IT'S THE LAW in Texas
OWNER'S POLICY vs. MORTGAGE POLICY
Three out of four families who buy houses in the $11,000 to $15,000 price range jeopardize their investment because they do not protect their cash and ownership with commensurate title insurance.

These financial risks result from insufficient knowledge of the difference between an owner's policy and a mortgage policy, and lack of information about title insurance.
The main point is that the usual title insurance taken out by the purchaser of a home in the up-to-$15,000 bracket serves only to protect the bank or lending institution. It is often compulsory for the buyer to purchase this insurance, known as the 'mortgage policy,' since some mortgagees insist upon this particular safeguard as one of the loan conditions. The 'mortgage policy,' however, never protects the home owner's equity. This is so even after the mortgage is fully paid.

A course remains open for the purchaser who wants to cover himself for the entire price of the home. He should, at the time of application for the required 'mortgage policy,' check with his attorney about simultaneously obtaining an 'owner's policy.' The 'owner's policy,' in contrast to the 'mortgage policy,' protects the home buyer as long as he owns the property. In many instances, it also protects an owner even after he sells, if he has a warranted title.

Owners of higher-priced homes usually take out both title policies. Thus, they purchase peace of mind on their substantial equity instead of trying to 'save' a few dollars, a false economy which may later invite trouble.

Title insurance took on greater significance after World War II. It is a requisite today by many banks and lending institutions for those applying for mortgage loans, and is for the lender's protection. A defective title, it was shown, may cost the owner not only the price of the home but considerably greater sums if the new owner 'inherits' previously undiscovered liens, back taxes, or defects of title that do not appear on the records.

The purchaser of the $11,000-$15,000 home often withholds taking the 'owner's policy,' which protects his equity continually, in order to save a few dollars. An element of risk enters, however, if flaws are subsequently found. The owner without title insurance would not be reimbursed to the extent of the defect. To compound his difficulties, the owner would be burdened with the cost of correcting the title defect and legal costs.

To illustrate the difference in an 'owner's policy' and the 'mortgage policy,' the following case was cited: Mr. Smith buys a home for $15,000. He places $2,000 down and takes a $13,000 mortgage loan. Pursuing the course of many home buyers, his only title insurance purchase is a 'mortgage policy' for $13,000, which the mortgagee demands and which protects only the lending institution. Each year Mr. Smith's equity increases as his mortgage decreases. Nevertheless, knowingly or not, Mr. Smith is not carrying any title insurance which protect Mr. Smith.

If a faulty or fraudulent title should be discovered, or if previously-unknown liens against the property were to be established during the life of the mortgage, or after it was paid, Mr. Smith would have no protection.

Youth Fined In County Court After Accident

Johnny Earl Brown, 204 N. Dwight, 17-year-old driver of the automobile involved in an accident Tuesday with another car, driven by Mrs. June Watson, 1936 N. Christy, was arraigned in Gray County Court this morning on a charge of aggravated assault with a motor vehicle.

Young Brown entered a not-to-contend plea and was fined $25 and costs by County Judge Bill Craig. County Attorney Don Cain said there is an automatic six-month suspension of the youth's driver's license by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Three other charges against Brown still were pending in Corporation Court today. He was cited after police said he ran a stop sign at N. West St. and W. Brown Ave. and struck the car driven by Mrs. Watson.

Mrs. Watson was thrown from her car when it was knocked into a tree by the impact and suffered severe facial lacerations.

She was still in Highland General Hospital today and attendants there said she was recovering and her condition was fine.

Suit Asks $50,000 In Injury Case

A $50,000 malicious assault case was filed in District Court Wednesday by Eddie Zuniga, a Pampa consulting engineer, against J. W. Daniel, a resident of Gray County and Vertye Hughes Rose, manager of the Blue Bonnet Inn.

Zuniga charged that on July 19, 1962 Daniel "struck him in the face and knocked him unconscious then kicked him in the right eye with his foot, causing serious bodily injuries which resulted in his being permanently impaired from operating his business at the same capacity as before."

Mrs. Rose was charged by Zuniga with several counts of negligence, including "serving alcoholic beverages to a person of vicious temperament in knowing it would enrage him and make him likely to injure those around him and in allowing him to enter and remain in her place of business, and in failing to warn Zuniga of Daniel's vicious temperament."

Daniel was fined $25 and costs in Gray County Court last summer after pleading guilty to aggravated assault and serious bodily damage charges resulting from the incident.

Zuniga has asked $30,000 actual damages and $20,000 exemplary damages.

Chief Orders K-9 Corps Equipment

Police Chief Jim Conner today had submitted a purchase order for $135 to buy equipment for training and use when a police dog is added to the police department.

R. D. Wilberforce, Amarillo dog trainer, has notified Pampa officials that he is negotiating for a dog for Pampa and should be able to put him into training within the next few days.

Wilberforce said he first will work with the dog when it joins the department.

Equipment to be ordered includes an attack suit, leashes, choke chains and dog collars.

Fund Drive Plans For Home For The Aged To Be Made

Preliminary plans for a fund drive to be conducted by the Top O' Texas Foundation for a convalescent nursing home in Pampa were scheduled for discussion at a meeting of Foundation officers and directors this afternoon.

Larry Lidstrom, treasurer for the Hockenbury System, Inc., which will conduct the financial campaign, arrived in Pampa yesterday from Pennsylvania.

Lidstrom was scheduled to discuss plans with the board at today's meeting. He was one of the directors of the fund drive for Pampa's Coronado Inn.

my tax recommendations." Without tax cuts there would be slower economic growth and smaller revenues, the President said.

"This would indeed be unfortunate," Kennedy added, "both because of the effect on government finances and because of the lost opportunities and the human misfortune that would accompany a sluggish economy and growing unemployment."

He noted in this connection that the Treasury ran up cumulative deficits of $24.3 billion during the past five years even though he and his Republican predecessor in the White House had anticipated surpluses totaling $8 billion.

Two Kinds of Deficits

"It is now clear," Kennedy said, "that the restraining effects of the tax system on the economy were not adequately realized."

The President told lawmakers skeptical of his philosophy that there are two kinds of deficits. He said one is a chronic deficit stemming from anemic economic growth. The other, he said, is a temporary deficit resulting from a tax-spending program designed to spur business activity, provide more jobs and ultimately increase revenues.

"The first type of deficit is a sign of waste and weakness," Kennedy declared. "The second is an investment in the future."

While the Chief Executive did not disclose his tax-cutting timetable in advance of his special tax message to Congress later this month, he said it would reduce federal income by some $5.3 billion in fiscal 1964.

He also indicated that he wants individuals to get tax relief before corporations, presumably on the theory that they will pump such funds into the economy almost immediately.

Kennedy asked Congress to extend the present 52 per cent tax rate on corporations six more months until Jan. 1, 1964. On the other hand, it was understood he would ask that the first cut in personal income taxes be made effective July 1.

Proposes Extension

The President also proposed another extension of Korean War excise taxes on liquor, beer, cigarettes, and new cars. Otherwise the levies would expire July 1, costing the Treasury $1.6 billion in annual revenues. He likewise proposed raising another $100 million through new user taxes on air freight and plane and barge fuel.

In the field of legislation, Kennedy renewed his appeal for such controversial programs as medical care for the aged under Social Security and aid to education. He again sought a cabinet-level department of urban affairs to help cities solve their problems.

