President Kennedy Offers His School Aid Bill To Congress

Won't Seek Re-Election Mayor Sidwell To Step Down

Mayor E. C. Sidwell announced today that he will not be a candidate for re-election in Pampa's April 2 municipal election.

When asked why he had decided not to run again, the mayor said, "Two years ago, after much consideration, I advised Mrs. Sidwell I would file that day as a candidate for mayor."

"She reluctantly consented to go along with the idea after I promised that I would seek only one 2-year term. I will therefore, not be a candidate in the next election for this office but, without reservation, I pledge my future interest and support toward building a greater Pampa."

"When I decided to run for mayor, it was with the feeling that it

Members Of CoC OK Amendments To Their Charter

Approval of several charter amendments and project reports by five committee chairmen highlighted the Pampa Chamber of Commerce monthly membership luncheon yesterday at Coronado Inn.

The new amendments eliminated the Board of City Development from the chamber's charter and increased its corporate life from 50 years to perpetual.

Legislative and National Affairs chairman, Roy Sparkman, said his committee plans to hold study groups on an "Action Course in Practical Politics." He also urged members to take part in the At-City meeting in Oklahoma City on March 1, where many national and legislative issues will be discussed.

Frank Culbertson, Industrial chairman, said, "We should weld together and take stock of what we now have. Perhaps, we can assist some industries that are already located here. Everyone can help in building a better industrial image for Pampa."

He said visitation meetings were being planned to call on all business firms in the city and ask for suggestions.

Ralph Thomas said that the Top O' Texas Junior Livestock show and the Hereford Breeders sale were two of the main functions of (See CHARTER, Page 3)

Appeal Is Made For Blood Donors

An urgent request for 25 pints of blood is being made for a Pampa resident, George Crossman, who is a John Deere Implement dealer here and brother of Paul Crossman.

Crossman underwent an emergency operation last week in a local hospital. Complications set in and it was necessary to fly Crossman to the Mercy Hospital in Oklahoma City.

Pampans willing to contribute the needed blood may contact Ott Shewmaker at MO 4-4333 or, after 5 p.m., MO 5-5582.

Voting will be city-wide in all four wards and the polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Thursday.

Britain's Common Market Chances Said 'All Gone'

BRUSSELS (UPI)—The United States expressed its anxiety today over France's opposition to Britain's entry into the European Common Market. But West German Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard said, "All hopes are gone."

Erhard's gloomy comment, made as he left a meeting this morning with Britain's chief negotiator, Lord Privy Seal Edward Heath, reflected the mood of the five common market nations who are trying to change France's

A Saving Of $4.5 Million

CLEMSON, S. C. (UPI) — There was a difference of more than $4.5 million to the federal government in the enrollment of Harvey Gantt at Clemson College and James Meredith at the University of Mississippi.

It cost the government nothing to get Gantt into Clemson Monday. Gantt and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People took care of the legal costs and the state footed the bills for around 100 officers assigned to protect Gantt. There was no trouble.

Federal costs involved in the admission of Meredith to Ole Miss Sept. 30 were more than $4.5 million and still are rising. The Army maintains a force of 300 men at Oxford, Miss., now at a cost of $4,500 a day. Meredith is expected to announce Wednesday whether he will return for the next semester.

Move To Abolish Poll Tax Is In Subcommittee

AUSTIN (UPI)—The first move in the 58th Legislature to abolish the poll tax in Texas and set up a permanent registration system reached the subcommittee state today with little dissent.

Abolition of the poll tax was supported by nearly every political element in the state during last year's elections, and most observers predict its death during this legislative session.

The House Committee on Privileges, Suffrage and Elections held its first public hearing on enabling legislation to set up a registration system last night. The bill would depend on voter approval of a constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax.

The committee also heard and sent to subcommittee a bill by Rep. Howard Green to move primary elections from May and June to the second Saturdays in August and September. Politicians complained last year that the primaries stretched the election year over too many months.

Little Opposition

Only opposition to the poll tax bill was voiced by Charles Huff of the Farm Bureau. Huff said his group favored retention of the poll tax and would not support any measure to set up a registration system.

In another night committee meeting last night, the House Committee on State Affairs heard

Present Spending Would Be Doubled

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today offered Congress an educational package that would double present federal school aid spending. He said it would give every American a chance to learn more, earn more and live better.

The President asked for a catchall school aid bill that would provide new assistance about equal to the $1.5 billion already being spent on education each year by the federal government.

The bill carried—with some notable concession—nearly every education request Kennedy has made since taking office two years ago. It also carried most of the controversy, including the bitter public-parochial school dispute, that killed off the entire Kennedy education program in the last Congress.

The legislation outlined in Kennedy's education message would help pay for new classrooms, laboratories, libraries and shops; provide higher pay and better training for teachers, and open new sources of funds for college students.

Unofficially, its total cost over three to four years would be about $5 billion.

