It's Backstage Now

88th Congress Scene Shifts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Action in the new 88th Congress moved backstage today with House Democrats and Republicans feuding separately over key committee and leadership posts.

Outcome of their intramural squabbles could bear heavily on the fate of some of President Kennedy's legislative proposals including his controversial plan for hospital care for the aged.

After a fast, furious takeoff on Wednesday, followed by routine talkfests and no action Thursday, the new Congress was in recess today until Monday when Kennedy will deliver his State of the Union Message to a joint House-Senate session at 12:30 p.m. EST.

At private huddles all over the newly refurbished Capitol and its associated array of office buildings, speculation centered on who will fill two Democratic vacancies on the House Ways & Means Committee, which will handle not only the medicare plan but the President's plea for a tax cut.

curbs on debate could last for two weeks or even longer. No Senate legislation will be passed until the issue is cleared up and there probably will be no major committee action either.

In addition to his State of the Union Message on Monday, Kennedy will submit his new federal budget to Congress next Thursday and send his annual economic report to the legislators a week from Monday.

These messages will outline the pattern of the President's program for the coming year. Still later this month, the White House said, Kennedy is expected to send Congress a special message on taxes.

Landrum Is Favorite

Rep. Phil Landrum, D-Ga., appeared to be a favorite for one of the two posts, with the other to go to either Rep. Ross Bass, D-Tenn., or Rep. Pat Jennings, D-Va.

Landrum has made no public commitment on medicare. Bass and Jennings are reported ready to support the President's plan. The committee is so closely divided a difference of one or two votes could be crucial.

Meantime "young Turk" Republicans, who Tuesday ousted their old guard caucus chairman and installed a younger man of their own, kept a watchful eye on pending GOP committee assignments.

Microscope And Crutch Sale Set Downtown Pampa

Joe Fischer, city campaign chairman for the 1963 March of Dimes drive, has announced that girls from three high school organizations will be downtown Saturday selling plastic crutches and microscopes to help the MOD campaign.

The three clubs, Sub Debs, Kat Klub and Las Cerasas Club, will provide workers to be stationed in the various business places and on the streets, vying with each other to see which group can raise the most money for the March of Dimes.

As an added incentive to the girls, "Chick" Hickman of Crall Products Company of Pampa, will treat the girls of the group that raises the most money to a "Hot Dog Treat" at the Coney Island Cafe on Saturday evening or at a later date of their choosing.

All girls working on this project were asked to report to the basement of the First National Bank at 8 a.m. Saturday to get their instructions and crutches and microscopes.

Fischer stated that he hoped the cold weather would moderate so this part of the campaign could be completed on time.

He added that the local March of Dimes organization is urging all persons who received MoD "mailers" last week to return them as soon as possible as this phase of the campaign should be wrapped up at an early date.

"Quite a few have been received already and the response has been good so far," Fischer said, adding that the MoD would appreciate getting all the mailers back by next week if at all possible as the campaign ends the 31st of January.

Tshombe himself returned to Elisabethville Thursday night after a tour of his supporters in the Mokambo area near the Rhodesian border. He apparently has been given freedom of movement provided he does not incite hostility against the United Nations or promote destruction of property.

The Katangese president was said to have made a pledge to British consul Derek Dodson that he would call off his "scorched earth" policy. Earlier this week Tshombe threatened that his forces at Kolwezi would blow up valuable mining installations if U.N. forces attacked the town.

The threats led to U.N. action to restrain Tshombe from "further irresponsible acts."

Italian Doctors Go On Strike

ROME (UPI) — Italy's 83,000 doctors went on a 48-hour strike today to protest government red tape and support demands for a rise in minimum medical fees.

The strike was not expected to affect essential emergency services.

Hospitals reported skeleton staffs remained on duty after the strike began at midnight. The doctors refused to do any paper work.

Doctors in private practice closed their offices and intended to respond only to calls for urgent home visits.

The doctors want standard rules governing the various public medical assistance plans which cover about 90 per cent of Italy's population. They also are asking a standard fee for insured patients of $1.60 for house calls and $1.20 for office visits.

Pampa, All Of Texas, In Grip Of Deep Winter Cold Wave Today

87-year-old Burt Frost of Toledo, Ohio; his 75-year-old son Charles Frost of Caney, Kan.; his grandson, Edwin Frost of Pratt, Kan., and his two great-grandsons Jack and Bill, also of Pratt, Kan. No Letup Expected For Next 48 Hours

Pampa was in the grip of winter's worst cold wave today and forecasters said there is no letup in sight for the next 48 hours.

The mercury hit 2 below zero for a low in Pampa at 10 this morning and the outlook for tonight is zero to 5 below after a high of around 8 to 10 above this afternoon.

The icy blast brought with it some snow which whirled blizzard-like at intervals during the day under the force of 25 to 35-mile per hour north winds.

The forecast for tonight and tomorrow indicated the possibility that Pampa and the Top O' Texas area could get a one to two-inch snowfall by tomorrow morning.

The cold wave cut down on the number of shoppers in the downtown area. Walking for more than a block or two was an arduous task as pedestrians bucked the wind and zero temperature.

Garages and service stations were swamped with calls this morning when automobiles left in the open overnight were too cold to get engine response. Motorists also decided it was time for a check on the anti-freeze situation.

Schools in the Pampa area were open and classes were conducted as usual although there was some dropoff in attendance because of weather conditions. School buses made their usual runs.

Coach Terry Culley of the Pampa Harvesters said tonight's basketball game between Pampa and Borger at Borger will be played as scheduled.

The Arctic cold front pushed the mercury to 2 below at Amarillo and Panhandle in mid-forenoon today. It was also 2 below at Dalhart where two inches of snow covered the ground this morning. Some drifting also was reported there.

The State Highway department said roads were still open in the Panhandle but motorists were advised to postpone trips unless they were absolutely necessary.

The swirling snow in Pampa had stopped shortly before noon but the possibility remained that it would snow again and there might be a fall of one or two inches before morning.

The Gray County Sheriff's department said it had received the same information as the Highway Department urging motorists not to travel unless necessary. There is a possibility of icy road conditions by nightfall in some areas of the Panhandle and especially to the south in Texas.

The cold wave really hit Pampa full blast about 8:30 o'clock last night. Temperatures had dropped at the rate of several degrees an hour beginning about 3:30 p.m. yesterday.

At mid-morning the front extended in the shape of a horseshoe through deep Southwest Texas, South-Central and Southeast Texas. None of the state will escape the cold.

Early morning temperatures at Dalhart today were 26 degrees below Thursday's readings. Amarillo recorded a 38-degree drop. Lubbock's temperature plunged 32 degrees and Dallas' reading was 50 degrees below Thursday's 76 reading.

Warm at Corpus

The early morning range was from Dalhart's minus 2 to 68 at Corpus Christi, just ahead of the front.

Freezing rain and drizzle was reported over most of North Texas.

Some snow was reported over all the Panhandle early today.

The Weather Bureau warned that the cold would hold on through the week end. Cold wave warnings were issued for every section of Texas and cattlemen were warned to protect their livestock. A heavy snow warning was out for Northwestern Texas, with more than four inches expected to accumulate today.

Light freezing rain fell over all but the northeastern portion of North Texas today.

The Weather Bureau, in five-day forecasts, warned that North Texas could expect temperatures to remain from 8 to 12 degrees below normal through Sunday, with snow and rain.

Project To Sell Pampans On Pampa Outlined

A positive approach in selling Pampa to Pampans was the theme of this forenoon's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce-Public Relations Committee in the Citizens Hospitality Room.

Melvin Jayroe, committee chairman, said the committee will be in charge of the chamber's February 25 membership luncheon in Coronado Inn and it will be a "Selling Pampa to Pampans" session.

"Pampa is a good town and business is good," Jayroe said, "and we intend to bear down on the theme this year in getting Pampans to understand what a wonderful town we really have here."

The committee also outlined other projects it will undertake during the year including continuation of the Solicitors' Review Board; the annual teachers reception in October and the sending of delegates to other cities and the welcoming of out-of-town delegations in Pampa.

It was stated because of the weather that a trip to the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet in Dalhart tonight had to be called off.

However, it is planned to send a delegation to Peñon tomorrow night, to Dumas and Wheeler Tuesday night, to Shamrock next Thursday and to Amarillo on Jan. 18. All are annual chamber of commerce banquets.

KILDEER, S.D. (UPI) — Rancher Hugh Murphy is tough and determined.

Murphy, 5 feet 7 inches and 180 pounds, was on roundup Wednesday when he drove his pickup truck onto the ice of Garrison reservoir.

The ice broke and the truck plunged into 11 feet of water.

Murphy tried to open the door but couldn't. Finally, with water almost up to his head, Murphy broke the truck window and forced his body through. He came up under the ice.

He held his breath, opened his eyes and swam until he found the hole made by the truck.

Murphy came up gasping for air but he had nothing to grip to allow him to climb onto the ice from the frigid water in the reservoir.

