Rehearsals for the Lions Club annual minstrel show, "Rockin' in the Cotton," move into three days of hard work this afternoon, tomorrow and Tuesday nights in the Junior High School auditorium. The cast of more than 50 will take a day off Wednesday before the presentation is staged for the public on Thursday and Friday nights.

This year's minstrel, according to Max Presnell, production director, is shaping up into one of the finest attractions of the more than quarter-century of Lions Club shows.

An exceptionally fine cast has been obtained for the 1963 show, and many of the production numbers border on the strictly professional, Presnell said.

The club is making a strong bid for a big opening night audience on Thursday when a $200 movie camera will be awarded as a door prize at the charity show.

E. E. (Pinky) Shultz will be interlocutor and Bill Comas, J. C. Roberts, Norman Henry, Homer Craig, Tom Snow and Harbord Cox will appear as end men.

Among the featured acts will be "The Cotton Pickin' Six," composed of Bernice Hatcher, piano; Homer Krueger, sax; Frank Hatcher, tenor sax; Hank Gruben, trombone; Fred Stockdale, drums; and Gordy Shultz, trumpet.

Another specialty act will be the

Military Training Offered To Cuban Ex-Prisoners

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department Saturday offered Spanish-language military training and a possible haven in the U.S. armed forces to 2,500 members of the Cuban refugee brigade which conducted the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion in 1961.

The offer, the first to include Cuban officers, was extended both to the 1,113 ex-prisoners who were returned to Miami under the December ransom agreement with Communist Premier Fidel Castro, and to members of the brigade who did not actually land in Cuba.

Though it is both possible and probable that the trainees will some day return to Cuba to fight Castro, it was stressed that they would not be trained for that purpose nor will they be formed into strictly Cuban units. Instead, they will be absorbed into various units of the armed forces.

Basic Training
The original basic training schedule will be for a maximum of 22 weeks, beginning in March, but the Defense Department said:

"At the conclusion of their training, selected brigade members who qualify and elect to do so may remain on active duty with the U.S. armed forces. Those who do not remain on active duty will become members of the standby reserve."

The army said it expects between 1,000 and 1,500 volunteers from the brigade, officially the 250th Cuban brigade. Recruiting will be conducted only in Miami, and will begin with a briefing in Spanish at the refugee center maintained there by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Processing of volunteers will begin Feb. 25, and they will be shipped.

Gray Co. Livestock Show Due Saturday

The Gray County Junior Livestock Show will be held at Recreation Park on Saturday, March 2nd, featuring the junior livestock of Gray County 4-H and FFA organizations.

The County Show is sponsored by the Pampa Noon Lions Club, in order to allow competition between local county exhibitors before going into competition at the Top of Texas Show.

A total of 18 calves and 59 pigs are expected to be entered in the County Show, according to Bill Dunn, chairman of The Agriculture Committee of the Lions Club. Prizes are furnished by the Lions. All animals will be sold at auction following the regional Top of Texas Show which will be held on March 4-5-6.

Special awards are furnished by the Superior Feed Company for grand champions in both the pig and steer divisions, and showmanship awards will be furnished by the Production Credit Association and The Pampa Feed and Grain Company.

TOUGH EXAM SEEN
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's space program which has enjoyed honeymoon relations with Congress for five years, seems headed for a much tougher examination by legislative watchdog committee this session.

Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce from 1946 to 1962, will speak in Robert E. Lee Junior High School auditorium Monday, Feb. 18, at 7:30 p.m. as Pampa teachers invite the citizens of Pampa to be their guests at a reception.

Unanimously acclaimed wherever he lectures, Downing is an inspirational humorist who receives many invitations for return engagements.

His book "On The Dark Side Of Midnight," published last fall, is praised for its "whimsical humor and useable philosophy."

Bill Colvins, editor of the Midland Reporter-Telegram, says of Downing, "You will enjoy this humorist philosopher, not because he is a humorist nor because he is a philosopher, but because his faith in his neighbors and in his country is so evident that it becomes contagious and flows out to his audience."

Ordinances To Seek Increase In Water Rates

Two city ordinances, each calling for an increase in Pampa water rates, will be submitted to the City Commission at its regular meeting Tuesday night in City Hall.

One of the ordinances is sponsored by City Commissioner Will Graham and the other by Mayor E. C. Sidwell.

The decision was the outgrowth of a meeting of the commission as a committee of the whole Friday noon in Pampa Hotel.

Various rate proposals were discussed. No definite conclusions were reached, but City Atty. Bob Gordon was to be asked to draw up two separate ordinances containing proposals made at the Friday session.

It was pointed out that the ordinances will go before the commission only in the form of proposals and that there were no recommendations that either of them be accepted.

This indicated that there may be further changes suggested and considered before final water rate legislation is adopted.

Chief differences in the ordinances to be submitted Tuesday night are expected to lie in the rate increases proposed for water customers outside the city limits.

It was suggested at Friday's meeting that figures on the proposed rate increases not be released until a more definite agreement is reached on just what they should be.

"Right now," Mayor Sidwell said, "we still are trying to come up with a water rate schedule that will be fair to those both inside and outside the city limits."

Pampa News Is Offering A New, Unusual Book

Beginning today, the Pampa News is offering its readers an opportunity to order a new and unusual book on Texas.

It is called the "Five States" GUIDE TO TEXAS because it divides Texas into five areas of common interest, climate and agriculture. This unique treatment of the vast Lone Star State makes an easy and convenient reference guide.

Area one is Northeast, North Central and East Texas, including Fort Worth and Dallas; area two is Southeast Texas and upper Gulf Coast, including Houston and Austin; area three has the lower Gulf Coast, South and South Central Texas, the Rio Grande Valley, including San Antonio and Corpus Christi; area four includes West Texas — El Paso, Midland, San Angelo — and the Big Bend Country; and area five defines the Panhandle and the South Plains, including Amarillo, Pampa, Abilene and Lubbock.

Cities and towns in these areas are arranged alphabetically and have pertinent facts on population, climate, business, history and points of interest, as well as other statistical information.

The GUIDE, published by Five States of Texas, Inc., in Dallas, is a history and reference book, as well as a complete guide for Texans and tourists.

Facts about Texas — climate, education, military installations, religion, government, business, industry, Indians, wildlife and plant life — fill the 312 page book, for use in home, office or school.

One of the most interesting parts of the GUIDE is the pronunciation guide prepared by Dr. George Mitchell Stokes of Baylor University in Waco. This guide shows, phonetically, the correct pronunciation of the names of Texas counties and towns from Abbott to Zorn.

Training Courses Scheduled Here March 6-7 & 11-12

The Distributive Education Department of The University of Texas, in cooperation with the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, will offer two training courses here on March 6-7 and 11-12.

A course in "Problem Solving" will be offered from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on the four dates and a course entitled, "The Dynamics of Selling," will be given from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on the same dates.

Instructor for the courses will be Francis A. Flynn, supervisory training specialist for The University of Texas. Flynn has conducted several successful courses here during the past two years.

The fee for the "Problem Solving" course will be $3.50 per person which includes all hand-out material and $2.50 for the selling course.

The location for holding the courses has not been determined yet, but will be announced this week, according to Chamber of Commerce officials.

Anyone interested in taking either or both of these courses should contact the Chamber of Commerce office in the Hughes Building, phone MO4-3241.

The course on "Problem Solving" will seek answers to the question, "Why don't we think effectively?" The course will also try to improve thinking through teaching observation, definition, preparation, analysis, ideation, incubation, synthesis, evaluation, and development.

Flynn, the supervisor, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and has had broad experience in personnel administration and retail merchandising.

Three Venezuelan Destroyers In Pursuit

By JAMES R. WHELAN

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—A U.S. Navy patrol plane Saturday sighted the Communist-hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui north of Surinam (formerly Dutch Guiana) cruising toward the northeast shoulder of Brazil.

Three Venezuelan destroyers were ordered in pursuit at full steam. A Venezuelan government spokesman predicted interception by noon Sunday. U. S. aircraft were granted permission by the Surinam government to land and refuel at Surinam to keep track of the elusive vessel, formally declared a "pirate" by Venezuela.

An authorized spokesman for the terrorist armed forces of national liberation (FALN) said here the pirate crew has offered to dock the ship if the Venezuelan government promises them amnesty and dispatches independent Senator Arturo Uslar Pietri to an undisclosed port of disembarkation to assure protection of the hijackers.

But Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez has declared that the ship must be surrendered and the hijackers face trials which could net them 15 to 30 years.

Anonymous Caller
The anonymous woman telephone caller who has been the FALN contact with press organizations here for several weeks said earlier the hijackers have mined the hold of the freighter with dynamite and will blow it up with the crew, if "warships of any nation" attempt to detain it.

The ship was captured at gunpoint Wednesday, apparently by stowaways in collusion with a segment of the crew headed by second mate Wisner Medina Rojas. It was en-route to Houston, Tex.

The soft-voiced woman telephone spokesman who reported the hijacking hours before the government confirmed it, said the action was to "call the world's attention to our struggle against our executioners," meaning the anti-Communist government of President Romulo Betancourt.

A Communist terrorist campaign has sought to force cancellation of the President's Feb. 18 trip to the United States.

Surprise Alert Called For Guard Unit
A surprise Muster Day alert of Pampa's 132-member National Guard unit was called at 5:30 a.m. today.

The News learned late last night that unit members of Co. B, 1st Battle Group, 142nd Infantry of the 36th Division from some 12 to 15 towns were scheduled to be routed out at the early morning hour for an alert report at the National Guard Armory here.

Muster Day this year was conducted on a local basis instead of the statewide alert in past years, according to David Crossman, alert officer.

In the absence of Capt. Lawrence W. Hurdle, commanding officer of the Pampa unit, who is out of the city on vacation, today's alert was in charge of Executive Officer L. L. Howell.

Alert Officer Crossman said when the first word was sounded at 5:30 a.m., eight district chiefs and their assistants began the work of calling unit members and sounding the report by radio.

Crossman said in past years the alert has been over and all men have reported in within a three-hour period.

That was expected to be the case this morning, Crossman said, unless the weatherman took a hand in the alert and delayed the arrival of the unit members.

The goal in any alert he said, is the reporting in of 90 per cent of the membership. When that was reached the alert was over and the men dismissed.

Snow Melting As Temperature In Area Climbs

Snow that began falling in Pampa around 3 a.m. Saturday had covered the ground by 9 a.m., but it melted rapidly as the temperature climbed during the afternoon.

The weatherman said he thought the Pampa area would get possibly .15-inch moisture out of the snow. Partly cloudy with a chance of some light rain was in prospect for today.

CoC Campaign Is Now Being Led By Team No. 4

The Chamber of Commerce Round-up Campaign, at the end of the first week, shows team number 4, co-captained by Dick Evans and Roy Webb, leading with a total of 315 points.

This was the standing at 5 p.m. Friday. Second was team number 13, captained by Aubrey Steele, with 255 points, and in third place is team number 14, led by Floyd Watson, with 210 points.

"Some of our teams have not started checking in as yet but are expected to come forth with good results this coming week," Loyal Davies, drive chairman, reported yesterday.

Approximately $20,000 toward the $40,000 budget goal for the year has been reached to date. The tentative budget has been set by the Executive board, however the final budget cannot be made until more is known as to the amount of money that will be available.

In addition to salaries and general office expense, activities in support of seventeen committees are included in the chamber budget, plus added expense of several items of office furniture that will have to be provided in the new office set-up, which is expected to be ready for occupancy by the latter part of March.

The next check-in will be at 10 a.m. on Tuesday in the chamber office. The drive for contest purposes will end Friday at 5 p.m. However, the chamber will continue to receive new members and renewals after that date, Davies said.

What's Future For Algeria?

By ALAIN RAYMOND
United Press International

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — Independent Algeria is making the painful transition from revolution to hard reality in 1963.

It is tough going. It means belt-tightening austerity, a grinding tax burden and little prospect of happier times in the immediate future.

It means putting on ice for the time being the dreams of a socialist paradise in North Africa, with which vision the Algerian revolutionary leaders took over their war-ravaged country last July.

It means relying to a great extent on relief and handouts, particularly from the United States and France, even to keep nine million Algerians from the brink of starvation.

It means a struggle for the young nation simply to keep its head above water. Little is left today of the mood of revolutionary exaltation of last July.

Most Europeans Leave
The inexperienced leaders who took over the country after years of exile or of languishing in French jails found it ravaged by seven-and-one-half years of war with France and the bloody terror campaign of the European Secret Army Organization (OAS).

More than 80 per cent of the former European population of 1,100,000 fled just before or soon after independence. Few have returned.

Fratricidal strife tore the fledgling nation for three months last summer before Ahmed Ben Bella succeeded in asserting himself as its leader.

Today, with the first year of independence past the halfway mark, Algerians still are learning the full price they are having to pay for freedom.

Fewer than 1 in 10 of the population have full-time jobs. The economy still is stagnant and hundreds of European-owned businesses are closed or barely operating. More than 500,000 Algerians are living in refugee camps, kept alive only by foreign relief.

Algiers itself, the brilliant white capital city rising in tiers of steep streets above a blue bay, no longer is the same as last July.

Still Removing Slogans
The green-and-white flag with the blood-red crescent and star has disappeared from the windows. The streamers proclaiming nationalist slogans have been removed from the streets.

Algerians still are removing the huge OAS slogans smeared in tar on walls of buildings. Soon the last of them also will have disappeared.

The French tricolor, of course, no longer is to be seen. But one of the few visible signs of independence is the national flags on government offices scattered in different points of this huge rambling city.

Ben Bella, today the undisputed master of the new Algeria, lives in a modest, though modern, apartment on the third floor of the Villa Joly, headquarters of the National Liberation Front (FLN), sole party in this one-party nation.

Most of his time today Ben Bella spends poring over files in his office in the vast white concrete building which formerly was headquarters of the French governor-general.

He works there late into the evening, digging deeper and deeper into the young nation's seemingly overwhelming problems. Then, with a brown Arab bournous over his European suit, he drives back to his bachelor apartment to continue his paper work.

Ben Bella has had to learn the realities of government the hard way.

MORE MOIREM ORE
He found the country's coffers empty, not even the funds to pay the few remaining civil servants. Turned To Socialism

In the first weeks after independence Ben Bella talked of turning Algeria swiftly into a socialist state. He threatened to nationalize all French-owned factories and farms.

After a quick visit to President John F. Kennedy, he angered the United States by rushing off to Havana where he was photographed warmly embracing Premier Fidel Castro.

Although he probably never was a Communist, he inclined towards close friendship with the Communist bloc.

But the hard facts of independence have sobered Ben Bella's leftist enthusiasms. He found Communist bloc aid accompanied by fanfares of propaganda but skimpy in quantity and poor in quality.

He found he was unable to do without the West. In January he sent his Finance Minister Ahmed Francis to Paris.

The French were friendly and ready to help. But they wanted pledges that aid would be used for putting the nation's house in order and rebuilding its ravaged economy.

Francis returned to Algiers with promises of nearly $300 million, this year in French financial aid. In addition, the French government undertook to do its best to get sorely needed teachers, civil servants and technicians to go to Algeria on contract to help get the country back on its feet.

They were almost as sorely needed as money and food.

Government Services Limping
Even today postal and taxation services are barely limping along and trained engineers and mechanics are hardly to be found.

France now has promised to hand out a minimum of $200 million a year to Algeria for the next three years. She also has promised to sponsor Algeria for association with the European Common Market.

To tighten his control over the country, Ben Bella, banned the small Algeria Communist party a few months after independence, leaving the FLN as sole political party in the country.

In January, his government tossed extreme leftist leaders out of the country's largest labor union, the General Union of Algerian Workers, and replaced them with trusted FLN nominees.

Ben Bella has not abandoned the dream of turning this nation some day into a socialist state, although he has had to postpone its fulfillment.

"I hope I shall see complete socialism before I die and I am still a young man," the 45-year-old Ben Bella told a visitor recently. "Socialism is our ideal, but we can not achieve it in one day or one month."

Opposition Still Exists
Ben Bella, who won power only after crushing strong opposition, realizes that opposition to him still exists.

Rather than using continued repressive methods, Ben Bella prefers to appeal to dissident or indifferent elements among his fellow-Algerians to unite behind him in the national task of reconstruction.

One of his first moves was to try to win over the 1,100,000 Kabyles, a non-Arab people of Berber stock, who were among the chief opponents of his rise to power.

It was in the Kabyle areas that Ben Bella first launched his program of land redistribution, taking care at the same time not to do anything to wound their particular susceptibilities.

Ben Bella looks eagerly to the United States for capital investment in addition to the aid in food stuffs which virtually has kept alive the 500,000 refugees in camps of this country.

Between $600 million and $800 million worth of major development projects were abandoned by the French in Algeria when the country was given independence.

Ben Bella is seeking United States support for a project under which thousands of jobless Algerians now being supported by

Legislature Could Send The Governor To Siberia

By VERNON SMYLCIE
Texas News Syndicate

AUSTIN—Let's hope the members of the Texas Legislature never get so outraged with a governor that they send him to Siberia.

Presumably they could — with full constitutional authority. Article 4, Section 13 of the Texas Constitution deals with the subject of where the governor shall reside.

"During the session of the Legislature," it states, "the governor shall reside where its sessions are held and at all other times at the seat of government. . . ."

Then an exception is added. " . . . except," the Constitution continues, "when by act of the Legislature he may be required or authorized to reside elsewhere."

So there you have it. The Legislature can require the governor to live where it wants him to.

This is the kind of constitutional power that some people deplore. They wave this and other provisions as indications that our present Texas Constitution, adopted in 1876, is outmoded and impractical.

Personally, I disagree. I'm a Constitution - of-1876 man myself. I think our Texas Constitution does a good job. It keeps the powers of government distinctly separated and the entire state government structure well in the tow of the people. As for the outmoded provisions, I like them, too. They add a real dash of color, flavor, and interest. They make good reading.

Probably the most celebrated passage among the colorful provisions in the Constitution is Article 16, Section 4.

That's the one that prohibits dueling. American gifts of food would be put to work on land, forestry and other projects with the aid of American loans.

One Reason Marriages Fail

CHICAGO (UPI) — A marital expert says that many marriages fail because women want affection and love while men want to be "babied, petted and consoled."

The conflict, according to Victor Neumark, retiring chairman of the Chicago Bar Association's committee on matrimonial law, forces the woman to keep herself from her husband. It makes the man disgusted and "an easy prey for temptations."

"The ordinary man returns from the office tired and in need of rest," Neumark said. "He wants consideration and encouragement. He wants to relax, not merely to be babied, petted and consoled."