Few Money Details

About $1.2 billion of the first year costs would be spent by the U. S. Office of Education. The remainder would be spent by the National Science Foundation and other federal agencies included in the comprehensive program submitted by the President.

Federal school officials refused to give more than first year costs, although Congress will insist that an over-all price tag be placed on the program.

It was learned that portions of the school plan originally would have run up to five years, carrying a cost figure of more than $6 billion. But the proposal was scaled-down late last week to three and four years, costing $5 billion. Presumably this was done to dampen criticism from Congress.

Makes Concessions

The program was tailored to meet some of the congressional objections that have dogged school aid proposals from both Democratic and Republican presidents.

Wintery Weather Is Back Again

Raw wintery weather returned in the Texas Panhandle today when an on-again, off-again, on-again cold front suddenly dipped southward.

But, weathermen promised the rest of winter-weary Texas that it need not fear the Arctic air would spread very deep into the state.

Temperatures plummeted 18 degrees in one hour at Amarillo and 14 degrees in the same span at Dalhart after daybreak this morning despite forecasts that the front—originally expected Monday night—had stalled or slowed down and would not arrive until tonight.

The temperature fell from 25 to 11 degrees at Dalhart after the front pushed through Dalhart and from 39 to 21 degrees at Amarillo.

The frontal system is moving eastward rather than southward, however, and the U. S. Weather Bureau said it expected its effects to be confined to an area north-west of a Wichita Falls-Midland line although some cooling might occur as far south as the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

The remainder of the state seemed in for no worse weather than cloudy skies, light moisture and a general warming trend from the bitter cold which still lingered from the third cold front in two weeks.

Nursing Care Home Group Sets Meeting Here Today

Moving swiftly to complete the 60-member campaign executive committee, a second organizational meeting was scheduled at 4 p.m. today at the Pampa Community Nursing Care Home campaign headquarters, 117 W. Kingsmill, according to Arthur M. Teed, president of the Top O' Texas Foundation.

Requirements for membership on the committee are two-fold:

1. Each member must agree to subscribe a minimum of $500.
2. Each member agrees to attend meetings as far as possible and help call on prospects to explain the nursing care home program and solicit funds in denominations of $500 or more.

The campaign goal is $500,000, which will provide the necessary equity funds for a 50-bed convalescent and nursing care home to be constructed on the 10-acre tract of land now owned by the Top O' Texas Foundation.

"After today's meeting we hope to have one-third of our membership completed," Teed said.

He added, "We have only one more meeting before next Tuesday night, when the public will hear about the plans from Rev. Don Davidson."

The group is expecting nearly 200 persons to attend the complimentary dinner meeting at the Coronado Inn at 6:30 p.m. next Tuesday.

Police Get K-9 Corps Equipment

Training equipment for the police dog to be added to Pampa's police force arrived yesterday afternoon.

Police Chief Jim Conner said the dog will be trained for several weeks in Amarillo before traveling stars for the dog and the patrolman who will work with it.

Patrolman C. L. Wallace has been assigned to train with the dog and work it on duty when the training is completed.

A chain link enclosure with kennel has been constructed at the home of Patrolman Wallace where the dog will be housed.

Equipment received by the police department includes training attack suit and cuff, choke chain, leashes, harness and collar.

Chief Conner said the dog, which will be a gift to the city from the Gunn Bros. Game Farm of Amarillo, will be trained by R. B. Wilberforce of Amarillo.

Pampans Enjoy Merrill's Show

By JOE WHITTEN

"Pandemonium" broke out last evening in the auditorium of Pampa Junior High School as Robert Merrill, accompanied by Eugene Bossart, began an evening of music with "Thanks Be to Thee" by Handel, and it continued until after the fifth encore to an appreciative audience.

The program was varied with selections from "Carmen," "La Traviata," and "Otello" as well as numbers by Mozart, Hahn, Giordani, and Ravel. The last group of selections was also well received as Merrill sang such songs as "A Little Song of Life." (See PAMPANS, Page 3)

Woof, Woof Here Oink, Oink There At City Pound

"Woof, woof!" was not the only sound coming from Pampa's dog pound today.

If you happened to be driving by, you possibly also would hear an "oink, oink" or two.

That's because Dog Warden Buster Collins has in captivity two small pigs which he found wandering in the 1000-block of S. Reid St.

Collins said he put them in the pound for safe-keeping.

So, if you are short two pigs, you can pick up the porkers on proper identification and a small fee for board and room. Police Chief Jim Conner said today.

ROBERT FROST
... America's unofficial poet laureate

Poet Robert Frost Is Taken By Death

BOSTON (UPI)—Robert Frost, America's unofficial poet laureate whose warmth and honesty bridged the gulf between nations torn by cold war hostilities, died early today at the age of 88.

Authorities at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital said the craggy, white-haired poet—a friend of President Kennedy and a "friendly rival" of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev—succumbed at 1:50 a.m. EST.

Frost's death, apparently caused by blood clots which entered his lungs, ended a seven-week battle against a series of critical complications which arose from major surgery to remove a blockage of the urinary tract last Dec. 10.