The outlook for both is dim this year, although Kennedy partisans hope to salvage at least something in the 1964 election-year session of Congress.

Guy Caskey Speaker For Rotarians

Guy V. Caskey, minister, Harvester and Mary Ellen Streets Church of Christ, spoke on "Africa" at the Pampa Rotary Club luncheon meeting yesterday at the Coronado Inn.

The speaker, who went to Africa in 1949 as a missionary and spent 18 months there, said that most people did not realize the immensity of that continent.

"Africa," he said, "is between three and four times the area of the United States. It is made up of 40 countries and 800 languages and dialects are spoken. For the most part the climate is wonderful, the soil is rich, and there is an abundance of natural resources. However, their markets are limited due to the lack of roads and other transportation as well as the many language barriers."

Caskey said that the United States could best help the people of Africa raise their standard of living through a supervised educational and economic program. He felt that assistance should be given to the "common people" and not to the diplomats. Small scale programs could be initiated by sending doctors, teachers, agriculturists, missionaries and others to assist them.

Caskey lived in Pampa prior to his going to Africa. He returned here two years ago.

Art Holland introduced the program.

Twenty-five members of the club volunteered to assist in the "Bucket Brigade" for the March of Dimes in downtown Pampa Saturday. Bill Atkinson and Phil Eastabrooks are co-chairman for the event.

Teen's Cinnamon Puffs Win Award

When a 16-year-old makes mouth-watering Cinnamon Puffs, that's news. When she wins a national award for her recipe, that's even better news.

That's the happy story of Colleen Smith of Safford, Ariz. She won a National 4-H scholarship in the Bread Demonstration program sponsored by Standard Brands, Inc.

Slender, active in school affairs, she worked all summer to perfect her entry. Her efforts paid off, not only for Colleen but also for everyone who enjoys yeast-baked pastry.

CINNAMON PUFFS
1 package or cake active dry or compressed yeast
1/4 cup warm water (105-115 degrees)
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs (at room temperature)
Rind and juice of 1/2 lemon
3/4 cup chopped pecans
1 cup milk, scalded
4-5 cups enriched flour
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cinnamon
Soften yeast in warm water. Cream together in mixing bowl butter, salt and sugar. Add eggs, nutmeg, lemon juice and rind and pecans. Cool milk. Add to egg mixture. Add yeast. Stir in 2 cups flour. Beat 100 strokes. Work in 2 to 3 cups more flour.

Knead 10 full minutes by the clock. Turn over in well-greased bowl and cover with clean tea towel. Let rise at about 85 degrees until doubled in bulk (about 1 1/2 hours). Test to see if doubled by pressing two fingers into dough. If imprint remains when fingers are withdrawn, it has doubled. Punch down by plunging fist into center. This allows gas to escape. Fold over from four sides. Turn onto board and cut in two. Seal cut edges by turning in and let rest 10 minutes.

Cut in half. Cut each half of dough into about 40 to 50 uniform pieces. Form each piece into ball; roll in butter. Combine cinnamon and sugar. Roll balls in cinnamon-sugar mixture. Arrange layers of balls in well-greased ring mold (angel food cake pan may be used, but do not use the one you use for angel food cake). Sprinkle extra cinnamon-sugar on top. Let rise until doubled. Bake in a 350-degree oven about 35 minutes. This makes 2 Cinnamon Puffs, or half of dough may be used for puffs and half made into a Swedish Tea Ring.

Colleen Smith, 16, of Safford, Ariz., is winner of a 4-H scholarship. Her specialty: cinnamon puffs.

Highway Patrol Investigates 16 Rural Accidents

The Highway Patrol investigated 16 rural accidents in Gray County during the month of December according to Sergeant J. W. Wilson, Patrol Supervisor of the Pampa area.

These wrecks accounted for six persons injured and an estimated property damage of $5,420.

The rural traffic accident summary for Gray County from January through December of 1962 shows a total of 168 crashes resulting in 7 persons killed, 115 injured. The estimated property damage amounted to $101,218.

When the final reports are tabulated in March of 1963, it is estimated the death count will be approximately 4 per cent above the 2314 killed in 1961. This increase should be a challenge for every individual to put forth his best defensive efforts to prevent accidents for the new year.

The Veteran Patrol Supervisor cautions all motorists to beware of icy patches at bridges, underpasses and in shadows. Reduce speed before you reach the slippery area.

There Will Be Plenty Of Resolutions By Solons

By VERNON SMYLIE
Texas News Syndicate

AUSTIN—One of the first things the Senate did when it went to work last week was to invite a group of Boy Scouts from Fort Worth to do an Indian dance at the Capitol.

Issuing the invitation was part of the preparation for the inauguration of Governor John Connally and Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith.

The invitation took the form of a resolution which was presented to the Senate by Senator Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells—and that's why we mention it here.

During the present regular session of the Legislature, both the Senate and the House of Representatives will consider hundreds of resolutions. They will be designed to extend invitations (such as Senator Creighton's invitation to the Fort Worth Boy Scouts), to memorialize various persons, to issue directives of certain types, to express the opinion of the chamber in which they originate, to grant certain types of authority, and even to set the machinery in motion to amend the Texas Constitution.

Resolutions, when passed, do not become laws. They have no formal standing in the courts. But—like an attorney-general's opinion on a legal matter—they can have a very real impact.

There are three kinds of resolutions—simple, concurrent, and a joint.

Senator Creighton's resolution was of the simple variety. Such resolutions require action by just one house of the Legislature rather than both. They don't have to be referred to committees. They are voted on just once—at the time of introduction. In other words, there are no second and third readings. Finally, they do not require approval by the governor.

It is a simple resolution that is used—in addition to extending invitations—to record memorials, to recall bills from the other legislative chamber, and to cope with matters arising within either house.

Concurrent resolutions are the means by which both houses of the Legislature express themselves in unison on certain matters. Joint resolutions are used to state the Legislature's interpretation of a law, to authorize a law suit against the state, to suggest a certain line of action to Congress, or to adopt joint rules of the two houses. They also can be used for memorials.

Like simple resolutions, concurrent resolutions usually are voted on just once without being referred to a committee. Unlike simple resolutions, however, they must be approved by both houses and most of them must be subjected to approval or veto by the governor.

Joint resolutions are used to propose amendments to the Texas Constitution. They also may be utilized as the means of ratifying an amendment to the U. S. Constitution or of calling a state constitutional convention. Joint resolutions are like concurrent resolutions in that they must be approved by both legislative houses. They are unlike concurrent resolutions in that they do not require action by the governor.

When an amendment to the Texas Constitution is involved, a two-thirds majority of members elected to each chamber is required. In the House, a third reading is not required if a two-thirds majority prevails on second

Hazlewood Gets Assignment To Top Committee

AUSTIN (UPI)—Lt. Gov. Preston Smith named yesterday his committee assignments to complete organization of the 58th Legislature. Top positions went to Sens. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo and A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris.

The committee assignments came in Smith's first action as presiding officer of the Senate following his inauguration Tuesday as lieutenant governor.

Both houses of the legislature convened shortly before the 11 a. m. joint session for Gov. John Connally's address.

Smith named Hazlewood chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and appointed Aikin chairman of the State Affairs Committee.

Other important committee chairmanships went to Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford, insurance; Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi, Banking; Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe, Agriculture and Livestock; Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress, Constitutional Amendments; and Sen. Louis Crump of San Saba, Education.

