200 Attend Informational Dinner

Old Formula May Be Working In Project For Nursing Care Home

By JOEL R. COMBS
Pampa News City Editor

It was the old formula and it seemed to be working again! Some 200 Pampans gathered in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn last night to attend the first Informational Dinner for a proposed new 50-bed, $300,000 Nursing Care Home.

The banner behind the head table read "ANOTHER Pampa Community Project... a Nursing Care Home... to fulfill a vital community need."

And as Arthur Teed, president of the Top O' Texas Foundation, noted in the evening's festivities under way, reminiscences of an earlier

Representative Powell Has Gone Fishing?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of the House Education Committee had their own hooky problem today. Chairman Adam C. Powell apparently had gone fishing and left them locked in the schoolroom.

The unhappy committee members scheduled a closed session to look for a way out. The discussion seemed likely to be short, sharp and not altogether complimentary to Powell.

GOP Angry JFK Will Honor Abe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A GOP spokesman reacted sharply today to White House plans to honor Abraham Lincoln on the same day the Republican party traditionally honors him with dinners across the country.

President and Mrs. Kennedy plan to hold a reception next Tuesday, Lincoln's birthday, to celebrate the centennial year of the Emancipation Proclamation. Some 800 civil rights advocates have been invited.

Goes On Vacation
Powell held the gavel for about two hours and 15 minutes Monday. Then he vanished. It was reported he had gone on a two-week trip to Puerto Rico, where he maintains a beachside home. He left Reps. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., and Edith Green, D-Ore., to conduct the hearings in frigid Washington.

Republican members, headed by Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen, N.Y., were unhappy when Powell set the hearings to run through the week traditionally set aside for GOP Lincoln Day dinner speeches. When Powell's absence became apparent, they became more unhappy.

In addition, several Democrats were distinctly put out by Pow-

Government Toppled Diefenbaker Has Parley With Party Members

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, his minority government toppled by a crushing parliamentary defeat today with his Conservative party supporters before formally dissolving Canada's 25th parliament.

Diefenbaker, expected to select Monday, April 8, for a new general election, spoke to a gathering of more than 100 House members and senators behind closed doors. The meeting could bring to a head the current split in party ranks over Diefenbaker's leadership.

The prime minister's government—the first to be ousted by a vote of no-confidence since 1926—was toppled Tuesday night by two motions accusing it of indecision over nuclear defense policy. Both carried by 142-111 votes.

Defense Policy
The crisis that swept Diefenbaker's shaky government out of power was triggered by a U.S. State Department statement that Canada, by failing to accept American nuclear arms, was dragging its feet in "defense of North America and NATO."

Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson, 67, was a strong favorite to become Canada's 14th prime minister in the upcoming election.

Diefenbaker, already beset by internal party troubles, made a dramatic 11th hour plea in the House of Commons Tuesday night to save his government, but failed.

Motions Carry
Two no-confidence motions, both accusing the government of indecision over nuclear defense policy, were carried by a 142-111 vote.

Following his double defeat in Commons, Diefenbaker rose briefly to say he would call today on Governor-General George Vanier, who must sign the formal dissolution proclamation.

The Commons then adjourned at 9:05 p.m. EST, theoretically still in business until dissolution becomes official, but for practical

Auditor Advises Gray County To Hold Closely To Appropriations

County Auditor Ray C. Wilson has advised Gray County Commissioners that 1963 budget expenditures must be watched carefully and held to appropriations if the County is to operate on a cash basis without increasing the tax rate or property valuations.

Wilson's report also shows that Gray County's assessed valuation is off nearly $1,000,000 from $55,457,100 in 1961 to $54,323,322 in 1962.

"In view of the loss of almost one million dollars of taxable value," the auditor says in his report, "along with the unchanged tax rate and the resultant decline of assessed taxes, it is apparent that expenditures must be closely confined to appropriations if we are to maintain operations on a cash basis without increasing rates or valuations."

W. Germany Wants In On Nuclear Arms
BONN (UPI)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today that West Germany must be allowed to "share in the full responsibility" of a NATO nuclear defense against Communist aggression.

The 87-year-old statesman said an effective Western nuclear deterrent is intended to make any kind of war impossible.

He added that West Germany's relationship with the United States "remains the vital factor for our security."

Adenauer also told parliament in a foreign policy speech that the purposes finished until a new parliament is elected.

The 67-year-old Conservative party leader made it clear his campaign for re-election would be speeded with charges of U.S. intervention in Canadian affairs.

Pearson, a Nobel Peace Prize winner, said he wants no part of such a campaign.

"I hope very much and very sincerely that Canadian-American relations will not become a major issue," the former external affairs minister said. "It would be tragic if any of us exploited this unfortunate issue of differences of opinion between our two countries."

The nuclear controversy erupted into a crisis last week when the U.S. State Department sharply criticized Diefenbaker for Canada's failure to arm Canadian rockets and planes with U.S. nuclear warheads.

President Liberalizes His New Tax-Cutting Plans
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration today liberalized its tax-cutting plan to give a better break to a large number of married couples with low and medium incomes.

The revised plan would entitle married couples to claim a minimum tax deduction $100 larger than would the plan proposed by Kennedy in his tax message to Congress two weeks ago.

For many low-income couples this would mean extra tax savings of $14 to $16 a year.

Top Priority Goal
Kennedy has set tax reduction as his top priority legislative goal in an effort to stimulate the sluggish economy and eliminate what he called the "waste" of unemployment.

Firing Squads Working Again In Soviet Union

MOSCOW (UPI) — The crash of firing squad executions is heard with deadly regularity in Russia today.

Even though Marx and Engels, spiritual fathers of communism, strongly opposed capital punishment, the death sentence now may be imposed in the Soviet Union for a number of crimes including aggravated murder and rape.

Execution for these crimes are seldom publicized but with increasing frequency the Soviet press is reporting firing squad executions for bribery, embezzlement and thievery.

Exception To CAB Ruling To Be Filed
Pampa will join with Central Air Lines in filing an exception to the recent decision of the Civil Aeronautics Board in denying Pampa's application for making the city a stop on CAL's southwest route.

The application for the stop designation was turned down by the CAB on grounds that Pampa was located near enough to Amarillo to obtain all the desired services sought in the application.

Decision to appeal the decision was reached at a meeting this morning of the Aviation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the County Airport Board and County Judge Bill Craig.

Pact with France
Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle recently signed a treaty of friendship and cooperation which ended years of enmity between their countries.

Among other things, the treaty provides for joint military training and regular joint general staff consultations.

During the hour-long speech, the chancellor was applauded many times, particularly by members of his Christian Democratic

However, in mid-morning and after hours of consultations, Salinger issued this announcement:

"There has been so much interest manifested in the background by Secretary McNamara and other defense officials that it has now been scheduled for 5 p.m. at the State Department auditorium and it will be immediately available and open to television."

All major networks immediately announced they would carry the news conference live on television and radio.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who has spoken out loudest perhaps about the Cuban situation, said when informed of the McNamara session:

"I think a public report to the people is very much in the national interest. I've been urging a factual report for a long time."

