Water Rate Amendment Passed On Two Readings

Councilman L. P. Fort's ordinance providing for summer water rate for customers with lawns was passed by the City Commission on first reading last night.

Argentinean Military Starts Anti-Red Revolt

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Rebel Argentine military officers proclaimed a revolt today to block what they termed a threatened Communist takeover, but the government sided with the army.

The Defense Ministry described the political dissidents as retired army and navy officers and the hard anti-Peronists engaged "only in psychological action."

The government declared "absolute calm" in all commands affected. The situation deteriorated sharply with the rebel proclamation of a "national revolution."

Rebel broadcasts identified ages, retired Lt. Gen. Benjamin Mendez as "commander in chief of the revolution." A radio call to the rebels was made by a general who was wounded by gunmen who shot past his home.

Anti-Peron Action

The rebellion appeared to be an attempt to block the government's plan to allow supporters of ousted former President Juan D. Peron to participate in Brazilian elections scheduled for June 25. Brazilian Communists have supported Peronist candidates in past elections.

In radio broadcasts the rebels threatened to bomb the military college near the country army base at Camp del Mavp just outside Buenos Aires unless the students surrender.

A government statement said the rebels should not be allowed. As one point civilians were ordered evacuated from the Casa Rosada (White House) and cavalry reinforcements moved into position around the building, but 20 minutes later the evacuation order was canceled.

The rebellion was the second in Latin America within 48 hours. The military took over the government of Guatemala on Sunday in a coup that sent President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes into exile.

Troops on Move

Rebel forces were reported on the move on the Rio Negro. Marine units were reported marching toward the port city of Bahia Blanca, described as one of the rebels' immediate objectives.

most be read at three separate times. Following last night's meeting in special session at 9 a. m. today and passed the legislation on second reading. The vote each time was unanimous.

Commissioner Will Graham was absent. The third reading of the ordinance is scheduled for next Tuesday, the final meeting of the present commission.

The legislation amends Ordinance No. 383 passed and approved May 2, 1958.

The new rate which would also apply to churches and schools would give consumers the first 7,000 gallons at a flat price of $7.75. The next 13,000 gallons would be at the rate of 35 cents per thousand gallons. All water used over 20,000 gallons would be charged at the same rate now in effect under the present ordinance.

The present rate ordinance makes a flat charge of $2.60 for the first 1,000 gallons and 30 cents per thousand for the next 16,000 gallons.

A residential consumer who uses 20,000 gallons of water per month would pay $10.60 under the present rate schedule. Under Fort's amendment the bill for the same amount of water would be $9.75. Consumers wishing to take advantage of the new rate would have to file written applications.

The proposed rate ordinance in Pampa's water rates 30 to 50 percent more than those at the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, but not mentioned last night.

It has had two readings and was passed on both of them. Then it hit a snag and never reached the floor.

Mayor Authorized To Pick Contract Dispute Arbiter

The City Commission in a special meeting this morning authorized Mayor E. C. Sidwell to name an arbiter to settle a contract dispute with the Brady-Emms Construction Co. of Amarillo over a $229,000 sewer contract in 1960-61.

The dispute involves the requested payment of $5,921.26 for work which Brady Emms says was performed in order to complete the job but which was not clearly set out in specifications and for which the company says a result did not submit a high enough bid.

The original contract was for $229,000 for the job in January of 1962.

Letter agreements having been made, Mayor Sidwell will appoint one arbiter, the construction company will appoint one, and these two will select a third.

Soviets Launch Rocket To Moon, 'Going Normally'

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today launched a space rocket destined for the moon, the official news agency Tass announced.

Tass said the final stage of the rocket follows the pre-set trajectory of the flight.

It said the automatic station "moon-4," weighing 1.22 kilograms (2.130 pounds) is installed aboard the rocket. The automatic station is expected to reach the area of the moon in three and a half days.

Tass said all apparatus aboard the automatic station is functioning normally.

It was the second unmanned space launch from the Soviet Union this year. Last month, Cosmos 12, an unmanned Sputnik which went into an earth orbit.

Moscow radio said the last stage of the rocket was put into an intermediate orbit and from there was sent toward the moon.

The final stage of the rocket was preliminarily set in an intermediate orbit of the earth's manifold, then was launched and emerged into the pre-set trajectory of the flight.

Officer Confesses To Assassination Of Red Minister

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — A corporal of the Lannan nationalist force has been arrested and confessed to the assassination of Pro-Communist Foreign Minister Quim Pholsena, it was announced today.

Pholsena's wife was killed by a burst of machine gun fire as she and his wife stepped from a car in front of their home here Monday night, threatened to upset the shaky three-way coalition government and set off a new crisis in this Southeast Asian kingdom.

Pholsena's wife was wounded seriously in both legs.

The assassin was identified as a Communist army commander, Singh, said King Kong 26, one of the night guards at Pholsena's residence.

Singh said King confessed the assassination and pointed him as saying he killed Pholsena deliberately although no motive was given. King was kept in custody of the nationalists pending completion of an investigation.

The foreign minister was the leader of a dissident pro-Communist group of the nationalist faction sharing the government with right-wing and Communist factions.

Quim Pholsena's group had been suspected of organizing two previous political assassinations in the last three months and shooting down an American supply plane late last November.

His death was expected to heighten the factional rivalry which erupted in civil war in 1960 and led to a truce last year on December by a Hanoi Geneva agreement.

Intelligence sources said Quim Pholsena and his wife were returning from a party in honor of King Savang Vatthana when the shooting occurred.

Mayor Hopes People Will Be Kept Advised

Mayor E. C. Sidwell last night urged the next city commission to cooperate with news media and keep the people advised of what is going on at City Hall.

He slashed out at what he termed "closed door meetings" and "handful selfish powers, have not been in our scheme of things. We would never subscribe to a Pen depress operation at City Hall.

The mayor, in a statement issued at his next to last meeting as a member of the city commission, said he was amazed at the advertisement in Sunday's Pampa News urging that City Hall "be kept out of the headlines."

In the statement he implied that most of the headlines reproduced in the ad were the result of last year's recall attempt, instigated by "selfish individuals."

The mayor released this statement for publication:

"I was much amazed to see the ad in Sunday's paper in which candidates for mayor and city commission captioned 'Keep City Hall Out of the Headlines.' I deem this statement very captions covering headlines written the past two years pertaining to city affairs. There were also statements and propoganda that the present commission had been somewhat of a milestone on Pampa's progress and that Pampa needed harmony in city affairs regardless of the cost."

"When selfish individuals create and propogate a recall such as was being formulated one year ago at this time, then use under-

Cuban Raiders Claim They Were Betrayed

NASSAU, Bahamas (UPI) — A Florida lighter against Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro charged Monday night that he and 16 Cuban commandos arrested by a British force in the Bahamas were betrayed — probably by an American.

Jerry Buchanan, 24, of Miami Fla., said the police who arrested the 17 on Norman Key Sunday were tipped off three days in advance of the way to raid the shores of Cuba.

Buchanan said a second group of raiders, apparently suspecting the betrayal, veered away from the island 80 miles southeast of here and escaped. He said they are 40 miles off Cuba, "waiting to attack."

Buchanan said he and his companions believe they were turned in by an American.

"We have a good idea who," he said. "We'll find out."

Cuban fugitive reports that a U.S. Navy patrol plane alerted Bahama authorities have been denied in Washington.

Buchanan, the only American among the captives, was flown here when he demanded to see the U.S. consul. He was taken before a magistrate here Monday and then released, "because apparently we have not done anything illegal."

The Cuban captives were expected here today aboard the freighter Londoner, flagship of the commando commanding British naval forces in the West Indies.

A 30-foot cruiser with British naval officers aboard arrived here Monday night. Informed observers said it was probably the Violin III, the boat in which the would-be raiders were captured.