After hearing the committee assignments, the Senate approved Connally's appointment of former Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro as secretary of state.

The Senate has a total of 24 standing committees. After today's joint session for Connally's speech which outlined his program for the next two years, both houses will get down to the serious business of considering new laws.

Sen. Crump also was named chairman of the Rules Committee.

Reading in the Senate, three separate readings on three separate days are required, regardless.

On joint resolutions for other purposes, the procedure is much the same as the routine procedure for handling bills.

A 'Joint Return' Can Save On Tax Money

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A husband and wife usually can save a tidy sum on their federal income taxes by filing a so-called "joint return."

They can do this even though only one of them actually received taxable income during 1962.

The reason a joint return usually means a saving is that the United States has what is called a "progressive" income tax rate structure. The higher your income, the bigger percentage of it you must pay in taxes.

The basic tax rate for single taxpayers is 20 per cent of the first $2,000 of taxable income. The next $2,000 is taxed at 22 per cent, the next $2,000 at 26 per cent, and soon until, for taxable incomes above $200,000 the government's bite is 91 cents out of each dollar.

Under a joint return, the total income reported by a married couple is in effect split in two, and each half is taxed separately. Thus the tax rate on each half is lower than the rate on the total would be.

A Savings of $84

For example, a married man whose income was $7,000 might find that he owed the government $1,126 if he filed a separate return just claiming his wife as an exemption. But by having her sign a joint return with him, his tax bill is reduced to $1,042 a savings of $84.

Even when both husband and wife are wage earners, it is usually cheaper to file joint returns. But there are some cases in which they'd come out better by filing separate returns. The only way to decide what to do is to figure your taxes both ways on scratch paper and take the cheaper way.

Even if you filed separate returns last year, you may file a joint return this year—or vice versa. If you file separate returns and later discovered you should have filed a joint return you may do so up to three years after the April 15 filing deadline. But, if you file a joint return, you may not file separate ones after April 15.

Joint filing is prohibited in some circumstances. They are: If you were divorced or legally separated on or before Dec. 31, if you are married to a non-citizen who does not live in this country; or if you and your wife report your income on the basis of different tax years. For example, for business reasons, you may report your income for a 12-month period ending June 30 while your wife uses the regular calendar year.

Other Conditions

Even if you got married on New Year's Eve just before midnight, you are considered married for the entire year for tax purposes and may file a joint return.

If your spouse died in 1962 and you did not remarry, you still may file a joint return. Sometimes a surviving spouse may claim the income-splitting benefits of a joint return for the two years following death. For details about this provision, ask your attorney, accountant or local office of the Internal Revenue Service. Suppose your wife worked only part time last year and earned less than $600. A joint return probably would be to your advantage. She might get a refund for taxes withheld if she filed separately, but you would lose her as an exemption.

Both husband and wife must sign a joint return and each becomes individually liable for any tax owed the government. For example, a woman could be legally responsible for a tax debt even if she did no work and received no income during the year.

Do The Same

Like an individual, a couple filing jointly may take the standard 10 per cent deduction or itemized deductions. But if the man and wife file separate returns and one itemizes his deductions, the other must, too.

You must attach to your joint return both the husband's and the wife's forms W-2, the statement of earnings provided by employers.

One other matter that concerns quite a few couples each year is buying and selling of houses. In some circumstances you can get a break on taxation of the profit you make on selling your house. Ask the Internal Revenue Office about this if you sold your house in 1962.

McLean Beauty Parade Slated For Feb. 24

McLEAN (Spl) — Bandmaster Jim Boyd, and faculty advisor of the McLean High School yearbook staff, has announced February 24 as the date for this year's beauty parade.

The affair is held annually to select the beauty queen of the school, who is given a place of honor in the yearbook and the proceeds are used to help defray publication expenses. It is coupled with an advertising campaign, and each advertiser has the privilege of sponsoring a girl to be presented in the parade.

The winner and two runners-up are chosen by out-of-town judges who consider not only facial beauty, but personality, poise and general appearance.

This will be the 13th consecutive presentation of the affair which

Foreign Commentary

By GEORGE WEEKS
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has elaborate machinery, but sometimes it is bypassed. An example was cited in a book published last week by a man who once was part of the machine.

Vernon McKay, currently chairman of the State Department's Advisory Council on African Affairs, cited the "unusual" March 22, 1960, decision regarding reaction to the Sharpeville shooting in South Africa.

He said State Department press officer Lincoln White was authorized to say that the United States "cannot help but regret the tragic loss of life resulting from the measures taken against the demonstrators in South Africa."

The decision to make the statement was made at the Secretary of State's regular staff meeting but without consultation of the U.S. ambassador in South Africa, and without approval of the White House.

McKay, writing in "Africa in World Politics" quoted the Assistant Secretary of State for Public

Africa and partly because of President Eisenhower's cautious approach toward intervention in the affairs of other countries.

"State Department officers in later explanations insisted that the statement did not depart from previous declarations of American policy toward South Africa. They had not expected the statement to be so widely publicized, but were pleased at the favorable press reactions both at home and abroad."

Quick Decision
McKay said "since this extraordinary incident within another country was made the day after Sharpeville and before the facts were well established even in South Africa, it was obviously a quick decision which did not follow the normal pattern of the policy machine."

He recalled that just six days earlier, the assistant secretary of state for African Affairs, Joseph C. Satterthwaite, now ambassador to South Africa, told a Senate committee that a government was simply "not free to make gratuitous statements on the internal affairs of a foreign country."

According to McKay, "the problem of dealing with Portugal and South Africa is particularly difficult and important for the United States."

He said that "in their defiance of world opinion, Portugal and South Africa stand naked and alone."

"Despite their extreme sensitivity to external pressure, the United States cannot keep silent about their misbehavior. Their policies can only lead to trouble for Africa, for themselves and for the rest of the world."

Some 'Quit-Smoking' Problems

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Anyone who quits smoking must go through a readjustment period that is likely to present certain difficulties.

With me, these took the form of tempt to grow a beard. But by and large I have had it easy compared to the experience of a young lady in Pensacola, Fla., with whom I have been in correspondence.

Dangerous Combination
This is a dangerous combination, owing to the fact that a smoker who sticks a finger in his or her mouth is apt to put a match supremely adverse to publicity. So I'll just call her Miss Wireless. Miss Wireless writes that until a few months ago she not only was a confirmed cigarette smoker but also had a habit of chewing her fingernails.

"When I quit smoking," Miss Wireless reports, "I became befuddled, confused, dim-witted. At first, it was difficult to remember to it by mistake. Recognizing that she was a potential fire hazard, Miss Wireless resolved to kick the nicotine habit, which led to rather unexpected results.

what I had stopped. So, by accident, I stopped biting my nails at the same time." One might think that congratulations were in order for ridding herself of two bad habits, but Miss Wireless views it as a mixed blessing.

70th Anniversary Is Observed By Cummings Couple

PANHANDLE (Sp) — Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Cummings, who were married 70 years ago in Denton County, observed their anniversary quietly in their home on Thursday with a family dinner.

Cummings, who is a retired farmer and has served as Elder of the Church of Christ for many years, came to the Panhandle vicinity with his family from Moberly about 30 years ago. On retiring from farming he and his wife moved to Panhandle, where they live on East Fourth Street. They have been members of the Church of Christ since before their marriage.