Up until then the elderly poet, winner of more Pulitzer Prizes than any other writer of verse had enjoyed relatively good health.

But shortly after the operation, he suffered a heart attack which left him near death. His recovery from the heart seizure was further complicated by a series of pulmonary embolisms, blood-clots

Be Sure To Report All Income To Uncle Sam

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A good way to get into hot water with the Internal Revenue Service is to omit from your return income you have received during 1962 in some form other than wages.

Few taxpayers are likely to overlook their wage income, since its amount is reported to them (and simultaneously to the government) by the employer's annual Form W-2. Your copy of this form has to be attached to your tax return.

But you also must report all of the income you received in the form of interest and dividends.

It should be noted that so-called "dividends" on savings & loan, or building & loan, deposits are actually interest, and should be reported accordingly. Interest is taxable even if it was merely credited to your account and you did not draw it out in cash. Also, interest on a loan you made to someone is taxable even if the principal was not repaid during the year.

Dividends Are Taxable
Dividends are taxable income, but come in for special treatment in two ways. The first $50 you receive in dividend payments is exempt from tax. And you may generally take a credit against your tax of 4 per cent of dividends above $50.

Suppose, for example, a taxpayer received $30 in dividends in 1962. He reports this on his return but does not include it in his taxable income because it is less than $50.

Another taxpayer received $85 in dividends on his stock. He reports that but pays tax only on $35. He may also take 4 per cent of the $35 ($1.40) as a credit against his tax.

In a joint return, a husband and wife may not combine their $50 exclusions. Each may take one exclusion separately. Suppose he received $70 of dividends and she received $20. He reports the $70, pays the tax on $20 and takes a tax credit of 80 cents (4 per cent of $20). Her $20 of dividends also is reported on the return. It is not taxable. Her unused allowance of $30 is not applicable to the husband's dividends.

Dividends on most life insurance policies are not considered income for tax purposes.
U.S. Savings Bonds—Holders of U.S. savings bonds need not report the interest that accrues each year. They may defer reporting this income until the bonds are cashed.

On Series E savings bonds the interest is the difference between the purchase price and the bond's cash value at the end of 1962.

A taxpayer also may elect to report the interest each year instead of waiting until he cashes his bonds and then having to report it all at once. If he chooses yearly reporting he must stick to it, even for bonds he acquires in the future. To change to deferred reporting he must first get permission from the revenue service.

Sick Pay—You may exclude up to $100 a week of sick pay under certain conditions.

If you were sick at home for more than seven consecutive days, the pay you received starting with the eighth day may be excluded from your income. You may deduct one-fifth of your weekly pay (but not more than $20) for each day missed if you are on a five-day week; one-sixth (but not more than $16.67) if you work a six-day week.

You may deduct sick pay starting with the first day if you are away from the job because of injury, no matter where suffered, or if your illness caused you to be a hospital patient for at least one day. Again, you may not deduct more than $100 a week.

If you claim the sick pay exclusion, attach Form 2440 to your return to support the claim. This form can be obtained at your nearest Internal Revenue Service office. Or you can write a detailed statement on a piece of paper, following the directions given in the tax instruction booklet.

Retirement Income—There are several special rules governing taxation of retirement income. If you received retirement income in 1962 and have any doubt about how to treat it on your tax return, consult your tax adviser or the Internal Revenue Service.

Retirement income which is not taxable and need not be reported includes Social Security payments, railroad retirement act pensions, veterans benefits, or payments for injury or sickness to military personnel disabled in active service. Whether other retirement income is taxable, and how much, depends on several things, especially whether you or your employer or both of you made contribution to the pension fund and whether taxes were paid on these amounts.

There also are provisions for special retirement income credits. These rules were somewhat liberalized last year and if you have been claiming such credits you should check on the new rules.

Persons 65 or older should remember that by virtue of their age they are entitled to two $600 exemptions, or a total of $1,200.

Regardless of your age, retirement income does not include money you are now earning by work.

Here are some other forms of income which should be reported, but are often overlooked:

Alimony, annuities, awards, back pay, bonuses, breach of contract damages, commissions, compensation for personal services, debts which have been "forgiven" or cancelled by the person to whom you owed the money, directors' fees, gains from sale of property, gambling winnings, hobby earnings, jury duty fees and prizes won in contests or lotteries.

Some of these forms of income come in for special treatment and involve complex regulations. If you have reportable income in these categories, consult the nearest Internal Revenue Service office, or obtain a copy of the service's handbook entitled "Your Federal Income Tax, 1962 Edition. For Individuals." This has complete details on how to handle special forms of income. It can be ordered for 40 cents from the Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C., or at your local internal revenue office.

Miss Felix is the second girl ever to win one of the Exchange-sponsored trips.

Mayor

The mayor pointed out that the years just ahead are going to bring many major problems that will need solutions. He said he felt that these will be problems not only for Pampa's public officials, but for the citizens of Pampa as well. "Good citizens who show an interest in public affairs can do a lot to assist their mayor, city manager, and city commissioners," Sidwell said.

