Ball did agree with Fulbright that it is "not very fiattering to the United States for foreign governments to conclude that hiring a lobbyist is the only way to get things done in Washington.'

From November 1950 to August 1953. Ball's law firm got more than $167,000 from the Venezuelan Chamber of Commerce.

While Fulbright is ignoring Ball's foreign lobbying, it was once scrutinized by a Senate committee. "According to your testimony." continued McClellan, 'the total amount you got in connection with this legislation is $271,327.

"That is right," said Ball, "Those are the receipts from the point of view of my firm."

Justice Department records show that former Foreign Aid Administrator Fowler Hamilton was one of the lawyers employed by Ball in these extensive Cuban sugar lobbying operations.

TRUTH FORUM

Most Needed: Economist

In The White House

By ED DELANEY

President Kennedy has shown some annoyance over the advance in steel prices by some of the major producers. There is a simple rule governing private industry. It is, that if that particular industry or any other is to continue operation, affording employment to numbers of workers, besides paying federal and state taxes, there must be sufficient margin of profit on the finished product to meet all costs. But apparently a president does not need to grasp those fundamentals of economics. The office of President, it seems, may be filled by some one entirely devoid of experience in business, in economics, in finance, in administration or foreign affairs. Political king-makers select a figure head, with all the hoop-la of a glorified medicine show, dazzle and confuse the voters, then after the ballots are counted, let them pay the penalty for their lack of common sense. They pay in higher taxes to supply funds for bigger budgets and to provide jobs for myriads of parasites who will obligingly vote at the next election to retain the one who created the jobs.

In commenting on the increase in steel prices, the President said a general increase in steel prices would "invite another inflationary spiral, would hamper our export expansion and adversely affect our balance of payments position on which our worldwide commitments depend." There was no mention of the billions of dollars that are asked for by the President for so-called for eign aid and other non-essential expenditures which have brought on the highest budget in our history. That, the President seems to feel, does not cause inflation and affect our balance of paythe purchasing power of the dol-increase.

But although Mr. Kennedy urged restraint in demands by the steel workers union he has not shown similar concern as regards other unions. In fact very recently he urged federal employes to become union members. There has been a rash of strikes in the past two years, such as the newspaper strike in New York and the dock workers which cost the United States billions in lost revenues and wages, Sen. Harry Byrd, (D. Va.) one of the most astute and conservative men in Congress pointed out recently that in the past three decades, strikes in this country have cost nearly pay and production. the President, labor officials want the federal government to make union membership a condition of employment. Byrd says: "When irresponsible labor leaders shut down the country, our national security is imperiled; when they stop production, wages also stop and our economy is impaired. When they forced wage increases without compensating increase in production, they create ments, also a sharp reduction in

The President said that with 100,000 steel workers still unemployed, he urged the steel workers union to use restraint in wage demands. The need is for more jobs with job security, not fewer jobs with higher wages. Increase in steel prices usually means a corresponding rise in the national cost of living since steel is the basis of our modern industrial age. With an election next year the President would like to be able to tell the voters

As Harry Byrd points out, the value of the dollar is now down to 45.7 of what it was in 1939. Our gold reserves are depleted and if foreign governments and bankers demanded gold for the U.S. obligations they hold, which they can demand, we would have no gold left in Ft. Knox or anywhere else. Yet the President urges more spending and even gives favorable support to the idea of putting a man on the moon, at the cost of $10 to $20 billion. pamper our youngsters too much nowadays.

They ride when they should walk. They sit when they should be moving. They watch when they should be participating. And all this inactivity is bad for them. Indeed, most leading heart specialists agree that today's inactive youngsters are likely to be candidates later on for diseases of the heart and blood vessels, overweight, and other disorders that feed on an easy-going existence.

What better reason is there for parents to urge school officials to strengthen physical education programs-for every boy and every girl?

Local school officials will be responsive to your interest. Get in touch with them.
