Ruling Military Junta In Peru Proclaims National State Of Siege

India Suggests Court Study

NEW DELHI (UPI)—India disclosed Saturday it has formally proposed to Communist China that they refer their border dispute to the International Court of Justice at The Hague for arbitration.

At the same time India accused the Chinese Communists of using tactics reminiscent of the old days of guanoat diplomacy. It implied for the first time that Peking's terms for opening negotiations amounted to a victor's surrender conditions.

The International Court proposal originally suggested in parliament by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, as well as the sharp charges, were included in a note to Peking released today by the Indian Foreign Ministry.

Peacekeepers Leave
Its disclosure came as Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai has departed in Peking to two visiting would-be peacekeepers in the Sino-Indian dispute with a statement indicating the Chinese have not budged from their hard line on the controversy.

Chou's statement was made at a farewell banquet for Ceylonese Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike and Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandono, who left Saturday en route to India. It made clear Communist China was holding fast to the position it took when it declared a unilateral cease-fire Nov. 19.

Chou insisted that Red China must enter any negotiations with India while still occupying all the territory it claims in the dispute.

India's note on the other hand asked Red China to demonstrate its sincerity for a peaceful settlement by agreeing to refer the border matter to The Hague Court.

The note, dated January 4, revealed the arbitration proposal also was conveyed by Nehru in a New Year's Day letter to the Chinese Communist premier.

"The Prime Minister of India has referred in his letter of Jan. 1, 1963 to suggestions he made in the Indian parliament regarding reference of differences between India and China for decision to the International Court," the Indian note said.

"It is hoped the government of China will respond positively to the proposal made by the Prime Minister of India and indicate that they are sincere in their profession for peaceful solution of differences between the two countries."

Katangese Regroup, Start March On Elisabethville

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, The Congo (UPI)—Katanga Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo said to be the shattered Katangese gendarmerie and is marching on Elisabethville with 1,000 men, U.N. sources said Saturday.

At the same time Radio Free Katanga said U.N. forces which seized Jadotville earlier this week had resumed their drive on Tshombe's headquarters town of Kolwezi and had driven 40 miles from Jadotville against "fierce resistance."

The Katanga communique said U.N. Troops were stopped between Mulungushi, 20 miles northwest of Jadotville, and Nguba, 26 miles further on, by violent battles. U.N. sources indicated earlier their forces had halted at Jadotville to await a Tshombe peace feeler.

U.N. reports said Munongo was marching up from the Northern Rhodesian border.

The development threatened to explode a new found of fighting in the mineral rich province. It came as U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche arrived in Leopoldville and gave the green light for further military operations against Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

Bunche pinpointed three more main military objectives including Tshombe's stronghold at Kolwezi and Sakania. Sakania is located on the border of Northern Rhodesia, 100 miles southeast of Elisabethville, from which the Katangese were reported moving with at least six armored vehicles.

Civilian Train
The United Nations sent a civilian train with Red Cross markings down the railway line toward the Sakania area late Saturday to test the reaction of Munongo's gendarmes.

It appeared obvious Bunche was hoping to withhold major U.N. strikes until Secretary General Thant's two-week ultimatum to Tshombe to talk peace or face renewed warfare expires Jan. 14.

The new Katangese offensive could change all that, however. Tshombe has shown no signs of talking peace at the moment.

U.N. reconnaissance aircraft flying over the Sakania area Saturday reported that Munongo has reformed stragglers from the Katangese gendarmerie who were driven out of Elisabethville in a U.N. Christmas offensive and was leading them into battle.

(Northern Rhodesia charged that three Swedish U.N. jet fighters flew deep into Rhodesian territory in the same area. It ordered its own jet force to patrol the border and halt further incursions.)

The U.N. spotter craft said the Katangese were moving from Sakania and Ushoshi, about 12 miles from Elisabethville, toward the city.

Pampa Excluded From 'Gate Rate' Charge On Gas

Pampa and Panhandle have been granted severance and excluded from a gate rate charge of 28 cents per thousand cubic feet for domestic and commercial gas delivered by the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. to 56 West Texas communities.

Pampa was dropped from the gate rate charge by the Railroad Commission after Pampa officials had appeared before the commission and asked severance from the gas company's gate rate request because of Pampa's proximity to the source of supply in the field adjacent to the city.

A city gate rate charge is the charge made for gas going to a city's utility lines from transmission lines. Pampa is only 17 miles from the supply source.

Following Pioneer's original request for a gate rate charge of 28.5 cents per thousand cubic feet, Pampa officials decided to go to Austin and ask for severance.

City Atty. Bob Gordon, City Manager Harold Schumizer, and Commissioner Leon Holmes first appeared before Director Walter Wendlandt of the gas utilities division of the Railroad Commission on Sept. 6 and presented Pampa's case and asked to have the city excluded.

Another hearing was held in Austin on Nov. 5 when City Atty. Gordon and Mayor E. C. Sidwell appeared before Wendlandt who gave the Pampans the courtesy of presenting their case to the commission itself.

Fallout Shelters For Pampa Designated

U.S. Army Engineers were in town Saturday placing markers and arrows for six buildings designated as fallout shelters in downtown Pampa.

Bill Leonard, Gray County Civil Defense director, worked with the two engineers and owners or managers of the buildings for utilization of available space.

Tony Velarde, civil engineer, and his assistant, Ernest Lovato, said they expected to complete their work in Pampa Monday.

The six buildings designated for the shelters here are the First National Bank, Pampa Hotel, Hughes Building, Fisher Grain Elevator, Combs-Worley Building and the U.S. Post Office.

Velarde said the arrangements being set up here would provide emergency shelter for between 1,500 and 1,600 persons in the event of a nuclear attack in the Panhandle area.

Civil Defense Director Leonard said each building will be stocked with food, water, medical, sanitation, and radiation detection equipment.

Signs designating the buildings as fallout shelters are being placed at the entrance of each structure and arrows inside will point the route to where the actual shelter area is located.

Interior Minister Has Gathered 1,000 Men

Havana-Hatched Revolt Plot Is Cited As Reason

LIMA, Peru, (UPI)—The ruling military junta proclaimed a national state of siege Saturday to thwart a revolt plot it said was hatched in Moscow and Havana. Police flying squads arrested scores of known Communists in pre-dawn raids.

Estimates ranged from 50 to 500 on the number of known or suspected Communists arrested. The state of siege means constitutional guarantees for citizens have been lifted until further notice. The government said the nation was calm.

The stage of siege was announced by the government at 3 a.m. Saturday. Simultaneously the government cut off all inter-city telephone service in the republic. Provincial police were placed under the command of military zone commanders.

Dragged From Bed
Throughout the nation police burst into the residences of Communists, dragged them from bed, and took them off to detention centers. In Lima alone, 40 to 60 army trucks were used to shuttle prisoners in the early morning round-up.

In the nearby port of El Callao, infantry troops dislodged 2,000 striking workers from two shoe-manufacturing factories they had taken over. One worker was killed and two others were wounded in exchanging fire with the troops, police said.

The government communique announcing the state of siege said "a vast subversive plan of agitation and violence planned by agents of Moscow and Havana has been unleashed."

The plot was discovered, the communique said, when government counter-subversive electronics technicians detected signals from a clandestine micro-wave station in the Andes, near the Bolivian border.

The station was to relay orders from abroad to Communist actionists in a nation-wide revolt, the communique said.

Phased Plot
The plot was to be carried out in stages according to the communique. It said these were: General strikes, followed by sabotage in American-owned properties (this phase had apparently already begun);

Assassination of "armed forces leaders and certain so-called reactionaries";

Guerrilla action to cut government communications.

Urban terrorism and, finally, a general uprising.

The plotters had planned to take over the government by May Day when, after a triumphal parade, a "farmers-workers state" would be proclaimed, the communique said. It said this was to be followed by a period of consolidation, culminating in the creation of a Marxist republic within the Soviet bloc.

MoD Gets Off To Good Start Here

The 1962 March of Dimes in Pampa and Gray County is off to a good start, according to the campaign "bosses," Clyde Carruth and Joe Fischer.

Carruth is Gray County Campaign Chairman and Fischer heads the campaign in Pampa proper.

Two projects are already completed in the campaign. The Pampa Key Club recently completed preparing stuffing and delivering to the post office. The "mailers" which are sent out annually, and members of the Pampa Fire Department Thursday put canisters in local business places for donations at the various stores.

Next up, this coming Saturday, will be the sale of "Blue Crutches" on downtown streets by three local high school girls clubs, the Kit Kat Klub, Sub Deb Club and Las Cresas Club.

On January 19th, the "Bucket Brigade" will be conducted at street intersections in the downtown area by various civic clubs. Heading this project is Travis Lively Jr. and the drawing for street corners by representatives of the civic clubs will be done early this week, Fischer said.

On Monday, January 21st, Mrs. R. A. Mack will be in charge of the "Mothers' March," in which Pampa mothers will be knocking on doors asking for contributions to the campaign.

Also, starting this week, Harold Majer and Dan Lasher will visit various civic clubs showing a March of Dimes film. Bruce Pratt has been in charge of showing the film to women's clubs.

E. German Reds Set Up Heavy Gun At Tunnel

BERLIN (UPI)—East German Communists set up a heavy machinegun covering a blocked off East-West Berlin street tunnel Saturday to prevent any mass escape by East Berliners attending a sporting event near the wall Sunday.

The tunnel is under the elevated railway lines running between East Berlin and the French sector of West Berlin and was part of Gleimstrasse before the Communists blocked it off when the anti-refugee wall went up Aug. 13, 1961.

West Berlin police said the machinegun was aimed down the tunnel and that the Communists usually take extra precautions when some event brings a big crowd close to the wall.

The Communists also announced they would blow up an empty house on their side of the Zimmerstrasse near the U.S. Army Checkpoint Charlie on Tuesday. The area has been the scene of numerous tunnels, shootings and difficulties between East and West Berlin police.

Communist police Saturday returned a 21-year-old West Berliner to the West after he had served eight months in a labor camp for "slandering" East Germany. Exact nature of his offense was not known but Eastern Guards telephoned West Berlin police to turn the youth over to them.

The extra precautions along the wall were reported as coal-short East Germans appealed to the people to conserve natural gas supplies so it could be used for industry and as it fired a number of coal mine managers.

The Communist ADN news service said 800 factory workers and collective farmers were called out Saturday to help miners dig machinery and equipment out of the snow and gripping frost. Flame-throwers were used in some places to thaw layers of ice in the earth over open mines.

Have Sunday Coffee Break With d. e. w.

The Pampa News starts a new, local feature on the Women's Pages today. It appears under the heading "Sunday Morning Coffee Break with d. e. w."

The once-a-week column is authored by Doris E. Wilson, former women's editor of The News, and we think you will like the informal chat with her over coffee each Sunday morning. There will be a wide range of content, and male readers, too, will enjoy the "Coffee Break." It starts today on Page 17.

ROBERT CHRISTOPHER
... Knife & Fork speaker

Modern-Day 'Marco Polo' Sets Address

One of the world's youngest "Marco Polos," youthful Robert Christopher, who admits to "a little past thirty" but who already has established himself as this generation's Richard Haliburton when it comes to globe-trotting to unusual places, will be the guest speaker of the Knife & Fork Tuesday evening at the Robert J. Lee Cafeteria. It was announced today by Homer Johnson, president of the club.

To Christopher, going to remote spots is almost like breathing. He started his adventuring career early, hitchhiking to the world's fair in New York from his home in Chicago for practically nothing at all. He admits he crossed the Atlantic on fifteen cents, and the United States on $4.90. A few years ago, Time magazine grubstaked him to $80 and he went around the world on it and came back with money in his pocket.

A couple of years ago he went to Africa, a trip that excites even Christopher himself when he speaks of it. "Africa," he exclaims, "is a land of paradoxes and the great Sahara stands out as the biggest of all. There the temperature gets up to 165 degrees and down so low that unsuspecting and inadequately equipped persons have frozen to death."

Incorporating The Family Firm May Be A Good Idea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Incorporating the family firm may be a good idea, according to the Agriculture Department's Economic Research Service.

The chief value of incorporation of the family firm lies in taxation advantages and the disposition of a deceased owner's estate.

ERS said that a farmer, like any other business man, can organize his operation in several ways. He can run it himself, he can manage it with a partner, or he can incorporate. But he should consider the best way to do it. Usually the family farmer is the sole proprietor of his business. As such, he needs no legal formalities. But a sole proprietorship is difficult to transfer from one generation to the next. When there is more than one heir, the farm business often must be sold after the death of the owner in order to divide the estate among the survivors.

A partnership also is hard to hand on from father to son. Furthermore, each partner is liable for all debts of the others. A limited partnership restricts debt obligations to the partner's investment, but the limited partner can not work for the firm.

When a farmer incorporates his farm operation, he can limit debt liability and still manage his own business. It will cost him, generally speaking, $300 to $500 for an attorney to prepare and file the articles of incorporation. Also, a corporation is required to have its record audited each year. The bookkeeping involved, however, is no more complex than for another type of business organization and the process provides an accurate set of records for running the farm.

Corporations currently pay a 30 per cent tax on the first $25,000 of taxable income and 52 per cent on all income over $25,000. If a farmer has a gross income of at least $20,000 a year, it may pay him to incorporate. But the more deductions he has for dependents, the more money he has to make before incorporation is an advantage.

The big advantage in incorporation, even more than for taxation purposes, is in making it possible for farm families to share equally in an estate without dividing or selling the family farm. By giving his family shares of stock, the farmer can pass the operation intact to a son who wants to stay on the land while giving other heirs a fair share of the income from the farm.

Stock in the farm corporation can be given as gifts during the farmer's lifetime or willed to his family after death. If the son who remains on the land wants to own the entire corporation, he can buy out other heirs in installment payments.

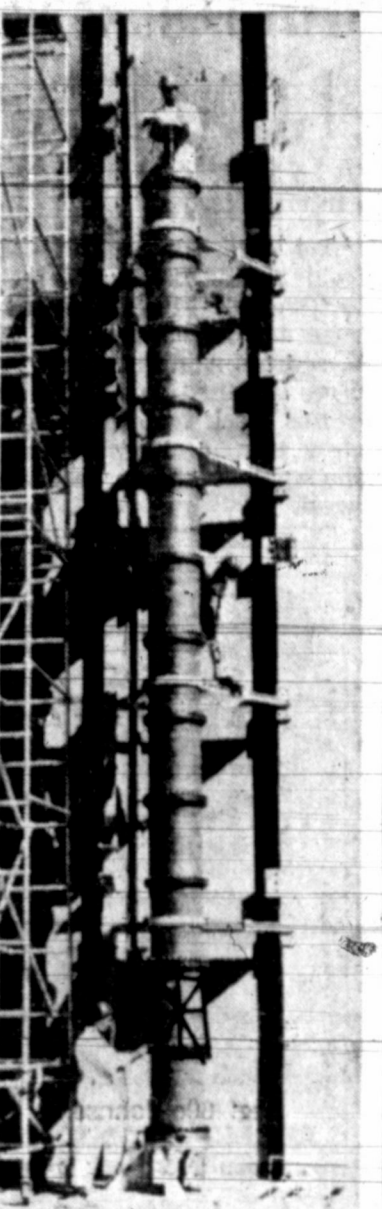

'Blocking High' Caused Storms That Killed Nearly 600 Persons

EDITOR'S NOTE — Europe and the eastern United States still are suffering from some of the worst winter storms of the century. To investigate their causes and effects UPI assigned a team of reporters: Daniel F. Gilmore, for London and Europe; James W. Ryan and Jack O'Brien, for Maine and the East Coast; Norman Runion, for the weather bureau meteorological experts in Washington.

Biography of the Storms A UPI Team Report

At 18,000 feet above the cold blue-grey waters of the North Atlantic in the days just before Christmas, a mass of air formed into what weathermen call a "blocking high."

Circulating there between Greenland and Iceland, unseen by human eyes but marked on the charts of meteorologists, this wind pattern helped forge a vicious machine of nature that has now clobbered two continents.

PIECE WORK — These workmen are not installing a sewer line. Pipelike affair is a 12-unit rocket motor made up of individual segments of solid fuel. Later fired by its builder, United Technology Center of California, the 30-foot rocket developed 82,000 pounds of thrust. Advantage of segmented rocket motors is that they can easily be scaled up or down in power.

Nearly 600 persons died in Europe for reasons attributed directly to the storm, either from auto accidents, drownings, asphyxiations or freezing. In the United States, the death toll was scattered and much smaller, but the property damage from wind and cold was huge.

Joseph D. Panaro, of Maybrook, N.Y., who had seen and survived a great many storms in the 65 years of his life, died when the car in which he was riding was involved in an accident caused by blowing snow.

Arthur Barber and his wife, Daisy, of Robert's Place, Dorchester, England, froze to death on the back seat of a Vauxhall sedan which was stalled in a giant snowdrift on the A333 road three miles north of Weymouth, England.

London Hit Hard
London, which has fogs, found itself covered in snow. At times it was too cold to ski in the famed winter sports grounds of the Austrian Alps. Fourteen inches of snow fell on Marseilles, on the Mediterranean coast of normally sunny southern France. It was the most in 61 years.

