PRESS ROLLS — Provisional members of Pampa Junior Service League started a three week training program yesterday which will include tours of local businesses and civic affairs. More than 20 of the provisional members toured the Pampa Daily News plant and are shown watching papers come off the press and looking over Monday's paper. Following the three week training they will serve on committees for a year before becoming active members of the Junior Service League.

Demonstrators Burn New Viet Premier in Effigy

SAIGON (UPI) — A wave of general strikes and anti-government demonstrations today complicated American efforts to get the war against communism in South Viet Nam back on its tracks. Two major cities in the north — Hue and Da Nang — were virtually paralyzed. A crowd of about 800 Vietnamese shouted anti-government slogans and burned an effigy of Premier Phan Van Huong in front of Da Nang's largest theater. A group of 3,000 demonstrated in Hue, calling for Huong's ouster. Word reaching Saigon said all shops, businesses and schools in both Da Nang and Hue were closed. The latest round of protests aimed at toppling Huong's civilian administration flared at a time when U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor said political stability must be achieved to prosecute the war against the Viet Cong insurgency. Huong held a news conference here today in an apparent effort to make a show of solidarity with the United States. The purpose of Huong's news conference here was to put the finishing touches on settlement of the three-week-old feud between the U.S. Embassy and the Vietnamese army. The trouble broke out Dec. 20 when a group of young generals dissolved the high National Council (acting legislature) and arrested some of its members on the ground that they were "toying with neutralism." Taylor objected to the military action as an illegal means of taking power. Talks on increased U.S. air were suspended and relations between Taylor and the army became severely strained. The situation eased last weekend when the generals agreed to return power to the civilians and free some of the arrested council members. Huong moved today to reaffirm a close relationship between his government and the United States.

Youth Injured in Golden Gate Jump

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A 16-year-old boy plunged 235 feet from the Golden Gate Bridge Monday and survived with injuries that doctors described as "not critical." Only one other person has survived such a fall from the bridge, while at least 278 others have been killed. The boy, Thomas Paul Tawzer, of Livermore, Calif., hit the water midway across the Golden Gate, bobbed to the surface a few moments later, and began swimming and treading water until he was picked up by a Coast Guard patrol boat. He was almost run down by a passing cargo ship. Doctors at the Army's Letterman General Hospital said he sustained a broken collarbone and possible internal injuries, but "his condition cannot be considered critical." Housewife Survived Just three weeks before, on Dec. 21, a 30-year-old housewife leaped 230 feet from San Francisco Bay's other great span, the Bay Bridge, and survived. The only previous non-fatal jump from the Golden Gate bridge occurred in 1941. "I was walking on the bridge," doctors quoted Tawzer as saying. "The next thing I knew I was in the water." Edward R. Moore, the toll captain on the bridge, said he received a report at 4:15 p.m. Monday that someone had crawled onto the railing of the bridge. "I sent a lieutenant and a tow car to check," Moore said, "and I took the glasses (binoculars) and put them on the midspan area." Saw Youth Jump "I couldn't see anything. Then, just as the tow car arrived, I saw him jump." The men in the tow car said they dashed to the railing and 235 feet below, saw Tawzer come to the surface "within moments." They said an outbound cargo ship was approaching the bridge, bearing down directly on the boy, who had begun to swim. The tow car crewmen waved and set off flares, directing the ship to starboard. It finally veered away, missing Tawzer by about 10 feet and tumbling him in the white water of its wake. At 4:24 p.m., about eight minutes after the plunge, a 40-foot coast guard boat arrived.

Bosses Night Banquet to Highlight Pampa Junior Chamber Week

The annual Bosses Night banquet set for 7 p.m. Tuesday in the First Methodist Church will highlight Junior Chamber of Commerce week set Jan. 17 through 23 in Pampa. Mayor H. R. Thompson is scheduled to sign a proclamation Saturday afternoon officially declaring the week in Pampa. The Bosses Night banquet will feature the naming of the recipient of the "Outstanding Young Man in Pampa" award. Other awards to be presented are the "Outstanding Boss" and the "Spoke and Sparkplug" award. Also to be presented will be the "Bill Swift Memorial Award for Travel." This award is presented each year to the club member who accumulates the most points for traveling out side the Pampa club on Jaycee activities. It is presented in Commerce week set Jan. 17 through 23 in Pampa. L. Gov. Preston Smith in the Senate and Secretary of State Crawford Martin in the House were to gavel open the 140-day session simultaneously at noon. Martin replaced Rep. Byron Tunnell of Tyler, last year's Speaker who stepped down Friday to take a Railroad Commission appointment. He will preside until a new speaker is chosen, probably this afternoon. For all practical purposes, Rep. Ben Barnes was assured the post. The 26-year-old De Leon solon claimed more than 130 pledges as early as Sun-

Aged Berserk Man Shoots 32 Persons

GARDENA, Calif. (UPI) — An apparently berserk 70-year-old man shot up three poker clubs early today, injuring as many as 32 persons police reported. Poker parlors are legalized clubs for playing poker, much as are bingo parlors in some Eastern cities. One victim, another 70-year-old man, was reported near death. Some of the injured were hurt seriously. "Some were hit pretty bad in the neck and chest," police reported. Most of the victims were gambling in the Rainbow Club. At least one was in the Monterey Club. Nobody in the Horseshoe Club was believed to have been injured. Police officers Louis Purcell and Donald Williams arrested Louis Koullapis of Gardena about 1 1/2 miles from the scene of the shootings. Purcell said Koullapis was sighted between two houses near his own home with two pistols in his hands pointed skyward. Koullapis came toward the officers and clicked the weapons three times in the air, but they didn't fire although fully loaded, the officers said. "We didn't drop him," Purcell said. "Lord knows, we had reason to. We covered him with our weapons. We didn't want to shoot him. He was mumbling incoherently and it was necessary to fire two shots at his feet." The policeman continued: "We got the guy's attention. He stopped. We looked at him. We were then close enough to attack. We had to fight him and disarm him." Sent To Hospital Koullapis was booked at Gardena police headquarters on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder. He then was transferred into the prison ward of Los Angeles County General Hospital for treatment of a possible broken shoulder.

He apparently broke his shoulder during the scuffle with Purcell and Williams. Police said they found four pistols and one shotgun either on Koullapis or in the car which he used. He was apprehended on foot, but had been driving the car, whose license number was obtained by a witness, officers reported. Police said he refused to discuss the shootings. Thus it was not known whether he had been gambling in any of the clubs last night before the shootings.

City Council Host To Service League

Pampa's City Commission went through its regular Tuesday morning meeting today with provisional members of the Pampa Junior Service League in attendance. League officials said the group was visiting the meeting for the benefit of new members. Other City Hall offices were included in the tour following the one-hour commission meeting. The Service League makes the annual visits through various Pampa businesses and governmental units to keep up with what makes Pampa tick. At today's commission session the young women heard commissioners go through a long list of routine matters. Following discussion, the commission requested the city attorney to draw legislation to take all but three of Pampa's 33 city firemen under Social Security. Three of the firemen voted not to be placed under the Social Security regulation. The city secretary was instructed to advertise for bids on outright purchase or lease-with option of city property in the 700-block of N. Ward St. The city engineer was asked to make a recommendation on the application of McVickers T.V. for a freight loading zone at 300 W. Foster St. A bid date of Feb. 9 was set for bids on the purchase of two trucks for the street department, one for the engineering department and one for the water department. The commission approved a developer's water and sewer refund to T. B. Soloman in the amount of $568.77. December city bills of $54,849.48 and library bills amounting to $840.12 were approved for payment. An ordinance establishing three 30-minute parking meters in front of 114 N. Russell was passed on final reading. Meters at the location are currently for two-hour parking. An ordinance establishing new "stop" and "yield" signs and extending east-west and north-south thoroughfares was approved as an amendment to the City Traffic Code. Bond of $10,000 each for acting city manager R. B. Cooke, Tax collector Abrev Jones and city secretary Stanley Chittenden were approved.

Texas Legislators Convene

AUSTIN (UPI) — The pounding of gavels brings pre-legislative chaos into tense and formal order today as the 59th Texas Legislature whirls into motion, beset by an abundance of weighty problems. L. Gov. Preston Smith in the Senate and Secretary of State Crawford Martin in the House were to gavel open the 140-day session simultaneously at noon. Martin replaced Rep. Byron Tunnell of Tyler, last year's Speaker who stepped down Friday to take a Railroad Commission appointment. He will preside until a new speaker is chosen, probably this afternoon. For all practical purposes, Rep. Ben Barnes was assured the post. The 26-year-old De Leon solon claimed more than 130 pledges as early as Sun-

Major Emphasis on Poor Family Youths

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson today called education "the number one business of the American people" and asked congress for $1.5 billion in new school aid programs. "Nothing matters more to the future of our country," the President, a former school teacher, told congress in his education message. "Freedom is fragile if citizens are ignorant." The major emphasis was on improving the grade and high school training of children from poor families. Two-thirds of the new aid would be aimed at better schooling for 5 million youngsters whose families earn $2,000 or less a year. But the Johnson program also would touch almost everyone in American schools, from the pre-kindergarten tot to the young adult in college.