The mayor added that he intends to keep working at his city post right up until his last day in office.

Other members of the city commission, as of noon today, had made no definite commitments as to whether or not they plan to run for re-election.

The following filed their intention Jan. 2:

Conservationists Attend Meeting Held In Lubbock

The annual meeting of the Texas Association of Soil Conservation Districts was held in Lubbock, Jan. 16-18.

Supervisors of the Gray County Soil Conservation District who attended this meeting were James Cliett, Milton Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Schaffer and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Dauer, Duane Bartee and Arneal Scott, representing the Soil Conservation Service.

Pampa, also attended the meeting. The annual meeting consisted of agricultural tours, business and committee meetings and agricultural demonstrations. There was a large attendance and over 500 people registered for the meeting.

Several subjects were discussed by Melvin Jayroe, chairman of the Public Relations committee. They included beautification of highways and entrances to the city, selling Pampans on Pampa, and having representatives attend out-of-town banquets and functions.

Bennie Shackelford, chairman of the Conventions committee, said twelve conventions already have been scheduled for Pampa this year. He requested that Pampans who are members of clubs and organizations give consideration to bringing their next regional or district meeting here.

In other business, Dr. Joe Donaldson, chamber president, presented awards to winners of the annual Christmas Home Decoration contest.

City Officials To Attend Meeting

Several Pampa city officials are planning to attend a special regional meeting of the Texas Municipal League in Amarillo one week from tonight.

City Manager Harold Schmitzer said the meeting has been called to probe legislation already introduced in the 58th state legislature, discuss legislation expected to be introduced, and to analyze the program recommended by the League's executive board.

The city manager said he would ask city commissioners tonight to postpone next week's regular weekly meeting from Tuesday until Wednesday night, so that officials may attend the Amarillo conference.

C. Troop, commissioner Ward 4. Members of the commission now serving with Mayor Sidwell are: Lloyd Simpson, Ward 1; Dr. Will Graham, Ward 2; Leon Holmes, Ward 3, and L. P. Fort, Ward 4. Their terms all expire on April 2.

Osborne Is Winner At Toastmasters

The Pampa Toastmasters Club Speaker of the Week trophy went to Dave Osborne after his humorous anecdotes on the electronic computer goofs that the machines are known to have given out, at last night's meeting of the club.

A mild but somewhat effective parliamentary procedure debate was also a highlight of the evening's accomplishments with "Buzz" Roberts, Dr. S. B. Spert Don Stevens and Harry Mitchell taking part in motions, amendments, amendments to amendments and points of order.

The verbal, workout, which proceeded formally according to procedure, was enjoyed by all and proved to be quite constructive to most and somewhat confusing to the newer members, who vowed they would brush up on the subject of parliamentary procedure and get involved in the next debate.

Next Monday night's speakers will be Harry Mitchell, Bob Fitz-

Heavy Agenda For City Commission

Pampa's city commission will have before it tonight a heavier than usual agenda which is expected to be highlighted by an additional statement of Mayor E. C. Sidwell in connection with his announced decision not to seek re-election.

City Manager Harold Schmitzer said today regular commission business will include approval of 1962 water refund payments and authorization of time deposits for various interest and sinking funds in the sum of $110,500.

Also on the agenda will be consideration of a resolution and first reading of a revamped ordinance for the paving of S. Barnes St. from the underpass to the southern city limits.

gerald, Dr. S. B. Spert and Jim O'Connor.

Last night's speakers other than Osborne were Paul Buchanan, whose subject was, "Can A Family Survive Under Athesim?" "Buzz" Roberts, whose subject was "Let's Break The Habit," and Bob Ferguson, who spoke on "High School Dropouts, A Major Problem."

Kiwansians See Film Featuring 'Physical Fitness'

The Top O' Texas Kiwanis Club met last night at the Coronado Inn with the showing of a film "Youth Physical Fitness," highlighting the evening.

The film, narrated by Coach Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma University, showed the physical condition of many of our school age children in various parts of the U.S.—and what can be done to improve their physical makeup. The film was presented in the public interest by the Equitable Assurance Society.

President Bob Price brought the meeting to order and turned the program over to Weldon Trice, Downtown Kiwanis Club member and Athletic Director of Pampa High School, who gave a short talk and the film presentation.

"Smiley" Henderson and Clyde Carruth, members of the Downtown Kiwanis club, also attended as guests.

Guests of other members attending were Mrs. C. R. Howard, Boyd Maule, Dave Duval and Abner Conway.

"Sweet Little Jesus Boy," and "Witness." Some of the encores that pleased the audience so well were "Climb Every Mountain," "It Ain't Necessarily So," and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

The only discouraging part of the evening was the fact that many were wishing for a solo by the gifted accompanist, Bossart, but this was understood as the evening had been set aside for the brilliant baritone from the Metropolitan Opera who literally "held the audience captive" with his marvelous voice and musical interpretations. The atmosphere that Merrill created among the listeners seemed to set him even more at ease which also was a great contribution to the program.

