Emergency Quarters

WIMBLEDON, England—Mr. and Mrs. James Hope spent their wedding night under guard at Wimbledon police station.
The couple, married Wednesday afternoon, started on the honeymoon but found there was a mix-up in hotel reservations. Almost in tears, the young couple wandered into the station and told police they had nowhere to go.
The desk sergeant did not hesitate. He turned the station waiting room into a makeshift boudoir, gave the couple bedding and made sure they were not disturbed.

Defiant Unions Again Prolong New York Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — The last striking union defied its leadership Wednesday and voted down a contract, forcing the newspaper shutdown into its 11th day and depriving millions of the editions they had expected to see again today.

In morning newspaper offices, the 191 to 111 negative vote of the photografters union was greeted with shock and disbelief. The presses had been cleaned and inked, lead heated in pots, and editorial workers alerted to turn out copy for today's editions.

If only 41 of the dissenters had changed their mind just before voting, almost 20,000 idle newspaper employees would be back to work today.

Thousands of employees were standing near their newspapers waiting for the picket lines to be removed Wednesday while the photografters were meeting.

Workers Stunned
At the Daily News about 50 editorial employees — "as many as on a regular working day" — watched a television set for word of the vote. When the news flashed on the screen they stared (See UNIONS, Page 10)

Flash Strikes Plague France

PARIS (UPI) — Nationalized utility workers began an eight-day series of "flash strikes" today to back 200,000 coal miners demanding higher wages from the French government.

Electricity in central Paris was cut at mid-morning, disrupting subway and suburban train service and blacking out the shops themselves. Candles flickered in many offices and apartments.

Gas pressure wavered, but was not cut completely for reasons of safety. Darkened street signals produced traffic jams that continued until policemen stepped in to unscramble them.

Satellite Shot Cancelled

Saturn-I Flight Set

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A named. The rocket is seeking its fourth success in as many launches into the sky today, but scientists called off a satellite shot that was to have been the second half of the year's first space double-header.

The 165-foot Saturn-I, packing the horsepower of 300,000 automobiles, was scheduled to leap into space at 1:30 p.m. EST on a brief "up-and-do" flight.

But early today, officials postponed the planned launching of a three-stage Delta rocket with a 410-pound atmosphere-studying satellite aboard. The shot, which had been set for tonight, "is off until early next week," a federal space agency spokesman said.

The delay was blamed on one of the satellite's eight instruments.
The Saturn-I and its sister "super-rockets" will send U.S. astronauts into weeks-long orbits around earth and later to the moon itself this decade.

The Saturn-I rocket generates 1.5 million pounds of thrust and is as awesome in its own way as the planet after which it was named.

Fidel Wants Bombers To Protect Cuba Against 'Yankee Aggression'

Attacks, Sabotage Blamed On U.S.

By ADOLFO G. MERINO
United Press International

MIAMI (UPI) — Radio Havana said today Fidel Castro's Cuba may obtain long-range bombers and naval escort vessels — presumably from Russia — to "protect its supply routes against Yankee aggressors."

The broadcast blamed the United States for a Cuban refugee attack Wednesday on the Russian freighter Baku and charged also that "Yankee agents" sabotaged a Bolivian airliner that crashed recently in Peru.

Anti-Castro Cuban raiders had reported the attack on the ship, saying they sank the freighter by smashing a motorboat loaded with explosives into its side.

Today's broadcast was the first indication that the Bolivian airliner crash March 15 might be anything but an accident. Forty-one persons were killed in the crash, including two Cuban diplomatic couriers.

Aimed at Couriers
The Cuban radio charged that U.S. agents engineered the crash in some unexplained way "to kill the diplomatic couriers."

"If these attacks continue, Cuba will find itself in the position of considering the acquisition of long-range bombers, as well as the naval units needed to escort our merchant vessels, to protect our supply routes and repress the aggressors," the broadcast said.

The statement carried by the official radio was signed by Premier Fidel Castro.

It said the sea raiders sprayed the Baku with 20-mm. (80-caliber), 50-caliber and 30-caliber machine gun fire as well as blowing a 12-by-2 foot hole in its side with the improvised torpedo.

The statement made no mention of casualties. It spoke of the Russian ship as though it was still afloat, but said it was "seriously damaged."

Radio Havana said the attack occurred three miles from French Key, off Cuba's north coast. The raiders said the ship was loading sugar in the port of Caibarien near where another party shot on the Russian freighter Lgov March 18.

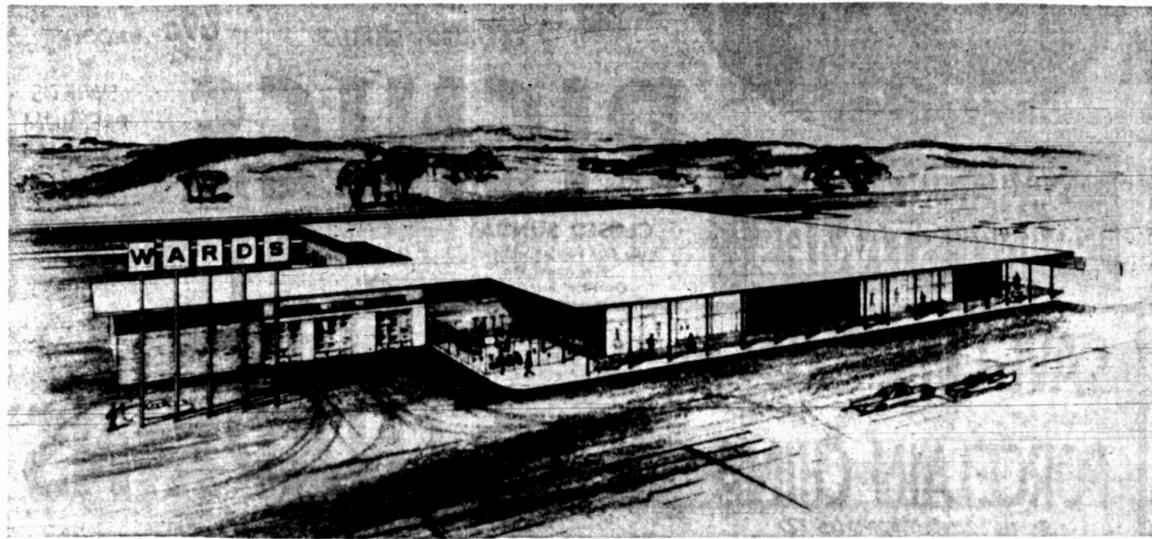

The raiders were identified as members of a revolutionary group known as Commando L, a branch of the Alpha-66 group which carried out the earlier attack.

Information on the latest raid was fragmentary. The attackers were said to have appeared unexpectedly at the mouth of Caibarien port in a single attack ship.

They reportedly released the miniature motorboat with powerful explosives planted in its bow, guided it toward the Soviet freighter by remote control and fled. They radioed word of the attack to exiles in the United States.

Tells of Attack
Andrew St. George, identified as a Hungarian free-lance photographer who accompanied the raiding party, told the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) the Russian ship was attacked with explosives, machine gun fire and cannon fire.

He told NBC he did not know the extent of the damage inflicted and said it was not certain the ship had been sunk.

WARDS TO MOVE TO SHOPPING CENTER — Shown here is an architect's drawing of the proposed Montgomery Ward store to be opened in the new shopping center now being constructed on Hobart St. just north of Coronado Inn. Present plans call for the opening of the new store, with more than three times the floor space of its present downtown store, by next fall. Shown at right is William G. McComas, manager of Ward's Pampa store for the past nine years, who will become manager of the new store in the shopping center. (Daily News Photo)

U.S. Navy Is Watching Red Boat In Gulf

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Navy said Wednesday it was keeping an eye on a Russian trawler which has been fishing in international waters in the Gulf of Mexico off Louisiana since March 19. The Coast Guard disclosed that it had verified the sighting by a civilian helicopter pilot.

The Navy said the vessel "has every right to be there. This is not an uncommon occurrence."

But neither the Coast Guard nor the Navy would release the exact position of the vessel. They said it was roughly south of Morgan City, La., in international waters, which begin three miles from the coast.

It was first publicized sighting of a Russian craft off the Louisiana coast, although Soviet fishing vessels have been sighted frequently off the eastern coast of the United States.

BILL PROTECTS CATS
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Democratic Sen. Ronald Cameron introduced a bill in the legislature Wednesday that would make it a misdemeanor to abandon a cat.

He said it would not apply to cats that left home voluntarily.

Estes Jury May Be Near Verdict

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — The jury in the Billie Sof Estes mail fraud case began its third day of deliberation today with signs that it is approaching a verdict.

The jury declined twice to go to bed Wednesday night and worked on almost two hours before finally sending out word that it was sleepy and wanted to be locked up.

A courthouse spokesman said the jury was "working along fine...making progress." It will resume deliberations today at 11 a.m., EST.

Pacific Storm Kills Three
By United Press International
A death-dealing Pacific Coast storm, with 100-mile-an-hour gusts, swept inland today, severing power lines and closing roads.

Oregon and northern California bore the brunt. Three Crescent City, Calif., men were killed in separate mishaps caused by high winds.

Flooding continued to threaten the Northeast, but several swollen rivers crested below flood stage.

The Pacific storm, with winds ranging from 55 to 70 miles an hour, lost some of its force moving inland through Idaho, northern Nevada and western Montana.

The Air Force reported peak gusts of 104 miles per hour in North Bend, Ore.
Three persons were injured in Portland, Ore., where minor damage was incurred and numerous power failures were reported.

Ward's Plan New Store; McComas To Be Manager

Montgomery Ward will establish a new full-line retail store in Pampa in the planned Coronado Shopping Center on Hobart St. Sidney A. McKnight, south central region general manager, announced this noon at a luncheon attended by some 50 business and civic leaders.

The new store is scheduled to open in fall of 1963 and will be the largest store in the 20-acre air-conditioned mall-type center, across the street to the north from Coronado Inn.

William G. McComas, the present Pampa store manager at 217-19 N. Cuyler, has been appointed manager of the new store. McKnight stated.

McComas has always represented Wards effectively in Pampa both from the standpoint of his interests in the activities of the community and his ability to administer the operations of the company's retail store. McKnight said. "I am sure that his many friends in the area will be pleased that he has received this important assignment."

Wards new store will be located 13 blocks northwest of the company's downtown store.

The new one-level store will have approximately 32,000 sq. ft. of floor space including an attached six-car automobile service center, outdoor and seasonal sales areas.

Paved parking for 1,500 cars will be provided at the shopping center.

Army To Tear Up Main Street Of Ski Resort
ZERMATT, Switzerland (UPI) — The Swiss army ordered the main street of this ski resort torn up today in a hunt for the source of a typhoid fever epidemic that has caused three deaths and hospitalized almost 400 persons.

Constant Cachin, chairman of the Zermatt Chamber of Commerce, said Wednesday night there was "clear but as yet inconclusive" evidence that breaks in the main sewer were dumping typhoid germs into leaking water supply lines.

Soldiers of a Swiss army medical team already have found one break in the sewer main which lies only 18 inches from the main water pipe under the principal street.

The army found apparent proof of the water supply contamination Wednesday when it blocked off a section of the sewer and pumped in colored water under high pressure.

Water of the same color later came out of faucets in hotels in the lower section of town.

It was in this section where most of the typhoid fever victims stayed.

Tourists Carry Disease
Tourists from Zermatt have carried the disease to several European countries and the United States.

Two Zermatt women and one Englishman have died.

Doubts Loss
LONDON (UPI) — A judge Wednesday granted Albert Simpson a divorce because of his wife's adultery with a 60-year-old chemist, but denied his request for $2,000 damages. "I am far from satisfied that he has lost anything," the judge said.

Fishing Boats To Arm Against U.S. 'Pirate Attackers'

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Press dispatches from Ciudad Carmen Campeche said Wednesday 200 Mexican fishing boats will be armed to cope with "attacks from U.S. pirate fishing craft."

Mexican fishing fleet owners decided on the measure arbitrarily after complaining that the Navy Ministry had failed to "halt frequent aggression of U.S. fishing boats against the fishing fleet off our coast."

The Mexicans complained the Americans broke their nets and shifted buoy markers to lure Mexican fishing boats near, and then opened fire on them. They said a "dangerous clash" was imminent.

Mr. and Mrs. McComas reside in Pampa at 2244 Christine. They have a son and a daughter.

Radicals Support Anti-Yankee Hate Congress In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Forty radical congressmen, including Yankee-baiting ex-Gov. Leonel Brizola, announced Wednesday night they will support Communist-fostered efforts to open a "hate America" convention in Rio tonight.

Newspapers here reported Justice Minister Joao Mangabeira is seeking supreme court authority to override Guanabara state (Rio) Gov. Carlos Lacerda's order closing the city to the "solidarity with Cuba" convention.

Lacerda said the congressmen may come to Rio if they want to—but nobody else.

Federal deputies may enter the city and do whatever they wish, the staunchly anti-Communist governor said. "Anyone else who tries to participate in a pro-Castro convention here will be arrested."

Guanabara state police already have arrested at least 53 persons seeking to attend the convention, which has been holding preliminary sessions in Niteroi, across the bay from Rio—and outside Lacerda's jurisdiction.

The convention was billed as an international gathering, but informed sources said the only foreigners who have arrived so far are "150 persons, mostly humble peasants and workers."

The left turn resulted in the end.

Oil Company To Give Arabia Concessions

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The Arabian American Oil Company has agreed to turn over nearly two-thirds of its oil concession areas to the Saudi Arabian government and give it more than $100 million in back payments, it was disclosed Wednesday.

An Aramco statement quoted Vice President Robert Brougham as having said the company is "certainly not elated over the agreement, which is going to cost us a lot of money."

The agreement was signed in the Saudi Arabian capital of Riyadh Sunday after months of negotiations between the company and King Saud's government.

Charles Shelton, city garage superintendent, said shortly before noon he hadn't had a chance to check to see what damage had been done to the sweeper.

Meanwhile, police were hunting for a car with a smashed front end.

Refugee Raids Dismay State Department

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. government is becoming increasingly dismayed by hit-and-run attacks on Russian ships and Cuban ports by anti-Castro refugee groups.

The State Department said Wednesday night, in commenting on a new refugee foray, that such attacks were "irresponsible" and "deplorable" and strengthened rather than weakened the Communist grip on Cuba.

Raids Prompt Statement
The new U.S. statement was directed against a refugee operation late Tuesday night or early Wednesday in which sea raiders sank or seriously damaged a Russian freighter loading sugar at the north Cuban port of Caibarien.

Officials said the administration feels such operations merely raise tension in the Caribbean and give Castro additional ammunition for tightening his police state grip on the island.

It was the second refugee attack on Russian shipping in a Cuban port in 10 days. A Soviet protest over the first raid was en route to the State Department even as the anti-Castro group struck again.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White, in condemning the latest attack, recalled that the United States had strongly criticized the first assault—a hit-and-run raid on a Russian ship on March 18 by the Alpha 66 group.

Terms Raids "Deplorable"
White said the new raid was "equally deplorable, equally irresponsible and equally ineffectual" (See RAIDS, Page 10)

Exam Set Tonight For Police Post

Four members of the Pampa police department will take an examination at 7 p.m. in City Hall today for the post of police lieutenant.

Police Chief Jim Conner set up the examination to fill the vacancy left by the resignation recently of Lt. J. B. Goad.

Although Pampa police are not under civil service, Chief Conner said the examination tonight will be taken from the regular civil service test given for police lieutenants.

The test, Chief Conner stated, will be made up of 100 multiple-choice questions.

Australian Tour

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip left by plane Wednesday for home to the cheers of a 2,000-strong crowd at the end of their tour of Australia.
 The royal couple waved away a car and walked 300 yards from their Boeing aircraft to the Sydney Airport terminal through pouring rain during a 40-minute stopover after arriving from Perth. They did the same thing when they returned to the plane to continue their flight to London, via Fiji, Honolulu and Vancouver.

MOSCOW (UPI) — Six persons have been sentenced to death in Sverdlovsk for embezzling gold and other precious metals and gems. Tass news agency reported Wednesday.
 Sixty-two other members of the ring received prison sentences up to 15 years. Tass said the ring illegally obtained $356,000 worth of gold, platinum, rubies and other valuables from Ural and Magadan ore mines.

Well Conditioned Thumbs

By DICK WEST
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—The rest of my body may not be anything but the Kennedy administration would endorse, but I do have well conditioned thumbs.
 I keep them in shape by thumbing through magazines, which is a more stimulating exercise than twiddling and is more socially acceptable than thumbing the nose.
 As I was giving my thumbs a workout one evening recently, my attention was gaffed by the title of an article in the magazine I was warming up on.
 Postmaster Called "Wittiest"
 "The Wittiest man in Washington," it said, and I naturally paused there to see upon whom the accolade had been bestowed. Somewhat to my surprise, the recipient turned out to be Postmaster General J. Edward Day.
 If anyone had polled me on the question, I would have voted for Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin, who at this time of year can hand you a laugh a minute.
 As a sample of the postmaster general's wittiness, the magazine cited a remark Day made one night when a strong breeze was playing hob with feminine hairdos at some kind of function.
 Day said he wished he had the comb concession.
 That is truly a witticism, all right, and I guess it proves that Day deserves the "wittiest man" title. I doubt that even Caplin could top that.

Groups Takes Testimony
 At any rate, the article aroused more than my usual amount of interest in the testimony taken this year by the House subcommittee on post office appropriations.
 The transcript of the hearings was released today and I eagerly leafed through a copy to see if I could find any more of Day's witticisms.
 At the same time, of course, my thumbs got a good limbering up.
 I will have to say that I was disappointed, although I really don't blame Day for not wasting his witticisms on the subcommittee, which probably wouldn't have appreciated them anyway.
 But if he was short on witticisms Day certainly was long on abbreviations, which are short for the programs he has instituted at the Post Office Department.
 Among others he mentioned NIMS (Nationwide Improved Mail Service), ABCD (Accelerated Business Collection Delivery), VMD (Vertical Mail Delivery), WMS (Work Measurement System), POMSIP (Post Office Management and Service Improvement Program) and ZIP (Zone Improvement Plan).
 I never knew before that we were getting all of that for a five-cent stamp. So what do you want for a nickel—JB (Jack Benny)?

Federal Reserve Hunting Millions In Missing IOU's

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Reserve Board announced today that it is investigating the "unexplained disappearance" of $7.5 million in Treasury certificates from the San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank. A spokesman said it appeared they may have been "accidentally destroyed."
 The spokesman said the certificates—which actually are short term government IOU's—were found to be missing last August. He said the board, the Treasury Department and the Secret Service had been investigating since then.

 WASHINGTON (UPI)—News men, smelling smoke in the White House Tuesday, asked where the fire was. They were told nonchalantly that it was in the President's office.

PROPERTY SHOULD BE RENDERED TO TAX AUTHORITIES

April 1 and May 1 are important deadlines for Texans to render their property to various taxing agencies. State laws require all real and personal property to be rendered for taxes on or before prescribed dates. Those who fail to comply can blame only themselves for the money loss they may consequently suffer.
 Some Texas cities set their own tax deadlines. These are the cities of more than 5,000 population which have incorporated under the "Home Rule" provisions of our statutes. All other cities are governed by the general laws of Texas.
 In towns operating under the general laws property must be rendered for taxes between January 1 and April 1 each year. A number of home rule cities set up the same requirements in their ordinances, while others prescribe different periods.
 For state and county tax purposes, property must be rendered to the County Tax Assessor by April 30, and homestead exemptions must be claimed by the same time.
 In some localities a third taxing unit is involved—the independent school district. In other places school taxes are collected by the city or county. In addition, some localities have water, irrigation, or levee districts which assess and collect taxes. Make inquiry as to where these various taxes are assessed, and as to applicable deadlines for rendition.
 What property must be rendered for taxes? If Texas laws were strictly enforced, we would be required to render to all taxing units nearly every piece of real and personal property which we own, down to the very clothing on our backs. An exception is the constitutional exemption of $250 worth of household furniture. However, no taxing unit carries its requirements this far, and it will be necessary to inquire of each tax assessor when rendering your property whether specific types of property are ordinarily rendered in that locality. Some cities and counties collect ad valorem taxes on automobiles, television sets and other personal items, while others ignore practically all personal property. Business and professional men are generally required to render all merchandise, furnishings, fixtures, business automobiles and equipment.

 If property is not rendered by the tax payer, it may then be placed upon the unrendered tax roll, and the taxing agency places such valuation thereon as it considers fair. One advantage of rendering your property is that you can set your own valuation. Then, if the county or city decides a higher valuation is in order you will be given an opportunity to appear before a board to explain why the higher figure should not be used in computing your taxes.
 Thereafter, an appeal to the courts is possible in some instances. Generally speaking, however, the courts are unable to strike out a valuation unless the agency or board has acted arbitrarily and placed on the property a valuation higher than that placed on comparable property owned by others. If you do not render, the valuation set by the taxing agency is final.
 Remember these facts: You may need to render your property at three or more different tax offices. Ask each tax assessor if in doubt concerning the deadline or the rendering of specific personal items.
 (This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

WHO ARE THE UNEMPLOYED?

WHO—AND HOW LONG—Left-hand chart breaks down unemployment by sex, by millions, for the past three years. At right, duration of joblessness is graphed. Average length of unemployment in '62 was 14.7 weeks, down from 15.3 weeks in '61, but up from the 12.8-week average of 1960.

Drivers License Challenger Loses Another Legal Round

AUSTIN (UPI)—An Irving, Tex., man whose challenge of a driver's license suspension brought into question the entire Texas safety responsibility act lost another round today in the State Supreme Court.

The court refused to change lower court opinions that William Daniel Howze's failure to carry liability insurance lost him his license both to drive his private car and to drive the truck he drives on his job.

Howze was involved in a wreck and the officers found he had no liability insurance. Under the safety responsibility act, the Department of Public Safety suspended his license.

He sued to enjoin total suspension on grounds he had the wreck in his private car and should not be kept from his livelihood of driving a truck for the city of Irving.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market seems to be in healthy condition, but is likely to remain in a trading range a while longer, says Standard & Poor's "Outlook."

Business news, it says, is becoming slightly brighter, stocks are reasonably priced relative to projected earnings, and speculation interest is at an ebb. S&P thinks selective buying may be undertaken on price dips.

Spear & Staff says its overall near-term policy remains one of caution pending further technical developments. The advisory service says "the market by its nature cannot and will not move sideways indefinitely and clients should keep a close watch on daily action."

