PATROLMAN INSPECTS DAMAGE — Patrolman Preston Bailey inspects the damage to a motor scooter involved in a scooter-car collision shortly after noon Friday at the 2100 block of N. Wells. The scooter, driven by Harold James Cochran, 1905 N. Summer, was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Mary Smith, 2109 N. Dwight. Witnesses said the youth turned a corner and apparently lost control of the scooter immediately before the crash. Cochran suffered a broken arm in the accident. (Daily News Photo)

'Crazy Day' Activities to Include Prizes, Parade

Cash and "crazy" prizes suitable for the day will be awarded for costumes during Pampa's "Crazy Day" activities next Saturday.

The day's program will begin with a coffee and doughnut break at 8 a. m. in front of the First National Bank or in event of bad weather, in the lobby of the Capitol theater. At the coffee, judging of the best costumes will begin. All store employees, including those outside the downtown area, should be at the coffee for their costumes to be judged.

There is no criteria for adult costumes, except that they be appropriate for the day, and anyone may enter. Categories include craziest male and female employee, craziest store manager and craziest store. Throughout the day, judges will screen shoppers for the craziest shopper costume.

In the Pet Parade, beginning at 2 p. m. at the intersection of S. Cuyler and Craven, the best pet and owner costume, best decorated bicycle and best float or parade entry will be judged. First place, best pet and owner costume, will receive $7; second place, $5; third place, $3.50; best decorated bicycle, $5 and best float or parade entry, a "crazy" prize.

The youngsters and their pets will be judged in the parade and afterwards on the Court House lawn, where free ice cream will be served to the children in the parade.

The only requirement for the owners and their pets is that the parade.

Pentagon Coming To Military View On Space Station

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Skeptical civilian officials in the Defense Department are coming around to the military view on the future necessity of manned military space craft, qualified sources reported Saturday.

As one sign of the conversion they cited recent high-level suggestions that the Pentagon, rather than the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), should have primary responsibility for developing a manned orbital space station.

President Kennedy will decide whether to go ahead with the station and which agency to put in charge of the project before sending his new budget to Congress next January.

The Pentagon view now seems to be that the station, which might cost $2 billion over several years, should be a joint Defense-NASA venture but with the Pentagon as top manager.

Other favorable signs, from the military viewpoint, include a present prospect that Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara will continue the Dyna-Soar project which calls for a manned orbital space craft with wings that will enable it to land conventionally on earth bases. The Air Force, a navy rate, seems to feel optimistic on Dyna-Soar's future.

Along with indications that McNamara and his advisers are shifting from earlier skepticism on military space operations, sources also reported an upswing of interest in new types of manned strategic air craft.

With the end of B52 bomber production and the RS70 production and McNamara's sturdy opposition to the RS70, it had seemed there would be an almost total shift to ballistic missiles after this decade. Now interest in strategic planes seems to be alive again. Two types have captured Defense Department imagination.

Camel-Like Machine

One is the so-called Dromedary, a camel-like machine that might fly as long as a week and carry a load of bombs and missiles.

The other is a "Low-Level Penetrator" armed with missiles and designed for supersonic dashes over enemy territory beneath the reach of radar warning systems.

Either of these would take six years to develop and the Air Force would prefer to go ahead now with the 3,000 m.p.h. RS70. McNamara's opposition seems fixed, however.

'Cosmonette' May Even Try Transfer

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet cosmonaut Valery F. Bykovsky ate sausage pie and caviar during his second day in space Saturday and then dozed off while live television fed his sleeping image onto screens in Russian homes.

The 28-year-old space pilot appeared to be getting along fine as he whirled on to what may be man's longest space journey and first cosmic rendezvous with a woman.

Moscow Radio reported he even freed himself from his chair during the 18th orbit and floated about in his cabin.

At one point there seemed to be some difficulty in communications between the space ship, Vostok 5, and the ground because of interference from other transmitters, but there was no indication of any trouble with the space ship itself.

Gone To Sleep

At 10 p. m. (3 p. m. EDT) Moscow television announced that Bykovsky had completed more than 20 orbits and had gone to sleep in space for the second time. It showed a live picture of him sleeping in the cabin.

It said that during the day the cosmonaut had observed the earth's surface and performed a number of tasks that made for "a taxing day." He reported himself "in high spirits."

Tass medical commentator Dr. Georgi Arutyunov said Bykovsky did not have to rely on "mashed foods from tubes" as did the first space man, Yuri Gagarin, but ate foods made as "natural" as possible and packed in plastic bags in small pieces.

Arutyunov said it has been determined that cosmonauts can chew and swallow food without difficulty.

He said Bykovsky's rations included chicken, beef, chicken caviar, sandwiches, candies, fruit, pies, fresh fruit and fruit juices plus vitamins.

Eats Four Times

He said the cosmonaut eats four times a day and takes in from 2,500 to 2,700 calories.

Western monitoring stations reported some of Vostok 5's signals were fading away or being blotted out. But Moscow Radio said communication over ultra short-wave and shortwave channels "is stable."

It said radio-location stations in Russia were plotting his trajectory. (See RUSSIAN, Page 4)

Council to Discuss Hiring Architects For Lovett Repairs

Employment of Cantrell & Co. Architects, Inc., Amarillo, for the repair of foundation failures at Lovett Memorial Library will be considered by the city commission at its regular meeting Tuesday morning in City Hall.

Cantrell & Co., original architects on the building, have made recommendations to the city commission for the repairs, and have offered to do the work under city supervision.

Cost of the repairs are to be taken care of by members of the Library Foundation board, M. K. Brown told commissioners in a letter last week.

Also on the Tuesday agenda will be first reading of an ordinance to annex a portion of the Jarvis-Song addition and refunding $2,326.41 in engineering fees to Jarvis and Song for an area already annexed to the city.

Commissioners are expected to act on the request of P. G. McElroy for transfer of permits for operating the Yellow Cab Co. to John W. Price.

Mayor H. R. Thompson who has been released from Highland General Hospital after spending several days there for a checkup will preside at Tuesday's meeting of the commission.

Macmillan's Newly Supported Position Threatened by New Developments in Sex Scandal

LONDON (UPI)—The Profumo-Ivanov sex scandal widened Saturday as a scandal unfolded Saturday with an assertion the Soviet minister John Profumo was her attaché involved had warned during the Cuban crisis of atomic bomb attacks off New York and hints that a member of the Royal family was involved with a red haired call girl.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's entire cabinet of 21 ministers threw their support to him ensuring a heavy majority in his favor in the crucial House of Commons debate Monday on his handling of the Profumo case. But new developments threatened to make his position worse.

Michael Eddowes, who describes himself as a part time adviser to call girl Christine Keeler, told newsmen in London Saturday that assistant Soviet naval attaché Capt. Eugene Ivanov had given the atomic bomb warnings to an unnamed friend when he was "a desperately worried man."

'Blunt' Language Stays Nationwide Railroad Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Using blunt language, President Kennedy got railroad management and labor Saturday to agree that "one last major effort" should be made before July 19 to settle their dispute over work rules and avert a nationwide railroad strike.

If no agreement is reached by then, the President warned, he will ask Congress to act.

There will be no alternative to the enactment of new legislation which will protect the public against a loss of its rail transport," he said. "The effect of such legislation on free collective bargaining will be incalculable."

At a short but dramatic White House meeting this morning, both management and labor bowed to Mr. Kennedy's request that for 23 days they postpone any action that might trigger a paralyzing walk-out.

Last-Ditch Move

It was a last-ditch pressure move by the President that worked. The way the talks have been going, a strike loomed for mid-morning Monday when the railroads would be free to put into effect Supreme Court-approved work rules changes the unions have said they will not accept.

This case has dragged on much too long, the President told the negotiators. "There has been one postponement of the hour of showdown after another. Only the critical, crucial nature of the basic issues involved—especially the replacement of men by technology—justified this at all."

The dispute began in February, 1959, when the railroads launched an attack on alleged featherbedding practices and announced they would seek changes in the work rules when a three-year moratorium on revisions expired on Nov. 1, 1959.

Demonstrations Flare Moments After Mourning

FAYETTEVILLE, N.Y. (UPI)—More than 100 Negroes challenged segregation customs under the watchful eyes of a heavy police guard in this town Saturday and a new wave of anti-segregation demonstrations erupted in Danville, Va.

At least 18 Negroes were arrested here Saturday by the helmeted gas mask wearing state troopers who were called in following clashes between Negroes and whites Friday night.

The Negroes, traveling in groups of about 10, sought entrance to a number of hotels, theaters and restaurants, but were turned away. The arrests came at the Rose Hotel when the Negro group refused to obey hotel manager F. C. Chason's orders to leave.

In Jackson, Miss., an unruly crowd of Negroes surged toward the downtown area shaking clenched fists and screaming "shoot, shoot, shoot." The demonstration occurred just minutes after an emotional funeral service and 20-block-long "mourning march" for slain civil rights leader Medgar Evers. It was (See RACIAL, Page 4)

Khrushchev Hints He May Throw Monkey Wrench

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev has hinted he is about to throw a major monkey wrench into nuclear test ban talks but U.S. officials are withholding judgment until they see what he actually does.

The officials adopted the position Saturday that Khrushchev's ominous remarks on the testing issue in a Kremlin interview may have been politically motivated by impending Soviet talks with Red China or may have been designed to establish a "bargaining" position for high-level U.S.-British-Soviet test ban talks scheduled for mid-July.

The Kremlin leader said Friday in an interview with Pravda and Izvestia Russia's two main newspapers that the Soviet Union would not "throw open" her territory to test ban inspection "for espionage purposes" and that with various scientific devices actual inspection on Soviet territory would not be necessary.

This appeared at least a strong warning that Khrushchev may withdraw his offer last December to permit two or three international inspection teams to visit Russia each year to examine the sites of earth tremors to see whether they were earthquakes or underground nuclear tests.

On the other hand when he made the December offer in a letter to President Kennedy Khrushchev maintained that such on-site inspection was not necessary and that his offer was a political gesture by Russia. He has also said repeatedly that Russia would not permit inspection "for the purpose of espionage."

Thus, on the strict record, Khrushchev has said nothing he hasn't said before. But his tone was negative and the fact that he specifically repeated a December offer concerning "black boxes" made his negative remarks on inspection seem even more to be a rejection.

Civil Rights Issue Ready For Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy will bring the long-civil rights issue to a head this week by sending Congress legislation aimed at easing racial troubles that have become the dominant issue of the day.

His message spelling out his demands will be delivered probably in midweek. It is certain to trigger a no-quarter North-South legislative fight that could become the top issue of the 1964 presidential election.

The President's decision to act was taken with full knowledge that it could doom other major frontier bills which he has been urging since he entered the White House two and a half years ago.

Filibuster

The racial rights message will signal an all-out southern filibuster in the Senate when the legislation reaches the floor. It already has cost the administration some southern support in the House.

Kennedy scheduled two final meetings this week to muster support before going into battle. On Monday, he will confer once more with legislative leaders of both parties in what shaped up as a final and detailed review of his legislative package.

Also on Monday, he has invited 250 religious representatives, including Negro integration leader Martin Luther King, for another leadership conference on civil rights.

New Gate Opened Into East Berlin

BERLIN (UPI)—The Communist East Germans Saturday opened a new border crossing restricted to invited guests.

Eight West Berlin travel agents the Communists hope will bring them hard currency business were allowed through the new checkpoint for a propaganda inaugural flight from East Berlin to Vienna.

But a West German businessman with a ticket to Warsaw and several residents of West Berlin were turned back.

The Western commandants and the city government issued a joint statement that they were "surprised" at the barring of the West Berliners.

The crossing point was set up on a long-blocked road leading from the southeast corner of West Berlin across one mile of East Germany to East Berlin's suburban Schoenefeld Airport.

It was opened Saturday for eight West Berlin travel agents, accompanied by five East Berlin officials, to take the direct route to Schoenefeld for the first scheduled weekly flight by the East German Airlines to Vienna.

A West German businessman en route to Warsaw was turned back and told to make the tedious two and one-half hour trip through the Friedrichstrasse crossing point and East Berlin to Schoenefeld.

White Deer Approves Bond Issues

WHITE DEER (Sp) — White Deer voters Friday approved five separate bond issue proposals for public improvements in the town.

The total of the five issues was $135,000. They included $85,000 for waterworks improvements, $20,000 for improved sewer treating facilities, $10,000 for relocation of a gas main, $12,000 for street improvements and $8,000 in repairs on the White Deer fire station.

A total of 146 ballots was cast in the election and the largest number of votes against any one of the five propositions was 27. The aggregate bond issue carried by a vote of nearly 7 to 1.

Of the $135,000 total, $115,000 will be in revenue bonds and the other $20,000 will be paid by direct tax assessments.

Summer Heat Bakes Texas; More in Sight

By United Press International

Steaming summer heat baked Texas Saturday. Little chance for relief was forecast for the next few days.

There was a possibility of scattered afternoon and evening thunderstorms across the plains of West Texas. Otherwise only a few scattered clouds dotted the skies to offer even slight shade.

Pampa got about 42-inch of rainfall and a glorious double rainbow sky show between 5 p. m. and 8 p. m. Friday.

As the rain moved from west to east, the double rainbow appeared in the East about 7:30 p. m. as the sun came out of clearing skies above the western horizon.

Clear skies prevailed all day Saturday with the weatherman promising a summery Sunday void of rain.

The sun burning in its intensity drove temperatures into the 90's over most of the state long before noon.

Temperatures rose to a scalding 103 in Presidio, Wichita Falls and El Paso and touched the 100 mark in Fort Worth, Junction, Lufkin and Waco.

The coolest maximum reading was 80 degrees recorded at Dalhart, Galveston and Amarillo.

Hot Conditions

The Weather Bureau described the conditions as warm in the high plains but said that "generally hot" would describe conditions elsewhere in the state much better.

Corpus Christi had an overnight minimum temperature of 81 (See WEATHER, Page 4)

Hoover Still in Serious Condition

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former President Herbert Hoover remained in serious condition from pneumonia and intestinal bleeding Saturday but his doctors said "there has been improvement" in his condition.

The 88-year-old former Chief Executive became ill in his Waldorf Hotel Towers suite a week ago. This was revealed Friday in a bulletin issued by three doctors who, with teams of nurses, have been treating Hoover on a around-the-clock basis.

The doctors said Friday that Hoover was suffering from "anemia, secondary to bleeding from the gastro-intestinal tract."

Saturday the doctors said there was "no evidence of (the) continued bleeding" which had marked his illness. Although "his condition remains serious," they said it was improved "compared with yesterday."

A spokesman for Hoover added "Like every man of advanced age, he has his good days and days that are not so good. He has been mentally alert, and until about last week he has continued daily work at his desk." He said Hoover not only is conscious, but "has been listening to the radio and been reading the newspapers."

JFK Asks Wallace For Assurance

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy asked Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama Saturday for assurance that local and state authorities can maintain law and order at the University of Alabama before the state National Guard is taken off federal status.

Kennedy told the governor it would be unfortunate to hold members of the National Guard away from their homes and jobs for an extended period this summer. The President called the Guard into federal service Tuesday when Wallace sought to block integration of the university.

Thirteen thousand of the Alabama Guardsmen will be returned to normal status effective midnight Sunday, leaving 3,500 still under national orders.

In his telegram to Wallace Saturday, Kennedy said the duration of the duty of the Alabama Guardsmen (See KENNEDY, Page 4)

Overland Missile Test Important, Says Scientist

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (UPI)—The chief scientist at White Sands Missile Range believes it is "very important to the national interest" to continue testing missiles by firing them overland to impact at White Sands.

Dr. Russell K. Sherburne said in an interview that a series of such tests of the Pershing missile are to take place this summer. Three Sergeant missiles were fired overland last month.

"The tests we wanted to do with the Sergeant have been done," Sherburne said. "The tests were a success."

While the 96-mile Sergeant missiles were fired from a site about 20 miles south of Drial, N.M., he said the longer range Pershings would be launched from Ft. Wingate, N.M.

