Soviet Space Team Lands After Breaking Records

MOSCOW (UPI)—The world's first man and woman space team returned to earth safely today. First to land was Valentina Tereshkova, first woman to soar through space. She was followed more than two hours later by cosmonaut Valery F. Bykovsky, who set new space and distance records with a flight of nearly five days around the earth. The official Soviet news agency Tass announced the landings. Miss Tereshkova, a 26-year-old bachelor girl, spent about three days orbiting the earth in a flight that was longer than that of all four American astronauts who have been rocketed into orbit. Bykovsky broke the distance and endurance records set by his fellow cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev last August.

Land Hours Apart
Bykovsky, married and the father of an infant boy, landed at 2:06 p.m. Moscow time (7:06 a.m. EDT). Tass said he would have completed five days in space at 3 p.m. local time, but he already had covered around 2 million miles in space.

Valentina landed at 11:20 a.m. (4:20 a.m. EDT). Tass said this was just short of three full days in orbit which she would have attained at 12:30 p.m.

Tass said both Bykovsky and Valentina landed northeast of Karaganda, Kazakhstan. Friends, relatives, other cosmonauts and sports commissioners—possibly to certify the space records—were on hand to meet the two Soviet space travelers when they landed. Tass said:

Details Unknown
The official statement did not say whether the cosmonauts rode their space ships to earth. After a similar twin flight by cosmonauts Nikolayev and Pavel Popovich last August, both were announced as having landed by parachute south of their craft in a region south of Karaganda.

Bykovsky and Tereshkova have returned to earth, the news agency said in announcing the end of the Soviet space spectacular. At the same time Moscow television flashed portraits of the two space fliers on the screens.

The official announcement said Valentina and Bykovsky, 28, had landed successfully "in the pre-designated areas" of the Soviet Union.

The official announcement said both cosmonauts "feel well."

Orbit Sinks Lower
It had been generally believed at one time that Bykovsky would try for an eight-day record and that Valentina would stay up with

Wheat Program Proposed to Fill Requirements

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., today proposed a wheat program which he said would probably fill President Kennedy's requirements for any new wheat legislation this year.

McGovern said the program of mandatory production controls and high price supports—overwhelmingly rejected by farmers May 21—could be converted with a brief bill into a voluntary compliance program.

Under such a program, he said, farmers choosing to comply with the controls proposed for the 1964 crop would get price supports of about $1.95 a bushel, plus payments for land taken out of grain production.

Those cooperating will get marketing certificates for about three-fourths of their 1964 crop. These certificates, which farmers could sell, would be worth 70 cents a bushel. This would be added to the money the farmers could make either from open market sales or putting the grain under government supports at about $1.25 a bushel.

Britain's Conservatives Searching for Possible Successor to Macmillan

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan sought to work out an agreement with the opposition Labor party today on further investigation into the Profumo affair that threatens to force his resignation.

Even as Macmillan prepared for today's meeting with Labor party leader Harold Wilson, outspoken Conservatives were discussing possible successors to the 69-year-old prime minister.

Wilson was expected to press for an investigating committee with broad powers to requisition any document or subpoena any witness in a searching probe of the scandal centered on resigned War Minister John Profumo.

Conservatives feared such a committee might subject their party to further embarrassment. Macmillan had first offered the more discreet investigation of a privy councillor's inquiry, to be followed by a tribunal if necessary.

Informed observers said it was only a matter of time before the Conservatives force Macmillan to make way for a younger man.

The government crisis erupted when Profumo, 48, admitted he lied in the House of Commons about his relationship with Christine Keeler, a 21-year-old party girl. Profumo said there was nothing improper about the relationship, but it later turned out he was having an illicit love affair with her.

The affair took on security implications when Miss Keeler revealed she was the mistress of

Extermination—The Hard Way

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Pete Ciaramitaro, 46, had mice in his house trailer. He sealed off the trailer Monday and lighted a fumigation bomb underneath. The bomb ignited leaking butane gas, and the explosion shot flames high into the air, setting off ammunition in the trailer. While firemen dodged bullets, a television set blew out and crashed through the side of the trailer. Ciaramitaro no longer has a mouse in his trailer.

Cardinals Begin Election Ritual For New Pontiff

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church, dressed in the violet of mourning, today prayed at a Mass of the Holy Ghost for inspiration before entering a conclave to elect a successor to Pope John XXIII.

All but two of the 80 princes of the church were on hand for the election.

The cardinals were scheduled to enter the sealed-off conclave area of the Vatican's apostolic palace at 6 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT). They will not come out until they choose a new leader of the world's half-billion Catholics.

Actual balloting does not begin until Thursday morning. After entering the conclave area this evening, the cardinals will spend their time getting settled in their "cells."

This morning, led by the French born dean of the Sacred College, Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, the cardinals filed into St. Peter's Basilica to ask the Holy Ghost for guidance in their papal election, considered by most church officials here as the most important in modern times.

Tornadoes, Hail Wallop Texas

By United Press International
A tornado demolished a corrugated iron warehouse at Andrews today during a heavy rain and wind storm.

A large area of west, central, and northeast Texas also had storms packing hail, brilliant lightning and thunder. Torrents of rain that measured up to nearly five inches swamped the lower Rio Grande Valley.

The twister dipped down at 2:30 a.m. and ripped through a warehouse owned by Milwhite Mud Sales Co. It also turned over a trailer and whipped a 2-by-4 inch board so hard that it stuck into the side of another plank.

Andrews got 1.10 inches of rain in five hours and winds roared at 60 miles an hour during the 30 minute storm.

Odessa police received three reports of a tornado but it was not sighted by official sources. Almost all of the Valley got 1.5 to 2 inches and Rio Hondo, eight miles east of Harlingen, had 4.77. Streets were flooded and water seeped into some homes.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted more rain today in every part of the state. The mercury was expected to ease slightly higher than Tuesday.

A 30-minute rain and hail storm pelted the Amarillo area about dusk Tuesday and light showers, brought on by a mass of cool air, also peppered North Central Texas.

The Panhandle storms dumped 66 of an inch of rain on Amarillo. Small hail fell for 30 minutes in an area north of Amarillo, according to a Weather bureau forecaster.

Rain Continues In Pampa Area; More Predicted

Pampa was drenched again late Tuesday with heavy thundershowers as what is reminiscent of a monsoon seems to continue. The rain fell heavily at first and then settled down to a steady shower.

The Pampa News rain gauge recorded .64 inch. The skies blackened with clouds between 6:30 p.m. and sunset, and the rains began about 7 p.m. Panhandle received .25-inch accompanied by a severe electrical storm that interfered off and on with the city's power system. In a five-day forecast issued this afternoon, the Amarillo Weather Bureau predicted the daily afternoon and evening showers would continue for the remainder of the week.

Weather Satellite Sends Back 'Good Quality' Pictures

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—America's seventh "weather-eye" satellite rode into orbit aboard a three-stage rocket in a spectacular space shot today, and sent back "good quality" pictures on its first try. A 90-foot Delta rocket, scoring its 18th straight success, hurled the camera-carrying Tiro-7 into space at 5:50 a.m. EDT.