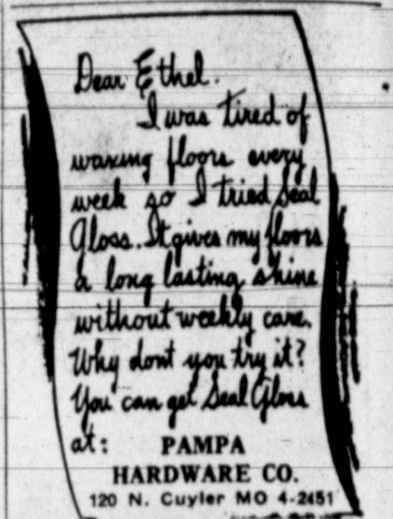

"The wife, on the other hand, Austin was the capital again. It has been the capital city ever since."

Incidentally, the Texas state government returned to Austin during the summer of 1845 just as the Annexation Convention met to open the way for Texas' entry into the United States. The date, ironically enough, was July 4—Independence Day.

may have been through trying experiences of the day and is herself desirous of comfort, approval and affection. "She desires courtship, words of affection and love, and when she does not receive this," Neumark said, "she coyly pretends indifference. . . ."

Neumark, writing in the Chicago Bar Record, said only one out of 21 marriages is happy. The others, he said, "are relatively happy to miserable."

Neumark said the woman should provide a man with "satisfaction of his desires, the things that he may require." The power of this satisfaction, he said, is a woman's "weapon and her guarantee of survival."

Castroites Say 'Pirate' Launch Shot Up Craft

HAVANA (UPI) — The Armed Forces Ministry said Saturday an armed pirate launch with two Americans among its counter-revolutionary crew shot up and captured two Cuban fishing craft, wounding two fishermen.

The communique said the crew of the launch first machine-gunned the two fishing boats, then forced the crews to jump overboard, commandeered the boats and "fled northward."

The fishermen, including two who were wounded, were plucked from the water by a third fishing boat. The boats belonged to the government fishing cooperative of Cardenas, Matanzas Province. The raid apparently took place off the northern coast of Matanzas Province. The time was not specified.

(None of the Cuban exile actionist groups immediately claimed credit for the raid, contrary to past excursions. Both the Alpha 66 and the Second Front of Escambray have promised action during the month of February.)

"The attack was made by a group of mercenaries at the orders of American imperialism using a pirate craft which came from the United States," the Armed Forces Ministry said.

It was the fifth confirmed attack by exile raiders on Cuban fishing boats or the Cuban shoreline since last March.

British Ambassador Sir Stanley Marchant summoned Western reporters to a press conference Saturday to announce that the Cuban government has agreed to release four British nationals serving sentences in Cuban prisons.

The four were Alfred Louis, a British Guiana Negro and alleged henchman of former Dictator Fulgencio Batista, who was sentenced to death, with the sentence later commuted to 25 years; James Holder, from Barbados, sentenced to 9 years for conspiracy and released after vowing loyalty to the Cuban government; Peter John Lambton, sentenced to 25 years for "crimes against the sovereignty of the state;" and Robert Morton Geddes, arrested at the time of the abortive Pigs Bay invasion and sentenced to 30 years for "crimes against the state."

Geddes, former Caribbean manager for Pepsi Cola, probably will leave Monday via Mexico to rejoin his American wife in Miami, Marchant said.

Survivors are her husband, Luciano, of the home; one son, E. A. Bryant, Lefors; one daughter, Margaret Ellen of the home, a senior in high school; one sister, Mrs. Art Imel of Skellytown; three brothers, R. D. Thompson of Healdton; Haskell Thompson of Ardmore, Okla.; and Roy Thompson of Abilene.

Mrs. Bryant was a member of the Church of Christ.

Area Engineers Are Observing Special Week

Professional engineers across the Panhandle will begin a week-long observance of National Engineers' Week today.

Gene Barber, engineer with the firm of Merriman and Barber, consulting engineers, said the Panhandle Chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers will participate in the observance Feb. 17-23.

National Engineers' Week is an annual observance sponsored by the National Society of Professional Engineers to "bring to the attention of the American people the role of the engineer in society, and his vital function in furthering safety, technical progress and public welfare," Barber said.

He added that the week of George Washington's birthday is traditionally chosen since the first President of the United States was himself a notable civil and military engineer.

"America's Engineers Build for the Future," has been selected as the theme for the 1963 observance.

The Panhandle Chapter, ISPE, will meet Feb. 21 in the Amarillo Country Club in connection with the week. A social hour starts at 6:30 p.m. with the dinner and meeting proper to get underway at 7 p.m. Tickets will be $4 each.

John Gammell, coordinator of professional employment with Altrusa Chalmers Manufacturing Company, will present the program. His talk is entitled, "Can Engineers Escape Obsolescence?"

Another highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the Engineer of the Year Award.

William Haze Wilson, born April 18, 1906, in Mount Pleasant, died at 8:45 a.m. Saturday in Coon Memorial Rest Home in Dalhart.

Mr. Wilson had been in the rest home one day.

He had been a resident of Pampa a number of years, moving here from Canadian in 1936. In 1955 he moved to Plainview and about a year ago moved to Perryton, where he resided before going into the Rest Home at Dalhart.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Bryan Clemons of West Lafayette, Ind., and Mrs. Bobby Barnett of El Paso; five sons, Robert F. of Lindsey, Okla., Walter W. of Perryton, Haskell T. of Pampa, Okla., Albert Lee of Pampa, Okla., and Clifford A. of Shields, Okla.; and 15 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Orval See, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, officiating.

Interment will be in Allison, also Monday.

Cities Service Safety Record Best In 32 Years

The best safety record in 32 years is reported by Cities Service Oil Co. for the year 1962.

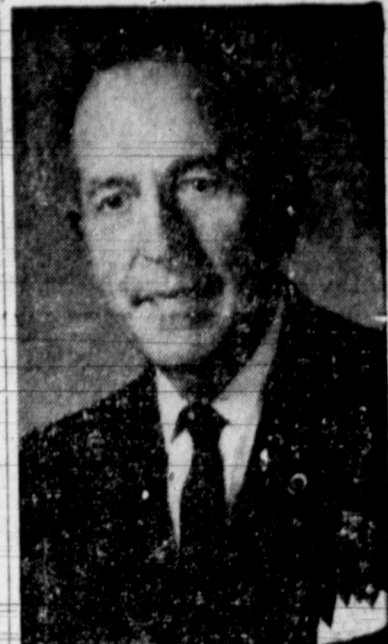

During that year, the disabling injury rate was reduced to a new low of 2.80 per million man-hours worked. This represents a 92 per cent reduction in the disabling injury rate established in 1930 when the company initiated a complete safety records system.

Last year's enviable safety record bettered by 30 per cent the company's lowest previous record, established in 1960.

In advising operating managers of the 1962 safety record, Chairman Robert L. Kidd of Cities Service Oil Co. attributed the reduced injury rate to an emphasis on supervisory responsibility for employee safety.

"The record shows clearly that this approach to the problem has worked well and merits continuation. All employees are to be commended for their contribution, to this fine achievement," he wrote.

Although more than a million earthquakes shake the earth each year, not one of them can be predicted.

TO VISIT PAMPA — W. L. "Lem" Woodhouse, supreme counselor of United Commercial Travelers, from Canada, will be entertained by the local chapter at a dinner scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Pampa Hotel. Members of UCT were asked to call the chapter secretary, J. C. Roberts, MO 9-9442 or MO 9-9447, for reservations. The meal will be free to chapter members who bring one or more guests.

Vinson Is Supporting Kennedy On Cuba

By FRANK ELEAZER

United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee Saturday renewed support to President Kennedy's handling of the Cuban crisis.

"I am confident that the administration is taking all necessary steps to bring about the removal of Soviet troops in Cuba," said the veteran Georgia Democrat who has received regular reports on Cuban developments.

Vinson spoke out in the wake of an outpouring of Republican attacks on Kennedy's handling not only of the Cuban problem but of foreign affairs generally.

Climaxing a week of such attacks by Republicans in Lincoln Day speeches over the country, the House Republican Campaign Committee said Friday that it feared the United States "may be sliding toward unilateral disarmament."

Weekly Newsletter The committee, in its weekly newsletter, cited the recent withdrawal of 15,000 men from the 400,000-man U.S. military force in Europe as well as what it called "fears and suspicions" that Kennedy may have made concessions not yet disclosed as the price for last fall's Russian missile backdown in Cuba.

Vinson previously had praised Kennedy's handling of the October crisis, in which Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev removed missiles and bombers which Kennedy had pronounced a threat to peace.

Lately, renewed controversy has centered on continued presence in Cuba of Russian troops, whose number has been in dispute. The Pentagon estimates the total at 17,000, down about 5,000 from an earlier peak. Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., has put the figure at 30,000 to 40,000.

Whatever the number, Republicans generally have voiced dissatisfaction at lack of action by this country to get them removed.

One-Sentence Estimate Vinson offered his one-sentence estimate of the situation in response to a reporter's inquiry about the continuing flood of complaints, not only from Republicans but from some Democrats. He declined further comment.

Sources close to Vinson pictured him, however, as concerned by the attacks, satisfied with official Defense Department estimates on the extent of the Communist military threat in Cuba, and willing to leave the next step to the President. Vinson is said to believe that if the matter is properly handled the eventual downfall of communism in Cuba can be engineered without U. S. military action.

Vinson's views were believed to be somewhat at variance with those of his Senate counterpart, Sen. Richard B. Russell, also a Georgia Democrat. Russell has said the administration erred last October in not mounting a military invasion of Cuba. Recently he has said Kennedy should return to his original exchange-of-correspondence with Khrushchev and "insist" that Russian troops now be removed from the island.

World's fourth largest oil producer is the sheikdom of Kuwait, a desert country smaller than New Jersey.

"In addition, the Army will offer an eight-week training program for those enlisted members from ages 35 through 50 who can qualify. When this eight-week training program is completed, they will become members of the standby reserve."

The brigade had 140 officers, and half or more of them are expected to volunteer for training.

Only the basic courses will be in Spanish, but special instruction in English will be provided for those who need it to enter more advanced training.

Meet America's Wonder Farmers Of The Sixties

By JOHN STROHM

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
FRANKFORT, Ind. (NEA) — Fantastic things are happening on a serene-looking farm in the heart of Indiana's rich Corn Belt. Here Bill and Erlend Rothenberger feed a 20-cent growth hormone to a yearling steer, and this miracle potion puts a $10 beef bonus into your freezer.

They spread 134,000 pounds of chemical fertilizer on 360 acres, and get a bin-busting corn crop double their 61 bushels-per-acre yields of 20 years ago. Complex pesticides let animals and plants bite back at bugs, so you can buy food and clothes a third cheaper. These wonders swept in with a technological explosion that came so fast few folks away from the farm know it even happened. But evidence is graphic — the greatest food and fiber bargain in history for American consumers.

The Rothenbergers, and 1,100,000 farmers like them, are production specialists. This group totals only 29 per cent of all farmers, but grows 87 per cent of the produce. You need to know who they are, because 1 out of 2 jobs in the nation depends on them.

As the Rothenbergers specialized, they had to rely on other specialists — to provide feeds, seeds, fuel, chemicals, trucks and tractors. More specialists take their farm products through processing, refining, packaging, and merchandising.

Out of all of this has grown agribusiness, our biggest and fastest growing industry — a $160 billion wheel with farmers at the hub.

A TECHNOLOGICAL explosion has given Bill and Erlend Rothenberger mechanical muscles and scientific tools to produce corn crops (upper left) double their yields of 20 years ago. The brothers run a profitable family farm because they combine practical know-how with keen business sense. An old washing machine motor provides power for tank wagon pump (upper right) to hose fat hogs during hot weather and increase their gaining efficiency. Automatic cattle feeding unit (lower right) cost them $35,000, but with it they feed 310 cattle in nine minutes a day. Like commercial family farmers across America, the Rothenbergers need brains enough to run a $100,000 investment and brawn enough to throw bales of hay (lower left).

Today's commercial farms are production giants compared with the nostalgic family farm of 20 years ago. But they're still family managed and family run. Corporation farms with herds of nameless hired men haven't come true. Only half of one per cent of America's farms are run by a manager. Some company farms that looked good on paper now are crumbling.

Plush Fashion Farms sprang up in Iowa seven years ago — a "cow pool" where farmers and city investors could board cows for care and milking. Promotion billed it the world's most efficient milk factory.

Last August, bankruptcy locked the doors of Fashion Farms. It was impossible to give 800 cows individual care. Hired hands lacked the interest needed to coax extra milk from a brawny Holstein.

Family farmers aren't surprised. "A family spending its own money is going to plan and work harder than hired help will ever do for a corporation boss," says Bill Rothenberger.

Bill, 50, and his brother, Erlend, 48, with after-school help from Erlend's 17-year-old son, last year raised 1,396 market hogs, fed out 245 yearling steers and grew 360 acres of corn that produced over 130 bushels per acre.

To do this they had to be engineers enough to run $20,000 worth of machinery and blacksmiths enough to mend a broken axle a mile from home. They had to be economists enough to know when to spot weak points in their feeding system.

They were gamblers betting on the weather when they soaked an extra 100 pounds of nitrogen on corn. They were veterinarians when they spotted disease in their hog yards, snuffing it out before it could do damage.

They weren't chemists, but they knew what nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium plowed into the top soil would return in higher yields.

They weren't diplomats, but they convinced their wives that a $3,000 tractor will increase profits enough to pay for a new stove.

The Rothenbergers are good-sized capitalists and yet they're day laborers who often work 80 hours a week. They need brains enough to plan production from 468 acres so it makes economic sense — and brawn enough to collar a hog and clamp a ring in his nose.

And to top it all, they must be able to walk into the Farmer's Bank of Frankfort and ask for a $25,000 loan without batting an eye.

"We've got $300,000 tied up in land, buildings, livestock and equipment," explains Erlend. "Shell out $5,000 for a new five-pow tractor and you run up a $20,000 machinery investment fast."

Mechanization has given a farmer amazing muscles. When Bill and Erlend started farming 20 years ago, they had the power of 12 to 15 horses. Now they command 300 horsepower.

Their automatic cattle feeding unit cost $35,000. "But we feed a full ration to 310 head of cattle in increase their gaining efficiency. Automatic cattle feeding unit (lower right) cost them $35,000, but with it they feed 310 cattle in nine minutes a day. Like commercial family farmers across America, the Rothenbergers need brains enough to run a $100,000 investment and brawn enough to throw bales of hay (lower left).

three minutes, three times a day," says Bill. "You've got to handle volume to make a go of it today."

These tools are important, but it takes guts to invest, and brains to run them. New fertilizer formulations and better ways to apply them are constantly emerging from experiment stations. Vitamin A is a must for efficient beef production and you measure it in parts per million. A stream of new machinery is available to do a job easier, faster, cheaper. But a farmer must do cost accounting before he plunges, or his huge investment will bankrupt him before he can set it in motion. All of these new developments demand decisions based on knowledge.

The Rothenbergers are so specialized that they buy all groceries in town. They can't afford to raise a little of everything. Less than half of all farmers now have milk cows. Only 28 per cent sell eggs.

Bill and Erlend no longer grow wheat and oats on their rich black loam soil, because continuous corn returns a higher profit per acre. With livestock, they concentrate on beef and pork and buy milk and eggs at the supermarket.

The Rothenbergers' farm business ticks profitably because they manage so efficiently. They stagger breeding dates of sows to distribute time and labor needed to care for pigs. They plant corn in circles to save time turning at the ends of fields. They use a corn combine and harvest at a higher moisture content, saving $5 to $10 per acre in harvest losses.

The Rothenbergers have problems, of course. Some are so serious they've forced less efficient and less fortunate farmers to call it quits:

—The two brothers make a good living, but often work 12 or 14 hours a day to do it.

—Farm wages have not kept pace with industry. Many of the efficient million and a half farmers earn less than $2 an hour for their labor on a $100,000 investment. The average factory worker earns $2.42 per hour, plus 27 cents fringe benefits — and his only investment is a $3 lunch bucket.

—Capital requirements are at an all-time high. The top million and a half farms have an average investment of $100,000. A young farmer needs from $20,000 to $30,000 investment to start as a renter on a Midwest grain farm, without any cash outlay for land.

—All farmers are caught in a cost-price squeeze. Gross farm income has gone up $6 billion in the last 15 years, but farm production expenses have skyrocketed — $81.6 billion, or nearly twice as fast.

The Rothenbergers and the other commercial farmers who produce 90 per cent of our food are battling their problems successfully, because they're the nation's best. They will continue to be superior — only if government controls do not hamstring them into mediocrity.

Their success is vitally important to you and your family.

Music Important To The Young Students

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Music offers youngsters an outlet to explore and develop the sensitive and cultural parts of their growing personalities. It contributes to pleasure as they sing, listen, and master skills.

The relating of music to students' daily activities not only creates a framework for the cultural development but adds greater understanding to their other studies. Just as a classroom teacher encourages in children an awareness of surroundings, the music teacher develops an awareness of sound patterns.

A music program should involve a variety of activities. Although singing is closely associated with a music program, there is no necessity for children to consider their voices as the only means of music appreciation.

There may be some individuals who simply do not like to sing. In such cases, pressure may be unpleasant. The best approach is exposure to a wide variety of experiences so that appreciation has the opportunity to grow.

Most school systems have an organized music program. Many schools are fortunate in having a music specialist to direct the activities.

Some music is taught for the sake of music itself. This refers to such activities as playing instruments, reading musical notes, studying various musical forms, choral singing, etc. Musical knowledge and appreciation are the main values and purposes of these activities.

Let's look at a third grade group approaching music through the study of plastic flutes. In order to use the instruments, they learned how to read notes. This method turned out to be a more effective way to play the instruments than depending on their ears and fingering numbers. After a few weeks, the children were able to read music. The results were excellent. The group enjoyed the activity, learned specific skills, and developed a desire for further activities.

On the other hand, music is often used to supplement the other subject areas. In these situations, the major purpose is to develop greater understanding in these other subjects. Also important is the appreciation of music as a part of all activities.

An example of this approach is the sixth grade group which prepared a play concerning the library. The music teacher composed original songs for the presentation. The script was given which left a valuable impression on the students. The music served to improve the student's learning of the academic subject.

The aim of a good music program in the public schools is not necessarily to develop opera stars. It should encourage the development of talent where it exists. It should also encourage in all individuals the ability to enjoy the pleasures available through music.

Parents should follow through on the school program. Children who are exposed to musical experience which they enjoy and understand will probably continue to have similar satisfaction as adults. The choice of experiences must be appropriate for the particular child.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
For much the same reasons that NIKITA Khrushchev described West Berlin as a bone in his throat, President Kennedy can apply the same description to Cuba.

Viewed in this light, Cuba vs. Berlin, Soviet strategy becomes clearer and Cuba takes a natural place on the cold war chess board.

In this light, the actual number of Soviet troops in Cuba takes on lesser significance, whether it be 3,000 or 20,000.

It is the Soviet "presence" that counts.

A handful of 10,000 or so Allied troops in West Berlin could not hope to stem the Soviet tide were it to be unleashed. One reason that it is not unleashed lies not in the number but in the Allied "presence" which would guarantee a world war in case of Soviet attack.