Meanwhile, John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, was preparing an up-to-date summary of the Cuban situation for the Senate preparedness subcommittee which is looking into Castro's alleged arms buildup.

Keating, Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., and Rep. Donald K. Bruce, R-Ind., have joined others in contending there are far more Russian troops and arms in Cuba than the administration has disclosed.

Tooth Decay Doesn't 'Heal'

(This is the third in a series of questions and answers on dental health published by the Pampa News, in cooperation with the Panhandle District Dental Society, in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week February 3 through 8.)

Does a decayed tooth ever heal itself?

No, it does not. Once decay has begun in a tooth, the only way the progress of this disease can be stopped is for a dentist to remove the decayed part and place a restoration in the tooth. If the tooth is not restored, the decay process continues until, eventually, the tooth must be removed.

Does fluoridated water really reduce tooth decay?

Fluoridated water is the most effective public health measure in reducing dental decay, as proven in more than 30 years of research. If your child drinks fluoridated water, he will have as much as 60 per cent less tooth decay than he would have if he drank fluoride-deficient water.

President Kennedy and his family drink fluoridated water. So did the Eisenhowers when they lived in the White House. More than 40 million Americans, in addition to millions of people in England, Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium and many other countries, drink fluoridated water. In Ireland, fluoridation is required by law. The American Medical Association found fluoridation safe and endorsed its widespread use.

The cost of this protection is often as little as a dime a year per person — less than the price of one ice cream cone. The cost of a single filling equals one person's payment for fluoridated water for about 30 years.

Will we have a vaccine against tooth decay some day?

As dental researchers learn more and more about the role of mouth bacteria in causing tooth decay, a vaccine may become a real possibility.

Meanwhile research into the causes and prevention of dental diseases is being carried out on many fronts. Experiments with guinea pigs and hamsters are being conducted at the National Institute of Dental Research in Bethesda, Md. These experiments have led to the establishment of a direct cause and effect between certain bacteria and dental decay in the teeth of these animals. Laboratory tests have shown that germ-free animals which have been fed a diet that ordinarily causes decay do not develop caries in the absence of bacteria. On the other hand, these animals develop typical tooth decay when exposed to a single strain of bacteria taken from the mouths of animals that do have decayed teeth. Dr. Seymour J. Kreshover, associate director of the Institute, said this is a "break-through in the fight to conquer caries. We are on the way to more adequate control measures."

Crop Increase Is Expected During 1963

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Economic Research Service (ERS) predicts agriculture in 1963 will take another small but significant step toward narrowing the food deficit around the world.

ERS said world production should increase about 3 per cent in the 1962-63 crop year, repeating the 3 per cent gain made in 1961-62. The world population isn't growing quite so fast, hence there should be about 1 per cent more food available per person this year than last.

ERS is an economic arm of the Agriculture Department. It has been called, aptly, the "examining physician to American agriculture." It is more than that. It studies agriculture around the world in its effort to analyze the role agriculture plays in national and world affairs.

Higher Incomes

Its world studies indicate incomes will be slightly higher in 1963, which would offset any tendency for the slight increase in food supplies to lower world prices of farm products. World prices of primary food products rose slightly in 1962 after dropping steadily for several years.

ERS said reduction this year should be higher for several grains, cotton, cocoa beans, tea, most fruits and several oil-seeds. Production of animal products also will be up, the chief exception being wool. However, there probably will be less coffee, potatoes, corn, oats, soybeans, dry beans, olive oil, jute and hard fibers.

In most free world areas, conditions for agricultural production and trade so far in crop year 1962-63 have been favorable, ERS said. Except for limited areas of drought, the worst being in Mexico and Uruguay, it has been generally a good growing year in the Western Hemisphere.

Record Output

Western Europe had a record output of livestock and crops in 1962. Production in 1962-63 is expected to go up sharply in west Asia and much of Africa. The outlook in non-Communist South and East Asia varies from slightly to substantially higher production.

It's a different story in the Communist bloc, according to ERS. Eastern Europe saw a decline in farm output in 1962 largely because of cool, wet weather in northern countries and drought from the Danube Basin to the Black Sea. Drought also

JEARL (JERRY) NICHOLS wins competition

Pampan To Sing With Symphony

Jearl (Jerry) Nichols of Pampa, a sophomore voice major at West Texas State College in Canyon, has won a guest appearance with the Amarillo Symphony in a special concert to be given March 10 at 4 p.m. in the Tascosa (Amarillo) High School Auditorium.

Nichols, who auditioned last Saturday, was in competition with students 18 and older from Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas. He won the voice competition singing an English ballad, "There is a Lady Sweet and Kind," by Dello Jaio, and an Italian aria, "Bella Siccome un Angelo," by Gaetano Donizetti, which will be his concert number.

He was accompanied on the piano by his wife, Pat.

The division judges were Mrs. cut grain and cotton output in Soviet Asia.

Better weather in Red China is expected to step up grain production 8 to 10 per cent in 1962-63, compared with last season's low level. Output of other major crops also should increase. But there, as in the Soviet Union, farmers don't have much incentive to produce. This factor alone will continue to retard production.

Dorothy Gideon of the University of Tulsa and Mrs. Arlene Sullenberger of Texas Christian University.

Jerry is the 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jearl W. Nichols, 1100 Sirroco Place, Pampa. He graduated from Pampa High School in 1961 where he was a member of the a cappella choir for three years. He also won a place on the All-Regional Choir as a junior and was on the All-State choir as a senior. Also during his senior year he was one of the members of the popular quartet, "The Four Flats." He played the part of "Judd Fry" in the A Cappella choir musical, "Oklahoma," that year.

Jerry received an applied music scholarship to WTSC, where he is now a voice major studying under Royal Brantley. This is his second year as a member of the WTSC Touring and Concert Choir, directed by Dr. Houston Bright. As a freshman, he appeared in the operetta, "The Emperor's New Clothes," and the musical, "Showboat."

He is a member of the First Methodist Church of Canyon, where he is a soloist and choir member. He married Miss Patricia Morgan of Canyon last June and they reside at 804 Sixth Street in Canyon.

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is planting his feet for a toe-to-toe slugging match with President Kennedy. Should be quite a battle, both men being well armed with money and brains.

This political musing comes on a couple of news items out of Albany, N.Y.

Item: On Jan. 28, Rockefeller mounted an attack on Kennedy policy with respect to on-the-spot nuclear inspection in the Soviet Union. His statement added up to complaint that Kennedy was going soft; that he was moved so fast and so far from minimum safe inspection demands that Americans generally are becoming concerned for the safety of the republic. This statement probably should be read merely as a stager for more to come.

Item: The following day, Rockefeller addressed the New York State Publishers' Association. This one included a full-dress attack on Kennedy's present handling of Cuba. Rockefeller accused Kennedy of going soft on Cuba—of withholding facts before the quarantine blockade and now as the Cuban war-making buildup. This, also, probably is just a starter.