Less than two hours later, the 297-pound satellite swung back across the United States, snapped a series of weather photographs at an altitude of 400 miles, and relayed the pictures to a ground tracking station at Wallops Island, Va.

The federal space agency said the pictures "appeared to be of very good quality," indicating the complex Tiro-7 and its pair of television "eyes" were working properly.

It was the first training exercise for Tiro-7's major task—that of searching out and tracking giant storms, such as hurricanes and typhoons on earth.

Details of the initial photographs were not revealed immediately.

Scientists said the hatbox-shaped satellite was traveling once around the world every 97 minutes in a near-perfect orbit ranging from 356 miles to 400 miles up.

At this altitude, Tiro-7 will train its eyes on the world and particularly on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans where tropical storms abound during the summer months.

JOHN A. BREWER
... New scout executive

Scout Executive Named to Adobe Walls Council

The Adobe Walls Council, Boy Scouts of America, today announced the employment of John A. Brewer of Houston as scout executive of the 15 county Council to succeed Brantly Hudson, who has been promoted to the executive ship at Beaumont.

The selection of Brewer was made by a 12-man committee appointed by Bob Curry, council president.

Brewer is currently serving as assistant scout executive in the Sam Houston Area Council with headquarters at Houston. He has served in professional Scouting since June, 1948. He began his career as a district executive at Marion, Ohio, and after three years on this assignment moved to Beaumont as a district executive. In 1954 he joined the staff of the Houston Council and has served as Council secretary, executive, field director, and assistant scout executive. Brewer will report to his new position on or before August 1.

The Brewer family consists of his wife, Betty Lee, and three children—Becky Lee, 16, Margaret Ann, 14, and William Arthur, 10. The Brewers are members of the Presbyterian Church.

Brewer was selected as the Scout Executive of the Adobe Walls Council from a large number of professional records submitted to the local selection committee, and was chosen from among three prospects actually interviewed by the committee. As scout executive of the council, Brewer will serve as the administrative secretary to the volunteer executive board and will direct the professional and office staff of the council.

President Requests Demonstration Halt During Consideration

By ALVIN SPIVAK
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy sent Congress an "imperative" package of strong civil rights legislation today and appealed for a halt in racial demonstrations while the program is under consideration.

He submitted a series of proposals designed to end discrimination in jobs, voting, schools and access to restaurants, hotels and other accommodations.

And he urged Congress to stay in session as long as necessary to enact the program, warning that the alternative "will be continued, if not increased, racial strife."

"Enactment... at this session of the Congress—however long it may take and however troublesome it may be—is imperative," he declared in a 5,500-word special message to the House and Senate.

Common Sense Approach
The President said his legislative proposals were based on "common sense and common justice," and added:

"Rancor, violence, disunity and national shame can only hamper our national standing and security."

Kennedy deplored the rash of street demonstrations and parades that have been led by Negro integration leaders in recent months in such cities as Birmingham, Philadelphia, Jackson, Miss., Boston, and Cambridge, Md.

"This has happened because these racial injustices are real and no other remedy was in sight," the Chief Executive commented. "But as feelings have risen in recent days, these demonstrations have increasingly endangered lives and properties, in some instances unnecessarily divided communities."

Kennedy made no direct reference to Negro threats to stage a sit-in at the Capitol if his legislative proposals become bogged

Murray Absolved Of Violations in Oil Deal Profits

AUSTIN (UPI)—William J. Murray stood exonerated today of any criminal violations in oil deals the state claims brought him $1.7 million while he was a member of the Texas Railroad Commission.

"I was always confident a review of the evidence would result in complete exoneration," Murray said when he heard of the Travis County grand jury's report.

The grand jury strongly criticized the publicity over the Murray case saying it was "inconsiderate of the traditional prestige and historic secrecy of the grand jury proceedings."

Committed No Crime
The grand jury said Murray committed no criminal acts in oil dealings in his 16 years on the commission.

Murray resigned April 10 after a newspaper charged he profited from an oil lease in Throckmorton County while a member of the commission.

Since then, a report by Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr to Gov. John B. Connally said Murray made more than $1.7 million in business interests outside his regular commission salary while he was a Railroad Commissioner.

Carr said he was "greatly surprised" the grand jury's report issued late Tuesday "criticized the right of the public to know."

"Gov. Connally requested a thorough investigation by this office of the Murray matter," Carr said, "long before the grand jury got into the picture."

Both Got Reports
"When this office completed its work," he said, "we made a report to both the governor and the grand jury simultaneously."

Former Civil Appeals Judge Jim Langdon of El Paso, has replaced Murray on the commission.

"After reviewing all testimony and material given to the Travis County grand jury by the attorney general's office, state investigating agencies and the Travis County district attorney's office,"

Officials Think More Troops Pulled Out of Cuba Than Had Been Revealed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—High administration officials said today they had evidence that many more Soviet troops had been removed from Cuba than had been publicly known.

They said intelligence information also indicated that Russia's four groups of combat troops in Cuba—previously totaling 5,000 to 6,000 men—had either been partially removed or dispersed into other units. But the administration is not sure of its information. There are disputes among U.S. experts how to evaluate it. Some officials, concerned daily with Cuban policy, appear not to have been given all the information known to the White House.

The first official report of the new information came from accounts of a private "background" briefing that Secretary of State Dean Rusk gave a group of newsmen, who invited him to dinner Monday night.

Rusk's report has now been leaked through a number of channels and essentially confirmed by several administration officials.

Rusk gave no numbers. But he said there was evidence of a "substantial sending out" of Soviet forces in Cuba to a greater extent than the public has been told.

The last public report in any detail by the administration on Soviet military strength in Cuba was made by President Kennedy at a news conference April 3.

Kennedy said the "rough calculation" of the number of Russian troops in Cuba at the height of the October missile crisis was 21,000 to 22,000. He said an estimated 5,000 were withdrawn in November when the Russians pulled their long range missiles out of Cuba, and an estimated 4,000 more were withdrawn by April.

At another news conference April 24, Kennedy said 4,000 or 5,000 had left since January. The figures, depending on which ones are used, indicated 11,000 to 13,000 troops remained in April. At that time administration officials also told newsmen there was no evidence any of the 5,000 to 6,000 combat troops included in the totals had left.

Harvest Will End Saturday Says Office

The Wheat Control Office of the Texas Employment Commission says in its most recent Farm Labor Bulletin that wheat harvest operations in the Pampa area should be complete by Saturday. This report includes Pampa, Miami, Canadian, Wheeler and Lipscomb.

The final report is that dry-land in this area is yielding from five to 15 bushels per acre and irrigated acreage is averaging 30 bushels.

Dry-land harvest in the Amarillo area is averaging six to eight bushels and is 80 per cent complete. Irrigated acreage is 50 per cent complete and is averaging 30 to 35 bushels per acre there.

Harvest in the Borger, Spearman, Perryton, Dalhart, Chaning, Stratford and Dumas area averages three to seven bushels per acre, dry-land acreage and 25 bushels per acre, irrigated.

The Texas crop report set Texas wheat production at an estimated 40,640,000 bushels, which is the same as last month's forecast, but about three million bushels below last year's crop.