April Showers Due In Texas

Cloudy skies with an excellent chance of thunder showers or thunderstorms ruled the Texas weather picture today.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said it expected cooler air and more precipitation to spread eastward tonight and Wednesday.

April showers were reported in the northeast quarter of the state at daybreak and southerly winds were increasing. These strong winds were due to shift to westerly or northwesterly and diminish in strength by Wednesday.

The equipment consisted of two casting rods, two reels, a trout line and two life preserver boat cushions.

Thfts Follow The Season

Police said today they were sure about the fishing season. They based the conclusion on a theft reported yesterday by Joe Keel, 120 S. Faulkner.

Keel said that sometime during the last two or three days someone entered his garage and stole fishing gear worth approximately $100.

The equipment consisted of two casting rods, two reels, a trout line and two life preserver boat cushions.

Unusual Request Comes In Message To Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy, faced with a costly unmet step today of cutting $120 million from his foreign aid request. He also promised stricter standards and more thrift in the aid program.

Kennedy, who had asked for $19 billion in new funds in his January budget, cut that figure to $1.5 billion in a special foreign aid message to the lawmakers.

Officials said that this coupled with carryover funds would result in actual aid spending of $4.5 billion. The figure would have come to $5.1 billion under Kennedy's earlier request.

Kennedy adopted many of the recommendations for tightening up aid made to him last month by a citizens' committee headed by retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

In a new proposal to spur economic development overseas through private channels, the President called for a tax credit for U.S. taxpayers who invest in developing countries.

Draws Mixed Reaction

U.S. foreign aid officials could recall no case in recent years in which a President substantially cut his own foreign aid request before Congress considered it.

Kennedy's proposals drew a mixed reaction from Congress. Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he thought the message would be "received with considerable approval."

But Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee which handles the aid bill, said that "it would be one of the wealthiest men in the world."

Kennedy said his proposed cut would come partly from $280 million in economic aid funds not spent this year and from "a number of reductions" in the earlier budget estimates for military and economic aid to certain countries that can be made "without serious damage to the national interest."

Makes Specific Pledges

The President made these specific pledges for tightening up aid:

— To apply "stricter standards of selectivity and self-help" as a condition for receiving aid, a post-stressed by the Clay Committee.

Mayors Flocking To The Polls In Today's Election

Reports shortly before noon today indicated a heavy vote was being cast in Pampa's city election to choose a mayor and four ward councilmen.

Election judges in each of the four precincts said the vote had been ranging from "unusually heavy" to "very heavy."

The election judge at Precinct 1 in City Hall said the ballots were being cast at the rate of about 100 an hour.

He said shortly before the noon hour in the four wards was as follows:

Ward One—340
Ward Two—318
Ward Three—318
Ward Four—302

The voters were making their choice for mayor between H. R. Thompson and Gene Lewis. In Ward 1 the commission's opponents were Dr. Starned M. Dan and Jack Skyles. In Ward 2 it was Jim Naron and Hobar Lathern, and in Ward 3 Leon Holme and R. E. Parsley, and in Ward 4 they were choosing between L. P. Fort and A. L. Trapp.

The polls closed at 8 o'clock this morning and will remain open until 7 p.m.

Election officials indicated the count should be finished and the results known by 9 p.m.

Vandals Wreck Pampa House

Vandals broke into the home of Larry Stokes, 833 N. 7th, in a surprise between Friday morning and Saturday morning, an alleged extensive damage.

Mrs. Stokes said that a Robo reported that her son and his wife were on the city and told April 1 she told police the vandals entered the house by removing a brick wall section. All curtains and shades on the house were torn down and cut a hole. The curtains were torn down a three feet from a closet was cut.

Reckless clothing was torn from the dress and laid on the floor. A boy was cut in a crash.

Mrs. Stokes said that so far she knew nothing had been stole from the house.

Action Taken On Benefits

Council Adopts Resolution On Social Security

Pampa's City Commission last night adopted a resolution urging the U. S. Congress to take immediate permitting members of the Pampa fire department to participate in the federal social security program the same as other city employees.

Pampa's firemen within the past week received refund checks from the Social Security Administration after that body ruled that the firemen and the City had been in error in sending social security payments to Washington on Jan. 1957.

The Social Security Administration ruled that firemen in Texas were not eligible for social security benefits because of the existence of the Texas Citizens' Pension and Relief Fund which made them ineligible to receive social security benefits.

Legislators Say They Will Try To Help Firemen

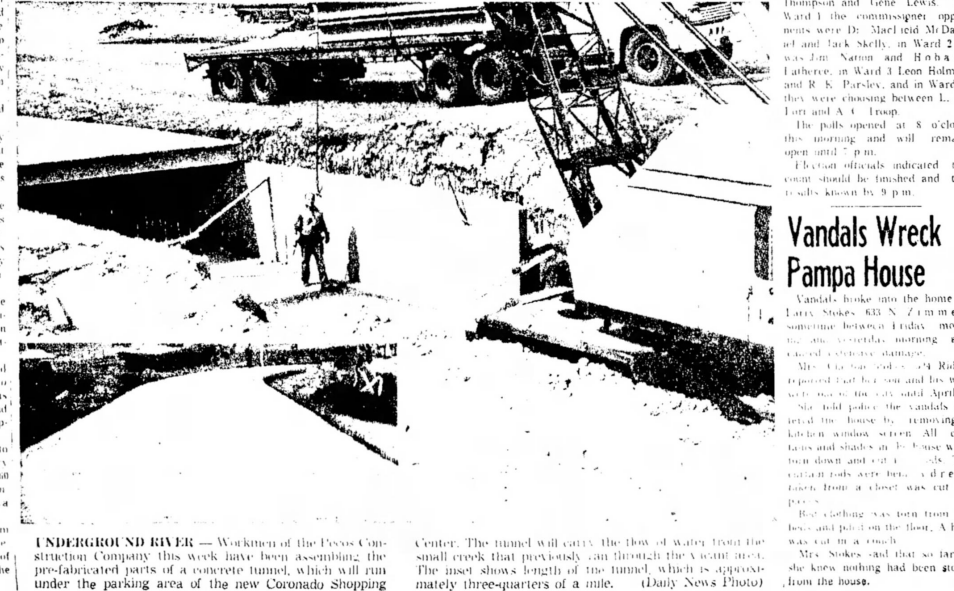

Rep. Chief Ernest Winborne said that he had received replies from Rep. Walter Rogers and Texas Senator John Tower and Ralph Yarborough to a letter sent by Pampa firemen asking that the lawmakers give their assistance in helping Pampa firemen placed under Social Security.

A letter was sent last week to the lawmakers and also to President Kennedy. No reply has yet been received from the President. Chief Winborne said.

The firemen were dropped from Social Security when the Federal officials ruled that payments they had made to the SSA since 1956 were in error because the Texas Citizens' Pension and Relief Fund made them ineligible to receive social security benefits.

The three Texas legislators promised in their letters they would take the matter up with the Social Security Administration and any possible assistance to the Pampa firemen who are not participating in the state fund.

The firemen received approximately $13,000 in social security refunds last week.

UNDERGROUND RIVER — Workers of the Texas Construction Company this week have been assembling the pre-fabricated parts of a concrete tunnel, which will run under the parking area of the new Coronado Shopping Center. The tunnel will carry the flow of water from the small creek that previously ran through the vacant tract. The inset shows length of the tunnel, which is approximately three-quarters of a mile.  The evening star is Mars.
 Those born today include the Danish writer of fairy tales, Hans Christian Andersen in 1805; and French writer Emile Zola, in 1840.
 On this day in history: In 1792, Congress enacted legislation authorizing a mint of the United States to coin money, all coins to be inscribed with the motto, "E Pluribus Unum."
 In 1865, President Jefferson Davis and most of his Confederate cabinet fled Richmond, Va., after Gen. Robert E. Lee abandoned Richmond and Petersburg.
 In 1902, Thomas Tally opened the first moving picture theater in Los Angeles.
 In 1917, before a joint session of Congress, President Woodrow Wilson called for a declaration of war on Germany.

