Bulgarians Hurl Stones and Coal At US Building

American Automobiles Overtaken In Sofia Demonstration Over Spy

VIENNA (UPI)—Hundreds of Bulgarians hurled stones and lumps of coal at the United States Legation building in Sofia today, breaking every window on the first three floors.

The demonstrators, numbering more than 500, also overturned four American automobiles outside the legation before they were dispersed. They carried banners and signs calling for "death to the imperialist traitors," which were left on the overturned automobiles when the demonstration broke up.

News of the violence came from the U.S. consul in Sofia in a telephone interview with newsmen in Vienna.

The mob action coincided with the trial of a Bulgarian diplomat who was reported by the Bulgarian news agency to have pleaded guilty to charges of spying for the United States.

No one was hurt in the demonstration, which lasted an hour and 15 minutes, he said. Legation officials in Sofia had requested police protection.

The Bulgarians apparently were demonstrating against alleged U.S. involvement in the case of a former high ranking Bulgarian diplomat being tried in Sofia on charges he spied against his own country for the United States. The trial went into its second day today.

A U.S. consul said nobody tried to enter the building. He said that many windows were smashed, however, including one display window containing photographs on life in the United States.

The consul said in his opinion the demonstration had been well organized. He said the overturned cars were badly damaged.

It was understood that Eugenia Anderson, the U.S. minister to Sofia, was on vacation in Washington when the demonstration began.

The former Bulgarian diplomat, Ivan Assen Georgiev, faced a possible death penalty for allegedly selling Bulgarian secrets to the United States for $200,000 over the years.

Communist press agency reports said Georgiev, 56, confessed to all the charges against him Thursday, saying he spent all the money on “loose women.”

A source at the U.S. Embassy in Vienna said the demonstrators in Sofia started gathering in front of the American Legation at 10 a.m. (4 a.m. EST). Soon there were more than 500, he said.

The 22-year-old widow went to a solemn midnight Mass Christmas eve at a Greek Orthodox church and then visited the grave of her husband Christmas Day.

The mound of dirt at Rose Hill Cemetery still is unmarked but a source said that Mrs. Oswald ordered a small headstone for the grave. She hopes to have a small cross and some flower replicas engraved in the stone.

Mrs. Oswald and her children now make their home at an undisclosed motel. They moved to the Inn of the Six Flags shortly after President Kennedy was assassinated, but have moved again.

Mrs. Oswald To Testify in Investigation

DALLAS (UPI)—The Russian-born widow of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald will go before the Warren Commission early next year to help fill gaps in the commission's record of her dead husband's travels and dealings.

EXAMINES DEATH CAR — Highway Patrolman Vernon Cawthon peers into the driver's seat of a late model station wagon shortly after an accident that killed it's driver some 7 miles east of Pampa Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Florene Pounds, 46, of Canadian, died in the one-car mishap, which Cawthon blamed on a blowout tire on the left front wheel. Mrs. Pounds's granddaughter, Linda Ford, 8, of Amarillo was injured slightly in the crash which produced Gray County's 11th traffic death this year. (Daily News Photo)

Canadian Area Woman, 46, Dies In Auto Collision Near Pampa

By GLENN McCASLAND

A 46-year-old Canadian area woman was killed about 2:20 p.m. Wednesday seven miles east of Pampa on U.S. 60 in a one-car crash. This was No. 11 traffic death this year in Gray County.

Mrs. Florene Currie Pounds of Gageby Route, Canadian, died when the 1962 station wagon she was driving crashed into a railroad signpost after having blown a tire.

Highway Patrolman Vernon Cawthon said Mrs. Pounds's granddaughter, 8-year-old Linda Ford of Amarillo, was injured, but her condition was described as good at Highland General Hospital.

Cawthon said the mishap occurred as Mrs. Pounds was driving west on U.S. 60. The left front tire of the auto blew out causing the car to swerve, crossing a ditch and then returning to the highway.