Week end rains over the Panhandle area again stopped harvest operations but they will start again as soon as the ground is dry enough to move equipment into the fields.

Bond Sales Total $11,787 In May

Bond sales in Gray County totaled $11,787 during May according to George B. Cree Jr., chairman of the County Savings Bonds Committee.

Savings Bonds sales in Texas during May were $11,844,620. This represents an increase of three per cent over May, 1962.

"I was happy to note the sales increase in Texas during May and feel confident that this is a direct result of the outstanding support given to the Freedom Bond Drive by bond volunteers, newspapers, radio and TV stations, organizations, and others. The Texas Bond Committee salutes these groups for their patriotic support of the Bond Program," Cree said.

But he pointedly said: "This problem is now before the Congress. Unruly tactics or pressures will not help and may hinder the effective consideration of these measures."

"While the Congress is completing its work, I urge all community leaders, Negro and white, to do their utmost to lessen tensions and exercise self-restraint. The Congress should have an opportunity to freely work its will."

Asks Responsible Leaders

Kennedy said his program would enable reasonable and responsible spokesmen on both sides to wrest leadership from "the purveyors of hate and violence" and provide "solutions which should be acceptable to all fair-minded men."

His specific recommendations followed closely what had been anticipated but there was one major surprise. Kennedy asked Congress to give the President optional authority to cut off federal funds for local programs where "racial discrimination occurs."

Details Of Plan

His legislative proposals would: —"Guarantee all citizens equal access to the services and facilities of hotels, restaurants, places of amusement and retail establishments."

—Empower the attorney general to file suits in federal courts on behalf of Negro students seeking admission to all-white schools.

—Alleviate unemployment among Negroes by broadening the federal manpower development and training program, expanding the pending youth employment bill, and passing legislation to spur vocational education, among other steps.

—Elimination of racial discrimination in employment through "pending federal fair employment practices legislation, applicable to both employers and unions."

Billfold Lost, Billfold Found

John D. Snyder of Marshalltown, Iowa, ran into a bit of bad luck on his tour of Pampa last night.

After visiting two or three night spots, Snyder notified police shortly after 10:30 p.m. that his billfold containing $440 in $20 bills was missing.

Snyder, stopping at a mid-town hotel, told police he could have lost the billfold somewhere in downtown Pampa.

Meanwhile, police were notified that a billfold in a purse stolen from a parked car on the Moose Lodge parking lot last Saturday night had been recovered.

The billfold, belonging to Mrs. Marguerite Puckett of White Deer, was found in the ladies lounge at the Blue Bonnet Inn and turned over to the proprietor. Police said $25 in cash was missing but the billfold still contained a $90 cashier's check.

Smoke Report Investigated

The Pampa Fire Department was called to Bentley's Department store at 113 N. Cuyler this morning, but could find nothing wrong on preliminary investigation.

The call came at 10:40 a.m. reporting that someone had smelled smoke in the store. Firemen found no traces of smoke and said that the smell did not appear to be that of smoke.

Further investigation was slated to determine if the smell was from a gas leak or other causes.

Billie Sol Estes Sued by Sheriff

AMARILLO (UPI)—Sheriff Lowell Sharp has sued Billie Sol Estes and Commercial Solvents Corp. of New York for $350,000, charging conspiracy.

Sharp accused Estes and Commercial Solvents with entering into a conspiracy that forced him to sell his Plainview fertilizer company.

He said Estes purchased the firm, The Plains Fertilizer Co., Inc., in November, 1959 for $32,080. Sharp said the true value of the firm was $100,000.

Sharp's suit claimed the conspiracy was a violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

The suit also said the conspiracy resulted in Estes-financed fertilizer being sold to farmers for $90 a ton. Sharp said the going price of anhydrous ammonia before the Estes-Commercial Solvents deal, was $120 a ton.

Dear Abby....
Understand More
Complain Less!
 By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I married a widow who had a four-year-old daughter. We are very happy and get along very well, but her continued close relationship with her ex-in-laws irritates me. I never knew her first husband and, although I have heard that he was a fine fellow, I am not particularly interested in socializing with his parents. I prefer that my wife forget them. To what extent am I obligated to be friendly to these people?

SECOND HUSBAND
DEAR SECOND: If you love your wife, don't resent her close relationship with her ex-in-laws. She is no longer their daughter-in-law, but her child is THEIR grandchild, and always will be. And they probably love her all the more because she is a part of the son they lost. No one expects you to pretend a warmth that is not sincere, but be understanding, and don't ask your wife to "forget" them.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a good man. He has worked hard and has attained a fair amount of success. He travels quite a bit, his investments have been good to him. My complaint? He brags! (I even hate the word.) I cringe for him. He is rather intolerant of criticism and I'd be afraid of the consequences if I ever told him how embarrassing his bragging is. He'd probably never open his mouth in public again if I protested for me? Perhaps other long-suffering wives will bless you, too.

DEAR WIFE: I protest!

DEAR ABBY: Every time I go to my girl friend's house her father hits me up for a buck so he can bet it on a horse with me. I've never won anything yet, and I'm not that crazy about gambling. Should I keep quiet and keep handing him dollars, or should I tell him I'm not interested in horses?

NO BETTER
DEAR NO: Quit handing him dollars and tell your girl friend you are no better. If she doesn't tip off her old man, she's no better.

DEAR ABBY: I always thought you had pretty good sense until I noticed you agreed that a husband should help his wife with the housework. I raised 14 children and my husband never once changed a baby or washed a dish. I think a man who works from eight to ten hours a day does enough, and it's not his place to do housework. I washed with a tub and board, and never owned a washing machine until 22 years ago. I've been married 43 years. The younger women are getting so lazy it's pitiful.

Pampa Business and Professional Club Member In District Office

Mrs. Jewel Dean Lewis, immediate past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club in Pampa, was installed as a director of District 9 at the state convention held June 7-9 in the Robert Driscoll Hotel in Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Jewel Dean Lewis, district director

The theme, "Today Is Our Opportunity", was carried out in convention business directed by Mrs. Willie Meyers, state president.

New officers installed during the three-day meeting were Hope Conroe of Lubbock, president; Modell Scruggs of Houston, first vice president; Thelma Jarrott of Marshall, second vice president; Rosa Allala of Brownfield, third vice president; Francis Dare of Robstown, recording secretary; Estell Partee, of El Paso, treasurer. Mrs. Dorothy Evans of Lubbock was installing officer.

Keynote speaker was Mrs. Dorothy Ford of Los Angeles, Calif., who is national second vice president and spoke on the topic "Into Tomorrow Already Walks Tomorrow."

Attending from Pampa in addition to Mrs. Lewis, were Mrs. Laura Belle Cornelison and Mrs. Mable Ford, incoming Pampa president, who participated in a World Affairs Workshop.

Pampa delegates report that all 15 district presidents were present for the district presidents' meeting conducted by Dorothy Atkins, associate conductress; Peggy Duckworth, marshal; Dora Waldrop, organizer; Ida Shubring, warder; John Kenney, sentinel.

The five-star points installed were Bernice Hoskins, Adah; Ernestine Campbell, Ruth; Betty Crawford, Esther; Evelyn Boling, Martha and Pearl Genett, Electa.

