McLean; Mrs. E. E. Clark, Bluebonnet club.

THURSDAY

Mrs. W. B. Haas will entertain Deuce of Clubs at her home in White Deer.

Mrs. Fred Bogeman will entertain Eight Hearts Contract club.

Junior Treble Clef club will meet with Miss Clotilde McCallister, 7:30 p. m.

FRIDAY

EL PROGRESSO SPEAKER GIVES VIEW OF CAIRO

FORMER RESIDENT OF EGYPT IS GUEST FOR TALK

The glamorous and the sordid side of life in Egypt were presented to El Progresso club yesterday in its travel program at the home of Mrs. C. P. Buckler, Miss Helen Martin was the speaker.

Miss Martin, now a teacher in Pampa schools, taught two years in the American mission college for girls of the United Presbyterian school in Cairo. That school was attended by girls of 21 nationalities and 18 religions.

Such a variety of races and interests, she said, is typical of the country and of the city where each day's street scene reveals something new.

Wealthy Egyptians live in showy but rather uncomfortable houses, she continued. Miss Martin told of their social and religious customs, and customs concerning death and marriage.

She pictured the sordid life of the poorer classes, who live in one-room huts similar to the adobe houses of the southwest, with dirt floors, no furniture. Disease is prevalent, she said; the birth rate and death rate are both high.

Miss Martin introduced Mrs. J. M. Dodson, Mrs. Charles Thut, Mrs. J. M. McDonald, and Mrs. George Walstad, who were different types of Egyptian dress. Mrs. Dodson, who was in charge of the program, played two piano selections, the national anthem of Egypt and His Majesty's Song.

A round-table discussion completed the program. Members answering roll call were Mrs. John Andrews, Dodson, J. H. Kelley, Walstad, Lee Ledrick, C. T. Hunkapillar, Thut, McDonald, S. G. Surratt, Dave Pope, P. C. Ledrick, James Todd, and the hostess.

Study Group Is Being Formed in High School P-TA

A study group on parent education is being formed in High School Parent-Teacher association, and the first lesson is scheduled for Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All parents are invited for a program on 'The Adolescent.'

Quoting from a recent Parent-Teacher magazine, Mrs. R. W. Lane, president of High School association, explained the purpose of the study group:

'The Parent-Teacher association is an invitation to social progress, not merely an excuse for parents and teachers to be together, but an opportunity for them to participate in a significant activity, that of creating finer human relationships and of making every citizen a full partaker in the best that life offers.'

Federal Writers Project Is Open To Unemployed

The Federal Writers' Project of the WPA, designed to give occupation to unemployed writers, is in operation in the Panhandle with head offices in Amarillo. The purpose of the project is to prepare a national guide book and as a by-product of the work to compile both state and a local guide book. It is the opportunity to collect valuable information in this section of the country and all persons interested in this work are being asked to aid the force which is inadequate for the great scope of country and the limited time.

Following are the subjects on which reports are sought: General topography, flora and fauna, historical, national parks, landmarks, Indian tribes and reservations, archaeology, literature, art, music, drama, folk festivals, pageants, and celebrations, education, societies and associations, domestic experimentation, libraries, museums, religious institutions and structures, parks, recreation, health and social work, district or neighborhood architecture and housing, ethnography, folk customs, waterways, transportation, hotels, manufacturing and industry, products, imports and exports, markets, natural resources, conservation, army and navy.

If any person is willing to aid in this work he is urged to get in touch with Laura V. Hamner, room 438, Amarillo building, or Herring hotel, Amarillo.

The tailor shop of President Andrew Johnson still stands in Greene county, Tenn.

COUPLE ARRIVE AFTER WEDDING AT FT. WORTH

McFarlands Will Be At Home Here in Future

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McFarland are at home at 822 E. Francis, following a short honeymoon in Oklahoma City. They were married last Thursday morning at St. Patrick's Catholic church in Fort Worth.

Before her marriage Mrs. McFarland was Miss Gwendolyn Vernon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Vernon of Fort Worth and one of the season's debutantes in that city. Mr. McFarland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McFarland of Fort Worth. He is employed by an oil company here.

The wedding was a social event of importance in Fort Worth last week, and was preceded by numerous entertainments honoring the bride. The service was read by Msgr. Robert M. Nolan, who married the bride's parents just 20 years before.

Calla lilies and white candles decorated the altar. Miss Josephine Walker and Mrs. F. Edgar Deen Jr. attended Miss Vernon, both wearing navy frocks and accessories and corsages of gardenias.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a military blue sheer wool suit with corsage of white orchids. Donald J. McFarland was his brother's best man. Groomsman were Joe and John Vernon, Joe McCarthy, Welford Lomax of Pampa, and George Pollard. Prenuptial solos were sung by William Steward, accompanied by William J. Marsh, organist.

After the ceremony a breakfast was served to 50 guests at the Vernon home, where tables were centered with silver bowls of white roses. The wedding cake, on the bride's table, was surrounded with garlands of smilax.

Football Team At Wheeler to Dine Tomorrow

WHEELER, Jan. 29.—The annual football banquet for team members and pep squad girls is scheduled tomorrow evening at the home economic cottage. The Mustangs and their backers are looking forward to a gala evening.

A zone meeting of Methodist Missionary societies was conducted in the church here all day last Thursday. An unusually large attendance was recorded. Briscoe received the award for the largest per cent attendance.

Senior basketball teams here entered the Allison tournament last week-end. The girls were defeated by Allison in the first round. The Wheeler boys won first place by defeating Kelton, Canadian, and Montebelle.

Junior basketball teams and senior girls played at Shamrock Monday evening. The senior girls, playing a conference game, won, by scores of 31 to 17. Junior girls defeated Shamrock 18 to 17, but the boys lost to Shamrock.