These are not the only occasions on which Rockefeller has challenged the man he very likely will confront in the 1964 presidential election. But the tempo and vigor of the Rockefeller attack seems to be stepping up. The White House noted a year ago Rockefeller's inclination to swing at the Kennedy Administration. Kennedy accused Rockefeller of turning conservative. The governor quickly denied that.

By May of last year, however, newsmen began to detect a Rockefeller pattern. During a three-day Rockefeller tour of the Rockies and the Far West, Warren Weaver reported from Denver to the New York Times that the Governor had a new goal. His western speeches were interpreted as a striving to prove himself a republican.

The pattern showed again in Rockefeller's 1963 annual message to the New York Legislature. His as-you-go fiscal policies spoke for itself. In December, 1962, Rockefeller addressed the National Association of Manufacturers. In that speech, the governor challenged Kennedy's theories of economic growth as reflected in the tax reduction program then under discussion.

The weekly newspaper, the National Observer, judged that what Rockefeller told the NAM certainly made him appear to be less a liberal. It is not so much his liberal markings that the governor needs to blur. What confronts Rockefeller is a fact of political life: A great many Republicans in the Mississippi Valley and beyond don't believe he is a Republican at all. They go along with some Democrats who have claimed Rockefeller for their own party.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., told a radio audience some time ago that Rockefeller really was a liberal Democrat at heart. Averell Harriman's similarly on record. Rockefeller's big trouble is that some Mid-Western Republicans fear that Clark and Harriman are right.

The governor will need to do something spectacular to change that. Something spectacular, for example, such as bloodying Kennedy's nose in public discussion of issues with which Americans are anxiously concerned. Two of those issues are the test ban and Cuba.

Some people will be quite surprised to learn that gelatin is used in commercial ice cream. It exerts a powerful protective colloid action and when it is used in ice cream increases the product's resistance to "heat shock," the formation of ice crystals by sudden changes in temperature.

FAR-FLUNG DISPUTE—Vast distances involved in the India-China border dispute are revealed when India is superimposed on a map of the U.S. Though India has vowed to regain all the dark shaded territory, reports from Peking and New Delhi indicate a peaceful solution may be in the offing. According to the reports, China would withdraw permanently behind the McMahon Line in the east, the northern border of NEFA (India's North East Frontier Agency), giving up about 2,000 square miles seized during the fall offensive. The border in Kashmir would be restored to its status of September 1962, but the Chinese would retain a 12,000-square-mile area in which they have built a highway connecting the provinces of Sinkiang and Tibet.

Probe Starts In Vice Case

CORPUS CHRISTI (UPI)—Two young women told police today they were drugged, beaten and forced into prostitution. Officers made four arrests and said more than 100 more arrests may be made to smash a statewide vice ring.

Texas Rangers and Department of Public Safety intelligence men were called into the case.

Police said the four arrests were only a start toward breaking up the ring operating across the state.

Justice of the Peace Johnnie Roberts said he would call a court of inquiry, if necessary, and subpoena witnesses from throughout the state.

Police said a number of girls may be involved in the case.

He took the girl, age 22, from a motel to his base and they called a constable.

The girl, from Flour Bluff, Tex., told the sailor she had been forced into prostitution.

Police raided a motel and arrested four persons. They were charged with false imprisonment by abduction for the purpose of prostitution.

They were identified as William M. Stevens, 44, his 19-year-old wife Betty; Donald Caldwell, a 34-year-old hairdresser; and Clabion Booker, 39, a bellhop.

He looked for the attendant he had left in charge. He was gone. But, Gist did find the keys to the station and a note which read:

"I quit."

A further search revealed $34.67 missing from the cash register. Gist told police.

The missing attendant was located but denied any knowledge of the missing money.

Police Chief Jim Conner said the youth would be questioned further today.

Claims Missiles Exist

Bruce charged in a House speech Monday that the Russians still had 40 or more offensive missiles hidden in Cuba. He said the Soviets shipped in 82 to 88 missiles instead of the 42 which they later removed from the island at the demand of the United States.

The Pentagon said that Bruce was "incorrect." It also denied that the United States had received such information from diplomats of friendly foreign countries stationed in Cuba, as Bruce had claimed.

to the point where a set of architect's plans have been provided (by the firm now headed by Gene Hollar), and a firm has been hired to conduct a community-wide finance campaign (the Hokenbury System), same organization which conducted the hotel drive).

Last night's dinner was an informational event and organizational work on the finance campaign is now underway.

Teed, called on Dr. M. C. Overton Jr., the foundation's vice president, to introduce the members of the ToT Foundation board of directors and the advisory board for the home.

Directors are Teed, Overton, James McCune, Mrs. Spoonmore, E. O. Wedgeworth, Sam Begert, George Scott, Mrs. Adrienne Foster, E. E. Shelhamer, and Rev. Hubert Bratcher.

Members of the advisory board are Mrs. Jewel Castleberry, Mrs. Dick Hughes, Mrs. Rufe Jordan, Mrs. Inez Carter, C. P. Buckler, A. A. Schuneman, Aaron Sturgeon, Frank Culbertson, E. L. Henderson, John Gikas, J. B. Massa, Warren Hasse, Rev. E. Douglas Carver, Mrs. Jack Osborne, Johnny Watson and Joe W. C. Tooley.

The principal speaker at the event was Rev. Don Davidson, executive director of the Texas Methodist Homes for the Aged.

Rev. Davidson, introduced by Rev. Hubert Bratcher, urged the group, which he said would provide the nucleus for the campaign to get the home for Pampa, to be enthusiastic about its work.

He pointed out that the campaign is not "a housing project... but a project to provide tender loving care for people who can't get it in any other way."

He pointed out the need for such a home, indicating that such homes all over the United States are filled to capacity, even though some are maintained in "horrible" sanitary conditions, providing only a place for the aged to lay their head at night.

Other places, he said, are for the financially "well off" elderly and charge up to $300 per month for residency.

He urged the project be completed quickly, to help provide more spaces in the hospitals for other ill residents of the area. . . to be sure the project isn't taken care of by some governmental organization).

Rev. Davidson said, "There may be a time when you would love to have a God-given chance to provide help for your mother and father" when it's too late.

He closed his portion of the program with a question - and - answer session.

Teed next introduced Larry Lidstrom, who is directing the finance campaign for the Hokenbury System. Lidstrom urged those present to attend organizational meetings in the campaign and quoted Hugh "Buck" Burdette of Pampa as to why the drive would be a success. "There are probably more nice people per square foot in Pampa than anywhere else in the world."

HOW IS FREEDOM LOST?

Dangers that grow within our borders can string barbed wire around our freedoms as tightly as dangers that come from abroad.

But they aren't as easy to see. Some of us are hardly aware of the threat that grows within — the expansion of government-in-business.

