Betancourt Visits JFK

Venezuelan In Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Venezuela's President Rómulo Betancourt, who has waged an uphill and winning four-year battle to show the way to peaceful revolution in Latin America, arrives in Washington today for two days of talks with President Kennedy.

Betancourt's jet was due at Andrews Air Force Base at 10:45 a.m. EST. from Puerto Rico, where he received the biggest warmest welcome Puerto Rico ever accorded a foreign visitor.

From Andrews, Betancourt was to be flown in a helicopter to the White House where the President and Mrs. Kennedy will welcome him, his wife, daughter and official committee.

The two presidents and their wives then will lead a seven-block parade from the White House to Blair House, where the Betancourts will stay. The White House said Kennedy added the parade to the reception to demonstrate his high regards for Betancourt.

Lunches With Rusk

After a lunch given by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Betancourt will return to the White House for the first of two private sessions with Kennedy tonight. Betancourt will be honored at a White House banquet.

Sources close to the Venezuelan chief executive said he will propose to Kennedy a more effective base for the Alliance for Progress, as well as discuss means of combating the threat of Fidel Castro in Latin America.

Betancourt's strategically vital nation on the Caribbean rim of South America — No. 1 supplier of oil and iron ore to the United States — has been a prime target of Castro subversion.

Two Teams Are Tied In CoC Drive

Team No. 4, headed by Dick Evans and Roy Webb, and Team 14, captained by Floyd Watson, were tied this forenoon in the contest for members in the Chamber of Commerce Membership Round-up with 215 points each.

In third place was Aubrey Steele's Team 13 with 285 points. Another check-in is scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday with the final check-in and deadline for contest purposes falling at 5 p.m. Friday afternoon. Loyal Davies, director of the campaign, reported the drive going well today.

A tentative budget which has been prepared by the executive committee of the chamber calls for a total of $40,122.50 to support the 1963 Program of Work. (Of this amount $2,400 is budgeted for office rent and utilities, $15,780 for salaries and wages for three full-time employees and one part-time employee, telephone, telegraph, postage, envelopes, printing and supplies is estimated at $3,500, subscriptions, directories, bonds, insurance, equipment maintenance, and box rentals is listed for $547.50, agriculture, livestock, and civic improvements is allotted $1,500, publicity, advertising, general information, and public relations $2,700, industrial development and research $6,500, aviation, highways, transportation and tourist development $1,150, education, safety, fire prevention, and junior college $1,000, oil and gas activities $2,000, legislative and national affairs $400, retail and wholesale trade development $1,000, general administrative and moving expense $1,700.

The tentative budget is merely a projection with the final budget to be made following the completion of the current membership drive. It was pointed out by the Executive Committee that the actual budget will be presented to the general board of directors for its approval at the next monthly directors' meeting which is scheduled for March 11.

Pampa Loses Toss In Bi-District Play

The Pampa Harvesters lost the toss at Vernon today which means the Pampa-Haltom City bi-district basketball game will be played in the Haltom City gym at Fort Worth.

Game time is 8 p.m. next Tuesday, Feb. 26. Three hundred tickets have been allotted to Pampa and they will go on sale here Friday at $1 for students and $1.50 for adults.

Coach Terry Culey, Athletic Director Weidon Trice and Supt. Jack Edmondson represented Pampa at the coin-tossing ceremony this noon in the Susie Que Cafe at Vernon.

Coach Ronnie Stevenson and Athletic Director Johnny Nobles represented Haltom City.

Coach Stevenson flipped the coin and Coach Culey called "heads." The coin rolled under a chair, but came up "tails."

Strategic Air Command Pulls Bombers As Nuclear Exodus Begins In Europe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Strategic Air Command withdrew several B47 jets from England last week in a preliminary to the planned general exodus of U.S. nuclear bombers from overseas bases.

This move came to light today as inquiry revealed that a difference of opinion may be developing between the Defense Department and the Air Force over how fast overseas bomber bases should be vacated.

Only a "handful" of the 600-mile-an-hour jet bombers were pulled out of England, but it was a forerunner of a big shakeup. The planes had been based at Greenham Common, one of four Strategic Air Command bases in England.

The withdrawal came as the London Daily Express claimed that Britain will become the main U.S. base for a new striking force of B-52 bombers. The newspaper said the bombers will be assigned to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) under the agreement between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan last December at Nassau. (America is to send a force of B-52 Stratofortress B-58s, according to Chapman Pincher, the newspaper's defense correspondent. He said the aircraft would be under command of Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, American NATO commander.)

Asks Greater Speed
Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's office has asked the Air Force to study the feasibility of speedier withdrawal of B47s from bases in England, Spain, Morocco, Alaska and Guam.

More than 100 planes now are kept on 15-minute alert at those bases.

The Air Force has agreed to leave its three Moroccan bases next July. But it believes that B47s should be kept on some overseas bases for two more years.

Under present plans, the whole fleet of aging B47s is to be junked by mid-1965. But it now appears doubtful that any will stay overseas that long.

A major shift in U.S. strategy stresses a fast buildup of U.S.-based Minuteman missiles and submarine-carried Polaris rockets. The bomber force will consist of 630 U.S.-based intercontinental B52s and about 80 of the B58s that can reach Soviet targets with in-flight refueling.

Hold Different Views
Overseas bomber bases will have rapidly declining importance in the Defense Department's view. The Air Force argument is that

Soviet Promises To Remove Several Thousand Red Troops

Troops To Be Out Of Cuba March 15

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union has informed the United States that it plans to pull out "several thousand" of its military forces in Cuba by March 15, diplomatic sources said today.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's intention to withdraw the troops was disclosed in a communication from the Kremlin received here Monday through Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

The Soviet promise gave no indication, what was meant by "several thousand" troops and it was said more specific information would have been welcomed by the Kennedy administration.

However, the promise was seen here as a useful and constructive move which would help lower some of the tension in the Caribbean.

The Soviet message sparked Monday Night's secret White House meeting at which President Kennedy told congressional leaders of the Russian promise. There are believed to be about 17,000 Soviet troops in Cuba, including 6,000 organized into combat units.

High official sources flatly denied speculative reports that Khrushchev might be seeking a parallel withdrawal of U.S. forces from some touchy point on Russia's boundary in return for removing his combat units from Cuba.

Reminder of Promise

Kennedy last week asked Khrushchev, through U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler, just when the Russians would honor their promise to pull their military forces out of Cuba.

A few days earlier, Secretary of State Dean Rusk took up the matter with the Russian ambassador here, Anatoly F. Dobrynin. He was told that the Soviet forces were in Cuba to train Cubans in the use of new conventional weapons.

The meeting between Kennedy and the congressional leaders touched off speculation of an impending development in the Cuban situation.

U.S. officials said later, however, that no major U.S. action or announcement was expected. They said this government contemplated no new action at this time—despite some demands in Congress for a new blockade of Cuba to force out the Russian forces.

STILL PLENTY ALIVE

ROSEBUD, Tex. (UPI) — Citizens are angry over a recent story in Time magazine, subtitled "The Train Doesn't Stop Here Any More," which said Rosebud typified small towns that are dying.

"The train does stop here," John Killgore of the Rosebud News said Sunday. "and we've got a pretty fair little freight business." He added citizens recently raised $14,000 cash to build a new swimming pool.

ALWAYS IN STYLE

LONDON (UPI) — First prize in a national bingo contest will be a ball gown fashioned of $14,000 worth of five pound notes by couturier Norman Hartnell, Queen Elizabeth's designer.

Bills Might Raise City Expenditures

Four bills now before committees of the Texas Legislature could increase annual city expenditures for Pampa's fire and police protection by as much as $57,540, Mayor E. C. Sidwell said today. Combined cost of fire and police department service has been budgeted at $308,885 for Pampa for this year. Passage of the four bills could boost this figure to $364,330, the mayor stated.

The mayor said figures used were supplied by the city manager and his staff and are as accurate as estimates can be.

Hikes in city spending would come under provisions of bills dealing with working hours, position classification pay brackets, longevity pay, and pensions, according to the mayor.

"Assuming that the city must maintain its present level of public safety services," Sidwell said, "the additional outlays for personnel pay and benefits which these four bills would impose would have to be met by cutbacks in other services or with new income. Neither is a pleasant prospect."

For example, the mayor said that reliance on the city's main income producer, the property tax and water revenue, would necessitate boosts, either in the tax rate or the valuations, sufficient to meet the added fire and police department costs. "For the City of Pampa," he said, "this could mean an increase of 13 cents per $100 evaluation."

The mayor reported that the estimate on prospective increases in costs was based on provisions of proposed legislation which would:

(1) reduce the maximum work week of firemen from the present 72 hours to 56 hours.

(2) allow firemen, by their own action, to increase contributions to their pension fund up to 8 per cent of salaries and require 9 per cent contribution by the city.

(3) increase longevity pay for firemen and policemen from the $2 per month per year of service (up to 25 years), as now required by state law, to $5 per month per year.

PRE-TALK CHAT — Wendell Watson, left, president of Pampa Classroom Teachers Association and Mrs. Bennie Shackelford, vice president, had a pre-program chat with the guest speaker, Delbert Downing of Midland, humorist-philosopher, at the PCTA Reception for Pampa citizens held last night in Robert E. Lee Junior High.

Schoolteachers Hosts "Violent Stress" In Public Reception

The Pampa Classroom Teachers' Association expressed appreciation to Pampa citizens for their support and interest in schools in a pleasant way last night at a reception held in Robert E. Lee Junior High School.