W. O. Puett was in Amarillo on business Saturday.

Mrs. John Ficke and daughter, Mrs. Clifford Hall and children, were visitors in Shamrock Sunday afternoon.

Janette Hale of LeFors is a visitor here this week.

Since the method was inaugurated in 1910, 160 persons have been electrocuted for criminal offenses in North Carolina.

'DAD'S NIGHT' AT BAKER HAS MANY PRESENT

SUPT. FISHER TELLS A LARGE CROWD OF RECENT TOUR

More than 200 parents of B. M. Baker pupils were taken on a trip to England, Germany, and Russia last evening in an interesting talk made by Supt. R. B. Fisher. His address featured the annual Dads' night program sponsored by Baker Parent-Teacher association.

Incidents of his trip abroad last summer were related by Mr. Fisher in discussing the modes of living in these countries, and he also showed pictures taken on the trip. Third grade pupils of the school presented a playlet, 'Wedding of Jack and Jill,' and the first grade presented 'The House of Beautiful Days.' Both were costume productions. The new stage built through efforts of the Parent-Teacher association was used.

In keeping with the Dads' night idea, the men present served refreshments—sticks of red striped candy. Principal J. A. Meek acted as program chairman.

Children present were entertained with a story hour by teachers during the program in the auditorium. The attendance award went to Mrs. J. P. Arrington's room, which has been winner each month this year of the prize offered.

JOINS FACULTY
CANYON, Jan. 29.—Joe M. Logue of Austin has been added to the English faculty of the West Texas State Teachers college, according to announcement made today by Dr. J. A. Hill, president, and Dr. B. F. Fruchberger, head of the English department.

OFFICIALS OF CITY, COUNTY TALK TO CLUB

New Member and 3 Guests Meet With BPW

A Valentine tea closed the social meeting of Business and Professional Women's club last evening, when the legislative committee was hostess, and the discussion was on problems faced by women in public office.

C. L. Stine, city secretary, spoke on the subject, 'Women in Public Office.' Russ Wilson, county auditor, discussed 'Fairer Distribution of Wealth Through Taxation.' Travis Lively explained the recently enacted social security legislation.

The round-table discussion was on 'Married Women in Public Office,' and roll call brought answers to the question, 'Are Women Discriminated Against in My Work?' Programs were written on Valentines.

Tea, home-made cookies, and candy hearts were served by Lillian Jordan, Geneva Groom, and Adele Johnson, hostesses.

Ann Johnson was a new member; Annabel Pennington, Lois Martin, and Loma Groom were guests. Others present were Ruth Certain, Frances Stark, Lottie Schneider, Laverne Woolley, Thelma Jackson, Audrey Fowler, Mabel Gee, Ruth McConnell, Oree Brock, Overall, Grace Pool, Gladys Robinson, Ola Nellis, Clara Lee Shewmaker, Irene Irvine.

Party Planned As Class Meets

Madonna class of Central Baptist church had its monthly business meeting at the home of Mrs. O. H. Gilstrap Monday afternoon. Mrs. Gilstrap gave the opening prayer and Mrs. Paul Johnson read Psalm 91.

Reports were made of class activities; a party was planned for Friday evening of this week at the church, and refreshments were served to Mrs. Casey, White, Arney, Warren, Brown, Lane, John & Scott, Davis, Johnson, and Gilstrap.

LAMAR WEEK

AUSTIN, Jan. 29 (AP)—Governor Allred today declared Jan. 26-31 as 'Lamar Memorial Week' in honor of Mirabeau B. Lamar, 'father of education in Texas.' 'Our schools owe an everlasting debt of gratitude to President Lamar,' he said, 'for the establishment of our free public school system in Texas, and for his great vision in setting aside the public land for the University of Texas.'

AL SMITH IN ENEMY'S CAMP SAYS SENATOR

ROBINSON SAYS DERBY IS EXCHANGED FOR HIGH HAT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—The furious feud between the Roosevelt forces and Alfred E. Smith raged on in undiminished acrimony today.

Any likelihood that the administration would seek to bridge the chasm between it and Smith appeared to dwindle away in view of the reply delivered last night by Senator Robinson.

The capital awaited Smith's next move, watching to see what effect the attitude of administration forces would have on the ex-governor.

To Smith's charge that the new deal has tossed aside the party platform and become socialistic, Robinson replied that Smith was "warring against his own people."

The senator, who was Smith's running mate in the 1928 presidential campaign, said:

"Alfred E. Smith sought the presidency in 1928 when a man who raised his voice on behalf of the great causes of social justice and democratic principles was regarded by the stock-ticker patriots with smug toleration."

"Now we are on the threshold of another national campaign with the same two armies facing each other. The preliminary skirmishing is under way, and what is our amazement to find Governor Smith enthroned in the camp of the enemy."

"The brown derby has been discarded for the high hat."

"Declaring Smith's 'harangue' was 'barren and sterile,' Robinson challenged his statement—'at there has been no progress.' He contended the country has come a long way since the days of 1933 when hungry people were 'searching the garbage pails' and 'American farmers were halting court foreclosures by physical force.'"

As for Smith's charge that the platform was violated, Robinson said:

"Smith started to read the democratic platform but never finished it. I wonder why? Was there something further along condemning stock market manipulations, that he didn't like to read before his wealthy friends?"

Robinson reiterated the statement of other administration men, that Smith leveled the same charges of socialism against the new deal that Hoover hurled at the New Yorker in 1928.

Declaring that the new deal had carried out the very policies advocated by Smith, Robinson said:

"I am sure Mr. Hoover was with you in spirit, his cherubic face agleam and his chubby hands applauding ecstatically, as you repeated against Mr. Roosevelt the very speech which he himself delivered against you in 1928."

"It is 'strange,' Robinson said, to see Smith in the company of members of the 'power trust,' of men who 'despoiled' the nation's natural resources."

