'Serious Setback' Slows Rescue Workers

Monday Is Set As Target Date

By RUSS GREEN and MYRON FEINSILBER
United Press International

HAZELTON, Pa. (UPI) — Efforts to rescue two miners trapped for 12 days in a damp, chilly chamber 308 feet underground received a "serious setback" Saturday because of technical problems.

Wearry rescue crews worked to correct the difficulties and set Monday as a target date for bringing the entombed men to the surface. Drilling operations also continued for a third miner, trapped in a separate cubicle 18 feet away who has not been heard from since Tuesday.

State Mines Chief H. Beecher, Charmbury said jagged rock and soft clay had hampered rescue teams trying to case a 26-inch opening drilled to a depth of 38 feet earlier Saturday. Workers hoped to line the hole with metal tubing, then drill a 17½-inch hole to the trapped men.

Despite their ordeal, miners David Fellin and Henry Throne were in almost jaunty spirits. The fate of the third miner, Louis Bova, 42, remained unknown.

Bova was last heard from on Tuesday, when he tapped three times on his chamber wall, signaling that he was alive. A separate, three-inch hole was being drilled to where he is trapped.

Charmbury said the "serious setback" concerned the upper part of the 38-foot hole. "We can't go ahead and ream at 17½ inches until we put casing in the upper part of the hole," he said. "It would be too dangerous. It might cave in and we would lose everything we have."

The mines official said the hole would be reamed at 30 inches, after which a 26-inch casing would be made.

The casing operation will not be completed until the pre-dawn hours Sunday. Another 30 hours would be required to drill down to Fellin, 58, and Throne, 28, Charmbury said, making it Monday at the earliest before they can be brought out.

The final 270 feet to Fellin and Throne now is 12 inches wide. When it is expanded to 17½ inches, attempts will be made to pull the miners to the surface in a torpedo-shaped escape tube which barely will fit into the opening.

Rogers Introduces Bill to Close U.S. Ports to Ships Trading With Cuba

WASHINGTON (Sp) — Congressman Walter Rogers of Pampa Friday introduced a bill to close all ports of the United States to ships engaged in trade with Communist Cuba.

The Texas Congressman said he was introducing the bill because he was dissatisfied with action taken by the House Thursday in attempting to discourage trade with Cuba.

In an amendment to the foreign aid bill, the House voted to suspend American assistance to any nation whose ships or planes engage in commerce with the Castro dictatorship. Congressman Rogers, who had successfully placed a more sweeping but similar amendment to the foreign aid bill last year, said the amendment to the current bill "simply does not go far enough."

"The policy of the United States should be to cut off completely—not merely suspend—assistance to foreign nations engaging in trade with our Cuban enemy."

Congressman Rogers said his bill closing U. S. ports to ships trading with Cuba will prove effective in discouraging trading activity, "distinctly against U. S. national interests."

He said the pattern of ocean commerce demands, in the main, that ships carrying cargoes to or from Cuba also pay calls at Gulf or East Coast ports in the U. S. Otherwise, he said, there is little profit for a ship operator.

Trade would fall off sharply by removing this economic advantage by which the United States is an unwilling partner in insuring full holds on outgoing and incoming foreign merchantmen.

The wording of the bill is as follows: "Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That all ports of the United States are hereby closed to all vessels while engaged in trade or commerce with Cuba (except United States installations therein), or while engaged on any voyage during which such vessel has engaged in trade or commerce with Cuba (except United States installations therein), or while engaged on any voyage during which such vessel has engaged in trade or commerce with Cuba (except United States installations therein), except where such vessels are required to enter ports of the United States for repairs or emergencies recognized as such under international law.

"SEC. 2. Any vessel which enters or attempts to enter any port of the United States during a period when the ports of the United States are closed to it under the first section of this Act shall, together with its cargo, be forfeited."

Congressman Rogers had introduced a similar bill last year. He declared that he will do his best to see that hearings are held on this provision by the Foreign Affairs Committee and the measure is brought before the full House of Representatives for a decision.

For CRMWA Annual Payment

Four-Cents Per Meter Increase Due Pampa

Pampa's next payment to the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority's 1963-64 operating budget will be on the basis of a four cents per water meter increase.

Since Pampa began paying its part of the Authority's operating costs, along with 10 other cities participating in the CRMWA, the annual charge has been 26 cents per water meter.

Pampa has been making the payment twice a year at 13 cents per water meter.

Effective with the September payment due the authority, the cost will be hiked to 30 cents a meter annually, with Pampa paying 15 cents per meter on a semi-annual basis.

Pampa has approximately 8,000 water meters now in use. This would make Pampa's annual payment around $2,400 with a half-year payment of $1,200 in September and another equal amount in March of 1964.

The city's share of the CRMWA operating budget is taken from water revenue and handled through a special fund set aside for that purpose.

The Authority's estimated operating expenses for the coming fiscal year have been set at $31,692.50.

Other member cities contributing to the Authority are Borger, Amarillo, Lubbock, Levelland, Plainview, Tascosa, O'Donnell, Lamesa and Slaton.

NAACP Plans Austin March On State Capitol

DALLAS (UPI) — The South western leader of the National Association for Advancement of the Colored people said Saturday he expects 700-1,000 NAACP members from his five-state region to attend the mass "March on Washington" Wednesday.

Clarence A. Laws, regional secretary of the NAACP for Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and New Mexico, said he had been concentrating on the Washington march rather than a parallel demonstration scheduled Wednesday in Austin, Tex.

Negroes are scheduled to march on the state capitol in Austin Wednesday and a white organization has announced that it simultaneously will guard Gov. John Connally's office to keep the Negroes from getting in.

Texas officials announced precautions against a clash though they did not expect as many whites or Negroes in Austin as leaders of the two factions predicted. Leaders of the factions said they expected 4,000 Negroes and 3,000 dissident whites.

Laws also said there will be a new wave of sit-ins in New Orleans after Labor Day unless the situation for Negroes improves there.

"The NAACP Youth Council apparently feels that some of the promises made in New Orleans have not been kept and desegregation has not progressed rapidly enough.

"Unless the situation improves, they plan sit-ins at lunch counters and in department stores and places like that."

Lake Charles Plans
Laws disclosed that the NAACP chapter in San Antonio plans a city hall demonstration Wednesday over job opportunities and the Negroes in Lake Charles, La., intend to go to court for an order to desegregate white schools.

He said Lake Charles Negroes also will take steps against discrimination in stores and job opportunities.

certificates to registration. Classes begin at 8:25 a.m. and dismiss at 3:20 p.m.," she said.

Beginning Wednesday, the high school section of Carver, Pampa's only Negro school, will not be open. The 37 high school students will attend Pampa Senior High, Junior high and elementary sections of Carver are not affected by the integration.

Attendance areas for elementary and junior high schools will be found on Page 4.

"Our enrollment is usually almost constant," Edmondson said. "We expect about the same number we had last year. After enrollment Wednesday, students will be dismissed at 11 a.m., and buses will make their return runs."

The cafeterias will not be open Wednesday. The first full day of classes, buses will make their regular run and the cafeterias will be open. Classes will begin at 8:45 a.m. and dismiss at 3:45 p.m.

Pupils entering the first grade for the first time in Pampa should complete the summer roundup of medical checkups and must have their birth certificates. No child who will be six years of age after Sept. 1, will be admitted to the public schools, according to Edmondson.

All students, including bus students in grades one through six will report to their respective elementary schools at 8:45 a.m. Wednesday. Bus students living outside the city limits, who will attend Pampa schools for the first time are requested to enroll in the Sam-Houston Elementary School, Junior High students who were in Pampa schools last year will

Pampan Conscious, Wife Is Dismissed

Robert Andrew Drennen of Pampa remains on the critical list in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, but is "conscious and improving," according to hospital authorities.

Drennen, apparently disturbed over a fight with his wife, Brenda Sue, went into a restroom in the hospital Wednesday, poured gasoline over himself and set himself on fire.

Drennen's wife was dismissed from the hospital yesterday morning. She had been hospitalized with internal injuries she received Monday when she jumped from Drennen's moving car. Drennen had come to visit his wife, who was moving from Pampa into an Amarillo home. During the visit, he pulled her into the car. During an argument which followed, she jumped from the car.

BOFORS IN U.S.

Two Purses Are Reported Stolen At Rodeo Dance

Police received reports Saturday morning of the theft of two straw purses during the rodeo dance at the National Guard Armory Friday night.

Carol Lewis, 1717 Williston, told officers someone took her white straw purse from her car. The purse contained credit cards and a red billfold with about $3 in cash.

Miners

good spirits and even asked about the health of rescue teams.

They had plenty of food and other supplies and Fellin quipped at one point: "We have enough... to open a shopping center. But I don't think our location would be too good."

Charmbury told newsmen the rescue workers were "tired, but they're not concerned with themselves—they're concerned only with the men underground."

It took four hours and 17 minutes to widen the first 38 feet of the "escape shaft" to 26 inches. Technicians said it was hoped that Throne and Fellin could be rescued by Monday at the latest.

In widening the 38-foot shaft, a 26-inch bit weighing 2,000 pounds was used. It normally turns at 1,750 revolutions per minute, but was slowed drastically to prevent a cave-in. At the surface, workmen with shovels kept the face of the shaft clear of dirt and rock churned up by the bit.

United Mineworkers of America (UMW) President W. A. (Tony) Boyle was at the rescue scene Saturday. He said he was "fully satisfied" with the operation, but added:

"This demonstrates we must have these shocks to awaken the people to the fact that coal miners in this country are dying—dying every day."

"If they can't make the mines safe enough to prevent things like this from happening, the mines should be shut down."

A metal and wooden temporary "plug" was lowered to the 297-foot level, almost the bottom of the shaft, to prevent dust or debris from falling on the trapped men. It was trimmed to exacting proportions to fit the hole.

Use Cement
About 900 pounds of quick-drying cement was placed atop the plug and, for double safety, a second plug was placed atop this.

The cement-held plug will be reamed out when the time comes to make the rescue attempt, the officials said.

The bullet-shaped capsule which will be used to lift Fellin and throne to the surface will be 6½ feet long and 15½ inches wide on its inside. It will be attached to heavy cables. The tube was designed by three of the rescue technicians and constructed of rolled steel.

Charmbury would not make a prediction on when he thought the miners could be removed, but once the final phase is begun it would take at least 30 hours to lift them to the top.

The drilling was being carried out with such precision that one worker suggested "you could shave" with the rig.

fact

William Caxton, the first English printer, who later published the Canterbury Tales and the Morte d'Arthur, learned about printing while he was living in Cologne in 1472. Caxton tells how, when he was translating a book, his "pen became worn, his hand weary and his eye dimmed" with copying, so he "practised and learnt" at great personal expense how to print.

NO JOYRIDING

VIENNA (UPI) — Authorities in Red Czechoslovakia have ordered "sharp measures" to curb the unofficial use of government automobiles as the result of a spot check which showed that 739 of 1,300 cars stopped were on unauthorized errands, Radio Prague reported Saturday. Among those caught joyriding, the broadcast said, was the deputy director of the Prague Communications System. He was taking his family on a picnic.

To Know The Truth

The question is often asked: "How do you know whom to believe? How can you tell when someone is telling you a non-truth?"

Thru the ages this question has been asked. In general there have been three answers given. 1. Religious dogma provided by organized church forms is infallible and must be believed. 2. Legal dogma, provided by organized government is always right and must be believed. 3. You have no way of determining what the truth is save by the exercise of your own rational faculties.

We must subscribe to the third answer. Indeed, so imperative is this third response that we will contend it is the real reason for the acceptance of either the first or second answer at any time. If persons believe in the infallibility of either church or state it is because, thru some line of rationalization, they have accepted this infallibility. That is, a person has decided that the evidence is such as to sustain his faith in either organization. He takes his position as a result of his own rational faculties, even tho he may think that he does not.

But when it comes to employing one's rational faculties, a thousand variables could lead anyone astray. How does one go about separating truth from hope? Can a person query another with complete honesty and retain an open mind in process so that answers may be weighed for their own merit rather than by our emotional commitments?

More important, can one question himself severely, examining his own motivation with a strict regard for truth? Are you actually seeking to know the truth or are you, perhaps, seeking to sustain a prior error by twisting truth to your own ends?

There are many difficulties which lie in wait for the person who really hopes to understand. And the ever-present temptation is to stop thinking and to trust some authority. If not the church or the state, then some book, or some author, or some scientist, or practically anyone who sets himself up as a fountain of information or wisdom.

All of these sources of possible truth are important and a search for truth will doubtless include most if not all of them. But in the final analysis, each person will still employ his own reasoning ability to grapple with ideas and motivation in order to determine what truth is as he sees it.

The difficulty thus experienced, and the recognition of the fact that self-appointed "authorities" are rarely if ever armed with total truth, has tended to make many a young person, and even an older person, skeptical. Since no possible authority seems to know truth, the illusion arises that there is no such thing as truth.