Spawned by a combination of weather factors around the globe, timed almost with the precision of a rocket countdown, the great winter storms that blew out 1962 and slid in 1963 were among the most severe of the century.

They were still around today, and the "blocking high" that helped cause them still is hovering above the Atlantic at latitude 64 north and longitude 31 west.

This huge pressure area that was born before Christmas week-end pulled in arctic blasts from Siberia that now have swept across Europe. But at the same time it disturbed wind patterns in the Western Hemisphere and caused the big East Coast storm to crumple up the Atlantic seaboard and bury parts of New England.

Europe took the first blow. "It's been the worst cold wave since 1947," said Gordon H. Robbins, deputy senior meteorological officer in the British Air Ministry. "The worst snow blizzards, according to our records, since 1927."

Nothing Stopped Invasion
The high pressure area that had built up between Greenland and Iceland blocked off comparatively warm winds from the Atlantic. These winds, and the Gulf stream, provide England with its usual damp but temperate winters. But with the "blocking high" in place, there was nothing to stop the windy invasion from Siberia.

While Europe moaned, and Rome newspapers reported "the coldest Christmas of the century," while snow coated the crater of Mt. Etna in Sicily and avalanches cut off millionaires and the young set in ski resorts throughout Switzerland, a storm began moving up the eastern seaboard of the United States.

At weather bureau headquarters in Suitland, Md., outside of Washington, the experts consulted the prevailing patterns, examined data from the computers, made their own calculations, and agreed that an onslaught was en route.

Last Saturday, at Suitland, experts such as Harlan Saylor, chief of the analysis and forecast branch of the National Meteorological Center, decided to alert weather bureaus around the coast that a big storm, then located near Cape Hatteras, N.C., was building up. Their notice moved out to sea. And the storm turned toward Maine.

By then it was snowing, and later raining, in Washington itself. New York City was soon to be hit, and the Giants and the Green Bay Packers would play for the National Football League championship in arctic cold.

Storm Moved North

The storm pressure area continued to move north. It attracted bitterly cold air from Canada.

The "blocking" area over the Atlantic prevented it from sweeping out to sea. And the storm turned toward Maine.

The highest weather bureau in the northeastern United States is at 6,228-foot Mt. Washington, in New Hampshire's magnificent White Mountains not far from the Maine border. In 1934 the temperature there fell to 47 below. The record almost was broken Sunday night.

At 10:30 p.m. Guy Gosselin, 28, a 6-foot, 180-pound member of the observatory staff, struggled along a 20-foot long walk and found the thermometer reading 41 below.

The storm was in full force. At Bangor, Maine, the snow began at 4:10 p.m. EST on Saturday. When it ended at 3:23 a.m. Monday, 29 inches were on the ground which already had been covered with 10 inches from a previous snow.

In Washington, the weather bureau was grim. A 30-day forecast issued Monday said that temperatures should continue "below season normals" over the eastern third of the nation.

The same is in store for Europe. Jerome Namias, chief U.S. long-range weather forecaster, foresaw it this way: "Our neighbors influence us, and we influence them."

was one of the first problems taken into consideration during the early planning stages of the NEW Citizens Bank and Trust Company Building. We have ample parking facilities for our customers just a few steps from the rear door to our lobby. Of course, our lot is easy to enter and easy to leave.

DRIVE-THRU TELLER WINDOWS

In keeping with the trend of modern day banking and for the convenience of those who are in a hurry, or who prefer the convenience of banking from their car, three easily accessible drive-thru teller windows were included in our new bank.

miles away, where the Katangese still hold immigration and customs posts. The road is the only route the civilian population can move food, medical supplies and gasoline into Katanga from the south.

Controls Road

The U. N. command said Munongo's forces controlled part of the road and a rail line which runs parallel, for 16 miles between Elisabethville and the Northern Rhodesian border.

The central government, meanwhile, flew in officials to Elisabethville to assume control over the administration in a further step to incorporate secessionist Katanga into the Congo government.

In another development aimed at reunification, Marcel Van Roye, director of the National Bank of Katanga, flew into Leopoldville to discuss the Katangese monetary situation and possibly work toward sharing Katanga mining revenues with the central government.

The three targets outlined by Bunche were Kolwezi, Sakania and Dilolo.

Kolwezi is 150 air miles northwest of Elisabethville and 85 miles above captured Jadotville. Sakania is on the Rhodesian border 100 miles southeast of Elisabethville and Dilolo is on the Angola border 350 air miles west of Elisabethville.

Class Scheduled For Housewives At Center's Pool

A swim class for housewives and mothers desiring to learn to swim or to improve their swimming skills will be held at the Pampa Youth and Community Center indoor pool from 5 to 6 p. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

There will be no charge for the ladies' class and membership in the Center will not be necessary for participation.

Swim Class Set For Youngsters

A swim class for youngsters six to 12 years of age will start Monday at 4 p. m. at the Pampa Youth and Community Center.

The class will be held Mondays through Fridays from 4 to 5 p. m. and will stress swimming skills for beginners, advanced beginners and intermediate swimmers.

There will be no charge for the class and membership in the Center is not necessary for participation. Youngsters interested in the class should register Monday at 4 p. m. at the Center.

Trucker Didn't Return Gas Can

Randy Haralson, 1910 Beech, reported to police that a man came into Crow's Service Station, Hobart and Francis Sts. on Saturday, Dec. 29 and borrowed a 5-gallon can of gasoline for his stalled truck four blocks away.

According to the police report, the man hadn't returned as of yesterday, one week later.

City Commission Agenda Reported

A resolution ordering engineers to prepare estimates and rolls on the paving of S. Barnes St. from the Fort Worth & Denver underpass south to the McCullough St. city limits will be up for action of the City Commission at its regular weekly meeting Tuesday night in City Hall.

Other items on the agenda for the session, scheduled for 7 p. m., include the approval of bills for payment and recommendations of the city manager.

Red Cross Board Meets Tuesday

Gray County Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold its regular monthly meeting in the Coronado Inn at 7 a. m. Tuesday morning, according to E. B. Pemberton, Chapter Chairman.

All members are urged to be present. The program is on Home Service with Mrs. K. A. Sorncorn, Chairman, telling about Home Service work in the chapter, and Rev. Jack Parker will tell of Public Information.

Both are standing committee chairmen on the Red Cross board.

German party congress by his East European allies—Communist bosses Wladislaw Gomulka of Poland, Janos Kadar of Hungary, Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia, Todor Zhivkov of Bulgaria and Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej of Romania.

There was no official announcement as to who would head the East bloc delegations but usually reliable Communist informants here said those sent might be "of equal importance" to the top-level Soviet delegation.

Khrushchev laid down a challenge to the Chinese Friday when he announced he would head the Soviet delegation in his capacity of first secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union.

The Premier's presence at the East German meeting, it was believed, leaves the Chinese with the choice of avoiding a head-on clash over the Peking-Moscow ideological difference or meeting it head-on by sending Mao or Chou.

Expansion Planned To Double Space Of Heath's Store

Plans to expand and remodel Heath's Men's Wear have been announced by Mark Heath, store owner.

The store, located in the Combs-Worley Building, will be enlarged to include the former location of the Cree Insurance Agency next door at the corner of Kingsmill and First.

The wall between the two locations will be removed, which will enable the clothing firm to double its present floor space.

"We are expanding," Heath said, "because we anticipate continued growth and prosperity for Pampa and the top of Texas area."

"When the remodeling is completed, we will be better able to display our many nationally advertised lines," he added.

Heath said that construction will probably begin the latter part of this month.

CoC Committee Meeting Slated Monday Morning

A meeting of the Chamber of Commerce-Industrial Committee is scheduled for 10 a. m. Monday at the new chamber offices in the Hughes Bldg.

Frank Culberson, committee chairman, said Saturday the committee will discuss work plans for the coming year along with other items of business.

E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager, said the job of moving into the temporary headquarters was completed Friday.

"We will be open and doing business as usual Monday morning," Wedgeworth said.

The chamber will occupy the temporary quarters in the southwest corner of the Hughes building until the latter part of February when it will move into permanent offices in the Hughes Annex on N. Somerville.

The River Nile is approximately 4,000 miles long.

Moyer Rites Set In Gage

Mrs. M. W. Moyer of Gage, Okla., and formerly of Pampa, died early Saturday morning in the Shattuck, Okla. Hospital, following a two months' illness. She was born Sept. 1, 1908, and was a member of the Gage Methodist Church. While in Pampa, her husband managed the Fisher Grain Co.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. in the Methodist Church, Gage. Burial will be in Gage Memorial Cemetery under the direction of Mason Funeral Home, Shattuck, Okla.

Survivors include the husband, of Gage; three daughters, Mrs. Joyce Cockrell of Pampa; Mrs. Ann McKay of Amarillo; and Mrs. James Harris of Tucson, Ariz.; and one son, Ned, who is stationed with the U. S. Army in Germany.

Douglass Is President Of Kiwanis Club

Malcolm Douglass took over the gavel Friday noon as 1963 president of the Pampa Kiwanis Club. Douglass succeeds Dr. Weldon Adair, immediate past president. Other 1963 officers of the club are Don R. Lane, first vice president; Tom Beard, second vice president; William E. West, secretary, and Bill Wagoner, treasurer.

All new officers will be installed at the annual Ladies Night installation banquet to be held in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn at 7 p. m. Thursday. District VI Lt. Gov. Arthur Atergut, a member of the Pampa club, will be the installing officer.

President Douglass outlined club policies for the coming year.

Three former members were re-inducted into the club by Leslie Hart. They are Robert Fugate, Robert Hudson and J. B. McGuire.

CAN BE A PROBLEM

WESTMILL, England (UPI) — A bulldozer clearing a road near here Wednesday scooped up a small car hidden beneath a snow bank and dumped it over a hedge.

Pampa

Chairman William J. Murray and Commissioner Ben Ramsey. Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, the third commissioner, was absent because of illness.

The result of the hearing was made in yesterday's announcement and the Pampa city officials won their request for dismissal.

The city of Panhandle, which had not appeared before the commission, was included in the severance along with Pampa.

The rate-making change will go into effect Feb. 1 and will apply to Pioneer's gate rate charge to some 56 cities and towns including Big Spring, Brownfield, Canyon, Dimmitt, Earth, Hale Center, Hereford, Lamesa, Levelland, Littlefield, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, O'Donnell, Plainview, Post-Rails, Shallowater, Silverton, Stanton, Stanton, Sudan, Tahoka, Tulia and Vega.

A commission spokesman said none of the towns involved in the order has had a gate rate and that the order will not affect private consumer prices.

At the Sept. 6 hearing, the company requested a rate to give it a 7 per cent return. The rate granted gives a 6.5 per cent return.

The Lighter Side

That Mona Lisa Smile

By DICK WEST

United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — One time when an uncle of mine came here on a sightseeing trip, I suggested that he take a tour of the National Art Gallery.

He declined on grounds that he had already been to a museum somewhere else.

"When you've seen one masterpiece, you've seen them all," he said.

I doubt, however, that even my uncle could remain impervious to the intense interest that has built up here over the visit of the Mona Lisa to the National Gallery.

For instance, it normally takes a minor emergency—like maybe the house burning down—to get me out in a snowstorm. Yet I mused through weather that would have intimidated a Labrador retriever in order to attend a press preview of the famous painted lady of the Louvre.

Bears Out Forecast

This bears out my forecast of last spring when negotiations for bringing the canvass to the United States first began.

I noted then that the Mona Lisa seemed to have an unsettling effect on many persons and predicted that if she came to America there would be an outbreak of flaky behavior.

There already have been several strange occurrences and she hasn't even gone on public exhibition yet. Consider these events:

—One of our most respected political reporters, with a reputation for keeping his head when all about him are losing theirs, wrote a "dream interview" in which she told him to call her Lisa.

—A local art critic evaluated the artistic merits of the shipping case in which the painting was transported here from Paris. He particularly complimented its "subtle textural contrast."

—Even a sports columnist took his test from the Mona Lisa. I gather he regarded her enigmatic smile as comparable to that of a pitcher gives when asked if he throws spitballs.

Smile Behind Conduct

The smile is, of course, behind all of this kooky conduct. No one can resist speculating as to what she is smiling about.

One theory holds that the woman who posed for the portrait, a certain Mrs. Del Giocondo, was smiling over something the artist, Leonardo da Vinci, had said.

My guess is that Leonardo had said "please wipe that silly grin off your face."

Foreign Commentary

UPI Foreign News Analyst
—There is a new chill in the wind in relations between the United States and France.

And, for the future, a forecast of drastic and weakening changes in the structure of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Both became apparent in President Charles de Gaulle's frosty reaction to a U.S. offer to sell the French navy nuclear-capable Polaris missiles, but with conditions attached, and in his blunt reiteration of his determination to build his own independent nuclear force.

De Gaulle's reply to the President was said not to close the door on anything.

But neither did it seem to hold out much encouragement for President Kennedy's and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's plea for "new and closer arrangements for organization and control" of Western defenses which in turn could lead to improved political unity among the members of NATO.

Suspicion Mounts
On the contrary, it lent weight to a mounting suspicion that De Gaulle either intends to disassociate himself entirely from NATO or is determined to act in his own way within it.

De Gaulle's message to the President no doubt was couched in diplomatic language but other terms applied in Paris to the U.S. Polaris offer were far from diplomatic.

Gaullists there called it variously "a trap," a "joke" or a "hoax."

Differences of opinion on the nuclear issue long have been a chief source of friction between the two countries.

When in December, Kennedy made his conditional offer of Polaris missiles to France, French irritation came about through this course of reasoning:

France, operating on a limited budget, is gearing her first generation of atomic bombs to delivery by the supersonic, low-flying Mirage IV, of which the first squadron is expected to be ready by 1964.

Delivery By Submarine
The second generation of bombs is to be delivered by submarine, of which the first nuclear model, it is hoped will be ready by the end of the 1960s.

The Kennedy offer would require France to build its own submarines and nuclear warheads for the missiles and to assign those missiles to a multilateral NATO command.

French anger was aroused because it seemed an obvious U.S. move not only to set back France's nuclear program by close to 10 years but also to deprive her permanently of her own independent force.

U. S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara outlined the U. S. position in a speech last June 16 at the University of Michigan. In it he declared that "limited nuclear capabilities, operating independently, are dangerous, expensive, prone to obsolescence and lacking in credibility as a deterrent."

In other words, more dangerous than nothing at all.

And in a clear blow at De Gaulle, he said there "must not be competing and conflicting strategies to meet the contingency of nuclear war."

Made Position Known
De Gaulle, a year earlier, had made known his own position.

At a news conference, he declared that any reorganization of NATO must take into account the "right and duty of the European continental powers to have their own defense."

"It is intolerable," he said, "for a great state to leave its destiny up to the decision and action of another state."

Neither side has changed its opinion since.

The Pampa Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the right of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Some Food Facts

Americans are the eatingest people on earth. We are so well fed, in comparison to our neighbors in other countries, that Americans thru the years have become larger boned and bigger chested. We weigh more, we have much larger waist-lines, we are also better nourished.

Still, the largest dish prepared regularly anywhere in the world isn't in vogue in America. It is the typical Bedouin feast prepared by the Arab tribesmen to celebrate a wedding. The feast consists of one camel, roasted whole, which has been stuffed with one whole sheep, which has been stuffed with several chickens, which have been stuffed with fish which have been stuffed with eggs. If we did that in Pampa, we would devil and stuff the eggs.

In the past ten years, while inflation has caused us to think that we are getting 30 per cent more real wages (actually, we do well to stay even), food costs have climbed about six per cent on the average. That's not a true picture, however, for items in constant demand have gone up farther, whereas other items where the demand is modest have climbed in price more slowly or not at all.

Today in America, the average family spends only about 20 percent of its income on food—that is, if both adults are employed. If only one is employed and if there are several children, the cost of food may just about consume everything that is brought in.

Still it is true that about 100 years ago, most people spent about 65 per cent of what they earned on food. They earned less and there were fewer things for them to buy.

Croplands in America cover 330,000,000 acres. That is more land than can be found in all of Texas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois and Michigan combined. Growing, processing and selling food require the full-time employment of 9,100,000 people. Just a few more than half of these are left on the farms and ranches. Processing, packaging, storing and selling occupy the rest of them.

In one year American farmers grow vegetable crops which sell for about $27,000,000,000. About one fourth of that sum is provided by taxpayers against their wills which serves to keep the prices up on the other three fourths.

The food industry will spend more than $100,000,000 this year alone in developing and inventing new products. Of all the products available today about two-thirds of them didn't even exist or were not available to housewives 10 years ago. How is your supply of chocolate-covered ants holding out?

The average Pampan stows away about 1,500-pounds of food per year. The frozen food industry in this country alone packages enough food to outweigh 30 Empire State buildings.

Last year America manufactured enough frankfurters (hot dogs) to wrap 26.5 times around the earth at the equator; opened and emptied enough cans of food to stretch to the moon and back three times. And with the help of the Italians in our midst we ate enough macaroni products to reach a point 60,000,000 miles beyond the sun, starting at your favorite spaghetti house.

Americans eat 16,400,000 peanut butter sandwiches a day, but it is hard to get one in a Pampa restaurant.

