

U.S. Launches Two 'Astro-Robots' Successfully

ALVIN B. WEBB Jr. — U.S. Gemini capsule carrying two "astro-robots" successfully leaped halfway across the Atlantic Ocean today and signaled a go-ahead for an attempt to hurl two astronauts into orbit around April or May. A powerful Titan-2 rocket blasted off at 8:06 a.m. CST and hurled the bell-shaped payload more than 100 miles into space.

About 20 minutes later, the capsule blazed back through the atmosphere and rode a giant red and white parachute to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean about 2,150 miles east-southeast of Cape Kennedy. Recovery forces rushed to retrieve the space capsule. The apparently flawless flight opened the door at last to long-delayed plans to launch Astronauts Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom and John W. Young on Gemini's inaugural three-orbit manned flight. The spectacular flight also preserved, for the time being at least, hopes that the $1.3 billion Gemini program will be permitted to launch its 10 two-man flights by early 1967. The project, already 1½ years behind schedule, faced the threat of cutbacks due to delays. Today's flight, witnessed by Grissom and Young and 10 fellow astronauts, apparently performed to perfection from the fiery liftoff at Cape Kennedy to the capsule's safe landing in the Atlantic about 40 to 50 miles from the aircraft carrier USS Lake Champlain.

An airplane spotted the black capsule afloat on the waves. Helicopters and recovery ships rushed to pluck it from the ocean and return it to Cape Kennedy.

NEW CITY MANAGER — Mayor H. Raeburn Thompson, left, smiles approval as James W. White of Tulia, center, is welcomed at today's city commission meeting as Pampa's new city manager. The welcome is being extended by Acting City Manager R. B. Cooke who will serve until White takes over Feb. 15.

Tulia Man Appointed To City Manager Post

Hubert, Governors In Inaugural Spot

James C. White to Take Office Feb. 15

James W. White, city manager of Tulia for the past six years, today was appointed city manager of Pampa. The city manager will begin his duties here on Monday, Feb. 15.

The announcement was made by Mayor H. R. Thompson at the beginning of today's city commission meeting in city hall where White was introduced publicly for the first time. It is understood decision to hire him was finalized at a meeting of the city commission Sunday in the Chamber of Commerce conference room in the Hughes building.

White was the successful candidate among a half dozen other applicants for the job including city managers of other Texas cities and one local applicant. White is 32 years old. Other members of the family are his wife, Sylvia, and two children, Stephanie, two and a half years, and James Clayton, two months.

White was employed at a salary of $1,125 a month, or $13,500 a year, plus $125 a month allowance for his own car, and memberships in national and state city managers' organizations.

Former City Manager Harold Schmitzer, who retired Jan. 1, was paid $12,000 a year plus the extras. White was born in Tahoka, Texas, and is a graduate of Texas Technological College at Lubbock where he studied public administration, specializing in municipal government.

While working on a master's degree at Tech, he was appointed administrative aide for the City of Lubbock. He served in that capacity for one year. In 1957 White was named administrative assistant to the Lubbock city manager. He remained in that post until his appointment as city manager of Tulia in 1958.

White and his wife are members of the First Methodist Church in Tulia where he has been active in various civic and professional organizations. The new city manager has served as secretary of Region II of the Texas Municipal League, director of the Texas City Managers' Association, president of the West Texas Municipal Electric Association, vice president of Mackenzie Water Authority, director of Kiwanis International and vice president of Toastmasters International.

After being welcomed to Pampa by four members of the Downtown Businessmen's Association who attended today's commission meeting, White posed for a news photographer as he received the city's official welcome from Acting City Manager R. B. Cooke and Mayor Thompson.

Cooke, who is Pampa's public works director, will continue as acting city manager in the interim until White takes over on Feb. 15. White notified Tulia city officials yesterday of his resignation to take the Pampa post.

Members of the association committee attending today's commission meeting included Ray Duncan, chairman; Joe Tooley, Preston Fowlkes and J. C. Roberts. Duncan told the commission the association was urging immediate action to get the study made preliminary to the election of a charter commission which would draw up a city charter to be presented to city voters.

Commissioners discussed the possibility of getting the study completed and presenting the charter commission election along with the regular municipal election on April 6 when a mayor and four ward commissioners will be elected. Votes on charter changes can be made only every two years. Pampa's two-year period will expire on Jan. 31 after which a charter election can be called.

Other business transacted at today's meeting: An ordinance amending the City Traffic Code to permit installation of additional "stop" and "yield" signs and providing for new through thoroughfares east-west and north-south was given final passage. An ordinance establishing Social Security coverage for Pampa's city firemen was declared an emergency and passed.

Raymond Bryant was appointed as the master electrician on the Board of Electrical Examiners and David Tucker, Harry McWaters and Johnny Quarles were reappointed for two-year terms on the board. Five members also were named to the City Planning and Zoning Board. They are Floyd Imel, chairman; Tom Snow, Weldon Haynes, John Lee Bell and Jim Brown.

In another item of business the commission gave its approval to an audit of city books.

School Carnival Set To Help Raise Funds
The annual all-school carnival to raise funds for the foreign exchange student program at Pampa High School will be held Saturday in the school cafeteria. Each home room club or activity at the school is requested to construct some sort of game booth.

Employment in City Sets Record

Employment in Pampa during 1964 reached an all-time high while unemployment claims dipped to an all time low, according to year-end reports from the Texas Employment Commission office in Pampa.

During 1964, there were 2,385 jobs filled in Pampa as compared with 1,696 in 1963 and 1,798 in 1962. The '64 figures also greatly exceeded years previous to 1962.

Unemployment claims at the local office were at a record low during 1964. During the year there were 1,816 claims filed as compared with 2,074 in 1963 and 2,113 in 1962.

The unemployment figures were also lower than for any previous year. Bill Ragsdale, manager of the local office, said he attributed the record figures to an exceptionally good all-around business climate in Pampa. Ragsdale said when business is good the employment and unemployment figures usually correspond and when the figures indicate

Special Prayers Said by British For Sir Winston

LONDON (UPI) — Britain prayed today for the greatest Englishman of the times. Prayers for the fading Sir Winston Churchill were offered throughout the British Isles as the old statesman lay near death from a stroke.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey, primate of the Church of England, called upon his countrymen to offer their prayers for the 90-year old Sir Winston as he approaches death.

Affairs of state were slowed by the old warrior's fight for life. Wilson Cancels Trip

Prime Minister Harold Wilson postponed a planned three-day official visit to West Germany because of Churchill's illness. Earlier, he put off a parliamentary statement on his economic plans and a television broadcast—both planned for today.

Parliament itself convened this afternoon after its Christmas recess with a special prayer for Sir Winston's recovery. But special celebrations scheduled Wednesday to mark the 70th anniversary of Parliament were cancelled in deference to the man who rallied his countrymen to victory after their darkest hour of near defeat in World War II.

The boys at Harrow, Churchill's old school, offered a special prayer for the most distinguished alumnus.

Rocket Launching Subs to Play New Strategic Role

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's decision to develop the super-accurate Poseidon missile foreshadows a major new strategic role for the Navy and its rocket-launching submarines.

It also may help to explain why the Air Force's Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile force will be held to a smaller size than once planned.

Twice as accurate as today's sub-launched Polaris missile, the Poseidon will enable nuclear-powered submarines to deliver attacks on specific enemy military targets such as missile pads and air bases.

That mission presently is reserved to Air Force land-based missiles and jet bombers. As armed with current Poseidon subs, they will be able to

Chamber Wants County To Finish Hwy. 273 Job

A move to get action from the Gray County Commissioners Court for completion of a seven-mile unfinished stretch of State Highway 273 in the Lefors area was placed at the top of a 1965 work program approved by the Highway Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon.

The improvement is the center strip of a project of Hwy. 273 improvement from Pampa to McLean. The McLean and Pampa ends of the job already have been completed.

"We need to get the right of way problems solved," Crouch said, "so we can finish the job on 273 and get on with other projects."

Among the latter, the committee has listed the 4-lane improvement of U. S. Hwy. 60 west from the Pampa city limits to the west city limits of Kingsmill.

G. K. Reading, resident highway engineer, told the committee the state already has given a green light on that project.

However, Fred Thompson, committee member said the state will not proceed on the U. S. Hwy. 60 west improvement until the Lefors area segment of the Pampa - McLean 273 Hwy. is completed.

Chairman Crouch also appointed a five-man committee to work with the Pampa City Commission on plans for the widening of U. S. 60 and State Highways 132 and 273 inside the city limits.

Members of this committee are Ray Duncan, chairman; Joe Tooley, B. M. Behrman, Fred Thompson and Norman Henry. The committee plans to discuss with state and city officials the need for the three-pronged project in the hope of coming up with detailed plans for working it out. Committee members were told that the highway improvements inside the city will require bond issue financing.

The committee also went on record yesterday for the chamber of commerce group to work in cooperation with the City Traffic Commission in a study of possible new traffic outlets to

Bosses' Night Party Tonight

Selection of the "Outstanding Young Man in Pampa" in 1964 and the awarding of the Bill Swift Memorial Trophy will highlight the annual Jaycee Bosses' Night banquet set for 7 p.m. in the basement of First Methodist Church.

Speaker for the banquet will be Lewis Timberlake of Waco, past state Jaycee president and national vice president.

Approximately 150 persons are expected to attend the banquet. Floral decorations and arrangements for the banquet have been handled by the Jaycee-Eltes.

Marching Mothers Drive Totals $2,390

Contributions to Pampa's Mothers' March for The National Foundation's March of Dimes totaled some $2,319 following the house-to-house canvas held last night.

The figure is expected to increase when callbacks are made and voluntary subscriptions are received from residents who were not at home last night.

Mothers' March chairman, Mrs. R. A. Mack, and her group of captains, spent several weeks organizing the drive. Some 400 workers participated in the march.

Mrs. Mack extended her thanks and appreciation to all those who contributed so generously of their time and money. "We couldn't have asked for better cooperation from everyone," she said.

Anyone who was missed last night, and wishes to contribute, may do so by calling Mrs. Mack at MO 9-9893 and she will make arrangements to come after the money.

For those who wish to mail contributions to the Mothers' March, the address is Mothers' March, care of Post Master, Pampa, Texas.

Next up in the March of Dimes fight against birth defects is the annual "Bucket Brigade" to be held at business intersections throughout Pampa on Saturday, Travis Lively, Jr., who is in charge of the affair, said that nine men's civic clubs will man the corners from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

On Saturday, January 30, the Future Nurses Club will sell microscope pins to help the M.O.D. campaign. Known as the "Candy Strippers", the group is made up of Pampa High School girls and is sponsored by the Gray County Medical Auxiliary.

Beginning Saturday, Jan. 30 at 9:30 p.m. and continuing through 4 p.m. Sunday will be a M.O.D. Telerama over Channel 7. National professional stars, as well as talent from all over the Panhandle, are expected to perform.