The investigator said the automobile then went into a broadside slide, crashing into a railroad crossing warning sign on the driver's side.

Mrs. Pounds was killed outright by the crash. Peace Justice Nat Lunsford said.

Mrs. Pounds was tossed partially through the front windshield, but remained in the car, Cawthon said. There were no seat belts in the automobile.

Attendees at Highland General Hospital said the woman's granddaughter had a laceration under the left eye and bruises about the body. She was in good condition.

City Commission action on legislation to close Thut St. between S. Somerville and S. Russell Sts. is being held up pending right of way negotiations with the Fort Worth & Denver Ry. Co.

Legislation to close the street to vehicular traffic was drawn after H. O. Darby, owner of the Pampa Foundry, said it would be necessary for him to move the plant from Pampa if additional land in the street could not be made available for plant expansion.

City officials then began working on an alternate route to widen Russell St. between Ford and Thut Sts. and open a new street, just north of Ford St. across Somerville between Gray and Russell Sts.

To open the new street requires a crossing of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad tracks.

Railroad officials said the railway will neither object to nor approve the proposal.

L. G. Key, Fort Worth & Denver official, in a letter to City Manager Harold Schmitzer,

“1. The city will assume any present or future expense created by opening of the new street, not limited to, but including any paving, curbs, gutters, relocation of wire or pipelines, installation of crossing planks, traffic signals or signs, etc.”

“2. The City would agree to indemnify the Railway Company against any legal action that might be instituted as the result of the City's action in opening the new street and, or, closing Thut St.”

City Manager Schmitzer said today the city and railway officials still are negotiating on the terms of the right of way grant.

Opposition to the closing of Thut St. formally has been filed with the City Commission by E. C. Sidwell, former mayor. Sidwell has indicated he will

LBJ Emphasizes Economy Angle In Foreign Aid

Erhard to Hear Best Panel Named to Eye Of Texans Superfluous Expense

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — To serenade West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard this weekend, President Johnson has booked a Texas musical cast ranging from classical pianist Van Cliburn to a master of ceremonies named “Cactus.”

The “Cactus” involved is Cactus Pryor, described in the Texas White House's program as a “central Texas personality.”

He is a folksy local entertainer who will emcee the entertainment at a dinner honoring the visiting German leader at Johnson's ranch Saturday, and a barbecue lunch at neighboring Stonewall, Tex., Sunday.

Music at those two functions will ride a tonal range from the classics to “hootenanny.”

High school students from nearby Fredericksburg, which was settled more than a century ago by German immigrants, will sing songs to remind Erhard of the Rhine while he dines on the banks of the Pedernales.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson was busy Thursday preparing for the chancellor's Saturday-Sunday visit. She told her ranch staff she wanted to “give him a most wonderful welcome in the Texas-German flavor.”

“She worked on the menus for the chancellor and found an old family recipe for German chocolate cake for dessert at lunch Saturday,” said a report from Mrs. Johnson's staff director and press secretary, Elizabeth Carpenter.

Gathers Texas Folklore

Johnson's 19-year-old daughter, Lynda Bird, spent the day selecting books on Texas and placing them in rooms at the LBJ ranch where the German visitors will stay.

Erhard will occupy the “number one guest room” on the second floor of the ranch house, with a southern exposure facing the Pedernales River that ripples placidly beside Johnson's property.

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson kept the economy pressure on the executive branch of government today. His latest target was the foreign aid program which he wants operated more efficiently and with fewer federal employees.

While preparing for a two day visit with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, starting Saturday, the President ordered a speedy review of foreign economic and military assistance programs.

Johnson set up a seven-member committee of policy-level federal officials to undertake a fast, intensive review of foreign aid programs. He ordered the committee to report back to him by Jan. 15 with recommendations on how to eliminate waste, red tape, inefficiency and superfluous personnel.

“My action in appointing this committee, far from reflecting any lack of conviction in the necessity for foreign assistance, demonstrates my strong determination that those programs be so administered as to yield the greatest benefit to our country and the free world,” Johnson said in a special statement issued from the Texas White House.