IT'S THE LAW
 in Texas

BILL OF ATTAINDER
 "No bill of Attainder shall be passed by the Congress." Under our Constitution the Congress cannot pass laws penalizing individuals. Instead persons who break laws shall have regular trials.
 This prohibition grew out of the early abuses of Parliament which for example, condemned the Prince of Wales in 1700, accusing him of betraying the King. It declared that he "be convicted and attained of High Treason."
 In other years Parliament charged certain subjects with treason, which sometimes involved merely "saying or speaking" out of line. Often it added "corruption of blood" which meant that the doomed person's heirs could not inherit his estate, Article III, Section 3 of our Constitution also prohibits "corruption of blood."
 The English bills of attainder were often directed against persons who threatened to overthrow the government. Thus, many bills were directed against American colonists. By 1789, grown weary of these excesses, the Americans unambiguously and without debate denied Congress such powers.
 In past years the curb has been applied to Congressional acts which sought to punish groups without trials. After the Civil War, for example, some states prohibited lawyers from using the courts unless they swore that they had been and would continue to be loyal to the United States. The U. S. Supreme Court upset these laws.
 Recently Congress denied salaries to certain federal employees for not cooperating with a Congressional investigation. Again the U. S. Supreme Court struck down this law as a bill of attainder.

REV. GENE MATTHEWS
To speak at conference

Church Slates Conference Wednesday

The Commission on Education of the First Methodist Church is sponsoring the second Workers' Conference of the year Wednesday night in the patio of the educational building.

This conference is designed to help and stimulate all workers in the Church School add present suggestions that will help in the work of Christian education, according to John Winters, Church School superintendent.

Beginning at 7 p.m., this meeting will feature the address of the Rev. Gene Matthews, Conference Youth Director, for the Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Church. The Rev. Matthews will discuss "Evangelism in the Church School."

This presentation will be followed by an informal discussion period in which he will answer questions that the workers might have regarding this vital area of Christian education.

Following the Rev. Matthews' presentation, there will be divisional meetings where needs will be discussed and plans made for the coming year.

This is to be a joint meeting of the Commission on Education and the Workers' Conference. Therefore all members of the Commission on Education are to attend for the Commission meeting as well as to observe the workings of the conference, Winters said.

The Rev. Matthews is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Cecil R. Matthews of Lubbock, who are well-known for their work with students at Texas Tech and through The Methodist Student Center and Wesley Foundation.

After receiving his theological training at Iliff Theological Seminary in Denver, the Rev. ### U.S. Charged With Cuban Port Blocking MOSCOW (UPI)—A Soviet shipper charged today that U.S. warships, bristling with rockets and uncovered guns, recently blocked the passage of his merchant ship to the Cuban port of Bacteron.

Capt. Vladimir Pavlov said that an American destroyer and armed trawler also approached his ship, the Kovrov, which was bound for Cuba to pick up a load of sugar.

He said it was only after a "vigorous protest" on his part that the destroyer and the trawler sailed off and that he was able to proceed to the harbor, followed by other U.S. naval vessels.

His charges were printed this morning in the newspaper "Water Transport." They appeared alongside complaints by another Soviet skipper that his ship, the Turakhansky Shkolov, had been buzzed by U.S. aircraft recently in the Sea of Japan.

The charges were among the

Cancer Drive Is Opened Officially

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy has opened the American Cancer Society fundraising drive by accepting a symbolic volunteer award from a 9-year-old Erie, Pa., girl who has been cured of internal cancer.

The society's poster girl for 1963, Becky DuFord, presented the President the first of an expected two million volunteer awards which will be given to citizens who perform outstanding volunteer work in the cancer fund-raising and educational crusade.

The President said the cancer drive was "deserving of support by all Americans." He added that every time he saw a recovered patient such as young Becky it raised his hopes for increasing progress in the fight against cancer.

After posing for news photographs, the President gave Becky a souvenir bracelet with a charm bearing his name and three White House pens, two of them for the young lady's older sisters.

Internal cancer was first diagnosed in Becky at the age of 11 months. Under steady treatment she was pronounced cured at the age of five.

Walter Rogers Reports

TFX Controversy Will Result In Approval

I predict that when the TFX controversy cools, our very able Secretary of Defense, Robert S. McNamara, will have the support of most Americans in his decision to award the fighter plane contract to General Dynamics Corporation. McNamara's job, under the National Security Act of 1947 establishing the Defense Department, is to provide unified direction and control of our Armed Services. He had full legal authority to make the decision. Few men in the U. S. are as qualified as Secretary McNamara to make a sound decision in a matter so involved in the complexities of industrial production, economics and military needs. In my judgment, no Secretary of Defense during my tenure as Your Congressman has discharged his duties as capably as has Secretary McNamara.

The losing bidder in the TFX case, Boeing Aircraft Corporation, has an outstanding record in designing and manufacturing nuclear-clearance aircraft and weapons systems. Boeing's major error came in its failure to meet the TFX requirements that General Dynamics met well—the requirements set by Secretary McNamara for a tactical fighter aircraft that would serve both the Air Force and Navy. As could be expected, many uniformed officers in the two services favored the Boeing designs because Boeing, in effect, designed two planes—one for the Air Force and one for the Navy. Secretary McNamara sought a single-design aircraft, one that he estimates will save the taxpayers $1 billion, one that will meet the nation's defense needs for years to come. It is the Defense Secretary's job to see that our defenses are maintained in proper balance. Too often, military leaders become locked blindly in positions that would be of advantage only to their single service, not to the general needs of the defense establishment. Too often, they do not give sufficient weight to costs involved.

Too much is being made of the fact that the TFX contract went to a firm that will build the plane in Texas, in Fort Worth. Employment at the Convair plant in Fort Worth will, about double to approximately 15,000 workers. But building modern aircraft is a highly complex manufacturing job and thousands of component parts are needed from suppliers far from the assembly point. When the Convair people at Fort Worth built the B-38 bomber, items for the plane were manufactured in some 40 of the then 48 states. Convair's TFX subcontracts will be similarly diversified. Had Boeing won the job for its plant at Wichita, it too would have spread subcontracts across the nation.

We in the Panhandle have a special interest in the TFX, which the Air Force will designate the F-111 if and when it is approved for full production. I have every reason to believe that the Technical Training School at Amarillo Air Force Base will be assigned the mission of training mechanics and technicians needed to service the new aircraft. This would be in line with the present mission at the Amarillo base.

Washington Notes
At this writing, twenty-seven state legislatures have ratified the anti-poll tax amendment. The 87th Congress submitted it to the states last August, and thirty-eight states must ratify it before it can become the Twenty-Fourth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution. It would cancel the requirement of five states, including Texas, that voters pay a poll tax or other tax before voting for President, Vice President, electors for President or Vice President or for Senators or Representatives in Congress. It is quite possible that ratification will be completed this year so that poll taxes won't be required in 1964 elections.

I was aware, as President Kennedy noted in a recent speech in —although they number less than one-fifth of the labor force. Urge young people you know to stay in school until they are properly trained; the jobless rate is highest among the unskilled.

A resolution introduced in the Congress would set terms of office for Members of the House at four years instead of two years. It's true that the two-year term places a heavy responsibility on Members, some of whom have little opportunity to make a real legislative contribution before their service ends. But I can't support this resolution to amend the Constitution and lengthen the term, and I doubt that very many of my House colleagues will vote for it. Members of the House are close to the people in their districts; they must remain close, and responsive to the will of the people they represent. It is proper that voters have the opportunity every two years to appraise the records of their representatives.

Candy Barr Freed; Plans To Live With Her Parents

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—Bible-reading former strip teaser Candy Barr walked out of the women's unit of the state prison on parole Monday and began a new life as a farm girl.