Gray and Roberts County Teachers' Associations were co-hosts for the reception.

Delbert Downing of Midland, who served as manager of the Chamber of Commerce there for 15 years, lived up to his billing as a humorist and philosopher with the first portion of his talk before the group resulting in shoulder-shaking chuckles.

Turning to a more serious mood Downing described the problems facing the teaching profession during the depression years. "When teachers were paid in script and more often than not children came to school hungry, through the war years, when school personnel included no male teachers, mothers entered war work and fathers went away and didn't return."

"It took a special kind of strength to teach during the war years," the speaker said. "Then with the advent of television, another special kind of strength was called for, when overnight children became 'experts' in certain fields, acquiring 'knowledge' that had to be erased and replanted with correct knowledge in the classroom."

"The 60's offer a challenge to educators that has never been known before. Technology in all fields moves so tremendously fast that knowledge is often outdated before it is actually grasped."

"But so far as I know, it is still safe to teach them integrity, love of fellow man, responsibility to other persons and their property; these knowledges are lasting.

"Students are working for their intellectual soul; teachers have a responsibility to help them find it. They also have the opportunity to open doors for students or to close them," the speaker stated.

Downing was introduced by E. O. Wedgeworth, Pampa Chamber of Commerce executive secretary.

Wendell Watson, president of PCTA, and Mrs. Bennie Shackelford, vice president, extended a welcome to guests.

Mrs. Louise Richardson, accompanied by Mrs. John Gill, pianist, sang two solos, "I Love Life" and "My Hero."

Following the program, guests were invited to the Lee cafeteria, where punch and coffee were served from twin refreshment tables appointed with white Damask cloths centered with an arrangement of Spring flowers. Mrs. Bill Ledbetter, Mrs. John Vantine, Mrs. Aubrey Jones and Miss Sybil Turner presided at the silver coffee and crystal punch service.

"Day Of Silence" Is Proclaimed At Lee

"Mum's the word" at Robert E. Lee Junior High School today.

Both teachers and pupils are bound to absolute silence until 3:30 p.m. today when a gigantic pep rally will be held in the gym immediately preceding the Lee-Borger basketball game that will determine the junior high district title.

School officials explained that this has been pre-announced so that most of the classroom work would be study or test assignments. If pupils or teachers must communicate, they explained notes will be passed or messages written on the blackboard.

Admitting that the teaching of English and language classes posed a problem, the school denied that sign language, smoke signals or wig-wagging was to be used, instead mimeographed study sheets were being passed out.

Asked what a teacher would do if a student started throwing spitballs or misbehaving, the official replied that there was very little of that sort of thing at Lee.

The ability of junior high youngsters to remain completely quiet for over seven hours at a stretch seems extremely difficult, but the official explained that the pent-up vocal feelings would probably make the rafters ring when the pep rally started and the youngsters were released from their deal-and-dumb status.

USSR Won't Move On Disarmament "Take It Or Leave It" In Geneva

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union refused to budge today from its take-it-or-leave-it stand on conditions for a nuclear test ban treaty.

American, British and Soviet disarmament negotiators gathered at a private lunch for what their spokesmen called a "social" meeting. It was their first joint meeting since the 12-nation disarmament conference resumed here last week after a two-month recess.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., who was present, told United Press International that it was a "fruitful discussion but there was no sign of any significant shift."

Humphrey's remark seemed to crush cautious hopes for some break in the nuclear deadlock that had been raised as a result of the lunch get-together.

Conference sources had said the meeting might lead to some breakthrough that would get formal negotiations going on a nuclear test ban treaty.

They said the Russians have asked the same group to meet again Wednesday at the Soviet delegation's villa.

One Key Reason Movies Are Skidding

The Movies: Then and Now (First of Three)

Editor's Note: The Hollywood movie industry, which has entertained the world for 50 years, has declined under the crushing impact of television. United Press International's Hollywood correspondent, Vernon Scott, tells of the rise and fall of the movies, a 20th Century extravaganza of glamour, high living and high profits. This is the first of three dispatches.

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There is one key reason motion pictures in this country have skidded from their grand days of boom.

You have quit going to see movies in favor of watching television. There was a time when you or your parents went to the "picture show" two or three times a week. Now you see a movie once a month—maybe.

The indifference has been reflected sharply by empty studio buildings and fewer movies.

Two movie studios have disappeared altogether, RKO and Republic. 20th Century-Fox produced four pictures last year compared with 37 in 1936.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer began 25 pictures in 1962 as against 45 in 1936. Columbia and Paramount film most of their pictures in conjunction with independent producers.

Universal-International has merged with Revue (a television power) and Warner Bros., while still in the movie business, depends heavily on video.

Gross As Much
Curiously, despite the problems, the gross has remained approximately the same for the past 10 years.

For instance, in 1961-estimated worldwide boxoffice receipts were $1,450,000,000, only some $50 million shy of the all-time high in 1946. The difference, of course, is in the net profit where costs have swelled movie-making beyond belief.

Fewer than one picture in five shows a profit. The result is fewer and fewer movies.

In 1936, the depth of the Depression, Hollywood reached its klieg-lighted heights, producing 521 full-length motion pictures. Last year, Hollywood made only 143 films.

The Association of Motion Picture Producers gave out 122 code approvals in 1962, and 33 of them were filmed abroad. Thus, only 87 pictures actually were made and approved in Hollywood.

In 25 years, then, the movies plunged from boom to struggle.

Give Many Reasons
Producers, directors, agents and stars (the people who control movies) give scores of reasons for Hollywood's malaise, explaining why former movie-goers have deserted their product.

Without doubt movies generally are better than ever, but there still are not enough good ones to fill the void. The blame is placed principally on television, along with night baseball, bowling, barbecues and increased book sales.

Genuinely good movies still reap fortunes—"Ben-Hur," "Bridge on the River Kwai," "Music Man" and "West Side Story."

If some movies prosper, why not others? It's a fair conclusion that Hollywood frequently misjudges the American public's tastes.

Some producers aim at a public that considers unsophisticated and naive. Some misjudge the public taste by grinding out pictures on homosexuality, rape, bastardy and other unsavory subjects in recognition of public maturity.

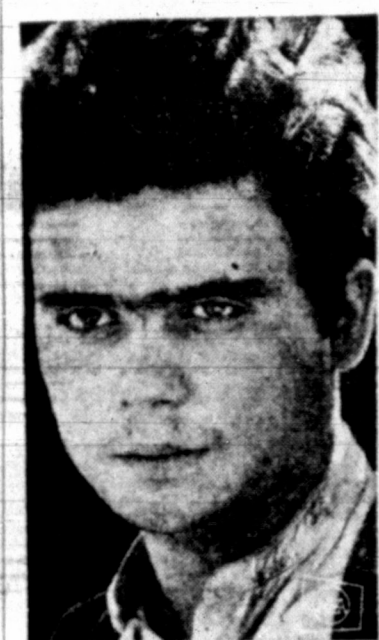

Portends Trouble
A harbinger of the trouble ahead was the development 11 years ago of 3-D and outsized screens calculated to overwhelm movie-goers with gimmicks and sheer magnitude. In a matter of a few years pictures went from sugarplum froth to dirty T-shirts in the name of art.

"Artistic control" demanded by actors and directors also has extracted its toll. Such giants as Louis B. Mayer (MGM) Harry Cohn (Columbia) and famed independent Sam Goldwyn controlled all in their day.

Artistic dictatorship evolved such financial adventures as "Cleopatra" and "Mutiny on the Bounty."

Million-dollar salaries and guarantees of profit percentages have added to the decline of movies. Most of the salary that stars earn goes for taxes, but they continue to seek higher wages and percentages, prodded by agents, some of whom gouge producers.

NEW FIND—Stathis Giallelis, a young Greek actor described as having the "hungry look" is the discovery of producer Elia Kazan. He will be starred in the forthcoming film, "America, America!"

The agent takes his 10 per cent (sometimes as much as 20 per cent) off the top. In a million-dollar deal he skims off at least $100,000, which is more than his client may take home after taxes and expenses. But unlike most producers, the agent doesn't plow his profit back into pictures.

Men Of Character
There still are many men of purpose and character who continue to emphasize good movies. Walt Disney, for example. And others who see a trend toward a movie recovery.

Says Edward Muhl, vice president in charge of production at Universal, "After a decade of rapidly changing conditions the motion picture industry once again is in a position to look forward to a bright future. We no longer need be unduly concerned about competition from television or foreign movies, two things that have plagued this industry for some years."

"Television is a different entertainment medium with which, we have learned, we can live successfully. The trend in production already has started swinging away from foreign countries and back to Hollywood."

Jack Karp, Paramount vice president, also foresees a brighter future: "There is every expectation things will improve over last year. There is no question people will come back in droves to theaters if we give them what they want."

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Practical politicians must admire the agility with which President Kennedy has egg-walked around the civil rights promises in the 1960 ballerina performance.

Candidate Kennedy's civil rights promises in 1960 won for him a massive Negro vote without which he would have lost a few states and the presidential election. Now he ignores his civil rights platform promises and gets away with it. It is a fact that the Republicans goaded the Negro vote in 1960. That does not diminish the solid substance of Kennedy's performance.

The performance has not ended. Nor is it now any less spectacular and successful than in 1960. Consider:

The Kennedy administration has proposed no legislation to make good on the specific civil rights promises of the 1960 campaigns. More, when liberal Democrats prepared 1961 legislation to effect those promises, the newly elected President killed the project.