Sherburne disclosed that "more than three" such tests of the Pershing are planned. One purpose is to obtain information on the trajectory of the missiles on a west to east firing.

As in the case of the Sergeant overland tests, the Pershing missiles will be aimed at an impact area in the northern area of the sprawling 100 by 40 mile White Sands Missile Range.

An explosive in the missile allows officials to destroy it after launch if it strays off course. But once committed, he added, the ballistic missile has virtually no chance of missing its target area and landing on populated areas that it travels over.

More Launched Later
Sherburne said that more Pershings will be launched from the four corners area near Blanding, Utah, in late summer. They are to be followed by tests from a Green River, Utah launch site of the "Athena"—a four-stage missile combination.

"Purpose of the 'Athena' tests is to look at the missile while it is coming back into the atmosphere," Sherburne explained.

Looking to the longer range future, he said there are "definitely other programs" for similar tests. Sherburne said these might include distant launches of the Atlas or Polaris missiles to impact at White Sands in the southern New Mexico desert.

"This range is the only place where such tests can be made," he said, "but the missiles have to be launched outside the range."

Commissioner Says Wheat Farmers Hard Hit in Texas

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White said today the years upper plains dryland wheat crop is "devastated" by drought, and "the point of no return" has been reached in some other areas.

In just a few days, White said, farmers in most parts of southern Texas will have to write off their crops as a loss, unless rains come.

"Although there is no general drought such as that which gripped our entire state a decade ago," White said in a statement,

"some of our people are suffering just as hard now as they did then."

He said the spotty rains have made conditions vary widely from place to place "and even from neighbor to neighbor."

"Some of our farmers continue to show fair crop prospects while their neighbors have little hope for this season's harvest," White said. "We need rain badly, however, from Central Texas on down, and we need it now."

Kennedy Outlines His Plans For Super Airliner

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy has outlined for Congress his proposal for a commercial supersonic airliner. The cost over the next six years might run as high as $1 billion.

Kennedy sent a letter to House Speaker John W. McCormack and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, presiding officer of the Senate, sketching the general outline of the proposed development program.

He also notified Congress he would submit shortly a formal request for funds to meet immediate requirements of the program — particularly a detailed competition within the private aircraft industry to design the plane.

A definite decision to proceed with development of a prototype commercial transport capable of flying 2½ times the speed of sound was announced by the President last week in an address at the Air Force Academy in Colorado.

Escheat Law Brings Texas Little Income

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas' escheat law, which former Gov. Price Daniel called a special legislative session to get passed, has brought the state only $1.5 million since it went into effect Nov. 7, 1961.

The law authorizes the state to seize abandoned funds. It permits the state to sue if necessary to collect funds from abandoned estates, from unclaimed utility deposits, unclaimed accounts in savings and loan institutions, banks and similar institutions.

One section deals with banks and savings and loan institutions. The other deals with all other deals with all types of funds and properties.

The state treasurer has collected and deposited in the general fund $1,250,844.06 from banks and similar institutions, and $230,253.61 from other sources, a survey showed.

Generally Small Sums
Morris Stevens chief clerk in the treasurer's office, said much of the income is from abandoned bank or savings and loan accounts "ranging from a penny to a few dollars."

He said a lot of such accounts are opened by children with their pennies and frequently forgotten when the family moves to another town.

Stevens said almost all the $1.2 million collected from abandoned savings and loan and bank accounts is composed of separate accounts under $25.

THE WIZARDS OF SPACE (6)

By Don Oakley and John Lane

America has three major spaceports from which it launches men and instruments:

• WALLOPS ISLAND. Oldest of the spaceports, Wallops was established by the old National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics in 1945 off the Virginia shore as a branch of Langley Research Center. Since then, over 5,000 research vehicles, mainly sounding rockets, have been launched from Wallops, more than from any other site.

Though it concentrates on short-range, sub-orbital flights (the first Mercury capsules were tested here), Wallops has orbited three satellites—Explorers IX, XIII and XVI—using the four-stage, solid-fueled Scout rocket developed at Langley.

• PT. ARGUELLO. NASA's Pacific Launch Operations Office, located about 160 miles north of Los Angeles, is the only spaceport from which satellites can be placed into polar orbits without crossing populated areas. First land due south is Antarctica, 6,500 miles away.

Most important mission for this spaceport will be the launching of seven Nimbus advanced weather satellites over the next two years.

• CAPE CANAVERAL. The most valuable sandbar in the world, this is the largest and most glamorous of the spaceports. To be exact, Cape Canaveral is the 15,000-acre reservation operated by Department of Defense, which also maintains the tracking stations along the Atlantic Missile Range.

The civilian spaceport at Cape Canaveral—NASA's Launch Operations Center—will soon be headquartered to the north on 87,000-acre Merritt Island. From here missions to the moon and beyond will be launched.

Construction began this year on the first of 40 buildings on Merritt Island. Among them will be a gigantic 52-story, $100 million "shed" where Saturn V moon rockets will be readied. Huge 5½-million-pound crawler transports costing $4 to $5 million each will inch the Saturn and its launch equipment—400 feet high and weighing 12 million pounds—about two miles in two hours to a launching pad for fueling, final tuning and boarding by astronauts.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Spear & Staff Inc. recommends a degree of caution regardless of whether or not a breakthrough to new historic highs actually occurs.

The firm feels new purchases should be confined to those situations where the multiples are still relatively low and the earnings prospects distinctly favorable.

Arthur Wiesenberger & Co. feels that the long term trend is still upward and that any reaction against the trend is likely to be held to minor proportions.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute feels that despite current optimism stock prices have generally discounted improvement of the past six months. The firm also feels commitments should be confined to good quality stocks only, on price concessions.

The International Statistical Bureau believes a period of consolidation now, until a summer rally develops, would provide a base for the next advance in the current upward trend. The firm also believes this would provide a base for increases in activity and public participation.

Stanley Heller & Co. feels the promising outlook for the economy, with prospects of increased corporate earnings and dividends should be reflected in a general uptrend of stock prices. The firm says equity purchases may prove rewarding if made during brief periods of technical reaction which may develop at various times.

Artificial Radiation Belts Are 'Sheer Gossamer' Says Writer

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Those artificial radiation belts the scientists wrangle about are sheer gossamer.

They amount to practically nothing. If man could produce a volume of space as empty as nearly empty as those belts are, he would call it a vacuum.

British scientists this month denounced the United States for staging the high altitude H-bomb test of July 9, 1962, which added a man-made belt to the natural radiation zones which bulge high over the earth's middle latitudes.

Is this a furor over nothing at all? No. It has substance—about the same amount as that in a well-rounded pea.

In the July 9 test a bomb equal in power to 1.4 million tons of TNT was exploded 250 miles over Johnston Island in the Pacific. The explosion dumped a vast number of electrons into the regions of trapped radiation which were named after their discoverer, Dr. James A. Van Allen of the State University of Iowa.

The British complain, and U.S. scientists agree that this will mess up delicate studies of the natural Van Allen belts for a decade.

Dispute U.S. Right

The British say the United States had no right thus to pollute the earth's space environment.

Discovery of the natural belts, consisting of charged particles trapped at distances out to 40,000 miles or so in the earth's magnetic field, is considered one of the triumphs of the space age. No one had suspected their existence until satellites spotted them.

Scientists figure they are intimately involved somehow in such things as the Northern and Southern Lights, the magnetic storms which occasionally black out radio communications, and perhaps the earth's weather.

The particles in these zones are sufficiently energetic that they constitute a major hazard to any spacemen who might travel amongst them for long periods without special shielding.

They rule out for the time being the stationing of manned laboratories in space a few hundreds of miles above the earth.

In view of that, you might think the Van Allen belts swarmed with tons of atomic debris, and that bomb-testing man had contributed additional tons to the total.

More Hazard In Words

The fact is that this dangerous stuff comes a lot closer to being without substance than the words written about it. A recent British report on the artificial belt, for example, probably weighs a thousand times more than all the particles it discusses.

In a study published by the Scientific American, Dr. Brian J. O'Brien, a colleague of Van Allen's, said the total mass of the particles in the natural belts "is about equal to the substance of a single human being." He added:

"The total weight of all the electrons in the man-made belts, in spite of their profound short and long-term effects, is something less than the weight of a single aspirin tablet distributed in a volume of some 20 billion cubic miles of space."

As someone else once said, the electron though small, is mighty.

State and out-of-state authorities on management, from governmental and private fields, will participate on the program.

Managers will hear the first through analysis of the state's new Municipal Annexation Act in an address by William A. Olson, general counsel of the Texas Municipal League. The act, passed this year by the 58th Legislature, changed basic annexation law for the first time in 150 years.

Featured speaker at the TCMA annual banquet on Monday evening will be Edwin M. Clark, president of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., St. Louis.

Scandal

Christie, the red head who touched off the Profumo scandal, Lord Poole, joint chairman of the Conservatives, said he had been informed that all 21 cabinet members were behind the prime minister. The statement followed the action Saturday of Minister of Health Enoch Powell — reported on the brink of resignation — in announcing his unqualified support.

There were reports in political circles — and a flat statement to the effect on the front page of the Sunday Observer — that Macmillan received this support in return for an understanding he would resign within months for a younger man.

Completes First Day

At 7 a.m. EDT, the 28-year-old fighter pilot who calls himself "Hawk" completed his first 24 hours of what is expected to be eight days of looping around the earth.

At that time he was in his 17th orbit and had covered 416,320 miles in space. The time for each orbit was 88.2 minutes.

"All through the flight the cosmonaut has felt fine," Tass news agency reported. "He is cheerful and successfully performs the prescribed flight and scientific program."

Tass said he got six hours of sleep his first night in orbit and had eaten three meals, including such earthly fare as fried tongue, sausage pie, cutlets, oranges, mashed prunes and bread.

Wheat Harvest Is Nearing End

A better-than-expected wheat harvest will near its end in the Pampa and Top O' Texas area this week.

So far, grain elevator men report the harvest is much better than had been predicted although it still is far from what would be considered a bumper crop.

Following the week end scattered rains in the local harvest area, the crop could be called approximately 80 per cent complete.

The average wheat production in Gray County is listed at about 11 bushels per acre and 60 pounds to the bushel.

In the Canadian and Perryton areas where the harvest is bigger than Gray County, 10 to 20 bushels per acre is the average with the wheat testing 58 to 60 pounds per bushel.

A bumper crop would give production of around 35 to 40 bushels per acre, elevator men said.

Dr. Anson Jones, last President of the Republic of Texas, was also a physician and author.

Pampa Rancher Badly Burned; Condition Poor

R. E. (Bob) Montgomery, 57, a Pampa rancher, was listed in poor condition at Highland General Hospital late Saturday with third degree burns on the upper portion of his body.

Montgomery was taken to Highland General about noon Thursday, after gasoline he had been using to ignite trash in a barrel flared up and caught his clothes on fire.

His wife heard his cries for help and managed to extinguish the flames.

established by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and continued by Kennedy made recommendations calling for gradual elimination of diesels. It also urged other sweeping changes in the rules. The Supreme Court ruled that the rails were free to put the changes into effect and the unions were free to strike if they chose.

NAMES Emergency Board
Kennedy then named another emergency board, which froze all action for another 60 days. This period has now expired and management and union negotiators have been bogged down since, trying to reach a settlement.

When the talks showed no signs of progress Friday night, the President arranged to meet both sides. Present for the session were railroad negotiators and representatives of the unions — engineers, firemen, switchmen, conductors and brakemen.

The President told them that he had been advised by Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz that no agreement has been reached and that "beyond this, that there has actually been no real bargaining in any effective sense in this case — although it has gone on for almost three and a half years."

He said he had always supported free collective bargaining, but declared strongly: "It has to work."

He asked that the negotiators "proceed immediately to the hardest kind of bargaining" with the assistance of Wirtz, the Labor Department and the National Mediation Board.

"If, by July 10, there has still been no accord reached, I shall ask for an immediate report from the secretary of labor and from you on the circumstances of this failure," he said. "I shall then make such recommendations to the Congress as the circumstances appear to dictate."

The Chief Executive then issued this warning: "I point out, in conclusion, these plain facts. If this case does have to go to the Congress, it is going to mean, necessarily, the disposition of the disputed issue or issues through some agency other than the parties."

"There is nothing which legislation can do which you are not free to do voluntarily, including the selection of your own special procedures if this is necessary to complete any part of your settlement. If either or both of you should decline to take advantage of this opportunity, the responsibility for what follows will have to be accepted where it lies."

He urged them to act, "as it is in your power to act, not only to settle this case but to preserve the freedom of private collective bargaining and the effectiveness of the established statutory procedures."

But tensions were high and troubled southern capital, Friday night a white teen-age boy was shot while riding through a "fringe neighborhood" in the latest of a series of such attacks that have occurred since the current desegregation drive started May 28.

Enforced martial law
In the Chesapeake bay town of Cambridge, Md., troops enforced "limited martial law" and in Charleston, S.C., scuffling broke out between police and Negro pickets who blocked the entrances to one of the city's theaters.

Three policemen were injured in the scuffling and 12 Negroes were jailed. The incident was the most explosive in the South Carolina city's week-long desegregation drive and brought to more than 140 the number of Negroes arrested.

In Danville Saturday 33 Negroes and two whites defied court-ordered ground rules prohibiting mass anti-segregation demonstrations and marched on the downtown area. They were promptly arrested.

The demonstrators — mostly teen-agers — moved out in two groups about one hour apart. Most collapsed limp on the pavement and had to be hauled away bodily by police.

There were no injuries but several Negroes were thrown into police cars with such force that Police Chief Eugene G. McCain admonished his men to "take it easy with 'em."

Annual admissions to U.S. hospitals have increased over 50 per cent in the past 15 years, and the number of hospital employees has increased by more than 75 per cent.

Navy Ensign Anthony B. Oates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve T. Oates of 417 West St., Pampa, participated in operations aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk on June 6, when President Kennedy visited the ship to view a demonstration of naval power.

The Kitty Hawk was among several ships engaged in the massive demonstration off the Coast of California for the Chief Executive. The carrier recently resumed operations after a six-week in-port repair period in San Diego, Calif.

The ship is scheduled to deploy to the Far East for duty with the Seventh Fleet late in July.

Three Pampa guardsmen are among the 120 officer candidates now going through an intensive National Guard officer candidate school in Austin.

They are James L. Harvey of 824 Deane Drive, Leslie P. Gilliam of 1212 E. Foster, and Vernon D. Day of 418 Carr St., all are members of Company B, 2nd Battalion, 142nd Infantry.

After completing an intensive two-week training program in the field and in the classroom, the local guardsmen will return to their homes and will participate for 16 days of weekend drills in Dallas during the next eleven months and two additional weeks next June.

Upon completion of the course the candidates will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Texas Army National Guard.

Day is a 1956 graduate of Borger High School and attended Frank Phillips Jr. College. Harvey is a 1960 graduate of Palo Duro High School and Gilliam is a graduate of Pampa High School and attended West Texas State College.

In civilian life Gilliam is employed by Southwell Supply Co., Harvey is employed by Pioneer Natural Gas Co., and Day is employed by Heard & Jones Drug Co.

This is Class No. 7 at the Texas National Guard Academy officer candidate school which has been training officer candidates since 1957. The program of instruction is proscribed by and patterned after the program taught at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

Technical Sergeant Forest D. Hankins of Pampa, Tex., is now participating in the largest air-ground defense exercise ever held by Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) nations.

Sergeant Hankins, a United States Air Force radar operations supervisor permanently assigned to the 848th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron in the Philippines, is among 24,000 troops deployed in Bangkok, Thailand from all SEATO countries for the exercise. The maneuvers, named Exercise Dhanarajata, are co-sponsored by Thailand and the United States to give staff members and troops the opportunity to plan and work together in defense training.

The sergeant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Hankins of Rt. 2, Pampa, attended Texas A & M College.

Sergeant Hankins' wife, Donna, is the daughter of Noble S. Hegwer of 712 N. Frost, Pampa.