Americans eat more lettuce than the populations of all the world combined. Perhaps that is one of the reasons why, pound for pound, we are eating about 100 pounds less on the average than our forebears did 50 years ago. Lettuce doesn't weigh much. And it was virtually unknown in 1912.

The average city worker can buy with one hour's time gainfully employed 21 times as much sugar, nine times as much butter, and four times as much beef as the average worker in Russia.

Nearly half of all workers in Russia work directly in the food-producing industry. A full 60 per cent of everything earned in Russia is spent on food. That's about where we were a hundred years ago.

Yes, Americans have good appetites. And this in spite of the fact that most mashed potatoes served in restaurants are powdered.

Confusion Compounded

An editorial in the Wall Street Journal describes some of the exasperating problems that laws impose upon business. This particular case has to do with the Robinson-Patman Act, which applies all manner of regulations to producers and retailers.

One provision of the Act says that, for instance, a biscuit-maker can't charge a chain store lower prices than it charges that store's competitors, unless this is done to meet equally low prices charged by one of its own competitors.

But now, says the Journal, the Federal Trade Commission is compounding the confusion. It charged a biscuit company with violation of the law because it had given special discount prices to some grocery and drug chains in order to counter similar pricing policies of its competitors. "But," the Journal goes on, "an FTC ma-majority held this was a proper defense only when the lower prices were designed to keep old customers and not to woo new ones. And because the company had attracted some new business through its discounts it had, the FTC ruled, broken the law."

A U. S. Court of Appeals has rejected the FTC's claim and held for the company. But that, apparently, doesn't trouble the FTC. It has announced that it will keep right on enforcing the law according to its own interpretations.

Matters such as this concern the direct interests not only of manufacturers and retailers, but of consumers, who are the big long-run losers when competition is restricted. And the Wall Street Journal's concluding sentence is worth repeating: "Sometimes it's... pretty hard to understand how any business gets done in this country at all."

Send More Money

An ancient joke tells of the amateur poker player who fell in with a group of professionals, lost his shirt, and wired home: "It's a great game. Send more money."

The American taxpayer is now in the shoes of that hapless victim. At the federal level, we hear a much talk of income tax reduction—though how this can be accomplished, in the light of eight or ten billion dollar annual deficits without shrinking the dollar's buying power farther, is a question that would stump Socrates. That aside, other federal plans, now in the press-on-regardless stage, call for a myriad of changes in tax policy that would subject individual and corporate taxpayers alike to an almost endless series of expensive irritations, and bury us under a flood of tax forms.

At the state level, there is, for the most part, a mad search for more tax revenues for welfare services, for schools, for highways, for urban renewal (the current polite term for slum clearance), and for just about anything else anyone can dream up. Most barbarous of all is the scheme now in effect in some states, and planned by others—whereby federal income taxes are not allowed as a credit against state income taxes. Thus, the taxpayer pays a tax upon a tax, on money which he never really had at all.

No man can foresee the end. But the way we're going, that "Send more money" wire will have to go unanswered. The well runs dry.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

New Yorkers quickly learned that there is no substitute for their favorite daily newspapers when they failed to publish a few weeks before Christmas as a result of a printers' strike. Radio and TV stations tried to fill the gap by extending their news coverage from 15 minutes to a half hour and even an hour, several times a day, but something was missing. Business fell off in stores, theatre, night-clubs, sporting events and even Wall Street brokers were complaining. You cannot get the stock tables and make an analysis from the electronic gadgets. The University of Miami and Nebraska Gotham Bowl football game that should have drawn 30,000 fans was a financial disaster. Only 6,000 spectators showed up. The game had no newspaper promotion, stories or publicity and depended entirely on radio and TV. Newspaper readers are masters of their own fate. They can read when convenient, lay the paper aside and return, re-read if they wish and finish reading at a later period. In short, TV is a very impersonal gadget for your entertainment, while your newspaper is a living, human, printed medium that you can read at any hour for complete news coverage.

Headline in the Middletown, N. Y., Times Herald: "No Ceiling on Faith," over a dispatch about a service in an unfinished, roofless church. A new 3-mile race course rail has been installed in Belmont Park, New York for the 1963 meet, replacing the conventional type of rail used in all American race tracks. The idea came from the Curragh Race course in Ireland where the Irish Derby runs annually. It's made of a hard composition material with a smooth surface, which avoids the danger of splinters for both horse and jockey. Racing authorities elsewhere in the United States and Canada have it under consideration for installation.

The first Bible ever printed in America was published in 1663 by John Elliott. It was translated into the American Indian language—Algonquin—and used as a missionary Bible. Backyard gardeners can profit from some good advice sent us by Harold Mosher of the Agriculture division of the University of Massachusetts. He suggests that even city or suburban folks with a lawn should make a good compost out of leaves, flowers, grass clippings raked for their property in the fall and winter. He points out he cannot see the wasting of this available organic matter and then have to go out later and buy organic substitutes to improve the soil.

Observes a cynic: "The only reason a great many families don't own an elephant is that they have never been offered an elephant for a dollar and a dollar a week." How times have changed: Mace and ginger spices were considered valuable additions to a girl's hope chest in the middle ages. A term that has endured for more than half a century is "chief cook and bottle washer." It isn't especially bright or apt, but that seems to be a favorite phrase describing one who's supposed to perform manifold tasks in an establishment or a home.

Hey, girls: Don't know how it will work with you, but the women of ancient Egypt used slices of tomato, banana and cucumber as a beauty treatment. (They'd rub them on, not eat them, you understand.) Today's favorite gag: MRS. JONES—"My husband is an efficiency expert in a large business office." MRS. SMITH—"Just what does an efficiency expert do?" Mrs. JONES—"Well, if my woman did it, they'd call it nagging." Country editor speaking: "Every motorist knows what a split second is. It's the time elapsing between the change of a traffic light and the guy behind blowing his horn."

Of course, it is not the proper function of government to draft soldiers or to tax or to draft children to attend schools approved by the politicians. It is a way of indoctrinating the children, and it is a way of getting the money to do the indoctrinating. And the ability to draft soldiers is one way of getting us into wars. As one representative said, if we couldn't have drafted soldiers in the First World War, we wouldn't have been in the First World War. It is doubtful whether we would have been in the Second World War if we hadn't drafted soldiers in the First.

Since we do not believe the premise of drafting soldiers and drafting children to go to school is a proper function of the government, we would like to have some individual who so believes answer the question.

We do not believe because we are doing many things that violate the Golden Rule that makes using initiated force in other things makes it a proper function of the government.

"Relax, Maybe It's Nothing Serious"

Edson in Washington Clay, Bowles Urge Pruning Of Unessential Foreign Aid

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Santa Claus International, alias your Uncle Sam or the United States government in disguise, may have to cut down on a lot of marginal foreign aid programs if the ideas of Gen. Lucius Clay prevail.

Clay is chairman of President Kennedy's new, high-sounding, foreign aid advisory committee to Strengthen the Free World. "We are not an investigating committee," says Clay after several days conferring in Washington on what his nine-man group is supposed to do. "We will simply determine the wisdom of policies governing our (foreign aid) expenditures and attempt to make sure that these policies do limit our activities to those necessary and essential to the security of our nation and the free world."

A literal interpretation of Clay's first public statement on this subject could affect a lot of the foreign aid projects like sewers, water supply and housing developments in countries that don't have them, jet airports and international airlines for countries that don't need them, Tennessee Valley-type authorities for hydroelectric power and irrigation in countries that won't have the skilled manpower to operate them for some years. All these might have to be dropped.

And it could be that the ideas of Chester Bowles will have more weight. He recommends that foreign aid be denied those countries which lack the ability to use it wisely or won't or don't reform their own governments to put economies in order.

This will be the fourth time in the last 10 years that the government has gone through this same aid reform exercise.

U.S. and free world security was the theme of the Mutual Security Administration which administered foreign aid at the end of the Truman administration. This is what it will apparently be once again if the Clay idea prevails.

When the Eisenhower administration came to town, it recruited a lot of big business executives to survey foreign aid. The result was the MSA was changed into the more business-like Foreign Operations Administration.

Then former President Herbert Hoover's Commission on Reorganization of Government surveyed foreign economic operations in 1955. FOA was changed to International Co-operation Administration. President Eisenhower then appointed another commission under Gen. William H. Draper to survey foreign aid again in 1959. It is reminiscent of the Clay committee.

But it was President Kennedy who changed ICA into Agency for International Development—AID—when he took office. And now Clay apparently is going through the motions of putting the emphasis back on "security" where it was in 1950-52.

This view is discounted in the State Department, however. There it is stressed that the appointment of former Budget Director David E. Bell as the new AID administrator means there will be continuity of operations, without another wholesale reorganization and reshuffling of personnel.

Clay's committee of former Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett, former Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson, retiring World Bank President Eugene B. Black, Continental Oil President L. D. McCollum, former State Department legal adviser Herman Phleger, AFL-CIO President George Meany, University of Nebraska President Clifford Harden and Harvard Prof. Edward A. Mason will hold its first meeting late in January.

It aims to file its first report with Kennedy by March 1.

It will maintain liaison with Congress but not lobby for aid.

The Doctor Says:

Tiredness is a Symptom Of Addison's Disease

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Q—What is Addison's disease? My husband has been told that he has it. Is it curable?

A—Addison's disease is a failure of function of the adrenal glands. This may be caused by simple atrophy, a wasting of the glands due to advancing age, or by a tuberculous infection that has localized in the adrenals. The usual symptoms are tiredness and a uniform brown pigmentation of the skin over the whole body. As the disease progresses there may be nausea and vomiting, headache, and pain in the back.

Although this disease often used to be fatal, it is now possible to give adrenal cortical hormones to supplement the secretion of the failing glands. This treatment has been truly life saving.

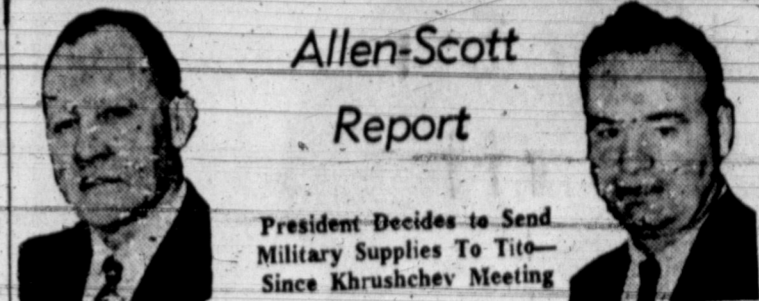

Q—Is there a remedy for bed-wetting in older women? Sometimes I wake up in time but when this happens several times at night it interrupts my sleep.

A—I wish I could offer a simple remedy for your trouble. It is one of the burdens associated with aging. The muscles that control the outlet of your bladder have become weakened. In many persons lying down and relaxing of itself creates a desire to urinate. In some persons a local irritation near the outlet of the bladder or an inflammation of the entire mucous surface of the bladder will cause this trouble. I would strongly urge that you have a urologist examine you.

Q—I have a steady roaring or ringing in my ears. Sometimes it makes me so dizzy that I vomit and can't keep my balance. My doctor is giving me a tranquilizer and it helps me some. I would like to know what causes this and whether there is anything else I should do.

A—The condition you describe is called Meniere's syndrome. It is a disorder of the inner ear which controls equilibrium. It may be due to a variety of causes. These include acute infections (such as influenza), anemia, a hyperactive thyroid gland, multiple sclerosis, a blow on the side of the head, and poisoning with alcohol, nicotine, quinine or arsenic. In persons who are past 50, hardening of the arteries is the most usual cause.

If there is any impacted wax in your ear it should be removed. Modern seasick pills sometimes help to relieve the dizziness but these should be prescribed by your doctor. A salt-poor diet helps some people with this condition. Nicotinic acid (a vitamin not to be confused with nicotine) may be helpful and so also may some of the newer diuretic drugs—drugs that cause an outpouring of body fluids with the urine.

Allen-Scott Report

President Decides to Send Military Supplies To Tito—Since Khrushchev Meeting

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy is selling millions of dollars of additional military supplies to Communist Yugoslavia.

This new equipment is largely spare parts for U. S. weapons already provided that country, including 130 F-86D Sabrejet fighters sold to Yugoslavia in 1961 at a bargain-basement price of $10,000 each.

Payment for the new supplies approved by the President is to be in dollars.

Total amount of these purchases is still to be determined. The President's unannounced authorization is necessary under the law to clear the way for Yugoslavia to formally submit its shopping list. But engines and spare parts for the Sabrejets are certain to be included, as they have been discussed in the preliminary negotiations underway in Belgrade.

The President's backstage action is based on the vigorous recommendation of Ambassador George Kennan. He was Ambassador to Moscow during the Eisenhower administration, but left the diplomatic service after a clash with the late Secretary John Foster Dulles.

Kennan urged the new military equipment be supplied Yugoslavia on the ground that unless this was done Marshal Tito would turn to Russia for arms. Kennan held it better for the U. S. to provide Yugoslavia with weapons than the Soviet.

This is disclosed in a memorandum that McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President on foreign affairs, has sent top administration officials.

According to Bundy, Kennan informed the President that Tito's recent 16-day visit to Russia produced no major change in Yugoslav-Soviet relations. Kennan is credited as claiming that Tito is ready and willing to make a similar trip to the U. S.

This assessment of Tito's Russian tour is causing much critical eyebrow raising among military and intelligence authorities.

With caustic skepticism they point out the following: Throughout Tito's visit, the Yugoslav Communist ruler consistently mouthed the Kremlin's political line regarding Berlin, Cuba, Africa and Asia. Also that the Soviet is now supplying Yugoslavia with heavy military equipment, including tanks and motorized SU-100 artillery guns. Further, that the two countries have signed a $730 million trade agreement that is to triple trade between them by 1965.

MORE BUNDY REVELATIONS—Bundy's backstage memorandum also discloses that the President intends to send a report to the new Congress advising of the contemplated sale of new military supplies to Yugoslavia—and also urging the restoration of most-favored-nation trade treatment to that Communist country.

This was barred to all Communist nations under the trade expansion act voted by Congress last year. This law directs the President "As soon as practicable to suspend any trade benefits granted since 1930 to any country or area dominated or controlled by Communism."

So far, the President has not found it "practicable" to take such action.

The Bundy memorandum reveals the President favors granting the same trade concessions to Yugoslavia and Poland that the U. S. plans to offer members of the Common Market. For this purpose, Bundy says the President will ask Congress to eliminate the existing ban on favored-nation treatment to these two Communist countries.

Carefully not mentioned in Bundy's memorandum are the following highly significant facts:

The Joint Chiefs of Staff were not consulted about supplying Yugoslavia with a large amount of new military equipment; and the President's unannounced decision to do that followed directly on the heels of Tito's triumphant visit to Moscow, where he was accorded the signal privilege of addressing the Supreme Soviet.

Also, Yugoslavia is to be given special status in Comecon, the Communist counterpart of the Common Market. This will be officially announced when Khrushchev makes his return visit to Belgrade in February.

BAILING TITO OUT—Intelligence authorities estimate that by 1967, Yugoslavia will be severely handicapped in trading in Western Europe's competitive markets.

These experts point out that Yugoslav manufactured goods will be burdened with an average duty of 15 per cent, and its farm products 30 per cent. On the other hand, members of the Common Market and countries associated with it will not be encumbered with tariffs.

As a result, unless the U. S. bails out Yugoslavia with trade concessions, the latter's economy faces dire difficulties. The same applies to Poland.

This may explain why intelligence officials strongly suspect that Tito is fronting for Moscow in advocating a world economic conference this year. Real purpose of this scheme is to provide a forum for attacking the Common Market.

In the past year, the U. S. supplied Yugoslavia with $147 million in economic aid. In addition, the administration recently authorized the sale of $104 million of surplus farm products. Since 1946, Yugoslavia has received a total of more than $4 billion in aid from this country.

Of this huge amount, $2.2 billion was in economic and military assistance, and $1.8 billion in grants and loans.

The U. S. has upwards of $105 million in counterpart funds in Yugoslavia. This Yugoslav currency has accumulated from the purchase of surplus food, weapons and other supplies.

FOREIGN FLASHES—Tanganyika is sending a large group of students to Yugoslavia for four months' study in the operation of various types of cooperatives, industrial and agriculture. The trip of these African students is being financed by so-called Yugoslav schoolships. Hungary and Greece have signed a three-year trade agreement under which trade between them is to be increased 80 per cent. This year it is to reach a total of $20 million. Hungary will provide Greece with machines, medicine and farm products, and Greece will export wool, leather, tobacco and fruits.

Russia is providing Iraq with air transport to establish direct routes between the two countries. This deal has been signed in Baghdad by Viktor Danilychev, chief of the Soviet's air transportation.

The nicest thing about air travel is that no one has devised a way to put billboards up there.

Certain people suffer from claustrophobia, a morbid dread of being in closed spaces, others have hydrophobia, an overwhelming fear of water. However, we probably all suffer in some form or other from nucleomitophobia, a dread of atomic energy, at least the bomb.

Many Studies Being Made On Birth Control Problems

By LOUIS CASSELS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. government agencies are currently investing about $4 million a year in scientific research projects which may shed some light on birth control problems, an official survey disclosed Friday.