The program, following installation, included addresses by the worthy matron and patron.

Mrs. Evelyn Boling was presented with the past worthy matron's pin with a gift from her officers.

Mrs. Saxon was given a year book by her officers and the worthy patron's gavel.

Mr. Boyd received a Masonic Bible from his wife, Mrs. Mabel Boyd and his daughter, Mrs. Swen Saxon.

The worthy matron presented each of her officers with an orchid corsage.

The Rainbow Girls of Skellytown assisted in the program. Miss Linda Burgin sang "His Hands" and Miss Joan Jarvis sang "Star of the East" with Miss Ann Harlan playing the piano. Miss Beverly Harlan played the musical prelude before installation and accompanied the Rainbow Girls as they sang "The Rainbow Song."

Refreshments were served in the dining room by Mrs. Orma Harlan who was assisted by the Rainbow Girls. The table was decorated with "praying hands" with the worthy matron's colors of orchid and white in the table appointments.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Nola Jarvis at a table appointed with a floral arrangement, tapers, and a hand crocheted cloth centered with a star made by the worthy matron's grandmother, Mrs. Ida Boyd of Burnett.

Mrs. Elma Bailey visited her son, Bob Bailey and family in Rule recently and attended the graduation exercises of the Rule High School, where her grandson, Mike, graduated. Mike plans to attend North Texas State University at Denton this fall on a football scholarship. He has lettered four years in football, basketball and track.

CORRECTION: It was Lyda Mullins of Twilight Acres, and not Mrs. Joe Mullins, who is spending some time with her two daughters in California.

Mrs. W. J. Williams was a visitor Thursday from Pampa, Okla. Mrs. Williams is visiting her daughter, Mrs. L. C. Isom and family.

Mrs. Ola McNabb of Kingsbury, Calif., is visiting her friend, Mrs. Libby Trimble and was also a visitor at the Center Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Bandy of Vernon visited her mother, Mrs. P. H. Gates, and took the twins home after a week's visit with grandmother.

Mrs. Mae Burton and Mrs. Lourenis Couch of Purcell are visiting Mrs. Burton's daughter, Mrs. Flora Mae Herr and were guests at the Center.

Mrs. Doris Moseley of Gage, Okla. is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moseley.

Was interesting to visit with Mrs. Hattie V. Seiber, who has come back to the Pfhandle from St. Louis, Mo., and is at present making her home in the Coronado Inn. She and her companion, Mrs. Pauline Schaninger came to the Center Thursday and we hope they will become regulars.

Mrs. Seiber told me of her early years when her father lived at Panhandle and worked for the railroad in 1891. Mrs. Seiber lived many years in Miami and seemed to enjoy being back among old friends.

Misses Judy and Kathy Bailey of Rule are visiting their grandmother Mrs. Elma Bailey, 436 Warren and with other relatives and friend.

Mrs. Irma Tubbs was telling me about her fishing trip recently down in the Ozarks, near Eureka Springs, Ark., where she went with her daughter and family, the Gene Southwicks. She reports fishing very good. Mrs. Tubbs is our prize fisherman, or fisherwomen, rather.

We are glad to report that Elmer Frasher was able to leave the hospital Wednesday and is convalescing nicely at home. Says they miss the Center and will be back as soon as his strength will permit.

Ray Sanger and daughter, Stephanie of Wichita Falls, are visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Mollie Hethcock this week. Mr. Sanger is combining business with pleasure; he is a salesman for oil well supplies.

Hostesses for our Thursday afternoon meeting was Delta Kappa Gamma with Mmes. Faye Dellis Adams, D. V. Biggers, Paul Bowers, Jack Foster, R. N. Sanford, W. L. Parker, Miss Mary Reeve, president, Miss Claudia Everly, as hostesses. Angel Cake, ice cream, coffee and mints were served during the refreshment hour.

Door prizes were awarded Mmes. Clara Blithe, Martha Carter and Mr. W. R. Hamilton.

Altruists serving were Mmes. Mabel Hukill, Louise Sewell, Lena Pearl Hobbs and Jay Flanagan, chairman.

Gray Ladies providing transportation were Mmes. O. F. Kreimeyer, Jess Hatcher, A. D. Hills.

Mary Ellen Pando, Gary Frederiksen Solemnize Vows In Double-Ring Rites

GROOM (Spl) — Miss Mary Ellen Pando, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Pando of 3311 Paramount, became the bride of Gary Bruce Frederiksen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Frederiksen of 4011 Terrace Drive, Amarillo. He is the grandson of Mr. William Frederiksen and Mrs. O. R. Major, both of Groom.

Officiating for the double ring ceremony on Saturday evening in Convent Presbyterian Church was the Rev. Lynn B. Rankin, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Amarillo.

After a wedding trip to Greenwood Springs, Colo., the couple are residing at 3501 Monroe in Amarillo.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk organza dress with a dropped waistline and bouffant skirt flowing into a chapel train. The bodice was enhanced by a Sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves with re-embroidered flowers. She carried a cascade of white roses.

Traditional nuptial selections were sung by Ed Hicks and Gene Bartlett, accompanied by organist, Carol Lynn.

Serving the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Robert T. Pando. Bridesmaids were Misses Judy Rice, Susan Allen and Paula Townsend.

Stanley Brandt, Jess Beard and George Benham.

Mrs. Mary Bullock spent last week with her grandson, Earl Rice Jr. and family in Odessa.

A joke that's apropos: A banker went to the doctor for a check-up. Finally, after a long examination, the Dr. told him, "You're as sound as a dollar." "As bad as all that!" exclaimed the banker and fainted dead away. Be seeing you. Love makes the world go round, Mrs. Wagner.

Maris Leading Without Mantle

By United Press International
 It's still Roger Maris again today in the New York Yankee clubhouse and around the American League.

Because the man who set the all-time mark of 61 homers in a season in 1961 only to be one of the disappointments of the 1962 campaign is proving that he does not need Mickey Mantle to soften up pitchers for him. In short, that he, too, can be a leader.

The experts questioned that last year when Maris failed to hit while Mantle was out of the lineup and they chortled that it would happen again this season when Mickey suffered a broken bone in his left foot which will sideline him until sometime next month.

It's a wonderful theory for those who hope this will be one of those rare years in which the Yankees do not win the American League pennant but it's being drowned out by the thunder of Maris' bat.

The Yankees have reeled off five straight victories and it's no coincidence that Maris has walked away at a .500 clip during those five games. The 9-for-18 spurge has lifted his season average to .289 and he's connected for 11 homers and driven in 21 runs.

Maris made it easy for Whitey Ford to post his ninth win of the season Tuesday night when he hit two homers and a single in the Yankees' 10-5 triumph over the Washington Senators. Tom Tresh and Tony Kubek also homered and Hector Lopez had a triple as the Yankees moved a full game ahead of the Chicago White Sox, who lost to the Minnesota Twins, 5-3.

The Cleveland Indians defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 7-3, the Boston Red Sox routed the Detroit Tigers, 9-0, and the Los Angeles Angels scored an 11-inning, 2-1 victory over the Kansas City Athletics in other AL games.