But this feeling of skepticism is merely a manifestation of mental laziness. We would like to obtain final and ultimate answers, not by employing our brains, but by relying on some infallible source of brains. We don't want to think... the process is painful. We want to be told all the answers in such a way that we do not have to think. Instant wisdom is what so many really want.

Any number of persons have examined the period in which we now live and referred to it as the "age of reason." We suspect that the terminology derives more from a hope than from evidence. Still, it seems to us that the intellectual commodity in greatest demand, for which the supply seems all too woefully scarce, is a grasp of principles and a willingness to reason consistently and logically from them.

Principles do exist and can be found. Truth does exist, even tho our opinions cloud it and make its presence obscure. And from these principles and these truths, by employing reason and the tests of logic, we can discover who is guiding us correctly and who is not. To know truth is not impossible. But certainly we would not wish to minimize the difficulties. We can only say that in spite of obstacles, to know the truth is to be free.

Bigger Than Gigantic

Today, thanks to the challenge of communism, automation, expanding population and numerous other factors, people are more conscious than ever of the question of government vs. private enterprise.

A competition seems to be developing between the two which, at quick glance, promises to benefit all concerned—business, people and nation. How many Americans realize that the largest single privately financed construction job in the nation's history — and probably the world's — is nearing completion? Next time someone laments over the rumored death of free enterprise, ask him to name this project.

The answer? The Colonial Pipeline — the longest (2,600 miles), largest (30 to 36 inches in diameter) and most expensive ($350 million) pipeline in existence.

It begins in Houston, Texas, swings through the southeast and then north through nine of the original 13 colonies, crossing streams and rivers, snaking through swamps, climbing mountains and spanning valleys.

The pipeline will end eventually in New York Harbor. Distance from Houston is 1,600 miles, with 1,000 miles of spur along the way connecting major cities.

With more than 70 million motor vehicles in the United States, Americans consume petroleum and petroleum products at the rate of more than 10 million barrels a day. (One barrel contains 42 gallons.)

Later this year, the Colonial will begin moving an initial 600,000 barrels a day. It will take no less than 3 million barrels (or about 378 million gallons) just to keep the line filled.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

We understand Jackie Gleason's "fabulous" house at Peekskill-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., is for sale at a bargain price of $650,000. Even in these days of inflation that's a lot of dough. We've often wondered why anyone would want to live in one of those luxurious mansions. They're so big and lonely. A movie producer friend lived in one in Beverly Hills and his wife was always glad to see us, or any of his other friends. She would say that if she wanted to talk with her husband she felt she should phone him. It is reassuring to note, however, in spite of inflation, high taxes and other annoyances there are enough Jackie Gleasons left in this country, who would dare to live in such splendor. That alone takes courage today and gives hope for the morrow.

Alaska will be the sportsman's paradise for big game hunting this fall. Game surveys indicate a plentiful supply of black, brown, grizzly, and polar bears, also moose, caribou, mountain goats, Dall sheep, walrus, deer and elk. Except for hunting bison no special permits are needed. Bill Sweet, Attleboro, Mass., big game hunter has hunted there twice in the past two years, bagging a Kodiak and polar bear. He tells us it's the greatest hunting country in the world.

Country Editor speaking: "The Ward trial in London was ample proof that if you keep throwing dirt on a molehill it will become a mountain." "We'll never be invited to peek through it, but the world's largest movable radio-telescope is now in operation at Green Bank, W. Va. It weighs 800 tons; has an antenna 300 feet in diameter; and its feed point is 225 feet from the ground. Data from space is recorded. Now the Russians tell us Ivan really was Terrible. They've exhumed the skull and skeleton of the despotic Czar, who died in 1584, and Soviet anthropologists say he was no Rock Hudson — had a wide face, sharp profile, and stood 6 ft. 3 inches tall. An act of Congress in 1782 made the bald eagle the national emblem. Eagles have been a symbol of royal or military power since ancient times appearing on coins, seals, and flags. Eagles dominated the standards of Roman legions and Napoleon's armies.

We haven't seen the end of big budget movies. Columbia Pictures has authorized spending $20 million on "The Bible." The American Automobile Association warns tourists to beware of flamboyant billboards proclaiming "musts" to be seen en route, and advises using reliable travel guides to direct you to points of interest. That's our system too. Just heard about an Arkansas golfer who made a hole in one that wasn't. Seems they moved the hole and flag, and the ball bounced into the old hole. Too bad. A week earlier he would have scored. Ford Motor Co., in England fired a blighter earlier this year, and sometime later discovered he had submitted an idea that eliminated four screws on auto glove compartments, which would save the company thousands. They gave him a $208 bonus, but no job. We'd like to watch this guy work: An Arizona plasterer figured he was wasting too much time climbing and descending ladders while putting up a ceiling so he made a pair of stilts to improve his efficiency. Radio Corp. of America is building one of the world's largest TV studios for the N. Y. World's Fair.

Today's smile: We like the one about the drunk who kept knocking on a lamppost and saying: "Someone must be home. There's a light up there."

Worked out. There is no question the aid is needed. Half of Skopje's 170,000 population was left homeless, the dead may number 2,000, the injured many more. Just after the earthquake hit Skopje July 26, President Kennedy instructed Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to have American military forces in Europe give what assistance they could. A U. S. On Aug. 5 Frank M. Coffin, deputy administrator of the Agency for International Development, called a conference of seven top assistants in his State Department office to review what had been done and to see what additional aid might be needed.

Red Cross, for instance, had immediately cabled $10,000 to Yugoslav Red Cross for emergency aid. It also had donated 20 tons of relief, flown in by Air Force transports.

How an Ag Secretary Can Hand Out 50 Million Bucks

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The crowning event of Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman's trip to Europe, just concluded, was not his presentation of an Indian peace pipe to Khrushchev, who doesn't smoke.

It was, unquestionably, Freeman's offer to Yugoslavia's President Tito of $50 million in United States aid for earthquake relief in Skopje.

It isn't often that even a cabinet member gets to give away $50 million all in a bunch. But this was such a routine operation for our government that it got only brief mention.

The money wasn't in good American dollars. It was in Yugoslav dinars, worth 750 to the dollar with few takers. The U. S. government owned these particular dinars, however. It had banked them in Yugoslavia, but didn't know what to do with them.

The play was that the United States had "sold" Yugoslavia U. S. wheat and other agricultural products for dinars. These surplus crops had originally cost the U. S. government and the taxpayers real hard money as part of the price support program.

The U. S. government simply exchanged the surplus food-stuffs for surplus dinars, which could be banked without storage costs. Now it offers to turn over about half of its surplus dinars for earthquake relief.

Marshal Tito accepted the gift as soon as it was offered and sent thanks to President Kennedy and the American people by Secretary Freeman.

Half of the $50 million is a gift, half a long term loan, the conditions of which have not yet been worked out.

There is no question the aid is needed. Half of Skopje's 170,000 population was left homeless, the dead may number 2,000, the injured many more. ## The Doctor Says:

Nothing to Sneeze at — The Hay Fever Season

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

You don't have to go on a hayride to have hay fever, but you do have to be allergic to one of the pollens produced by certain types of plants.

A tendency to allergy is inherited, but you will not necessarily be sensitive to the same pollens your allergic relatives were sensitive to. If you have the hay fever asthma type of allergy, now is the time to plan ahead so as to get through the season with as little discomfort as possible.

There has been some confusion about what kinds of pollen cause allergies. Self-pollinating plants such as violets do not cause them. Others, like daisies and goldenrod, have a sticky pollen and depend on cross-pollination by bees and other insects.

These plants have often been wrongly accused of causing hay fever, because their flowering coincides with that of ragweed and other plants whose pollen is windborne. The pollinating season for these plants varies because of variations in climate.

A frequently overlooked source of trouble is the fungus or mold that forms on grass and other vegetation in the summer. The common Penicillium, the mold from which penicillin is made, is a frequent offender. Others are Alternaria and Hormodendron.

For any form of allergy caused by inhaling the allergen, skin tests give the quickest means of diagnosis. But, since even skin tests are not infallible, careful observation by your doctor is essential.

Because allergens promote the production of histamine by the body, a group of antihistamine drugs have become popular for temporary relief of the acute attack. These may be taken by mouth or inhaled. Although they usually give quick relief, their use may be attended by such side reactions as drowsiness, lightheadedness, or increased nervous tension.

In many of the popular hay fever remedies they are combined with an older remedy — epinephrine. The adrenal cortical steroid hormones are also useful in some persons with severe hay fever.

Preventive measures include avoidance of the causative pollen. When indoors hazards are greatly reduced by air-conditioning, since it effectively traps pollen in its filtering system. Since few persons can remain constantly indoors with the windows closed, community efforts should be encouraged to eradicate ragweed, the chief offender, by cutting it before it pollinates or by the use of weed killers.

If desensitization is started about six weeks before the pollen season begins, it can be a very effective way to avoid trouble. The old system of injecting small doses of the allergen at frequent intervals has been replaced in some clinics by prolonged action injections.

The allergen is given in an oil emulsion which allows it to be absorbed slowly. Although this method is less bothersome it is not foolproof. It carries an increased risk of abscess formation. For this reason, many doctors still prefer the older method.

Hay fever is still an annoying ailment. But with modern methods of treatment most victims can get through the season in relative comfort.

ISN'T IT TIME TO TRY FREE ENTERPRISE? By Harry Browne

Editor, Freedom Magazine (formerly American Progress) "Isn't the current railroad-union controversy proof that our free enterprise system needs government regulation to function properly?" The impasse over featherbedding—between management and union leaders — has undoubtedly led many people to wonder if free enterprise can survive without government intervention.

The truth, of course, is just the opposite. The railroads are not ailing from too much freedom. For years, they've had a severe case of too much government. They've been denied the opportunity to try free enterprise!

Example Did you know, for example, that railroads are not allowed to charge freight rates that are less than the minimum established by the federal government. This raises the prices of products you buy that are shipped by rail. The railroads are also forced to pay exorbitant "social-security" type costs under the Railway Retirement Act. And they're not even permitted to drop an unprofitable passenger route or merge companies without government consent.

On top of this, they are compelled by law to bargain with union leaders who have virtual immunity from taxation, court injunction or the local laws against violence and trespassing.

All of these federally-imposed roadblocks exclude the railroads from the free society guaranteed to all of us by the Constitution.

Obvious Solution With these facts in mind, solutions to our present-day railroad problems are obvious. We must take the government out of railroad regulation, repeal the unfair privileges enjoyed by union leaders, and allow the railroads to compete for their sales and profits on the basis of service to their customers—as is the tradition in a capitalist nation.

The result will be better service and lower prices to all transportation customers. For now the railroads will be free to cut costs and lower rates.

Even union workers will be better off. Their job security will be based upon true need for their services, instead of temporary union tyranny over the employer.

Facts The free enterprise system produces greater service and a higher standard of living for everybody. In a free system, you must serve your customer or employer in order to receive his money. While in the welfare state, profits and job security depend upon political manipulations—which injure our standard of living. When we realize the extent of artificial government intervention into our economy, it's no wonder that we're having such a tough time "getting the country moving."

Let's repeal the socialist-style welfare-state laws that are holding back progress. Let's let freedom of choice solve our labor-management and buyer-seller problems. Let's restore the system that made America the most prosperous nation in the history of the world!

Editor:

I take no pleasure in comparing my uncle Finagle Hornswogel to the badminton player, Nikita Khrushchev. Uncle Finagle was a horse trader. At least one of his ethical beliefs was one the Russian badminton player has practiced for years. "Lie all you want to as long as you are sincere."

Like the time Uncle Finagle told a man the bay mare was a fine animal, but she just didn't look good. The man said she looked real good to him and proceeded to depart with a good hunk of cash in exchange for the mare. The mare was totally blind. Uncle Finagle was also comparable to the pudgy Russian in his ability to make things look like what they weren't. He had a habit of going out to his corral where a bunch of old broken down plugs were gasping for their last breath and chasing them around the corral with a blacksnake whip till they feared the sight of him. Thus when he arrived with an unsuspecting customer the man would be amazed at the energy of the wild stallions dashing madly about the corral.

Uncle Finagle was also inventor of an ingenious device hooked onto his wagon where, un-noticed by a customer, he could press his foot down and squirt a little high-life on the team's flanks. Holding it fiercely tight to the reins to prevent a run-away, he would say with the utmost sincerity, "I tell ye, fella, I've never in my life had such a spirited team, hit's like this all day they be prancing in the harness from morn till night." Needless to say quite a few customers were disappointed when their newly purchased, high stepping team soon turned out to be ready for the soap factory. Uncle Finagle did not care. He had achieved his purpose.

He was fond of saying, "Never talk at a man five minutes unless he's with a quarter to ye." The pudgy Russian is a lot like that, only he plays for higher stakes. He doesn't believe in going to a summit meeting unless he feels that it will ultimately add a couple of countries to the Soviet block.