There are hundreds of examples, from coffee roasting to ice cream making. In the field of electric light and power alone, the output of federal-government-owned plants has risen from less than 1 per cent of the industry's total in 1935 to more than 15 per cent today. This represents an investment of 5 1/2 billion dollars in federally owned electric plants and lines. And advocates of government-in-business press constantly for more.

They advocate a dangerous course, for when government owns business, it has in its hands both political and economic power — the means of controlling goods and jobs. With power thus concentrated it can become difficult indeed for individuals to preserve their basic freedoms.

Isn't it time to call a halt to the expansion of government-in-business?

Dear Abby... Friend's Like Sister To Her Husband!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: About four months ago a friend of ours came to us with a hard luck story. She wanted a divorce, so my husband paid for it. Then he invited her and her two small children to move in with us "for a while."

best friend—the pearl? CONFIDENTIAL TO BRIDGE-PORT: I am STILL disgusted with pointed-toe shoes. As one woman put it, "The only thing you can say for them is they are wonderful for killing bugs in corners."

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., for Abby's new booklet, "How To Write Letters For All Occasions."

DEAR NERVOUS: Since your husband invited her to live with you, he should tell her to make other arrangements. Remind him that he has enough family without adopting a "sister" and her two children.

DEAR POLLY — When I wash and set my hair at night it often isn't dry the next morning. Here is a way to dry your hair while you sleep.

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old boy is our problem. He won't do a thing unless he is paid for it. He worked last summer at a garage and we heard all over town what a good worker he was, but if we try to get him to mow the lawn or clean the basement or even his own room he will sneek out of the house before we can catch him.

DEAR POLLY — Pinkish shears do more than pink new clothes. Try them on freshly laundered curtains that are frayed on the edges. These little pointed scallops are especially effective on ruffled bedroom curtains.

DEAR CORNERED: Your son needs some affection and real understanding. Do you "order" him to do things, or do you ask him properly? I have yet to meet the normal 15-year-old boy who wouldn't respond to a little praise, a lot of love and a modest incentive.

Soiled, ragged curtains should never be thrown away. The roughness of the curtain is excellent for wiping away paint remover when you are refinishing furniture.

DEAR ABBY: Since I don't care especially for diamonds, I do not want a diamond engagement ring. Is that the only official kind of ring to symbolize an engagement? Any suggestions?

Soiled, ragged curtains should never be thrown away. The roughness of the curtain is excellent for wiping away paint remover when you are refinishing furniture.

DEAR SOON: It's the most traditional engagement stone, but ANY ring can symbolize an engagement. Since you don't like diamonds, how about an oyster?

DEAR POLLY — Whenever I go to a bridal shower, I always include a grater wrapped separately and with this little note on top: "You may think Tom (or Dick or Harry) is great but this is a little grater."

Russian Stars Tour Disneyland

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Walt Disney's mecca among the orange groves, Disneyland, today extended the welcome mat to three Russian track stars, who saw to it their schedule gave them time to visit the story book amusement park.

The Disneyland visit put high jumper Valery Brumel, broad jumper Igor Tor-Ovanesyan and middle distance runner Valery Bulishev one up on Premier Nikita Khrushchev, who became disgruntled on a visit here four years ago when his itinerary was changed and a Disneyland trip eliminated.

The Russian athletes are here for Saturday's Los Angeles indoor games at the Sports Arena.

Basking in the 80-degree heat, the track stars and their coach, Gabriel Korobkov, donned sport shirts, and with collars open engaged in a frank discussion Tuesday on track and field topics.

"It is good to see old friends like Ralph Boston and Ron Morris who competed against our athletes in international competition," Korobkov said.

Brumel, who has bettered 7 feet 5 in the high jump, refused to put a ceiling on his own efforts but said he did not feel eight feet was likely right now.

"I feel very good and if everything turns out right Saturday I hope I can turn in a record performance," Brumel said.

The slim athlete said he felt greater heights were possible indoors in the high jump than outdoors because weather was not a factor. But he said he liked to jump outdoors better.

Tor-Ovanesyan did not feel he was an outstanding broad jumper because of born ability, but attributed his success to long hours of training and competition since 1954.

"Hard work, not long legs make a good jumper," he said.

Rebels Win Two Games

Robert E. Lee's Rebels won two games yesterday as the eighth and ninth grade cage teams posted wins over Perryton.

The ninth graders, winning 32-38, were led in the scoring department by Gary Crossland with 17, David Cain 9, and Teddy Bird 8. The Rebels led 23-21 at half.

Jack Thompson with 15 and James Matney with 12 led the eighth graders to a 48-24 win. The Rebels led 23-14 at half.

The Robert E. Lee team will host Dumas in a doubleheader starting at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Pampa.

'Home Court Advantage' Is Evil Of College Basketball

By BOB RULE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Too often college basketball coaches who take their teams on the road and run into some real "home cooking" from the officials are reluctant to speak out.

They fear being labeled cry-babies. But the so-called "home court advantage," to my way of thinking, is becoming the greatest evil in college basketball. Actually, it isn't a home court advantage. In reality, it's a home officiating advantage.

There is little difference in today's gymnasiums. A good team will play just as well on a strange court as it does at home under normal circumstances. The support of a home crowd, I would guess, should be worth four, five or six points. But the home court advantage doesn't end there.

It isn't at all uncommon to see a team beat another by 15 points at home, then go on the road and lose to that same team by 15. That's a difference of 30 points. Call it whatever you wish, but I say it's home court officiating. And college basketball goes right ahead doing nothing about it. And the game is suffering.

Certainly the officials must be blamed, but I believe the coaches created the monster and they're the only ones who can do anything about it. A great majority of coaches are wild men on the bench. They scream like a wounded goose every time a foul is called against one of their players. Frequently they go storming to court's edge to berate the officials.

This serves to incite the crowd against the officials. The end re-

Boston Celtics Rip Royals In NBA Tiff

By United Press International

It's not very often that the pros are guilty of "high school shooting"—and still less often that they get away with it.

Yet that's exactly what happened Tuesday night when the Syracuse Nationals made only 28 of 45 free throw attempts and still managed to defeat the New York Knickerbockers, 120-100.

Len Chappell was the worst offender, making only three of 10 free throws, but the Nationals made up for their inaccuracy at the foul line with a fast-breaking offense that left the Knicks gasping, 60-45, at halftime. Thereafter, it didn't make much difference.

Chet Walker wound up as the Nationals' high scorer with 22 points and Hal Greer had 18. Johnny Green, who played a great all-around game for the Knicks, had 36 points in addition to 23 rebounds.

The Boston Celtics defeated the Cincinnati Royals, 106-96, and the St. Louis Hawks downed the Detroit Pistons, 126-105, in other games.

Sam Jones scored 27 points and Bill Russell had 22 for the Celtics to offset a 21-point performance by Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson.

The old Hawk combination of Bob Pettit, with 27 points, and Cliff Hagan, with 19, led St. Louis. Bailey Howell had 36 for the Pistons.