Refused to Help
When Senate liberals moved last month to deal with the filibuster Kennedy refused to help. That killed that. And who is being angrily assailed now by Negro and left wing leaders as a filibuster-loving racist? Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is the whipping boy. And do the Negroes and lefties condemn the President for refusing to help their campaign against the filibuster? They do not.

Kennedy held that the filibuster rule was a matter of Senate determination without White House pressure. Yet, Kennedy twisted arms last month to re-jigger the House Rules Committee toward a membership more favorable to the New Frontier. And now it is the Senate's turn for some arm twisting. Kennedy wanted to add some friendly Democrats to the Senate Finance Committee. They would prevent Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., from cutting the giblets out of the administration's planned deficit approach to tax reduction and tax reform. Kennedy can risk ignoring his campaign promises on civil rights because he has other and effective ways of keeping Negro voters happy. He has no such alternative on taxes.

Favorable Action
Kennedy evidently believes he must get favorable action on his tax program or come up to his 1964 re-election campaign against a politically deadly unemployment situation. There is no political alternative for Kennedy. He must deal with unemployment — get the country moving again — or risk losing in 1964.

Kennedy's political alternative to civil rights legislation goes like this: The Oxford, Miss., spectacular, prominent and well-paid government jobs for Negroes; and keeping before the public the idea that Kennedy will name a Negro to the cabinet. He probably will do it, too. Also:

A group of young Negro university women (Delta Sigma Theta) recently met here for lunch. Kennedy dropped in as a surprise guest. That news picture went all over the nation. The President and Mrs. Kennedy hosted a White House Lincoln's birthday party. The news picture showed nationally known Negroes as honor guests.

This kind of dynamic politics is more effective with Negro voters than civil rights legislation. There will be more, much more.

What chance do Republicans have of winning the Negro vote from Kennedy in 1964? Not any!

Van Lines' Consultant Is Club Speaker

Bette Malone, moving consultant for United Van Lines of St. Louis, Mo., was the speaker at last night's meeting of the Top O' Texas Kiwanis Club.

Two new members were inducted into the club, Abe Conway, sponsored by George Darby, and Wesley Lewis, sponsored by Dr. T. J. Wright.

Visitors for the night included Malcolm Denison, Dick Stowers, Melvin Munn and Dr. T. J. Worrell, all members of the Downtown Kiwanis Club; Key Club member Ray Wagner; and, as guests of the club, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Evans, Mrs. Wesley Lewis, Mrs. Mack Harmon, Mrs. Bob Price, Doug Howard, Mrs. Bob Regan, Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Hutchinson, and Mrs. Paul Musgrave.

Miss Malone said, "We're living in a wonderful age, and there are more fantastic developments to come."

"Today our life is complicated and we experience the misery of many decisions, but it is still the best life in the world."

"We are a peripatetic nation of nomads, always on the go."

Some excerpts of thought from Mrs. Malone's address:

"Women are very important and influential in business today."

"All businesses have two common problems, finding good employees, and satisfying the demanding customer."

"There are basic rules for making our everyday human relationships easier and more profitable, our cooperation, attitude, enthusiasm, all of these can be summed up by the Golden Rule. The trouble with the Golden Rule is that before most people have gold in their heart and are ready to live by it, they have lead in their legs and silver in their hair."

"Mr. Alvin Goesser's capsule course in human relations is excellent. He represents the World Insurance Company and has this printed on his calling cards:

"The five most important words I am proud of you."

"The four most important words, What is your opinion?"

"The three most important words, If you please."

"The two most important words, Thank you!"

"The least important word of all, I."

Dear Abby....
"Judge Not... That Ye Be Not Judged"
 By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I helped at a church supper last evening and three other women were there, bustling about, in good health, trying to outwork each other. They ALL have mothers in the local rest home and claim they are unable to care for their mothers in their own homes. Is this Christianity today? Whom are they fooling? Surely not God! Those women nauseate me, and I couldn't partake to their hypocritical offering of food to help the Lord. Help the Lord, indeed! Neglecting their own mothers to go to a church basement and work harder than any cleaning woman. No amount of public slaving will cover up their sins of failing to care for their own mothers. May God forgive them.

DEAR OUTRAGED: I cannot know of all the reasons these women do not nurse their own mothers in their own homes. Not can you. Things are not always as they appear to be. "Judge not—that ye be not judged."

DEAR ABBY: When "Worried Hostess" inquired about how to handle a guest who didn't eat meat, I was delighted with your reply. "Pass the fruit and nuts to him." Being a vegetarian of long standing, I have encountered many such worried hostesses. Nature has provided us with plenty of goodies that man can eat and enjoy without eating meat. I know many nice people consider me "nutty," but I keep reminding myself of what Henri Barbusse said, "If someone sees something half an hour before the others can see it, he is 'nuts'—at least for that half hour." Yours truly, KARL

DEAR ABBY: I didn't mind when this certain person sent out birth announcements for her first baby, and even for her second, but since 1954 she has had seven children and I am getting very tired of her annual birth announcement because it means a present. She is a nice person, Abby, but enough is enough. Should I send her an anonymous complaint? All I can afford is a five-cent stamp.

CAN'T AFFORD HER
 DEAR CAN'T: The "anonymous" letter is a coward's weapon. Use the five-cent stamp to send her your congratulations and good wishes.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

I hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., for Abby's new booklet, "How To Write Letters For All Occasions."

Try-on hairdo is the best way to face the shears without tears. This model (left) first cut new hairstyles from magazines. Then she had an enlarged photostat made, held it to her face (center) to see how she would look in a short ear-tip hairdo. She models her new shorter style (right) from the try-on coil that flattered her most. Another approach would be to use a passport-size photo, cut out several hairdos about the same size and try them over photo.

Try-On Hairdo Best Way To Face Shears

By ALICIA HART
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Tired of looking in the mirror and saying, "That isn't the me I want to see"? It is time to take stock and work toward the image you want to create. Most often a new hairdo will do the trick.

During our busy schedules, many of us stick to a single hair style that has been our favorite for years. Be honest. Admit it has been your favorite because you feel you are too busy to try a new hair style.

Actually, your hair should not be cut in the same way for all seasons. The changes in temperature make your hair react differently. For example, in winter hair tends to be more flat. In warmer weather, your hair gets fluffier and your haircut should take advantage of this fact. Now is a good time to select a new hairdo for spring and do something about it.

Incidentally, the fashion prediction is to shorter hair lengths with more than a hint of ear. In addition, if you have been wearing your hair long, you may discover that you have not been playing up your features to advantage. You can find a new style with an at-home method of decision that is literally the same as cutting out paper dolls. Suggested by the Lilt Reference service and worked out by Julius Caruso, hair stylist, it consists of cutting out new coils pictured in magazines and matching them to your facial requirements.

This can be done by using a passport-size photo of yourself in a bathing cap. Place hairdo cut-outs on the cap to see how they might look on you. In the case of a full-page illustration, cut hairdo out and hold it over your head while you make a comparison in the mirror.

When you find a shorter style you especially like take the composite to your favorite beauty salon to show your stylist.

Caruso points out, too, that he cuts many styles to almost chin length and then urges his client to use a push button-type home permanent, leaving the waving foam on for 10 minutes. This provides sufficient body for the new loose, casual style.

If you feel that longer hair is more glamorous for evening affairs, don't back out on a shorter coiffure. With a flattering wig or hairpiece you can have a second personality as well as a cover-up on days when your hair is not as chic as it should be.

SCALP SAVER
 Nightly pinups can cause baldness. So try to have your hair cut in such a way that it will hold its set, without pins, curlers or rollers being used every night.

Colorful Natchez Topic For Forum

Twentieth Century Forum Study Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Sweeney, 916 Christine, with Mrs. Homer Johnson, president, presiding during a brief business meeting.

The program was presented by the hostess on Natchez, Miss. She recounted briefly the historical background of Natchez, named for the Indian tribe that inhabited the area, from the days of its erection on the bluffs of the Mississippi River through the Civil War. Having resided in Natchez for a number of years, Mrs. Sweeney gave personal accounts of life there and events that occurred during that time, which included the first pilgrimage through the homes of that city in 1932.

Quoting John Gunther in "Inside USA," Mrs. Sweeney said, "Natchez is a museum in several senses of the word, but the real story of Natchez is the story of its houses." Mrs. Sweeney illustrated her topic with colored slides of homes seen on the Natchez pilgrimage. Some of the houses pictured were the renowned Stanton Hall, Connelly's Tavern, Longwood and The Elms.

Other members attending were Mmes. Roy Bourland, Joe M. Daniel Jr., E. J. Dunigan Jr., William L. Ellis, James O. Harris, Frank Kelley, D. M. Lawrence, John B. McCrery, M. McDaniel, Arthur Teed, F. J. Vendrell, C. V. Winkinson and Bob Curry.

RUTH MILLETT

"It used to annoy me," writes a wife, "when my husband would come home from work at night and ask innocently, 'Well, what have you been doing all day?'"

"It seemed to me it ought to be obvious that I had been taking care of three small children, cooking, cleaning, making beds, washing dishes, washing clothes, ironing, and all the rest of the daily routine.

"Then it dawned on me that if every day I did just one small thing out of the ordinary, I'd have a better answer than, 'Oh, just the same old routine,' and the question would be welcomed, rather than resented.