Miss Barr, whose real name is Juanita Phillips, was scheduled to collect $9,400 in back wages from a Dallas club proprietor.

Candy has been in prison since December, 1958, serving a 15-year term for possession of marijuana. Dallas police found the narcotic hidden in her ample bosom in 1958.

She plans to join her parents in the Jackson County town of Edna, pardons board member Pat Bullock said.

Originally, Candy said she wanted to go to California to join her husband, Jack Sahakian, a Los Angeles beautician, and her 8-year-old son by a previous marriage.

Bullock said the plan she submitted for the board's approval would keep her in Texas. If she changes her mind and asks to go to California, she will have to get permission from the board and from California authorities.

Slogan and motto of the State of Indiana is "Crossroad of America."

Mrs. A. T. Carleton of Houston, state president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, enroute to the Top of Texas District convention of TFWC in Amarillo, which is in session today and Wednesday, spent the weekend in Pampa with her sister, Mrs. W. G. Cunningham, 429 Faulkner.

Mrs. Carleton is to be the guest of honor and luncheon speaker at the convention luncheon tomorrow in the Holiday West Inn in Amarillo. She will speak on subjects relating to the state theme, "New Dimensions In Search For Growth."

The state president, installed on May 1, 1962 at the state meeting held in San Antonio for a term of two years, is stressing increase in membership through growth increase in libraries and books on the shelves of libraries and more book mobiles.

She expressed pride in the recent opening and dedication of a new library in Silsbee, which was started under the leadership of the federated clubwomen there and which stimulated the interest and cooperation of the community as a whole.

Included in her talk tomorrow, will be a special invitation to federated club women in the Top Of Texas area to attend the state convention to be held in the Baker Hotel in Dallas on May 12-15.

Mrs. Carleton has 1,068 clubs, comprised of 75,000 clubwomen under her leadership. Since taking office, has to date, attended 12 district conventions in her 14-district tour.

Taking along an attractive wardrobe for her trips poses no problem for the personable president, who travels and loves it! She wears basic dresses, which she glamorizes with her "weaknesses," pretty hats, shoes and jewelry.

In her "spare time," she conducts an Income Tax Service and is the widow of a Houston attorney. She began federated club work in 1928 and in 1942 began working on the state level. Both on the local, district and state level she has held all the offices leading up to that of state president of a group of women, who are influential assets to the communities in which they are organized.

The pressbook, compiled by Mrs. Wynne Veale, pressbook chairman, won first place, with San Antonio second and Odessa third.

It was announced that the 1964 state convention will be held in Odessa.

Mrs. R. L. Desmuke, state president, who was a guest in Pampa in November, was the presiding officer. Miss Loretta Doerr of New Orleans, national president, was a special guest.

Among the speakers at the day-long session were Astronaut John Roberts; Glen Fletcher, deputy superintendent of Houston schools; Mayor Lewis Cutrer, Dr. John McFarland, superintendent of Houston schools and principal speaker, Dr. Arvin M. Donner, dean of the University of Houston College of Education.

Included in the activities was a luncheon at noon; a tour of the city; a style show at Foley's and a banquet in the Sheraton's Starlight Room.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am about to become a father for the first time. A friend of mine told me that he was present in the delivery room when his wife gave birth to their child. I would like to witness the birth of our child, also, and my wife is all for it. Our problem is that we are now having trouble with her doctor. He tells us that he does not allow fathers in the delivery room. I have asked my wife to change to a doctor who will permit it, but she is afraid to change doctors now as she is in her eighth month. Does her doctor have the right to deny me the privilege of seeing my child born? I think BOTH creators should be on hand at this time.

FATHER-TO-BE
DEAR FATHER: The decision is up to your doctor and the hospital policy-makers. You should have taken this into consideration when your wife selected her doctor. Having failed to do this, be content to let your wife deliver her baby with only ONE "creator" on hand.

DEAR ABBY: In your column you had a letter from a writer who called her neighbor "Mrs. Thatchroof". My hobby is collecting unusual surnames, and Thatchroof is one I've never heard of. Was that really the neighbor's name? Or did you make it up? I have in my collection such names as Beaglehole, Blackmonster, Endfinger, Beakiron, Easterday, Rakestraw, Twelvetees, Sourwine and Cakebread.

SURNAME COLLECTOR
DEAR COLLECTOR: The writer referred to her neighbor as "Mrs. Thatchroof" in an effort to keep her neighbor anonymous. Although I am not a "name collector," I recall hearing that the Freshwaters had their plumbing repaired by a Mr. Drinkwater. Honest!

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend fixed me up with her cousin. He is a living doll and I've had my eye on him for ages. When he took me to the door I didn't want him to think I was a cold fish so I said, "You may kiss me good night if you want to." Abby, he said, "Thanks a lot, but I never kiss a girl on the first date!" I never felt so cheap in all my life. Our club is having a girl-ask-boy dance and I want to ask him. Should I? Or do you think his turning down a kiss was an insult?

DEAR BEV: Ask him. If he refuses, you'll have learned a lesson. If he accepts, you'll have an opportunity to repair the bad impression you made on the first date.

CONFIDENTIAL TO R. D. S.: Remain silent. Only a fool will continue to argue with a fool.

Movies Fighting For Survival As Concert Halls Are Filled

(Second of Five)
By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cultural explosion and the advent of television have plunged American movie producers into a nightmare world. Their sleep is troubled by visions of concert halls and community theaters crammed to the last seat, 40 million families clustered around television sets, long lines waiting to buy tickets to foreign films and Elizabeth Taylor demanding $1 million and a share of the net of their next production.

The movies, one-time cultural dictators to the American masses, are fighting for survival. Television is the biggest financial headache to American movie makers, but the deepest wound to their pride is that foreign films have moved into the United States and taken a big share of their market.

Thirst For Realism
"It began shortly after World War II," says Vernon Scott, UPI columnist in Hollywood. "The realism and adult themes of the French, Italian, British, and Swedish films are responsible. At the time this started the major Hollywood studios still were turning out boy meets girl stuff. The heroines invariably were all good and the villains all bad. There were too many June Allyson and Doris Day sweet young things."
"The public goes to the 'art houses' to see things that cannot be found on television or in most American movies. They can see a hero who is not above an adulterous affair, a heroine who cuckold her husband and a story that does not end with the principals living happily ever after as they walk into the sunset. When foreign films such as 'Naked City' and 'The Bicycle Thief' came along, movie-goers jumped at the chance to see something different from the formula pictures being ground out in Hollywood."

"Since then many American pictures, i.e., 'Marty,' have tried to capture the feeling and substance of foreign pictures. The results have been disastrous in some cases and quite good in others. You must remember that most of the men who make pictures in Hollywood are interested in profits, not praise from critics or the applause of sophisticates. I would fix the number of 'artistically worthwhile' pictures produced in Hollywood at less than 25 percent."
Set Working Rule
In the days of the silent films Louis B. Mayer and the other giants of the industry laid down as a working rule "thesis that it was impossible to underestimate the intelligence of the American public and that all films should be directed at the mentality of a 12-year-old. On July 6, 1928, the first all-talking picture, 'The Lights of New York,' was shown and Hollywood believed it had achieved a monopoly on the entertainment business in this country and that the legitimate theater was doomed."
But some of the 12-year-old mentality philosophy survived. Instead of using the vast resources of the camera and the screen, the movie makers began photographing plays. Alfred Hitchcock, a noted director who has survived and prospered in the jungle of movie making for 39 years, thinks that is still the trouble with most American pictures. "They are simply pictures of people talking," he says. Hitchcock believes motion pictures should be in motion and loaded with action.

