Pope John Rallies Slightly After Painful Night

Condition Remains 'Grave'

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII rallied weakly today from exhaustion after a night of internal hemorrhaging and painful nausea.

An early afternoon Vatican bulletin reported a "distinct improvement" in the Pope's condition at 10 a.m. (5 a.m. EDT), but informed sources emphasized that the outlook remained grave.

Responsible Vatican sources indicated that the last 24 hours indicated that the 81-year-old pontiff who is suffering from a stomach tumor that may be cancerous.

At 1:45 a.m. Prof. Pietro Mazzone, one of the team of doctors in attendance, called for additional help and equipment. A few minutes later five cars sped through the Vatican gates, the sources said.

Work Through Night
The doctors worked through the night on the weakening patient, administering transfusions without any apparent result.

Only at 10 a.m. this morning did the pontiff rally from the depths of exhaustion, the sources said. At 2:30 p.m. (9:30 a.m. EDT) the Vatican issued a communique which said:

"At 10 a.m. (5 a.m. EDT) today, a distinct improvement was noted in the general condition of the august patient."

The official announcement said the Pope spent "a night of quiet rest." This presumably referred to the hours immediately preceding the 10 a.m. medical observation and not to the activity reported earlier in the night.

Describes Pope's Routine
The communique also described the routine that continued in the papal household despite the Pope's illness.

Earlier, Vatican sources said the Pope failed to respond to numerous blood transfusions during a "very bad" night. These sources said the ailing, 81-year-old pontiff was "suffering acutely."

The sources said a team of doctors who attended the Pope throughout a night privately described the night as "very bad" for the church leader.

This was in direct contrast to the official reports issued this morning that Pope John had passed an "excellent night," and the "reassurance" from a top spokesman that "we are not in a period of emergency."

Confirm Poor Reports
A prelate close to the Pope's entourage independently confirmed the pessimistic reports.

"Internal bleeding is continuing, even though at a slow pace," he said, "the situation is considered grave."

There was concern throughout the world for the condition of the Pope, and prayers were being said for his health.

Details of the Pope's "very dramatic" night became available in Rome only shortly before noon.

Discusses Church Matters
The Pope took Holy Communion in bed this morning from the hands of his secretary, Msgr. Loris Capovilla, and heard him recite mass in an adjoining room. (See PONTIFF, Page 3)

More Demonstrations Are Threatened in Jackson

'Molotov Cocktail' Tossed; None Hurt

By CLIFF SESSIONS
United Press International

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Disagreement between Negro leaders and Mayor Allen Thompson today threatened to touch off more racial demonstrations in this Deep South capital.

Early today, a "Molotov cocktail" exploded at the home of Medgar Evers, state field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), but no one was injured and little or no damage was done.

A long-threatened series of demonstrations began Tuesday when a biracial group of nine persons staged a lunch counter sit-in. Three of them were beaten, others were manhandled, and all were doused with catsup and mustard.

Later, several hundred Negroes were told at a civil rights rally that the demonstrations were being suspended because Thompson and the two city commissioners had agreed to make several changes in the city's racial policies. Thompson denied most of the "agreements."

The Rev. G.R. Houghton, who headed a delegation of six Negroes who conferred with Thompson and the commissioners Tuesday, announced the alleged agreements. Several civil rights leaders urged at the rally that Negroes test the "agreements" by attempting to use previously segregated facilities today.

"If the mayor has denied what we say, then all is lost," Houghton said after the rally. "I'm almost certain there will be a resumption of demonstrations."

Four boys were injured when an automobile driven by a 14-year-old Pampa youth ran into them as they played with a wagon yesterday in W. Wilks St., just west of Wells St.

Eleven-year-old Terry Fleetwood, 563 N. Frost, one of three youths taken to Highland General Hospital after the accident, was still in the hospital today with leg, arm and body injuries. His condition was reported as good.

Michael Atchley, 12, of 1201 S. Christy, was taken to the hospital by his mother and released after emergency treatment of a leg injury.

Bobby Earl Crawford, 12, of 1122 S. Christy, and his three-year-old brother, Gary, who were taken to the hospital along with young Fleetwood in a Duken-Carmichael ambulance, were treated for cuts and bruises and later released from the hospital.

Police said a citation for reckless driving was issued to 14-year-old David Jacques, 1060 Varnon Dr.

According to police, young Jacques stated he did not see the boys playing in the street until he was too close to them to stop.

AT&T, Western Union Rate Hike Okayed by FCC

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) today authorized American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and Western Union Telegraph Co. to raise their rates for private line telegraph services to everyone except press customers.

The FCC ordered a further investigation to determine to what extent similar rate increases "would impair dissemination of news information if applied to the press."

The commission authorized the rate increases for other customers by ordering into effect a decision it reached Jan. 29—after providing for the exception for press customers.

The January decision had been suspended pending consideration of appeals.

In its original ruling, the FCC said the increases would raise AT&T's annual revenues by $3,190,000 and Western Union's by $222,000.

The so-called "private line" decision also provided for reduction of AT&T leased line telephone rates—except for telephotograph rates, which would have been increased. This telephotograph increase also was suspended by today's order.

The petitions before us raise substantial questions regarding the impact which changed private line telegraph and private line telephotograph rates would have upon the dissemination of news information," the FCC said.

House Believes Bracero Labor Bill Will Pass

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House debated today extension of the controversial Mexican migrant labor (bracero) bill with backers certain they had the votes to win.

Authority for United States farmers to import braceros expires Dec. 31. The bill under consideration, written by Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., would extend the authority until Dec. 31, 1965.

The bill sparked considerable controversy in the House Agriculture Committee. It was opposed by organized labor and most social welfare organizations. It had the reluctant backing of the administration, provided amendments were adopted tightening the rules governing use of the migrants.

The committee reported a simple extender, with no changes from the present law.

Backers of the measure contend importation by farmers of braceros is necessary for harvesting crops requiring stoop labor. They say American farm workers will not take such jobs.

Opponents argue Mexicans compete unfairly with unemployed domestic farm workers and that their use is chiefly by large corporate-type farms. They also contend that they cause an adverse effect on domestic wages contrary to law. This in turn, they say, gives the corporation farmers an unfair advantage of cheap foreign labor over his small farmer competitor, who does most of his own work.

Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., chairman of the agriculture manpower subcommittee, predicted victory for the measure. He designated Rep. Harlan Hagen, D-Calif., to handle the bill on the floor.

WHEAT TO MOROCCO
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said Tuesday a shipment of wheat for relief of flood victims in Morocco is expected to leave New Orleans Wednesday.

The shipment consists of about 434,000 bushels of hard red winter wheat valued at about $330,000.

Fire Erupts in Docked Vessel; 323 on Board

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI)—A flash fire broke out in the boiler room of the destroyer USS Blandy today less than one hour after the ship arrived here to participate in Memorial Day exercises.

Most of the 323 men aboard jumped or walked down the gangplank from the destroyer to the Maine State Pier where it was tied up. A handful of sailors remained aboard to help civilian firemen in putting out the blaze.

Two sailors were overcome by smoke while fighting the fire. No one was seriously hurt.