Smith, the speaker said, "has turned away from the east side with those little shops and fish markets, and now his gaze rests lovingly upon the gilded towers of Park avenue."

The Rev. E. C. Tobey of Weatherford, Okla., is conducting a revival in the Assembly of God church at Skellytown.

Orchestral players of the band received marching orders as they were about to play in the Mayflower hotel ball room during the women's dinner.

A few hours before the musicians quit, three high ranking naval officers cancelled speeches upon orders from Henry Latrobe Roosevelt, assistant secretary.

"Well, we will have music," was immediate reaction of Mrs. Harriet Vaughn Rigdon, national president of the Dames of the Loyal Legion and chairman of the conference.

"It was mean, petty and indefensible," declared Senator King (D-Utah), a conference guest.

"Outrageous," said Senator Metcalf (R-ID).

Mrs. Grace L. H. Brousseau, former president general of the D. A. R., was angry.

"I thought the Marine band belonged to all of the people," she said.

"When Capt. Taylor Robinson, band leader, later was asked who had ordered the players back to their barracks, he replied:

"I'm too good a marine to tell that."

MaJ. Gen. J. H. Russell, commander of the Marine corps, knew "nothing about it."

TOPEKA, Jan. 29. (AP)—A "Landon for president" delegation at the Cleveland convention was promised by Kansas Republicans today.

They said he probably would confine himself to a discussion of national issues, a subject upon which he has commented but little.

But the city seethed with "Landon talk" as Republicans by the thousands approached the climax of their celebration of Kansas' diamond birthday as a state.

The governor has been silent on the campaign in his behalf and close friends predicted his "Kansas day" address tonight would make no reference to the possibility of his candidacy.

They said he probably would confine himself to a discussion of national issues, a subject upon which he has commented but little.

MARINE BAND WALKS OUT ON WOMEN'S BALL

NAVY'S BOYCOTT OF DEFENSE SOCIETY CONTINUES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—The navy's boycott of the women's patriotic conference on national defense was complete today after U. S. Marine bandmen walked out on the organization in spectacular fashion last night.

The walk-out apparently was ordered by high navy officials as another facet of protest over the anti-new deal speech which Bainbridge Colby, former secretary of state delivered to the women Monday night.

Orchestral players of the band received marching orders as they were about to play in the Mayflower hotel ball room during the women's dinner.

A few hours before the musicians quit, three high ranking naval officers cancelled speeches upon orders from Henry Latrobe Roosevelt, assistant secretary.

TEAM-WORK PRAISED AS HARVESTERS SWAMP BORGER BULLDOGS 36 TO 22

FIRST STRING PLAYERS FAIL TO START TILT

PAMPANS PILE UP BIG LEAD AND THEN HOLD IT

Borger's flashy Bulldogs were frankly helpless last night on the maple timbers in the Borger gym where the Harvesters mowed them down with glee and gusto, 36 to 22. It was the third time this season that the Harvesters whipped the Borger.

The margin of victory was about what it should have been last Friday night when the Pampa second string lost a 12-point lead in two minutes, and Pampa barely won 23 to 24. At that time, Coach Odu Mitchell rushed his starting lineup back into the tilt 50 seconds before the final whistle to save the team from probable defeat.

Last night, the game was close during the first half, although Pampa led almost all of the way. The score at the end of the first quarter was 5 to 1; at the half, 10 to 13, and at the end of the third quarter 28 to 15. During the first half, Borger tied the score 11 to 11, and in the second quarter Pampa was never more than three points ahead of the Bulldogs.

Team in Good Humor The Harvesters were in an exceptionally good humor. Their disposition could not have been better. Perhaps Coach Mitchell produced the ideal temperament while members of the first string rode with him to Borger. If so, they should side with him all the time. Plainly last night's overwhelming victory was the result of superb team-work. There were no stars in the encounter because each player settled down to doing his share to win. The game indicated that the Harvesters could become a championship team that would advance to the state tournament if they could like each other well enough. Team-work is best produced by boys who like each other, and it follows that the best luck that can befall any athletic group is for the players in it "to fall in love with each other."

There were reasons why the Borger team cracked like a thin glass in boiling water. In the first place, Trotter and Jones, first string forward and center, respectively, did not start. They were made to sit on the bench by Coach Knowles because they committed an infraction of training rules yesterday. Then, when the coach did send the two young men into the fray they ignored the other three men on the team for the most part, and played among themselves. The Bulldog coach started two subs in their place, and jerked them at the second quarter. The mentor removed Trotter again for a few minutes in the last half of the game but sent him back.

Crowd Fouls Crowd Davies, with four fouls against him, was forced out of the game in the last half. Referee Frank Monroe found it necessary to foul the crowd for continuous and boisterous booing Stokes Green while the latter attempted free shots. The Borger coach expressed complete satisfaction with the way Monroe called the game. Pampans were assessed four fouls and Borger seven, and in the last period the Bulldogs using unusually rough and open tactics probably got away with much they wouldn't have otherwise if the Harvesters hadn't been far ahead. Reeves and White played best for Borger; Reeves, a slender lad, weighing only 110 pounds, and 15 years old.