The couple has ten living children, 50 grandchildren, 89 great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

Attending the observance were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Goforth, Mim and Karen, Amarillo; Mrs. Redus Holland and Brennon, Los Alamos, N.M. and David Stamps, Long Beach, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Dee Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cummings, Benny, Janice and Lenard; Earl Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stamps, Gaylon, Gale Ann and Adelia; Mrs. Lela Adcock and Lea-

Mild, Clear Spray Protects Blond Hair

Hair spray is a useful grooming aid during the winter months when the wind can ruin a setting as soon as you step out the front door.

But since frequent use of spray can be drying, and will temporarily change the shade of your hair, you should be careful in choosing one that's best for you.

Biondes, especially, have the discoloration problem. Some hair sprays can give a harsh, metallic look to the softest golden locks.

A new, mild, clear spray has been perfected just for blondes. Whether you're blonde by nature or design, the makers claim the spray won't change your hair shade, yet it will hold your setting.

No matter what the color or texture of your hair, there is a spray for you. You'll find one for fine hair, normal textured hair, and for oily or dry conditions. But to get the performance you expect from the spray, be sure to read the directions. Some are designed to work best when used on DAMP hair only.

It's also wise to choose one that states on the label that it contains lanolin. If it does not, you may find that it flakes, dulls the luster of your hair and causes dryness.

This girl uses a new fragrance created by a famous Paris couturiere. Applied to the pulse points, it can be worn for both daytime and evening.

A new Jegg rest features a special roller with a built-in massage motor, mounted on a folding metal base. The legs rest on an upholstered foam rubber pad so that, stretched full length, they will be comfortable and under no strain. Feet are placed directly against the padded roller. A tiny switch, at one end of the roller, starts the motor.

Dear Abby....

Enjoy Your Good Fortune, Son!!!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I suppose I should be the happiest boy in the world today but I am not. Here is what happened: I started taking violin lessons at school from a teacher who is hired by the school to teach whole classes. I used a violin owned by the school because my father hasn't been able to work much lately and we couldn't afford to buy one. Well, this morning the violin teacher GAVE me a wonderful violin. He said the father of a student who refused to practice called him and told him to give the violin to anyone who would use and appreciate it. He chose me. I love the violin but I know, whose it was, and I feel terrible taking it. What should I do?

DEAR FEELS: Don't feel bad. If the boy who first owned the violin valued it, his father would not have given it away. Master the second-hand fiddle and one day you might make concert master.

DEAR ABBY: Is it wrong to send a single girl (age 19) a wedding invitation and write on the bottom of it, "Bring Mac"? (Mac is her boy friend.) My future mother-in-law said it was wrong and I should have sent Mac a separate invitation. What is your opinion?

DEAR GETTING: To be proper, one should send a separate invitation to each unmarried guest. Handwritten notes on formal wedding invitations are out of place. These include, "No gifts, please," "No children under 12," and

"Bring Mac."

DEAR ABBY: Our son has been in the Army for a year. At first he saved almost all his pay. He'd bank it where he was stationed and send home his bank book to prove it. Lately he hasn't been sending home his bank book. We are afraid he is spending his money on his buddies to become popular, and in no time he will be bled dry. He is very immature and has no sense of responsibility. Can we get the government to send us his pay so we can save it for him? We will, in turn, send him an allowance to live on. He doesn't need much as the Army is housing and feeding him.

DEAR PARENTS: In only very rare and exceptional cases will Uncle Sam step in and protect the loot from a man who's protecting his country. Impress upon your son the importance of saving, and pray he does.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. D.: A spoiled child never loves its mother. You had better get some professional counseling before it is too late.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., for Abby's new booklet, "How To Write Letters For All Occasions."

Take It From Kathy

Dear Kathy: I have two brothers. Let's call them Don and Ray. Don is 21, quiet, the serious type, but very conceted. Ray is nearly 20, a lot of fun and definitely NOT conceted. We get along very well. I get along with Don, too, but they can't get along with each other because their fiancées are so different that they couldn't be friends if they HAD to. I like Ray's girl best because we have so much more in common, but I'm not cool toward Don's girl, either.

Canadian P-TA Meets Recently

CANADIAN (Sp) — The January meeting of the Executive Board of the Canadian P-TA was held recently at Baker school following lunch at the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Lawrence Pundt presided at the meeting, during which a committee was selected to work on a possible project to acquire playground equipment for the schools. The committee members are Mrs. Royce Jones, Mrs. Franklin Bucher and Superintendent, Woodie Beene.

Attending the executive meeting in addition to the above were Mmes. Warren Harrington, Jack Sutton, Creed Petree, Harry Haines and Horace Rivers.

Oldtimer's Tips For Outdoors

Gun Rust Remover Here's another tip on rust spot removing that sounds pretty good. Rust spots on that gun of yours can be safely treated by rubbing the spots gently with a soft cloth and a very fine valve grinding compound. This, it is claimed, will not injure the bluing.

To Catch A Mole Anybody who wants to catch a mole (a most peculiar desire), can do so, say the experts. Just dig a hole—straight down through the mole's tunnel, wide enough to sink gallon-size tin bucket.

More Duck Decoy Action Duck decoys often are inclined to be sluggish, especially when the water is calm.

Removing Screws In Gun When removing screws to dismantle a shotgun or rifle, make sure the screwdriver blade fits the slots.

If the blade is too large, or too small, it can damage the surrounding metal.

Cold Weather Shaving A hunter camping on a lease in very cold weather would do well to shave, or at least keep his whiskers trimmed close.

Shave at night to avoid face chapping.

Bill Russell, East All-Stars Surge Past West In NBA Tiff

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Even if Bill Russell doesn't score a point he's one of the finest players in basketball. When he scores 19 there's probably no one better. And the Boston Celtics star did score 19 Wednesday night—in addition to hauling down 24 rebounds and blocking a myriad of shots—so naturally the Eastern squad upset the West, 115-108, in the 13th annual National Basketball Association All Star game.

Wilhelm Receives Raise With Chicago White Sox

By MILTON RICHMAN UPI Sports Writer Some call, others raise, but Hoyt Wilhelm—simply stood-pat and came out a winner. The Chicago White Sox were the ones who raised the ante, tearing up a 1963 contract Wilhelm already had signed with the Baltimore Orioles a week ago and giving him a new one at an unasked-for "increase in pay."

Technically, the White Sox didn't have to do it. The 39-year-old Wilhelm, who had a 7-10 record and a 1.94 earned run average with the Orioles last year, signed with them last week for approximately the same $22,000 he received in 1962.

But wishing to make him feel at home in his new surroundings, White Sox General Manager Ed Short rolled out the welcome mat

Association All Star game. "Russell just dominated the game," moaned West coach Fred Schaus of the Los Angeles Lakers.

Russell also dominated the most valuable player voting, easily winning the award for the first time in six all-star appearances. The 6-foot-10 center, along with some slick ball handling by Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and Bob Cousy of Boston, stunned the West squad which opened the game with what was billed as the greatest offensive lineup of all time.

The win, before a crowd of 14,838 at the Memorial Sports Arena, snapped a two-game Western win streak and gave the East a 9-4 edge in the series.

The smaller, quicker Eastern lineup harassed the West on defense and outran them on offense to quickly build up a 19-10 lead with seven minutes gone in the opening quarter.

Robertson led the offensive attack before intermission, scoring 16 points in addition to giving the East the spark he had given to the West the past two years.