"So now I plan each day to do something outside of the daily household chores. Maybe I pile the kids in the car and take them to a park or museum. I might read a few chapters of a new book while the children nap, or I might buy a plant for the yard and set it out. Perhaps I'll do some job for my husband that he hasn't had time to do for himself. Or maybe I'll hire a sitter and take off for a few hours, to shop leisurely or visit a friend or see a movie.

"The whole point is that each day I dreamed up something to do that will make today a little different from yesterday, and from tomorrow.

"This may sound rather foolish to women whose lives are filled with exciting things to do. But I believe many a housewife, tied down with small children as I am, will find that even such small 'adventures' will help to brighten her days.

"Come to think of it, maybe that is why so many husbands ask the homecoming question, 'Well, what have you been doing all day?'"

Maybe they hope that if they keep asking, their wives will finally get the idea that even a housewife doesn't have to stick to the same routine day after day after day.

Some words to the wise about wives (for men): "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett, Reader Service, in care of The Pampa Daily News, P.O. Box 439, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19 N.Y.

Pancake Supper Set By Episcopal Group

The Eighth Annual Shrove Tuesday Pancake Supper will be held on February 27, 1963 in St. Matthew's Episcopal Parish House, 727 W. Browning, Pampa, Texas. The event is sponsored by the Men's Club of the church with the assistance of both Junior High and Senior High Youth Groups. Pancakes with all the trimmings will be served by candlelight in a Mardi Gras atmosphere from 3 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Tickets will sell for $1 for adults and 50 cents for children 12 and under. They may be secured from members of the Men's Club, Youth Groups, Church Office or at the door. The public is cordially invited to attend. Proceeds will be used for youth work and church projects of the Men's Club. Prizes will be awarded to four persons selling the most tickets. A King and Queen will be crowned for selling the most tickets and will be awarded a cash prize. A Prince and Princess will also reign and will be selected from the next two highest ticket sellers. Each person selling ten adult tickets will be given one ticket free.

The history of the traditional pancake supper, which is held locally each year, goes back many centuries, when it was designated as a time to use up all the leaven in the house before the fasting discipline of Lent began. The custom of meeting in the church for a pancake supper grew and then every one attended service afterwards to confess their sins and to be assured of God's forgiveness. Shrove Tuesday is the last day before the beginning of Lent on Ash Wednesday. Its religious use from which the name was derived, means to be "shriven" or absolved of sin. The Mardi Gras developed from the simple congregational meeting. Clem Followell, general chairman has appointed various committees to handle the serving, mixing, cooking, and of course the task of washing dishes. The public is invited for supper on Feb. 27 at any time between 5 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The Lighter Side

A Test Of Concentration

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A season or two ago, Sen. Harrison Williams was instrumental in promoting a project to beautify the courtyard of the old Senate Office building.

As a redeveloped area, the courtyard made such an attractive greensward that nature-lovers around the Capitol wanted to call it a park and name it in the senator's honor.

When Williams, a New Jersey Democrat, got wind of this, he modestly protested that he was not entitled to all of the credit, and suggested that he share the honor with a clerk of the Senate Rules Committee.

The clerk's name being Gordon Harrison, the ideal thing would be to combine their names—and call it the "Harrison Williams Park," he said.

Williams' proposal suited Harrison fine, except for one thing. He favored using their first names so that it would be called "the Gordon Harrison Park."

Has Other Problems
Let us now proceed to the consideration of a more recent incident involving the senator and one of his constituents, actor-musician Leon E. Janney.

A few days ago, Williams, whose nickname is "Pete," got a letter from Janney complaining that the literature he received from the senator's office was improperly addressed.

Some of it, Janney reported, was addressed to "S. E. Jarrey" and some of it to "Leon M. Jarney."

"You can understand my distress," he added, "because as the stationery clearly states, my name is 'Grodnick Fasbinder.'"

In keeping with the spirit of the occasion, Janney addressed his letter to "Sen. Pete Harrison."

Williams, of course, hastened to apologize, saying he could not understand "how anyone could possibly interpolate the name of Leon Janney out of Grodnick Fasbinder."

Can't Understand It
There is no difference between a chess board and a checker board.

"Old at 40, 50, 60?" Man, Get Wise! Pep Up

Thousands are peppy at 70! So, if you feel weak, low in energy, "old" at 40, 50 or 60, quit blaming it on age. If you want to feel younger, try Oxtres Tonic Tablets at once. All as for debility, due just to rundown body. Lack of iron, the "below-par" feelings you may call "being old". Puts pep in both sexes. Try Oxtres to feel peppy, years younger. 8-day "get-acquainted" size costs little. At all druggists.

Gaudy Flashpan, but Leon Janney 1 just don't understand," he wrote. He assured Janney, or Fasbinder, that "as sure as my name is Harrison Williams" the mistake would not be repeated. The letter was signed "William Harrison."

In using that signature, the senator may or may not have been aware that there really is a William Harrison in Congress. He is a Republican representative at large from Wyoming. His middle name is Henry.

My purpose in relating all of this is to test your powers of concentration. Without peeking, how many of you can remember the name of the clerk mentioned earlier?

That's right—it's Gordon Flashback.

Fines Levied

Yesterday Mike Wilty of Twitty, Texas pleaded guilty to the charge of swindling with worthless checks. He was fined $5 and costs of court. Wilty immediately made restitution on the check, in the amount of $6.53.

vented a resumption of bargaining on a test ban thus far. Russia, the United States and Britain make up the nuclear subcommittee.

The lunch meeting came at a time when the neutral participants were preparing to move to mediate between the Soviet Union and the West in an attempt to break the impasse.

With the conference in recess until Wednesday, leaders of the eight neutral delegations held consultations aimed at a compromise which would serve as a basis for concrete East-West negotiations.

The nuclear issue has stalled the disarmament talks, which resumed a week ago after an eight-week lay-off. The Russians refuse to negotiate a test ban treaty unless the West accepts the Kremlin's terms on policing a ban.

The neutrals — Brazil, Burma, Ethiopia, India, Mexico, Nigeria, Sweden, and United Arab Republic — have voiced growing disappointment and impatience over the delay, and have decided to take a firmer initiative. They asked last week that the nuclear question be given top priority.

The neutralist initiative received some encouragement from favorable Western reaction to a U.A.R. appeal for compromise Monday.

McNamara was slated to brief the Senate Armed Services Committee on U.S. military strength and McCone had an appointment with the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Members of the House committee said they would ask McCone for his assessment of Communist subversion in Latin America, much of which stems from terrorists trained in Cuba.

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate armed services group, has said he hoped the Cuban controversy could be kept out of the defense hearings, but there was no assurance it would be.

Accent On Cuba
Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., said after the White House meeting that "the accent was on Cuba." He said the session included "a general intelligence summary" by McCone and an up-to-date briefing on Cuba and other foreign policy issues.

Mansfield described the conference as part of "routine" procedures followed by the President to keep congressional leaders informed on foreign affairs. The White House had no comment.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk joined in the White House meeting. Other congressional participants were Sens. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., John Sparkman, D-Ala., John Stennis, D-Miss., Lev-erett Saltonstall, R-Mass., George Smathers, D-Fla., and George D. Aiken, R-Vt., and Reps. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., John W. McCormack, D-Mass., Carl Albert, D-Okla., Leslie Arends, R-Ill., Carl Vinson, D-Ga., Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., Frances Bolton, R-Ohio, George Mahon, D-Tex., and Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich.

McCone was the second administration official called in the House subcommittee's three-week inquiry into Red subversion fostered by Premier Fidel Castro's Cuban regime.

As calculated by the city, the "hours" bill (H.B. 119) entails a potential hike in city expenditures of $36,180 a year.

The longevity pay boost required by provisions of H.B. 4 (same as S.B. 214) would amount to $21,265, in additional city funds the year after passage and an inestimably higher amount each year thereafter.

Pampa Golf Team Young, Promising

Pampa High golf coach Eural Ramsey, faced with a rebuilding job after three of his first five graduates last year, has some excellent prospects coming up from the sophomore and junior classes.

"I don't think we'll work any wonders this year," said Ramsey, "but with all these boys shooting in the low 80s, with a year or two of experience, we should have a real strong golf team."

The two returning lettermen from the team that finished fifth in district last year are seniors Bryan Prigmore and Freddie Howard.

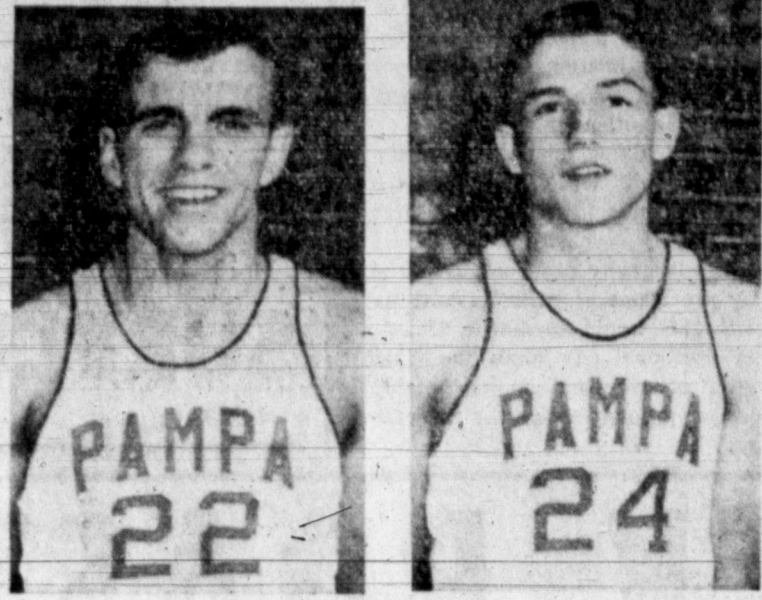

Prigmore, who shoots in the mid 70s, is expected to be the number one man this year. Howard, a steady 80 shooter, may face stiff competition from some of the underclassmen coming up as eight candidates for the starting quintet all are shooting in the low 80s.