A Navy spokesman said the fire was touched off by lubricating oil which came in contact with a spark or a hot pipe after an oil gauge line broke.

Government Can't Sue, Says Judge

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—A federal judge today ruled the Justice Department was "without authority" to sue for integration of schools at Huntsville and Madison County.

Federal District Judge H. H. Grooms dismissed a suit filed in January for desegregation of schools near the Redstone arsenal in Huntsville—site of the nation's space flight research center.

Grooms cited a number of decisions in which courts have held the federal government has no right to sue for the civil rights of individuals.

"I am of the opinion that the United States is without authority to maintain this action and, further, that the complaint does not state a claim upon which relief can be granted," Grooms said.

"Repeatedly, the Congress has refused to take any action to deprive the local authorities over their school system, and it has rejected attempts to attack a desegregation rider on bills granting aid to education," he ruled.

Texas Wheat Crop Estimated For $80-million; Harvest Starts In Gray County This Week

Approximately 62,500 acres of the 78,000 wheat acreage allotment for Gray County has been abandoned according to Gray County Agent Foster Whaley.

Whaley said most of the dryland wheat in the county has already been abandoned, but some of the farmers still planned to harvest drought-stricken grain. However the outlook for irrigated wheat was reported good.

Jack Vallines, manager of the Trans Con Grain Elevator at Laketon said he expected the first load of Gray County wheat late Saturday, and the average yield for this year should be from seven to ten bushels per acre.

Vallines said that the dryland wheat that was going to be harvested would be in approximately two weeks before the irrigated wheat.

North Central Texas — Harvest 5-7 per cent complete and progressing rapidly. The crop averages 25 bushels an acre, about average. At the top of the north central sector, around Denton, the harvest is just beginning, with the yield around 18 bushels an acre.

Red River County — The crop matures more rapidly in the Red River bottoms and the harvest is 50 per cent complete. The yield runs about 22 bushels to the acre, a little below average.

Just Beginning
Quanah-Vernon area—The harvest is just beginning. The dryland crop is running 12-18 bushels an acre so far. It looks like an average yield year.

Troop Carrier Crashes, Burns; All Men Escape

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI) — "Don't panic," the first sergeant yelled just before the huge troop transport plane smashed to the ground.

"Now, unfasten your safety belts and get out."

The plane already was in flames as the 64 soldiers escaped safely from the wreckage of a Standard Airways Constellation which crashed while landing Tuesday at Municipal Airport, according to some survivors.

Only five of the 69 passengers and crew members were injured, none critically.

Losses Power
Capt. David Brown, the pilot, said the craft lost power while he approached for a routine landing. It crumbled to the ground short of the runway and burned for more than three hours.

The soldiers, returning from maneuvers in California, said the plane was burning when they jumped to the ground and fled to safety.

First Sgt. Charles L. Briganca shouted commands of "don't panic" after another soldier yelled "We're crashing...we're crashing."

There was no other warning of the crash.

The 69 moved quickly to safety after the plane shuddered to a halt in mud.

Witnesses said the right wing tore off the craft, then the other wing fell off. Fires started in the wings and spread to the fuselage.

"I looked out both sides of the plane and all I could see was real orange-colored flames," Pfc John L. Sturino, Kenosha, Wis., said. "When the plane came to a halt, we went out."

Panhandle—The earliest harvest on record was reported last week in Collingsworth County. It averaged 10 bushels an acre, half of normal. Briscoe County on the edge of the Caprock reported its (See WHEAT, Page 3)

Ample Combines
There is no shortage of either combines or men to operate them anywhere in Texas and indications are that this will be the case until the harvest is complete.

Rains falling across the Texas wheat belt temporarily delay harvest but they have not ruined any wheat yet. A rain generally causes a delay of one day.

Here is how wheat harvest is coming along across the Texas wheat belt:

North Central Texas — Harvest 5-7 per cent complete and progressing rapidly. The crop averages 25 bushels an acre, about average. At the top of the north central sector, around Denton, the harvest is just beginning, with the yield around 18 bushels an acre.

Red River County — The crop matures more rapidly in the Red River bottoms and the harvest is 50 per cent complete. The yield runs about 22 bushels to the acre, a little below average.

Liquor Store Is Hit by Burglars

Burglars crawled through an air-conditioning vent in the roof to gain entrance to the H & M Cut Rate Liquor Store, 866 W. Foster, last night and looted the place of $496.75 in cash.

The burglary was discovered shortly after 5:30 a.m. today by Patrolman H. E. Britton who found the back door to the store standing open.

Investigation showed that the burglars took a small amount of money from the cash register, but got the most of the $496.75 from a hiding place in the rear of the store.

Police also learned that the burglars overlooked six $1-bills and ten silver dollars apparently by their failure to pull the cash register drawer all the way out.

Program Varied At Jaycee Meet

The Pampa Jaycees will hold a special election in two weeks to replace treasurer Doyle Green, who handed in his resignation at yesterday's regular noon luncheon meeting of the group.

Green is moving to Borger, and will join the Jaycees in that city. Club president Gary Frasier tendered the Pampa Club's regrets on losing Green, whom he praised as "one of the key figures in making our club successful," and announced that a nominating committee consisting of Richard Cook, Ted Everhart and Eddie Chapman would be formed to suggest a replacement to next week's board meeting, with elections held the following Tuesday.

Sworn in as a new member yesterday was Herb Hester of KHHH. Guests at the meeting included Jim Hobbs, also applying for membership, Dr. Howard Greene, Clarence Dixon of Borger and Eddie Briemer.

Special guests at the meeting included the winners and runners-up in the annual Jaycee Tennis Tournament. Trophies were presented to boys singles winner Wilson Ryals and second-place Tim Eller, and to girls singles winner Debby Martin and runner-up Tamah Williams.

Guest speakers yesterday were Chief Jim Conner and patrolman C. L. Wallace of the Pampa Police Department. Conner spoke on the new Pampa "K-9 police corps," the police dog that Pampa is getting to implement the efficiency of their department, and of Wallace, who volunteered to handle the dog.

Wallace spoke about the dog, "Tyl" of his training and his preparation for duty which will begin July 1. Following the speech, Wallace spent some time answering questions concerning the dog, his training and the program for using him.

SENTENCE DOPE PEDDLER

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Moscow City Court has sentenced five persons to varying prison terms up to eight years for peddling narcotics near Moscow movie theaters and restaurants.

This conviction, reported in "Medical Worker" Tuesday, followed a similar judgment handed down by a court in Orenburg and reported in "Soviet Russia" in March, but was still one of the few press admissions that narcotics addiction exists here.

Government

program because of the numerous children of government employees who attend the schools.

Grooms said under the theory of the government's complaint a Negro dependent child of federal personnel "would have preferred status over all other school children simply because of his color."

"Of course, it is well established that the law does not require integration but only abolishes discrimination, and until the individual colored children of federal personnel show that they have been discriminated against because of their race or color, the (Alabama pupil) placement act would be applicable," he said. He noted that the state law, which gives broad powers of transfer to school boards, has been held to be constitutional upon its face by the U.S. Supreme Court.