Dock Strike Settlement Possible by End of Week

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Scattered meetings in the Gulf Coast section of the nation wide dock strike were scheduled today, but union and shippers representatives held out little hope of a settlement in the walkout before the end of the week.

Asst. Secretary of Labor James Reynolds planned to meet with each side separately in New Orleans today and several small meetings were scheduled in Galveston where mediator David Stowe was handling the negotiations.

The Gulf Coast situation hinged on New York dockworkers, who vote for the second time this Thursday on the contract they rejected 10 days ago. Reynolds met in New Orleans

Monday with representatives of the New Orleans steamship association (NOSA) and officials of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) to find "points of accommodation."

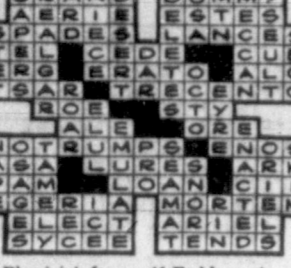

ILA vice presidents Clarence (Chink) Henry and Alfred Chittenden said Reynolds presence in New Orleans was very helpful. Both said, however, that they expected no settlement before the end of the week.

Henry and Chittenden said they were going to be in Galveston today for a policy meeting among Atlantic and gulf dock workers. Henry said he would know more about what effects mediation efforts will have after he returns from that meeting.

Walter Rogers Reports:

U.S. Inauguration, Greatest Ceremony

Americans traditionally reject ceremony in public matters of State. It is a sentiment deeply ingrained in our people. The historic rejection of formal ceremony was seen in our Nation being forged two centuries ago. However, once every four years the people of the United States treat themselves to the great public ceremony of a Presidential Inauguration, installing with pomp and parade and prayer the man elected by the people to direct the Nation's affairs in the ensuing four years.

The marvels of television and radio now make it possible for all Americans to share the experience of this occasion, to feel with those citizens privileged to be in Washington for the event the excitement and inspiration as our President is sworn and celebrated. On this day as on no other day the solemnity of our governmental form is symbolized and recalled.

With officials of the three branches of the Government flanking the President, the huge Capitol Plaza thronged by scores of thousands of citizens, and millions upon millions more attending the ceremony via television in homes and business places across the country, the solemnity of the Republic is emphasized by the President's oath-taking. For the commitment he takes to serve the people, there in the shadow of the magnificent Capitol building topped by its statue of Freedom, is the same commitment other men accept in the Congress, the capitols of the States, the court houses and city halls throughout the land, wherever men have been elected by their fellow citizens to serve in positions of public trust and responsibility.

As the Constitution prescribes, the President will say, I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States. Let no enemy of our system believe that these words are mere formality; they are as sanctified for the people as for the Presidents who say them. The armor of the United States is its Constitution, hiding its people in unity and liberty, and the words of the oath are part of the Constitution. The armor is welded by its guarantee that free men shall freely choose their leaders. For this reason, Inauguration Day is as much a day on which the American people honor themselves and their forefathers as it is a day on which we honor a President.

Not a minute's walk from my office here is the intersection of New Jersey Avenue and C Street, S. E. From a house at this intersection, on March 4, 1801, Thomas Jefferson walked the two blocks to the new Capitol building to be administered the oath. Jefferson's 1801 inauguration was the first held in Washington. His entrance to the Capitol was punctuated by a discharge of artillery. Addressing the Congress and the crowded House gallery, Jefferson said: "I know, indeed, that some honest men fear that a republican government can not be strong, that this Government is not strong enough but would a government which has so honest a patriot in the full tide of successful experiment, abandon far kept us free and firm on the theoretic and visionary fear that this Government, the world's best hope, may by possibility, want energy to preserve itself? I trust not. I believe this, on the contrary, the strongest Government on earth. I believe it is the only one where every man, at the call of the law, would fly to the standard of the law, and would meet invasions of the public order as his own personal concern. Sometimes it is said that man can not be trusted with the government of himself. Can they, then be trusted with the government of others? Or have we found angels in the forms of kings to govern him? Let history answer this question."

History has answered Thomas Jefferson's question. History also will note that following the 1965 Inaugural ceremony, as on March 4, 1801, the remainder of the day was devoted to festivity; and at night there was a pretty general illumination.

ECA Officials Push Education For Handicapped

Emphasis on vocational guidance, and education for handicapped children will be stressed by the Pampa Exceptional Children's Association, according to Mrs. R. L. Wyatt, president.

Mrs. Wyatt, at last week's meeting of the association, gave a report on the survey and study course in this direction which was given in Amarillo.

A committee comprised of Rev. Loren Williams, chairman, Jimmy McCune, Lee Eslick, Mrs. Ray Patterson and Mrs. Irene Norman was named to make a local survey and report on projects needed for exceptional children here.

Mrs. Wyatt presided at the meeting held in the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Lee Eslick, secretary, reported that forty eight sacks of candy and gifts were given at the Christmas party for the exceptional children. Mrs. Marvin Turner, chairman of the Exceptional Children's Committee of the City Council P-TA reported that four schools were participating in the study course, "Together We Help a Child."

A resignation from Mrs. David Gantz, co-director of the art program was accepted with regrets. J. C. Roberts was given a vote of appreciation for services in the Christmas Party and for the theatre tickets given the children and their parents.

Clyde Carruth of the Polio Foundation reported that every two minutes a birth defective child is born — some 250,000 a year. One-fourth of the money collected during the Polio Drive is diverted to research on the causes of these defects, their prevention, and new techniques in treatment. A film entitled "Strangers in the World" was reviewed.

Hostesses were Mesdames Marvin Turner, Gene Barber, Jerry Moore. The next meeting is scheduled in the Educational Building of the First Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 8. Meetings of the association are open to the public.

Two-Car Crash Injures Pampan

A 34-year-old Pampa resident was slightly injured yesterday in a two-car collision in the 1300 block of N. Hobart.

Treated for minor injuries at Highland General Hospital was Mrs. Virginia C. Potter of 1718 Coffee.

Mrs. Potter was in collision with an auto driven by 25-year-old William A. Greene, 917 N. Gray. Greene was not injured.

The accident happened at 5:20 p.m. Damage to both vehicles was estimated at approximately $130.

Mechanics Tools Reported Stolen

John Hager, 434 Crest, reported to Pampa police yesterday that three weeks ago someone stole $70 worth of mechanics tools from his pickup.

Hager said the truck was parked in the parking lot of the Pampa Hotel when the theft occurred.

"Custom Made" HEARING AID to fit entirely INSIDE the ear!

The time is now! Scientists and Electronics Engineers dedicated to helping people who hear—but do not understand—have designed a new wireless—tiny hearing aid. It is here! It is just what you have dreamed about and asked for. It is "Custom Made" to fit entirely INSIDE the ear. There is ABSOLUTELY NOTHING worn outside of—below—or above your ear. There is ABSOLUTELY NO cords, wires, glasses, tubes, buttons or anything behind the ear. In spite of its low cost operation it picks up sounds of speech, TV and radio at the ear, rather than through a transmitter located in the clothing, on eyeglasses or behind the ear.

It is here now! Information about this new-wireless hearing aid is available to the public.

For a FREE demonstration of this instrument come to our monthly hearing aid service at the Adam's Hotel in Pampa on Wednesday January 20 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. or call Mr. Reach to come out to your home. There is no cost or obligation on your part, and budget terms can be arranged.

Billie Sol Goes to Jail As Long Court Battle Ends

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI)—Billie Sol Estes' legal road of appeal ran into a dead end Monday and the one-time agriculture wheeler-dealer spent his first night in jail since 1962, the year his $150 million empire collapsed.

The end came when the U.S. Supreme Court refused to review Estes' conviction on conspiracy and mail fraud charges. He was arrested at his home in Abilene, and U.S. Dist. Judge R. Ewing Thomason in El Paso ordered his $120,000 bond revoked.

"I just don't want to comment on it," said Estes.

Heading for El Paso—Taylor County Sheriff George Maxwell, said he would take Estes to El Paso today. Estes has 24 days to ask the Supreme Court to reconsider its decision. If Estes does not take care to take this last step, Thomason

Tulsa Jailed After Taking Oil Field Truck

Charges of driving a vehicle without owners consent were filed against a Tulsa resident yesterday after he was accused of taking an oil field truck from a lease near Lefors, and attempting to drive it to McLeen.

Charged in the complaint was John Farris Jr. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail after pleading guilty to the charge before Judge William J. Craig.

Farris was arrested by Highway Patrolman Bill Lusk, 6 miles north of McLeen on State 273.

Lusk said he was driving to Wellington and came upon the missing truck parked along the road about 10 miles north of McLeen. He said he notified the Gray County Sheriff's Department of the truck's whereabouts and proceeded onto Wellington.

About four miles farther down the road, Lusk said he came upon a man hitchhiking. The highway patrolman said the footprints of the hitchhiker matched those found around the truck and he was taken into custody. Farris later admitted taking the truck to authorities.

Farris told officers that he had hitchhiked to Pampa earlier in the day and was walking toward Highway 66 when he came upon the truck. He said he took the truck and was attempting to drive it to highway 66, but became afraid he would be caught so he abandoned it along the roadway.

C-C Group Plans Monthly Meetings

Organization and plans for monthly meetings topped the agenda this morning of the first meeting of 1965 of the legislative and national affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The committee voted to meet monthly in the Coronado Inn. Programs will consist of discussions on legislation before both houses of Congress.

A program committee consisting of Roy Sparkman, David Fatheree and Ott Shewmaker was appointed by committee chairman Don Lane.

The committee also set plans into motion for a course on practical politics to be held in the near future.

The course would be open to the public and deal with the basic fundamentals of democracy and our political system.

laris rockets, submarines would be assigned generally the role of destroying enemy cities in a nuclear war. They might not be ordered to fire their missiles at all, unless U.S. cities were hit first.

In the future, carrying a mixture of Polaris and Poseidon missiles, Navy subs will provide the government with the option of retaliating against either military targets or cities—in cases where the two can be distinguished—from the same launching vehicle.

Johnson announced plans for Poseidon development in a special message to Congress Monday on the whole realm of national defense.

Administration officials said the new missile, with twice the destructive force of Polaris, or about 2 megatons, would cost an estimated $800 million to develop and a further $1.2 billion for production quantities.

will probably order Estes to begin his 15-year prison term immediately.

Estes became a multi-millionaire through a complicated scheme of mortgaging fertilizer tanks that never existed. His get-rich-quick methods were discovered in March, 1962. He spent three days in jail when he was first arrested, but has not spent a day in jail since.

Estes was at home in Abilene when Maxwell and U.S. deputy marshal Bill Black came to arrest him. They allowed him time to pack a bag before escorting him to jail.