When he spreads a look of joviality across his face, it works like Uncle Finagle's high-life on the worn out team and our present administration runs over each other to buy his wares. He puts a worm on a hook called peace and our present administration swallows it hook, line and reel by signing an atomic bomb test ban treaty.

Both Uncle Finagle and Nikita have been very successful in their respective occupations.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "Rather than crying for impeachment of those elected officials we disapprove of, wouldn't it be better to present sound, logical reasons for not re-electing them?"

Answer: If one is seeking a practical solution to getting rid of politicians whose acts we disapprove, we suspect the impeachment method would be least practical. However, they are using a constitutional provision when they advocate removal from office of those whose actions they contend are in violation of the Constitution.

If one believes human problems may be solved by political action, then he should not object to someone taking political action contrary to his own views. The News does not believe the problems of human relations can be solved politically. Only individuals can solve problems, and their action must be voluntarily taken to be valid and moral.

In Train Station

ROME (UPI) — A priest standing the ticket line at Rome's train station was stabbed in the back Saturday by a complete stranger — a young forester who told police he resented his own parish priest.

Don Oreste Ripoli, 42, was rushed to the Rome Policlinico Hospital with knife wounds that doctors said would heal in a week.

Police arrested Severino Pasquali, 27, of Marano Calabro, Italy, who told them he resented his parish priest. He said he had never seen Don Ripoli before.

The parish priest told police he was waiting his turn in the ticket line when all of a sudden he felt a knife strike between his shoulder blades.

Don Ripoli is the parish priest of the church of the Most Sacred Regal Mary near Latina south of Rome. His assailant was taken to the Rome prison.

STAMPS FOR PLANE

DALLAS (UPI) — It takes a heap of groceries to save enough trading stamps for a new vacuum sweeper. But Dallas Presbyterians are going to try for an airplane.

The congregations of Oak Cliff Presbyterian Church and First Presbyterian Church will try to collect 4,650 green stamp books to buy a Piper Cub for Dr. James Boyce, a medical missionary.

Boyce needs the plane in his work in field hospital of southern Mexico.

Home of 'Music Man' Searched For Bank Loot

JACKSON, Mo. (UPI) — Police Saturday searched the rambling home of a beloved small town "music man" in search of the loot from two bank holdups.

Balding, friendly Richard Burton Partridge, 38, director of Jackson's high school and municipal bands, signed a confession Friday night that he was the stick-up man who took $22,419 from two banks near this southeast Missouri county seat.

Partridge was arrested immediately after leading his band at a gala concert Thursday night.

Police said Partridge was identified by four witnesses as the armed robber.

Cape Girardeau County Sheriff John Crites said officers had recovered $7,100 from secret hiding places.

Crites said Partridge told him he used the money from the holdups to pay bills and couldn't account for all of the loot.

Although Partridge insisted police had found all the loot he had left, police dug into possible hiding places at his home on the chance that more money was hidden.

The money was identified as part of the loot taken in a $12,782 robbery of the bank of Chaffee, Mo., and in a $9,637 holdup of Advance, Mo.

"This has upset the whole town," Crites said. "Most kids in town thought a lot of him."

The sheriff said he and other officers waited with the witnesses until Partridge finished the band concert on the courthouse lawn before they arrested him.

Partridge's wife, the only person allowed to visit him in jail, said she would stand by her husband "because he is innocent."

The couple has five children.

Human Race In Danger From 'Human Folly'

TOKYO (UPI) — Lord Attlee said here Saturday the human race faced danger of destruction through "human folly."

Lord Attlee spoke before 2,163 delegates who attended the opening session of the 11th congress of the Association of World Federalists.

The former premier said that the association held the key to human survival in the atomic age.

Attlee, who is vice president of the association, warned that "without the rule of law, the human race will perish."

The conference, held under the slogan of "one world without war," was opened by Dr. Hideki Yukawa, Japanese Nobel Prize winner for physics and president of the WAFF.

Yukawa called on all nations to renounce war as a means of resolving disputes.

James E. Hall Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hall Sr. of 124 S. Faulkner, recently completed nine weeks basic training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif., graduating at the weekly Recruit Brigade Review involving some 3,000 men.

The training included naval orientation, history and organization, basic military regulations, ordnance and gunnery, damage control, shipboard routine and seamanship, sentry duty, military drill and physical fitness, swimming, first aid and survival.

Donnie D. Bagsby, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Bagsby of 847 E. Malone is serving aboard the destroyer USS McDermut which recently spent a two-day relaxation period in San Francisco Bay prior to resuming training operations off the California Coast.

The McDermut was among 11 units of Cruiser Destroyer Flotilla Nine which is composed of the guided missile destroyer USS Galveston, flagship, and Destroyer Squadrons One and 21 and the ships Hull, John R. Craig, Gregory, Mullany, Stoddard, Ingersoll, Uhlmann, Perkins, Braine, Cogswell and McDermut.

San Francisco attractions for McDermut crewmen included the Top of the Mark, Candlestick Park, Chinatown, the Golden Gate Bridge and Market Street.

The nine-week course covers basic electricity, flight theory, aircraft painting, internal structural repair and plane handling.

Lower Gas Rates Slated for Lefors

LEFORS (Spl) — The Railroad Commission ruled Thursday that the Gray County Natural Gas Co. must drop its rates from 80 cents to 72 cents for the first 10 (MCF) 1,000 cubic feet.

The Lefors City Council had previously asked that the rate be dropped to 70 cents. The ruling also called for a rate of 67 cents for the second 10 MCF, 55 cents for the next 20 MCF, 50 cents for the next 120 and 45 cents for all over 160 MCF.

The gas company, owned by Rip Underwood of Amarillo, announced it would abide by the ruling and that the new rates will go into effect immediately. Refunds on rate differences for the past few months will be made soon.

The dispute dates back to October, 1961, when the gas company asked for an increase in rates. Since that time, a continual battle has been waged between the City of Lefors and the Gray County Gas Co.

Ford Hurls NY To 3-0 Shutout

NEW YORK (UPI)—Southpaw Whitey Ford, closing in on the second 20-victory season of his career just as the New York Yankees are closing in on the pennant, scattered six singles Saturday to give the Yankees a 3-0 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

It was the 18th victory for Ford, a total he has topped only twice before. He did not walk a single batter and he struck out eight, leaving him only 10 strikeouts short of the Yankee team record of 1,530 held by Red Ruffing.

The Yankees gave Ford two runs in the fifth inning in his duel with Ray Herbert, and Johnny Blanchard closed the scoring by hammering a two-out homer in the eighth inning.

It was the 13th homer of the year for Blanchard and the 10th that the valuable substitute has hit since July 22.

Cleveland Cops Win Over Bosox

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Dick Donovan gave up a pair of home runs to Eddie Bressoud but pitched the Cleveland Indians to a five-hit, 6-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox Saturday.

The Indians scored all their runs in a seventh-inning rally that was touched off by Jerry Kindall's two-run homer and included a pair of two-run doubles by Max Alvis and Joe Azcue. The win was Donovan's fourth straight all complete games, and gave him a 10-10 record for the season.

Bressoud hammered his 17th homer in the fifth inning and his 18th in the seventh inning for a 2-4 Red Sox lead that disappeared when the Indians staged their game-winning rally.

Chuck Hiller's Hit Wins In 12th

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Chuck Hiller lined a bases-loaded single into right field to score Felipe Alou from third base to give the San Francisco Giants a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in 12 innings Saturday.

The loss went to John Tsitouris who pitched 11 and one third innings of fine ball before he became wild in the bottom of the 12th.

After striking out Ed Bailey, Tsitouris hit Alou and Jose Pagan and walked pinch-hitter Norm Larker.

Al Worthington was called in and fanned Harvey Kuenn. But Hiller came through with the clutch blow to give the Giants their third consecutive victory.

Don Larsen, who went in to relieve starter Billy O'Dell in the fifth inning got credit for the victory. He went seven and two-thirds innings—longest period on the mound since he joined the Giants two years ago—and only allowed two hits.

Tigers Win In 13th Inning

DETROIT (UPI)—Al Kaline sliced a line single to right field off Mo Drabowsky with none out in the last half of the 13th inning to score Billy Bruton and give the Tigers a 4-3 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Kaline, who slugged a two-run homer in the first inning, collected the 13th inning single—his third hit of the game—after Bruton led off the inning with a bunt single and went to second when Dick McAuliffe walked.

Drabowsky went all the way for the A's and was saddled with his tenth loss of the season even though he blanked Detroit for ten straight innings. Drabowsky has won five games.

LA Angels Rout Washington, 10-2

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Felix Torres drove in four runs with a double and two singles Saturday night and Billy Moran accounted for three more runs with a pair of triples in leading the Los Angeles Angels to a 10-2 rout of the Washington Senators.

The Angels collected 16 hits as every starting player except pitcher Fred Newman hit safely at least once. Newman gained his first major league victory although he was relieved in the sixth by Julio Navarro.

Mets Blank Cubs Behind Carleton

CHICAGO (UPI)—Carleton Willey scattered six hits for his fourth shutout and the New York Mets scored three runs off three pitchers in the ninth inning Saturday for a 5-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Willey struck out only one batter and issued no walks. He was never in trouble in working to his eighth win of the season and New York's 41st win in 128 games. It also was the Mets' first victory after six consecutive setbacks at Chicago.

Hall Beats Hall For Minnesota

BALTIMORE (UPI)—In "Hall-to-Hall combat" Saturday night, Jimmy Hall hit his 24th home run off Dick Hall in the eighth inning to give the Minnesota Twins a 1-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

'Forty-Niners' Have Little Hope for Flag

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—For 17 frustrating years, die-hard San Francisco Forty Niner football fans have been hoping and praying for a grid championship—any kind of a title at all.

But already they have doused their hopes for winning the National League crown in 1963.

The Forty-Niners, off to a weak start with defeats in their first two exhibition games, admittedly have a lot of problems.

"We have to improve our pass protection and our tackling if we are going to be a winner this year," says coach Red Hickey.

The pass protection has been improved a bit, but the tackling still is sloppy. And the defensive line has proved a bit leaky.

Still Hoping
But the old "hope springs eternal" phrase fits Hickey and the club. The team still has some good personnel, and there is belief that the rookies could turn it into a championship outfit.

The best of these could be Kermit Alexander, the No. 1 draft selection from UCLA. Alexander, a defensive stand-out in the All-Star Game in Chicago, came to camp late and was used on defense by the Forty Niners in their opening exhibition against Minnesota.

The first two times Alexander got his hands on the ball he romped for 95-yard and 83-yard touchdown runs. So immediately Hickey switched him to offense, hoping he would be the break-away back the club had been looking for ever since Hugh McElhenny was put up for grabs.

Another rookie, Don Lisbon from Bowling Green, may see a lot of action in the backfield before the regular season gets underway.

Brodie At QB
The quarterback again will be John Brodie, and the fullback is expected to be J. D. Smith, who reported late and underwent after a siege of mumps. Mike Lind of Notre Dame, if he can stay away from injuries, may be the

Davis Cup Stars Win In Doubles

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI)—Ranking Davis Cup stars from the United States and Mexico set up a rematch of last year's championship Saturday when they scored semi-final victories in the National Doubles tournament.

Uncle Sam's best, Chuck McKinley and Denny Ralston, beat Britain's Roger Taylor and Bob Wilson while defending champions Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox staged an uphill triumph over the domestic pairing of Cliff Buchholz and Ron Fisher.

McKinley and Ralston never were in serious trouble though they had to go five sets for a 6-1, 4-6, 6-3, 4-4, 6-2 win over Taylor and Wilson.

Osuna and Palafox dropped the first set of their match but roared back to win in four, 5-7, 8-6, 8-6, 6-4.

Both semifinal matches were played in a stiff breeze and before a capacity 4,000 crowd.

Australians Margaret Smith and Robyn Ebbern knocked the last British twosome out of the women's division. The second-seeded foreign tandem whipped Desire Catt and Elizabeth Starkie, 6-3, 6-4, in a match that lasted barely 30 minutes.

Victory for the Aussie girls set up Sunday's anticipated finale against five-time queen Darlene Hard of Los Angeles and two-time champion Maria Bueno of Brazil.

Mickey Wright Grabs Lead In Women's Open

OGDEN, Utah (UPI)—Veteran Mickey Wright, in quest of her 10th tournament win this year, fired her second consecutive round of 71 Saturday to grab a one-stroke lead in the Utah Women's Open golf championship.

Miss Wright moved into the lead when first round leader Kathy Whitworth of Jal, N.M., soared to 75 Saturday after firing a three under par 68 Friday to gain a three stroke lead at the end of 18 holes.

The final 18 holes of the tournament will be played Sunday on the well-manicured Ogden Golf and Country Club course.

Third place was shared at 148 strokes by Marilyn Smith of Tequesta, Fla., 78-77-33; Sandra Spuech, Indianapolis, 78-37-35; and Judy Torluemke, Antioch, Ill., 73-38-37.

Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S.C., was alone in sixth place when she added a 76 Saturday to her opening 75 and earned a total of 151.

Johnny Pott Holding Off Palmer's Charge

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Johnny Pott withstood one of Arnold Palmer's late putting charges to keep the lead by one stroke in the American Golf Classic Saturday.

The 27-year-old Missouri-born Pott shot a 36-35-71, one over par, which enabled him with his total of 208 to hold a one-stroke lead over Palmer, who had six sensational birdie putts that put him back in contention after starting off the third round six strokes behind Pott.

But Pott kept the lead when the chips were down. When Palmer sank a 30-foot putt for a birdie on the 18th, Pott was only on the 15th green and knew he had to "par in" to hold his lead. He did just that.

Palmer carded a stunning 34-32-66 over the 7,163-yard Firestone Country Club course Saturday and called it "one of my better rounds of golf, especially my putting."

Sank Three Birdies

Palmer, the defending champion, sank three birdie putts of 10 feet on the first nine and three birdie putts of 15, 20, and 30 feet on the back nine as he charged back from what he called "two mediocre rounds."

He had carded a 70 and 71 in those two rounds.

Pott, who complained, "I didn't sink any long ones today as I did yesterday" — on Friday he sank birdie putts of 60 and 55 feet, was happy he stayed in the lead for it gave him another $1,000 in bonus money which brought him to a total of $2,333.33 for three days play.

Two strokes off the pace was 27-year-old Bobby Nichols, who shot an even par 70 for a total of 208.

Then came U.S. Open champion Julius Boros, also with a par 70 including birdies on the last two holes, for a total of 210, even par for the Firestone course, which played longer than usual Saturday because of a steady rain which started at 7 a.m. and did not stop until the leaders were making the turn Saturday afternoon.

Five Off Lead

Five strokes off the lead at 211 came Harold Kneese, with a third-round 68; Lionel Hebert, with a 69; Masters and PGA champion Jack Nicklaus with a 71; and Australian Bruce Crampton with a 72.

Oregon's Mel Renfro Heisman Candidate

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—It sounds almost unbelievable but there could be two Heisman trophy winners in two straight years from the same high school.

In fact, down at the University of Oregon in Eugene you could get good odds on it.

Last season a quarterback named Terry Baker of Oregon State set the college football world ablaze. Baker won the Heisman award and picked off more honors than were ever accorded a college football player.

On the same United Press International All-American backfield was one of Baker's old teammates at Jefferson High School here, Mel Renfro.

Renfro was a year behind Baker when they were tearing up high school opponents and chose Oregon instead of Oregon State. He missed half his sophomore season with an injury but still made all-coast. He was healthy in his junior season — and made All-America.

Complete Football Player

Renfro, says Casanova, is the "complete football player." In fact Casanova has heaped more praise on the 185-pound, 5-11 Negro star than any player he's ever coached. But Casanova, whose use of superlatives is not the most common thing around, justifies it by saying simply that Renfro is the best he's ever coached.

Renfro is a halfback who can outrun most players and who hits the line with the best. He is a constant passing threat.

But Casanova likes to point out his defensive and blocking ability. (And Oregon fans like to point out that he plays "both ways," while Baker went only on offense.)

Against Ohio State last year Renfro made 21 tackles. Against Washington he made six tackles in a row. And whenever another Oregon back broke loose, it was usually Renfro who cleared the way by blocking.

Incidents Cause Concern

There were a couple of occasions on the campus at Eugene this spring when everyone just about went into mourning. Renfro strained a knee muscle and did not do so well in track and field. (He did "only" 14 flat in the high hurdles and 25-6 1/2 in the broad jump — when the previous season he had 13.8 in the high and 25-11 1/2 in the broad jump).

But the knee is ok — rest is what he needed, says backfield coach Max Coley.

The other nerve-jangling moment came after Renfro's car ended up on a sidewalk during a minor accident. Worried coaches sighed with relief when they found he was unhurt.

"Any time he survives one day we're happy," said an athletic department official.

Renfro probably could be an Olympic performer in track and field. But he wants to play professional football and there's little doubt that he'll be grabbed.

This summer Renfro, who is married, worked in Portland at an acoustics firm. His knee feels fine, he says.

Oregon opens against eastern powerhouse Penn State here on Sept. 21. Renfro could get off to a big start toward that Heisman goal in that game.

Anne Welts Wins Girls Amateur, Defeats Peggy

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (UPI)—Mrs. Anne Quast Welts fought off a valiant last ditch rally by spunky Peggy Conley Saturday to win the U.S. Golf Association Women's Amateur Championship for the third time.

The 25-year-old high school teacher from Mount Vernon Wash., calmly sank a 15-foot putt on the 35th hole to win, 2 and 1, in the 63rd renewal of this golf classic at the Taconic Golf Club.

Mrs. Welts' victory dashed 16-year-old Miss Conley's hopes of becoming the youngest person ever to win the event since it started in 1895.

Mrs. Welts, who captured the Women's Amateur in 1958 and 1961, came back from a two-hole deficit early in the second round. She forged ahead on the ninth hole, went 3 up at the 12th, lost the 14th but held on to win.

Her victory made her the seventh player ever to win the women's amateur three times.

It was the third time this year that Miss Conley had lost a major tournament in the finals. She was runnerup to Janis Ferraris of San Francisco in both the USGA Girls' Junior and the Western Junior. Miss Ferraris was eliminated from this tourney by Mrs. Welts in the quarter-finals.

The university states that anyone purchasing season tickets now will have first call on these seats through 1968. School authorities state that tickets sales are currently running 40 per cent ahead of last year, which set an all-time record average of 17,000 fans a game, including single game sales.

Canadian Wildcats Must Face Rebuilding Year

New Coach, Players, Formation for 'Cats

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor

CANADIAN — A new coach, a new system and new players . . . the Canadian Wildcats will be starting out with everything new but the football field this year.

Determined to climb out of the cellar, the Wildcats, who have had four coaches in the past four years, have hired Dwain Currie, former Canadian assistant who established a winning record and a winning spirit at Groom, to be the 1963 gridiron mentor.

The youthful Currie admitted that it would take quite a rebuilding job, and it would be two or three years before the Cats could really be considered a championship contender. Currie was a red however, that Canadian was not to be taken lightly along the way.

"With only four full-time starters and 10 lettermen back, as well as a new offense to learn in a hurry, it will take us at least until mid-season to jell. Then we're walking into teams like Lefors, McLean and Wellington, teams that are sheer murder, according to reports. It's going to be real rough . . . but I like the attitude of these boys. Despite a losing record they have spirit and hustle, and they're going to be in there fighting all the way."

The Wildcats ran up a 2-8 record last season under coach Ned Jolly, defeating Wheeler and Sanford-Fritch in non-district play, but losing all five loop games. Currie is converting Canadian from a slot T to a split-T, a more complicated offense than last year and one that will take time to learn perfectly.

Ten Lettermen
Currie will be aided this year by James Anglin, long-time B team coach, Moss Damon, junior high coach, and line coach John Ramp, who came to the Cats from McLean. The tobacco-chewing Currie admits that with only a few days practice, it is hard to learn who is who. "We have 41 boys out for the team and all of them are strange to me," he admitted.

"Ten boys are lettermen. All of them started at least one game, offensively or defensively, but only about four were full-time starters. I'll just have to decide my starting lineup on the basis of what we see in practice."

Returning lettermen include two quarterbacks, both juniors, Bill Grist, 140 pounds, and Bennie Echols, 175.

Three returning halfbacks are David Cook, one-letter junior, 155; Keith Yarnold, one-letter junior, 140; and Don Crozier, one-letter senior, 155.

Rounding out the returning backfield men is 160-pound, two-letter senior fullback Joe Schaefer.

Four Linemen
Four linemen return, including two guards, both seniors, Bill Owens, two letters, 155; and Joe Gutierrez, one letter, 163.

Mike Henderson starting defensive linebacker, returns, also gunning for an offensive tackle spot. Mike, a one-letter junior, is the biggest returnee at 182 pounds.

One of the few men who seem to have a spot clinched is returning two-way starter Stanley Swires, Swires, a 150-pound, two-letter senior, played both offensive and defensive tackle this year.

Two players who were ineligible last year, both playing the abbreviated B-team schedule, definitely fit in Currie's plans this year. Jerry Petrie, a 5-10, 165-pound senior, will get a good look at the end position this season.

Big Boy
The other player is apparently the giant of the Panhandle, the biggest football player in the area, "Ferocious Frank" Robbins, Robbins, a pleasant, soft-spoken boy, except on the gridiron, stands 6'4" and weighs in at 290 pounds. Currie has high hopes for the big boy, who looks impressive in practice, but tires easily due to his gigantic size. Currie is in hopes that he can pare some of the excess weight off, and feels that Robbins can make a defensive wall on his own if he can make the grade.

"With six seniors, eight juniors and 27 sophomores and freshmen, it seems as if we're two or three years away," said Currie. "The boys have a lot to learn. They're willing, they have the spirit, but no matter what you say, there's just no substitute for experience!"

Robbins is so big he has to play in cut-down jeans until the specially-ordered uniform being made for him is ready. (Daily News Photo)

Low Carpenter Set For Hornung's Post

DE PERE, Wis. (UPI) — Here's a riddle for football fans: What is it that runs, passes, catches passes, scores, and plays for the Green Bay Packers?

Guess again if you said Paul Hornung. Remember? He's sitting out this season. Another hint — our man also has a brother playing in the National Football League.

Before you let the suspense get you down, we'll tell you the answer is Low Carpenter, a veteran in his 10th year, who's back at his more familiar halfback spot this season after a couple of years playing end.

Carpenter scored two touchdowns in the Packers' exhibition win over Dallas recently and he probably was more surprised than anyone.

"I can't remember when the last time was I scored as a halfback," Carpenter said. "Come to think of it, it's pretty hard remembering when I did score last."

Actually it wasn't that long ago. In 1961, as an end, Carpenter caught a pass and went over for a touchdown. But don't ask him which end he was playing. It could have been either the tight end or the wide end. Then again, it could have come while he was subbing for flanker back Boyd Dowler, then a part-time soldier with Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard Division and a part-time athlete with Vince Lombardi's NFL champions.

Carpenter, like his brother Preston who plays for the Steelers, went to Arkansas. Unlike his brother, who's considered a regular with Pittsburgh, Low is considered Green Bay's "utility man." Not only does he play halfback and end, but he also manages to get in playing time as a safety man under punts and, if necessary, can also play defensive halfback or quarterback.

In fact he's probably as valuable sitting on the bench and working out in practice as he is when he's playing.

Carpenter, in mid-week drills, usually takes the role of the opposing quarterback for the next week. One week he might be Johnny Unitas, another week Fran Tarkenton. But when it comes to game time, he becomes Low Carpenter again and is always willing to go in at any position.

"I think he'd even play fullback or center if we needed him," a coach said.

Carpenter got off to a slow start this year by reporting in with an injury.

A year-round resident of Green Bay, he indulges in a bit of basketball and softball during the

Houston Oiler Backfield Intact

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of dispatches sizing up the prospects of professional football teams for the 1963 season.

(Houston Oilers)
By WILLIAM CLAYTON
United Press International
HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Meet the Houston Oilers, the "first family" of the American Football League.

Sixteen Houston players—nearly half the squad—have been together since the team was formed in 1960. They were key figures in the powerhouses that won the first two AFL championships and lost out to the Dallas Texans (now Kansas City Chiefs) in a double sudden-death overtime playoff last December.

That group includes the entire Oilers backfield of quarterback George Blanda, running backs Billy Cannon and Charley Toiar, and flanker Charlie Hennigan.

It's no wonder, then, that coach Pop Ivy's most serious "problems" involve how to break in a fine crop of rookies and which experienced hands will play where.

For example, Al Jamison, an All-AFL offensive tackle, was forced to retire at the close of last season because of a congenital spine ailment. Ivy immediately found two strongmen to battle it out for that job — 255-pound Walter Suggs, a second-year pro, and Dudley Meredith, a 270-pounder who has been one of the big surprises of the pre-season training camp.

Away Two Years
Meredith was a tubby 290-pound rookie two years ago and was cut from the squad. He went back to teaching and last spring was spotted by an Oilers coach at a Lamar Tech alumni game. He was invited back, shed 20 pounds and now looks like he'll stick.

Ivy felt he needed some line-backing support for the regular trio of Mike Dukes, who presently is injured, Doug Cline and Gene Babb.

He found it among his rookies. Dan Brabham of Arkansas, the Oilers' No. 1 draft choice, appears to be as good a linebacker as a fullback and likely will play both ways. Other promising rookie linebackers are Johnny Baker of Mississippi State and Jerry Hopkins of Texas A and M.

Really Loaded
So "loaded" are the Oilers with talent that they could afford to release Ray Jacobs, their No. 1 draft choice for 1962, and Jerry Cook of Texas, their No. 3 pick for this season.