Even though Bob Pettit of St. Louis—and the West—was the high scorer with 25 points, the West never could get any resemblance of an offense going. Midway in the fourth period the East had built up a 101-84 margin and coach Red Auerbach figured Russell could come out.

However, the West shot back on buckets by Elgin Baylor, Jerry West and Don Ohl to cut the gap to 102-93. Auerbach rushed Russell in as fast as the scorer would allow and the East had no trouble for the final four minutes.

Robertson topped the East in scoring, with 21. Baylor tied Wilt Chamberlain at 17 points for runner up honors in the West.

Miami Beach Is Considered For Title Bout

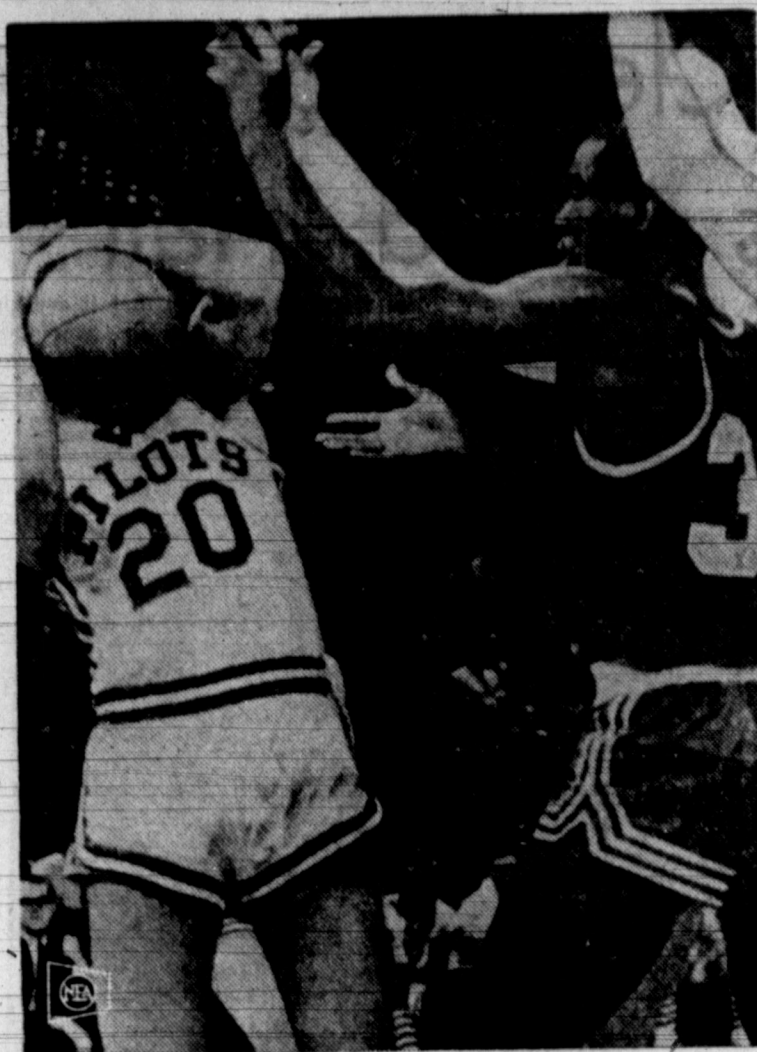

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rejected as a possible site once before, Miami Beach again was named today as the likely place where the return heavyweight title bout between Sonny Liston and Floyd Patterson will be held on April 4.

Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports, Inc. (CSI), said the bout probably will be held there on that date after "certain things" are cleared up at meetings in Chestery, Pa., Thursday and Miami Beach next Monday.

Liston originally broke down negotiations for a Miami Beach fight last week when he said he would not defend his title there against Patterson until he was "satisfied about a lot of things."

Bolan feels Liston will be satisfied after the meetings. Bolan and Jack Nilson, Liston's adviser, have had several conferences recently, apparently about releasing some of the $20,000 being held in escrow to guarantee Liston's return bout with Patterson, whom he knocked out in one round at Chicago last Sept. 25.

Liston insisted that the return bout contract was broken when CSI failed to pay him an agreed upon $50,000 within 24 hours after his kayo-of Patterson.

Cassius Clay Gives Predictions, Poetry

By SANDY PADWE PITTSBURGH (UPI) — "Cassius Clay is 21 today but instead of making a birthday wish he made a few predictions.

CASSIUS CLAY ... a poet, too?

"Do you want to hear my poem?" he asked. Without waiting for the answer he started. "This colorful fighter is something to see

And heavyweight champ I'm sure he will be You get the impression while watching him fight He plays cat and mouse and turns out the light.

"What a frustrating feeling I'm sure it must be To be hit by punches you can't even see Where was he first and where was he last

How can you conquer a man so fast. "I am sure his opponents have tried their best But one by one on the canvas they rest."

Clay will begin training for the fight today at the Sherwyn Hotel in downtown Pittsburgh. Hotel officials have converted part of a floor into a training area complete with ring and Cassius will work out there.

He's invited all his fans to come and he says quite frankly "they will see the prettiest fighter, the most talked about and the best fighter in the world."

There's another line in Cassius' poem which he saved to last. "Everyone knew when Cassius wasn't around For quietness descended on the town."

SKILL TO SPARE by Dick Weber

21-The 7-9

Like most other spares on the same line with plenty of space between, the 7-9 is extremely difficult.

The best bet is to follow the Sparemaker and be satisfied with one pin, rather than risking the loss of both.

This leave is rare with a right-handed bowler. It may well be the result of an inadequate ball with a bit of bad luck.

The southpaw leaves a 7-9 when he rolls a ball which hits the pocket well, but due to lack of lift on the delivery fails to finish properly—is deflected and skids through.

Slumping Westminster Falls From No. 1 Spot

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wittenberg's once-beaten Tigers replaced slumping Westminster of Pennsylvania today as the nation's No. 1 small college basketball team in the United Press International board of coaches ratings.

Westminster, named No. 1 by the 35-man UPI rating board all six previous weeks this season, lost to major schools Pittsburgh and St. Francis (Pa.) last week and it cost the Titans the No. 1 spot.

Wittenberg, meanwhile whipped both Oberlin and Ohio Wesleyan to extend its latest winning streak to four. As a result, the Tigers were picked for the top spot by 14 coaches, while only seven named Westminster.

DePaul Reverages Early Loss In College Play

By MARTIN LADER UPI Sports Writer It's too late for DePaul to dream about an unbeaten season, but a victory over the Irish of Notre Dame is reason enough for a celebration on the Chicago campus today.

DePaul did have a perfect basketball record going its way when it crossed paths with Notre Dame for the first time this season just one week ago, but the Irish ended the streak at eight games. However, the Blue Demons evened the score on their home court Wednesday night by romping to an 83-69 victory over their near-by Indiana rivals.

It was sweet revenge for DePaul, which lost last week's decision by 20 points. This time it was the Blue Demons who got off to an overwhelming lead in the first half and coasted home without being threatened in the second.

M. C. Thompson, the husky 6-foot-5 DePaul star, was the outstanding player in the contest. He led both squads with 33 points and also dominated both backboards throughout the game.

Dick Cook was another valuable aid to the De Paul cause, scoring 10 points himself while holding Larry Sheffield, Notre Dame's leading scorer this season, to only six points. John Andreoli topped the Irish with 18 points.