The survey was prepared by the National Institutes of Health (NIH) and covered all known research projects by public or private agencies in all countries of the world that may be "relevant" to birth control.

The indicated total outlay was $6,094,293 a year for some 400 separate projects. Many of the projects deal with basic studies of reproduction physiology, and have only a very indirect bearing on birth and population control problems.

The NIH itself is the largest supporter of such research. It is currently backing 170 projects, totaling $2,787,161, which are considered to be in some way related to birth control. This outlay constitutes less than three-tenths of one per cent of the NIH's total annual budget of $880 million.

COLLECTOR'S ITEM—No, they're not licensing the things, yet. The plate is issued to William Squire, who works for an East Hartford, Conn., aircraft plant. More than 47,000 Connecticut motorists have special, eye-catching plates of various designations.

Two Trends Spotlights

The survey spotlighted two major "trends" in birth control research, particularly that being done under non-governmental auspices. One is the investigation of various systemic compounds (such as the steroids utilized in the much publicized contraceptive pills) which interfere with the normal reproductive process at any one of several stages from ovulation to the implantation and development of the fertilized egg. The other is a search for safe ways to inhibit production of fertile sperm cells in the male through some type of immunization process.

Without singling out any particular method under study, the NIH warned that some of the immunological approaches could result in undesirable "mutations" of human genes.

It also noted that birth control techniques which interfere with the development of an ovum after it has been fertilized "constitute, in the strict sense, procedures for inducing abortion" and therefore raise legal problems.

In stating that it is making no "planned effort" to discover new birth control techniques, the NIH pointed out that a wide variety of contraceptive techniques are

Next NFL Championship Tilt In Warm Miami Orange Bowl?

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Since the Green Bay Packers are established as the champions of polar football, in the world's largest home freezer, it's time for the National Football League to turn on the heat to make the play better and the lives of spectators comfortable.

Informal talks have already begun probing the possibility of playing the championship game annually in Miami's Orange Bowl.

It would be a New Year's Day fiesta in lieu of the current collegiate competition in that sun-studded stadium. The Orange Bowl's contract with the Big Eight Conference expires after next year's game and leaves the field open for the pros to move in.

This was an idea of the late Bert Bell when he was commissioner and Pete Rozelle, the current, progressive impresario, also favors conducting the showpiece of the league in a setting conducive to good football.

The tension built up by the Giant-Packers meeting should convince any promoter that the championship playoff has become the greatest single attraction in sports for generating excitement. The Orange Bowl people, who already stage the superfluous Playoff Bowl featuring the second place teams, aren't oblivious to the impact.

From a weather standpoint, a Miami site makes sense. The last two title games in the sub-freezing temperatures of Green Bay and New York, complicated by swirling, frigid winds, drastically reduced the efficiency level which is the main attraction of pro ball. A player in a championship game shouldn't have to beat his body and dance up and down between plays to keep warm.

A neutral site would obviate the home team factor. In the electronic age there is no deprivation for loyal fans, since the championship game comes to them via television. They'd even be spared the sacrificial rite of a trip to Philadelphia and Connecticut on a Sunday to get around the blackout, if New York were the home team.

If the Orange Bowl can fill up for Oklahoma and Alabama, it should have no trouble selling all seats for New York and Green Bay. A guy could save all his weekend trips to Connecticut motels for the fare to a title game.

From a practical standpoint, it may be the only way to dethrone the Packers. They're built for polar going and conditioned by the frost that seeps into the Wisconsin turf starting in early December. Vince Lombardi has assembled a team founded on a concept that came in with the flying wedge — ball control.

The surest way to beat the other guy is to knock him down and the Packers have the specialists for that kind of exercise — on offense and defense. Inclement weather doesn't bother a team that grinds out yardage, three and four yards at a crack, behind a forceful offensive line that must be the best in the game (four of the five interior linemen are All-Pro). The irony of the recent 16-7 conquest of the Giants is that the Packers went into the game prepared to change caste — throw the works, with Bart Starr flinging the ball — while the Giants' game plan called for them to move on the ground initially, going to what it does best. Jim Taylor wound up carrying the ball 31 times to insure Packer possession and give them the hard yards when they counted. Y. A. Tittle was forced to throw 41 times under impossible conditions.

Give Y. A. Tittle that many throws under a tropical sun and the Packers might turn out to be normal, warm-blooded American boys, with normal human weakness.

Now did you have to say it rains in Miami, too?

Lombardi Says Packers Have To Get Tougher

NEW YORK (NEA)—The question being asked Vincent Lombardi is "Where do you go from here?"

Vince Lombardi has taken the Packers so high in the eyes of Green Bay fans that they consider him unbeatable.

"They can't beat Lombardi, so how can the team lose?" the ad-verts in the Cheeselanders say.

There hasn't been a trick over the counter in Green Bay in two years.

"This means that I'll sell 40,000 season tickets in Milwaukee," enthused Col. Orrin Krueger, in charge of Green Bay operations at County Stadium, after the Packers smacked the New York Giants at Yankee Stadium for their second consecutive National Football League championship. "We sold 28,000 the past season and played to 104 per cent of capacity (45,000)." The Packers play three of their seven home games in Suds-ville.

Lombardi, packing his bags for Los Angeles, where he is coach of the Western Conference All-Stars against their Eastern counterparts in the Pro Bowl game at the Coliseum Jan. 13, has news for the rest of the NFL.

"When they point out that there are two divisions in the NFL, they are so right," said the Old Fordham Block of Granite. "Any professional football man who is not sticking up for his own group will tell you that the Western division is considerably tougher than the Eastern."

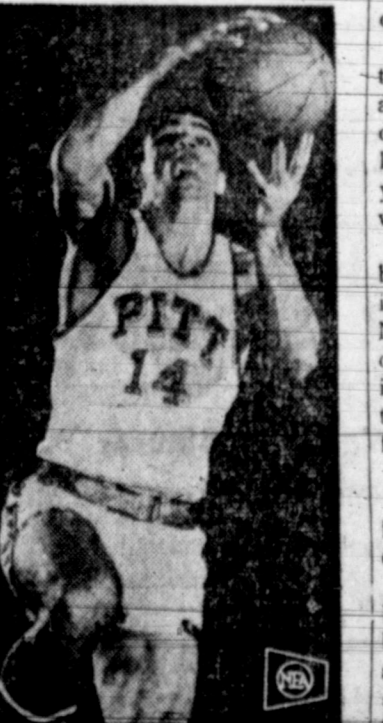

"It is in the Western that the Packers must survive against such as the Detroit Lions and Chicago Bears, just to name two. You have to be strong to do that and you must remember that we have reached a status comparable to that of the New York Yankees in baseball. Teams we figure to beat rather handily play like maniacs against us. All our opponents keep getting harder to handle in an all-out effort to knock off the champions.

"It's difficult to keep even a pro team emotionally high week in and week out, but I have a lot of faith in our guys. They have a lot of pride. Over-all we are a young team and the older hands will be replaced."

It must be reassuring to Lombardi that the Packers prevailed in 1961 with Paul Hornung, Ray Nitschke and other stars getting out of the Army on weekends and in 1962, with Hornung playing little or not at all on one good knee for eight weeks.

Lombardi considers Hornung the finest all-purpose back he has ever seen.

"There are players who hit harder straight ahead, run outside better, pass on the option as well and place-kick as accurately and as far," said the stocky man from Sheephead Bay, "but no one I ever saw did all of these things as effectively as Hornung. Paul's knee will be all right, too. All he has is a bad cartilage strain which healed perfectly and requires only two months of complete rest."

COURT GENERAL — The University of Pittsburgh basketball team won the Steel Bowl Tournament by showing a lot of early foot. The Panthers are led by 6-4, 210-pound Brain Generajovich.

HOW TO SCORE STANDING UP—Jim Taylor sprinted seven yards for Green Bay's lone touchdown in the Packers' 16-7 victory over the New York Giants in the National Football League's championship game at Yankee Stadium. (1) Taylor eludes Rosey Grier, (2) runs away from Sam Huff as Bob Skoronski moves in to block (3) Andy Robustelli and (4) the fullback reaches the end zone unmolested.

South Outscores North In Annual Senior Bowl

By TONY HEFFERNAN
United Press International

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—Quarterbacks Glynn Griffing of Mississippi and Gary Cuozzo of Virginia and a magnificent goal-line stand in the final seconds paced the South to a 33-27 victory over the North Saturday in the 14th annual Senior Bowl game before 38,048 fans.

The Rebel victory offset a record-breaking passing performance by the North's quarterback Jerry Gross of Detroit and an outstanding cunning show by Iowa State's brilliant halfback—Dave Hoppmann.

The game started out almost a duplication of last year's when the Rebels won by a 42-7 rout. The Rebs took a 27-6 halftime lead. But the North came back fighting to surge within a yard of tying the game in the final seconds.

Griffing passed for three touchdowns. Cuozzo tossed to South Carolina's halfback Billy Gambrell for the first score of the game. Gambrell later caught a touchdown pass from Griffing. Mississippi State end Johnny Baker caught two touchdown passes, both from Griffing.

Griffing was voted by sports-writers the game's outstanding player even though he played only a little more than one quarter.

after the South scored on the Cuozzo to Gambrell scoring pass.

The second Yankee score came on a rattle-dazzle play—fullback Dave Katterhenrick of Ohio State caught a lateral from Al Snyder if Holy Cross at the four while Snyder was being smothered by Southern defenders after catching a pass from Gross.

Snyder caught passes of 35 and 36 yards for the Yanks' two other touchdowns.

Jerry Logan of West Texas State kicked two points after touchdown and Baker caught a pass from Cuozzo for another PAT. The pass-play, under Senior Bowl rules, was good for only one point rather than two as in college play.

Texas Indoor Track Season Starts Friday

HOUSTON (UPI)—Texas' indoor track season will begin in Houston Friday night with 61 teams competing in the annual Gulf Coast Federation Indoor Meet.

Meet director Johnny Morris, track coach at the University of Houston, said Saturday it was the largest field ever entered in a Houston indoor meet.

Sixteen colleges and track clubs, 26 high schools, eight junior high schools and 11 girls teams have entered.

The meet will inaugurate the state's indoor season this year. Other meets are scheduled for Lubbock on Jan. 19; Dallas, Feb. 2; and Fort Worth, Feb. 9.

Colleges represented at Houston will include Texas Southern, Prairie View A&M, the University of Houston, the University of Texas, Texas A&M, Abilene Christian, North Texas State, Lamar Tech, Stephen F. Austin, Howard Payne, McMurry, and Victoria College.

The girls' division will include teams from Abilene, Fort Worth, Port Arthur and Lubbock.

Boyd Timmons, of the University of Houston track team, will be the favorite in the open college division. Timmons had the best time in the state last year when he was clocked in 6.2 seconds.

Other top events include the 60-yard hurdles, the mile run and the 880 and 440.

Kimbrough Voted In Hall Of Fame

AMARILLO (UPI)—Frank Kimbrough, athletic director of West Texas State College, has been selected as the fifth member of the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame, it was announced Saturday.

Kimbrough will be installed Jan. 27 at the Amarillo YMCA. The Y's Men's Club sponsors the hall of fame.

Kimbrough was an outstanding athlete at Haskell High School and Hardin-Simmons University. He coached at Wayland College, Amarillo College, Hardin-Simmons, Baylor and West Texas State.

Other members of the hall of fame are Joe Fortenberry, West Texas State All-American basketball player; Blair Cherry, Amarillo High School and University of Texas football coach; Bob Seeds, major league baseball player; and Cal Farley, wrestling champion.

Tributes To Roger Hornsby

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (UPI)—Paul Richards, general manager of the Houston Colts who both played and managed against Rogers Hornsby in the majors, said today Hornsby was "quite a player and one we are all going to miss."

Hornsby died today in a Chicago hospital.

"As far as I am concerned a lot of people resented Hornsby's attitude," Richards said, "but to me, he was really one man I liked to talk to about baseball."

"One thing for sure, that is the only thing he wanted to talk about," Richards added. "As far as baseball players are concerned, Hornsby not only represented one of the great right-handed hitters the game has ever known, but he also was a top second baseman."

"You could hold him to a single if you pitched inside to him," Richards recalled, "but if you let the pitch get over the middle or outside he showed you his superlative hitting form."

DALLAS (UPI)—Mike Higgins, executive vice-president of the Boston Red Sox, said today that baseball great Rogers Hornsby, who died today in Chicago, was a "fine baseball man."

Higgins said the Texas-born Hornsby was also a "very dedicated man—to baseball... and one very interesting to talk to. Hornsby was very opinionated, but they were good opinions," Higgins added. "I was very fond of him."

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Texas League President Dick Butler said Saturday Rogers Hornsby "wasn't the 'hall-fellow-well-met sort of a guy but I'll sure miss him."

Coaches Red Teams

MOSCOW (UPI)—Stjepan Spandarian is the Soviet Union's most widely known basketball coach. He has guided the Russian national team in three Olympic Games and five European championships.

Hornsby died Saturday in Chicago.

Butler said whenever he was with Hornsby, "his idea of having a good time was to go to a drugstore and have a chocolate soda."

"But he was a real nice fellow to know."

Butler said he felt it was ironic that eye trouble brought death to Hornsby.

"He valued his eyesight when he was playing so much that he never even went to the movies for fear it would harm him," Butler said.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—

Willis Hudlin, a submarine pitcher for the St. Louis Browns while Rogers Hornsby, was with the rival St. Louis Cardinals, said Saturday Hornsby was a "man-made hitter."

"He was not a great hitter when he started," Hudlin said of Hornsby, who died Saturday in a Chicago hospital, "but constant practice made him one of the greatest that ever walked to the plate."

"I only pitched against him in exhibition games—but he was rough with that bat."

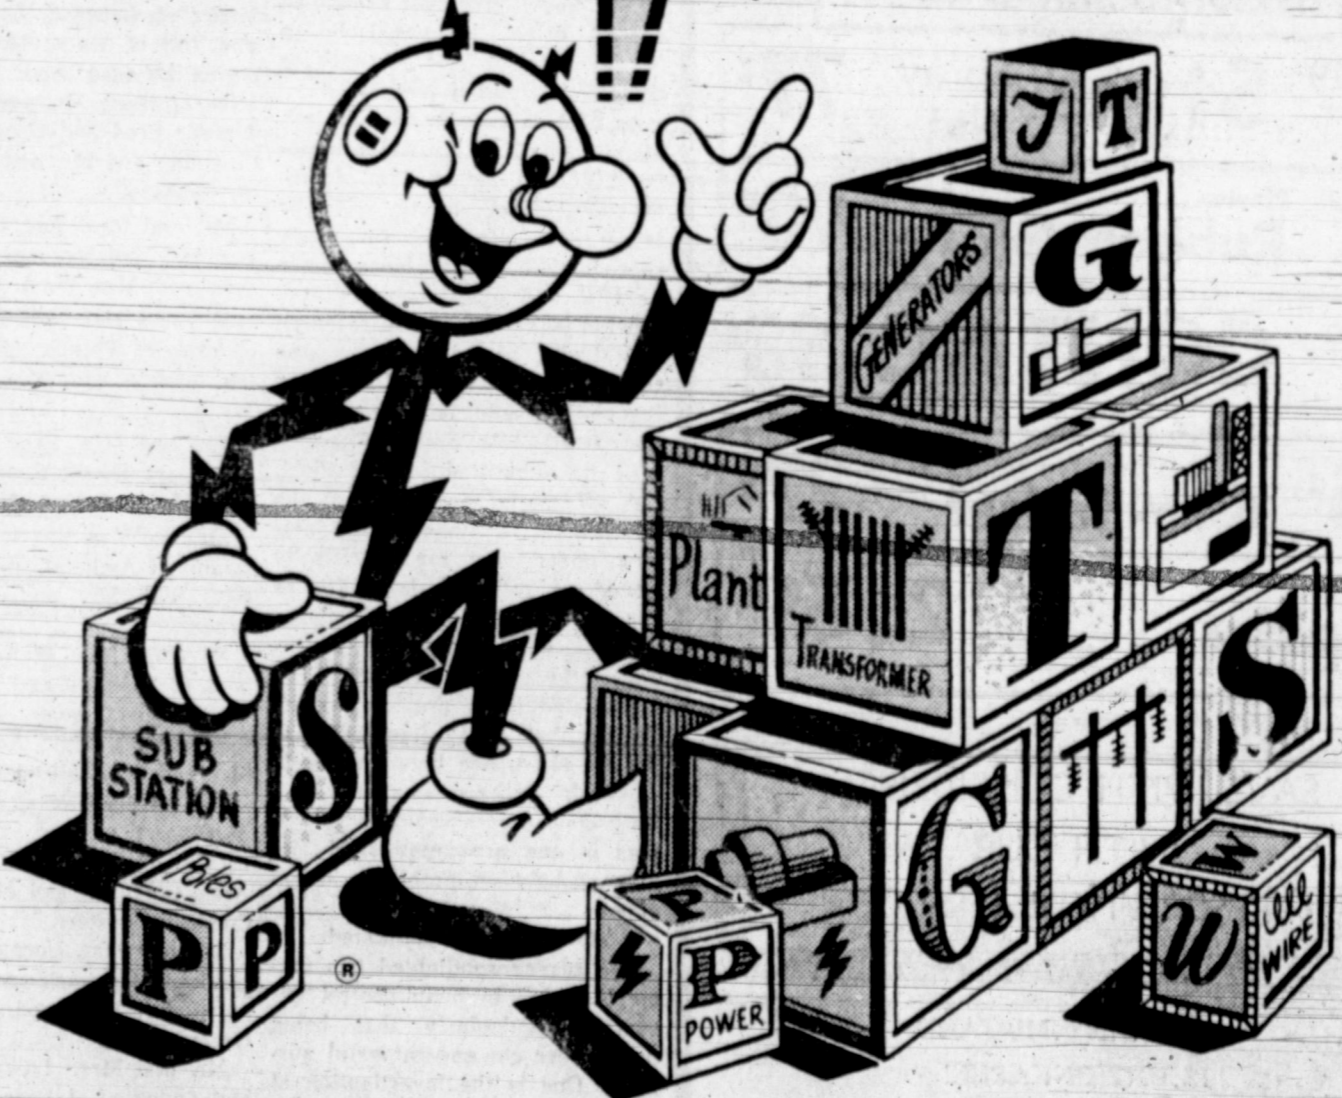

Hudlin now is in the insurance business in Little Rock.