Soviet Re-Assessment

When the world recoiled from the brink of nuclear war last October with Khrushchev's promise to remove his offensive rockets, it naturally was assumed that he now would look elsewhere for a means to re-establish damaged prestige and to recapture the initiative.

One of these assumptions took in the possibility of new Soviet pressure on Berlin.

Instead, he has reversed his field, facing the United States in Cuba with exactly the same risks he would face in an attack upon Berlin.

There are other striking similarities.

Just as West Berlin is a foothold within Communist territory, so Cuba now is a foothold in a traditionally U. S. sphere of influence.

Copycat Method

Just as the Western powers have been willing to pour millions of dollars into West Berlin to help maintain it as a free world symbol, so Khrushchev apparently is willing to pour millions into Cuba to maintain it as a beacon for Communist subversion throughout Latin America.

Khrushchev could take other pages from the book of Allied experience in Berlin.

The Allied airlift broke the back of the 1948 Communist blockade of Berlin and demonstrated the futility of trying to starve out even an isolated city without measures sterner than the Communists were willing to undertake.

A Communist sealfit can continue to supply Cuba, although at enormous expense, unless the United States is willing to take similar stern measures.

Rev. Buchanan Returns From NFDD Meet

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Rev. Gene Buchanan, Associate Minister at the First Christian Church took part in the annual meeting of the National Fellowship of Disciple Directors here, February 8-10.

Under the leadership of Dr. Charles Kemp, professor at Bible College of the Bible, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, NFDD members studied the program theme, "The Pastoral Task of the Educator."

For a more thorough study, the theme was divided into three areas — "The Educator Looks at the Total Pastoral Task," "The Educator Seeks to Understand His People," and "The Educator... Himself."

A special drama, "The Mud-hole," written by Royce Maslin of Oklahoma City, Okla., and a tour of the new building of the Christian Board of Publication, Disciples publishing house, also were included in the three-day program.

The annual NFDD session brought Christian educators up-to-date on current developments in their field, gave them the chance to discuss mutual problems and new ideas and provided an opportunity to renew acquaintances.

Many Disciples educators were able to attend section meetings of the National Council of Churches' Division of Christian Education here, which began February 11 and were to continue through February 14.

Farmer Takes Advantage Of Science To Grow 500 Lbs. Of Grass Per Day

SEMINOLE, Tex. (UPI)—Farmer Clarence Umlang is taking advantage of science to produce 500 pounds of green, tender grass each day in a 10-by-12-foot building that stands only eight feet tall.

Umlang, who farms 960-acres southwest of Seminole, is accomplishing the phenomenal feat with a hydroponics unit. Hydroponics is the science of growing plants without soil in liquid mineral solutions.

The unit consists of an insulated building with controlled atmospheric conditions, grain storage bin, germinating vat, germinating baskets, culture trays, culture baskets and in automatic irrigation unit.

Quick Harvesting
These "combine and balance nature's own elements to furnish ideal growing conditions for quick harvesting of the highest quality natural grasses," Umlang said.

With the contraption, Umlang is able to feed his cattle fresh, green grass all year, no matter what the season. And, he can do it cheaper than with regular feed.

"We're cutting roughly 18 cents a head per day off our feeding cost and at the same time are upgrading our beef by being able to feed our cattle this young, tender grass," he said.

The unit cost $4,600 by the time it was put into operation. The cost included a three-ton capacity seed storage bin, Umlang believes it will pay for itself within two years.

Protein for 50 Cattle
The 60-basket hydroponics unit will handle the protein supply for 50 head of cattle. He figures the cost at $11 per ton to produce the hydroponics grass.

"We could pull that cost down considerably if our seed weren't so expensive," he added, pointing out that high-quality seed is necessary and is shipped to Seminole.

"Our only regret, he said, is that we didn't install a bigger unit. We'd like to have at least 360 baskets in a 1½-ton unit that would produce up to 3,000 pounds a day."

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A dark shadow is moving across the bright political image of New York's Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. It is moving, which is the governor's good fortune. If the shadow comes to rest it could take on the outlines of Poe's bad luck ray.

The shadow consists of Rockefeller's spending record. Conservative Republicans will not be happy about that and less so if, as suspected by some conservatives, Rockefeller comes up this time with a deficit.

The governor campaigned last year and was elected to a second term on a solemn pledge that he would not raise taxes. He further assured the voters that he would not resort to bond issues in lieu of a tax hike. Neither would he draw on reserves of state funds to meet expenses.

Economy Theme
Pay-as-you-go was the bugle note of Rockefeller's campaign. Heavily taxed New Yorkers liked the idea, especially the pledge of no new taxes. Rockefeller had not much more than dummy opposition from the Democrats and their nominee for governor.

But when the returns were in, Rocky had a bulge of no more than 500,000 votes. He and his managers had figured on more than that, a whopping majority would have becalmed Republican opposition to Rockefeller's nomination next year for president. His majority was disappointing.

Even so, Rockefeller's re-election, Richard M. Nixon's defeat in California and some lesser factors zoomed the New Yorker to front runner position toward 1964. Not merely front runner, either, but front runner by several laps. Then Rockefeller produced his budget for the state of New York. The voters' anguish was loud and immediate.

Rocky did not propose new taxes. But he laid on a 40 per cent hike in motor vehicle registration fees. License fees for physicians, pool halls and such also went up. The average increase on a New York motor vehicle was $9.50.

Matter of Words
Rockefeller explains that these revenue measures are in the area of fees, not taxes. This exercise in semantics verges on a quibble. But Rockefeller has on his side the solid argument that registration fees have not been increased since 1923—and what can you buy now that doesn't cost more than 40 years ago?

The Republican legislature is shaken. The voters are pressuring their legislators to reject Rocky's program. That would be a political reverse-of-magnitude for the governor. Worse for him, however, is that the uproar over fees has focused attention on his spending record and spending plans.

Conservatives who have been applauding Rockefeller as a fiscal conservative may want to take another look. He is, in fact, a big time spender in the Roosevelt-Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy tradition.

Feed Grain Signup Being Conducted

Signup for the 1963 feed grain program is under way in Gray County, Evelyn Mason, county office manager, Gray County ASCS, announced Saturday. The signup period will continue thru March 22. The program covers the three major feed grain crops of corn, grain sorghum and barley.

In general, provisions follow those for 1961 and 1962 crops in giving feed grain producers an opportunity to participate in the program by reducing acreages at least 20 per cent and devoting them to an approved conservation use. By participating, they will receive diversion payments and price support payments, and will also be eligible to take part in the price-support program.

One important change from programs in previous years, is the price support payment which participating farmers will receive on the normal production of the acres planted to the feed grains in 1963. The payments have been set at 18 cents a bushel on corn, 16 cents a bushel on grain sorghum, and 14 cents a bushel on barley. Unlike the regular price support loan, the rates for the price support payments will be the same throughout the county and will not vary by counties.

The 1963 price support loans will be available to participants on the entire crop produced on the 1963 feed grain acreage. In 1962 this was limited but the limitation will not apply in 1963, Miss Mason stated.

Big Spenders At Early Age

NORWICH, Conn. (UPI)—A pair of females on a shopping spree is nothing new, unless one is 8 and the other 10 years of age.

A merchant Thursday noticed two little girls, flashing a lot of money and buying many expensive items. Puzzled, he called police.

Officers began searching stores in the area and, when they found the girls, the little shoppers had a new typewriter, a tape recorder, luggage and clothing.

The 10-year-old girl told officers that she had spent $442, but had $558 left.

Police took the 10-year-old to her home where her mother informed them she had withdrawn $1,000 from the girl's $3,000 bank account and given it to her to spend.

The mother told officers that her daughter had inherited the money and decided that she wanted to spend some of it.

Police declined to identify the youthful shoppers nor the mother.

County Agent Charles D. Jackson will present the program, slides showing the steps in producing sterile flies at the plant in Mission.

The Screwworm factory covers 65,000 square feet and employs 300 people who work in three shifts 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The weekly "grocery bill" for the 75 million larvae includes 48 tons of meat, 13,070 gallons of water and 5,250 gallons of blood.

Phone Problem?

HOUSTON, Texas (UPI)—Parents who fret about the time their teen-agers spend talking on the telephone have not heard the problems of six Houston families.

Six youngsters have organized a teen-age band. Since school work keeps them home week nights, the teen-agers have devised their own method of getting together — by telephone.

The band's head man, eighth grader Don Friedsam, will call a member of the band and they test chords and rhythms until a party line or a mother halts the session.

Harvesters Finish District 3-4A Play Undefeated

FREE RIDE — Pampa basketball coach Terry Culley is carried off the Plainview court in triumph after his Pampa Harvesters went through District 3-4A undefeated, posting a 29-1 season record. Pampa In 62-48 Win At Plainview

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor
PLAINVIEW — The Pampa Harvesters came battling back after trailing for three quarters here Friday night with a fourth-quarter explosion that gave them a 62-48 win over the Bulldogs and a perfect 3-AAA district record of 14 and 0. Pampa now goes into bi-district play with a 29-1 record, one of the best marks in the state.

It was defense, rather than their usual racehorse offense that keyed the Harvesters' comeback in a game that saw the lead change hands 12 times and the game tied on six occasions, mostly in the first and third quarters, as Keith Swanson and Wayne Kreis led the way as Pampa beat the Bulldogs at their own game, blocking shots, knocking down passes and stealing the ball again and again for fast breaks.

Peret Stopped
Randy Matson guarded 6-8 Ronnie Peret like a mother hen here, allowing the Bulldog big boy only nine points, with seven of them coming in the first half on two baskets and three of five free throws. Meanwhile "The Pampa Monster" hit for 16 points, scoring consistently in every quarter. The pair each dominated their own defensive boards, but without too many chances as both teams hit almost 50 per cent from the field. Meanwhile Gary Sikes and Gordon Balch were able to beat the youthful "Dogs" to the offensive boards, setting up Kreis, Matson and Swanson for scores.

Dogs Lead
With the Green-and-Gold guarding the middle of the court like a blanket, with Matson blocking Peret's first two basket attempts, the Bulldogs went to the outside and the corners, with Paul Aday hitting consistently from far out. With the score tied at 14-all, Peret hit for a pair of charity tosses in the last minute, and Roger Grant dribbled out the final seconds, waiting for one good shot, passing to Peret who hit with a backward hook with six seconds left to make it 18-14 at the quarter.

Pampa moved the margin to five points, but Matson and Swanson cut it down to one, and the Dogs held a one-to-three point lead the rest of the half. Peret cannot a free throw on Matson's third foul with 1:56 to go to make it 25-21, but Kreis cut it back to two points, and once again Grant stalled the final seconds for a good shot as he tried to draw the Pampa defense out. The Harvesters wouldn't play his way and it was Plainview 29, Pampa 27 at the half.

Swanson Scores
Matson's layup tied the game as the second half opened, but Grant and Don Hollis hit from the outside to move the edge back to five. Kreis and Swanson suddenly proceeded to go wild as they stole the ball three out of four times, with Swanson scoring on all three.

Plans for bi-district and regional playoffs are still undecided as far as Pampa is concerned, reported Pampa athletic director Weldon Trice Saturday.

The Pampa coaches and school officials felt that the best way to decide the regional champion would be for Pampa, winner of 3-4A; Haltom City, winner of 4-A; San Angelo, the 2-4A champ; and the El Paso team that would win the 1-4A crown to meet at a neutral site and have a tournament.

Haltom City coaches agreed, and the El Paso and San Angelo coaches were invited to a meeting at Plainview immediately following Friday night's basketball game.

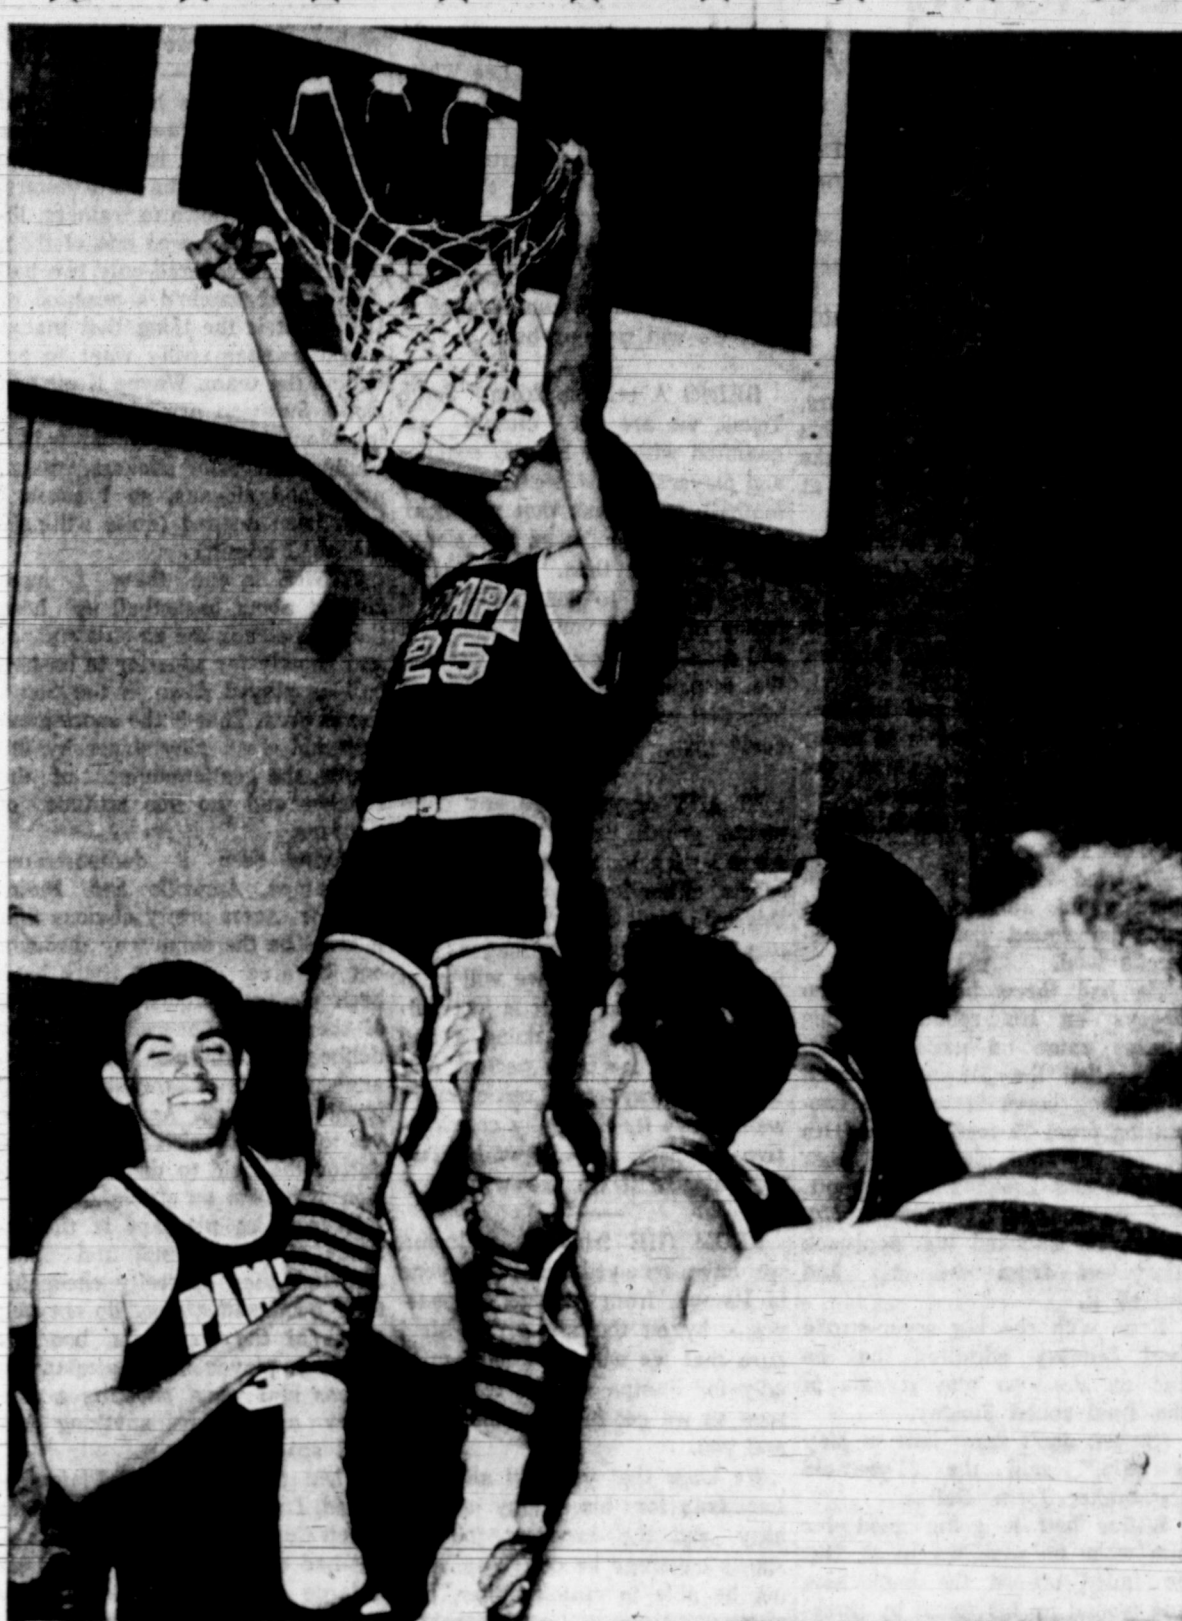

Pampa-area coach Terry Culley, Trice and Superintendent of School Jack Edmondson met with Haltom athletic director Johnny Nobles and basketball coach Ronnie Stephenson, a San Angelo representative also arrived, but reported that four El Paso schools were tied for first place. He explained the district is divided into two zones, the Blue and the Gray, with the two top teams in each division-Jefferson, Austin, Bellaire and Bowie — having to engage in a round-robin next week to decide their district representative, with the final game next Friday.

It was agreed that the three district winners could not work out a tourney without the fourth school, so the San Angelo coach left the meeting, saying that his school and the El Paso winner would meet in bi-district as soon as it could be arranged, probably the following week after the El Paso playoffs.

The Pampa and Haltom City heads agreed that the only solution would be their original plan, to toss a coin for a home site and date, as neither was able to agree on a neutral site, figuring that expenses would be lessened if only one team had to do the traveling, and each expressing a preference for his home court.

Due to the lateness of the time following the game and discussion, the group agreed that they would have to meet again to decide on officials and work out all plans and then match for the home site, as both coaches felt they would rather take the chance of getting to play on their home court rather than one completely strange to both of them.

The superintendents, athletic directors and coaches agreed to meet in Vernon, a halfway point between the two cities, either Monday or Tuesday afternoon, and would then decide the date and site of the bi-district game.