Parking Meters Collect $21,210 In 1964 Revenue

Those downtown parking meters Pampa motorists heard so much about during the past year, collected $21,210 in pennies and nickels for the city during 1964. Stanley Chittenden, city secretary, said today the amount was below 1963 revenue due to the fact many of the meters were de-activated for a couple of months while the city made up its mind whether to do away with them or keep them. The decision finally was reached to retain the parking meter set-up just as it was before the de-activation. All meters then were placed back in service. In addition to the nickel and penny parking fee total, the city also collected $11,509.75 in fines for parking violations heard in Corporation Court, according to a report submitted to the city commission today by Acting City Manager R. B. Cooke. Corporation Court fines for the 1963-64 fiscal year totaled $51,256.50. This included $28,815.75 for traffic violations, $10,931 for criminal violations and $11,509.75 for parking meter violations. A monthly report for December of 1964 showed that the Corporation Court collected $3,441 out of a total of $4,149 in fines assessed. Traffic fines brought the most revenue for December with a total of $1,952. Fines for criminal (See METERS, Page 3)

Rights Foes Hearing Today

By United Press International A hearing in St. Augustine, Fla., today could affect around 500 civil rights demonstrators arrested on trespass charges. Nine of the demonstrators were to face St. Johns County Judge Charles Mathis, and their attorney was expected to move that the charges be dismissed in view of a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling. The ruling held, in effect, that sit-in cases should be thrown out of the courts because the new civil rights law made them moot. Mathis's ruling probably would be applied to the remainder of the 500 demonstrators arrested during an integration incident in St. Augustine last spring and summer. Among the demonstrators arrested were Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Mrs. Malcolm Peabody, mother of the then governor of Massachusetts. At Jackson, Miss., a federal grand jury Monday began hearing new evidence in the slaying of three civil rights workers last June. U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter of Meridian, Miss., last month dismissed civil rights charges against 21 white men arrested by the FBI in connection with the slayings. She ruled that an alleged confession was not admissible as evidence unless the confessor was in court. Federal Judge Harold Cox of Jackson, Miss., cautioned the jurors Monday to ignore the "clamor and howl" of outside influences during their deliberations. The three civil rights workers, two whites and a Negro, disappeared last June while inspecting a burned Negro church at Philadelphia, Miss. Their bodies were found in July under an earthen dam on a farm near Philadelphia. Elsewhere in the nation: (See HEARING, Page 3)

New Turbine Gets 'First Roll' at Celanese Plant

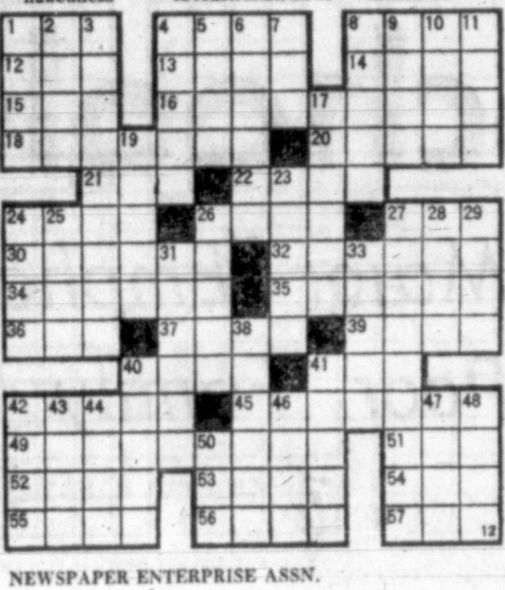

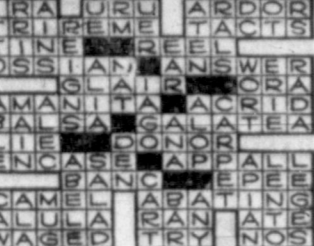

(See Picture Page 3) The new turbine represents a great forward step by both companies in the conservation of the natural resources of the area. It makes possible total utilization of the energy available in the gas by using it in two processes, the manufacture of chemicals and the generation of electric power. The basic difference between the new unit and the conventional steam turbine normally used by the electric company in the generation of electric power is that the turbine blades are driven by gas in the new unit, the function performed by steam in the normal turbine. The Worthington Corporation manufactured the turbine and it was installed by A. M. Lockett & Company, Ltd. The new facility will be owned by Southwestern Public Service Company, but operated and maintained by Celanese employees. The new installation will be linked with Southwestern Public Service Company's integrated electric generation and transmission system so that a stand-by supply of electric power will always be available at times when it is necessary for the new plant to be down for maintenance or repair.

Six Die as Car Plunges in River

BATESVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—Six men died Monday when a car plunged off an embankment into the Tallahatchie River. Four bodies were recovered late Monday and the search, halted by darkness, was to resume today for the other bodies. A seventh occupant of the car was thrown clear and received only minor injuries.

LANGUAGE AID

DURHAM, N. H. (UPI)—Lloyd White, 23, of South Lebanon, Maine, who has been blind since birth, is studying for his master's degree at the University of New Hampshire, with the aid of his seeing-eye dog. White, who was graduated from Colby College last June and who spent last summer at Middlebury College's German School, plans to take a doctorate in German and then teach. To his seeing-eye dog, he speaks only German.

Salty Situation Develops Over Snow Removal

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI)—New Hampshire, first state to maintain completely snow-free highways in winter, is getting salty complaints about a potentially serious side effect.

The state highway department has been dumping up to 1,000 tons of salt on its 3,500 miles of highways for the past 24 years.

As a result, nearly 200 wells on rural byways have polluted, periling the lifelines of farmers and suburban dwellers.

It has cost the state more than $200,000 to dig new wells to replace the ruined ones.

Officials fear the problem will become more acute, since salt never leaves the ground, but merely dilutes.

The state, up to the start of this winter, had replaced 140 wells since 1953 and had a backlog of 60 orders before the ground froze over.

Walter Purinton, a district construction engineer for the highway department, said there was no immediate threat to city water supplies because of modern drainage and paved streets.

It's a different story in the country, however, where farmers and small town folk traditionally build their homes—and thus dig their wells—close to the roads.

The problem apparently has no easy solution, since without salt the snow removal programs would cost an estimated $1.5 million more a year.

"In the final analysis, we're victims of modern living," said state maintenance engineer Homer Richardson. "We want to live in the suburbs, close to major highways and the economy of the state is largely tied to bare roads in winter."

He said he hopes a substitute chemical could be developed.

City Sanitation Department Gives Year-End Figures

In year-end reports revealed in today's city commission meeting the following figures could well be classified under the "for what it's worth" column.

During 1964 the city sanitation department hauled over 20,464,000 pounds of garbage left in alleys in residential areas.

The 20,464,000 pounds were hauled to the city dump by six garbage and trash trucks working five days a week.

In business areas, the department's figures revealed that 12,361 loads of garbage were picked up. The number of pounds of garbage was not given.

The 12,361 pounds were picked up by three dumpster dumpsters and two flat bed trash trucks.

The first American dictionary was published by Noah Webster in 1828.

Conner Issues Safety Reminder to Motorists

Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner in conjunction with the National Safety Council issued a reminder urging residents to make January an extra safe month in the city.

"While Pampa's average of accidents during 1964 was much below that of comparable cities, it was still much higher than we wanted it," said Conner.

Johnson also re-opened the question of direct federal scholarships to promising but needy college students. While this issue was not as volatile as the general aid request, Johnson was seeking a goal that Congress denied to both Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy.

The heart of the Johnson program was a $1 billion plan to upgrade the education of children from low-income families. Borrowing from the highly popular federal "impacted areas" assistance program, Johnson proposed that the federal government pay half the cost of educating youngsters from poor families in 85 to 90 per cent of the nation's 26,000 school districts.

The payments would be made through state educational agencies on the basis of local plans to improve the education of students from poverty class families. A school district with 100 students or 3 per cent of its enrollment from families under the $2,000 income level would be eligible. The 1960 census reported about 5 million children aged 5 to 17 in that category.

The aid could be used for construction of new buildings, paying the salaries of additional or special teachers, purchasing new teaching equipment or practically any other legitimate educational purpose. Private and parochial students would be included in the plans, either in their own or public schools depending upon local arrangements by the public educational authorities.

The federal aid could not be used to cut back local and state spending for education nor for strictly religious instruction. In addition, Johnson proposed separate legislation authorizing $100 million in direct federal grants for the purchase of locally approved library and textbooks for public, private and parochial schools. This fund would be allocated on the basis of all students, without regard to income levels.

Meters

Parking meter fines ran a close third with a collection of $722 in fines for the month.

The Corporation Court report shows that there were 8,076 parking meter violation cases pending as of Dec. 1.

Court officials explained that the cases piled up during the two or three months in which the city was trying out various parking meter plans and deactivating many meters.

Indications are that most of these cases will be swept clean of the docket.

The report shows that as of Dec. 31 there were 89 traffic violation cases and 28 criminal cases still pending.

Dear Abby....

Inform Your Mother About Roomer's Behavior

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 14. My father died before I was born. About six years ago my mother took in a man who was looking for a room to rent, only we didn't have an extra room so she let him sleep in her room. All my friends know about it because they keep asking me who the man is and, when I say he rents a room from us, they ask how many bedrooms we have.

My biggest problem is that he is always trying to get me alone and touch me. My mother works from 3 p.m. until midnight and I walk the streets so I won't have to stay alone in the house with him. I know I shouldn't be walking the streets alone at night, but I don't want to hurt my mother's feelings by telling her why I'm afraid to stay at home. What should I do?