Harvesters Trounce Tascosa Rebels

By LEE WHITE

Pampa News Sports Editor
Pampa's Harvesters scattered a determined band of Rebels from Tascosa last night in Harvester Fieldhouse, 72-59, stretching the Harvester winning streak to 12.

Pampa's defensive efforts in the second quarter enabled the Harvester to claim victory number 17 against one loss.

Other 4-A Games
In other District 3-AAAA action, Plainview edged Lubbock, 61-60; Amarillo belted Palo Duro, 73-54, and Monterey nipped Borger, 58-55. Pampa, Amarillo, and Plainview are in the driver's seat in the district with 2-0 records at the end of the first week of action.

Tascosa and Palo Duro are 0-2, Monterey, 1-1, Lubbock, 1-1, and Borger, 0-2.

Harvesters to claim victory number 17 against one loss.

The Harvesters, 2-0 in district play, limited the visitors to three field goals in the second quarter.

while padding its lead with 14 points.

Both teams scored 40 points in the final half. Pampa led 32-19 at intermission.

The surprising Rebels scored 40 points against the Harvesters in the second half, the most that has been scored against Pampa in one half this year.

Wayne Kreis, 5-9 guard, was the sparkplug for the Harvesters in the district win. Kreis, dazzling the fans with passes enabling his teammates to score, turned in 23 points in the winning cause. Kreis took a tremendous beating in the game from the husky Rebels. Paul Bennett was tossed from the game for deliberately fouling Kreis.

Swanson Ignites
Keith Swanson ignited in the second half for the Pampans, scoring 14 points.

Gary Sikes started Pampa off on the right foot early in the game with two quick baskets from the corner.

The pesky Rebels stayed with Pampa until the middle of the first quarter. With the score knotted, 9-9, Pampa scored nine points while holding Tascosa to four in the final half of the period.

Pampa's defense sparked in the second quarter. Center Randy Matson blocked three field goal attempts with his teammates turning in several steals. The Harvesters padded their lead to 13 points at half, 32-19.

Sikes led off the second half with two more field goals from the corner. Throughout most of the third quarter, the two District 3-AAAA teams traded field goals.

Within 9 Points
Early in the third quarter, Bill De'ee pulled his Rebels with nine points of the Pampans with a long field goal. With the score 38-29, Swanson hit four baskets and Sikes one in two minutes of play to pull the game out of danger.

Gordon Balch made two key steals and three baskets in the latter part of the period. Kreis repeatedly set his teammates up with passes leading to field goals. Swanson's fourth field goal of the quarter enabled Pampa to enjoy a 20-point lead, the biggest of the game, with the score, 55-35.

The Rebels wouldn't give up the cause and fought back in the closing seconds of the third quarter to pull within 16 points, 55-39.

The Rebels out-scored Pampa in the final period, 20 to 17 points. Pampa held on to its 13-18 point lead in the final frame, winning 72-59.

The largest crowd of the season was on hand for the fracas, including the Swing Kings from Pampa High.

Pampa, with two wins in district play against no losses, downed Palo Duro, 70-42, in its first district game Thursday night in Amarillo.

Next game for the Harvesters is Tuesday night when Pampa hosts Lubbock.

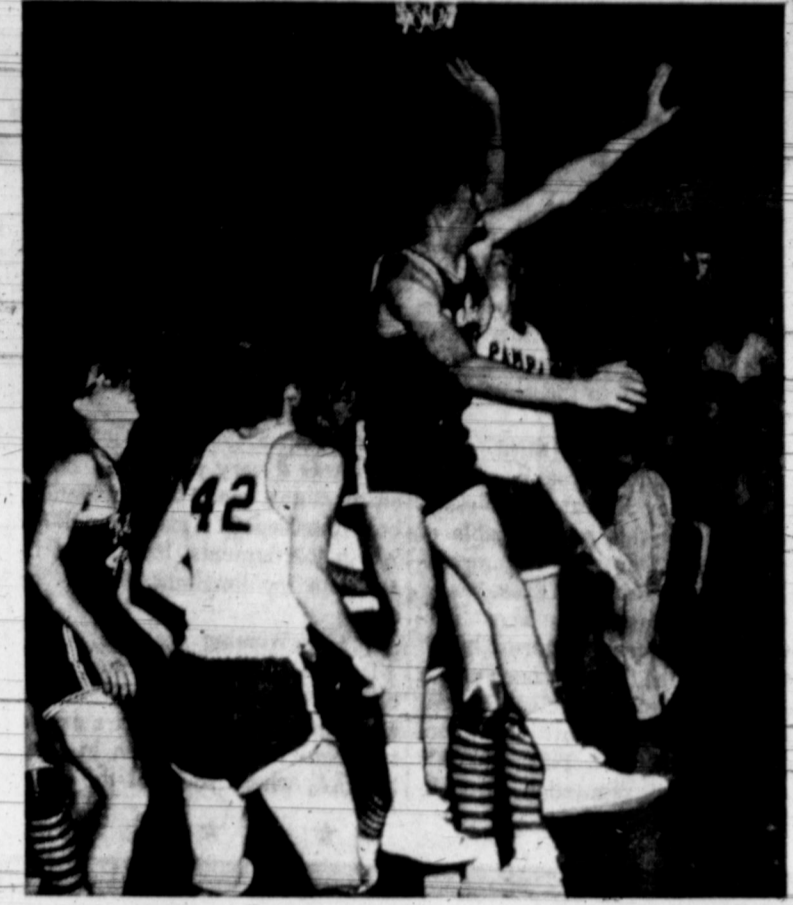

Tascosa lost its first district outing to Lubbock, 52-51, in Amarillo, Thursday. The Rebels are 6-7 for the season.

Shockers
Pampa's Shockers tasted defeat for the second time in two conference games, 50-40, at the hands of the Tascosa "B" team. Robert Howard, one of the Shockers-leading scorers all year, was held to five free throws in the contest.

The Shockers turned in only 10 field goals in the entire game and relied on 20 free throws to stay in the battle.

Pampa led, 9-7, at the end of the first quarter, but trailed the rest of the way. The Pampa "B" team was behind, 21-19, at half.

The Shockers are 0-2 in district play and 13-4 for the season.

UP AND IN — Pampa's Gary Sikes sinks a basket against Tascosa as other players watch anxiously to see if Sikes' shot will be blocked by the high jumping visitor. The basketball went in and Pampa won the game, 72-59. Gordon Balch, 42, gives Sikes moral support. (News Photo)

55TH YEAR SUNDAY, JANUARY 6, 1963

Wichita Falls Next Year!

Wichita Falls and Caprock High have been added to Pampa High's football schedule for the 1963 season with El Paso, Bel Aire, and Dumas being dropped from the slate.

The Harvesters, according to Weldon Trice, Pampa Athletic Director, will open against the Coyotes of Wichita Falls there on Sept. 13.

Amarillo's newest high school, Caprock, will participate in District 3-AAAA in 1963.

The second game on the schedule is against Phillips in Pampa on Sept. 20.

Detriot Lions Favored In NFL Runnerup Tiff

MIAMI (UPI) — The Detroit Lions, still smarting over their divisional loss to the world champion Green Bay Packers, took a rugged eight-point favorite Saturday on the eve of their Runnerup Playoff game with Pittsburgh in the Orange Bowl.

It's a game designed solely to aid the players pension fund with a $125,000 television payoff for the national picture tube tussle on CBS-TV starting at 2 p.m. EST.

But, while the winners each collect $600 against an individual $400 check for the losers, according to coach George Wilson of the roaring Lions—only team to conquer the world champion Packers this season—there's more than a $200 per man difference at stake.

"Call it pride, or call it whatever you want to," said the burly, easy-going Wilson, "but this will be a rough game between two fine defensive teams."

There's no doubt about it. The Lions have probably the greatest

Optimist Fighters Down Highly-Rated Wichita

Pampa's potent fighters in the open class sent the highly-rated Wichita team back to the Sunflower State with a lone victory.

The Optimist boxers, hosting the Wichita open fighters as well as fighters from Borger, Lefors, Skellytown, and Perryton, proved they meant business in instructing

Wichita to bring only its very best fighters to Pampa.

Knockouts
The matches, held in Pampa at Optimist Boys Club Building, featured two knockouts turned in by Pampa fighters.

Johnny Ironmonger, Pampa, knocked out Gene Yuebanks, Wichita, in 55 seconds of the first round. The fighters were battling in the 130-pound class. Yuebanks was the defending Kansas Golden Gloves champion in his weight division.

Another highly-rated boxer, Charles Murdock, was pounded to the canvas by the dynamite punches of Pampa's Dickie Willis. Willis knocked the Wichita fighter out 37 seconds of the second round. The boxers were competing in the 160-pound division.

In the 147 pound weight division, Pampa's Gary Wilhelm out-classed Wichita's Gene Nolan for another Optimist win.

Kenneth Wood, 142, another ring veteran fighting for Pampa, downed Tom Lutkie for Pampa's fourth win against Wichita.

Jim Murray was defeated by Carroll Yuebanks, the only Wichita fighter to win in the matches. The boys fought in the 135-pound class.

Paul Edward, Perryton, was awarded a default over Archie Green from Borger in the 140-pound class.

Other Bouts
In other bouts held Saturday night:

65 — Mike Robbins, Lefors, defeated Earnie Fanning, Skellytown. 80 — Kevin Romines, Lefors, over Bill Harris, Skellytown. 90 — Dean LaRue, Pampa, over Darrell Worley, Skellytown. 70 — Jerry Ledford, Skellytown, over Billy Taylor, Perryton; 112 — Eugene Yarborough, Borger, over Jimmy Watson, Pampa; 120 — Pete Pettit, Pampa, TKO over Larry Ashland, Perryton; 130 — W. D. Thomas, Pampa, over Lynn Alexander, Borger; 175 — James Ray, Pampa, lost to Philip Mayham, Borger; and 126 — Jesse Dean Reed, Pampa, won over Butch Lancaster, Borger.

The Optimist Golden Gloves District Tournament will be held this week on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights.

Gillman Coaches
The Nationals, coached by Sid Gillman of the San Diego Chargers, started slow but took less than two minutes just before the half ended for three quick touchdowns and an indication of things to come.

The Southwesterners obviously were hurt by the lack of a good passing quarterback for the pro offense used by coach Bud Turner of the New York Titans.

Turner was counting on Billy Moore of the University of Arkansas but Moore injured a knee in the Sugar Bowl last week and made only one appearance for an incomplete pass.

Johnny Genung of Texas and Johnny Lovelace of Texas Tech alternated at quarterback for the Southwest.

Genung Scores
It was Genung who pushed over to score from the one for the first touchdown of the game that put Southwest temporarily ahead early in the second period.

The Texas back also passed nine yards to fullback Leroy Caley of Texas A&M in the final period for the Southwest's first score.

The three touchdowns the Nationals score in the last two minutes of the first half came on 35 and 33 yard passes by Furlow with the other one being credited to the national's defensive team. That touchdown came when Lovelace fumbled the ball when tackled by guard Don Dickinson of Mississippi and national tackle Jim Moss of South Carolina recovered in the end zone.

Culley, Kieval, Face Big Challenge

By LEE WHITE
Pampa News Sports Editor

The Pampa winning tradition and a championship caliber basketball team cast two young Harvester coaches into the state spotlight.

Terry Culley, in his third year as head basketball coach, and his assistant, Roy Kieval, are blessed with a team this year capable of bringing another state championship to the Top O' Texas.

Pampa's Harvesters have stirred up considerable interest in the "Giant of the North" once again in state basketball circles. Pampa, winner of four state championships — 1953, 1954, 1958, and 1959 — has built a reputation throughout the state as a power to contend with every year.

Sports writers, fans, and basketball coaches throughout the state anxiously cast a glance at Pampa and its Harvesters as each new season starts.

The glance the fans got this year was a very promising, if not an awesome one. Pampa, winning both the Top O' Texas and Ft. Worth tournaments, has placed itself into the limelight, like it or not.

Winning Ways
Pampa, riding a 12-game winning streak, owns a 17-1 season mark this year and appears as the top team to contend with in District AAAA, where some of the best high school basketball in the Lone Star state is played year after year.

Culley, learning plenty of basketball as an assistant to the almost legendary Clifton McNeely and during his own playing and coaching career, has guided his charges in a romp in 16 of the team's 18 games.

The North Texas State College graduate played two years for the Eagles and two years at Tyler Junior College. While playing with Tyler J.C. Culley was part of a national Junior College Championship team in 1948.

At Comanchie
Culley's basketball career includes an assistant coaching job at Comanchie before coming to Pampa in 1952. He played two years of service ball at Cherry Point, North Carolina, for the Marine Air Corps between his high school and college careers.

"It was in the Marines that I learned my basketball," Culley reminisces, "under Frank Rose." Rose, playing coach for the Marine team, was an All-America player his senior year at North Carolina.

Culley is a native Texan while his assistant, Kieval, is a transplanted New Yorker from Brooklyn. Culley attended high school at Gladewater and participated in football, basketball, track, and baseball.

The head mentor and his wife, Betty Jo, have two children—Terry Ann, 10, and Robert, four.

When this reporter asked him which Pampa team he thought was the best during his stay in the Top O' Texas city, Culley cited the 1959 team.

Mack Layne, 6-5½, Coyle Winborn, 6-5, Bobby Gindorf, 6-4, Craig Winborn, 6-2, and Charles Minor, 5-10, were the starting five on that state championship team. The cagers posted a 31-0 record in winning state that year.

Four State Champions
Culley has been an assistant coach to four championship teams at Pampa. The Pampans in 1953-1955 put together a 72-game winning streak that still sounds unbelievable. In 1953 and 1954, the Harvesters posted identical 28-0 records.

Culley cites Jimmy Bond, who played for the Harvesters back in 1953, as the greatest high school basketball player he has ever seen. The game that is most vivid to Culley through the long stretch of Pampa victories over the years is the 1958 state championship game. Pampa went into the contest a 15-point underdog, given little chance of staying in the ball game. Pampa won the fracas by one point and another state championship.

In referring to this year's season, Culley was most pleased with the victory over Carter-Riverside in the Ft. Worth Tournament. He cites this win as the Harvesters' best game this year. Pampa battered the Ft. Worth cagers, 77-39.

Cites Fast Break
"Our fast break looked good. We played real good basketball in the tournament (Ft. Worth) and our boys are getting better all the time," the coach remarked about the game and the tournament. Pampa's starters were given a standing ovation by the Ft. Worth fans when Culley put in the reserves in the Carter-Riverside game.

Roy Kieval, assistant basketball coach, is a busy man on the go during the cage season. Kieval likes to refer to himself as "the man behind the scenes as he races across the Panhandle scouting Harvester foes.

Kieval, who coaches the Shockers as well, is a "very colorful coach, especially to the West Texas fans. Kieval, reared in Brooklyn, has a sure enough Yankee accent: His accent is starting to mellow the longer he stays in the drawl-talking country.

"Basketball is my life," Kieval readily admits as he recalls his days associated with the game. He has been either playing or coaching the game since his grade school days in Brooklyn.

Kieval played his college basketball in Texas at Kilgore JC and Midwestern University where he was a high-scoring forward.

One of his proudest experiences in the game was his stretch with the Washington Generals, playing against the original Harlem Globetrotters. While with the Washington Generals, Kieval played against such players as Showboat Flail, Leon Hilliard, Andy Johnson, and Meadowlark Lemon. He toured with the Globetrotters in the 1957-58 season.

Chamberlain
Ever play against Wilt Chamberlain? While playing in upper New York in a summer resort league, Kieval played against Chamberlain. Kieval was quick to point out that Wilt the Stilt wasn't his man, however.