Investors Research Co. says that since February the market as measured by the Dow-Jones industrial has been locked in the 660-690 range and should spend more time in this general area before a concerted advance can be expected. A sideways movement, it thinks, would be quite constructive.

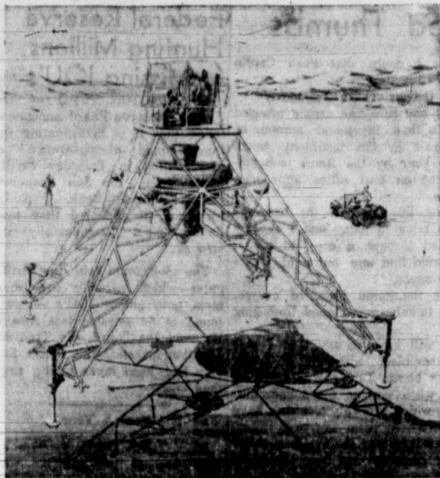

Bill Introduced To Prohibit Gun Delivery To Minors

AUSTIN (UPI)—Rep. Ray E. McNutt of El Paso got House permission today to introduce a bill that would keep express companies from delivering firearms to minors without parental consent.

The bill would provide for fines up to $500 for violations.

The measure would require that before an express company could deliver a gun to a minor, the parent would have to be present and the child would have to have written parental or guardian consent to receive the firearm.

The bill is aimed primarily at guns sold through mail orders and delivered by express firms.

LUNAR LIFT—Long before they actually set foot on the moon, astronauts will perfect the necessary landing techniques right here on earth. Drawing above shows a lunar landing simulator to be built by Bell Aerosystems Co. for delivery to National Aeronautics and Space Administration in 1964. Suspended between the four aluminum tubing truss legs is a 4,200-pound-thrust turbojet which lifts the vehicle to the altitude where the practice landing can start. The jet engine is throttled to provide lift just equal to five-sixths of earth's gravity. The remaining one-sixth—equal to the gravity on the moon—is counteracted by two hydrogen peroxide rockets. In the actual moon ship, only these rockets would be necessary for a landing or take-off.

Uranium Rights Sold By Phillips

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (UPI)—Phillips Petroleum Co. has sold its uranium properties in the Grants, N.M., area to United Nuclear Corp., the heads of the two firms announced today.

R. D. Bokum II of United Nuclear and K. S. Adams of Phillips said the transaction involved several mines, an ore processing mill and mineral leases and claims. No sale price was disclosed.

The property produces uranium ore and concentrate for the Atomic Energy Commission under a contract that also was transferred. The contract terminates Dec. 31, 1966.

Adams pointed out the sale does not affect Phillips' other activities relating to exploration and evaluation of various mineral deposits.

Kentucky, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Virginia are commonwealths.

NO PENNY PINCHER

TENTERDEN, England (UPI)—Annette Cladd, 18, was scheduled to get married Saturday but backed out at the last minute when she found her fiancé, Jonathan Nobb, had not been saving his pennies for the wedding.

"Jonathan promised me he had been saving since last July, when I found out it was not true I told him that the wedding was off," she said.

New Officers Are Elected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Edwin P. Neilan, chairman of the Bank of Delaware at Wilmington, has been elected president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, it was announced Wednesday.

Neilan succeeds Ladd Plumley, who becomes chairman of the board. Richard Wagner of Champion Oil & Refining Co. becomes chairman of the executive committee.

Louis B. Lundborg was elected treasurer.

Easter Message

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope John XXIII will broadcast his Easter message to the world at 8 p.m. (2 p.m. EST) on Holy Saturday, April 13, Vatican sources said Wednesday.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Though Wednesday night's "Beverly Hillbillies" series has become thoroughly atrocious, there is little doubt it remains television's hottest show. But success has its problems.

To start with, "The Real McCoy's," which was to have preceded the "Hillbillies" on next fall's CBS-TV schedule, may now be replaced by "Car 54, Where Are You?" or another program. And the "McCoy's" people are furious. One report is that somebody felt the edge might be taken off the "Hillbillies" if another rural, folksy series like the "McCoy's" came on before it each week.

Single Joke Setting
And there is some merit to this point. Anyone who saw Wednesday night's "Hillbillies" episode, in which a gold-digging secretary tried to snare the head of the Ozark clan, knows that the series has degenerated entirely into a one-joke horror; and that once the novelty has worn off it will have no more individuality than any other knee-slapping rural comic strip.

It is really a pity, too; because, though it was never anything to rave about, it has slick production and amiable performers; and when it started out, with its mountain people discovering oil in their front yard and moving to Beverly Hills, Calif., it gave the promise of perhaps offering some sharp grass-roots social satire.

Along with the "McCoy's" furor, the "Hillbillies" faces another problem next fall: ABC-TV, which is "counter-programming" in an effort to topple CBS-TV's enormously successful comedy lineup, is scheduling its big hit drama series, "Ben Casey," directly against the "Hillbillies." Certain disreputable but optimistic critics are in ecstasy at the thought of a possible double suicide.

Continues Its Popularity
On the rosy side for the "Hillbillies" is the fact that one of its regular characters, actress Bea Benaderet, will have her own CBS-TV half-hour comedy series next season—portraying a widow with three daughters in a whistle-stop town. In short, the "Hillbillies" continues to have immense popularity; and in addition to the usual reasons, one must take note of the incredible promotion that got the show rolling, to wit:

The network had its publicity people pushing it, as usual. A food sponsor had a publicity firm watching its own interests. Another sponsor also hired a publicity firm. And the star, Buddy Ebsen, had his own press agent. At the start, this was not altogether unusual out here. But things eventually got so complicated that the series finally hired a special press agent to coordinate the other press agents.

The Channel Swim: ABC-TV confirms its new fall circus series, "The Greatest Show on Earth," starring Jack Palance and Stuart Ervin, is set for 9-10 p.m. EST Tuesdays.

LAUGHS AT HERSELF—Dolores Hart is one movie queen with a pixie sense of humor. She dotes on outlandish, unflattering photos of herself and ones that can be given an offbeat twist with outrageous captions. Clowning photo, a bove, is typical. Dolores' latest film is "Come Fly with Me."

Slant Drilling Bill Is Passed

AUSTIN (UPI)— The house passed today a bill by two former house investigators to tighten the laws against slanted-well oil drilling.

The bill by Reps. Menton Murray of Harlingen and Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline carries penalties up to 10 years in prison and fines up to $10,000 for convicted violators.

Hollowell and Murray were in on the legislative investigation of the oil drilling scandals in several Texas fields. They filed their bill early in the session, aimed at cracking down on drilling or producing from a slanted well.

Red Rebels Wipe Out Post

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — Communist rebels struck in a pre-dawn raid today, wiping out a government militia post 75 miles south of Saigon.

A U. S. military spokesman said the guerrillas apparently captured 19 militiamen, as well as 22 weapons and a radio.

It was the third such raid by the Viet Cong this week. The three strikes against government outposts have netted enough government weapons to arm an entire company.

Real Pressure

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — A huge press capable of exerting 10 million pounds of pressure is being used here in producing rocket liners for the Minuteman and Polaris solid fuel missiles. Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company says the press, largest in the missile insulation field, turns out rubber liners required as insulators in the missiles.

"The Dick Powell Theatre" has its first color show April 23; June Allyson hosts ABC-TV's hour program about the Vatican for Easter Sunday is also in color. NBC-TV's four-part history of the Catholic Church which is scheduled for "The Catholic Hour" on May 5, 12, 19 and 26, will be dedicated to Pope John XXIII.

BETTER SLEDS THAN REDS—The Berlin Wall—a section of which can be seen blocking the famous Brandenburg Gate in the background—doesn't gloom over the winter fun of these West Berliners. They hitched a slide behind a friend's car in an area that at one time would have been heavy with city traffic.

Owners Respond To Call For Help

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — The U. S. Army Support Command said Wednesday that dog owners from throughout the United States and Europe had responded to a call for 1,000 German Shepherd watchdogs needed to patrol military bases around the world.

Col. Henry S. Kostanski, commander of the Army group, said his office has processed more than 280 replies that followed a plea issued last month. He said offers came from the states of

Soviets Protest 'Pirate' Attack On Russian Ship

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has lodged a protest with the United States for the "piratical attack" against a Russian ship at a Cuban port on March 17, the official Tass news agency said.

Tass said the attack took place when the Soviet ship Lgov was at the Cuban port of Isabella-la-Sagua. It charged that Cuban counter-revolutionaries in a launch approached the ship from the sea and fired several bursts at the Russian vessel with a heavy machinegun.

The note forwarded to the U. S. embassy here said the government of the U.S.S.R. expects "the government of the United States to take resolute measures for preventing similar provocative acts in future."

The Soviet note said that without the U.S. government's "material support" and the supply of American weapons and ships, "the handful of traitors" to the Cuban people who have taken refuge on the territory of the United States could not have engaged in provocations of this kind.

Tass quoted the note as saying the United States is in fact leading matters to "a dangerous aggravation" of the situation in the area of the Caribbean and the United States.

French Railroad Men Call Strikes

PARIS (UPI) — French railwaymen have called a series of harassing walkouts and leaders of 200,000 striking coal miners urged restraint from further violence in the drive for higher wages.

President Charles de Gaulle summoned his cabinet for a report on the labor crisis from Michel Maurice Bokanowski, minister of industries.

The 350,000 railwaymen scheduled two-hour walkouts at each shift change to back the miners' strike against De Gaulle's wage austerity policies.

Gas and electricity workers called for more walkouts Thursday, and there was talk of a possible general strike by France's 2 million-man nationalized work force unless the government backs down.

Striking coal miners clashed briefly but sharply with police in Lorraine Tuesday. Minor injuries were reported.

It was the second incident of violence reported during the miners' strike for more pay, shorter working hours and more vacation time.

Union leaders immediately issued urgent appeals to avoid any more fights with authorities.

Senate Gives Its Approval To Connally Education Bill

By KYLE THOMPSON
United Press International
AUSTIN (UPI) — The state Senate passed yesterday and handed to Gov. John Connally for his signature the governor's proposal to create a committee to study education beyond the high school.

Final passage in the Senate of the House-approved version came on a 26-2 vote, with Sens. Gallo-way Calhoun of Tyler and Andy Rogers of Childress voting against. Rogers had filibustered earlier on the Senate version of the bill.

The passage was a major victory for Connally, who had a setback just a few minutes before when the Senate refused to bring up out of order for debate Connally's House-passed measure to merge the State Parks Board and the Game and Fish Commission.

The education study is "just a farce," Rogers contended today. "The governor does not even need this bill to name a commission—just ask anyone who knows the statutes or rules. We are just putting off for two more years (while the study is made) our responsibility to do what we know already has to be done—put more money into these colleges."

House Version Differs
The House version differed from the earlier Senate bill only in that it specified pay of commission employees should conform with the job classification law.

The governor's proposal sets up a 25-member committee to study education beyond high school. The governor would name all 25 members.

In the House yesterday, members gave final passage to another

Foreign News Commentary

By K. C. THALER
United Press International
LONDON (UPI) — Red China is looking beyond the Red bloc for economic supplies, apparently to free herself from dependence on Soviet Russia.

This intention has been spotlighted by the current visit to Britain of Red China's vice minister of foreign trade, Lu Hsueh-chang, who is touring British industries in search of machinery, chemicals and even planes.

This is a considerable change from the days when Russia sent generous supplies to her Communist ally as well as thousands of experts to build factories and advise Peking on a variety of industrial problems.

Russians Go Home
Russian supplies have dried up in the wake of the ideological conflict between the two Communist giants and the experts have been withdrawn or have been told to go.

Coupled with bad harvests and ill-fated economic experiments in China, the Russian aid-freeze has virtually paralyzed a sizable number of major industrial development projects; according to reliable information reaching here.

The re-orientation thus enforced on Peking's ambitious leap-forward planners also extends to all appearances to the field of external trade.

Peking swallowed its pride when it had to look to the West—Canada and Australia—for wheat supplies in the past year or two to ease the country's famine conditions.

Now that the harvest has improved, Red China's leadership is looking for industrial supplies, again outside the Red bloc, thus indicating they don't expect much help from Russia for some time to come.

Little to Exchange
But they have little to offer in exchange and are ostensibly short of foreign currency to pay for coveted supplies.

Furthermore, the range of goods which they can buy in the West is also limited, by the security embargo which prevents NATO allies from exporting strategic materials behind the Iron and Bamboo curtains.

Experts in London believe the current Chinese soundings in Britain are in themselves a telling indication that Peking does not expect Sino-Soviet relations to return to what they used to be. Nor apparently does Peking want to revert to total dependence on Russia and face the risks which such policy involves.

TRENTON, N. J. (UPI) — The New Jersey Assembly unanimously passed Monday a bill allowing Haddonfield to run a new vehicle on its sidewalks. The vehicle is a sidewalk cleaner.

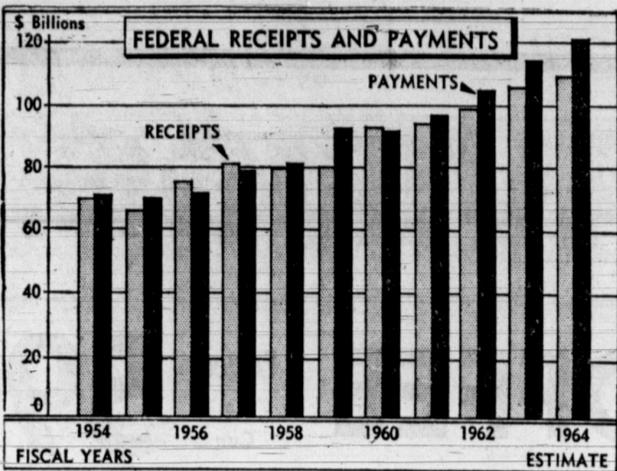

Law Would Bond Private Writers Of Money Orders

AUSTIN (UPI) — Legislation to regulate money orders written by private businesses today was in the hands of a House subcommittee.

The House Banks and Banking Committee considered the measure by Rep. George Richards of Huntsville Tuesday. It would permit the banking commission to regulate the industry and provide that firms writing money orders purchase a $25,000 bond.

Walter Koch, representing the Texas Bankers Association, told the committee the public should be protected against "these hot checks."

ROCK HILL, S. C. (UPI) — Court officials sheepishly told Harvey Chappell Monday she couldn't be seated on a jury although she mistakenly was summoned. South Carolina law prohibits women from serving on juries.

Republicans Gain 12 Florida Seats

MIAMI (UPI) — Republicans turned a lackluster special election Tuesday into their biggest legislative victory in Florida since Civil War days.

Living up to a promise of an all-out campaign and striking while Democrats apparently napped complacently, the GOP won 12 of 34 races for new seats in the reappointed 1962 legislature, gaining 11 House seats and one Senate seat.

KEMPER SETS RECORD

CHICAGO (UPI) — The five major firms in the Kemper Insurance group reached record highs in assets and surplus to policyholders last year, board chairman James S. Kemper said Friday. Total assets of the companies totaled $501,456,650, an increase of $40,710,648, or 8.8 per cent, over 1961. Surplus in regard to policyholders rose $7,030,417 to $100,299,080, he said.

Use Imagination With Favored Pork Chops

Pork Chops With Imagination

Many homemakers say that one of their biggest menu planning problems is finding different ways to prepare the family-favorite meat cuts. When you put your imagination to work, the task can be quite easy.

Take pork chops as an example. So many combinations are possible with accompanying foods and seasonings. Because pork chops are always cooked slowly and usually in moist heat, that is, by braising, the flavors have a chance to create a magnificent blend.

For a start on your road to creative cookery, try these Peachy Pork Chops. The chops are braised in peach liquid zestily flavored with cinnamon, ginger, lemon juice and honey. Remember to cook them in a heavy utensil with a tight fitting lid to hold in the moisture.

The peach slices are warmed through after the chops are done. When your family tastes your culinary achievement, of course they'll be pleased.

Next time you serve pork chops, be adventurous and try a combination of your own. It's both fun

Manners Make Friends

Make sure you have everything on your grocery list before you get to the cashier.

and rewarding.

Pork is an especially nutritious meat to serve your family, too. It not only contains the same nutrients as other meats, but it gives you an extra B-vitamin bonus. Pork is the best natural food source of thiamine.

Another important reason for including pork often in menus is that today's pork is lower in calories than in the past. Hogs are being developed with less fat, and meat packers and retailers are trimming the fat more closely.

PEACHY PORK CHOPS
6 rib or loin pork chops, cut 1/4 to 3/4 inch thick
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 can (16 ounces) sliced cling peaches
2 tablespoons honey
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ginger
Flour for gravy

Brown chops in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season chops with salt and pepper. Drain peaches, reserving 1/2 cup liquid. Combine peach liquid, honey, lemon juice, cinnamon and ginger. Pour over chops. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes or until done. Add peach slices and cook until heated through. Remove chops. Thicken liquid with flour for gravy and spoon over chops. 6 servings.

Different Meat Loaf Always Welcome Kitchen News To Save Daily Drudgery

A different meat loaf recipe is always welcome kitchen news. In the following, some of the improved new frozen foods are used, not only to save kitchen drudgery, but also to supply special flavor and freshness. You'll like this modern version of plain everyday meat loaf.

SWEET AND SOUR MEAT LOAF (4 servings)

1 1/4 pounds lean ground beef
1/2 pound pork sausage
1 can frozen cream of potato soup
1 cup cubed day-old bread
1/4 cup frozen chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 egg
Remove meat from refrigerator and it will mix more easily. Combine cubed bread with milk and add remaining ingredients. Mix well but lightly. Form the mixture into a loaf and bake at moderate temperature (375 degrees) for 45 minutes. Pour off drippings. Serve with lemon-flavored Sweet - Sour Sauce (recipe follows).

SWEET - SOUR SAUCE

1 (6-ounce) can frozen concentrated lemonade
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
3 green onions, sliced
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon cold water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1 teaspoon powdered ginger
1 tablespoon chopped pimento
Defrost lemonade and combine with water. Turn vegetable oil into saucepan and cook green pepper and onion in it until just barely tender. Mix cornstarch with 1 tablespoon water and add to oil in pan with lemonade. Cook slowly while stirring to thicken. Add salt and other seasonings. Add pimento last. Serve hot with meat loaf.

Frozen Tips

Q— Can I freeze sandwiches and sandwich loaves?

A— Yes, but at a sacrifice to palatability. Even after 3 days of freezer storage, frozen sandwiches cannot compare with freshly made ones. Although all breads freeze satisfactorily, few fillings recover favorably from the frozen state. Some ingredients, used alone, can be recommended — cooked meat, peanut butter, and Bleu cheese. However, when mayonnaise or salad dressing is used, freezing is fatal to these fillings. Chopped, sliced, or grated fresh vegetables do not freeze satisfactorily. Sandwiches for freezing should be wrapped, singly, in moisture-vapor proof paper, tightly sealed, and labeled as to variety.

Easter Dinner Made Easy With Ham Slices

If you're destined to have a small gathering around your Easter dinner table (two or four) and a roast will simply be too large for your purpose, here is the perfect suggestion for a holiday dinner. . . one which will not mean leftovers.

As in any special occasion dinner, there are a few holiday frills which will require a bit of extra preparation time.

What's the choice for this small yet joyous gathering? It's a planked ham slice surrounded by tubed mashed potatoes and broiled peach halves.

Planking, to many homemakers, may look difficult or complicated; however, the serving is actually simple. For those not entirely familiar with this type of preparation, planking simply refers to the board or oven-proof platter on which a tender meat cut, tubed mashed potatoes and vegetables or fruits are placed for broiling. This method of preparation was invented by American Indians and adopted by our forefathers.

You'll be proud of this dinner and rightfully so. A meal such as this should be marked with your own personal monogram.

But let's look to the preparation of this Sunday holiday dinner.

Purchase a ham slice cut 1 inch thick. Broil the ham slice on one side. To do this, first set the regulator for broiling. Place ham slice on a rack in a broiler pan. Insert pan and rack so the top surface of the meat is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. When the ham is nicely browned, 10 to 15 minutes, turn and broil second side for 5 minutes.

Arrange the ham slice in the center of a well-oiled plank or oven-proof platter with the partially broiled side up. Place peach halves at both ends of the ham slice. Then pipe (using a pastry tube) or spoon seasoned mashed potatoes around sides of plank or platter.

The meat, potatoes, and fruit should completely cover the plank to protect the plank from becoming too hot.

Next, brush the potatoes and fruit with melted butter or margarine. Then place the plank in the broiler to finish cooking—the ham and to lightly brown the potatoes and peaches. . . about 5 minutes. When finished cooking, rush the planked dinner to the table.

PLANKING VARIATIONS

Small changes in this menu can add variety to your planked recipes. In place of regular seasoned mashed potatoes, use Duchesse potatoes. These are prepared by simply adding an egg yolk to each cup of mashed potatoes.

As another suggestion, you might wish to use seasoned mashed sweet potatoes.

The cling peaches for the plank can also become dressed in holiday attire by simply adding a teaspoon of currant jelly to the peach halves.

Rotarians Entertained By Jr. High Swing Band

The Pampa Junior High Swing Band, directed by Homer Krueger, entertained members of the Pampa Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon yesterday at the Coronado Inn. The group is composed of seventh, eighth and ninth grade students.

Paul Payne, principal of Pampa Junior High introduced the program.

Roy Sparkman urged members to make plans to attend the annual Conference of District 573 of Rotary International, which will be held April 4, 5 and 6 in Shamrock. Representatives from the 45 Rotary clubs in the Texas Panhandle comprising the district will attend the conference.

The meeting is held each year to review Rotary service activities and to make plans for increasing their effectiveness during the coming year.

The principal current activities of the Rotary clubs in this district include: sponsoring Boy Scout troops, holding career days for school children, building parks, teaching safety classes, cerebral palsy clinics, boys ranches, sponsoring foreign students through the Experiment in International Living program, and the Rotary Foundation program in which graduate students of outstanding ability are sent to colleges in foreign countries to study for a year.

Randy Matson, junior Rotarian for the month of March, introduced Robert Pullen, who will be the April junior Rotarian.

Dedication Set Saturday

Dedication of the Aspen Park shelter and bridge will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. with Coy Palmer as master of ceremonies.

Individuals, organizations and companies, who have contributed to the erection of the shelter and bridge will be recognized and honored.

Pampans attending the dedication ceremonies are asked to please use the north steps or cross at the bridge, as grass seeds have been planted on the slopes of the creek bank.

Citizens of Pampa are invited to attend.