CAN'T SIGN MY NAME

DEAR CAN'T: Tell your mother all about the man's behavior immediately! And if she doesn't get rid of him at once, call the police department and tell them exactly what you have told me. I urge you to follow this advice now.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to widows who wonder what to do about their wedding and engagement rings was a revelation to me. You said, "Widows who would like to start dating again and eventually to remarry should leave their wedding rings at home and wear their engagement rings on their right hands."

My husband died two years ago and recently I started dating. But I felt guilty every time I went out with another man. It was as though I were betraying my deceased husband by wearing his rings with another man. After reading that piece in your column, I put my wedding ring in the drawer and placed my lovely diamond engagement ring on my right hand. I broke into tears, but I realized for the first time that I am no longer a married woman, and should not feel guilty. Thank you, Abby.

L.S.

DEAR ABBY: I disagree with you, Abby. I think a woman who has lost her husband and who has children should wear her wedding ring at all times.

My father died four years ago (I was 12) and a year later my mother took off her rings. When I saw her bare fingers I asked her please to put her rings back on and to keep them on. I pointed out that although she no longer had a husband, she had a son, and I didn't want people to think I was illegitimate. Would appreciate seeing a retraction in your column.

A WIDOW'S SON

DEAR SON: No reasonable person would assume that because a woman wears no wedding ring, her children are illegitimate. Nor would I worry about the oddball who might think so.

DEAR ABBY: Just read your reply to the young woman with braces on her teeth who is getting married and wanted to know if you thought she should have her dentist take her braces off for the wedding. (Her dentist said he would do it, but he would have to put them back on again immediately afterwards).

I completely disagree with you. I wore braces for years and it is sheer misery to have them taken off, and even worse to have them put back on again. She will probably have a sore mouth for her wedding, unless her braces are removed several weeks before the event. Then there is always the chance of having her teeth go crooked again and she will only have to wear braces longer.

That girl should be glad she's getting her teeth straightened and as long as her fiance doesn't mind, she should let well enough alone.

4 THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS TUESDAY, JANUARY 12, 1965 57TH YEAR

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Thursday the Senior Center resumed its weekly meetings after the new year. Everyone seemed glad to be back and 83 Seniors were out.

Your reporter returned Monday night from a trip to Santa Claus Land, where we spent the holidays with my son Errol R. Wagner and wife at White Court, Alberta, Canada. Did not see a single Santa or even a snow man, although the country was white with snow among the jack pines.

The snow is so dry and flaky that it will not hold together for a snowman. Was below zero, 10 to 30 degrees every day but one, Christmas afternoon. The houses are warm and one would never know when inside that it was 30 below. The game warden lives across the street and invited us out in the woods to visit his uncle trappers cabin, which was very interesting. They trap the wild animals the year round. Had a wonderful trip both ways by jet plane. Met my granddaughter Miss Jennifer Wagner, in Amarillo and we made the trip together to spend the holidays with her parents. She is a student at the University of Texas, Austin. We also flew back together.

Mrs. Katie Vincent and daughter, Mrs. Aubrey Steele and Mr. Steele spent Christmas eve with Clifford Vincent and Christmas day with the Joe Vincent family in Dumas.

S. E. Barnard spent Christmas with his son, Jerold Barnard and family and Dec. 27 went to El Reno, Okla. and spent five days with his daughter, Mrs. J. H. Ingram and family. New Years eve Mr. Barnard attended his grandson's, Larry Barnard's wedding.

A dinner guest of Mrs. Mollie Hethcock Wednesday was a niece, Mrs. Essa Peck of Follie.

Mrs. E. E. Garland spent the holidays with her daughter Mrs. Jim Arndt and family in Odessa.

Guests of the Jay Evans Christmas were Mrs. Evan's children, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Oates and their son, W. D. Oates and family.

Mrs. Clara True, was a visitor for this week. Hope she will come often.

Mrs. Lucy Herlacher spent Christmas with her sister, Mrs. T. G. Fields in Groom.

Holiday guests of the Lewis Henderson's were a son and daughter from Los Cruces, N. M., and a daughter from Portersville, Calif., Mrs. Bill Lane; also a son, Gary Henderson and wife and Mrs. Henderson's son, H. R. Gadberry and wife and baby, from Grand Saline; and a step-daughter Mr. and Mrs. Earl Atchely and children on Christmas day.

Was good to have Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Norris with us.

Uncle Billy Frost made a short visit to the Center, and made a little speech wishing all a happy and prosperous New Year; and that they may all live to be over a hundred.

Guests of Mrs. Mattie Fountain Christmas were her two daughters, Mrs. Vera Wilson and Miss Edna Fountain of Dallas. Mr. Wilson flew them up from Dallas and returned for them.

Mrs. Parker, mother of Mrs. Skews of Pampa and a former visitor to the Center, was reported in a rest home in Arkansas.

P. G. Turner, who has been ill was taken to Worley Hospital, Friday morning.

Mrs. P. H. Gates has returned from a months visit in Austin, but got home for Christmas, and had all her children at home for tree and Christmas dinner.

Had a nice visit with Mrs. Oralee Williams at the Center. Mrs. Williams was born in France and came to the United States as a child. Interesting to talk to.

stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., for Abby's booklet, "How To Write Letters For All Occasions."

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Heaston made one of their infrequent visits to the Center Thursday and Mr. Heaston got sick and an ambulance was called and he was taken to the hospital.

Gene Thompson, operator of the rest home in Canadian was a visitor.

Mrs. C. G. Miller spent Christmas with her daughter, Mrs. D. H. Porter and family near Shamrock.

Mrs. Trimbles brother, R. W. Gordon, is now making his home with her.

Mrs. Floy Posey and daughter of Amarillo, a niece from California and nephew from Boys Ranch, Amarillo spent one day last week with Mrs. Maggie Deal.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moseley had all their children home for Christmas, and a visitor, Miss Loper of New York City.

Mrs. Joe Loper was back with us this week. We are sorry to lose the O. F. Kreimeyers, who have been transferred to Amarillo. Mrs. Kreimeyer was one of the most faithful Gray Ladies.

Altrusa Club was hostess of the December and January birthdays were celebrated.

Birthday cake, ice cream and coffee was served during the refreshment hour. The cake was decorated in yellow roses and a touch of blue by Emily Coston. Centerpiece of snapdragons and mums on serving table, by Ann Kay, was sent to Mrs. Bertha Johnson who is ill in the hospital.

Altrusans serving were Mmes. Marie Fitzgerald, Mabel Hukill, J. Flannigan, Evelyn Mason, Louise Sewell and Misses Mary Lee Cooper and Lou Ella Patterson.

Gray Ladies serving with transportation were Mmes. Naomi Gill, Oma Drew, Jess Hatch, Chris Byerly, Elizabeth Taylor and Cherry Kuhlman.

Foreign News Commentary

By K. C. THAER
LONDON (UPI)—Red China's Mao Tze-tung recently issued a new battle cry for intensified wars of liberation everywhere. Directed to the peoples of the whole world, it said:

"Dare to fight, defy difficulties and advance wave upon wave... against the U. A. aggressors and all their running dogs."

Mao's call to arms was made in a pledge of support to the Congolese rebels. It has since been taken up again by Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai before the National Peoples Congress in Peking.

Thus, Red China apparently has signalled its entry into a more aggressive phase of Mao's concept of wars of liberation.

Stepped-up Push

Signs of a stepped-up Red Chinese push for all-out "wars of liberation" have come from a wide front of Peking's international activity. They range from Viet Nam, where Peking is seen to have an active hand in the latest stepped up Communist campaign, to the Congo where it has been supporting the rebels in their continuing fight against the central government of Moise Tshombe.

Latest moves now also affect Indonesia where Red China has come out in full support of President Sukarno's aggressive policies, all but egging him on to his war of "liberation of Malaysia."

Diplomatic dispatches have reported that Red China has played a key role in Indonesia's latest menacing confrontation strategy of "crush Malaysia in 1965."

All-Out Intervention

Red China's deputy premier and foreign minister Marshal Chen Yi and President Sukarno recently formally decided to "raise the level of the struggle against imperialism, colonialism and neo-colonialism."

This is taken to mean that Red China is pushing for all-out intervention, possibly including military action. Mao Tze-tung's concept apparently envisages step-by-step advance from guerrilla fighting to wider armed action.

The geographic proximity of Viet Nam has made Peking-controlled North Viet Nam apparently the first major theater for testing Mao's concept.

CUT YOUR OWN TAXES

Interest You Pay Pays Off

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the greatest joys of home ownership is realized at income tax filing time. A real glow of satisfaction spreads over the face of the otherwise grumbling taxpayer as he spreads out on the desk in front of him a pile of 12 mortgage payment receipts. As he scans each receipt he copies down just one figure from each slip and then carefully adds the 12 entries. He is eagerly totaling the interest he paid during 1964 on his home mortgage and for just that one night he wishes it were even higher.

For every penny of his interest charges is fully deductible on his income tax return. Home owners who are paying off a sizable mortgage usually elect to itemize their deductions instead of selecting either of the two options — the standard deduction which allows 10 percent of income up to a maximum of $1,000 or the new minimum standard deduction which permits a settlement of $200 plus $100 for each exemption.

While mortgage interest usually is the biggest interest item when deductions are being totaled there are many other kinds of interest, all of which can be used to reduce the amount of tax you will pay.

Did you buy a new or used car on time last year? Borrow from a bank, savings and loan, credit union or finance company to consolidate debts, improve your home or buy new furniture? If so, the interest you paid on the use of the money is deductible. How about a loan for a college student's tuition? Interest paid to Internal Revenue for late payment on last year's taxes? These amounts, also, are fully deductible.