One senior, Johnny Weatherly, is currently trying out for the team, plus juniors Bill McKinney, Jim Thompson and John Triplehorn and sophomores Skip Warren, Chuck Worley and Ronald Thompson.

Ramsey admitted that most of their opponents would have several players who could shoot in Prigmore's class, but that he felt that the juniors and sophomores coming up should be shooting in the 70s by next year.

The golf team opens March 1, when the Harvesters enter the two-day Sweetwater Invitational Golf Meet.

Following that, the locals host the first round of district golf here on Mar. 16 and play the second round at Borger Mar. 23. Mar. 29-30 is the week end of the Amarillo Relays, with the third round of district golf being held April 6, also in Amarillo. April 12-13, the Harvesters will enter the Andrews Invitational, with the regional meet in Odessa April 19-20, and the state meet beginning May 2 in Austin.

Eddie Gonzales Is GG Bantamweight Champion

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Eight of the best amateur fighters in the state of Texas won championships last night in the 27th annual state Golden Gloves tournament.

The new titleholders will represent Texas at Chicago Feb. 25 in the Tournament of Champions.

The lone area representative left in the state tournament brought home one title to console the Amarillo team as bantamweight Eddie Gonzales of Plainview won two fights last night to take the 118-pound championship.

Gonzales, state finalist last year, repeated his 1952 semi-final win as he punched out an unanimous decision over his semi-final opponent of last year, Mike Olivares of Houston, and then came back from a second round knockdown to beat Manuel Navarro of Waco for the title.

Claud Deavenport, an Arlington State football star, captured the heavyweight crown by battering Lynn Farr of Texarkana.

Houston's Charles Cordova won the welterweight title in the most controversial bout of the evening.

The judges penalized Cordova's opponent, Bobby Ragland of Dallas, for hitting Cordova while the Houston fighter was down. The announcement of Cordova's victory was greeted with a lusty round of boos.

Monday night's state Golden Gloves Tournament results:

 Faustino Coronado, 112, Dallas, def. Donald Jones, 112, Fort Worth (3).

Kreis, Swanson On Second Team

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor

Big Randy Matson was the only unanimous choice on the Pampa News' All-District 3-AAAA basketball team chosen Monday by the votes of the eight district coaches. Also making the first team were Danny Davis of Lubbock, Ronnie Peret of Plainview, Jim Hill of Amarillo and Carlton Jones of Monterey.

The coaches are, Terry Culley of Pampa, E. B. "Tex" Hanna of Borger, Johnny Ethridge of Amarillo, Max O'Banion of Lubbock, Gerald Meyers of Monterey, Bob Clendaniel of Plainview, Clarence "Ace" Parker of Tascosa and Tom Gilley of Palo Duro.

Each coach named a five-man starting team and a five-man second team, on the basis of 10 points for first team and five points for second team. Coaches did not vote for their own players.

Only switch in the voting was by coach Ethridge of Amarillo, who could not choose between Keith Swanson of Pampa and Carlton Jones of Monterey for the first team, so Ethridge voted a six-man first team and a four-man second team.

Matson was unanimously named by the seven coaches whose teams faced him as an All-District choice. Six of the coaches named him the outstanding player in the district and most felt that he definitely deserved All-State recognition.

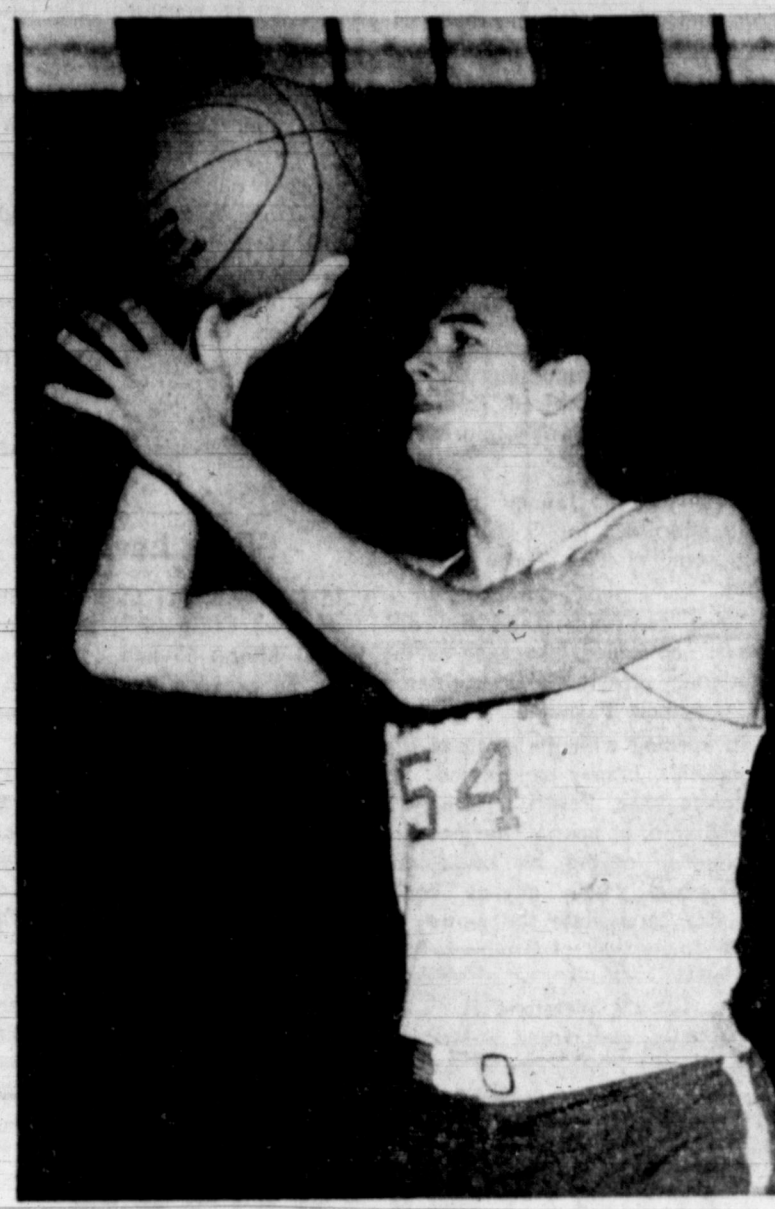

The 6-4½ Matson had also been an unanimous choice in his junior year, and been named second team all-district as a sophomore. The muscular "Pampa Monster" had been the outstanding rebounder in the league as he averaged 20 backward grabs a game. Against Plainview, the tallest team in the league with 6-8 Peret and two other players topping six-five; Matson in the first game had taken down 27 rebounds, more than the entire Plainview team combined.

In their final game, which gave Pampa an undefeated district season, Matson had taken down 14 rebounds and scored 15 points, hitting seven of 10 field goal attempts and holding the towering Peret to only nine points while blocking him off the boards as Harvester teammates Gary Sikes and Gordon Balch had picked up 18 more rebounds between them.

Matson averaged 10.9 points per game in district play. His average had been much higher as a junior, but this year he concentrated on getting the ball to Wayne Kreis, the district's leading scorer, and Keith Swanson, fourth high point man in the loop.

Davis, Peret Next
 Davis and Peret each had 60 points, Davis being named to the first team by six coaches and Peret getting five first team votes and two second team nominations. The six-one Lubbock senior was the ballhandler and playmaker for the Westerners, and was sixth in district scoring with a 16.0 average.

Peret, the 6-8 sophomore Bulldog, averaged 15 rebounds a game and was second in district scoring with a 17.0 average. He was the only non-senior on the first two teams.

NUMBER ONE — Randy Matson of Pampa, unanimous choice as the top player in District 3-AAAA.

Ohio State Set To Play Cincy

By GARY KALE
UPI Sports Writer

Ohio State, bearing a two-season grudge against top-ranked Cincinnati, held a key position today in anticipation of a revenge battle with the Bearcats in the 1953 NCAA college basketball tournament.

The Buckeyes, with the help of Gary Bradds' 31 points, remained in a first-place tie with Illinois in the Big Ten Conference race by subduing Michigan State, 87-77, Monday night.

Illinois snapped back from a two-game losing streak to defeat Purdue, 87-79, and stay in the running for a tournament berth.

Eight at-large teams, including third-ranked Loyola of Illinois, already have accepted invitations to next month's NCAA tourney.

The seven others who entered the 25-team field Monday are New York University, Colorado State, Texas Western, Oklahoma City University, Seattle, Oregon State and Utah State.

Accept NIT Bids
 The National Invitation Tournament (NIT) corralled three schools for post-season play—Miami (Fla.), Providence and Canisius.

Loyola starts tourney play at Evanston, Ill., March 11 against either the Mid-American or Ohio Valley Conference champion, while NYU faces another eastern at-large selection in a tripleheader at Philadelphia March 11.

Colorado State, Texas Western and Oklahoma City, as well as the Southwest Conference titlist, play in a doubleheader at Lubbock, Tex., March 9. Seattle, Oregon State and Utah State, along with the Western Athletic Conference champion, are grouped for a doubleheader. Date and site will be announced later.