What next? A re-vote was one possibility. Only 302 photovoters — all employed on the idled papers — cast ballots Wednesday. The more than 2,900 members who work in commercial printing shops could be brought into a new vote.

Last Sunday a re-vote of printers brought acceptance of a contract a smaller group of members had rejected the previous Sunday.

Publishers made clear they would make no further concessions, though McGowan said he would ask for more negotiation talks. The proposal, which included modifications suggested by the union, fell within the $12-63 two-year package first gained by the printers. This has set the pattern for settlement with other unions.

Wagner called the rejection "unfortunate" and added wearily, "We'll just have to keep plugging until it is settled." He offered no immediate suggestions but said he might speak out today.

The dispute began Dec. 8, when the printers struck the Times, News, World Telegram & Sun and the Journal-American. By prior agreement, publishers of the Herald Tribune, Mirror, Post and Long Island Star-Journal immediately closed down. The Long Island Press ceased operations in the city.

The Post resumed publication last month.

at one another, then silently left the building.

Outside newspaper plants, hundreds of workers who had waited for the picket lines to be withdrawn cursed or laughed bitterly and drifted away.

A demand for 15 minutes less working time per day prompted this new and frustrating reversal in the city's longest and most painful newspaper dispute.

"They rejected because they were dissatisfied with the 35-hour week clause," said Frank McGowan, president of Photoengravers Local 1. "The clause calls for a reduction to 35 hours (per week, from 36 1/4 hours) only on the overnight shift. The men want all-shifts reduced."

McGowan, who predicted early Wednesday that his men would ratify the pact, said, "maybe when we walk the lines again they might change their attitude."

Notes From Wall Street

NEW YORK (UPI) — Investors' Stock Survey says it is "distinctly disappointed" that the market has not worked its way up and through 700 in the industrial average.

Yet, says editor Walt McKibben, we continued to interpret this market as extremely healthy with relatively little risk of any bear movement of significant extent, and with good possibilities of finding a significantly higher level.

Indicator Digest says the brief, minor upswing since March 1 "is probably within a few points of topping out." It feels stocks will continue to move up and down in their trading range until they break below 659 in the senior average or above 688 with sharply higher volume showing up at the time of breakthrough.

Alfred Robbins, a registered pharmacist associated with Steiner Rouse & Co. says the government investigation of the drug companies has improved the industry's profit potential. He finds more money being plowed back into basic research and says the bewildering flow of new products has been checked, meaning the drugs that do reach pharmacists and physicians are now far more potent as profit-makers.

Wire Fire Starts With Television

Watching television can be costly, H. M. Fleming of 2213 N. Summer found out yesterday.

Pampa firemen reported that they were called out at 5:18 p.m. to put out a fire in the living room, which had started with a short circuit in the TV set wiring. Firemen reported damage to the living room and contents.

The moral of the story is: the safest thing to do is read the newspaper... no wiring circuits.

"Such raids do not weaken the grip of the Communist regime on Cuba—indeed, they strengthen it," the U.S. statement added.

GOOD BUSINESS START

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House's chief economic expert said Monday that business is off to a better start this year than it was in 1962.

"The star of 1963 is as good as 1962 was bad," Walter Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, told a conference of the Magazine Publishers Association. Heller said the economy's performance seems to be bearing out administration forecasts for approximately a 3 per cent increase in economic growth during 1963.

Agriculture Group Meets

The Agriculture Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce met yesterday at noon at the Court House Cafe to hear reports on the recent Top O' Texas Livestock Show and to make plans for next year's event.

Clyde Carruth, superintendent of the show, reported on this year's activities, and made recommendations for some rules and procedures changes.

Carruth was re-elected superintendent for next year's show.

A committee was appointed by chairman Billy Davis, to look into ways to provide additional hay storage facilities at the Recreation park. Members of the new committee include Carruth, Bill Tidwell, Paul Crouch and Clyde Orban.

It was decided that next year there will be no siting of pigs in the Junior Livestock Show, and only ribbon-winning pigs will be sold. Ribbons have been awarded to the top seven Barrows in each breed division.

Knife And Fork Hear Spy Tales At Tuesday Meet

Adventures of a spy in the "spy capitol of the world" Cairo, Egypt were related to the members of the Knife and Fork Club at their meeting Tuesday night.

Telling the tales was a former ranking L-2 counter-intelligence officer, Dan T. Moore. Moore served as chief of intelligence in Cairo during World War II.

He described the mental strain of a spy, particularly in the Middle East, where, he said, death often lurked at every corner.

Moore related incidents involving regular Friday night poker games with King Farouk, during which the United States gained some of its most valuable information.

In discussing the present world situation, Moore commented that in his opinion, the likelihood of World War III was remote, "for the same reason chances of a fire in a match factory are remote... everyone is too afraid one will begin."

He said that at this time, Cuba is probably one of the best spies on countries in the world, and that there was very little that U.S. intelligence did not know about the situation there.

Moore was introduced to the club by E. E. Shelhammer.

New officers and board members were also presented to the group. They included Jim Thompson, president, D. V. Biggers, vice president and Ralph Randall and Ralph Thomas, board members.

Dear Abby... Husband's Leading A Dog's Life

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor went ahead and named her dog WILBUR when she knew perfectly well that WILBUR was my husband's name. I think she did it just for meanness. At night, when she calls her dog, my husband goes to the window and barks just to get her goat. I have called my husband when he was down the road and that dog would come running. It is very annoying to have your husband mistaken for a dog. Can I take this woman to court for disturbing the peace or defaming my husband's character or something?

WILBUR'S WIFE: DEAR WIFE: If your husband goes to the window and barks when your neighbor is calling her dog, SHE might have more to complain about than you. I think the bone you have to pick with your neighbor should be picked out of court.

DEAR ABBY: When someone asks you how to kiss, why do you brush off like it was not a serious problem? I remember MY first kiss. I was 16 and thought a girl was supposed to hold her breath throughout the whole kiss. At the end of a very long kiss I was panting and absolutely blue in the face. The boy mistook this for wild passion and, of course, it ended up in a wrestling match. LEARNED THE HARD WAY. DEAR LEARNED: When it comes to kissing, experience is the

Vanity For That Budding Beauty In The Family

By KAY SHERWOOD

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. A time mothers cherish with amusement and some exasperation is the period when tomboys are transformed into young ladies. The little tomboy who "hated" dresses begins to complain of an inadequate wardrobe. The grubby face and broken fingernails are cleaned and polished with hypnotic intensity. The wind-blown shaggy bob is shampooed, skewered to clips and rollers — and lamented. I have yet to hear a budding adolescent who was content with the color or appearance of her hair.

Simple to make but highly feminine dressing table is a dreamy project for the budding adolescent to work on.

To aid the transformation, most young butterflies-to-be campaign for a dressing table of their own. And why not? To make it a meaningful gift, but within budgetary limits, let her help with the project. Keep it simple. Shown with this article is a dressing table planned by Mary Ann Willis, decorating consultant for a maker of wall accessories (Arabesque) and me. It's easy enough for a 12-year-old to help with. The net effect is feminine to the last inch of velvet ribbon.

The lumbricard, mounted on the wall with "L" brackets. The top is covered with a new, white-gold embossed pattern in the self-adhesive plastic bought at the variety store. An elegant, but easy, dressing table skirt is made from two panels of tiered curtains in a drip-dry pleated batiste (bought from a mail order store). We had to shorten the 36-inch tiers to 30 inches by deepening the overlap of the tiers with tucking. To create a center-front opening, we cut and turned back the three lower tiers, hemming the raw edge. To attach the skirt, use snap-on tape or, as we did, double-faced masking tape. Lavender velvet bows at the corners lend a dainty air. An old organ stool was painted white and upholstered with moss green cotton velveteen, tacked on with matching gimp.

POLLY'S POINTERS Tint White Gloves After Coffee Klatch

By POLLY CRAMER

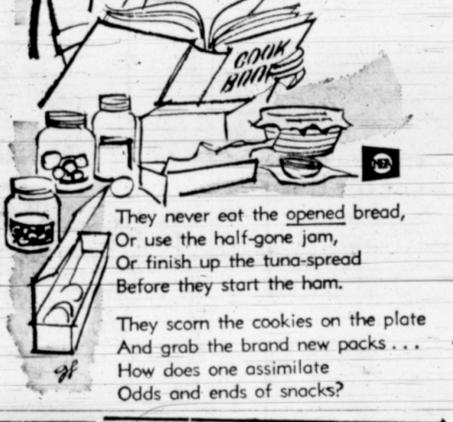

DEAR POLLY - When I transplant a clipping from a favorite plant for a friend, I plant it in a paper cup. Then when my friend is ready to transplant it, all she needs do is tear away the paper cup and the roots of the plant are not disturbed.

DEAR POLLY - We saved the cardboard tubes that contained Christmas wrapping paper and found that an umbrella fits inside and can be kept on the floor of the car without getting dirty. This way, you can keep your umbrella off the rear window ledge where even black ones will fade from the sun and where it might become a missile in case of a smash-up.

DEAR POLLY - Here is a good use for plastic bags from the dry cleaners. Tie bags around lighting fixtures when painting ceilings. The bag protects against paint drips and splatters. Be sure to tie these plastic bags in knots, for safety, when discarded.

The Mature Parent Look For Real Reason For Self-Contempt

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Not long ago, a new acquaintance of mine took off for a Hawaiian holiday. A few days later our landlord decided to paint our apartment and other demands were also made on my energies, so I did not respond to the stream of letters that began to arrive from my new acquaintance. Whereupon I received a cable from her, accusing me of "insulting" her. I had not insulted her. I had merely been involved with matters other than the lady's wish for my attention. But so self-disparaging is this woman that she could only credit my inattention with contemptuous disregard for her. Perhaps her problem is the problem of a reader who writes: "My daughter sent me a 20-cent greeting card for my recent birthday. I have just come home from a family reunion at her house where her husband's mother showed me an expensive suede bag she had received from my daughter for her birthday. I cannot get over this hurt. Can you explain the difference between my daughter's treatment of a mother-in-law and her treatment of the parent who has been the best friend she's ever had?"

Why are you so anxious to explain it to your own disadvantage? As I had unscrupulous reasons for not responding to the letters of my new acquaintance, so your daughter may have uncontentious reasons for spending 20 cents on your birthday gift instead of 20 dollars. Perhaps she trusts your affection for her more than she trusts the affection of her mother-in-law and so feels it unnecessary to solicit it by making you expensive gifts. She may have had less money available at the time of your birthday than she had when her mother-in-law's came around. Perhaps her husband required her to make a point of special deference to his mother on her birthday. But the only reason you can ascribe to her treatment is contempt for you. It is always easier, you know, to imagine that another person despises us than to look at the possibility that we despise ourselves. By shifting the blame for the self-contempt we feel to the other person, we can avoid knowing that we feel it. We can avoid knowing that we have failed a child many times, as every human parent of every child is bound to do. And haunted by hate of ourselves for our failures, we read in his birthday card a hate of which he is entirely guiltless.

The NEW Santa Fe Trail A report on some of Santa Fe's newest milestones BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE SANTA FE In 1963, Santa Fe is investing some 90 million dollars on new equipment and improvements. All this money is being used to keep the Santa Fe up-to-date in every way. As a matter of fact, so many new and exciting things are happening on the Santa Fe today that some people are calling it "The New Santa Fe Trail." Here are just a few highlights of the many improvements. • 2548 new boxcars. • 300 Mechanical Temperature Control cars. • 450 covered hopper cars. • 194 double and triple deck autoveyos. • 181 flat cars. • 58 new diesel locomotives. • 24 hi-level passenger cars. • 31 semi-lightweight mail and baggage cars. • Increasing our microwave communication system to 2064 route miles. • Experimenting with new and more efficient freight cars such as compartmentalized cars for automobile parts. • Advancing our piggy-back operations to include joint rail-truck rates. And we haven't been standing still up until now. We've invested over a billion dollars in progress since World War II. For example: • The new cut-off line into Dallas. • Major line relocations in Arizona. Equipped 3560 new freight cars with "Shock Control" devices for damage-free shipment of fragile freight. (More of these cars are on order.) Equipped 7745 freight cars with roller bearings. Designed and built the first multi-level automobile transport cars—autoveyos—which are now used on all the major railroads. To keep pace with changing times and with the rapid growth of the areas we serve, we keep constantly on the move toward a better way to serve you and to strengthen a vital part of our national defense. It is our aim to keep the Santa Fe Trail always new.

Labor Secretary Would Put Limit On Bracero Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz recommended today that a controversial program to bring Mexican nationals into the United States to work on farms be extended only one more year.

He extended one more year the so-called bracero program would expire Dec. 31, 1964.

Wirtz made the recommendation before a House agriculture subcommittee hearing on legislation calling for extension of the program for two years.

Wirtz also recommended that the program be changed to give greater protection to domestic workers.

"This amendment would require employers seeking to obtain Mexican workers to offer to domestic workers workmen's compensation or occupational insurance coverage, housing and transportation expenses equivalent to that furnished to Mexican workers," he said.

The secretary noted that U.S. unemployment now stood at 6.1 per cent and said migratory farm workers were among those in the "most disadvantaged position."

He said every effort should be made to assure that qualified domestic workers be given preference in jobs. For example, he said, California imported 27,000 Mexican workers during 1962 while at the same time an estimated 395,000 domestic workers were unemployed in that state.

In Arizona, he said, 16,906 Mexicans were employed on farms while 24,900 domestic workers were unemployed. Arkansas used 12,410 Mexican workers while 42,400 domestic workers were unemployed. In Texas, with 174,600 unemployed, 36,289 Mexican workers were brought in.

Legislator Asks Proble Of Sadler

AUSTIN (UPI)—Rep. Wayne Gibbons said yesterday he will ask for a legislative committee investigation of land commissioner Jerry Sadler's tactics opposing a bill to force oil pooling in some fields.

The Breckenridge lawmaker criticized Sadler's use of a veterans' land-buyers mailing list to fight the bill. Sadler also used state employes to handle the mailing, but said he would reimburse the state for their time. He has already paid the state for the postage.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nathan Leopold, 1924 Chicago "thrill killer," has been cited by the National Science Foundation for research in the social sciences.

The 59-year-old Leopold, who recently completed his parole, was among three students at the University of Puerto Rico who received honorable mentions for scholarship.

Kennedy May Attend Beatification Rite

ROME (UPI)—Rome buzzed with reports Wednesday that President Kennedy may attend the solemn beatification in St. Peter's of a 19th Century bishop of Philadelphia, but both Vatican and American sources said they had heard of no definite arrangements.

Reports in Rome and Philadelphia said the President may take advantage of his Rome visit in June to witness the magnificent ceremonies making Bohemian-born Bishop John N. Neumann a blessed of the Catholic Church.

The beatification is tentatively scheduled for June 23. The Chief Executive's state visit to Italy, expected to include an audience with Pope John XXIII, is scheduled to begin June 19 or 20.

Archbishop John J. Krol of Philadelphia told United Press International he was not aware of any plans for President Kennedy to attend the beatification.

"The first I heard about any such reports was this morning when somebody handed me a newspaper article," he said.

The archbishop, in Rome to attend preparatory work for the second session of the Ecumenical Council, said that "when I left

Loan Shark Bill Hits House Snag

AUSTIN (UPI)—A Senate-passed loan shark bill allowing annual interest rates in one case equal to 1040 per cent has received a cool reception from some House members.

"I want a much tighter bill than what the Senate passed," said Rep. Ben Jarvis of Tyler, chairman of the House Banks and Banking Committee which must go over the Senate proposal before it reaches the House floor.

"We're going to have to work on those interest rates—they're much too high," Rep. John Allen of Longview said.

"I just can't vote for the bill like it is," Allen said. "I can't help it if they say I'm voting for the loan sharks. I just won't support a bill that grants exorbitant interest rates."

The Senate proposal, virtually rewritten on the floor with some 55 amendments, carries the name of Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi as its author. The bill actually was completely re-worked in a Senate committee from three different bills.

As approved by the Senate, it carries a loan limit of $1,500 rather than the originally proposed $5,000. It keeps a loan firm from clouding interest charges with other types of charges, and holds down the size of loan firm chains in the state.

King Saud III, Declines To Take Doctor's Advice

NICE, France (UPI)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia, whose annual income is estimated at $300 million, today was reported "seriously ill" from a variety of ailments.

Reliable sources reported there is no immediate fear for the 61-year-old monarch's life, but they said his troubles are complicated by a disinclination to follow doctors' advice.

A dozen physicians were ready to rush to his side if necessary to treat the effects of ailments said to include a weak heart, a bad liver, a blood condition and asthma. An oxygen tent was rushed to the monarch's closely guarded hotel suite last night.

The sources said many of the 170 persons in Saud's entourage were seen crying and kneeling in prayer in the corridors of the hotel where he has reserved an entire floor and part of another. A spokesman for the royal household said oxygen was brought in because of the King's asthma.

A source close to the royal household said the task facing the King's physicians appeared complicated by attempts to treat one of his ailments without aggravating the others.

Reliable sources said doctors had advised Saud to watch his diet and steer clear of meats, fats and salt.

Government To Keep Scientists From Aiding UAR

BONN, Germany (UPI)—The government announced Wednesday it is examining possible legal moves to keep German scientists from working on missile production in the United Arab Republic.

The cabinet, acting in the absence of vacationing Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, said it has no evidence that German scientists are helping the U. A. R. develop atomic, bacteriological, or chemical weapons, as Israel charges.

But it added that the government always has tried to stop Germans abroad from doing anything that could increase international tension and said "German nationals in areas of tension helping in development of other weapons... is condemned by the government."

Press spokesman Karl Von Hase said the difficulty in placing legal restrictions on the German scientists comes from provisions of the constitution guaranteeing freedom of movement for all citizens.

TWO CUBANS KILLED

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two Cubans were killed and a third wounded trying to reach American territory at Guantanamo Naval Base, Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., said Tuesday.

Cramer said the three were shot last week by Cuban soldiers who man the fence around the American base. Cramer, who just returned from a Defense Department tour of Guantanamo, said the shootings "indicated the oppressive measures needed to keep Cubans in Cuba."

Baby Elephant Burns To Death

ARLINGTON (UPI)—A baby elephant that was destined to become the darling of thousands of children who will visit the Six Flags over Texas amusement park perished Tuesday in a fire at an animal barn.

The raging blaze also killed four alligators, five seals, and 14 rare birds. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

Caretaker Bill Elsworth suffered superficial burns trying to get the terrified animals and reptiles and the caged birds from the barn before intense heat drove him back.

Foreign Commentary

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press International
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The ancient country of Yemen is the Middle East's current sore thumb.

Its 4.5 million people live in a 75,000-square mile wedge at the tip of the Arabian peninsula whose arid climate and desert wastes afford a skimpy living.

Last year, a revolution overthrew the imam who headed its patriarchal government and replaced him with a republican government.

The imam's supporters died hard. Help came to them in their nomadic fastnesses from neighboring Saudi Arabia. Britain, which controls the adjacent Aden protectorates, is accused of opposing the republican revolutionaries by force. The United Arab Republic bolstered the new government with a military contingent whose strength, by the admission of Cairo Chief Gamal Abdel Nasser, is 25,000 men.

First U. N. Visitor
Ralph J. Bunche the U. N. undersecretary who was the architect of the uneasy, 13-year-old Palestine truce agreement, was sent to Yemen earlier this month by Secretary General Thant. While Yemen has been a member of the organization since 1947, Bunche was the first U. N. official ever to visit it.

He found strange things. He was welcomed at Taiz airport by a throng of thousands, chewing narcotic leaves. Animal spirits, mob psychology and the exhilarating green leaves produced such a frenzy that Bunche and his escorts were in personal danger. It took three hours for his officially-protected car to make a normal half-hour trip from the airport to the city.

Later, Bunche was greeted by a contingent of some 70 sheikhs, each of whom exercises absolute authority over his own band of nomads.

Mistaken Identity
The sheikhs, carrying long rifles with bandoliers slung over their robes, worked themselves up to an angry bedlam.

It developed they wanted the U. N. man of peace to lead them into battle against a nearby British position.

U. A. R. officers calmed the sheikhs by passing out Egyptian candies, wrapped in brightly colored foil. Mollified by the sweetmeats, the sheikhs grudgingly accepted the officers' explanation that their rifles and pommes were no match for a modern military contingent and, anyway, a U. N. undersecretary was not the man they wanted as a warlord.

Bunche is optimistic. He told Thant that a U. N. force, or presence, is not needed to preserve the peace in Yemen. He believes that mutual agreements among Saudi Arabia, Yemen and Britain not to interfere in each other's affairs will do the trick.

USE RELAY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The three major U.S. television networks utilized the Relay communications satellite Monday night for the first time to broadcast news reports direct from Europe.

A spokesman for the networks, the National Broadcasting Co., American Broadcasting Co., and the Columbia Broadcasting System, said "reception was very good" during the 20-minute transmission.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C. (UPI)—Mrs. Sam Midgett Jr. lost to the stork twice Monday during a race to a hospital. She gave birth to a son when a car driven by her father-in-law was six miles from town, and another son was born just within the city limits.

Hospital authorities said the mother and her seven-pound twins were "doing fine."

HILLSGROVE, R. I. (UPI)—The Weather Bureau issued a seasonal warning Monday: "Warm afternoon temperatures and a freshening sea breeze will offer ideal conditions for small boys with low-flying kites this afternoon, especially after 3 p.m.

"All interests should expect a mixture of torn paper, wooden strips and snarled string to be come draped over exposed objects such as telephone wires, TV antennas and shrubbery."

ROME (UPI)—Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, arrived Sunday night from Paris to take part in a meeting of the coordination commission for the Ecumenical Council.

Cyclists in single file add to traffic safety.

Dodging between cars is height of traffic folly.

Reserve your stunting for traffic-free paved areas.

'WHO ME, OFFICER?'—It seems Andrew Kear, 8, is having a problem convincing a Brighton, England, policeman that he's perfectly suited to ride in his little car. The automobile is actually a toy car that runs on electricity.

SNOW CANALS—The country known for its many canals and dikes takes on a new look when caught in the clutches of snow. One of the areas which looks strangely different is the dike from Monnickendam to the Island of Marken.

JEWELLED—It was a glittering night in Paris when these sparkling designs were modeled. Added to the jewelry is a luxurious flutter of black ostrich feathers, combined with a tiara and used fully with a jeweled fan. The long drop-earrings are matched with a necklace and bracelet.