The 44-year-old rancher laid his arms on the ice and waited until his gloves and sleeves froze to the surface. Then he hauled himself out.

Murphy was alone, seven miles from camp. His wet clothing froze to ice in minutes in the eight degrees below zero temperature.

Murphy set out and walked the seven miles, his frozen clothing cracking at every step. Finally, he staggered into his cabin, built a fire in the oil stove, waited until he was warmed, then set out on horseback to the home of Clyde Baker, a friend, three miles away.

Baker bundled Murphy into his car and drove him to his brother Jack Murphy's house near Kildeer.

"He had to have the constitution of a bull to do all that," said Mrs. Jack Murphy. "I don't know how he ever got out of it alive. He hasn't even got a sniffle."

Murphy wasn't available for comment. He was back at his ranch finishing his roundup.

Effigy Of Thant Hung In Dallas

DALLAS (UPI) — An estimated 125 college students who said they represented the "Justice for Katanga Committee" burned an effigy of U.N. Secretary General U Thant Thursday night in a North Dallas parking lot.

The effigy of U Thant was hanged from a light post. The demonstrators displayed signs reading "Self-Determination for Katanga" and "Tshombe, Yes—Thant, No."

Newsmen at the scene said the students were from Southern Methodist University, North Texas State University of Dallas and Arlington State College.

There were no arrests.

One student stood on the bumper of an automobile and addressed the group. Spokesmen for the students said they were not connected with any other group or organization.

The students passed out flyers which read in part: "U.N. guilty of vicious and unjustified aggression in Katanga... for the third time it has launched a brutal and unnecessary war against small peaceful, pro-west and anti-Communist Katanga."

UN Poised For Drive On Remaining Outposts Of Resistance In Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (UPI) — United Nations forces today were reported poised for drives on the two remaining centers of resistance by supporters of Katanga's President Moise Tshombe.

One U.N. force was in the area around Sakania, near the northern Rhodesian border, where Katangese Interior Minister Godofroid Munungo was believed heading a large Katangese group.

Another U.N. force was reported west of Jadotville, about 80 miles southeast of Kolwezi, a mining center and major Katangese air base.

The United Nations earlier this week pinpointed Sakania and Kolwezi as two spots that would have to be cleaned up to give its forces freedom of movement in the operation to reunify the Congo.

Tshombe himself returned to Elisabethville Thursday night after a tour of his supporters in the Mokambo area near the Rhodesian border. He apparently has been given freedom of movement provided he does not incite hostility against the United Nations or promote destruction of property.

Pampans Salute 'Uncle Billy' Frost On 100th Birthday

Pampans paid congratulatory tribute to Uncle Billy Frost as he celebrated his 100th birthday among friends and relatives at a reception in the Starlight ballroom of Coronado Inn yesterday.

There were telegrams of congratulations all the way from President John F. Kennedy and Rep. Walter Rogers to the teacher of a kindergarten school in Pampa, Mrs. Gladys Harkins, who expressed a desire to put her arm around Uncle Billy as she does the children in her school.

Movie and still cameras ground and cranked as the assemblage at one point sang "Happy Birthday" to Uncle Billy.

Among the relatives here for the happy occasion, spearheaded by E. J. Dunigan Jr., a former employer of Uncle Billy's for many years, were his 87-year-old brother, Bert Frost, of Toledo, Ohio; his 75-year-old son, Charley Frost and his wife, Genta, who flew in from Caney, Kan.; Edwin Frost, a grandson, and two great-grandsons, Jack and Bill Frost from Pratt, Kan.; Mrs. Hugh Greiner, a niece from Canyon, Mrs. Marie Roundtree, a niece from Shamrock, and George Wentworth, a son-in-law from Salina, Kan.

Coincidentally, Mrs. Roundtree was making yesterday's festivities a joint celebration with Uncle Billy. It also was her 64th birthday.

There were many telegrams and letters from persons in other parts of Texas and the nation — all to congratulate Uncle Billy on reaching the century mark.

Jerry Sims acted as master of ceremonies. There were short ceremonies. (See BIRTHDAY, Page 3)

The Lighter Side

A New Economic Concept

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — During the recent holidays, I did a lot of work on a new economic theory that I have been putting together down in my basement-workshop.

The theory I am working on is called "disposalism." All of the pieces aren't in place yet, but I think it will be truly cataclysmic.

It is founded on the premise that mankind's basic economic motivation is in the process of reversing itself. Up to now, our chief interest and concern has been in acquiring things. Right?

Well, it is my theory that from now on the emphasis will shift to getting rid of things. In some areas, the change already has occurred.

Faces Problem
To cite one familiar example, the government has accumulated vast amounts of surplus farm collector be a day late and panic sets in.

The significance of "disposalism" was particularly impressed upon me at Christmas. We were virtually inundated by our own trash. In fact, I accidentally threw my son in the box his wagon came in.

Outweighs Value
Using approximate figures, I calculated that the value of the gifts exchanged among and received by members of my family was outweighed by the trouble it took to get rid of wrapping paper that encased them.

The theory of "disposalism" can be used to explain why a number of magazines are losing circulation. Things have reached the point where the reading pleasure they provide is cancelled out by the task of disposing of the back issues.

This, of course, is not true of old newspapers, which can still be used for wrapping fish.

Eventually, I hope to show how the theory of "disposalism" can be applied to our entire society, but I may never get it finished. I am kept too busy carrying out the trash.

Fifty-two out-of-town guests from Kiwanis Clubs in Amarillo, Stinnett, Perryton and from the Top O' Texas Kiwanis Club in Pampa were introduced by Dr. Will Graham.

Officers of other Pampa civic clubs also were in attendance at the banquet.

A special entertainment program was given by a musical quartet from Oklahoma City.

Cold Weather Is No Hindrance To Local Prowlers

Biting cold weather didn't stop a couple of prowlers from carrying on their operations in Pampa last night. Two cases were in the police files this morning.

Mary Perkins, 502 Elm, reported that someone cut the screen to gain entrance to a back porch of her home and then tried to force open the rear door.

Li. J. B. Goad, who investigated the call, said he could find no one in the vicinity.

Mrs. Boyd Stewart, 505 Powell, reported that she had found footprints below a bedroom window and asked police to keep a watch in the neighborhood.

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — State Sen. Laurin W. Jones admitted today that government is becoming complicated.

Weather

throughout the northern half of the state today. Early morning traffic moved slowly on wet, icy roads in the extreme northern section.

The Weather Bureau's extended outlook warned the extreme southwestern section of the state against 25 inch accumulations of snow through the week end. All of South Texas but the Lower Rio Grande Valley could expect freezing temperatures, with rain and drizzle through the week end.

The deep, bitter-cold air mass ripped into the state Thursday after a week of balmy, spring-like weather. McAllen, in South Texas, posted the nation's high of 91 degrees Thursday.

The frigid air mass was due to reach the semi-tropical citrus and vegetable crop lands in the Rio Grande Valley late today.

Last year a similar blast of cold air caused a $50 million crop loss. Light rain fell in Central Texas early today and forecasts called for it to change to freezing rain and possibly snow. Sub-freezing temperatures were predicted as far downstate today as upper South Central Texas.

The front whipped along on the wings of 25-mile-an-hour winds. Well ahead of the front, some of the highest temperatures in history for a January were reported in South Texas. Austin recorded its highest January temperature in history Thursday—88 degrees. San Antonio also recorded 86. Corpus Christi had a high of 85, Houston and Victoria posted 83, Brownsville had 82, College Station 81 and Waco 80.

This Room 'Grows' With Your Child

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Are you welcoming a new baby this year? One of the pleasures that fill the waiting time is the planning for a room or a corner of one for the newcomer's own. I guess every mother has found and funny recollections of such plans. Sometimes we splurge on an extravagant bassinet that baby outgrows in two months.

Other mothers I know strip down the space to bare wood in an excess enthusiasm for the positively no-germs - allowed approach. For some unexplained reason, I spent a week painting our first baby's room pink. It was not the pleasant pastel pink I expected, but the brassiest shade of purple-pink you ever saw. A waste of time and money, I felt.

Recently I was discussing with Margaret Scrapper, chief home decorating consultant for a large mail order firm (Montgomery Ward) some ideas on how young parents-to-be might plan ahead. She is a vivacious brunette, with children and grandchildren to keep her in touch with young family needs.

With the magic of a mail order catalogue at her elbow and a photographic studio at her command, Mrs. Scrapper set up two model rooms in quick succession to suggest how the investment in basic furniture can grow with a child.

In the baby's room, the most important piece of furniture is the crib. This crib, however, is designed for years of service. Crib sides fold back like gates to make it easy for mom to tend the small baby, even if she cares to sit on the crib mattress. Later, half the sides may be removed to make a youth bed.

The crib has a light, birchlike wood finish. Chests of drawers and a chifforobe in a matching finish provide ample storage. The next-most important piece of furniture is a handsome, comfortable rocker, upholstered in a bright patchwork print. Accessories are wall plaques and lamp.