Connally Lists Reasons For Vetoes in Spending

AUSTIN (UPR)—Here is an itemized list of what Gov. John Connally vetoed out of the $3.14 billion biennial spending bill, with his reasons in capsule form:

—Appellate court reports, $48,888, a "duplication."

—Maintenance shop at Austin State Hospital, $85,000. "...not in any way related to the care and treatment of the patient."

—Three staff residences at Big Spring State Hospital, $60,000 and two staff residences at Denton State School, $30,000. Salary increases will be used to attract qualified people not "fringe benefits."

—Street lighting systems at Kerrville State Hospital, $20,000 and San Antonio state hospital, $45,000. "...funds are available from other operating expenses."

—Maintenance shop buildings at Rusk State Hospital $52,000 and San Antonio State Hospital $70,000. "The hospital board's long range capital budget proposal did not recommend either of these projects."

—New warehouses for four state hospitals, Rusk, $110,000, Big Spring $52,000 Terrell $135,000 and Wichita Falls $135,000. "Warehouse facilities at these institutions are now available and usable."

—Auditoriums, gymnasiums, and recreation buildings at Abilene State School, $290,000 Mexia State School $200,000 and Travis State School, $150,000. "Recreation and entertainment programs of the mentally retarded patients... are now being carried on within the day rooms of the existing ward buildings and chapels."

—Lufkin School Affected

—$0 bed expansion of Lufkin State School $1,390,000. Veto of the second year appropriation only. "By vetoing the second year only of this appropriation, this will still provide $2 million for the current biennium."

—Canteen and barber shop at Travis State School, $60,000. Barbering and canteen facilities "are now available."

—Rebuilding and relocating the Confederate Home for Men, $2.2 million. Two riders in the bill concerning new buildings "are in direct conflict."

—Streets and paving repairs at Crockett State School, $6,500. "category of niceties rather necessities."

—Airport and aeronautical facilities $200,000. The Aeronautical Commission has never had funds "for construction of airports."

—Screwworm eradication program, $300,000. "deeply disappointed" that the conference committee used funds from the special game and fish fund.

—New state finance building, $3.6 million. "...reliable studies to date question the feasibility."

—Claims against the state, $1 million. A separate House bill can "satisfy all the claims against the state."

—Completion of the Goree cell block, kitchen and dining room, $292,000 and removal of plaque on Huntsville unit, $2,200. The Board of Corrections has $2 million "which can be used to insure completion."

—Repairs to 20 four-year colleges and Universities, $556,148. "Not included is new construction of classrooms or other education buildings" in this veto.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

REV. CHARLES J. BOYLE
FOUR SQUARE GOSPEL CHURCH

THE SHEPARD AND HIS SHEEP

A tourist was traveling in the land of Palestine, when he happened upon a scene. Before him were shepherds watering their flocks. This scene before him was quite perplexing. He saw how all the sheep had mingled together. There was nothing that distinguished each flock apart. This looked like a hopeless task for the shepherds.

As he watched this scene for a few minutes longer, one of the shapherd boys gave a call. A hundred or so sheep lifted their heads and looked his way. As he called them again the sheep made their way through the others. As the tourist watched he saw the shepherd counting the sheep as they came to him. It seemed he even knew them by name. When they were all counted he saw them leave.

Again the tourist heard a call and the same scene that had taken place before him was taking form. Amazed at what happened he proceeded on his way.

In John 10:14 the Lord says, "I am the good shepherd, and know my sheep, and am known of mine."

As the shepherd who was watering his sheep called them and they came even so the Lord calls His and they come. The voice that calls is familiar to his sheep.

We as sheep of the Lord follow Him with confidence. His concern is for our safety. Wheather we are in the fold or out in the barren lands He is our guide and will protect us from dangers.

As the shepherd of the flock the Lord sees that our needs are met. He cares for His sheep and loves them.

Mother and Daughter Dimes Workers Take Tour of University of Texas Medical Center

At the National Foundation's March of Dimes Teenage Rally, held Monday and Tuesday in Dallas, the Gray County chapter of the March of Dimes received a first place service plaque for having the greatest increase in March of Dimes collection over last year.

From the combined efforts of employer gifts, school contributions, Mothers March, coin collections, mailers, teen activities, bowling and special events such as the bucket brigade, Gray county raised its total for 1963 to $8,054.08, a 70 per cent increase over last year's total of about $4,800.

Those representing Gray County at the rally were J. C. Roberts, Gray County chairman of N.F.; Earl Sutton and H. H. Hatton, members of the Polio Board; Mrs. Georgia Mack, chairman of the Mothers March, and her daughter, Mary Ann, who has assisted her and worked with the County activities of March of Dimes since 1957.

The central part of the program of the March of Dimes teenage rally was a tour through the University of Texas Medical Center under the direction of Dr. Morris Ziff, world renown rheumatoid arthritis research scientist.

Mary Ann was one of 45 West Texas teenagers who joined with teenagers from Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana for the rally and center tour. During the tour, they were told that the center is partially financed by March of Dimes collections and is one of 50 such centers in the United States, with two in Texas.

"The center is a county hospital in Dallas and has mostly Negro patients and those in the lower income brackets," Mrs. Mack, who made the tour also, said. "It also concentrates on teaching and research. It has medical students from all over the world who come here to learn how to set up similar centers in their own countries. A student from both Switzerland and Peru are in training now."

The center has 19 staff directors including 12 doctors, a surgeon, psychiatrist, physical and occupa-

Dallas Harvard Student Crashes Celebrity Row

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—A 20-year-old Harvard University undergraduate from Dallas crashed celebrity row at the school's annual commencement exercises Thursday.

The student, Russell B. Roberts II, a junior, merely wanted to attend the ceremony, but his boldness won him a seat among the distinguished guests on the platform. He later lunched with the Harvard board of overseers.

To start things off, Roberts entered the office of Gov. Endicott Peabody, Harvard '42.

"I'm your Harvard student escort," friends quoted Roberts as saying.

With no reason to doubt him, Peabody allowed Roberts to shepherd him to Harvard Square where the traditional parade line formed before moving into Harvard Yard for the commencement.

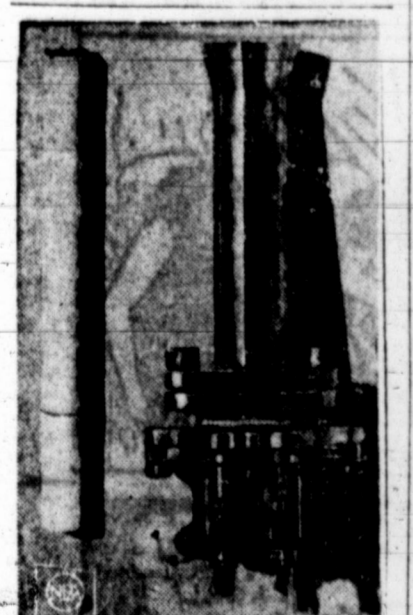

Inside, and the deed accomplished, Roberts tried to make himself scarce. But Peabody refused to let him.

"Stay right with me," Peabody was quoted as telling his escort.

Roberts did. He walked with the governor down the center aisle, past rows of alumni and other visitors, and onto the platform where university officials and others were assembled.

Later the board of overseers went to lunch—and Peabody, still holding on to his escort, brought Roberts along.

The average American visits a physician just over five times a year.

tional therapists, laboratory technician and chemist.

Since Dr. Jonas Salk's discovery of a vaccine to help prevent polio was proved effective, the center has recently concentrated more on research in birth defects and arthritis, Mary Ann said.

"They told us that one out of every 15 children is born with a birth defect and that 250,000 people in the United States are afflicted with some form of arthritis," she said.

"They said one of the saddest things about arthritis is that it strikes women in their child bearing years," she said. Rheumatoid arthritis, an inflammatory disease of the joints, is more apt to strike children and infants, Mary Ann explained.

The center has learned that arthritis is like many other diseases. If caught soon enough, much can be accomplished through surgery and treatment. However, the patient's recovery depends on his own determination and the attitude of his family and friends, according to Mary Ann.

"Before a patient at the center ever has surgery for arthritis, a social worker interviews the patient and his family to determine if both have a healthy outlook on life and want to cooperate to help the patient recover," Mary Ann said.

"The progress of the center is shown in the statement one of the doctors made," Mrs. Mack said. "He said, 'If patients come to us either have no arms or legs or are unable to use them, or who cannot bend over to retrieve objects from the floor, explained the mother and daughter.

"For a person outside of Dallas to be admitted as a patient, he must be referred by his home physician and pay for his hospital room. The doctor's fee, drugs and treatment are all paid for by the March of Dimes," Mrs. Mack said.

Homesick Tot And Her Dog Return Home

ALBUQUERQUE (UPI)—A little girl and a black dog started a long walk from here but some kindly passersby, a state policeman, and a justice of peace and his wife combined to make the trip more pleasant.

Corrine Armijo, 8, and her dog Lobo were visiting an aunt and uncle near Albuquerque when the girl got homesick for her parents in Socorro.

She decided to walk home, but had gone only three of the proposed 65 miles when some women saw her trudging along U.S. 85. They called State Patrolman Jack E. Johnson who picked up Corrine and took her and the dog to the home of Peace Justice and Mrs. A.P. Darden.

"She was scared," said Johnson. "It was farther than she realized."

The Dardens fed the girl, often and well, and her parents were notified. Her dad drove up from Socorro and took the travel-weary girl and dog home.

In the recent men's judo tournament held to qualify for the green belt, three took the honors. The winners were Charlie Kilgore in heavyweight, Ray Rexroad in middleweight, and Curtis King in lightweight.

Men who are interested in continuing judo lessons should attend Thursday's classes at 7 p.m. A. E. Brewer will be the instructor. A $10 fee is charged, which includes a six month membership at the Center.

One of the swim team members, Don Rader, competed in the Fort Stockton Jaycee State meet this week end. Don is the fastest swimmer on the team in the freestyle races. In a recent swim meet with Amarillo, Don did very well in his specialties. He was sponsored by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce and their youth program.

The lines have been painted in the new gym for all the various courts now. Basketball, volleyball, badminton and tennis courts will be used. Tennis lines were not included so much as an attraction at the Center but to help the high school workouts on bad days out of doors next spring. However, the indoor court will be used to its fullest by the Center program.

Trampoline is another interesting activity which will be offered in the new gym. Tetherball, a relatively new game to Pampa, will also be played. Shuffleboard, weights, wrestling and judo mats will be offered. A punching bag will be placed on the wall. The Center's program will be greatly enhanced by the new gym.

Mother's, we are tentatively scheduling new classes for polywogs (4-6) and beginners (6-12) to start July 22. Enrollment will be around July 8 for two days only. Classes will last for two weeks and will start July 22, August 5, and August 19. Only fifteen will be enrolled for each hour's course. Classes will be scheduled for 9, 10, and 11 a.m., Monday through Friday. Enrollment will be on a first come first serve basis.

The Board of Directors approved a new policy on guests of those who possess family memberships. If you have guests from outside of Gray County and are family members of the Center, they may come into the Center free of charge providing an adult comes with the guest and makes arrangement each time.

This will give you people who have guests from out of town a chance to show them the wonderful facilities at the Center.

Lee MacPhail Rates Honors As Trader

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lee MacPhail of the Baltimore Orioles rates the raves today as baseball's shrewdest trader.

His Birds are flying high and well may "steal" the American League pennant from the haughty New York Yankees with a cast assembled chiefly through MacPhail's trades since he became general manager at the end of the 1958 season.

And MacPhail's hand-picked manager — Billy Hitchcock — hasn't exactly slowed 'em down.

Like his famous father, Larry, Lee doesn't hesitate to gamble on multi-player trades like the one that brought in shortstop Luis Aparicio and outfielder Al Smith in a four-for-two deal with the Chicago White Sox last winter.

But unlike the flamboyant elder MacPhail, who dearly loved to disturb baseball's status quo before he retired from the game, the 46-year-old Lee goes about things so quietly only the final results generally are noted.

Furthermore, he has developed the knack of leaving a trail of satisfied customers. The White Sox, for instance, are delighted with the deal that brought them Hoyt Wilhelm, Dave Nicholson, Pete Ward and Ron Hansen.

The Orioles finished a disastrous seventh last year, partly due to circumstances beyond their control such as injuries and military service for a couple of key-men. And Hitchcock was a new man at the field controls, learning the league and his own personnel.

Then during the winter, MacPhail got busy.

He swung the big deal with the White Sox for Aparicio and Smith, who had outlived their usefulness at Chicago but still had plenty of star-stuff left in them.

He landed catcher Dick Brown from Detroit for outfielder White Herzog and catcher Gus Triandos, the latter a slugger who had more.

He switched like-for-like with San Francisco, getting pitchers Mike McCormick and Stu Miller, plus catcher John Orsino for pitchers Billy Hoft and John Fisher, plus catcher Jim Coker.

Two Lesser Deals

A lesser deal with Washington brought utility infielder Bob Johnson, a power-hitting handy-man. Also new is outfielder Joe Gajnes, purchased from Cincinnati.

Lee took a long chance on veteran Robin Roberts, ex-Phillie, as cut loose last year by the Yankees before he had pitched an official inning. Roberts responded with a 16-9 record and recently got back on the beam after a poor 1962 start by reeling off four victories in a row.

How much MacPhail was influenced in other years by former manager Paul Richards, who went to Houston as general manager late in 1961, is hard to say. Obviously Paul had to approve such deals as these:

Purchase of slugger Jim Gentile from a Dodger farm late in 1959; trade for outfielder Jackie Brandt that sent pitchers Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes to San Francisco in 1960; acquisition of catcher Charley Lau from the minors in '61.

These are the guys — plus farm-developed players — who are giving the Orioles a good shot at the flag.

The championship flight opens action at 8 a.m. this morning, with the other flights teeing off after that. Country club pro Hart Warren said that each player is expected to contact his opponent and make arrangements for their round today.

Ann Creed Takes Lead

ROCKTON, Ill. (UPI) — Clifford Ann-Creed, a petite 88-pound tournament pro from Alexandria, La., Saturday fired a two-under-par 70 and took a one-stroke lead over her two closest competitors heading into Sunday's final round of the Cosmopolitan Women's Open golf championship.

Miss Creed, an outstanding amateur in 1962, still looking for her first big pro purse, finished the second round with 37-33 and a two-day total of 141 strokes.

This put her one shot ahead of Shirley Spork and Gloria Armstrong. Friday's co-leader, who were tied at 142.

Miss Spork's 87 in halves 36-51 was the hottest round of the day. She took only 25 putts in the best round she has shot in any tournament.

Betsy Rawls, who also shared Friday's lead, fell to fifth place with her card of 74, one stroke off Ruth Jessen's 74, which was good for fourth place.

Defending champion Sandra Haynie remained well off the pace for Sunday's final whirl. She came home with a 74 and a total of 146 strokes, which left her seventh on the list, behind Marlene Hagge's 145.

Brazilian Racer Dies at Le Mans

LE MANS, France (UPI) — Christian (Bino) Heins of Brazil was killed Saturday in a four-car pile-up during the 65th lap of the 24-hour Le Mans endurance race.

The accident occurred when an Aston Martin driven by Innes Ireland of England swerved across the road and oil poured from its engine onto the track.

Heins, driving an Alpine, attempted to swerve around the oil slicks but his car skidded, turned over and caught fire. He was trapped in the auto until an emergency crew rushed him to a hospital, where he died of burns.

Ireland was slightly injured in the mishap which also forced British Roy Salvadori's Jaguar out of the race.

In an early fourth lap accident, Roger Masson of France was thrown from his Rene Bonnet when the car overturned. He was taken to a hospital where his injuries were reported as not serious.

A flame-red Italian Ferrari, driven by Britain's Mike Parkes and Antonio Maglioli of Italy, held the lead after six hours. Up to that point, the car had covered 93 laps. Another Ferrari, driven by John Surtees of Britain and Willie Massone of Belgium, moved into second place.