Junior Is 'Hot' The Harvesters used a fast break several times against the Bulldogs and it worked. Junior Strickland, Harvesters center, let it be known early in the second quarter that he was in a mood to hit the basket, and Green, Moose Hartman, Jones and Ayer began feeding him the ball. Junior couldn't miss, and he eluded the Borger defense, largely because three of the Bulldogs were on Hartman, who were assessed four fouls against Borger Friday night. Junior got loose often and then his mate let him have the ball. As a result of praiseworthy passing and his own energy, he shot five field goals in the first half and five in the last for 20 points. He made most of his points under the goal. Green started the scoring with a basket early in the game and scored a long one in the last half. Moore was guarded so closely that he was unable to score from the field, but he made one free shot as did Roy Lee Jones who did not take as many long shots at the post as usual. Ayer hit the basket three with thrilling long-distance throws. Nicholson, the first sub to go in, and Bailey, hustled

MORGAN, EX-CARD HUNTLER, COACHES 5 SPORTS AT AUBURN

BY KENNETH GREGORY, Associated Press Sports Writer. AUBURN, Ala., Jan. 29 (AP)—Meet Dell Morgan, handy man of athletics at Auburn Polytechnic Institute. He's one of the busiest members of Auburn's coaching staff and probably has as many irons in the fire as any athletic instructor in the nation.

The 33-year-old Texan, who once pitched for the St. Louis Cardinals and tolled with a number of minor league teams, performs duties that fit these titles:

- Varsity football line coach.
- Freshman basketball coach.
- Varsity baseball coach.
- Varsity boxing coach.
- Varsity wrestling coach.

Morgan, as energetic and well-liked as they come, was one of the greatest football tackles and base-ball pitchers ever to play at Auburn college, from which he was graduated in 1923. He coached baseball at his alma mater in 1926.

He was a 'Rover.' Among the clubs Morgan served during his professional baseball career were, in addition to St. Louis, Quincy, Greenville, Corsicana, Mexia, Gladys, Tulsa, and San Antonio. He had to forsake the game because of his health.

Upon retiring from active baseball he coached at Quanah and Lubbock high schools, in Texas, and was the pilot of Texas Tech teams from 1930 until he came to Auburn's coaching staff in 1934.

Morgan was a regular member of the wrestling and boxing teams at Austin college and later coached these sports at Texas Tech. A forceful pilot, he enforces strict training regulations and he sets the pace by training hard with his proteges.

Superstition Plays Part. He can recall only one superstition he ever had faith in. "While coaching basketball at Texas Tech he found out the birthdays of all his players and then looked up the star under which each was born.

If the almanac said a basketball man would be lucky on a certain night, Morgan would instruct that player to shoot for the basket every time he got possession of the ball, regardless of position. Morgan says the plan worked and his team upset the "dope" several times.

Morgan is married and has a son, Dell Jr., six months old. "He's my only boss," says the coach. Morgan is one of Auburn's leading citizens, taking an active interest in all community affairs.

His hobby is hunting, and he still talks of the deer he killed on a preserve in western Alabama during the holidays.

Significant of his many coaching duties at Auburn is the fact that his varsity line was penetrated for only one touchdown in the entire 1935 season.

THE SPORTS HORN

BY BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer. Horse racing earned $556,327.06 for the state of Texas the past year, an increase of $4,149.90 over 1934. The state took $503,791 of the $20,151,894 passed through the pari-mutuel windows at Houston, San Antonio, Dallas and Arlington. Texas placed seventh in mutual turnover for the entire nation in 1935.

A sure visitor to Alamo Downs, San Antonio, today. The one woman who yesterday bought a $2 show ticket on Carbine's Goidy and collected $176.80.

Coach Morley Jennings announces he will start winter football practice at Baylor university tomorrow. By the time winter practice is over it will be time for the regular spring practice and when that is concluded the 1936 season will be here. The Bruins should be ready by that time.

Gus Turner Moreland, the Peoria, Ill. label salesman when not seeking a golf title, has wired Texas friends that he will defend his title in next month's Houston Country club invitational. "If you don't remember, Gus is the Dallasie who has won more tournaments than any other man his age. About 36 in all including the western and trans-Mississippi.

Any day now Southern Methodist university is expected to announce that Harp Morse will coach baseball at the hilltop school. Morse formerly piloted the Dallas Steers.

RAMEY BRAGGING NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—Tony Cannonero may be interested to know that Wesley Ramey of Grand Rapids, Mich. is in town telling people he'll knock the champion's block off if he ever gets him in a ring.

Ramey climbed into a ring at the Broadway arena last night and gave convincing grounds for his contention as he belted out a ten round decision over the clever Eddie Cool of Philadelphia, the Philadelphia who held him to draw three years ago. Cool weighed 135.

After the fight, Ramey, a muscular little fellow who never stops punching when within range, had a few words to say about the lightweight champion whom he out-pointed in a non-title bout in 1933.

MAJOR LEAGUE MEDICINE MEN ADVISE 3 R'S

RELAXATION, READING AND REST URGED FOR PLAYERS

BY ALAN GOULD. NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—The three "R's" advocated by Larrupin Lou Gehrig for baseball's off-season—"reading, rest and relaxation"—paralleled closely the prescriptions handed out by major league medicine men, the managers, for the benefit of their athletes.

Let it be supposed that they are speaking mainly from personal fondness for carpet slippers and a comfortable place by the fire—place these frigid winter nights, Rogers Hornsby, the Rajah of the St. Louis Browns, comments: "I admit fellows like Frank Frisch and I have to take it easy during the off-season but younger men too often overdo because they figure they can get into shape for playing baseball easier in the training camp. They should not play basketball or take part in other strenuous competitive sports. They should stay away from gymnasiums. Hunting is all right, in fact anything that takes a lot of walking is good."

Considering that major league baseball involves seven months of steady, concentrated activity, Frank Frisch's tip to the younger generation is to devote the winter to "concentrated loafing."

Banjo-playing Charley Grimm, popular pilot of the Chicago Cubs, takes issue with the Frisch doctrine. Says Charley: "Players should keep in the best possible condition during the winter. Hunting is the best sport to keep the legs hardened and the system from softening up. The more a fellow keeps in shape during the off-season, the easier it is for him to get in playing condition in the spring. Pitchers should rest their arms completely."

Coach Opposed To Elimination Of Center Jump

BY ARTHUR LONBORG, Basketball Coach, Northwestern University.