Carrying charges and service charges on many types of installment payments pose a problem for many taxpayers. Where the actual amount of interest is not shown on such a contract Internal Revenue will allow as interest 6 per cent of the average monthly balance. Here is how to arrive at this allowable interest figure when preparing your own tax return:

Gather together all your monthly statements from department stores, finance companies or any other firm with whom you made an installment purchase contract. Total all the monthly balances. Divide this total by 12 to obtain the average monthly balance. Multiply this figure by 6 per cent and that is your allowable interest. Enter it on your tax return as "Interest on installment purchases."

Many home mortgage notes contain a penalty clause which calls for the payment of an additional interest charge if the mortgage is paid off prematurely, generally within five or 10 years after the mortgage is entered into. Such accelerated payments are not common in most households but the rule can apply should the home be sold within the penalty period. For at the time of the sale the mortgage is fully paid off through the funds placed in escrow.

If you sold your home last year and you still had a sizable mortgage on it, better check your escrow statement. If you paid a penalty for early discharge of the mortgage this is additional interest which you may deduct on your tax return. (NEXT: Those Deductible Taxes.)

SOLUTION TO AUTOMATION?

CROCKETT, Calif. (UPI) — Union and management officials at the California and Hawaiian Co. plant, one of the largest sugar refineries in the United States, think they are approaching a solution to a major industrial problem: automation.

Under an agreement signed recently by both sides, company will offer a 62-year-old worker the chance to retire with a monthly pension $100 higher than that available at 65, if an automating device necessitates the elimination of a job in the plant. The retiring worker must have 30 years of service to his credit.

Backstairs At The Whitehouse

By ALVIN SPIVAK
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House.

To Washingtonians and tourists, the construction of inaugural parade grandstands and a presidential reviewing box outside the Executive Mansion is a traffic-snaring mess.

To the contractor and the workmen on the $131,000 project — financed through sales of seat tickets — the activities mean take-home pay and something to do until the conglomeration is torn down after the Jan. 20 inauguration.

And to posterity, this year's construction — chores — provide new entries in the capital's already crowded field of statistics. The figures have been published by "The Carpenter," official organ of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America (AFL-CIO).

Describing President Johnson's most ornate yet built for an inauguration, the union magazine says: "It will provide the President, his personal friends, and various dignitaries with a high vantage point, and protect them from the weather.

"A forest of 36 delicately-finned columns, 27½ feet tall, support a four-foot thick flat canopy. Plastic-covered skylights at the top of each column admit diffused light, which will illuminate the President and his guests. The whole pavilion will have a graceful, airy look, much different from those in earlier years."

"The Carpenter" offers these other statistics:

"About half a million board feet of lumber and 20 tons of bolts will be used for the White House area stands. Another 100,000 board feet or so was to go into special press platforms located at other strategic points along the parade route."

At the Capitol, facing the specially-constructed platform where Johnson and Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey will be sworn in will be stands for 16,000 spectators and press facilities "which required about 400,000 board feet of yellow southern pine, and cost $184,000."

Flanking the presidential box on the White House side of Pennsylvania Avenue, and across the street, will be bleacher seats for 5,000 people. "Over their heads, in the center section, will be another massive press box... extra strong posts were needed to support the press box. To carry the extra weight, 32-foot 8 x 8's were used.

LBJ's Education

Note at a Glance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson's $1.5 billion education program at a glance:

Pre-school — $150 million added to the anti-poverty program to step up nursery school and kindergarten classes.

Low-income School Districts — $1 billion to finance special plans to improve grade and high school training of 5 million children from families with yearly incomes of $2,000 or less.

School Books — $100 million to buy locally approved library and textbooks for children in public, private and parochial schools.

Educational Centers — $100 million to help build laboratories and other special types of classrooms.

Colleges — $260 million for 140,000 federal scholarships to promising but needy students; federal guarantees for private loans.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Soviet ambassador to the United States, leaves the diplomatic circles of Washington today to open a Kansas City exhibit extolling the virtues of the USSR medicine and public health program.

The exhibit attracted an estimated 15,000 viewers in a recent 30-day stay in Pittsburgh. Color films, photographs, drawings and other displays in the exhibit illustrate advances in Soviet medical instruments and equipment and explain how the Russian public health system works.

Weaver Considered a Square In Some Circles, But Does OK

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Dennis Weaver, longtime Chester of the "Gunsmoke" series and now starring in his own "Kentucky Jones" show, has built the kind of home he's always dreamed of having.

It is, in fact, a home most people dream about.

Nestled on a flat acre in the Santa Monica Mountains overlooking the San Fernando valley, Weaver's Spanish-style modern is flanked by a tennis court and swimming pool.

His wife Gerry — they've been married 19 years — has furnished the 13-room home with antiques, traditional Spanish pieces and some modern decor in warm oranges, yellows and greens.

In addition to five bedrooms and five baths, the house contains a studio room for family activities.

Three Sons

It is here, around a pin-pong table, pool table, television set and hi-fi, that the family gets together for relaxation and fun as well as for entertaining guests. It's a permanent hangout for the Weaver sons, Rick, 16, Robby, 11, and Rusty, 5.

There also is a poolhouse with showers and dressing room connected to the house by a breezeway. It gets a lot of action from the boys during the summer.

A permanent boarder this year with the Weaver family is little Ricky Derr, who co-stars in the new CBS-TV series as Weaver's adopted Chinese son.

"We have a hootenanny going for us all year round" says Papa Weaver. "All the boys sing and play the guitar. Even little Rusty knows the chords."

Robby and Ricky share a room and have become inseparable buddies. And despite his Chinese-accented tenor, Ricky joins in the songsters with the rest of the family, somewhat to the displeasure of the Weaver dog, a German shepherd named Duke, who has sensitive ears.

Vegetarian

The only other pets on the premises are an unnamed hamster and a tankful of tropical fish. Mother Gerry is driven to distraction by Robby's proclivity for bringing home morose lizards.

Mrs. Weaver has no steady help in the house, but a cleaning woman comes in regularly. She also does all the cooking for her eternally hungry clan.

Her special dish is wild rice casserole with cheese and green peppers. Because Weaver is a vegetarian meals are simple. They rarely dine out, and when they do it is generally in a vegetarian restaurant.

Dennis is a tennis nut, devoting weekends and holidays to the family court. Most weekends will find friends playing tennis, sipping drinks and dipping into cocktail dips and the pool.

Last summer the Weavers entertained only twice at formal parties for 50 and 30 friends. Both affairs were catered. Most of the Weaver acquaintances are not affiliated with show business.

Saltonstal Has New Health Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Leverett Saltonstal, R-Mass., said today he would offer a proposal today to provide health care for the elderly with federal assistance from general revenues rather than from Social Security payroll taxes.

Saltonstal said other GOP lawmakers would join him in sponsorship of the measure. He said the bill would provide a voluntary program rather than the administration's plan which is based on Social Security financing.

The senator said his plan would build upon the present Kerr-Mills plan through federal-state matching funds with states administering the program. He said it would increase the number of people eligible to receive health care assistance and also avoid the burdensome means test requirements of the Kerr-Mills Act as implemented in many states.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Tobacco Growers Told to Slice '65 Acreage by 19.5

B. EDWARD M. MCDALE, KERNERSVILLE, N.C. (UPI) — Raymond Peddycord sells farm equipment and raises tobacco on 5.42 acres of land just outside of this small town. A year has gone by since the U.S. surgeon general's report on smoking and although Peddycord concedes "it sure hasn't helped matters," his chief concern is a cut in the acreage of which he can legally grow tobacco.

Peddycord, and thousands of other farmers in a state where tobacco is the big crop, have been told to slice their 1965 acreage devoted to tobacco by 19.5 per cent.

For Peddycord, this means about an acre less on which to produce tobacco this year.

Trying Tighter Acreage
Surpluses of fine-cured tobacco, the main leaf used in cigarettes, have mounted to a record 3.7 billion pounds. Tighter acreage, the U.S. Department of Agriculture hopes, will help whittle down this stockpile although a cut in acreage in 1964 from the previous year failed to do so.

Peddycord, an old felt hat pushed back on his head, saw the surgeon general's report as the start of a vicious cycle as far as the tobacco farmer was concerned.

Cigarette sales dropped immediately after the report. Although they began to climb later in the year manufacturers bought less tobacco from the farmers, Peddycord reasons, forcing the growers to put about 280 million pounds of tobacco under the government's loan program. This, he feels, caused the acreage allotments to be further reduced.

New Techniques Help
North Carolina farmers were paid $136 million for their tobacco crops last year.

New farming techniques have helped increase the acreage yield per acre to 2,249 pounds. If the trend continues, there will be another bumper crop this year, and possibly more surpluses for the warehouses. This, and not the surgeon general's report, may drive some tobacco farmers out of business.

PENNY TIRE TEST
NEW YORK (UPI) — You can get a life's worth of value for a penny — and not even spend it — according to Tyrex Inc., the association of rayon tire cord producers.

Just take a Lincoln's head penny, with Abe's profile facing to the right, and insert it between the treads on your tires. If no part of Lincoln's hair disappears, you are driving on dangerous tires, since that means the tread is less than one-sixteenth of an inch thick.

Sure.
You might find another car
as new as the Delta 88.

But not this year.