VICTORY TOKEN — Keith Swanson, who hit 11 points in the second half to lead the Pampa Harvesters from a six-point deficit to a 14-point win over Plainview, their 14th straight district win, is boosted in the air by his teammates as he cuts down the net for a souvenir of the triumph. Holding him up are, left to right, C. E. Cantrell, Wayne Kreis and Randy Matson. (Daily News Photo)

Carver Drops Two Point Game At State

PRAIRIE VIEW (SpI) — Jimmy Brown's last-second basket was ruled to have been shot after the final buzzer, giving Stratford of Italy a 50-48 win over the Carver Wildcats of Pampa in the Negro State Interscholastic League playoffs Friday.

Coach Ernest Sylva's green youngsters apparently had stage fright in the first quarter as Stratford opened a 17-9 first-quarter lead, but got over their nervousness in a hurry as they exploded for a 37-30 lead, then got cold again in the third quarter to give the Italy team the lead for good.

Stratford Leads
With 6-2 James Pylum controlling the backboards and Kenneth Kirby hitting jump shots from the circle, the Stratfords opened a 17-9 margin as lefty Terry Holt was the only consistent shooter for the Cats, scoring four points from the corner.

Jesse Washington, James Tucker and R. L. Harris led a second-quarter drive that netted the Wildcats 28 points to the opponents' 13. Washington picked up seven points as he drove in for layups and was fouled, while Tucker hit for five on left-handed shots from the circle, joining Harris in controlling the boards. Jesse Jones was the big gun for Stratford that period as he got eight points.

Washington and Tucker both picked up their fourth foul early in the period and were benched, with the Cats unable to take the boards and trying to work for clear shots against the tight Stratford defense. Pylum again dominated the boards with Tucker out and picked up five free throws to cut Carver's lead to 42-40 going into the final frame.

Foul Out
Washington and Tucker came back in, but soon returned to the bench for good as they heard the buzzer, and Stratford moved to a six point lead with Lester Curley leading the way.

Jimmy Brown led a last-minute rally, teaming with James Mathis, who played an outstanding floor game in the second half, despite a sprained ankle. Brown cut the margin to 50-48 as the Stratfords desperately tried to run out the clock.

With three seconds left, Carver got possession of the ball, Brown took it in bounds, whirled and fired through the hoop, but the buzzer sounded as he turned and Stratford had the win.

Seven Score
Seven players got into the scoring column for Carver-Washington with nine, Holt and Tucker eight each, Mathis seven, Harris and Brown six each and Derrell Cash five. Pylum had 15 and Curley 12 for the winners.

Record
MONTREAL (UPI) — Jean Beliveau of the Montreal Canadiens scored 12 goals during the 1955-56 National Hockey League Stanley Cup series, the most ever during the playoffs.

'Sleeping Giant' Awakens Again

PAMPA (UPI) — The "Giant of the North" has awakened and is sounding a warning that the Pampa Harvesters are going after their fifth state basketball championship in a decade.

The Harvesters have been asleep for the past three years, while Coach Terry Culley rebuilt after taking over from Clifton McNeely, the man who took the Harvesters to an unprecedented four state crowns from 1953 to 1959 and earned slots in the state meet six of seven years.

McNeely stepped down in 1959 to become a principal. Culley has finally picked up the torch, and his Harvesters are 29-1 and 14-0 in District 3-AAA with the title clinched.

The Harvesters have a 24-game winning streak going. Their early season loss was to defending Class AAAA champion Dallas Thomas Jefferson, 55-52, in the North Texas State Basketball Tournament at Denton.

The streak is still far from the sensational strings of 72 and 53 games McNeely-coached teams fashioned, but Culley's 1963 edition makes no bones about wanting to keep the current string crown in the Pampa trophy case.

The Harvesters are not exceptionally tall. Randy Matson, already famous for his 60-foot shot put in track, is 6-6½ and the team's center, Wayne Kreis at 5-10 and 6-0 Keith Swanson are the two fireball guards and 6-10 Gordon Keith and Gary Sikes—the only underclassman on the first five—are forwards. Kreis, the district's leading scorer, and Swanson are the top point-makers, and Matson is the bull of the back boards.

The loss to the defending champs doesn't worry Pampa in looking toward a rematch. The Harvesters blew a seven point lead in the last period in the Denton match. And, Culley has a special desire for a crown. He would like to prove his ability is longer than McNeely's shadow.

Carver Drops Two Point Game At State

PRAIRIE VIEW (SpI) — Jimmy Brown's last-second basket was ruled to have been shot after the final buzzer, giving Stratford of Italy a 50-48 win over the Carver Wildcats of Pampa in the Negro State Interscholastic League playoffs Friday.

Coach Ernest Sylva's green youngsters apparently had stage fright in the first quarter as Stratford opened a 17-9 first-quarter lead, but got over their nervousness in a hurry as they exploded for a 37-30 lead, then got cold again in the third quarter to give the Italy team the lead for good.

Stratford Leads
With 6-2 James Pylum controlling the backboards and Kenneth Kirby hitting jump shots from the circle, the Stratfords opened a 17-9 margin as lefty Terry Holt was the only consistent shooter for the Cats, scoring four points from the corner.

Jesse Washington, James Tucker and R. L. Harris led a second-quarter drive that netted the Wildcats 28 points to the opponents' 13. Washington picked up seven points as he drove in for layups and was fouled, while Tucker hit for five on left-handed shots from the circle, joining Harris in controlling the boards. Jesse Jones was the big gun for Stratford that period as he got eight points.

Washington and Tucker both picked up their fourth foul early in the period and were benched, with the Cats unable to take the boards and trying to work for clear shots against the tight Stratford defense. Pylum again dominated the boards with Tucker out and picked up five free throws to cut Carver's lead to 42-40 going into the final frame.

Foul Out
Washington and Tucker came back in, but soon returned to the bench for good as they heard the buzzer, and Stratford moved to a six point lead with Lester Curley leading the way.

Jimmy Brown led a last-minute rally, teaming with James Mathis, who played an outstanding floor game in the second half, despite a sprained ankle. Brown cut the margin to 50-48 as the Stratfords desperately tried to run out the clock.

With three seconds left, Carver got possession of the ball, Brown took it in bounds, whirled and fired through the hoop, but the buzzer sounded as he turned and Stratford had the win.

Seven Score
Seven players got into the scoring column for Carver-Washington with nine, Holt and Tucker eight each, Mathis seven, Harris and Brown six each and Derrell Cash five. Pylum had 15 and Curley 12 for the winners.

'Sleeping Giant' Awakens Again

PAMPA (UPI) — The "Giant of the North" has awakened and is sounding a warning that the Pampa Harvesters are going after their fifth state basketball championship in a decade.

The Harvesters have been asleep for the past three years, while Coach Terry Culley rebuilt after taking over from Clifton McNeely, the man who took the Harvesters to an unprecedented four state crowns from 1953 to 1959 and earned slots in the state meet six of seven years.

McNeely stepped down in 1959 to become a principal. Culley has finally picked up the torch, and his Harvesters are 29-1 and 14-0 in District 3-AAA with the title clinched.

The Harvesters have a 24-game winning streak going. Their early season loss was to defending Class AAAA champion Dallas Thomas Jefferson, 55-52, in the North Texas State Basketball Tournament at Denton.

The streak is still far from the sensational strings of 72 and 53 games McNeely-coached teams fashioned, but Culley's 1963 edition makes no bones about wanting to keep the current string crown in the Pampa trophy case.

The Harvesters are not exceptionally tall. Randy Matson, already famous for his 60-foot shot put in track, is 6-6½ and the team's center, Wayne Kreis at 5-10 and 6-0 Keith Swanson are the two fireball guards and 6-10 Gordon Keith and Gary Sikes—the only underclassman on the first five—are forwards. Kreis, the district's leading scorer, and Swanson are the top point-makers, and Matson is the bull of the back boards.

The loss to the defending champs doesn't worry Pampa in looking toward a rematch. The Harvesters blew a seven point lead in the last period in the Denton match. And, Culley has a special desire for a crown. He would like to prove his ability is longer than McNeely's shadow.

Bi-District Coin Toss Tomorrow?

Plans for bi-district and regional playoffs are still undecided as far as Pampa is concerned, reported Pampa athletic director Weldon Trice Saturday.

The Pampa coaches and school officials felt that the best way to decide the regional champion would be for Pampa, winner of 3-4A; Haltom City, winner of 4-A; San Angelo, the 2-4A champ; and the El Paso team that would win the 1-4A crown to meet at a neutral site and have a tournament.

Haltom City coaches agreed, and the El Paso and San Angelo coaches were invited to a meeting at Plainview immediately following Friday night's basketball game.

Pampa-area coach Terry Culley, Trice and Superintendent of School Jack Edmondson met with Haltom athletic director Johnny Nobles and basketball coach Ronnie Stephenson, a San Angelo representative also arrived, but reported that four El Paso schools were tied for first place. He explained the district is divided into two zones, the Blue and the Gray, with the two top teams in each division-Jefferson, Austin, Bellaire and Bowie — having to engage in a round-robin next week to decide their district representative, with the final game next Friday.

It was agreed that the three district winners could not work out a tourney without the fourth school, so the San Angelo coach left the meeting, saying that his school and the El Paso winner would meet in bi-district as soon as it could be arranged, probably the following week after the El Paso playoffs.

The Pampa and Haltom City heads agreed that the only solution would be their original plan, to toss a coin for a home site and date, as neither was able to agree on a neutral site, figuring that expenses would be lessened if only one team had to do the traveling, and each expressing a preference for his home court.

Due to the lateness of the time following the game and discussion, the group agreed that they would have to meet again to decide on officials and work out all plans and then match for the home site, as both coaches felt they would rather take the chance of getting to play on their home court rather than one completely strange to both of them.

The superintendents, athletic directors and coaches agreed to meet in Vernon, a halfway point between the two cities, either Monday or Tuesday afternoon, and would then decide the date and site of the bi-district game.

SURROUNDED — Keith Swanson of Pampa is surrounded by a horde of unfriendly Bulldogs, with Ronnie Peret (44) and Don Hollis (32) out to take the ball away. Swanson solved the problem by flipping an underhand pass to Randy Matson, all by himself under the basket, who promptly proceeded to stuff the ball through the hoop for two points, making the "Dogs" wish they had let Swanson keep the ball after all. January Leading Tourney

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Don January, the solid man from Texas, threatened to make a runaway of the $25,000 Tucson Open golf tournament Saturday as he pushed his lead after 54 holes to a fat and comfortable seven strokes.

January, who hasn't won a tournament in nearly two years, shot a three-under-par 69 — his third consecutive round in the 60s — to post a score of 201 at the three-quarter mark.

Closest to him were former National Open champion Gene Littler and young Frank Boynton, of Corpus Christi, Tex., each with 208, Rex Baxter, another Texan, had a 209.

January now has put together rounds of 65-67-69 and is 15 under par for the distance over the 49er's Country Club course.

He had nines of 35-34 Saturday.

"I tried to play it careful today," said January who went into the round holding a five-stroke lead.

He had three birdies and no bogeys on his round. All his birdies came on par-five holes. He birdied the 518-yard seventh by getting home in two and two-putting from 30 feet. On the 11th he put his dip shot eight from the pin and knocked in the putt. And on the 15th, which is 550 yards, he knocked his approach four feet from the cup and tanked it.

Even with the big seven-stroke lead January admitted that he had no plans to play it safe in the final round Sunday.

"I just don't know how to play it safe," said the 33-year-old shot-maker from Dallas.

Littler had it going good for him when he went out in 33. But he tailed off on the back nine and wound up his round by three-putting the 18th hole and coming in with a par 36.

Boynton, a 26-year-old who never has won a PGA tournament, had an eagle on the seventh hole when he hit the green with his second shot and tanked an eight-foot putt. However, his longest putt was a 21-footer on the par-four sixth hole for a par.

The seven-stroke margin for January after 54 holes equals the highest edge for that distance last year — set by Tony Lama in the Mobile Open.

Tied at 210 were Al Balding who had a 66; Bob Harris with a 67; Art Wall and Tom Niepore with 68; Jack Fleck with his third 70; and Harold Kneee who had a 72.

Wall, who thrilled the crowd Friday by rolling in a 75-foot putt for a bird on the 18th, Saturday got a bird from 20 feet on the same hole.

Those still in contention at 211 included: Defending champion Phil Rodgers, Bill Eggers, Jerry Steelsmith, and Bill Johnston.

Indiana U. Upsets Illinois, 103-100

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Indiana upset Big Ten basketball leader Illinois Saturday 103-100 despite Dave Downey's record 33 points for the Illini.

The loss tied Illinois with Ohio State for first place in the conference standings with 6-2 records. The Buckeyes beat Michigan in another afternoon game 75-68.

Before a sellout crowd of more than 10,000 in the regionally televised Big Ten feature, Indiana rallied in the second half behind the clutch shooting of Tom Boloyard and Jimmy Rayl to defeat the nation's fourth-ranking club. The Hoosiers scored 62 points in the second half.

WACO (UPI) — Two Arkansas all-state schoolboy football stars from Little Rock have signed letters of intent to enroll at Baylor University next fall. Baylor coach John Bridgers said Saturday.

Paul Becton, a 170-pound half-back from Little Rock Hall and Sammy Beavers, a 194-pound end from Little Rock Central, were the 29th and 30th players inked to Baylor letters of intent, Bridgers said.

Outdoors In Texas

By WILLIAM CLAYTON

United Press International That rainbow trout fishing on Lake Austin turned out real well, fishermen report. Yes, that was rainbow trout, in exile.

When the central Texas boat show closed, the Lone Star Brewery trout tank operated by the Austin Bass Club had considerable fish left over. The bass fishermen dumped the 400 to 500 remaining fish into Lake Austin, which at the time was plenty cold from a freezing winter storm.

Fishermen braved the cold for some of Texas' most unusual fishing. So far, they have come up with around 100 rainbows, Charles Barefield at Riverside Tackle in Austin reports.

Fishes from Car "One man even went over there in his car and stayed in the car with the heater running, throwing his minnow bait out the window to catch his trout," Barefield said. "That would really be a story for Pennsylvania — catching rainbow trout on minnows in Austin."

Over the state, there were reported some exceptionally good wintertime fishing, some of it on state parks' lakes.

R. W. Barlow of the parks board said channel catfish were big and biting at Fort Parker State Park. At Lake Corpus Christi, bass and catfish gave fishermen good results, he said.

At Tyler, the State Park Lake had good news for bass fishermen mostly. Topwater lures were getting quick results in the cool water.

Lake Brownwood Good Lake Brownwood was among the better fishing spots, with good prospects for bass and catfish. Gaylor Scogin, Austin, gave part of the rundown for the central Texas lakes conditions. He said with your help, we intend to try.

ALTHOUGH the hospitality of West Texans is famous, I never realized just how friendly Pampans were until the Harvesters, from coaches down to trainers, literally adopted me as one of them after having covered only two ball games and watched a practice or two. That is the thing that makes a sportswriter really want to get behind the team. Wayne Kreis and Keith Swanson are already making plans to cover my car with Pampa Harvester stickers, pennants and slogans, so I guess I have been drafted (quite willingly though, I admit.)

THERE is one thing I have noticed about basketball up here that has struck me as outstanding, and frankly far superior to basketball as played down in the South Texas area. That is the sportsmanship and clean play shown by the teams, the gentlemanliness of the coaches and the fine attitude, of the fans.

Having seen it demonstrated by Pampa, Amarillo and Plainview, it seems pretty obvious that it must be the same way throughout the area. Although there have been plenty of fouls called, none of them has appeared to be the deliberate kind, nor have I seen any evidence of threatened or implied violence. Again, I have yet to see a coach come charging out on the field to dispute a decision or harass an official.

Even more pleasant is the attitude of the students and fans. Although they naturally cheer for their own teams, they do not yell abuse at the opponents, boo or heckle a player in an attempt to harass him when shooting a free throw or display anything but good sportsmanship.

When the game at Plainview ended, I went over to congratulate coach Culley and the Harvesters, but had to push my way through a large group of Plainview players and officials who were doing the same thing.

THE GAME was basketball as it should be played and the school spirit is what it is supposed to be. This, obviously is the result of the teachers and the coaches' examples, which makes me even surer that I'm going to like being a Pampam (if the weather would ever change!)

Jim Hearn Tops Baseball Golfers

MIAMI (UPI) — Former Giant pitcher Jim Hearn, the 1960 winner, shot a three-over-par 38-35-79 Saturday for a 223 total and a four-stroke lead going into the final round of the 23rd annual Baseball Players Golf Tournament.

Hearn, driving straight and long, took a four-shot lead over Giant Manager Alvin Dark, the defending champion, Los Angeles Angel outfielder Albie Pearson and Red Sox coach Billy Herman.

Dark, four-time champion, shot a 78 as rain pelted the par 35-57-70 Miami Springs Golf Club course. Herman had a 75 and Pearson a 76 for their three-way tie at 227.

Augie Bergamo, former Cardinal infielder, shot a 75 for a 220 total which was the best in the tournament but, having been out of the major leagues more than five years, was not eligible for the ballplayers' title.

Birdie Tebbetts of the Cleveland Indians, who started the third round at 161, quit after nine holes and Ernie Logan of the Pittsburgh Pirates finished his round rather ruefully.

Logan fell into a creek crossing the fairway while trying to play a shot on the 17th hole.

Jim Piersall of the Washington Senators, one of baseball's eccentrics, contributed to the dampened hilarity by remarking to Tebbetts:

"You should hope that the Cleveland newspaper strike had continued all season because it is the only chance you had to manage the club all by yourself." Seven shots off the lead, after firing a 75, came Cincinnati Manager Fred Hutchinson while second round leader Virgil Trucks skied to an 83 and 231.

Wynn Hawkins of the Mets shot a 78 for 233.

There were three tied at 234, including Bob Shaw of the Braves, and Bob Schmidt of the Senators, with 75s, and Jackie Brandt of the Orioles with an 80. Al Vincent of the Phillies had an 80 for 235 while Ralph Terry, winning pitcher for the New York Yankees in the final game of the World Series, carded an 81 for 236.

Piersall, the laughing boy of baseball, wound up with an 83 for 242.

Ford Signs For 'Token' Raise

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Whitey Ford, who won 17 games for the New York Yankees last year but had trouble finishing what he started, signed Saturday for 1963 for a "token" $2,000 raise.

Ford's slight boost put him at the $47,000 salary mark as he prepares for his 12th season with the Yankees.

The veteran southpaw, 34, boasts the best win-loss percentage, .711, and the best lifetime earned run average, 2.78, among veteran pitchers now active in the major leagues. And his 1962 was 17 wins and 8 losses.

Local Boy Jr. Lightweight Champion Wins Shoot In 5th Successful Defense

Despite the shooting of Keith McCann for the Top O' Texas 4H Club of Pampa, the Childress American Legion team No. One took first place in the tenth annual junior invitational rifle match Saturday. The match was sponsored by the Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club and held indoors at Recreation Park.