Harmon Killebrew's 11th homer of the season helped the Twins drop the White Sox a full game behind the Yankees. Jim Perry pitched eight-hit ball for seven innings and Bill Dailey closed it out with two strong relief innings. Joel Horlen suffered his second defeat against four wins for the White Sox.

Barry Latman pitched a five-hitter and contributed a two-run double to an attack that carried the Indians to their sixth straight victory and their 16th in their last 18 games. Latman struck out 10 en route to his third win. Willie Kirkland homered for the Indians and Jim Gentile connected for the Orioles.

The Red Sox spoiled Charlie Dressen's debut as manager of the Tigers as Earl Wilson pitched a four-hitter and homers by Eddie Bressoud and Dick Stuart paced Boston's 10-inning attack. It was the eighth straight loss for the Tigers, playing their first game under Dressen after Bob Scheffing was fired.

A wild pitch with the bases filled by John Wyatt enabled the Angels to score the winning run against the Athletics in the 11th inning. Ken McBride pitched a three-hitter and struck out seven in going the distance to win his seventh game against six losses.

By United Press International
 Lew Burdette always was at his best when he could smell the green stuff.

He proved it in the 1957 World Series when he beat the New York Yankees three times to give the Milwaukee Braves their one and only world championship and he's showed it at other times when big dough was at stake.

The St. Louis Cardinals gambled last Sunday that the 36-year-old righthander still had "it" when they acquired him in a trade with the Braves and they got their first dividend Tuesday night when Burdette pitched them to a 6-2 victory over the New York Mets.

The win enabled the Cards—the dark, dark horse in the National League race—to retain their slender hold on first place. The acquisition of Burdette was consistent with the Cardinal plan to go for all or nothing at all this year—meaning the first Cardinal pennant since 1916.

Burdette was staked to a five-run lead in the first inning and went on to raise his season record to 7-5 as he struck out seven and walked only one. Carlton Willey, kayoed in two thirds of an inning, suffered his sixth loss against five wins.

A man with a sense of humor to go with his love for a buck, Burdette must have been hilarious as the Cardinals poured over their five first-inning runs with the help of three walks, a sacrifice fly, an error, a balk, a wild pitch and a passed ball.

The San Francisco Giants walloped the Los Angeles Dodgers, 9-3, the Milwaukee Braves beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-5, the Cincinnati Reds topped the Philadelphia Phillies, 2-1, and the Chicago Cubs beat the Houston Colts, 3-1, in other National League games.

A two-run single by Willie McCovey and a double by Orlando Cepeda were the big blows of a six-run third inning that paved the way for the Giants' victory over the Dodgers. Jack Sanford was tagged for 10 hits, including three by Ron Fairly, to raise his record to 9-5.

Joe Torre tripled and scored the tying run in the eighth inning and then hit a two-run homer in the 10th to give the Braves' Bob Saw his third win against four losses. Bill Mazeroski homered for the Pirates, whose Al McBean suffered his second loss compared with seven wins.

The Reds pulled out their victory over rookie Ray Culo and the Phillies when Vada Pinson got a bad-hop triple to open the ninth inning and Johnny Edwards ultimately singled with the bases filled. The win went to Al Worthington, who worked only one third of an inning, but the big news for Cincinnati was the strong eight-inning, eight-hit and one-run pitching of Bob Purkey.

Lindy McDaniel's ninth-inning relief preserved Dick Ellsworth's ninth victory of the season for the Cubs—and his fifth straight over the Colts. Billy Williams paced the Cubs' seventh-inning attack with three hits as Bob Bruce suffered his fifth defeat.

Randy Roten Resigns, Going To Cedar Hill

Pampa High School assistant football and track coach Randy Roten has submitted his resignation to the school board, announced Superintendent of Schools Jack Edmondson yesterday.

Roten, Coach Otis Holladay said, has resigned to take a position as head coach at Class A Cedar Hill, effective next semester. Cedar Hill is near Dallas, and Roten will be head coach in football and track.

Roten came with Holladay when he took over before the 1962 grid season. Prior to coming to Pampa, he was backfield coach at Class AA Duncanville, a short distance from his new school.

Last year, Roten was head B team coach, guiding the squad to a 2-8 record, and assistant track coach under Norman Phillips.

Said Holladay: "Randy is a real fine young coach, and we hate to lose him. But I have made it a policy to never stop a coach who has a chance to move up. As a matter of fact I am very pleased to see one of our coaches step into a head coaching job. Randy is a fine coach and has been learning more every day. I am sure he will be a success at Cedar Hill, and the staff and I want to wish him all the luck in the world. We'll really miss him."

Edmondson said that interviews are currently being conducted to find a successor to Roten, both from inside the school system and outside. A new coach will be decided on in the very near future, reported Edmondson.

Dig That Cassius Jive, 'Enry Cooper Falls In 5

LONDON (UPI)—Unbeaten and unmuzzled Cassius Clay, waving between anger and jubilation over his 19th straight professional victory, tentatively accepted a September world championship fight today.

The "Louisville Lip," who climbed off the canvas Tuesday night before 55,000 screaming fans and fulfilled his forecast of a fifth-round kayo victory over England's Henry Cooper, told Jack Nilon, advisor to world champion Sonny Liston:

"I'll take the September title fight—if the price is right."

Nilon replied immediately: "I've come 3,500 miles to get you. The price will be right. You can have the fight in September."

No place nor date was mentioned.

That remarkable passage-words between 21-year-old Clay and wealthy Nilon of Chester, Pa., was based upon their unmentioned conclusion that champion Liston will keep his crown in the return title fight with ex-champion Floyd Patterson at Las Vegas, Nev., July 22.

Clay was elated today because he had achieved his technical knockout in the round he had predicted.

Referee Tommy Little, 55, stopped the bout at 1:15 of the fifth round because British Empire champion Cooper, 29, was a bloody mess—bleeding from a one and one-half inch gash across his left brow and from three smaller cuts beneath the swollen left eye. The butchery had begun with a small nick over the left eye in the first round.

When the bout was halted—partially because the huge crowd had been screaming "stop it! stop it!"—Cassius proudly held up five fingers and waved them at the fans.

"Mighty Mouth" Clay has scored so many of his 16 kayoes in a predicted round that he already is rated the ring's foremost all-time prophet.

Cooper, receiving a guarantee of $60,000, suffered his ninth defeat in 37 fights and his sixth knockout—the fourth on face-cuts.

Clay, guaranteed $75,000 with the alternate privilege of taking 27½ per cent of the net gate, planned to fly back to the United States late today.

Babe Ruth League

Ideal defeated Cree, 14-5, in a Babe Ruth League game at Optimist Park last night. The game was cut to five innings by the rain, and the second game, between Kist and Fannin, was rained out, to be replayed at a later date.

Johnny Marsh took the win, allowing seven hits, walking two and striking out four. Jerry Largin took the loss, with Ken Emerson in relief as Ideal picked up eight hits and seven walks.

Larry Daniels was practically a one-man gang as he batted in five of eight runs for the winners in the opening frame. Larry batted twice and connected for a home run and a double. Roy Harper had two hits for Ideal and Don Whitney a pair of safe blows for Cree.