This is Oldsmobile's Delta 88. It's unique. Unique because it's new. New clear through.
Styling is new. So new, not a line nor a highlight was borrowed from last year.
Power plant is new. Super Rocket V-8 is the biggest in Olds history: 425-cubic-inches big, up to 370-horses strong.
Transmission is new, too. Turbo Hydra-Matic, available on any Delta 88, provides up to 40% more torque from a standing start, superlative performance at all speeds.
New styling. New engine. New transmission. This year, only Delta 88 lets you have all three, all new. Other cars have a lot of catching up to do.

Kiss and Slap on Face Has Russians Feuding

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Analyst

What should a noble Communist girl do when a romantic young Red invites her to a party at a country house and then, after consuming a glass of vodka, tries to kiss her?

According to Komsomolskaya Pravda, Russia's official youth publication, she should slap his face, stalk out of the datcha and report his offense to the newspaper.

That is exactly what Comrade Miss Svetlana did after she "innocently" accepted an invitation to a party at a datcha near Moscow. She slapped the young man's face and denounced him in an indignant letter to the Komsomolskaya Pravda.

But did Miss Svetlana's friends appreciate her courageous act? Not at all, reported Pravda's angry editors. In fact, the paper was deluged with letters from "romantic" girls who hardly shared Miss Svetlana's pure Marxist-Leninist view of necking.

What puts them in a dither is that this preoccupation with love between the sexes keeps young men and women from putting their hearts from the only thing that counts — working and producing for the Communist state.

But physical love, alas, is just too impudent to be regimented, Communist style. And there are no "sacred" Marxist-Leninist texts giving guidance as to how romantic love should be handled in a materialistic collective society.

So, despite strict orders to substitute love of work and love of the Communist party for physical love, romantic capitalist love laughs at tractors, factories and locksmiths.

The authorities are forced to admit this, however reluctantly. The director of Communist Poland's Academy of Science—putting the best possible face on the resurgence of romanticism—recently said:

"We are now facing an imbalance in various fields, including love. I venture to say that romanticism is disappearing. However, love cannot exist without sincere courtship and gentlemanliness, because such a lack would deny the very essence of the love union."

The Red leaders are obviously in a quandary. What makes it difficult for them to expound a strict Communist line on sex is that there is none that can serve the Red state on all occasions.

The name of the Ku Klux Klan originated from the Greek word "kuklos", meaning ring.

Financial Gossip

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—The current turmoil over the price of gold on international markets has left at least one bank employe in this financial center completely unfruffled.

He is too busy each banking day taking care of a stock of millions of dollars in currency.

He is Cornelius Hopkins, ex-Marine, who works in the closely-guarded fifth basement level at Chase Manhattan's main office in the Wall Street area, as a supervisor of the currency and coin department.

Money is the stock in trade of any bank, of course, and Hopkins works amid shelves where currency is wrapped and stacked just as items in retail trade at any store. The currency division, and nearby Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority division handle about $15 million each day.

Bills Are Checked

And as in any receiving department in a manufacturing or industrial concern, the incoming stock gets a thorough going over. Bills are counted on a federal bill counter and inspected at the same time. Worn currency is weeded out and sent to the federal reserve bank for disposition.

That which passes inspection goes back into packages, by denomination of 100 bills. Some is retained for use by the Chase; it is packaged in the familiar paper-band wrapping which cashiers' windows produce in quantity on paydays.

About 75 per cent of the currency Hopkins' department handles comes in from abroad, mostly by registered sea mail. The other 25 per cent comes from domestic sources.

"Currency isn't like a piece of paper that can be mislaid and replaced," Hopkins said recently. "You may never recover it if it is lost."

As in any job where accuracy and dependability are governing factors, Hopkins must be always careful and always on the alert. But after eight years on the job, he regards all that money as merely stock in trade. The sight of it, he says, doesn't affect him at all.

Senate to Hear Viet Nam Report

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Central Intelligence Director John A. McCone goes before a Senate hearing today to testify on the military situation in South Viet Nam.

The intelligence chief, who is reported to have submitted his resignation to President Johnson and to be awaiting selection of a successor, was scheduled to appear at a closed joint session of the Armed Services Committee and the military appropriations subcommittee.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of both groups, called the hearing. He told UPI the study would make no attempt to change U.S. policy in the war against Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

The sessions will concern themselves mainly with the "military aspects" of the struggle, Russell said. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and other top Pentagon officials are scheduled to appear later.

Russell said he expects that members of both committees will want to look at the various courses of action open to the United States in South Viet Nam.

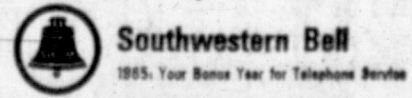

But he stressed that the hearings will hear testimony on Viet Nam only as part of a review of the nation's global military posture, an inquiry that is conducted each year.

REPORTS RECORD INCOME CAIRO (UPI)—The Suez Canal Authority Sunday announced a record income of $179,149,000 for 1964 compared to $163,976,000 for 1963 and $74,136,000 for 1955—the last year before the canal was nationalized by Egypt.

Follow that truck

(but if you do, plan to step lively)

You're looking at one of the busiest trucks in the world, especially this year. During 1965 Southwestern Bell's motor fleet will travel 88 million miles in the biggest construction program ever undertaken. A one-year $350 million effort (this means up to 17,500 new jobs among the firms which sell supplies, services and materials to the telephone company) to make the world's best telephone service even better. You will benefit directly. In cities, on farms, at home, at your office or in your car, you'll be able to call easier and faster in all kinds of weather. Next time you see a big telephone truck, take a second look. You'll be looking at rolling proof of a really massive effort to make your telephone serve you better, of more personal value to you.

"SWEET WILLIAM" Harle has pulled a few ringers in on the Pampa Newsboys! The cheery, checked Wheeler coach called in his lineup yesterday morning and it was a frightening array of former college and high school stars called "The Faculty Faculty Plus Four." And what a plus! First on the list is Marvellous Mendall Hunter, probably the greatest athlete who ever came out of Wheeler High. The 6'1" Hunter was a four-time all-district cager who used to drive for 30 and 40 points a game. Ouch!

Added to that is the 6'2" Harle, who played AAU ball after West Texas and Vega High; coach Richard Gaines, 6-2, who played for Wheeler back in the days when Billy the Kid roamed this country; Hiram Bezar, 6-1, a ringer for a furrin' country; Allison; the Helton brothers, 5-6 Tooter and 5-10 Jack, who both played for Southwestern Oklahoma; 5-11 Kelly Miller, another Allison ringer; and coach J. T. Hill, former Canadian whiz, who claims 5-7 but is really shorter than Chico Ramirez.

To add to this conglomeration of pros, the Faculty Faculty are bringing their own officials with a vengeance! Seems the four officials (they figure to run in relays to keep up with us) include the Wheeler principal and three Wheeler High basketball players. I ask you, can you see Donk Porter, Richard Wallace or Billy Overcast calling a foul on their own coach? The Newsboys are playing under protest!

HOWEVER, all is not lost. The Newsboys are bringing in a surprise starter of their own, (no, not Ronnie Cooper) who might make the difference for the shorter Newsboys. In addition, we will really brainwash Wheeler before they start by wearing Miami jerseys! The sight of a Warrior jersey should be worth 10 points even before the game starts! In addition, the Miami cheerleaders will root the Newsboys on to victory.

Sweet William, bragging about his kid sister Judy, a hot-shot with Vega this season, wanted to sneak her into the game too. If he does, we'll put in Patches Dodson!

Anyway, the Newsboys, with or without our surprise starter (and will he be a surprise!) will give the Faculty Faculty all they can handle. The battle will take place at 7:30 Thursday night at Wheeler Gym, with the proceeds to go toward purchasing new athletic equipment (socks for Harle to swipe for his sister, no doubt), anyway, we expect all Miami and Lefors fans up to give the Newsboys moral support against this junior version of the Phillips 66ers!

Struggle To Set Up AFL Bowl

HOUSTON (UPI)—The American Football League, both the players and staff, struggled today to set up the AFL's discrimination-transplanted All-Star game with only four days to prepare.

Players on the East and West All-Star squads planned their first workout today in Houston, picked as the site of the game Monday after a group of 20 Negroes refused to play in New Orleans, the original game city.

The Negro players said they were refused service in New Orleans night clubs and taxis would not stop to pick them up "as members of the AFL family" and ordered the game moved to Houston.

The announced move set off confusion in the Houston Oilers' office, whose staff members were suddenly forced to arrange programs, ticket sales, team lodging, transportation, equipment, advertisements, halftime show, meeting facilities, stadium concessions and the myriad other details of a professional game.

The American Broadcasting Co. (ABC) said it would televise the game as planned at 1 p.m., CST despite the change of site.

A scheduled meeting of the AFL owners, also moved from New Orleans, was set to start Wednesday and will run three days.

Game promoters in New Orleans had already sold 20,000 tickets for the game, and expected 60,000 paid customers. In contrast to the Sugar Bowl Stadium, Jeppesen Stadium holds only 35,000.

HARVESTER OF THE WEEK — Lanny Lewis made the honor this week for his tremendous ballhandling and playmaking in the Harvester win over Monterey. The Harvesters can gain a piece of the district title tonight with a win at Tascosa. Lewis and his mates are a well-balanced team shown by the shooting averages, Lewis with 11.1, Ropes Roper 14.5, Mac McWilliams 12.1, Davy McDaniel 12.2, Ron Curlee 8.8.