Other impressive rookies in camp are Bill Tobin of Missouri and Butch Pressley of Texas A and I, both running backs; Tom Brown, 255-pound tackle from Pitt; Don Donatelli, a 250-pound center from Florida State, and Will Brown, a defensive back from Grambling (La.).

Ivy says his team will be "basically the same" as last year. Which means it will be tough to beat, no matter how you look at it.

LEE SCORES — Lee Waters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Waters, displays this 1½-pound rainbow trout caught this week in Red River, N. Mex.

Saltwater Fish Thrive Here

It isn't the heat or a sudden dizzy spell blurring your vision when you spot a big, flapping flounder in a West Texas lake. You might also see a shiny golden croaker there, or hook some tasty trout and redfish.

Tests and experiments continue with salt water fish in fresh water — one of the most challenging projects attempted by the Parks and Wildlife Commission. (Game and Fish Commission).

Growth results in several lakes have been very promising but reproduction has been a problem. Marion Toole, coastal fisheries coordinator for the commission, said small flounder placed in Imperial Lake near El Paso have grown up to eight pounds.

Two redfish killed by natural causes in Imperial weighed 16 and 18 pounds. Flounder, trout and redfish have also progressed well in Red Bluff Lake near Pecos.

The West Texas lakes have a high saline content which seems to agree with the transplants from the coast.

Salt water fish have been introduced in fresh water successfully at Casa Blanca Lake. The varieties have shown signs of reproduction.

LIONS LOSE PLAYERS

COMMERCE (UPI) — East Texas State backfield coach Ernest Hawkins was unhappy Saturday after learning he will not have the services this season of speedy back Richard Corley or letterman Marion Turner. Corley announced he was taking a job with a state agency. Turner, who missed a year with injuries, has decided to go into high school coaching at Palestine.

Integration Will Aid PHS Sports

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor

The athletic director and coaches of Pampa High School unanimously agreed that Pampa's athletic fortunes had received a boost with the closing of Carver High School Friday and the simultaneous integration of Pampa High.

Weldon "Birdog" Trice and all head coaches heartily welcomed all Negro athletes who wished to come out for the Harvester teams. Carver produced a state finalist Class B basketball team in 1962-63, a state champion track team in 1962 and two individual state track champions in 1963. The Wildcats did not play football or baseball, although it is reported that almost all of Carver's outstanding athletes plan to try out for the football team, and several who have starred in Pony League baseball and in softball will come out for the baseball team.

Trice said "There are a lot of fine athletes who were at Carver, their record proves that. We would like to see all of them out for sports here at Pampa High, starting with football."

Need Experience
Football coach Otis Holladay said: "Since they're in school, we welcome all of them out for football. I am glad that with the ability some of them must have, that they have the opportunity now to play football."

"We would be wrong to expect too much immediate help, as they have never played the game before. They lack experience, training and knowledge of high school football. However, with the speed many of them have, and with an all-around athlete's natural ability, some of them could make the team this year. If they can overcome a lack of experience, I am sure some of them could help us tremendously, and we would be glad to have them."

"The younger players should strengthen us greatly for the future. We urge all of them to come out for football as soon as possible and start learning. If they can play the game, we'll have a place for them."

Basketball coach Terry Culley, when asked how he would like to see five players from a state finalist basketball team, replied "You betcha!"

Lack of Height
Culley's only disappointment was the fact that the Wildcats coming out would not have any appreciable height, as with the graduation of All-State Randy Matson and the loss of Gary Sikes, 6-3 Charlie Price would be the only big man on the team.

Culley said "As far as I am concerned, anyone out for basketball will be treated like anyone else. If they can make the team and have the ability, they will play. I know it is a big jump from Negro Class B ball to 4-A ball, but if they have the stuff, well, Price is the only sure starter on the team, and we're wide open."

"We would especially advise the younger boys to come out and start working out as soon as the season starts. They will be welcome."

Especially exultant was track coach Norman Phillips. "It's very true," he said, "that there is a tremendous gap between the caliber of ball played in Carver's league and in ours, but stopwatch races don't differentiate between classes and districts. If there is a 9.7 dash man, a 4:23 mile and a 47.6 sprint relay team, they will be just as fast here."

"We can use all the speed we can get. Anyone who can make the team is urged to come out, we'll be glad to have them. We have lost a lot of fine athletes' like Randy Matson, Curtis Fletcher, Bill Martin and Ralph Palmer by graduation, and we were going to have to depend on our youngsters like Mark Westbrook to carry the load. With these veterans from Carver and our outstanding youngsters, we can make a tough team next year."

Prize Packages

The outstanding prize packages are Tommy Murray and Jesse Washington, with Tim Woods and James Tucker also standouts. Murray, however, is a question mark, as fellow students reported they were not sure whether Murray would return to school. Tommy is a four-time state 100-yard dash champion, with a peak time of 9.7. Although he won the state title as an eighth grader, coach Holladay reports that the switch from the Negro Interscholastic League to the Texas Interscholastic League will probably still leave Murray a year of eligibility.

Washington, a 5-11, 165-pounder, has played sandlot football as a quarterback, averaged almost 20 points a game while leading Carver to a 194-cage record and a berth in the state finals last year, and is a two-time mile champion, with a 4:23 clocking. Washington will definitely be out for football, it is reported, and is expected to try for both the basketball and track teams.

Woods, a 440-yard dash man, is the only Carver player with varsity high school football experience, having played in Colorado before coming to Pampa. He has played all backfield positions and was a starting halfback. Although only 140 pounds, he is very fast, running the hundred in about 19.3. He is also a standout baseball player.

All-Around

Tucker, 6-0 and 162 pounds, was the outside sharpshooter on the basketball team, intends to come out for the football team, and is also a speedboy. James Mathis, Murray, Tim Holt and William Walker composed the Carver sprint relay team which ran a 47.0 in state in 1962 and lost by a disqualification while leading last year. Only Mathis graduates, with the others coming out for football and track.

Also expected to come out for football and either track or baseball are Derrell Cash, Harmon Waite, Cash Woodard and Curtis Eastman among others, although there is a possibility that some of them may not return to school.

There seems to be little doubt that integration will help Pampa athletics, as evidenced by the example of neighbor and district rival Borger. The Bulldogs integrated six or seven years ago, and have been one of the district powerhouses ever since, winning the state football title with all-state A. C. Tillmon leading the way, and producing outstanding basketball and baseball teams, sparked by the fabulous Big Joe Robinson, another Negro.

Will Help

Although the new students cannot be contacted by the coaches until the season actually starts, it would appear advisable for all athletic candidates to begin getting into shape for sports as soon as possible, and contacting the Harvester coaches as soon as school begins.

ing in shape for sports as soon as possible, and contacting the Harvester coaches as soon as school begins.

With a winning tradition and some outstanding athletes, the Carver High Wildcats, now part of the Pampa Harvesters, should add new depth to the Green-and-Gold.

Pennel Tops Vault Mark, Hits 17 Feet!

JOHN PENNEL ... high flier

MIAMI Fla., (UPI) — John Pennel of Miami broke his own world's record in the pole vault Saturday by soaring 17 1/4 inches over the 17-foot mark in his first try at the Gold Coast AAU track and field championships here. The old record was 16 feet 10 1/4 inches. Pennel, a student at Northeast Louisiana State College, thus became the first man in history to vault over the 17-foot mark. "I've been looking forward to this," said Pennel. "I felt relaxed and now I feel great."

Pennel wasn't pushed in his effort, as John Uelses, his teammate on a recent U.S. team track tour in Europe, did not participate in the meet.

Henry Wadsworth, a former high school teammate, dropped out of competition Saturday at just over 15 feet.

Pennel set the old record Aug. 5 while competing with the U.S. team in London. He had tried on several occasions since then to crack the 17-foot barrier and failed.

An AAU coach said he didn't think Pennel would have any trouble with the mark Saturday since he had come near or over the mark unofficially in practice several times this week.

McMURRY WORKOUTS
ABILENE (UPI) — Coach Grant Teaff said Saturday he expects 45 candidates for the McMurry College football team at the opening of fall practice Sept. 1. The Indians open their schedule Sept. 14 against Corpus Christi University in Corpus Christi. Only five starters, all linemen, are returning from last year's team.

Sporting Sidelines

by JEFF COHANE

IT WAS OLD home week in the Top O' Texas for this department as we visited all the coaches we haven't seen since last Spring (except for Grady Burnett of Wheeler who was still lying in wait from Little League season).

Getting back to some of our favorite teams and coaches was very enjoyable, although many of "our boys" are gone from the ranks due to graduation. Although quite a number of schools played "musical chairs," the area ended up with only one coach missing—Ned Jolly, moving from Canadian to Canyon, with Jack York, coming to Groom the only new addition to the head coaching ranks; although we could consider Cecil Reynolds, a former Pampan relieving Paul Morris at Mobettie, a new coach. John Ramp switched from assistant at McLean to aide Dwain Currie at Canadian and Bob Schneider has come in to help Derral Davis at McLean.

AS USUAL, the optimists were predicting victory despite a lack of players and the pessimists were woefully lading doom although they were warned. Grady Burnett tried to play "poor mouth" at Wheeler, but couldn't quite make it ring true with that powerhouse. "Doleful Dunnie" Goode cried bitterly down at Lefors, but the sight of Don McCool, Lightning Coleman, Phil Woodring, Marvin Todd, etc., etc., kinda kept us from choking up too.

We haven't gotten over at this writing to visiting the real "unhappy man" of the Panhandle Crying Colie Huffman yet, and we know the sniffing, weeping and wailing he will put on will be a better show than the ball game. According to reports, Colie isn't quite as strong as last year; and with the sobbing he did over one of the best track teams ever seen in Class AA, the thought of what will happen if his team is even one man weaker than before is horrifying. Colie assured us over the phone that he "would tell nothing but the truth," but his version of it is akin to the announcer on "Portia Faces Life."

OUR ADOPTED TOWN, Miami, turned out in full force to greet us. Superintendent of Schools Weldon Snodgrass and former correspondent J. L. Grantham leading the welcoming committee. After workout, Larry Overcast "kidnaped" us and took us home for some of Betty's delicious baking. Larry and Bill Hines gave a full report on various All-Star football and basketball games they attended this summer, and reported that Jimmy Flowers, Miami's great basketball player, is entering Howard County Junior College. Several major schools had expressed interest in the all-regional cage ace, all-district football player and state finalist high jumper, especially Texas Tech; and after Jimmy had led the West to victory in the small-school All-Star basketball game, it seemed a cinch that they would snap him up, but Overcast reported that the HC coach was the only one attending the game and put in a strong bid for Jimmy's services. We feel that it is his gain and Tech's loss.

Clyde Windom, TT sophomore, was out helping out at McLean before going back to college. Clyde looks in good shape and hopes to see plenty of action this year.

THE MOST IMPRESSIVE team seen to date appears to be Wheeler. Despite being a Class B school, the Mustangs have three or four boys over the 200-pound mark, a backfield of speed merchants and a veteran team which won district last year. The thought of a team so strong that the coach has no place to start a 102 runner is rough. Especially good-looking were tackle Neil Rogers and end Kent Sims. Once again Grady Burnett should get sweet revenge on Canadian! Dwain Currie at Canadian is hopeful, but admits that this will have to be strictly a rebuilding year. A new coach, a new offense and a 2-8 past record don't make for a threat, admits Dwain, but he feels his boys will start jelling by district time. Currie has one secret weapon at Canadian, the biggest football player in the Panhandle ... a 6'4", 290-pound junior who was ineligible last year. The boy is so powerful they had to get uniforms made to order for him, nothing would fit!

KENNY HEBERT ... sparks team

Dick Donovan, Coach Duffy Top Humorists

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sports out either this year with the new substitution rule that threatens chaos unless the coaches get it figured out in a hurry.

Cleveland pitcher Dick Donovan, noted among the writers for his sense of humor win or lose, came up with this one after a winning session against the New York Yankees ... with the score tied 1-1 in the seventh against the Yankees this week, Dick came to bat with the bases loaded and promptly banded into an inning-ending double play ... the Indians eventually won in the ninth.

After the game he was asked if he got mad at himself for choking off his team's rally in the seventh ... "Gentlemen, I try never to get mad at myself ... I'm too nice a guy."

Jack Price, who brought Carry Back from the stud to resume racing, apparently wants to get his famed race horse ready for another crack at the Arc de Triomphe Classic in Paris this fall ... Chances aren't too good ... However, Jack was bitterly disappointed when a poor ride by a foreign jockey made Carry Back an also-ran in the French race last year ... he'd like to atone for that one.

Has Pool Table

Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State's quipping football coach, has a new pool table in his home ... "it's mainly for my kids," he says. "I want them to have the same start in life I did."

Kansas U.'s new football scoreboard will carry the usual information plus something that figures to be even more vital than usual this season — the number of timeouts remaining ... spectators will be in a time-

Harvesters Boast New Attitude, Determination

A new pride and a new attitude bid fair to give the Pampa Harvesters their first winning season in over a decade.