'Separation of Powers'

"When considered as a whole, the complaint, in effect, represents an attempt by the executive arm of the government to use the judicial arm to bypass the legislative arm in contravention of the principle of separation of powers. "Except in the field of voting rights, the Congress has granted the government no authority to bring such a suit as this," Grooms said. "In fact, it has refused to grant such permission. "This case illustrates the rule that the hand that extends the benefit may also attempt to control its use," he said.

Grooms last week ordered the University of Alabama to admit two Negroes to the summer term beginning June 10. He refused to grant the state a delay in the enrollment although the state contended racial tensions were high in Alabama.

Storm 'Left-Overs' Rattle Around Panhandle Today

By United Press International
Thundershowers rumbled in the Panhandle north of Amarillo today, and scattered rain fell along the Texas Gulf Coast.

The showers were the remains of a storm system that struck parts of Houston with 1.5 inches of rain, large hail and high winds Tuesday night.

Pontiff

He conferred again on church matters with his secretary of state, Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, for 45 minutes. The cardinal told him of the world's concern for his health.

The Pope was confined to his bed and not even permitted to be raised on pillows because of his weakness, the source said.

The Pope's doctors and outside specialists have warned him that unless he remains completely still, the gravest consequences could result and their efforts to restore his health by transfusions and other measures would be hampered.

The clear implication was that if the pontiff does not follow their instructions, he will only hasten death.

Tumor In Stomach

The Vatican announced Tuesday that the bleeding was caused by "gastric heteroplasy." Medical sources said the term means a growth in the stomach, which could be either benign or cancerous. All indications were that the Pope may be suffering from stomach cancer.

The Pope had an answer for the millions praying for his health. He told Cardinal Cicognani, "If God wants to sacrifice the Pope's life, may it help win copious favor for the Ecumenical Council... If, on the contrary, it pleases God to prolong this pontifical service, may this help to sanctify the soul of the Pope and of all those who are working for him."

Each successive attack of internal bleeding has left Pope John a little weaker. The Vatican admitted that the doctors thus far have been unable to stop the hemorrhaging entirely.

"A new crisis at this time could be fatal to the Holy Father," a high Vatican official said.

He quickly turned off the flow of the oil and sealed off the boiler room from the rest of the ship by closing the entrance ways, the Navy spokesman said.

The fire slightly damaged the equipment in the boiler room and scorched the paint. The blaze did not spread to other parts of the vessel.

Firefighters used steam and foam in extinguishing the blaze. A Portland fire boat pulled up alongside the Blandy but its hoses were not needed.

The Blandy was scheduled to hold open house for visitors today and Memorial Day. Today's public visiting might be canceled, the Navy said.

Cuban Claims Of U.S. Firing 'Not True'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk today denied a Cuban charge that a U.S. Navy plane fired at Cuban and Soviet technicians prospecting for oil off the north coast of Cuba.

The charge, Rusk told a news conference, was "simply not true."

The Cuban official press contended that an "American plane" had fired heavy machine guns at the island where the technicians were working Sunday.

Rusk said that the U.S. planes such as described by the Cuban press "did not even have machine guns."

The press, quoting an armed forces communique, said the plane made several passes over French Key, a small island about 17 miles northeast of the coastal city of Caibarien.

It referred to only one strafing attack. There was no report of casualties, although the communique said the alleged attack "endangered the lives of Cuban workers and Soviet technicians seeking oil there."

The plane was described as a U.S. Navy P5B amphibian with two turboprop engines, bearing the registration number 147320. It did not say whether it carried military markings.

(The U.S. Navy has no plane designated P5B, but the P5M Marlin roughly answers to the official Cuban description.)

Wheat

first harvest Sunday.—An 80-acre field owned by R.O. Riddell averaged 10 bushels an acre.

A field in Swisher County in the central Panhandle was reported to have yielded about 15 bushels, 6-8 bushels less than normal. Generally the wheat harvest in the Panhandle starts in dryland areas about June 10. It starts about June 15 on irrigated wheat.

Most Texas wheat farmers with worthwhile acreage own combines. Smaller farmers hire their crops harvested, generally by neighboring farmers who own combines.

Some Abandoned
Fifty per cent of the crop in the southeastern Panhandle had to be abandoned because of the drought, cold or insects. In the Amarillo area, 65 per cent of the crop had to be abandoned.

In the eastern Panhandle (Hemphill - Wheeler - Lipscomb counties), 90 per cent of the crop had to be abandoned.

Despite the poor wheat crop, Panhandle farmers are reported in good spirits because the drought has been broken and the hay drop is unusually good.

Most Panhandle hay is alfalfa grown under irrigation. The first hay crop was cut two weeks ago and yields of two tons an acre were not exceptional.

Vandals Break Railroad Lights; Parents Warned

Vandals broke out five switch lamps along the Santa Fe railway tracks east of Starkweather Ave. yesterday, according to a report filed with police by R. C. Wycoff, Santa Fe agent.

Police Chief Jim Conner said the vandalism was attributed to boys playing along the tracks.

Another warning was issued to parents to advise children of the dangers of playing in the railroad vicinity both from the standpoint of personal injury or death and the possibility of causing a train wreck.

"Breaking out switch lights could cause confusion in train signals and result in a serious accident," the chief said.

Oil Allowable To Remain At 28% Potential

AUSTIN (UPI)—The June allowable in Texas will remain at 28 per cent of potential, the same as the May percentage.

The Texas Railroad Commission set the allowable Tuesday only a few hours after the appointment of Judge Jim C. Langdon of El Paso as a new commissioner. He filled the vacancy left by the resignation of William J. Murray Jr.

The June allowable represented an estimated 2,845,188 barrels daily, unchanged from the estimated allowable as of May 11.

The U.S. Bureau of Mines estimate of demand for Texas crude for June was 2,560,000 barrels a day.

Commission chairman Ben Ramsey heard nominations May 16 but no order was issued because commissioner Ernest Thompson was ill at his Amarillo home.

STORM SCATTERS PILGRIMS

ROME (UPI)—A violent thunderstorm Tuesday scattered Romans and foreign tourists and pilgrims waiting in St. Peter's Square for the latest news of the condition of critically ill Pope John XXIII.

The storm rolled in this morning and sent crowds scurrying for cover from the cobblestoned square fronted by the Vatican Palace where the 81-year-old pontiff was fighting for his life.

As motorists prepared to flock to the highways, law enforcement officials throughout the nation called out full forces and ordered a heavy crackdown on traffic violators.

The National Safety Council predicted between 450 and 550 persons could die in traffic accidents between 6 p.m. today and midnight Sunday.

Another 20,000 to 24,000 persons could suffer injuries disabling them beyond the day of the accident, the council said.

...what does a squirrel have to do with ELECTRIC heating?

■ We can learn a great lesson from the squirrel. He's noted for his foresight and planning. Early in summer he starts to gather delicious nuts, when he doesn't need them — then he stores them for the coming cold winter season, when he will need them. We can use the same principle in our homes. Now is the time to install clean electric comfort heating... you'll be warm and snug when the next winter winds start to blow.