Vol Athletic Board Meets On Wyatt

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—The 20-man athletic board of the University of Tennessee meets today to decide the fate of head coach Bowden Wyatt.

Whatever the board decides in its closed meeting will be turned over to the university board of trustees which meets Thursday. No public announcement is expected until the trustees make a formal decision.

Wyatt, 47-year-old disciple of the late Gen. Robert R. Neyland, is a patient in a Virginia hospital which he entered shortly after several Tennessee newspapers speculated that his eight-year reign as head football coach was about over. There also have been published reports that he would be granted a one-year leave while a member of the present coaching staff takes over on an interim basis.

Nothing official has been said by any member of the athletic board or board of trustees. Dr. Andrew Holt, university president, would say only that any decision would be fair to all concerned.

Reports that Wyatt would be fired sprang up after a Southeastern Conference meeting at Ocala, Fla., last month.

The university had announced before the Ocala meeting that it planned to hire a fulltime athletic director June 20 and let it be known by the qualifications it specified that Wyatt was not in line for the job. He has been acting athletic director since Neyland's death last year.

Wyatt also has been under fire recently for sticking to the old single-wing, style of football that made Neyland one of college football's most successful coaches and which seemed to be working for Wyatt until recently.

Chuck Seeded Number Four

WIMBLEDON (UPI)—Chuck McKinley and Darlene Hard, ranked No. 1 among American men and women, carry United States hopes in next week's Wimbledon championships, each seeded No. 4 against a strong Australian contingent.

Roy Emerson of Australia, generally recognized as the world's top amateur tennis player, drew the top seed as expected, while Margaret Smith, the leading Australian woman player who was knocked out in the second round at Wimbledon a year ago, drew No. 1 in the feminine seeds.

The 22-year-old McKinley, who comes from St. Louis and attends Trinity University in Texas, went all the way to the men's final in the all-England championships two years ago before bowing to Rod Laver. This year's tournament gets underway Monday.

Ranked behind Emerson are Manuel Santana of Spain and Ken Fletcher of Australia. Then comes McKinley, followed by Martin Mulligan of Australia, Pierre Darmon of France, Jan Erik Lundquist of Sweden and Mike Sangster of England.

Youth Baseball

Al Gomez pitched and batted the Misfits to their fifth straight Optimist Youth Baseball League win last night, hurling a one-hitter and having a perfect night at the plate with three hits.

Al struck out eight, walked six and allowed only one hit, a single by Ronnie Pearson. He was backed by a fifth inning double play. Helping at the plate was Buzzy Green with two hits. Steve Haynes took the loss, being reached for eight hits, walking one and striking out seven.

Rain cut short a Rotary rally and gave the One Bull Ranch a 13-11 victory. One Bull grabbed an early lead, only to see Rotary get five tallies in the third and move up from there before being washed out after five innings. John Young took the win and Roper the loss. Roberson made an outstanding catch in center field for the winners.

In a Monday game, B&B downed Ruff, 7-3. Ebenkamp took the win, with Jim Hollis relieving in the fifth. The pair struck out seven and allowed no walks. Grace took the loss, with Poole relieving.

M. Stephens and Hollis each had a double and single for the winners. Donaldson had two hits for Ruff.

Dressen Sees Tigers Lose His Inaugural

BOSTON (UPI)—"That's a helluva way to treat a guy on his first time out. Well, I guess it will take a few days to get straightened out."

Thus Charley Dressen, for 10 years a manager of four different major league clubs, marked his return to the big top when he took over the diving Detroit Tigers Tuesday night.

Dressen, with less than 24 hours warning on his shift from a special scout for the Los Angeles Dodgers to successor of the Tigers' lost, 9-0, in his first game back.

"They just didn't treat me very well," the 64-year-old Dressen said. "No, we haven't had a clubhouse meeting yet. But we'll have one pretty quick now. We'll get us a few days and just get straightened away."

Dressen and a three man coaching staff flew here Tuesday after Tiger General Manager James A. Campbell made the surprise announcement that Scheffing and his coaches were being replaced "in the best interests" of the club. The coaches all were promoted from the Detroit organization but Dressen was operating as a manager in the American League for the first time since he directed the Washington Senators early in 1958.

The Scheffing firing came as a shock to the ball club but only mildly surprised Scheffing. He left Boston by plane for Detroit Tuesday and said he would spend a month of vacation considering a job in the Detroit organization.

Help Wanted

One of the things that "everybody knows" that isn't so these days is that automation makes unemployment. There have been reputable studies to show that automation actually increases total employment, such as the one just released by the University of Chicago, but such studies seldom are read by the worried general public.

Closer to home and easier to understand is the story of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co., in Washington, which came to light the other day at the dedication of a new $400,000 automated dial exchange.

Somebody asked a telephone company representative: "Well, how many girls and other employees will this station replace?"

The answer was none. And by the way the telephone man replied, the company is looking for 275 new operators and 175 more clerks. The number of new employees needed will be even higher by the end of 1963.

Of course, the reason for the employment increase is that more calls are being made, but there's more to the story. If it were not for automation, rates would not have remained low on local calls and actually fallen on long-distance service. Because of automation, more people can afford to make more calls — and even with labor-saving machinery the net result is that there is more employment.

Some industries, naturally, couldn't exist at all without automation. A hand-made automobile would cost so much that few could drive. One unit of production would provide more jobs than a car made by modern labor. But the market for cars would be so small that fewer jobs would be provided over all.

The giant electronics industry is virtually a child of automation, and gives jobs to many thousands.

It is true that when automation enters the picture some jobs disappear as others are being born. But to the extent that government regulations or union restrictions hold back improvements we will delay fuller employment and higher living standards.

On the whole, the jobs created pay better and offer more agreeable working conditions than those abolished. America was built on such change, and the building of America still has far to go.

The Boys in the Back Room

To hear our Washington officials tell it, they are the only friends the consumer has. Right now, Congress is considering a new "truth in packaging bill" in the name of the consumer. But, there's a Consumers Council in Washington which is supposed to look out for the interests of all of us, and the Federal Trade Commission is charged with protecting us all from bad bargains.

But along comes news that the Senate is asked to ratify an international trade agreement on cocoa, and this reminds us that all consumers drink something or other. We spend quite a lot for beverages of all kinds, and a test of the Government's real attitude toward consumers might be to see how it treats all of us thirsty citizens.

The cocoa agreement is a case in point. Our Government wants to assure by law that Americans will not pay less than an agreed price for cocoa. We don't produce it. This is a subsidy for countries that do — a form of charity in which the contributors have no voice.

A coffee agreement, which rules out bargains in coffee for Americans, already has been signed. Those who prefer stronger beverages — whiskey, spirits, wines and beer, find that Federal taxes are high on these items. Babies' milk is priced higher because of Federal price-fixing arrangements, than it would be in a free market.

Next time you are thirsty, Mr. or Mrs. Consumer, you might remember that almost any beverage you choose is more expensive because the Federal Government has decided to increase its cost to benefit other Americans or foreigners or to fatten the Treasury. Even the sugar you put into your coffee or cocoa is subject to these price floor arrangements.