The Supreme Court was brief in its handling of the Estes case. The court upheld the conviction, which the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals handed down Aug. 10, 1964.

Infant Wilson
Services for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wilson, of 409 29th, Amarillo, were held Jan. 11 at 2 p.m. in St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church, with Father O'Brien, officiating.

Burial was held in Resthaven Memorial Park under direction of Rix Funeral Home.

The infant died Jan. 9 at West Texas Hospital.

Other survivors include two sisters, Patricia Wilson and Sharon Wilson, and a brother, Clifford Wilson, all of the home; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wilson Sr., of Amarillo, and maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Hual, Pampa.

Mrs. Reva McCool
Services are pending at Duengel-Carmichael Funeral Home for Mrs. Reva McCool, 616 Sloan, who died Tuesday.

Mrs. McCool was born in Gage in 1908 and moved to Pampa in 1942. She was a member of the First Christian church.

Survivors include her husband, Ralph S., and a grand-daughter, Susan Gail Holler, both of the home; four sisters, Mrs. Elmer Fields, Gage; Mrs. Edward Fields, Shattuck, Okla.; Mrs. Charles Smith, Glenpool, Okla. and Mrs. Gene Sigle, Ponca City; her mother, Mrs. Albert Hull, Gage; three brothers, Elbert Hull, Shattuck; Vaughn, New Orleans; Vernon, Wichita Falls.

Estes was also convicted on a state swindling charge in Tyler and was given eight years. The Supreme Court agreed to review that conviction.

The Supreme Court ruling came as another legal entanglement of the Estes dealings was being heard in Pecos, Tex. Four Midland, Tex. oilmen are suing the bankrupt Estes estate for $4 million in an attempt to regain some of the money they loaned Estes for the non-existent tanks.

Cub, Scout Heads To Meet Tonight
Cubmasters, den mothers, scoutmasters, and pack and troop committeemen will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the educational building of the First Methodist Church, for their monthly program planning sessions.

Ralph McClure will conduct the combined first part with general information and announcements. Bob Horton will assist the Cub Leaders in program planning, and Connor Hicks will meet with the Boy Scout Leaders.

The programs for February will be developed and scouts are urged to attend, for Feb. is an important month for the Boy Scouts of America. Scouting will celebrate its 55 anniversary with blue and gold banquets, open house meetings, courts of honor and displays during the month. Scout Week will be Feb. 7-13.

Traffic Group Approves Plans
The Pampa Traffic Commission endorsed two recommendations to be presented to the City Commission yesterday during their regular monthly meeting in the Pampa Hotel.

The commission endorsed the recommendations of the Planning and Zoning Commission to negotiate a comprehensive plan for the city.

They also endorsed the recommendations of the city engineer to set up on a trial basis a new system of traffic control on the north and south end of the Cuyler street underpass.

The new system will prohibit left turns when coming from the underpass on Atchison and Tyn.

Warming Trend to Be Short-Lived
Pampans got another balmy interlude today in their winter weather pattern.

The warming trend will be short-lived, but the weatherman promised there would be no extreme cold accompanying a new surge of Canadian air pushing southward out of the Dakotas today.

The mild cold front, with only 20-degree readings reported in the Dakotas, was expected to reach the Panhandle tonight and the northern sections of the state Wednesday.

The forecast low for Pampa tonight is around 30 and the high tomorrow in the mid 50s. Winds should be southerly at 15-25 m.p.h.

County Officials to Preside at Texas Attorneys Meeting
District Attorney Bill Waters, County Attorney Don Cain and Sheriff Rufe Jordan will represent Pampa at the annual Texas District and County Attorneys Association meeting in Austin Feb. 3, 4 and 5.

Registration will be held all day Feb. 3 in the Crystal Ballroom of the Driskill Hotel in Austin.

Bill Waters, president of the association, will preside at the opening business session on Thursday morning, Feb. 4.

Don Cain will preside at the mid-morning business session on Friday.

Rufe Jordan has been chosen as a panel member of a discussion panel to meet late Friday afternoon.

Saturday, the last day of the meeting, will feature sessions for new district and county attorneys.

Several hundred district, county attorneys and law enforcement officers from over the state are expected to attend.

Former Governor to Speak to K and F
Jack R. Gage, former governor of Wyoming and nicknamed the 'Will Rogers of the West,' will address members of the Top O' Texas Knife and Fork Club at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Robert E. Lee Junior High School cafeteria.

Rough, rugged, angular and with "character in his face" Gage is typically western. The former governor and secretary of the state of Wyoming was born in the Big Horn Basin, one of Wyoming's most interesting — where hunting and fishing is unsurpassed — he has spent almost all his life in the Cowboy state.

That Governor Gage has talents in addition to his philosophical-humorist outlook on life is attested to the fact his own state's historical society awarded him a plaque for his historical recordings. He is also the winner of a bronze medalion for his international peace plan, proposed following a peace mission to Russia.

It was only a short time after retiring from the Governorship of Wyoming — "at the will of the people," quips Gage, that he embarked for Australia vowing that "when I come back, I'll have a tale worth telling."

Members of the club may purchase tickets at Malone Pharmacy until 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Three Plead Guilty In Gray County Court
Three pleas of guilty were heard yesterday in Gray County Court.

Kenneth R. Twigg, 600 N. Zimmers, was fined $50 and costs on a charge of driving while license suspended.

Leroy Bell of Clovis was fined $5 and costs on a charge of swindling with worthless check.

William Roach, Jr., Borger was fined $100 and costs on a charge of unlawfully carrying a pistol.

CUT YOUR OWN TAXES

Here's a New Break on Child Deductions

By RAY DE GRANE, Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Many circumstances may arise in a family which compel either a father or mother to hire someone to take care of young children so that the breadwinner is free to earn a living. These situations could arise in the case of a widow or widower with children under 13 years of age, a wife who has been deserted by her husband, a husband whose wife is incapacitated or institutionalized. Expenses for caring for dependents 13 and older may also be considered if they are physically or mentally incapable of caring for themselves.

capable of self-support because he is physically or mentally defective or if the wife is institutionalized for at least 90 consecutive days or dies within that period. Wherever child care expenses are claimed as a deduction, Form 2441 (available through your district Internal Revenue office) or a statement setting forth all the information must be attached to the return. Several million taxpayers throughout our country are only half through their income tax obligations when they file their 1964 tax return. For them there remains the necessity of filing a declaration of estimated tax as well by the April 15 deadline.

—If a head of the household, widow or widower, $10,000.
—If an unmarried person filing a separate return, $5,000.
—If a married person filing a separate return, $5,000.
—If a married person filing a joint return, combined income of $10,000.
—If anyone else whose anticipated tax at the end of 1965 will be at least $40 more than his withholding tax and who, can reasonably expect to receive more than $200 in sources other than wages subject to withholding.

tax he must pay the balance in quarterly payments during the year. Most employees whose income is subject to the withholding tax can eliminate the necessity of filing an estimated tax if they can gear their withholding tax deductions in such a way that they will owe less than $40 in additional tax at the end of the year. This can be arranged either by instructing your paymaster to eliminate for withholding purposes enough of your exemptions to make up the difference or to set an additional amount to be withheld sufficient to offset the estimated shortage that would otherwise result.

The maximum child care expense which may be deducted may not exceed $600 if only one dependent is involved, a top of $900 for two or more dependents. The maximum credit in past years was $600.

An estimated tax return is required from any taxpayer whose estimated tax for 1965 will be at least $40 more than his withholding tax AND he can reasonably expect income in 1965 to

Where an estimated return is required to be filed the taxpayer must estimate his total income for the year and then compute the tax on it, using the 1965 tax rates. After deducting his estimated withholding tax for the year from his estimated total

The prime purpose of estimated returns is to place all taxpayers on a relatively equal pay-as-you-go basis throughout the year. (End Series.)

Socialized Medicine Raises Life Expectancy of British

By TOM A. CULLEN, European Staff Correspondent LONDON (NEA) — Britons, after nearly 20 years of socialized medicine, have found that the national well-being has improved under the system, but that there are national headaches, too.

The way it works is that the patient pays a fee to see a consultant privately. The consultant then uses his hospital connections to get the patient admitted ahead of others on the waiting list.

3,500 maximum permitted. The shortage of doctors here has thrown an added burden onto the existing staff and strained their equipment and facilities to the breaking point.

On the plus side, life expectancy in England has increased by two years. Maternal deaths per 100,000 births dropped from 82 to 36 in the decade between 1952 and 1962. Infant deaths have been cut impressively.

Because there are usually at least 500,000 people awaiting admission to hospitals in England and Wales at any one time, there is considerable advantage to calling in a consultant, who can add an extra $2,400 a year to his income by this means.

Bigger salaries, better facilities and more leisure time for themselves and their families are luring British doctors to the United States and to Commonwealth countries.

His father's '65 Ford.....rides quieter than his father's Rolls-Royce

We know it's hard to believe a Ford could ride quieter than the famed Rolls-Royce. But it's a fact. Leading acoustical consultants conducted tests in which three V-8 powered Fords (Galaxie 500 Sedan, new Galaxie 500/XL and LTD Hardtop) with automatic transmissions rode quieter than a new Rolls-Royce. The tests were certified by the U.S. Auto Club. Of course, the best test of all is to get behind the wheel yourself... and listen to a '65 Ford in action.

- Thrifty, quiet new Big Six—the biggest Six offered by any car in Ford's class... 289-cu. in. V-8 in XL's and LTD's.
- All automatic transmissions have three speeds, not two as in some competing cars—smoother shifting, more economy.
- Silent-Flo ventilation (in 4-door hardtops) provides fresh air in car with all windows shut.
- Handy reversible key works either side up.

Speaker Says Oil Industry Lacking for Strong Voice

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—The oil industry needs a "strong, resolute voice" to expound the greatest of the industry, an oil industry leader said Monday. Paul E. Talliaferro, chairman of the board of Sunray DX Oil Co., told the annual convention of the Oklahoma Independent Petroleum Producers Association that the industry has an "inferiority complex."

Financial Gossip

By JESSE BOGUE, NEW YORK (UPI)—Most of the men who feed you away from home expect this to be a good year, all things considered. But they have expense problems, they admit. This was the gist of recent answers from food service industry executives to questions asked by National Restaurant Association officials, with headquarters in Chicago.

Dear Abby....

'Don't Look a Gift Horse in the Mouth'

DEAR ABBY: I work for a fairly large company. Every year each employe is supposed to get an eight - pound ham. Last year my ham looked kind of small for eight pounds, but I didn't say anything about it. This year my ham also looked small, so I took it home and weighed it and it was only six pounds, four ounces. I took it back to the department head and told him if the company bragged that they gave their employes eight - pound hams, the hams should weigh eight pounds. He became very angry with me and told me I ought to be ashamed of myself, and should have taken the ham and kept quiet. Do you think I did the wrong thing? Or was it the department head in the wrong? What do I do now?