FORT SMITH, Ark. (UPI)—Texas cowboys stole the limelight in the second performance of the Arkansas-Oklahoma rodeo Tuesday night, taking three of five first place finishes and placing second in the other two.

R. C. Bales of McKinney, Tex., a top national competitor in Brahma bull riding took the event with 176 points while Texas V. A. Palmer of Clarksville and C. R. Voucher of Burkburnett were winning the saddle bronc riding and bulldogging competition.

Burnis Johnson of Cleburne, Tex., finished in the number two spot in bareback bronc riding and Ronnie Sewalt of Chico, Tex., had second best time in the calf roping.

Most of the top-ranked cowboys competed Monday night and were scheduled again tonight. Bales was one of two name performers to compete Tuesday night. The other, Dean Oliver, current national leader in the calf roping, failed to post a time in the event.

The cowboys are riding for $14,000 in prize money in the rodeo which ends Saturday.

Softball League

The Pampa Stars took undisputed possession of first place in the Industrial Softball League last night with an 8-4 win over Panhandle Packing at Lions Park, while Miami edged the visiting Cabot Clowns, 4-3, in eight innings.

Harold Diering broke up a 2-2 pitchers' duel between Pampa's P. D. James and the Packers' Ray McKinney with a two-out, three-run homer into the center field trees in the top of the fifth inning to provide the winning margin.

Both teams got nine hits, but good fielding behind both pitchers held down the scoring, with each team making a double play. McKinney struck out nine and walked two in defeat, while James walked five and struck out six.

Diering led the hitting with his homer and a single for four RBI's. James aided his own cause with a double and single, while Travis Taylor also had a two-bagger and single. George Gantt led the Packers with 3-for-3, while Bill Hunicutt and Clyde Steele each had two hits.

It was Pampa's third straight win, and Panhandle's first loss in their three games.

Ray Howard made his pitching debut for Cabot last night, but a triple by Miami centerfielder Harris brought in the winning run in the bottom of the eighth to spoil it, and give the win to Rider, who gave up eight hits, showed perfect control with no walks and struck out six with his good control and assortment of "slow stuff."

Howard's riser sent 13 Miami batters down on strikes while he walked only one and gave up five hits, but Cabot was plagued by errors and faulty base running which cost them the game, their third straight loss, handing Miami their first win.

Trailing 3-1 in the seventh, Pampa tied it up as Eddie Polinac tripled home two runs, while Jerry Wright sent it into overtime with a leaping catch of a line drive that would have scored the winning run in the bottom of the inning. Wright made several good plays at shortstop to lead the Clowns' fielding, while Harris started in the field for the winners with a tremendous diving catch to rob Howard of an extra base hit in the fourth inning.

Left fielder Sober led the winners with two hits, and third baseman Don Begham had two hits for the Clowns.

A Memorial Day doubleheader at Lions Park has the Pampa Stars meeting Cabot at 7:30 p.m., and the Packers vs. Miami at 9:30. Cabot 0 0 0 0 1 2 0-3 8 Miami 0 0 0 2 1 0 0 1-4 5 Ray Howard and Doug Burris, Rider and A. Daugherty, Pampa 2 0 0 3 2 1-8 9 Panhandle 1 0 0 1 0 2 0-4 9 P. D. James and Harold Diering, Raymond McKinney and George Gantt.

Girls Softball

The Pampa Queens rolled to a 4-15 win over Skellytown as girls' softball made its official debut at Hobart Street Park last night.

The Queens, who had been "blown out" of their opener against Stinnett Monday night by heavy dust storms, took it out on Skellytown pitcher Spencer with a 35-hit assault. Coach Gene Rogers cleared the bench, but everyone on the team kept up the hitting, with a 10-run assault in the second inning, an eight-run attack in the third and 17 more runs in the sixth inning as Spencer, hurt by sloppy fielding, could strike out only one while walking 12. Mary Lou Addison weathered a rugged first frame to roll to the win, striking out five, walking five and giving up 10 hits.

Skellytown took a 4-3 lead at the end of the first inning, but Billie Coble exploded for a bases-loaded homer and followed it up with a three-run four-bagger, aided by Wanda Rogers with another home run. Mary Lou aided her own cause with three hits, while Billie finished off a perfect night at the plate with a single.

The Queens will replay Monday night's unfinished game with Stinnett this coming Monday night at 7:30 at the Hobart Park.

A meeting in Panhandle tonight at Anderson's Cafe at 7:30 has been called by the area girls' team coaches to form a league.

Robin Roberts Leads Birds On

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer

There's still a lot of the whiz kid left in Robin Roberts.

It's a long 13 years since the veteran right-hander led a young Philadelphia team to the National League pennant, and some of the old speed is gone now. But the comeback pitcher of 1962 seems determined to make the Baltimore Orioles the comeback team of 1963.

The Orioles, who finished a disappointing seventh last year after being tabbed as a prime contender for the American League pennant, are taking care to make no mistakes this time around. And Roberts is one of the big reasons they own a bulging 3½-game lead over the second-place New York Yankees today.

Roberts, now 36 years old and relying more on craft than speed, registered his fourth straight victory Tuesday night as Baltimore turned back the Kansas City Athletics, 4-2. It was the Orioles' ninth straight win and their 14th in their last 15 games since Roberts touched off the streak May 14.

All In Fifth
Baltimore scored all its runs in the fifth inning when John Orsino singled, moved to second on Roberts' sacrifice and scored on Luis Aparicio's double. Jerry Adair followed with an infield hit and Al Smith drove in three runs with his seventh homer.

Roberts, who lost his first four games this year, pitched shutout ball for seven innings but tired in the eighth and needed relief from Dean Stone and Stu Miller. Roberts left immediately after the game for Springfield, Ill., to attend the funeral of his father, who died Sunday.

Yankees Lose
In other American League contests, the Boston Red Sox walked the Yankees, 11-6, the Minnesota Twins extended their winning streak to eight games by beating the Washington Senators, 6-3, the Cleveland Indians nipped the Chicago White Sox, 3-2, and the Detroit Tigers defeated the Los Angeles Angels, 3-1.

Collect 15 Hits
The Red Sox slugged five New York pitchers for 15 hits, including two-run homers by Gary Geiger and Lou Clinton. Geiger also collected two singles as he boosted his batting average to .390. Bill Monbouquette gave up home runs to Clete Boyer and Tony Kubek but gained credit for his sixth victory in 10 decisions with ninth-inning help from Dick Radatz.

A two-out three-run homer in the ninth inning by Bob Allison gave the Twins their win after the Senators had tied the score in their half of the ninth with three runs, including a two-run homer by Don Lock. Jim Kaat went the distance for Minnesota and struck out 11 batters to even his record at 4-4.

Ted Abernathy, making his first appearance for the Indians, got Nellie Fox to line into a game-ending double play in the ninth inning to save the victory for starter Jack Kravick and enable Cleveland to snap a five-game losing streak. Max Alvis' double in the sixth inning drove in the winning run.