Providence won the NIT in 1951.

Almost Counted Out
 Ohio State had almost been counted out as a potential rival for Cincinnati, which surprised the Buckeyes and Jerry Lucas in the NCAA championship round the last two years. And now that Cincinnati has had a 37-game winning streak snapped, the Bucks eagerly await a chance for a return match.

Bradds has kept the spark alive as the conference's leading scorer and the two Illinois losses enabled Ohio State to deadlock for the league lead.

Bill Small tallied 32 points for Illinois against Purdue. His 20 points in the second half helped overcome a 43-38 Purdue lead at intermission and seal fifth-ranked Illinois' 14th victory in 18 starts.

A stubborn Minnesota team stayed a half-game back of the Big Ten leaders as the Gophers received a 22-point performance from Mel Northway in beating Wisconsin, 77-48.

Loyola Snaps Back
 Third-ranked Loyola bounced back from a Saturday loss that cracked the Ramblers' unbeaten streak at 21 games by whipping St. John's of New York, 70-47, but ninth-ranked Colorado was knocked out of the Big Eight Conference lead when the Buffs were surprised by Missouri, 66-58.

UT Can Cinch Tie Tonight

By United Press International

The Texas Longhorns put their undefeated conference basketball record and a three-game league lead on the line tonight at Austin when they entertain Texas A&M.

A Longhorn win would put it just one game away from a sure tie for the Southwest Conference championship. Texas holds a 9-0 SWC record and the Aggies possess a 6-3 mark.

Texas could cinch a tie if Baylor obliges and beats Rice at Houston. Rice is a heavy favorite in that game.

In conference action tonight, Southern Methodist meets Texas Christian at Fort Worth and Texas Tech plays Arkansas at Fayetteville.

Volleyballers At Big Spring

Pampa High girls coach Mrs. Tom Chisholm reported that the Harvestettes Volleyball team will leave Thursday for the Big Spring Tournament.

Sixteen teams will be in the tourney, with Pampa scheduled to meet Imperial in their opener at 4 p.m. Thursday. Host Big Spring will enter their A and B teams, with Denver City, Andrews, Kermit, Seminole, Snider, Fort Stockton, Big Lake, Monahans, Crane Phillips, Lamesa and Colorado City also playing.

The Harvestettes were eliminated in the consolation semifinals of the Denver City 12-team Tournament last weekend. Pampa drew a first-round bye, then dropped a 12-9 opener to Plains, came back to take the second game, 11-6, but lost the third, 15-4.

Going into the consolation bracket, Pampa took two of three from Lamesa, 5-12, 3-15, and 15-8. They then dropped two straight to Andrews, 11-9 and 13-8.

Fort Stockton defeated Phillips to win the tourney, with Plains winning third place and Seminole defeating Andrews for the consolation win.

Pampa had scheduled a pre-tourney game with Phillips this week, but Phillips cancelled the game due to transportation and scheduling difficulties, reported Mrs. Chisholm.

Spikers for the Harvestettes at Denver City were Francine Foster, Janie Thompson and Gerie Ellich, with Ann Coyle as sub spiker.

Setups were Joan Preston, Loreta Minor, Elaine Thornburg and Helen Reed.

Bi-District Meet Today

The bi-district basketball game between Pampa and Haltom City will be played next Monday or Tuesday reported Harvester basketball coach Terry Culley yesterday.

Although the meeting between the two schools had been postponed as Haltom school superintendent W. G. Thomas Jr. has a been out of town, Culley reported that the UIL had said that the bi-district game must be played by next Tuesday at the latest.

Culley, athletic director Weldon Trice and school superintendent Jack Edmondson were scheduled to meet HC coach Ronnie Stephenson and athletic director Johnny Nobles in Vernon at 11 this morning to discuss final plans. The coaches will flip a coin for the choice of home court, as each would prefer taking the chance of playing on his own court to a neutral one, as well as the lessening of travel expenses for one of the two schools.

The officials will also discuss game referees and decide whether the game is to be played next Monday or Tuesday.

While the 3-AAAA and 4-AAAA schools are deciding their district plans, 2-4A champ San Angelo is still impatiently waiting for the El Paso teams to finish their round-robin so their bi-district game could get underway.

The El Paso teams in district One-4A are split into two zones, with Austin and Jefferson the leaders in one and El Paso High and Ysleta Bellaire in the other. The quartet started their playoffs last Friday at Texas Western Gym, are slated to play the second round tonight and finish-off this Friday, with Austin favored to meet San Angelo in bi-district.

The winner of that game and the Buff-Harvester game will then represent this area in the state meet.

Miners Maul West Texas

Texas Western, which Monday was picked to compete in NCAA post-season play then went to crush West Texas State 84-42 last night for a 16-3 mark, gets a chance to build its record at home Saturday night against New Mexico State.

The Miners, ranked in a tie for 20th nationally by the UPI Coaches Board, will compete in a doubleheader at Lubbock March 9 with Colorado State, Oklahoma City and the Southwest Conference champion, probably Texas, for berths in the Midwest Regional.

That Acknowledged Enigma, The American Woman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The average American female is about 39 years and one month old, five feet four and one-half inches tall and weighs 132 pounds of which she would like to lose ten. Experts are almost unanimous that her first interest in life is motherhood inside the framework of the tribal laws of our civilization — to get married and have a family. By all material standards the American woman is the most fortunate in the world and is the envy of her sisters in all other lands. Hair styles in London, Paris, Berlin and Buenos Aires are likely to change every time Miss Doris Day makes a new movie. European magazines and newspapers were crammed with pictures of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy even before her recent coronation as the world's best dressed woman.

American Women Best-dressed

American women, according to Women's Wear Daily, spend $11.4 billion a year on clothes. They spend $1.9 billion on shoes and $1.8 billion on things to daub on their faces and their hair. The result is that—Paris to the contrary—the American woman is the best dressed in the world. A half-hour devoted to girl watching at any sidewalk cafe in Paris will demolish the myth that French women are the most chic and best dressed. Great clothes are created in Paris, but they don't trickle down to the average woman who is likely to have run down heels and wear sweaters that don't fit. The women of Paris are a sorry sight compared with the trim, smart girls who swarm out of Washington's government buildings late each afternoon. New York's garment district on Seventh Avenue makes stylish clothes and at prices American girls can afford. Automation Takes Over The average American woman has more leisure than any other in the world. Automation has taken over in the living room and more especially in the kitchen. A research report prepared for the E. R. Wagner Manufacturing Co., of Milwaukee turned up the fact that the average housewife has 100 labor-saving tools or machines at her disposal. The maxim of the pioneers that "man's work is from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done" has gone by the boards. These days a lot of woman's work is done by pressing a few buttons and plugging in some machines. There are about 29 million American women who have jobs and the whole field of business, industry, politics and the arts theoretically is open to them. In practice, however, there are limitations on what women can do and how they shall be compensated.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
If ever a man would seem to have a lifetime job that man is William C. Foster, head of the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

Foster is a Republican who has spent a large part of his time doing important jobs for Democratic presidents and this week he resumed talks with the Russians in Geneva on world disarmament. The setting is the 17-nation conference on a nuclear test ban and disarmament, but for the 15 others present it is mostly a courtesy role with a vote to count only when or if the United States and the U.S.S.R. first reach agreement among themselves. If chances of success are to be measured in terms of progress over the last 15 years, then Foster's job truly is of lifetime duration.

Traedy of Age

This is a tragedy of the times because this very repetition leads to boredom and to a sense of futility. This in turn leads nations still not possessing the "bomb" to a belief that agreement never will be reached and that their only safety lies in their own ability to destroy. Occasionally attempts are made to recapture the urgency which the problem demands. One such attempt came in the wake of the Cuban crisis and for a time it appeared progress might be made. Nikita Khrushchev suddenly agreed to two or three inspections on Soviet soil each year to check suspected underground nuclear test blasts.

Announcement of Caswell's selection was made in Dallas at the annual Young Texan awards banquet honoring the eight Young Texan of the Month finalists, U. S. Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, featured speaker at the banquet, presented Caswell with the tri-sided trophy symbolizing outstanding leadership, citizenship and scholarship. The Troy V. Post Award is the highest youth achievement honor presented in the state, carrying with it a $2,000 college scholarship and an expense-paid, one week celebrity tour of Washington, D. C. for the winner and his father. The Young Texan program is co-sponsored by the Optimist Clubs of Texas and the Troy Post Foundation.

Plant Adjustment
NEW YORK (UPI) — Plants, like people, need several months to become accustomed to new environment. This is particularly true of the variety of tropical foliage green plants, so popular for year round indoor and outdoor decoration. To thrive best, foliage plants coming from the south should have a period of professional "climate conditioning" in northern greenhouses. Northern growers finish and harden tropical plants in porous red clay pots filled with proper local soil mixtures to enable them to adjust better to cooler climates.

About Public Officials And Public Meetings

House Bill No. 260, recently introduced down at Austin, is one piece of legislation that should go through both houses like a Panhandle jack rabbit with a 45-mile-an-hour tail wind.

Right now, the bill has been referred to the House State Affairs Committee.

H.B. 260 is an Act requiring that all meetings of the governing bodies of municipalities, county commissioners, boards of education and school trustees, and all other boards, commissions or organizations, except grand juries, supported in whole or in part by public funds or expending public funds, shall be public meetings.