DEAR GYPPE: If the ham had been labeled "Eight Pounds" by the supplier, the company was gyped and the department head should have used his head and thanked you for revealing it. But if the company "bragged" that they gave eight - pound hams, and didn't then the deal was something less than kosher. If I were you, I'd forget it.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about a man who has a fantastic imagination? We are in our seventies and have known him all our lives. He will sit and tell folks all about his "experiences" in the war, and he has never been in the service.

He also tells people that he helped bring elk to our state, and the elk were here before us. EMBARRASSED: DEAR EMBARRASSED: If he is only imagining these things, pity him. It is a sickness of the mind. I he is lying, pity him. That is a sickness of the soul.

DEAR ABBY: Re the letter signed "Trouble at Home" from the 19-year-old girl who was dating a 27-year-old man who said he was separated from his wife. That letter really hit home here. When I was 19 I met a man of 25. We dated a year before I found out he was married and had two children. He said he was trying to get a divorce because he and his wife couldn't get along. I continued dating him against my own conscience and my parents' wishes. I spent many sleepless nights wondering how much longer I would have to wait. He kept telling me it wouldn't be much longer. Well, I am 23 years old and six months' pregnant, and still no divorce. I haven't even seen him in three months. Oh, he calls me once a month to see how I am. Before this happened he couldn't get through the day without calling me. Also, he now has three children instead of two: So, Miss Trouble At Home, take it from someone who is in real trouble—Listen to Abby, and wait until after the divorce to see him again. And then, do not rush into anything. It could save you a lot of heartache.

SHATTERED DREAMS: DEAR ABBY: Tell "Hates Basements" that I, for one, prefer to entertain my guests in my "basement" (we call it our "rec" room) because I am tired of having guests who, after a couple of drinks, will thoughtlessly set a highball glass down on my baby grand piano. Or place a lighted cigarette on the edge of a table (or ashtray) and go off and forget about it while the cigarette rolls off onto the rug (or table) leaving a nice rectangular burn mark. At every party I have ever had, at least one drink was either spilled or accidentally kicked over.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

A nice crowd out Thursday at the center after the snow storm. Guests recently of the C. L. Adams were daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson from Mayesville, Okla. The roads were so bad they had to return by way of Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Verna Fuquay, who is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lola McClausaund, 321 N. Somerville, was a guest at the Center this week. Visitors are very welcome and hope Mrs. Fuquay will attend as long as she remains in town.

Last year on Uncle Billy's 101st birthday, Gracie Necase, a friend of Mrs. Myrtle Enloe, took a very good picture of him, in color, and Mrs. Enloe has placed it in the Conference Room, where Uncle Billy used to take his nap when he got tired. Be sure my car was snowed in and I did not get over on his 102nd birthday, but did congratulate him by telephone. Understand about 200 did get there.

Mr. and Mrs. B. G. VanHuss and sons from Mandelein, Ill. paid a visit recently to his mother, Mrs. Jessie VanHuss. They also visited her sister and family the James Grays, and her parents the B. H. Maidens of Berger.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Forrest visited relatives in Portales, N. M. and Andrews, during the holidays.

A guest recently of Mrs. Martha Carter was her son, B. F. Carter of Bentonville, Ark., who also visited his daughter, Mrs. Martha Burris, husband and daughter.

Rev. Charles Gates and wife of Spearman spent Tuesday in Pampa visiting his mother, Mrs. P. H. Gates and other relatives. H. M. Heaston, who took sick last week at the Center and was taken to the hospital was released in a few days and is doing well.

Mrs. Cora Yates made her annual holiday visit to Cheyenne, Wyo. to visit son Frank Yates and family, and reports a lovely time and white Christmas.

Lewis Henderson underwent major surgery Monday and is doing fine and expects to be released from the Highland General Hospital soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Meadows went to Munday, on New Year's eve for a family reunion of Mrs. Meadows family. The reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Moore in Mundy, Tex.

Mrs. H. B. Williams of Kermit, has spent the week with her mother, Mrs. P. G. Turner, and will return home this week end.

Tracy Cary announced that Mrs. Therman Boswell would be at the Library at 8 p.m. Monday and talk about her trip to Egypt and Palestine, at the Historical Society meeting. We hope that many of the Center members will take this opportunity to hear Mrs. Boswell speak.

Hostess for Thursday's meeting was Pampa Art Club. Mmes. Rachel Pursley, Floye Curtis, Fred Hart and Mona Cox served home made pie and coffee during the refreshment hour. The serving table was graced with a unique centerpiece consisting of hand made poinsettias cut out of tin, sprayed with different colors, and displayed in a wicker jug. Door prize went to Mrs. McKinney and Mr. Kidwell.

Altrusans serving at the meeting were Mmes. Louise Sewell, Mabel Hukill and Lillian Snow.

Buick Special V-6 goes easy on gas.

Its low price goes hard on your resistance.

We put 6 big reasons to buy a Buick Special under the hood. And another small one on the price tag. The six are a set of the liveliest, thriest cylinders that ever zipped you merrily on your way. They're all arranged in neat, smooth V-fashion. They add up to 225 cubic inches and 155 horsepower, and make other arrangements of 6 cylinders seem primitive. That's not all. Special sports Buick comfort, Buick style and traditional Buick quality. The price tag? We saved the best for last.

Manufacturer's suggested retail price for Special V-6. Price includes Federal Excise Tax and suggested dealer delivery and handling charge (transportation charges, accessories, other optional equipment, state and local taxes additional).

Wouldn't you really rather go first class?

59th Legislature Short As Second Week Starts

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN (Sp)—The 59th Legislature, faced with the heaviest work load in state law-making history, eased into its second week with some top Senators and Representatives on the absent list. A good many legislators took off for Washington to attend the inauguration of President Johnson.

These events highlighted the Legislature's opening week: Rep. Ben Barnes of Delton was elected Speaker of the House by acclamation. He is the youngest speaker named since Reconstruction days.

Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells was named president pro tempore of the Senate, to preside when Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is not present. In choosing Creighton, the Senators went against tradition when they passed over Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, who was next on the seniority list. Schwartz has opposed closed door sessions.

A record 3,500,000,000 budget bill, calling for an increase of $97,300,000 in general revenue spending, was introduced in the Senate. Proposal calls for $567,300,000 general revenue spending, compared to $599,500,000 recommended by Gov. John Connally.

Lieutenant Governor Smith named full membership on 24 Senate standing committees. The Senate was thus organized and ready for business on the second day of the session.

In the House, Barnes—whose speakership campaign had to be conducted in a few days due to unexpected appointment of ex-Speaker Byron Tunnell to the Railroad Commission—conferred with members day and night in an effort to speed committee appointments there. Representatives drew priority numbers for bills. Both houses completed appointment of employees, other necessary routine and marked time before the big battles ahead.

Despite controversial decisions to be made on congressional and legislative redistricting, big finance and other matters, Smith and Barnes expressed confidence the Legislature can complete its work within 140 days. But some lawmakers were not so sure.

BETTING BILL SHOWN—The battle over whether Texans are going to bet on horse racing has begun again. This time Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville is introducing the race track betting bill. Last session Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry of San Antonio couldn't get it through the Legislature.

Pipkin's bill would allow both Thoroughbred and Quarter Horse racing on licensed tracks. Also, the city, county, and state could collect taxes from the track operators. Before a track could be licensed in a county, voters in that county would have to call and approve a referendum.

The bill is backed by Texas Racing Association, which has raised more than $150,000 from some of the most prominent men in Texas ranching and business. Opposing the association will be a group of businessmen being organized by the Texas Council of Churches and the Texas Baptist General Convention.

Pipkin said the state would get $20,000,000 a year from a sliding tax of from four to six percent on all bets and that the state would get millions more from increased tourism. One of the first men to speak in opposition, Rep. J. C. Whitfield of Houston, said, "The plain facts are that legalized racing and gambling not only damage the moral fabric of our people, but that the revenues they bring in are more than offset by losses in other, more legitimate fields of commerce."

LIQUOR BILL INTRODUCED—A Texas Restaurant Association bill which would make legal the selling of two-ounce bottles of liquor in licensed restaurants has been introduced.

Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg is handling it in the Senate and Rep. Willis J. Whitley is in charge of it in the House.

The bill would permit customers to fill their own drinks from the small bottles of liquor. This would go part of the way for those people who like to buy their liquor by the drink. Church groups and others will oppose it.

REDISTRICTING PLANS SEEN—A committee of the Texas Legislative Council, which is made up of representatives from both houses of the Legislature, has prepared two plans for congressional redistricting.

According to a Houston federal court order, the Legislature must redraw the present 23 districts so that their populations will vary no more than five percent from the mathematical average of 416,508—and they must do the job by August 1.

Both plans would give South Texas a new congressman. They would have a district from Laredo to South San Antonio and from Del Rio to Zapata.

Also, both plans would put parts of Dallas, Tarrant and Bexar counties with other counties to equalize district populations. This reshuffling would require some current congressmen to run against each other if they want to be re-elected in 1966.

Quick on the Draw; Electronic Police Predict Crime

By RUTH ABAT
NEW YORK (NEA) — Quietly a patrol car turns into a street off a busy avenue and parks at the curb. Shortly afterward, three men head down the avenue in a late model sedan. They stop just before reaching a liquor store and two hurry inside to rob the proprietor.

From the opposite end of the block, a dilapidated convertible with two plainclothes detectives moves slowly toward the getaway car. Inside the store, the thugs lock the owner and a customer in the back room, and raid the cash register.

Minutes later, the plainclothesmen in the convertible hold the driver at gunpoint while the patrolmen seize the robbers inside.

It sounds like a classic piece of law enforcement — but there is a difference. The crime had been predicted by the policeman's speediest partner, an electronic computer.

Criminal data processing spans a broad field ranging from a punched card machine to a complex computer. Although the punched card machine was invented at the end of the 19th century, only recently have police departments found special applications for their problems.

The police can quickly forecast a robbery by checking a deck of punched cards documenting criminal operating methods, including times and locations of previous offenses.

Throughout the United States today, advances in data processing and availability of equipment help an increasing number of cities to foresee crime, get rapid-fire criminal identification and coordinate traffic violations with payment of fines.

Computer crime reports in the metropolitan areas, Chicago and New York in particular, free policemen from time-consuming paper work for more active duty in investigating, making arrests and covering beats.

New York's "crime index" tells the exact location of every crime on ever beat in every precinct.

In Chicago, an IBM 1401 computer analyzes criminals' methods of operation and isolates potential trouble spots. For example, administrators coming to work Tuesday morning get a daily report of 8,000 calls for service occurring from midnight Sunday through midnight Monday. The statistics pinpoint areas where more patrolmen are needed to stop crime before it starts.