Phoenix Open Starts Thursday

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—The nomadic golf professionals open a two-week stand-in-Arizona Thursday when play gets under way in the $35,000 Phoenix Open tournament at the swank Arizona Country Club.

With California picked clean after four $50,000 tournaments and one for $25,000, plus a half-dozen pro-amateur events that brought in another $50,000, the golfers came here fat and happy. Leading the list is Gary Player, the biggest money-maker on the 1963 tour with $15,302 to his credit.

Gary, who was soundly whipped by National Open champion Jack Nicklaus on Monday in a playoff battle for the rich Palm Springs Classic purse, has now finished second three times and won once in four starts.

It's possible the man to watch here may be Gene Littler, second-leading money-winner of the 1962 tour and just about ready to return to his top form. He finished play at Palm Springs last Sunday by shooting a 64, lowest round of the tournament.

Arnold Palmer is the defending champion and, as usual, he'll draw the crowds. He won the $9,000 first prize in the Los Angeles Open. Playing in four of the five tournaments (he skipped San Diego) he has pocketed $11,900—second to Player.

Nicklaus is next in line with $11,300. Then comes Billy Casper, who has picked up $10,483, including his victory in the Bing Crosby event at Pebble Beach.

Pampa Belts Borger In 58-45 District Win

Pampa sent the Borger Bulldogs home howling last night as the Harvesters clinched at least a tie for the Dist. 3-AAAA crown with a 58-45 victory.

The Bulldogs snapped at Pampa's heels for the first quarter before the Harvesters scattered the Dog pack in Harvester Fieldhouse before almost a full house.

In other district contests played last night, Amarillo stormed past Lubbock, 81-64, and Plainview outscored Palo Duro, 75-43.

Only Monterey remains in the district running for first place with Pampa. The Harvesters and Monterey play Friday night in Lubbock in a showdown for the district title.

11-0 District Mark

With three games left, Pampa owns an 11-0 district record and Monterey an 8-3 district record. The Harvesters would have to lose all three of their remaining games for Monterey to tie the Pampans for the conference title.

In last night's tussle, the two schools played Borger's brand of basketball the first half and Pampa's the second half.

The Bulldogs succeeded in slowing down the scoring attack of the Harvesters for the first half, but were unable to lead the Pampans at any point in the game.

In the first quarter, the Harvesters relied on free throws to keep ahead of the Bulldogs. Pampa scored three free throws before Borger scored on a long shot by Roland Franklin with two minutes gone in the fracas.

Borger Trails

Borger trailed Pampa by a few points most of the first quarter and tied the score 8-8 with 30 seconds left in the initial period.

Pampans Wayne Kreis and Randy Matson bucketed field goals in the closing seconds to pull the Harvesters out of reach of the Bulldogs to stay.

Leading 12-8 at the end of one period of play, the Harvesters kept control of the game and moved to a 29-20 first-half advantage.

With 1:50 left in the first half, Pampa's lead swelled to 12 points on a field goal by Kreis.

The Harvesters played their brand of basketball the third quarter as the Pampans successfully launched the fast break attack against the visitors.

Pampa starters Kreis and Gordon Balch spent the third quarter on the bench with four fouls, but the Harvesters scoring attack picked up momentum as Pampa scored 17 points in the third frame.

Keith Swanson ignited in the third quarter to sink five field goals for Pampa in less than three minutes to give the Harvesters a 15-point lead with a minute remaining in the quarter.

Donnie Ayres and Borger's Ronnie Burns swapped baskets in the closing seconds, giving Pampa a 46-31 advantage.

In the opening minute of the fourth quarter, Gary Sikes gave Pampa a 19-point lead as he railed for a tip-in and two free throws while the Bulldogs failed to score, making the score 50-31. The 19 points was the biggest lead of the game.

Pampa Stalls

With 5:30 left in the contest, Pampa went into a stall with the score 50-35.

The Harvesters staved off the Bulldogs as the Pampans coasted to a 58-45 victory over the rival Bulldogs.

Kreis, Swanson, and Sikes lead Pampa in scoring with 18, 17, and 15 points respectively.

High point honors for the Bulldogs went to Roland Franklin with 18.

The Shockers avenged an earlier loss to the Borger "B" team as the Pampans sailed to a 56-34 victory in a game preceding the varsity tilt.

West Virginia, Duke Blue Devils Go After Southern And Atlantic Coast League Titles

By United Press International

West Virginia and Duke, those perennial southern basketball powers, are ready to tighten the belts again on two more conference titles.

It will take just one more victory in three remaining league games to clinch, the top spot for the Mountaineers. However, they'll finish in the Southern Conference still have to compete in a conference tournament at the end of the season to decide the southern representative in the NCAA championship. West Virginia couldn't go ahead for good until a jump shot by Jim McCormick gave it a 77-76 edge with just 36 seconds to play.

Giants Still Growing With Alou And Pagan

By ALVIN DARK

San Francisco Giants' Manager As told to HARRY GORDON

The Giants' pennant victory was a thin fit in 1962 and as I see it the '63 race will be closely drawn. The National is that kind of a league.

The San Francisco club will have to play right back to last season's standards, perhaps even better, to defend its title.

I believe the Giants will be stronger, not so much because of new faces, but because of the greater confidence and poise developed by winning.

Also a couple of our every day regulars grew in playing stature last season. Felipe Alou and Jose Pagan now compare with the best in the league. Alou had 30 doubles, 25 home runs and 288 total bases. When a batter approaches 300 total bases, he's definitely a menace. Pagan led the league in fielding and that's important at shortstop. He had 25 doubles and 208 total bases.

With the improvement of Alou and Pagan, it might be said that the Giants are still growing.

The Giants have established balance and good reserves. Orlando Cepeda, Charley Hiller, Pagan and Jimmy Davenport compose an excellent infield. Willie McCovey can platoon at first base or in the outfield. Harvey Kuenn can do everything but catch. Joey Amalfitano should be helpful.

Willie Mays remains the Say Hey Kid we've known for a decade. As I stressed, Felipe Alou is now a front rank outfielder in all departments. His brother, Matty, is also a superior flycatcher.

Tom Haller and Ed Bailey fortify the Giants' behind the plate solidly.

Pitching is the perennial question, of course. Every club believes more pitching will be required. We'd like to find more, too. We anticipate help from fast-balling Jack Fisher and Billy Hoelt, acquired from the Baltimore Orioles. I only hope they work out as well as Billy Pierce and Don Larsen, who came from the collegian with the overhand curve and who spent last season with Tacoma.

The top four, naturally, are Jack Sanford, Juan Marichal, Pierce and Billy O'Dell. Among them, they won 77 games last year, more than any other starting four in the league.

The Giants score and measure up defensively.

I am happy to take my chances with them.

It's almost always hazardous to look for excuses for a market that doesn't quite live up to expectations, says Colby & Co., Inc., but with the undertone obviously outperforming the price averages it is safe to look for irregularly higher levels. Colby believes the immediate target in the D-J industrial average continues to be 689-705.