Section 5 of the proposed bill points to "the importance of assuring that the public has the opportunity to be informed concerning the transaction of public business creates an emergency and an imperative public necessity that the Constitutional rule requiring bills to be read on three several days in each house be suspended, and this Rule is hereby suspended and that this Act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage."

The fact that this bill had to be introduced is a sad commentary on the actions of some public governing bodies in Texas.

There has to be a good reason why such a bill was presented. The only one we can think of is that somewhere in Texas some of the governing bodies have been holding secret meetings and star chamber sessions where the press and the public are barred.

When unannounced secret meetings of any kind are held by public officials in places other than the regular public meeting place to transact the public business, the public has a right to wonder why.

Why any official should ask the public to elect him and then, after he takes office, be unwilling to let the public (which elected him) know exactly what he is doing at all times about public affairs (for which the public is footing the bill) is something we never have been able to understand.

County commissioners, city commissioners, school district trustees, or any other governing body supported by taxpayers' money have no right, moral or otherwise, to withhold from the public any information concerning the transaction of public business.

And, to try to get around transacting ALL of their business in full view of the public eye under the guise of adjourning and going into so-called "executive session" is one of the oldest forms of worn out political chicanery.

Any city commission, county commission district board of school trustees, or other public governing body that employs tactics like that or similar to it, is not shooting square with the public which put them in office.

There must be evidence that this kind of business is going on in Texas or H.B. No. 260 would not have been introduced.

There is no reason for any truly dedicated public official who has the public's best interests at heart to "run scared."

Every newspaperman knows that there are some public officials who believe reporters should be barred from public meetings. They claim that the report of the meeting is "slanted," that their "quotes" are "twisted."

News reporters who do that will not last very long. A news reporter guilty of that charge should be publicly exposed with factual proof of his violation of the public trust.

And by the same token, public officials who try to hide their transaction of public business at behind-the-scenes meetings in out-of-the-way places should be brought to account for their violation of the public trust.

Like Section 5 of H.B. No. 260 says: "The importance of assuring that the public has the opportunity to be informed concerning the transaction of public business creates an emergency and an imperative public necessity..."

Why not write your representative and senator at Austin and tell them you want this bill passed? You will find their names and addresses elsewhere on this page.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

Many Cuban refugees arriving in Florida during the past year were victims of Castro's black market money changers. A large amount of counterfeit United States $20 bills as well as $100-bogus notes were found on the exiles and seized. All the counterfeiters had been previously traced and were of Havana origin. This exchange of pesos for spurious American money is one of the tricks the Bearded Dictator uses to strip the refugees of their savings. Before leaving Cuba all exiles must give up their homes, businesses, automobiles, securities and other property, which are confiscated by Castro's gang. About all they are allowed to take out of the country is the clothing on their backs.

Social parties and political gatherings with all their sparkling gaiety are usually over in the Nation's Capital about 11 p.m. and by midnight the town really closes up. Most Washingtonians work for the government and begin their day's activities early. A man's hat initialed "J.F.K." was found in a Washington Hotel recently and created some excitement until an attendant remembered the President rarely wears a hat, even in cold weather.

A Texan writes us that Washington, D.C., has appropriated Philadelphia's famed old motto: "The City of Brotherly Love." Natchitoches, La., founded in 1715, is the oldest town of the Louisiana Purchase. If you could shout loud enough, it would take your voice 18 hours to go from Boston to Sydney, Australia. Radiotelephone covers the 14,600 miles in 1-3 of a second.

Today's favorite gag: LITTLE BOBBY (a city boy) — "I found a horseshoe this morning." MOTHER — "Do you know what that means?" LITTLE BOBBY — "Sure. It means that some horse is running around in his stocking feet."

The trading stamp epidemic which has covered the country had us thinking about stamps some merchants issued about seven or eight years ago that were redeemable for almost any type of a vacation, including trips to Bermuda and the Caribbean. Wonder what's become of them? Here is the silliest silly of the year now making the rounds in teen-age circles: Why do elephants have flat feet? Answer: From jumping out of trees. "The hotels have certainly cut into the regular hotel business. Late figures show a nationwide occupancy rate of 82 per cent. It pays to advertise: About 8 years ago we visited Colombo, Ceylon, and gave our card to A. S. Mawata, a travel agent. The other day we received a delayed holiday greeting from him on a useful refrigerator for our desk. It reads: "Please do not blot me out during the coming year."

Considerable discussion is going on in automobile manufacturing circles about making seat belts standard equipment on the 1964 or 1965 models. We cannot understand why manufacturers hesitate because the public is becoming vastly aware of their importance in protecting lives. Only the other day two friends of ours were in automobile accidents. One is alive — he had his seat belt fastened — the other is dead because he lacked the safety device.

The passing of Robert Frost, America's foremost prize-winning poet, called to mind the special Christmas Season poems he and his daughter, Lesley Frost, also a fine poetess in her own name, sent out each year. The greetings were beautifully hand-painted in a small booklet. They have been collectors' items for some years because of the quality and his hand-written signature.

There's no danger in just sniffing the flower, but the ordinary lily of the valley contains minute quantities of the most powerful heart poison known. Some alligators grow as many as 40 sets of teeth in a lifetime — and what teeth! I'm Keeping An Eye On The Smoke —

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "Sometime ago J. D. T. asked the question 'If President Kennedy has made an agreement not to invade Cuba, are the American people and the Congress bound by it?'"

Your answer was under the concept of the Declaration of Independence, governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, and under a strict interpretation of the Constitution the President has no power to make any international agreements.

"J. D. T. suggested as long as we, the people, are not aware of the secret agreements, we are not responsible. (1) Did you agree on this point 'that, what we don't know we cannot be bound?' (2) Isn't it our responsibility as individuals to be aware?"

"(3) To understand Natural Law, one must understand cause and effect?"

"(4) We are confronted with having our very lives dependent on the whims of two totally irresponsible men, what is the cause?"

"(5) We are the total effect of the secret agreements made by Kennedy and Khrushchev, what is the cause?"

Answer: Our statement was that under strict interpretation of the Constitution, the President has no power to make an international agreement unless with the advice and consent of the Senate.

1. We did agree that one cannot legally be bound by commitments made by an official who does not design to inform the individual. Morally, we question if one person can make a commitment for another individual who is not a party to the agreement.

2. It is each individual's responsibility to inform himself to the best of his ability. He should not be expected to be a mind reader, however.

3. Yes.
4. The cause of having our lives dependent on the whims of irresponsible men, in our view, is Editor: Recently we have been hearing glowing reports of the coming visit to this country of Romulo Betancourt, President of Venezuela, the "anti-Communist" and "friend" of the United States.

Chet Huntley of NBC, among others, made statements to that effect just the other night. It must be the "official" line.

The strange thing, though, is that several facts concerning Mr. Betancourt were not mentioned.

When Betancourt was a young man he was expelled from Venezuela for agitation of the radical sort. And this was from his own country. In the early and middle nineteen thirties he was the leader of the Costa Rican Communist Party. He resigned from the Party, however; returned to Venezuela and organized the "Democratic Action Party," an alleged socialistic and left-wing group, but claiming no ties to Communism.

It should be remembered here, though, that in 1931 Betancourt had written, "We can introduce Lenin and Stalin to these people by using vaseline. We can build up a passionate hatred of private property and a vital active determination to get rid of the capitalist system. We can do all this without using that word which reeks of sulphur and brimstone, 'Communism.'"

I believe this little gem is enough.

For background material for the next little item we must recollect that in 1947, Gen. Marshall announced the so-called "Marshall Plan," presumably to bring about more rapid recovery of the European economic situation. Going right along with it, the Communists took an increasingly anti-American course.

Key figures of the Conspiracy flocked to Bogota in Colombia with the idea of wrecking the Ninth Inter-American Conference which was to be held there in 1948. Quantities of arms were smuggled into Colombia from Venezuela by that "Democratic Action" bunch previously mentioned. The uprising, led by known World Communists, took place on April 9, 1948, following the assassination of Jorge Gaitan, a Liberal leader who had refused to take part in Betancourt's plans for a revolution in Colombia.

Right about here is where our old friend, Fidel Castro, the George Washington of Cuba, began to emerge in a serious fashion. He and a partner of similar character had arrived in Colombia about a week before. Incidentally, their trip was financed by Juan Peron of Argentina. Also, Castro had been given a warm recommendation by Betancourt while stopping in Venezuela on the way to Colombia. This was Castro's first real part as a Communist insurrectionist.

The important thing now, of course, is the connection of Betancourt with Castro and the uprising in Bogota.

The whole thing raises the question — why is the image of Betancourt being projected now as an anti-Communist and friend of the United States? I do not believe in quick conversions. We have been played for suckers so many times that it borders on the ridiculous.

'GRASS ROOTS'

Why Worry About the Roots of Grass?

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

A mythical segment of the population called the "grass roots" have received an unreasonable amount of conversational attention during the past few years and to no good purpose. I suppose digging up the roots to see if they are attached to grass is a typical preoccupation of politicians. After the roots are examined and a hearing held, some roots are found to be attached to grass and some to weeds but in any event, all of the roots are left unrooted to die and wither. In the meantime a lot of people are busily attempting to solve the problems of the world, individual countries, their own country, their state, city, town or village.

What about your block? Even more important, what about your own family and your own home? Sure, I know all about it — let's cure the ills of the next block and so on and so on to all of the world but let's not bother about the things to which we can give our own personal and individual attention.