Mickey Lolich went all the way for Detroit, giving up eight hits and walking only one batter, to register his first major league triumph. The lone Angel run was unearned. Big blow for the Tigers was a two-run homer by Dick McAuliffe in the sixth inning.

AAU Gets Mac Back Into Feud

NEW YORK — Gen. MacArthur has been called back into the sports war between the AAU and the college-backed U.S. Track Federation.

AAU President Louis J. Fisher said Tuesday he has written the general that the college group has shown a lack of spirit of fair-play and is confusing athletes.

MacArthur, at the request of President Kennedy, recently patched up an agreement between the AAU which has long controlled amateur sports in this country and the college federation.

Fisher said the federation which is sponsored by the NCAA had continued to advise its college members to withdraw from the AAU and refuse to lend facilities to AAU meets.

The AAU president also charged "a paid employee of the NCAA sabotaged a proposed track and field meet in San Jose Calif."

Fisher said the employee whom he refused to identify had demanded the meet get college sanction. It was to be held at a San Jose high school.

A spokesman for Gen. MacArthur said the general was not immediately available for comment.

MacArthur brought the two sides together at a meeting here and ruled that the federation would control college track and the AAU would continue control over open competition. He also said he would arbitrate any dispute between the two groups.

The makeup of the American team which will tour Russia in July and the 1964 Olympic team are threatened by the dispute.

Some colleges have interpreted NCAA instructions as telling them to keep their athletes out of the AAU national championships at St. Louis June 21-22.

The team for Russia will be picked there.

Manhattan an eastern track power has already decided to compete in the AAU nationals. Ken Norton Manhattan athletic director said the situation was so confused he intended to go along as he had in the past and allow his athletes to run.

Koufax' Return Makes LA Pick

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax, who made such a big difference last year, is making it again this year, and that difference could amount to $200,000 for the elated Los Angeles Dodgers.

The San Francisco Giants picked up approximately that sum for appearing in the 1962 World Series, and the Dodgers can count on at least that much and maybe even more if they win the National League pennant this year.

Baseball men generally agree the chief reason the Dodgers did not win last season was because Koufax was forced to the sidelines with a finger ailment in July. Sandy's record was 14-4 at the time and he never won another game.

The hard-throwing 27-year-old southpaw has a funny notion about his injury of last year. He figures he owes the Dodgers a pennant.

Shuts Out Braves
Koufax paid another installment Tuesday night when he blanked the Milwaukee Braves, 7-0, on six hits to boost the Dodgers within one game of first place.

Sandy lowered his earned run average to 1.31 in posting his fourth shutout and seventh victory against two losses. That puts him even slightly ahead of last

Jack, Player Card 68s In 'Golf Day'

DALLAS (UPI)—Gary Player, who played "catch up" against National Open champion Jack Nicklaus all day in their National Golf Day "round of champions" Tuesday, thinks a 7-under-par 277 would successfully defend his PGA crown here in July's searing heat.

Player snaked in long pressure putts on the final hole of each nine Tuesday to finish all even with Nicklaus as each carried three-under-par 35-33-68 over the 7,000-yard DAC Country Club layout although they were playing the par 36-35-71 course blind.

"Of course, we caught the course at its best today," the little South African said after the round which saw him card six birdies but offset three of them with a double bogey and a bogey.

"I think a 277 will be good enough to win the PGA," he said. "They'll toughen it up for sure before the PGA (July 15-21)," he added. "And besides, the weather was ideal (humid mid-80s); no one had tromped the greens ahead of us and the putting surfaces were perfect. I hear it gets well into the 100s here by mid-July."

Both Player and Nicklaus could brag a bit about their putting as they set the target at which golfers by the thousands fired last week in attempting to win "I beat Nicklaus-Player" badges. These competitors, aided by handicaps, paid $1 each to go into the National Golf Fund. Another $3,000 paid to see Tuesday's duel.

Four Pampa Golfers Win

Four of 31 Pampa players competing "beat the champs," reported Dale Taylor, assistant pro at the Pampa Country Club. Taylor also reported that there were 17 competitors left who had not yet turned in their scores.

Top local scorer was Jack Foster who shot a par-71 with his four handicap giving him a 67, one stroke under Nicklaus and a Player. Scott Hall shot a 72 with a five handicap, also good for a 67.

Mrs. Ruby Houston finished with a 61 as she carded an 85 minus her regular 17-stroke handicap and the seven strokes extra given ladies in this contest. Mrs. Dorothy Thompson slipped in under the wire with a 92 minus an 18 handicap and the seven stroke bonus for a 67 net.

Last year 51 local golfers entered and 41 "beat the champs" as Gene Littler and Jay Hebert both shot over-par 76s.

Ears To Read With

In a revealing and moving ceremony at the White House on May 28th, President Kennedy presented $500 awards to each of four sightless college students for "outstanding scholastic achievement."

This occasion revealed, for one thing, that these blind young people — of whom there are about 1,100 now in college and 1,000 more in senior high school preparing for higher education — are really tougher, smarter, less dependent and spiritually more alive than many of those with normal sight. They don't want to be coddled.

In marking the twelfth anniversary of Recording for the Blind, Inc., sponsor of the awards, the White House formally also revealed a too-little-known organization that has made it possible for these courageous young people to tackle and conquer the most difficult courses.

Of the four honorees of 1963, one, Patrick Peppi, graduates from Harvard with a BA degree and a B-plus average. Another, Henry Fidler, is graduating BA in the top five per cent of his class at Bucknell University. The third, Charles Edward Vaughn, elected to Phi Beta Kappa as an undergraduate, wins his Bachelor of Divinity degree from the Union Theological Seminary. The fourth, Jean Holland Van Ormer, is vice-president of Pi Gamma Mu, honor society of Pi Gamma Mu, honor society of Dickinson College with four A's and two B's.

Such scholastic performance is possible for students in the dark because, thanks to Recording for the Blind, they can "read with their ears." This non-profit organization and its 2,000 volunteer readers provide free recorded text books to about 2,500 students. Its library now lists about 5,500 titles, with a total of over 35,000 copies, covering every field of study and seven languages including Russian. If a blind student needs a book not yet recorded, he has only to ask for it—free.

And this incident should reveal to employers that those committed to lifelong darkness who can accept the challenge of life with eagerness and find the courage to attain full stature in personal, professional and social life, bring to their jobs an inner light that shines upon all that they do.

Solons Ready for Peace

Mary Ludwig Hays, better known to posterity by her nickname of "Molly Pitcher," probably had a shiny nose when she was carrying water to her husband's artillery battalion at the Battle of Monmouth. And it may have been red as a beet, even peeling, since it was a mighty hot day on June 28, 1778. In fact, the reason she dropped her pitcher and manned her husband's gun during the battle was not because he'd been wounded, but because he'd been overcome by the heat.

Ever since then, American women have bravely sought to help their men win the Nation's battles. During WWII, when Congress passed the emergency wartime 20 per cent "luxury" tax on toilet preparations and handbags (among other things) the girls were proud to accept the shiny nose and the beaten-up handbag as badges of patriotism. But, when President Truman proclaimed the end of hostilities on December 31, 1946, they were ready to put on some tax-free powder and lipstick and buy a shiny, new handbag and celebrate Victory too!