A brief attempt by a French-entered Italian Maserati, driven by Lucky Cassner of Miami, Fla. and Jacques Simon of France, challenged the Ferrari for the first 2½ hours but then fell back when it had to make a pit stop.

Palmer Comes Back To Win Thunderbird

RYE, N. Y. (UPI) — Arnold Palmer, once again the tiger of the tees, slashed his way to a two-under-par 35-33-68 for a three round total of 205 Saturday and a two shot lead in the $100,000 Thunderbird golf classic.

Proving how much he had been refreshed by a month away from the grind of the pro tour the Pennsylvania strong man gave one of his famous late charges as he blasted out three back-nine birdies in search of the $25,000 top prize over the rain-soaked acres of Westchester Country Club.

"Arnie's army," as his large segment of faithful rooters among the day's gallery of 13,000 is known, cheered cheerfully through scattered showers and mud to cheer his every shot as golf's golden boy broke away from a tie in both of the first two rounds to snatch the lead.

Bobby Nichols of Midland, Tex., who had been tied with Palmer at 137 when they started the third round, shot an even-par 70 to drop two strokes off the pace.

Another shot back at 208 came Paul Harney, 33-year-old veteran from Sunset, Calif., with 33-33-66 while at 209 came Canada's Al Balding with a third round 70.

Jack Nicklaus, who had suffered an old-fashioned stiff neck, played it cautiously in view of the fact that he will defend his U.S. Open championship at Brookline, Mass., next week, and stroked his way to a 34-37-71 which put him seven shots back at 212.

Pudgy Nicklaus, wearing two sweaters, reported that he had suffered no pain despite a cold, chilly day in which play had been delayed 30 minutes by a morning deluge and a large number of bath towels had been used to dry off the first green.

Palmer's late charge took the spotlight away from the tournament's best round, a 34-31-65 for 211 shot by young Billy Farrell, whose father, Johnny, won the U.S. Open 35 years ago.

It also put into the shade the resumption of an old rivalry between Bantam Ben Hogan and Slammin' Sammy Snead. Snead shot a 74 for 213 which moved him two shots in front of Bantam Ben, despite a 73.

NCAA Says Willing To Bury Hatchet

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) — The president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) called on the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Saturday to get "in step" with other groups and join the NCAA-backed sports federations.

Dr. Robert F. Ray said the NCAA was more than willing to "bury the hatchet" as AAU President Louis J. Fisher suggested.

But he made it clear the only way the current feud could be settled was for Fisher's group to stop taking the attitude that "everybody is out of step but the AAU."

In a letter to Fisher, Ray called on the amateur group to "lend its powerful voice to a chorus of harmony" by joining with sports federations such as the U.S. Track and Field Federation in a joint program.

Ray, a member of the faculty at the University of Iowa, suggested that the AAU and the U.S. Track and Field Federation, of which the NCAA is a member, meet "at the earliest possible time" to take initial steps in a united front in preparation for the 1964 Olympics.

Colts Lead Woodward

The Pampa Colts held a 4-2 lead over Woodward at the end of five innings last night, in a Tri-State League game played at Optimist Park.

Jerry Glover had held the visitors to three hits, walking one and striking out three. Meanwhile the Colts had garnered six hits and four runs off the pitching of Harry Hughes.

Gary Hill drove in the first two runs with a home run high and far over the center field fence with a runner on in the second inning. Pampa upped the lead with two more in the fourth as a sacrifice fly by Jerry sent one runner home and Butch Crossland singled in another.

Babe Ruth League

Cree edged Bank, 10-9, in a Babe Ruth League game at Optimist Park last night.

The Bankers got only five hits off the delivery of Lin Engle, with Bobby Everson relieving in the sixth inning, but took advantage of 12 bases on balls issued by the duo for the winning margin. Mike Pursley staggered to the victory, allowing 10 hits and three walks, but striking out 11 batters.

Kenneth Emerson's double was the big blow for the Bankers. Top sticks for Cree were Engle with a triple and Chuck Cauthorn with a two-bagger.

Thornton Gets Chance At Title Fight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Blond Wayne Thornton of Fresno, Calif., hammered out an unanimous 10-round decision Saturday night over mystery man Jose Menno of Argentina and earned the right to a light-heavyweight challengers' match in August.

Thornton, ranked fourth among 175-pound contenders, earned the right to meet top contender Mauro Mina of Peru in a final "eliminator" at Miami Beach, Aug. 17, because of Saturday night's victory in the nationally televised 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Thornton, 22, used a hooking attack to head and body and accompanying rough-house tactics that caused him to be warned in nearly every round for butting, low punches and heeling by referee Teddy Martin, but he was not penalized.

Dark-haired Menno, making his United States debut, provided an excellent fight—much better than was expected of the 3-1 underdog.

Thornton, 22, weighed 174½ pounds to 175 for 27-year-old Menno, who was previously unbeaten as a professional. Menno suffered his first defeat in 17 professional bouts since he turned pro in 1960 after a long career as an amateur.

Some Latin Americans in the small rainy-night crowd of about 1,500 boomed the decision.

Referee Teddy Martin had a Thornton ahead, 6-4, and the two judges, Frank Forbes and Tony Castellano, agreed with a score of 6-3-1 for each.

There were no knockdowns but Menno suffered cuts at the corners of both eyes to the right in the fifth round and to the left in the eighth, and his nose was bleeding at the finish.

Ramos Shuts Out Senators, 4-0

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Pedro Ramos, making his first start in three weeks, pitched seven innings and gave up only one hit to give the Cleveland Indians a 4-0 victory over the Washington Senators Saturday.

Ramos, who had been sidelined by a strained muscle in his pitching arm, retired 20 batters in a row before Jim King doubled with two out in the seventh inning. King went to third on a wild pitch, but Ramos induced Chuck Hinton to ground out to retire the side.

The Cuban righthander left the game after the seventh inning when his arm became tired. Ted Abernathy took over and blanked Washington without a hit in the last two innings.

Game Postponed

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Saturday's game between the Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals was postponed because of rain.

Boston Tilt Off

BOSTON (UPI) — A steady rain forced postponement of the Boston Red Sox-Baltimore Orioles game scheduled for Fenway Park Saturday.

The Red Sox said the game has been rescheduled for Monday afternoon.

Marichal Pitches 1-0 No-Hit Game

Allows Two Walks Yankees Move Into 1st Place

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — High-kicking Juan Marichal fired a no-hitter past the Houston Colts Saturday for a 1-0 victory that lifted the San Francisco Giants back into first place in the National League.

Marichal, who broke in to the majors three years ago by pitching a one-hitter against the Philadelphia Phillies, allowed two walks and struck out five in posting his sixth straight win.

Ironically, Marichal's last defeat came on May 11 when Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers beat the Giants with a no-hitter in Los Angeles.

Left fielder Willie McCovey kept Marichal's string going in the seventh inning when he raced over to his right and reached up high with both hands to snag a line smash by Carl Warwick with Bob Aspromonte on first base.

The right hander from the Dominican Republic faced a total of 29 batters.

It was the first no-hitter to be pitched by a Giant since May 8, 1929 when Carl Hubbell turned back the Pittsburgh Pirates for the then New York Giants.

It was a tough defeat for Dick Drott, who didn't give up a run until the eighth inning and held the Giants to three hits in going the distance.

Dodgers Keep Up With Giants

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The second-place Los Angeles Dodgers kept pace with the league-leading San Francisco Giants by beating the Chicago Cubs 4-1 on Sunday night, pitching of Don Drysdale and nine-hit attack against Larry Jackson.

Drysdale, never in serious trouble, struck out six men and had good control and did not walk a man — the fourth time he has performed his feat in a complete game this season. He registered his eighth victory against seven defeats.

The Dodgers did not get any extra base hits off Jackson, now 7-6, but scored one run in the first inning on a pair of singles and three more in the second inning on four singles.

Cub catcher Dick Bertell tripped to open the third inning and came home on Jackson's infield out for the only run off Drysdale.

Jackson doubled to left center in the fifth inning but could not get as far as third base before Drysdale got the side out.

The Dodger pitcher got some good support in the field, particularly in the sixth inning when Willie Davis made a running catch of Billy Williams' drive close to the 49-foot mark in center field.

The victory brought the Dodgers even with the third-place Cubs, 1-1, in the series. The series will be completed Sunday in a doubleheader.

Davis was also a big man at the plate, driving in two runs and scoring one himself. He got two hits in four times at bat. Maury Wills, with one single, extended his hitting streak to 11 games.

Pitching Gives Braves 5-3 Win

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Brilliant relief pitching by Tony Cloninger and a wild fifth inning by Philadelphia pitcher Johnny Klippstein gave the Milwaukee Braves a 5-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday.

Cloninger gave up only three hits and struck out eight batters in the final 4 2/3 innings to pick up his first victory of the year. He has lost three.

The first hit was a pinch single by Clay Dalrymple in the fifth that started two runs, both charged to starter Denny Lemaster. The other hits came in the ninth when pinchhitter Bob Oltis hit an infield single and Johnny Callison singled to left.

Home runs by Lemaster and Lee Mave in the second and a first inning run driven in by Eddie Mathews on a sacrifice fly accounted for the first three Milwaukee runs.

The hard-luck Lemaster, for whom the Braves had gotten just one run in his four previous starts, ran into trouble in the fifth when the Phils scored on singles by pinchhitter Frank Torre, Callison and Don Demeter and a sacrifice fly by Roy Severs. Dalrymple's single scored Callison and Demeter.

The wild fifth inning off Klippstein saw Mathews start things off with a single. Klippstein then proceeded to walk Mack Jones, Tommy Aaron, pinch batter Norm Larker and Del Crandall to score Mathews and Jones.

Jones, who entered the game with 13 hits in 26 times at bat since becoming a regular June 7, was walked four times, three of them unintentional.

Candy Spots Upset For Chicagoan Purse

CHICAGO (UPI)—Unheralded B. Major stood off a stretch drive by odds-on favorite Candy Spots to win the $113,333 Chicagoan for 3-year-olds in a whip lashing chase down the home stretch. Candy Spots, the 1-to-2 favorite of the record Saturday crowd of 25,933, never was in front as the eight-horse pack traveled the mile and one-eighth track in 1:47 1/5, a record for the newly designed layout in use for the first time this year.

LUCKY FISHERMEN — Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tucker of 1322 Mary Ellen, Pampa, hauled in a couple of prize rainbow trout while fishing in New Mexico recently. Mrs. Tucker hauled in a 15 inch, pound-and-one quarter rainbow, and her husband beat that catch with a 16 inch which weighed 1 1/2 pounds. Each received a certificate for their catch.

United States Davis Cuppers Sweep Zone

TEHRAN Iran (UPI) — The United States completed a 5-0 sweep over Iran in the American Zone Davis Cup tennis competition Saturday by winning the two remaining singles matches. In the first match Allen Fox of Los Angeles Calif. beat Reza Akbar 6-1, 6-0, 6-1 and then Donald Dell of Bethesda Md. completed the sweep with a 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 victory over Taghi-Akbari.

Prison's 'Satchel Paige' Going Strong At Age 68

HUNTSVILLE (Sp1) — Any baseball fan could look at the box score shown below and tell you that the most valuable player on the field was the winning pitcher, Claude Walker, who allowed only five hits, no runs, and accounted for two of his team's runs with two safeties in three times at bat. Claude "Scottie" Walker also struck out six of the opposing batters, not letting a man beyond second base. But the unusual part of the story lies in another statistic not shown in box scores: Scottie, the fireballing "rookie," will be 68 years old this year. CLEMENS - 5

Table with columns: PLAYER, ab, h, rbi. Rows include Scottie Walker, Claude Walker, and totals.

Although Warden L. G. Bounds and the team members refer to Scottie as "our rookie pitcher," he is anything but new to the game. His love for baseball goes back to 1914, when he became an outfielder for the Memphis Red Sox. "Muscles Scottie," "One of the greatest moments of my life happened in 1921, when I was bought by the 'Colored American Giants' of Chicago, under the management of the negro 'Czar of baseball,' the late Rube Foster."

Sports Parade

(Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.) By OSCAR FRALEY UPI Sports Writer NEW YORK (UPI)—You play for either the Chicagoans or the Baltimoreans today and you got to figure holy smokes and what's the use. Your pitchers are pitching like all-the-way-and-your-hitters are hitting like gangbusters. And those doggone Yankees are having more injuries than a first aid tent at a hot carriers' picnic and maybe this, at last, is your year.

in lieu of a glove to stop a line drive and wound up with almost as many stitches as the ball. Then, in what should be big morale stuff to the other clubs, Ralph Terry and Bill Stafford have been mired in mediocrity and Luis Arroyo, once the head fireman of the rescue brigade, failed in his comeback attempt and had to be switched down to the minors. Still On Top All of this long since should have interred the perennial champions. But manager Ralph Houk seemingly has been at work with buttons, or mirrors, or whatever it is the Yankees use when they're in a tight.

Sporting Sidelines

By JEFF COHANE "THE LEGEND of Randy Matson" is truly becoming as much of a legend as the life of Billy the Kid. Anyone who has ever seen a picture of the real kid and then compared it with the descriptions of the "handsome young outlaw" knows what we mean. The real-life Randy Matson and the fictional "Pampa Strongboy" currently being dreamed up by out-of-town sportswriters bear very little resemblance to each other. From a thin basis of fact overlaid by a large dose of hogwash, as epitomized by Puttering Powell, the life and legend of the Mighty Matson, as written by some sportswriters doesn't even contain the thin veneer of fact.

THE LATEST article is a "scoop" over the rest of the world written by one Dick Moore of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram in an interview with coach Charlie Thomas of Texas A&M, which reports breathlessly that Randy was brought to A&M almost single-handedly by the efforts of one "Dannie Ayers" a basketball team-mate of Randy's. Recognizing that "Dannie Ayers" was obviously Donnie Ayres, we read that Ayres "was our inside deal on getting Randy," according to coach Thomas, that Ayres was getting a basketball scholarship to Texas A&M (with an obvious and slanderous connotation that Donnie was getting the scholarship for his recruiting skill) and that he would room with Randy at A&M.

Reading further, we find that "In a campaign that would have been a credit to the CIA," Thomas flung Randy away from the clutches of Southern Cal. Kansas, Kansas State and Texas, with the help of Ayres and an unnamed Pampa attorney who spied on visiting recruiters, etc. (Fascinating, isn't it? Should have been written by Eric Ambler.) Thomas also, according to the story, said that some schools had lost Randy by wine and dining him instead of showing the layout, citing USC which took Randy to a $100,000 place where their top athletes talked up Southern Cal. Randy's only comment according to Thomas, the story reported, was "Shucks, coach, coffee was 50 cents a cup up at that place."

UP UNTIL THEN, we had been reading with the avid fascination of a 10-year-old watching "Bonanza," but at that "shucks, coach" routine, it began to sound more like Hoss Cartwright than Randy Matson. It appears as if the big city papers figure folks out here talk like Gary Cooper with a cold "shucks"... aw, shucks! Talks with Randy and Donnie Ayres brought one word answers from both of them... "lies!" The ONLY truth in the entire story is

So you look at the standings and despite all the amirca and old bandages being dished out to the pin stripe brigade they've still lost less games than any other team in the league. It's the kind of a thing that has to take the wind out of a lot of hopeful sails, particularly when you scan the Yankee injury list. Sprains, cuts, breaks and aches serious enough to force a man out of action have assaulted the Yankees 27 times already this season. It's a total that would have plummeted most clubs back into the second division but those Yankees still are up there just off the lead.

Wounded Cougars The other clubs must feel like they've been dropped into a cage full of wounded cougars every time they look at the Yankee Stadium crew. Clete Boyer is the only one on the club who has played in every one of the 51 games to date. Mickey Mantle, who broke a foot slamming into the center-field wall at Baltimore, has missed 15 games and is going to miss quite a few more. Roger Maris, who is sub par after bouncing a foul ball off his foot to compound the felony of a bad back, has missed 16 games.