How does data processing help identify criminals? Say that in Los Angeles, Calif., a gunman about 6 feet tall, wearing an Army surplus jacket and leather sandals, heists a liquor store.

If the victim notifies the authorities right away, a list of suspects can be in a detective's hands within seconds after the call. Under the old system, the procedure took anywhere from 10 minutes to days, depending on the nature of the case.

Modern data processing's speed makes it possible for a detective, working from a computer-produced suspect list to be en route to question the actual robber before he gets home with the cash.

Major police departments from Fort Worth, Tex., to New York are currently transferring their massive files of fingerprint sets to magnetic tapes for computer use. When New York completes its enormous job of converting more than 4 million sets onto the tapes, it will be able to examine all of them, if necessary, by computer within 24 hours. The chore would take two men a century to perform by hand.

Since the cards are now filed 75,000 to a cabinet, the reels of tape also represent a saving of space. A half dozen, each slightly smaller than a movie reel, can hold all the information. Michael J. Murphy, commissioner of police, calls the department's IBM 1401 "the most valuable tool of law enforcement in years."

Data processing acts as an auxiliary policeman in Hartford, Conn., when a con gives a ticket. When he tags the violator, the original of the three-part ticket goes to be key-punched and put on magnetic tape for computer.

Each week, regular checks determine whether the ticket has been paid. If not, the system automatically produces a delinquent notice for the violator. Finally, he receives a court summons.

Proof of the system's effectiveness lies in recent Hartford reports. Records show 80 per cent collections, a 30 per cent increase over tickets previously paid before arriving at the summons level. Revenues rose significantly, too. The number of tickets issued in two years used for comparison, 1960 and 1962, remained about the same. But in 1962, the city netted $300,000, an increase of $80,000 over the 1960 figures.

Because of its increasing effectiveness in crime prediction, criminal identification and crackdown on scofflaws, data processing plays an ever-broadening role as the policeman's speediest partner.

This means that the successful criminals of tomorrow will have to add a legitimate specialty to their dubious assets: they'll need to be data processing experts, too.

PROGRAMMING CRIME: Reports of crime are fed to Chicago policemen seated before map sections of the city. When information is analyzed by computer, they are able to dispatch radio cars to potential trouble spots before crimes are committed.

THE BIG PICTURE: New York policeman makes request for fingerprint stored on magnetic tape. When computer filing is complete, police will be able to search through 300,000 set of prints in one hour.

Dust Dims Bulb's Light

NEW YORK (UPI) — Snatch light bulbs, if the purpose is to get them clean.

A film of dust on light bulbs can cut light output as much as 50 per cent, says the Lamp and Shade Institute of America.

The institute offered these tips on lamp care:

During the routine of house-cleaning, use a soft cloth to wipe the bulbs, reflector bowls if there are any, and lamp bases. Use the soft brush attachment of the vacuum cleaner on the shades.

Once a month, or oftener if needed, remove the reflector from the lamp, wash in warm-up kip pure soap, wipe dry, but never wash light bulbs; the water can loosen the cement holding the base to the glass.

Clean lamp bases with a mild warm water and soap solution on glass, pottery, marble and onyx surfaces, then wipe dry. Wood and metal should be dusted and protected with a thin coat of wax.

Never use polishes or abrasives on metal surfaces. These surfaces usually are protected with transparent lacquer which polishes will remove.

TV Family Provides Solace For Widowed Van Dyke Wife

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Rose Marie, co-star of "The Dick Van Dyke Show," is a feminine Pagliacci who was widowed only a few months ago but continues to clown for the television cameras.

The blond comedienne lost her musician husband, Bobby Guy, last spring after 18 years of marriage.

Now she and her daughter, Georgiana, 17, live in the four-bedroom, three-bath home that Rose Marie and her late husband bought a dozen years ago. It's ranch style and exquisitely decorated in early American antiques with colorful braided rugs on the grooved and pegged hardwood floors.

Rose Marie's particular pride is a 200-year-old thrasher table pitted, scratched and glossy with age.

Her favorite room is the bar, made to look like a 19th-century saloon with Tiffany shades and an imported oak bar complete with brass rail. A sign on the window reads, "Guy's Saloon," Neighorly.

The house itself is situated in the flats of the San Fernando valley rather than the chic hillside area.

"Bobby and I wanted it that way," Rose Marie explains. "The hills are too isolated. I like neighbors next door so I can borrow a cup of sugar if I need it."

There is a swimming pool— which Rose Marie and Georgiana enjoy during the summer months — and a poolhouse in the rear of the property, along with an artificial rock waterfall.

Rose Marie does all her own housekeeping and cooking. During the day she is busy at Desilu Cahuenga studios while Georgiana is off to Van Nuys Public High School. She is a senior there and has distinguished herself as the champion horse exhibitor of Los Angeles for 1964.

Next year she will major in animal husbandry at nearby Pierce College.

Sentimental

Beneath her wise-cracking, jocular exterior, Rose Marie is a sensitive and sentimental woman who is still adjusting to her life as a widow. She has turned increasingly to her other family — Van Dyke, Mary Tyler Moore and Morey Amsterdam — for friendship and companionship.

"I've never been closer to any group of people in my life," she says. "When we all turn up at a party, in about five minutes time we all manager to get together in a quiet corner."

Rose Marie and Bobby entertained a great deal, but since his death the comedienne has chosen a less active social life. She's an excellent cook, however, specializing in Italian dishes which she cheerfully admits are "outstanding." Her specialties are veal parmesan and a chicken casserole.

Her clothes are tailored and simple, although her wardrobe is huge and contains scores of dresses and suits. She admits: "Clothes are my passion, especially furs."

A closet count came up with the following: a full length mink, a full length white beaver, a broadtail suit, a black mink jacket, a silver blue mink short jacket, a chinchilla jacket, a sable scarf, a white mink three-quarter evening coat and three suits with fur collars.

Her shoes are almost all Italian and her gloves French.

Avid Shopper

Shopping is her hobby. She pokes through department stores and specialty shops on weekends and days off from the CBS-TV situation comedy. When not shopping for clothes for herself, she buys gifts for friends and puts them away for special occasions.

Fire Marshal, FBI to Investigate Burning of Two Negro Churches

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — The state fire marshal's office to investigate burnings of the two churches, which had been sites of recent Jackson parish civil rights meetings.

The FBI had previously announced it would investigate the burnings.

Gov. John J. McKeithen or-

Warren Flubs, But Connon In

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former drug company executive John T. Connon was sworn in as secretary of commerce Monday in a White House ceremony marked by a few fluffs.

The ceremony began with a hitch when President Johnson walked into the cabinet room, took a look at Chief Justice Earl Warren in his black robes, and suddenly made a beeline back to his office. He returned moments later with aide Jack Valenti who carried a Bible and the cabinet commission.

Warren flubbed the swearing in when he said, "Do you John T. O'Connor solemnly swear..." but the new secretary corrected the name when he repeated the oath.

'Comedy of Errors' In Fieldhouse Tilts

By JEFF COHANE
News Sports Editor

An over-exuberant Harlem Stars comedian ripped up the scorebook last night, so that little can be reported on the doubleheader at Harvester Fieldhouse, except that there appeared to be more comedy in the preliminary game, won by the Pampa Newsboys over the Berger Misfits, 18-16, then there was in the nightcap, with the Harlemites winning, by an approximate score of 72-57 over the Pampa All-Stars.

Boyd Bule's aggregation seems to have left much of its talent and a great deal of its comedy back home since the last visit, as the Harlemites had to play serious basketball for most of the game before bringing out their showwork tricks in the final minutes of the contest.

To the youngsters, and those seeing them for the first time, the Harlemites were funny, but those who have seen them previously were somewhat disappointed, as they had to play serious basketball, and not extremely good serious basketball at that, to beat Terry Culley's aging aggregation of All-Stars. Most of their comedy came during time outs and in vocal asides, with very little funny basketball playing as expected.

The Harlemites trick of harassing the officials didn't get too far as Cliff Davenport gave them as good as he got, while Birdog Price was too tired from the first game to argue back.

Gary Griffin and an aging but still rugged Coyie Winborne dominated the rebounds in the first quarter, with Griffin hitting from inside and Culley showing his students how from far out.

Harlem started to come back in the second quarter against the second team, but Ronnie Chase's ballhandling antics and little Tex Nolan's driving kept it respectable.

Culley and company came back in the third quarter and ripped the nets until finally pooping out, with the Harlemites building it up at that point and clowning in the final frame.

The first game was full of unintentional laughs as the two newspaper teams put on a demonstration of how not to score. Without Ronnie Cooper, the Misfits just didn't have it, while the overconfident Newsboys battled each other for a chance to shoot the ball, which none of them could do successfully.

The tremendous improvement of Long Larry Wingert on the boards was the difference as the Newsboys got most of the shooting chances, but fell flat on their faces while doing so.

Ronnie Oler finally started to find the range in the second half and his 11 - point output brought the Newsboys from behind and into the revenge win.

Highlight of the game was the attempts of Berger coach Goose Shields to sink a basket.

For Pampa, as he shot again and again at the wrong basket while the Newsboys stood back and watched him. Shields finally gave up in disgust despite the encouragement of his opponents and the cheers of the crowd.

White Deer Does Sweep Spearman

By ROGER SIMMONS
News Sports Correspondent

WHITE DEER — The White Deer Does took a revenge win over former district foe Spearman last night, 49-31.

Spearman, defending 1-AA champs, edged the Does for district honors last year, and White Deer got a piece of the Lynxettes in turn this year.

Defense was the keynote, as the Does backcourt gals, led by Linda Stump and Colleen Crawford, put the clamps on 6'2" Vicki Wilde and her sister Barbara. Only little Phyllis Patterson, shooting from outside, could score on the Doe defenders.

Meanwhile Cindy Hubbard continued hitting from all over the court while Linda Hawke held the offensive boards. WD took an 8-6 quarter lead, moved it to 21-17 at the half and spread it to 30-23 going into the final quarter. Cindy had 28 points, Linda 18, Phyllis 17.

The WD B team made it a twin win with a 25-7 romo. The WD Bucks play a district tilt tonight, hosting Memphis.

Switches In UPI Top Ten

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eight teams traded places today in the weekly United Press International major college basketball ratings.

The minor switches failed to affect top-ranked UCLA or its closest pursuers in the standings, second-ranked Michigan and Wichita, No. 3. The changes occurred despite a perfect week by the top 10 teams.

St. Joseph's (Pa.) and Indiana swapped positions, with the Philadelphians moving up to fourth place and the Hoosiers slipping to fifth.

San Francisco regained sixth place from Providence, nudging the Friars back to seventh place, and Davidson took over St. John's (N.Y.) position as the eighth-ranked team. The Redmen from New York fell to ninth.