(Written For The Associated Press.) EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 29. (AP)—I'll cast my vote with those opposed to such proposed changes in basketball as the elimination of the center jump.

In the first place, as I see it, the center jump is definitely a part of basketball and quite properly so. Before going any farther in this discussion, let me say that my opposition is not based on a selfish motive such as a lack of tall center material here at Northwestern.

My four candidates for center position this season are all over six feet, and one stands six feet-six.

But, I am opposed to working the boys any harder than necessary and that is exactly what doing away with the center jump would mean.

Everyone knows that basketball is it is played today is one of the most strenuous sports. Take away the center jump and you'll make it even more strenuous.

The pause that follows every score while the players line up for the next jump gives every man a chance to catch his breath and to snatch a moment's rest.

College boys are young these days and they need that added instant of relaxation. Putting the ball into more strenuous is frowned upon by Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees. Joe draws no definite line on what his charges should or should not do during the winter but he warns they will avoid world tours and keep away from basketball courts. Mickey Cochrane of the world champion Tigers and his old boss, Connie Mack of the Athletics, endorse this general policy.

Steve O'Neill, Cleveland's pilot, warns his pitchers against playing handball or otherwise endangering the muscles of their salary arms but doesn't object to this particular indoor sport so far as the other players are concerned.

play from the sidelines would extend the average actual playing time of a game almost five minutes, and that is asking too much of the players. At Northwestern we use a combination of the fast and slow breaking offense, depending on the stature of our opponents and, also, upon our own material. We try to vary it to suit the need of the occasion.

If the defense forms quickly we are slow to break, working the ball cautiously down the floor. But, if we grab the ball on the rebound the boys are on a fire drill in a quick dash for the basket.

I used to coach my teams to take full advantage of the pivot play, but the new 3-second rule has forced abandonment of it to a degree.

However, we've gotten around it to the extent that our center makes a break for the free-throw lane to receive passes which he feeds toward the basket within the allotted three seconds in the free-throw lane.

All in all, the rule has tended to speed up the play and has put accurate shooting at a premium. It also has reduced the number of fouls in that it has done away with a lot of the pushing around that marred the old pivot play.

EX-GRID STAR DIES FORT WORTH, Jan. 29 (AP)—Wylie Lee Coleman Jr., 41, former A. & M. football star, whose place-kicking beat the University of Texas' team in 1915, died of a heart ailment here today. He was a world war veteran and crashed in a plane in which he was the observer. Coleman was known as "Fanny Coleman" during his college career and was manager of an office supply company here at the time of his death.

OFFICIALS SET SMALL TRACK RACING DATES

RACING NOT LIKELY TO BE HELD HERE UNTIL FALL

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 29 (AP)—Officials of eight small Texas horse race tracks were banded together today to "clean up racing in general" and to avoid conflicting dates.

Tom Nance of Midland was elected president of the new association, organized last night as the Texas Racing association. Mason King of Amarillo was elected first vice president, Robert J. Kibberg of Kingsville, second vice president, and D. E. Hill of San Antonio, secretary-treasurer.

Seguin, Rusk, Amarillo, Midland, Pampa, Panhandle, Graham, and Kingsville tracks comprise the organization and it was considered possible other cities would join later.

Racing dates set for this year include: Seguin, April 3-19; Rusk, April 22-May 3; Amarillo, May 6-17; Midland, May 20-June 1; Pampa, June 10-21; Panhandle, June 24-July 4.

Graham will be awarded spring and fall meets and a date will be set for a fall meet at Kingsville.

Texas race track officials are a bit premature in assigning a racing date to Pampa, it was apparent here today. Although the municipal track will probably be completed by June 10-21, the date set, there will be no accommodations for horses and it is unlikely that the grandstand will be ready. Under these circumstances, the earliest date would be some time in the fall.

SIX BASEBALL TEAMS WILL PLAY IN SOUTHWEST CIRCUIT

WACO, Jan. 29. (AP)—Baseball, frequently frowned on sport in college circles, will take a comeback role in the Southwest conference this season.

Rice Institute and Southern Methodist have reentered the sport and six teams in the loop will play 15 games each between March 27 and May 23. Arkansas will not compete. Texas A. & M., Baylor, Texas Christian and the University of Texas are the other teams.

Basketball Over The Panhandle

MEMPHIS, Jan. 29.—The Memphis Cyclone basketball team suffered another setback recently when they engaged the Clarendon Brothers in Clarendon, the score being 28 to 27.

The game was hard fought all the way through, with Clarendon sinking a basket in the final minute of play to tie the game away. The game was a return contest, Memphis having defeated Clarendon last week in the local gym.

Ray Childress, small Memphis forward, was high point man for the night, getting 10 points. He was followed closely by Cornell of Clarendon and Davis of Memphis, who got eight points each.

The starting line-up: Memphis—Childress and Gilreath, forwards; White, center; Crowder and Davis, guards.

Clarendon—Cornell and Rolls, forwards; Powell, center; Stewart and Novel, guards.

LUBBOCK, Jan. 28.—One of three teams to defeat Lubbock, Ropesville comes here tonight and the prospects aren't bright for the Westerners. They play a lot of basketball in the smaller towns around here, and Ropesville is one of the hottest South Plains hotspots.

The Westerners, going strong in the Class A, Panhandle league race, which means absolutely nothing in the Texas interscholastic league campaign, have done remarkably well so far, losing three games in fifteen starts. But we're not ready to concede the district interscholastic league tournament title to them.

well, and Nicholson swished the net with a corner shot.

Those three losses have been at the hands of Ropesville, Abernathy and Whitarral. They have won in Lamesa yet, and until they do, they're just one game better off.