Looking ahead a few years to when baby will have grown into an active child, Mrs. Scrapper set up a bolder and brighter color scheme and switched the room around. Now, crib sides and footboard are removed to make a bed. A vivid red, white and blue striped bedspread matches the equally eye-catching Roman shade on the window. The pull-up Roman shade is ready-made and not expensive. The chests are teamed with a book and toy storage unit in the same wood finish. A low reading chair replaces the rocker. Babyish accessories are expendable. These are replaced by spacemen cut-out wall plaques and clothes hangers.

In this room designed for growing up, basic furniture stays the same. Only the accessories change. Colonial blue walls and beige rug offer a background for the years.

Same room, different look. Bed is former crib, with sides and footboard removed. Chests are the same. New spread and curtains transform the room for the growing-up child.

Dear Abby... Don't Count... Your Chickens...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If I buy one of those Senior Citizens Homes for retired old folks and the woman who has been my darling wife for 44 years drops dead on the golf course because she's not used to all that exercise, and then I marry a cute young chick and we have two or three kiddies, what should I do? They don't allow children at the Senior Citizens Homes for retired folks.

LOOKING AHEAD
DEAR ABBY: Don't count your chickens before they're hatched. I'll help you solve that problem when the time comes.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 and my problem has to do with my mother. I have an older sister and a younger brother. My mother favors my brother because he is the youngest. That leaves me in the middle. I have really tried hard to be nice to my mother but it never turns out right. We just don't seem to get along. What can I do?

MIDDLE CHILD
DEAR MIDDLE CHILD: No matter what position you play in the family game, you see only the drawbacks. The oldest complains that when a fight occurs, it's her fault because she should have known better. The youngest complains because he has to go to bed earlier and can't do what the older kids can do. Frankly, I think you've got the best spot. Just try harder.

El Progreso Study Club Hears Interesting History On "Antiques"

El Progreso Study Club met Tuesday afternoon Jan. 8, in the home of Mrs. T. A. Perkins, 1801 Fir.

Mrs. Glen Radcliff, presided during the business session, which was followed by a very cleverly presented program on antiques by Mrs. Bob McCoy. She related a few of the interesting experiences she had when she operated her shop and said she got so enthused in preparing the program, she was tempted to go into the business again. Mrs. McCoy brought out the educational value of antiques and explained a few of the ways we learn about the past from them.

She read three poems on antiques and then called on the members to tell about their favorite article they brought along for today's meeting. Topping them all perhaps, was a coverlet which was made in 1795 by Mrs. Radcliff's great grandmother.

Mrs. McCoy stated that Wall Street had reported antiques are the best investment you can have.

She had, on display, several wooden cookie presses belonging to a local antique dealer, which were very old and quite expensive, as all were imports.

Those present were Mmes. D. V. Burton, V. J. Drew, Elmer Fisher, Bernard Johnson, Charles Lanehart, Bob McCoy, J. G. Morrison, Glenn Radcliff, H. Vera, Harold Wright and Perkins.

Try powdered sugar instead of granulated in whipped cream. It will be in "peak" condition when ready to serve.

This Room 'Grows' With Your Child

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Are you welcoming a new baby this year? One of the pleasures that fill the waiting time is the planning for a room or a corner of one for the newcomer's own. I guess every mother has fond and funny recollections of such plans. Sometimes we splurge on an extravagant bassinet that baby outgrows in two months.

Other mothers I know strip down the space to bare wood in an excess enthusiasm for the positively no-germs-allowed approach. For some unexplained reason, I spent a week painting our first baby's room pink. It was not the pleasant pastel pink I expected, but the brassiest shade of purple-pink you ever saw. A waste of time and money, I felt.

Recently I was discussing with Margaret Scaper, chief home-decorating consultant for a large mail order firm (Montgomery Ward) some ideas on how young parents-to-be might plan ahead. She is a vivacious brunette, with children and grandchildren to keep her in touch with young family needs.

With the magic of a mail order catalogue at her elbow and a photographic studio at her command, Mrs. Scaper set up two model rooms in quick succession to suggest how the investment in basic furniture can grow with a child.

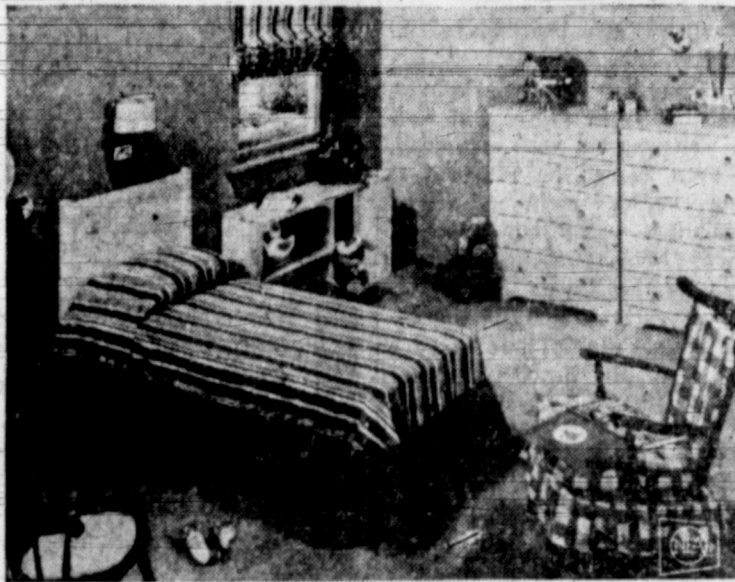

In the baby's room, the most important piece of furniture is the crib. This crib, however, is designed for years of service. Crib sides fold back like gates to make it easy for mom to tend the small baby, even if she cares to sit on the crib mattress. Later, half the sides may be removed to make a youth bed.

The crib has a light, birchlike wood finish. Chests of drawers and a chifferobe in a matching finish provide ample storage. The next-most-important piece of furniture is a handsome, comfortable rocker, upholstered in a bright patchwork print. Accessories are wall plaques and lamp.

Looking ahead a few years to when baby will have grown into an active child, Mrs. Scaper set up a holder and brighter color scheme and switched the room around. Now, crib sides and footboard are removed to make a bed. A vivid red, white and blue striped bedspread matches the equally eye-catching Roman shade on the window. The pull-up Roman shade is ready-made and not expensive. The chests are teamed with a book and toy storage unit in the same wood finish. A low reading chair replaces the rocker. Babyish accessories are expendable. These are replaced by spacemen cut-out wall plaques and clothes hangers.

In this room designed for growing up, basic furniture stays the same. Only the accessories change. Colonial blue walls and beige rug offer a background for the years.

Same room, different look. Bed is former crib, with sides and footboard removed. Chests are the same. New spread and curtains transform the room for the growing-up child.

Medical Auxiliary With Mrs. Key

The Pampa Medical Auxiliary met Monday, Jan. 7, in the home of Mrs. J. M. Key with Mrs. Robert Moore as co-hostess. Mrs. R. W. Laycock presided over the business meeting.

Mrs. Robert Moore, sponsor of the High School Future Nurses Club, reported on the activities of the club stating that they had received their charter showing their club to be a member of the National Organization. Plans are being made, Mrs. Moore stated, for the Science Fair, field trips and various other activities. The State Future Nurses Clubs Convention will be held in San Antonio March 22 and 23 and Mrs. Moore told the Auxiliary that three delegates are planning to attend along with Mrs. Foster Elder who will be the club sponsor for next year.

The members were reminded of the Top O' Texas Auxiliary meeting in Borger the 15.

Members attending were: Mmes. R. Malcolm Brown, Joe R. Donaldson, Elder Joe W. Gates, R. M. Hampton, Frank W. Kelley, Key, Laycock, M. McDaniel, Moore, M. C. Overton, F. J. Vendrell and Edward S. Williams.

Dear Abby...

Don't Count...
Your Chickens...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If I buy one of those Senior Citizens Homes for retired old folks and the woman who has been my darling wife for 44 years drops dead on the golf course because she's not used to all that exercise, and then I marry a cute young chick and we have two or three kiddies, what should I do? They don't allow children at the Senior Citizens Homes for retired folks.

LOOKING AHEAD
DEAR LOOKING: Don't count your chickens before they're hatched. I'll help you solve that problem when the time comes.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 and my problem has to do with my mother. I have an older sister and a younger brother. My mother favors my brother because he is the youngest. That leaves me in the middle. I have really tried hard to be nice to my mother but it never turns out right. We just don't seem to get along. What can I do?

MIDDLE CHILD
DEAR MIDDLE CHILD: No matter what position you play in the family game, you see only the drawbacks. The oldest complains that when a fight occurs, it's her fault because she should have known better. The youngest complains because he has to go to bed earlier and can't do what the older kids can do. Frankly, I think you've got the best spot. Just try harder.