Posing as the Consumer's friend may win votes for Federal office holder, but you may be justified in asking: with a friend like this, who needs any enemies?

Push-Button Pushovers

Listening to the blandishments that pour in on the American people, you'd think we were all physical cripples given over to nothing but comfort and pleasure.

All day long, we hear that this or that thing can be fun, can be had with ease, can be managed with "fingertip control," can be found in a drive (never a walk) "just minutes" from our doors.

Isn't there anything these people have to offer us to challenge our brains, our muscles, our stamina and will? Are we to get the world on a self-propelled platter while we dawdle on soft cushions?

The late comedian Willie Howard, doing a skit years back as a French teacher, offered a laughing audience "French in 10 easy lessons — or five hard ones."

This country will be a better place when people hear at least a few times a day that there are some hard, tough, taxing alternatives around somewhere that can be managed with the flick of a wrist.

FREEDOM ON THE FARM

There is reason for jubilation this spring as a result of the harvest of protest votes cast against the New Frontier's plans in the wheat referendum. The astonishing defeat of Secretary of Agriculture Freeman's proposal was a surprise even to those who most hoped that the advocates of freedom on the farm would score a victory. For once, the farmers refused to accept a handout that was offered by Big Government.

Under the administration plan, each grower of wheat could have been guaranteed a nice subsidy if he had voted "yes." In order to get this subsidy, all he had to do was vote for more controls on the big growers. But the farmers refused to do any such thing. Apparently, they realized that tighter controls on one crop would inevitably lead to tighter controls on all. In the final analysis, the New Frontiersmen want to control farmers even more than they want to control farm commodities.

The vote for more controls was short of a majority, and in this referendum it was necessary for the administration to get a two-thirds affirmative vote.

But the victory won by the forces of freedom should lead to important changes. First of all, it is clear that Mr. Freeman has been repudiated as secretary of agriculture as he was repudiated by the voters in his home state of Minnesota. He clearly doesn't understand the mood of American farmers and their rising determination to protect their freedom, and it would only be fitting if he resigned from office and let a believer in farm freedom have a chance to frame a new policy. Not only should Mr. Freeman depart from Washington but all his advisers who favor controlled agriculture should be removed from positions of influence. It is time for a fundamental change in the Department of Agriculture.

President Kennedy, whose prestige was committed to the repudiated wheat plan, says that there won't be any other farm legislation submitted this year. The Congress should rebuke Mr. Kennedy for such a high-handed approach. Without delay, congressional leaders should begin work on a farm program that will lead this country back to a sensible system of agriculture. Writing farm laws is a complicated business, and this is not the place to spell out all the details of such legislation. But it is crystal clear that such legislation should be aimed at restoring the free market economy in American agriculture. It undoubtedly will be difficult for the United States to back off from the whole artificial system of farm supports and controls that has been built up over three decades.

Any new farm legislation should eliminate the police state procedures that have become part of agricultural controls. It should be established that federal agents have no right to go on a farmer's lands without a warrant. The individual farmer should enjoy the right not to participate in any federal program and to grow any amount of any crop that he wishes to grow. Today a farmer can be fined or jailed if he grows more wheat than the farm regulations allow. This is an intolerable straight-jacket for men who believe in individual liberty.

Basically, farm prices must be determined by conditions in a free market. This is the way prices are set for hundreds and thousands of products and commodities in the United States — from sparkplugs, to bricks, to household furniture. A free market system that works in other areas of the American economy certainly can work on the farm. Certainly, the present system of controls and subsidies has not solved the problems of farmers. The mountainous surpluses in storehouses are a king-size headache for farmers and consumers alike.

Perhaps no ideal plan can be immediately put into effect. A segment of the population that has lived with and under government control and subsidy for a generation may not be able, overnight, to become free of built-in evils in the system. But a start in the right direction — the direction of farm freedom — can be made this year. The harvest of votes given the New Frontier wheat plan indicates that farmers are ready to move away from socialist controls toward real free enterprise.

"Steady On, M'Boy!"

It's Up To You by HOWARD KERSHNER L. H. D.

Russia is winning the cold war because the Administration does not recognize that her supreme objective is our destruction. The plea of peaceful co-existence is a means to that end. Fourteen years of fruitless disarmament negotiations with Russia have shown the utter failure of a policy of conciliation with an implacable foe.

Those who formulate our foreign policy do not seem to understand the real nature of communism. It would be far better for these officials to read fifty books on the subject than to walk fifty miles. It might enable them to understand the utter folly of continuing to finance our enemies and to back Communist policies in and out of U.N.

Our country continues to finance the pro-Communist propaganda rolling from U.N. and its subordinate agencies, designed to overthrow freedom, to promote Communist ideology and lead us gradually into communism. A recent case in point is a UNESCO booklet telling how the Baltic countries voluntarily joined the U.S.S.R. No bigger lie was every told and we pay the major portion of the cost of the circulation of that pamphlet.

TRUTH FORUM

Francis Walter, 'Jealous Steward of Constitution'

By ED DELANEY

One of our greatest American patriots is dead. Rep. Francis E. Walter, (Penn), chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, waged an uncompromising war against the enemies of our country, but lost in his personal battle against leukemia. His passing undoubtedly caused joy in the ranks of the communist canaille and their collaborators, but cast gloom over the millions of pro-Americans who recognized in Mr. Walter the type of forthright, militant American who seems to be fading from the political scene.

Only a few days before his death there were glowing eulogies for him by many of his colleagues in the House, on the occasion of his 60th birthday—May 26. One of the best tributes to him was from Charles Halleck, Republican minority leader in the House. Although they were of different political parties, Halleck pointed out, "through the years Francis Walter has fought courageously to preserve and protect his beloved country against the forces which seek to undermine our way of life. He has been a jealous steward of our immortal Constitution. And in that stewardship they see a man standing between them and their designs."

That is all too true. Except for the unrelenting and fearless war that the late congressman from Pennsylvania fought against subversive elements, both in and outside the government bureau, the Un-American Activities Committee would have been abolished. In the early days of the present 88th Congress, a drive, spear-headed by such as James Roosevelt, (Calif) and William Fitts Ryan, (N.Y.) attempted to quash the committee. Its activities would then have been assigned to another bureau where political influence would make it ineffective. Fortunately the overwhelming majority of the House members voted against the efforts of Roosevelt - Ryan and Co., to destroy the greatest agency in our government for protecting and preserving our country from the cancerous influence of communism. The House vote was largely a tribute to the committee, Francis E. Walter.

On the occasion of those heartfelt words of praise for his colleague, shortly before his death, another Republican, Thomas M. Pelly (Wash.) said: "I recognize that Francis Walter is an outstanding and loyal American. We differed in viewpoints at times but I respect him as a true, patriotic and great American. So much so that my admiration for him led me to urge that he reconsider his decision not to run for re-election, because of his health. I am glad he decided to run."

It was pointed out by Rep. Hale Boggs, (La.) that Francis Walter conceived and put through Congress the Displaced Persons Act which permitted thousands who were driven from their homes by World War II, to find a new life in this country. He was co-author of the Walter which put a check on the kind of immigrants we should allow in this country. Because of that act, both he and the late Sen. Pat McCarran, of Nevada, were castigated by the "liberals." He visited the Hungarian border at the time of the freedom fighters' revolt in 1956. He saw refugees shot to death. On his return he designed legislation to admit thousands of those Hungarian victims of Soviet atrocities.