Lamesa, winner last year, comes up with another strong team. The Tornados started out not so good, losing to Denton, which beat Lamesa in the state final last year, and Tuscola on a road trip. They got back the Tuscola defeat last week, however. Even the loss of Kidd, a regular forward, apparently has not set the Tornados back much. Kidd, virtually an all-stater last year, submitted to an operation for appendicitis last week, and probably will play no more this season.

Seen as a strong contender for interscholastic league title in this district, Ropesville, which not so long ago went to the state finals at Austin, has won a big majority of its games this season, including at least two tournament championships.

Coach Keyes probably will start Murray Venable and Bruce Chant at forwards tonight, Orvalde Oden or C. L. Storrs at center, Ralph Lettinger and Othie Upton at guards.

Lubbock defeated Amarillo, 30 to 28, and won from Clovis, N. M., 36 to 29, last Friday and Saturday nights here. They journey into the north Panhandle this week for a Panhandle league game with Pampa and Friday night and another at Borger on Saturday night.—Collier Farris, in Lubbock Journal.

Doctor Defends Giving Whiskey To Footballers

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 29 (AP)—The University of Wisconsin board of regents, after hearing Dr. Walter E. Meanwell's defense of his administration as athletic director, stood adjourned today until February 6.

Questioned for almost five hours last night at the first session of the board's investigation into troublesome Badger athletic conditions, Dr. Meanwell defended his giving whiskey to football players and his secret agreements with coaches.

Regents indicated Dr. Clarence Spears, football coach whose differences with Meanwell precipitated the investigation, would be heard at the next session.

The doctor explained he was medically trained and thought that if he believed a boy needed a stimulant he could give it to him without breaking any rule.

Loeb Better off Dead, Declares Clarence Darrow

CHICAGO, Jan. 29. (AP)—Here are some comments made today on the death of Richard Loeb, fatally slashed by a fellow convict at Stateville penitentiary near Joliet.

Foreman Leopold, brother of Nathan Leopold, co-slayer with Loeb of Bobby Franks:

"Terrible, of course, it is a shock to me. That's all I have to say. We visit our brother on regular visiting days, but we haven't seen Loeb since he has been in prison."

Clarence Darrow, criminal lawyer, who defended Loeb and Leopold:

"He is better off than Leopold—better off dead."

Darrow added there was no secret which Loeb's death made subject to revelation. "Everything was brought out at the trial," he said.

Judge John R. Caverly, who sentenced the co-slayer to life and 99 years:

"Naturally, I'm sorry that he was killed, but I cannot break my habit of not discussing the case."

Hamilton Loeb, spokesman for the family and cousin of the victim:

"We have suffered enough. We had not believed the boy was seriously hurt. We never suspected that he would die of the wounds."

Former State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, who prosecuted the co-slayers:

"Those who live by the sword die by the sword."

OIL NEWS AND NOTES

• Panhandle and Other Fields •

VISITS WELL PROJECT

Dr. H. H. Allridge of Englewood, Colo., spent the week-end here in conference with N. K. Kinsey, veteran of the oil business, with whom he is associated in drilling of a semi-wildcat test near here.

The well is the Kinsey No. 1 Jack Stephens on section 187, block B-2, E&G-N, survey. Yesterday drillers were standardizing at 2,482 feet, where the test was logging high and the independent operators were optimistic. Pay is hoped for at about 3,160 feet.

The test was spudded in January 14. It is about 11 miles south and 3 west of Pampa, on a 1/4 section lease.

OIL PRODUCTION

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 29. (AP)—Daily average production of crude oil in the United States for the week ending Jan. 25 was 2,849,910 barrels, an increase of 4,096 barrels over the previous week, the Oil and Gas Journal reports.

Texas and Oklahoma accounted for all of the increase with most of the Oklahoma production advanced from 506,150 barrels to 508,050 barrels and Texas production was up 6,699 barrels to 1,049,405 barrels. East Texas contributed less than 1,000 barrels to the hike.

Kansas showed a slight rise, 250 barrels, to an output of 139,925 barrels. California was down 1,850 barrels, total production being 681,500.

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 29. (AP)—The oil industry in the mid-continent area, which has been overridden in the past in most of its efforts to curtail taxes on its product, has opened a renewed, cooperative tax resistance campaign.

The Mid-continent Oil and Gas association, which claims to represent in the neighborhood of 90 per cent of the industry, has been reorganized and is the medium through which the fight against proposed tax hikes will be waged.

The three divisions, Arkansas-Louisiana, Texas, and Oklahoma-Kansas, have put their approval on the program and have started to work.

At the Texas meeting in Fort Worth last week the members were warned of a proposed increase in production tax to five cents and the rejuvenated association will center its fire on this proposal.

The Oklahoma-Kansas division, in a recent executive committee meeting, reorganized and voted to employ an expert in state finances to determine the status of Oklahoma's budget and make suggestions to reduce Oklahoma government costs. This analysis, along with suggestions and figures to show what the industry calls "discriminatory taxing of oil," will be placed in the hands of Oklahoma legislators.

Despite the cold wave, which virtually froze up all demand for refined products during the week, prices on all products held steady. The Chicago jobber price on third grade gasoline was firm at 51-4-3-8 cents a gallon.

Judge Declares Gas Waste Must Be Stopped

TYLER, Jan. 29. (AP)—Federal Judge Randolph Bryant, vigorously criticizing the profligate waste of natural resources in the Panhandle gas fields, said today that the waste must be stopped.

He spoke out at the hearing of a motion to dismiss an injunction against the Texas railroad commission and entered a court order dismissing the injunction, effective Feb. 15.

The injunction was granted by Judge Bryant several months ago on the plea of the Cargay corporation of Amarillo, restraining the commission from enforcing section seven of house bill 238. This bill was passed at the last regular session of the legislature and provided that gas could not be used for purposes other than light, fuel, and commercial chemical manufacture with the exception of carbon black.