Prothro Bruins' Coach

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Tommy Prothro, who originally came West as an assistant coach at UCLA and then took a 10-year detour to Oregon State, was back today as the Bruins' head football coach.

The appointment was accepted by Prothro at Chicago from UCLA Athletic Director J. D. Morgan and announced simultaneously by UCLA and Oregon State late Monday.

Prothro replaces Bill Barnes who announced his resignation Christmas week after UCLA failed to renew his three-year contract which expired at the close of the 1964 season.

The return of Prothro to the UCLA campus continues the dynasty started by the late Henry (Red) Sanders who brought both Barnes and Prothro west when he took over as head football coach in 1949. Since Sanders died in 1958, his assistants have formed a line of succession to the coaching throne.

Almost immediately, Prothro discussed the topic of recruiting, and said he would concentrate on the Los Angeles area. "I think UCLA must learn to live in the Los Angeles area," he said, noting practically everybody on Sanders' best teams came from within 50 miles of the city.

Prothro was already to concede the Bruins had to rebuild at quarterback, where Larry Zeno starred for three years, and at tackle.

Prothro's selection had been rumored almost before Barnes left. But as coach of the West team in the Rose Bowl, Prothro kept a tight-lipped silence even after his Oregon State team went down to a 34-7 defeat before the Michigan Wolverines on New Year's Day.

In his decade at Oregon State, Prothro compiled a 63-37-2 record and his teams three times capturing league championships on the West Coast. In 1956-57 they won back-to-back crowns in the then Pacific Coast Conference.

UCLA Strengthens Hold on Top Spot

NEW YORK (UPI) — The UCLA basketball express has rolled over everything in sight since its derailment at Illinois, and the Bruins' schedule indicates a non-stop trip to their second consecutive national championship.

UCLA strengthened its grip on the top spot in the United Press International major college basketball ratings today by increasing its number of first-place votes from 13 to 30 and its point total from 275 to 326.

This gave the Bruins a 56-point margin over second-ranked Michigan. Points are awarded on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, nine points for second place, etc.

Coach John Wooden's Bruins face California Friday and Stanford Saturday at home. Stanford (7-2), which has won five consecutive, is one of only four teams with a winning record remaining on UCLA's schedule.

Michigan edged Illinois Saturday to remain in second place. Wichita broke a third-place deadlock with Indiana, taking sole possession by whipping both Bradley and Cincinnati while the Hoosiers slipped to 1-1.

Harney Takes 2nd Straight LA Open

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—When Paul Harney came West to do a bit of prospecting for gold in California he was doubtful — worried about the future for himself, his wife and his family of four children.

Tuesday he hit another "strike" and picked up $12,000 for capturing his second consecutive Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

In two years in the West, based at Sunset Oaks, Calif., near the original gold strike, his earnings have totaled around $100,000. Next month he heads back to his old home town of Worcester, Mass., where he plans to spend the rest of his life.

Harney is only the third man in the 29-year history of the Los Angeles Open to win it two years in a row. The others are golfing immortals: MacDonald Smith in 1928-1929 and a fellow named Ben Hogan in 1947-48.

"I guess I was just lucky," he admits. "But I don't think I've ever been better off the tee in my life. And my putting was pretty good in the final round."

The prematurely grey, 35-year-old string-bean, who weighs 150 pounds but blasts the ball as far as George Bayer, had rounds of 68-71-68-69 for a 276 total — eight strokes under par on the tough Rancho course.

Dan Sikes, a 34-year-old lawyer from Florida who won a little more than $300 in two previous tries here, finished in second place with a 279 — good for $6,500. Big Bill Casper came in third with a 281, good for $4,000. In his last 15 tournaments, Casper has finished ninth or better, winning twice and collecting $51,223.

Lee Leads Vanderbilt By Georgia Bulldogs

By FRED MCMANE
UPI Sports Writer

It looks as if Vanderbilt is finally beginning to live up to its pre-season expectations as the Deep South's best basketball team, and wouldn't you know it, a guy named Lee is leading the charge.

The Commodores, who returned to the nation's top 10 rated teams this week after an absence of several weeks, won their ninth in a row Monday night as they downed Georgia 75-62 behind a 29-point and 27-rebound performance from Clyde Lee.

Jerry Waller led Georgia in scoring with 25 points.

Third-ranked Wichita tripped Southern Illinois 94-81, fourth-ranked Indiana defeated Iowa 85-76, eighth-ranked St. John's edged Creighton 72-66, ninth-edged Creighton 72-66, ninth-Citadel 100-81, 17th-ranked St. Louis stopped Notre Dame 75-67 and 18th-ranked Kentucky toppled Tulane 102-72.

Both Teams Hot
Wichita hit a sizzling 59 per cent of its shots against Southern Illinois, but wasn't able to pull away until the second half due to a 55 per cent shooting performance by the Salukis in the first stanza. All-America Dave Stallworth paced the winners with 20.

Indiana had trouble with Iowa in the first half as it led by only 41-35 at the intermission, but the Hoosiers hurried to a 50-37 lead in the first five minutes of the second half and the Hawkeyes never came closer than three points thereafter.

Steve Redenbaugh paced Indiana's scoring with 22 points and Chris Pervall led Iowa with 24.

St. John's got a fine shooting performance from Bob McIntyre to down Creighton. The junior forward connected for 26 points to break open Creighton's zone defense.

Babe Peebles Dies at 79

DENISON, Tex. (UPI)—Aldridge (Babe) Peebles, 79, who managed baseball great Roters Hornsby in the old Texas-Oklahoma League, died Monday night. Funeral services were set for today.

Peebles was manager of the Paris team in 1915 when Hornsby was a young player. Hornsby was later sold to St. Louis; Hornsby played more than 20 years for the Cardinals and was named to the Hall of Fame.

Survivors include a widow, a son, John L. Peebles of Austin and a brother, J. C. Peebles of Houston and two grand children. Peebles was a native of Hempstead, Tex.

NBA Flops In Tulsa

By United Press International

The National Basketball Association took its show on the road Monday night and met with mixed reactions.

The Detroit Pistons and Los Angeles Lakers received a good reception at Pittsburgh, where a crowd of 5,896 saw the Pistons eke out a 128-127 victory on Ray Scott's 12-foot jump shot with 17 seconds remaining.

The greeting wasn't as warm as Tulsa, Okla., where only 2,300 fans turned out at the new Civic Assembly Center to witness the city's first NBA game ever. In this one, the St. Louis Hawks built a 29-point lead in the final quarter and then coasted to a 100-78 win over the Philadelphia 76ers.

Jerry West scored 43 points for the Lakers, but this still wasn't enough to thwart a fine team effort by Detroit in a game that was tied 11 times. Reggie Harding had 29 points for the Pistons and Scott added 28.

Lenny Wilkens of the Hawks was the top scorer at Tulsa with 23 points while Lucius Jackson had 21 points and 21 rebounds for Philadelphia. No other teams were scheduled.

Hillcrest Coach To Richardson

DALLAS (UPI)—Dallas Hillcrest coach Joe Simpson, who directed his team to a city football championship last fall, will replace Bill Atkins as head coach of the Richardson Eagles on Feb. 1, the Dallas Morning News said today.

Atkins will remain at Richardson as an assistant principal.

Simpson's team boasted an 11-1 mark last season—the only loss being to Fort Worth Paschal in the playoffs.

'Nobody Wants A Strike'

Inquiring reporters covering the nation's steel towns, talking with workers at plant gates, on the streets, in their homes, in restaurants, bowling alleys, bars, or wherever, are in agreement on the basic sentiment of the rank and file members of the 1.2 million-man United Steelworkers of America. "Nobody wants a strike." That is the sentiment expressed. And certainly, if the breadwinner feels that way, his wife and homefolks are even more emphatic on this point. While a small percentage is reported as expecting a work stoppage before an agreement, a great many have said they'd rather go along with a renewal of the present contract than to be called out.

But most of them are upset over the bitter fight launched by Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel to unseat President David J. McDonald and occupy the throne McDonald has held for a dozen years. While Abel received a majority of the nominating local petitions and his supporters are vociferous, the majority of members interviewed is reported to favor McDonald as a leader who has achieved the union's goals with a minimum of lost wages and strike tension. Obviously they fear for a change in command in the midst of negotiations (the election is February 9th) and feel that their President, who, like the ideal in Kipling's "If," can walk with kings nor lose the common touch, is entitled at age 62 to another term, which would be his last since he must retire at 65.

In pointing out that contract talks are now in progress with basic steel, Mr. McDonald said: "The union cannot afford undercutting and backbiting at a time when the interests of the men and women in the union and their families can be endangered by such action." He had written Mr. Abel, he said, inviting him to debate the election issues before local unions and spell out his "supposedly compelling reasons" for seeking the top office at this time.

Mr. Abel told reporters he was "not aware" of the invitation. It is unfortunate, we think, that this contest should come at a time of highly critical negotiations with an industry that is basic to all others and whose costs and prices are therefore a vital factor in the stability of the national economy. Agreement on a fair contract is far more important to steelworkers as well as to the American people than who will be president of the union.

And a change of leadership midway of the bargaining is hardly a good omen.

The Old Sew and Sews

The New York Times covers foreign news in fascinating detail, recently reporting that there are millions of new, unwanted sewing machines clogging the warehouses of the Soviet Union.