With each passing day the odds for a reaction of any consequence diminish, says Investors Research Co. The overwhelming return of capital into the market has been more than enough to offset profit-taking. A higher market is the logical expectation during February, March and April.

Nuclear Rocket Still Years Away

EDITOR'S NOTE: It has been charged that the United States is moving too slowly toward development of a nuclear rocket—that it may lose the race to the planets in its preoccupation with reaching the moon. The following dispatch by a UPI space expert explores the situation.)

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Space experts agree that only the atom's fantastic energy can put men on Mars or fly them around the more distant planets of the solar system.

But after eight years of research and development, and an expenditure of $400 million, a reliable nuclear rocket is not yet a certainty.

It would be tested in flight as early as 1965. A far more realistic guess now is 1968. If that first flight turns out to be an unqualified success, it still will take at least two years more of intensive testing before anyone can say the rocket is dependable enough and safe enough to transport human beings on missions deep in hostile space.

At the present rate of progress, by the time nuclear rockets are proven and available the first men should long since have landed on the moon. By that time, however, the United States may have decided to explore Mars. Boosters of atomic energy profess certainty that it will be broken to space harness and ready for the mission.

Under Review
At the moment, the nuclear rocket development schedule is study what happened in the most recent firing of a flightless prototype engine at the atomic proving ground in Nevada.

Six experimental rocket reactors have been ground-tested so far, and project managers expect to "consume" 30 to 40 more before a flight test is attempted. When the seventh firing will take place, however, has not been decided.

There are those who believe atom-powered rocket stages might become available—if only more money and effort had been committed—for the Apollo program to land men on the moon before 1970.

But when the space race began, the only rockets available either to Russia or the United States were chemically fueled. So both countries based their programs so far on the chemical rocket technology, which was a legacy of World War II.

Cannot Wait
When the United States decided to make a lunar landing the main space business of the 1960s, officials concluded they could meet the schedule only with chemical rockets. They couldn't wait, they figured, until a brand new atomic rocket technology was perfected.

Why should they have to wait? Atomic energy obviously is far greater, pound for pound, than that extractable from the best chemical fuels.

One pound of fissionable uranium, for example, contains 10 million times the energy in a pound of gasoline. And the concept of a nuclear reactor is fairly simple. You merely heat a propellant hydrogen, in a reactor core and expel it through a nozzle.

But the atom is by nature intractable, and dangerous. It would take a 10-million-pound all-chemical rocket system to send an exploring party to Mars. Substitution of a nuclear stage would cut the weight to one-million pounds.

Such a saving in just one Mars mission, the experts say, would more than repay all the cost of developing and producing the nuclear rocket.

Problems Formidable
So why not barge ahead with an all-out crash program to make a nuclear rocket? The engineering difficulties are, as the project managers say, formidable. What's wanted at the outset is a compact reactor generating temperatures at least twice those asked of any ground-based or ocean-going atomic plant.

What's wanted are fuel core and other materials that can stand temperature extremes ranging from about 430 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, the temperature of the liquid hydrogen propellant, to 4,000 to 4,000 degrees above zero, the temperature of the reactor core.

What's wanted are rocket parts—valves, bearings, nozzles, control instruments, guidance equipment—that can operate not merely in such temperatures but in the presence of radiation levels comparable to those created by an atomic bomb.

All these things—the right materials, the right components, the necessary structural strength—must add up to a rocket that can go from zero to full power in a matter of seconds, shut down and coast a while, and then restart in the near vacuum of space.

As one authority said, practically everything ever undertaken in the space program starts out looking impossible. The nuclear rocket looked even more impossible than some other projects. But the scientists and engineers are not dismayed. They have convinced them the job cannot be done.

On 'Novel Features' Of New Hotels

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—New hotels have been springing up in the capital recently in gay profusion, like buttercups.

I don't know why so many people decided almost simultaneously to build a hotel here, but I am glad they did for it has made the winter seem more bearable.

Even under normal conditions, competition in the hotel business is rather intense. When you have five or six new ones opening virtually in concert, it gets to be a hit like a Roman holiday.

In vying with each other for public attention, they have done about everything except feed bellhops to the lions.

Each new hotel must make some sort of bid for distinction and this had led to a plethora of so-called "novel features."

In an earlier dispatch on this subject, I expressed concern lest some hotel builder become so intent on providing "novel features" he would forget to provide any bedrooms.

Thus far, that hasn't happened, but the struggle for uniqueness among the hostile hostels has been awesome to behold.

At the moment I am being awed, and maybe even overawed, by the debut of a new caravanary called the Madison. Its claim of distinction is based on something the management describes as "restrained elegance."

This, of course, sets it apart from the other new hotels, where the elegance is more or less unrestrained.

Among the Madison's novel features are heated towel racks. I assume they are what the management means in saying that the hotel is "opulent" without being "obtrusive."

If it had been striving for obtrusive opulence, it undoubtedly would have provided both hot and cold towel racks. It could even have gone a step further and put in some lukewarm towel racks.

I wouldn't attempt to judge the comparative opulence of the new hotels, but I will credit the Madison with putting out the most opulent press kit I have ever seen.

An indexed brochure whose compartments are held together by a gold cord; it is about the size of the Mona Lisa and ranks in sheer tonnage with the federal budget.

Among its contents is a booklet that advises guests of the hotel what they should wear when invited to the White House and how they should address the President and his wife.

An invitation to the White House isn't included with your room, however. So that leaves at least one novel feature available for the next new hotel.

Who Got The Bill? Taxpayers, That's Who

Among congressional lobbies, both supporters and opponents of the New Frontier found 1962 a better year than they had expected. Groups backing President Kennedy's legislative program had feared that Congress would block the Administration's goals. Organizations opposed to the Kennedy program had expected the President to be largely successful.

The record of the 1962 session of the 88th Congress proved more than satisfactory for both groups than their opposite expectations. Major business, labor and farm lobbies all felt their efforts this year were, on balance, successful. The Trade Expansion Act was a substantial cause of common satisfaction. It contained something for all of them.

The chamber of commerce considered trade legislation the principal bill of the year, and were disappointed only by the extent of adjustment assistance to be granted industries and workers injured by foreign competition.

The American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO) were especially pleased by the adjustment assistance for workers, but approval of the whole bill.

The major farm lobbies, divided on most issues, all supported the trade bill. They saw in it a way to increase agricultural exports.

The Farm Bill will illustrate how groups with opposite objectives agreed in rating the year as a successful one. The American Farm Bureau Federation was pleased that agriculture had been kept "relatively free" in comparison with the Administration's plans. The Federation was glad to see the supply-management principle excluded from feed grain and livestock provisions. The National Farmers Union and the National Grange, though not satisfied with the bill's feed grain and dairy measures, were highly encouraged by the introduction of supply-management features in the wheat plan.

The federal pay raise was an important victory of Labor, led in this year by the United Federation of Postal Clerks (AFL-CIO). Business and professional groups were highly pleased with tax relief through the self-employed retirement plans bill (Hr. 16), whose cause was championed primarily by the American Thrift Assembly.