Hubble Still In Serious Condition AMARILLO (UPI) — Luther Ray Hubble, an oilfield roustabout who boxed for a "hobby" was still in serious condition Saturday from an injury suffered when he hit his head on the ropes during a June 7 fight. Hubble, 24, was knocked down by Willie Franklin in the last round of their 4-round bout at Amarillo and the back of his head struck the ropes. He was counted out, but revived and walked to his dressing room. He passed out and has been in a coma since.

And it might be pointed out that the last time around they romped to a six game bulge in the final stages before easing up with the pennant clinched. There is, baseball being loaded with facts and figures even concerning fractures, a historic precedent for the current clinical situation among the Yankees. Back in 1949 they suffered a total of 71 injuries, forcing Casey Stengel, then the manager, to install his platoon system. Oh, yes, they limped to the pennant and then hobbled to victory over the Dodgers in the World Series, being so anemic that they lost one game. All of which has to be very frustrating to fellers like the Baltimoreans and the Chicagoans.

Ideal came up with five runs in the fifth inning to break up a tight pitching duel and take a 10-1 win over Hardware yesterday afternoon at Optimist Park. The Saturday Babe Ruth League game was rescheduled after rain had closed out Friday night's action, the second rain-out in a week. Another game was scheduled for 5:30 p.m. yesterday. Larry Daniels took the win, being relieved by Roy Harper in the sixth. Daniels struck out eight, walked five and gave up five hits. Harper allowed two more hits. Gary Molberg lost a heartbreaker on sloppy fielding as he allowed only six hits and four walks in defeat, striking out five. The pitchers did all the hitting, getting seven of the 11 singles between them. Molberg drove in the only Hardware run in the opening inning with the first of his three hits, while Daniels and Harper had two hits each. Hardware 10 000 00-17 Ideal 021052x-106

Hubble Still In Serious Condition

Hubble's doctor said he is improving slightly and responding. "He is making steady, gradual improvement, but it is still too early to make any predictions," the physician said. Mrs. Hubble said her husband went into the ring for $10 a round. It was only his second professional fight. "Boxing was just a hobby," she said. "He did it for fun and I never objected to it. But now, I don't want him to fight again. I want him to stay at home with me and the kids." The Hubbles have four children. Hubble's doctor said, "It is not a question of whether he wants to fight, but that he will not be allowed to fight again."

Fritch Returns To Tri-State

The Fritch semi-pro baseball team has reorganized and will return to action in the Tri-State League this week, reported Pampa Colt manager Tom Glover. Fritch, which had postponed several games and held a meeting to decide whether to continue in the league, has come under a new manager and obtained several new players. They will return to league action Wednesday night, and will have to make up several games, including one with Pampa. Glover said that the make-up game will be at Optimist Park on June 22 at 8 p.m.

Heard In The Dugout: Don't Pass Up Glasses

NEW YORK (UPI)—They say in the dugouts.

Casey Stengel points out one of baseball's biggest mistakes for years was passing over young prospects simply because they wore glasses. They're not considered a drawback any longer.

The 73-year-old Met manager who owns six pair of glasses himself but uses them only for reading, says umpires should forget their vanity and wear them, too.

According to the Better Vision Institute, more Major Leaguers are going in for professional eye examinations and not keeping the fact a secret, either. Leon Wagner of the Angels is a recent example.

Marty Marion, baseball's one-time Mr. Shortstop, tells about a famous former umpire who was supposed to have the eyes of a cat. One day as he was standing near second base near the end of his career, the umpire asked Marion:

"Marty, who is that new fellow up there at the plate?"

"Why that's Johnny Mize," replied the astonished Marion.

And Mize had been around for quite awhile then. The umpire simply couldn't see him.

Slider Helps Bouton

The slider still is derided as a "nickel curve" but it's the pitch that has made Jim Bouton of the Yankees a consistent winner this season.

Catcher John Edwards of the Reds has a unique problem. His right hand puffs up almost twice its normal size every time he handles Jim Maloney. But then, Maloney throws a unique fast ball.

Lots of Major Leaguers are on an exercise kick. Jay Hook of the Mets and Joe Pepitone and Phil Linz of the Yankees all do isometric exercises and rookie Bill Faul of the Tigers is such a bug about barbells that he lugs them all over the American League with him.

The conversation got around to the wind at Candlestick Park and someone asked Bob Skinner of Cincinnati what he thought about it.

Fields Groat's Hat

"I'd have to say it's pretty windy there," said the former Pirate left-fielder. "I remember playing one game there where I fielded (Shortstop) Dick Groat's cap seven different times."

Some Baltimore players feel the presence of Al Smith on the club may be a pennant omen for the Orioles. They point out the last two times the Yankees failed to win the pennant Smith was with the clubs that got into the World Series—the Indians in 1954 and the White Sox in 1959. You can't convince Ralph Houk, though. He's still sure the Yanks will win.

National Leaguers and American Leaguers alike both complain that the infield at Chavez Ravine in Los Angeles is harder than concrete. They'll have to take it up with Walter O'Malley. Forget about the Mets' new ball park being ready in August as promised. Next April looks like a much more likely date.

The who's-better, Brooks Robinson or Cleve Boyer debate still goes on, with Cleveland manager Birdie Tebbets being the latest to cast his vote for the Baltimore third baseman.

Head coach Bob Kennedy of the Cubs sums up southpaw Dick Ellsworth's sudden success in one word: Concentration.

Romo Sets Sights On Four Minutes

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Richard Romo has a tight timetable designed to make him the first Texan to run the mile under four minutes.

If he fails, it will be the first time Romo's schedule has not been met since he started it four years ago.

Romo, a slender freshman at the University of Texas, fulfilled another goal last weekend, with the fastest mile ever run by a Texan, a 4:01.6.

"I started setting goals shortly after I took up track here at Fox Tech High," Romo said today. "And I keep a schedule all the time—a hard one."

Best for Schoolboy

He first tried for 4:31 as a sophomore, beat it within a year, and was aiming "way down towards 4:20. He whisked to a 4:10 before leaving his school, all-time best for a Texas schoolboy.

"Next year I hope to get down to four minutes and the following year, well, that's when I hope to break it."

Romo had to eat plenty of dust when he ran the 4:01.6 last weekend at the U.S. Track and Field Federation meet in Houston—he finished fourth.

"That's the only way to do it," Romo said. "I was pushed. Without that strong field, I probably wouldn't have cracked 4:30."

Wichita Man Winner

Cal Elmore of Wichita won that open mile at 4:02. John Camion of Emporia State and Bryan Turner of Southern Illinois finished ahead of Romo.

Romo credits Pat Clohessy, the Australian who starred at the University of Houston, with much of his recent success in assaulting the clock. Clohessy has been in the graduate school at Texas and helped the distance runners.

"Pat got me to slow down my training," Romo said. "First thing I knew my weight was up eight pounds and my time down 35 seconds."

Canadian Plans for July 4th Rodeo Celebration

CANADIAN (Sp) — Plans for Canadian's annual Fourth of July Rodeo Celebration are shaping up rapidly as committees from the Canadian Roping Club, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and the Canadian Quarter Horse Association work out the final details for this year's week-long show.

Activities will begin on Monday, July 1, with Canadian's eighth annual American Quarter Horse Show, and close on Saturday, July 8, with the third and final performance of the Canadian Fourth of July Rodeo, followed by the last of three Rodeo Dances sponsored by the Roping Club.

Saturday will also be the time for the big Fourth of July Celebration Parade, which is a project of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and under the direction of Parade Marshall Bill Bartlett.

In between there will be two performances of the annual "Little Britches Rodeo" on Wednesday, July 3, the annual Panhandle Cutting Horse Association's Cutting Horse Contest on Tuesday, July 2, the annual Old Timers Reunion (sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce) on the morning of the 4th, the first performance of the Fourth of July Rodeo on the afternoon of the 4th, and a Free Fireworks Show staged by the City of Canadian at City Park on the night of the 4th.

The Rodeo will continue with performances Friday and Saturday nights, and there will be Rodeo Dances on the nights of the 4th, 5th and 6th.

James Rankin is president of the Roping Club this year, with J. D. Bessire as secretary-treasurer.

In charge of special departments are Bill Bartlett, Parade Marshall; Clayton Hill, Arena Director; Tom Abraham, Horse Show manager; Bill Morris, Cutting Horse Contest; Jerry Carr, Riding Clubs; Roy Sheets, Grand Entry; Debra Harper and W. R. Hext, Kid Pony Show; Leta Stephenson, treasurer; Ernestine Lucas, secretary; W. R. Hext, Dance Chairman; Bill Hood, Rodeo Clown; and ly rival to schools in its area, it would appear that a guilt by innuendo tag is going to be hung on the Mighty Matson if it is at all possible.

This department has yet to find Randy or any of the Matson family being untruthful. If Randy had wanted to make something on the deal, his mother pointed out, he could have continued to leave all those schools dangling on the hook and spent an enjoyable summer being "wined and dined" all over the country.

Randy himself admitted it was a case of "no more steaks, back to hamburgers." But he said that as long as he had made his decision, he did not think it fair to continue eating steaks at the expense of coaches of schools he was not going to attend.

Since Donnie Ayres does not appear to have any especially stuffed look about him, since he still does not have a scholarship, and since he, too, has a reputation for honesty and veracity, we would like to find out where the Fort Worth reporter got his information. Read any good spy stories lately?

Darrell Seeking Another Saxton

AUSTIN (UPI) — Thirty-eight high school prospects have been signed by Texas football coach Darrell Royal but he said he is still looking for a fast runner.

The players signed include several all-stars and All-America Jim Helms of San Benito.

Royal is still in quest of someone like James Saxton, who graduated after the 1961 season.

Besides Helms, other top prospects include ends Kelly Baker of Dumas and Teddy Lilledahl of Port Arthur, quarterback Reagan Gennusa of Port Arthur, guard Wesley Barnes of Corpus Christi Carroll and center Jerry Lindsey of Silsbee.

Brother combinations include halfback Phil Derrick of Houston Milby, whose brother, Les, will be a sophomore tailback this season and halfback Jim Moses of Richmond, and kid brother end Bob Moses of the 1961 squad.

The Longhorns will also have end Earl Hudson of La Feria, whose older brother, Jim, was a sophomore letterman wingback with the 1962 team.

Helms was heralded as the best prospect in Texas and compared with Ronnie Bull, a fellow South Texan who starred with Baylor then joined the Chicago Bears.

Royal said assistant coach Charley Shira recruited Helms.

5,000 Bass In Lake Marvin

CANADIAN (Sp) — Five thousand fingerling bass were placed in the waters at Lake Marvin last week by Fish and Game Commission crews. Lake Concessionaire Ray Guasco said this week.

The Lake was stocked with five thousand of the 4-inch fish, Guasco said.

Re-stocking of the lake follows a year-long program of drainage, repair, and removal of rough fish which had the lake out of commission as a fishing spot all of last summer.

The lake has been re-filled, and water is within a few inches of the spillway now. Work is continuing on improvements around the lake also. . . as new picnic areas are landscaped and boat docks and fishing piers improved.

COOL CAT—Ronnie Curlee is the man who cools off the opposition for the Pampa AL Rebels. The number one relief pitcher for the Rebels hopes he isn't needed today in the key game against Tascosa at 2:30 p.m. at Optimist Park.

TEXAS OUTDOORS

By WILLIAM CLAYTON United Press International

Gov. John Connally kept his promise to Texas sportsmen to veto the part of the appropriations bill that would have taken $300,000 in game and fish funds for the screwworm eradication program.

But where the money will come from to take up the slack is still unknown.

The $300,000 appropriation from the game and fish fund was among several items the governor vetoed from the general appropriations bill. The money was part of a $2.84 billion budget allocation for screwworm eradication.

Although the primary benefit of eradication is to cattle raisers, deer and other wildlife benefit from screwworm eradication.

Explains Veto

Connally vetoed the $300,000 portion Tuesday with this explanation. "This appropriation represents a diversion of funds contrary to the intent of the basic statute creating the Parks and Wildlife Commission. . . ."

Connally said he does not know how the $300,000 will be made up. "I assure you that my office will cooperate in every way to see that adequate funds are provided to complete the screwworm program successfully," Connally said.

The Texas screwworm eradication committee was alarmed at the veto.

Program in Jeopardy

In a statement issued Friday, the committee said, "unless the $300,000 vetoed by the governor is restored the entire program is in jeopardy and there will be risked the loss of the investment (the livestock) producers have already made in the program."

T. A. Kincaid of Ozona, past president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, and Dolph Briscoe Jr. of Uvalde, past president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, are co-chairmen of the eradication committee, a group of stockmen.

Livestock producers raised over $3 million for the program, which will cost $12 million overall in a federal-state matching program over the next year and a half. The program is about a year and a half old now.

BOWLING SCORES

A Father's Day Bowling Tournament will be held this afternoon at 2 p.m. at Harvester Bowl.

The tourney will be limited to both fathers and sons, or daughters, who have established an average in any local bowling league, including school programs for the youngsters, as it will be a handicap tournament.

Trophies will be awarded to winners. All those wishing to enter are requested to be at Harvester Bowl before 2 p.m.

Youngsters from 12 to 18 are also reminded that the Summer Junior League opens action at Harvester Bowl tomorrow at 1:30 p.m.

Youth Baseball

Hoover stopped the Lone Star Boys winning streak in Optimist Youth Baseball Friday night, 13-9. Bert Hinderliter went all the way for the win, giving up 10 hits, five walks and striking out seven. Mike Jones took the loss, with Jim Henry relieving in the fourth inning. Hoover collected 10 hits and six walks off the duo.

Gary Whiteley led the winners with three hits. Joe Karr had a three-run homer for the losers.

A Brand New Father

Rock-a-bye Baby

The founder of Father's Day is a mother. She is Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Wash., whose crusade to honor the nation's fathers with a special day was begun in 1910 as a tribute to her father, the late William Smart. Mr. Smart was a Civil War veteran and a widower who raised his six children "in the old-fashioned, God-fearing way" on a farm in eastern Washington.

Pictured on this page are five fathers with their little bundles of love, who have earned for them the privilege of being honored on this special day.