MOB SCENE—Literally thousands of skiers swarm up a hill path to participate in the annual traditional Vasa Race at Salen, Sweden, held in memory of a king of Sweden, Gustaf Eriksson Vasa. The king managed to escape his enemies in 1521 by racing in front of them on skis from Mora to Salen, which is about 53 miles. Janne Stefansson, who won last year's race, came in first again this year.

DAWN PATROL—Actress Dawn Addams sits in the captain's chair aboard the U. S. aircraft carrier Enterprise at Cannes, France. Dawn appeared on the ship's closed-circuit television and then was taken on a tour of the vessel.

The girls crawl on their stomachs under barbed wire (bottom). The women serve as clerks, drivers and nurses and instructors, but they still must train for battle.

Proposed Wheat Program

Wheat growers in the Panhandle, and all across the nation, are studying provisions of the wheat program proposed for 1964, evaluating it so that they will be able to cast ballots in the coming wheat referendum. Agriculture Secretary Freeman is expected to set the election date soon. A May election is likely, giving farmers more time than in past years to make plans for the coming year. The decision is squarely up to the farmers.

Each wheat grower must ask himself: "What would be the consequences for the United States and for me if the wheat referendum were approved or defeated?"

A favorable vote by two-thirds or more of the growers participating in the referendum would put this program in effect for the 1964 crops. A national marketing quota would be set at about 1.2 billion bushels, based on the national need for wheat. The national acreage allotment expected to be announced in several weeks will be approximately 49.5 million acres, and each wheat grower would have an allotment under the program.

Producers with 15 acres or less would share in special "small farm allotments." Approximately 80 per cent of normal production from allotted acres would receive farm marketing allocation — and for these allocations, whether marketed or placed under price support, growers would receive about $2 per bushel. Wheat in excess of the marketing allocation would return to farmers about $1.30 per bushel, either through the market or price support. According to the Agriculture Department, this price is close to the world price and to the feeding value of the wheat.

One phase of the proposed 1964 program is aimed at holding production to desirable levels by diverting wheat land to other uses. Diverted acreage would be in two categories: (1) mandatory diversion of about 10 per cent of the 1963 allotment with payments at 30 per cent of the support rate, and (2) voluntary diversion in addition up to 20 per cent of the 1964 acreage allotment, with payments at 50 per cent of the support rate. The diverted land could be put to conservation crops such as grass or legumes; it might be fallowed; or it could be planted to crops designated by the Secretary of Agriculture as not being in surplus supply. A land use penalty would apply, however, if diverted acres were planted to crops not permitted by law.

Obviously, the adoption of this program means a continuation of rigid government control over American wheat production. Each wheat grower must decide for himself whether or not he believes his government should exercise these proposed controls.

If more than one-third of wheat growers vote "no" in the referendum, these results may be expected: Wheat price supports would drop to 50 per cent of parity, or about $1.20 per bushel for growers who plant within their acreage allotment. The national acreage allotment would not be changed. Wheat growers who planted more than their allotments would not be eligible for price support loans, but there would be no penalties.

Agricultural economists from land grant colleges and universities who've studied the 1964 program say that the effect of a "no" vote in the referendum would be these: Growers could be expected to plant up to 70 million acres or more of wheat compared with 49 million acres planted in 1962; harvested acreage would be about 65 million acres compared with 43 million acres in 1962; and wheat production would total about 1.5 million bushels; about 300 million bushels more than could be used at home or exported. Wheat prices would drop to a level based on wheat's value as livestock feed, probably about $1.10 with a feed grains program in effect and about 90 cents with no feed grains program. At these price levels, feeding of wheat to livestock might increase to about 100 million bushels a year, causing additional sorghum grain, corn, and barley to be placed under government price support. The economist's estimate that at these prices, and quantities, total farm income from wheat would drop from $2.3 billion in 1961-62 to about $1.6 billion. On the international market, a "no" vote might force United States prices lower than minimum prices under the international wheat agreement, probably making necessary an expanded government role in controlling wheat exports.

Government programs involving wheat have three purposes: (1) To support wheat prices and farmers' income. (2) To export more

Longview Mayor Strikes Out At Oil Tax Proposal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—J. Clyde Tomlinson, mayor of Longview, Tex., and president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, yesterday told the House Ways and Means Committee that proposed changes in oil and gas tax laws would cost Texans $92 million more a year.

Tomlinson said that amount was the same as the annual wages of 15,878 Texas petroleum workers. He pictured the additional tax as a blow to Gov. John Connally's efforts to build up industry and employment in the state.

He told the committee the administration proposed tax changes "would adversely affect paychecks, grocery money, and school funds in Texas."

Tomlinson said that despite what people in other parts of the country think about Texas' wealth, the state is below the national average in per capita income.

"One of the principal industries of the Southwest should not be

Sporting Sidelines

By JEFF COHANE

SPEAKING OF all the odds and ends sportswriters are supposed to know, (and you would be surprised how many times men in the profession have been routed out of bed in the wee hours of the morning to confirm a wager or settle an argument) Pampa High catcher Larry Gregory recently asked us whether it was true that Abner Doubleday invented the game of baseball in 1839 as is claimed by baseball moguls and was told him by one of his teachers.

Being one of those who get violently upset when that complete untruth is foisted upon an unsuspecting public, we hasten to answer that it is completely and absolutely false! Not only did Abner Doubleday not invent the game of baseball in Cooperstown in 1839, he wasn't even in Cooperstown in 1839, and probably never even played a game of baseball in his life!

RESEARCH by the scholarly Robert Smith, head librarian of the New York City Public Library, who has written several books denouncing the myth, and several other sports historians, have proved that in the late 19th century, Henry Chadwick, who was the game's first scorekeeper and is called by many the "Father of Baseball," was an Englishman born, and claimed that the game was derived from the British game of "rounders."

Fellow Hall of Famer A. G. Spalding, a violent Anglophobe, appointed a commission in 1907 to prove that baseball sprung strictly from the (as he phrased it) "American pluck and persistence American courage and combativeness," etc. The commission found that baseball had probably derived from the game of rounders after all, and that the game, in various forms, had been played in this country since before the Revolution.

THIS DID not satisfy Spalding, who had them look further. Finally the commission came up with a letter from an old man who stated that he had been a schoolmate of Abner Doubleday (a well-known Civil War general) in Cooperstown in 1839 and that Doubleday had drawn up plans, laid out a diamond and invented the game, all in one day. Not only was this answer satisfactory to Spalding, but also to A. G. Mills, a close friend of the late general and the chairman of the commission, so the letter was declared authentic and Abner Doubleday named the inventor of the game. Years later, major league owners, looking for something to ballyhoo the game, found the old Mills report, seized upon it, and with much fanfare and hoop-la, built the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown and declared 1939 the 100th anniversary of the game.

THE SCHOLARLY Mr. Smith wondered why the general, who fired the first Union gun at Fort Sumter and commanded the Union army in the first day of battle at Gettysburg, had never, in letters, memoirs or conversation, ever made claim to such an honor before his death in 1893.

Searching the records, Smith found out that not only had he and Abner Graves (author of the letter to Mills) not gone to the same school in Cooperstown, but that in 1839, Doubleday had been a West Point cadet, not a student in Cooperstown!

FURTHER research has fairly well established that the real originator of the game as it was first played in the major leagues was Alexander Joy Cartwright, who started revising the game of "town ball," or as we know it, "One O Cat" or "Catch a fly you're out," in 1845, and the first game of real baseball was played by Cartwright and some of his friends the following year, calling themselves the New York Knickerbockers, and playing a team called the "New York Nine."

Substantiation of this may be found in the Encyclopedia of Sport, pages 77-84, Larry, in case your teacher disagrees.

TO BE HONORED — The 1962-63 Pampa Harvester basketball team, which went undefeated in district 3-AAAA and compiled a 29-2 season record, will be honored tonight at the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. Also to be honored are the B team "Shockers," at the 16th annual Pampa Basketball Banquet. The "Hustling Harvester" trophy will be given, all state and all-district certificates will be presented to four of the team, and the Basketball Queen will be crowned. Guest speaker at to-

Bearcats to Get Top Team Trophy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The University of Cincinnati basketball team will receive the United Press International trophy as the nation's top team for the 1962-63 season at a banquet here tonight.

Haskell Short, Ohio news manager of UPI, will present the trophy emblematic of the national title. Cincinnati coach Ed Jucker will receive the UPI coach-of-the-year award.

The banquet was expected to attract a sell-out crowd of about 2,000 at the Netherland Hilton Hotel.

Also to receive certificates were Ron Bonham and Tom Thacker, who were first team All-American selections for the past season.

IDAHO REVIEWS COACHES

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — J. Neil Stahley, athletic director of the University of Idaho, today announced the university was studying 35 "qualified" applicants for the job of head basketball coach. Stahley said a decision could be expected in about three weeks.

BRUMEL CLEARS 7-FEET-2

LENINGRAD, Russia (UPI)—World high jump record holder Valery Brumel cleared 7 feet, 2.6 inches during the Soviet Union track and field competitions Sunday, it was reported by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Pennel Jumps Another 16' After Record

MONROE, La. (UPI) — John Pennel, 22-year-old Northeast Louisiana State College senior, is the toast of the track world.

Pennel scaled 16 feet 3 inches in the Memphis Relays last weekend to better the world pole vault record by one inch. It was the first time the 5-foot 10-inch native of Coral Gables, Fla., had cleared the 16-foot mark in competition—but he proved it was no fluke by vaulting 16 feet 3/4 inch Tuesday in a dual meet at Ruston, La.

Bob Groseclose, Pennel's coach, was not surprised at the record-breaking performance. "I said before the meet John was ready to clear 16 feet and possibly break the world record," Groseclose said.

The quiet-spoken Pennel admits "I had a jumping complex even when I was little. I used to jump over everything in my back yard."

He didn't start vaulting until his junior year at Coral Gables High School. "I got enthusiastic watching a buddy of mine vaulting. He taught me the technique. From the first I felt like I could do it," he said.

Pennel's record-shattering performance came with a borrowed pole, as he had broken his pole in the Shreveport Relays on March 9 while clearing 15 feet 9 inches. He bettered the world standard Saturday with a pole borrowed from Rice University.

Cincinnati Reds Are Loaded For '63, Says Freddie Hutchinson

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds are loaded for 1963, according to manager Freddie Hutchinson, who maintains "our chances of winning the pennant are as good as anyone's."

He feels—and doesn't get too much argument on the subject—that he will have the best overall pitching depth in the league, and that the club will have more power, speed and fielding finesse this coming season.

The Reds after winning in 1961 missed by only three and a half games last season despite the fact they lost their hard hitting third baseman, Gene Freese for most of the year with a broken right ankle.

Thus far this spring he has looked like the Freese of old, and the Reds also have come up with a rookie, Tommy Harper, who could make a big difference. Although originally a third baseman, with Freese back in shape, Harper has been shifted to the outfield where he has done so well it looks like he will win the left field berth.

Hutchinson, an old pitcher himself, keeps emphasizing pitching, however.

"You just don't win without it," he claims. "If you have fine pitching you don't need too much power. But we also have the power to go along with that pitching."

His pitching starts off with three outstanding starters in right handers Bob Purkey (23-5) and Joey Jay (21-14) and southpaw Jim O'Toole (16-13). Behind them are two of the better relief hurlers in the league, right hander Jim Brosnan (4-4) and left hander Billy Henry (4-2). Between them they had 24 saves last season.

Right now, Jim Maloney (9-7), veteran Joe Nuxhall (5-0) and Jim Owens (2-4) with the Phillies are fighting it out for the other starting berths. Owens seems to have taken on a new outlook since joining the Reds and Hutchinson predicts "he is going to help us a lot."

Then there are John Tsitouris and Al Worthington, who won another major league trial by winning 13 and 15 games, respectively, for San Diego and Indianapolis last season.

That still leaves Dick Sisler (4-3), Sammy Ellis (2-2) with the Reds and 12-6 at San Diego, Johnny Klippstein (7-6) and Ken Hunt, who may be over the wilderness which hampered his last season, in the picture.

On potential it doesn't look like pitching will be any problem. Outfield fixtures are two of the best, Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson. Robinson hit .342 last season with 39 homers and 136 runs batted in. Pinson .292 with 23 HRs and an even 100 RBIs. If Harper, a speed demon who hit .333 at San Diego last season with 26 homers and 84 RBIs, should win the other outfield post it would leave veterans Jerry Lynch, Wally Post, who has been hitting especially well this spring, and Marty Keough for reserve duty. As for the infield it will be Gordy Coleman at first, Don Blasingame or Eddie Kasko at second, Leo Cardenas at short and Freese at third. Coleman dropped off to a .277 batting average last season but still hit 28 home runs and knocked in 86. Blasingame batted .281, Kasko .278.

Harry Bright, who hit 16 homers and batted in 67 runs for Washington last season, will be kept to back up Coleman at first. Bright also can catch if necessary.

But it doesn't look like the Reds will need him behind the plate for in Johnny Edwards they have one of the most promising receivers in the league.

"He improved tremendously last year both defensively and offensively," Hutchinson said. "He can't miss becoming a star and I think he will hit better."

If the Reds are hurting in any department, it isn't apparent. It may not pay to sell Hutchinson's prediction short.

Pampa Splits At Spearman In Tennis

SPEARMAN (SpI) — The Spearman tennis team pulled out a draw with Pampa yesterday as they came from behind to win a grueling three-set girls doubles match.

Pampa, playing without two of their regulars as boys doubles player Joe Fischer and girls doubles player Mary Roberts, were both missing, switched Eugene Eads from singles to team up with Charles Ashby for a boys doubles win.

Jerry Edmondson dropped the girls singles to Sandy Miller of the Lynx, 6-2, 6-3.

Jerry Thomas won his tenth match against two losses as he disposed of Bill Blackburn, 6-1, 6-3.

Ashby and Eads dropped the second set to Burton Williamson and Lynn Gibner, 5-7, after winning the opener, 6-2, and then came back to edge the Spearman pair in the final set, 6-4.

Spearman pulled out the match as Sharon Cook and Phyllis Patterson came from behind after losing the opening set, 2-6 to take 6-1, 6-2 sets and tie the match. Pampa remains undefeated in match play with six wins and two ties.

The Harvesters host Dumas at 4 p.m. today. Coach Roy Kieval said that he would play either four or five matches, depending on whether Mary Roberts would be able to play. Fischer will be a doubtful starter again today, said Kieval, and either Eads would team up again with Ashby or sophomore Ronald Thompson would play doubles; and Eads and Thomas boys singles. Mary Roberts will probably play singles today and Jerry and Ginger Hestand the girls doubles.

Tomorrow and Saturday will see Pampa at the Amarillo Relays, where some 20 teams or more are expected, said Kieval, with Capitol Hill of Oklahoma City and Monterey the probable favorites.

Drawings for district pairings will also take place tomorrow, with the district net met at Amarillo the following weekend. Thomas should be favored to win the boys singles title in district, said the net coach.

Only Handful Of Pros Get Rich On Circuit

By OSCAR FRALEY UPI Sports Writer

MIAMI (UPI) — If you're an ambitious young lad being lured by the $1,000,000 in prize money on the pro golf tour it's better, Jimmy Demaret insisted today, that you become a Mickey Mantle and switch to baseball.

"The pro golf tour," says Demaret, a man who has enjoyed more success than most, "is the poorest financial risk in the world."

A million bucks sounds like a lot of lush cabbage. And it is. But first off you have to stop and figure that a pro golfer, as an individual, if he won them all is only getting 20 per cent off the top.

Which means that if a man won every tournament all year long his earnings would amount to but $200,000 out of that million. And you'll never see the day when one fellow is going to win them all, or even half of them, the competition being what it is.

Few Make Big Money "Only two or three players on the tour are making real money when you come right down to it," says jovial Jimmy, the three-time Masters champion. "Okay, so the first 20 or so on the tour are making money. But when you come right down to it they are merely eking out a businessman's living."

So you make $30,000. It sounds like a big bundle of cash. But you're forgetting the expenses. "It'll cost you $15,000 to pay taxes and meet your expenses," says the smiling man from Houston. "But you'll have to pay an entry fee of one dollar per thousand dollars of prize money, meaning that in a $50,000 tournament you put up $50."

Must Pay Caddies "Whoa, now," he adds "that isn't all. You'll be paying your caddies roughly $100 a week, and more as a bonus if you win the tournament. Then it costs you about $200 a week to live, because you're appearing usually at a site where it is the height of the season and the cost of everything is sky high."

That isn't all, junior. "Your family lives in one place, because you have to operate away from home for them, and what it amounts to is that you're running two ranches," Demaret goes on. "So now you've been able to win $30,000. How much do you think you have left? That's right. Not as much as you'd earn on some everyday job."

Demaret points out that he always had "one or two club jobs just to keep things going," and that Sam Snead, who is judged to have made a million out of golf, also has a winter and summer club position.

The pro golfers look at that Mantle and lick their chops," Jimmy asserted. "He gets $100,000 a year, and the club pays his traveling expenses. So hit that golf ball for fun, but hit that baseball for profit. Because the tour isn't what it's cracked up to be."

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (XPI) — Warren Giles, president of the National League, announced Wednesday that Lee Weyer will be retained on the league's umpiring staff for the 1963 season.

Giles also announced that umpires Bill Williams and John Kibler, who have been working exhibition games in Florida this season, are to be optioned to the International League for the 1963 season.

55TH YEAR THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1963 17

Borger Bulldog Chances Rest On Big Joe Robinson

(Editor's note: Fourth in a series on District 3-AAAA baseball teams.)

Pampa baseball fans need little rundown on Borger, as the Bulldogs and Harvesters met in two pre-season practice games, and Borger took a 3-1 win here Tuesday.

Borger, with a 4-1 record to date, was picked to finish fourth in the district. If Big Joe Robinson could pitch every game, the Bulldogs would no doubt go undefeated, if anything ever happened to the returning All-District ace, the Dogs would probably go winless for the rest of the season.

One-Man Team
Borger and Robinson are practically synonymous, as Big Joe is virtually a one-man team. He has good field support behind him, a good catcher, and one or two good hitters in the lineup, but practically nothing in the way of pitching help, while only his booming bat has helped him to win several of his games.

Borger opened the season by splitting a pair of practice games with Pampa. Big Joe held the Harvesters helpless in his three-inning stint in the first game, with the locals hopping on his relievers for scores. Robinson pitched again in the second game, and this time the Harvesters got to him for a win.

The Bulldogs then opened the season officially against Dumas. Joe took a 2-1 win in the first game and then the tireless Robinson pitched them to a 5-3 win over the Demons as he hurled a two-hitter and struck out 21 batters.

Confusion In Fix Case

ATLANTA (UPI) — The attorney for former University of Georgia Athletic Director Wallace Butts said Wednesday he has advised his client against taking a second lie detector test in connection with an alleged Southeastern Conference football scandal.

"My advice to my client must be to let us try his case in the court house where it belongs and that he should not go on submitting to lie detector tests at random in spite of his willingness to do so," attorney William Schroder wrote State Attorney General Eugene Cook.

Cook is investigating an accusation in a recent Saturday Evening Post article that Butts gave Georgia team secrets to Alabama coach Paul (Bear) Bryant in a long distance telephone conversation prior to the 1962 Georgia-Alabama game which Alabama won 35-0.

Butts and Bryant both have denied any attempt to rig the game and both took lie detector tests which attorneys said indicated their innocence. Cook said, however, the tests were not "polygraphs."

Tascosa Meet Favorite

Tascosa, Odessa Permian and Palo Duro are given the favorites' roles in the AAAA-AAA division of the 14th annual Amarillo Relays Friday and Saturday, while Iowa Park is rated as the top team in the Class AA-A-B division, with White Deer rated as the top contender.

All Greater Pampa area teams with the exception of Mobeetie will be in the meet. Pampa is expected to pile up wins in the field events and points in the running events, but will not have enough depth overall to compete with the top three.

In addition to White Deer, McLean, Canadian, Miami, Wheeler, Lefors, and Groom will be in the smaller class division, while triple-A Perryton will take on the big boys.

Coaches Like Rebs
Permian has won every meet but one it has entered, and should be classed as the top team in the meet, but Amarillo track coaches give the nod to Tascosa as the team to beat, with Permian and Palo Duro battling it out for second spot.

Permian has won the Lubbock Invitational, the Comanche Relays at Fort Stockton, the Canyon Reef Relays at Snyder, and the Burgess Invitational at El Paso. The only meet they have lost was the West Texas Relays in Odessa, won by Tascosa. Other strong teams in the meet include Wichita Falls and Dumas.

Iowa Park has won their own Iowa Park Invitational, the small school title in the Possum Kingdom Relays, the Tarleton Relays and the Bluebonnet Relays at Brownwood.

White Deer has won the Lefors Relays and the Panhandle Relays in their two outings. Other tough schools in the smaller classes will include Dalhart, which lost by one point to the Bucks at Panhandle; Childress and Panhandle.

Entries Lag
Meet director Dee Walker has

RECORD BREAKER — Randy Matson, the mighty man of the state's weight events, will be defending both his shot put and discus wins in last year's Amarillo Relays, will seek to break his own shot record, and also to break the meet discus mark which eluded him last year. (Daily News Photo) hoped to break the record entry for teams, set in 1960 when 133 teams were represented. So far, only a dozen big schools and some 29 small schools, including B teams of all Amarillo schools have entered.

A tennis meet, in which Pampa and Perryton will participate, and a golf meet, which expects 16 entries, including defending champs Pampa, will be taking place simultaneously with the track events this weekend. Tennis will be played at Ellwood and Memorial Park Courts on Friday afternoon and Saturday. Golf will be played at the same time at Amarillo and Tascosa Country Clubs.

Track events will be at Dick Bivins Stadium. Preliminaries start at 12:30 Friday, semifinals Saturday morning and finals beginning at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Records To Fall
Records are expected to fall like rain as some of the outstanding individual and relay runners and top field events men in both classes will meet each other.

Fastest man in the 100-yard dash is Floyd Burke of Palo Duro, a 9.9 runner, as Pat Brown, Permian's 9.8 sprinter, will not be at the meet, although teammate Mike Collins is a 10-flat runner, as is Robert Houlett of Dumas. In the 220, Mike Bell of Tascosa has run a 21.2, best in the state this year and Floyd Burke of Palo Duro a 21.5.

The 440, will also have a host of top runners, including Mark Yarbrough of Tascosa, Ralph Palmer, Pampa; Gene Irwin of Permian and Roger Wright of Perryton.

In the 880, Davis Webb of Tascosa has a 1:56.3, and will have no competition to speak of.