Both the chamber of commerce and the AFL-CIO were dissatisfied with the tax bill, though not entirely for the same reasons. Labor was unsuccessful both in seeking withholding of taxes on dividends and in opposing the investment tax credit. Business groups were divided on the tax credit, with the chamber against it in principle, and other lobbies approving it in practice. Financial and other business groups were pleased to see the dividend withholding provisions killed.

The American Medical Association was highly successful in its major objective—to block federal medical care for the aged under Social Security. The American Nurses Association, on the other hand, had a disappointing year, with no progress on equal pay for women, aid to collegiate nursing education and amendment of the Taft-Hartley Act's exemption of non-profit hospitals from collective bargaining requirements.

Both the American Council on Education and the National Education Association considered 1962 an unsatisfactory year, marked by the failure of federal aid to education programs.

But the NEA successfully blocked college aid which would have included grants to private and church-related institutions, and the Citizens for Educational Freedom successfully opposed aid to the states for primary and secondary schools which it considered discriminatory to private and parochial students.

Groups representing municipal governments—the U.S. Conference of Mayors and the American Municipal Association—were particularly discouraged by the failure of urban mass transit and urban affairs department bills.

While material interests of every complexion gained important lobbying victories, "citizens" groups were the least successful lobbies in 1962.

Americans for Democratic Action described the session as "a sorry shambles."

The American Civil Liberties Union felt that the session had "a worse record in civil liberties than any in several years."

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People rated 1962 a very poor year in which they felt the Administration had no civil rights program.

Though the Citizens Committee on Natural Resources felt important progress had been made in conservation, it suffered two big disappointments in the defeat of the Wilderness Bill and the Youth Conservation Corps.

The National Council of Senior Citizens were defeated on medical care under Social Security, but they expect it to pass next year.

Well, so much for the lobbies. How about the Royal, Loyal and Battered Society of Boobs, known also as taxpayers? They got what they always get—the bill.

Spending Ourselves Rich

Money—getting it and spending it—is always one of the major concerns of Congress, but it could spark more than the ordinary amount of fireworks during the 88th Congress.

The President has committed himself to a general tax reduction as part of an over-all tax reform. Now the Bureau of the Budget announces that the federal deficit for fiscal year 1963, which began last July, will be about $7.8 billion—third largest since the unlimited spending years of World War II.

These estimates are notoriously low. Any decrease in income would certainly swell the figure, let alone any unforeseen emergency on the international scene (the Cuban crisis, for instance, has already cost $100 million).

There was a sharp division of opinion regarding a tax cut in the last Congress and it will likely continue in the new one. Members of one camp hold the logical position that no reduction in taxes should even be contemplated without a corresponding reduction in government spending, lest we set off a new spiral of inflation.

The other side argues that while a tax cut would add to the deficit at first, in the long pull it would stimulate the economy by freeing more individual and corporate money for consumption and expansion. A stepped-up economy would eventually result in more income for the government, even with lower tax rates.

One thing is certain, but few will recognize it: Governments like families, can't continue to go deeper and deeper into debt without at some stage of the game going flat broke and bankrupt.

They Went That-A-Way

The automobile, as most people know, put the horse out of business. Fortunately, at the time all this was in process, a new industry was a-borning in a sleepy California town called Hollywood.

Today, while men talk of space travel, the marriage of Hollywood and horses is as strong as ever. According to the American Humane Assn., over 1,200 horses found employment in movies and television shows last month alone.

"Tain't hay."

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

The following information comes from the U. S. Treasury Department in Washington. In the early days of our nation, before United States money was issued, there were in circulation English Shillings, French Louis d'ors and Spanish Doubloons, along with other units of the money of these nations. This naturally caused considerable confusion and slowed up trade. The American dollar was adopted by the Congress existing under the Articles of Confederation in 1785 as the unit of our money, and the decimal system as a method of reckoning. In 1792 the United States monetary system was established and the United States Mint began coining money in Philadelphia in 1793.

In 1960 the life expectancy of a man was 47.3 years and in 1963 it's 70.3 years. The vending machine of today owes its origin to the Greek inventor Ctesibius of the second century B.C. More than a $2.5 billion went into these machines in the United States last year. Advertising Age reports a new trend: the happy, smiling ladies whom you have been seeing for years in your newspapers, magazines and TV are now being slowly replaced by the average normal women without a grin. The laughing females opening refrigerators and performing their activities on stoves carried about as much conviction as a mask in a Chinese theatre. They were a bore, this publication added. The best example of the new announcements may be seen in the Bell Telephone and the Cigar Institute of America advertisements.

The Federal Aviation Agency and the National Aviation Experimental Center at Atlantic City carry on various projects in order to protect the Jet Age Carriers against many hazards. Now they are working on jet engines so that they can be altered in design to keep birds from being injected into the power plants. Birds of all sizes have always been a menace to aviation since the industry started. Other projects are being perfected to protect other parts of airliners. Imprints of birds have been found on many planes that came in contact with seagulls, swans, geese and buzzards.

Our old friend William Lyon Phelps, the beloved professor of English literature at Yale gave this advice to his students: Gem your manuscripts with short, interesting sentences and spread them between some long ones and you will be a good writer. Sorry we sometimes fail to follow the good professor's advice.

Help Wanted in Irish newspapers is always carried under Situations Vacant. Here is an ad from the Dublin Independent that amuses us:

TELEVISION FAULT FINDERS required immediately. Apply Works Manager PYE (IRELAND) LTD. DUMDURM DUBLIN.

Maybe the Irish have something in FAULT FINDERS. When our electronic box breaks down, which is frequently, our repair man often cannot find the fault.

Otto von Bismarck, said to be the greatest German Chancellor and statesman of the 19th Century, enjoyed good food and among his many classical writings, was a book entitled, "Table Talks." But no one can account for the reason a special preparation of herring was named after him.

Medical researchers at the University of Wisconsin dispel the popular notion that cow's milk is less nourishing in winter than in summer. They also blast the idea that pasteurizing in any way adversely affects the nutritional value of milk. Today's favorite gag: The psychiatrist, examining a mental patient, asked, "What would happen if I cut off your ear?" "I couldn't hear," he replied. "And what if I cut off your other ear?" "I couldn't see," answered the man. "Why?" asked the Doctor. "Because my hair would fall over my eyes," the man explained.

Country editor speaking: "A Cincinnati man remarried his divorced wife—probably hoping to hear her say some nice things about her former husband."

Russia Reported as Having Operational Missile Similar to Skybolt, With Twice Range of Hound Dog

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Russia has an operational air-to-ground missile almost as good as the Skybolt would have been if President Kennedy hadn't canceled the Air Force project.

Designated the AG-3, the new Soviet missile has an impressive range of 650 miles—or within 350 miles of the 1,000-mile range planned for the Skybolt.

Even more disconcerting, the range of the Russian AG-3 is double that of Hound Dog, the Air Force's longest-range air-to-ground missile now being used by the Strategic Air Command.