Rho Eta Chapter To Start Nu Phi Mu

Rho Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Hospitality Room of the Citizens Bank. Starting a Nu Phi Mu Chapter with Upsilon Chapter will be a project for this year. Admission to membership into the new chapter, is by invitation and between the ages of 18-22. After participating in the regular chapter activities for three years a Nu Phi Mu member is qualified to transfer to a Ritual of Jewel Degree Chapter, which Rho Eta and Upsilon are. Mmes. Jack Chisum, C. L. Farmer and Raymond Williams presented a program on "Architecture." Mrs. Dick Wilson was elected to represent the chapter for the committee to plan the "Woman of the Year Tea" in April.

Refreshment of cherry tarts and coffee were served from a table covered with an ecru lace cloth by Mmes. Haldane Suttle, T. L. Garner and Ken Peeples. Members attending were: Mmes. Bob Burner, Jack Chisum, Ricce Fields, John Langford, Doug McBride, Cletus Mitchell, Ken Peeples, Haldane Suttle, James Tursty, Raymond Williams, Sam Anderson, Doyle Beckham, James Brooks, John Conway, Jerry Davis, Eddie Duenkel, LeRoy England, C. L. Farmers, Richard Gardner, T. L. Garner, Jack Gillpatrick, "Hunky" Greene, David Jones, Howard Lee, Bob Rogers, Allan Smith, Darrell Spoonmore, Travis Taylor and Bobby Turnbo.

DEAR ABBY: My husband flipped his lid because I was up ironing at two o'clock in the morning. I like to do my work at night when the children are not underfoot and as long as it gets done I don't see why he should care when I do it. He said if I didn't watch TV all day I'd get my work done in the daytime. So now he takes a tube out of the set before he goes to work. Abby, I have eight children under 12 and no help, and watching TV during the day (and I don't watch "all day") is my only relaxation. Do you think he's being fair?

PUNISHED
DEAR PUNISHED: Your husband is behaving like a tyrant. With eight children under 12 and no help, any relaxation you can grab during the day is well earned. Tell him to take care of HIS job and you'll take care of yours.

DEAR ABBY: I work out because I have to support myself and my little pre-school daughter. I have a friend who offered to look after my child in her home during my working hours, which are noon until six. Nothing was said about money because she offered, saying it was no trouble and that my little girl would be good company for her little boy who's the same age. I later heard that she told someone that I was cheap because I never offered to pay her. I thought friends did things for nothing.

STRANGE FRIENDSHIP
DEAR STRANGE: Friends do. But apparently you put a strain on your friendship by routinely leaving your child with her every day. If she complained behind your back, take the hint and either offer her money or make other arrangements for your child.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Leather-Lace Club With Mrs. Graham

The Leather and Lace Riding Club held its first monthly meeting of the new year, Jan. 2 in the home of Mrs. W. F. Graham, 1928 Grape.

Members of the club voted to buy new costumes for this year's activities. Other business was to welcome three new members, Betty Phillips, Mrs. Kotara and her daughter, Dorra and to make plans to attend the indoor Rodeo in Amarillo Jan. 19. Also, a discussion was held on a club project, which was to be a dance on Feb. 15 at the VF WHall, if arrangements could be made.

The next monthly meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Nell Henry, Feb. 6. The club ended 1962 with a Christmas party at Pool's Steak House. After dinner, the activities included the exchange of gifts and the showing of a film, taken at

FRACTURED DRIBBLER

'Blackmail... Treason'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Blackmail tactics, sabotage, flagrant doublecrosses... These were some of the words used by Col. Donald F. Hull, executive director of the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU), today in his latest attack upon the National College Athletic Association (NCAA).

Hull was particularly incensed over the action taken by NCAA delegates at their annual convention in Los Angeles this week advising college athletes not to compete in AAU-sanctioned meets, such as the Knights of Columbus indoor track meet at Boston Saturday night.

"At a time when General of the Army Douglas MacArthur has called for the AAU and NCAA to mediate the track and field controversy, the NCAA has adopted a four-point program designed to torpedo the chances of the United States in all international competitions," Hull said.

"This is another in a series of NCAA 'blackmail' tactics to destroy the AAU," the AAU leader declared. "In our opinion, preventing coaches and athletes from participating in AAU programs indicates that the greed of the NCAA hierarchy is stronger than their patriotism."

"The athletes of the nation have never been the victims of a more flagrant doublecross. At a time when we are priming our athletes for the Pan American Games, the NCAA has withdrawn its athletes from competition in an overt act to sabotage the team."

Wilhelm, Morgan Collide In Golden Gloves Meet

The tempo picks up in the Pampa District Golden Gloves Tournament as the open fighters take to the ring for tonight's bouts, starting at 8 p.m. in Optimist Boys Club Building.

The first night of the tourney, with 26 bouts, featured fighters mostly in the high school division and four pee wee finals last night.

One of the featured bouts of the tournament is slated for tonight in the 147 open class — Pampa's Gary Wilhelm and Canyon's Ronnie Morgan. The two are real ring veterans with several tournament trophies to their credit.

The 126-pound class provided the fans with the most excitement in two rugged battles. In the first bout, Don Clement, Canyon, won a hard-fought decision from Pampa's Gale Martin. The fighters traded hard punches through all three rounds.

Tommy Valesquez, Liberal, decision Jesse Dean Reed, Pampa, in another slug fest in the 126-pound division.

Another top match for tonight in the open class pits Pampa's Kenneth Wood against Glen Seymour, Guymon in the 135-pound class.

On tap for tonight in the open class is a battle between two heavyweights, Elmer Clement, Canyon, and Delton Weights, Borger.

West Is Favored In NFL Pro Bowl Tiff

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The violent world of professional football reaches its annual climax Sunday in the 13th Pro Bowl, pitting stars from the Eastern Division against top-ranked players from the Western Division.

The West is favored in the betting marts by 3½ points, probably because of the presence of eight members of the champion Green Bay Packers on the squad.

The West has an 8-4 edge in the series. Green Bay coach Vince Lombardi is masterminding this year's western effort and he's got quite a psychological edge — Lombardi has never lost a game as a head coach in the Memorial Coliseum here.

His starting lineup will probably be sprinkled with a large representation of Packers including fullback Jim Taylor, league-leading rusher and scorer during the 1962 season. Taylor was hospitalized briefly this week for observation of abdominal pains. Appendicitis was suspected but the pains subsided and he was given an okay by the doctors.

Coach Allie Sherman of the New York Giants, champions of the Eastern Division, is handling the East squad. His No. 1 quarterback is Y. A. Tittle, 38-year old Giant signal caller.

Sherman will have a fullback who can almost match Taylor in Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns. Brown was named player of the game in the Pro Bowl last year even though he and the Easterners lost 31-30.

In addition to the pride in victory, there's a money incentive for winning the Pro Bowl. Each member of the winning squad gets $800. The losers have to be content with $600 for the afternoon's work.

Royals Floor Celtics To Post NBA Win

By United Press International
Travel is supposed to be broadening but it nearly flattened the Boston Celtics.

The road-weary National Basketball Association champs finally returned home today after a long, uncomfortable trip which took them from one end of the country to the other and on which they won only four of nine games.

The rigors of the trip were noticeable Wednesday night when they lost their first game of the season to the Chicago Zephyrs and became even more apparent Thursday night when the Cincinnati Royals scored their first home-court victory over the Celtics in two years, 130-121.

Cincinnati last beat Boston at home on Jan. 30, 1961.

In their loss to the Zephyrs, the Celtics were minus Bill Russell, who was out with an injury, but even though he returned to action Thursday night and scored 31 points it wasn't quite enough.

Oscar Robertson registered 41 points for the Royals and was at his best early in the final quarter after the Celtics had taken a 100-98 lead. The Big O personally outscored the Celtics, 10-2, in the next two-and-a-half minutes to put Cincinnati in front for good.

No other NBA games were scheduled.

Shula To Name Assistants Soon

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — Don Shula, new head coach of the Baltimore Colts, says he may name one of his players to assist him with the coaching duties.

The 33-year-old Shula, hired from the Detroit Lions' defensive coaching staff to replace Weeb Ewbank, signed a two-year contract with the Colts Thursday.

Formerly a Colt player himself, Shula said he has no major staff changes in mind but was weighing the idea of naming a Baltimore player to assist with the coaching.

Shula said the prospect of working with 11 former teammates "doesn't worry me in the least."

His chief concern now, he added, is lining up his assistant coaches. He considers five the ideal number but said he had no intention of importing any Detroit staff members.

Baltimore Bids For Title Bout

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Fight-hungry Baltimore cordially invited Floyd Patterson today to visit the city and be convinced that's where he should meet Sonny Liston in their return heavyweight title bout.

Champion Liston is so Baltimore conscious that on Thursday he called off his tentatively scheduled match with Patterson at Miami Beach, April 4, and demanded that Floyd fight him at Baltimore in May if he wants the return shot.

Lou Grasmick, wealthy Baltimore lumber dealer and civic leader, said today, "I've wired an invitation to Floyd to come and inspect Baltimore's new $14 million civic center, and meet our Civic Center commissioners and our boxing commissioners and a flock of other people."