Duke rebounded into 10th place, edging Vanderbilt from 10th to 11th. The Blue Devils scored victories over Clemson, 106-81 and Wake Forest, 105-77, last week to return to the top 10 after a week's absence.

UCLA increased its total of first-place votes from 30 to 32 and its point total from 326 to 342, just eight points short of a perfect 350. Points are awarded on a basis of 10 for first-place, nine for second, etc.

Michigan, Wichita and St. Joseph's each grabbed one first-place vote in the balloting of the 35 coaches on the UPI rating board.

Vanderbilt, winner of nine straight, slipped to 11th followed by 12th-ranked Illinois and Tennessee, which vaulted from 20th to 13th after drubbing Kentucky 77-58.

DePaul, unranked last week, jumped to 14th place. Kansas and New Mexico tied for 15th, and Oklahoma State, the leader of the Big Eight Conference, moved up to 17th. North Carolina State, which owns a nine-game winning streak, entered the standings in 18th.

Harvesters Hit Lubbock Trail

The Pampa Harvesters, after taking the opening week of the second round of district play off, hit the trail to Lubbock tonight in the beginning of an effort to wrap up both halves of the district 3-4A ratrace.

The Harvesters upset the supposed district favorites in their opening game, 58-56, but coach Terry Culley warns it will be a lot tougher in Lubbock.

The tall and talented Westerners, who have compiled an 18-2 season record, finishing 6-2 in the first round of district, took a decisive 87-64 opener over Tascosa Friday night, but in doing so, Westerner ace Gary Washington, 6-5, sustained a broken nose. Washington, who is averaging 20.9 in district competition, is expected to play tonight using a plastic face mask. Culley reports only one player out for tonight's game, 6-2 reserve forward Robert Howard, down with illness.

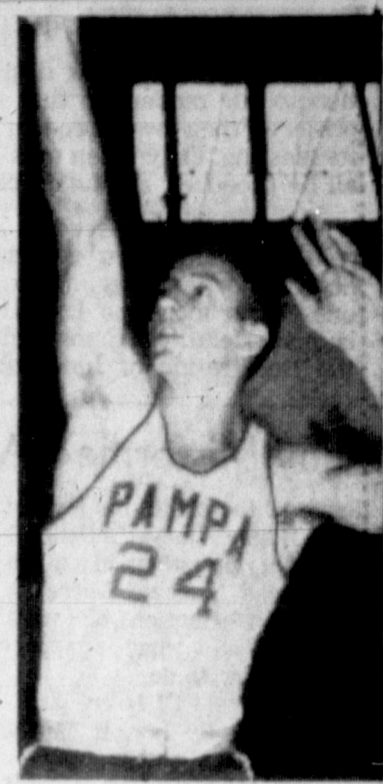

Following the Pampa-Lubbock game at Municipal Coliseum, Monterey and Palo Duro tangle. Monterey smashed Berger, 57-32 in their opener, while PD surprised Amarillo's Sandies, 61-48. Plainview, which has the open date tonight, nipped Caprock, 39-37 Friday. Amarillo is at Caprock and Berger at Tascosa in other district games.

Scoggins Trails Coach to SMU

DALLAS (UPI) — Garland high school's all-state halfback Ronnie Scoggins said Monday he plans to enroll at Southern Methodist University next fall.

Scoggins was one of the main factors in Garland's trip through the Class AAAA wars to the state championship 12½ season. He scored 27 touchdowns for Garland last season to set a new school scoring record.

He follows his coach, Charles W. (Chuck) Curtis to SMU. Curtis announced Saturday he would join the school's coaching staff.

HARVESTER OF THE WEEK — Carl Harnsberger won this week's honor for his clutch play in defeating Tascosa and giving Pampa a share of the district title.

Harper Takes Sandie Post

LUBBOCK (UPI)—Burl Bartlett, coach at Amarillo high school for the past three years, has joined the football coaching staff at Texas Tech, J. T. King said Monday night.

Bartlett, 37, will be in charge of the offensive backfield, succeeding Merrill Green. Green became head coach at Amarillo Cooper high school last week.

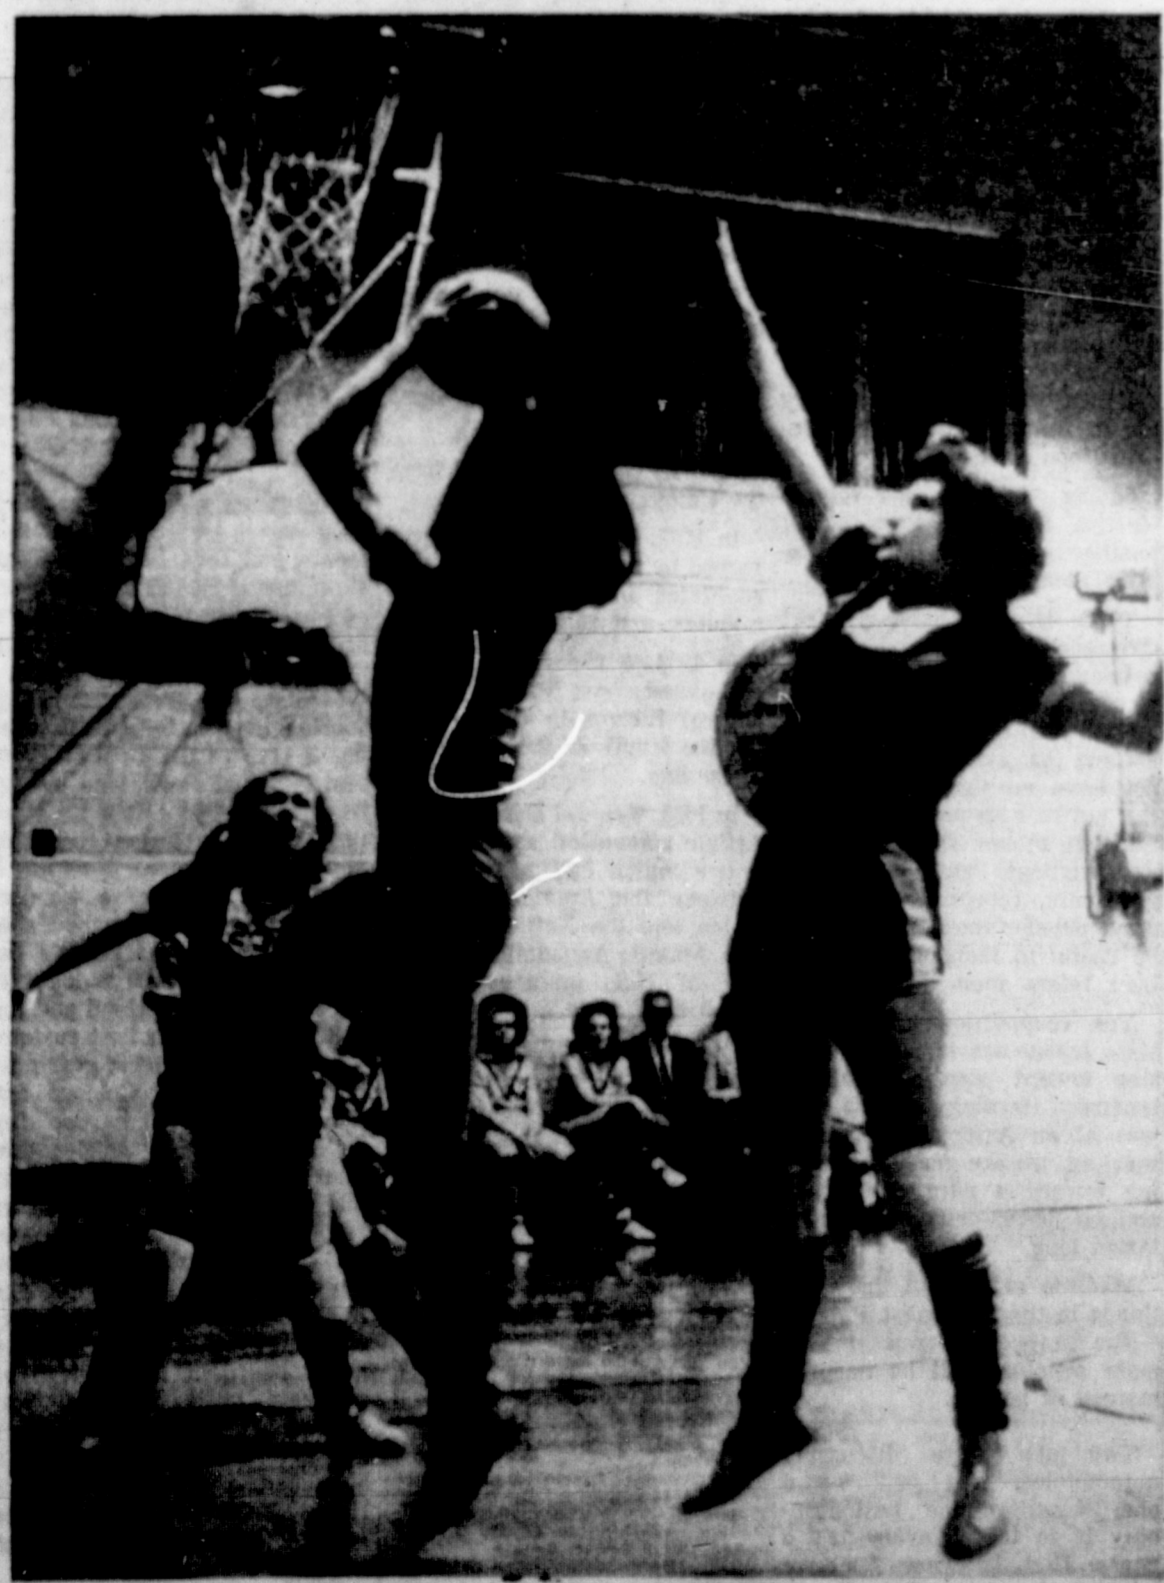

Bartlett has compiled an overall coaching record of 97-49-7. The Amarillo school board announced Monday night that Bartlett had resigned and appointed former Texas Western coach Warren Harper to replace him at Amarillo high.

SWC Roundup

HOUSTON (UPI) — The TCU Horned Frogs kept their mind on basketball during the first 20 minutes of Monday night's game with Houston and played the Cougars to a 52-52 halftime tie. But in the second half their minds drifted away—to final exams maybe—and Houston ran off to a 108-87 win.

The game was the only one scheduled for a Southwest Conference team this week and one of the few scheduled at all in Texas thanks to the almost audible crackling of books around the state for mid-term exams.

The Cougars exploded for 22 points in one stretch of the second half, while TCU could come up with only five. Wayne Ballard paced Houston during the outburst and wound up with 23 points for the night. Joe Hamood also pitched in 23 points for Houston.

It was the worst beating of the year for the Frogs and left their season record at 4-9. Houston is now 12-6.