Seven teams from Pampa, Perryton and Childress were entered with 36 shooters in the competition. The Childress Legion Post finished with a total score of 1364 and Top O Texas was second with 1236. The two top teams were both awarded trophies.

Perryton No. One was third, Childress Legion No. Two-fourth, followed by Perryton No. Two, and the two teams from Pampa — Explorer Post Four in that order.

Keith McCann shot 372 of a possible 400 for first place in both high individual in the meet and high individual shooter from Pampa. This was McCann's second straight win as Pampa high gun. Sammy Bushon, who led the winning Childress team, placed second with 371. Bushon won high individual in 1959, and McCann was third high last year.

The top ten shooters, in order, were McCann, Bushon, Billy Cross, John Priest and Alfred Stephens, all of Childress; Cynthia Waller of Perryton; Charles G. Graham of Post Four, Pampa; Joe Rigby of Childress; Gary Miller of Perryton and Danny Hogsett of Pampa 4H.

The 17-year-old McCann, a junior at Pampa High, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. McCann of 117 N. Sumner. He has been shooting in National Rifle Association junior competition since he was 12, has won a number of other shooting honors, including placing as second high individual in the Kansas state meet; McCann admitted that his ambition, after he turned 19 and entered senior competition, was to try for a place on the U. S. Olympic shooting team.

End-Safetyman Bound For SMU

DALLAS (UPI) — Bobby Goodrich, a 185-pound end-safetyman from Dallas Woodrow Wilson, signed a pre-enrollment agreement with Southern Methodist University Saturday.

Goodrich's father, Dr. Robert E. Goodrich II, formerly directed the SMU Mustang band and is now pastor of the First Methodist Church of Dallas.

MANILA (UPI) — Gabriel Elorde of the Philippines, fast-punching world junior lightweight champion, defeated Johnny Bizarro of Erie, Pa., on Saturday night in a 15-round title fight at Rizal Memorial Stadium.

The 27-year-old champion won a unanimous decision in his fifth successive title defense since he took the crown from Harold Gomes in 1960.

Bizarro, 24, has been the top challenger.

There were no knockdowns and few solid punches, but Bizarro opened a cut on Elorde's forehead in the fifth round when he unintentionally butted the champion.

Penalized One Point When Bizarro butted the Filipino again moments later, the referee ruled that he should be penalized one point.

Bizarro was the aggressor in the first round, and Elorde didn't land a solid punch until the third when he connected with a series of lefts and rights.

Elorde continued to miss in the sixth and seventh round, but found the range in the eighth and ninth as he jolted Bizarro with left hooks to the head.

After the 10th, which Bizarro won on the strength of a powerful left to the head and straight right, the young American did not win a round. Elorde gave the crowd of 35,000 a chance to cheer in the 11th when he landed a left and right that brought blood gushing from the challenger's nose.

Decision Unanimous Referee Ireneo Gallegos scored it 74-64 for the champion. Judge Dr. Domingo Gaerlan made it 72-68 and Judge Hugidino Lim 72-65.

Bizarro appeared awlward at times but was extremely fast. He repeatedly ducked under Elorde's left and right hooks.

Elorde weighed in at the 130-pound limit and Don Elbaum, Bizarro's adviser, charged that the challenger was the victim of a "fast count" on the scales.

"Elorde was definitely over the 130-pound limit," Elbaum said. "He was leaning forward on the scale and the balancing bar never did stop moving." Bizarro weighed 129½.

SCORE TWO! — Wayne Balch of Pampa lays one up and in as teammate Randy Matson prepares for a rebound if necessary. Matson was not needed as Balch hit two key fourth-quarter baskets in the Harvesters' come-from-behind win, 62-48, to finish out the District 3-AAA cage season undefeated. (Daily News Photo)

Rebs Ride Over Pampa 7th Grade

Robert E. Lee Junior High closed out a successful cage season Friday as its seventh-grade basketball team coasted to a 33-13 win at Pampa Junior High.

The Rebs led all the way, taking a 14-7 quarter lead, and coach Murray Castleberry started clearing the bench in the first half. Fifteen Rebels got in the game, with eight of them making the scoring column. Steve Walls with eight and David Schaub with six points led the winners' scoring. Corliss had six for the Reapers.

The game, the last junior-high basketball activity for the year, gives the Lee seventh graders a 7-1 record.

Pampa GG Boxers All Lose Matches

FORT WORTH (SpI) — Amarillo's hopes for a second straight Golden Gloves title and Pampa's hopes for any individual crowns were completely destroyed here Friday night as all three Pampa fighters and one from Plainview were defeated, leaving only three area fighters scheduled to try for a title Saturday.

Amarillo, which had gone into the quarter-finals in a three-way tie for first, but sitting in the drivers' seat with seven boxers still in action, fell to a fourth place with Beaumont as Dallas and Fort Worth took over the lead with Odessa still in the running.

Pampa light-heavyweight Charles Snider was knocked out in the second round, Dickie Willis was TKOed in the third round, Gary Wilhelm dropped a unanimous decision and Manuel Gonzales of Plainview lost by a hair in the lightweight ranks.

Three Left
Left in the semifinals are Leveland heavyweight Roy Rogers, who was slated to meet former Champ Claud Davenport of Fort Worth; flyweight Jesse Rodella of Leveland, scheduled to meet John Edmond of Houston; and the area's best hope for a title, bantamweight Eddie Gonzales, who was to meet Stephen Armosto of Odessa.

Snider, leading all the way, was floored by one right-hand punch from an apparently thoroughly beaten Jimmy Boyde of Dallas. Snider came out punching, cornered Boyde against the ropes and smashed away with both hands, landing a hard left to the jaw. Boyde got in one good punch, a solid right, but the rest of the round was all Snider.

Snider continued the assault in the second round, again forcing Boyde to the ropes and slamming away with both hands as Boyde seemed ready to fold.

From out of nowhere, the apparently helpless Fort Worth fighter swung a desperation haymaker that hit Snider right on the button. As Boyde hung onto the ropes to keep from joining Snider on the canvas, the Pampa man just beat the 10-count and made it to his feet, apparently on sheer instinct as he swayed helplessly, with the referee stopping the fight as Snider was obviously out on his feet.

Cuts Stops Willis
Dickie Willis also lost one of the hard way as he outboxed Gary Barcroft of Fort Worth, but suffered cuts over both eyes which had the officials call a halt to the proceedings in the final round.

The two fighters both landed good lefts as they put on a boxing demonstration in the first frame, but one of Barcroft's lefts opened a cut over Willis' left eye. Willis came back and hit Barcroft hard and heavy in the second frame, but again Barcroft's rapier left opened a gash over the other eye.

The officials let the fight continue as coach Ollie Wilhelm insisted that Willis was winning the fight despite the cuts and had a good chance to knock the Fort Worth middleweight out. Barcroft stayed on his bicycle however, and kept slashing away at the cuts until Willis was barely able to see through the blood and the fight was stopped.

Wilhelm Tires
Welterweight Gary Wilhelm engaged in an all-out slugfest with G. B. White of Fort Worth, last year's lightweight runner-up, in a bout that had the crowd roaring from the opening bell.

Both boys started throwing leather from the opening seconds, increasing the pace in the final minute as Wilhelm peppered White with left jabs to the face and the Fort Worth boy retaliated to the body.

The second round saw a slow-down as both appeared arm-weary and wary of the other's power-laden fists, but White got his second wind in the final round and landed some telling blows to gain the decision.

Gonzales Robbed
Little Manuel Gonzales lost a close and unpopular split decision to veteran lightweight Zeke Sanchez of Odessa. Gonzales took the offensive from the opening bell, but Sanchez, an effective counter-puncher, took the round as he bloodied Manuel's nose with a hard left jab, and then staggered him with a left-right combination.

Gonzales, saved by the bell, rallied in the second round and stalked Sanchez all the way as the two-time featherweight semi-finalist stayed on his bicycle, figuring his first-round margin had locked the decision up.

It apparently had as Gonzales landed solidly several times in the final round, but the judges gave the nod to Sanchez. The first judge had apparently picked the Plainview battler as the winner as he gave Sanchez the first round and Manuel the next two; the second judge gave Sanchez the first round and called the second and third even-Stephen; but the final decision went to Sanchez as the third judge gave him all three rounds on the card.

Parrish Quits
Rogers took a TKO win over Pat Parrish as the Tyler heavyweight threw in the towel in the second round. Parrish a hit-and-run stick of tall timber, landed several effective jabs and then bicycled away, but the 245-pound Leveland oilworker just kept coming, absorbing Parrish's best punches and landing plenty of his own as he kept clinching. Parrish finally decided he had had enough and against the ropes, with Parrish be-

The win gave White Deer a final district record of 7-1. Shamrock had a 6-2 record and a Dalhart win would have thrown the district into a tie.

White Deer, which won the Class A state championship last year, will play Canyon, the 2-AA winner, in bi-district. No arrangements have been made for the bi-district clash.

Bob Rose Is Leading 'Six Shooters Club'

"Cactus" Bob Rose, Rose Coring Co., is 'Top Gun' in the first tabulation of reports of the Six Shooters Club of the Industrial Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce. He is closely followed by "Roaring" Roy Webb, of Webco, Inc.

Frank Culberson, Industrial Committee chairman, yesterday said: "Preliminary analysis of approximately 40 personal calls on local businesses of all types made to date by the Six Shooters reveals the following:

- Seven local concerns plan definite expansions which will employ an additional 40 to 50 people.
- Pampa has prospects for possibly four new small industries."

Culberson continued: "Cactus" Bob Rose is to be commended for being 'Top Gun' in these first reports. He has made the most calls on businesses, and has secured a number of suggestions for use by the Chamber."

Six Shooter co-chairman "Dead Eye" Dick Evans and "Two Gun" Jack Vaughn stated: "Our target is to call on each and every business, regardless of size, in and near Pampa, to determine all possibilities for internal expansion of business."

While such personal visits by our two-men teams will take several weeks, even months, the information already gained conclusively proves the value of these efforts. Our hard working teams, who give freely of their time and talents, report a good community spirit and a "go-go" attitude of those firms contacted to date.

"We need additional workers for this campaign and will welcome anyone interested in this community effort," they concluded.

Gray County Is Reaccredited Tuberculosis Area

Dr. R. G. Garrett, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission, announces the reaccreditation of Gray county as a Modified Accredited Tuberculosis Area.

County Agent Foster Whaley has received the certificate, which is good for six years.

The Commission expressed its appreciation to the people of Gray County for cooperation extended to its representatives while work was being conducted in Gray County, and urged continued cooperation of area citizens to maintain the tuberculosis status of the County.

Name to Remember

Sunday Morning

Coffee Break....with d. e. w.

PAMPANS HAVING lunch or a late afternoon snack with John and Ted Gikas this week are in for an artistic treat... they will have food for the inner man as well as the outer, so to speak. Lining the walls of their establishment will be the "one-man" show of portraits, landscapes, seascapes and still-lives... all from the creative and talented fingers of a former Pampan, Leona M. Turner, now residing in Amarillo. She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. McClendon, 308 North Banks... and the wife of an illustrator for the Air Force, George E. Turner. Leona, who was graduated from Pampa High School in 1947, currently instructs classes in Life Drawing and Portrait Painting. She also produces commercial art and advertising materials of all kinds, including fashion illustrations for some of Amarillo's leading department stores. We have seen some of her work... and it's well worth spending one of your "browsing hours" viewing it.

AS FURTHER PROOF that Pampan do succeed and excel in different phases of the Fine Arts, we heard this week that another former Pampan, Jim Baines has an original play "No Suki Yomi" (No Moon) accepted by the Playwright's Showcase of New Orleans for production April 20 through May 4. Jim was born in Pampa attended Horace Mann School and was graduated from the Hallowed Halls of Harvester High in 1949. His mother, Mrs. Willie Holmes lives at 523 Sloan. He is currently director of theater at McMurry College, where he is working on his doctorate. Before going to McMurry, Jim was drama instructor at Southwest University in Georgetown. Having one of his plays win an award, though still a pleasant accomplishment, it is not a new one for the Pampan Dramatist. He previously won the University of Arkansas Playwriting Award and has had scripts produced at Southwestern University, Baylor University and the University of Arkansas.

JUST A REMINDER... don't tell us there's nothing to do in Pampa... on Thursday and Friday of this week, there's the annual staging of the Lions' Club Minstrel, always a hilarious event with usually staid and dignified business and professional people letting their hair down in abandoned, minstrel style. On Friday and Saturday night, the Junior Class of Pampa High School is presenting a two-act comedy, "I Remember Mama" in the high school auditorium. The fine quality of acting and staging, established in other years under the direction of Helen Schafer, drama instructor, is already known to theater-goers who attend the high school productions. The very next weekend, March 1-2, Pampa Little Theater's second play of the current season, "Manana Is Another Day" will be presented in the high school auditorium. It's a sparkling comedy with a colorful background set in a tourist boarding house in Cuernavaca, Mexico. Jack O. Miller has the directing duties with Homer and Anita Krueger composing original scores and lyrics for the comedy written by a former University of Texas classmate of Jack's, Theodore Apstein. Choreography is being directed by a petite dancing instructor from Borger, Phyllis Jackson... also on March 1, the Pampa Community Concert Association will present its final concert of the current season... A Jazz Ensemble.

THE BRIEF SNOW AND ice blizzard of last weekend, which nipped our premature case of Spring Fever right in the bud, might have inconvenienced some, but for Louis and Margaret Troja, it meant a couple of happy, bonus days spent with their two daughters and their families... ice-bound together in Midland. The Trojas left here last Friday for a weekend with their daughter, Diane, her husband, William Porter and nine-month-old William Louis. They were joined in Midland by another daughter and her husband, the Dayton Metcalfs of Hobbs, N.M., and their 18-month-old daughter, Margaret Diane. It was a pleasant, family weekend highlighted by a birthday dinner on Sunday honoring Louis. But on Monday morning... and again on Tuesday morning, the icy roads out of Midland prevented the Metcalfs and the Trojas from returning home at the time they planned. Don't imagine Louis and Margaret minded those two extra days to spend with those two grandchildren... of which, needless to say, they are very proud.

ANOTHER QUERY from a reader, which is always welcomed: Dear DEW: Could you tell us in your column, who is the lovely young lady, who works in Richard Drug? Whoever she might be, she always has a friendly smile for everyone. Signed "The Wonderers." Dear "The Wonderers": I know exactly who you mean. Her first name is Kay... but you'll have to find out the rest of the statistics for yourself. Signed, "Always happy to help, d.e.w."

SPEAKING OF Drug Stores, which are an integral part of our community life, we notice that "Big John" has moved into a nice, new, brick store just down the street south from his former location on Perryton Parkway... needed more elbow-room, he says.

CLASSIFIED INFO: St. Matthews Episcopal Church is beginning to think of its annual Shrove Tuesday Mardi Gras Pancake Supper... which is a traditional event enjoyed by parish members as well as non-parishioners. There is one problem facing the Pancake Committee this year. The lady, who generally portrays "Aunt Jemima", has lost so much weight she will be unable to convincingly play the part. Meanwhile, Pancake Supper plans are suspended until a new "Aunt Jemima" can be found.

When you get ready to buy your tickets for Twentieth Century Cottillion's Spring Antique Show, you can be sure that the club has a worthwhile place for the proceeds derived from ticket sales. The club annually sponsors a high school girl by providing clothes and money for all those little extra expenses that are needed during high school days. Too, they contribute to the West Texas State College (or is it University by now?) Endowment Fund... which provides assistance to deserving high school graduates to further their college education.

See where the Pampa Music Teachers are going to have a "Musical Rummage Sale" soon... sounds interesting. For those of you, who have passed by Pioneer Cottage on the corner of Starkweather and Yeager Streets and have felt as sorry for it as we have, standing there so forlorn and forsaken... looking, please be assured that there are a lot of "behind-the-scenes" things going on that will show up when Spring rolls around. Several federated clubs, in connection with their American Heritage interests, have contributed funds for landscaping. The Civic Culture Club, for one, has given funds for landscaping in honor of one of its charter members, Katie Vincent. There are painting plans and a lot of other projects that, when done, will make the "little house by the side of the road" a show-place of the town.

Don't forget your invitation for tomorrow night... extended by Pampa Classroom Teachers' Association, to come out to Robert E. Lee Junior High at 7:30 p.m. to hear Delbert Downing of Midland, humorist-philosopher, speak. Wendell Watson, president of PCTA, says, "it's the teachers way of saying 'thank you' for the interest in our schools."

ALL OF THIS hiking business instituted by those Walking Washingtonians has made us "think" about getting in shape. In fact, we've already started. Just last night we got up and walked to the television set instead of using the electronic channel changer. Wearily yours, d.e.w.

'Luster To Living' Topic For Civic Culture Meeting

"Luster To Living" was the topic discussed by Mrs. A. C. Houchin at the Civic Culture Club meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. C. Scott, 1133 E. Kingsmill. In her discussion, Mrs. Houchin touched on the subjects of art, music, literature, drama, the crafts and their relation to adding "luster to living." "Talent, God-given, should rightly be spent to bring joy to all, though that talent be great or small," Mrs. Houchin said. In continuing, she stated "Just as the study of American arts help us to appreciate our national culture, a similar study of the arts of the world provide the approach to an understanding of international culture."

Democracy Stimulates Creativity: Caballero

"You must know how to fail before you can enjoy the sweetness of success" were the opening remarks of Dr. Emilio Caballero, head of the art department at West Texas State College, as guest speaker on the topic, "The Art of Living", for the Petroleum Engineers' Wives' Society meeting held Tuesday in the Cibola Room of the Coronado Inn. To illustrate his statement, Dr. Caballero pointed out that Abraham Lincoln learned the art of living through fifty years of failure and suffering before he became a national leader. "Yet he always retained the qualities of honesty and simple philosophy," the speaker said. "We all have the time and talent to accomplish something," Dr. Caballero continued. "The time is now to do that which will allow us to use the talent we possess to become a more wholesome person. Creativity does exist, but it cannot be defined. Art is more than painting or a craft; it, too, is beyond definition."

PLANS JUNE WEDDING

Miss Helen Hicks

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Helen Hicks, daughter of Mrs. Jesse Crawford Hicks of Dallas and the late Mr. Hicks, to Staley Faulkner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Siler Faulkner Jr. of Denton, is being announced by the bride-elect's mother. Sprinkler, pastor, officiating. The bride-elect was graduated from Sunset High School in Dallas and is a senior at the University of Texas where she is a member of Alpha Chi Omega Sorority. Her fiancé was graduated from Denton High School and is a senior at University of Texas, where he is affiliated with the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, a two-year letterman on the Longhorn football team; and member of the T-Association.

Preceding the program, luncheon was served on tables appointed with small artist's easels, each holding a miniature valentine. The head table was centered with two large cupid's flanking the centerpiece, which featured an artist's palette, brushes and a red floral arrangement. The table appointments were created by Mrs. L. K. Roberts.

