LBJ Addresses Congress, Nation in Speech Tonight

Bitter Struggles Start As 89th Congress Convenes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 89th Congress convened at 11 a.m. today, already embroiled in a series of bitter struggles that could shape its work for the next two years.

The House and Senate were to swear in new members and organize themselves at separate meetings before holding a joint session tonight to hear President Johnson's State of the Union message.

There was controversy about the agenda except the President's usually scheduled 8 p.m. CST speech, and Congress doesn't have much to say about that anyway.

The Senate faced two opening-day disputes and the House found three in its lap.

Senate Democrats called a closed, morning caucus to select a new Democratic whip, succeeding Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey. The three contenders in the hot contest were Sens. Russell B. Long, La., John O. Pastore, R. I., and A. S. (Mike) Monroney, Okla.

Another battle was in prospect as soon as the Senate convened. A bipartisan group of liberals planned a new attempt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson goes before Congress and the nation tonight with a State of the Union message placing education at the top of the immediate needs of his proposed "Great Society."

At a joint session of the House and Senate at 8 p.m., CST, the President also is expected to underscore the "mandate for unity" which he saw in his overwhelming election triumph last Nov. 3.

Johnson's speech will be carried over nationwide radio and television, and was timed to capture a wide audience. Only once before, when Franklin D. Roosevelt spoke at the identical hour 29 years ago, has a President delivered his State of the Union message to a night session of Congress.

Johnson started his day with a visit to church. In a traditional service, Johnson, vice-president-elect Hubert H. Humphrey and several members of the House and Senate went to the National Presbyterian Church where prayers were offered for a fruitful congressional session.

Johnson, while at his Texas ranch over the last two weeks, announced that his State of the Union speech would contain only a "brief" and generalized outline of his proposals. He said details would be filled in with special messages to Congress on specific points.

Among the first of those messages will be one calling for expansion of the nation's educational effort — from grammar schools to universities. He has been thinking of asking three, four or five times the $700 million in the current fiscal year's education outlay.

Johnson hoped to spell out ways to avoid the dead-end conflict over aid to parochial schools, while keeping students equipped with school supplies and more advanced learning equipment such as computers.

There were several key programs left over from last year that Johnson planned to feature in his message. These included requests for early approval of a program of hospital care for the aged under Social Security; an economic recovery program for Appalachian states; and continuation of urban renewal efforts through the Area Redevelopment Administration (ARA).

Johnson was expected to call for a sharp step-up — perhaps doubling — of the $784 million anti-poverty program which Congress launched at his behest last year.

U.S. Military Aid Sought by Malaysia

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — Malaysia will seek military aid from the United Nations if threatened Indonesian attacks materialize, Prime Minister Tengku Abdul Rahman said today.

The warning came as the vanguard of a British paratroop battalion landed in Singapore, commencing the largest British buildup in the Far East since the Korean War.

Britain also ordered the 44,000-ton aircraft carrier Eagle to sail for Singapore tonight.

Naval Minister Christopher Mayhew made the disclosure in London as he flew to Washington for consultations there with U.S. naval officials.

He said also Britain will fly crews for reserve ships to the Far East shortly and "if more naval reinforcements are needed they will go."

Following an emergency cabinet meeting, Rahman said Malaysia was prepared to seek troops from its allies as well as the U.N., and would endorse the principle of "hot pursuit" of any Indonesian attackers.

The allies Rahman referred to are Britain, Australia and New Zealand, signers of the Anglo-Malaysian defense treaty.

The withdrawal from the United Nations by Indonesia follows a series of actions by that country in defiance of world opinion, rule of law and the United Nations," he said in a formal statement.

"The existence of small, independent, sovereign nations like Malaysia is being threatened by the aggressive, bullying and expansionist tactics of our neighbor."

British Lt. Col. C. E. Eberhardie, commander of the paratroop battalion of about 1,000 men, landed at Singapore today with a 50-man advance detail. He was met by Lt. Gen. Sir Alan Jolly, British military commander in the Far East.

A British infantry battalion was en route to Hong Kong to relieve a battalion of Gurkhas, which will be transferred to Malaysia.

A Scots Guard battalion based on the Malay Peninsula sailed for Borneo over the weekend to reinforce troops facing the Indonesians on the divided island.

The aircraft carrier Eagle has been ordered to the Far East to join two carriers already on the scene. Long-range British jet bombers which could carry either conventional or nuclear bombs were reported standing by for possible transfer to Asia.

The first attempted Indonesian landing of the new year was broken up today by the British minesweeper Wilkinston, which intercepted a boat south of Singapore and captured four men armed with submachine guns and slabs of dynamite.

The attempted landing was the third — and smallest — that has been spotted in the past four weeks. One party of 28 guerrillas succeeded in landing near Singapore, but all of them have been captured or killed.

Holiday Traffic Toll Worst Ever

By United Press International
This New Year's holiday period was the worst ever on the highways. More than 1,000 persons died in traffic accidents during the Christmas and New Year's weekends combined.

The United Press International count at 9:30 a.m. CST, today showed 450 traffic deaths since the start of the New Year's holiday. The breakdown of all accidental deaths:

Traffic	450
Fires	50
Planes	12
Miscellaneous	57
Total	589

California led the nation with 68 traffic deaths, followed by Texas 37, Pennsylvania 32, and Illinois 24.

Only Alaska, Delaware and North Dakota escaped without an accidental death. Hawaii, Wyoming and Rhode Island also did not have traffic deaths, but suffered accidental fatalities of other kinds.

The previous high for a New Year's holiday of three days was set in 1960 when 374 persons died on streets and highways. The record for a four-day weekend was registered in 1957 when 409 died.

The National Safety Council had predicted 300 to 360 persons would die during the 78-hour period from 5 p.m. (local time) Thursday, New Year's Eve, to Sunday midnight.

Normally, the Safety Council said, New Year's is a much safer holiday on the highways than Christmas. This Christmas 596 persons died, short of a record. California led the nation again with traffic deaths 61, giving it 127 for the two holidays combined.

Democrats Elect Long As New Senate Leader

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana today was elected as Senate Democratic whip to succeed Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Colleagues said the 46-year-old Long, second ranking member of the powerful Senate Finance Committee, defeated Sens. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island and A. S. (Mike) Monroney of Oklahoma on the second ballot in the three-way contest.

He will serve as assistant to Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who adopted a "hands-off" attitude in the contest.

The voting was by secret ballot with proxies allowed.

Long and Pastore were the two prime contenders. Monroney entered the race as a "compromise" candidate with strong second choice support.

Mansfield advised his colleagues in advance that he would recommend that the party caucus follow a procedure under which the low man on each ballot would be eliminated from the race.

Long, son of the late Sen. Huey P. (Kingfish) Long, is at 46 a Senate veteran with 16 years of service. He is the second-ranking Democrat on the powerful Finance Committee and a member of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Pastore, 54, was the Democratic convention keynote speaker last year and is chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Committee. He also serves on the Appropriations and Commerce committees, and heads the communications subcommittee.

Monroney, a young-looking 62, served 12 years in the House — where he co-authored the first Congressional Reorganization Act — and has been in the Senate since 1951.

Republicans Chose Ford Over Halleck

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republicans today ousted veteran Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana as their floor leader. Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan was chosen to replace him.

The secret vote was 73-67 for Ford.

Halleck, who won the GOP leadership post just six years ago in a similar coup against Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, was in effect a casualty of the top-sided Republican election defeat in November.

Although no one much blamed Halleck for the Democratic election sweep, House Republicans wanted a new face. In Ford they got one generally considered handsome and youthful.

Halleck is 64. Ford is 51. Their voting records show little difference. But Halleck is one of the "old pros" of the GOP and one of the most widely known men in the party and that fact was his undoing.

Halleck's ouster came at a closed party conference in the House Ways & Means Committee room prior to the noon opening of the 89th Congress. Republicans are outnumbered by better than two to one in both houses.

Ford was nominated by his Michigan colleague, Rep. Elford Cederberg. Cederberg said the Republicans should consider "the energy and forceful fresh image" that Ford would bring to the job and recall his "untiring efforts for the Republican cause."

Cederberg said "millions of Republicans are anxiously awaiting our decision today."

Rep. Robert J. Griffin, R-Mich., in announcing Ford's victory, told reporters that "a new chapter in the Republican party has begun."

Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, another member of the victorious faction, said the first vote was 72 for Ford and 68 for Halleck with one member voting present. That was one vote too many however, because there are only 140 House Republicans. A new vote was then conducted.

Following the final vote, Halleck moved that the decision be made unanimous. He shook hands with Ford and told the conference that he would cooperate with him in every way.

Before electing Ford to the party's top leadership job in the House, the GOP conference picked Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin as conference chairman, succeeding Ford.

Major Legislation Before Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here is a box score of the major legislation expected to come before the 89th Congress:

MEDICARE — High on President Johnson's legislative list. A hospital care plan for the aged financed through the Social Security system was approved by the Senate last year but never reached a vote in the House. Change in Membership of House Ways & Means Committee offers excellent chance for its passage this year.

EDUCATION — A multi-billion dollar program of federal aid to elementary and secondary schools will be offered. Administration hopes to win congressional approval by skirting sensitive church-state issue.