Other Officials Arrive

Arriving with Rusk today were Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman, Ball, former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, who now serves as the President's representative for foreign trade negotiations, and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President for national security matters. Their presence here primarily concerned the Erhard talks which will take place in the Johnson ranch house.

Other Johnson conferees scheduled today include Central Intelligence Director John A. McCone, here for a detailed intelligence briefing for the Chief Executive, and Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs.

Theodore C. Sorensen, special counsel and speech adviser to the President, was expected to set up headquarters on the Johnson ranch today to work on the State of the Union message which the Chief Executive will deliver to a joint session of Congress Jan. 8.

Johnson Gets Secret Roundup by McCone

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson today made a secret roundup of world trouble spots with John A. McCone, director of the central intelligence agency.

The President then called in Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman and other advisers for a conference on his weekend summit parley at the LBJ ranch with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

The four senators present at the 9 a.m. EST meeting even dispensed with the customary opening prayer in a session that was even less than perfunctory. The House scheduled a similarly abbreviated session three hours later.

Berlin Protests Reds Slaying of Refugee

BERLIN (UPI)—The West Berlin city government today protested to the East German government the Christmas Day murder by Communist guards of a refugee shot sealing the Berlin wall.

A city government spokesman said the protest was made in the name of Mayor Willy Brandt at a conference of East German and West Berlin officials who meet regularly to discuss implementation of the agreement that provides for holiday visits to East Berlin.

Horst Korber, a Brandt aide, told East German state Secretary Erich Wendt that the murder of 18-year-old Paul Schultz was “inexcusable.”

He said the incident was incompatible with the humanitarian aims of the agreement that provided for opening the wall over the holidays to allow the reunion of Berlin families.

The protest was delivered at one of the regular meetings held by Korber and Wendt to iron out differences resulting from the pass agreement they signed for their governments.

The spokesman corrected a West Berlin police report that had said three West Berliners were arrested by Communist police at a border crossing points Thursday.

He said the three were held up briefly for using the wrong crossing point but were not arrested.

Korber and Wendt signed the agreement providing for the unprecedented Christmas visits and they had been meeting regularly to iron out difficulties. Korber canceled Thursday's meeting because of the fatal shooting Wednesday of 18-year-old Paul Schultz by East Berlin police as he and a companion made a break for the West. The unidentified companion escaped safely into West Berlin.

Holiday Visits Continue

West Berliners continued to enter the Eastern sector of the divided city today despite the ill feeling provoked by the shooting and many were lining up for passes to visit relatives in the East during the next few days.

The opening in the Communist anti-refugee wall—the first since it was built 28 months ago—comes to an end Jan. 5.

About 35,000 West Berliners entered East Berlin on Christmas Day and about 70,000 went Thursday, also a holiday in Germany. Smaller numbers are expected for the remainder of the visiting period, except for the rush on New Year's Eve and New Year's Day.

Corduroy, previously famous for its durability, has entered the world of high fashion. Evening coat of surprising elegance (left) is in oyster white wide wale worn over an apricot silk chiffon cut-velvet dress. Theater coat (right) in oyster white corduroy has wavy wales that resemble cut velvet. Face-framing cowl collar doubles as a hood.

Corduroy for Lady Fair

NEW YORK (NEA) — Like Eliza Doolittle corduroy has undergone Pygmalionesque glamorization since daddy wore "whistle britches" as a boy.

Textile and apparel designers have taken the old favorite out of the school yard and off the work bench. Corduroy now goes partying, skiing, to the theater and even into the ballroom.

Beautiful theater coats in soft wide wale will attend first nights. Corduroy goes dancing in beige wide wale in a starkly simple Empire gown, deeply scooped in back, designed by Jeanne Campbell.

It entertains at home in velvety wide wales, printed for the first time. Long skirts in art prints are especially newsworthy.