I couldn't help but swell up with pride as Merrill, in his closing remarks paid special tribute to Pampa and the audience for such a full house and the responsiveness of all who attended.

This was the third in a series of four concerts sponsored by the Pampa Community Concert Association.

INSISTS TOO STRONGLY

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Frank Leroy McWethy insisted his own doctor give him a sobriety test. He wound up charged with drunk driving and it cost him an extra $10.

The doctor administered the tests, signed affidavits certifying McWethy was drunk and charged him $100. Police-administered tests are free.

Voters Are Slow To Catch On

What Happened To Those Campaign Promises?

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI)—American politics is a con game engaged in by con men and something should be done about it.

As a starter, in the interests of honesty and good government, Congress should enact:

A law that would impose on presidential candidates and other party policy makers standards of conduct at least as high as the standards of conduct required of stock brokers, for example, or lawyers or physicians.

The Securities & Exchange Act was clamped on the stock exchanges and brokers about 30 years ago to keep them honest. What is needed now is a platform and promises Act to impose honesty on the politicians. To be effective, the platform and promises act should establish severe penalties for politicians who forget about campaign promises after the election or who ignore the party platform on which they sought office. Ten years and $10,000 would be about right for that and, of course, impeachment.

Bright Ideas
These bright ideas came about after a re-reading of the civil rights sections in the 1960 presidential platforms of the Republican and Democratic parties. Consider the Democratic platform pledges on civil rights:

To establish a Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC).
To legislate in the area of civil rights injunctions.
To improve congressional procedures (the filibuster) to protect majority rule.

Those pledges and a great deal of breathless language accompanying them were written into the Democratic platform for a single purpose. That purpose was to attract to the Democratic presidential ticket in 1960 the great bloc of Negro voters in the big industrial states with the big electoral votes. The Negroes took the

Oilmen Say JFK's Tax Would Hurt

MIDLAND, Tex. (UPI)—The Permian Basin Petroleum Association has accused President Kennedy of proposing a new tax against oil and gas producers that would have the same effect as reducing the controversial depletion allowance.

In a prepared statement, the association said the president "states he will not cut depletion as such, but... his revised approach will have the same effect and will increase taxes (on producers) ... $300 million a year."

"The administration could not have more effectively threatened the destruction of the Permian Basin economy if it had pointed an atom bomb at the area," the association said.

"With the national rig count... at its lowest level since 1944, the industry already is in a serious condition. The only result of the additional $300 million tax bite will be further curtailment of activities and overhead," the association said.

The group called for taxpayers to write congress in opposition to the proposed tax plan.

bait and the Kennedy - Johnson ticket was elected.

President Kennedy has redeemed none of these platform pledges. But by means of big and little civil rights spectacles, however, the Kennedy administration has kept the Negroes happy. Or, anyway, they are not banging on the White House door demanding that the pledges be redeemed. But that does not alter the fact that the political parties in 1960 were, as usual, playing a con game with phony civil rights promises.

'Seasonal-Only' Latin Migration Seemingly Over

By JAIME PLENN
MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The day of only seasonal migration of Mexicans appears to be over.

The lure of higher pay and better living standards is drawing Mexicans in record numbers to the U.S. embassy and a dozen consulates elsewhere in Mexico in search of visas.

Consulates now issue some 5,000 visas monthly. That figure does not match the flood of new applications.

In Mexico City, consul general Terrance G. Lonhardy estimated there are some 125,000 Mexicans on the waiting list for immigrant visas.

Mostly Farm Workers

At most of the 13 American consulates in Mexico, throngs of straw-hatted, shirt-sleeved, suntanned Mexicans, chiefly farmhands patiently await their turns.

They seek information on how to qualify for entering the United States or to hear the "good word" that their previously requested visa is ready.

The consulates in Mexico today constitute Uncle Sam's biggest visa-issuing operation in the world. Although U.S. officials refrain from comment on one of the causes—unrest in rural areas—other observers feel poor living conditions among large numbers of peasant families are contributing to the exodus.

Squatters Take Over

The dissatisfaction with farm conditions has become manifest in recent months in activities of "squatters" who moved onto farm lands, after waiting for years to get their own tracts under the agrarian reform provisions.

Agitation has become intensified recently with formation of a new peasant confederation, a challenge to the long-established government-dominated National Peasants Confederation.

At the same time, the government announced that it will eliminate all large estates before the end of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos' six year term on Dec. 1, 1964.

To deal with the filibuster problem in the Senate.

Both parties, of course, promised action to assure Negroes the right to vote. There are rumors that Kennedy may propose voting rights legislation to this session of Congress. But there is no indication that the republican congressional leadership will seek to make good on the major rights pledges of their respective 1960 platforms.

An individual who considers the technique of unlimited Senate debate to be an absolute essential to good government, may still deplore the dishonesty of the politicians in dealing with the filibuster rule.