APPALACHIA — Held back last year because of a lack of votes in the House. Administration is confident the overwhelming Democratic majority in the new House will approve long-range federal aid program for economically depressed areas of this 11-state region.

TAXES — Administration has promised to ask for reduction or elimination of excise taxes on a host of luxury and semi-luxury items imposed during the Korean war. Congress is certain to go along with a proposal so obviously popular with consumers.

IMMIGRATION — Administration plans to ask for major revision on immigration laws, with less emphasis on nationality quotas. Could be hard-fought issue.

Here's One Thief Who Doesn't Have Car Engine Trouble

A thief, who apparently had car trouble, got himself a new The Pampa Garage and Salengine the hard way.

vage, 511 Huff, reported to Pampa Police today someone had stolen a rebuilt engine from inside the wrecking yard some time since Saturday night.

The thief went about it in a big way.

He had to, the engine weighed 600 pounds.

Police Sgt. George Wallace said the thief cut a king-sized hole in a surrounding wire fence at the wrecking yard, found a wheel barrow on the premises and loaded the engine in the wheel barrow and out the hole in the fence.

Leroy McBride, owner of the engine, said the 1958 model 348 was worth $250.

Pet Dog Saves Life of Family

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (UPI) — The body heat from a pet dog was credited today with saving the lives of a couple whose automobile was marooned three and a half days in deep snow on a Vancouver island logging road.

"We would have frozen to death if it hadn't been for the warmth from our dog Sam's body," said logger Tom Hall, 43, after he and his wife, Muriel were rescued. "My wife and I cuddled under a blanket with our bodies up against Sam."

The couple left here New Year's Eve for an 80-mile drive to a logging camp at Vernon Lake. After traveling about 15 miles, their car broke down. There were only six inches of snow on the ground at the time, but by morning the car was marooned in six feet of drifted snow.

Showdown Set By Two USW Officials

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A possible showdown between two top United Steelworkers (USW) union officials over election procedures was on the agenda today for the union's 33-man Executive Board meeting.

New Flood Threat Endangers West As Rain, Snow Hit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A continuous barrage of rain and snow storms raised threats of new flooding today in the Pacific Northwest, where two weeks of turbulent weather and raging water has taken at least 42 lives and caused damage estimated at more than $700 million.

George Grace, regional director of the Office of Emergency Planning, said rivers along the coast are rising again but that low temperatures were holding the snow in the mountain areas.

"If that snow melts fast," he added, "we're going to have a repeat of the recent floods."

The relentless rain and snow, expected to continue another five days at least, brought relief and repair work to a standstill and stranded holiday travelers throughout the area.

The California Highway Patrol said all major routes into Humboldt County, which suffered the heaviest damage in the Christmas week floods, had been closed because of heavy rain on the coast and blizzard conditions in the interior.

The Red Cross reported that heavy snows halted at least 2,500 motorists in California's Sierrayou Mountains near the Oregon line. Private homes, schools, churches and civic club facilities in Yreka were thrown open to stranded travelers.

Meanwhile, the more than 100,000 residents of California's Humboldt and Del Norte counties were expected to be isolated from the rest of the state, except for air and sea routes, for more than a month. Seventeen major rail and highway bridges were washed out in the two counties.

The Red Cross announced in San Francisco Sunday that a preliminary report indicated that at least 4,775 California homes were destroyed or damaged in the floods.

In addition, 800 farm buildings and 374 small business establishments were destroyed or damaged.

W. D. Dibrell, director of the Red Cross California operations, said 20,298 flood victims and workers have been given mass care, including food, shelter, clothing and other emergency needs, since the first day of the floods.

Mother's March on Polio To Kickoff Here January 18

January 18 has been selected as the date for the 1965 Mother's March of Dimes drive in conjunction with annual March of Dimes appeal within the city.

Several hundred volunteers will be recruited between now and January 18 for the house to house campaign, according to Mrs. R. A. Mack, chairman of the drive.

The drive will be conducted between 6 and 8 p.m. Funds raised in Pampa will be divided between local patient care and national research projects, with about half of the funds raised remaining in Pampa.

The city is divided up in school districts with a captain for each district. The captains are responsible for recruiting and organizing the drive in their respective parts of the city, said Mrs. Mack.

They are Mrs. Robert D. Price, Stephen F. Austin School; Mrs. Jim Osborne, Sam Houston School; Mrs. Troy Bennett, Baker School; Mrs. Jeanette Williams, Carver; Mrs. N. L. Nickoll, Lamar; Mrs. Wayne Rogers, Travis and Mrs. E. R. Southard, Horace Mann.

The Mother's March this year is pinpointed toward the elimination of birth defects.

The March of Dimes campaign officially opened Jan. 1, under the direction of Don Loshier, Gray County campaign director.

Dear Abby....

Cleaning Woman Is Trying to Clean up

DEAR ABBY: A woman who claims to be 60, but who looks and acts much younger, comes to my house on week-ends to clean and do my laundry. In bad weather I drive her home. She always invites me in for a few drinks. One night we both got high and I spent most of the night with her. Now she tells me that she is going to have my baby and she is suing me for money to pay for her doctor and hospital bills, and for sufficient funds to keep the child until it is old enough to care for itself. I consulted a doctor friend and he said that a woman that age could not have a baby. My lawyer says she has nothing on me unless she wants to press a rape charge, which would be hard to prove under the circumstances. What is your honest opinion?

ON IN YEARS

DEAR ON: A pregnancy can be affirmed by a doctor's examination. Your lawyer can tell you what your rights (and hers) are. And next time you hire a cleaning woman, send her home in a taxi or you'll be the one who's taken for a ride.

DEAR ABBY: I am 32 and have fallen in love with a 49-year-old woman. We are both Christians and live simple lives. Abby, the difference in our ages does not mean a thing to me but it bothers her. She says everyone will think we've lost our minds. She is very nice looking and has a good figure and in my eyes she does not look her age. I love this woman dearly but she says I may not feel the same way in ten years from now. Could such a marriage work?

NO SLEEP FOR TWO
DEAR NO SLEEP: Such marriages are "working" every day. All that is required for a good marriage is that the two people really need each other. Time, however, does change people and alters their situations. When you are 33 and she is 70, your "needs" might change, and hence your feelings.

DEAR ABBY: I am 23 and the mother of three children. My problem is my hair. My husband wants me to wear it long. Just straight and hanging down to my shoulders like I wore it when he met me eight years ago. It makes me look like I'm 12 years old! I want to wear it up, but he doesn't like it that way. We have been fighting about this for five years. He says if I really loved him I'd wear in the way he likes it. I say if he really loved me, I'd let me wear it the way I want to. What would you do?

HAIR PROBLEM

DEAR HAIR PROBLEM: You don't have a "hair problem"—you have a "husband" problem. I would wear my hair the way my husband liked it when I was with him. And I'd wear it the way I liked it when he wasn't around. Your husband is stubbornly trying to preserve the "image" he has of you. Don't destroy it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "COMPLETELY DISTURBED": You are now 23, have been married six years, have two children, "hate" your husband, have been going from one affair to another in search of "love", and you say if you only had the courage you'd take your own life. Your letter should be printed on the jacket of every high school freshman's English book as a warning to teen-agers who think they are "in love," and rush into marriage. Your tragic story points out the high price of taking on the responsibilities of marriage while still too emotionally immature to handle them.

Pampans Parents Are Anniversary Party Honorees

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lloyd Laramore and sons Dan, Doug, and Vic, 716 N. West, have returned from a vacation to California for the holidays. While in Santa Maria, they helped Mrs. Laramore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Followell, former Pampans, celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

All of the Followell children and a number of grandchildren were together for the first time in 28 years. The group attended the First Christian Church together and spent the rest of the day helping entertain the many people who came by to wish the Followells another 50 years.

The Followells are members of the Santa Maria Senior Citizens, who brought a very interesting program. First, the club crowned Mrs. Followell with a golden crown and presented her with a gold rolling pin. Then, as Followell is a violin player in the Senior Citizens string band, they presented him with a small gold violin and bow and a gold derby hat and gold bow tie.

In the meantime, all male members of the band donned gold derbies and bow ties and the ladies put on gray bonnets with blue ribbons. The band presented the number "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet," with the ladies singing.

The Followell children are Mrs. O. S. Trask of Garden Grove, Calif., Mrs. J. E. Northcott of Porterville, Calif., J. Robert Followell of Huntington Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Laramore.

Thailand Queen Is Named Best Dressed Woman

NEW YORK (UPI)—Queen Sirikit of Thailand, in whose wardrobe the twin of Eastern and Western fashions meet, occupied fashion's summit today with the official title of world's best-dressed woman.

The dainty wife of King Phumiphon Aduldet topped the 1964 listing of the first ladies of fashion followed closely by Mrs. John F. Kennedy, her mother-in-law Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, a close friend of the Kennedy clan, Mrs. Charles Wrightsman of Palm Beach, and the former First Lady's sister, Princess Lee Radziwill of London.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson failed to poll enough votes from fashion authorities to appear on the list.

Completing the annual list were film star Dina Merrill, Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt Cooper, Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Jr. of Chicago, wife of the U.S. ambassador to the Philippines, Mrs. Paul Mellon of the Pittsburgh banking family, Mrs. Alfred Bismongdale of Beverly Hills, whose husband heads the Diners Club, and sisters Anne and Charlotte Ford, daughters of automotive tycoon Henry Ford II.