The victory gave the Blue Demons a 9-1 record and left Notre Dame with an 11-4 mark.

Traditional rivals North Carolina and North Carolina State put on another exciting duel Wednesday night with the Tar Heels squeezing out a 67-65 overtime decision. A basket by 5-foot-11 Larry Brown—the only scorer of the extra session—made the difference in the game played at Chapel Hill.

In the second and third spots following Kreis are Sandies Leslie Lovett and Jim Hill with 17.8 and 17.2 averages respectively.

In district action this season, Amarillo has dropped Monterey, 51-34; Palo Duro, 73-54; and Borger, 71-53 besides the Tuesday victory over Plainview. Amarillo was upset by Lubbock, 71-57, in Amarillo's dreaded Armory. The Monterey has allowed the fewest points this year, holding its opponents to a 46.4 average.

Dayton Cager Collapses, Dies

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI)—Nearly 4,000 basketball fans witnessed a tense 25-minute effort to revive a University of Dayton freshman player who collapsed during a preliminary game Wednesday night and later died in the hospital.

Blanton Collier Named Coach For Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Blanton Collier, a man well-versed in the Paul Brown football system, will guide the fortunes of the Cleveland Browns in 1963.

The former University of Kentucky coach was named to the post Wednesday by Art Modell, Browns president, who said "Blanton was my first choice and the only man I talked to."

Collier, who steps up as head man—succeeding his longtime friend, Brown, fired last week—signed a three-year contract calling for an estimated $35,000.

The 56-year-old Collier, after being announced as the new coach, told newsmen he would retain all of the team's assistant coaches and one and possibly two others would be added. The present assistants are Howard Bixler, who was also named personnel director; Howard Brinker; Dick Evans; Fritz Heisler and Ed Ulinski.

Modell also announced that Harold Sauerbrei, the team's business manager and a former sportswriter, will take over as the new general manager.

Collier, the second head coach in the 17-year history of the team, said he agreed to succeed Brown, "the man who gave me my start in professional football," only after careful thought and "with emotions so conflicting that I find them most difficult to explain."

"I was offered the job last Sunday," Collier said, "and I immediately contacted Paul. He told me, 'You must accept the job. You have your family to think of. I understand.'"

Lefors Wins District Tilt
LEFORS (Sp1)—The Lefors Pirates won their conference - opening game against Canadian Tuesday night, by a 70-49 score.

The Wildkittens defeated the Lefors girls, however, by a score of 38 to 20.

ADELAIDE, Australia (UPI)—Top-seeded Roy Emerson advanced to today's semifinals of the Australian tennis championships along with Bob Hewitt, Ken Fletcher and Fred Stolle.

Palmer, Player Favored To Win Bing Crosby Open

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—The world's greatest fun tournament, the $50,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur event, got underway today on three golf courses with the pack expected to chase Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

This is the tournament in which all of the gate goes to charity, with Bing picking up the check for expenses.

The professionals play for $35,000 in the pro division and $15,000 in the pro-am, and if one man should win both sections he could collect $8,300 for the four days of work.

While Palmer and Player, with victories in the Los Angeles Open and San Diego Open, respectively, this year, are the advance stars, the defending champion is Doug Ford.

Ford is paired with young Dick Lotz, the California state amateur champion, and even if he fails to repeat in the pro division, he has a good chance in the pro-am.

Some of the other pros pairings aren't quite as well-groomed for a golf course. Ken Venturi, for instance, draws comedian-signer Dean Martin. Jerry Barber has Donald O'Connor; Nation—Open champion Jack Nicklaus has Bob Sterling and Canadian star George Knudsen has Jim (Mr. Magoo) Backus, the little old wine-maker.

The weather, perfect earlier in the week, has switched and indications are that it may be blustery, with possible rains.

"But if it stays good," said Ed Furgol, the former National Open champion, "we could have some hot scores. The courses are playing faster than I've ever seen them."

CHEVROLET...the Quality truck!

WALK AROUND IT. SEE THE DIFFERENCES.

Start at the rear of this Fleetside pickup. Grab the tailgate and pull hard. No give. Two wedge latches keep it tight. Now unfasten them and let down the gate. Jump up and down on it. Does it sag? Notice how the chains are wrapped in rubber so they won't rattle or mar paint.

Now look at the lower side panels. Two walls. You might dent the inside one but it won't show through. The floor will never rust. It's select wood, not metal.

Now please sit in the cab a minute. Comfortable? It also is double walled and the roof is insulated. Let's start 'er up and look for a washboard road. Chevrolet coil-spring suspensions fight road shock better than other types, good for the truck, load and the driver.

There are other things. But you can see why this is a truck that does a job without a lot of pampering. It's built right. Which is why it's usually worth more at trade-in. When would you like us to deliver it?

Candidate Switched His Campaign Clothing

The late Sam Rayburn of Texas, long-time speaker of the House, used to tell freshmen congressmen that in order to get along in Washington they had to go along. Measured by all yardsticks in use, Rayburn was a howling success in politics and undoubtedly his advice was followed by many ambitious young congressmen.

So the other day in Washington Pool is reported to have said he wanted "to come up with a way to get the medicare program across."

Pool also indicated his switch wasn't limited to medicare. He further told a reporter for the Houston Press:

"I have come to the conclusion that our nation is too big to brand federal management as creeping socialism."

Keep The Watchdog

Though the new Congress is barely under way, fresh attempts to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities already are being pressed. They deserve to be beaten off.

Among the new year's petitions for abolition are several dozen members of the organization, Women Strike for Peace. They are presumably outraged because the committee recently looked into alleged links between their movement and communism.

We are also hearing again from the National Committee to Abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee. It supports its new call with an alleged 5,000 signatures.

Without here going into the matter of reported subversive elements operating in — and behind — the abolition group, it is possible to argue that the case against the House committee should be dismissed on its face.

Our principal national watchdog against subversion is, of course, the FBI. Few question that, overall, it does a superb job in ferreting out Red spies, keeping tabs on Communist activities and aims, measuring the size of the internal threat.

But the Communist adversary is ingenious, resourceful, many-faceted. We should welcome some reasonable diversity in our investigative approach to the problem.

The need for such diversity is perhaps sufficient justification for the House committee's continued existence. Yet there are other reasons.

There is no point in leaving the field of Red subversion to the executive branch alone. It is a legitimate arena of inquiry for Congress, with its properly wide latitude in investigation.

Furthermore, anyone who examines closely the printed record of the House committee's hearings and studies over the years will find the documents informed, with a very substantial knowledge of communism in most of its multifarious aspects.

To argue that what this group does other, regular committees could do as well or better is to ignore two things: the special committee's long background in this field and the already overburdened operations of other committees.

To argue that the Un-American Activities Committee should die because it has sometimes trampled individual liberties is to contend that no instrument is better than an imperfect one.

If that standard were applied broadly, we would have no president, no Congress and no business corporations. We would also have no committees to abolish other committees.

Let the House committee mind closely the rights of those it investigates. But let it stand as the useful second watchdog it is.

Wonder if New Jersey enforces the "anti-loafing" law passed in 1918 that requires all able-bodied men to be regularly employed? A late report from the AAA says they answered over 65 million calls from motorists in distress on the roads of the United States in 1961. And believe it or not here were the principal causes of trouble: First, the ignition key was turned or knocked into the "off" position by a knee or in reaching for the cigarette lighter. Two, the gasoline gauge was inaccurate, showing a partially full tank, when there was no fuel. So don't rely too much on the gauge. Third, over heating, from a broken fan belt, low water level and inadequate oil in the crankcase.