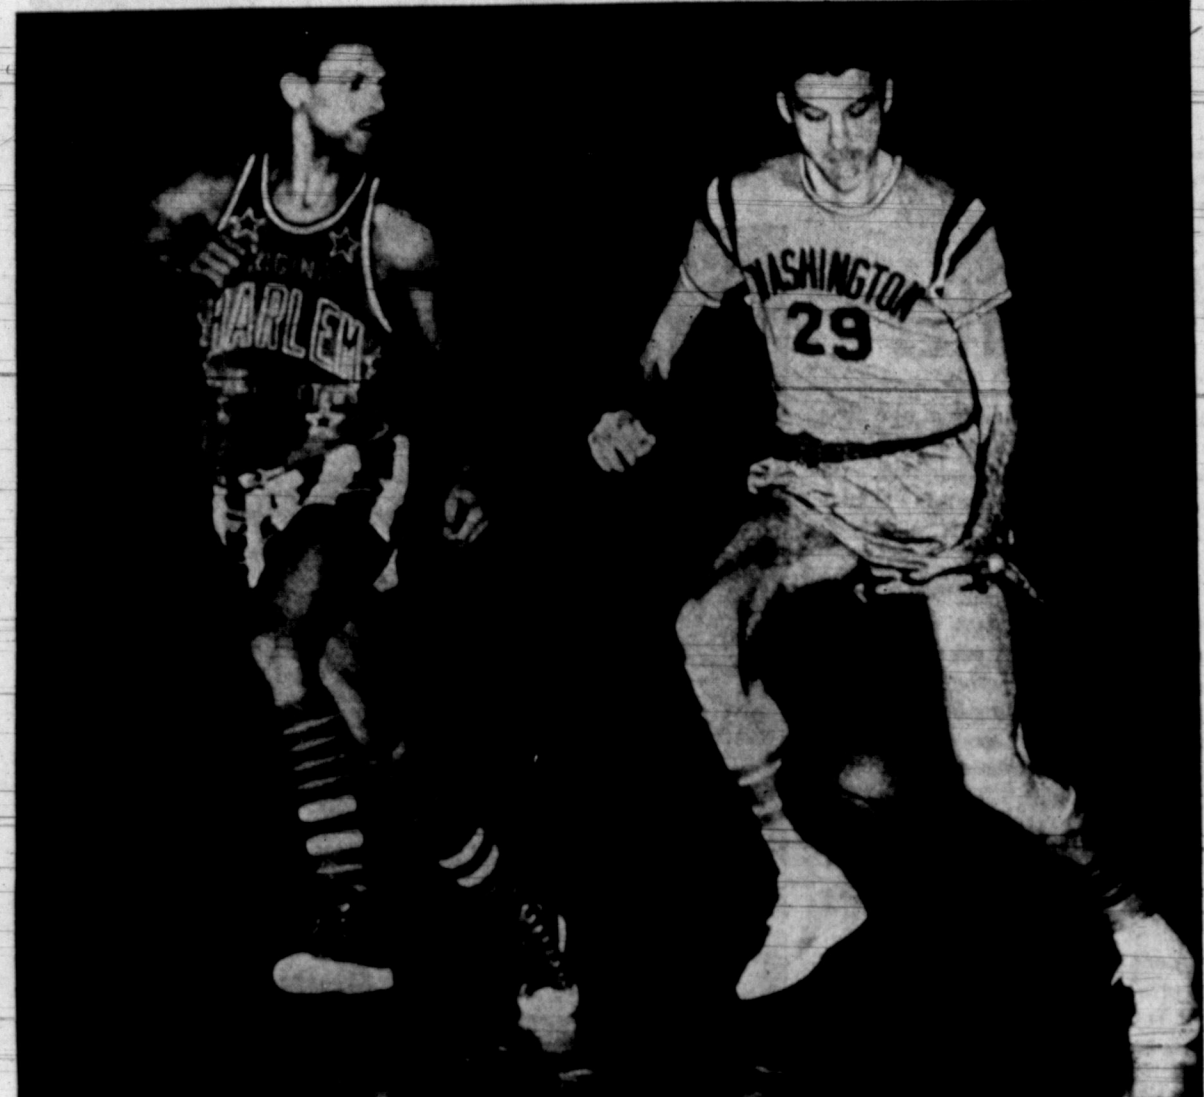

Kieval played several years in the summer league with some of the best players in the country. Several of the top college players in the nation played in the resort league.

From his old high school comes Rudy LaRusso of the Los Angeles Lakers, one of the many good basketball players to play at James Madison High.

Kieval and his wife Barry have two children, Artie, five, and Richie, four.

GUIDING HANDS — Coaches Roy Kieval, left, and Terry Culley, right, have a championship caliber team on their hands to work with this year. Culley, head basketball coach, has helped guide four Pampa state championships in the past.

THREE POINT PLAY—Roy Kieval, Pampa assistant basketball coach, is pictured here as he broke away for a layup against the original Harlem Globe Trotters. Kieval scored the two points and added another as Leon Hilliard fouled him. Kieval, playing with the Washington Generals, toured with the Harlem Globe Trotters in the 1957-58 season. The picture was made in Albuquerque.

AFL Considers Scouting System

DALLAS (UPI) — The American Football League will consider establishment of a central player scouting system as one of its major topics at the league's annual meeting Thursday in San Diego.

Such a system, recently suggested for major league baseball, would call for establishment of a single scouting system charged with gathering information and rating college prospects. The administration of the system would be entrusted to the league office.

The meeting, which runs through Saturday at a San Diego hotel (the Ocean House) will also discuss possible changes in length and roster limitations of training camps, continuation of sudden-death overtimes for pre-season games, possible rule changes, election of a successor to Wayne Valley of Oakland as AFL president and hear a report from Commissioner Joe Foss on the New York Titan franchise.

The Titan franchise has been up for sale for several weeks and Foss has been in New York this week in an effort to close negotiations for sale of the club, which so far has not signed any of the players drafted by the team a month ago.

The meeting will be held in connection with the AFL's annual all-star game, scheduled at Balboa Park in San Diego Sunday, Jan. 13 at 11 a.m. PST.

Senate Probes Point-Shaving

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators are conducting a preliminary study into possible point-shaving and fixes in professional football and some other professional sports, a staff aide said Saturday.

The preliminary staff study has produced no evidence to date of improprieties, however.

The preliminary inquiry is a facet of the Senate investigations subcommittee's study of organized crime. The study was expanded to include sports fixing and the bribing of athletes after the college basketball scandals last year.

The subcommittee's interest in some professional sports was highlighted by the National Football League's inquiry into the associations of some NFL players with "undesirables."

Paul J. Tierney, assistant counsel, said the subcommittee staff study has centered on the operations of big-time gamblers across the nation.

Charles Dees Batting Champ

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — El Paso Sun King infielder Charles Dees Saturday was proclaimed Texas League batting champion of the 1962 National Association of Baseball.

Dees hit .348 in the 1962 season. National Association president George M. Trautman announced the association's 1962 awards Saturday.

Flower of Their Class
CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI) — Five of the last six winners of the Garden State Stakes were named 2-year-old champions of their years: Crimson Satan, Warfare, First Landing, Nadir and Barbizon.

Phillips 66ers Rated High By Browning, "Best Ever"

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (UPI) — Bud Browning, champion of amateur basketball, candidly sums up his current Phillips 66ers team as "potentially the best I've ever coached."

That's saying a lot. The 66ers have fielded some great AAU teams during the 11 seasons Browning has coached here, and won six National AAU titles for any one of 11 men" and still have an on-and-on career at Phillips Petroleum Co., as basketball coach, dating back to 1943. Browning has won 408 and lost but 90.

Although hampered by the loss of six key men who were taking part in a U. S. All Star series in Manila, the 66ers built up a 4-1 record, losing only to Tulsa while beating Rice, Texas Tech, East Central Oklahoma and an amateur team. They played Pan American College in Edinburg, Tex., Saturday night.

Los Angeles Seen Ending Boston Celts' Long Reign

THE UPPER HAND

By HARRY GRAYSON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Close observers around the National Basketball Association are beginning to suspect that the Celtics have lost much of their urge.

And with it the golden touch that carried the incomparable Boston club to five championships in six years, the last four in a row.

Court seers see the Lakers replacing the Celtics when East again meets West for all the plums next April. It will be recalled that the Los Angeles outfit took Red Auerbach's array right down to the final second of the seventh game last spring at the Boston Garden, lost only because a Frank Selvy shot hung on the lip of the basket.

The team finishing with the highest percentage gets the odd game of the best of seven championship series at home and anybody who can distinguish a basketball from a squash knows the bulge an outfit has on its own hardwood. The Celtics have not shown the tremendous early foot of past campaigns, so the Lakers could well win this advantage.

Overall the Celtics are older than the Lakers and they have played a lot of basketball, much of it under pressure.

Coach Auerbach already has had reason to dress down the Celtics several times this early season. The other day in the Hub it was reported that the fiery Auerbach had a serious talk with Bill Russell having to do with hustle. That night Wilt the Stilt Chamberlain held Russell to eight points while scoring 43 and taking 22 rebounds. A half dozen players scored in double figures to bail this one out for Boston by three points, but the Celtics are accustomed to winning with Big Bill Russell, not despite him.

The core of the Celtics has been Russell, Tom Heinsohn and Bob Cousy. Heinsohn has been handicapped by double vision, a bad leg and his stomach going back on him.

Cousy readily admits having difficulty getting himself up to maximum effort. Intimates say the inimitable ball-handler, who at 34 has been a professional for a dozen years, is weary of all night time with his family, is eagerly looking forward to coaching Boston College next season.

Meanwhile the Lakers, starring the magnificent Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, not to mention Rudy LaRusso, Selvy and the rest, added 6-10 Gene Wiley, who to date has been the most effective freshman defending center since Russell came out of the Olympic Games in 1956.

In addition to all their ability and competitive fire, the Lakers have been on the shorter rations for some time and have ravenous appetites. Yes, this could be the end of the line for the Celtics.

Windbreak Trees Now Available

The Gray County Soil Conservation District has Ponderosa Pine trees available for farmstead and feedlot windbreaks. They can be purchased at Bruce Nursery, north of Alanreed, for $1 each. These trees were shipped to Bruce Nursery from the Texas Forest Service in February of 1962. They were cared for by Bruce Nursery during 1962 and will be potted for sale this year. Recommended planting time for Evergreen trees in February through April.

Farmstead and feedlot windbreaks provide a great deal of protection to farm homes and livestock. Experiments have proven that windbreaks reduce fuel costs for homes, and windbreak shelters will also increase gains in livestock.

If you are interested in windbreak trees, contact the Soil Conservation Service Office, east of Pampa, or Bruce Nursery.

Airman Don Elliott Of McLean Assigned Reese Air Force Base

McLEAN (Spl) — Airman Don A. Elliott, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Kiser of McLean and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elliott of Lefors, has been assigned to Reese Air Force Base near Lubbock, after completing training at Brooks AFB, Texas.

Elliott graduated Dec. 18 from the physiological training specialist course at the U. S. Air Force School of Aerospace Medicine at Brooks.

At Reese AFB he will be assigned to the 3500th Pilot Training Wing.

Elliott completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base in early August, and then attended the medical training school at Greenville AFB, Miss., graduating with the 3505th Technical Training Group on Oct. 23.

Airman Elliott visited with his parents and grandparents during the holidays.

PATTY SUE WHITE
Best Pledge
Escorted By Jim Brumley

Tommie Dodd, Beth Dunn and Avril Doucetta

The Annual Las Cresas Club Presentation Ball was held Dec. 26 in the Starlight room of the Coronado Inn. Pledges and their escorts were presented beneath an archway of Christmas greenery and appropriate background music was presented by "The Swing Kings" of Pampa High School. LITTLE LIZ

If you send a boy to do a man's job, you'll no doubt have trouble the union.

Miss Patty Sue White Named Las Cresas Club's Best Pledge

"Once Upon A Dream" was the theme of the annual Las Cresas Club Presentation Ball held on Wednesday, Dec. 26 in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. Pledges were presented beneath an archway of Christmas greenery, and escorted down a gold carpeted aisle to the stage which was enlivened with clouds of red net. The "Swing Kings," directed by Fred Stockdale, played soft background music as each girl was presented. Each pledge received a single long stemmed red rose from her escort.

Miss Maria Luisa Prieto of Madrid, Spain, an American Field Service-exchange student whose American parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Morgan, 1838 Evergreen, was made an honorary member of Las Cresas. Miss Prieto, who was escorted by Jon Pitts, wore a gown of ruffled white net over taffeta, accented with red rosebuds. A large white bow with streamers provided back interest for the gown. She was introduced with this verse:

Luisa came from a foreign land,
Just to join our Las Cresas band.

And has led boys a merry chase.
Miss Patty Sue White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. White, 2101 N. Nelson, was named Best Pledge of the 1962 rush season. Miss Carol Peeples, Best Pledge of 1961, presented Miss White with the traditional crown and bouquet of red roses. The honor was accorded Miss White because of her cheerful attitude and effort during the pledge season. Miss White's gown was fashioned of mint green organza over net and taffeta. Satin bows complemented the skirt and bodice of the gown. She was escorted by Jim Brumley and introduced with this verse:

Tonight her eyes sparkle,
To-night her eyes shine,
For this is her night to remember many times.

She is very clever and like candy just right,
Of course you have guessed, this is Patty White.

Miss Sandra Kay Baird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baird, 2118 Beech, was escorted by Ronald Woodard. She wore a gown fashioned of blue taffeta and net encircled with a deep floor length hemline ruffle. She was presented with this poem:

Friendly and happy, yes that's our Sandy,
And everyone who knows her admits that she's dandy.
With a big loving heart, she's a real joy to know,
Her manners and tact are all

Highland WMU Has Meeting

A Royal Service Program was given by the Highland Baptist WMU on Wednesday Jan. 2. Mrs. Joe W. Allison gave the opening prayer. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Joe Bob Hudson, vice-president and Mrs. Morris Belote was the program leader and accompanist. The prayer calendar was read by Mrs. Allison and prayer was given by Mrs. Junior Ellis. Members appearing on the program were Mmes. D. W. Tracy, Leroy Allen, Joe Bob Hudson, Maysel Butler, Joe Allison, Tom Stewart, Tommie Rhoten, R. E. Stroud and John Dawes. Mrs. George Moore gave the closing prayer. Refreshments of coffee, punch and cookies were served after the meeting by the Edith Crane Circle.

ways just so.
Miss Carmen Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Butler, 608 Red Deer, was escorted by Richard Klutz. She wore a white floor length formal of brocade and satin chiffon which was accented by a yellow velvet bow. She was introduced with:

In Carmen we found a priceless treasure,
Just to be around her is always a pleasure.
Surely her smile is as radiant as the sun,

And all of this beauty is wrapped up in this small one.
Miss Joye Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Collins, southeast of the City, was escorted by Ronald Browning. She wore a full length white lace gown with a scalloped bodice. Pink flowers complemented the gown. She was introduced with:

Usually quiet, very pretty and coy,
Naturally this girl has to be our Joye.

With intriguing dark features and alluring ways,
She shines brightly like the sun's golden rays.

Miss Tommie Dodd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Dodd, 2123 Williston, was escorted by Ronald Klein. She wore a white gown with ruffles extending to the floor. She was introduced with:

Cheerful and pretty and always polite,
With a personality that's as bright as daylight.

Because she's so sincere and really great,
We know she'd make any boy a good date.

Miss Avril Doucette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Doucette, 2424 Mary Ellen, escorted by Tommy Seals, wore a floor length formal of blue-chiffon and taffeta complemented with pink roses. She was presented with:

Sparked with ideas and filled with dreams,
Just look at Avril, and see how she beams.

Although she is small, she is sure to go far,
Because her talents are hitched to a star.

Miss Beth Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dunn, 1124 S. Wells, was escorted by Neal McCatheren. She wore a floor length gown of parakeet blue velvet complemented with tiny seed pearls on the bodice and along the scalloped bell skirt. Miss Dunn was introduced with:

Beth's bubbling cheerfulness simply overflows,
And her winning smile—my, how it glows.

She's a bit bashful and very sweet,
A wonderful treat to all those she meets.

Miss Kaye Forkel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Forkel, 1835 Grape, was escorted by James Williamson. Miss Forkel's gown was fashioned of pale blue shirred chiffon over taffeta, ending in a deep floor length ruffle. She was introduced with:

Enchanting as a melody with a gracious air,
She has sparkling blue eyes and pretty red hair.

Always willing to help, in her own gentle way,
By now you have met our dear Kaye.

Miss Cheryl Forman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Forman, 510 N. Nelson, escorted by James Webb, wore a floor length gown of pale blue net accented with a blue satin cummerbund. She was introduced with:

Cheryl is gracious and sweet for all to behold,

And a loving heart to match that's good as gold.
She is pretty as a picture and a joy to all.

Naturally she's the belle of the ball.
Miss Pat Lambright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Lambright, 704 E. Murphy, escorted by Doug Scaggs, wore a floor length gown fashioned of pink and rose organza over taffeta. She was introduced with this poem:

Many a boy has come under her bewitching spell,
And everything she undertakes she does well.

Her wonderful way glows like the moonlight,
Now you've met Miss Pat Lambright.

Miss Beverly Langley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Lanley, 622 Sloan, was escorted by Gary Epperson. She wore a white satin coverlet accented with tiny seed pearls over a skirt of net ruffles extending to the floor. She was introduced:

Beverly is exquisitely charming and so grand,
Yes, with the boys she's much in demand.