The listing was based on voting by more than 2,000 fashion authorities and leaders all over the world. The ballot-counting committee noted that Queen Sirikit, 33-year-old mother of four, had dazzled Europe and America with her elegant apparel on recent global tours with her husband. She prefers native costumes of Thai silk alternating with Western clothes designed by Balmain of Paris.

The committee also commended Mrs. Kennedy, who returned to the list after an absence of a year in recognition of her mourning, and her mother-in-law for "perfect taste in dress." It said their decision not to wear deep mourning over a long period "reflected the same sense of discipline and commemorative dignity which the late President always displayed."

Walnut Rated High In Six Categories

Walnut, America's prestige hardwood, was the leading furniture wood used in contemporary and Scandinavian styled case goods in 1964, and rated high in four other styles.

It was second in French and Italian Provincial, second in Mediterranean and third in traditional styling. Cherry was the favored wood for French and Italian Provincial styling while maple was first in Colonial. Other leaders were mahogany in traditional and mahogany in traditional.

These results were revealed recently in the 16th annual case goods survey conducted by the Fairchild Publications, Inc., leading furniture and department stores in 35 major cities participated in the survey.

Pupils of Kookie Krumbler Nursery And Pre-School Entertained at Party

PARTY GUESTS — Kathy and Jimmie Hayes, children of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny R. Hayes, 2107 Coffee, are shown holding gifts presented them by Santa at a recent party given for students of Wilkie's Kookie Krumbler Nursery and Pre-School. Some 45 guests were present for the event with grandparents of the students attending as special guests.

First annual Christmas Party for Wilkie's Kookie Krumbler Nursery and Pre-School was held on Dec. 23 at 8 p.m.

The Krumbler's opened the program by reciting the pledge of allegiance and the "Lord's Prayer." They also sang "Jingle Bells."

Each Krumbler enjoyed exchanging gifts and their eyes lighted with joy when Santa Claus arrived with a stocking filled with candy. Santa also presented each Krumbler with a gift from under the tree.

The children were accompanied by their parents. Attending as special guests were grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. Cecil Rankin from Moran, Mrs. E. L. Thomas from Sherman, Mrs. H. B. Alverson and Mrs. J. H. Hayes.

Refreshments of cakes and party bits were served to approximately 45 guests.

Nude and Subdued Looks Offered as Women's Two Major Spring Fashions

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Fashion offers women two major looks for spring—the nude and the subdued.

Each is equally becoming, depending on the figure of the wearer. It's just a matter of a woman making a choice between young, swinging skirts inched up two, three and even four inches above the knees, cookie cutter cutouts to expose the epidermis (in bathing suits and evening clothes), and low slung necklines — or of more conservative styles with beauty built from fabrics, drape and color.

The designer world is divided into two camps on the spring trends. For instance, Jacques Tiffreau is an exponent of the daring. Tiffreau, designer for both Monte Sano & Pruzan and Tiffreau & Busch, New York, remarked, "the direction is to easy and young clothes. I think we're getting tired of serious, mannered fashions."

Monte Sano featured hemlines just above the knee in both daytime and cocktail hour clothes.

The skirts on the collection for his other firm rode even higher—almost kill length. Designer Mollie Parnis took just the opposite tack. Her day-time hemlines for spring covered the knees and there was the easily wearability of natural waistlines and narrow pleated skirts. She also used the prettiness of fabrics and quilted silk print coats over the matching print for dresses.

Said Miss Parnis, "the notion that some of the new clothes will make women look more youthful is nonsense. It only makes them look more infantile. I believe most women want to look pretty, chic and sexy, and be seen in lovely clothes that make them look that way."

So it went, as New York's trend-setting fashion houses today began a 10-day series of shows for the nation's newspaper, television and radio representatives. The New York couture group sponsors the first seven days of the shows in its 44th "National Press Week" with 250 reporters registered. The American designers group then continues for three days.

These were some of the detailed trends showing in the spring styles:

—An elongated body look marked by longer suit jackets, some finger-tip; tunic dresses; low-slung belts encircling the hips.

—"Mobile" skirts, with plenty of pleating, flare, even calmed down versions of the dirndl. Plenty of apron-like panels on both dress and suit skirts.

—Lengths. Short for day, but moving in for late day and evening the "demi-longueur," hitting about midcalf.

—Colors. Going the great white way, from snow white to bone to creamy white. Plenty of bold black and white prints, with apricot and pink everywhere.

Ink spills on wood furniture should be blotted immediately to prevent permanent marking.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. DEAR POLLY — Mine is a variation of a previously printed Pointer Someone wrote that she set certain degrees of temperature when she would permit her children to swim and ice skate. I set certain hours as snack time. No snacks after 10 a.m. until lunch and none again from 3:30 p.m. until supper time. It is absolutely amazing how it works if you stick by your guns. When offered candy or some other treat my boys ask the time and if it is after limits they save the treat and with no questions asked.

DEAR POLLY — My granddaughter told me how to sharpen my pink shears by putting a few drops of machine oil on them, placing them in a plastic bag and leaving for a few days. I thought the idea was crazy but it sure worked and now my shears cut all the way across.

GIRLS — I wonder if "sharpen" is really the right word but mine certainly cut better and easier. —POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for Ruth who inquired about getting grease out of a pair of slacks. I find that mechanic's waterless grease soap removes even the blackest axle grease from cotton and synthetic machine-washable clothing. Just vigorously rub a dab of the soap on and around the spotted area before washing the garment in hot or warm soapy water. I learned this while in college and also that such soap can be purchased in any auto parts store.

Commie Counter-Attack Kills Another US Adviser

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist guerrillas have killed a U.S. military adviser and put 78 government soldiers out of action in a counter-attack near the scene of the disastrous Binh Gia battle 40 miles south-east of Saigon, a U.S. military spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the ambush Sunday night caught a column of Vietnamese Rangers, tanks and armored personnel carriers as it passed through a rubber plantation three miles south of Binh Gia.

An American enlisted man was killed in the ambush, the spokesman said. The Vietnamese casualties were 11 dead, 27 wounded and 40 missing.

The new action was announced as Vietnamese military leaders sent messages with fixed bayonets into Saigon streets to disperse anti-government demonstrators. The Saigon leaders also postponed a showdown with their Buddhist-supported leftist foes by postponing the court-martial of 20 anti-government student leaders.

Russia Warns on Aid to Viet Nam

MOSCO (UPI)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko warned today that Russia would aid North Viet Nam in the event of American military action there.

Russia and Red China made similar offers of unspecified aid to North Viet Nam last year after U.S. planes bombed Communist bases on the Gulf of Tonkin in retaliation for a Red attack on American warships.

The Soviet government, Gromyko added, "demand that the United States end all interference in the affairs of South Viet Nam." The Vietnamese, he said, should be left "to settle their internal affairs."

The assurance of Soviet aid to the Hanoi regime was part of a Dec. 30 letter from Gromyko to North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Suan Thui which was summarized today by the Soviet news agency Tass.

The attempt by anti-government leaders to stir up new violence in the capital failed when their followers ran away without even throwing a stone at the Vietnamese marines who confronted them.

The marines had no problem with the small crowd of demonstrators. They dispersed the students without once using their bayonets.

Most of the demonstrators, who had been changing anti-American and anti-government slogans, ran away when a line of 20 marines balanced a long roll of wire on the points of their bayonets and advanced on the crowd like a living barbed wire fence.

The demonstrators numbered about 200. They carried a banner demanding that "the United States and Ambassador Taylor must not interfere in Vietnamese domestic affairs."

One teen-ager was arrested and another claimed to have been wounded by the marines. Eyewitnesses said, however, that he actually was trampled by his comrades.

The action staved off at least temporarily an open clash between the "Young Turk" generals who seized power in a coup d'etat Dec. 20 and South Viet Nam's Buddhist and student groups.

Agitation by these groups has led to the fall of two of the four governments that have ruled South Viet Nam in the last 15 months.

Buddhist and student agitators had called for a large-scale demonstration to protest the trial of the 20 students on charges of carrying knives and clubs during a funeral procession in November that nearly turned into a riot.

Only about 100 youths, accompanied by 60 to 70 girls and old women, turned up today at the barricades two blocks from navy headquarters on the Saigon riverfront, where the trial was to have been held.

Military authorities and defense attorneys announced the postponement of the trial over a government-provided loud-speaker. But the crowd continued its hostile chant.

Marines picked up a long coil of barbed wire on the tips of their bayonets, and marched on the mob, which fled.

County Grand Jury Foreman Appointed

Aubrey L. Steele was appointed foreman of the Gray County Grand jury as the new January term of the jury was officially sworn in at 10:45 a.m. today.

Following the impaneling ceremonies and selection of a foreman, the jury began delving into several felony cases.

District Attorney Bill Waters said he planned to present several cases for the Grand Jury's consideration including the near fatal shooting of Raymond Miller by his son-in-law W. C. Corley, Jr.

License Plate Stolen; Auto's Window Broken

Theft of a set of license plates and one case of vandalism was being probed today as Pampa police report a relatively quiet weekend over the city.

Gibson Motor Co., east of Pampa on Highway 60, reported that a pair of license plates bearing the figures AW-2474 was stolen from a parked automobile.