Campaign platform promises that turn out to be a pack of lies are a dangerous and insubstantial foundation for the principles of a great political party. Voters are slow to catch on.

TYLER (UPI)—Texas' multi-million dollar rose crop has escaped the bitter winter without damage so far, a rose research foundation scientist says.

Dr. E. W. Lyle, plant pathologist for the foundation, said a survey of the rose fields around Tyler show little if any damage to bushes from the winter's severe freezes.

Approximately 20 million rose bushes—half the national total—are grown in fields around Tyler.

Roses, Lyle said, turn dormant during the winter and can stand intensive cold. Slowly increasing cold in the early part of the winter gave bushes a chance to "temper" slowly, he said, so that they became fully dormant before the most severe cold hit.

More than half the 1963 crop, Lyle said, was already harvested and in cold storage before the bad weather started.

Most of the roses left in the fields are climbers and other very hardy types, he said.

The main danger now is that warm weather will set in and start the plants to growing. A sudden freeze after such a warm spell could ruin the bushes left in the fields, Lyle said.

The excessively cold winter indicates a late spring, growers said, and a late spring will mean a delay in the shipment of bushes. Deliveries may be two weeks or more behind schedule.

A new upped hair style has been designed for those who don't have hair to the waist or even to the shoulders. The model at left wears hers with off center thin straight bangs slanting across the forehead. Hair at sides is brought in front of the ears in a long, thin curl turned toward her cheek. Ears, back in view for '63, are showing here as well as in the other variations. The extreme upped hairdo (center) is built around a small hair piece twisted in a roll, open in the center, and the ends of your own hair are pulled through. Stylic but not for women with extremely thin faces, the hairdo (right) shows all hair drawn up from the back of the head. Underneath permanent gives hair body.

Rebekahs Plan Officers' Fete

Plans for the Officers' Banquet were discussed at the Thursday night meeting of Pampa Rebekah Lodge No. 365 held in the IOOF Hall, 800 E. Foster. The banquet date has been set for Feb. 23.

Newly installed officers presiding during the meeting were Mmes. Dean Monday, noble grand; W. F. Williams, vice grand; Niles Franklin as recording secretary for Mrs. T. A. Mastin who was ill.

The charter was draped for Ross E. Sheppard of Denton, husband of Mrs. Leona Sheppard president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas. Participating in the ceremony were Mmes. W. F. Williams, W. H. Chitwood, Thurman Stapleton and Barney Brummett.

Mrs. Ola McAfee, lodge deputy, installed three new officers, Mrs. W. H. Chitwood, Mrs. Burl Lewter and Mrs. Leroy Kretzmeier.

Nineteen visits to shut-ins was reported.

RUTH MILLETT

"I'd like to be smarter than I am," a young girl confided in a letter.

Don't worry, young lady, you will be.

But you'll never be as smart as you wish you were. Nobody ever is.

At 20 you'll think, "If I had only known at 16 what I know now, how much easier high school would have been. How many more friends I would have had. How much more I would have gotten out of my classes. How much less shy I would have been."

At 30 you'll think how many fewer mistakes you would have made at 20 if you had known then what you know at 30.

And so it will go all through life. You'll keep learning and growing and maturing. But looking back on any age, you'll always see you didn't know quite enough to make your life as happy and as successful and as complete as you might have.

Upped Styles Decreed Big For 'After Five'

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Although simpler, flatter hairdos will be the coiffure favorites for '63, it is still great fun to do something unusual with your hair after-five.

Most of you are familiar with the Marienbad of last fall or—much more recent—Mona Lisa. You may devise your own adaptation of these sleek hairdos. You also will enjoy the chic quality of the new, upped hairdo.

An exciting feature of this hair design is that it flatters most of us. The upped style helps ovalize the face and in doing this tends to slenderize it. It is much softer than previous efforts in the same "upped" family. As a result, you will find it less severe. Important to the clean lines created by its designer, V. George of Fifth Avenue, is the smoothness that is interrupted by an interesting bit of hair on the forehead or briefly touching the temples. The hair stylist believes that Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy played a tremendous role in inspiring this soft but elegant hairdo for evening.

We agree that the upped style will do much to make us all feel just a little bit different because it is such a switch from the casuals we sport most of the time.

More important, you do not need long hair or an extra hairpiece, except for one version.

In this, a small hairpiece is twisted into a roll which is open in the center like a bun. Then, you pull the ends of your own hair through the bun and give it a swirl for a curl-on-top. This style is softened as a few ends gently touch the forehead. Additional sleekness is gained as you bring all hair to the extreme right side of the head.

Although it seems superfluous to mention it, this style and its upped companions shine the most when your hair is at its best. Constant brushing, frequent shampoos and a controlling hair dressing or hair spray, depending upon your hair texture, will further add to a sparkling coiffure for your special evenings, at home or out on the town.

Dear Abby....