Her friendship is valued because it runs true,
Her genuine smile won't let you be blue.

Miss Kathleen St. Clair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne St. Clair, 908 N. Somerville, was escorted by Carl Clark. She wore a floor length gown of pink lace accented with a satin cummerbund which formed a large bow in back. She was introduced:

Kathleen is a portrait of feminine poise,
She's the queen to many of the boys.

Her way is always sunny and bright,
And her charm is to everyone, a pure delight.

Following the presentation, music for dancing was provided by the "Swing Kings" of Pampa High School.

After the dance, a party was given in the home of Miss Brenda Waller for all members and their escorts.

Molly Pitcher took her husband's place in the Battle of Monmouth in 1781, as he lay dying beside his cannon.

Dear Abby.... "Square" Standards Important!!!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this on my 17th birthday. My date just brought me home in a huff, telling me how "immature" I am because I wouldn't make out with him. This was our first date and I thought a lot of him. I have the reputation for being cold, stuck-up and even square. But I won't lower my standards just to get dates. I have no trouble getting the first date, but when I don't make out right away they don't call me again. Am I wrong? Maybe I am immature.

SEVENTEEN AND SAD DEAR SEVENTEEN: You are mature—the boys are immature! Keep your standards high, honey. You might be sad at the moment, but you'll be happier in the long run. And mature young men still appreciate quality.

DEAR ABBY: For six years I went with a girl we will call DOLL. I wanted to marry her but she kept putting me off. I had been drinking all this time but with the help of the Lord I quit drinking. I started going with another girl we will call BABY. She loves me and I love her, but not like DOLL. In the meantime, DOLL got herself a new boy friend who drinks more than I did. She keeps saying she is going to break up with him and go back with me but she is sure taking her sweet time. I told DOLL I would give her 30 days to make up her mind and if she didn't marry me I'd marry BABY. Is 30 days long enough?

JERRY DEAR JERRY: A man who would just as soon marry one girl as another is not ready for marriage. There are lots of DOLLS and BABYS around. Stay single until you are sure which one you want. You might run into a SWEETIE.

DEAR ABBY: When we eat out my husband gobbles down his food and starts in on the person's plate nearest to him. This is very embarrassing to me. We frequently entertain in restaurants. Most always it is my plate he eats off of. But he thinks nothing of putting his fork into someone else's food if he sees something they haven't gotten around to eating yet. My husband is usually the host, but it embarrasses me to death. How can I get him to stop it without making him feel like a little boy?

RED-FACED DEAR RED-FACED: A man who behaves like a little boy has to be handled like one occasionally. Get him alone and TELL him how childish his ill-mannered habit makes him appear. There's no reason to sit in red-faced silence over a matter so easily remedied as this.

DEAR ABBY: Can any of your Italian readers help me? I went to an Italian movie and the word "chow" was used quite a bit at the end of telephone conversations and when people were departing from each other. Several Italian girls have told me it meant "goodbye," but one of my Italian co-workers said it was a low-brow slang expression which was not considered "nice" in Italian. Just what does "chow" mean? And is it Italian?

BOSTON BELLE DEAR BELLE: "Chow" is the familiar "good-bye" in Italian. And although it is a slang expression it is used by Italians—high-born and low!

Golden Wedding Anniversary Reception Honors Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stewart, of 313 North Christy, were honored Dec. 27, with a reception from 2 until 6 p.m. in the Club Room of the Citizens National Bank, in honor of their 50th Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were married Dec. 25, 1912, sitting in a buggy in front of Beulah Baptist Church in Choctaw County, near Weir, Miss., by a Presbyterian minister. They lived in Mississippi until 1916, when they moved to Brice Community, south of Clarendon. Stewart farmed for 40 years in the Clarendon area. In 1945 the Stewarts moved to Pampa where he was employed by the Air Force fire department. Following the war and deactivation of the Pampa Air Force Base, Stewart, was employed by the Danciger Oil Corporation and worked there until his retirement in 1955. Six children, four boys and two girls, were born to this union, all of whom were present at the reception. The children are Ralph W. Stewart, principal of the Sudan, Tex., high school; Joseph R., who has been in the Air Force over 20 years and who is a Master Sergeant at Lackland Air Force Base; William Lamar, who is a foreman for Southern California Edison Company, Delano, Calif.; Hugh A., who teaches school at Sunray; Mrs. Johnnie Farlin, who is employed by the Gathright Hotel in Amarillo; and Peggy B., who is an anesthetist at the Worley Hospital here.

In addition to the children, ten grandchildren and the two great-grandchildren were present as well as friends and relatives in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were presented gold matching wedding bands by the children and received many gifts and cards from relatives, friends and well wishers from Tennesse to California.

Comfy Tip

One way to pep up a plain fabric coat for winter is to have the collar removed. Then tuck a light fur ascot in at the neckline.

MISS VIRGINIA MARLINE TAYLOR

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Taylor, 1142 S. Dwight, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Virginia Marline, to Harold E. Nolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Nolan, Wilborn, Tex. The wedding is planned for Jan. 26 in The First Assembly of God Church.

Take It From Kathy

Dear Kathy: I'm 14, and taller than most girls my age. Since every girl I know has a boy friend, my only chance is to go with a boy who is about 16 or 17. I know other girls that do who are all nice kids.

How do I explain to my mother that it is not a disgrace to go to a party or show with a boy who is a little older than myself? —Overprotected

Dear Overprotected: Take another look at the boys who are 14 or 15. They may not be your size, but they are just about your speed. Height is no indication of mental age. Their interests should be on a par with yours, and during the next year or two they'll catch and pass you in height. Your problem is temporary.

At 25, you wouldn't be criticized for marrying a man 10 years older or more, but for the average girl of 14, a three-year age difference is very great. Your parents aren't too protective. I think they have the right idea.

The Mature Parent Hunger For Appreciation With Tongue Zipped

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: A woman who knows who reads your column might listen to what you say about the danger of belittling her 11-year-old boy the way she does. She will drag out all his faults before company, actually smiling at the terrified look on his face. If you could open her eyes to how this disparagement can destroy her boy's life...

ANSWER: AND HER OWN, HER OWN, HER OWN.

What do you think this woman's up to by draining this child of self-respect? She's giving her own dying self-respect a transfusion. When she humiliates him before others, she is naming to the unhearing, unresponding world, "See how lazy Johnny is about doing what he's told? But I am good, accommodating and always do what I am told. Admire me, admire me, admire me..."

I don't know why she is in such despair. Living with a husband or other relative who treats us with contempt can begin to make us feel contemptible. But it is always our childhoods that prepare us to attach ourselves to contemptuous people. Somehow Mother may have made us so ashamed of disappointing her that pleasing anyone becomes our means of avoiding any re-experience of the old dread of disappointing.

But we can't please everyone and as the number of displeased people in our lives accumulates, horror of our displeasing self will overwhelm us. We will try to make it bearable by parading the faults of a child to anyone who'll listen. Our effort to show him up as displeasing, too, is only the faintest reflection of the active self-hate inside.

If you want to help this boy, you'd better find some way to release his mother's hunger for human understanding.

You may be able to do it by giving her some appreciation. Any hint that you find her something other than cruel and contemptible may release the flood of her hunger for more appreciation.

It is at this point you can suggest she seek the better understanding of a professional psychiatrist.

People sunk in misery don't always know they need professional help until they receive some non-professional understanding. They can no more imagine receiving the kind of deep appreciation a good psychiatrist delivers than an arctic Eskimo can imagine the taste of a mango.

Coffee Break....

YOU'VE HEARD OF mike-fright or stage fright? Well, we're discovering another occupational disease today called "press-fright" as this new column is launched. Dauntlessly, though, we dash a vial of printers' ink against the sides of the monster back-shop press, and christen this column "Coffee Break" with a wish for many successful voyages and a welcome into your home.

AT THE OUTSET, we must impress that we do not wish to fill "Peg o' Pampa's" pretty party slippers. That's an impossibility, anyway, for they have been cast in bronze and are now being used as book-ends.

THIS COLUMN is designed to bring its readers personalized information on a variety of subjects that go to make up a "woman's world." We plan to chat with hostesses about their parties and houseguests; keep in touch with women's clubs about their special projects and acclaim those who deserve a little more of the spotlight than ordinarily is handled by publicity chairmen; impart fashion tips and home-making hints; write paragraph featurettes of interest; and now and then a whole column will be devoted to a personality or activity that seems to warrant it.

WE HOPE EACH Sunday morning, or as soon thereafter as you can make it, you will pull up a cup of coffee and join us in a "Coffee Break."

WE CAN'T THINK of a better way to launch a new column than to write about a gentleman, who, on Thursday of this week, will be celebrating his 100th birthday. And that young-in-heart gentleman is William Banks (Uncle Billy) Frost, who resides in a neat, white bungalow numbered 1105 Charles. Uncle Billy doesn't look a day over 75. He is impeccably dressed when he steps out to community affairs such as PTA family dinners, Chamber of Commerce functions of which he is an honorary member, to Senior Center in Lovett Memorial Library, where he is more often than not the "life of the party"; or going downtown every Wednesday to grocery-shop on Double Street. Perhaps, though, Uncle Billy's greatest charm is his interest in and concern for other people.

All of which, belie the 100 years that will be credited to him on the calendar-of-time January 10.

If Uncle Billy has evolved any philosophy for longevity down through the years, it might be found in his statement, "Laughter is one of the finest things in the world. When you try to make other people happy, you will be happy yourself. If we didn't laugh once in a while, we would be in an awful shape." Sagely, he adds, "Try hard to be happy and wise and not so hard to be wealthy."

One hundred years ago on January 10, 1863, in a town named Tynesty, located on the banks of the Allegheny River in Pennsylvania, Mary Frances and Avery Frost welcomed the first of their seven sons, William Banks. From that day to this, the intervening years of Uncle Billy's life have been concerned with work in the oil-fields of Pennsylvania and Texas; a marriage to Effie Jane and the subsequent arrival of two sons and two daughters; the passing of his parents, his wife in 1949, five of his brothers and three of his children.

Uncle Billy came to Pampa in 1929 and, until his retirement in September, 1940, was employed by Dunning Brothers, oil and gas producers.

Cooking, keeping house and attending Senior Center are the activities which keep Uncle Billy the busiest... that is, when his wooden leg will permit him. The "wooden leg" business is all a big joke; that's what he calls his cane, which he uses only when his trick knee goes out on him.

Now and then, he accepts the help of friends with vacuuming and dusting but most of the time he takes care of things himself and boasts he can "get up the biggest meal in the world without cooking a thing!" Often included in his menu are his favorites, hot cakes and crisp bacon. And there are numerous "coffee breaks" in the Frost household.

During the summertime, Uncle Billy is a familiar figure in his neighborhood as he goes about yard chores dressed in "Roustabout" clothes pulling weeds, mowing the lawn or climbing a

MISS JAN KAREN PRICHARD

McLean (Sp) — Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Prichard of Shamrock announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jan Karen, to John S. Pagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miro Pagan of McLean. Nuptial vows will be exchanged on Saturday, Feb. 2, at 3:00 p.m. in the Trinity Lutheran Church of Shamrock. The bride and her fiance will complete degree requirements from West Texas State College this January. All friends and relatives of the couple are cordially invited to attend the ceremony.

Miss Jackson Attends Pi Omega Convention

CANADIAN (Sp) — Miss Judy Jackson, student at West Texas State College spent Christmas at home with her parents, the A. S. Jacksons, then left Thursday evening by San Francisco Chief for Chicago to be delegate of the Pi Omega Fraternity at the Annual Convention held at the Palmer House Dec. 27-29. Miss Jackson is president of the WTSC Chapter of the National Business Education organization.

She was accompanied by Miss Judy Williams of Floydada, also a student at West Texas, who is vice-president of the group and second delegate to the convention. The girls returned to Canadian Sunday morning, Miss Williams, continuing on to Amarillo and Miss Jackson remaining in Canadian until Wednesday when she resumed practice teaching at Tascosa High School. She will teach there until late January, when she will have completed all requirements for a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Education.

Young-Baker Ceremony In Canadian Church

CANADIAN (Spl.) — Miss Dora Ann Young and Morgan Baker were united in marriage in formal ceremonies held at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, Dec. 29 in the First Christian Church. The Rev. James D. Gitchell, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, read the double-ring service. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Henry Young of Canadian and the late M. Young. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Baker of Matador.

Pre-nuptial selections, "Because," "Indian Love Call" and "Wedding Prayer" were sung by a sextet composed of Carolyn Harrington, Dora Mae Hest, Karen Norris, Phyllis Sorenson, Mary Thomas and Ethel Miller. They were accompanied by Mrs. Danny Urschel who also played traditional wedding music and "I Love You Truly".

The ceremony was performed before an arch of white satin and greenery accented by baskets of white mums and red carnations and by candelabra with white candles.

The candlelighters were Roy McLain and Kenny Harrel.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Lee Young. She wore a formal gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice was styled with sleeves extended to the wrist points and a scalloped boat neckline emphasized with iridescent sequins. The skirt featured a bustle back with matching lace rosettes and extended hemline with sequin trim. Her finger-tip Chantilly lace veil fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white baby mums and stephanotis centered with red carnations.

Nancy Young attended her sister as maid of honor. Her gown was of red cotton-brocade and she wore matching accessories and a red carnation corsage.

D. W. Baker attended his brother as best man. Ushers were James Gitchell Jr., and Phil Ludwig.

The bride's mother was hostess at a reception given in the Fellowship Hall of the church immediately following the ceremony.

The bridal table was covered with an open cut-work cloth centered with a bowl of baby mums and red carnations flanked by milk-glass candle holders with white candles. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The cake was cut by Mrs. Lee White and Mrs. D. W. Baker presided at the punch bowl. Miss Loreta Frost registered the guests.

tered with a bowl of baby mums and red carnations flanked by milk-glass candle holders with white candles. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

For traveling, Mrs. Baker chose a three-piece wool suit with black accessories. She wore a corsage of red carnations. The young couple are making their home at 533 Naida in Pampa. Mrs. Baker is employed by the Citizens Bank and Trust Company and Baker is employed by the Jack Grace Drilling Company.

Stanton-Rowley Vows In Oregon Church

CANADIAN (Spl.) — Mrs. Ethel Hensley Stanton of Salem, Ore. and Alfred Rowley of Canadian were united in marriage Tuesday, Jan. 1 in Salem.

Wedding vows were exchanged in the home of the bride, a former Canadian resident. Attending the wedding were two of the bride's children, Virgil Stanton and Hazel Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rowley and daughter of Salem.

The couple will be making their home at 2538 Pringle Road, SE, Salem.

New Year's Meeting For Canadian Club

CANADIAN (Spl.) — A program on "Crafts of South America," was presented for the Women's Club at their meeting recently in the home of Mrs. Paul Bryant. Mrs. Oliver Waters spoke on "Weaving and the Guatemala Textiles" and showed several examples of the art. Mrs. H. M. Marks spoke on "Metal Craft" with pictorial illustrations.

A lesson on Spanish weather idioms was given by Mrs. A. S. Jackson and members answered roll call with these phrases:

A New Years Day refreshment plate of small cups of black-eyed peas, corn break sticks and whipped cream topped gingerbread was served with coffee and tea. Each guest was presented with a blue-bonnet needle and thimble holder by the hostess. She was assisted by Mrs. Vernon Flowers.

Present in addition to the hostesses were Mesdames Waters, Marks, Jackson, Morris Bennett, Erbin Crowell, Ben Ezzell, W. R. Hest, R. M. Hobdy, G. F. Hoover, John H. Jones, C. H. Lansdown, J. B. Lindley, E. H. Morris, G. E. Tubbs, Emery Vignal, John Waters, H. S. Wilbur and Hugh Wilson, and Miss Daisy Childers.

In today's supermarkets, if you don't see what you want you'd probably better see an eye specialist.

Theater Group Joins Council Of Clubs

The Pampa Council of Clubs met in the City Club Room at 9:30 a.m. Thursday with Mrs. Frank Shotwell, president, presiding. Roll call was answered with 20 present.

Mrs. Shotwell welcomed, "The Pampa Little Theater," into the group. Mrs. Raymond Harrah, representative for, "The Little Theater" group, told Mrs. Shotwell, "she hoped they would be able to make a small contribution to the club."

Mrs. G. H. Anderson, house chairman, announced the material for drapes had been received and were being made. Mrs. R. A. Mack, chairman of the Mothers March of Dimes, told of the coming plans for the March, to be held Jan. 21. She asked each club representative to take information back to their respective club and that many workers are needed during this campaign.

Those present were: Mmes. Effie Kreineyer, Mina Benhan, Lee Harrah, Joe Weaver, L. K. Stout, Cordie McBride, Sam Irwin, R. A. Mack, Raymond Harrah, F. W. Shotwell, R. W. Stowers, H. E. Master Gland Is Key to Health

Medical science may have discovered why some people easily throw off almost every infection while others fall victim to one germ after another. Dr. Robert A. Good, research professor of pediatrics at the University of Minnesota, working with March of Dimes financial support, has found that the thymus gland, located behind the breast bone in humans, apparently determines a person's immunity to disease. Now marking its 25th anniversary, The National Foundation-March of Dimes nationwide program is dedicated to aiding victims of crippling birth defects, arthritis and polio through the best in scientific research and medical care.