The Green-and-Gold, which has been near-winless and discouraged accordingly, football-wise, for some years, has taken on a new lease of life under coach Otis Holladay. In Holladay's first season at the helm, the former Coach of the Year guided Pampa to a 4-6 mark. This year, with returning veterans, good depth and the feeling that they can win, the Harvesters are ready to upset the district 3-AAAA appecart.

Some 60 boys will be coming out next week, including 21 lettermen and eight returning starters. Key to Pampa's fortunes are a speed-demon backfield and one of the finest quarterbacks in the area.

Kenny Hebert, a six-foot, 185-pound two-year letterman, led the district in offense last year. The "Flying Frenchman" racked up 462 yards rushing in 110 attempts, fourth-best in the district; was fifth in passing with 10 completions in 24 attempts for 213 yards; and led the loop in total offense. The triple-threat man was also the leading punter in the district, averaging 44.3 yards a kick, and also booting five extra points. An all-district baseball player, a 10-second track man, and a basketball regular, this all-around athlete carries the hopes of the Harvesters.

Hebert's passing was restricted last year by a lack of outstanding pass receivers, but this year he has a choice of three. Junior Terry Criss, whom Holladay tabs as "potentially one of the finest I ever coached," stands 6-1, weighs 165, is fast and shifty and has hands like a blacksmith. At the other end, it will be a battle royal between seniors Clay Lively and Mike Bridges. Lively, 6-1, 195, is a returning starter and an all-around player; while Bridges, 6-1, 175, could rate with Criss as a pass receiver. Blocking duties will be handled by Ricky Maynard, a 5-11, 170-pound junior with tremendous desire.

Also on the pass receiving list are a batch of speedboy backs, led by Eugene "The Bandit" Madrid, Ricky Stewart, Jerry Garrison and Ronnie Oler.

Speed and Power
Madrid is the best bet for the tailback slot and Stewart for wingback, with Garrison pushing them both. Madrid, a 165-pound senior, is a dash man on the track team, and in addition to speed and shiftness, is perfectly willing to run over people as well as around them.

Stewart, a two-letter senior, 150 pounds, is a returning starter, and has played offensive end and wingback and defensive halfback and linebacker. Ricky is another fast boy, the leading base-stealer on the baseball team.

Garrison, a 155-pound returning letterman, was an outstanding runner in spring training. Defensive choices for the halfback jobs comes from junior San Williams, 150; senior Hank Henry; and junior Jim Arthur, 175, a converted quarterback. Two other halfback candidates are still another speedster, senior Ronnie Oler; and 160-pound sophomore standout Lewis Meers.

The blocking back post is sought by three boys without varsity experience, but all with good potential and all of whom stood out in spring training. Clive Seymour, 160, Keith Griffith, 170, and James Williamson, 175.

Ricky Line Key

Key to the line success will be senior Ricky Goodwin. Holladay has already said for quotation, "As Goodwin goes, so go the Harvesters." Ricky, a returning starter, weighs in at 180 and is a hole-blasting offensive guard and a tackle-happy defensive linebacker. The other tackle spot is wide open, with Perry Thompson, a 175-pound transfer from Perryton, the top candidate. Myron Scribner, 180, and Carl Johnson, 175, are giving him a battle.

Two other end candidates, mainly on defense, are 6-3 Bryan Martin and speedy Bob Meador. Left guard will have another battle with Bill Campaigne, 165, and John Neslage, 200, hoping for a berth. Right guard is the spot for a strong all-district candidate, senior letterman Donnie Rexroad, 190, an outstanding blocker. Before he gets to loop honors, however, Rexroad must get past strong competition at home in the person of Big Phil Kleener, biggest man on the team at 235. Letterman Gary Thurmond, 185, is slated to be the man under, with John Fite, 180, and Dean Evans, 160, still hopeful.

Opener Rough

The Harvesters open the hard way, at Wichita Falls. After playing the perennial state champions Sept. 13, Pampa comes home to host the Phillips Blackhawks the following Friday night. Alternating home and away dates, Pampa visits Palo Duro Sept. 27, hosts Tascosa Oct. 4 and then plays new conference member Caprock on Saturday, Oct. 12. Hosting Monterey on Oct. 18, Pampa returns to Saturday play at Plainview Oct. 26, plays at Lubbock High Nov. 1, entertains the Amarillo Sandies Nov. 8, and then takes a week's rest before a Saturday afternoon finale with Borger Nov. 23.

The Harvesters' hopes are high ... with a long, long season to make them reality or just a dream.

Everyone Is Playing The Numbers Game

EDITOR'S NOTE: Every American is involved in the numbers game, whether he knows it or not, because the U.S. is the most numbered nation on earth. The following dispatch, first of three, examines how our numbers mount from the cradle to the grave.

By BARNEY SEIBERT
United Press International

Flip open your billfold and let's play the numbers game.

First, there probably is a Social Security card—with a number. There are 143 million of these outstanding among Americans.

Then there's a driver's license. About 89 million persons in the U.S. have them. They all have numbers.

And, of course, there's the credit card numbers, the hospital and medical insurance numbers, and organization membership numbers.

If you are an average, moderate joiner who tries to keep his credit accounts at a minimum, you probably can find about 15 numbers during a quick check of your billfold.

If you are an inveterate joiner you may come up with 30 or 40 membership numbers. If you are a real tycoon, you may crack the 100 mark in the numbers game.

Only The Beginning
There are: country club greens card numbers, voter registration numbers, military serial numbers, car registration numbers, auto license numbers, checking account numbers, savings account numbers, auto insurance policy numbers. And this is only a starter.

Lots of people may have your number — the draft board, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the drug store on the corner, or the library.

Authorities throw up their hands when asked to estimate how many numbers the average

STOW THAT HOSE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The next trend in home lawn care may be underground piping to eliminate the choice of holding a watering hose, dragging out sprinklers or letting the grass die.

New rigid plastic pipe and fittings expressly designed for lawn sprinkling systems can be installed underground at costs that are within reason for most homeowners, according to Chemtron Corporation affiliate Tube Turns Plastics Inc.

man has against his name. No one, apparently, keeps statistics on the number of organizations the average American joins, how many credit cards he holds, or how many insurance policies he purchases.

But it is safe to say that Americans, who like to think of themselves as unnumbered, are the most numbered people on earth. No other people buys as many varieties of insurance, refines installment purchase to such a high art, or creates such a variety of societies and associations.

Starts At Birth
Your numbers begin at the cradle—or before—and end at the grave.

When a baby is born his birth is certified—by a number. In a sense it may be said the infant has a number before birth because pharmacists are required to keep numerical records of prescriptions for expectant mothers.

Conditioning the child for acceptance of his numbered existence begins almost immediately. There are serial numbers on his baby food, on his toys, on the breakfast cereal boxes from which many children learn to read.

When the child starts school, conditioning moves into high gear. Not only does he begin studying numbers, he begins acquiring more individual numbers — on his library card, his school registration card.

By adolescence he has become so numbed by numbers from his Boy Scout membership to his bunk at summer camp—that he is ready to accept blindly a life-long succession of seven-digit telephone numbers, postal zip codes and bank account numbers which will end with a cemetery lot number and a death certificate number.

(Tomorrow: When numbers go astray)

SPACE SAVERS

NEW YORK (UPI) — More than 100 square feet of extra living space is available in the average home equipped with modern gas cooking, heating and laundering equipment, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

This estimate is based on the lower floor-space requirements for installation of a new built-in gas range or a flush-to-wall freestanding model. A new gas furnace or boiler takes up no more basement space than an office filing cabinet and doesn't require fuel tanks or bins and janitorial tools, the Association said.

Laos always is a potential trouble spot since the Chinese seem convinced the U. S. will not intervene directly there.

India remains. Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has reported a large new buildup of Red forces along his northern border but there has been no real action. And since last year's fighting, both the United States and Britain have made clear they would come to India's aid, and the Soviet Union has promised military aid.

The chance that Red China, with an obsolete air force and without nuclear weapons, would start a major action against such a lineup seems increasingly remote.

But, meanwhile, the nuclear reactor given to Peking by the Russians in 1958 continues to cook its bomb-making material and in 10 years the picture could be different.

The U.S. federal government limits the power of radio stations to 50,000 watts.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Just as the nuclear test ban agreement has aroused speculation over possible new areas of agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union, so there also is room for legitimate speculation over the course now to be followed by Red China.

President Kennedy phrased it in somber tones when he said at his Aug. 1 news conference that a continuation of present Red Chinese policies into the 1970's could create a situation potentially more dangerous than any since the end of World War II.

The failure of the two Communist giants to settle their dispute in last month's Moscow meetings effectively isolated Peking from Moscow, and the nuclear agreement simply added to Red Chinese frustration.

This is a frustration of long-standing, having its roots in steadfast U. S. opposition to Red Chinese expansions and now abetted by Soviet refusal to help the Chinese develop a nuclear arsenal of their own.

Will Consolidate Influence

It may be expected that Red China will move vigorously now to consolidate her influence over the Communist parties of Asia, and to extend it over similar parties in Africa and South America, using the color line as one of her weapons.

She also may be expected to continue boring from within tactics. She has denounced the leadership of the World Federation of Trade Unions, the International Union of Students and the World Federation of Democratic Youth for supporting the Nuclear Treaty. But she has made no move to withdraw membership in such Communist organizations.

Militarily she is able to pose a threat in Korea, in southeast Asia and against India.

But reckless as the Red Chinese leadership has been with words, it has shown no real desire to take on a fight it is certain to lose.

With the U. S. 7th Fleet patrolling the Straits of Formosa, she has made no real move against the Chiang Kai-Shek stronghold or even against the off-shore islands of Quemoy or the Matsu.

When shooting broke out along the Korean truce line and three Americans died there last month, there was a flurry of speculation that this might be the start of a new Chinese-directed attempt to start something.

South Korean Elections

Finally, more than to anything else, it was attributed to the season and to a desire to disrupt approaching South Korean elections.

Laos always is a potential trouble spot since the Chinese seem convinced the U. S. will not intervene directly there.

India remains. Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has reported a large new buildup of Red forces along his northern border but there has been no real action. And since last year's fighting, both the United States and Britain have made clear they would come to India's aid, and the Soviet Union has promised military aid.

The chance that Red China, with an obsolete air force and without nuclear weapons, would start a major action against such a lineup seems increasingly remote.

But, meanwhile, the nuclear reactor given to Peking by the Russians in 1958 continues to cook its bomb-making material and in 10 years the picture could be different.

The U.S. federal government limits the power of radio stations to 50,000 watts.

HELITROOPERS—Helicopters continue to show new facets of their versatility. Above, an Army Chinook helicopter above Fort Bragg, N.C., takes part in a test as a paratroop carrier. Paratroopers from the 18th Airborne Corps made a total of 500 jumps from the loading platform at the rear of the Chinook, which can carry 28 fully equipped troopers.

CONCRETE RESEARCH

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Ever wonder what causes concrete pavements to crack when exposed to freezing and thawing conditions?

Researchers at Penn State University are attempting to solve that puzzle. Their findings may have nationwide bearing on the cost and life expectancy of highways.

Highway departments and aggregate producers from all parts of the country are providing materials to the civil engineering department here for the study.

TIMBER SAFER

CHICAGO (UPI) — Heavy timber buildings are safer from fire damage than structures built with so-called "noncombustible" materials, reports the National Lumber Manufacturers Association.

Temperatures inside a burning building can reach 1,700 degrees, often within 10 minutes. But wood beams char to a depth of only one and a half inches after a full hour of that temperature, the organization says, and charring is usually not sufficient to cause collapse.

Panhandle Couple Exchanges Wedding Promises In First Methodist Church

PANHANDLE (Sp) - In a candlelight ceremony held Saturday in the First Methodist Church, Miss Frances Ann Metcalf became the bride of Rannie Young Heare.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Metcalf of Panhandle, and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy C. Heare of Lancaster, Calif., former Panhandle residents.

The Rev. J. Alvis Cooley, minister of the First Methodist Church, officiated.

A nuptial prelude was presented at the organ by Mrs. Merle Lewellen.

The chancel of the church was centered with a golden bronze candelabrum holding cathedral tapers. The altar was flanked by a single altar candles on bronze pedestals. A background of Woodwarlia palm and golden candelabra holding white tapers completed the setting.

The double aisle was laid with a white satin carpet. The pews were marked with white satin bows and candle standards holding white tapers.

Honor attendants were Mrs. Jim Gabel, sister of the bride, and Miss Glenda Smith. Bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Bell, Miss Annette Farrell and Miss Connie Heare, sister of the bridegroom, of Lancaster, Calif.

The empire waistline held a detachable train of square design overlaid with lace appliques encrusted with seed pearls and sequins. Lace appliques emphasized the front of the bell shaped skirt. Her tiered veil of lace applied French illusion, fell from a crown of lace, highlighted with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a garland bouquet of white sweetheart roses and gladiolus tapering to a single bud at the tip.