Johnny Vanderlinden, 1044 S. Nelson, reported to police that someone shattered the rear windshield of his automobile sometime late Saturday afternoon.

He told police that apparently a passing automobile heaved a rock into it.

Sporting Sidelines

By JEFF COHANE

THE PRODIGAL returns... a little spoiled by all the warm weather... it was 84 degrees Christmas Day and 78 New Year's Day; but a little downcast at having created no havoc among the fanned and feathered tribes of South Texas.

Seems this scribe didn't get out to do as much fishing as planned and no duck hunting at all, due to this blank-blank cold I took with me as a holiday gift from the Panhandle. Did go out with my Dad one day and we got a few nice-sized drum, as well as some trout, sheephead and odds-and-ends, but that was about it. I dunno, even the odds and ends were bigger than the herrings Bill Oler takes me out to catch around here!

OBSERVATIONS OF SORTS: Congratulations to Dunk Porter and Gene Watson of Wheeler, Charles Smith of White Deer, Dickie Crockett of McLean and Jerry Roberts of Groom for making the all-state teams. Should have been a few more TOT boys on there, but we better settle for what we got. Again thanks to our roly-poly colleague from Amarillo, Tommy Bryant, and to our paperweight enemy from Borger, John Shields, for plugging area boys, and also to Tommy for the fine job he did putting out the first Class B All-State.

As far as the bowl games went, by far the best was the Texas-Alabama game. No doubt of it, Joe Namath was great, but if Jim Hudson had been able to play this season, Texas would never have lost a game.

And the Oklahoma debacle: I wonder what would have happened if those three starters, two of them All-Americans, had been able to play? The Sooners might have lost just the same, but it would have been a lot different. Don't blame the boys for signing, blame the pros and their stupid war. This scribe warped of such an occurrence several months ago.

You know, after watching the bowl games and the pro playoffs, I have come to the conclusion that college football is more exciting. The pros never take a gamble! See if you can remember, unless it was late in the game with a lopsided score, a pro team ever going for fourth down, even if they are short by just inches. Ditto one going for a touchdown instead of kicking a field goal on fourth. Also, with the extra-point kick practical-

South Expects Pass Attack

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—With the first Senior Bowl practice session set for today, South coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys is anticipating a heavy passing attack from his team. Landry will have three quarterbacks to choose from, including Steve Tensi of Florida State, Bob Schweickert of Virginia Tech and Joe Namath of Alabama—the American Football League's $400,000 bonus baby.

Namath signed the largest football contract ever with the New York Jets over the weekend, but probably will not start Saturday, due to a leg injury. Landry said he would probably start Tensi, play Schweickert on both offense and defense and slip Namath in on crucial plays. North squad coach George Wilson, former head coach of the Detroit Lions seems to have sized up the South strength and Sunday was optimistic about his team.

"They've got three fine quarterbacks," said Wilson, "but we've got some excellent defensive backs and they'll have to come up with some good plays to get by us." The North team is not without offensive talent, however. Quarterback Rich Badar of Indiana and Tom Myers of Northwestern, halfback Dick Gordon of Michigan State and fullback Tom Nowatzka of Indiana are included on the North lineup.

ly guaranteed among professionals, why don't they use the exciting two-point option which would remove some of these dreary ties?

THANKS TO Ron Cross, the ol' redhead, for sweating out the sports pages while I was off in the hinterlands, and also to Ronnie Oler for covering the Pampa basketball games. If anything was overlooked in the mad turmoil, please forgive us, we'll catch up with it sooner or later.

INCIDENT A L L Y.—Slippery John Shields has been ringing the phone off the hook since I got back worrying over whether the Pampa Newsboys will show up Thursday night for their game with the Borger Paper-Peddlers. Hah, not only will we show up, but we will tear those refugees from a gossip column apart! Shields plans to use Bulldog coach Tex Hanna as a referee. (Typical Borger impartiality) so we plan to ask Terry Culley to be our man in blue. Don't forget, Thursday night at 8 at Borger Fieldhouse, all proceeds to go to Optimist Boys Work.

Shields is getting real professional, wanted a roster with heights, weights, ages, etc. Ray Rodgers refuses to admit his weight in public. Chico Ramirez will not admit his height, and I won't admit my age! Prediction of the week: Pampa, 101, Borger 6 (free throws by Shield's substitute after I put the Bony-One out of the game.)

Players Blast Pete Rozelle

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI)—The National Football League Players Association ended its annual meeting, marked by strong criticism of Commissioner Pete Rozelle, by demanding Sunday the league championship be decided in a three-game series.

Association President Ordell Braase of the Baltimore Colts said the demand for the three-game championship series, plus other proposals, will be presented to the NFL owners "probably within the next month." During the four-day meeting, the players' representatives also demanded representation on the player-owner pension fund, questioned the cost of running the commissioner's office and challenged Rozelle's right to sign players to product-endorsement contracts without their knowledge or consent.

At its final session Sunday, the players also voted to retain all of the association's present officers. Besides Braase, they are Bernie Parrish, Cleveland Browns, vice president; Charlie Bradshaw, Pittsburgh Steelers, secretary; and John Reger, Washington Redskins, treasurer.

SWC Roundup

By United Press International
Coach Shelby Metcalfe's Texas Aggies should find out very quickly this week how hard a task they will face in defending their Southwest Conference basketball championship.

The Aggies open their bid Tuesday night at home against Baylor's brass, high-scoring Bears, who matched the Aggies' season record of 7-2, and then the Cadets hit the road Saturday night to tackle Coach Doc Hayes' young but potentially dangerous Southern Methodist Ponies.

The opening week also will be a crucial one for pre-season favored Texas Tech, which managed only a 5-4 record alongside well-regarded Texas. Tech has to open away from home at Texas, then returns home Saturday night to meet Arkansas' flashy all-junior outfit. Arkansas won only three of seven games, but indicated it will be tough to beat.

Other Tuesday night games will have SMU at Rice, a team that has yet to win in nine starts, and Arkansas at TCU, which won a third of its nine games. Saturday's other games send Rice to Baylor and Texas to TCU.

Aside from Baylor's Point-etia Classic championship (with 89-78 and 68-59 victories over Furman and Clemson), last week's most impressive job appeared to be turned in by SMU and Texas Tech.

SMU barely bowed to host Memphis State 95-92 in overtime and then upset nationally-ranked St. Louis 82-73 in the Memphis Classic, while Tech lost to Vanderbilt 83-73 but beat Georgia Tech 95-90 in the Sugar Bowl Tournament.

Knicks Pick Gallatin

NEW YORK (UPI)—Harry Gallatin, fired by the St. Louis Hawks last week, returned to the New York Knickerbockers, today, as a coaching replacement for Eddie Donovan.

Donovan was named general manager in the shift of personnel made public Sunday by Irving Mitchell Felt, chairman of the board of Madison Square Garden, and Ned Irish, president of the Knicks.

The 6-6 Gallatin, who starred with New York for nine seasons as a player, will make his first appearance as Knick mentor Tuesday night at the Garden against the Cincinnati Royals.

The hiring of Gallatin is the third major coaching change in the National Basketball Association in the past two months. Last November, the Detroit Pistons fired Charley Wolf and replaced him with Dave DeBusschere and the Hawks appointed Richie Guerin a former Knick player, to succeed Gallatin.

Gallatin was elated about his new position. "Return to New York is just great," he said. "With the present young personnel, the Knicks are on the way and I am confident that we will soon be winning."

Michigan's Rep Fails To Score In Playoff

By United Press International
Michigan must be wondering if everbody in the East had heard that the Wolverines were the nation's best college basketball team.

St. John's pretended it didn't know Saturday as the Redmen upended the No. 1 team in the country, 75-64, and Princeton played like it didn't care last Wednesday until the Wolverines finally nipped the Tigers, 80-78.

St. John's Coach Joe Lanobick, who after the game felt like he had "robbed a bank and didn't get caught," used a full court zone-press to rally his Redmen from a 15-point deficit and win the Holiday Festival basketball championship.

Fouls Hurt Michigan
Jerry Houston's field goal and foul shot in the final minute of play and Sonny Dove's 23 points offset a 24-point performance by Michigan's Cazzie Russell. Russell fouled out and Bill Lantin, the Wolverines' 6-7 center, had four fouls which limited Michigan's attack and defense towards the end of the game.

Cincinnati, despite Bill Bradley's 33-points, edged Princeton for third place in the tournament and LaSalle beat Syracuse 73-70 in overtime for fifth place as Hubie Marshall bucketed 28 points for the Explorers.

Wichita, the nation's No. 2 team, blasted North Texas State 107-88 for the Shockers' second Missouri Valley Conference win without a loss. Dave Stallworth collected 24 points before fouling out as Wichita hit 52 per cent from the floor.

Roberts Groom Leader

By JEFF COHANE
News Sports Editor
GROOM — The Groom Tigers have turned into a virtually a "one-man gang" this year, not through choice, but through graduation.

Only one starter returns from last year's fine team that won the district tournament, but lost the playoff by one point to Quail.

The one starter however, is almost enough to make it, by himself and with four youngsters coming along fast, coach Bill Dalton reckons the Tigers might shape up for the district tournament.