Grasmick added that he had told Floyd to bring his advisor, attorney Julius November, and members of his training camp entourage, and the promoters from Championship Sports, Inc., and other friends.

"I told Floyd that Baltimore is hungry for a big fight and that no metropolis in the world would welcome his fight more heartily," Grasmick said.

Grasmick, one-time professional baseball pitcher who worked a couple of games with the Philadelphia Phillies, said the Civic Center could seat 14,000 for a fight and provide a gate of between $200,000 and $250,000.

Lumber dealer Lou emphasized in his telegram that Championship Sports need not tie up with any Baltimore promoter in order to stage the fight at Civic Center.

President Tom Bolan of Championship Sports announced Thursday that plans for the Miami Beach fight in April had been "halted."

Rebels Split With Dumas

Robert E. Lee's ninth graders downed Dumas' ninth graders, 54-40, but the Rebel eighth graders lost in overtime, 28-27, in a double header between the two schools.

High point honors for the ninth graders went to Steve Swanson with 11 and David Cain, 11.

For the eighth graders, James Matney was the leading scorer with 11 and Jack Thompson had eight.

The Rebel ninth graders will enter the Tula Tournament tomorrow with the Shockers.

We price them small. But we build them big.

$2964 is the kind of price most people associate with a smaller car. They seldom expect to find it on a full-size, precision-engineered Chrysler Newport 4-door sedan.

After all, look at all the value a Chrysler offers. Features like torsion-bar suspension; all-welded, one-piece body; carpeting; trip odometer; and the Newport engine that performs like a champ on regular gasoline.

Then, there's the way a Chrysler is put together. Quality all the way. So well made, in fact, that your Chrysler dealer provides you with America's longest and best new car warranty†—5 years or 50,000 miles. You have fewer worries about expensive repair bills. And because the warranty can be passed on to the next owner, you can count on excellent Chrysler resale value.

So, if you cotton to smaller prices, big value and big cars (remember, we don't build any jr. editions) get in touch with your Chrysler dealer.

Pampa Clashes With Bulldogs

Old rivals will warm up Bulldog Gym in Borger tonight as Pampa's Harvesters go after district win number four and attempt to stretch the Pampa winning streak to 14.

Pampa and Borger, long time rivals in the war of the hardwoods, meet at 8 p.m. tonight with the "B" teams battling in the first half of a double header, starting at 6:15.

The victory-starved Bulldogs, winless in district play, will be out to chew Pampa's winning streak to threads in the fracas.

In other District 3-AAA games slated for tonight, Amarillo plays at Lubbock; Monterey at Tascosa; and Plainview at Palo Duro. Amarillo's perfect record will be seriously challenged tonight by the Westerners of Lubbock who have lost to the other two league leaders, Pampa and Plainview by narrow margins. Lubbock lost to Plainview, 61-60, and Pampa 72-69. In fact, the Westerners are favored by many to hand defeat to the Sandies.

Humiliation has been dealt the Bulldogs by neighbors from the southlands, Plainview and Monterey. Both teams have whipped the Bulldogs soundly in the Borger High gym. Never before had the Bulldogs from Plainview out-growned Borger in its own kennel. Plainview battered Borger, 69-45, and Monterey out-scored the Bulldogs, 58-50.

The Sandies of Amarillo handed Borger its third loss in district action in as many games Tuesday night, 71-53.

the prowl for victory—a tasty meal at the expense of Pampa. Coach Tex Hanna's players have fair height this season. However, the Bulldogs have neither the tall man or the experience necessary to keep up with the scorching race in Dist. 3-AAA this year.

Hanna is expected to use Joe Robinson and Roland Franklin at post positions and will go with Royce Barron, Robert Tillman, and Raymond Burns outside. All but Tillman are 6-5. The small member of the quintet is 5-9.

Top Borger Scorer
Franklin is the top Borger scorer in district play this year with a 16.3 average, the fifth best in the conference. Burns owns an 11.7 average and Tillman an 8.0 average in district play.

Coach Terry Culey can be expected to leave his highly successful combination of Randy Matson, 6-6½; Keith Swanson, 6-0; Wayne Kreis, 5-9; Gary Sikes, 6-3½; and Gordon Balch, 6-1 intact for tomorrow night's battle.

The Harvesters were hand-picked Tuesday night by a determined Lubbock quintet. Pampa, suffering its only loss of the season due to poor free throw

In games played last year between the two schools, Borger handed Pampa two losses, one a 62-60 overtime fracas. In the second encounter, the Bulldogs won handily, 57-45.

Offensive Thrust
Pampa's offensive thrust is well-rounded this year with all five starters capable of scoring in the double figures. Pampa's guard combination of Kreis and Swanson is the highest scoring in the district. Kreis is the top scorer at the end of three games with a 22.3 average. Swanson is no six in conference play, scoring at a 15.7 clip.

Pampa is the highest scoring team in the district this season, 71.3 points per game, with Plainview in the second spot, 67.3. The brand of basketball played by the Pampa cagers allows point-making as exhibited by the 60 points a game allowed by Pampa's defense.

Casper Leads Pack In San Diego Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The second round of the $25,000 San Diego Open golf tournament got under way today with most of the players wondering just what kind of golf they were going to have to shoot to get in the money.

There were 46 professionals and one amateur who broke par Thursday. Of these 30 shot in the sixties — and still none of them caught Billy Casper.

Casper fired a seven-under-par 64 on the par-71 course. Tony Lema, PGA champion Gary Player and Canada's Stan Leonard each shot a 65 — and all that got them was a tie for second place.

The Stardust Country Club is a short (6,800 yards) on flat ter-

He had nines of 33-31 and that's what he needed to hold a lead. He may have been helped some by afternoon rains that drenched some of the men who were late to the tee.

Player was consistent with a 32-33.

"This could have been one of my great rounds," said the South African. "I've had my clubs remodeled and they are going to be perfect for the winter tour. But I didn't putt as well as some of the others. If I had, I could have shot a 60."

He did get one 30-footer down for an eagle-three. He also had birdie putts of 25 and 17 feet—so it wasn't bad.

Lema scrambled all over the course, but made up his deficiencies by getting a few breaks. He tanked an 80-foot chip shot for an eagle on the first hole he played. And on several others he sank long putts for birds or pars.

Even with their great shooting, these men didn't pull ahead of the field.

At 66 came Fred Hawkins, Julius Boros and Jack Cupit. And at 67 were Lionel Hebert, Tommy Bolt, Phil Rodgers, Bud Holscher, Charley Sifford and Gardiner Dickinson.

Colt Farm Teams Answer To Future

HOUSTON (UPI)—While the neophyte Houston Colts were finishing in eighth place during the recent season, their farm hands were faring much better and posting the third best won-lost record in the National League.

The Colts' four minor-league teams posted a record of 274 wins and 271 defeats for a percentage of .503, bested only by farm clubs of the Cincinnati Reds and the Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves, with eight clubs, won 556 and lost 516 for a .519 mark while the Reds with five clubs, won 343 and lost 328 for a .511 mark.

The Detroit Tigers, with six farm teams, led the majors with a record of 432 wins and 337 defeats.

COACH RETIRES
CORTLAND, N.Y. (UPI)—Carl (Chugger) Davis has announced his retirement as football coach at the state University College of Cortland after 30 years of service, 20 of them as head coach. He will continue as a physical education professor and head golf coach.

rain. But on top of that, it has some of the finest greens in the world. The result is a field day for the professionals.

"If the players can't putt on these greens, they just don't know how to putt," said E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, the veteran shotmaker who had a none-too-good par 71.

This is the second stop of the 1953 tour and the men who were hot in the Los Angeles Open still were hot this week. Casper collected $1,350 there, but was even better here.

"I just got it goin', and it stayed that way," said Billy, a hometown boy who has made good on the pro tour.

He had putts of 40, 25, 20, 20, 18, 10 and 18 feet roll in for him. And the ones that missed were aimed dead center — either too short or too long.

Church To Publish Book Written By Theologian Who Was Fired

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Officials of the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) have decided to publish a book written by a Baptist theologian who was fired "because he should not be denied the right of free expression."

Rev. West Gives Sermon Subject

"Your Nearest Relative" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. Russell G. West Sr., on Sunday morning at eleven o'clock at the Church of the Brethren, 609 North Frost.

Sunday School opens at 9:45 with classes for all age groups. At 7 p.m., the church will meet for worship, coming to a climax in a service of Communion. This communion is open to all Christian people. The public is invited to all our services.

agreed to publish a paperback edition after an advisory committee decided the work should be published a second time.

"The book represents a moderately conservative theological and critical position," said Darrell K. Wolfe, director of the Bethany Press. "It is well written from the point of view and style. While it is not a major scholarly work, we believe that it will fit the Bethany line without discredit."

The advisory committee said that among Disciples, Methodists or Presbyterians, the book would not have met strong opposition. "But for the sake of truth as he sees it, Dr. Elliott has bravely risked his career—and has, in fact, lost his job," Wolfe said.