Noble Nickname
Irks Retired Hubby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a man who has been retired for exactly four months. I have worked hard since the age of 14 and have earned the rest. My wife isn't very happy about it and has given me the nickname of "Sitting Bull." I enjoy sitting and don't like her calling me "Sitting Bull." Will you put this in your column? We both read it. Maybe she'll take the hint and cut it out.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 but look much older. When my girl friend and I go to a night movie together, my mother picks me up. But she never waits until the show is over. She always comes after me early because she says she is tired and wants to go to sleep and can't wait until the end of the movie. When I see her going up and down the aisles looking for me, I get so embarrassed. I want to die. How can I get my mother to let me walk home with my girl friend?

SITTING BULL
DEAR SITTING: Yours is a noble nickname. Another retired gentleman wrote to tell me that his wife had nicknamed him "Honeydew"! He said every two minutes she'd say, "Honeydew this" and "Honeydew that." Wanna trade?

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: Walking home at night is out of the question, so don't campaign for it. Perhaps your girl friend's mother or father can pick you both up and deliver you home after the movie. If that's not possible, you'd better be content with things as they are.

DEAR ABBY: My son, who has been a good boy and very close to his family, brought home a young lady for us to meet. He is interested in marrying her. We all fell in love with her, Abby. She seemed a precious thing. Now he tells us that she told him she had had a child out of wedlock four years ago, and had it adopted. I'd like to hear from a mother or mother-in-law who has experienced this. Or perhaps a man who has married a girl with this in her past. Abby, would you accept a girl like this in your family?

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: Why not? One mistake should not haunt a girl forever. She was honest enough to tell you, son, and he was honest enough to tell you. Neither was necessary.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., for Abby's new booklet, "How To Write Letters For All Occasions."

Pizza Cheese Popular
NEW YORK (UPI)—The burgeoning popularity of pizza has shot up the consumption of Italian-type cheese. Sales of this type cheese has soared 40 per cent in five years to about 180 million pounds a year. Nearly 90 per cent of Italian-type cheeses are made in this country.

Jacket Lining And Blouse Give Classy Costume Look

By ALINE MOSBY

United Press International
PARIS (UPI)—That conventional spring suit and separate blouse was quietly buried today at the opening show of the Paris spring women's fashion collections.

Jean Desses instead concentrated on a style that is becoming more and more popular in Paris: a suit with a bright blouse exactly matching the lining of the jacket.

This means the owner has a one-blouse suit that can't be varied with other accessories. But it gives the "costume" effect that in the Desses collection, and reportedly others in Paris this spring, banishes the conventional spring suit.

One black and white tweed suit, for example, had a kelly green blouse and jacket lining. A pink shantung suit had a pink-and-coffee wildly printed blouse and matching jacket lining.

Desses showed only a few conventional suit jackets that buttoned up the front and had small lapels and narrow collars. More of this suit jackets casually buttoned right on the blouse and did without lapels and collars.

The only obviously new point in the Desses collection was his shoulders, slightly widened on many outfits. The ladies of the press and international buyers looked for evidence of a return to the Joan Crawford shoulders of the 1930s. But so far, at least,

Desses barely emphasized the shoulder, not through padding but through cut and design.

The silhouette for women's clothes for spring reportedly will be based on a rectangle, instead of the triangle shape that was more, or less the tune called by the powerful fashion designers for last autumn.

Forty-four designers are presenting collections over the next 10 days, plus the great Gabrielle Chanel, 79, the oldest designer in Paris, and Yves St. Laurent, 26, the youngest, neither of whom are members.

Scientist Says Returning Spacecraft Could Carry Dangerous Life Forms

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A scientist has warned that it is conceivable that microscopic life forms from another planet could cling to returning space craft and destroy life on earth.
Dr. Fred L. Whipple, vice-president of the society and director of Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, voiced a grim possibility that a meteor colliding with the earth could trigger a nuclear war.
"There is no way I know of tracking a meteor," he said. "There is no advance notice of one crashing to the earth. No one knows when the next one will hit. We can only hope that when it happens again someone will not push the panic button and launch a nuclear war."
"Twice in this century objects big enough to look like nuclear blasts hit this planet — in 1908 in Siberia and in 1947 near Vladivostok (both in the Soviet Union)."
Soloman W. Golomb, of California Institute of Technology, said a life form inadvertently imported to earth might have the capability of successfully competing with earth forms for the basic raw materials of life.
"There's been a great deal of thought given to preventing contamination of the moon and planets during visits by earth space vehicles, but an even greater problem entirely overlooked is what about microscopic organisms carried to the earth on return flights."
Golomb, who spoke at the closing day session of the ninth annual American Astronautical Society, said there is little reason to believe that alien life forms

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The development of the theme of this market seems to be "safety first," says Vanden Broeck, Lieber & Co. The memory of six months ago is fresh enough so that equity investment is cautious. The market is in no mood for wholesale speculation. Stocks are not being bought indiscriminately. Searching for values has not yet been narrowed down so far as to suggest a rotating, trendless market.