When television began to cut in to motion picture receipts, the movie makers decided they would fight back with the spectacle—thousands of persons moving across wide screens in color. The idea was to offer something that television could not produce on its own. On the surface it looked like a sound idea, but the plan had one built-in problem—money.
Most movies are financed by bankers who are inclined to be hard nosed about letting go of five or ten million dollars unless they can be sure of a fairly certain return. Many producers never could raise the money for their spectacles. Some who did lost their shirts. There is $40 million tied up now in Elizabeth Taylor's portrayal of Cleopatra and nobody can say for sure that the picture will take in that much.

Trouble Everywhere
The harried American movie maker sees trouble everywhere he looks. De Kalb is a town in Illinois with a population of a little more than 20,000. (This is increased by about 15,000 when Northern Illinois University is in session.) It has the normal number of television sets, but that isn't all the movie makers have competing against them. The cultural explosion is under way in De Kalb with this result:
In one week there were capacity audiences for the Texas State Chorus from Houston, the Augustana Choir and the Don Cossack Dancers. The De Kalb Stagecoach Players is in the middle of its 17th successful season with hundreds of persons participating as actors, directors, stage hands and ticket sellers.

There is a Children's Community Theater which brings professional talent to De Kalb. The Drama Club meets once a month to read plays and present skits. Northern Illinois University and the De Kalb High School put on several plays each year. The American Association of University Women conducts a music, art and literature study group. The Sycamore Concert Association presents four nationally known artists each winter. There are two art galleries in town, a band concert once a week in the summer and Mrs. Romeo Zylus, chairman of the Audubon Society's Wild Life Series, says the sale of season tickets is at an all-time high.

Safety Group Elects President

HOUSTON (UPI)—Quincy V. Tuma of Houston, chief engineer of Texaco Inc., was elected president of the Texas Safety Association today in the opening session of the annual three-day Texas Safety Conference.

The association announced special awards to David Koch, safety director for the city of San Antonio; J. Curtis Armstrong, director of public health education for the Dallas health department and Lloyd E. Moss, Dallas district engineering manager for Employers Casualty Co.

Also Miss Rubye Bennett of Austin, a consultant in elementary education for the Texas Education Agency and Mrs. Bayne McCurry of Plainview, state health and safety chairman for the Texas Home Demonstration Association.

Winners of individual women's activities awards included Mrs. Frank Galusha of San Antonio. Group winners of women's activities awards were Austin elementary school PTA, Grand Prairie, Dallas Federation of Women's Clubs, and David Crockett-PTA, McAllen.

ENVOY TO SPEAK
EDINBURG (UPI)—El Salvador's ambassador to the U. S., will speak in Edinburg April 15 as part of Pan American College's 11th annual Pan American Days. Francisco Lima will deliver an address on "El Salvador's Role in Pan Americanism."

... but something obviously went wrong. Somewhere along the line, the lines got crossed . . .

The Lighter Side Picketing Can Be Fun

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — There are all sort of ways to have fun in Washington. Some people climb the Washington Monument. Others picket the White House. I myself am more the White House picketing type, mainly because that appears to be less strenuous than monument climbing.
Pickets, however, generally are connected with a cause, and up to now I have not found a cause that I felt I could identify with. I say "up to now" because I am considering an affiliation with the "Society for Indecency to Naked Animals," some of whose members picketed the White House on Tuesday.

Their picketing was a protest against Mrs. Kennedy for riding nude horses. Riding nude horses, I hasten to add, is not the same thing as riding horses nude. I want to make that clear lest someone get the impression that the society had the First Lady confused with Lady Godiva. The society feels that a nude horse, or any unclad animal for that matter, is indecent and that Mrs. Kennedy should set an example by putting clothing on her horse.
The society takes the position that a saddle blanket is insufficient to maintain equine modesty. I doubt, however, that its appeal will be needed. Politics and clotheshorses just don't mix. Nevertheless, this is the type of cause that arouses my interest and I might give it my support if the society in turn will grant me one small request.

All I ask is that I be allowed to select the wardrobe for some of the animals. I have already been giving that matter some thought and I am prepared, at the drop of a bat's hat, to offer some appropriate suggestions.
Obviously, a well-dressed boxer would wear boxer shorts. For a Pekinese, I recommend a peek-a-boo blouse. For the turtle, a people-neck sweater.
Maidenform or some other lingerie manufacturer should be able to design a bovine bra so that a Jersey cow could wear a Jersey sweater without causing comment.
Putting clothing on animals would be bound to cause some complications, however, and that is what makes me hesitant about existing in the society's cause.
You might, for example, be able to persuade a hippo to wear a Mother Hubbard, but if you bought Bermuda shorts for a lady beagle, she would likely swap it for a bikini. You know how beagles are.
I wouldn't mind trying to put a tailcoat on a tomatoc, but I don't intend to volunteer for picket duty until the society explains how you go about measuring a tiger for a taxco.

... and it's a long, painful procedure to unravel the mystery of the stubborn strings. (Daily News Photos)

Foreign Commentary

By WILLIAM J. FOX
United Press International
Notes from the foreign cables:

New Approach to Peace:

The word from Rome is that Pope John XXIII may take a new approach to the problems of world peace in the light of recent good-will gestures from Moscow. Whether this will happen is expected to be answered by the Pope's Easter message to the world on April 13. There also may be some light on the subject in an encyclical which Vatican sources say is expected during holy week and may deal with peace. There is little doubt that the Pope is an optimist and a man who prefers kindness and mercy to condemnation and sternness. But he also is a realist who is well aware of over-confidence. Recent statements he has made seem to indicate that he senses a change inside the Soviet Union and feels that world communism has lost some of its virulence, making the East-West struggle one of world powers rather than ideologies. Pope John's viewpoint, probably is contained in his recent reference to the "perfect supranational neutrality of the church"—meaning neutrality as far as national interest and power policies are concerned, not neutrality toward Communist doctrine and practice.

Issue is a touchy one, and a working agreement is not likely to be implemented until all the facts are available to all parties concerned — including the Japanese public.

Prisoner Release:

Release under amnesty of prisoners of the 1956 Hungarian revolution by the current Communist government in Budapest is expected to lead to increasing demands in West Germany for the freeing of 76 East Germans still held in Communist prisons for their part in the June 17, 1953, "bread and freedom" riots. This pressure may lead to mass demonstrations in West Berlin when the 10th anniversary of the uprising is observed in June. This is about the time that President Kennedy is expected to be in Europe on tour. His State Department advisers are expected to tell the President it would be better if his proposed visit to Berlin did not coincide with the June 17 anniversary. Anti-Communist feelings will be running high then and they could be triggered into a dangerous clash at the Red-built Berlin wall.

Tariff Cuts:

Britain is setting great hopes on the so-called "Kennedy round," the forthcoming negotiations with the United States and Europeans for major tariff cuts. British and American officials have agreed in principle to push a concerted policy when their representatives begin full-dress talks at Geneva May 17. Britain is lining up a joint front of its allies in the European Free Trade Association (EFTA). But there is considerable uneasiness about indications that France may throw a monkey wrench into things as it did in the Common Market talks in Brussels.

Oldest Anglican church in the western hemisphere is said to be St. Peter's Church in St. George, base a detailed agreement. The

Japan and Nuclear Submarines:
The United States request that Japan open its ports to American nuclear-powered submarines long since has been approved in principle, but it is far from hard agreement on being put into practice. Japanese scientists, opposition politicians and voter groups keep accusing Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's government of not leveling with them about all the possible accident risks and consequences in basing nuclear subs in their country. In turn government quarters feel that Washington has not given them all the pertinent information on which to base a detailed agreement. The

Georgia's Governor To Give 'Fix' Story

ATLANTA (UPI)—Gov. Carl E. Sanders said he would make public today the details of a state investigation into an accusation that former Georgia Athletic Director Wallace Butts and Alabama Coach Paul Bryant conspired to rig a football game last fall.

Sanders received a final report on the investigation Monday night from state Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook, but he refused to release its contents until his news conference today.