Top big school milers in the meet are John Carr of Palo Duro with 4:39.0; Robert Connally, Littlefield, 4:40.0; and Robert Gonzales of Dumas, 4:44.2.

The 440-yard relay will be an all-out battle with Tascosa 42.4; Permian 42.8; Palo Duro 43.2; Pampa 43.5; Dumas 43.8 and Perryton 44.5.

Hot Mile Relay
Tascosa and Permian will slug

it out in the mile relay, Tascosa having the state's best time this year, 3:18.4 and Permian 3:18.9. Dumas has a 3:27.1 and Pampa a 3:28.5.

In the high hurdles, Glen Bigelow of Permian has a 14.6; Philip Key of Palo Duro a 14.9; Tom Crabtree of Palo Duro a 15.3; Larry Wood of Littlefield a 15.4; and Ronnie Welty of Hereford also has a 15.4; with Wayland Bullard of Pampa having a 15.6.

Pampa's Bill Martin will be the top high jumper in the meet, with a 6'3" mark, but Steve Plattor of Tascosa has a 6'2", and Royce Berry and Tim Haines of Permian have both cleared 6-1.

Battle Off
The small school field will also be crammed with stars, but the scheduled battle of the sprinters between Charles Mitchell of Childress and little Curtis Campbell of White Deer will apparently not come off. Mitchell exploded for a 9.5 100 last weekend and Campbell a 9.7, but the bespectacled Buck pulled muscles in the backs of both legs, and would be unable to come out of the starting blocks, although he can run on the relay teams.

The 440 will see Jimmy Thurmond of White Deer the favorite with a 52.0 clocking, although Jim Cabrera of Muleshoe has a 52.6. The relay events will be all-out battles between Iowa Park, White Deer and Dalhart. In the 440 relay, Iowa Park has clocked a 44.2, White Deer a 44.7 and Dalhart a 44.9.

In the mile relay, the Hawks have a 3:31.8, Dalhart a 3:33 and White Deer a 3:36. Stinnett and Shamrock, who are probable last-minute entries, also have equally good times in the relays.

Russell-Lewis
The field events will see some outstanding hurdlers. Once again Carroll Russell of White Deer and Robert Lewis of Canadian will continue their hurdles rivalry. This time they will have rugged competition from Larry Thompson of Iowa Park in the low hurdles, who has run 21.5, equalling Russell's best time in the event, and only a fraction under Lewis. Davis of Panhandle and Dale of Gruver, who finished second and third at Panhandle, will also be back for another try.

The high hurdles should again be one-two for the pair, with Russell twice running the event in 15.3 and Lewis in 15.4.

Pampa coach Norman Phillips has reported that he expects to take 19 boys to the meet, although his hopes for a high place will depend mainly on the efforts of Matson and Martin in the field events and the sprint relay team of Travis Tucker, Ralph Palmer, Curtis Fletcher and Kenny Hebert and the mile relay squad of Fletcher, Tucker, Jimmy Jamieson and Palmer.

Norm Agrees
Phillips agreed with the Amarillo coaches that Tascosa would probably win the meet. The Rebels lost their first meet, the Irving Invitational, to Palo Duro, but have since won the Amarillo-Albuquerque Meet and the West Texas Relays.

Although the pair have met head-to-head only at West Texas, Phillips said "Tascosa should win on speed and on depth. Although Permian has won even more meets than Tascosa, their times have been slower. In addition, Tascosa has two or three boys in every event, and should win on sheer depth."

Phillips thought the meet records most likely to be broken were the relays—the 220 and the shot and discus. Matson set the shot put record last year with 59'3 1/2". He also won the discus, but failed to break the record of 173 feet set by Joe Urban of Amarillo in 1954. The big Harvester should do it this year however, as he has beaten that distance in every meet this year. Phillips said that he was again considering running Matson in the 100-yard dash, where he placed third at West Texas, but it would depend on there being no conflict in time that the weight events and the dash events were run.

Hawks Threatened
The 440 relay record was set by Tascosa last year in 42.5, and could be broken if they repeat their recent clocking of 42.4. The mile relay record of 3:21.6 should also be an easy mark for the Rebels to break.

The oldest record in the Relays should be a certainty to fall, the 21.4 mark set in the 220 by Frank Daugherty of Olton in 1953. Bell has beaten that time and with Burke to push him, should do it again.

Although Martin of Pampa and Jimmy Flowers of Miami have high jumped 6'3", the meet mark is 6'4 1/2". Flowers should set a small school record in the event however, as he has steadily moved up in every meet, and just barely missed 6'4" last week.

Tommy Elliott of White Deer, who set a Lefors Relays record of 10'10" in the pole vault, and was tied by arch-rival Wayne Coleman of Lefors at Panhandle last week, will also be seeking a small-school record at the meet, although Iowa Park's Sam Archer is reported to have passed the 11-foot barrier.

ACC Going For 3rd Title

ABILENE (SpI) — The busiest track squad in Texas, with a couple of new stars, will defend its Angelo Relays crown Saturday at San Angelo. Abilene Christian will gun for its third consecutive San Angelo title.

Last Saturday the Wildcats outlasted Baylor, 79-74, after a disqualification of the winning ACC sprint medley relay for passing out of the zone. This was in a quadrangular meet at Corpus Christi which also included Southern Methodist and Texas.

Wednesday in Abilene the undefeated Wildcats seek their fifth consecutive track and field meet victory of the season in a dual meet with the University of Colorado. The Buffaloes from Boulder, Colo., swamped Texas Tech last Saturday at Lubbock in a dual match, 80 1/2-35 1/2.

Pole vaulter Billy Pemelton and shot putter Roger Orrell stepped up beside sprinter Dennis Richardson and multi-talented Jerry Dyes as outstanding stars in the Wildcats' array of talent in the Corpus Christi meet.

Pemelton cleared 15-0 for the first time in competition breaking the three-year old school record of 14-6 held by Leroy Culver. Frank Foglesong, a sophomore, tied the old record with a second place vault of 14-6. Pemelton who is a junior has a 3-1 record in outdoor competition this spring. He also ran a wind-aided 14.6 in the high hurdles.

Roger Orrell, a sophomore, lifted the 16-pound shot 55-2 1/2, to erase the five-year old ACC school record of 54-4 which was established by Rayford McIlhenny in 1938. Orrell's best previous competitive effort, was 54-3 1/2.

Grapefruit League

By United Press International
Add Jim O'Toole to the reasons Grapefruit League observers are predicting that the Cincinnati Reds will make a strong bid this year to recapture the National League pennant they lost last year.

The Reds made their run for the 1962 pennant just a bit too late — and one reason was O'Toole didn't begin to win consistently until mid-season. He stood only 4-9 on June 20 but wound up with a 16-13 mark.

O'Toole, a 19-game winner when the Reds won the flag in 1961, has been one of the most impressive pitchers of the spring. He went six innings in the Reds' 6-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday at Vero Beach, Fla., and now has a string of 14 consecutive shutout innings.

Blast 13 Hits
O'Toole, who yielded four hits, was backed by a 13-hit attack that included a homer by Gordon Coleman and doubles by Don Blasingame, Chico Ruiz, Wally Post, Johnny Edwards and pitcher John Flavin.

The New York Mets scored their fifth victory in seven games when they beat the St. Louis Cardinals' Craig Anderson, who had lost 16 decisions in regular N.L. play since last May, tasted victory for the first time in 10 months. Frank Thomas homered for the Mets.

Jim Bunning, a 19-game winner last season, was hit hard in the early innings but became the first Detroit Tiger pitcher to go the nine inning distance in a 6-1 loss to the Milwaukee Braves. Lew Burdette and Bob Hendley teamed for a six-hitter for the Braves, who had three-run uprisings in the first and third innings.

Early Wynn took another firm step along the comeback trail as he combined with Eddie Fisher to pitch the Chicago White Sox to a 3-0 triumph over the Washington Senators. Wynn, who yielded one hit for the first three innings, has allowed only one run and two hits in his last nine innings. He needs one more major league win to reach the 300-level.

Lopez Checks A's
Marcelino Lopez yielded only two hits in six innings and also homered as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Kansas City Athletics, 9-2, and snapped the A's four-game winning streak. Richie Allen also hit a homer for the Phillies while Norm Siebern homered for Kansas City.

First-baseman Joe Pepitone, Bill Skowron's heir apparent, hit two homers and Elson Howard hit one to lead the New York Yankees to a 7-6 decision over the Minnesota Twins. Harmon Killebrew belted his first homer of the spring and Bernie Allen also connected for the Twins.

The Los Angeles Angels edged out the Boston Red Sox, 4-3, on a ninth-inning homer by Eddie Sadowski, who unloaded against left-hander Wilbur Wood. Former Yankee 21-game winner Bob Turley struck out seven and walked one in a six-inning performance for the Angels.

A homer by Ernie Banks and triples by Andre Rodgers and Lou Brock were the big blows for the Chicago Cubs, who shaded the Cleveland Indians, 12-11. Bob Buhl was bounced around for seven runs in seven innings by the Indians but was the winning pitcher.

The NL champion San Francisco Giants gave their Tacoma farmhands something about which to write home when they lost to them, 10-9. Marion Talton broke up the game with a bases-filled single in the ninth.

Celts Changing Plans For Royals

By United Press International
The Boston Celtics apparently have more to fear from their 9-3 winning season record over the Cincinnati Royals than they do over a possible meeting against Los Angeles or St. Louis in the National Basketball Association championship playoff series.

Boston, having geared itself for an Eastern Division final series with Syracuse, had to make a quick revision of plans for its unexpected best-of-seven set against Cincinnati that opens on the Celtics' home court tonight.

Cincinnati edged Syracuse, three games to two, in a semifinal playoff, the clincher coming Tuesday night in an overtime victory.

The St. Louis Hawks eliminated the Detroit Pistons, three games to one, in their Western Division semifinal Tuesday and open a sectional title series against the Lakers in Los Angeles Sunday.

A rested but aged band of Celtics will be gunning for their fifth straight NBA title. But fear of being upstaged by the Royals is uppermost in Coach Arnold (Red) Auerbach's mind.

Auerbach was worried about "our mental attitude" and "the over-confidence that might build because his club had taken nine of 12 games from Cincinnati during the regular season.

Los Angeles, like Boston, holds a series edge over its rivals in the Western finals. The Lakers have beaten the Hawks seven times and lost five.

The Lakers-Hawks playoffs also match the league's second and fourth leading scorers, Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles having tallied 2,719 points over the regular grind and Bob Pettit of St. Louis netting 2,241.

Pettit scored 35 points in the Hawks' playoff-clinching win over Detroit.

Don Wagner Both Grid, Trackman

Speaking of upsets, Texas Tech's Don Sparks used his secret weapon to nip Abilene Christian's freshman 65-63 in last Saturday's meet. The w e a p o n ? Reinforcements from freshman footballers, who delayed suiting out for Saturday's scrimmage long enough to account for 20 points.

Ceter Steve Stephens of Roswell, N. M., won the shot put; tackle Don Wagner of Perryton, the discus; and fullback Bobby Carbone of Albuquerque, N. M., the javelin. Tackle Roy Brown of Carlsbad, N. M., placed third in the discus, and quarterback Ben Elledge of Brownwood, second in javelin.

Elledge's javelin effort apparently was a good warm-up for the scrimmage, since he threw two touchdown passes and connected on two extra point tries as his Red-team won 38-20.

Unanswered Question

What Has The Strike
Done To The Theatre?

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—The newspaper strike here will remain a conversation piece in theatrical circles long after it ends.

Authors, actors, producers, directors — all will be heard explaining that if it hadn't been for the strike "my play would not have closed," etc.

No one, of course, ever will know for sure what would have happened had there been no newspaper blackout.

A gag grew out of the recent compilation of Broadway box office grosses for the first 11 weeks of the strike by the trade weekly Variety that showed fewer attractions taking in some $200,000 more for the period than did more productions current during the corresponding time a year previously when newspapers were published.

The gag was that maybe the theater would be better off if the newspaper famine continued.

Another joke that crops up every time there is a newspaper strike takes the line that some stinkers sneak in and are able to catch on because the public never learns how bad the critics think they are.

Neither jape has foundation in fact. It's better with newspapers, and here have been plenty of examples of stinkers snaring the public fancy despite critical blasts. And, vice versa, there have been many highly praised attractions that the public wouldn't take as a gift.

Prime subjects for speculation about the strike's effect on the lack of success of plays are "Tiger, Tiger, Burning Bright," which came in early in the blackout; Tennessee Williams' "The Milk Train Doesn't Stop Here Anymore"; and William Inge's "Natura Aftection."

The hard facts in each case are that, with newspapers, these plays might have run a little longer, paying a few more weeks of salary to those involved. They could not possibly have been financial successes on Broadway.

For, in this strike, due to extensive radio, television and other types of exposure, there has been no secret about what the major critics think of these and other productions of the strike period.

All three plays had some admirers, but the majority verdict in each case was thumbs down. It could be argued that if the critics' opinions were available in the usual published manner, any or all of these might have closed sooner than they did.

You hear the argument that Williams and Inge are among the four or five top current dramatists and that they must have been victims of the strike. But these boys have had a number of flops in the past when the newspapers were flourishing. Williams' batting average from the financial success standpoint is only about 30 per cent, and Inge's is just a trifle better (he's had fewer productions).

The strike didn't prevent the public from cottoning to "The School for Scandal," "The Hollow Crown" and Peter Ustinov's "Photo Finish," for example.

Has the strike discouraged production? It would not seem so. The first six months of the season, ended last Nov. 30, and generally the most productive, generated only 20 attractions, whereas the latter half apparently will be responsible for approximately 25.

In fact, March, which normally gets five or six Broadway shows, is scheduled for 11 new ones, matching the output for last October, traditionally the busiest month of any season. And it may be significant that these March entries embrace the season's heaviest concentration of stars and important properties.

The only true conclusion, of course, is the one always reached in discussing any aspect of the theater at any time under any circumstance. There is no logical explanation for anything. Intangible is the everlasting wrd.

BRIEF AUTO RIDE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy took his son and daughter for a brief auto ride Tuesday.

Kennedy took 5-year-old Caroline, 2-year-old John Jr., and their nurse Maude Shaw along on the 1 1/2-block ride from the White House to the Statler-Hilton Hotel, where he addressed the Magazine Publishers Association.

Baptists Ready To Battle For Texas Prohibition

AUSTIN (UPI)—A group of Baptist ministers appeared ready today to gamble with Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry on prohibition. It's not really a gamble when you have faith, one said.

Berry, a gray-haired retired gambler who usually draws concerted clergy opposition for his horse racing bills, presented resolutions to vote the state completely wet or dry. Most of the ministers appeared ready to gamble with Berry that the state would vote dry.

Rev. Dr. Sam Morris, San Antonio Baptist minister who often opposes Berry at hearings, testified in favor of the resolutions before the House Constitutional Amendments Committee.

Morris said he believes the dries "have more to gain than the wets in this proposition. We haven't had a chance to vote on prohibition in 28 years."

Rev. Claud J. Bonam, another San Antonio Baptist pastor, said he wants the "committee to fight for statewide prohibition. I believe Rep. Berry's propositions are fair enough."

Two other Baptist ministers, Dr. Sidney Fillingim of Carthage and Dr. J. R. Glasscock of Henderson, said they were satisfied with local option and were opposed to a statewide referendum.

Narcotics Rings
Reported Broken

TIJUANA, Mexico (UPI)—A major international narcotics smuggling ring was reported smashed yesterday with the arrest of 19 persons and seizure of more than $1.6 million in narcotics destined for the United States.

Bobby And Sandra
Agree To Disagree

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The marriage of one of Hollywood's youngest and most publicized couples appeared headed for the rocks today, that of singer Bobby Darin and actress Sandra Dee. A spokesman for Universal-International Pictures said Tuesday the couple had separated, but had no other details except that there were no immediate divorce plans. Darin, 28, and Miss Dee, 20, were married Dec. 1, 1960, at Elizabeth, N.J.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

When the President's committee on foreign aid reported to the White House, everybody was out of step except the AFL-CIO's George Meany.

Nine of the 10 committee members agreed that the United States was wasting money in an effort to do too much for too many too fast. Meany disagreed. The committee, including Meany, were men of proven ability, as established by the record.

Meany's dissent did not mean much: one good man against nine. Or, maybe, it meant a great deal. Could it mean, for example, that the leadership of Big Labor is losing contact with the mainstream of American thought, that the grand panoramas of organized labor are losing the common touch?

That is what happened to the 19th century, public-be-damned American capitalists. These men, who too suddenly acquired unimaginable riches and public power, drifted off their own private, golden clouds to live in a dreary world of Nonesuch.

Union Actions
This dreamy existence lasted only long enough for the federal and state governments to discover and to abolish it. Meany's dissent alone would not justify these musings. But there has been more. There has been, for example, in New York the unconscionable closure by strike of nine newspapers serving that community and, in Cleveland, likewise.

Most of the nation's seaports recently were knocked out by strike action. The railroad unions are jarring the economy with strike threats to protect their discredited make-work featherbedding.

These questions are much too important to be left for decision by the politicians, all seeking reelection.

X-rays were first discovered in 1895 by Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen, a German physicist.

One Supreme Court opinion discredited featherbedding. The other denied union leaders the right to hold their members as faceless political captives. The court held that a closed shop union member could demand and get a refund of his dues money if it were used for political purposes against his will.

The court thus protected an inalienable right of U. S. citizenship.

Not Worth Much
Meany's dissent got its modest line of type in the news of the committee's report and no more. It was deemed of no consequence, and Big Labor should ponder that.

First returns — editorial and word of mouth — on the report of the President's committee on foreign aid have been favorable. The average citizen should be, and probably is, grateful for the committee's disinterested advice on a public question about which it is possible for the average citizen to inform himself.

A committee inquiry is a useful device to help the average citizen comprehend what he might not otherwise understand at all. A committee inquiry has functioned so well in the difficult field of foreign aid that it seems logical now that President Kennedy should try it elsewhere.

There should be a committee of inquiry on American nuclear test ban policy. There should be another on armaments systems, especially with respect to the proposed phase-out of the manned bomber.

These questions are much too important to be left for decision by the politicians, all seeking reelection.

X-rays were first discovered in 1895 by Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen, a German physicist.

Coffee Break... ...with d. e. w.

IMAGINE THE FEELING we had the other evening driving back from out-of-town is shared by a lot of Pampans. As we approached Pampa in the late Spring evening on the Wheeler highway, we had such a sense of pride in belonging to and returning to such a pretty little city from about 15 miles away, you can see it all spread out sparkling like thousands of jewels on the prairie beneath a star-studded sky. The stars and electric lights actually seem to meet on the horizon there are three highway approaches to Pampa that we enjoy so much coming from Amarillo, the angle of the town to the highway does not show it off as handsomely as coming from Perryton, Berger or Wheeler. It's a jewel of a city spreading out on a wide, open prairie that at night, seems to bid you welcome and hurry home.

ENOUGH OF REVERIE, which seems to be an acute symptom of Spring Time, and on with out coffee cup news. Twentieth Century Club treated its guests to a first-hand account of the progress on the Beautiful Amphitheater in Palo Duro Canyon State Park at a tea Tuesday afternoon in Lovett Memorial Library.

Mrs. Ples Harper of Canyon, president and Mrs. Edith Eckhardt of Amarillo, executive secretary of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation Inc., which is the guiding light behind the "dramatic shrine" were the guest speakers. Though we have read a lot and heard a lot about the Palo Duro amphitheater, we didn't dream of its far-reaching effect and advantage to every community in the Texas Panhandle.

The beautiful open-air theater is now ready for daytime use. The approach, seating bowl and stages are complete. And it would be well worth a Sunday afternoon drive over to the State Park to see for ourselves.

Mrs. Harper told the tea guests, "The whole idea behind the amphitheater is to immortalize the Panhandle's heritage and its pioneers."

An article in the July, 1960 issue of Readers Digest inspired a group of Amarillo and Canyon folk to contact Paul Green, a rugged, plain-spoken North Carolina playwright and ask him if he would write a play about the Panhandle, its heritage and pioneers, in a symphonic drama.

The magic that Mr. Green can weave, through his love of the whole of America, had already been established in plays that glorify the lives of builders of this nation, the re-energizing of history on the ground where it happened, the re-kindling in audiences the beliefs of our fathers.

Green's authorship of "Lost Colony" staged on the lonely shores of Roanoke Island, N. C. his "The Common Glory," a dramatization of Thomas Jefferson's struggle for democracy, and his latest success, "The Stephen Foster Story," which opened in 1959 in the solitary hill country near Bardstown, Ky. convinced the Heritage group that he was the one to immortalize the Panhandle's colorful history. For posterity.

His genuine and lusty love for all that is America is the key which makes it possible for him to write vividly about different sections of it.

Mr. Green came to the Canyon and was fascinated by it. He came and the Canyon conquered. He is now engaged in "giving the Canyon a voice," about the dinosaurs, about the Indians, about the Spaniards, about the pioneers that once were a part of the Canyon.

Much remains to be done before the actual presentation of the symphonic drama about the Panhandle, but much has already been done to bring a cherished dream to reality. The first draft of the

Miss Davidson Becomes Bride Of Joe W. Slater

Wedding vows of Miss Mary Ailene Davidson and Joseph Wayne Slater were solemnized in a double ring ceremony performed March 21 at seven o'clock in the Church of God with the Rev. F. Hopper officiating.

Miss Davidson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Davidson, 2020 Alcock. Mr. Slater is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Slater, 801 N. Wells.

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" vow, the bride was gown in floor-length Bridal Satin designed with a scalloped neckline edged with pearls and long sleeves, which tapered to bridal points over the hands.

The bouffant skirt featured an overskirt of Chantilly lace. Her elbow-length veil of scalloped Brussels lace was held to a jewel crown.

She carried a cascade of white carnations showered with blue satin ribbon.

Miss Carrie Louisa Davidson attended as maid of honor and Miss Janet Baker as bridesmaid. They were dressed identically in blue chiffon over taffeta frocks. Each carried a bouquet of white carnations showered with blue satin streamers.

Richard Chambers served the bridegroom as best man. Leroy Slater was an usher and Bill Knight was groomsmen.

Baskets of gladioli and tiered candelabra, holding white tapers, draped with blue ribbon appointed the wedding scene.