As she approached the altar, the bride presented her mother with a white rosebud. As she left the altar, following her marriage, she presented her mother-in-law with the same token.

A reception in the War Memorial Building was given by the bride's parents. The bride's table was laid with a floor-length cloth of white organdy and was centered with a bouquet of talisman roses and ivy. This year Kathy has been serving as Junior 4-H leader for two younger girls, Mary Johnson and Marsha McCracken. She has given demonstrations in making sponge cake, plain butter cake and whole wheat rolls and has given assistance in hemming and putting in interfacings.

This year Kathy has carried "Bedroom Improvement" as a project. With the assistance of her family, she has refinished a metal bedstead with gold paint, painted walls and ceiling and refinished the floor. She selected the material for drapes and helped in making them. This project will be carried on another year.

Mrs. Jaunita Channell assistant county home demonstration agent, lists the awards and ribbons that Kathy has received at three red ribbons and seven blue ribbons in foods, two red ribbons and four blue ribbons in clothing, and the clothing, gardening and Home Economics Award.

Dear Abby....

If You Don't Know, Then Find Someone Who Does

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I know a practical nurse who is a disgrace to the profession. She was hired to care for an elderly lady who is almost helpless. After the P. N. puts this elderly lady to bed she goes out the back door and across the street to spend the night with a widower who lives alone. She is supposed to be sleeping in the bedroom next to the patient in case she is needed during the night. I am not the kind of person who makes trouble, but I think somebody ought to tell the family of this poor old helpless woman, and I don't know them well enough.

SEEING IS BELIEVING

DEAR SEEING: To be aware of this situation and withhold it from the family is, in my opinion, morally wrong. Since you don't know the family well enough to tell them, find someone who does. But see to it that the family learns the truth immediately.

DEAR ABBY: I am married, but for reasons I cannot put in a letter I am unable to keep my baby. Will a home for unwed mothers take me?

DEAR NIGHTMARE: Yes, there are SOME homes that will take married girls. Send me your name and address.

DEAR ABBY: About six years ago a nice young couple moved into our neighborhood. I'll call them Mabel and Pete, which are not their real names. My husband and I became very friendly with them. They had two children and so did we. Two years ago, for no reason at all, Pete walked off and left Mabel. She was five months pregnant at the time. We never saw Pete again, but Mabel said they were divorced and she gets alimony and support money regularly. We have been like a family to Mabel. Out of the blue my husband told me he wanted to ADOPT Mabel's youngest child, a sweet boy. I knew my husband was fond of this child, but I can't see why he would want to ADOPT him. He said Mabel would continue to raise him but the boy would be legally his "son". Isn't this rather unusual? What would you do, Abby?

IN A DAZE

DEAR IN: I'd tell my husband to forget it. And if you are like a "family" to Mabel, do her a favor and help her find a nice man to complete her own family.

DEAR ABBY: Last night I took a baby-sitting job in the neighborhood. I had just started to sit for money and it was my first time with these people. I am 14 and my mother won't let me sit anywhere later than midnight. It was agreed with these people that I'd sit from seven until midnight for 50 cents an hour. The children were perfect and gave me no trouble. It got to be 12:30 and the parents were not home yet. My mother called twice and I had to tell her I couldn't leave because the parents were still out. Finally, at 1 a.m., I telephoned the parents (they were at a relative's home) and asked them please to come home. They came right away and apologized for forgetting the time. They tipped me a dollar, too. Now my mother won't let me sit for them any more. It only happened once. Do you think my mother is being fair?

SITTER

DEAR SITTER: I would say, give the night owls one more chance.

Use Lace With Faille or Taffeta

For that wedding that is coming up, or important anniversary party — any party, in fact — you will feel you need something a little "fallosh" yet satisfactory if the weather is hot.

If you feel it's sort of out of season for a new fall dress, consider lace and faille or taffeta for a dress you can wear now, and all winter if you choose.

Maybe you have a lace dress hanging in your closet that you will not wear as is but that could give you good lace to use with some new fabric to supplement it. The dresses shown can have bodice and petals of lace, with fabric, or lace can make the bottom of the skirt and faille or taffeta the upper part.

I write so often about using only the best fabric you can afford. If you have good lace in a right color, use it by all means.

Buy enough china silk for a full lining. Buy matching thread and an underarm dress zipper.

Follow your pattern instructions for joining petals and skirt.

No. 8364 is available in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Bust 31 to 40. Size 12, 32, bust, 5 1/4 yards of 3-inch fabric.

No. 8394 is in sizes 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 years. Size 4, 3 1/4 yards of 35-inch fabric.

To order the above patterns send 50 cents in coin for each pattern to:

If you have a zigzag machine or attachment, use it by all means for joining lace and fabric. Otherwise, overlap neatly, then stitch, using a short machine stitch, or stitch, then whip the lace to place.

When using a zigzag stitch, practice on scraps of the fabrics — adjust the stitch to just the right length. If there is any tendency to draw, do the work over tissue paper — white if fabric is light, black if dark.

Because fullness is eased in at the waistline, you can complete the skirt except the hem before joining it to the bodice.

For the bodice, stitch the shoulder seams and darts, lining and outside. Cut darts and press them open. Place right sides of bodice and lining together. Stitch the armholes, lining and fabric together — now the neck. Lastly, stitch the underarm seams, leaving the left side open enough for the zipper.

Stitching as directed, all raw edges will be inside.

Join bodice and skirt, turn the hem. Stitch the waistline, put in the zipper. Do the hem by hand and then press.

Jeering Section Makes Dieting Plump People Plumb Tired

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—The plump of the land get plumb tired of the jeering section when on a diet.

Samples of verbal oddments the fat of the land tire of hearing while trying to shed the spare tire via monitoring what goes into the mouth.

—You're not that fat. Here, have another jelly doughnut.
—Didn't your doctor tell you? Some people are just naturally robust—and look better a bit overweight.

—It won't hurt to cheat a bit on that dismal diet the doctor gave you. Here, have some mashed potatoes—with gravy. Why I'll bet he even feeds his parakeets mashed potatoes and look how thin they stay.

—That diet the doctor gave you is all wrong. Too much suffering in it. Why I once knew a woman who lost 20 pounds in two weeks and she wasn't even on a medically prescribed diet. She had something wrong with her stomach and couldn't eat for two weeks.

Bubber Only Difference
—Now stop torturing yourself. Look in the mirror. What's the difference, as the eye sees it, between the way you look in a size 16 and the way you look in a size 14? Just a little blubber—which you conceal with the extra folds of the 16. To the on-lookers who don't know about your blubber, you look perfectly presentable. Stop trying to get down to a 14.

—Are you sure your doctors knows what he's doing? I've never heard of a diet like that.
—Fat people are jolly. Why do you want to lose weight and risk the chance of becoming a sourpuss?

—Oh, come on, eat up. Haven't you heard about that new diet? You stay on a diet for three days and on the fourth day you eat anything and everything you can! Consider this the fourth day.

—So you've been on this diet for five days and you've gained? It just goes to prove. Some people are meant to be fat.

—Look, life's this way. Some are fat. Some are lean. If you don't have friends who like you fat, how can you expect to have friends who will stick with you through the lean? Be sensible.

Killed Cousin
—Oh? You're taking that new melt-the-fat compound? You know that second cousin of mine we buried last week? She was on that for four weeks.

—The doctor's allowing you 1,000 calories a day? Doesn't he know the latest thing is starvation diets—under medical supervision, of course.

—Come on. Forget you're on a diet. Have just one more piece of pie. No one will know only the scale will notice.

—Eat tonight and starve all next week. Here, have another piece of cheesecake.

—Are you sure you want another ice tea? It's your sixth, you know—and we have plenty of cocktails.

—Be a good sport. Forget the diet tonight. Eat, drink and be merry. Tomorrow you can resume the diet, if you really abhor being fat.

North Dakota's honey production of 103 pounds per colony was highest in the nation in 1932.

Ideas From 1699 Publication Heard

The Top O' Texas Garden Club met recently in the home of Mrs. John Howard, 2101 N. Nelson.

Mrs. Kenneth Osborne conducted the business meeting. Committee reports were given and an estimated budget for the year was submitted by the finance committee for approval.

Mrs. Osborne presented the program, a talk concerning the "History of Garden Therapy." She read quotes from "The English Gardener," published in 1699, which stated that men should take the time from daily worries and spend a few moments in the garden working with plants as a means of both physical and mental therapy.

The club discussed its hopes to further the activities this year in garden therapy by helping others help themselves.

Members present were Mmes. Kirby L. Hyman, Tom Patton, Margery Mack, Helen Knox, John Howard, Kenneth Osborne and L. B. Robertson.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. John Howard and Mrs. L. B. Robertson.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. W. T. Donnell, 701 E. 14th on Sept. 10 at 1:30 p.m.

The bride's table featured an arrangement of white daisies in a silver wine cooler, flanked by silver candelabra holding white candles. A silver punch bowl and cake knife decorated with white roses and stephanotis completed the setting.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. James Kizer, Misses Linda McCasland, Michele Fitzpatrick, Gloria Zwang and Mrs. B. J. Jorkester.

For a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the bride wore an olive green silk linen suit with matching accessories and a corsage of white roses.

After August 1, the couple will be at home in Killeen.

The bride is a graduate of Tascosa High School in Amarillo, and attended college in St. Charles, Mo. She is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma, holding a Bachelor of Business Administration degree.

The bridegroom graduated from Pampa High School and received his Bachelor of Business Administration degree from the University of Oklahoma where he was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma social fraternity. He presently is a lieutenant in the United States Army, stationed at Fort Hood, Texas.

Japanese Girl Seeking Help in Finding Sponsor

By WANDA HUFF
Daily News Feature Writer

A young Japanese girl is interested in leaving her home and coming to the United States. She has written a pen pal letter to Harry Nelson of Pampa requesting his help in getting her a sponsor.

The girl, Toshiko Yoshino, graduated from high school in 1960 and worked as a clerk and as she said "I couldn't give up to stop learning English. So I saved money during one year and next April I went to school that is not college just to learn English."

After graduating from the "school that is not college," Toshiko started working as a sales clerk at the PX at the U.S. Air Force base in Tachikawa.

Toshiko is about 20 years old and has been corresponding with Nelson for some time. She first wrote the News several years ago requesting some Pen Pals. "Some time, prior to the receipt of her letter to the Pampa News, the editor and publisher of Stamps was fostering a People to People program," Nelson said.

The purpose of this program was and is to get Americans to correspond with people of foreign countries and create good will, according to Nelson.

"The People to People program was fostered in many other countries. Each country had available a list of names and addresses of people who wanted to correspond with people in countries other than their own," Nelson explained.

He wrote to Toshiko and several letters were exchanged, but he did not know until her last letter that she wanted to come to America and that a sponsor is necessary.

As Toshiko said to Mr. Nelson in her letter, "Now for the news, courage. I must tell. Are you surely in a good humor? I do want to go to your country and I'm looking for sponsor. I always want and dream to go U.S. and tried my dreams come true, but I couldn't help it myself."

"Recently, however, one of my friends got sponsor in Arizona and she will go there soon. As you know Japan is surrounded by seas. It is very difficult for us to leave our country without sponsor. "I know it is troublesome thing and I'm selfish girl to write such a terrible letter to you, but I can't stop writing this letter and ask your help, because you are only man I know in your big country. So please understand how I want to go U.S. and excuse my impoliteness."

"If I should go U.S. I would like to go to school but I can't afford to, so I would like work day time. I'm sure I'll do my best if it is possible."

"I had better close this letter. Please write and help me to finding sponsor for me if you have time."

"I thank you for your trouble. Since Toshiko is over the age limit to attend high school and has graduated, Nelson has been inquiring about the possibilities of her attending college here."

"I wrote to Wayland Baptist College, but haven't received an answer yet," he said. "I have also been investigating the chances of getting her a sponsor, but have not yet received any replies to my letters."

If a Pampan wants to write to Toshiko, her address is 1-58 Narimune, Suginami, Tokyo, Japan.

Texas Gives 90,000 Acres for National Park

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. John Connally, Atty.-Gen. Waggoner Carr and Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler Friday signed a deed giving the federal government 90,000 acres of state-owned land for Padre Island national seashore.

Connally predicted the island "will become one of our nation's greatest playgrounds."

"I have confidence that the Department of the Interior and the U. S. Parks Service will develop it into an outstanding area," he said. "I am pleased to be a part of this historic event."

A law authorizing the transfer of the land went into effect today. Sadler, chairman of the School Land Board, said he wanted to turn the land over to the federal government at the earliest possible moment.

Accepts for Government William L. Bowen of the U. S. Parks Service accepted the deed from Connally. Bowen will be superintendent of the seashore area.

Sadler presented resolutions commending Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi and Rep. Menton Murray of Harlingen. Reagan and Murray were sponsors of legislation that made the transfer possible.