This odd circumstance had its beginnings a few years ago when Russians were forming lines outside the shops which were supposed to sell sewing machines, and the product was in short supply. Khrushchev & Co., which operated Russia at the time, inaugurated a plan to provide enough sewing machines. These plans were handed to factory managers, who toolled up and produced as if their jobs depended on it, as indeed they did.

Then somebody forgot to tell them to stop. The situation came to light, as so many situations do, when a subscriber wrote a letter to a newspaper, remarking that his factory had a stock of 150,000 unneeded sewing machines, to which it was adding every working day.

All this, of course, constituted an enormous waste of the resources of a poor country. But under the state planning system, the market does not set its own pace and order its own production. It was inevitable. It has happened with other products, and it will happen in Russia again.

What is discouraging is that the same thing happens here, if by different means. Our agriculture program is intended to remove the market as a factor in production, and enormous surpluses are created. The Government "stimulates" apartment building, and now high vacancy rates and foreclosures are beginning to indicate a surplus there. Our strategic stockpile bulges with various over-bought items, and the Defense Department is frantically trying to ston increases of inventories of items already in over-supply.

But the free market here, at least, controls sewing machine production. You can buy one anytime you want one, and we don't have a surplus paid for by taxes.

Watch It, Senator!

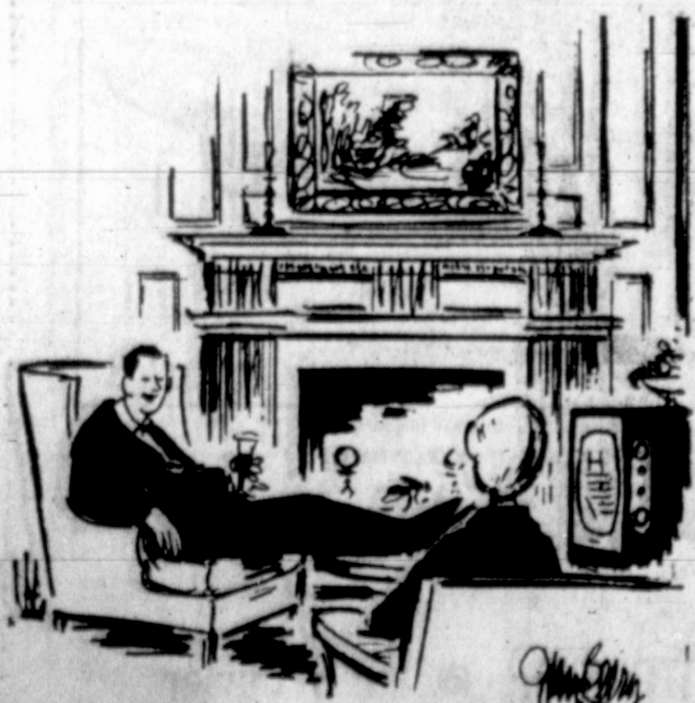

Senator John Tower, who recently returned from a trip to England, France and Spain where he talked to top leaders of government and gave an interpretation of U. S. Conservatism to French journalists, had better watch his step if he wants to stay in office.

He paid for the trip out of his own pocket. That just wouldn't be tolerated any more than allowing a student to work his way through college.

Standard Operating Procedure

Bureaucrats at all levels of government have the same philosophy. Once they get into office it becomes "my office" to be run as "I" see fit, at least until the next election, when suddenly they become servants of the people, instead of masquerading as "my office" to be run as "I" see fit, at least for the people's support.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

Back in 1959 Lyndon B. Johnson, who will be inaugurated as the 36th President of the United States next week, wrote the following for a Texas periodical: "I am a free man, an American, a United States Senator, and a Democrat in that order. I am also a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a businessman, a consumer, a parent, a voter, and not as young as I used to be, nor as old as I expect to be — and I am all those things in no fixed order." That's a gem of concise self-analysis.

Today's smile: We liked the one about the government employee in Washington who suffered from dizzy spells. He got that way reading too many circular letters.

Remember Mark Twain's wonderful short story, "The Million Pound Bank Note?" Well, so does a Florida movie press agent, who used the idea of the story to promote the new Universal film, "I'd Rather Be Rich." He gave a Miami reporter a $10,000 bill and sent him around town buying neckties, tooth paste and hamburgers. The dough was as hard to come by as the change for his small purchases. It was sent to Florida from the Treasury Dept. in Washington, insured for $50 a day, and the reporter was accompanied at all times by a cop.

Thoughts while shaving: Alexander Graham Bell was experimenting with telegraphic apparatus in an attic room in Boston, just 90 years ago, when he chanced on the principle for all telephonic communications both by wire and wireless (radio). He was as surprised at what he had invented as today's users of the gadget when they dial the right number using the new area codes, etc. . . . According to some friends just returned from Acapulco, that resort is as much a status symbol to the Mexicans as Palm Beach or Sun Valley is to the average American. They tell us that during the Christmas and Easter holidays many Mexicans who cannot afford to go there disconnect their phones in the hope that callers will assume they are there. How silly can they get? . . . We'll bet you never knew before now there are 1,853,530 retail stores in the U.S. — We didn't, either. . . . The American Medical Association maintains a clearing house to process the growing number of requests from foreign countries for doctors. Last year more than 1000 U.S. physicians applied for assignments in foreign lands. As part of our efforts to cure the world's ills, the U.S. now maintains more than 700 health projects and 300 hospitals in foreign countries. . . . The next time you try some English cheddar cheese, remember that it was a favorite of King Henry VIII. And you'll find with a little research that 12th century writers praised English Cheshire, which owes its clean, sharp taste to the rich salt deposits of the Cheshire pastures. Both have been imitated, but never equaled, and you'll taste the difference if you compare the imitations with the genuine imported kind. Incidentally King Henry and his predecessors knew a slice of cheese goes very well with a glass of sherry.

The Los Angeles (Calif.) TIMES headlined a financial story: "Market Turns Pale Over New Asian Clash But Basically It's In The Pink." That's coloring the news.

Country Editor speaking: "It's okay to be a good loser, but only the winner gets the prize."

One of the officials not called to testify was responsible for sending to the FBI a report contending that the former Marine was not dangerous. The other diplomat was involved in the legal ruling that, although Oswald had renounced his citizenship in Russia, he didn't lose it because he had not signed certain documents.

MYSTERY WITNESSES — Representative Feighan, whose Judiciary Subcommittee on Immigration will conduct the inquiry in the House, has the names of these State Department officials and plans to summon both as witnesses.

The FBI, which is keeping open its investigation of the assassination, will be asked to furnish its investigative reports on these officials, including one made during a security probe of the State Department in the '50s.

Feighan's hearing will highlight the little-known opposition of several Immigration Service authorities to Oswald's return.

Working closely with other members of the Senate and House Judiciary Committees, the two Ohio Democrats plan to use the hearings on the legislation to question State Department and Immigration authorities thoroughly on why Oswald, who spent two years in the Soviet Union after defecting from the U.S., was permitted to return to this country.

They will seek a report on what the two agencies have done to prevent another Oswald case, and call for a full accounting and the present whereabouts of all U.S. defectors, including those who reportedly have returned to the U.S.

Representative Feighan and Senator Lausche are unhappy with the way the Warren Commission, in investigating the assassination of President Kennedy, brushed this important chapter in Oswald's life under the rug.

The commission, which held the State Department blameless, did not question several important diplomats involved in Oswald's return to the U.S.

Feighan, Lausche to Propose National Commission to Handle Defectors, So Congress Can Review Handling of Oswald

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Two Ohio legislators are quietly setting the stage for Congress to make its own review of the State Department's and Immigration Service's handling of Lee Harvey Oswald, assassin of President Kennedy.

Representative Michael Feighan, D., and Senator Frank Lausche, D., plan to trigger the congressional inquiry this month by introducing legislation for the establishment of a national commission made up of representatives from all branches of government and the public, to handle all cases of U.S. and Soviet defectors.

They also are preparing legislation "providing for the loss of nationality in the case of an individual entering a Communist country with the intent to transfer his allegiance from the U.S. to that country."

Working closely with other members of the Senate and House Judiciary Committees, the two Ohio Democrats plan to use the hearings on the legislation to question State Department and Immigration authorities thoroughly on why Oswald, who spent two years in the Soviet Union after defecting from the U.S., was permitted to return to this country.

They will seek a report on what the two agencies have done to prevent another Oswald case, and call for a full accounting and the present whereabouts of all U.S. defectors, including those who reportedly have returned to the U.S.

Representative Feighan and Senator Lausche are unhappy with the way the Warren Commission, in investigating the assassination of President Kennedy, brushed this important chapter in Oswald's life under the rug.

The commission, which held the State Department blameless, did not question several important diplomats involved in Oswald's return to the U.S.

One of the officials not called to testify was responsible for sending to the FBI a report contending that the former Marine was not dangerous. The other diplomat was involved in the legal ruling that, although Oswald had renounced his citizenship in Russia, he didn't lose it because he had not signed certain documents.

MYSTERY WITNESSES — Representative Feighan, whose Judiciary Subcommittee on Immigration will conduct the inquiry in the House, has the names of these State Department officials and plans to summon both as witnesses.

The FBI, which is keeping open its investigation of the assassination, will be asked to furnish its investigative reports on these officials, including one made during a security probe of the State Department in the '50s.

Feighan's hearing will highlight the little-known opposition of several Immigration Service authorities to Oswald's return.