Estelle Malone, organist, provided the traditional wedding music and served as accompanist for Miss Nadene Overstreet as she sang, "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer" for the benediction.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Davidson chose a creamy beige sheath topped with a jacket and complemented with brown and beige accessories. Mrs. Slater, mother of the bridegroom, selected a lime green knit dress with lime green accessories. Their corsages were fashioned from white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. The bride's table was appointed with a lace cloth over blue centered with the feminine. (See MISS DAVIDSON, Page 18)

PTA Panel To Discuss Ballot At Travis Meet

The PTA City Council will sponsor a meeting on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Travis Elementary School, 2300 Primrose, to bring information to local units on the legislation program of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The official ballot principally covers education, child welfare, library services, peace and national security (approval of United Nations' agencies). The ballot is definitely worded FOR federal aid in these areas, a PTA council spokesman has pointed out.

There has been confusion as to the wording in the ballot at the bottom of the ballot. To clarify issues, Mrs. W. J. Danforth state PTA president, has issued the following statement:

"You have this authority to strike out one of the statements and indicate the wishes of your unit by the total for and against. If your unit opposes any Federal Aid to education, you have the authority to write in the question and total the vote for or against and your unit's closer friends.

Enice, also, managed time to visit and be entertained by some of her friends, who were friends of her daughter, Martha. Mrs. Rosco Mendenhall had a Coffee Party for her. Mrs. W. E. Teichgraber, who is our Nancy Davis' mother, and Mrs. T. F. Marbut entertained with a luncheon, and there was an informal coffee given by Mrs. Harold Gilbert and Mrs. L. M. Cook.

ITS A BUSY week ahead for federated clubwomen in Pampa. Who plan to attend the district meeting Tuesday and Wednesday in the Holiday Inn West in Amarillo. Charles Eagle Plume will be the banquet speaker on Tuesday evening and Mrs. A. T. Carleton of Houston, state president of TFW, will be the luncheon speaker Wednesday noon. Harlean Rose, who is the district program chairman, is most enthusiastic about the Fine Arts program, which will be held in Tascosa High School following the banquet Tuesday evening in the Inn. She tells us that Dolly Lynch of Amarillo has a most delightful program planned. So it will probably be an exodus of club women out of Pampa on Tuesday morning. We simply can't close for now, but next week, same time same place.—d.w.

Lapidary Collection Displayed By Club

The Pampa Art Club is sponsoring the lapidary collections of Bill Bumpers in a display now on exhibit in the Citizen's Hospitality Room.

Included in the collection are semi-precious stones, Jade jewelry, cut and polished rocks, which Mr. Bumpers has found and worked on himself.

His interest in "rock hunting" began about 15 years ago. When he and Mrs. Bumpers were on vacation, they bought a polished rock in a curio shop. Most of his works are the result of being self-taught because his interest started before many books were published on the subject.

Each summer the Bumpers go rock hunting and recommend the Eden Valley in Wyoming and the Yellowstone River in Montana as ideal places for "rock hunting". "But closer to home there is the Canadian River, Palo Duro Canyon and McClelland Lake," Mr. Bumpers stated.

Also included in the Pampa Art Club calendar is its annual Guest Day Tea to be held Tuesday from two until five o'clock in Lovett Memorial Library.

An Art Show for the public is planned for Wednesday from two until eight o'clock in the library with the public invited to come by at anytime during the open hours.

Forum Club Continues Study Of Fabulous '50'

Miss Alcyon F. Floherty

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Alcyon F. Floherty to A. J. Charles E. Crutchfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Crutchfield of Clear Fork, West Va., is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Floherty, 936 S. Hobart. The wedding is planned for June 1 in St. Vincent dePaul Church. A graduate of Pampa High School, Miss Floherty is employed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. in Amarillo. Her fiancé is a member of the United States Air Force presently stationed at Amarillo AFB.

Twentieth Century Forum met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Arthur Teed, 1822 Charles, with Mrs. John H. Moyer, of Lewiston, Mont., as guest.

The president, Mrs. Homer Johnson, presided during the business meeting.

Continuing the club's course of study for the year, "Our Fabulous Fifty," a program on Colorado was presented by Mrs. W. L. Ellis. Basing her program on the book "Newport In The Rockies," (The Life and Good Times of Colorado Springs), by Marshall Sprague, Mrs. Ellis began by saying, "Two men carry the greatest burden of responsibility for the development of Colorado Springs and the Pikes Peak area—General William Jackson Palmer and Spencer Penrose."

Mrs. Ellis wove the story of Gen. Palmer's life from his birth in 1836 on a farm in Delaware, through the years he turned railroad and the Civil War. "The year 1866 was 'release time' for young Americans, a time for exploding of creative energies held in check by the war," Gen. Palmer knew where to explode—west of Kansas City where new railroads could turn worthless mountains and plains into valuable and high priced real estate."

By 1873, the Fountain Colony Palmer had established flourished, gaining five hundred residents and half as many buildings a year.

1871 and at one point, there were 2,000 British living in the region, with more Union Jacks flown from Little London flagpoles on Queen Victoria's birthday than American flags on the Fourth of July. Gen. Palmer lived the strange, hectic, restless life of an international promoter during the 1880's."

When he died in 1908, his Colorado dream was a magnificent realization.

"Spencer Penrose was 27 years old when he first saw Pikes Peak on a sunny afternoon of December, 1892," continued Mrs. Ellis. "Like Gen. Palmer he was a Philadelphian, and could more than hold his own as to background although he was dead broke and thirsty when he arrived in Colorado Springs."

Amassing a fortune through mining interests, Penrose became bored with merely piling up a million dollars a year. "He and his wife traveled about six months annually and on these trips, he took special note of the operation of the best resort hotels and of the rapid growth of automobile tourist travel in Europe. He had the urge to build and he finally came to terms with the Stratton Estate for the Broadmoor Casino and 450 acres of lots around it. Then began the building of the Broadmoor Hotel as we know it today."

"Residents of the Springs watched the Broadmoor scene with mixed skepticism and admiration. As far as they could see, the region needed another hotel about as much as it needed another mountain," said Mrs. Ellis. Millions of dollars later, tennis courts, stables, bridge paths, and a fabulous zoo, Penrose had the greatest development going in the Springs. The Penroses set up El Pomar Foundation and countless individuals and institutions have received its benefits."

Other members attending were Mrs. M. Daniel Jr., E. J. Dunigan Jr., James O. Harris, J. R. Holloway, Calvin Jones, Frank Kelley, D. M. Lawrence, M. Daniel, Aubrey Steel, F. J. Vendrell and C. V. Wilkinson.

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Newest pitch in warm weather fashions: the tent dress.

This overall looks a great deal like its namesake, with some refinements. It showed in several collections from the Texas Fashion Creators Association, which today completed its 12th annual "press week" of fashion shows for visiting reporters.

Manners Make Friends

It is accepted practice for the bride to exchange duplicates of gifts.

The tent, as done by the firm of Donovan - Galvani, came in denim in a variety of colors—blue, gold, green, red and gray. Sunny South Fashions produced the tent in black and white striped mattress ticking with red apple applique on each of the saddle-bag sized pockets. Julie Clark of Dallas made it in a combination of dacron and cotton in blue, green and beige.

The tent's characteristics: sleeveless, collarless, narrow and fitted through the shoulders, then graduated to almost a full circle of fabric at the hem. The hems of some in the Clark collection measured 140 inches around.

Waxing is never necessary for marble, but if you prefer to wax yours, use a colorless, light paste wax. Waxing of white marble is not considered advisable as it may in time give a yellowish tone to the marble.

All have giant pockets and narrow belts optional, if the wearer wants to rope and tie some of the tent in at the waist.

Its advantages are its coolness especially when unbelted and the ease with which a woman can slip into it—all of them button down the front.

Slip the tent over a pair of shorts and halter and you're ready to go to town.

I'm convinced after listening to Texas fashion manufacturers talk about their collections these last three days that any woman who spends more than 10 minutes getting ready to hop into her air-conditioned car is a real slowpoke.

The stress is on the comfortable, the casual, the easy to care for in styling and fabrics.

Texas' Historical Lore Described By Speakers

The Civic Culture Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Louise Sewell, 621 N. Cuyler. In presenting a program on "Texas Lore", Mrs. R. E. Dauer gave a description of the Palo Duro Canyon. She said, "The canyon comprises 15,000 acres and is approximately 120 miles long, 20 miles wide and at the breadth of it is 1,200 feet deep. Color experts have charted 29 distinct colors. And they describe the canyon as a combination of the Painted Desert and the Grand Canyon. A hard surface road carries one in comfort from the canyon rim to the depths where once pre-historic monsters roamed."

Mrs. Dauer emphasized the fact that Paul Green, a South Carolina poet-playwright, is engaged in writing a symphonic drama about the canyon. "The symphonic drama will be a huge historical story set with music pageantry, movement, humor and drama based on the history of the area where the action took place."

Mrs. Katie Vincent conducted members on a verbal tour of the historical museum in Canyon. She gave a vivid description of each department that members could easily imagine they were there.

Mrs. Vincent also gave the history of the large ranches as reported by J. E. Williams in his book, "Book Of Memories, 1886". Beginning with the Box T Ranch, which was located on Wolf Creek north of Higgins and below the town of Lipscomb. "Mr. Frank Biggers was manager. Big Pen 7 run was owned by O'Loughlin folks. Just across the Canadian River on the oasis was YL Ranch run by Charles Rhyneanson and Clem Carmichael."

"One of the most noted ranches known, as the capitol syndicate, was the XII Brand which built the state capitol building in Austin in exchange for 3,000,000 acres of land on the plains."

Mrs. Vincent mentioned the XII, the Laurel Leaf, The Bar CC, the DBL, the LS, the H-Y, the Rocking Chair, the T Anchor, the Frying Pan and others.

"It was announced the next meeting will be with Mrs. K. A. Sorenson, 2425 Christine. A brief business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Carl Axelson. Attending were Meses. Irvin Cole, R. E. Dauer, A. D. Hills, A. C. Houchin, W. J. Morris, Emmett Osborne, C. F. Pennington, W. C. Scott, K. A. Sorenson, Emmett Gee, H. S. Alexander and F. R. Grantham.

Take It From Kathy

Dear Kathy: I don't know if you can answer my problem, but please try. I was 14 in March and I have about a 22-inch waist, but my bust is 36B. Everybody says I look horrible. Please help me if you can. A special boy that I've been writing to for two years is coming for a visit. Please HURRY and write back to me.—S. S.

Consider the measurements of beauty consultants and you'll realize that it's desirable for a chest measurement to be 10 or 12 inches larger than the waistline. A 32 to 34-inch bust means a well-proportioned figure. Your own measurements aren't far off. You feel top-heavy but that's mostly because other girls your age haven't matured quite as fast.

Neither exercise nor diet will change your chest measurement, so concentrate on looking good just as you are. Drawing too much attention to that tiny waistline would be a mistake. If you show it off with bright belts or pull it in to look tiny as a minute, your bust will seem extremely large. You will be more attractive with a loosely fitted, underemphasized midriff.

Troubled with lint when you polish glassware? Try using a whisk of spray-on starch when you iron tea towels. Spray-on smooths down the fuzz so tea towels won't shed.

The enamel on your sink is not acid proof. Long exposure to acid foods will pit it. Always suds and rinse all surfaces after preparing tomatoes or acidic fruit at the sink.

POLLY'S POINTERS

No Cavities On Crayoned Walls

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Children sometimes get carried away while coloring with crayons and decide to color the walls. The solution is to apply toothpaste to the marks and let it set for 15 minutes. Then wipe off with a dampened cloth. Like magic, the crayon marks disappear.

a very nice record, from year to year, of the report cards and what the children looked like in the different grades.

GIRLS—Sally, my daughter-in-law, used this to remove marks made by non-washable crayons on both painted walls and woodwork. However, she said the toothpaste should not be left on too long or it will harden.

DEAR POLLY—Prizes are always needed for a child's birthday party and most of us end up with the same old things. A good idea is to send away throughout the year for the different kinds of games and prizes advertised on the backs of cereal boxes and so on. Put them away and when junior's birthday arrives, you will have an inexpensive variety of prizes that will delight the children. Saves on shopping time, too.

POLLY
DEAR POLLY—Young mothers who sometimes take their children to eat in restaurants should carry an 8-inch length of ribbon, spiked at each end with a clip clothespin. This, placed around the back of a child's neck and fastened to two corners of a restaurant napkin, will make a good bib in seconds. A little baking soda sprinkled in ash trays will serve as a fire extinguisher if any cigarettes are smoldering. Also makes the trays easier to clean.

GIRLS—Soda is certainly less messy than dousing the butts with water to be sure every spark is dead.

Ruth Millett Decisions, Decisions Women Don't Like 'Em

The American woman has come in for a lot of criticism because she is apparently the decision maker in the American family, a position she is supposed to have taken away from the American man in a long, drawn-out battle of the sexes.

I've got news for the American man. Any time he decides he wants the role of decision maker, he can have the honor and the responsibilities without a struggle. Responsibilities without a struggle.

The fact is: Women—American women included—don't enjoy making decisions. Decision-making just doesn't seem to come naturally to them. They don't have enough faith in their own judgment to make it easy to make a quick decision and stick by it without fretting over whether they made the right choice.

Why, a woman doesn't even like to buy a hat or dress without relying on someone else's judgment to back up her own!

If she can't take another woman along when she goes to shop, she will keep saying anxiously to the saleswoman or even to another shopper, "Do you really think it's becoming? I wonder if it isn't too bright a red. You're sure it doesn't look too young for...?"

It's the same thing when she shops for furniture or tries to decide some matter that involves the children. Even when she buys the week's groceries, she wants the butcher to help her decide whether to get the roast or the steak. But what happens when she brings her doubts to her husband, to help her decide about a problem? He refuses to be involved, by saying, "Do whatever you think is best." "If you like it buy it" or, "I thought you had made up your mind what you wanted to do."

Southwest Authors Are Discussed At TCC Club

Twentieth Century Culture Study met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. N. Dudley Steele, 1901 Dogwood, for a program presented by Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer entitled "Voice Of The Plains", which concerned authors of the Southwest.

Mrs. Shelhamer chose Zane Grey as probably the earliest most-read author of the Southwest. "His book 'Riders of the Purple Sage', the most popular of Grey's books was set in southern Utah."

This brought in a discussion by Mrs. Shelhamer of the need to express the various ways Southwest is defined. She said, "There seems to be an individual interpretation of what territory to include in speaking of the Southwest." She chose to tell of authors who were either native Texans or Texans by adoption.

"J. Frank Dobie received much attention and was described as 'Mr. Southwest.' She explained, 'He is creative and original in all he does, even in compiling a bibliography.'"

Other contemporary writers that the speaker listed was Edward Anderson of whom she said, "When his second novel appeared, he was called the most exciting new figure to appear in America since Hemingway." He now writes for studios in Hollywood.

"Mody C. Boartwright, who specializes in the literature of the frontier, is a university professor in Texas and has written and edited freshmen English textbooks," Mrs. Shelhamer related. Stanley Walker, a news writer and novelist was on the speaker's list as was Fray Angelico Chavez, a native of New Mexico, an ordained priest, a painter, poet and short story writer.

She spoke of Paul Horgan, "A versatile writer of boys' history books and fiction who adds illustrations to his texts." Fred Gipson received a word of appreciation for his warm and humorous writings like "Old Yeller." J. Evetts Haley, who calls himself a cowpuncher by vocation, and who has long been a ranch owner, is famous for his writings on famous Texas ranches, Charles Goodnight and cattle trails," she stated.

The speaker gave deserving remarks to the women writers of the Southwest. "Two of these writers are teaching in colleges. Frances Gillmor is an Arizona resident, and it is the state of which she writes. Loula Grace Erdman, a-Missourian by birth and Texan by adoption, now presides over a creative writing class at West Texas State College in Canyon and has extended her writings from a first novel set in Missouri to her first Texas book, 'The Edge of Time' and on through prize winning stories, novels for young people and magazine short stories."

Mrs. Shelhamer concluded her report telling of a neighboring writer, Laurene Chinn of Borger. And closer to home, she told of the interesting mystery books set in historic backgrounds, adjacent to Pampa, and written for young people by Wanda Jay Campbell. Mrs. Campbell now resides in Austin and is currently having her fourth book published.

Mrs. J. R. Donaldson was assisting hostess.

Mrs. D. W. Bond was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Doyle Osborne was selected as a replacement for the 1963-64 vice president.

It was announced that April 9 at 2:30 p.m. will be the Guest Tea date in Lovett Memorial Library.

Dear Abby.... Two And Two Don't Always Make Four!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After seven years of marriage my wife refuses to make breakfast for me. I never had a thought of another girl until I started eating breakfast at a cafe. I see this pretty little waitress up and working at seven in a fresh, starched apron, her face made up and her hair nicely brushed. And she always has a sweet smile for me. I like her so much I tip her a dollar every morning for juice, coffee and two donuts. I want to stay true to my wife, but the pretty little waitress is on my mind more and more. Please print this. Maybe my wife will see it and wake up.

DEAR BUYING: The pretty little waitress isn't up at seven with her face made up and her hair nicely brushed, serving you with a sweet smile because she LOVES you, you dope. It's her bread and butter. Don't try to justify your roving eye. Offer your wife a dollar tip for juice, coffee and two donuts, and I'll bet you get breakfast at home.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a buddy. This buddy just separated from his wife. They planned an overnight trip to see a ball game. The buddy is dating an unmarried girl and he invited her to go along. My husband said they had a great big room with a partition. He said he and his buddy slept in the big double bed and the girl slept on the other side of the partition in the single bed. My husband told me this himself. I told my husband I didn't think it looked very good and he said it looked perfectly harmless to him. What do you think?

DEAR UPSET: Your husband was foolish to travel with an unmarried couple who had no business traveling together. You were right. It didn't look very good.

DEAR ABBY: When I go to bed at night I try to think positively and tell myself that nothing is going to spoil my night's sleep, but when my husband starts cracking his knuckles and then the joints of his toes I go out of my mind. Can you help me? We've been married 21 years and he knows it bothers me but he does it anyway.

DEAR CRACKING: I am going to recommend beeswax ear plugs again! If your drug store doesn't have them, holler until they stock up.

DEAR ABBY: In the case of the executive who was invited to attend a dinner party without his wife, because the hostess was short a place setting, all I can say is if he were MY husband, he would not have accepted a dinner invitation unless his wife was included. I don't care if the hostess was a college graduate, she has a lot more missing than one place setting.

Important Interior Decorating Pointers Given At El Progreso Study Club Meet

El Progreso Study Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. George Walstad, 405 East Kingsmill.

Mrs. Verl Hagaman was in charge of the program and had as guest speaker, Jack Foster of Fosters Furniture. He was introduced by Mrs. Charles Lanehart, program chairman for the year.

Mr. Foster gave a very interesting and informative talk on "Interior Decorating", pointing out some of the most important things to keep in mind as you decorate a house.

Mr. Foster stated, "Your home should reflect your individual personality, should be functional and well correlated. It is no longer proper to match everything, unless it is to be a pair of something. Every room should have one outstanding focal point or conversation piece. Wall treatment is one of the most important phases of decorating each room. Area rugs are very good now, especially for color accent."

At the close of his talk, he answered questions from club members on particular problems as to how to hang pictures, the most dependable carpet, the use of antiques in modern homes and many other subjects.

Members attending were Mmes. D. V. Burton, Y. J. Drew, Elmer Fisher, John Gill, Verl Hagaman, Charles Lanehart, Kermit Lawson, J. G. Morrison, Carlton, Nance, Tom Perkins, Glenn Radcliff, W. R. Ewing, the hostess, Mrs. Walstad and one guest, Mrs. Lucille Woolfil.

The Mature Parent

Father Wants Off Hook For Divorce

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My ex-wife is neglecting my boy's education. Though my daughter is doing fairly well at school, my son's marks have been slipping. He says this is because he lost time with bronchitis this winter, and his mother backs him up. But I happen to know that she allows him to postpone home-work whenever he feels like it to look at some television show he wants to see.

ANSWER: You seem awfully steamed up over your boy's school regression. Are you, by any chance, blaming your absence from home for your boy's poor school work?

Are you secretly saying to yourself, "If I'd not broken up Bill's home, he'd be doing good school work. He can't concentrate any more because his mind is on the terrible injury I have done him. But if I can make him pull up his marks, I'll know that my badness has not destroyed his ambition—and I'll be off the hook of my fear that I've wrecked his life."

I suspect so. For if you were at peace with your action of divorcing his mother, you could readily offer a reasonable solution to his problem. You might even offer to employ a tutor.

But when we are struggling with an inflamed sense of our own badness, we cannot be reasonable or quiet in spirit. We just blather about on the painful hook of our self-condemnation in the secret hope that somebody else will get us off it.

Now it is not my function to support either divorce or nondivorce between other people. But I do suggest that once we have made the decision to reject a marriage, our consciences require some overhauling. We have to revise the kind of demand we make on ourselves as divorced father or mother. We have to settle for our inability to give our children the supreme example of a happily married parent—and at least make sure that though we've failed in delivery of the supreme example, we have given them a demonstration of honesty and courage. We have shown our children that brave and honest people do not put up with unending punishment for a mistake they have made.

Divorced parents who insist on disparaging themselves as bad ones can be just as destructive to children as parents who maintain a resentful farce of marriage.

Plans Completed For Expansion Of Groom Memorial Hospital

GROOM (Sp) — A special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Groom Memorial Hospital was held recently and plans were completed for the expansion of the hospital building.

The plans call for building an extension on to the east end of the present building with the extension to contain 12 additional rooms of single-bed size.

The new addition will contain the same architecture and materials used in the original building, and is expected to cost approximately $60,000.

The Board of Directors is composed of T. G. Fields, president; Dr. Robert E. Clayton, vice president; C. L. Culver, secretary and treasurer; Dr. John L. Witt, Leroy Mashburn and Frank Koetting. Although there is a building and finance committee set up to handle the program all members of the Board of Directors will take an active interest in it.

The addition will be financed by the hospital borrowing on notes and the use of $10,000 that has accumulated since the hospital was opened a little more than two years ago. No campaign will be

Draft Extension Law Is Signed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy has signed into law a four-year extension of the military draft law.

The measure, the second bill Kennedy has signed during the current session of Congress, carries the draft to mid-1967.

The law would have expired July 1 unless extended. It subjects men between the ages of 18½ and 26 to two years of military service.

The bill also continues draft provisions affecting doctors and dentists.

21-Unit Motel To Be Built

GROOM (Sp) — Mr. T. O. Evans, owner and operator of the Elmo Court in Groom has announced plans to construct a new, modern 21-unit motel in west Groom.