In the generally upward trend the firm sees signs of investors being interested in defensive industries and utilities and speculators attracted to the main chance only when it appears depressed — utilities rather than steels, foods rather than chemicals.

According to Bache & Co., a favorable characteristic of market action continues to be revolving leadership with certain groups maintaining the upward move while others consolidate their gains.

Domestic airline traffic in 1963 is projected at 3 to 5 per cent above the improved 1962 level, according to Standard & Poor's. Capacity also will be somewhat higher this year, but increased costs will be moderated by greater efficiency, a smaller rise in depreciation and interest charges, and the use of investment credits to reduce taxes. Thus, industry profits should expand well above the break-even point indicated for 1962.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Analyst Arthur Wiesenberger says demand for stocks is persistent despite the rise already witnessed and evidence that public participation so far is limited.

He says sentiment may be swayed temporarily over coming weeks by the news out of Washington but the intermediate and long-term trends appear headed upward.

"The rail and utility averages recently scaled their 1962 highs. It seems just a question of time before the industrial average does as well."

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
Notes from the foreign news cables.

Gaitskell Successor:
Leftist-leaning Harold Wilson, foreign secretary in the British Labor Party's "shadow" cabinet, is being given the front-runner role to succeed the late Hugh Gaitskell as the party's new leader. But this is predicted on a first ballot victory. If Wilson fails on the first secret ballot, results of which should be known on Feb. 7, the next choice is George Brown, a popular right-of-center diamond-in-the-rough union leader. In case these two knock each other out, other possibilities are James Callaghan and Patrick Gordon Walker who also are members of the shadow cabinet. Wilson is anti-European Common Market. Brown is for it.

Trouble for Fanfani:
An Italian public opinion poll has shown that Premier Amintore Fanfani's center-left alliance with the left-wing socialists will be costly to his Christian Democratic Party in the next general election. This poll, accurate in the past, indicates a loss of 4.8 per cent for the Christian Democrats. Such a loss still would leave them the biggest single party in Italy but more dependent than ever on some sort of coalition to run the government. The poll showed the Communists likely to lose 0.9 per cent of their previous polling strength. The left-wing Socialists of Pietro Nenni would be the biggest gainers, picking up 4.2 per cent on their previous record. Nenni's agreement that his party would not vote against the Fanfani government has been the biggest factor keeping it in office.

FRANCO-German:
Reports in the West German capital of Bonn say that France will strengthen its conventional arms power in southern Germany. Two divisions now stationed south of Stuttgart will move farther East toward the Czechoslovak border and a third will be positioned to move quickly in case of an emergency. The move will be made without putting any additional French forces under NATO, although it will coincide with NATO planning. Rather, it is the first result of Franco-German military cooperation and is in response to German fears about a "soft spot" in southern Germany's NATO shield.

Southeast Asia:
Indonesia has been complaining that foreign reconnaissance planes have been violating the air space over Indonesian Borneo. The British, the most likely suspects, have been denying knowledge of any such overflights. But well-informed sources say the British are woefully short of good aerial maps of the Indonesian areas

14 Reasons Why RAMBLER '63 Wins Motor Trend Magazine's Award as "CAR OF THE YEAR"

Rambler Classic 170 Four-Door Sedan

Rambler won this great distinction over all other cars. How come? Read these comments from the Motor Trend experts who tested the American, Classic and Ambassador:

1. You get room for six 6-footers. Interiors of both Classic and Ambassador are roomy and comfortable... plenty of legroom.
2. "Classic and Ambassador have cleaner, more functional design... apparent from almost any angle."
3. "The basic-engined Classic gave an overall average of 23.1 miles per gallon."
4. "The Ambassador V-8 is a sportier, more performance-oriented vehicle" (test car had opt. 270 HP V-8, 250 HP std.).
5. "Rambler is now one-up on every other car"... with its new sports-car option, Twin-Stick Floor Shift with overdrive.
6. New Advanced Unit Construction... "results in a unit so strong it'll take punishment longer and, naturally, hold its resale value."

7. Rambler's exclusive "reclining bucket seats with headrests are options well worth the extra expenditure."

8. "Rough roads can be stormed with confidence. There isn't any pitch or choppiness noticeable."

9. All Ramblers have, in effect, "two separate braking systems for the front and rear wheels. If either one should suddenly fail, the remaining one can bring the car to a safe stop." Self-adjusting brakes standard.

10. "Quality has always been one of American Motors' largest selling points and continues to be in the new models."

11. The sedans' trunks are "large with a good amount of usable space."

12. "We've never seen a heater that produced more heat. At its maximum it should be up to any climate."

13. "In addition to long-recognized owner-appreciation features... the factory has doubled the new-car warranty to 24 months or 24,000 miles!"

14. Rambler's "an even better buy this year," according to MotorTrend experts. Examples: Every Rambler, including the American—lowest-priced U.S. car—has such exclusive long-life features as Deep-Dip rust-proofing and Ceramic-Armored muffler—just like the Classic Six and Ambassador 250 HP V-8.