During a brief business meeting, conducted by Mrs. N. E. Turnbo, president, Mrs. Robert West was elected chairman of the nominating committee. Serving with her will be Mrs. Frank Vitranio, Mrs. L. K. Roberts, both of Pampa; Mrs. James Hamilton, Mrs. J. E. Curzon, both of Borger. The slate of officers will be presented at the March meeting.

It was announced that the next meeting will be a banquet in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church on Feb. 26 at 7:30 p.m. with Mrs. Helen Knox in charge.

Forty-eight members attended the meeting.

American Field Service Students Give Insight To Their Countries For Club

El Progreso Study Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Harold Wright, 930 Christine. Mrs. Glen Radcliff, president, during the business session, announced plans for the Sweetheart Banquet to be held at the Pampa Country Club Feb. 26 at 7 p.m. Program for that evening will be presented by Mrs. Eugene Leigh, handwriting analyst.

Guest speakers for the Tuesday afternoon meeting were the American Field Service students, Luisa Prieto of Madrid, Spain and Turan Soleynez of Istanbul, Turkey. Luisa is spending the school year in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Morgan. Turan is at home with Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Veale. They were accompanied to the meeting by Mrs. Aubrey Sieele, AFS chapter president, who introduced them.

In opening remarks, Luisa said her brother, who had been an exchange student last year, had told her how amazing the freedom of the people in the United States was, but she had to really experience it to believe it. She continued, "In Spain we are not allowed to have clubs of any kind, not allowed a choice of subjects in school, and don't need cars for transportation in Madrid as you do in Pampa."

"We have very little trouble in Spain though, and consider Franco a good dictator." She stated they went to school from 8 in the morning until 7:30 in the evening with two hours off for lunch, six days a week, with Thursday afternoon off. Turan, also, stated the most amazing thing to him was the freedom of the people here, especially school students. He commented on his Moslem religion, and explained he was presently observing the month of fasting, and during this month he would eat nothing during daylight. "This gives us an opportunity to realize how the poor people, who have practically nothing to eat, have to live, and makes us more playful and thankful for our possessions."

Both students revealed their enthusiasm and love for their new friends and new life in Texas. Both said they hoped to return some day. Club members present were Mmes. Helen Vera, Grundy Morrison, Bernard Johnson, Bob McCoy, Charles Lanehart, D. V. Burton, Elmer Fisher, John Gill, V. J. Drew, Glen Radcliff, George Newberry, T. A. Perkins and Mrs. Wright.

Dear Abby.... Interest In Marriage Just Might Save It!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman who has a story like a thousand other women. I am married, have two children and am keeping my home together for the sake of the children. My husband stays out until all hours of the night and sometimes he doesn't come home at all. I have known for years that he has somebody else. Well, now I have somebody else, too. I want to bring it out in the open so he will confess and then I will do the same. I have thought of the children and decided they would be better off with one of us than living in a loveless home like this. If I am wrong, tell me.

DEAR FRIGHTENED: You are wrong. Do you remember how you and your husband felt about each other when you were first married? What happened to that love? There is no lasting satisfaction in the "someone else" kind of diversion. If you and your husband combined all the energy you spend on outside romance, yours could be a sometimes-satisfying and always-solid marriage. Lie there to a marriage counselor. Children belong in a home with BOTH parents — and plenty of love.

DEAR ABBY: Why do some women act so awful to their husbands? My Daddy has a real bad hearing loss and Mother just has a fit when he mentions getting a hearing aid. She buys anything she needs or wants.

DEAR DAUGHTER: Tell your Daddy to pretend he doesn't hear your Mother "having a fit" when she objects to his getting a hearing aid. Your Mother's handicap is more serious than Daddy's. No feelings.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is almost 16 and she is giving me a headache. She has always been a very good athlete. As far back as I can remember she has played ed with the boys. Baseball and football were her fun. She never played with dolls or cared for girls. The boys come around and she wrestles, boxes and rough-houses with them. Then they tell her their troubles about liking other girls. No one ever asks her for a date. She would like to date, and I have bought her lovely feminine clothes, but no one asks her. What can I do?

DEAR MOTHER: Tell your daughter that a girl who wrestles and boxes with the boys become "one of the boys". . . and forfeits her femininity. She should start now to build a feminine image, acquire a few girl friends and leave the roughhousing to the fellows.

Calorie Count Zooms At TC Culture Meeting

Twentieth Century Culture Club had a "pot-luck" luncheon Tuesday noon in the home of Mrs. L. J. Zachry with Mrs. J. L. Chase assisting as co-hostess.

Mrs. Rufe Jordan gave the invocation.

After everyone had tasted the smorgasboard, tampered with her calorie-counting diet, and traded recipes with other gourmets, the business meeting was conducted by president, Mrs. R. E. Dobbin.

Plans were made for hosting the Senior Citizens Center on February 28.

In the introduction of her program, "Food for Thought," Mrs. Jeff Bearden said, "Every living thing must have food to live and man's first occupation was the search for food. Columbus discovered America in search for spices — that is; to satisfy the palate of the Europeans."

The speaker added to her table-talk some cooking tips in preparing some of the most basic foods. These included hamburgers, baked potatoes, boiled eggs and brewed coffee.

She continued with a word about the versatile tomato. "This leading canned crop in the United States was once considered poison, and not until after the War between the States was it popular. Besides the tomato's different and excellent taste, it has the power to dissipate odors like nothing else." Mrs. Bearden explained, "If you or your dog are sprayed by a skunk, the only way to remove the odor is to scrub and wash your skin or the dog with tomato pulp or juice."

Another tidbit of information brought by the speaker was, "The sandwich derived its name from the Earl of Sandwich, an English Nobleman, in the 18th century which described the food brought to him as he ardently played cards, reluctant to leave the card table."

Amusing excerpts from the White House Cookbook published in 1884 were read to survey the range of concerns which this cookbook had, such as, cooking, household recipes, menus, table etiquette, care of the sick and health suggestions.

One resource on display, and from which Mrs. Bearden quoted, was a copy of the New Mexico Magazine. The article titled "Kitchen Magic" was written by and the illustrations were photographed by Mrs. Bearden's sister, Mildred T. Crews, who lives at Rancho de Taos.

Members answering roll call other than those mentioned above were: Mmes. Robert Allen, Ross Buzzard, G. L. Craddock, J. R. Donaldson, J. W. Edminster, Philip Gates, H. H. Hahn, W. L. Hesse, E. L. Henderson, V. L. Hobbs, Ronald Merrill, Doyce Osborne, E. E. Shelhamer, N. D. Steele, and Michael Wilson.

Red Cross Work Topic For ABWA

The Pampa Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association held its monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the Cibola Room of the Coronado Inn.

The guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary of the American Red Cross. She described a typical day in the Red Cross Office, then a brief resume of life in general of a Red Cross executive secretary. She also explained what the Red Cross is and how it functions. Pamphlets concerning facts about Red Cross were distributed.

During the business session which followed, the group selected Miss Maxine Nabors as delegate to the Southwest District Convention being held in Odessa in April.

Plans were finalized for the Spring Tea to be held in March.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. O. G. Smith was installed as a new member. Mrs. Charity Lee Humphries was accepted as a transferee from Pasadena.

Those attending the meeting were Mmes. Glenn Ritter, president, Billy Wright, Clemon H. e. d. James Quarry, Bobbie Davis, Ted Mastin, H. F. Tremble, Lloyd Larmore, O. G. Smith, Ed Wylie, Kenneth Butler, Charity Lee Humphries, Ruby Mae Wylie, Misses Maxine Nabors and Novis Parker.

NEW YORK (UPI) — A teacher, asked for three good reasons for entering her profession, responded in a survey: "June, July and August."

Brilliant Opera Season Planned By Dallas 'Met'

Of the six operas to be presented in Dallas by the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York, May 8-12 at State Fair Music Hall, four will be in stagings new to the company this season. The other two productions, scheduled for the local season under the auspices of the Dallas Grand Opera Association are expensive mountings of recent vintage at the Metropolitan, according to Mrs. Raymond Harrah, member of the Hospitality board for the Dallas Grand Opera Association.

Pampans securing ticket reservations with Mrs. Harrah will receive top priority in seating arrangements.

Seen for the first time in New York last October is the lavish production of Wagner's "Die Meistersinger," the result of a $125,000 contribution from Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. Created by Robert O'Hearn, the new mounting was described by the New York press as "a real beauty," "one of the handsomest in the Met's repertory," "sumptuous and a sample of operatic production that would improve the look of any stage in the world."

The Wagner masterpiece is set for a May 12 matinee in Dallas with Otto Edelmann, Sandor Konya, Lucine Amara and Giorgio Tozzi in principal roles.

Last week brought the first performance of Cilea's "Adriana Lecouvreur." Set in Paris in 1730, "Adriana" has a physical production that is an exact duplicate of the elaborate staging of the opera by the Teatro San Carlo in Naples. The opening night cast for New York, identical to the one to be heard in Dallas on May 11, includes Renata Tebaldi, Franco Corelli, Anselmo Colzani and Irene Dalis.

The new mounting of Verdi's "Otello" will be seen for the first time in New York on March 10, followed by only six days by the first performance of "Boris Godunov" in a new staging. Musical preparation for both operas will be by Georg Solti, former senior conductor of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra.

The Dallas cast for "Otello," opening night on May 8, includes Renata Tebaldi, James McCracken and Robert Merrill. Mousorgsky's "Boris Godunov," May 10, will have Jerome Hines in the title role and a cast that includes Rosalind Elias, John Alexander, Ezio Flagello and Fernando Corona.

MATURE PARENT

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: If my 6-year-old boy doesn't get his own way, he whines, teases and pesters me until I give in to him. We don't get along well for this reason. He will not take "No" for an answer. He will follow me all over the house wanting to know why he can't go out and play in the rain or bring our neighbor's big collie into the house. When I tell him why, he hardly waits for me to finish explaining before he starts pestering again...

ANSWER: I can't equip you to tolerate yourself as a displeasing, possibly mistaken person.

Yet that's what it means to deliver an effective "No" to a child or to anyone else. We have to be prepared to tolerate his judgment of us as mean, unfair or unkind. An effective "No" invariably involves the courage to be alone with our own displeasing and possibly mistaken selves.

We may, for example, be mistaken to refuse to let a youngster bring a dog he loves into the house. Our refusal may not only displease him but may finally confirm his opinion of us as "mean," so that he holds his memory of it against us for the rest of his life. But this is the kind of risk we have to take when we say "No" to anyone, whether it's a child who wants to bring a dog into the house, an employer who wants to cut our salary or a man who wants to marry us. Saying "No" not only compels us to displease, but to tolerate the possibility that we should have said "Yes."

If we can't endure ourselves as a displeasing, possibly mistaken person, the child at once senses our uneasiness — and refuses to take our "No" for an answer. He registers our dependence on his approval and will pursue us with his demands until we yield to our need to please him and agree to what he wants.

To discover the strength to stand firmly on the "No" we have given to him, it may be necessary for us to recognize the lofty absurdity of our demands on ourselves.

To try to protect a child against disappointment in us is as hopeless an effort as to try to protect him against growing up. To demand such a task from ourselves is as fantastic as our fear of being wrong. Every human being has to come to terms with himself as an occasionally mistaken, displeasing person. That you think you can avoid so revealing yourself to your child is your real problem.

Dear Kathy

By KATHY PETERSON

Dear Kathy: I'm puzzled about the girl I've been dating for almost two year.

I feel that a girl owes it to her date to ask permission to dance with another fellow — especially a stranger. If I correct her about this, she gets mad and walks out without a word. At a recent party she became upset and walked home in the snow in the early morning without giving me any idea she was leaving. The next day she wouldn't talk to me until after I had made four or five phone calls. Still I had to plead with her to forgive me.

Some of the childish things she does worry me so much, I don't know what to think.—R. S.

Dear R. S.: Provided he behaves like her knight in shining armor, a girl should treat her date like Sir Galahad. I's both selfish and impolite to neglect a partner for someone else.

Unless you have distorted the facts, it seems your girl is a spoiled brat.

She abuses you and you apologize for it. Right now, you are a prime candidate for the role of henpecked husband. Turn her in for a new model, the faster the better.

Mrs. Jaunita Channell
new HD agent

Assistant HD Agent Named

Mrs. Jaunita Channell has been appointed assistant Gray County home demonstration agent by the County Commissioners following a recommendation by Miss E. D. H. Wilson of Amarillo, extension agent.

Mrs. Channell, who will be associated with 4H Girls' Club work, will assume duties in the Court-house Annex on Monday.

She attended Oklahoma State University in Stillwater, where she received a Bachelor of Science degree in home economics. She taught vocational home economics for four years in Ames and Ceiling, Okla. schools. For the past six years, she has been engaged in substitute teaching in public schools in Stephenville and Pampa.

Mrs. Channell resides with her husband, Jay, two sons, Stanley, Pampa High School sophomore and Harvey, who is in the sixth grade at Stephen F. Austin School. The Channells live at 1023 Terry Road.

Manners Make Friends

Be tactful when speaking of age to the elderly.

RUTH MILLETT

In Los Angeles a 17-year-old mother abandoned her baby because, in her own words, "The baby started crying and I didn't know what to do." The young mother had been upset, explained the husband, because he had to be out of town on his job for two days.

The young husband professed to love his wife very much, and said he was making enough for the family to live on. He went with his wife to reclaim the abandoned baby, and the story may yet have a happy ending.

But the real tragedy is that so many girls today marry in their early teens without seeming to have the foggiest notion that babies cry and get sick and need constant care.

Husbands aren't always around when their wives need them—the demands of their jobs come first. Two can't live as cheaply as one, and a couple who marry when they are very young often can't live as well together as each lived in his parents' home.

Homemaking can be a lonely life for a girl still in her teens, when her friends are still leading the carefree life of schoolgirls.

The responsibilities of marriage, once assumed, can't be dropped lightly and the responsibilities of motherhood never really end.

"Living happily ever after" doesn't just happen because two people fall in love and marry. It takes work and self-sacrifice, and mature judgment on the part of both husband and wife to make a marriage happy.

A carefree girlhood cut short for marriage can never be regained.

Provocative Book Is Reviewed At Houston

Mrs. Lee Fraser was guest speaker at the Feb. 14 meeting of Sam Houston PTA held in the school auditorium at 2:15 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. Buddy Cockrell, program leader, introduced Mrs. Fraser "as a former Sam Houston student and a busy housewife... now very much interested in our national welfare and our educational processes."

Mrs. Fraser began her review of E. Merrill Root's book "Brainwashing In the High Schools" by saying: "The United States is losing the cold war. It is losing, that is, the intellectual and spiritual war; the war of ideas and ideals, which is the real war."

"Naturally, then the question is: Why?"

Mrs. Fraser said that Professor Root's book attempts to answer this question. "Mr. Root tries to show that the dominant textbooks used in American history do not get across the absolute fundamentals of survival today."

"He examines eleven of the most widely-used United States history textbooks and the conclusion of his study is that 1) American students are indoctrinated with a Marxian concept of the United States' history; 2) that the present school generation is being conditioned to accept a socialistic and totalitarian way of life and 3) that as a consequence, resistance to communist cold-war techniques is being broken down."

"Mr. Root's basis of concern lies in the fact that one-third of the Americans taken prisoners in Korea succumbed to communist brainwashing and assisted or collaborated with their captors," the speaker said. "The communist brainwashers recognized and took skillful advantage of the American's ignorance and confusion concerning United States history, the free enterprise economy and the representative system of government."

Mrs. Fraser listed the eleven books examined in Root's book and cited examples from each which clearly showed the trend toward hostility to traditional American principals and the promotion of the "social" vs. the individualistic view of America.

Mrs. Kenneth Royce, unit president, presided at the business meeting, which opened with pledge to the flag and a devotion by Mrs. Leslie Hart.

L. C. Davis, school principal, Mrs. Herschel Wilks and Mrs. Doty Warner were elected to the nominating committee.

Door prize, a cake baked by Mrs. Charles Duenkel Jr., was won by Mrs. Howard Martin.

Mrs. J. E. Gibson's first grade and Mrs. Della DeFever's first grade tied for first place in room count.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER
Senior Citizens Center

So good to see Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Heaston out for our Thursday afternoon meeting in Senior Center. It was such a pretty day. Also, nice to have Mrs. N. H. Shireman. We have been missing them!

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Henderson went to Carlsbad last week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Furton. They drove back in the snow storm; got so bad Mr. Henderson had to get out several times and scrape the ice off the wheels of the car.

H. L. DeWoody runs over often to Amarillo to visit his daughter and family; he spent last weekend over there.

Ray Sanger of Wichita Falls, salesman for Oil Well Supply Co., makes Pampa on his itinerary. He always visits his aunt, Mrs. Mollie Hetchcock and sons. He was here this week combining business with pleasure.

Was sorry to hear that Mrs. E. O. Etheredge is in Worley Hospital with a case of shingles. She is in Room 10 and I am sure she would enjoy cards and visits from her friends.

Understand Mr. R. Dodson, who has come to the Center a few times, is quite ill at his home. Mrs. Lee Harris is still in Highland General because of a broken hip. She would enjoy cards and visits.

William Hall was introduced and welcomed to the Center Thursday.

The Twentieth Century Club was hostess during the social hour. Mrs. H. I. Stanfield, president, Mrs. W. R. Campbell, hospitality chairman were assisted in hostess' duties by Mmes. Jack Stroup, Davis Turner, Lorene Locke, Jack P. Foster. Coffee with whipping cream - topped Angel Cake was served. Valentines were given as favors.

Red Cross Gray Ladies providing transportation to and from the meeting were Mmes. Jess Hatcher, Wayne St. Clair, A. D. Hills, Jess Beard and Stanley Brandt.

Altrusa members assisting were Mmes. Lorene Locke, Mable Hukill and Jay Flanagan, Center chairman.

Door prizes were presented to Mrs. Maggie Deal and C. E. DeMoss.

The serving table was graced with a beautiful centerpiece of red carinations.

HERE ARE a couple of good jokes: Hostess: "Now, Nora, when you serve our guests tonight, don't spill anything." Maid: "Don't you worry about me, Ma'am, I never talk much."

Physician: (suspiciously) "It certainly was nice of you to buy me a cup of coffee." Acquaintance: "Don't mention it, doctor, have another. And... er, by the way, what would you advise me to do for a sprained ankle?" Physician: (grimly) "Limp!"

We are sure all of you are enjoying this lovely weather, Love, Mrs. Wagner.

Kenneth Chisum Feted At Party

LEFORS (Spl) — Kenneth Joe Chisum was honored on his seventh birthday with a party in the civic center. Hostesses were his two aunts, Mrs. Floyd Amarillo, and Mrs. Jimmy Claude Stanton.

Outdoor games provided entertainment throughout the afternoon. Party hats, horns, whistles and suckers were enjoyed by those attending.

The honoree blew out the candles on his cake after which he was serenaded with "Happy Birthday."

The cake was served with Kool-aid.