There is scarcely anyone in the House who did not highly regard and respect Mr. Walter, except of course the coterie of opponents of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the communist press, the crypto-communists and those who saw in him an uncompromising enemy of all persons who by their deeds tend to weaken our security. Michael Feighan, (Ohio) in referring to Mr. Walter said: "I am reminded of an admonition of St. Augustine an early teacher of the Christian church, who told his followers, 'the crown of victory shall be won only by those who enter the fray.' Francis Walter was one who dared to enter the fray against the enemies of our country. They abused, maligned and tormented him, but he never faltered in his task as he saw it. The words engraved on the bronze slab under which John Cecil Rhodes lies in the mountains of Rhodesia, apply equally as well to Francis E. Walter. 'He deserved well of his country.'"

Such measures might include advance notification of military movements, creation of some facilities for direct communication between national military command centers, and establishment of an international commission to reduce the risk of war in which the U.S. and the USSR would consider, with other nations, further steps to promote stability, reduce

The American Way

NONE SO BLIND By WILLIS E. STONE Chairman, National Committee for Economic Freedom

Politicians who blindly serve the federal bureaucracy, without concern for the rights of the people, face an inevitable awakening. The battle lines are being drawn. It is well known that some politicians attempt to be all things to all people. And in their words and speeches, it may often seem that they succeed. However, their deeds speak more decisively. While there is talk of tax cuts, for instance, many politicians continue to vote for increases in the cost of government, and thus create the need for more taxes. This attitude is evident in every battle over the budget. The budget is the price bureaucracy demands, for its expansion. There's always an uproar over its extravagance—but most politicians continue to vote for more bureaucratic encroachments each year.

So long as there was no central means by which we could fight back against this process, our antagonism was sporadic, always diverted by the next crisis. Instrument Developed — Now, however, the situation is changing. A positive and far-reaching counterattack against federal encroachment is taking place. An instrument has developed which will force the politician to take a clear stand on one side of the fence, or the other. That instrument is the Liberty Amendment.

Harriman and Khrushchev Discuss New Agency Designated As Forum For Private Talks on Tension Areas

WASHINGTON — When Averell Harriman goes to Moscow next month on his momentous mission to negotiate a nuclear test ban agreement, he will be undertaking another equally important but unannounced assignment.

At the personal orders of President Kennedy, the 71-year-old diplomatic troubleshooter will sound out Premier Khrushchev on the creation of a new agency to conduct deliberations to ease the cold war.

This sensational proposal, under closely-guarded consideration by the President and his top foreign policy advisers for several months, calls for the establishment of an East-West commission to "reduce tensions, promote stability, dampen military crises, and reduce the risk of war."

A key aspect of the administration's "grand design" for reaching an entente with Russia, the new international body would be used as a forum for private talks between the U.S. and Russia on tension areas around the world—such as Cuba, Laos, Berlin, South Vietnam and the Middle East.

The President's plan provides for discussions between the U.S., Russia and Britain to determine the membership and size of the commission. As envisioned by the President and his advisers, the commission would be set up outside the United Nations but would keep that organization informed of its activities.

One particular objective of the proposed commission would be to use the influence of its members, especially the U.S. and Russia, to prevent the proliferation of nuclear weapons by other nations.

SIGNIFICANT DETAILS—These and other still-secret features of President Kennedy's unique proposal are detailed in a policy paper prepared for the National Security Council by Dr. Walt Rostow, head of the State Department Planning Council.

This highly important document is being used as one of the main working papers for the forthcoming Moscow negotiations.

The Rostow paper places great emphasis on the "fresh start" in East-West negotiations that the President advocated in his speech last week at American University.

"Even of the Soviets," states the policy paper, "do not share the U.S. image of the future of the world in the degree necessary to negotiate major arms reduction programs and binding settlements on the German problem, they may come to recognize the danger to their security of accidental miscalculation of our policies and failure of communications in time of crisis, and thus be willing to join the U.S. in limited measures to reduce those dangers."

Such measures might include advance notification of military movements, creation of some facilities for direct communication between national military command centers, and establishment of an international commission to reduce the risk of war in which the U.S. and the USSR would consider, with other nations, further steps to promote stability, reduce tensions, dampen military crises, and minimize the need for hasty military responses.

Outlining the procedure that U.S. negotiators should take in approaching the Kremlin on the new commission proposal, the paper counsels that, "The U.S. should even before such a commission is proposed (in public) seek out opportunities informally to discuss such measures with the USSR to try to alert Russian officials to the importance and nature of the problem to which the commission could devote itself."

HIDDEN FACTOR — The crucial influence that the nuclear policies of General de Gaulle and Red China played in determining the President to seek a test ban accord with Russia is clearly evident in the Rostow paper, as follows:

"One of the historical trends which may lead to widened areas of U.S.-USSR understanding and common action warrants special policy attention. The diffusion of power and authority away from Moscow within the Communist bloc, and away from the U.S. within the free community, presents to both sides the possibility of situations arising in which either a Soviet or an American ally may try to inflame a given situation and thus engage for its own benefit the prestige of the two major powers."

"To prevent any such situation from arising and leading to an unsought dangerous direct confrontation is in the common interest of both the U.S. and the USSR and should be one of the specific and priority purposes of meaningful communications and negotiations."

The policy paper warns that, "The form of diffusion of power potentially most dangerous to both the Soviet Union and the U.S. is the spread of nuclear weapons, especially to Communist China and France."

The point is stressed that a U.S.-Soviet understanding on a test ban would be the first step to block proliferation of nuclear weapons.

"A U.S.-USSR nuclear test ban understanding," says Rostow, "would dampen the pressure for the extension of nuclear weapons to other nations. We should welcome temporary and partial accommodations or entente with the USSR in this area."

Choice of Undersecretary of State Harriman as the negotiator in Moscow strikingly spotlights the political — as distinct from the diplomatic — nature of the parley. Harriman has had no previous part in test-ban deliberations. Also he is very close to the President and has had much experience in Russia. Only last month he flew there to confer with Khrushchev on Laos and Cuba.

FOREIGN FLASHES — U.S. surplus farm commodities are being put to a new use. The Defense Department is exchanging $6 million of the agricultural products for an 800-mile submarine cable for the U.S. Atlantic missile range. The deal is being made with a West German firm.

President Kennedy has approved the sale to Yugoslavia of several million dollars of spare parts for F-86 and PB-2 jet interceptors bought from the U.S. in 1960 and 1961. Assistant Secretary of Defense William Bundy recommended the sale.

Supporters of the amendment are organized in 47 States, and the resolution for the Liberty Amendment is pending in Congress as H. J. Res 23. It has already been approved by six state legislatures. They say that "there are none so blind as those who will not see."

To those who refuse to comprehend this great movement, a great awakening is coming. As public support for the Liberty Amendment rises, support for those who oppose it will inevitably decrease. The awakening may arrive with the next election.