Contract for the construction has been let to Gerald Hall, Amarillo building contractor.

Foundation work has begun on the project and the building is expected to be completed in 60 days, Evans said.

To be known as the L. A. Motel, it will be located just east of Elmo Courts on Highway 66 facing south. The building will consist of 21 units plus office and utility room and will be constructed of light pink veneer.

Landmark Fired For Safety

CATSKILL, N.Y. (UPI) — New York State Conservation Department workers recently set fire to what once was considered the most beautiful hotel in the world.

The Catskill Mountain House, about 40 miles south of Albany, the capital, was a 19th Century tourist attraction that rivaled Niagara Falls. Wealthy visitors from London, Berlin and Paris considered a stopover at the hotel a "must" on their grand tours.

Built in 1824, the hotel offered an 80-mile view of the winding Hudson river and the scenic Catskill Mountains from its 3,000-foot elevation. Visitors reached the hotel by cable car.

The hotel, operated continuously until 1942, deteriorated badly in recent years and was considered a menace, tottering on the brink of a cliff. The Conservation Department — which acquired the property to expand an adjoining camp site — decided it would have to be razed.

The three-story, white structure, fronted by Grecian columns was once considered the summer White House of President Ulysses S. Grant.

Many Space Dollars Used On The Ground

NEW YORK (UPI) — Space is a funny thing. To get there, about 40 cents of every dollar spent has to pay for things that aren't going anywhere at all — ground support equipment like the $4 million gantry for the United States' manned moon missile.

Some of the fascinating hardware the taxpayers' dollars are buying these days has been tracked down by Steelways, official publication of American Iron and Steel Institute:

— Insulated steel tanks that could keep boiling coffee too hot to drink for two years but are actually used to store liquid hydrogen — major rocket fuel — at 423 degrees below zero.

— A multi-million dollar space simulator for testing vehicles in an atmosphere about one-billionth that here on earth at sea level, yet this is but a billionth the vacuum that exists in actual space!

— Miniaturized steel ball bearings for instrumentation that are so small it takes 32,400 of them to make a pound and that pound would cost more than $162,000 though the special steel the bearings are made of costs about $2 a pound.

Little wonder that satellite launching costs are currently estimated to run $1,000 to $2,000 for each pound of payload in a 300-mile orbit.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tax-payers filling out their 1040 form may wish to note, but not celebrate, the 50th anniversary of federal income tax.

Foreign Commentary

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press International
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—The Africans are talking of a new "Algeria-type" war against British control of Southern Rhodesia.

The 150,000 square-mile gold rich and fertile territory is part of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland established by a 1953 act of the British Parliament.

Britain contends that it is self-governing; London has authority solely for the territory's foreign policy.

Rhodesian nationalists object to a Constitution promulgated in 1961 on grounds that it is a "white supremacy" document. Their supporters forced through last year's U. N. assembly a resolution calling for a new document guaranteeing the "one man, one vote" principle. Only Portugal and South Africa voted no in the 81-2 ballot. Britain refused to participate.

Tribal Spokesman
Current lion of the Afro-Asian group, which includes an even half of the 110 U. N. members, is a stocky Rhodesian named Joshua Nkomo, who wears a tribal headdress of leopard skin and feathers as he talks with diplomats in the delegates' lounge.

Nkomo is head of the outlawed Zimbabwe African People's Union (ZAPU). Southern Rhodesia's chief nationalist party.

He came here to testify before the assembly's 24-nation committee on colonialism, a group that looked like a pie-in-the-sky creation when the world parliament created it, with a strong push by Russia, two years ago.

The committee welcomed Nkomo with open arms, rhetorically speaking—as one often does here.

Reminds of Algeria
Nkomo denounced British policy, called for reforms and from a distance of 3,000 miles issued a 48-hour ultimatum to imperious R. A. Butler, Britain's deputy cabinet chief who is seeking in London a way out of the Rhodesian puzzle.

Southern Rhodesia, he said at the height of his peroration, is "moving fast toward an Algeria-type situation."

The reference to the eight-year war that drained France and cost thousands of African and French lives in the struggle for Algeria's independence was intended as the ultimate horrific inducement for anti-colonialist support.

The committee members unreluctant to take a crack at Britain stood with Nkomo. Even the United States joined in, with Ambassador Sidney R. Yates observing that "the turn of the political wheel has given the reins of government to a party which seemingly favors maintaining the greatest extent possible existing social and political relationships."

Yates warned Britain against granting independence to Southern Rhodesia until there is a more satisfactory situation.

Ike Says JFK's Budget Must Get 'Major Surgery'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said today that Congress must perform "major surgery" on President Kennedy's new budget requests—including the space and defense programs—or stand convicted of "fiscal recklessness."

In a letter to House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck, Eisenhower urged the lawmakers to trim more than $13 billion from the $108 billion in new spending authority requested in the President's budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Eisenhower's views were made known in a letter to House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana. Halleck made the letter public after meeting with a House GOP committee set up to lead the party's budget-cutting drive.

Eisenhower said Kennedy's request was $27 billion bigger than the last budget Eisenhower submitted to Congress. He said that budget requested spending authority of $81 billion.

"If this $27 billion increase were cut in half," Eisenhower wrote, "we would still have the fastest growing budget we ever had in peacetime."

"Cuts of that magnitude would seem to be both reasonable and desirable, if only we will keep in mind the adverse consequences of failing to make them."

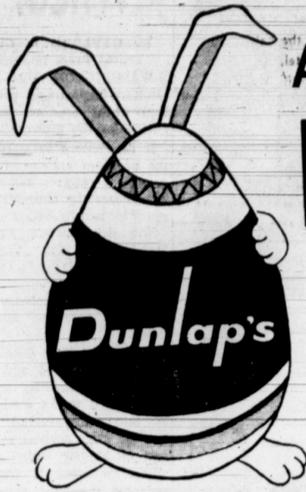

Eisenhower's statement put the former president firmly behind the House GOP economy drive. The Republicans have served notice they will try to cut from $10 billion to $15 billion from Kennedy's requested spending authority.

Eisenhower insisted that both the defense and space programs can be held below levels proposed by Kennedy—despite administration arguments that drastic cuts in these areas would jeopardize national security.

Senator Asks For Abolishment Of Two-Price Cotton

By STEVEN GERSTEL, United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., has asked Congress today to let farmers grow all the cotton they can and abolish the two-price system which has plagued the textile industry.

Talmadge, a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, unveiled his cotton program in a speech prepared for Senate delivery. He planned to introduce the measure early this afternoon.

"I think this bill will provide the answer for the dilemma cotton producers and cotton textile manufacturers have found themselves in" under the present inadequate and ruinous laws, Talmadge said in his prepared remarks.

The proposal already has the backing of Democratic whip Hubert Humphrey.

Control by Bales

The Talmadge plan would eliminate all acreage controls. Instead, it would establish a domestic cotton allotment—in terms of bales rather than acres—based on anticipated domestic needs.

Each grower would get his share of the allotment based on growing history and would get a price support near current levels on that part of his crop.

The price support for this year is 32.47 cents per pound or about 70 per cent. The Talmadge price supports would range between 70 and 90 per cent with the highest

Countess Reports Jewels Stolen

ROME (UPI)—American-born Countess Mona von Bismarck, the former Mrs. Harrison Williams, long one of the world's best-dressed women, has been robbed of more than $600,000 in jewels, police reported today.

Police put out a nationwide alert for a butler who vanished Thursday night.

The theft was discovered when the countess and her husband returned to their luxurious apartment in the Borghese palace after a trip to Capri.

The case containing the jewels had been in their bedroom when they left. But it was gone with its load of diamond earrings.

Six Texas Youths Boast Crime Spree

SPARKS, Nev. (UPI)—Police have arrested six heavily armed Texas youths who said they had been on a two-week crime spree through the West.

"We've committed every crime except rape and murder," one of them said.

Two of the youths were arrested when they appeared suspicious in their car. They were identified as Frank M. Keith, 18, Fort Worth, and a 16-year-old Stephenville boy.

A search of the car disclosed 11 loaded revolvers and two knives. The boys told police the others were in a motel.

Officers entering the motel found two girls, ages 13 and 16, and two companions who identified themselves as Sidney E. Nelson, 20, and Woody L. Beggs. Officers found a revolver under one pillow, a pistol on a night stand, eight other guns and a suitcase full of ammunition and knives.

They told police they had been on the road for two weeks in a car stolen in Amarillo, Tex. One admitted a Portland, Ore., grocery holdup Tuesday in which a store clerk was wounded. Detectives sent out an all-points bulletin to trace other crimes the youths may have committed.

Fire Rages In Boston Hotel; Four Are Killed

BOSTON (UPI)—A pre-dawn fire flashed through the upper three floors of the Sherry Biltmore Hotel early Friday, spreading death and injury among over 150 guests.

Four persons were killed and 24 injured in the blaze which whipped along the carpeted corridors.

One of the dead was identified as Miss Selma Hyman, 46, a resident of the hotel.

Medical examiner Richard Ford said the other victims were two men and a woman. He said their names would be released as soon as their bodies were positively identified by relatives or friends.

Some guests, trapped in their smoke-filled rooms, were rescued spectacularly over aerial ladders. Firefighters shouted "Stay there!" "Stay there!" as panicky guests seemed ready to jump from windows.

Firemen struck five alarms within 10 minutes, bringing more than 30 pieces of fire equipment and 25 ambulances to the scene.

Aerial ladders were quickly raised to the upper floors of the six-story hotel at 150 Massachusetts Ave. Firefighters helped dozens of persons to safety. Most were only their nightclothes.

The hotel includes many residential apartments and some of those who fled were elderly. There were also a number of children, officials said.

Among those rescued was the 25 member road show cast of the Broadway show, "The Sound of Music" which is playing here.

RESEARCHERS WOO BEETLE'S PICKY APPETITE—Argentina flea beetles, confined in plastic bags over buckwheat plants, starve before they'll eat the foliage. Not so when offered buckwheat's near relative, alligator weed, which clogs waterways in southeastern United States. Agricultural Research Service investigators are hopefully eyeing the beetle's potential as a weed eradicator.

Typhoid Strikes Americans After Zermatt Epidemic

By United Press International
 Several persons throughout the nation were ill with typhoid fever today and at least some of them got the disease—in the Zermatt, Switzerland, epidemic.

Other persons who were in Switzerland at the time the epidemic broke out were under surveillance.

The epidemic has killed three persons and put more than 400 into hospitals in Europe and the United States. Zermatt is rapidly becoming a ghost town.

BEETLE BOONE—Selective appetite of the Argentina flea beetle may be employed to wipe out waterway-clogging alligator weed in southeastern United States.

Imposter Likes To 'Feel Important'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Raul Medina Sandoval looked like a doctor. When arrested Thursday night in Bellevue Hospital, the 35-year-old man was wearing the starched whites of a staff member, including a "B.H." shoulder patch.

His pockets were jammed with a stethoscope, prescription book, two thermometers, a medical flashlight, swabbing sticks and cotton.

But Sandoval wasn't a physician, and police said he admitted he adopted the pose "because it made me feel important."

"I liked feeling like a doctor," he said.

Reports of a "new" doctor at the hospital had been circulating.

for about a year. Authorities finally were able to piece together a good description of the impostor.

Sandoval was seized in a telephone booth—asking the switchboard operator to page him over the loud speaker system.

Police said his girl friend said she thought he was a medical student, and had been paying his "tuition" and household bills for the past year.

Firing Squad Execution Is 'Doubtful'

MONTERREY, Mexico (UPI)—Court sources said today it is "very doubtful" that Dykes Aske Simmons, 31, a Fort Worth, Tex., mechanic will die before a firing squad for the 1961 slayings of three young Mexicans.

The sources said Simmons' attorney, Ezequiel de Puente, has not yet filed an expected petition with the Mexican Supreme Court for an injunction against his client's execution.

Simmons has been sentenced to death twice.

De Puente gave notice previously in Nuevo Leon state court that he will ask Mexico's high court to block Simmons' death penalty. The sources said De Puente has indicated no probable date of filing for the injunction, but that there is "no deadline" on such petitions.

On The Farm Front

Wheat Program Leaves Choice

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN, United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department presents the 1964 wheat program as one of choice for the grower.

If he chooses in a referendum the program authorized by Congress, the rewards can be big. If he chooses the alternative, it appears he will be on his own.

The department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) says the authorized program would limit wheat plantings to the acreage required to meet domestic and export needs.

Expected Yield Considered

Anticipated yield and the recommended reduction in government-owned stocks would be taken into consideration. It would provide price support at an average of $2 per bushel for most wheat marketed. It would offer payments for what acreage diverted to conservation use. It is designed to maintain farmers' income from wheat at the average of recent years and stabilize wheat prices.

The alternative program — the one that would be in effect in event of an adverse vote in the referendum — would be no limits on production or marketings and price support at 50 per cent of parity, about $1.20 per bushel, only to growers who stay within their farm allotment.

The Food and Agriculture Act of 1962 provided basic changes in the law as it affects wheat growers. These changes include:

—The 55-million-acre minimum allotment is ended. The national allotment will be based on the acreage required, taking into account expected yields, abandonment and underplanting to produce the national marketing quota. The "15-acre small farm" and "feed wheat for home use" exemptions are ended.

—The law also provides that technical details of the 1964 wheat program be developed by the department, in cooperation with representatives of wheat growers and the grain trade. This is being done.

Major Provisions

Major provisions of the 1964 program include:

—The national marketing quota is expected to be about 1.2 billion bushels (production in 1962 was 1.1 billion bushels).

—The national acreage allotment, calculated from the marketing quota on the basis of current average yield expectations, will be about 49.5 million acres, as in 1962.

The referendum is to be held in late May or June. If more than two-thirds of those voting approve the authorized program, the following will be provided:

1. Price support at about $2 per bushel (national average) on an amount of wheat equal to about 80 per cent of the normal production on the farm allotment. This will be his "certificated" wheat. "Normal" production will be based on average production for the past five years, adjusted for weather.

2. All additional acres planted on the farm will be eligible for price support at about $1.30 per bushel. This is a price near the world price level and the current value of wheat as livestock feed.

U.S. Planning Heaviest Satellite Shot In August

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The United States plans to shoot what may be the heaviest and oddest satellite ever built into orbit around earth in August.

The satellite will weigh about 33,000 pounds, but it will do little more than tell ground tracking stations that it is in orbit—the space-age equivalent of putting the brain of a flea inside the body of an elephant.

But the significance is that such a shot would mean America at last is on the verge of matching the Soviet Union pound-for-pound in space booster power. The best estimates to date place the largest Russian satellites—the manned Vostoks and unmanned Cosmos moonlets—at 18,000 to 20,000 pounds.

This nation's most famous space scientist, Dr. Werner von Braun, announced Thursday the United States would make two attempts to orbit nine-ton satellites before the end of the year.

Von Braun passed the word quite casually following a thunderous flight by a 165-foot Saturn "super-rocket" across the Atlantic Ocean.

The success was the fourth in a row for the mighty Saturn-I, and paved the way for something that had been planned all along—the first attempts this year to launch the big rockets with "live" upper stages powered by liquid hydrogen.

But this was the first word that orbital attempts would be made on the flights.

Thursday's flight by the Saturn-I booster was a roaring success. The rocket sped 77 miles into space and 229 miles across the Atlantic in about seven minutes.

Sheriff Can't Recall Who Donated $85,000

BEAUMONT (UPI)—Suspended Jefferson County Sheriff C. H. (Charley) Meyer testified at his malfeasance trial that he received $85,000 in campaign contributions but he cannot remember who the donors were.

Meyer said the contributions came in $1,500 - $1,600 amounts over a five-year period.

Meyer's trial ends its first week today with the prosecution still calling witnesses. He testified Thursday as a hostile witness.

Meyer said the money was all ways left in cash in white envelopes at his office.

"I put on so many benefits, I can't recall who gave what for what," he said.

Meyer was temporarily suspended from office following a vice probe in Beaumont and Port Arthur by the Texas House General Investigating Committee in 1961. The state is seeking his removal.

Testing Sled Developed At Holloman AFB

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (UPI)—Scientists at Holloman Air Force Base have designed an unusual new rocket-propelled testing sled by adding a simulated "airplane wing" to improve performance and save money.

The new sled will carry the same payload on one rail instead of two, as used by the heavier dual-rail sleds without wings.

The missile development test center said it is the first time in known track testing history that an "airplane wing" has been used for such purposes. The 35,000 foot track is used in high speed tests.

Designed along classic aerodynamic lines, the lightweight low-drag all-metal sled was bolted to the slim monorail sled as if to an aircraft-fuselage. The wing was anchored to the parallel rail with a pair of free-sliding metal hooks or "slippers" to prevent it from leaving the rail during its "earthbound" flight.

The new sled and wing of 342 lbs. carried test loads and recording instruments faster than the twice as heavy dual-rail sled with the same amount of rocket power. Tests costs much less with the smaller sled, the Air Force said.

Foxy old Norman Thomas (he's 78) would have us believe that President Kennedy has hamstrung the liberal movement in the United States by recruiting the best left wingers into his administration.

Thomas spoke last week to the left wing political organization, Americans for Democratic Action. The occasion was ADA's celebration of Roosevelt Day. Thomas is a Socialist, five times Socialist candidate for U. S. president, twice for mayor of New York, oc-asionally for governor, and so forth. Socialists Thomas knows the liberal movement like the corridors of his own home.

He knows, therefore, that it was not the Kennedy administration that kidnapped the left wingers. The left wingers, including Thomas' own Socialist Party, were kidnaped by Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

Roosevelt Did It

So, when Norman Thomas told the ADA that at present there is no independent liberal movement of any importance in the United States, he should not have assessed blame against the Kennedys. He should have been talking about the Hyde Park Roosevelts.

The left wing stampede for FDR's New Deal became apparent and was first publicized in 1935 on the basis of political surveys in industrial northern New Jersey. Election statistics underwrite now the conclusions drawn then, that the left wingers were moving into the Democratic party in force. For example:

The Socialist party has been relatively strong in New York state. In 1920, the Socialist vote for president in New York State was 203,201.

Thereafter, the Socialist trend was down. In 1932, Thomas for president polled 177,397 New York votes against FDR and Herbert Hoover. Four years later, Thomas' vote was only 18,950 and in 1944 he got only 10,553 in New York. Against Harry Truman and Thomas E. Dewey in 1948, Thomas did better, 40,879 votes. The Socialist vote was down to 2,664 in 1952 when Dwight D. Eisenhower beat Adlai E. Stevenson.

Far from Frontier

Thomas told the ADA that the Kennedy administration was not getting very close to any frontier, either domestic or foreign.

Some of this will come as a shocking surprise to the Kennedys. Americans for Democratic Action has been rough on the Kennedys and on the President's performance on civil rights and in other areas in which ADA has special interests.

ADA's principal complaint against the Kennedys, however, is that they joined forces with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. ADA condemns Johnson as a conservative, anti-labor, gas-and-oil Democrat. A sort of coyote in the henhouse.

Prosperity In Land Of Free

Suppose, for a moment, that Congress suddenly repealed every law that grants a special privilege to one group of people at the expense of another.

Suppose that all subsidies, welfare payments, tariffs and labor laws were abolished at once—and the government confined itself to national defense and the coming of money. What would America be like?

No specific answers are possible, of course, because each person would make his own decisions. But we can envision the outline of a nation without the welfare state.

The productivity rate would undoubtedly go sky high. We would see a prosperity that no politician or planner would ever have the nerve to promise. Farmers who now make their living by not growing crops would start producing.

Marginal workers who can't get jobs today because of minimum wage laws would be employed at occupations for which they are useful. Workers in dying industries would find new, demanding employment—instead of receiving rewarding handouts to stay where they are.

The laborers required to support our foreign aid budget would be devoted to productive activities—just as the billions currently lost in government business activities would be redirected to endeavors that were in true public demand. Decisions would be made by the buying public, rather than by ambitious bureaucrats.

Labor strife would be relatively unknown. Any man would have the right to quit his job or appoint a union to bargain for him if he desired. But no man or organization could demand the restoration of a job that had been voluntarily given up. Neither could any group bargain with an unwilling employer, or trespass upon private property or prevent willing workers from going to their jobs.

Unions would be forced to compete for their support, just like everyone else. So their service to the community would automatically be increased.

The prosperity established would be a real one—not a temporary illusion. Because money would be a true measurement once again—government would no longer inflate the money supply by issuing unrealistic federal reserve notes.

"Inflation" would thus be just a word in the history books. And there would be no need to fear a run on the gold supply of a government that issued no more dollars than it could back up in gold.

These are only a few of the characteristics of a free society, of course. Everywhere you turned, you'd find a greater, stronger, more abundant America. "Good will toward man" would be much more of a reality—because service to others would be a prerequisite to success.

Yes, freedom is the answer to all of the economic problems facing America today.

The men who founded America knew this and did everything they could to start us in that direction. They provided the free-est, most productive climate in history—hoping that we would pick up the trend and move toward even greater freedom. Unfortunately, however, we began immediately to move in the opposite direction and we haven't changed course since.

But freedom is a timeless commodity. We can begin today to make it a reality if we are really sincere in our stated desires to help ourselves and others. In fact, what better day to begin than today?

A Shirt To Work In—

In this day when most of us live highly routinized and scheduled lives, almost any suggestion on how to be individualistic without really trying is worth listening to.

One who would tempt men to break the mold of conformity is Howard Ketchum, an industrial color consultant. He's waging a private war against the dress white shirt, which he says has become a virtual uniform that makes all businessmen look alike and allows no room for individual tastes.

A colored shirt, on the other hand, according to Ketchum, is much less formal, yet is still attractive and permits expression of one's personality and mood.

"Besides," he says, "a man in a colored shirt looks as if he's ready to roll up his sleeves and go to work."

That should be the clinching argument. The ability to look productive, even while sitting still, is not to be dismissed lightly.

Editor: A recent letter to the editor invited candidates in the coming election to present their views on some of our municipal problems so that our voters could choose intelligently. Most of the candidates have not yet availed themselves of the opportunity offered by the News to present their platforms or to take a stand on the issues suggested.

However, five of the candidates filed for election at the same time apparently as a slate of candidates representing that organization called, among other things, The Citizens Committee for Future Pampa. We must assume, therefore, that this slate of candidates hold views on the operation of our city, similar to the views of the group which apparently sponsors them. We can therefore judge their platforms by past actions.