Attending were David Luna, La-wassa Ring, Debbie Torres, Debbie Langley, Floyd Peak, Johnny Williams, Linda Stanton, Donnie Stanton, Tina and Connie Bivins, Pam James, Alpha Jo Elliott Wyatt Fenno, Ann Vincent, Clayton Robison, and Linda and Brinda Stanton.

PERSUADERS — If you are doing some remodeling indoors while the weather is still inclement, you may have trouble coaxing screws and bolts to loosen. Those that grip wood are especially difficult. Loosen their grip with a few drops of peroxide or vinegar.

Miss Charlotte Austin Feted At Party

CANADIAN (Spl) — A bridal shower honoring Miss Charlotte Austin, bride-elect of Aubrie Brown, was held recently in the Briscoe Luncheonroom.

Ice cream, punch and cake were served. Mrs. Roy Meadows and Mrs. Milton Finsterwald presided at the serving table. Lauree Singleton registered the guests. Hostesses for the affair were Mmes. Meadows, Finsterwald, Clifford Hefley, E. G. Fillingim, Jack Meek and Willis Fillingim.

Take It From Kathy

... by Kathy Peterson

Dear Kathy: Since I was 12, I have been allowed to date and now I'm 18. I've dated about every kind of boy on earth, but I never went steady until six months ago. I am deeply in love with a boy but I cannot explain why. He is as affectionate as an iceberg and he even hits me. His parents are divorced. He has been in trouble with the police for knife fighting.

Yesterday he asked me to marry him. Even though I accepted, I'm worried. Do you think he loves me?—Desperate.

Dear Desperate: Sympathy and a desire to help can trigger very real and worth-while emotions. Mix these up with a strong liking for someone and any kind and generous person could mistake these feelings for love.

You have every right to be worried. A girl has the greatest influence over a boy before marriage. If it's impossible to bring about lasting changes then chances are that you'll have to tolerate as a wife the things you now consider problems.

Marrying him would be a gamble. The stakes are high and the odds are against you.

Chronically careless persons soon vanish from others' guest lists.

Olivia Misses The
'Hollywood of Old'

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Olivia de Havilland, returning to the town where she once reigned with other queens of fildom, said "I miss the old Hollywood."

Miss De Havilland, one of the screen's most beautiful actresses, starred in scores of pictures, including "Gone With The Wind," "Anthony Adverse," and "Snake Pit."

She won two Academy Awards as the best actress, in 1946 for her work in "To Each His Own," and for "The Heiress" in 1949.

For the past nine years, she has been living in Paris with her husband, French journalist, Pierre Galante, and two children. She hasn't made a film in Hollywood since 1957, but came back to star in "Lady in a Cage."

The role certainly is not one of the glamour girl variety. Miss De Havilland will need all her acting skill to play a woman trapped in an elevator who herself a murderer committed and is herself threatened with death.

Misses 'Old' Hollywood
"She's a very civilized and elegant person," said Miss De Havilland, attractively dressed in a pale blue blouse, gray skirt, jacket and hat. "She starts out exquisite and deteriorates physically."

Looking around the restaurant and noticing other film personalities,

'Music At Midnight'
Is Slated In Amarillo

AMARILLO (Spl) — The Panhandle will have a chance to see "Music at Midnight," the powerful British drama, which will appear Feb. 20 for one night only at Amarillo's City Auditorium.

The story of "Music at Midnight," a play in two acts by Peter Howard and Alan Thornhill and presented by Moral Re-Armament, unfolds on both sides of the Iron Curtain during a tense 24 hours. In an occupied country, tanks are rolling through the streets and breaking up a hopeless fight for freedom. The embittered young leader of the freedom fighters manages to meet the leader of the free country that has encouraged the uprising. He faces the Prime Minister with a crucial decision: risk war, or abandon the desperate people. The play shows, with humor and humanity, how the prime minister makes his choice, and what part his own wife and son play in the decision.

"Music at Midnight" was first produced in London last May and its British run of 219 performances was hailed as an outstanding success during a season which saw 14 plays close. It comes to America with its original British cast.

Its gala American premiere in Los Angeles one month ago was attended by leading Hollywood stars and civic leaders including Mayor Sam Yorty, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers, George Murphy, Irene Dunne, Charlton Heston and Janet Leigh.

The leading lady, Miss Nora Swinburne, is a distinguished lady of the British stage and screen. Her London stage successes have included "Dear Brutus," "The Years Between," "Watch on the Rhine," "Autumn Crocus" and "Dodsworth." Her films have included "Conspiracy of Hearts," "Quo Vadis," "The River," directed by Jean Renoir, (dissected Maugham's "Quartet," and Walt Disney's "Third Man on the Mountain."

Walter Fitzgerald, who plays the part of the prime minister, has also played in many successful stage plays and films, since he made his debut in London in 1934. On Broadway he has been seen in "Tiger at the Gates" and Graham Greene's "The Living Room." His many films include "Around the World in Eighty Days," "The Cruel Sea," "In Which We Serve," "Treasure Island," and with Miss Swinburne in "Third Man on the Mountain."

Van Johnson Starting His Second
Hollywood Movie Career Very Soon

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Van Johnson is starting his second Hollywood movie career, one which he hopes will have more quality than during the 1940s.

Johnson was one of the industry's biggest stars, appearing in almost 80 pictures. His career went into partial eclipse in the 1950s and Van went off to live in Europe.

He worked in European pictures and then landed the title role in a London version of the hit show "Music Man." Returning to Hollywood last year, he showed off his singing and dancing talents before a star-filled Coconut Grove audience which came to cheer him in "Music Man."

From there it was Broadway for a play with Carol Baker. It ran only four weeks which Van says was enough.

"That was long enough for producer Hal Wallis to see it," he said.

"He watched it one night and the next day we had lunch and signed a contract for five pictures."

Returned to Europe

When the play was over, Johnson returned to Europe where he appeared in a 90 minute television musical. He expects the filmed show to be aired in the United States later this year.

Now Van is working on his first picture for Wallis, "Wives and Lovers" in which he costars with Janet Leigh, Shelly Winters and Martha Hyer. It's also his first Hollywood film in more than three years.

Johnson is a good natured kind of a guy. When asked if he ever worried about not working in Hollywood, he shrugged his shoulders and answered, "Nothing bothers me."

"There were too many things going on in the world, like astronauts flying around the globe, for me to worry about getting back to Hollywood," he said, the old Johnson smile taking up most of his face.

"I don't take myself seriously," he added, "I never did. I'll always be around."

At Metro 14 Years
Johnson worked at Metro Goldwyn Mayer studios for 14 years.

The Panpa Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

We Like 'School People' Especially The Teachers

Every once in awhile we hear the remark, "You know how the newspaper feels about school people."

When the person who has made the remark is pinned down, he has no facts to back up the inference that the newspaper dislikes "school people." So, he backs tracks and pulls in his horns.

But those who are not pinned down do a pretty good job of circulating a rumor, so we feel it is time that we make a public statement on just how we do feel about "school people."

If we were pushed to generalize, we'd say we like "school people." Especially teachers.

Nobody knows better than we what a beating they take. They are expected to be babysitters, whipping boys, instructors and mothers' helpers. They are hired by school boards who usually have only the most hazy notion of what they expect of a teacher. They are asked to take a jag-eared delinquent and transform him into a polished and even talented dinner date for the governor's daughter. They aren't allowed to hit him except in self-defense and if they do, the kid's old man will come around with a buggy whip in one hand and the school board president in the other and threaten to have him drummed out of the corps for rapping Little Numbskull.

The public prints tell the teacher he is a hero, the guardian of our heritage, the teacher of our youth, the custodian of our jewels—and when he asks for another hundred bucks a year they ask who in hell does that guy think he is, anyway?

If he takes a dram or two in a public place, the other high-minded citizens around the bar raise their eyebrows and ask if this is the kind of fellow those nuts on the school board hire to teach our little darlings. Fine thing when teachers are allowed to associate with people. And as for a female teacher drinking—who does she think she is, the kid's mother?

And then the teacher goes to a meeting or a convention or even back to the fountainhead itself—good old State Teachers College—and he's pushed and pulled between the experts who say he ought to pound some readin' and writin' into the kids' heads and the experts who say the only things wrong with progressive education are the reactionary parents. He listens all about the "disciplines" and the "communication skills" and the "sophisticated systems" and the danger of nipping a tender young personality in the bud, and all the while he's thinking should he invest in a two-by-four and smack the backside of that big smart alec in the back row of his history class and then go down and ask the Navy to take him back in as an apprentice seaman?

And the public—bless 'em—they want nothing but the best for their kids. They want to beat Russia to the moon and they want it done fast; and they say it's up to the teachers to put out a better product. But they insist on compulsory attendance so the teacher has half a dozen dunces for every 125 IQ in the class; and they don't want to pay anything locally for their schools but they don't want federal aid either; and they don't favor private schools because Conant said they are divisive, whatever that means, but they are getting pretty sore about the public ones.

That's what "school people" are up against on the local level; and if anybody can feel anything but sorry for them, we can't figure it. We've never felt anything but sympathy for school teachers. By and large they do their best with an impossible job. The ones who pose as their greatest friends are the ones who give them the worst time. "I don't know what you state can educate by wave of the magic wand; that hired teachers can do the job intended for parents, clergymen and even psychiatrists. They want a stupa poured in one end of the magic machine and an educated product pulled out of the other—without pain, sweat or bother."

It can't be done and somebody has to be blamed. Who? Why, the teacher, of course. We are critical of the public school political apparatus and we do not subscribe to the notion that a government can educate; but we've never felt anything but sympathy for the teacher. A good teacher is a jewel beyond price; and any honest and devoted teacher is a worthwhile person. That's how we feel about "school people."

New Union In Formation

A new union is in process of formation, and it has the potential of outstripping the AFL-CIO in size.

It's called the Investor's Union of America. The name is appropriately descriptive, and it means that at last the worm is going to try to turn.

The union has almost 18 million US citizens now eligible for membership. The potential is bound to increase as the years go by—if we manage to retain some remnant of freedom of individual action in the US.

The union's principal goal is to establish fiscal responsibility in the US and "secure a fair and reasonable return on the money invested by more than 17 million Americans in the tools of production."

The union won't have salaried officers. There will be no membership dues. Anyone who has an "investment in the nation's economic system in the form of life insurance, savings accounts, stocks or bonds" is qualified for membership.

working people who have scrimped and saved in order to be able to take care of themselves in their old age.

"These are the people who have lost more than half the purchasing power of their retirement dollars through inflation caused primarily by fiscal irresponsibility in the management of our federal government."

"These are the people who have been hurt the most by the present stock market decline resulting from government's unkindly attitude toward business and free-market economy."

"These are the people who will be 'pauperized' by galloping inflation which is certain to follow a government program of increased spending and tax reduction now being considered by 'planned-economy' experts in Washington."

"Trustees of the Investor's Union appreciate the professed concern of the present Administration for our nation's elderly citizens. However, they contend the best service which the government can perform for these citizens lies in a return to fiscal responsibility in government and a better understanding and greater appreciation of the free enterprise system which has provided all Americans with a higher standard of living than any other nation in history. They also contend that without these two imperative changes in governmental policy, all citizens may soon become wards of a bankrupt nation."

Pull Up A Chair

We are a little late with our greetings for the Chinese New Year of the Hare, which is now in its third week and makes it 1660 in Chinese chronology. Our friend, Major Y. P. Tom, attached as a pathfinder to the United States Flying Tigers in the China-Burma-India Theatre during World War II, sent us a letter all about the Hare.

Anyone born during this Chinese year will be gentle and peace-loving, and will have lots of children. So GUNG HEY FAT TO U'ALL, which is the Chinese traditional WE WISH YOU PROSPERITY. The Major further reported that the Year of the Tiger, which closed on Jan. 25th was a reasonably good one.

Politeness has been well defined as benevolence in small things—MACAULAY. It is the symbol you always find on a doctor's prescription. It means TAKE THOU OF... We found this definition of measurement in an old book we picked up in London: a rod is the length heel to toe of 16 men emerging from a church on Sunday morning. The oldest medical college in the United States which has continually awarded the degree of Doctor of Medicine is the University of Maryland in Baltimore.

Some of the often misspelled words that eliminate the children contestants at city, state and national tournaments follow: Sympathize, irresistible, calendar, gauge, handkerchief and ecstasy.

The best bargain for de luxe hotel rooms and excellent food is found today in Las Vegas, Nevada, the Monte Carlo of America. All of the hotels have elaborate gambling casinos which furnish the hotel establishments with 98 per cent of their revenue. Gambling in every form continues around the clock, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. On a recent trip to this fabulous place we spotted 500 slot machines in one gambling hall.

The state of Nevada rigidly supervises the games of chance. "Today's favorite gag: MRS. JONES—"That girl frankly admits she is looking for a husband." MRS. SMITH—"So am I." MRS. JONES—"But I thought you have one." MRS. SMITH—"I do, and I spend most of my time looking for him."

Research among hunters by the Charlottetown (P. E. I.) Guardian shows that fewer than 30 per cent of all hunters bring home anything; only 10 per cent get a shot; of these, more than 70 per cent miss; and of those, nearly 100 per cent blame the gun, the ammunition—anything, in fact, but their own poor marksmanship. And, strangely, shots at big game like deer are missed oftener than smaller targets such as ducks and rabbits.

Combining song with cookery, one experienced housewife explained to a young newlywed, "If you want the eggs hard-boiled sing 'Onward, Christian Soldiers' three times; for medium-boiled, sing it twice; and for soft-boiled sing the chorus just once." Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

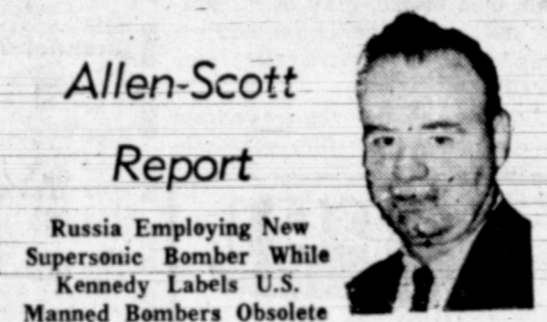

Question: "Cuban exiles have been arrested and charged with violation of the Neutrality Act. What Neutrality Act are they violating? Can the Neutrality Act of 1935 be used by the President to deny patriotic Cuban exiles the right to liberate their homeland?"

Answer: We do not know what neutrality act is being violated. We suppose the President and his administration can use any of its man-made laws to arrest anyone they consider to be in violation.

It seems to us the United States government of the current and immediately preceding administration has taken sides in internal affairs of Cuba—first by encouraging Castro forces to overthrow the Batista forces in Cuba, then seeking to maintain the Castro administration in power.

If it is true that the United States did not discourage the Castro forces on this shore who were building up a revolution in Cuba, it would seem that equality would demand there be no interference with those seeking to overthrow Castro.

The Inside Story?

Allen-Scott Report

Russia Employing New Supersonic Bomber While Kennedy Labels U.S. Manned Bombers Obsolete

WASHINGTON—Russia is developing a new supersonic bomber at the very time President Kennedy is halting the production of manned bombers.

The new Soviet supersonic bomber is the Blinder, a swept-winged four-engine jet with a sound-shattering speed of more than 800 miles an hour, that is now appearing in Soviet air units.

This bomber has a combat range of over 2,600 miles and an operational ceiling of more than 70,000 feet—or nearly 10,000 feet greater than any U.S. bomber.

Equipped with Russia's latest air-to-ground ballistic missile, the Blinder is capable of delivering a two-ton nuclear warhead on a target 3,250 miles from its home base.

That is the foreboding Soviet air capability which triggered Defense Secretary McNamara's order for "a thorough study of the entire problem of modernizing our manned interceptor force."

McNamara revealed his unannounced study when he testified at a private meeting of the House Armed Services Committee, stating:

"We hope after making this study that we will be in a better position to make some definite recommendations on this subject. I do not believe, in the light of presently available intelligence and wide range of options still open to us, that the situation requires us to make a decision now."

General Curtis LeMay, Air Chief of Staff, told the committee he disagrees with this assessment. He asserted the appearance of the new Soviet bombers and air-to-ground missiles calls for decisions now.

To support his argument, LeMay provided the House Committee with an Air Force Intelligence summary showing that the Russians will have 100 Blinders by mid-1963 and 300 by the end of 1964.

Directly counter to McNamara's position, LeMay contends the U.S. should meet this new Soviet threat by (1) proceeding with the production of the suspended air-to-air missile Skybolt, and (2) pushing the development of the RB-70, the projected supersonic bomber capable of flying more than 2,000 miles an hour.

General LeMay also wants to start immediate production of a new manned interceptor rather than delay its development with a new study.

At present, the manned interceptor force consists of a substantial number of all-weather aircraft in active units committed to the defense of the North American continent—F-101s, F-103s, and F-106s.

None of these aircraft is capable of reaching the heights attainable by the Soviet Blinder.

GETTING TOUGH—President Kennedy is beginning to get tough in displaying his displeasure at Chancellor Adenauer's support of President Charles de Gaulle.

When Ambassador Karl Keirich Knappstein called at the White House to deliver a letter from Adenauer, the President waved him to a seat and before opening the letter gave him a blunt dressing down.

"Is your government going to turn its back on everything my country has done for your people since World War II?" demanded the President.

"I am calling only to deliver a letter from Chancellor Adenauer," replied the West German ambassador. "I can make no other statement for my government."

The President, raising a newspaper photograph so Knappstein could see it, pointed to Adenauer embracing de Gaulle and snapped, "Is this what our reward is going to be? A stab in the back?"

When the West German ambassador did not respond, the President opened Adenauer's letter and read it to himself. Then he turned to Knappstein and dismissed him without another word.

Later that day, in briefing congressional leaders, the President said he planned no public attacks on de Gaulle.

Instead, as the President explained it, his aim is to make it clear to Europe that it has far more to gain by adhering to this country's concept of multilateral nuclear defense than going it alone with De Gaulle.

The French chief's next major move is slated for later this month at a NATO meeting in Paris. He will demand a sweeping revision of NATO command and its control system. De Gaulle's purpose is to put the NATO military machine under French domination.

DIPLomatic FLASHES—The State Department has warned Swiss diplomats in the U.S. not to convey any information about Cuba to members of Congress.

The Swiss embassy in Havana is handling U.S. relations there, and the Kennedy Administration is so concerned about Cuban intelligence getting to congressional sources that it is taking the extraordinary step of telling Swiss diplomats to keep silent about anything they may know regarding Cuba. Members of the United Arab Republic embassy in Washington boasting to diplomatic colleagues that UAR officials in Cuba are closer to the Castro regime than any others. According to the UAR diplomats, their officials in Cuba have intimate ties throughout the Castro group.

Senator Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., is telling colleagues he has been informed by British embassy officials in Washington that Prime Minister Macmillan was poorly informed about the Skybolt and Polaris missiles when he conferred with President Kennedy at Nassau in December.

It's Up To You

by HOWARD KERSHNER L. H. D.