California Methodist Church Wedding Joins Mary Spencer, Larry Pinson

CANADIAN (Sp) — The Orangehorpe Methodist Church of Fullerton, Calif. was the scene Dec. 14 of the wedding of Miss Mary Suann Spencer and Larry Hugh Pinson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Spencer, 1823 North Highland, Fullerton and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Pinson of Canadian.

The Rev. Elwood Weissman, pastor of the church, performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar flanked by baskets of white stock and candelabra. Pre-nuptial organ selections, "O Perfect Love" and "My Love to Thee" were played by the organist, Mrs. Haney. At the close of the ceremony Helen Larkowski sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was attired in a street-length gown of white satin, brocade styled with a fitted jacket and bell-shaped skirt. She carried a cascade of white carnations, white ribbons and net centered with a purple-throated orchid.

The bride's sister, Miss Mary Kathleen Spencer, was her maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a dress of Christmas-red peau de soie styled with a bell-shaped skirt and a picture hat of matching net and peau de soie. She carried a cascade of white gardenias.

Kenneth Shanks of Buena Park, Calif., attended the bridegroom as best man.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a bridal dinner in their home. The Hawaiian dinner featured chicken aloha, bridal dish of Hawaii, and a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

For the wedding trip to Lake Arrowhead, the bride chose a blue knit suit. The young couple is at home at 2104 Banyon Court, Anaheim, Calif.

Mrs. Pinson is a graduate of

Yarnold-Stock Ceremony Read In Canadian Methodist Church

CANADIAN (Sp) — Miss Judy Annette Yarnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Yarnold and L. V. Eugene Stock of Perryton were married Saturday, Dec. 29 at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the First Methodist Church. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Louie Stock and the late Mr. Stock of Texhoma.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lee Crouch before the background of baskets of gladioli and greenery. The ring bearer was Steve Schafer, nephew of the bride.

A trio composed of Misses Karen Norris, Phyllis Sorenson and Carolyn Harrington, sang "Because" and the "Wedding Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Danny Urchel.

The couple was attended by Miss Deanna Hanna of Flatonia, as maid of honor, and Claude Harland as best man. Jerald Rutz and Keith Yarnold, brother of the bride, were ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal peau de soie bridal gown with fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and scalloped neckline. Lace accented the bodice and long flowing skirt. Her veil of French illusion fell from a satin and pearl pillbox. She carried a white Bible crested with white roses and centered with a white orchid and satin streamers.

Her maid of honor wore a red dress with a white sash and a white veil.

Mrs. King honored at afternoon tea. CANADIAN (Sp) — Mrs. Jack King was hostess at a tea honoring Mrs. Bill King of Lubbock Saturday afternoon from three to five.

Miss Karol King greeted guests at the door. Miss Preston Huston registered the guests who were then greeted by the hostess and honoree.

Mrs. Herschel Fielder of Amarillo presided at the silver service and Mrs. Gober Mitchell served the white cake. The serving table was laid with a white cloth with broad woven silver bands. Centering the table was a silver epergne arranged with a fountain-like effect of white carnations, white mums and clear plastic cascades. Silver candelabra with white candles flanked the centerpiece.

The honoree wore a corsage of white carnations with silver leaves and tiny blue wedding bells. Members of the houseparty wore white carnation corsages.

Mrs. Paul Bryant and Mrs. Harry King, grandmothers of Mr. Bill King and Miss Judy Brock and Miss Kay Abraham were other members of the house party. Mrs. Elmo Wheeler also assisted the hostess.

MRS. EUGENE STOCK nee Judy Yarnold

For traveling the bride wore a red two-piece wool suit with black accessories and white orchid corsage. After a wedding trip to South Texas the young people will be at home in Perryton.

Mrs. Stock is a graduate of Canadian High School and attended Draughon's Business College and Texas Women's University at Denton. Stock, a graduate of Texhoma High School, is employed at Voiles Ford Company at Perryton.

He Took Ernie Kovac's Advice... Don't Do What They Expected!

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The big secret to putting together a good television musical show was given to me 12 years ago when I joined forces with a very great, very talented, and most of all, a very warm human being, Ernie Kovacs.

He said, "Barry, when they expect you to turn right — fool 'em, turn left. Always do what you feel is right, not what is expected."

Recently, on one of the Edie Adams musical specials for ABC-TV, this one taped in London, I had cause to use this piece of advice.

Our finale began with Edie and a group of English children singing in Trafalgar Square. Suddenly they see in the distance the 70 Grenadier Guards on parade.

As a contrast, we used the Third Air Force Band playing a jazz counterpoint to the formal English bandsmen.

There was no need to have Edie participate just because every "star" of a musical show is supposed to sing the last notes before the curtain comes down.

Uses Stars Individually. This approach was especially used on a program I did last summer for NBC-TV, "The Lively Ones."

Each one in his (or her) own right is a jewel. Why mix pearls, diamonds and emeralds when each one can stand alone in its own brilliance?

Directors Face Time Pressure On Television. By TED POST. Written For UPI. HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — During the 12 years that I've been directing shows for television I've come to acquire a set of enormously fast physical reflexes.

Take, for example, my response while watching the television set from a comfortable position on the living room couch.

This seemingly violent manifestation is not quite as abnormal as it sounds. In fact, it most often occurs when one of my own shows is on the tube.

What Director Faces. A classic example of what the director must face usually goes something like this:

The script arrives by a studio messenger who's breathing heavily (first sign of trouble). Upon first reading, the plot and the characters appear to have been developed by the messenger himself.

MAN OR WOMAN To Service. PART TIME TOY ROUTE. Very Small Starting Capital. GOOD INCOME.

REQUIRES ONLY FEW HOURS EACH WEEK. This is not a job but a chance to get something you may have always wanted.

NOT A GET-RICH-QUICK SCHEME. If you have a desire to better yourself, if sober, honest, really sincere, you can succeed.

Tony Curtis' Movie Career Has Gone To The Dogs (Poodle, That Is)

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Tony Curtis' movie career has gone to the dogs and he's the first to admit it.

Curtis has appeared opposite glamorous actresses and with top stars, but for his next picture he needs a French poodle.

'Go Away Little Girl' Is No. One. CHICAGO (UPI) — "Go Away Little Girl" by Steve Lawrence jumped from number two spot to first place in UPI's top 20 tunes.

Benny Came Perilously Close To Making Motion Picture Comeback

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jack Benny came perilously close to making a motion picture comeback recently, which would have fitted the need for a violin-playing comedian—assuming there is such a void.

As a performer, Benny's popularity was first attained on radio, nurtured by a movie career which now appears in the dim past and cemented in television where he ranks with the best.

Benny almost returned to feature films recently in the multi-million dollar comedy "It's A Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World."

Benny is one of the first in Hollywood to joke about his own movies, especially his somewhat less than epic picture "The Horn Blows at Midnight."

been considered an industry classic. But Benny made other films, some of which earned money.

"Nearly all of my pictures made money," Benny said. "Out of 20 pictures I made, about 15 of them were good ones. Some that looked good then might not look so good now, though."

Benny has only four more CBS-TV shows to complete for the 1962-63 season, then it's off to New York for a Broadway show, his first in more than 30 years.

ACROSS THE WIDE CANADIAN — Workmen are shown here as they were constructing the helium pipeline across the Canadian River, north of Amarillo. The Department of the Interior has recently established a storage field for helium near Amarillo in the Cliffs Field. The pipeline carries over four million cubic feet of helium per day to the storage facilities from the originating points in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Helium's History Is Marked By Increasing Usefulness To Man

On October 10, 1962, the government dedicated a program for the conservation of helium in Amarillo — 93 million miles from where this amazing element first was discovered, 94 years ago.

In 1868 a young English scientist, Joseph Lockyer, was observing the sun with his newly invented spectroscopy—a device for identifying elements by their distinctive spectrum colors. Lockyer was studying the composition of solar prominences, the huge tongues of flaming gas that erupt from the sun's surface.

Sighting through his invention, the Englishman had already identified many of the elements known to science. Then, on November 15, he recorded a spectrum band never seen before. Claiming the time-honored right of the discoverer, he named his new element "helium" after the Greek "helios" for sun.

The name was seemingly suitable enough, for helium was not known to exist on the earth. Later on, Hillebrand, an American geologist, found this second-lightest of all the elements here — only to mistake it for nitrogen. Not until 1895 was the new gas finally identified on this planet, separated by an Englishman named Ramsay from a gas sample he had extracted from a uranium mineral.

In 1905 helium moved a step closer to its destiny when it was found in natural gas by Cady and McFarland of the University of Kansas. Virtually all the helium produced since then in the United States has come from gas fields in Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Then came World War I, and the first general recognition of helium's valuable properties. Military men wanted a safe lifting gas to substitute for flammable hydrogen in balloons and dirigibles, and they learned that helium, almost as light as hydrogen, was as inert as well — it will not burn or combine with other elements in any way. By the time the Armistice was signed, the Bureau of Mines had extracted 200,000 cubic feet of helium from natural gas.

World War II also saw helium used as a lifting gas, in the blimps that protected our ships from enemy submarines. Not a single ship guarded by this blimp patrol was ever lost. But between the wars, other uses for the gas had developed, and the Bureau of Mines producer of nearly all the helium consumed in the Free World after 1925, has been faced with a rising demand ever since.

One of the first new applications was in medicine, where lightweight helium is mixed with oxygen to make that element easier for asthma patients to breathe. Then doctors found that helium could be mixed with flammable anesthetics to help prevent operating-room explosions. The inert quality of helium makes it useful in welding, too, where it is used to surround the weld and keep oxygen from combining with the hot metals. Use of helium in welding became popular shortly after World War II, and has been booming ever since.

Other uses for helium depend on the fact that it flows with great ease, even through tiny holes. As a leak detector this gas is in demand by makers of refrigerators, air conditioners, and even atomic reactors, where a leak can mean the release of dangerous radioactivity. An excellent conductor of heat, helium is also used in nuclear reactors as a heat exchange medium — it transfers heat energy from the atomic fuel to the steam that drives a turbine.

Ability to flow and inertness make helium especially suitable in a quality control procedure called gas chromatography. To check the composition of products from wine to candy mints, a substance is gasified and forced down a glass tube which is tightly packed with many layers of small granules. Each layer removes a specific compound from the gas and changes color, showing clearly what the gas was made of. Helium is mixed with such gases to carry them through the tube more readily; it never joins chemically with the granules.

There is much nitrogen in the atmosphere and under pressure — when air is pumped to deep-sea divers, for instance — it dissolves in the human blood stream, where it can form deadly bubbles and cause "the bends." But helium will not dissolve in the blood, and helium-oxygen mixtures are widely used today in many fields where workmen must breathe pressurized air.

At the other extreme, the aerospace industry is a large consumer of helium, which is being used to pressurize safely the emptying fuel tanks of our rockets as they climb into the sky. Back on the ground, liquid helium, the coldest substance known, is being employed to lower the temperatures in a vacuum chamber that simulates conditions in outer space.

The new field of cryogenics — low-temperature research — relies greatly on liquid helium, which enables scientists to attain temperatures within a degree of absolute zero — the point at which all molecular motion theoretically stops. At these temperatures the properties of substances change; some metals, for instance, conduct electricity so well that, in theory at least, a current could be made to flow forever, once it had been started.

Such super-cooled metals are used today to reduce random static in the equipment that receives signals from Telstar, our communications satellite. Someday we may communicate through space with a maser — a device that uses liquid helium to help produce a narrow, intense beam of radio waves. There is even speculation that a maser could be developed into the "death ray" used with devastating results by science fiction writers.

In the foreseeable future this helium-induced superconductivity may allow us to build computers the size of shoeboxes or lightweight electromagnets powerful enough to protect spaceships from deadly cosmic radiation — or even new propulsion systems for interplanetary craft. The use of helium by science has only begun, and no one can predict as yet the new developments that could utilize this versatile element.

Nearly all the helium in the Free World comes from natural gas pumped out of wells located within 250 miles of Amarillo, Texas. Unless the helium is removed from this fuel it is lost when the gas is burned, and the Bureau of Mines has calculated that if this waste goes unchecked, the United States will begin to feel a helium shortage by 1980.

Steps have been taken, therefore, to save this precious resource. Under long-term agreements with the federal government, four gas companies are building five plants to extract helium from their product. A recently completed government pipeline will carry this helium to the government-owned Cliffs gas field, near Amarillo, where it will be stored until needed.

The dedication of this conservation program marked the end of one chapter in the history of helium, and the beginning of another.

Engineers Set Election Of Officers

New officers for the Panhandle Section Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME will be elected at a dinner meeting of the group to be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Coronado Inn.

Reservations for the dinner and business meeting may be made with Paul Bennett, Vinson Supply Co., Amarillo, EV3-2276; with Ray E. Wilson, Schlumberger Well Survey Corp., Pampa, MO5-5792 or with James C. Hamilton, J. M. Huber Corp., Borger, BR4-1331.

The Petroleum Engineers' Wives Society of the Pampa and Borger area will entertain with a Bridge-Luncheon Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. in the Coronado Inn. Reservations for the luncheon may be made with Mrs. Bill Thienes or Mrs. Coe Roberts.

Bond Sets Address To Engineers

D. W. Bond Jr., Director of Personnel for Cabot Corp., will address the monthly meeting of the Panhandle Chapter, Texas Society of Professional Engineers, Monday night at 6:30 in the Coronado Inn, Pampa.

Bond will speak on "The Cabot Corporation Operations." Bond joined Cabot in 1950 as Plant Engineer at Ville Platte, La. He subsequently became Superintendent of Manufacturing and Processing at that plant. In 1959 he was promoted to Labor Relations Specialist for Cabot.

Prior to becoming Director of Personnel, he was Assistant Industrial Relations Director. Bond is a graduate of LSU with a Bachelor's Degree in Chemical Engineering.

FLOODWATER RETARDING STRUCTURE — Shown here is a floodwater retarding structure on the Washita River Watershed on Sandstone Creek, near Cheyenne, Okla. The Watershed stretches from the Foss Reservoir in Oklahoma to Gray County in Texas. All along the Watershed are structures such as this, most now fully stocked and ready to fish. The structures also support wild life in the area. At the structure shown here, there was an approximate six inch rainfall above the site in a four-day period. Note the water being discharged out of the 24-inch drawdown structure. The Gray County Soil Conservation District has maps available of the dam locations on the Watershed, and the maps can be obtained free at the local SCD office in the Courthouse Annex, east of Pampa. Before hunting or fishing on the lakes, permission should be granted by the landowners where the lakes are located. The Watershed runs through Roberts, Hemphill and Wheeler Counties in Texas.

Arkansas had one doctor to every 350 persons in 1880. The red fox is a good swimmer, but avoids water unless pursued. Prairie dogs are really mammals.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy will impose a great strain on his Negro supporters and on Democratic left wingers in general if he bypasses civil rights action in the coming session of Congress.

There is some evidence that he intends to do just that. He bypassed or, more accurately, killed civil rights legislation in the 87th Congress. Kennedy's congressional agents who drafted civil rights legislation for the first Kennedy Congress were dismayed to discover that the President would not press for action.

This, of course, was a political decision and a sound one. The President preferred to avoid the Senate filibuster that would have arisen around any administration civil rights proposal in 1961-62. He was aware that such an angry Senate engagement would have imperiled his entire legislative program.

House Gets Priority
It was assumed that he would make good his campaign pledges to the Negroes in the second Kennedy Congress which begins next Wednesday. But the President appears to be more concerned with general legislative problems in the House of Representatives than with the filibuster matter in the Senate.

All of the Kennedy administration's pressure and prestige is being brought to bear right now to curb the power of the House Rules Committee to block administration legislation. The issue is whether the Rules Committee shall consist of three additional members to bring its number to 15 or shall revert to 12 members as it was prior to the first Kennedy Congress.

The three additional members would be relatively friendly to the administration and by their votes would compel the Rules Committee to reach the House floor for a vote. That, anyway, is how the script reads.

Kennedy had his estimate of the importance of the House Rules controversy last month when he said: "I hope the Rules Committee is kept to its present number (15), because we can't function if it isn't. We are through if we lose."

Filibuster Rule
That is an extravagant statement but it is what the man said. Meantime, interested senators and others are trying to get Kennedy support for a similar all-out effort to modify Senate Rule 22 governing filibusters.

It is argued that Rule 22 must be changed if the administration is to obtain civil rights legislation from the new Congress. The President is dragging his heels on that. He is too good a politician not to be aware of the implication of his reluctance to push for a Senate rule change. The implication is that there is general legislation more important than civil rights to the Kennedy administration, a tax cut, for instance.

An angry Senate battle over civil rights would impede the Kennedy legislative program in the new Congress just as it would have in the old 87th. Negro leaders have been patient. It is likely that the President expects them to continue to be patient because of the spectacular non-legislative actions of the administration in behalf of civil rights—in Oxford, Miss., for example. The President apparently believes the route to civil rights is not through Congress but through the ballot box

—the Lyndon B. Johnson program.