So what happened? Nothing happened — until 1954 when a half-year gallant Congress cut these taxes back to ten per cent where, as every fuming female knows, they still remain! Thus, so far as the women are concerned, the war is still on. The front has merely been moved from Europe and the Pacific to Washington.

But there are those in Congress who will admit a woman needs a handbag just as a man needs pants pockets; who know that a working woman must be presentable, that all women want to be, and that none should be taxed for it—nearly 18 years after the excuse has ended. There are a dozen bills now pending to correct these abuses and we may be reasonably sure that if and when any of these is reported out by the committees that are sitting on them, no lawmaker will be so unchivalrous (or so reckless) as to vote against it.

Before the sun gets any hotter, and noses start peeling, the modern Molly Pitchers should train their guns on our own Congressman and both Senators in Washington. These gentlemen might well be reminded that World War II is over — and that their continued inaction threatens to start another one!

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question:

Sometime ago we received a question from a reader who wanted to know the basis for a remark made by Secretary of Labor Wirtz in an April address, in which he claimed an enormously high rate of illiteracy among men rejected for military service in current draft procedures.

It has taken considerable time to gather the information. Even now, the information is far from conclusive because the figures provided by the Bureau of the Census, and the Department of Labor are not necessarily comparable statistics.

According to the figures from the Bureau of the Census, the illiteracy rate in the United States has been dropping steadily since the beginning of the government school system.

But the figures are not based on tests which determine whether or not a person can read or write, but relate only to the length of time persons spend in formal educational institutions. Hence, they are not truly figures which relate to literacy or illiteracy, but have to do rather with school attendance.

Figures from the Department of Labor relate more specifically to the numbers of untrained and unskilled workers in relation to job availabilities and hence are not comparable for job availabilities.

Possibly the best answer is to quote from Secretary of Labor Wirtz's talk directly. He said, in part:

"This year, one and a half million youngsters — including both dropouts and those with high school diplomas — will enter the work force. By 1964 this figure will be for over two million. These will be, for the most part, unskilled workers — going into a job market in which the proportion of unskilled jobs is decreasing every year and in which the jobs of this kind which do exist are being seized upon by older workers who have themselves been displaced by machines."

"It is another measure of what is involved here that 43 per cent of our youth are rejected for military service. Of those who are rejected 38 per cent are turned aside for what is euphemistically called 'reading deficiencies' — the good old fashioned word is illiteracy. (Emphasis is that of Secretary Wirtz.) It is a harsh fact that 13 per cent of those who are found completely or partially illiterate are high school graduates."

It would seem, on the strength of the Secretary's observations that the census figures are not a reliable guide to the banishment of illiteracy in the land since high school attendance is presumed in the census figures to have banished illiteracy when in fact, if the Secretary is correct, some 13 per cent of high school graduates are still illiterate.

Thus, as of 1960 there were 30,965,797 persons in the United States who had completed four years of high school. If 13 per cent of these persons were still illiterate, that means that more than four million high school grads are still unable to read and write.

The official illiteracy estimates of the Bureau of the Census place the total illiterate population at 3,055,000 which would, of course, include those who had not completed the four years in high school.

The discrepancy cannot be rectified on the basis of facts available at this time.

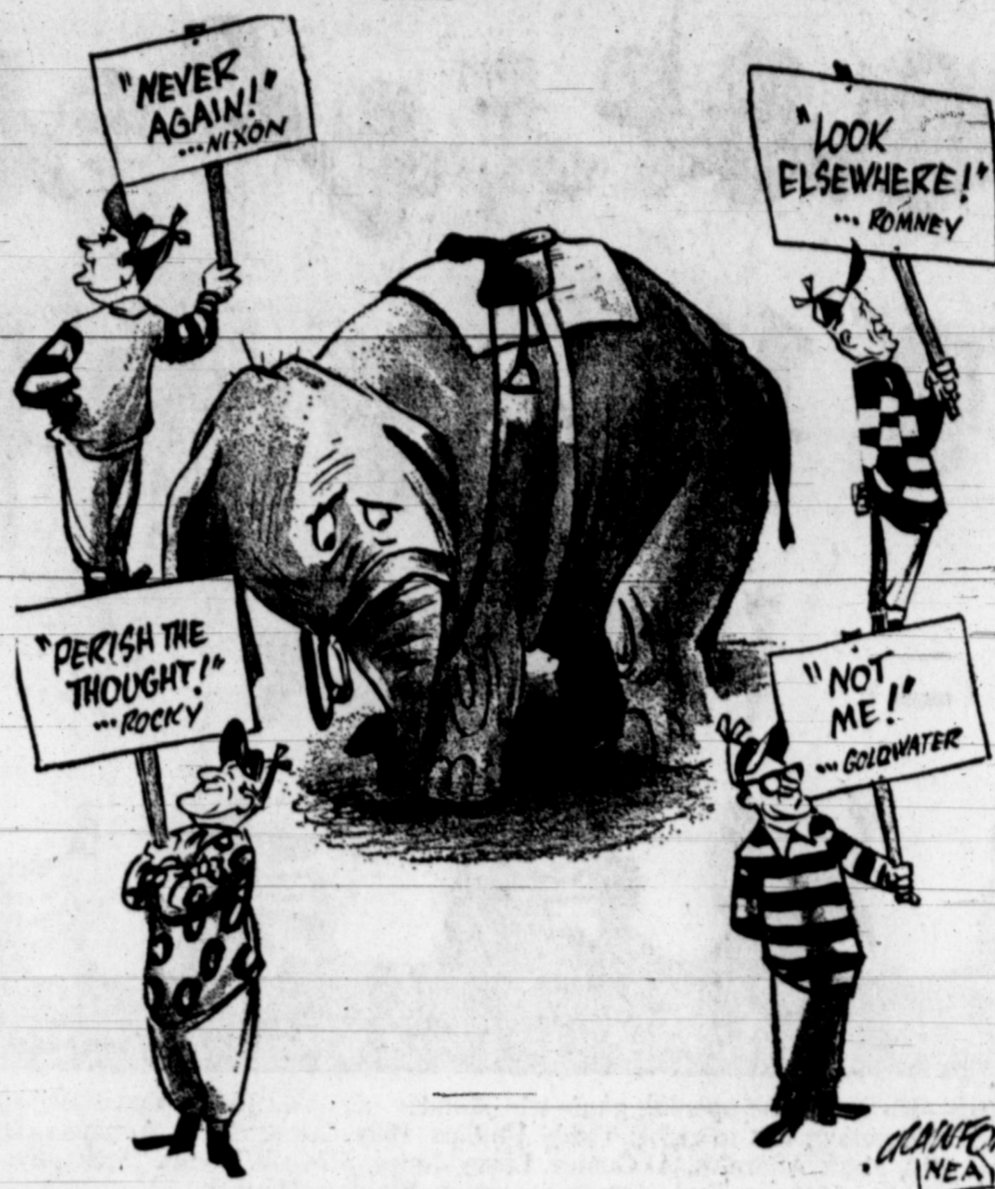

All that can be known for certain is that high school training by itself is not a guide by means of which it can be learned who is and who is not illiterate. It can also be stated that a government school system on which so many billions have been spent which cannot eradicate illiteracy, even after 12 years of formal training, must have some defects within it. Probably the truth is that no possible system of training could completely educate those who are not educable.