Bill Elias Navy Coach

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — A day of conferences is set for Bill Elias today as he moves in to take over as head coach of the U. S. Naval Academy foot ball team.

Elias, whose firm guidance of the University of Virginia Cavaliers ended the longest losing streak in their history at 28 games, was appointed to succeed Wayne Hardin at Navy Monday.

Hardin resigned under pressure last month, ending what probably was the most successful coaching career in Navy history.

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Many Misformed About F.B.I.

Some of the criticisms leveled at J. Edgar Hoover's Federal Bureau of Investigation in recent weeks indicate there is much misinformation on what the FBI is and what it is permitted by law to do.

First — The FBI is not a national police. By law, it cannot go into a state, county, city or town and take over from local officials. It must work through and with local officials, though it may conduct independent investigations of federal violations.

Second — By law the FBI has no power to protect anyone — whether the president of the United States, other government officials, civil rights workers or persons being illegally deprived of the right to vote.

Protection comes under the Secret Service, the federal marshals, the state and local police. If the local police do not provide adequate protection for a man or woman, or if the local police or sheriffs are inefficient, or corrupt, there is nothing the FBI can legally do about it.

On occasion, the Secret Service has borrowed FBI men to help it in guarding the president. But these agents are on loan and are not (while on such guard duty) working under orders from the FBI.

Third — The FBI does not decide who in the government is a security risk and who isn't. Some officials are fond of saying "I have an FBI clearance." These officials are mistaken. No one except an FBI man has an FBI clearance.

By law, the FBI cannot say this man or that should not be hired because of his past — because he is a potential spy, because he drinks too much, because he may have loyalty to a foreign government, because he talks too much, because whatever knowledge he picks up may be for sale, because he may be a homosexual or because he may have a weakness for women or horses.

The FBI is allowed only to report the facts, statements and other evidence its agents pick up from interviewing people and looking up records and such.

The FBI is not allowed to make evaluations of this evidence or reach conclusion as to whether the man or woman investigated is or is not a security risk.

One exception: The FBI does decide on the suitability of all FBI personnel.

The government department or agency employing, or interested in employing a man or woman takes the FBI evidence and makes its own evaluations and its own decisions as to whether to grant a security clearance or not. That is, the decision is made at the White House, the State Department, the Department of Defense, or wherever.

Fourth — The FBI doesn't normally investigate the backgrounds of Senate or congressional staff employees. Any such investigations are normally made by the Senate or House Committees concerned. (There are certain committees which can ask the FBI for assistance).

The FBI's director, and a succession of presidents and congressmen, have taken part in keeping the FBI's functions strictly limited. The fear has been that if the FBI or any similar federal agency were given police - decision powers, it could be the first step toward creating a possible police state.

Stocks Fade Rocks

"Diamonds may be a girl's best friends," as we seem to have heard somewhere, but Mrs. Anne Jennings Johnson, smart-looking 36-year-old lady investment broker thinks the boys will be surprised to discover how cosy the gentler sex is getting with those blue-chip stocks they once thought were something to wear around the neck.

"Since we don't have figures to show how many women own diamonds," says the lady-customer's lady of the New York firm of A. G. Edwards and Sons, "it may well be that the icy jewels are already trailing securities in girlish esteem."

In 1952, says Mrs. Johnson, a little more than three million women owned shares of stock and only ten years later well over eight million women constituted the majority (51 percent) of all American shareowners!

With rosy forecasts for 1965 despite "poverty pockets" and the much-publicized "War on Poverty," says this investment feminist, a million more women will learn to decipher ticker-tape this year. And in another decade, Mrs. Johnson assures us, the weaker sex will own two-thirds of the nation's corporate business!

Such a trend will doubtless change the aura of the stock-brokers' offices and who knows when they may come to resemble tea shoppes or beauty salons and feature free - day nurseries. As of right now, says Broker Johnson, brokerage firms are concerned with special attention and services to attract more of the tremendous patronage the ladies can now bestow.

"The reason for this increase of women's money in the market," she says, "is quite simple. Women make good investors. They are more conservative, less prone to speculate and have been educated by the men in their lives to believe in the future of American business." Mrs. Johnson speaks with authority and well - earned pride when she says: "Women are no longer novices in big business."

But don't expect the day will ever come when the Little Woman (no matter how massive her portfolio or how preoccupied feminist, a million more women will learn to decipher ticker-tape this year. And in another decade, Mrs. Johnson assures us,

Eternal War—Man vs. Nature

Mankind now has the power to influence and change all of the three ways that human continuity moves from one generation to the next.

The three ways, or levels, according to Dr. Walsh McDermott of Cornell University Medical School, are:

— The genes — the chemical code carried in the cell, which determines the structure of every living thing. The genes have always been subject to alteration by natural radiation, and now by man-made radiation.

— The fetus — the developing human before birth, also susceptible to radiation and drugs such as thalidomide.

— The cultural environment. Of the three, men have heretofore only been able to exercise their wills on the third level. Even today, their power over the others is still chiefly negative and destructive.

Dr. McDermott was speaking at a conference on Science and Development in Chile, one of the many nations in the world faced with the problem of achieving technological modernization while at the same time preserving their cultural heritage.

Even at the third level of continuity, too - sudden change can be destructive. In some countries, said Dr. McDermott, the change is so rapid that "a father's whole experience is without meaning for his son."

We can see it even in our own society, on a lesser scale, in the gap in understanding that often separates the generations.

The Peril of Quackery
The American taxpayer will have to be a mighty healthy breed if he is going to be able to do the work that will enable him to afford the health program of President Johnson's Great Society.

Mr. Johnson refrained from placing a price tag on the health services that he outlined to Congress. It's a good idea that he held back the facts on the costs, for the shock would have been terrific. Sooner or later, however, the American people will have to be informed as to the astronomical cost of what the Johnson administration proposes.

Here are some of the programs that Mr. Johnson says the nation can afford:

Medicare for older citizens, to be paid for with an increase in the Social Security taxes on American working people. This program will eat into the paychecks of the younger and middle - age Americans who make up the bulk of the nation's work force.

Mr. Johnson called for public grants to pay for personnel in community mental health services. He urged construction of workshops and rehabilitation centers for disabled persons, and federal aid to provide new services for those who are unable to work. He also said that the federal government must provide more money to help the mentally retarded.

Many of the programs he wants are desirable. Local communities and states already are providing them, albeit on a limited or modest scale. The reason that local and state agencies have not done more is that they lack the money. Or, to put it more accurately, the taxpayers lack the money. Thus the federal government won't be doing any favors for the taxpayers; it will simply be hitting them harder. It will be overriding local and state judgment that certain programs, worthy as they may be, cannot be afforded at this time.

Mr. Johnson also proposed the construction of regional medical centers to "speed the application of research knowledge to patient care." The fact is that the nation already has the greatest system of medical centers in the world. These centers are moving at or near maximum speed to translate information gained in research into daily medical practice. What's needed, in most cases, is not more federal spending but better coordination of existing medical facilities. Local and state facilities need better organization so that, for example, all publicly-supported medical programs in a state are keyed to the advanced professional thinking at medical schools. Money is by no means a cure-all in this field.

Addition of federal taxes to create new medical centers will only lessen the amount of local or state money available to those institutions now in existence.

In addition to all this, Mr. Johnson called for federal loans to voluntary associations to finance medical group practice buildings and programs. This isn't a read need. Increasing numbers of doctors work together. Community hospitals, private as well as public, provide a standard of medical service unequalled in the world. Physicians have no need of a hand-out from Washington either to set up practice or to practice more efficiently. In city after city, indigent patients are cared for by those communities themselves. If Big Brother in Washington makes a new invasion of the field of health service, local communities will feel much less inclined to undertake their own responsibilities. Indeed public responsibility and private initiative will be seriously undermined if Mr. Johnson's health program is enacted into law.

Consider the role of the numerous volunteer associations. Each year, they raise millions of dollars for the disabled, sick children, and research on diseases. These associations represent the combined energies of concerned and dedicated individuals. When private initiative and private enterprise work so well, it is not only unwise but positively harmful to substitute collective, federal action for what is being done by citizens through their own efforts.

To tamper with the splendid workings of the American medical system is to take the part of the quack doctor who has no real concern for the well-being of people. Politics always is the foe of good medical practice. The public should firmly reject

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary McNamara has vetoed immediate use of U.S. nuclear demolition charges to prevent a Soviet ground invasion of Western Europe.

He has shelved joint U.S.-NATO military plans to sow a series of these nuclear minefields on West Germany's borders along Communist Czechoslovakia and East Germany until a study on political control of these weapons is completed.

This sensitive nuclear review, to begin later this month at the highest level of the Johnson Administration, is a key phase of Secretary McNamara's program to tighten political control over all U.S. tactical and strategic nuclear weapons.

Until the McNamara study is completed next fall and a presidential decision made, the army's growing stockpile of these division - destroyers is to be kept in heavily guarded nuclear depots in rear areas in Europe and the U.S.

Under the Army's plans, approved by the Joint Chiefs of Staff but shelved by McNamara, nuclear demolition charges with explosive forces of 200 to 500 tons of TNT would be buried in the rugged Bohemian Forest country near the East German and Czechoslovakian borders.

The nuclear landmines would be triggered on orders from the NATO supreme military commander if Russia or its satellite armies attempted to invade West Germany.

U.S. Army authorities and the Joint Chiefs favor immediate deployment of these nuclear charges on the contention they are needed to protect Europe from Russia's overwhelming superiority in ground forces on the continent.

These military advisers argue that the NATO supreme commander must control the firing of these advance nuclear weapons, warning that additional political control would make it impossible to obtain clearance in time to use the atomic devices in the event of war.

THE PERMISSIVE LINE — Secretary McNamara, who now describes himself as Secretary of Peace, also has ordered the Army to report by February 1 how U.S. tactical nuclear weapons in Europe can be withdrawn from army field units and placed under tighter political-military supervision.

The unannounced purpose of the study, according to qualified Pentagon sources, is to put all U.S. tactical nuclear weapons in rear area depots under the joint command of a high-ranking military officer and a State Department authority.

Neither official would be able to release any of the tactical nuclear weapons to field commanders or air units until their superiors in Washington received the quackery inherent in Mr. Johnson's ill - conceived health program.

ed approval from President Johnson, or an authority designated by him.

An Army panel of high - ranking military officers recently sent the Joint Chiefs a memorandum warning that if the present trend of tighter political control of tactical nuclear weapons continues, Army field commanders will not be able to use these weapons in battle.

As reputed by this column last October, McNamara has quietly been stripping U.S. fighting forces in Europe of the Davy Crockett, smallest and most mobile nuclear weapon now in the hands of front - line units. He also ordered the Army to halt further work on the 107mm mortar, which was slated to replace the Davy Crockett.