A couple of months ago I received a book from a man I have never met. Two previously received letters and another which was tucked inside of the book did an influential job on my thinking. The author asked me to endorse his book. His approach was positive and he was certain I would find his literary effort entirely compatible. He also wanted the endorsement just as soon as possible and I was busy, too busy to sit down quietly and give the book my full attention. I glanced at a few pages and was favorably impressed. I thought about writing the endorsement, getting it out of the way and reading the book carefully later but the habits of becoming more and more self-responsible get a tight hold. I glanced at a few more pages and noticed a mention of four names, then I read the entire sentence, then a paragraph and that did it. I put aside my work and began to read the book, cautiously making notes as I read. I finished one chapter and quickly wrote my refusal. My reason for haste was obvious — I didn't want the author to imagine that his book and the thinking behind it could be even faintly compatible to me.

I faced a fact: In my rush to write columns and attend to a heavy correspondence about the philosophy of freedom and the responsibilities of free men and free women, I almost forgot my own responsibility, in my own office in connection with my own business. A subsequent letter from the author provided me with an excellent illustration of the kind of a mess I would have found myself in if I had forgotten that the responsibilities of freedom begin with each, individual person. The author is a good writer and very clever. He begins a paragraph denouncing socialism and winds up full of praise for socialized TV and radio in Great Britain and elsewhere. He pats private enterprise on the back, then cuts its throat and does another nice job on the Constitution, not to mention the Declaration of Independence.

The other day I took my 38 out to the dump for a little target practice. There were plenty of tin cans and old bottles and most of them were intact when I left. I returned to our apartment and started to hang up the gun before cleaning it but decided not to become irresponsible while writing about responsibility. At 3 o'clock the next morning I was awakened by a heavy pounding on the door and when I picked up the 38 before opening the door, I was glad to know the gun was clean and loaded. The door pounder just wanted information.

And tomorrow there will be a man who will want me to join a group to present a petition to government begging government for something government cannot provide until it steals from others. And the day after another man will suggest that we get together and buy some land 200 miles from here where we can get rich not growing cotton.

How are things going in your family, in your home and among your closest friends or relatives? Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

'Amusing' Tid-Bits Culled From Congressional Record

By ED DELANEY

The Congressional Record is not usually put in the same classification as the Sunday comic pages, but Record No. 1, of the new 88th Congress contains more amusing tid-bits than are culled from the comments of Caroline Kennedy, on that opening day of Congress, 381 resolutions or bills were introduced in the House. A number of them will never get past the first convenient waste basket. In that category is H. R. 113, introduced by Rep. John Rhodes of Arizona. It would require that not less than $2 billion of the President's annual budget go toward retiring the national debt. Rhodes is one of those "reactionary" Republicans who fails to realize that when charging toward the New Frontier there can be no thought of debts. We must just keep on charging.

Rep. Frank Burke, (D. Mass.) has the nation's economic interest at heart, as is to be expected from the state that has contributed so much toward the national welfare, such as the Kennedy trio, Harvard and baked beans. Burke's bill (H. R. 47) would suspend the import duty on cork stoppers. What an impact that will have on our American way of life. For years, perhaps for decades the average citizen has been hoping that the import duty will be removed from cork stoppers, and every home can afford one. No longer will the host be obliged to keep a finger or thumb in an opened bottle until the guests are ready for re-fills. Trust those guardians of our heritage in Massachusetts to do something for the common man.

"Billy" Matthews, (D. Fla.) also has the citizens' interest at heart. His bill, (H. R. 101) would extend for two years the "definition of peanuts." He does not mean those congressional appropriations of a couple of million dollars here or there, which are regarded as "peanuts" by professional politicians. He means the kind which the dictionary defines as "under-ground growing fruit." Of course onions and garlic are also under-ground growing fruit but of a more pungent flavor. Congress and the Agriculture Department must establish, for two years at least, just what peanuts are. What will happen after two years is another matter.

Rep. Lindley Beckworth (D. Tex) is an optimist. His bill H. R. 200, would authorize Congress to have the Postal Department print post cards of a distinctive color for non-business messages at the postage rate of 1 cent. What chance does that have, just when the postmaster general jipped the cost of a post card from 3 to 4 cents? Even if Jacqueline Kennedy, acclaimed as a color designer, were to create a distinctive stamp, Postmaster General Day would probably veto it at the behest of the same pressure groups that approved the Christmas stamp.

In H. R. 434, J. Arthur Younger (R. Calif.) has proposed a puzzle. He would have Congress create a department of "Urbiculture" and "prescribe its functions." Before prescribing such functions it would seem to be essential to know what is an "Urbiculture"? We know something about agriculture, horticulture and Harvard culture, but do we have to get involved in some new kind of culture?

R. H. Gross, (R. Iowa) introduced H. R. 144, which, if passed, would stipulate that federal expenditures shall not exceed federal income, except in time of war or of great national emergency. That resolution will never get out of committee, because some Republican would undoubtedly make the indiscreet remark that we are in a "national emergency" and have been since the presidential inauguration of 1961.

James Utt, (R. Calif) and Bruce Alger (R. Tex) introduced resolutions that are identical. They ask that we "rescind and revoke membership of the United States in the United Nations and the specialized agencies thereof."

If by some miracle that could be brought about by the 88th Congress, the benefits to the United States would counter-balance the harm we might suffer by the passage of many other bills. But is there such a possibility? Question.

Better Crystal Balls---

Open season on weathermen is rapidly coming to a close. While they still occasionally stick their necks out — and get them lopped off by a watchful public-weatherman can look forward to the day when wrong forecasts will be virtually nonexistent.

Latest straw in the wind is the U.S. Weather Bureau's announcement that a new system is being tested that can measure rainfall as far as 100 miles away.

When in operational use, the device, called a "radar precipitation integrator," could provide instantaneous measurements of precipitation at many points over a broad area. The measurements would be used in modern computers to prepare substantially improved river and flood forecasts.

What with radar, electronic brains, satellites, sounding rockets and all the rest, we may have to change the expression from "right as rain" to "right as the weatherman."

THE AMERICAN WAY

The Fatal Consequence

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Tuesday, Feb. 19, the 50th day of 1963 with 315 to follow. The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning star is Venus. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history: In 1878, Thomas Edison received a patent for his invention of the phonograph.

In 1941, radio Berlin's propaganda division short-waved an appeal to the United States to send messages collect to Germany. More than 1,000 Americans responded, most of whom were highly critical of the Nazi regime.

In 1945, U.S. Marines landed on Iwo Jima, beginning a bloody World War II battle for the Japanese-held island.

In 1962, French and Algerian negotiators agreed on terms of a truce to end the long Algerian civil war.

Little Girl Is Proud Of Her Convict Fathers

(Editors Note: People who think of state prison inmates merely as makers of license plates and planners of escapes fail to see some of the things a man can do while serving his time. Here, in the words of C. H. Smith, editor of the "Echo," inmate newspaper, is the story of Texas Prison's adopted "Child," Giuseppina Piga.)

By C. H. Smith
Written for UPI
HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—Ten-year-old Giuseppina Piga of Alghero, Italy, has had a life of sorry and tragedy.

Giuseppina's father died when she was a baby and mother Piga was forced to provide for her son and daughter and an ailing grandmother.

Later, in 1961, the Foster Parent People of New York became aware of the situation and put the information about Giuseppina on their adoption bulletin. From nearly halfway around the world came an unusual response. Two thousand Texas convicts found the appeal on the nearly orphaned little waif an echo of their own bereavement.

Their only doubt was, would they be accepted? Would the Foster Parent Plan think that a bunch of convicts were suitable "parents" for one of their children? Would the little girl be ashamed to acknowledge them?

Collecting Money
But the arrangements were made much easier than they thought. Then came the tough part of collecting the initial payment of $360 from a group of men who, for the present, were almost charity cases themselves.

When collection boxes went out, they drew some scrip (prison equivalent of money), and other items such as toothpaste. These were re-sold and the proceeds transferred to the Inmate Welfare Club, formed to handle the transaction. They had enough to make the first payment and to provide a little extra for gifts.

The little girl's first thank-you letter was a touching combination of formality and sadness.

Painful reminders of their own children or their own childhood awakened many hearts growing cold from long imprisonment.

Touching Letter
"I am 8 years old and do not have a father," she wrote. "I like arithmetic... you are so kind to help me... with regards and a kiss... I hope I haven't annoyed you."

The inmates responded with words of comfort and good-faith advice... "pay close attention to your teacher... don't forget to say your prayers... help your mother."

Does Giuseppina mind being the "daughter" of these men?

"I am so proud to be your daughter and would like that this letter will bring you all my joy," one of her letters says.

PENSIONED AT 32

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI)—Carpenter Leslie Cox, 32, has been pensioned by the parks department at a salary of $8.40 a week for the next 33 years whether he works or not.

Cox was an employe for 14 years before it was learned he was allergic to some kinds of wood. The pension was decided on when the department failed to find him another job.

THE DEPENDABLES BUILT BY DODGE!

GO FOR THE BIG, STRONG, SILENT TYPE?

TRY THIS ONE

Most people think of Dodge as a medium-price car. Because it has been for many years. Because it's big. Almost 18 ft. long. But in spite of its bigness and tradition, the 1963 Dodge is a low-price automobile. This year, for instance, if you can afford a Chevy, you can afford a Dodge. Understand, we are not talking about a special model. There are 24 models, in 3 series, all in the low-price field, all with a five-year/50,000-mile warranty*.
