By GAYNOR MADDOX ? Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Q-I make my own bread. What kind of flour should I use to keep the calorie content fewer? I have to watch my weight.

A-Use any flour you like. The type of flour will not make any difference in caloric content of your bread, provided shortening, milk solids, sugar and such ingredients are the same. Also, the nutritive value of various kinds of flour, provided the white is enriched, are practically the same. There are about 55 to 60 calories in an average slice of bread.

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst The marble ruins of ancient cities along Turkey's coastline, the remains of a Roman aqueduct, Istanbul's winding narrow streets and its covered bazaar are symbols of Turkey's past.

Modern dress, the alphabet and a western-style parliamentary system are the outward symbols of an evolving modern Turkey, which started on its own more than 40 years ago by Kemal Ataturk.

Yet just as Turkey, astride the Dardanelles and the Bosporous, lies both in Europe and Asia, so its social structure stands astride both ancient and modern times. More than half its population is illiterate. Erosion is eating away the topsoil of its farmlands and unemployed peasants are flocking to mushrooming cities.

Despite $4 billion in aid, Turkey still is unable to carry it-

Constant Tension

And between the peasants, resentful that they now must pay taxes to help Turkey help herself, and students and young officers impatient at the slow pace of Turkey's revolution, there is generated a tension which leads to a perpetual state of crisis or near crisis.

The problem is not one of encroaching communism but one strictly made-in-Turkey.

From the regime of the deposed and later executed Premier Adnan Menderes, Turkey inherited galloping inflation and the headaches left by pell-mell but unplanned industrialization.

Two attempted military coups failed but political unrest has continued to mount.

Finally, in last month's local the opposition Justice party emerged the chief winner and this week Premier Ismet Inonu. Turkey's 79-year-old link with Ataturk, stepped down.

Blasts Tax Program

The Justice party widely is as the heir to the ou lawed Democratic party which was led by Menderes and traditionally favored the Turkish farmers from whom it drew its chief support. Reflecting the farmer's rising discontent, the Justice party centered its fire on the new taxes necessary to pay for Turkey's ambitious five year development program.

Since Inonu opposes a coalition with the Justice party which also is regarded with suspicion by the Turkish military, Turkey now seems destined for an extended period of political uncertainty at a particularly unfortunate time.

Turkey's development program still is in its first year and is at a critical stage. The first year has been devoted to road construction, communications, harbor facilities, schools and clinics.

They were necessary but were not immediate income producers. To pay for them taxes were raised and must be raised again if an ambitious program to invest more than another billion dollars in the Turkish economy in 1964 is to be realized.

Included are plans to inerease oil production, the manufacture of a new oil pipeline and plants to manufacture fertilizer, plastics and synthetic Turkey needs an annual increase of 7 per cent in her gross national product if she is to keep ahead of an annual population growth of 4.5 per cent. Political unrest makes achievement of the goal uncertain at best.

LIFE EXPECTANCY IN THE UNITED STATES 1850-1960

THREE SCORE AND 14-Since the middle of the 19th century, the average life span in the United States has increased about 29 years. According to conditions in 1850, the expectation of life at birth for whites was about 41 years (data is incomplete for nonwhites). By 1962, the figure had risen to about 70 years. Newschart above shows the record up to 1960, the last year for which data is available. One noticeable fact is the increasing difference in longevity between the sexes. In 1950, white women could expect to live an average of 2½ years longer than men; in 1960, this had increased to more than 61/2 years. Fastest improvement has been made among the nonwhite population, though life expectancy is still below that of the white population. Data from Metropolitan Life Insurance Co

When I was fretting over the need for more dining room chairs and more seating space in the living room, a professional decorator suggested a solution: Add two dining chairs which can double as occasional chairs. Dining chairs, he pointed out, don't have to match the dining table. Or, if you have four matching chairs, add two arm chairs of compatible design. These will swing into the living room handily when company comes.

Dining chairs usually have higher seats and straighter backs than occasional chairs, but some are being designed now with this double duty in mind. Seats are more padded, backs softened. Conversely, some occasional chairs now are (See DOUBLE DUTY, Page 11)