The news conference is scheduled for 1:45 p.m., EST. "I don't think a midnight news conference would be a good thing," Sanders told newsmen who sought details of the investigation Monday night. "That might look clandestine and we don't want that."

To Have Comment
A Sanders aide said the governor, who conferred briefly with Cook by telephone Monday night, definitely would have some comment on the investigation at his news conference.

Cook said over the weekend that the investigation report will show that Butts, who resigned his university post last February, passed "vital information" to Bryant just before the 1962 game in which Alabama beat Georgia, 35-0.

Both Butts and Bryant have denied the accusation contained in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post and Butts has filed

Monterey Top Pick To Win

The prognosticating coaches of 3-AAAA seem to be on the right track in picking Monterey as the team to beat for the district baseball title, but they could be missing the boat in choosing Palo Duro to occupy the district cellar. The dust has settled on the non-conference battles and the eight members of 3-AAAA begin their individual contests for the district championship Tuesday.

Monterey has the best season record of the field as it compiled a 18-2 record in non-conference play. The Plainsmen will be trying for their fourth consecutive district title.

The surprise of the district, as indicated by the coaches' poll is Palo Duro. A unanimous pick for the cellar, the Dons could be a force to reckon with as they have the next best record at 9-3.

Strong pitching seems to favor Borger who open district with a 6-2 record. The Bulldogs have one of the better pitchers in the league in Joe Robinson. He has a no-hitter to his credit.

Plainview did well in the warm-up games as it ended with a good 5-2 mark. It also could have a good pitching staff. Lubbock who was supposed to be starting over again as the top players were lost to graduation have made a good start even with six sophomores in the lineup. The Westerners are 11-5.

The Tascosa Rebels were picked to be among the top teams in district, but had a so-so non-conference record at 7-5. They are a good darkhorse as they have good pitching and the ability to hit the long ball as their 11-plus runs a game average shows.

The Pampa Harvesters open District 3-AAAA baseball play this afternoon at 4 p.m. as they visit the Amarillo Sandies.

Amarillo has been playing hot and cold ball as they finished the pre-district season with a 6-6 mark. Despite Pampa's having only a 3-5 record going into loop play, coach Ray Howard feels that the Harvesters will finish in a far better position than the sixth place they were slated to end up in.

"When we started the season," explained Howard, "we had a veteran infield, one outstanding pitcher and almost no hitting, and no catching. In eight games, we have a team batting average of .285, counting the reserves and pitchers, which is a very good mark for any team."

"In addition, we have five regulars batting over .300, we have a fine first-string catcher in Shotgun Gregory and two good reserves in Ricky Maynard and Myron Aftergut. We have some fine outfielders, and after track season ends, will have more good outfielders than we know what to do with. We have a good bench both for fielding and hitting and several boys who can play almost any position, which has helped us to overcome a slew of injuries and the loss of two of our top men during track meets."

Arthur Developed
"Most important of all, we have developed one sophomore pitcher in Jim Arthur who teams up with Jerry Glover to give us two first-line pitchers. Our other three pitchers haven't quite developed as we hoped, but Glover and Arthur are both strong boys, and there are still hopes that one of the others will develop into a good spot pitcher, most probably Jerry Garrison, with Dee Wright and Carl Harnsberger available for relief."

"All in all, we may not win the district title, but we're sure going to make somebody work for it." Glover will be today's mound choice for the Harvesters, with Arthur and Garrison for relief duty if needed. "Although we have to play Plainview Friday and Tascosa Saturday, I feel that we need to win this one to give the boys a moral head start. Win the opener and you may just generate the spirit to keep rolling. Glover pitched only one inning Saturday and is the freshest, so he will start. If he runs into trouble early, I may use Garrison, but if it is in the late innings, I probably would use Arthur. That way Jerry would be able to go again Saturday against Tascosa, and Jim could go at least three or four innings against Plainview Friday. If Glover has trouble in the early innings, I'll probably use Garrison in relief, which would leave Jim to go Friday and Jerry able to come back Saturday."

Glover Tops
Glover, two-time all-district, has been leading the team both in hitting and in pitching. Despite his 1-3 record, the big Harvester has definitely run into a streak of bad luck, with only one loss definitely due to his pitching. He lost a 12-inning marathon to Dumas when he tired in the late innings, 5-3; lost a game to Borger in which he didn't give up an earned run, and dropped another to Borger when he relieved Arthur in the last inning and wasn't quite ready. Glover's win, a 15-7 slugfest over Dumas, was won by his own hitting. To date, Glover has pitched 30 innings, given up 19 runs, only nine of them earned, 26 hits and 13 walks. On the credit side, the big righthander has struck out 37 batters and has an earned run average of 2.1.

Arthur, the find of the season, has hurled 18 innings, won a 1-0 decision over Hereford and a 2-1 win over Dumas. He has allowed only five runs, three earned, scattered 14 hits and walked just five men. He has struck out 25 batters and has an ERA of 1.17.

Relief pitcher Dee Wright has won one game in relief and Garrison has lost one game in relief of Harnsberger, who has lost one game. The pitching staff as a whole has hurled 60 innings, allowed 27 earned runs for an ERA of 3.0, walked 39 batters, allowed 63 hits and struck out 85.

Hot Bats
Glover has been far and away the outstanding stick man. Jerry is batting an even .500, with 16 hits in 32 at bats. Seven of the hits have been doubles, one triple and two home runs, with 17 runs batted in and four stolen bases.

Garrison, who has played infield, outfield and pitched, is clubbing the ball at a .367 pace. Outfielders Kenny Hebert and Eugene Madrid, who have alternated baseball and track, are each hitting .364, with Madrid having gone on a hitting rampage in his last three games. All three of the outfielders have stolen three bases each.

Steve Molberg is leading the infielders with a .348 average and two triples. Topping the rest of the regulars is leadoff man Ricky Stewart with .276, who has also picked up six walks and stolen four bases, tying Glover in runs scored with nine. Catcher Larry Gregory, despite his .261 average, has been jamming the long ball, with two doubles and four stolen bases. Outfielder C. E. Cantrell is also a top bag thief with four Maury Wills.

As a team, the Harvesters have gotten 76 hits, including 15 doubles, four triples and two doubles, scored 65 runs on 76 hits and stolen 28 bases.

Carignan For Sandies
Jim Carignan will be the probable starter for Amarillo, although coach Gus Hrnir might go with Rusty Alexander. The two are the Sandies' one-two punch, Carignan having a 3-0 record and Alexander 2-1.

Probable batting order for Pampa will be: Stewart, 2b; Hebert, cf; Garrison, cf; Glover, p; Gregory, c; Molberg, 3b; Madrid, lf; Arthur, 3b; Ken Collins, ss; For Amarillo: the starting infield will be Gilbert Coats, 1b; Don Henry, 2b; Bob Pitts, ss; Don Howell, 3b; Outfielders are Jim Heryman, lf; Phil Thermon, cf; Larry Tuelton, rf; Larry Jasper is the probable starting catcher. Henry, Berryman, Tuelton and Coats are the big sticks in the batting lineup.

YANKS BUY BUDDIN

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—The Richmond Virginians, top farm club of the New York Yankees, have purchased shortstop Don Buddin, who played for the Houston Colts last season.

Cincinnati Royals Sold

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Warren Hensel, Cincinnati businessman and sportsman long interested in owning the Cincinnati Royals basketball club, realized his ambition in a deal, arranged during the weekend and announced Monday night, in which he became the second new owner of the club in four days.

The action, for an undisclosed amount, took top Royals officials by surprise. Both General Manager Pepper Wilson and Vice President Tom Grace said they knew nothing of the sale until informed by newsmen.

Hensel, 48, purchased 56 per cent of the outstanding Royals stock from Lou Jacobs, Buffalo, N.Y., concessionaire, who just last week purchased the National Basketball Association club and the Cincinnati Gardens Arena for an undisclosed sum.