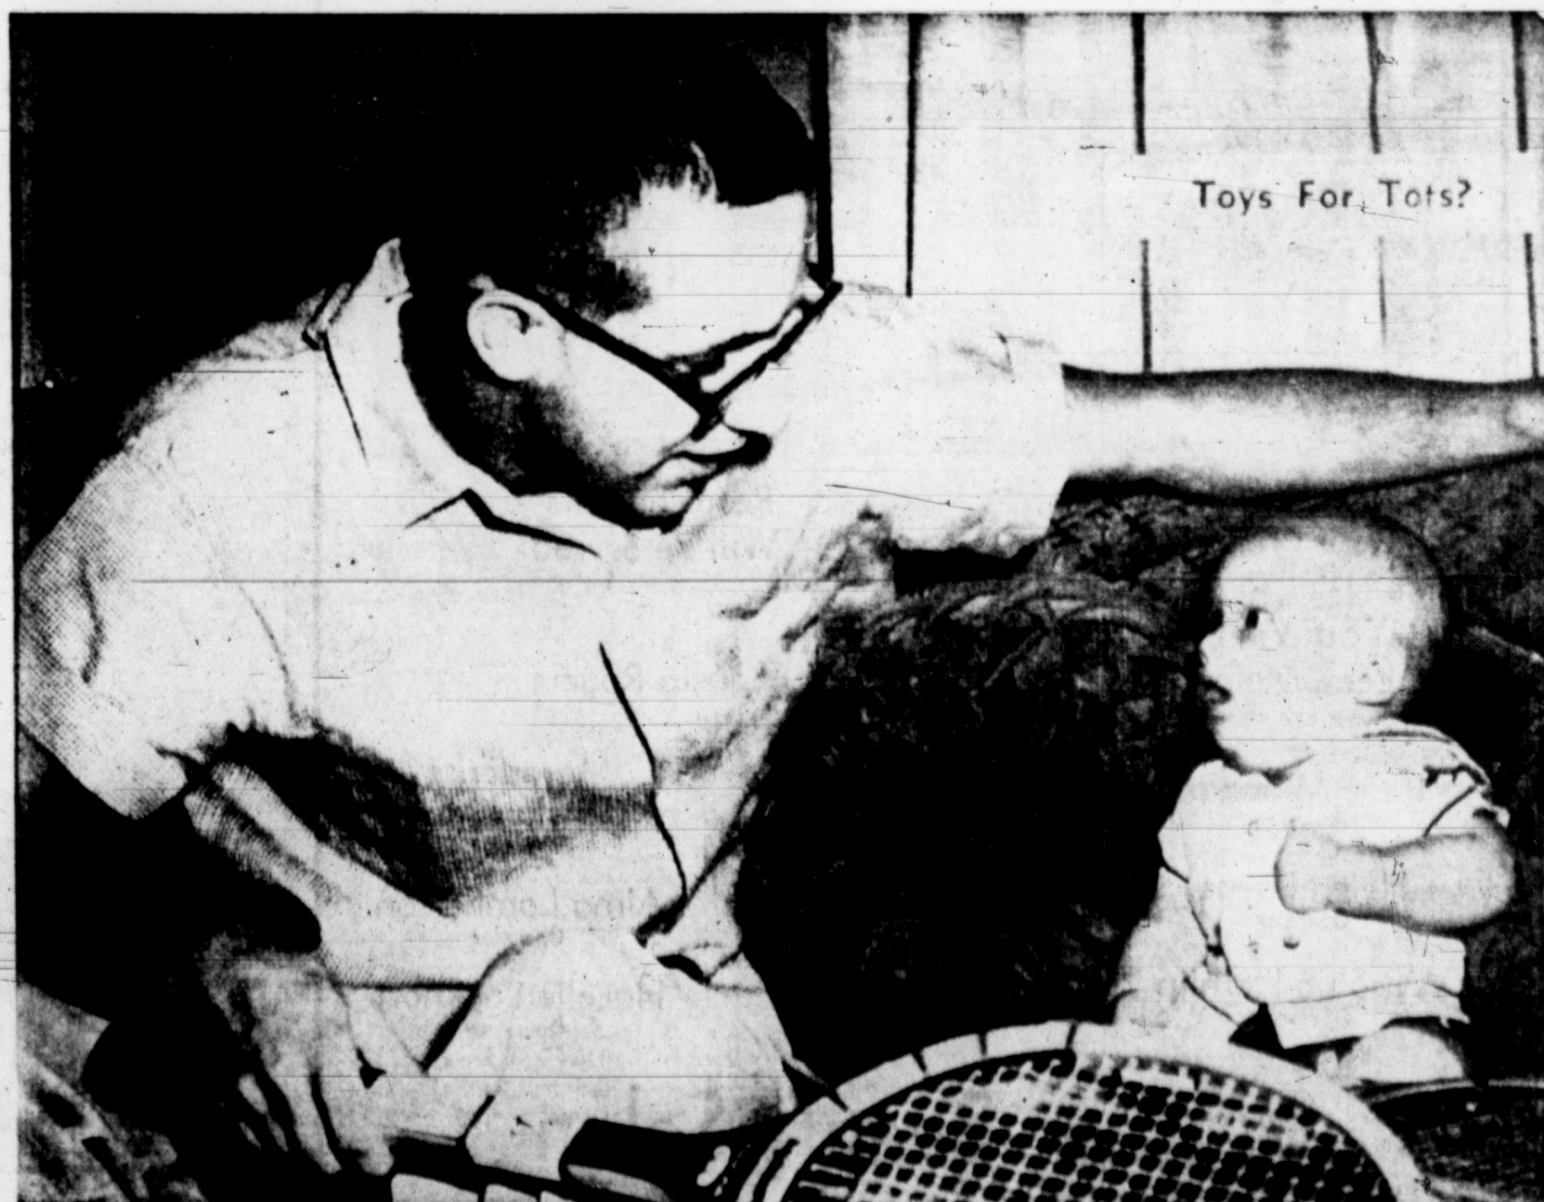

THE ETERNAL TRIANGLE — Five-weeks-old Margaret Anne Walsh being "diapered" by her father, Charles, with the helpful assistance of her two sisters, Theresa, 4, left, and Susanne, 3.

THREE O'CLOCK IN THE AYEM — Gregory Don Hopkins, six weeks-old, is making "night owls" out of his dad, Jerry Don and his brother, Roger Dane, 2.

A BRAND NEW FATHER — Just before passing out cigars, Mark Collins of White Deer, pauses to take one more peek at his brand-new son, five-day old Martin Quinn, who is being held by RN Betty Wells in Highland General Hospital.

ROCK-A-BYE-BABY — Receiving a lot of attention from her grandfather, E. N. Franklin, standing, her father, R. C. Collier, and her brother, Rusty, is 2½-week-old Julia Nylene. Julia and her granddad share the same birthday.

TOYS FOR TOTS — Bob Steger can hardly wait for his 2½ month-old son, Richard Kent, to grow large enough to play with something other than a baby-rattle.

McLaughlin-DeFord Nuptials

In a candlelight ceremony in the First Methodist Church, Miss Carolyn McLaughlin became the bride of Buddy Wayne DeFord with Guy Caskey of the Mary Ellen and Harvester Church, officiant, as officiant for the exchange of double-ring vows on June 13 at eight o'clock.

The bride, daughter of Juanita McLaughlin and Raymond McLaughlin, both of Pampa, was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. A. H. DeFord of Altus, Okla.

BRIDE

The bride chose a formal gown of silk peau-de-soie. The bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline and long petal point sleeves. Her controlled front skirt swept to a bouffant back and extended to a chapel train from underneath a butterfly bow at the back waistline. Appliques of Alençon lace re-embroidered with pearls and sequins enhanced the bodice and long sleeves and were scattered over her bouffant skirt. A tiered veil of imported English Silk Illusion with hand rolled edges was attached to a double Queen's Crown of lace re-embroidered with pearls and sequins. She carried a bridal bouquet formed of a cascade of stephanotis and ivy with white roses.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Patricia Bradford of Big Spring attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Ginny Johnson, Lubbock, Mrs. Jerry Colley of Dallas, and Mrs. James Sowell of Hereford.

The feminine attendants wore street-length dresses of mini green silk organza over taffeta fashioned with fitted bodices featuring bouffant skirts with a fully fashioned bow in the back. Their headpieces were of self-fabric surrounded by leaves and an illusion veil.

Each carried a cascade of green spider mums and Happiness Roses.

Houston DeFord served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Billy DeFord, Lawton, Okla., Jerry DeFord, Altus, Okla., and Delbert DeFord of Wichita Falls. Ushers were Keith Dodson, Altus, Carl McLaughlin, Pampa and Lamoines Corbitt, Amarillo.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Karl Stephenson, organist, of Abilene. Solist was Mrs. Bill Forbes of Amarillo.

The guest-registrars were Mrs. A. F. Pyeat and Mrs. Billy Rice.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McLaughlin wore a champagne linen lace with matching accessories complemented with brown cymbidium orchids. Mrs. DeFord wore a blue sheath dress with matching accessories complemented with white cymbidium orchids.

The background for the wedding setting was composed of tall standards with commodore ferns in front of which were arched candelabra with cathedral tapers. Cathedral candles formed a horizontal line lighting the wedding party, which was flanked with sunburst arrangements of white gladioli, white gladioli in classic urns were used at either end of the communion rail, which was decorated with emerald ferns.

Marking the aisles were arrangements of white mums atop pewend standards.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the church patio in a setting of ferns and palms, interspersed with arrangements of white flowers. NO RIBS TO SPARE. Country Cookout Spareribs are so delicious they will vanish in a twinkling. The secret? Sprinkle with Accent monosodium glutamate. It has no flavor of its own, brings out the full flavor of the ribs. Then sprinkle with salt (decorative salters are a handsome grill accessory). Place ribs on grill lined with heavy-duty aluminum foil, 6 to 8 inches from heat. Brush with your favorite barbecue sauce and grill slowly until thoroughly done, turning and basting frequently. Serve with potato salad made from instant hash-brown potatoes.

Sunday Morning

Coffee Break....

Mrs. Jewel Beckham White of Chicago, Ill., a former resident in Pampa, and David Morgan Firestone, grandson of the founder of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., announced their engagement and approaching marriage at a "Hunt Party" last night at the Lauray Farms on the country estate of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Firestone of Bath, Ohio, near Akron.

Mrs. White is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Beckham, 417 Doucette. She was born in Pampa; attended elementary schools here and was graduated from Pampa High School in 1949. Since graduation, she has become an executive for a California sportswear firm coordinating the buying for the chain of exclusive stores in San Francisco, Beverly Hills, Chicago, New York and Palm Beach, Fla.

Firestone, a graduate of Princeton University, is the son of the late Russell Firestone Sr. and Mrs. John W. Galbreath of Columbus, Ohio. Mrs. Galbreath is the owner of Chateaugay, winner of this year's Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes. Firestone, an avid sportsman, is affiliated with the rubber and tire company.

The wedding is planned for the first week in July on the Galbreath country estate near Columbus. It will be a small and intimate affair with only members of the immediate family attending. The bride-elect's parents will be unable to attend because of Mr. Beckham's illness.

Mrs. White met Firestone at a dinner party in Palm Beach, Fla. three years ago. The party was given by a friend of the bride-elect's, Mrs. Russell Firestone Jr., sister-in-law of the prospective bridegroom.

The couple plan an European honeymoon, flying first to Madrid, Spain, to attend a bull-fight; then to Cannes, France, where they will board the Firestone private yacht for a Mediterranean cruise and later summer skiing in Switzerland.

A Cape Cod-type house has been purchased in Bath, where they will make their future home.

Since Mrs. White and Firestone are fox hunting enthusiasts, the engagement party Saturday evening followed "The Hunt" theme. A large white, satin tent was erected on the grounds of the country estate and a large hardwood floor installed for dancing. Placards were placed around the party area with a drawing of a hound, whose head had been supplied with a picture of Firestone, and a fox, whose face was that of Mrs. White's. The placard caption read "The Hunt's Over."

It all began with a pair of shoes which are Mrs. White's fashion weakness... a pair of shoes that led her to being in the right place at the right time so that she could meet "Mr. Right."

When Mrs. White left Pampa, she moved to Santa Monica, Calif. and went to work as a model for the Douglas Aircraft Co. She was employed as a model to illustrate the interior decor of the aircraft company's planes. One day, she went into Jax's, an exclusive ladies' store in Beverly Hills, Calif., to purchase a pair of shoes. The store manager, after noticing her trying on shoes, approached her with a job offer, which she refused feeling that the position with the aircraft company offered as much glamor and opportunity as any girl deserves.

The manager was persistent with his attractive offer of a position, so Mrs. White resigned from Douglas and went to work as a model and saleslady for the Beverly Hills dress salon.

There she modeled for movie star clients, such as Jane Russell and the late Marilyn Monroe, often taking fashions to their homes for private showing. The trousseau purchased by Miss Monroe, prior to her marriage to Arthur Miller was from the collection Mrs. White modeled for Miss Monroe.

While living in California, Mrs. White became acquainted with Mrs. Russell Firestone Jr.

Jax's then sent her to their Palm Beach, Fla. store as a model and clerk. She was later promoted to an executive position with Jax's as a buyer for their stores.

One evening, Mrs. Firestone, who was then living in Palm Beach, invited Mrs. White to a dinner party in her home with David Morgan Firestone as her dinner partner; thus began the romance that will be culminated with nuptial vows in July.

Mrs. White and Firestone were visitors in Pampa last February to meet the bride-elect's parents and her friends. Their visit to Pampa was kept quiet and unheralded.

This romantic story, with its fairy-tale flair, has been in our pocket since Wednesday afternoon, but due to a promise to the future bride and her mother, Mrs. Beckham, it is not being told until now! And it's been mighty difficult for us to keep quiet about THIS!

DEW TELL!... that attractive redhead with the bluest of blue eyes, peaches and cream complexion, who may be seen at most of Highland Pharmacy's softball games rooting for her nephew John Doucette, is Pat Deighton of Market Harbor, England, who is visiting here this summer with her sister, Mary Doucette. That was certainly a handsome chauffeur squiring Frances Cree to and from grocery shopping Wednesday afternoon... it was none other than one of her twin-sons, either Hal or Ricky... never can tell 'em apart! Their brother, George III, was expected home for the summer this week from Culver Military Institute. Paused just a moment this week to watch that huge crane at the new shopping center pick up steel beams and place them just so on the top of the new Montgomery Ward store now under construction... did it with greater ease than I can pick up a match stick to build a match-stick house. One of the cutest, and I am sure youngest, guests at the Janis Lynn Foster-Russell Kevin Chisholm wedding last Monday in Sacred Heart Church on the Notre Dame Campus in South Bend, Indiana, was one-month-old Mary Catherine Martin... the pride and love of Ben and Jeanne Martin of Amarillo... Mrs. Martin is the former Jeanne Chisholm.

Snobbery is pride in status without pride in function. — Lionel Trilling

SPEAKING OF summer guests in Pampa, as we were earlier, Diane Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Reid, has a most attractive guest with her until later this month... the dark-haired pretty one is Beverly Nasif of Dallas... she and Diane are classmates in Hockaday in Dallas... Beverly had visited here earlier in the Spring and liked it so well she came back for a second look... and we must say her presence is brightening up the teenage scene. There's never a dull moment around the Reid home these days! There are a couple of art exhibits on the calendar that we are sure art patrons will be wanting to take in. Students of Mrs. R. L. Edmondson and Mrs. Walton Bailey are exhibiting this afternoon between the hours of four and five o'clock in the Fellowship Hall of the new education building of the First Baptist Church. Adult students exhibiting are Mrs. Walter Flynt, Mrs. James Goodwin, Mrs. L. S. Richardson, Jack Parker, Mrs. Ed Parsons, Mrs. Bob Pettis, Mrs. Carroll Ray, Mrs. Ed Myatt, Mrs. Verson Alexander, Pernal Scoggin and Mrs. Joe Whitten. Younger students showing their works are Terry Scoggin, Lis Sheppard, David Bailey and Dick Bailey. The exhibit will be hanging for the next three weeks and can be seen at any time during the day. Another exhibit of interest is the one the Pampa Art Club is sponsoring for Mrs. Walton Bailey and Miss Ruth Huff in the Citizen's Hospitality Room. Lorene Johnson, who is exhibit chairman for the club, says that the two artists paint visual pictures built with abstract forms. "The pictures are strong and the color is well controlled." Until next week?

WORDS, WORDS, WORDS—It appears the conversation between producer Blake Edwards (left) and Peter Sellers goes right over the head of French actress Capucine, who finds a word game more interesting, in Rome, where they are filming "The Pink Panther."

MODEL TRADITION

IN THANKSGIVING—Holding up models of their homes, youngsters (top) parade to the Amper River from a church in Fuerstenfeldbruck, West Germany. The houses with candles inside to illuminate them is an annual event in the Bavarian village in commemoration of St. Lucia. The custom dates back to 1785, when the river threatened to flood and the townspeople built replicas of their dwellings to be blessed and then sent floating down the river. Two children and a man (bottom) watch as some of the miniature homes float down the river following a thanksgiving service in the church.

ROAD SHOW—Getting the show on the road means a pull and a tug to this puppeteer who runs the Puppet Theater in Borghese Gardens of Rome. You need pull for this job.

OPULENT TIERS—Capturing an opulent feeling for evening, Spanish designer Pedro Rodriguez created this gown with white lace re-embroidered with gold thread and jewels. Tiers flow from waist and lengthy coat tops the gown.

SCPERSONIC MISS—At Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., Jane Ford prepares for the wild blue yonder. Jane, a stockbroker, became the second woman in American aviation history to pilot a plane at 835 mph.