Sr. Missionettes Elect Officers

The Senior Missionettes of the First Assembly of God Church met at the church Monday night and elected officers.

Those elected were: LaGaya Williamson, president; Linda Taylor, vice president; Sherry White, secretary and reporter; and Gwen Schlumbohm, chaplain.

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
Organized religion thus far has played a relatively minor role in the struggle for racial justice in America.

Religious leaders acknowledge this fact, and find it humiliating. Next week, in Chicago, they will try to make amends. Representatives of 70 Protestant, Catholic and Jewish organizations will meet at the Edgewater Beach Hotel Jan. 14-17 for a "National Conference on Religion and Race."

This conference is significant for two reasons:
1. It is the most ambitious attempt yet to galvanize America's religious bodies into effective action on racial problems.

2. It is the first national meeting which has ever been called in the United States under the joint sponsorship of all three major faiths.

Convenors of the conference are the National Council of Churches, the National Catholic Welfare Conference, and the Synagogue Council of America.

A distinguished Negro educator, Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College in Atlanta, Ga., will serve as chairman.

It is anticipated that the 600 delegates will adopt a statement of conscience detailing the reasons why they regard the elimination of segregation as one of the supreme moral challenges facing Americans in this generation.

As a joint expression of conviction by Protestants, Catholics and Jews, such a statement may carry some weight. But the organizers of the conference realize that racial barriers cannot be battered down with moral arguments addressed to the general public.

The real business of the four-day meeting will be drafting a series of recommendations for action by religious organizations, including local churches and synagogues.

Mathew Ahmann, executive secretary of the conference, said the recommendations will be specific and down-to-earth. They will spell out concrete things that Christians and Jews can do, together or separately, to combat racial discrimination in such areas as housing, employment, education and worship.

A "follow-up committee" has been organized to insure that the ideas generated at the national conference are widely disseminated to religious groups at the state and community level.

How much action they will stimulate remains to be seen. In the past, churches and synagogues by their own admission have been long on talk and short on performance in this controversial field.

But there is evidence of rising impatience among laymen as well as clergy with this inaction.

Across the nation, churches and synagogues have "social relations committees" which are looking for something to do besides listening to speeches. It is just possible that the National Conference on Religion and Race may provide them with the kind of blueprint they need to roll up their sleeves and get to work.

Rev. Snow Gives Sermon Topics

The pastor, Rev. Carson Snow, will be preaching from 1 John 4:18 in the Church of the Nazarene morning service at 10:30 a.m. Sunday and the sermon will be entitled "Perfect Love."

In the evening service he will be bringing a message dealing with the possibility of our duplicating the original Pentecostal experience in its essential aspects.

Both of these messages will treat the subject in the Wesleyan concept of holiness as the Church of the Nazarene believes it and as many of the other Methodist family of churches teach it.

'Prayer Power' Is Sermon Topic At First Methodist

"Prayer Power" is the sermon topic Dr. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will preach on at the two morning services this Sunday.

The 8:45 a.m. service is broadcast over radio station KPND and the 11 a.m. service is broadcast over radio station KBMF — FM. The special music for the 8:45 a.m. service will be the anthem, "The Spacious Firmament on High," which is an adaptation from Franz Josef Haydn's "Creation," sung by a mixed quartet.

The Sanctuary Singers will present this same selection for the 11 a.m. service. In addition to the anthem the Sanctuary Singers will sing "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," by H. R. Shelley, for the Offertory Anthem; Mrs. Hubert Carson will be at the organ for both services.

Sunday Evening Fellowship will begin at 6 p.m. with a light supper for the entire family in Fellowship Hall. At 6:30 p.m., children, youth, and adults will separate for one hour of Fellowship Group activities according to interest and needs. The Adult Fellowship will meet in Fellowship Hall for the Mission Study.

The Sunday Night Worship Service at 7:30 will be conducted by Rev. Rodney Williams, associate pastor, who will speak on the subject, "Faithfulness in Discipleship."

Wednesday, January 16, will be Family Night at 7 in Fellowship Hall.

Mission study this Sunday will be led by Mrs. Paul Bowers, who will continue the study on "Rim of Asia."

'Gift To The Magi' Topic For Hauck

The sermon subject for Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian Church will be, "A Gift to the Magi," based on the second chapter of Matthew, and in keeping with the Epiphany season.

The Pastor, The Reverend Donald S. Hauck, will preach the service and will be assisted in the service by Ruling Elder E. L. Henderson. Prior to morning worship, at 9:45, all Church School classes will meet as will a new Inquirer's class, which will meet in the Kelley Memorial Chapel. The fellowship groups will meet at the usual times of 5:30 p.m. for the Junior Hi's and 6 p.m. for the Senior Hi's. These fellowship groups are followed by Evening Prayer at 7:45.

On Wednesday and Thursday, January 16th and 17th, the Presbytery of Plains will meet in Jackson, Texas. Ruling Elders, J. A. C. Beale and George Friauf, plan to accompany the pastor to this Station meeting.

Rev. Allison's Sermon Topics Are Announced

Sunday School at the Highland Baptist Church begins at 9:45 a.m. There are departments and classes for all ages.

The teachers in the adult classes will be teaching the lesson, "Jesus Begins His Work." Present day Christians sometimes will stand alone on issues, but this lesson will show you how you can always have someone to call upon.

For the 11 a.m. Worship Service, Rev. Allison has chosen to speak on the subject "Heavenly Harvest." He will read the scripture as found in Revelation 7:1-17. He will use Rev. 7:14 as his text.

During the Training Union Hour, which begins at 6:30 p.m., the subject, "The Faithful Witness," will be discussed. Training Union will be followed by the evening worship service at 7:30 p.m., during which time Rev. Allison will read Matthew 23:1-39 from the Bible and speak on the subject, "An Unanswerable Question For Every Unrepenting Soul."

Roy Harper, minister of music, will direct both the Adult and the Junior Choirs and the congregation in the song services. He will be assisted by Mrs. Don Stafford Jr., Choir Director, and Mrs. Gene Winegeart, pianist.

Regular Monthly Business Meeting will be Wednesday night, January 16, at 7:30 p.m.

Ten Deacons Named By Local Church

Recently the Central Baptist Church elected 10 men to serve as deacons, bringing the number of deacons to 25. Those elected by the church were: W. C. Bass, Jr., J. D. White, Billy J. Chance, Bob Ratiiff, Laven Greer, L. B. Paden, W. E. Riley, Curtis Liles, James Sellers and H. A. Muns.

On Sunday night, February 3, all of these men, with the exception of H. A. Muns, will be ordained. Muns is already an ordained deacon but has just been elected to serve as a deacon at Central.

The Sunday School, meeting at 9:45, is striving for an average attendance of 700 in the month of January. If they achieve it, this will be the highest average attendance for January in the history of the church.

The pastor, Rev. Theron O. Upshaw, will preach both services Sunday. He will speak on "Linger in Lot" at the morning service, and on the subject "Judge Not" at the evening service.

A Fellowship for the Seniors and Young People will follow the Evening services. This will be held in the Social Hall of the church.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The year 1963 looks like a year that could be most rewarding to traders who can judge the intermediate trends, says Harris, Upham & Co. The playing field for the Dow-Jones industrial average is likely to be largely within the 660-580 range.

As we enter the new year the market is not low on the basis of cost of buying values, but there is hope in the recent heavy odd-lot selling and the large short interest, that the recovery can explore the 660-680 area which appears to be an objective of the year-end rally.

New commitments should be made only on a very selective basis at price concessions, says the Alexander Hamilton Institute. Low priced and severely deflated issues have failed so far to participate impressively in the market's recovery, while "glamor" and defense stocks have fluctuated erratically on news developments.

St. Paul To Start Vesper Services

St. Paul Methodist Church will begin Sunday Vesper Services at 9 p.m. Sunday and continue them through the month of January.

Theme for the morning worship service Sunday will be, "The Message of the Evangel." The theme for the vesper services will be, "Learning to Walk."

The anthem to be sung by the church choir will be, "Holy, Holy, Holy," by Dykes.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship will have its Snack Time at 6 p.m. and MYF at 6:30 p.m. The Senior Highs will study the filmstrip lesson, "How About A Date," led by Mike Smith. The Junior Highs will be led in their program by Mrs. E. N. Franklin on "The Customs and Religions of Korea."

The Official Board of St. Paul Methodist Church will have a breakfast meeting Tuesday at 6:30 a.m. in the Coronado Inn. Dr. Joe Gates is chairman.

Dr. Carver Gives Topic

Dr. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pampa, will be in the pulpit for the 11 a.m. worship and will speak on the topic, "Were You Invited to the Wedding?"

The Church Choir, under the direction of Joe Whitten, will sing "We Thank Thee, Lord," by Bortniansky; Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play "Beside Still Waters" by Richolson for the offertory.

At the 7:30 evening service, Rev. M. B. Smith will be the guest preacher. The Church Choir will sing "Under His Wing" and the organ offertory will be "Andante" by Overholt.