Carr said he was pleased that his last official act as a member of the School Land Board was the signing of the Padre Island deed.

The 58th Legislature removed Carr from the School Land Board and 16 other boards. Wilson Fox of Taylor was to be sworn in later today to replace Carr on the School Land Board.

More Land Needed The federal government will have to acquire another 45,000 acres of privately owned land before the entire island can become a national seashore.

Completion of the state's action on Padre Island culminated an often bitter controversy the legislature debated for years.

In the 57th Legislature, the measure appeared headed for approval but a last minute filibuster by then Sen. Hubert Hudson of Brownsville shelved it for another session.

Sadler opposed the bill for some time before the last session started. However, he changed his stand shortly after the session began in January.

Tom-Tom Links Mountaineers

By PHIL NEWSOM

High, razor-back mountain ridges cut the border between Haiti and the Dominican Republic which together share the island of Hispaniola.

The ridges are not high enough to discourage the palm. And in densely populated Haiti, even the tops of these inhospitable ridges are inhabited by peasant families, eking out a bare existence on tiny plots handed down from father to son for the better part of 200 years.

Their telegraph line is the tom tom.

From these rugged mountains, Haitian rebel leader Gen. Leon Cantave, fighting in the manner of Castro against Batista in the early days of the Cuban revolt, hopes to bring down the dictatorship of President Francois Duvalier who likes to be known as "Papa Doc."

So far it has been a war of conflicting claims, charges and denials.

In the excitement of Cantave's first strike on Aug. 5, rebel sources jubilantly fixed his strength at 500 men. That number finally dwindled to 100 or perhaps as few as 15 or 20.

Charges Bosch Aid In the Organization of American States, the Duvalier government charged that Cantave's invasion had been aided and abetted by President Juan Bosch who last May threatened to carry out an invasion of his own against Haiti.

The Dominicans denied the charge.

For the United States, the situation was an embarrassment. It has no love for Duvalier but on the other hand does not want Bosch accused of intervention.

In the total breakdown of Haitian communications there also was concern for the safety of scattered American families, wives and families of some of whom had been permitted to return to Haiti only days before.

Scotland Yard Tries to Trap 'The Weasel'

LONDON (UPI)—Scotland Yard tried to set a trap in Italy Saturday for a thrill-seeking British race car driver known as "The Weasel"—a prime suspect in the $7.3 million robbery of a royal mail train.

The Yard dispatched an urgent message to police in Rome asking them to find and arrest "The Weasel"—28-year-old Roy John James—and two other suspects, Bruce Richard Reynolds, 41, and James E. White, 43.

Reynolds is an antique dealer. White owns a London coffee house. When last reported seen, James was driving a souped-up Brabham Ford at a race track in Goodwood, England. That was last Thursday when he was clocked at 95.78 miles per hour during trial heats for a race scheduled Saturday.

Track officials said James drove away Thursday in another sports car and was believed headed north. They said he bought the racing Ford for $5,600 and also owned an expensive Jaguar.

One of his racing friends said, "Roy lives for kicks. He gets them by moving fast. He can get out of a tricky situation quicker than anyone I know. He never loses his nerve. He likes danger."

In Rome, restaurant waiter Gianfranco Laudoni told detectives he served three men who appeared to have knowledge about the mail theft. The police said they were told James may have come to Rome a few days ago in a French car with Rome license plates.

The same bulletin Scotland Yard sent to Rome also went to the police in Ireland where two men resembling White and Reynolds were reported to have been seen aboard a ferry crossing the Irish Sea.

Police in Dublin received an anonymous tip that some of the money taken in the robbery was sent to Ireland in parcels of old clothing.

And in Dover on the English Channel, another anonymous informant told the police that a large number of five pound notes would be smuggled out of England Saturday on a ship headed for France.

Police there joined customs officials in checking passengers boarding channel ferries.

Scotland Yard Saturday charged an eighth person in connection with the robbery and announced that a total of $768,040 of the loot has been recovered.

The latest suspect, Robert William Pelham, 26, of London, was booked at the Aylesbury police station, operations center for the investigation, with receiving $1,542,800 of the stolen money.

The seven other arrested persons are four men and three women.

Soviet Charge Is Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department Saturday publicly rejected a Soviet charge that the refusal of the United States to acknowledge Communist East Germany's signature of the nuclear test ban treaty was contrary to the "spirit" of the pact.

Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said "we do not accept such an allegation."

The charge was made in a Russian note to the United States and Britain and made public in Moscow Saturday.

The State Department reiterated its contention that East Germany, unrecognized by the United States and Britain, could sign the treaty in Moscow and that Russia could inform Washington and London of that fact, but "we are under no obligation to accept that notification and we have no intention of doing so."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee recently said this procedure bound East Germany to observe the treaty but made it clear that the Soviet-dominated regime gained no privileges or status even approaching recognition.

The United States on Aug. 16 told Russia this. The latter Soviet note was a protest against the American and British position.

IMPULSE BUYING

NEW YORK (UPI)—More shoe polish is sold in supermarkets than in any other outlet yet only one person in 100 puts shoe polish on the grocery list, according to a survey taken by Irving J. Botner, president of Esquire Car Products.

"People just don't put shoe polish on their list and buy it as an impulse item," Botner said. He said the more prominently it is displayed, the more people buy shoe polish in supermarkets.

Schweitzer Supports Nuclear Test Treaty

HYANNIS, Mass. (UPI)—President Kennedy Saturday threw new ammunition into his fight for Senate ratification of the nuclear test treaty by making public an emotional endorsement from Dr. Albert Schweitzer, the 1952 Nobel Peace prize winner.

The President, spending a rainy weekend here with his wife and children, also released a report from his Science Advisory Committee which commended "the treaty as 'an important step toward a safe and secure peace in the world.'"

Schweitzer, writing from his medical mission at Lambaré, West Equatorial Africa, penned his brief letter in French. He congratulated the chief executive for "having had the foresight and the courage to inaugurate a world policy toward peace."

The elderly scientist, physician and humanitarian commented on the treaty: "Finally a ray of light appears in the darkness in which humanity was seeking its way and gives us hope that the darkness will make way for light."

Schweitzer called the limited test ban treaty "one of the greatest events, perhaps the greatest, in the history of the world."

"It gives us hope that war with atomic weapons between East and West can be avoided," he said.

He also referred to his past and stern opposition to use of atomic weapons in any form and recalled how his feeling was shared by the late physicist and mathematician, Dr. Albert Einstein.

Welk Tells the Secret Of His Musical Success

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Today's Hollywood guest columnist, Lawrence Welk, tells the "secret" of his musical success.)

By LAWRENCE WELK
Written For UPI

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—I suppose our orchestra, the champagne music makers, has been analyzed, criticized, and satirized more than any organization in the history of popular music. Fortunately for us, it has also received its share of popular acclaim and a certain amount of favorable critical comment.

No doubt every one of our television and ballroom fans has a particular reason for liking our brand of entertainment while professional reviewers have exhausted their adjectives in explaining what makes us tick. When I am asked, as I frequently am to offer my formula for success in a rather fickle business, I often find myself groping for the right words.

Defends Style

Some of our more outspoken critics will interrupt here to prompt me and suggest that the "right word" is "corn." Well, I might be inclined to agree if, by "corn," they mean well known songs played or sung in an understandable, simple, rhythmic, melodic style. But I don't think that's the whole story.

Could the word be "nostalgia?" Granted we enjoy recalling memories to our listeners, especially the more mature ones who have so much more to remember. "Commercial" is another much used (and abused) term that has been applied to our style of entertainment. This designation I take to mean something "saleable," welcomed by a large majority of the public. Could anything be more logical for anyone with a product to sell?

"Simplicity?" From my early days on the farm right through my career, I have always been a rather uncomplicated person. I prefer my music the same way, and apparently a large part of the American public is in accord with me in this preference.

Tastes Reflect Character

"Wholesomeness?" I choose to believe that our audience is overwhelmingly decent, law abiding, fairly religious, and that their tastes in entertainment reflect these characteristics. Our mail and our acceptance would seem to bear this out.

"Variety?" In TV we are playing to an audience of widely diversified tastes. By offering as much variety as possible, we try to "please all of the people some of the time and some of the people all of the time," realizing the impossibility of the third alternative.

$350 Million To Be Spent On Research

NEW YORK — The petroleum industry will spend an estimated $350 million on research during 1963, Oil Facts reports. Current projections indicate the total will reach about $600 million a year by 1970, the American Petroleum Institute publication notes.

Basic non-competitive research in such areas as the composition of petroleum is sponsored by various trade associations. In addition, individual oil companies conduct their own highly competitive applied research.

During the past three years, major oil companies have spent about $1 billion on research. Such research has helped develop the estimated 2,500 products currently made from petroleum, Oil Facts says.

Herbert Hoover is the longest-lived U.S. president since John Adams, according to Britannica Book of the Year.

Oil Well Drilling Contracting Business Is Here to Stay

TULSA, Okla., (Sp) — Contrary to popular belief, the nation's oil well drilling contracting business is here to stay and contractors surviving the current recession will be better businessmen, the president of the American Assn. of Oilwell Drilling Contractors has stated.

In an exclusive interview in the current Independent Petroleum Monthly, official magazine of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, F. M. Stevenson of Denver, Colo., said:

"The surviving contractors will be more efficient, more progressive and more technical. I believe the status of the drilling contractor will rise and he will be considered on more of a professional basis."

Stevenson is also president of Signal Drilling and Exploration, Inc. Since his election last fall to head AAODC, Stevenson has come to the attention of the petroleum industry for his frank and factual comments about the state of affairs in the rotary drilling industry.

In commenting on the future of the drilling contractors, Stevenson said they will be consulted on drilling programs and problems much as "we now consult doctors, engineers and other professions. The drilling contractor will continue to offer and provide more services."

As for the present, Stevenson said, the oil well drilling contracting business continues in a period of recession and readjustment since required rigs and contractors remain far in excess of those needed to meet the demand of the nation's petroleum industry.

"Under foreseeable conditions," he said, "we are still in a declining market and should continue so for another two or three years. Increased efficiency each year creates additional excessive rigs about as fast as they are being retired."

In fact, there is no predictable upturn in the number of rigs needed to drill required wells, he added. An average of only 1,390 rotaries was active during the first quarter of 1963.

"In 1962 we had an average of 800 idle rotary rigs," Stevenson said. "During 1963 we expect a minimum average of 850 idle rigs. And, if the President's proposed tax reforms effecting the oil and gas industry are put into law, we can expect 1,050 rotary rigs to be idle."

The number of working rotary rigs could very well decline to the range of 1,000 to 1,200 in the next two or three years," he said.

"This will be due not only to decreased exploration and wider spacing, but also to increased penetration rates of the rotary rig running."

Asked what are expectations for a recovery back to the 1,550 to 2,000 active rigs of a few years ago, Stevenson said:

"Except under a national emergency shutting off foreign sources of oil, there will be no recovery back to the pre-recession level. Under today's more orderly development programs, through-unitization and wider spacing, even several major pool discoveries would not increase rig activity to that extent."

There has been a parallel decline in the number of rotary contractors to the number of rigs operating, Stevenson added. In 1957 there was 1,219 rotary contractors. This number has declined to 800 as of the first of 1963, and AAODC has projected a normal drop to approximately 760 by 1964 and 730 in 1965.

What has helped the surviving contractors to hang on, Stevenson was asked.

"Surviving contractors are those who are successfully waging a fight for a spot in the ever increasing competitiveness of our business," he replied. "Generally, some of the first contractors to go out of business were those who had other sources of income and did not desire to make the additional effort necessary to remain in the drilling contracting business.

"Others quit who were under financed, who had lower efficiency or who were just unfortunate enough to experience overwhelming troubles under the high rigs we assume."

Stevenson said surviving and future rotary contractors are those who have maintained a sound credit rating and have upgraded their rigs to be able to drill with new faster-moving, rig-up and penetrating techniques.

"The drilling industry is becoming more technical all the time, and future contractors will require engineers in their organizations to keep pace," he said. "We need to develop more drilling engineers."

"In fact, I have repeatedly predicted that in the next 10 to 15 years, we will need technically trained operating engineers as rig superintendents and possibly as drillers."

The drilling industry, during the recession since 1957, has matured along with the producer, Stevenson said. As profits dwindled over the years, it became mandatory that successful contractors increase efficiency and better learn and control their costs.

Most larger contractors today have both qualified engineers and accountants on their staffs, he added. Smaller contractors, if unable to employ full-time engineers and accountants, use qualified consulting services.

The drilling industry will survive, he added, even a further decline in the number of wells drilled, even to 40,000 to 35,000 wells. However, the size of the drilling industry would have a proportional decline.

"Predominately the drilling contractor's future will pretty much parallel that of the domestic producer," Stevenson said. "That is why we as an organization and as individuals should continue to help the oil business in general through public relations, political activity, and promotion of the sale of petroleum products."