You often hear residents of Baltimore, Seattle and Washington say our city is built on hills like Rome. Well, Rome has seven hills. They are the Palatine, Capitoline, Quirinal, Viminal, Esquiline, Caelian and the Aventine. . . The Portland Oregonian tells us that undertakers are called morticians, the janitors wish to be known as custodians and now along comes the nation's bowling proprietors with a campaign to have their places of recreation known as bowling lanes rather than alleys. But wouldn't it be nicer if they were called a vale or even a dale. But for us it will always be known as alley because that's where our ball goes when we attempt a strike and miss.

Buffalo, New York, has the heaviest snow and sleet fall of any United States city, averaging over 109 inches annually, surpassing even Juneau, the capital of Alaska. Other Great Lake cities only average one half that amount of snow. . . National safety statistics show that one-fifth of drivers involved in fatal motor accidents are out-of-state residents. But in vacation states and during vacation seasons, the proportion of out-of-staters markedly increases.

Today's favorite gag: The TV repairman was trying to locate the trouble in the family set. Little Bobby had watched the whole operation, fascinated. "I'll bet," he finally said, "if you'd clean out the dead cowboys from the bottom of the set, it would work."

A Buffalo company scheduled an advertisement for its automobile cleaning cloths to be run at a future date in a New England newspaper, and it received orders for 40 of the cloths two weeks before the ad was printed. The orders came from linotypers, compositors, proofreaders, etc., who work for the paper and saw the ad in advance of publication. (That's what you call getting results).

The movie industry now is fighting for the patronage of what it calls "TV babies" — youngsters who since the advent of video have never seen a motion picture except on their TV screens.

Country editor speaking: "A man who stole an automobile in Illinois was caught in Florida, and said he did it as a joke. That's carrying a joke too far."

Etiquette item: At a formal dinner at the Turkish embassy in Washington the hostess served her fine table napkins from lipstick smudges by placing a folded, tiny red doily beside the dinner-napkin of each feminine guest. And the femme guests were quick to catch on. . . Society note in the Wichita (Kan.) Beacon: "The mother of the bride chose a champagne faille dress with avocado accessories."

Other Great Lake cities only average one half that amount of snow. . . National safety statistics show that one-fifth of drivers involved in fatal motor accidents are out-of-state residents. But in vacation states and during vacation seasons, the proportion of out-of-staters markedly increases.

Today's favorite gag: The TV repairman was trying to locate the trouble in the family set. Little Bobby had watched the whole operation, fascinated. "I'll bet," he finally said, "if you'd clean out the dead cowboys from the bottom of the set, it would work."

A Buffalo company scheduled an advertisement for its automobile cleaning cloths to be run at a future date in a New England newspaper, and it received orders for 40 of the cloths two weeks before the ad was printed. The orders came from linotypers, compositors, proofreaders, etc., who work for the paper and saw the ad in advance of publication. (That's what you call getting results).

The movie industry now is fighting for the patronage of what it calls "TV babies" — youngsters who since the advent of video have never seen a motion picture except on their TV screens.

Country editor speaking: "A man who stole an automobile in Illinois was caught in Florida, and said he did it as a joke. That's carrying a joke too far."

Etiquette item: At a formal dinner at the Turkish embassy in Washington the hostess served her fine table napkins from lipstick smudges by placing a folded, tiny red doily beside the dinner-napkin of each feminine guest. And the femme guests were quick to catch on. . . Society note in the Wichita (Kan.) Beacon: "The mother of the bride chose a champagne faille dress with avocado accessories."

Let the House committee mind closely the rights of those it investigates. But let it stand as the useful second watchdog it is.

Can U.N. Bring Peace on Earth and Good Will?

By ED DELANEY

At this season of the year when we observe the anniversary of Christ's advent, we are reminded of the salutation announcing that greatest event in all history: "Peace on earth to men of good will." Perhaps in all recorded time the dangers that threaten peace throughout the world were never more apparent than now. The reason is obvious. Some of the so-called leaders of nations who prate of peace are not "men of good will." They have in fact rejected the moral precepts of the Prince of Peace and we observe the result in their countries.

Some misguided persons still cling to the notion that worldwide peace will be attained through the United Nations. It so happens that the U.N. by its charter, in its assemblies and functions, scrupulously excludes any reference to the precepts taught by Christ which should influence men of good will.

A glance at the world situation for the past year shows that in no less than 45 countries there have been revolutions, coups d'etat, border clashes, tribal wars, riots, violence, internal unrest, racial clashes and invasions by neighboring or other states. Yet the U.N. so its supporters tell us, is designed to end wars, strife and international tensions. We have been told that the U.N. offers collective security. But collective security, we have learned at great cost, means that we attempt to provide the economic security for mendicant nations in the U.N. and even generous aid for communist countries that are pledged to our destruction.

Important provisions in the U.N. charter are callously disregarded or used exclusively to serve the ends of groups of states many of them free hostile to us and other free nations. The tendency of such blocs has been to vote together on issues which they deem are advantageous for their political objectives. They are not men of good will, but on the contrary are obsessed with insatiable desires for conquest and in the case of the communist countries, for the extension and entrenchment of their ideologies in the countries where the governments have been established on the moral precepts of the Prince of Peace.

Speaking in West Branch, Iowa, not many weeks ago, former president Herbert Hoover said: "The time has come in our national life when we must make a new appraisal of the U.N. We must realize that it has failed to give us even a remote hope of lasting peace. Instead it adds to the danger of wars which now surround us."

While we are not presently engaged in a shooting war, we are involved in a psychological war in which the forces of atheistic communism have been gaining. They hope to achieve nine-tenths of their objectives by means of psychological warfare. We have seen the effect of that—how successful they are—when we note the attitude of "co-existence" and conciliation on the part of certain ones high in the councils of the present Washington administration.

In all the statements emanating from Moscow recently there is stressed the desire for "peace." We know the kind of peace that exists east of the Wall of Shame through Berlin. We know the brutalities and tyranny that imposes "peace" in Hungary, in what was formerly Slovakia, and in the Ukraine. Yet within the past few days Khrushchev virtually asserted that the United States is obstructing the path to world peace by not giving consideration to his proposals for abating the present East-West tension. Peace can only come when the millions of serfs now in the Soviet colonies have the right of self-determination to choose their governments and their right to worship their God as they see fit.

"Peace on earth to men of good will." Where and when have the Kremlin caliphs displayed good will toward men?

Mr. K Shows How To Talk From Both Sides Of Mouth

By PETER EDSON

One of the great internal splits in the international Communist movement has been revealed in Chairman Nikita Khrushchev's Dec. 12 speech to the Supreme Soviet in Moscow. It is how far to go in accepting new interpretations of Marxist-Leninist theory—how to beat down the evils of "dogmatism" without surrendering to the heresy of "revisionism."

This is a no man's land of Communist gibberish in which the average citizen of a democratic country easily gets lost.

But this current argument over Communist theory and practice seems to be at the root of the difference between Russia and Red China, between Red China and the Italian and Yugoslav Communists, between Yugoslavia and Albania and finally between Albania and Russia, to complete the daisy chain.