TONS OF FUN—Nigel Sayers, 3 peers out from an odd looking piece of concrete at Shoreham-on-Sea, England. Called stabs, they interlock and are used to form a slope to guard the beachfront against the battering sea. Nigel appears to think that they make fine playthings, even if they do weigh seven tons each.

HER HERO—Cigar in mouth, Sir Winston Churchill appears to be unaware of the hero worship gaze directed at him by his granddaughter, Miss Edwina Dixon in London.

TAKING A CHANCE—Amidst the throngs of city traffic, two boys are spotted putting their lives on the line as they hang on to the rear of a bus. The bumper of the New York City bus provides them with very little room and although they might think it's fun, a sudden jolt could prove how foolish they really are.

PEARL TREE?—Barbara Kaneshige, 9, appears to have stumbled across a pearl tree in New York. Actually, the lavish array of cultured pearls hanging from the branches were put there to celebrate the opening of a new store. They were part of a million-dollar display.

'STEP TO THE REAR, PLEASE'—Matthew Skingley, 20 months, makes sure his passengers are all comfortable before starting out on a trip at Woodford Green, England. Two of the pups watch the scenery while a third snoozes.

FLOWER QUEEN—Bermuda's Floral Pageant Queen, Nancy Lu Davenport can't wait to board a jet in New York for the islands. Nancy attends Pine Manor Junior College in Wellesley, Mass.

'HOW DO YOU GET OFF?'—Next to getting on the highcycle, the biggest problem is getting off. The riding of the strange vehicle is easy, according to Douglas Schiller (left) and Dennis Oostdik of Monroe, Wis. They put the contraptions together themselves.

AZTEC STYLE—Recalling the splendor of the Aztec, a gaily striped shift richly blends with the ancient temples of the sun worshipers in Mexican history. Simplicity is elegance in this striking beach costume, done in Folkner's sharkskin of Celanese Arnel triacetate, in colors of blue, red, gold and white.

Maybe Profumo Spied On Russians

The British Laborites are ready with a censure motion based on the activities of resigned War Minister John Profumo. Mr. Profumo had, in addition to his lawfully-wedded wife, a 21-year-old companion named Christine Keeler, delicately referred to as a "playgirl." The Laborites say they are not excessively fussy about a man's nonpolitical activities, but they show concern over Miss Keeler's association with Capt. Eugene Ivanov and two Jamaicans. Well, actually, the Laborites aren't much concerned with the two Jamaicans, either. It's Captain Ivanov that has them worried. The captain is the former Soviet naval attaché, and it is the opinion of the Laborites that Miss Keeler may have yielded military secrets to Mr. Profumo and delivered them to Captain Ivanov. This, it seems to us, rather deliberately downgrades Mr. Profumo. Did the Laborites consider that it may have been Mr. Profumo who used Miss Keeler to extract secrets from Captain Ivanov? Never having known either Captain Ivanov or Mr. Profumo we would not venture an assessment, of course. But intrigue and espionage is a two-way street and Mr. Profumo, when he writes his memoirs at some distant date, may disclose himself to have been a super-spy for Great Britain, who, in the best tradition, kept a stiff upper lip when he was abused for a crime he did not commit. We wonder how the Russians feel about Ivanov? Maybe he's in trouble too.

Cleverness is a cynic. But wisdom is clever enough to avoid cynicism.

Something mighty strange is taking place in this country. More and more people are walking on the wrong side of the sidewalk. You hadn't noticed? That's because you have been preoccupied with things like space rides, war threats, tax cuts and pennant races. Get with it, chum, and worry about a real problem! See for yourself—next time you take a walk down Cuyler. Notice how often you have to move to the left to let other walkers pass you on your right. Who are these left-footed odd-balls? Why do they prefer to use the left-hand side of the sidewalk in a right-handed country? Why do they refuse to get over where they belong? Can this be part of the leftist movement? The red-blooded American way to meet the wrong-sided pedestrian, of course, is to stand—or walk—your ground and bump him back where he belongs. This is impractical for two reasons. One is that it would be impolite. The other is that the left-footed clown invariably is too big to handle.

HORRIFYING EGO

States Seize Power to License Living

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

"No person is entitled to a driver's license as a matter of right. It is a privilege granted by the State of Arizona to those who qualify." A local radio station announcer made this statement and I have no way of knowing whether or not the State of Arizona prepared the statement for him. I do know that state legislators enacted a law which defines driving an automobile in this state as a privilege and that attempts have been made and will continue to be made to make this a part of a uniform code for all of the states. Let's look at this thing: You buy an automobile, learn to operate it, pay taxes to create streets and highways, pay the salaries of the hirelings who may, at their discretion, give you the privilege of using your personal property and driving it on the roads and streets you pay for. I insist that driving an automobile is a responsibility, not a privilege and I will continue to insist even if it means I will be prohibited, by the state, from driving or operating my own property.

The man who claimed to be the author of this legislation in this state, also told me he believes the state has the right to grant a person the right to engage in business, the privilege of buying or building his own home, the privilege of owning and using a boat and on and on and I say this is an example of the horrifying ego which can possess a human being who has become a parasite. To illustrate how far this nasty little item has spread into the contemporary consciousness, please refer to the Webster's New 20th Century Unabridged Dictionary, 2nd Edition, which in one definition explains: "Privilege: a basic civil right guaranteed by government as the privilege of equality by all." Logically, we cannot blame the publishers of this dictionary for printing a definition which has common usage. While I can think of no time when I've used the word in this sense, it must have sneaked into use when I wasn't looking, because I was shocked when I found that definition in the dictionary. At this point I want to call attention to the fact that I'm looking for an unabridged dictionary which was published prior to 1930. I don't know how to correct this situation. I feel quite certain that no politician will attempt to repeal the legislation which permits the state to grant such privileges to its employers. I will not suggest unlawful actions. Up to this time, I have not found ways or means to acquire a method of transportation which requires no special privilege which may or may not be granted by the state but I'll admit I've been thinking about it during many long hours of many long nights. Three years ago, or thereabouts, I refused to accept the privilege definition of a driver's license, and after spending two hours trying to change my mind, the "examiner" gave me a license with no real show of enthusiasm for my dogmatic adherence to my belief. I can only guarantee that I will write "I disagree" on any document which attempts to force my agreement with the definition enacted by the state legislature. If I refuse to accept a license to drive as a privilege and if my wife follows the same procedure, and you can bet she will, we will obviously be in trouble. We've had no experience capturing and training wild burros, and by the time we accomplish such a feat the state legislators may be granting privileges to those who ride burros, in which case we will not be moving around much, obviously. Of course, the whole business of licensing is now completely out of control in many areas and bureaucrats are expanding licensing laws in every direction and the people are standing still for it. One of these days, those who stand still for licensing will be standing on their own license to exist, imprinted on the soles of their feet. Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

A new dictionary of Baltimore speech, by John Goodspeed, the able column conductor of the Baltimore Evening Sun, has just reached my desk. Goodspeed, a transplanted Texan, started to compile this unique lexicon some years ago in his "Mr. Peep's Diary" and it's been a great favorite in the Monumental City. Baltimore, he tells us combines some of the best tonal qualities of Southern Cracker, New York Brooklynese and Pennsylvania Singsong—with elements of London Cockney usage and assorted other influences, including Irish. Here are some examples: arthritis is authoritis; Baltimore, Balamer; culler; crawler; dial doll; fire, fahr; holder, howler; league, lig; Lord Lured; Maryland Murlin; peril, pearl; showers, shares; wild, wowlid.

Today's gag: "Are these oranges sweet?" asked the pretty young lady. "They ought to be by now, ma'am, replied the gallant old grocer. "You've been looking at them for some time." The new "slit wing plane, which the U.S. Air Force has been successfully testing for some time will herald a new era in aviation when perfected. The air is inhaled through hundreds of small slots on the top and bottom of the wings which reduces friction, and when the plane becomes operational it will increase both range and cargo load at least 50 per cent.

Variety, the Bible of the amusement world, tells us that "The Big Parade" still holds the record for the longest motion picture run on Broadway. It opened at the Astor Theatre in November of 1925 and was shown until September, 1927. Memory Lane? Wonder what's happened to the umbrella menders and those who repaired cane chairs? They used to visit neighborhoods years ago and carry on their repairs in the streets. About the only one of the old street trades that's left is the rare appearance of the knife grinders. . . . Every year at Indianapolis, when the motor speed demons are racing, we always recall the name of Barney Oldfield, who attained national fame over 40 years ago as a daredevil with high-powered cars. He is the only race driver we recall of the early days. Some old-timers still use the expression, "Who do you think you are, Barney Oldfield?"

Country Editor speaking: "Niagra Falls is still a favorite spot for honeymooners, but what about the brides and grooms who live in that city. Where do they go on their wedding trips? . . . When a company advertises that its product leads the field in sales, the ad should imply that it's because the customers found the goods best, a sales expert advises. This indirectly flatters the consumers' sense of discrimination and sounds less like the company's boasting. Exercise is an important factor in maintaining normal weight and avoiding obesity. It is a false assumption that exercise makes one so hungry that he overeats and thus loses the benefit of the exercise. Inactivity, reports Dr. Edward J. McCabe of New York, is one reason why so many people become overweight.

Edson in Washington AEC Chief Astounds Soviet Scientists With a Camera

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The greatest American "secret weapon" given to the Russians by Glenn T. Seaborg, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission chairman, on his recent cultural exchange visit to the Soviet Union was a Polaroid color camera.

Dr. Seaborg took such a camera with him on his first trip to inspect Russian scientific installations and to sign the U.S.-U.S.S.R. two-year agreement on co-operation in the field of utilization of atomic energy for peaceful purposes. Every place he went — shooting pictures like a tourist and pulling off finished color prints in 50 seconds — he was surrounded by amazed Russians — particularly the scientists.

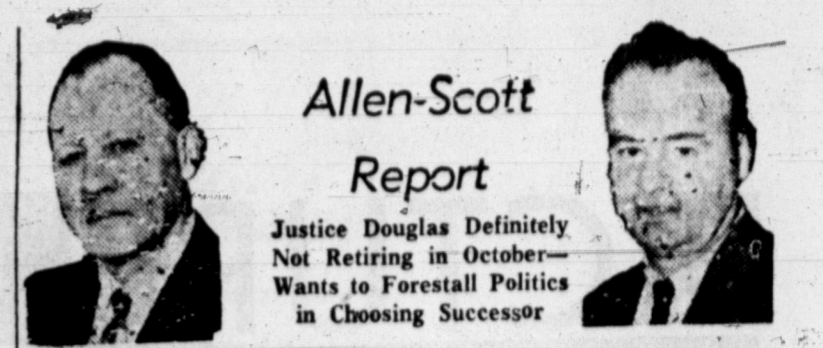

These scientists had developed atomic energy on a scale which Seaborg describes as "comparable" though not necessarily "superior" to U.S. science. But they had nothing to match that camera. At the end of his 11-day visit, Dr. Seaborg presented the camera to his opposite number, A. Petrosyants, chairman of the Russian State Committee on the Utilization of Atomic Energy. The eminent Russian couldn't have been more pleased if he had been given a key and a pass to the AEC top secret files. "But what will he do for film?" Seaborg was asked. "I've got him there," said Seaborg. "He has to get his film through me." This little cultural exchange probably did as much to promote friendly relations between leaders of the two major nuclear powers as their formal agreement or all the typical dining and entertaining that goes with traditional Russian hospitality. Seaborg soon will invite Petrosyants to head a 10-man team of Russian atomic scientists on a visit to the United States. They probably will come in the fall. At that time they will begin to talk about how the new peaceful nuclear information exchange agreement will be implemented.

The discussions will involve only one or two scientists from each country each way in three fields—nuclear power reactor techniques, controlled thermonuclear fusion and high energy nuclear physics. Each visit will be for not more than a year. This will provide opportunity for joint projects in both countries' laboratories. Research to find element 102 is an example. Joint construction of a research accelerator was discussed a little, but nothing was decided. The Russians are already way ahead in this field, though not in power development. If Seaborg and the nine scientists who accompanied him to Russia brought back anything more than appreciation of Russian competence in development of peaceful uses of atomic energy, they're keeping mum about it. Seaborg does not think his visit will advance a nuclear test ban agreement. There was no discussion of nuclear explosions underground or their detection. While the Russians were wide open in showing their peaceful applications of nuclear science, they did not show off any of the plants or the chemical processes they use to produce plutonium.

We are told that the Federal Government must subsidize education in order to provide more teachers, but Dr. Wilkinson tells us that the percentage of college graduates who prepared for teaching has risen from 21 per cent in 1948 to 32 per cent in 1959 and that the number of college graduates is expected to double between 1958 and 1970. This will double the supply of new teacher graduates, effectively eliminating the possibility of shortage. We are told that Federal subsidy is necessary in order to provide adequate salaries for teachers. The NEA report on the Economic Status of Teachers in 1961-62 shows (page 21) that between 1951 and 1961 the salaries of all workers in the country increased an average of 50 per cent and the earnings of civilian employees jumped 66 per cent; whereas teachers' salaries increased an average of 71 per cent. Obviously, teachers' salaries have been rising much faster than the compensation of other workers. This should put an end to the demand for Federal aid, either for classrooms or for the compensation of teachers.

The White House Conference on Education declared that school revenue should increase 100 per cent every ten years, but for the past ten years the increase amounted to 159 per cent. Over the past 20 years, the number of children in the public schools increased 42 per cent while the income of the schools advanced 507 per cent. If we cut this latter figure in two to allow for inflation, it is still true that school revenue has increased about six times as fast as school enrollment. From the foregoing facts, it is easy to see why the poll taken by the National School Boards Association shows that a majority in every section of the country opposes Federal aid.

Justice Douglas Definitely Not Retiring in October—Wants to Forestall Politics in Choosing Successor

WASHINGTON—Justice William O. Douglas has a big surprise for the White House, certain of his judicial colleagues and a number of others. The militant New Dealer is definitely not retiring in October, when he becomes 65 and eligible to quit with full pay for life. Federal judges can go on the "inactive roll" with full pay at 65 after 15 years' service, or at 70 after 10 years on the bench. Supreme Court justices receive $35,000 a year. Recently there have been numerous reports that Douglas would leave the bench when he reached 65. They are wholly without substance. He is in excellent health, as vigorous and spirited as ever, and has no intention of quitting in the foreseeable future. One important reason is that Douglas does not propose to create a Supreme Court vacancy before the 1964 election. To put it bluntly, he feels that under such circumstances politics would largely determine the selection of his successor. When Douglas does retire, he does not expect to be consulted on his replacement. But he also does not intend to do anything himself to unduly open the way to "play politics" with his Supreme Court seat. As a skeptic, Douglas has no illusions that President Kennedy and particularly his ambitious 37-year-old brother, the Attorney General, would be above doing that. He has known both for a long time. This summer, Douglas is going to Africa to look over the work of Operation Crossroads Inc. He is one of the founders and a director of this organization, a privately financed and operated peace corps that has been in existence since 1958. The Kennedy administration's world-publicized Peace Corps grew out of Operation Crossroads. Since 1958, it has sent some 765 youths to African countries as teachers and technicians. This year more than 350 volunteers are going there. Funds of the organization come from churches and individuals. In the fall, Douglas will publish another book titled "Mr. Lincoln and the Negro." It's a study of the Emancipation Proclamation and events leading up to it and since then. Oldest member of the Supreme Court is Justice Hugo Black, 77. He, too, has no intention of resigning. Black has been on the bench since 1937, and has been eligible to retire for years. But he is in vigorous health, and still plays a brisk game of tennis. Chief Justice Earl Warren is 72, and also could retire. He has no thought of doing so, particularly while under fire by conservatives demanding his "impeachment". The Court will wind up its present term either June 17 or June 24.