The regular Mid-Week Service will be in the charge of Joe Whitten, minister of music, Wednesday at 7:40 p.m.

HOW TO PLEASE YOUR HOME ECONOMIST

Introduce a lady to a new Cadillac—and a host of wonderful things happen.

For what feminine heart wouldn't skip a beat when the door swings open on motoring's most luxurious and comfortable interiors?

What lady could fail to thrill to the marvelous handling ease of this majestic car?

And how could she resist the magic of her first arrival in this great motor car? For her Cadillac is a gallant and considerate escort wherever she goes, and even a routine journey becomes a special occasion.

But it is her practical side that this new 1963 Cadillac makes its deepest appeal.

The car's original cost represents an unusual bargain in view of all a Cadillac provides.

Cadillac's day-in, day-out economy of operation and upkeep... and its reassuring reliability... reveal over and over its soundness as an investment.

And its remarkably high worth when the time comes for another new Cadillac will be final proof that the move to Cadillac was a wise one.

When your thoughts turn to Cadillac—as they surely must—a consultation between you and your lady and your dealer is in order.

There simply is no better way to win the favor of a practical wife.

Jeremiah 33:3 "Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not."

AN ALL-SUFFICIENT CHRIST

Christ is all-sufficient. For the artist He is the altogether lovely.
For the Architect He is the chief cornerstone.
For the Astronomer He is the sun of righteousness.
For the Baker He is the living bread.
For the Banker He is the unsearchable riches.
For the Builder He is the sure foundation.
For the Carpenter He is the door.
For the Editor He is good tidings of great joy.
For the Electrician He is the light of the world.
For the Farmer He is sower and Lord of the harvest.
For the Florist He is the rose of Sharon and the lilly of the valley.
For the Jeweler He is the living precious stone.
For the Lawyer He is the counselor, lawgiver and advocate.
For the Laborer He is the aiver of rest.
With this All-sufficient Christ nothing is impossible, for when His people pray He is ready to answer, remember, Abraham prayed and brought God almost to his own terms. Elijah prayed and called down fire from Heaven. Daniel prayed and Christ saved him from the Lions den. Paul prayed and this Christ shook the prison walls. Luther prayed and the gates of Rome shook. Knox prayed and Queen Mary trembled. Westley prayed and a great revival saved England. Muller prayed and great orphanages were reared. Roberts prayed and Pentecost swept Wales.
Christ is still the All-Sufficient, and is ever present to meet the needs of a spiritually hungry and thirsty people. He is still present to answer and "show us great and mighty things which we know not."

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the right of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Tons Of Death, At The Ready

The United States now has 200 nuclear warheads-carrying intercontinental ballistic missiles placed around the country, either in "hardened" underground silos or above ground.

At sea, aboard nine nuclear-powered submarines, are 144 intermediate-range Polaris missiles. Within a year, the total of land-based missiles-made up of three types-Atlas, Titan and Minuteman-is expected to exceed 600. By 1965, there will be more than 1,000 in ready position. Also by 1965, the fleet of Polaris submarines will number 29, carrying a total of 464 missiles with their range increased to 2,500 miles.

Here is deterrent and massive retaliation carried to almost incomprehensible degree, especially when one reflects that the warheads carried by these missiles are many times more powerful than those dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Not that there are no "small" atomic bombs. A full-scale nuclear war even today would bring them out in full panoply as tactical field weapons-rocket, cannon and air-launched-anywhere from sub-Hiroshima strength to city-busters. The United States is proudest while there are some who praise the "statesmanship" of Nikita Khrushchev for averting war over the missiles he secretly planted in Cuba, it seems a safe conclusion that had we not possessed this strength, history would have taken a different turn-and long before Cuba.

In Cuba, the philosophy of deterrence was vindicated in classic style; the balance of terror preserved the peace. Yet many persons wonder how long peace-or, rather, the absence of war-can continue when it is based upon the threat of mutual destruction. Will we not reach a point where deterrence

A Cause Of Unemployment

During November there was a sudden, substantial and unexpected increase in unemployment among teen-agers. Some 150,000 of them started looking for jobs, according to press reports. This was a puzzle to the Department of Labor, which instigated an investigation into the reasons.

One reason, which is given much less blame for such developments than it deserves, is the present federal wage-hour law.

Over the years, the minimum wage has been steadily increased. The number and classifications of workers covered have been steadily broadened. Regulation has been imposed upon regulation. The invariable result has been a decline in job opportunities for the unskilled and the beginner.

This is particularly notable in certain service industries. Retailing is a prime example. By the nature of the business, it can employ, often on a part-time, weekend and after-school basis, considerable numbers of people whose productive value is small. The employment provides them with an opportunity to develop skills and experience which will qualify them for better jobs later. But if law-imposed costs of such employment become excessively high, the stores will pare it to the limit. And then the opportunity to learn is lost.

No one can say with certainty how much of the rise in teen-age unemployment this winter was due to this cause. But there can be small doubt that it was an important factor.

Inner Administration Maneuvers to Oust Stevenson, Rusk from Present Post in New Phase

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Another chapter is beginning to take shape in inner New Frontier machinations to ease Secretary Dean Rusk out of the State Department and replace him with either Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon or McGeorge Bundy, the highly influential personal adviser to the President on foreign affairs.

Significantly, U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson is again playing a key role in this new chapter to get rid of Rusk.

Also, President Kennedy is directly involved in it. And so are two leading senators — J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the powerful Foreign Relations Committee, and Hubert Humphrey, Minn., Assistant Democratic Leader of the upper chamber.

Aides of Secretary Dillon are confidently offering to bet he will be shifted to the State Department before the end of this year. A Republican and former Wall Street banker, Dillon was Undersecretary of State in the Eisenhower Administration.

Bundy, 42, former Harvard dean, is one of the most potent members of the President's inner council. Bundy has long aspired to be Secretary of State. He was former Secretary Dean Acheson's first choice for this top Cabinet job. Bundy's brother William, a Deputy Assistant Defense Secretary, is Acheson's son-in-law.

Stevenson and Acheson have been at loggerheads for years. It's long been an open secret in Washington that Acheson and Bundy favor axing Stevenson as U.N. Ambassador, and replacing him with Bundy.

This latter scheme is where they differ sharply with Senators Humphrey and Fulbright. The two top lawmakers heartily approve of eliminating Rusk as head of the State Department. They feel he doesn't measure up to it, have told the President that—and he has agreed with them.

But Fulbright and Humphrey are against ousting Stevenson from the U.N. They think he is doing excellently there, and are emphatically for retaining him.

COMPLEX MACHINATIONS — As informed Senate Foreign Relations committeemen are absorbed watching this involved backstage power play slowly unfold, following is the way they see it shaping up:
The President is dissatisfied with Rusk. Personally, their relations are cordial and there have been no major policy disagreements between them. But the President considers Rusk markedly inadequate in bossing the State Department's vast and lumbering bureaucracy; particularly his failure to drastically shake it up.
Repeatedly, the President has been infuriated by his inability to get fast decisions and reactions from the dawdling department.
Senator Fulbright and others have been told by the President that the State Department could do much better with one-third less of its top-heavy bureaucracy. But, he added, it will take a tough and resolute Secretary of State to do such sweeping housecleaning.

Clearly, placid, easygoing Rusk is not the man for that.
That is where Stevenson comes into the picture—as far as Acheson and Bundy are concerned. They see these views of the President as a golden opportunity to kill two birds with one stone—to get rid of both Rusk and Stevenson.

This double-barreled aim was behind the recent sensational magazine article charging Stevenson with advocating an appeasement course in the Cuban Missiles showdown with Russia. The two authors (close friends of the President) got much of their controversial information from Bundy and Acheson.

Stevenson attributes much of this piece of hatcheting to Acheson.
As Foreign Relations committeemen understand it, Rusk would be willing to give up his No. 1 Cabinet post to become Ambassador to the U.N. There he would have no administrative headaches, and he would be executing policy rather than being embroiled in making it in the hectic New Frontier maelstrom.

But the big problem is how and where to "kick Stevenson upstairs."
That presents difficulties. The 1952-56 Democratic standard-bearer has many ardent supporters. Also, he is not likely to accept just any job, and there are few more important than the one he now fills.

Some White House insiders have hinted he may be offered Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges' place when he quits, presumably later this year. What, if anything, there is to that is conjectural. For one thing, even if Stevenson were offered this Cabinet post, there is no indication he would take it.

Being Secretary of Commerce is of relatively little importance—especially after being Ambassador to the U.N.
Foreign Relations committeemen are convinced that if and when Rusk is eased out of the State Department, his most likely successor will be Treasury Secretary Dillon—and not the pantingly ambitious Bundy.

One reason they believe that is that the President has indicated he thinks it would be good politics for a Republican to head the State Department. This would be helpful in promoting bipartisanship in foreign affairs—and above all be most useful to the President in running for re-election in 1964.