Writing in the well-known Washington newsletter HUMAN EVENTS of September 29th, Ken Tomlinson reveals that "a sampling of families receiving Aid to Dependent Children showed 57 per cent were actually ineligible to receive the money."

The Federal government pays to such children about $850 million annually. Subcommittee Chairman Robert Byrd who headed the investigation, declared that such relief handouts to ineligible are "not helping the child. The money goes to the whiskey needs of the mother and her paramours." Congressman Byrd declared that the children would be better off out of the homes where "they are kicked around by the paramour, hear vile language and dirty jokes, and aren't given the care the mother should give them."

Many mothers receiving such payments for their children were found to be living with the father of at least some of the children. Some recipients of aid received thousands of dollars in excess of the amounts that would be legal were the cases bona fide.

In one sampling of 21 "general welfare" cases, only one was found meriting aid. Many of these so-called "clients" had long police records.

One investigator turned up the fact that there were 167 television sets in 155 homes receiving child welfare payments. Many had past-shaded telephones costing an extra $7.50 and others had "Princess" models costing an extra $5 to install plus a $1.50 rental charge monthly. Some "relief homes" had two telephones and two of them had three each.

Besides the enormous waste of the taxpayers' money, what about the waste of human resources of the large number of people being taught to live by stealing money from the public.

During the past 100 years our population has increased 22 fold, but our bureaucracy has increased 500 fold. With our bureaucracy increasing more than 20 times as fast as our population, how long will it be until we are all working for government?

In 1950, per capita Federal taxation amounted to just over $250. During the past 12 years, it has more than doubled and stands today at $524 for every person in our country.

Editor: Since we shall soon celebrate the birthday of the Father of our Country, I wish to pass the following incident along.

In the early days of the Republic, a stranger once asked at Congress how he could distinguish Washington. He was told, "You can easily distinguish him when Congress goes to prayer. Washington is the gentleman who kneels."

If our staff-shirt leaders would follow his example, our problems would be fewer and easier solved.

The Nation's Press

THIS TAKES THE CAKE

One of the most incredible stories of the year from Washington is told in the current issue of the fortnightly Reporter magazine. It concerns the President's proposed domestic Peace Corps. If the facts are correct in this story, the administration's handling of this particular project is a flagrant example of the misuse of executive authority and government funds.

Last month, in his budget message to Congress, the President asked for the authority to create the domestic Peace Corps. To date, legislation which would permit such a corps to be set up and appropriate funds for its operation has not even been introduced in Congress.

In spite of this, Reporter magazine reveals that the "proposed" domestic Peace Corps is already set up, running at full steam and spending a considerable amount of government funds.

Several months ago, according to the Reporter, the President formed a Cabinet-level study group to draw up plans for the corps and prepare a report urging its creation. Tom Matthews, deputy assistant secretary of state for congressional relations, was loaned to the White House for six weeks to write the report.

Two other officials, Don Ellinger and Richard Boone—both of whom are supposedly on the payroll of the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency and Youth Crime—were also loaned to the domestic Peace Corps project.

When Congress appropriated the money to pay the salaries of these gentlemen, we can be sure that it was not informed that they would be released from the duties for which they are being paid, and transferred to this other job. Moreover, the specific task which Mr. Ellinger has been assigned—lobbying Congress in behalf of the corps—is specifically prohibited by law.

The magazine charges that the domestic Peace Corps has now opened offices a hundred yards from the White House and is currently employing a full-time staff of 25 persons—including 10 executives and 15 office girls.

Secretaries, the article adds, are being paid out of a $1,500 levy on each of the government agencies that participated in the original study. If true, that comes under the heading of misappropriation of government funds.

Judging from the people involved, this is not just another example of bureaucracy run rampant which can be blamed on a few overzealous civil servants. It is quite obviously a pet White House project, for which the White House must accept the responsibility.

The President's sister, Mrs. Sargent Shriver, launched the domestic Peace Corps idea in several speeches back in 1961. According to the Reporter, the project is now under the broad direction of the President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

Full-time director of the project is said to be David Hackett, a former prep-school classmate of the attorney general, and the office manager a gentleman named George "Barney" Ross, who, the Reporter notes, "had the good fortune to be on the bridge of the PT109 when it was rammed in the South Pacific some years back." Two of the young ladies in the office served on the campaign staff of Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. "Teddy" Kennedy last year.

During its two years in the driver's seat, the Kennedy administration frequently has illustrated a tendency to ignore the rules or make end runs around Congress where a pet project is concerned. If the Reporter is correct, this takes the cake for grabbing the lion's running around Congress and for sheer gall.—The Dallas (Tex.) News.

Between the Bookends

The flurry over Cuba has diverted public attention from another crisis of equal importance to Americans—the advance of State Socialism in Latin American countries.

In his recent book "South Wind Red: Our Hemisphere Crisis" (published by the Regency Co., 14 E. Jackson Blvd., Chicago 4, Ill.; $5) Philip Ray, a former Undersecretary of Commerce, points out that we are led to believe private enterprise is being both supported and encouraged in Latin America, when in fact it is not. Instead, private American business is both repressed and expropriated in the period of its greatest growth. This is being done, moreover, with the knowledge, approval and assistance of our own government.

The Alliance for Progress, program of the present Administration for Latin American "development," is really intent on creating industrialized economies directed by governments. Raw material production is taxed and restricted in an attempt to keep prices up. For instance, at Punta del Este in September of 1961, our government promised to join 28 coffee countries in a new scheme to jack up coffee prices.

Instead of supporting and broadening in Latin America the essential factors which brought wealth to the United States, according to Mr. Ray we have been "brainwashed into an abandonment of capitalism." At the same time, he says, we have "adopted Communist economic methodology."

Americans should be concerned about Socialism in Latin America. We should object to the use of our foreign aid to finance the seizure of private American property. Mr. Ray estimates that in 1957 American firms in Latin America earned and saved for local countries over six billion dollars in foreign exchange through payments for labor, taxes, and local purchases.

Affirmative Solution Mr. Ray recommends a program for constructive aid in these countries. His plan involves making one-third of the stock in American companies available to native stockholders or partners. Local investment would enable American firms to diversify, and would provide the safety of a mixed venture and better access to local talent and assets.

If entered into, however, such a plan should involve guarantees that no American lives or property will be taken by foreign governments. It should also be preceded by a program in which already expropriated American investments would be returned. This policy, the traditionally American one, was responsible for so much American capital going into Latin America in the first place for the development of backward economies.

Perhaps the only reason Mr. Ray did not suggest such a policy in his book was because he felt it was too much to ask of an administration which was harassing private property within the borders of the United States to protect private American property overseas.

Mr. Ray has, however, made an involved, difficult problem clear, and done so in an exciting, colorful, highly readable book.

David A. Caldwell Retires Following 40-Year Career

David A. Caldwell, senior district foreman for the Pampa District of Humble Pipe Line Company, has retired after a career of over 40 years with the company. Born in Henrietta, Caldwell first worked for the company at West Columbia in 1922, then was transferred to East Texas and performed gauging duties at Orange and Corsicana. Caldwell has been located in the Pampa area since 1926, supervising gauging work as a district gauger and later chief gauger. As senior district foreman his responsibilities have been associated largely with the gauging of oil at lease sites. Caldwell and his wife, the former Lillian Watkins of Henrietta, will continue to live in Pampa, at 2208 Aspen Drive. They have two sons, David A. Caldwell Jr. of Pampa and Edmund R. Caldwell of Downey, Calif., and two daughters, Mrs. Jaunita James of Plainville, and Mrs. Dorace Jean Quin of Russellville, Ala. Caldwell is a member of A.F. & A.M. Lodge No. 1381 in Pampa.

Prominent Geologist Says:

Domestic Oil Resources Are Sufficient For Present

TULSA, OKLA., (Spl)—Enough domestic oil is available from domestic oil resources alone to satisfy the needs of the United States for the foreseeable future, one of the nation's foremost geologists said here Saturday.

Dr. A. I. Levorsen of Tulsa, who is recognized as the dean of the nation's petroleum geologists, said "opportunities on a broad and challenging scale are still available for the domestic oilman. Great volumes of sedimentary rocks in the U.S. have not been explored or have been inadequately explored, he added.

"It is very safe to assume that only a relatively small proportion of geologically favorable rocks in the U.S.—excluding Alaska and Hawaii—have been tested to date," he said.

The amount of undiscovered petroleum will not limit the growth of the domestic oil industry, he said. "The incentive to explore is of much greater importance," he pointed out. "It may prove to be the limiting factor."

Dr. Levorsen has served as president of the American Assn. of Petroleum Geologists, the Geological Society of America, and the American Geological Institute. From 1945 to 1951, he was professor of geology and dean, School of Mineral Sciences, Stanford University. From 1919 to 1934, he was associated with several oil companies. Since 1934, except for the time at Stanford, Dr. Levorsen has been a consulting geologist.

In an interview for the Independent Petroleum Monthly, official magazine of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, Dr. Levorsen stressed this point on incentives and new discoveries:

"So many oil discoveries are unexpected — by geologists, drillers and operators alike — that the number of test wells drilled bears a direct relation to the number of discoveries. When the incentive drops, the number of wells drops, and consequently the number of discoveries."

The big factor, he said, "is whether the incentive to drill and to find new reserves will be sufficient to motivate men into taking the risks and the hard work and the disappointments that are connected with the oil industry."

Levorsen added: "The big incentive question is whether the Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers. Its purpose is to promote the exchange of engineering information and to improve the drilling and production of petroleum.

C. V. MILLIKAN ... AIME Guest

Engineers Will Hear Lecturer Thursday Night

C. V. Millikan of Tulsa, Okla., a petroleum consultant, will address the Panhandle Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers, AIME, at its meeting Thursday, Feb. 21, in the Berger Hotel, according to James C. Halilton of Berger, newly installed chapter chairman.

Millikan, one of seven Distinguished Lecturers, chosen by the SPE board of directors and Distinguished Lecturer committee, will speak on "Producing Oil... Style Or Engineering?"

Reservations for the dinner meeting may be made in Pampa with Ray E. Wilson, Schlumberger Well Survey Corp., MO-5-5791; in Berger with James C. Hamilton, J. M. Huber Corp., BR-4-1331; in Amarillo with Paul Bennett, Vinson Supply Co., EV-3-2276.

Millikan was chief engineer for Amerada Petroleum Corp. before becoming a petroleum consultant in Tulsa. He holds a BS degree from Oklahoma State College, Stillwater, Okla., and a MS in geology from the University of Pittsburgh. He is the 1944 recipient of the Anthony F. Lucas Gold Medal.

This is the third year of the Distinguished Lecturer program, which was established to assist local sections and to recognize the professional contributions of the men selected as the Distinguished Lecturers.

The Society of Petroleum Engineers is a constituent member of the American Institute of Mining, domestic producer can make enough money to stay in business.

He said the oil producer is hard-pressed, with the price of crude oil well below what it was six years ago. At the same time, costs of labor, machinery, equipment and leases have gone up. "This cost-price squeeze," he said, "has hurt drilling, with almost 12,000 fewer wells being drilled now than in 1956."

Levorsen said estimates of recoverable primary reserves in the U.S. vary from 175 billion to 1,000 billion barrels. He said ultimate U.S. reserves may be 500 billion barrels, but they could be 200 billion barrels less, or 200 billion barrels more.

"We can only make our estimates," he said, "on the basis of the current outlook in technology, economics and ideas, and these are changing all the time."

A man making an estimate of primary recoverable reserves, is like a man on an escalator, Levorsen said. "He is carried along, and at a given time and place on the escalator, he makes an estimate of how things look to him. But the escalator keeps moving him along, and soon he reaches a point where new data and new horizons have changed his point of view, and therefore, his estimates."

"In the case of our petroleum reserves," Levorsen said, "the change in point of view has resulted in ever-increasing estimates."

Breakthroughs and new ideas in technology are constantly being contributed to the oil industry to make estimates of future resources out of date, he said.

Also, there is the basic role of the unexpected and the unpredictable in the oil industry, Levorsen added. "There is no way to know oil is down there until you go to the expense of paying somebody to put a drill bit thousands of feet into the rocks.

And there is also the unpredictable nature of men in the oil industry," he said. "There's always some hard-headed guy who will take a drilling rig into a place where the best geology and the best geophysics indicate not the remotest chance of finding oil, and then he will hit something sensational."

As for places to look for oil, Levorsen said: "I believe that every presently-producing province can be explored for stratigraphic traps for a long time to come. Most of the exploration to date has been for anticlines and other structural-type traps."

The largest oil pool in North America, the East Texas Field with its 5 1/2 billion barrels, is found in a truncated sand without the benefit of any local structural closure, he said.

"It is obvious," he added, "that this sort of trap is not looked for in modern exploration."

Levorsen also said the prospects for profitable shallow fields in the United States — those below 2,500 feet — are extensive. Low pressure sands with lost circulation offer some of the best chances for future shallow discovery, and these are almost always sealed off in deep drilling.

"We can only make our estimates," he said, "on the basis of the current outlook in technology, economics and ideas, and these are changing all the time."

Welex Gives Promotion To Pampa Man

HOUSTON — Welex recently named former Oklahoma Division Manager J. E. Grady to head its new Oklahoma-Kansas Division. Formation of the new Division with headquarters in Oklahoma City followed the transfer of former Kansas Division Manager Pat Wagstaff to the Halliburton Export Department.

Promoted to assistant division manager was Henry Frazer, former district manager at Pampa. Frazer, who will continue to headquarter in Pampa, has direct supervision of Welex locations at Pampa, Amarillo, Woodward and Liberal.

Replacing Frazer at Pampa was District Manager C. P. Stewart, who transferred from Pratt, Kansas. The Pratt station became part of the Great Bend district under the supervision of District Manager Howard Kendall.

Welex is a division of Halliburton Company.

State Board Of Education Is Growing

By VERNON SMYLIE

AUSTIN—If you want to put your knowledge of public affairs to the acid test, ask yourself this question—Who represents you on the State Board of Education?

You may know. If you do, you can be sure your Public Affairs IQ is pretty good.

The Board is comprised of 21 members—one elected from each of the congressional districts that were in existence at the time the Board was reorganized and expanded in 1949.

the state comptroller, and the secretary of state. In 1928, the Board was reorganized. It was reconstructed as a nine-member body appointed by the governor and approved by the Senate. It was at that time that six-year staggered terms were established.

The present Board structure was a product of the general overhauling of the State educational system that resulted from establishment of the Gilmer-Aiken Program. Also overhauled was the office of state superintendent of public instruction. In fact, the state superintendent's job—one that had existed since 1866 and had been elective since 1884—was abolished. In its place was created the position of state commissioner of education, a job filled for four-year terms by the Board.

Members of the State Board of Education must be at least 30 years old. They also have to be citizens of the United States and qualified electors in the districts they represent. They can't spend more than $1500 in their campaigns for office and they can't take campaign contributions from people or companies in the textbook business.

Hemphill Cuts Taxes Ten Cents

CANADIAN (SpI) — A ten-cent cut in the tax rate, and an across-the-board raise in salaries for county employees, featured Monday's regular session of the Hemphill County Commissioners Court.

The tax cut came on a motion by Commissioner Edward Detrixhe to reduce the county's ad valorem rate from 95 cents per $100 valuation to 85 cents. The motion was seconded by Paul Ramsey, and passed by unanimous vote.

The cut does not affect the special 30-cent ad valorem levy for lateral roads, which will bring the total rate to $1.15 per $100, down ten cents from last year.

Post Office Soon To Issue New Stamps

The Post Office Department has announced that Andrew Jackson is to replace Washington on a new regular 1-cent postage stamp, according to O. K. Gaylor, Washington now appears on the regular 5 cent stamp.

The Jackson stamp in sheet form will first be issued March 22 in New York City during the International Philatelic Exhibition (INTERPEX).

The stamp in coil form will have a first day of issue May 31 in Chicago to coincide with the meeting of the Combined Philatelic Exhibitions of Chicagoland, Inc. (COMPEX).

A 6-cent air mail stamp in red for postal cards will first be issued July 12 at Boston, in conjunction with the convention of the American Air-Mail Society. This stamp is similar in design to the bald eagle pre-cancelled air mail postal card, earlier announced for initial issuance February 15 in Maitland, Florida.

The Post Office Department has announced the first day sale figures for the final ten philatelic items consisting of the regular issues and postal stationery issued in 1962, bringing the total covers canceled to 13,676,484. This represents an increase of 5,274,946 over calendar year 1961.

The Department previously reported the figures on the fifteen commemoratives and the Project Mercury stamp, which was held over from 1961.

There were 194,810 first day cancellations when the 8-cent air mail stamped envelope was issued at Chantilly, Virginia, on November 17, 1962. Envelopes totaling 195,310 were sold that day with a value of $17,577.90.

On November 19 at Springfield, Illinois, there were 165,258 first day cancellations on the 5-cent Lincoln envelope, 162,959 on the 4-cent single Lincoln postal card and 107,746 on the 4-cent double (reply-paid) cards. Total postal stationery sold that day amounted to 170,585 envelopes, 167,842 single cards and 112,286 double cards, with a value of $25,931.66.

When the 5-cent Washington stamp was first placed on sale at New York, New York, on November 23, there were 260,531 first day covers bearing the sheet stamp, 184,627 with the coil issue and 111,452 with booklet panes. The sheet stamps sold that day amounted to 696,468, the coils 203,096 and the booklet panes 385,760, with a value of $141,418.20.

There were 288,355 covers bearing the 8-cent air mail stamp in sheet form canceled at Washington, D.C., on December 5. In addition, there were 220,173 covers bearing 8-cent coiled stamps and 146,835 with booklet panes. There were 314,457 sheet stamps, 267,114 coiled stamps and 113,786 booklet panes sold that day, with a value of $91,240.08.

The Philatelic Sales Agency in Washington, D.C., had total sales of $2,626,473 for the calendar year ending December 31. This represents 140,718 individual orders, excluding the estimated 185,000 for the Project Mercury first day covers.

The 1-cent Jackson is based on a medal struck by the U.S. Mint as part of the presidential series. The medal, designed by Moritz Furst, was issued in 1829.

Printed in green on the Cottrell presses, the stamp measures 0.75 by 0.87, is arranged vertically and will be issued in unlimited quantities in panes of 100 and coils of 500 and 3,000. It was designed by William K. Schrage, Richard M. Bower engraved the portrait. Outline frame and numeral are by Kenneth C. Wiram.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps, to the Postmaster at the appropriate city.

The Jackson covers should be addressed low and as far to the left as possible to provide sufficient space for affixing five stamps. Collectors are reminded that 6-cent air mail stamp is for post cards and is not sufficient postage for envelopes dispatched by air. If a first day envelope is requested, an additional two cents in stamps must be affixed to the cover by the sender.

Each envelope or card must be marked in the upper right corner with the number of stamps to be affixed. Requests for line pairs of coil stamps will not be honored. Requests for first day covers should not be sent to the Philatelic Sales Agency, Washington, D.C.