Returning is 6-5 jumping Jerry Roberts, the all and talented junior who averaged 23.6 per game, was nominated for all-state, and got a reputation for scoring from anywhere on the court and then going back and taking the rebound as well.

Only one other letterman returns besides Roberts however, 5-10½ J. B. Parker. Larry Lamberson, 5-11, lends help on the boards.

A "Mutt and Jeff" backcourt combination shapes up with 5-10 Terry Cornett, a good corner end outside shot, and 5-11 Kyle Back, a midget ballhawk.

Bill Culver, Kerry Jones, Pete Ham and Brad Major all see regular action. Dalton, in his first year as head cage coach after three years at Groom Junior High, opines that the Tigers are, all young, and that he expects them to come along by the district tournament. Groom's tough cage loop, 12-B, also includes Hedley, Quail, Sannorwood and Dodson.

ence win without a loss. Dave Stallworth collected 24 points before fouling out as Wichita hit 52 per cent from the floor. Lou Hudson's 25 points led third-ranked Minnesota to an 80-66 triumph over cold-shooting Detroit. The Gophers built a comfortable 37-22 lead at half time on Hudson's hot-hand and the Titans' cold 20 per cent shooting mark.

St. Joseph's Upset
St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, recent victors over Wichita and Illinois, was upset 65-61 by unbeaten but unranked Providence. The Friars netted their final 11 foul shots and Billy Blair scored 18 points to help Providence hand St. Joe's its first loss of the season.

Seventh-ranked Duke fought off a Wake Forest rally to defeat the Deacon's 91-86 as Steve Vaccandak pumped in 32 points for the Blue Devils. Wake Forest hit almost 60 per cent from the floor but Duke also was hot, hitting 58 per cent of its shots.

Ninth-ranked St. Louis, led by Garry Garrison's 14 points, won its second Missouri Valley Conference game, 62-55 over Drake, and tenth-ranked Davidson, behind Fred Hetzel's 22 points, overcame William and Mary's stubborn slow-down game and defeated the Indians 77-57.

West Virginia, with 62 points in the second half, routed Furman 106-85 behind Bob Camp's 25 points. Vanderbilt's Clyde Lee scored 30 points as the Commodores edged Tennessee 77-72. Jim Shaffer led Ohio State to a 73-68 victory over Georgia Tech; Kentucky ended a three-game losing streak by overwhelming Dartmouth 107-67; Miami of Ohio upped its record to 8-1 by defeating Toledo 95-66; and unheralded Virginia bounced Connecticut from the unbeaten ranks 68-63 to win the Queen City Invitational Tournament.

Unitas Named Player of Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—Quarterback Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts has been selected the 1964 player-of-the-year in the National Football League by United Press International for his part in directing the Colts to the Western Conference championship.

The nine-year pro veteran was a landslide choice of the UPI panel of 42 writers (three from each league city) who covered the season regularly.

Unitas received 29 votes to five for runnerup Lenny Moore, his backfield mate with the Colts. Fullback Jimmy Brown of the league champion Cleveland Browns and flanker Johnny Morris of the Chicago Bears split the remaining eight ballots.

Wins Twice
In 1959 Unitas was honored as the league's outstanding player when he led the Colts to their last league championship. His similar honor this season makes him one of only four NFL stars to win the award more than once. The others are Otto Graham ('53-'55), Y. A. Tittle ('57-'62) and Brown ('58-'63).

The 31-year-old Unitas called the majority of the plays, threw the passes, and even did more than the quarterback's share of running in 1964 as the Colts awakened from four years of mediocrity to win 11 straight games and wrap up the Western crown three games before the season's end.

Unitas masterminded the league's most explosive offense which was No. 1 in points scored (331), touchdowns (41) and total yardage gained (3,535).

West Coast Wants Out

Football Signing War Continues

By GARY KALE
UPI Sports Writer

A half-million dollars worth of college football talent was secured in contracts during the weekend; a court battle involving the signing of an All America lineman appears imminent and the West Coast is looking for a new method of selecting a West Coast representative to the Rose Bowl.

Alabama's Joe Namath signed for an estimated $400,000 with the New York Jets of the American Football League. It may start a price war by next season's group of outstanding players who will have more than stars in their eyes.

Namath proved to be just what the Jets need as he tossed two touchdown passes in Alabama's 21-17 loss to Texas in the Orange Bowl New Year's night and had the Crimson Tide within inches of victory when a stubborn Longhorn line stiffened in the closing minutes.

Contract signing after Florida State's 36-19 victory over Oklahoma in the Gator Bowl Saturday was held in full view of a national television audience.

Combo Grabbed Early
The Steve Tensi to Fred Biletnikoff passing combination that produced four Florida State touchdowns was immediately grabbed by the AFL's two West Coast teams.

San Diego coach Sid Gillman brought Tensi over to a sideline table for a signature and Oakland coach Al Davis had the papers ready for Biletnikoff.

In addition, Gillman signed end Don Floyd, center Jack Edwards and place kicker Les Murdock of the winning Seminoles, while Davis added guard Dick Hermann. Tackle Avery Summer signed with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

Oklahoma guard Eddie McQuarters joined the St. Louis Cardinals as the day's only Sooner signer. However, he wasn't the first Oklahoma player to agree to professional terms. And that touched off a series of events that led to four Sooner players being declared ineligible for the game.

The day before the Gator contest, Oklahoma coach Gomer Jones revealed that All America tackle Ralph Neely, fullback Jim Grisham, end Wes Skidgel and halfback Lance Rentzel previously had signed contracts with pro teams, the latter three with the Minnesota Vikings.

Court Fight Promised
Neely's case promised a court fight if necessary by oilman K. S. (Bud) Adams, who claimed the Oklahoma lineman had signed with the Houston Oilers. The Dallas Cowboys of the rival NFL also secured Neely's signature.

Adams said Neely had agreed to Houston terms before the game, a situation that led the player to believe it was not binding and would not affect his eligibility. Kicked off the Oklahoma team, Neely then signed with Dallas.

In other signings, the Cardinals corralled fullback Larry Dupree of Florida, and offensive end Sandy Sands of Texas and tackle Frank McClelland of Alabama signed with the Vikings.

The Athletic Association of Western Universities (AAUW) took its turn blasting the before-season-end pro signings and then looked to its own backyard for a new way of selecting a West Coast Rose Bowl representative.

Oregon State was slaughtered by Michigan, 34-7, New Year's Day, giving the Big Ten its 15th win in 19 meetings with the Pacific opposition. In the Tournament of Roses, Mel Anthony scored three touchdowns for the Wolverines, including an 84-yard run which was the longest dash from scrimmage in Rose Bowl history.

Arkansas edged Nebraska, 10-7, in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day and Louisiana State squeaked past Syracuse, also by the margin of a field goal, 13-10. The West topped the East, 11-7, in a sea of mud to win the annual Shrine Game on Saturday.

Randy To LA

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Randy Matson, Olympic silver medal winner in the shot put from Texas A&M, will be among the international stars competing in the sixth annual Los Angeles Invitational Indoor Track Meet at the Sports Arena Jan. 23. The Pampa star won the Orange Bowl meet last week with a toss of 62 feet 10½ inches.

HOW TO CUT YOUR TAXES

Forget Old Rules; Learn The New Ones

By RAY DE CRANE, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Forget all you learned about income tax last year. Under no circumstances will you use last year's income tax return as a guide for this year.

These two sentences sum up the best advice that can be given as we all prepare to file our annual tax return by April 15, 1965. The new tax act passed by Congress in 1964 includes sweeping changes and varied benefits, so that the best thing to do is to start to learn all over again.

Rates have been reduced across the board for everyone. The tax rate in the lowest bracket has been reduced from 20 per cent to 16 per cent for 1964. The rate at the top has been trimmed from 91 per cent to 77 per cent. And in 1965 these rates will be further reduced to 14 per cent at the bottom and 70 per cent at the top.

A new Minimum Standard Deduction has been introduced. This will be a break for large families with total incomes less than $10,000. Formerly the taxpayer who didn't itemize his deductions could take a standard deduction of 10 per cent of his gross income. The new Minimum Standard Deduction gives him still another option. Instead of settling on 10 per cent for deductions he may deduct $200 plus an additional $100 for each exemption.

For example, the $7,000-a-year man with four dependent children will be able to deduct $900 on his joint return instead of the $700 allowed a year ago.

Other revisions in the law provide new rules for reporting the income on stock dividends.

PLANT FIRES

NEW YORK (UPI) — If asked, you would probably say matches and smoking were the prime cause of plant fires. Not so, the experts tell us.

Harry I. Eitelman, president of the Penstone Company, which makes fire-proof cleaning compounds for industry, ranks friction, spontaneous combustion, poor plant maintenance and faulty plant housekeeping ahead of matches and smoking as chief cause of industrial fires.

Texas Building Another 'Brag'

Texas, known worldwide for doing things in a big way, will soon add another achievement to its long list of "Texas Brags."

It will be the world's tallest concrete tower which will be erected in the center of the HemisFair site located two blocks from the Alamo in historic and romantic San Antonio.

HemisFair 1968, the first major international exposition ever presented in the Southwestern United States, will open in San Antonio in April, 1968. Constructed on 90-acres of land in the heart of the city, the six-month fair will be dedicated to inter-American unity, and to education, culture, trade and industry of the New World nations. It will also celebrate San Antonio's 250th anniversary.