FLASHES—Newly-elected Senator Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., is slated to get one of the prize committee vacancies—a seat on the powerful Finance Committee. This Committee has jurisdiction over tax legislation and the controversial medical care bill. Ribicoff, former HEW Secretary, is getting this choice committee place through White House influence. The President personally persuaded Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., to name Ribicoff to the Finance Committee.
Two latest significant indications of Secretary Rusk's waning influence with the President. When the latter held his Nassau conference with Prime Minister Macmillan, Defense Secretary McNamara accompanied the President and not Rusk. Subsequently, when the President wanted to talk bluntly to Brazilian President Goulart about that country's run-away inflation, Attorney General Robert Kennedy was given this mission instead of Rusk. Bobby Kennedy and McGeorge Bundy are now the President's closest and most influential counselors on foreign policy.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

DK ED QUESTION BOX

Question: "Can a man be a good businessman, an entrepreneur without being a good salesman?"

Answer: That's a question that is hard to reduce to mathematical language. Experience, however, tends to indicate that a man, in order to be a good businessman, must be also a good salesman.

A really good salesman, is a man who never tries to sell anything that he does not believe will benefit the buyer. That's the way to gain permanent customers and be a good salesman in the long run. A salesman must find something that he is enthusiastic about and believes will benefit the buyer more than something else the buyer might buy.

One reason why a man is a good entrepreneur or good businessman, that is, is a creator of wealth, is that he has the ability to stimulate his associates and get them to realize that they are really working for themselves and that the employer is just marketing what they have produced. And the more they produce, the more the employer will have to pay them or some other employer will pay them more.

A good businessman must also believe in his own product. He must be able to stimulate his associates to believe that they are helping everyone who buys what he is helping produce.
It seems that most people become businessmen by first becoming salesmen. In the first place, they like people, they are friendly, they want to benefit those whom they come in contact with.

It has been said that more people become millionaires by way of the certified public accountant route than any other way. And probably that is because they come in contact with good businessmen and the businessmen stimulate them into taking the step to becoming employers.

The world is crying for good salesmen, and our progress is largely due to real salesmanship that helps market what is produced. A man might have plenty of ability to produce but it is of no value to him unless he finds somebody who would rather have it than what he has. So it is the salesman who is the final touch of making a success in business. There is always a job for a good salesman.

We of course would be glad to have the opinions of others on this subject.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

Proves Self-Government Does Work Every Day

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

Those who fight for their own liberty, the millions who persist on hanging on to government apron strings, rarely fail to state a case which is based upon nothing but superstition. "Because of the evil nature of man he must be controlled by government. Self-government just will not work." Of course, the initial error in this line of thinking implies that a man who becomes government is no longer a man but a god. Nothing could be further from the truth. Man, as a ruler, does not become more than a man but a great deal less. Men, usurping imaginatively a state of omnipotence, becomes a tyrant. But look at the examples of self government all around you.

When James P. Jump decided to go into the grocery business, he formed a self-governing body of one. He decided when his grocery store would be open for business and when it would be closed. He decided upon prices for his goods and rules for credit, for cashing checks, for not eating checks. As an individualist, Mr. Jump decided to buck the trend for self-service and cash and carry. He decided to provide service, to accept telephoned orders and to deliver groceries to his clients.

Mr. Jump also made decisions about holidays and vacations and various wholesale suppliers. His private life was adjusted in consideration of his business life. As a small, private enterprise retailer, Mr. Jump decided to operate his small business without additional employees but Mrs. Jump willingly agreed to the terms of her partnership with her husband and she became an integral part of a small self-governing entity. She understood the rules of self-government and agreed to them on a voluntary basis.

True, formal government intrudes into the private life of every small business but government does not create such enterprises. Except for government intrusion, private enterprise endeavors are, in fact, classic examples of self-government at work.

Tyrannical government, of course, has intruded into the private lives of private business to a ridiculous degree and this is forever the way of tyrants. In some instances government controls prices, the hours during which a business may operate and generally makes a complete nuisance of itself. Until government is stopped cold it will continue to exert more and more control upon business of every kind because government's intolerable lust for power is unthinking and unwavering.

When government — and always remember that government is composed of men — sees business in a self-governing, self-respecting and self-responsible manner, a vast hostility gathers force. How dare individuals be decent, self-governing human beings without control of government? Government cannot stand competition and it will not. It goes into action, making laws and rules for the operation of business activities which came into being through the individual efforts of basically self-responsible men and women. In return for this rape of individualism, government also levies taxes, creates control and licensing bureau; and screams that business must suffer confiscatory taxation because of the services demanded by business, when business demanded nothing. And so it will be until the omnipotent, state patrols all of our small business operations in the country several times a day and even after that because of the evil nature of man he must be controlled by government. Self-government just will not work." Of course, the initial error in this line of thinking implies that a man who becomes government is no longer a man but a god. Nothing could be further from the truth. Man, as a ruler, does not become more than a man but a great deal less. Men, usurping imaginatively a state of omnipotence, becomes a tyrant. But look at the examples of self government all around you.

CONGRATULATIONS — NOT BLAME

(Christian Economics)

A surprising amount of anger has become evident in Washington over General de Gaulle's proposal that Western Europe assume major responsibility for its own defense. The French statesman believes that under the leadership of Germany and France, Europe is quite capable of defending itself against the Kremlin tyrants. We believe that General de Gaulle should be congratulated for taking his bold stand. He is right. Germany and France, aided by the rest of Western Europe, are capable of developing much more military strength than Soviet Russia. Far from criticizing De Gaulle and Adenauer, our country should rejoice in this evidence that at long last Europe appears ready to assume the heavy burden which we have so long carried.

President Kennedy has pointed out that we are contributing 425,000 men at an annual cost of $1.6 billion to the defense of Europe. This is surely necessary until the Berlin crisis is settled, but we should not be angry at the thought of bringing these men home and retaining this huge sum in the pockets of our taxpayers as soon as conditions warrant. It is right for us to hold the line until our allies gather sufficient strength to defend themselves, but we should rejoice at this indication of their willingness and capacity to do so. This enormous saving would go far toward restoring our unfavorable balance in international trade. It would be a major step in stopping the loss of gold that threatens us with financial disaster.

Three cheers for De Gaulle and Adenauer and more power to them!

THE DOWNWARD ROAD

(The Freeman)

It appears we are descending the ladder of human values. First we attack the morality of honest effort because it has reaped materialistic rewards. Second, we put aside the educational and spiritual values of doing well the little mental or unpleasant tasks that must be done. Third, we advance the false theory of entitlement regardless of how one has loafed and mismanaged personal affairs. The pages of history clearly point out that these are the roads to human deterioration.

The Doctor Says:

Allergy to Foods Is a Serious Problem

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

"It must have been something I ate," has been the cry of ailing man for thousands of years. But even if his symptoms, whatever they happened to be, were due some food, that does not mean, as so many seem to think, that the victim is allergic to that food.

The food may have been spoiled or it may have been a food that is naturally irritating to the lining of the digestive tract when taken in a large amount. True food allergy, like food poisoning, may cause vomiting or diarrhea but in the allergic person a food that is not spoiled or naturally irritating may also cause a variety of other manifestations including asthma, nasal congestion, hives, and eczema.

When a food allergy is suspected every effort should be made to determine what food is at fault. This is not always easy.

I knew a man who got sick every time his wife gave him a certain brand of clam chowder. For years thereafter he avoided clams. One day his craving got the better of him and he ate some steamed clams. There was no reaction. After a painstaking study it was found that he was allergic to garlic which he had never knowingly used. A small amount of garlic was always present in the canned chowder. It was no hardship for him to give up garlic but he still has to be careful about eating in a many commercially prepared foods that may have garlic added.

This points up a serious problem for many persons who have an allergy to one particular food. With modern packaging it is often impossible to know what you are eating. For most people the listing of ingredients on the label is sufficiently detailed but not for persons with some types of food allergy. Many a label after listing the main components simply adds "and spices." If one of the added spices is mustard some persons who eat the product will have another of those nasty upsets and will not know why.

Frequently a person who is allergic to one plant food is also allergic to other foods of the same family and for this reason it is well to know, for example, that in addition to plums, gages, prunes, peaches, apricots, and nectarines this family includes cherries and almonds.

The important thing is to discover the related plants where the relationship is not obvious. On the other hand persons who are allergic to shellfish (a misnomer) are not allergic to fish because there is no true family relationship.

Allergic reactions are highly variable. Given the same cause, they are more severe in one person than in another and they may be more severe at one time than at another in the same person. That is because other factors such as fatigue, a superimposed infectious disease like a cold, or one's emotional state may influence the severity.

Also, cooking may destroy all or part of the allergen so that a person who cannot eat raw strawberries may be able to eat strawberry jam without any bad result.

In making this search most doctors have come to place little or no reliance on skin tests although skin testing is still a valuable means of determining the cause of allergies due to pollens and other inhaled allergens. Finally if you are found to have an allergy to a certain food this does not mean that you must forever avoid this food. Many persons after avoiding an offending food for several years find that they can tolerate small amounts at rare intervals when they are in good health.