Perhaps we should awaken to the fact that the Jeffersonian ideal of a population wholly literate is simply not attainable at the present time under present methods.

What would be instructive at this time would be figures (not available) which reveal the numbers of illiterate persons playing major roles in electing our political leaders.

It is safe to assume that a nation where the franchise has been as broadly extended as is true in our case, will have among the most active users of this franchise those whose skills include little more than the ability to mark an X at the place on the ballot they have been told is the right place for them to make the mark.

You are wrong if you think the efficient and attentive airline stewardess marries the handsome pilot or one of the young successful businessmen who ride the planes — no, she marries the boy back home. This information we picked up from United Air Lines, which annually hire 900 young women, between the ages of 20 and 27, to maintain their full complement of 2300 stewardesses. Most of the girls who work in the skies come from the business world and the balance right after they leave college. A large number leave after six months, 90 per cent to get married. You don't have to be a beauty queen to qualify as a stewardess, but being good-looking won't hurt. The airlines look for and select intelligent girls, who first must like people, have tact, patience and understanding. The candidates then go to a Stewardess College, maintained by the company, for a training course of some weeks, to learn their duties. Usually 3 or 4 of them share an apartment, but when away from their home base their living expenses are taken care of by the company.

The American Way

OUR FREEDOM CONTRACT

By Harry T. Everingham President of "We, The People"

"Not one American in a hundred has ever read the Constitution of the United States. Yet that is his prime protection for his personal freedom which is the source of his prosperity, security and happiness."

Not one American in a thousand has ever studied his Constitution to understand how it limits the Federal Government by checks and balances to prevent any group of politicians from gaining too much power over his life. Yet this is the source of our power as a nation and our independence and prosperity as a people.

Not one American in five thousand seems to know that Fabian socialists in our government for the past 30 years have been working to destroy our Constitutional form of government and our free enterprise system which resulted from it, in order to create a socialist "welfare state," with a planned economy where they will be "the planners," the ruling class.

Violating Constitution One of our greatest statesmen, Senator Robert Taft once said, "The whole trouble with the New Dealers is that they believe that whatever they desire the (Supreme) Court should hold to be Constitutional. They do not care what happens to the fundamental principles on which this country was founded. Most of them would be willing to abolish the states and turn over all local government to federal control. All of them favor the delegation of legislative power to the President and seem to forget that this was the first step in the growth of autocracy in Germany and Italy."

The Constitution provides that the Congress pass the laws, control tariffs, taxes and Federal spending through appropriation bills. The Fabian socialists seek to take all of these powers away from Congress and give them to the President, which would give him dictatorial power. They have already succeeded in accomplishing much of this through the Federal Reserve, such as the Department of Agriculture, which have created laws by regulation and by edict in open violation of the Constitution.

Supreme Court Packed In the Judicial branch of our government, the Supreme Court has been packed with political appointees for years. Thus, most of the Supreme Court justices today favor Fabian socialism and uphold the unconstitutional acts of the socialists in the executive branch.

You tell the average American this and he shrugs his shoulders indifferently and says, "I don't want to get involved." He is very unlike the original patriots who founded our republic and said, "And for the support of this (cause), with a firm reliance upon the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."

Another great patriot, Dr. Chas. S. Poling of Arizona, says, "Our present-day apathy presents a frightening spectacle. In this year of our Lord 1962, we have people who claim all the benefits and protections of our Constitution and freedoms, going about the country speaking in our churches, schools and on our university campuses, who openly express contempt for our flag, the symbol of our liberty and sacred charter; subversives and foreign agents, insulting and sneering at our duly constituted Congressional committees and courts invoking protection for their acts of treason through an amendment to the Constitution they hope to destroy."

If we can get just 10 per cent of the American people to become aroused from their apathy, informed on their Constitution and dedicated to its protection, we can still save our Constitutional form of government — so necessary to our individual freedom, private property, national independence and our opportunity for individual prosperity, security and happiness.

Between the Bookends

2500 SCRAPS OF PAPER The American people have lately begun to wonder why our government continues to enter into agreements with the Soviet Union — when that nation has so consistently violated its promises.

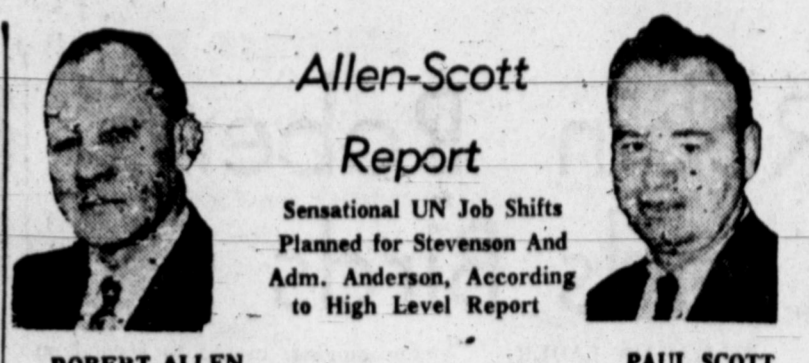

A scholarly book by Jan F. Triska and Robert M. Slusser, "The Theory, Law and Policy of Soviet Treaties" (Stanford Univ. Press, Palo Alto, Calif.; $10.00), appears to be the first book to record in detail the history of Soviet treaties. The authors announce their purpose as an attempt to understand under what conditions the Soviets might be expected to honor their obligations.

Through international treaties, the Communists have achieved status as a world power, recognition of their imperial empire, credit and aid from other nations. In the 40 years from 1917 to 1957, no less than 2500 such agreements were made. These treaties undoubtedly were largely responsible for lifting the Soviet Union to its present high status.

In the process, the agreements proved useful for the attainment of Soviet tactical objectives. In fact, the Communists have arrogantly proclaimed that every consideration and agreement is subordinate to their dream of a world-wide system of Communist states.

They therefore feel no inhibitions about breaking any previously made agreement that no longer contributes to the fulfillment of that dream.

The book provides a lengthy and detailed record of the 2500 agreements. And while the authors con-

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Ambassador Adlai Stevenson is the hub of a new sensational story going the rounds in inner administration circles.

According to this startling tale, circulating in the highest quarters, President Kennedy is seriously deliberating shifting Stevenson from the United Nations headquarters in New York to the UN office in Geneva — where, it is being said, that post is to be greatly upgraded.

In Stevenson's place as UN Ambassador in New York, goes this remarkable backstage report, will be named Admiral George Anderson, recently dropped as Chief of Naval Operations.

Still another remarkable feature of this blockbuster is that this switching around is wholly agreeable to Stevenson; that he knows all about it and has acquiesced to it.