The AG-3, similar to the Hound Dog and Skybolt—is designed to penetrate missile defenses by being launched from a subsonic jet bomber at a high altitude outside the target area.

This disturbing new Soviet military capability is the main finding of a specially prepared British Royal Airforce missile report, copies of which have been given U.S. defense officials under a joint intelligence exchange agreement.

The Russian missile estimate, expected to play a major role in the British Parliament's debate over the Skybolt cancellation, has made a striking impact on the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

These military advisers are studying the British report to determine whether to recommend two radical defense changes:

—Reconsideration of the size and character of this country's manned-bomber and missile defenses.

—Reopening of the cancelled Skybolt missile project.

As a starter, the Joint Chiefs ordered a review of the Defense Intelligence estimate that concludes, "The U.S. faces a declining Soviet manned-bomber threat."

In light of the British discovery, the Joint Chiefs contend this estimate of Russian military strength is now unreliable and must be updated. Otherwise, they argue, defense policies based on the faulty premises of the old estimate could be subject to serious error.

TAKING ANOTHER LOOK—The Joint Chiefs also are examining a U.S. Naval report that the British Admiralty, which had confidently been expected to accept with enthusiasm the Macmillan government's tentative decision to build a fleet of atomic-powered subs armed with Polaris missiles, is opposed to the plan.

The reasons for the Admiralty's stunning opposition are: First, the successful testing in Australia of a new British anti-submarine missile, the Ikara, which is fired from a bomber and launches a homing torpedo that tracks its target under water. The device would be the bane of the Polaris fleet, once the Soviet discovered its secret.

Second, the Russian fleet's rapid development of "killer" submarines, atom-powered and highly instrumented, whose task will be to shadow the Polaris submarines and, at a pre-arranged hour, sink them all in a huge underwa-

INEFFICIENCY

And They Want to Plan For Us

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

Postal rates went up recently. The local branch of the total monopoly which is the post office has no 5-cent stamps. The next nearest post office, at the county seat, has no 5-cent stamps. I have already received reports of a lack of 5-cent stamps from other communities and other states. The post office never fails. It is inefficiently operated by people who are too timid to dare to try to earn a living in a competitive world. It is inefficiently managed by a system incapable of efficiency. It is an absolute monopoly which prohibits competition, absolutely.

This is not government at its worst. It is simply government and nothing can be worse. There are a thousand facets to this parasitical monstrosity and a thousand evils or more and at every touch it defies untold millions. Let me give you an example:

During the last election campaign some of the candidates were "nice" enough to travel to this local post office to buy stamps for their campaign material going into this immediate area. By so doing, they helped to increase the cost of government, while their campaign promises were concerned with economy. The local arm of the monopoly is now a third-class postoffice instead of a fourth-class station. In no way did this improve service to the customers but it did increase the salary of the postmaster, the cost of post office box rent and probably other costs not readily apparent to the jaundiced eye.

This then is government. This is part and parcel of a government which steals from the earnings of its employers to finance and support foreign governments. This is one arm of the whole government which cannot manage its affairs with any appreciable degree of efficiency while it spends billions of confiscated tax dollars as it tries to manage the entire country and all of the people. This is a segment of the government which holds hearings on crime throughout the nation while the crime rate increases in our own capital city.

Government misprints a few thousand stamps and what happens? The government prints more of the stamps to minimize the possibility of any of the citizens who pay the bills making a profit from government's stupidity.

Government thrives on stupidity. Government grows and prospers on inefficiency. If ten bureaucrats are unable to handle the work of one man in private enterprise, government employs ten more bureaucrats. The postmaster in our ghost town works a couple of hours a day attending to the business of serving the public. The balance of the eight-hour day is spent working for government, filling out forms, making reports, filing directives and other activities designed to increase the size and cost and power of government.

The President, his cabinet, the Congress and governmental appointees are directly and indirectly responsible for the hopeless inefficiency of government. Is it any wonder that the same system has bankrupt the wealthiest nation in the world—a country of people made wealthy through the genius of private enterprise?

To imagine that government wants to cure the ailments of government is to imagine thousands of dedicated bureaucrats miraculously transformed into self-responsible, self-respecting earners over night. The minute a government employs thinks in terms of actually earning his keep, he becomes a traitor to his class.

I can hear that ubiquitous socialist beginning to holler that I am against government. The truth is that government is against me. It steals from me for the support of foreign governments and those who refuse to earn. It confiscates my private property and places my life and the lives of my family in danger. It tries to tell me what to do, how to do it and with whom. It attempts to force its benevolent tyranny upon me and keep me in slavery while it pretends concern about "civil rights".

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

The Doctor Says

Fight Severe Infection With Proper Nutrition

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

All infectious diseases, even tonsillitis and small skin abscesses, have been found to cause the body to lose nitrogen. This element exists in every living cell and is supplied only by the protein in our diets. An infection that is mild in a well-nourished person may be severe or even fatal in one who is poorly nourished. This is commonly seen in epidemics which always take their heaviest toll among the undernourished.

When infection causes a loss of body nitrogen this takes place chiefly through the kidneys but, if the infection is complicated by a severe diarrhea, the proteins are swept through the digestive tract undigested and this further depletes the body's store of essential nitrogen. Add to this the loss of appetite that so often attends a fever or diarrhea and the body's chemistry takes a real beating.

Some misguided housewives, when feeding a person who is sick in bed with an infection, give the patient a diet that is high in starch and sugar but poor in protein. This may result in a serious protein deficiency and a greatly delayed convalescence.

Even though a child has diarrhea it is unwise to cut down on essential nutrients because what little is absorbed from the bowel into the blood may make the difference between recovery and death.

Although carbohydrate in the form of a simple sugar is stored in the liver and fat is stored in the deep layers of the skin and other so-called fat depots, the body has no comparable way of storing protein. In addition to a loss of protein, infection is accompanied by a loss of vitamins.

Although I do not advocate a person in good health getting his vitamins out of a bottle, multivitamin tablets may have a definite place in keeping up the nutrition of a person who has an acute infection.

When the body becomes run-down due to malnutrition, a vicious cycle is established. Not only does the infection lead to poor nutrition but poor nutrition interferes with the body's ability to build up an immunity and throw off the infection.

More specifically, it interferes with the building up of antibodies that kill the disease germs or neutralize their poisons and, with the production of the white blood cells that attack germs and other foreign bodies in the blood.

Such diseases as those due to vitamin deficiency or diabetes, which is an interference with the body's ability to use the sugar in the blood, render the victim more likely to develop an infection.

"Jerkwater Towns"

In railroading's early days, the engine stopped at streams along the way to take on water carried in leather buckets. This was known as "jerkwater" and the name now is applied to small towns where trains stop.

Declaration Copies

Only 15 of the original printed copies of the Declaration of Independence are known to exist. No trace remains of the long-hand draft of the Declaration approved by Congress and the printed text hurriedly printed the night of July 4, 1776, has been accepted as official.