The sale announced Monday night did not include the Gardens. The other 44 per cent of the Royals stock is owned by a number of stockholders, most of them from the Cincinnati area.

Hensel, a manufacturing agent for industrial firms and owner of the W. S. Hensel Equipment Co., said he purchased controlling interest from Emprise Corp., a holding firm controlled by Jacobs.

He said he has always been interested in owning the club and had "repeatedly expressed an interest in owning them."

A condition of the sale was that the club remain in Cincinnati.

Garden Lanes won the bantam girls division as Kay Hicks, Cassie Mitten, Gayle Bluner, Debbie Phillips and Georgena Moore tallied 1325.

Junior girls division winner was Tom Rose Motors with 2342—the team was Pam Gipson, Karen McLain, Kay Russel, Jeanette McLain and Audrey Mollett.

Slaton, Roger Wright, Jo Champion and Ronnie Good, who also set a Gruber record with 44.0.

The rest of Perryton's entries will be the mile relay team of Wright, Larry McEntire, Good and Champion; David Baker in the pole vault and high jump; Champion in the 440 and discus; Good in the hurdles and broad jump; La-master in the 880; Randall McLain in the 100-yard dash; Gary Newcomb in the discus; Scott Sanford and Raymond O'Brien in the mile; Slaton in the 220, and Wright in the mile, broad jump and 440.

Runnels Is Happier With Houston 45s

APACHE JUNCTION, Ariz. (UPI)—Pete Runnels saw the handwriting on the wall—and it spelled b e n c h—after the Boston Red Sox acquired mighty Dick Stuart from Pittsburgh.

"I'm a left-handed hitter and I figured that I'd be doing a lot of sitting around this season what with Stuart, a right handed batter, shooting for that left field fence in Fenway Park, and so I was quite delighted to be traded to Houston."

How did he feel brushed off despite the fact that he won the American League batting championship last year for the second time with the Red Sox.

Understands Trade
"There's no reason why a guy shouldn't be traded even if he does win a title," said the 35-year-old Runnels who will be taking his first look at National League pitching after a 12-year career in the junior circuit.

Pete, the number one first baseman with the Colts and in fact the only experienced one on the squad, won the American League crown last season with a mark of .326. This was six points higher than the modest average of .320 which earned him the championship in 1960.

Runnels makes no pretense of being a power man. There is talk that Stuart might hit 45 or 50 home runs for Boston this year. Pete's major league total—seven years at Washington and five at Boston—is 47. But as Pete says, "whenever I go for a long ball, I'm not swinging the way that I should."

Runnels thinks in terms of playing 150 games this season for the Colts and chances are, that he will get his wish.

"I like Boston because the temperature wasn't too bad there in the summer," Runnels said. "In Washington it was plenty hot and I know that it is hot and humid in Houston. But we'll be playing almost all of our games at night there."

Danny Davis Goes To TT

Southwest Conference basketball coaches have begun their annual corraling of outstanding high school and junior college prospects.

Southern Methodist came up with one from each category on the first legal signing day—Bobby Carpenter, a 5-11 guard with a career average of 20 points per game at Tyler High and Tyler Junior College, and 6-3 Denny Holman of Dallas Hillcrest, another guard with an excellent outside shooting record.

Texas A&M, as expected, picked up all-stater Dwayne (Curly) Lenox of Clear Creek, a brother of the Aggies' all-conference ace, Bennie Lenox. The 6-4 Lenox was a star in the recent state cage tournament.

Texas Christian signed 6-9 James Harrison of Fort Worth Brewer and Texas Tech picked up Danny Davis, a 6-1 guard from Lubbock High.

In Austin, the University of Texas picked up two state basketball standouts—Bo Rothchild of Austin High School and Minton White Jr. of San Angelo.

Our Strongest Defense

Recent battles between the Defense Department and Congress have raised again the question, 'How can we best defend ourselves against the Communists?'

Our politicians are draining our last dollars to build an invulnerable defense against communism while they bestow upon the Communists the means to make them a greater threat.

Our strongest possible defense attack would be to sever all aid, trade and diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union and all Communist countries.

Why not let our government know how you feel about it? This is an encouraging development. At the same time, it is clear that the public at large hasn't caught up with the whole story.

Externals

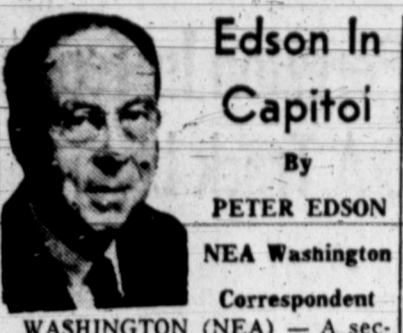

The man who has a constant compulsion to spend money on adornment and vain show, is a person who lacks self-assurance.

Deserved Progress

The common political argument that the bulk of the American people want their electric power to be provided by the government, under one or another kind of socialized system, is false.

Edson In Capitoi

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A second meeting between President Kennedy and Soviet Russia's Chairman Nikita Khrushchev may be in the making.

William C. Foster, U.S. Disarmament Agency director, gave a first hint of this in a recorded interview with Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., on the nuclear test ban negotiations.

"Is there likely to be a further discussion of this between the President and Mr. Khrushchev?" the senator asked.

"I would think so," replied Foster. Referring to the exchange of notes between the President and Khrushchev last December, just before the 18-nation Geneva disarmament committee recessed, Foster declared: "These letters certainly indicate that they both have a deep interest in obtaining a dependable agreement to terminate nuclear tests."

"Then you would expect that?" Keating asked. Foster replied: "I would expect at some point it would occur."

This exchange took place just before the Russians did another about-face and broke off test ban talks with American and British officials in New York and Washington Jan. 31.

Foster is now in Geneva as head of U.S. negotiators in the disarmament talks.

His aides say that he was referring to both further exchanges of notes and direct talks.

This confirms authoritative reports in Washington that the Russians have been hinting they would like to arrange another Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting.

Since their first and only meeting in Vienna June 3-4, 1961, the President has given no encouragement to holding another. The condition laid down has been that there must be some assurance of being able to formalize a agreement already negotiated. There would not be another meeting, just to talk.

These conditions apparently disheartened Khrushchev from coming to the U.N. General Assembly last fall. There would be no point in his coming unless he could at least see the President.

Kennedy has tentative plans to visit Rome and Bonn in late winter or early spring. The White House makes clear no firm dates have been scheduled. London speculation that the President might also see Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is not confirmed in Washington. A European visit would, of course, provide an opportunity for a meeting with Khrushchev.

Some American specialists on Communist affairs who are discouraging any further Kennedy-Khrushchev meetings now say that in their first conference, Khrushchev gained the impression that the President was not a strong and forceful leader.

It is claimed this was reflected in Russia's renunciation of the nuclear test ban and the resumption of testing in 1961. It is also maintained that this was a factor in the Kremlin decision to establish offensive intermediate range ballistic bases in Cuba and make that island a center for further Communist aggression throughout the Western Hemisphere.

Khrushchev now may have discovered that Kennedy is a year and a half more experienced than he was in Vienna and definitely no weakling.

In any future meeting the two leaders would therefore be on more even terms and might conduct more fruitful talks.

Not the least of the subjects for them to discuss — in addition to a nuclear test ban and disarmament — is the Cuba situation. Both Kennedy and Khrushchev left this extremely fuzzy after their exchange of notes prior to the Russian missile pull-out from Cuba last October.

Kennedy Battling to Preserve 'Favored Nation' Status For Poland and Yugoslavia, Despite Strong Opposition

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy is giving an extraordinary interpretation to a little-known provision of the Trade Expansion Law in order to continue "most favored nation" relations with Communist Poland and Yugoslavia.

In direct defiance of Congress, which last year voted overwhelmingly against such favorable trade relations, the President is doing everything in his power to preserve them.