Despite Defense Department denials of these reports, the senate Armed Services Committee has confirming information and will soon publish its findings.

WASHINGTON WHIRLWIND — Jacqueline Kennedy is quietly taking steps to prevent future sales of letters she wrote to friends and aides of President Kennedy while the nation's First Lady.

She is contacting recipients and requesting that they return her letters, turn them over to the John F. Kennedy Library, or destroy them.

Several White House aides who served under President Kennedy have received this confidential request from the Mrs. Kennedy.

They report that the former first lady is also contacting foreign dignitaries with whom she exchanged correspondence while in the White House.

However, she is not mentioning letters written by her late husband.

THE INAUGURAL — President Johnson plans a private reception for a number of the Democratic party's biggest fund raisers following the Gala at the D. C. Armory. Those who contributed $3,000 or more to the presidential campaign will get the nod. . . Vice President-Elect Hubert Humphrey is using Inaugural Week to mend his political fences. He has written those who did advance work for him during the campaign: "I trust you plan to be in Washington during Inaugural Week. So far as possible, my staff has attempted to provide you with admission to all the events. Will you kindly retain for your use the telephone numbers on the bottom of this letter. By using these numbers, it will be easier for you to arrange to see the Senator and also to have him see those who, in your judgment, should meet or have a few words with the Senator."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: Will the reapportionment of state Legislature as required by the Supreme Court decision giving each voter equal representation improve or harm the well-being of mankind on this earth?

ANSWER: That is an important question since the Supreme Court has really become a legislative body rather than interpreting the spirit of the Constitution, as set forth in the Declaration of Independence.

Either the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution were in error when they gave the state the right to select legislators on the basis, they saw fit or the Supreme Court is in error.

The Founding Fathers were afraid of a political democracy, where all votes counted the same. They thus tried to have a staying influence by having the state legislatures elect the U.S. senators, taking a way from the public the right to directly elect U.S. senators. They apparently thought the state governments should have the same right of protecting individuals from the emotions and the lack of foresight of the crowd that the federal government had.

This practice of choosing U.S. senators was changed by the 17th amendment in 1913.

Those who have read history well know that when the majority have the right to vote themselves subsidies and special privileges they so impoverish the nation and degrade the character and the morality of the public that they do as they did in Rome — demand "free bread and circuses."

Giving each man one vote in electing State Senators is just another move toward a pure political democracy.

There is, of course, a great difference between a pure political democracy and a democracy of the market — or real democracy — that he would accept nothing that everyone else could not have on the same terms. But not so with political democracy. It makes special classes and privileges and enclaves the producers, retarding their ability to develop their faculties and be useful to themselves and to their fellow man.

Yes, reapportionment of the state legislature is just another step toward pure political democracy. Harding said, when he was at an Associated Press meeting, we are gradually drifting toward a pure democracy and no pure democracy ever lasted long.

Madison said about the same things in the Federalist Papers. The reapportionment of the state senators will be harmful instead of helpful.

Two men were discussing automobiles. "Yes sir," said one, "I believe the best economy is to trade every two years. That is what I have done. And so you know," he continued proudly, "I haven't missed a single payment in 14 years."

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Forces Versus Persuasion: Which One Is Stronger?

By SAM CAMPBELL

Mr. Walter Knott, founder of the famous Berry Farm & Ghost Town at Buena Park, Calif., asked me to describe what is in the "package of non - socialist (or capitalist) ideas."

Difference
The difference between the socialist and the capitalist schools is this:

The socialist believes in the use of legal force to create a more orderly society. The capitalist on the other hand believes that harmony among men can be accomplished only by means of persuasion.

Between the white and the black — of these two — opposing points of view lies a gray area. This in-between position is populated by persons who, while renouncing the socialist label, nevertheless, believe in some degree of legal force.

The in-between position has much to recommend it. Chief of all, it is. So the man who accepts "a little bit of socialism" as proper can argue that he simply is dealing with realities.

The problem with the in-between view is that it is unstable. There is no definition or boundary line to distinguish the 99 percent capitalist from the 98 percent capitalist. The person who believes in a "little bit of socialism" is not observably different from the person who subscribes to "a little bit more of socialism."

Since the existing society moves by majority rule and since the great majority of persons today either are conservative socialists or socialist conservatives, the trend toward the total socialist stage consequently should surprise no observant person.

The capitalist, therefore, faces a dilemma. If he tries to seize the political reins — even for defensive purposes; that is, to dismantle the monster bureaucracy — he appears to be exerting force in the same manner that a socialist exerts force. Thus the capitalist loses the persuasive power of his example. On the other hand, if the capitalist lays down his arms, offering no opposition, he is annihilated.

The problem is great, but not without solution. The capitalist deliberately engages the opposition, not for the purpose of forcing him but for the purpose of persuading him. In this endeavor, the capitalist employs the

He paints a picture of the harmonious tools of salesmanship. He shows that the truly harmonious society comes, not when men are compelled to conform to a single idea, but rather when men of differing ideas are each free to pursue their several objectives. The scene is much the same as a grocery store where each buys his preferred brand and does not argue about the brand the other customers buy.

A slow process? Not necessarily. If capitalists can show that their society in actuality does provide a higher profit, that incentive will be sufficient to speed the transformation. The capitalist's aim is not to erase the socialist state, but rather to reverse trend toward that state.

We wonder how many know January is Rook Month? In the south and southwest? It has nothing to do with cheating, but is named after a harmless game popular in that region. The game manufacturer, who annually asks elected officials to issue proclamations explaining Rook has a large following because many churches frown on card games like bridge and poker. He added that over the years it has rivalled "Monopoly", the most popular of all games, in sales.

Today's smile: We heard of a husband who bought his wife a mink coat for a Christmas present. When the bill arrived he paled and said: The mink got out of this easier than I did. At least he wasn't skinned alive.

Within the next few years telephone calls between this country and Europe will be routine. The telephone company is already planning on handling 100 million calls a year by 1960. Some will travel by wire cable circuit, others will be transmitted by radio and still others will be bounced off Telesat satellite. The current rate is in excess of 4 million a year. They can boost business immediately by cutting prices on calls.

Thoughts while skiing: More than half of all skiing accidents involve first-season skiers and more than three-fifths occur on beginners' and novice trails, according to a survey made by a New Hampshire winter resort owner. He says anyone engaging in the sport should first take a few lessons at a professional ski school. . . . Mink is the best way to avoid a broken leg later. . . . Seats on the New York Stock Exchange are selling for about $205,000 now, but we can remember the hectic days of 1929 when brokers were fighting to get one at anywhere from $25,000 to $625,000. Then came the crash and prices changed rapidly. . . . Housewives should be delighted with new cooking pins which will cook roasts, meats and fowl inside and out simultaneously. This is achieved through use of small amounts of a refrigerant which transfers heat to the inside of the meat. . . . We saw an American Eagle soaring over a lofty peak during a visit to the Rocky Mountain National Park, and one of the park rangers told us later they build the largest nests of any birds. Some weigh as much as a ton. . . . If you've wondered why there are so many Swiss watches on the market it's because there are 3000 watchmaking firms in Switzerland and the U.S. is one of their best customers. . . . Some squash courts at the University of Chicago are the latest place to be declared an historic site by Uncle Sam. That's where the first nuclear pile was assembled just 22 years ago by the Italian-born physicist, Enrico Fermi, and marked the beginning of the atomic age. . . . Although millions of Americans are engaged in selling we never heard of any college or graduate business school that offered a degree in the subject. . . . The Seattle (Wash.) The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Tuesday, Jan. 19, the 19th day of 1965 with 346 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last phase.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, and Mars.

The evening stars Jupiter and Saturn.

Scottish inventor James Watt was born this day in 1736.

On this day in history:
In 1861, Georgia seceded from the Union.

In 1937, Howard Hughes set a record by flying across the United States in seven hours, 28 minutes and 25 seconds.

In 1952, a radar system was completed from Norway across central Europe to Italy, covering the length of the NATO defense line.

In 1963, General Douglas MacArthur announced settlement of a two and a half year dispute between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association for control of U.S. amateur sports. MacArthur was a presidential arbitrator.

A thought for the day: British statesman Alan Hebert once said: "The critical period of matrimony is breakfast time."

HOW TO ADDRESS OUR LAW MAKERS

You may wish to write your senator and representatives in Washington. Here are their addresses:

CANNED COIFFURE—Gerre Dick, 16-year-old Oklahoma City high school junior, has an ingenious use for empty beer cans. She uses them as hair rollers to achieve the currently fashionable "non-curly look." Gerre says ordinary rollers make her look like Shirley Temple.

Foreign Commentary

By JOSEPH W. GRIFF
PARIS (UPI)—Signs are multiplying that President Charles de Gaulle of France has set his sights on drastic changes in the Atlantic Alliance by 1969. These changes could include pulling France out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). They certainly would involve top-to-bottom revamping of NATO itself. One main De Gaulle objective is to strip NATO of its "integrated" and "supranational" aspects that he finds so objectionable. Another would be to ease the United States out of the NATO driver's seat—something that is increasingly irksome to the nationalistically-minded old French leader. Why 1969? On April 4, 1969, the North Atlantic Treaty will be 20 years old and Article 13 provides that from then onwards any member state can quit on one year's notice. Whether De Gaulle actually will do this is not yet certain. He might, for instance, use the threat as leverage to obtain the drastic revision of the treaty he deems essential. But rebuilding of NATO in line with his own ideas is clearly very much in his mind these days. He has hinted at it in several of his recent semi-annual news conferences. Asked point-blank by newsmen at a New Year's reception the other day whether he planned a NATO walkout, he replied, "I think the present form of the Atlantic organization is not destined to last indefinitely. No one thinks it should." After asserting that NATO must be changed, De Gaulle added "but the Atlantic Alliance exists and should last." One reason is that De Gaulle wants to keep France and Europe protected by the immense American nuclear deterrent umbrella, even after NATO is revamped and even after his own fledgling French nuclear force becomes more of a reality than today.

Unusual "Savings Bonds scholarship," begun through gifts at birth, is helping to finance Sandra Olney's college education.

"Savings Bond Baby" Goes to College

Sandra Ruth Olney, Beloit College (Wis.) undergraduate from San Marino, Calif., was one of the most publicized babies in the nation in 1946, when she became the unofficial "Savings Bond Baby" of the U. S. Treasury Department. Miss Olney's father, Larry, was a leader of the bond program during World War II and for many years thereafter until his retirement in 1957. When Sandra was born, publicity men at the Bond Division sent out a birth announcement to friends and bond associates throughout the country, with a picture showing a baby bursting through a Savings Bond. From all corners of the U. S. came congratulations, good wishes, and gifts—dozens of them in the form of Dad's favorite product, a United States Savings Bond. Thus began the "scholarship," one which has grown through the years with the regular addition of more bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. And to-