The tower will stretch almost 70 stories in the air to a height of 650 to 700 feet, and will be constructed at a cost of approximately $4.5 million.

Dan J. Rheiner, vice president of architecture and construction for HemisFair, said maximum use of space will be utilized by providing observation decks and restaurants on top and intermediate levels of the tower. A teen-age dance and snack area has been proposed for one level.

Rheiner has selected "Red" McCombs, San Antonio civic leader and vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, to head up a six-man Tower Development Sub-Committee to make recommendations on financing and developing the tower structure.

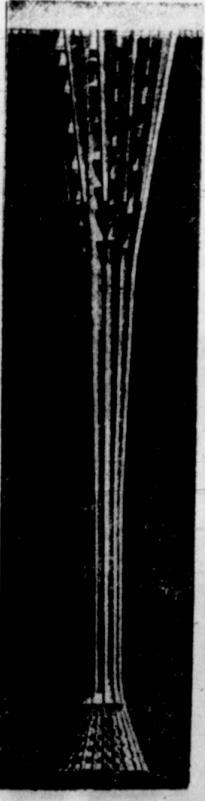

The task of designing the tower and developing the system by which it is to be built has been given to HemisFair's primary architect, O'Neil Ford, with Felix Candela, the famous Mexican architect engineer, as his consultant.

Ford and his associates already have conceived a preliminary proposed design for the tower and are now proceeding with exact drawings and specifications for the new Texas landmark.

Marshall T. Steves, HemisFair president, said that plans are to complete the tower before six months and one year before the fair actually opens. A sky-ride attraction would also be built so that visitors can ride over the construction site and watch it progress and grow into completion.

HemisFair officials feel the fair is likely to become best known and remembered by the tower. Therefore, its design is to be the symbol of the Latin American theme around which the fair will be built.

The tower is to be illuminated over its entire surface so that it can be seen from as far away as 100 miles by air at night. It also may serve as a mast for radiating cables, which, with canvas tenting strategically strung, will give shade to plazas and gardens planned for the fair.

WORLD'S TALLEST—This is the preliminary proposed design of the tower structure which will be located in the center of the 1968 "Fair of the Americas" to be held in San Antonio. It will be the tallest concrete structure in the world, with a minimum height of 650 to 700 feet stretching almost 70 stories in the air.

An economical feasibility study of the tower structure was prepared by Economics Research Associates of Los Angeles, Calif. ERA estimated potential admissions for a ride-up the tower at 2,170,000 during the 184-day "Fair of the Americas" and 950,000 annually for the post-fair period.

These estimates were based primarily on the analysis of the experience of the Space Needle at the Seattle World's Fair and other tower attractions throughout the world.

Research Center Needs More Funds

By CARLTON WILSON

DALLAS (UPI) — The Graduate Research Center of the Southwest begins the new year hoping that private donations will allow further expansion of its new 1,266 acre campus at Richardson, north of Dallas.

So far, more than $6.2 million has been spent on facilities, including the founders building. But there is a long way to go toward the $25 million planned investment by 1963 in land, buildings and equipment.

During 1964 the non-profit research organization received cash gifts of $1,128,778 which was an increase of about $500,000 over the amount paid on pledges during 1963, according to the year-end report from the center.

Total pledges rose to $4,872,166 during 1964 which was about the same half million dollar increase over the previous year, information director Al Mitchell said.

Funds Important

Fund-raising is an important part of the staff work of the center, formed in 1961 to stimulate higher education in the Southwest and attract talented scientists to both research and industry.

President Lloyd Berkner, in a review of accomplishments this year, said continued growth of the organization brought to 246 persons the total faculty, scientific staff and administrative organizations. By 1968 the center hopes to have about 700 researchers among a planned total of 1,000 persons.

This was the year that the Southwest Center for Advanced Studies, the basic research and post-doctoral education division, grew larger than the parent center.

Research support funding, which stood at a backlog figure of $2,176,000 as the calendar year closed, has come chiefly from five government and two private granting agencies. Berkner said a total of 27 basic research projects are now being financed by such agencies as the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, National Science Foundation, American Cancer Society, U. S. Air Force, Office of Naval Research, American Chemical Society and the U. S. Public Health Service.

The Health Service is financing a biosynthesis study related to B vitamins, Berkner said, which is both the latest award to the center and the first for work in its newest major lab, the laboratory of molecular sciences. More than 30 world leaders in genetics research met in February to make plans for that laboratory.

This, the third lab in the SCAS structure, was formed in October. The first laboratory of earth and planetary sciences began operations with 16 faculty members in 1962. It got started with grants from NASA, now the largest element of research support.

Ralston Retires as Chief Geologist

DALLAS, Texas. — Wallace Ralston, division chief geologist for Sun Oil Company's Southwest Production Division, has retired, announces Tom F. Hill, division manager.

Succeeding Ralston as division chief geologist is Ross H. Ley, formerly assistant division chief geologist.

Also announced by Hill is the appointment of Development Geologist Charles H. Caldwell as assistant division chief geologist, succeeding Ley.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Polytechnic of Denver

A new school has been opened in Denver, Colo., which has our admiration. It is the Polytechnic College, located at 500 Lincoln Street in the mile-high city. And its purpose is to assist our free enterprise system by providing qualified personnel for various types of work in industry and business.

The school began last fall. It offered courses in application engineering design, electronics training, art and jewelry design and distributive and communicative arts in the selling field. But what is more exciting about the school is the philosophy employed as expressed by its president, M. C. Coffman.

We quote from a school publication: "A question, pertinent to America's future is — can a luxury-based economy, warring on poverty by teaching more people to be job holders, expect to develop the Fords and Edisons of the future? If your answer is 'NO,' then we believe you will be very interested in the purposes of Colorado Polytechnic College. It is a pilot school to lead in a crusade for a NEW kind of advanced education to develop practicing free enterprisers. Specifically, it was founded to develop a five-year program to turn out industrial leaders who can become successful independent manufacturers, capable of creating new products, tooling up for their production, and marketing them at a profit, thus providing full employment."

"You will be interested for two reasons: first, its philosophy is the furtherance of free enterprise at a time when there is an insidious campaign against the profit incentive. Second, new leaders of industry are needed to increase jobs and eliminate unemployment."

This is certainly an auspicious approach and we are delighted to know of the effort. Take, too, this quotation from Robert H. Rines of the MIT faculty: "How many industries today are living off the brains of just one man, Thomas A. Edison?"

Could Edison ever get past your personnel people today? Recent, but unpublished, statistics show that nine out of every ten new jobs created in the last decade have been directly or indirectly supported by local, state and federal governments."

This shocking condition has led to an appalling dearth of persons who understand the market system and who are interested in careers in free enterprise. Obviously if free enterprise is to endure, it will endure on the strength of its own growth, independent of government aid and in spite of all the government may do to regulate or curtail or tax it out of existence.

America is going to have to develop, not one, but hundreds of institutions of this character. And we are encouraged to see that certain forward-looking persons in Denver have gone ahead to make this school a operating reality.

According to President Coffman, "Polytechnic is seeking to pioneer in that untaught area of education between schools of liberal arts and of engineering, the former concentrating on the humanities and the latter on calculative abilities." And since this school is going into the market place as it should and seeking to justify its existence on the support to come from the market, we can only applaud the effort and most sincerely wish it well.

Obviously, in addition to this splendid concept, other schools in other areas of intellectual pursuit are going to have to be formed which will concentrate on free enterprise ideas and orient their programs to the realities of economics.

With increased leisure time and increasing demands for more and more knowledge and skill, the role of the private and independent school of the future could hardly be overemphasized at this point.

We wish to congratulate Mr. Coffman and the other splendid men and women who are now concentrating on their task in Denver.

Washington has expressed concern — as well it might — for having been taken by surprise once more while the government of South Vietnam did another flip-flop in which the High National Council found itself unemployed and control of the nation in the hands of four young generals who constitute what they called the "Armed Forces Council."

Having taken the precaution of arresting most of the High Council and two dozen or so assorted politicians who might be troublesome, a flowery radio proclamation advised the nation that the new junta would mediate religious differences to achieve national unity, would keep Premier Tran Van Huong and Chief of State Phan Kac Suu in their jobs, but there would be "very strong armed forces."

Li. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, still, apparently, commander-in-chief of the armed forces, put in no appearance, being reported "in the field." Khanh, he it remembered, is the general who was elected president by the then "council" last summer, appeared to be launched as a dictator but resigned within a month and left for the hills to nurse an ailment.

US Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, but shortly back from his Washington conference with the President, is said to have learned of the latest coup half an hour before the first radio announcement. The Ambassador conferred twice with Premier Tran Van Huong and talked with General Khanh on the phone before meeting the four star-spangled youths who have emerged on top in the sixth national crisis in a little over a year.

He is reported to have told the quartet they would have to operate under a system of law and order or the US would be forced to review its position in Vietnam. In retaining the current premier and chief of state, they have no doubt protected themselves against any disquieting ultimatum from Washington.

But perhaps we should wait until "Big Minh," said to be the most popular of all the Vietnamese military men, gets back from Taipei to see what happens next. Received by the Free Chinese with full military honors. General Duong Van Minh talked with President Chiang, the Minister of National Defense and Chief of the General Staff, visited military installations, was wined and dined by Premier Yen.