CASHING IN — Senator William Proxmire, D-Wis., netted some $15,000 from that fund-raising buffet he staged for himself. That is around $6,000 more than he said he returned to the government when this column disclosed that the highest-paid employe on a graduate student at the University of Wisconsin, who had never done a lick of work in Proxmire's Washington Office. Frank J. Campenni, 33, was listed as Proxmire's "legislative assistant" at $14,596 — about $1,000 more than the average full Wisconsin professor gets. It's still a mystery how and why Proxmire hired Campenni at this high pay while a full-time graduate student seeking a doctorate in English at Wisconsin University. When this was exposed, Proxmire hurriedly announced Campenni was being taken off his payroll forthwith, and that Proxmire was paying back some $9,000 to the government that Campenni had received in salary. Now thanks to 600 paying guests at $25 each at his fund-raising shindig, Proxmire is once more in the black — with $6,000 for his highly uncertain re-election battle next year. There were few expenses at the party. Much of the food and all the beer were provided gratis by Wisconsin concerns — ostensibly to advertise their cheese, sausage, sauerkraut, etc. In talks with friends, Proxmire is soft-pedaling the fund-raising aspect of the affair. He is euphemistically referring to it as a "testimonial" — doubtless to his strenuous efforts to put it over.

POLITICALS — Around Republican National Headquarters opinion is virtually unanimous that San Francisco will be the party's choice for the 1964 convention. GOP insiders are betting on that. Democratic leaders appear still undecided on their site. They say it is between San Francisco, Chicago and Atlantic City — in that order. President Kennedy is telling inquirers that Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley can have the Democratic convention if he wants it. But so far he has made no special effort to get it. Vice President Johnson's right heel has been slightly raised to give him relief from a back ailment due to too much handshaking. The heel build-up was prescribed by Dr. Janet Travell, the President's personal physician. Republican congressional leaders are urging Representative Clark MacGregor, Minn., to run against Senator Eugene McCarthy, D. Young, vigorous and articulate, MacGregor is highly regarded by GOP leaders. They think he would make a powerful candidate for this Senate seat. Postmaster General J. Edward Day is rated the most persistent publicity seeker in the Kennedy cabinet. Few days go by that his large press staff doesn't put out some publicity about him, frequently about "improvements" in the mail service. Despite all the hoopla, the service remains as inadequate as ever. Former Postmaster and National Chairman Jim Farley is once again eagerly yearning for elective office, but no closer to it than before. The 75-year-old New Yorker is pulling every wire he can to get the nod to run against Senator Kenneth Keating, R., next year. But the White House is colder than the North Pole to the idea. Farley is an old friend of former Ambassador Joseph Kennedy, ailing father of the President, but that is doing Farley no good as far as the latter is concerned. Farley is definitely not the White House choice for the Democratic opponent against Keating. Close colleagues of Representative Walter Baring, D. Nev., are indicating he will challenge Senator Howard Cannon, D., in next year's primary. Baring is keeping tight-lipped silence himself, but his voting record is strongly anti-Administration in contrast to Cannon who goes down the line for the President. Friends of Baring say he has been assured strong financial backing to oppose Cannon.

The Nation's Press
TOWARD A STATE ECONOMY (Christian Economics)
Dr. Roger A. Freeman, writing in the Catholic World, points out that in 1929 labor and pensions received 61.2 per cent of personal income while in 1961 this percentage had risen to 77.7 per cent. Meanwhile corporate dividends (as a share of personal income) declined from 6.8 per cent in 1929 to 3.5 per cent in 1961. During the same period, the share received by proprietors and as rental income declined from 23.5 per cent in 1929 to 14.7 per cent in 1961. As a share of national income, employe compensation rose from 58.2 per cent in 1929 to 70.4 per cent in 1961. During the same period, corporate net profits declined from 9.4 per cent in 1929 to 3.4 per cent in 1961. Dr. Freeman lists governmental revenues in the United States (national, state, local) as having risen from $1.7 billion in 1902 to $154 billion in 1960. Expressed as a percentage of national income, government took in 1902, 9.6 per cent and by 1960 its take had risen to 37.7 per cent, or $4,280 per family of five. Furthermore, all units of government (local, state and national) are planning even larger expenditures in the future. These developments are leading toward the disappearance of voluntary effort and the substitution therefore of a government-managed economy. In the end, the price will be loss of our freedom and our self-government.

They Don't Fool Around In These Japanese Epics

TOKYO (UPI) — If your dish of whooping and hollering crowds, uninhibited melodramatics and a wholesale blood-letting, you're in for a treat.

On its way to America's neighborhood movie houses is a new Japanese film, "The Great Wall," a sort of romantic-historical-adventure-horror-thriller of the type the Japanese have such a yen for. "Wall" will reach North America with dubbed-in English, the work of a 27-year-old former GI named Leon Cavallo, whose Tokyo Film Services Company specializes in such jobs.

Cavallo rounded up an assortment of U.S. citizens living in Japan to speak the re-written translation (the literal translation was unmanageable).

Like the majority of Gaijins (foreigners) who take bit parts as occasional heavies in Japanese films, none has professional acting experience.

But that didn't deter them from lending their voices to "Wall," a Daiiei Film Company production directed by Shigeru Tanaka.

"Wall," six minutes shy of three hours, is about the Emperor Shih Huang Ti who, about 230 or so B.C., unites China by pasting up Chinese war lords in bloody battle, then becomes a tyrant who enslaves thousands to build China's Great Wall, among other things, and silences carpenter citizens by burying them alive en masse in huge pits.

Shih, played by veteran Japanese actor Shintaro Katsu, has a lighter side — he keeps a 3,000-girl harem, giving the camera re-son to examine a priceless collection of exquisite oriental faces.

Cavallo said the half-dozen or so battle scenes were shot on Formosa, using gallons of red dye and 30,000 of Chiang Kai Shek's soldiers, who tackle their roles with more enthusiasm than is usually spent on routine training.

One of many rollicking closeups of fierce sword, spear and axe duels shows a supposedly lopped-off arm falling in the mud. Its owner screams and claps the stump while simulated blood squirts through his fingers.

Cavallo had little trouble rounding up voices at 4,000-7,000 yen a day (about $10-$20). More than 100 Americans answered his ad in the Japan Times.

They were servicemen and wives, high school children, salesmen, teachers, musicians and a few U.S. beatniks living in Tokyo rabbit-warrens.

Because most of the foreign recruits had regular weekday jobs, dubbing was done between noon and midnight Saturdays and Sundays for three weekends. Some got tired waiting to do their bit and Cavallo had to make last-minute substitutions. He rounded up everybody in sight for whooping and hollering in crowd and battle scenes.

A scene of two or three as part of a varied dramatic pattern could have resulted in a really fine play — if Brown actually can write, a point I'll come to later.

The play I envisage would have to come out of the brig. It would give you an idea of what two or three of the inmates are really like, both before and after imprisonment. It would give an oddity look at the seemingly sadistic guards — do they enjoy what they're doing or do they loathe it, merely following orders? And either way, why?

Brown's argument, of course, would be that he is concerned only with showing up the pattern of the facelessness of military service; the need for unquestioning, senseless obedience.

In so doing he sacrifices almost totally the dramatic impact that comes from characterization, from individualism. His guards are all the same, his prisoners are identical.

This may be realism, but it is very bad dramatic thinking. There is nothing duller in the theater than a truly realistic representation of something unless it is only a relatively small part of an imaginative and creative whole.

The secret of successful theater realism is that it must only seem to be realism.

As to whether Brown really can write. I think he has a dramatic flair. But in this play there is very little writing as such.

The 11 prisoners may not talk to each other. They may only "sound off" their numbers to the four guards or reply to the guards' questions. There are several white lines at strategic spots around the meshed wire cage where the inmates bunk. They may not step across these lines without asking and getting permission.

The result is — and this is no exaggeration, truly — 90 percent of the so-called dialogue consists of the following:

"Sir, prisoner number one" — or whatever the number — "requests permission to cross the white line, sir." And a guard will reply, "Cross." These exchanges almost never stop.

'Sukiyaki' Edges 'Party' Out of Top Twenty Lead

CHICAGO (UPI) — The No. 1 and No. 2 recordings changed places this week in the United Press International ratings of the nation's top 20 tunes.

- (1-5) Sukiyaki, Kyu Sakamoto, Capitol.
- (1-5) It's My Party, Leslie Gore, Mercury.

The saffron robes of the Buddhist monks and the gleaming Buddhist temples are as much a part of Southeast Asia as the monsoons and the rice paddies.

Buddhism is the state religion of Thailand. Laos is Buddhist and in South Vietnam it is estimated that 70 per cent of the population is Buddhist.

Which helps to explain mounting United States concern over the harsh repressive measures of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem's government against the Buddhist majority there.

As a religious dispute between the Catholic president and the Buddhists, it is an internal matter and one thing. Its effect upon a war in which the United States is deeply committed and upon the feelings of millions of Southeast Asians toward the United States is still another.

Committed To Win

For, like it or not, many Americans in South Vietnam do not, the United States is committed to win the anti-Communist struggle in South Vietnam on a slogan "Win with Diem."

The United States is doing its best to disassociate itself from the present dispute.

UPI Correspondent Neil Sheehan reported on the basis of reliable sources in Saigon that, privately, U.S. Deputy Chief of Mission William Trueheart has urged Diem to settle the quarrel and get on with the war.

U.S. military commander Gen. Paul D. Harkins has ordered all American military advisers not to accompany Vietnamese units suppressing Buddhist demonstrations.

But this counts for little when the Vietnamese use easily identifiable airplanes and equipment obtained through American aid in their repressive actions and indelibly link the United States with them.

Once more from Saigon sources Sheehan reports that the United States so far has refrained from publicly rebuking Diem out of fear of losing what little influence it now has with his government.

Not First Snub

But U.S. representatives are finding it more and more difficult to maintain a position that Diem is leading a broad, popular movement, when at the same time it is obvious he is in deep political trouble with a majority of his own population.

This is far from the first time that Diem has ignored U.S. advice.

U.S. military forces in South Vietnam are there to advise and not to command.

Diem himself assumes direction of all military operations.

As a result, a large portion of the South Vietnamese Army is held immobile against a supposed threat of mass Communist attack across the 17th parallel from North Vietnam.

"Clear and hold" operations against Communist-held villages usually result in the immediate return of the Reds once government forces depart. Enemy casualties are exaggerated and some operations fail simply because of faulty intelligence.

U.S. aid has helped to stem the Communist advance in South Vietnam.

But, if events continue to follow their present course the fat will could be in the fire.

Dunlop Charges Compact Report Arouses Doubts

NEW ORLEANS, La. — The May 15th report of the Attorney General to Congress on the Interstate Compact to Conserve Oil and Gas is "a document carefully worded to arouse grave public doubt" about the performance of the domestic petroleum industry and "to hold up to question the confidence which may be placed" in State oil and gas conservation regulations, Robert G. Dunlop, president of Sun Oil Company, charged here yesterday.

He declared that the report lacks "any real evidence to support the insinuations."

Dunlop, speaking at the mid-year meeting of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, a group made up of governors and representatives of conservation agencies of the oil-producing states, asserted:

"The traditional posture of the Justice Department with respect to the Compact has been one of inscrutability. By repeatedly declining to express itself even when requested by Congressional committees to give an opinion, it has over the years conveyed the impression that it believed there was a mouse in the Compact but the cat, because of higher policy within the government, could not pounce — yet.

"Now," Dunlop continued, "in a sudden reversal which yet manages to infer a highly improper action on the part of the petroleum industry — namely, gaining control for its own ends over regulatory processes clearly belonging to the States — it not only endorses the Compact but asserts a Federal Government preeminence."

Dunlop called attention to the section of the report, submitted May 15th to Congress, which declares that "the discretionary Federal import controls confer on the Federal Government, as a practical matter, direct responsibility for the performance of the whole supply control program."

Pipeline Gas Co. Announces Four New Appointments

Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America announces appointment of four vice-presidents. They are: C. E. Holmes, executive vice-president; from vice-president, sales and rates.

O. C. Davis, vice president in charge of storage operations; from assistant vice president, storage division.

J. I. Poole Jr., vice president in charge of sales and rates; from assistant vice president, sales and rates.

The new officers were named at a June 4 meeting of the Board of Directors.

Holmes, who joined the Company in 1930 as a special problems engineer, is a graduate of Iowa State University. He was promoted to sales engineer in 1936; sales manager in 1943; and vice president in 1949.

Davis, a graduate of Texas A&M College, joined the Company in 1947 as an engineer. His later posts included station superintendent, assistant field superintendent of compressor stations, and general superintendent of storage. He was named assistant vice president, storage division, in June 1962.

Lutz joined the Company in 1946 as an engineer and has served as a plant engineer, station superintendent, and field superintendent of compressor stations. He was named director of employee and public relations in 1958. Lutz is a graduate of Chicago Technical College.

Poole joined NGPL in 1952 as an accountant. He became administrative assistant to the superintendent of accounting division in 1954; superintendent, general accounting department, 1955; rates manager, 1956; and assistant vice president, 1961. A certified public accountant, Poole attended Northwestern University.

Highway Taxes Not Going for Highways Only

NEW YORK — Nearly 40 per cent of the $25.8 billion collected in federal highway user taxes since mid-1956 has been spent for non-highway purposes, according to Oil Facts.

Latest government figures show that between July 1, 1956 and Dec. 31, 1962, the federal government diverted nearly $10.3 billion in such taxes from the highway program. By the spring of this year, the total approached $11 billion, the American Petroleum Institute publication said.

Diverted each year are revenues from the 10 per cent tax on passenger cars; the 8 per cent tax on automotive parts and accessories; and the lubricating oil tax of 6 cents a gallon. Combined, Oil Facts reports, these taxes produce about $1.8 billion a year.

Of the $15.5 billion in federal revenues actually spent on highways during the period, some $12.6 billion — or more than 80 per cent — came from the federal tax on gasoline which is now 4 cents a gallon, the publication says. The rest came from several miscellaneous user taxes.

Catholics Think Ecumenical Council Will Be Continued

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

That is the word in informed Catholic circles as the College of Cardinals prepared to meet in Rome next Wednesday to choose a successor to Good Pope John who is elected Pope.

The forces of renewal and reform released by Pope John have grown too strong to be quietly squelched by terminating his Ecumenical Council.

Even conservative members of the hierarchy, who have always looked askance at the council, privately concede that world opinion would be outraged if it were not reconvened.

There is considerable less agreement, however, on the likely date for resuming council sessions.

Some church officials believe that the new Pope could allow the council to proceed on the same schedule laid down by John XXIII. That would mean reconvening on Sept. 8.

Others think that the new Pope will want a few months to settle into his vast responsibilities before the council reopens. They anticipate that the next session will be postponed until after Easter (March 29) of 1964.

The newly organized Commission on Religion and Race of the National Council of Churches has already gone to work, mustering church support for new civil rights legislation.

The commission is headed by Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church. It was created by the general board of the National Council at its meeting in New York last week to cope with what the board called an "unmistakable crisis" in race relations.

The commission plans to invite religious leaders of all faiths to a special assembly in Washington within the next two weeks to make a united appeal to Congress for passage of new civil rights legislation. Purpose of the assembly, officials say, is to demonstrate Protestant-Catholic-Jewish solidarity in the struggle for racial justice, and to show that it is "a national moral issue, not a regional problem."

Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg will serve as honorary chairman of the 13th annual "Washington Pilgrimage" which will bring religious leaders of all faiths to the nation's capital next week (June 20-22).

The pilgrimage is sponsored by Religious Heritage of America, Inc. Its purpose is to emphasize the vital role that religion has played in shaping America's history and ideals.

The Very Rev. Robert I. Gannon, S. J., former president of Fordham University, rebuked American Catholics this week for their poor record of convert-winning.

In a commencement address at a Catholic University in Washington, D. C., Fr. Gannon noted that the number of converts has been dropping steadily several years, and the 1962 total—125,000—barely exceeded the 118,000 persons who left the church during the year.

"Last year, it took 340 Catholics 385 days to make one American like their church well enough to join it," he said. "In the same length of time, 13 enthusiastic Mormons and 9 Jehovah's Witnesses did what it took 340 Catholics to do."

Americans lost an average of 16 days per person through illness and injury in the past year, which included six days of confinement in bed.