This startling backstage policy is disclosed in a memorandum the State Department has submitted to the House Ways and Means Committee.

To justify the President's highly controversial action, the State Department makes two main arguments: — Interprets the phrase "as soon as practicable," in the Trade Act, as giving the President full discretion to act as he wants to.

— An 82-year-old trade treaty with the Kingdom of Yugoslavia, a predecessor of Yugoslavia, is used as the basis for continuing to give that now-Communist country's "favored nation" treatment.

The State Department's memorandum was sent the House Committee as a hurried reply to a blunt demand by Representative Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman, for an explanation of the administration's failure to carry out the law.

Mills' explosive request not only joined the State Department into revealing the President's position but also stopped cold an administration drive to repeal the restrictive trade curbs.

In its effort to placate Mills and his committee, the State Department revealed that the President's action is based on a loophole in the Trade Act that the Department had recommended, as follows: — "The legislative history established during consideration of the conference report of the Trade Expansion Act indicates that the phrase 'as soon as practicable' was intended to afford the President discretion in determining when action should be taken under the law. The timing of such action is under consideration."

"Yugoslavia has, such status by virtue of the 1881 Treaty of Commerce with the Kingdom of Serbia, a predecessor state of the present country of Yugoslavia."

"Poland, denied this status in 1952 along with other Soviet bloc countries, was restored to most-favored nation status effective December 16, 1960, following conclusion of a U.S.-Polish debt agreement."

Another point of view — The administration's remarkable interpretation of the trade curbs is squarely opposite that of Representative Mills, who authored them.

In a blunt reply, he stressed that his provision was written into the law to suspend, with as little delay as possible, the trade advantages the two Communist nations now enjoy.

DIALOGUE—MARCH 1963

Mr. Jump Can't Get Loan on 2 1/2% Security

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

James P. Jump, our own fictitious character, has finished his breakfast and is carefully examining a ten-dollar bill. Mrs. Jump, lovely as usual in the early morning light, is clearing away the breakfast dishes.

Mrs. J.: What's so interesting about that ten-dollar bill, Jimmy?

J. P. J.: I have reached a conclusion, my dear. I want to borrow another ten from you and I will give you $2.50 as security. How's that?

Mrs. J.: It's a fine idea, but you're going in the wrong direction. You put up $10 for security and I'll lend you $2.50.

J.P.J.: I don't like your mercenary attitude, my love. Surely you trust your one and only loving husband.

Mrs. J.: Surely, I do. That's why I'll lend you $2.50 when you put up $10 for security. I am a loyal and trusting and loving wife.

J.P.J.: Maybe you haven't heard the way these things are done, baby. The government manufacturers money and all the paper money, in normal circulation except ones and some fives, is backed by gold in our treasury.

The paper money is backed by 25 per cent of the face value, in gold. You are a fine, lovely, patriotic wife and you're perfectly happy with that system. Do you not trust your husband as much as you do the government?

Mrs. J.: You're nuts, Jimmy. You are trying to talk me into making a bad loan so you can prove women have no business sense. The government isn't crazy and it doesn't operate that way at all.

J.P.J.: But—my love, if you lend me $10 when I put up $2.50 for security, which of us is nuts? But—don't answer now. I'm going down to the bank. Mrs. J. Don't try any of those funny deals at the bank, Jimmy. Bankers are not noted for their ability to recognize a joke — if money's involved.

James P. Jump strolled into the bank and sat down at the desk of the manager — in the customer's chair, that is. He grinned at the bank manager, made a made his intentions known promptly. "I want a loan."

B.M.: Well now, Mr. Jump, you have a fine record with us. How much money do you want?

J.P.J.: $20,000.

B.M.: You've never asked for that kind of money before. Mr.

Jump. What kind of security do you have for a loan of that nature?

J.P.J.: My House.

B.M.: But your house is only worth about $20,000 at the present market, Mr. Jump. We'll have to have more security than that to consider an $80,000 loan.

Banks aren't in business for fun, you know and we have certain responsibilities to our depositors. You're a business man and you know your way around. Are you trying to kid me or what?

James P. Jump cleared his throat with a great deal of noise and gusto.

J.P.J.: I guess you don't know how things are done these days. You and I deal in money which is backed by a 25 per cent gold reserve but we haven't been making the most of it. If we operate on the same basis, just think what it will do for the community. You give me that loan and I guarantee to spend $60,000 right here in our own wonderful town. Obviously this will provide the town with a tremendous increase in business and you won't have to worry about whether I pay you back or not.

B.M.: Mr. Jump, I'm afraid I'm quite busy and maybe we can talk—

J.P.J.: Wait a cotton-picking minute. Don't tell me you're one of those moss-backed reactionaries. I'm giving you a great opportunity to do a needed public service and I'm even willing to put up my $20,000 home as security. You see it goes this way. You make this loan to me and I spend the money whether I need the things I buy or not. Since you have the only bank in town all the money will get back to you anyway. In the meantime, we have given the economy of this town a tremendous shot in the arm and I'll go around and tell just a few, carefully selected people what's going on and you'll have more people coming in here to make the same kind of loans and you will make a great deal of profit on the increased volume and—

B.M.: Are you trying to drive me stark raving nuts, Mr. Jump. I feel like I've heard all this before but it must have been a nightmare and—

James P. Jump slowly walked away and quietly closed the door to the bank.

B.M.: You've never asked for that kind of money before. Mr. Jump, I feel like I've heard all this before but it must have been a nightmare and—

James P. Jump slowly walked away and quietly closed the door to the bank.

Good luck and good health to you, in freedom.

Science Is Interested In 'The Sea Within Us' By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Man is sometimes referred to in a derogatory sense as a poor fish. Taken literally, however, this is not so far from the truth.

In his slow evolution from a sea to a land animal, he has actually brought the sea with him. Several years ago Rachel Carson wrote a book entitled "The Sea Around Us" in the last quarter of a century the medical profession has been taking a deep interest in the sea within us, for it is true that every living cell in our body is bathed in a fluid called lymph which has a composition almost identical with that of sea water.

Indeed, if we lose much of our precious body fluid we go into shock. The body normally loses water through exhaled air (nearly a pint a day), perspiration (nearly a pint a day), mostly as evaporation from the skin without a dry sweat being seen or felt), and a dry urine (about 3 pints a day). Excessive loss through sweating, vomiting, diarrhea, or hemorrhage may threaten life.

With the realization of the importance of maintaining the body fluids and their dissolved salts in balance, surgery has made great strides. Whereas surgical shock used to be a common and dreaded complication following an operation, surgeons now prevent it by gentle handling of tissues and prompt replacement not only of lost fluid but also of the lost salts.

Human bodily functions, from the movement of our muscles to the mysterious thought processes that go on in our brains, depend on the movement of fluids and minerals across cell membranes. This is essentially an electrochemical process. It has been shown that even our emotions may affect the mineral balance in our blood stream. Anger and fear cause an increase in the excretion of sodium through our kidneys and mental depression decreases it.

In the wake of our newer knowledge of the importance of the fluid in our bodies that is so closely related to sea water, the pseudoscience with a permanent veneer for a fast buck played-up sea salt

It is not only good as a feeding stuff for horses and cattle and poultry, but is also good as an ingredient in human food—bran muffins and brown bread. Besides its uses as a nutrient, bran is often used for packing and in cleaning and polishing goods.

Padre Island Bill Ready For Governor

AUSTIN (UPI)—The House gave final approval Monday to a bill creating a Padre Island national seashore, sending the proposal to the governor for his signature. The Senate at the same time passed a constitutional amendment by a 22-7 vote designed to end the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in Texas.

The House adopted the senate-approved Padre Island conference bill overwhelmingly on a voice vote on a motion by Rep. Menon Murray of Harlingen.

The action climaxed several years of work by supporters of national seashore status for the 30-mile sandy island that runs along the coast between Corpus Christi and Brownsville.