Big Minh's visit followed the 10th annual conference of the restive Asian Peoples' Anti-Communist League in which representatives of 20 Asian nations expressed eagerness to help chase the Viet Cong out of Vietnam — while the Americans bomb the enemy supply lines north of the border — as the Ambassador is believed to have urged in Washington.

How many industries today are living off the brains of just one man, Thomas A. Edison?"

A WAR WE CAN WIN... The new year finds the United States deeply engaged against communist armed forces in the Asian country of South Viet Nam. It also finds the same forces of defeatism and appeasement within our country saying that we can't win or that it is wrong to attempt to gain victory over the Communists; Viet Cong.

Norman Thomas, the former Socialist Party candidate, for President and the granddaddy of defeatists; recently expressed the negative point of view in a letter to the editor of The Chicago Daily News. Mr. Thomas said:

"In recent months I have repeatedly expressed my deep conviction that our American part in the Vietnamese war was not only wrong in itself but also that it played into the hands of communist propagandists around the world and threatened to lead to the ultimate disaster of World War III." He urged the negotiation of "an immediate ceasefire agreement" and "neutralization" of South Viet Nam.

This is the kind of language that Moscow and Peking like to hear. It is only too familiar to Americans. They heard it used in connection with China in the 1940s, with Korea in the early 1950s, and Cuba in the late 1950s.

That's the authoritative word from White House insiders and close Kampelman associates. Also, the FBI is known to be making the check required by law for presidential appointments.

This backstage information is raising Democratic as well as Republican hackles.

Principal reason for this adverse bipartisan reaction is that the only apparent basis for Kampelman's selection is politics — his long and close ties with Vice President-elect Hubert Humphrey.

Kampelman's riled critics indignantly contend they know of no other valid grounds for his elevation to this high federal tribunal. As proof they are citing:

—The New York-born, Minnesota-educated attorney has never tried a case in court, is wholly without judicial experience.

—He and his law partners are registered as lobbyists under the Lobbyist Registration Act. In a report on such registrations published in the August 31, 1964, Congressional Record, Kampelman's firm is listed nine separate times — in each instance as lobbyist for a different Indian tribe. Washington attorneys rank Kampelman's firm as foremost in this type of representation.

—The District of Columbia Democratic Central Committee has pointedly ignored Kampelman for a place on this circuit court. Instead, the committee, which carried the Capital for President Johnson by a 6 to 1 landslide, has unanimously recommended three others — Walter Tobiner, chairman of the D. C. commissioners; James Francis Reilly, former head of the D. C. Public Utilities Commission; F. Joseph Donahue, one-time chairman of the Senate Bible, D-NeV., head of the Senate District Committee, strongly favors Reilly.

—In World War II Kampelman was a conscientious objector. Yet now he is a major in the Marine Corps Reserve. That is being attributed to a retired Marine brigadier, whose close friendship with Kampelman dates back to when the latter was legislative assistant to back home. They are worrying that their sacrifices on the battlefield will be ignored by the same people who have successfully opposed strong action against the Communists in other areas of the world.

—The story from Viet Nam — from the men who are fighting out there — is that the will to win is strong among Americans. They know the stakes in the struggle. But they are worrying about being stabbed in the back by defeatists and appeasers.

Projected Kampelman Appointment Due to Cause Strong Bipartisan Opposition — Unless Forestalled

WASHINGTON — The heat's on to head off an embarrassing Senate furore over a politically loaded appointment to the largest and most prestigious federal circuit court — the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Max Kampelman, 44-year-old lawyer-lobbyist, is definitely slated to be named to this eminent bench.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Purchase Freely Made Is True Test of Excellence

By SAM CAMPBELL
We Americans put a lot of stock in symbols. Sometimes it makes sense — as when you buy Brand AA because the company that makes Brand AA has a reputation for turning out dependable products. However, in my opinion, we do have a habit of carrying the symbol business to the point of silliness. In politics, we vote for the political symbol, the party label. We don't care whether the content is "political pickle" or "political jam" or whether a picket crosses over and jumps into the other jar. It's the label we love—not the content.

In schooling, we go by the theory that a man is educated only if he has a piece of paper to show it. We look on education as a set of skills, rather than as an inner enlightenment.

In religion, we tend to think that some organizational banner points the way to paradise. In patriotism, we mistake "the government" for "the country" and devotion to the national real-estate is confused with love of ideals.

In economics, we wrongly suppose all words have meanings, when it is an obvious fact that some word combinations only have sounds and really refer to nothing at all.

Pedantry vs. Education
Pedants call themselves educators. Municipal hoodlums call themselves planners. Misfeasors call themselves managers. Spenders call themselves treasurers.

Statutes are called law. However, the silver of the silliest, in this writer's judgment, comes when a self-respecting private enterprise accepts a government "E" award for excellence in exports.

It goes like this. Some bureaucrat in Washington gets the notion that he ought to go out of Texas at the taxpayer's expense. He looks into the directory of manufacturers to learn the name of a likely pigeon. Then he checks out an "E" pennant, buys a plane ticket at your expense, and he's west.

Smile From D. C.
Meanwhile, back at the plant, company officials have received a franked letter, telling them that the Great White Father has smiled upon them.

Commotion follows. Copies of the letter are tacked on the bulletin board. A photographer is engaged. The great day comes. Mr. Big from D. C. arrives on the scene. Everybody saunters out to the flagpole, and the "E" pennant is hung.

Why?
If a firm is managing to sell a product both at home and abroad, the profits will measure the good that the company is doing. The more that product helps the people who buy it, the greater will be the profit.

When the consumer shells out his own money for an item, he really believes it to be good. A purchase freely made is the true test of excellence. That's the real thing, not a token.

COMMIES INCREASING CIVIL RIGHTS INFLUENCE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says the Communist party is trying to increase its influence in the up its recruitment of American youths.

Hoover made the statements in a report to acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach on FBI activities during 1964. Warning that the Communist party is a continuing threat to the nation, Hoover said:

"The party is making every effort to increase its influence in the racial struggle and continues to promote the false impression that it is a legitimate political party."

"It has assigned priority to a recruitment campaign aimed at gaining new members from the ranks of America's youth. To implement this program, it initiated a new national Marxist youth organization last June — the W.E.B. DuBos Clubs of America."

"Chapters of this group have already appeared on several college campuses."

Hoover did not name the colleges.

The 70-year-old FBI chief said his agents had been active in civil rights law enforcement, investigating 960 cases during the year. This represented a "sharp trend upward," he said.

He cited the FBI arrest of 21 persons in connection with the slaying of three civil rights workers in Mississippi. He also noted that FBI investigations were conducted into alleged police brutality, and the bombings and burnings of Negro homes and churches.

Hoover said final tabulations for 1964 would show the apprehension of about 13,200 fugitives and recovery of more than 20,500 stolen automobiles in FBI-investigated cases. Both figures are increases of nearly 1,000 over the previous year.

The FBI director said fines, savings and recoveries, resulting from FBI cases totaled more than $203 million, more than paying the way of the bureau. The annual FBI budget is about $110 million.

Church Roof Falls, 71 Believed Dead

RIJO, Mexico (UPI) — The Rev. Ezequiel Olivares and at least 60 of his parishioners were crushed to death Sunday when the reinforced concrete roof of a newly built Roman Catholic Church collapsed during the morning mass.

Sometimes estimates of the dead ranged as high as 71. Forty persons were injured, half of them seriously.

Almost every family in this remote mountain farming community contributed a victim. Hundreds of grieving citizens gathered at the church Sunday night and this morning searching for relatives still believed buried in the rubble.

"It happened so fast nobody had a chance to run," said Alfonso Escamilla, one of the survivors. "I heard a noise and looked up. The middle of the roof seemed to be crumbling. I was near a door but I couldn't get out."

U.S. Pull Out in Viet Looking Like Certainty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The steady flow of discouraging news from South Viet Nam has unleashed a spate of pessimistic speculation, rumor and sometimes wishful thinking over future U.S. policy toward that embattled nation, including even a possible U.S. pull out.

Despite these dire prophecies, U.S. policy toward Viet Nam is likely to remain in the foreseeable future the same as it was one, two and three years ago — that is, dedicated to the deliverance of South Viet Nam from the Communist threat.

There are absolutely no indications in Washington today that President Johnson is giving any serious consideration to the possibility of withdrawing, or, under present circumstances, of negotiating any "neutralization" agreement with the Communists.

There are some State Department officials who are examining possible U.S. positions should a new government come to power in Saigon which would want to give up the fight. But this examination could not even be classified as contingency planning.

Basically, as it stands now, the United States is in the Viet Nam fight to the finish if only because it is in too deep to quit. It has spent billions of dollars in South Viet Nam. More than 340 Americans have died there and more than 1,400 have been wounded in battles against the Red Viet Cong. It is believed here that to quit now would be a defeat which would cost the United States not only the loss of South Viet Nam but the confidence of other Asian nations.

What does the United States want in Viet Nam?

It has three preliminary targets, each of which is a prerequisite for the final and ultimate objective:

—It wants a united, stable and effective government, under civilian control, if at all possible.

—It wants complete unity among the military and the civilians, including Buddhist malcontents, so the nation can devote its undivided energies to the fight for survival against the Communists.