One Immigration District Director, J. W. Holland of San Antonio, Texas, vigorously opposed granting return visas to Oswald and his wife, stating in a memorandum to his superiors:

"Petition of Lee Harvey Oswald forwarded with recommendation that sanctions not be waived and petition denied. . . . A substantial amount of derogatory security information has been developed in connection with the petitioner, and it is felt that he does not meet the criteria mentioned as to being reputable, and considerable doubt has arisen with regard to any meritorious features of this case."

"It is reported that on his subsequent visit to the U.S. embassy in Moscow, he stated he had been completely relieved of his illusions about the Soviet Union, and also that much of the bravado and arrogance which characterized his first visit appeared to have left him."

"These unsupported declarations are not sufficient to relieve the doubts which have arisen regarding his loyalty to the U.S. Sanctions will not be waived, and the petition should be denied."

THE REVERSE PLAY — According to Feighan's investigation, the Immigration Service dropped its opposition to Oswald after the State Department Office of Security forwarded a memorandum stating:

"Lee Harvey Oswald attempted to renounce U.S. citizenship but did not, in fact, renounce U.S. citizenship. . . . Our determination on the basis of information and evidence presently of record is that Mr. Oswald did not expatriate himself and remains a citizen of the U.S."

NATIONAL COMMISSION — In proposing the establishment of a national commission to handle all defector cases, Feighan and Lausche will contend such a federal body is needed to protect the security of this country.

They will use the Senate-House hearings to show that the U.S. presently has no national policy on handling defecting high-ranking officials from Communist countries, including Russia and China.

While asylum in the U.S. has usually been granted them by the State Department, there are no laws under which any agency of government can offer rewards or promise jobs to the Communist big-wigs willing to defect.

Specific cases to be put on the public record by Feighan will show that high-ranking Communist security officials have fled from Poland and Russia and given the CIA valuable information about Soviet agents in this country, but no action has ever been taken against these security risks.

BETTER CUP OF TEA (The Daily Oklahoman)

In the family of nations living in the tall tower beside the East River in New York, Russia currently is playing the role of delinquent. An over-indulgent Uncle Sam, hoping to straighten things out, might well consider the ingenious Glueck Prediction Table.

Prof. Glueck of the Harvard law school and his wife have determined a set of "universals," traits common to delinquents but not found in non-delinquents. Using their table, in 1932, a New York City youth board predicted the fate of 301 boys from a neighborhood with a high delinquency record. A recent follow-up study gave the table an 85 percent accuracy rate in predicting delinquency and an even higher 95 percent record in picking out the non-delinquents.

Uncle Sam, wondering what to do about the UN's "problem child," might well give some thought to these Glueck universals: the amount of family supervision, discipline and cohesiveness (doing things together). In and out of the UN we have disregarded all of these factors in our dealings with the Soviets.

We didn't insist that the Russians pay their World War II lend-lease debts (lack of discipline). We signed a unilateral test ban treaty without insisting on on-site inspection (lack of supervision). We haven't thus far demanded that Russia pay up her UN obligations or forfeit her vote (lack of discipline).

And we didn't get her participation in the UN peace-keeping mission in the Congo (lack of cohesiveness).

Granted, Uncle Sam alone isn't to blame for all these failures, particularly those in the Congo. But the table which Prof. Glueck describes as "very much like an insurance actuarial table," has proved nonetheless accurate. The lesson is crystal clear. Having compromised on supervision and discipline over the years, we have no reason to be surprised now that Russia proposes changing the rules to suit herself. Having tugged tentatively at the reins, and found them lack and indecisively held, she threatens now to kick over the traces.

To brew a better cup of tea, they say, first determine what made the last cup bitter. And whether it's nations or boys, the Gluecks seem to have fingered at least some of the factors that contribute to the bitter brew of delinquency. Uncle Sam would do well to heed the warning. If we would beat the law of averages in the case of Russia, it is high time we assumed the role of a stern disciplinarian in the family of nations.

We can and must start by refusing to compromise in the weeks ahead on the demand that Russia meet all its UN obligations.

Father — It's a good plan, my dear, always to think before you speak.

Daughter — But, dad, when I do that the girls have changed the subject.

Face It: We're 'Hooked' on Life

NEW YORK (NEA) — We do not mind saying that it is a great bore to spend a whole night trafficking in the narcotics trade. Especially when all you have to show for it is half a pack of Marijuana cigarettes and the telephone numbers of four needy girls.

Ordinarily, we would not have bothered with the project but we heard an announcement by Gov. Rockefeller calling for a "massive effort" to wipe out narcotics addiction with vocational training programs, halfway houses for people trying to come back and so on.

And we were a little hesitant to dispute the matter without confirming again what we had seen the last dozen times we covered the scene. After all, Mr. Rockefeller usually has excellent reasons for what he wants to do, being prematurely wealthy and therefore accustomed only to the best.

Nevertheless we dispute his plan. Not that the narcotics situation can be left in its present fix.

But from what we have seen and heard (and figured out), an addiction is nothing to fool around with — most certainly not with a massive effort or halfway houses or halfway measures.

To our way of thinking it is very risky business to go to an addiction as though it were little more than a bad habit, to be broken with lozenges and good, old fashioned stick-to-it-iveness.

It is one thing to quit smoking cigarettes or reading John O'Hara. But once you start meddling with real addictions you are in danger of upsetting the whole appellation of the civilization.

Rightly understood, the addiction is the backbone of a harmonious society. In fact, the greater the addiction the greater the society. It is just as easy to become a reality addict as it is to get hooked on heroin.

And if you want to know how an addiction feels, you might make a list of all the things you can do very nicely without but would rather not. Don't forget to put down the unimportant things, too such as electricity, numbers and money.

Properly cultivated, the addict is actually the only man worth having on your team. People who have kicked the habit may be more interesting to visit, but you certainly would not want to live there.

There is one more item to consider, and that is you do not have to be a user to be an addict.

In that regard, an ambitious reformer is just as dependent on crime and corruption as the worst offender. A fellow does not have to be an expert to be addicted to expertise, nor wealthy to be addicted to money.

And the same is true of narcotics. As a former federal agent told us the other evening: "Man, you've simply got no idea how many people are working this particular street. You're getting paid to sit here and talk to me and then go home and write about it, right?"

"Well, you just start thinking about everybody else who's in it. And it doesn't make a bit of difference whether they're in it for kicks or for money."

So we thought about it. And the very first person who came to mind was the house mother at Gov. Rockefeller's halfway house.

It seems to us that maybe the best idea is to leave the addiction alone and try shutting off the supply of narcotics for a while.

We have been told by several long-time experts in the field that it is not a very good plan, as it doesn't solve the basic problem. And that may be so.

But our guess is that once you submit to being alive, nothing can solve the basic problem. Everything always seems to end up being just another symptom.

Turning Back The Clock

One of the threats to freedom that is virtually certain to appear in Congress this year is an effort to destroy all right-to-work laws and to replace voluntary unionism with union compulsion.

The AFL-CIO has announced that it has designed Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley labor law as a prime target this year. Section (b) contains only 44 words, but it is a vital safeguard for working men who do not want to be compelled to join a union as a condition of employment. The section states:

"Nothing in this Act shall be construed as authorizing the execution or application of agreements requiring membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment in any state or territory in which such execution or application is prohibited by state or territorial law."

If Congress should bow to the pressure from the AFL-CIO leaders, it would be going against the wishes of the 58 million Americans who already have expressed their views by enacting state Right-to-Work laws in the 20 states that have such laws.

There is much additional evidence showing support for Right-to-Work legislation, even in states that lack this safeguard. The Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, N. J., in 1964 conducted a poll that showed that 67 per cent of the people in the country believe that a man should not be compelled to join a union in order to hold his job.

It would be very surprising indeed if compulsory unionism were favored by the U.S. public, for compulsion runs against the American grain. When a man has to join a union to obtain a job, it means that he is unfree. A condition is put on his civil rights. When a man joins a union he often has to accept what the union says is right in public affairs. He is compelled to pay dues to support political and other activities of which he may deeply disapprove. If a union boss decides that a would-be member is not a believer in the union's objectives, he may choose to deny him membership. Unless this man is in a state that has a right-to-work law, the end result is that an individual is denied a job, not by the decision of an employer but by the decision of a union official. It is hard to think of a setup that is more un-American.

Basic to the thinking of the bosses of the AFL-CIO is the idea that unions own the jobs that are available in the country, and have the right to parcel these jobs out to friends. But there's no substance of truth in such an idea. The giving of employment is the right of the employer, and the working man should not be required to go hat in hand to a union official — a third party — to seek credentials for obtaining a job.

Where there is no right-to-work law, there is in effect a union dictatorship over employment. In such a situation, a union official has the power to deny a livelihood to a man who is qualified to work. It would seem that such a situation is contrary to the U.S. Constitution, which says a man cannot be deprived of what is his without due process of law. A man who has a job has been given something of value by his employer; and if that something of value, namely a weekly pay check, is eliminated by action of a union, then that union would seem to be acting illegally.

What the unions want, in trying to abolish right-to-work laws, is to return to the medieval guild system whereby certain lines of work were, in truth, virtually owned by guilds of craftsmen. But the guild system constituted a barrier to individual freedom and to national prosperity. It was arbitrary and restrictive. Indeed this is that compulsory unionism is in the 1960s. The AFL-CIO must not be allowed to turn back the clock and restore a compulsion that belongs in the Middle Ages.