Numerous similar cases are pending in Texas courts. The Cargay corporation, one of about 40 similar gas stripping plants, has been extracting gasoline from gas and, railroad commission engineers claim, blowing the residual gas into the air. Engineers say in this process about 97 per cent of the raw gas is wasted and only three per cent of the fuel gas recovered.

Engineers estimate that 1,500,000 cubic feet of gas were wasted daily in this manner in the last two years.

Charles I. Francis, representing Henry Schaefer of Skellytown, a large royalty owner in the gas-producing section, said today that he would intervene in the case at this hearing. Judge Alvin Moloney, counsel for the Skelly Oil company, also appeared.

W. C. Davis, Harry Pollard and W. J. Holton, assistants to the attorney general, represented the railroad commission. The Cargay corporation was represented by Maurice Cheek of Dallas.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—A brisk demand for motors and aviation shares starchy up the stock market list today.

Gains of fractions to around 2 points appeared on a broad front in the finish, with final levels around the best of the day. Numerous new highs for several years were recorded.

The closing tone was firm. Approximately 2,000,000 shares changed hands.

COTTON GINNINGS UP

There were 2,728 bales of cotton ginned in Gray county from the 1935 crop prior to Jan. 16, 1936, compared with 1,370 bales ginned to Jan. 15, 1935.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 29. (AP)—The market wavered, uncertainly during the morning with the near and distant months reacting in different ways to the Washington situation.

Fears that the loan cotton might be taken over by the government and liquidated brought easiness in the nearby months as March eased 5 points to 11.20, May dipped a similar amount to 10.97 and July was off a point at 10.75.

On the other hand reports that the senate agricultural committee was working with favor on the new farm program brought small advances in the new crop months as Oct. worked up 3 points to 10.27.

COURT RECORD

No Damages Found

A jury in 31st district court yesterday returned a verdict for the defendant in the damage suit of J. Tom Bowers vs. John T. Bowers.

Filed: E. R. Scott, minor, by next friend, his father, G. R. Scott, vs. Texas Indemnity Insurance company, compensation.

J. Y. McAdams vs. Texas Indemnity Insurance company, compensation.

The grand jury was in session again today. No indictments have been returned this week.

Cattle Dying by Hundreds on Gulf

BEAUMONT, Jan. 29. (AP)—Freezing weather left hundreds of cattle dead along the Gulf coast today and ranchmen feared a heavier toll tonight when another cold wave hits the coastal ranges.

Approximately 25,000 head of cattle are pastured on the ranges between Sabine Pass and Point Bolivar during the winter months. Weakened by the cold, more were reported dying.

Bitterly cold weather a few days ago stripped the beaches with dead cattle and losses ran into thousands of dollars. If the current cold continues, indications were that the losses would be equally as heavy.

Stockmen were of the opinion that only a sharp moderation of the cold wave could save many head of cattle that so far have escaped freezing to death.

Cowboys today continued their work of herding the stock, trying to prevent cattle from gathering in fence corners where they would die in great numbers.

FARM MEETING CALLED

BROWNWOOD, Jan. 29. (AP)—Texas farm leaders will meet at Waco Saturday to discuss possible legislative proposals to replace the defunct AAA. H. G. Lucas, president of the Texas agricultural association, was called the meeting, said more than 200 leaders in agriculture had been urged to attend. Lucas returned this week from the national farm conference at Washington. His association claims a membership of several thousand.

BARRYMORE AT AMARILLO

AMARILLO, Jan. 29. (AP)—Lionel Barrymore was grounded in Amarillo today. The veteran actor, sprouting a beard in preparation for a part in a new picture, arrived this morning from New York by TWA plane. The flight was halted by inclement weather but was expected to be resumed tonight.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 29. (AP)—With Liverpool showing a drop of nearly 2 cents a bushel and the Winnipeg market weak, Chicago wheat prices today receded a maximum of 1 1/2 cents.

Wheat closed heavy, 1/4-1/2 cents under yesterday's finish. May 99 1/2, corn 1/4 off, May 59 1/2, oats unchanged to 1/2 lower, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to an equal advance.

Snell Denounces Walkout of Band

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—The Marine band's walkout on the women's Patriotic Conference for National Defense was denounced today by Rep. Snell, the republican leader, as "smacking of something un-American."

He spoke on the house floor only a few minutes after Secretary Swanson gave at a press conference, his approval to the action of the band.

The only reason the band left the meeting last night, Snell said, was because "these women had the temerity" to listen to an outstanding address on the constitution by Bainbridge Colby, wartime secretary of state.

"Is this a forerunner of what Mr. Farley has said would be the dirtiest campaign in history?" Snell stormed. "It certainly looks like it."

Jumping to his feet, Chairman O'Connor (D, N. Y.), of the rules committee asked Snell whether he remembered a "free assemblage of veterans on Pennsylvania avenue, which Mr. Hoover ran out of town."

"I discuss that, too, if the gentleman likes," Snell roared back. "But are you going to stack your administrative cards against those kinds of meetings?"

Defense Rests in Trial of Hamlin

FARWELL, Jan. 29. (AP)—The defense rested today in the trial of George S. Hamlin for the slaying of his wife at Amarillo last January.

The state offered rebuttal evidence in an effort to rebut the testimony of J. V. Welch, Amarillo policeman, who said that he had had illicit relations with Mrs. Hamlin prior to her marriage.

Norman Minter, court reporter, read a statement he said Welch made at the time of Hamlin's first trial. The state presented the statements in an attempt to show alleged discrepancies between it and Welch's testimony.

The defense based its case chiefly on testimony intended to show that Hamlin is insane and that his wife was unfaithful.

Mrs. B. L. Hoover, Mrs. E. W. Voss, and Mrs. Molly Hunter have returned from a week-end visit to Oklahoma City.