The eye-popping game of musical chairs, which inevitably would trigger other major changes, reportedly is scheduled to take place in August when Admiral Anderson relinquishes his place as a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to Admiral David McDonald, a commander of U.S. Naval Forces in Europe.

The President is weighing this extraordinary plan, it is said; for two reasons:

To reorganize his international negotiating team in preparation for next year's torrid election battle, and to strengthen his position in Congress, where key leaders are increasingly critical of Defense Secretary McNamara's repeated overruling of military authorities on major issues.

Latest reverberating instance of this was replacing Anderson as chief of naval operations because of his outspoken disapproval of McNamara's decision on the TFX fighter plane and plans for a sweeping reorganization of the Navy.

While giving McNamara a free hand in running the Defense Department and fully supporting him on the TFX and other explosive issues, the President at the same time is going out of his way to express warm regard for Admiral Anderson. Since the announcement of his exit as chief of naval operations, the President has made a point of telling congressional and other callers, "I intend to name Anderson to a very high diplomatic post."

THE STEVENSON STORY—Significant credence is given the astonishing backstage Stevenson story by his surprise appearance before the House Foreign Affairs Committee last week to urge approval of the bill recommended by the President to upgrade this country's representation at the Geneva office of the United Nations.

In discussing proposed changes in the UN Participation Act of 1945, Stevenson disclosed that one White House provision would "make a statutory appointment, subject to Senate confirmation, of the senior U. S. representative in Geneva, which is becoming, along with New York, the major world center for multilateral and conference diplomacy."

Also significant, Stevenson was accompanied before the House committee by Assistant Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland, in charge of international organization affairs. Insiders say he is one of the few officials with whom the President has discussed the Stevenson-Anderson plan.

In response to questions by committee members, Cleveland acknowledged that the legislation sought by the administration, in addition to greatly enhancing the importance of the Geneva representation, would empower the President to make other changes in the State Department and White House without obtaining congressional approval.

This far-reaching new authority is spelled out in two paragraphs as follows: "The President may also appoint from time to time such persons as he may deem necessary to represent the U.S. in organs and agencies of the United Nations without the advice and consent of the Senate."

"The President may designate any officer of the Department of State, whose appointment is subject to confirmation by the Senate, to act, for temporary periods, as the representative of the U.S. in the Security Council of the UN."

STRICTLY BUSINESS—Among White House insiders, the President's relations with Stevenson are characterized as friendly but reserved.

The President is described as regarding highly the 1952-56 Democratic standard-bearer's intellectual ability, integrity and standing with foreign diplomats—but being leery of his judgments.

In other Democratic quarters, notably among Stevenson partisans, it has long been noted that while the President "belatedly" lauded the UN Ambassador, following the critical magazine article about his alleged stand on Cuba, he has never said one word of commendation of the two authors—both close friends of the President.

Admiral Anderson, in addition to having a notable Navy record, has considerable diplomatic experience. He has served on a number of diplomatic — military missions; among them senior U.S. officer of Plans and Operations at NATO, member of the Permanent Joint Canadian-U.S. Defense Board, and the Brazilian-U.S. Defense Commission.

The tall, handsome 54-year-old four-star aviator is a fluent and effective speaker. His view on foreign policy are much more in accord with those of the President than is generally realized.

For example, Anderson agrees fully with the White House view that neither the U.S. nor Russia can win a nuclear war, and that untiring efforts should be made to reach a disarmament accord as long as it includes adequate inspection provisions.

INSIDE STORY — Major General Chester Clifton, military aide of the President, pulled a blooper on the announcement that General Curtis LeMay was being given only a one-year extension of his term as Air Force Chief of Staff. Actually, the President and Secretary McNamara were still considering this matter. The President proposed continuing LeMay on the Joint Chiefs for another year, and McNamara wanted to reduce it to six months. General Clifton, in the belief the President's view was final, announced the one-year extension — much to the surprise of the President and McNamara. McNamara also was miffed by Clifton's snafu. Arthur Caldwell, leader of the Australian Labor party, whose great grandfather fought for the Union in the Civil War, is coming to Washington next month to confer with President Kennedy on defense and economic problems. Caldwell is doing this at the President's invitation. Caldwell may be the next Prime Minister of Australia. Prime Minister Robert Menzies is holding office by a one-vote margin. Josef Cardinal Mindszenty's departure from the U.S. embassy in Budapest, where he has been in refuge for years, is dependent on two assurances: (1) That he will be allowed to return to Hungary after visiting Rome; (2) that all imprisoned Catholic bishops and priests be released by the Communist regime. The Kadar government has offered safe passage out of Hungary to Mindszenty and has agreed to release all but 20 of the clergy. But so far, the Reds have balked at granting Mindszenty's demand that he be allowed to come back to Hungary after a stay at the Vatican.

New wallpapers are authentically detailed designs catering to the special interests and hobbies of youngsters. Either the sports car layout on the left or the tackroom revival on the right could be used in family room as well as children's room.

Wallpaper Can Reflect Interest Of Youngster

By KAY SHIRWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Special interests of boys and girls as reflected in peppy new wallpaper designs suggest an easy way to individualize a youngster's hideaway or the family room.

Both the growing numbers of children and their growing interest in hobbies have encouraged designers to branch out. Samples of the papers reviewed by my in-home test panel (one sports car model builder and a girl interested in horses) provoked praise on one point in particular—the authenticity of the designs. Literal-minded builders pick out the marquee symbols of the Ferrari, Alfa Romeo, MG and Corvette cars, the detailed (and accurate) blueprints traced on the background.

The crops, bits, stirrups and such hanging on the walls of the tackroom print likewise are accurately drawn. I think the colors are nice, too. Such special papers probably are too concentrated in their design elements to use on four walls of a room but they could be used as a backdrop on one wall. Companion papers in solid or wood-grained patterns are available. These are prepepped, trimmed and plasticized for washability. I am aware, too, that youthful enthusiasms fade and the dedicated horsewoman of today is the giddy debutante of tomorrow, who is more intent on the jungle of the telephone than the rattle of a curb chain.

point out the difference between friendliness and familiarity? Many of us strongly object to being called "Honey," "Darling," and "Dearie" by salespeople, waitresses and those who serve the public. I know they mean it in friendliness, but I consider it undue familiarity. Let's reserve those terms of endearment for our families and special friends. How about it, Sweetie?

Dear Abby... Take Two Aspirin And Attend Wedding

DEAR ABBY: I used to think some of the letters in your column were too ridiculous to be true, until I found myself with a problem that probably appears just as ridiculous. My husband's sister is 58 and looks every day of it. She taught school for 33 years and never married. This summer she "fell in love" with a widower who must be 60. They will marry in September. She wants a big church wedding, with a white gown and veil, and she's asked my husband to give her away! Now really, Abby! The minister says she is entitled to it. But picture a gray-haired "bride" walking down the aisle on the arm of her brother who is 16 years her junior! We'll be the laughingstock of the community. If we can't talk her out of it, I intend to get a "sick headache" the day of the wedding and stay home. Or am I the one who is crazy?

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion of stretch pants.

DEAR CHARLIE: I think they are more fitting than proper.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please