First, leaders of the group encouraged, if indeed they did not instigate, the recall action of the Jaycees. The most common reason given for this action was the Commission's decision to cancel the Federally financed City Plan. We therefore assume that the slate is for the federal financing of city projects and/or urban renewal financed and supervised by the federal government.

criticized the City Commission for severing the tax subsidy to the Chamber of Commerce. Therefore we assume that the $32,000 per year of our tax money would be restored to the Chamber in the event that the slate were elected.

Third, they successfully opposed the bond issue to support Pampa's highway improvement program. We therefore assume that this slate of candidates is opposed to the improvement of highways inside the city limits and is for the creation of a highway loop around town.

Fourth, the present City Commission was attacked by spokesmen for the "committee" for its policy of conducting all city business in public meetings so we presume that if the slate of candidates is elected, the public will no longer be welcome at city hall and commission meetings will again be conducted in secret.

We also conclude from the actions of their sponsors that the slate would be for firing our present city manager, for restoring free water to a privileged few customers, for letting our sewage run through holes in the ground to spill partially treated into our streams and for a city financed parking area for the benefit of a few downtown property owners.

A letter from an old friend who is a member of the Canadian Senate at Ottawa reminds us that our northern neighbor will hold a national election on April 8th. Canadian Senators, numbering 102, are appointed for life and selected on a regional basis by the Governor-General. The 265 members of the House of Commons are elected directly by the voters for a term of five years but the House may be dissolved before the term has expired. A Canadian Senator receives $8,000 annually and $2,000 in expenses while his United States counterpart is paid $22,500 annually with an expense allowance which is tax-free.

April is the month when the flowers and leaves begin to bloom and it derives its name from the Latin—"Aprilis"—to open. The old Saxons called the 30-day period the "Goddess of Spring." We just heard this fast gag line: When someone tells you he didn't come here to be insulted, you can throw back at him, "Then where do you usually go?"

Mass production certainly reduced the selling price on radios, electrical gadgets and other household items, but when it comes to having them repaired it's a different story. Our best advice is to throw the item away and buy a new one. Our small radio cost $11 some years ago, but an appliance dealer said it needed $12 in repairs to put it in shape. We junked it.

Country Editor speaking: "Boys and girls these days can certainly do wonderful things—within their feet. They wear out shoes three times faster than their parents."

Too bad Lord Alfred Tennyson's, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," was never set to music like Sir William Gilbert's, "the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la." He was a member of the Gilbert & Sullivan team. Traffic experts say candidates for drivers' licenses should be better screened and that at least 4 out of every 100 should be denied because they are too emotional or stupid.

The ultimate in telephone service once was described this way: A baby is assigned a phone number at birth, wears a wristwatch-size device through which he can hear and see anyone in the world. If the person being called does not answer, he is dead. "Keep Out" reads sign on the side of the Iowa State Prison at Fort Madison, Iowa. Bill Feather, Cleveland editor and printer, wrote some years ago: "If anybody tells you that writing is fun, tell him to try it. What you sweat over, nobody cares for. But what comes easy everybody likes." Why, nobody knows.

Today's favorite gag: "I'll give you $1 if you'll let me paint you," the artist told the old mountaineer, who thoughtfully shifted his tobacco from one cheek to the other. "It's easy money," encouraged the artist. "No question about that," agreed the hillbilly. "Was jes' awonderin' how to get the paint off afterward." Hey, girls. To make a good cup of coffee every time, use a measuring cup for the water, rather than a teacup or coffee cup, since the latter vary in size.

Pampa I hope that the conclusions I have drawn are untrue and that Messrs. Thompson, McDaniel, Nelson, Parsley and Troop will repudiate the support of the "Citizens Committee," otherwise they must be known by the company they keep.

Editor: It is good to see a boy grow into a man. I can remember in 1934 when I built a small building and Gene Lewis came to Pampa to open a hardware store. That building was located in what the outsiders cast as Little Juarez. Even though the boy had been here only a short time, he had the initiative and the ability to almost single-handedly organize a group of people into a unit strong enough and able enough to clean up the deplorable situation that existed.

Almost overnight, Little Juarez became a place of respectability and the people of this area appreciated this kind of leadership. From a humble beginning, through hard work, that small store has grown into one of the nicest in the Southwest, while several of the well-entrenched old names in the same kind of business have gone by the board.

I feel that the man, Gene Lewis, is capable, qualified and able to conduct the mayor's office with honor.

The American Way

ANOTHER HEAVE-HO IS IN ORDER By Rosalie M. Gordon

Some of the craziest—and oldest—fiscal notions on how to run a government are coming out of Washington these days all dressed up in new labels like "modern" economics and "New Frontier" thinking. No matter what fancy phrases are used to describe these notions, essentially the idea behind them is that government can make us prosperous by borrowing and spending more than it takes in, piling one deficit on top of another. This road to national bankruptcy has been traveled by governments since the beginning of time, always with the same results. But that doesn't prevent certain New Frontier thinkers from advocating the same disastrous policies as something new and forward-looking. Chief among these New Frontiersmen is Dr. Walter Heller, chairman of the President's Board of Economic Advisers. That makes him the grand exalted theorizer of the New Frontier. Dr. Heller thinks the American people need "educating" in order to accept this theory of his because, he says, we have "a basic Puritan ethic" against deficits.

If we have such an ethic and it makes us suspicious of spending what we do not have, we ought to thank God for it and hang onto it. However, it does not seem to occur to Dr. Heller that perhaps this isn't Puritanism but just plain common sense. After all, the West Germans cannot be accused of having a Puritan ethic, but they gave Dr. Heller a grand heave-ho when he tried to sell them the same crackpot economics after World War II. All they had was a good memory—a memory of what happened to Germany when she tried these same ideas after World War I. Her government went in for heavy deficit spending in an effort to bring prosperity to her people. There was the inevitable inflation which economists like Dr. Heller told the Germans could be controlled.

Do you remember when it cost us two cents to mail a letter? Now it costs five cents. When Germany started off on this slaphappy course after World War I, it cost one-tenth of a mark to mail a letter. By the summer of 1923 the cost of a postage stamp had risen to 300 marks. And then the inflation got out of control, as always happens with all inflations caused by government borrowing unless the borrowing is stopped.

What happened in Germany may sound incredible, but it is true. By the Fall of 1923, the Germans were paying 75,000 and then two million marks for a postage stamp. On November 5th the cost of a stamp rose to one billion marks. And by December 1st, a postage stamp cost ONE HUNDRED BILLION marks and the inflationary chaos had brought complete collapse to Germany.

Then she started over again. But under the same theories of cockeyed economics her government began building up the deficits again and finally wound up with Hitler, National Socialism and another war.

All this the West German leaders remembered when they told Dr. Heller, after World War II, to go peddle his nostrums elsewhere. We would do well to tell him the same thing.

Acheson Brings DeGaulle In Focus On World Scene By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—There has probably been more sheer balderdash about foreign affairs printed and spoken this year than in any comparable period since the end of World War II.

The subjects have been Cuba, disarmament, the nuclear test ban, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nuclear striking force, the Sino-Soviet split and French President Charles de Gaulle. Nobody really knows from nothing about any of these subjects. That makes it easier for everyone to speculate, and in one sense this is all to the good.

Wide public discussion of controversial issues is supposed to be the heart and life of the democratic system. So the more "thinking" there is on these subjects, even though few people know what they're talking about, the better informed everyone should be, or the more up to date, anyway.

But the only people who really know what's in the Cuban caves and how many Soviet troops have been withdrawn from the island are the Russians, and they haven't yet told.

The disarmament and nuclear test ban agreements that everyone was so hopeful about the end of last year are no nearer to signing than they ever were.

Many military "experts" have been waiting that NATO is falling apart because the European nations won't accept U.S. ideas on an international nuclear striking force. Yet Secretary of State Dean Rusk says simply that the President's special ambassador, Livingston T. Merchant, is in Europe to find out what the Europeans want and will agree to—so that their wishes on the ideas can be met.

After the Franco-German treaty was signed, international "authorities" were saying that the United States would have to conduct another agonizing reappraisal and completely reshape its foreign policy. Surprisingly, the foundation of America's postwar foreign policy still seems to be standing very solidly, unchanged. United States troops will remain in Europe.

The Sino-Soviet split is still a "mystery wrapped in an enigma," as new American citizen-to-be Winston Churchill once called Russia. So far, the two Red powers are conducting a propaganda shouting match in which the outside world can only hope each destroys the other. But the odds are that this won't be allowed to happen in the near future, although war between

Allen-Scott Report

Russia's Cuba-Leningrad Anti-Missile System Could Force Vast U.S. Nuclear Defense Changes

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Russia is converting Cuba into a menacing anti-missile base that could force the U.S. to make vast changes in its nuclear defenses.

Soviet technicians are installing a complex missile tracking system in Cuba that is connected directly with a newly established anti-missile control center near Moscow.

This highly-important Kremlin command post in turn is linked to the world's first operational anti-missile base that has been constructed on the outskirts of Leningrad.

The startling discovery of these sinister Red missile installations was made by an Air Force Sarnos reconnaissance satellite and subsequently confirmed by other intelligence sources.

The satellite's highly-sensitive cameras photographed 11 "modified" SA-3 missiles on launchers at the Leningrad base. These anti-missile missiles have the capability of shooting down intercontinental ballistic missiles.

These and other still secret details of the Soviet's sensational anti-missile missile breakthrough and its link to Cuba are now being studied at the highest level in the Kennedy Administration and the Senate.

Senator Richard Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, is so disturbed by these intelligence findings that he has set up a special three-member subcommittee to make a thorough study of the new threat.

Russell asked Senators Henry Jackson, D-Wash., Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., and Margaret Chase Smith, R-Me., to determine the full extent of the calculated risk President Kennedy is taking on the following crucial decisions:

Deferring missile defense of American cities and other key centers into 1970.

Doing nothing to eliminate Russia's anti-missile missile base in Cuba before it becomes fully operational this fall.

THE BIG GAMBLE—The report of these senators is expected to determine whether the Senate Armed Services Committee will demand that the President take stern measures to counteract this new Soviet menace.

Discussion of such direct action has been under way among the senators for several weeks, but no decision has been made pending the report of the special subcommittee.

Already, the group has ascertained that major surgery performed on the anti-missile missile program in Defense Secretary McNamara's budget has, in effect, eliminated the Army's Nike-Zeus as a potential weapon system.

Under McNamara's backstage plan a new so-called improved Nike-X anti-missile missile would be developed by 1970.

This "missile gap" would give the Russians a four to seven-year lead in the deployment of an anti-missile missile. Important U.S. military authorities believe this would be suicidal for the country.

THE CUBAN THREAT—French Intelligence has advised that the Soviet missile tracking network in Cuba was started last September and will be in full operation by fall.

The French are warning that this communication base was a vital factor in the Kremlin's decision to go ahead with the deployment of the "modified" SA-3 anti-missile missile system.

The tracking stations, located only 90 miles from the U.S., solved an important part of the Soviet's problem of charting the course of ICBMs launched from the U.S.

Once the course of such a missile is determined, the data is flashed to Moscow, where it will be fed into the anti-ICBM radar detection system. It, in turn will direct anti-missile missiles at the oncoming ICBMs.

The Cuban stations also are providing the Russians with "live" training practice since missiles launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., can be tracked for thousands of miles by Soviet radar technicians.

The surprise appearance of four of the "modified" SA-3 missiles in last January's military parade in Havana also raises the possibility that the Russians may be planning to conduct "live" tests against U.S. missiles over the South Atlantic.

Twice the Soviets have used SA-2 rockets to blast high-flying U-2 reconnaissance planes without U.S. counter-action. The first time was the shooting down of the U-2 plane piloted by Gary Powers over southern Russia. The second was the destruction of an Air Force U-2 on a reconnaissance mission over Cuba last October.

This Soviet boldness is considered by some Pentagon officials as an indication that an SA-3 attack on a U.S. missile is possible.

CUBAN FLASHES—Central Intelligence Agency reports indicate that initial estimates on the number of Latin American subversives being indoctrinated in Cuba may have been too low. Four institutions in Havana, including a former Jesuit college, are being used for six-month subversive training courses. Cuban exiles claim that as many as 10,000 Latins are getting this training. This is seven times greater than the 1,500 figure given to the Senate Preparedness Armed Services Subcommittee.

Two U.S. lendlease ships are regularly making the Russia-Cuba run. They are the Dushanbe, formerly the Willis C. Hawley, and the Gaven, formerly the Samuel A. Worcester.

SOCIAL WHIRL—Although signs of spring are still scarce in Washington, preparations are in full stride for the annual Cherry Blossom Festival officially scheduled for April 6-7. Whether the famed blooms will be out by then is highly conjectural. But whether they are or not, the festival will take place anyway. That's the edit of Mrs. Perle Mesta, the hostess with the mostest, who is chairman of the Cherry Blossom Ball. Although well along in years, the irrepressible "society queen" is taking her cherry blossom responsibilities seriously and is hustling and bustling all over the capital in behalf of the fete.

Feminine members of the capital's young set are reveling in a special treat this weekend when scores of Annapolis midshipmen and West Point cadets will be on hand for a big ball in their honor. The cadets and midshipmen are descending on Washington, thanks to an annual three-day spring holiday.

Denmark's Ambassador and Countess Knuth-Winterfeldt celebrated the 64th birthday of King Frederik IX in an open-handed neighborly fashion. They invited all members of the capital's Danish community to attend a birthday party, and virtually all were on hand. Guests started arriving at 6:00 p.m., and by 8:30 the vast and lavish buffet had disappeared. So had many gallons of beverages. Mrs. Milward L. Simpson, wife of Wyoming's new Republican senator, has an unusual collection—restaurant menus from all over the world. She has been collecting them since girlhood, and has no idea how many there are. Says Mrs. Simpson, "My menus are like a diary. They remind me of my friends, where we dined and the occasion."

The Potomac Marching Society isn't that at all. The title is misleading. Actually it's a group of New Frontiersmen who got together to stage monthly dances. Leading members are McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President on foreign affairs; Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., another White House assistant; House Democratic Whip Hale Boggs, La.; Supreme Court Justice Byron White; Representative Homer Thornberry, D-Tex.; Representative William Moorehead, D-Pa.; Representative Henry Reuss, D-Wis.; Vice President and Mrs. Johnson.

Hope For Revival Bossa Nova No; Polka, Si

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — If the dance craze that follows the bossa nova is the polka — don't be surprised.

Polka writer Bob Kames of Milwaukee would call it a logical development because, in his way of thinking, the bossa nova is a "takeoff on a polka, with an accented beat."

In fact, he'll carry that theory even farther and say that a number of Latin American rhythms are "like the polka beat."

Today the polka is in eclipse in most of the nation, although it has strongholds in a belt from upstate New York along the Great Lakes to the Dakotas, he said.

To the surprise of record companies, there's been a sudden show of interest in polka in California, he said. Hal Neely, general manager of King Records, Cincinnati, said two big polka bands have played in the San Francisco Bay area lately, Kames reported.

Companies must have thought it was worthwhile to give these people a chance to play together."

The "ambassadors" include such favorites as Frankie Yankovic, Cleveland; Valentine Kujawa, a Milwaukee star of the 1920s; Kames, Kujawa's son; Gene Heier, Manitowoc, Wis.; Joe Potzner, Milwaukee, Romy Gosz, Manitowoc; Louie Bashell, Milwaukee; and George Cook, Cleveland.

The album consists of songs made famous by individual band leaders. It includes Blue Skirt Waltz and Rosalinda Waltz; Yankovic hits; Sugar Loaf Waltz; Heier; Red Handkerchief Waltz; Gosz; Silk Umbrella Polka, Bebell, and such standards as the Lichtensteiner Polka and Beer Barrel Polka.

Kames, who thought up the album, is an organist — but he rose to popularity by playing polkas on the organ — something most organists just didn't do. He sold a half million records of his own song, "You Are My One True Love," in 1949.

The musicians agreed it has been hard to find one polka style. "You get 40 miles away from Milwaukee and the dance style changes," said Yankovic.

But with all of them working together, they hope they'll move

Husband-Wife Duo-Piano Work Enhances Value

NEW YORK (UPI) — Of the small amount of music composed especially for two pianos none is more gratifying than the two suites of Sergei Rachmaninoff. One may also say their intrinsic value is greatly enhanced when they are played by Vitya Vronsky and Victor Babin (RCA Victor 2648).

This husband and wife team has been playing them up and down around the country for well over 20 years, and their mastery of both their surfaces and of their depths makes for a rewarding experience for the listener to this new recording in brilliantly effective stereo.

And both suites do have depths even though they're in the romantic melodic genre reminiscent of Tchaikovsky who was, indeed, a major influence on the youthful Rachmaninoff. The first was composed when Rachmaninoff was 20 and the second when he was 28.

In both of them he displayed his abiding sense of what is pianistic and his emotional oneness with the piano's tonality. His two-piano music is also interesting for the way he used two instruments not merely to amplify but to extend the piano's world.

In the case of the boy — pianist, Andre Watts, a thinking man's reviewer scarcely knows what to say. He is conservative, however, if he resorts to quoting with approval the boy's own words which were: "I have so much to learn."

Thy boy is being given the hoop-la treatment by Columbia Records, aided and abetted by that master showman, Leonard Bernstein. A few weeks ago Glenn Gould turned up indisposed at the last moment for his scheduled appearance with the New York Philharmonic. Bernstein remembered the boy musician he had had on a young people's concert and called him in as a replacement.

The piece Andre, Bernstein and the orchestra played, in haste, they have now recorded.

A City In The Dust And Introduction To Sorrow Theme For Third Novel

United Press International
Dust, by Yael Dayan (World $3.95): Yarden, a 23-year-old Israeli girl, leaves the sheltered, happy life of her village to help build a new city in the desert. Never touched by tragedy or passion, she regards the project merely as a gay and temporary experience. For the first time in her life, however, she is confronted not only with the rigors of desert life but the harshness and unhappiness of other people's lives. While the new city takes form, she becomes entangled in the sorrow-haunted lives of three colleagues. Authoress Yael Dayan, only 24 years old here, has drawn heavily on her Israeli army service to describe the beauty and bleakness of the desert in Dust, her third novel.

Morning Glory, by Mary Motley (St. Martin's $4.50): Another installment of the autobiography Mary Motley began in 1960 with "Devils in Waiting," covering her childhood and the youth that took her into the Sahara on her first three journeys of exploration.

The desert fascinated Miss Motley from the start, and although the journeys described here were no more than moderately dangerous she still came to be known as "the first woman who had done what she did."

Miss Motley (more formally Margaret Sheridan or, perhaps, the dowager Comtesse de Renerville) is a well-traveled person, as so many Britons of her generation were.

Here father was killed in World War I. Her mother, Clare Sheridan was a famous beauty and a sculptress, as eccentric as she was talented, who took her children to odd corners of the world with her.

It was the family sojourn in Biskra that introduced Mary Motley to the desert and a career of exploring the greatest waste lands on earth, interspersed with intervals of discovering London with such notables as Axel Munthe.

The book is an entertaining and straightforward account of an important period in an interesting life.

A Captive in the Land, by James Aldridge (Doubleday $4.95): The Englishman has long symbolized individualism in a growing atmosphere of conformity. Such a man is Aldridge's hero, Rupert Royce, a meteorologist who renounced great wealth because of its corruptive potential. On an Arctic assignment, Royce and his colleagues spot plane wreckage on the ice and one survivor. He volunteers to parachute to the rescue and remain with the man, a Russian pilot, until a plane can come for him. But Royce's plane crashes on landing in Greenland and all aboard are destroyed, along with evidence of the wreckage's existence.

This gripping novel tells how the two men survive winter on the ice and the agonizing trek on a makeshift sled and how Royce's superiors later ask him to undertake a special assignment when he is invited to visit Russia to accept an award for saving their man. To say more would spoil a beautifully Soviet Russia In World Politics, by Robert D. Warth (Twayne Publishers, Inc. $7.50): This is a thorough survey of Soviet foreign policy from the 1917 Revolution to the present Cold War era. It pays particular attention to the Far East, an area often neglected in such studies. Against the background of the development of an international communist movement which always played an integral part in Soviet foreign policy, the book takes the reader through the usual periods of Stalin and Soviet nationalism, the popular front, maneuvering with Nazi Germany, the aftermath of World War II, the nuclear stalemate and the space age.

There is nothing really new in the book, but it provides a good basic source in one volume for Soviet foreign affairs and Soviet-American relations.

Who else would give your car such expert care?

Why me—the dealer who sold it to you!

I've got a proprietary interest in your car. I want to see it running like a fine watch all the time. It's good business and good advertising as far as I'm concerned.

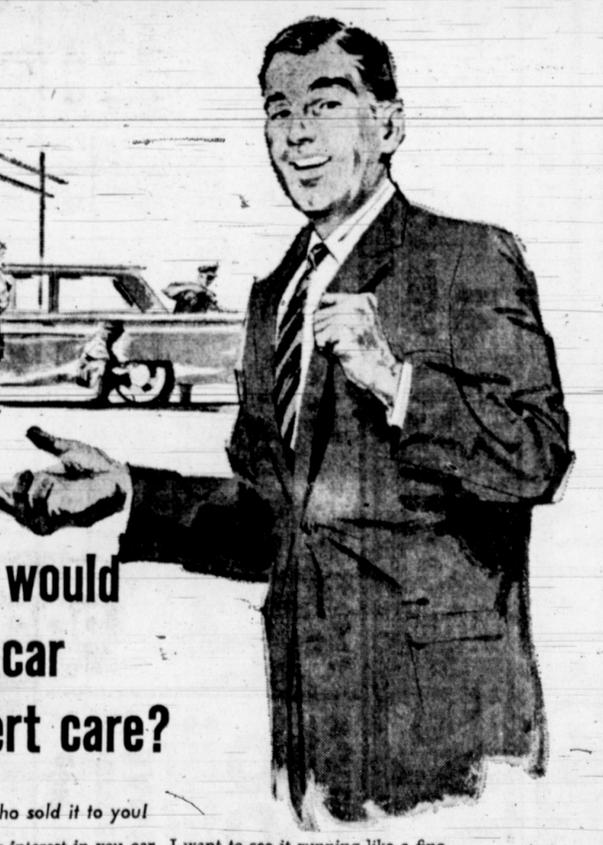

And nobody is better equipped to work on your car than the franchised dealer in those cars! I have the tools, the factory trained mechanics, the most modern equipment, and all factory-approved parts. That's a combination that can't be beat!

So remember—next time your car needs servicing, take it where it's going to get the most expert and considerate care: your franchised new car dealer!