LOEB

"indecent advances," prompted the widespread investigation.

Victim of a ferocious attack by a fellow convict, James Day, 23, of Chicago, Loeb's life plus 99 years sentence yesterday was completed in violence similar to that which brought him to the Stateville penitentiary 12 years ago.

Loeb Is Silent

Loeb's body was horribly slashed, with 56 gaping razor wounds, one of which almost severed the jugular vein. He died within two hours, despite frantic efforts of eight physicians who resorted to blood transfusion. Death was attributed to shock and loss of blood by Dr. Lester E. Frankenthal, the Loeb family physician.

Nathan Leopold, Loeb's partner in what they planned and executed as "the perfect crime"—the brutal slaying of Robert Franks, 14, refused to discuss the latest crime, answering all questions of prison authorities with, "I decline to answer."

A. L. Bowen, director of the state department of public welfare, promised a searching investigation of the slaying. He asked State's Attorney William R. McCabe and Warden Joseph E. Ragen in questioning six convicts.

Body Removed Secretly

The state's attorney said today he had prepared a warrant charging Day with murder. He added it would be served at the coroner's inquest. Engineers estimated that 1,500,000 cubic feet of gas were wasted daily in this manner in the last two years.

The body of Loeb, who was 30 years old, was taken from the prison to Chicago secretly. State's Attorney McCabe said he understood the victim would be buried in Chicago at 9 a. m. but that Loeb's family declined to make public any of the details.

Bowen also quoted Day as saying, "Loeb had been bothering me with indecent advances for a long time."

He said Day's cellmates, George Bliss and Robert Canary, told him that Day had been under a strain for months, that he did not eat or sleep well and that he had been "brooding over Loeb's solicitations."

Bowen declared Day's story did "not seem very reasonable." He pointed out that Loeb suffered virtually all the wounds, although Day had a black eye. Both Loeb and Day were naked at the time of the attack.

Day chose not to testify after he was informed it was his constitutional right to remain silent, since he faces trial for murder.

The dull-eyed, stooped young prisoner blurted one sentence before making this decision. He cried: "My life has been miserable here ever since I entered the place."

LANDON SPEECH AT 9

TOPEKA, Jan. 29. (AP)—The address of Gov. Alf M. Landon tonight before the Kansas Day Club banquet will be broadcast over the National Broadcasting company chain and over WIBW, local station, beginning at 9 p. m. (Central Standard time).

Mme. Stavisky Takes Role in Cabaret Show

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—The once fabulously wealthy Arlette Stavisky, widow of the French pawnbroker, Alexandre Stavisky whose peculiar financial operations almost caused a revolution, was ready to become a $50 a week breadwinner on Broadway today.

Acquitted of complicity after 16 months in prison, the 32-year-old widow is taking an inconspicuous role in the revue "Polle de Femmes" in a New York cabaret.

"I have come here to work for my two children, Claude, who is nine and Micheline, who is five," Mme. Stavisky said. "At present they are with their old nurse in my small apartment in Paris, but soon I hope to have them join me. I want to make my home in America."

The convent-hood widow whose meeting and marriage to Alexandre Stavisky was of story book pattern, has nothing left of the vast Stavisky estate except the remnants of her personal wardrobe.

Arriving here yesterday on the Ile de France, she was wearing a grey wool ensemble, with a brown ermine coat trimmed with blue fox. Her jewelry, she said, had gone to her husband shortly before his pawnshop empire collapsed.

SMITH

Soviet Union of Russia might shower upon me."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—Both major parties felt the stresses and strains of internal conflict of opinion today as the new deal labeled Alfred E. Smith an "unhappy warrior" gone back on his "own people" and Senator Borah of Idaho warned that certain republican "leaders" would steer their party to defeat.

While these clashing forces struggled onward toward the great electoral battle the voice of Governor Alf M. Landon will be raised in Kansas tonight. He will speak at a banquet which will be a climax to an annual Kansas day celebration in Topeka.

In the deep south, at Macon, Ga., insurgent democrats gathered under the leadership of Governor Talmadge and John Henry Kirby, Texas lumberman, to crystallize anti-Roosevelt sentiment. The big question was whether the "grass roots" meeting would designate Talmadge officially to oppose President Roosevelt.

Mrs. Maverick Buys Dirt But Voices Regret

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—Mrs. Maury Maverick, wife of the Texas representative, objected today to having to pay for Washington dirt.

"I wanted to pot and plant some beautiful Texas cactus plants," she said. "I tried to dig up some dirt in the back yard of the apartment house where we live, but found it frozen."

"The only thing left to do was to go downtown and pay 65 cents for it. At that rate our Texas ranch would be worth about $3,000,000,000."

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McKernan have returned from Hot Springs, where they spent the past month.

WEATHER

gulf coast by nightfall, weather observers said.

It was snowing hard over New Mexico and Utah and the fall reached eastward across the United States, covering the middle part of the country. There was snow at Oklahoma City, Little Rock, Memphis, and even at Mobile, Ala., Dodge City, Kas., had a minimum temperature of 10 above zero and snow this morning.

Winter crop and livestock losses in Texas have been negligible so far. However, it was feared increased severity of the cold wave would endanger many cattle on the West Texas plains and Gulf coast. Cowboys rode through the night along the Gulf coast, keeping thousands of cattle moving in hope they would not freeze to death. A few years ago a wintry blast left the benches strewn with dead cattle.

Rain froze as it fell at Corsicana, where the temperature was 30 degrees. The precipitation changed to light mist this morning and as the mercury climbed slightly, ice melted. Longview had a low of 30 degrees.

Light snow started falling this morning in Wichita Falls. The minimum temperature last night was 27. Plainview reported the ground covered with snow at daybreak and still falling.