All Communist theoreticians start from the writings of Karl Marx and Nikolai Lenin. They wrote so much, however, that they are now being quoted by both sides in the current dispute over left-wing modern revisionism vs. right-wing Stalinist dogmatism.

This is best illustrated in Khrushchev's last major speech. It is now being studied closely by the State Department. It reveals such tortured logic as this:

India is commended by Khrushchev for having liberated the former Portuguese colonies of Goa, Diu and Daman, in line with orthodox Marxist-Leninist doctrine on anticolonialism.

But Communist China is praised by Khrushchev because it has liberated the Portuguese colony of Macao and the British colony of Hong Kong, on the China mainland coast near Canton.

"Is this a departure from Marxism-Leninism?" asks Khrushchev. "Nothing of the sort," he answers. "This occurs not because the Chinese have a less acute attitude toward colonialism than the Indians . . . (but) that they appear to be prompted by their own understandings and are exercising patience."

Having put the Chinese Communists on this spot, Khrushchev then uses this argument to defend his own withdrawal of missiles, warplanes and technicians from Cuba.

"What would have happened," he asks, "if during the Cuban events, we had not shown the necessary restraint and had listened to the promoting of ultrarevolutionary loudmouths? We would have been sunk in the morass of a new, thermonuclear world war."

"The point is," Khrushchev argues, "that . . . a dogmatic approach, without sober consideration of the real situation, is harmful. . . Marxist-Leninists must remember that there is no abstract truth. Truth is always concrete."

Khrushchev uses the same line of argument in praising the Chinese Communists for having declared a cease-fire on the Indian border, a war which he views "with particular sorrow."

Khrushchev makes another bid for tolerance toward Yugoslavia and other Communist countries accused of deviation from Marxism-Leninism — a charge Red China makes against Russia.

"Different interpretations of concrete questions of socialist construction . . . are not excluded," Khrushchev says. "It would be an error to condemn as renegades all those who do not fit a certain model. . . We must do everything to rid of differences if they arise between the Communists of various countries."

After all this jargon of Marxist-Leninist liberalism, Khrushchev at the end of his speech applies the brakes in an apparent recognition that he can't let revisionism get out of hand.

"It is known that the statements of representatives of the Communist and workers parties of 1960 noted that the main danger in the world Communist movement is revisionism," he said.

"It cannot be denied that left-wing opportunism, dogmatism and sectarianism are increasingly emerging as a serious danger within the world Communist movement."

"The Soviet Communists, who hold the unity of the ranks of the world Communist movement above everything else, will wage a decisive struggle against both the right-wing and left-wing opportunism which is now no less dangerous than revisionism."

This seems to classify Khrushchev as a "middle-of-the-road Communist," whatever that might be.

HIGHLIGHT LIFE LINE ESSAYS POSITIVE IDEAS

Despite the gravity of today's national and international problems, there seems to be a lack of positive ideas advanced as solutions. The only exception to this would appear to be those who advocate more government as the answer to everything.

It is refreshing then to note the growth of Life Line—a freedom-loving organization in the publishing, radio and TV fields. Organized in 1958, Life Line has always stressed the positive approach—suggesting solutions, instead of just repeating problems.

Life Line conducts frequent essay contests, designed to generate new ideas on patriotism and freedom. The sixteen best essays of two recent contests have been published in a new book, "Life Line Freedom Essays" (available for $2.00 from Life Line, Washington 1, D.C.).

Positive Approach Although written by non-professionals (with the obvious drawbacks that involves), the essays are loaded with positive thoughts as individuals can do to restore and preserve our republic. In fact, about what we—as a nation and contest rules required that a large percentage of each essay be devoted to the positive side of the subject.

Also included in the book are eleven informative articles produced by Life Line. They alone are plies to any and all types of federal grants and loans. In other words, there can be no federal handouts — for schools, housing, medical care, pensions, road-building, public works, electric power, agriculture, urban renewal or anything else — without federal control and coercion. It would be well for all of us to remember this, including those so angered by the housing order who nevertheless are often very quick to latch onto federal grants where the built-in coercion does not hit so close to home.

worth the price of the book. Included are fact-filled studies of foreign aid, the State Department, and communist-controlled British Guiana. Other articles deal with basic policy, disarmament, labor, and patriotism.

What To Do Also included are "how-to-do-it" features on organization of telephone alerts and clubs to sponsor radio broadcasts.

To those who feel helpless in these grave times, the book points out that "the power of the individual is unlimited, and we need only to begin looking for things that can be done."

The objective of the book is summed up in its foreword: "It is the uncommon man who still thinks in terms of free enterprise, constitutional government and making his own way. The purpose of this book on Freedom Essays is to help the uncommon man find himself." And it certainly will.

If anyone offers you absinthe after dinner, think it over before you accept. The characteristic flavoring of this liqueur is derived from various species of wormwood. The best absinthe contains 70 per cent to 80 per cent alcohol. Its deleterious effects are more serious than those of other forms of alcohol. The wormwood acts powerfully upon the nerve centers, and causes delirium and hallucinations, followed in some cases by mental deterioration.

Now Is Time To Evaluate Child's Progress In School

By DAVID NYDICK UPI Education Specialist Now is the time to evaluate your child's progress in school.

Difficulties in adjustment which are common in September should not continue now. Any problems which are present should be given careful consideration.

Analyze the problems and their causes. You can obtain assistance at your school. Your child's teachers can describe the problems in detail.

Remember that physical (eyes, ears, general health, etc.) and emotional problems interfere with a child's ability to learn.

Ease Emotional Problems Tutoring can be more successful if specific difficulties which block learning are corrected.

Thoughtful thought should be given to the length and number of sessions. Three quarters to one hour appears to be an appropriate time.

Careful thought should be given to the length and number of sessions. Three quarters to one hour appears to be an appropriate time.

The number of times per week depends upon the type of problem and the child's total schedule.

Tutoring generally serves a particular need. Do not continue it beyond this point. You do not want it to become a "crutch."

You should recognize that tutoring is not the answer for all academic problems. It can be valuable if the atmosphere and conditions are proper.

Do not make a hasty decision without careful searching.

Capitol Hill Commentary

By LYLE C. WILSON United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two negative factors in President Kennedy's annual message direct attention to administration policies that are loaded for trouble.

In a message of 5,500 words, the President devoted nine lines to civil rights. But civil rights came out as basic rights in this message.

This once over lightly will tend to pacify Southern Democrats and certainly arouse some other party elements to loud and sustained protest.

The President has no civil rights legislation in mind. Therefore, why involve himself in an angry Senate contest?

The doubt-response of the joint session to Kennedy's pitch for the United Nations was another negative factor.

Weather Bureau Is Testing Flood Forecast Device

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Weather Bureau has announced that it is testing a new rain detection device which could improve river and flood forecasting. The bureau said the new radar instrument can measure rainfall as far as 100 miles away.

"From a single, convenient location, it will provide instantaneous measurements of precipitation at many points over a broad area," the bureau said in a statement.

It said the new device converts the intensity of radar echoes from 150 points over a river basin into a pattern which can be displayed on a map at a river forecast center.

The agency said the new device would be tested at its radar research laboratory in Norman, Okla.

LOS ANGELES — Dr. Rodney W. Johnson, debunking the notion that Martians exist on Mars:

"The atmosphere and climate of Mars is not compatible with life as we know it. All information we have now does not support the belief that higher types of life exist on Mars."