—It wants victory over the Cong. This need not be a complete victory with each and every Communist eliminated, for that task would take decades to accomplish, if indeed it ever could be. What is wanted is a victory which would give the Saigon government effective control over the entire country.

With these primary objectives reached, the final goal would be obtainable — a Viet Nam free and independent, secure from outside threat or internal subversion, and able to devote its precious resources to the economic, social and political benefit of the nation and people.

There are absolutely no indications in Washington today that President Johnson is giving any serious consideration to the possibility of withdrawing, or, under present circumstances, of negotiating any "neutralization" agreement with the Communists.

Crude Oil Production Future Bright for 1965

LONDON (UPI) — For the first time in history the world's crude oil producers in 1964 pushed their combined annual output higher by more than 100 million tons.

The Petroleum Press Service (PPS) announced this Saturday and said total production in the year was 1,406 billion tons. The prospect for 1965 is a further jump to more than 1.3 billion tons. Most producing countries achieved increases and hardly any suffered a significant decline.

PPS said the next major landmark is an annual output of two billion tons and this will be reached not later than 1970. World output which first exceeded 500 million tons in 1950 and rose above one billion tons in 1960 thus have quadrupled within two decades.

The 1964 increase was about 8 per cent higher increase than the average annual rate of increase over the previous ten years.

Free world oil production rose by 87 million tons and the increase by the Communist world was 18 million tons and the percentage increase for both regions was about the same.

PPS said in the Middle East increases were 40 million tons, in Africa 23 million; and in Russia 17 million, but production was also significantly augmented in North America, the Caribbean and elsewhere.

Canada's output was up by 8 per cent and thus scored the highest percentage jump among the main Western Hemisphere producers.

Venezuela, the world's largest oil exporter, improved production by 4 per cent.

In the Middle East region the advance was 11 per cent to bring the area's output up to 383 million tons and for the first time more oil was produced in the Middle East than in the United States.

Kuwait underlined its already commanding position as the main producer with a further jump of 10 per cent. Saudi Arabia—the second largest producer in the region—increased output by 5 per cent. But PPS noted that the rate of advance from 1962 to 1964 was not very different for the two countries.

Iran, however, now is bidding to supplant Saudi Arabia in second place. Production there rose by 14 1/2 per cent to 83 million tons and most of the gain came from the consortium area.

"African Miracle"

The speed of oil's advance in Africa led PPS to call this "The African Miracle." It said developments in that continent had been staggering. Libya's output was 41 million tons in 1964 and this will move up to 56 million tons. By 1970 Libya should be producing 100 million tons a year. Algeria started producing in 1958 and output last year was 26 million tons.

Algeria's jump to prominence was spotlighted by PPS which said output there this year will be more than 11 million tons.

PPS said that Russia appears to have beaten last year's target of 222 million tons and this year the Russians were confident of touching 242 million tons. All the announced long-term target of 1970 at 290 million tons "may have to be scaled down."

Communist Chinese production was unknown but PPS' own estimate was eight million tons although it may have to be revised later.

PPS said the next major landmark is an annual output of two billion tons and this will be reached not later than 1970. World output which first exceeded 500 million tons in 1950 and rose above one billion tons in 1960 thus have quadrupled within two decades.

The three holdout shopcraft unions are demanding higher increases for skilled workers, but said they are willing to accept the nine cents for unskilled workers.

Wolfe insists that to grant any of the workers more than nine cents an hour increase would "be breaking faith with the unions that have signed."

The 13 unions that agreed to terms represent 650,000 workers. The three holdouts have 32,000 members. But a strike by them could tie up 187 of the nation's railroads, shutting down more than 90 per cent of all rail traffic.

Rail, Union Talks Today

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rail and union negotiators meet today for the first time in a month in hopes of settling a 20-month wage dispute that could flare into a nationwide rail strike.

If both sides stick to their promise to offer nothing new at today's meeting, the session will be a short—and perhaps futile — one.

Joseph W. Ramsey, vice president of the International Association of Machinists, wrote James E. (Doc) Wolfe, chief rail negotiator, last week asking for talks to reopen today.

The railroad machinists, electricians and sheetmetal workers have refused to sign contracts along the lines 13 other railroad unions signed with the carriers. The contracts provided for nine-cent-an-hour pay raises for each of three years.

Shipwrecked Man Lives Like Modern Robinson Crusoe

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—William F. Haas Jr., who lived like Robinson Crusoe for 30 days while shipwrecked on a tiny uninhabited island off southeastern Cuba, returns to civilization today.

Haas, of Philadelphia, was plucked from Mira Por Vos Island by the British frigate, H.M.S. Rothesay and transferred to the Coast Guard cutter Adrajane Saturday. The cutter was due here early today.

Mrs. Haas is scheduled to fly from Philadelphia to this island city to greet her husband.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the 52-year-old Haas "appeared to be in good condition, considering he's been shipwrecked for 30 days."

Haas was en route from Miajuana Island, British West Indies, to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands when "unfavorable" winds and seas "drove his 24-foot auxiliary sloop Mel O-Dee toward the small island about 70 miles from Cuba's southeastern coast."

The boat hit a reef off the island and sank Dec. 3, and Haas apparently lost the four-month food supply he had put aboard at Miajuana.

The search for Haas began Dec. 28 when his wife called the Coast Guard in Philadelphia and reported she had not heard from him since Nov. 30. At that time Haas wrote he was leaving for the Virgin Islands Dec. 1 and would telephone when he reached St. Thomas in about 15 days.

When a Coast Guard communications check of all the ports and docks in the Caribbean area failed to locate Haas, an all-ships bulletin was issued to O-Dee.

A Navy plane patrolling the Crooked Island passage last Friday reported sighting what the pilot believed to be a lone Cuban refugee on Mira Por Vos Island.

The Miami Coast Guard sent an amphibious plane to check the island, spotted the man, and dropped him a package of food and water.

Watson May Quit Party

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of two southern Democrats stripped of seniority in the House by his colleagues says he will quit the party rather than remain "a second class Democrat."

The statement was made by Rep. Albert W. Watson, D-S.C., in reply to action taken Saturday by House Democrats against him and Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., because they supported GOP presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater.

Williams said he would consider resigning from the party but he gave no indication of what his decision would be. An 18-year veteran of House service, he lost far more seniority than Watson, a two-year man.

Watson told the UPI that "the decision facing me now is whether to become a Republican or an independent." He said he would make up his mind, probably within a week, after conferring with constituents.

In a prepared statement, the two southerners said their punishment created "classes within the Democratic party." Watson, commenting on his own, said, "personally, I don't intend to be a second class Democrat."

"They are relegating us, as white southerners, to the kitchen where we get crumbs, while others are rewarded in the banquet hall," said Watson. "I can not remain a Democrat under these conditions."

English Prince Takes Bank Job

LONDON (UPI)—Prince William of Gloucester, a 23-year old cousin of Queen Elizabeth, went to work today as a $40-a-week bank trainee. It was the first time in the long history of the British throne that a royal prince had ever taken a commercial job.

Prince William is ninth in line for the crown.

The tradition that princes of the blood royal do not engage in trade is older than the Norman conquest. They are supposed to devote themselves to "public duties"—opening fairs, ingaving cornerstones, launching ships and serving as figureheads for innumerable civil and charitable organizations.

Search Started For Red 'Huks' By Manila Troops

MANILA (UPI) — The government launched a massive search today against Communist "Huk" terrorists in Pampanga Province, a principal center in the recent outbreak of anti-Americanism in this country.

About 2,000 troops moved into the province Sunday to hunt down Red "liquidation squads" blamed for a series of killings in Pampanga in the past two weeks.

It was not certain whether there was any connection between the renewal of Huk activity in the area and the anti-American outbreak, which included an attempt to bomb a U.S. Air Force elementary school.

The focus of the anti-American campaign moved today to Manila, where youth groups had obtained government permission for "peaceful picketing" outside the U.S. embassy to protest the killing of suspected Filipino pilferers on U.S. military bases in the Philippines.

Demonstration leader Primo Ross said the pickets would demand the recall of U.S. Ambassador William M. Blair Jr., who has been bitterly criticized for telling newsmen about the attempted school bombing.

The latest killing in Pampanga occurred on New Year's Day when three Huks who had surrendered to the government were ambushed and shot while riding in a jeep near Arayat. Mayor Eduardo Tiangco of Arayat had been shot and killed a week earlier.

Gen. Alfredo Santoy, armed forces chief of staff, ordered the troops into Pampanga. He said military intelligence reports indicate the Huks are trying "to disturb peace and order" during the campaign for the November national election.

Marriage to Minister Lousy Job for Wife

LONDON (UPI)—The 28-year-old wife of an Anglican minister said in an article published today by the church monthly Prism that marriage to a churchman is a "lousy job."

"Clergy ought to be celibate," said Brenda Wolfe. "No decent, right-minded man ought to have the effrontery to ask any woman to take on such a lousy job. It is thoroughly un-Christian."

She said that Russia appears to have beaten last year's target of 222 million tons and this year the Russians were confident of touching 242 million tons. All the announced long-term target of 1970 at 290 million tons "may have to be scaled down."

Communist Chinese production was unknown but PPS' own estimate was eight million tons although it may have to be revised later.