For fireside-sitting, designer Melba Hobson has created a lump suit of white wide wale with gilt buttoned pockets. And for after-ski wear there is a cutolette jumper of fine pinwale printed with a Picasso original design. Imaginative handling of the fabric itself plays a big part in the new role of corduroy in fashion. Umbrella pleating takes a pair of culottes out of the ordinary. Quilting adds warmth and style to a youthful car coat and chicken-wire embroidery adds pattern to a wide wale skirt.

And if you are planning a winter vacation in the Caribbean, you'll find that corduroy even swims in a brand-new role. In a bright red stretch pinwale bathing suit.

Quick Formula for Good Manners is Missing

Everything today has to be "quick and easy" or "instant," so it's not surprising that there is a new manners book, called "The Collier Quick and Easy Guide to Etiquette." The book may be excellent, but the title could be misleading.

Anyone who thinks there is some quick and easy formula for good manners is bound to come up missing.

Above all else, good manners take some time. It takes time to hear the other person through without interrupting, and it takes time plus patience if the other person happens to be a bore.

It takes time to do the small favors for others that are such an important part of good manners — the troubling to put yourself out for someone else, to be gracious and friendly and thank-you notes, the bread-and-butter letters, the words of condolence, the letters of congratulation that etiquette demands and that friendship dictates.

It takes time to keep in touch with friends. It takes time to entertain the unexpected guest, and to make him feel that he has not intruded.

Good manners, in fact, are so much a matter of "taking time" to be gracious and friendly and helpful that the more we rush around the more our manners suffer.

How often we make and hear such excuses as, "I've been meaning to write you for such a long time — but I just haven't had a moment," or "I'm ashamed I didn't get by to see you when you were in the hospital — but I've been so busy."

Dear Kathy

By KATHY PETERSON
DEAR KATHY: I went steady with a boy for 10 months. About a month ago he started to get restless and acted as if he wanted to break up. I broke with him two weeks ago.

He has been going out with another girl but one of his friends says my picture is still on his bureau. I still like him very much and would like to see him again. What should I do?

— Heartbroken
Dear Heartbroken: The shortest distance between two points is a straight line. This applies to life as well as to geometry. Right now you are thinking in circles.

You may have jumped to conclusions by thinking the boy "acted as if he wanted to break up." Find out.

Call him. Since you were the one who broke things up, make the first move. Then it's his turn. If there's a party coming along, invite him or just happen to have two tickets to something he would like to attend. Call, that's all! Things might work out beautifully. If you get a cool response, stop your wishful thinking.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

High school students need encouragement to develop fully in academic, emotional and social growth.

Teen-agers appear to have some truly difficult problems of adjustment. Even though teen-agers think they are adults and fight to be treated as such, they still are in need of guidance. A parent's method of working with children must change during the teen years.

Academically, high school students have major decisions to make. For some, high school will be the end of their formal education. They should be sure to acquire the kinds of skills which will help them in their vocation. For those who intend to go on to college, it is necessary that they take the courses and achieve the grades required for admission. In either case, it is advisable to take courses which will help the individual pursue his interests whether it be in literature or carpentry.

The emotional and social aspects of growing up are closely related. The teens are the years when the opposite sex becomes important. The teen-ager is often confused and perhaps frightened by his own thoughts and actions. There is a constant need for reassurance and understanding. The child needs guidelines to follow. He may raise objections but he basically wants limitations which help to develop a secure feeling. Naturally, standards must be realistic and reasonable. They should be flexible and should not become so stringent that the child feels trapped.

Some problems seem to occur most often. When should a girl start wearing makeup? How often should a teen-ager go on dates? How late should they come home? Should they go on single dates? What about going steady?

The answers to these questions vary with the circumstances. A parent and child should discuss them fully. It is important that the child understands the implications. This does not mean that the child makes the decisions. That is the parent's responsibility. The parent should not be a dictator on all questions, but he should not neglect his duty to set reasonable standards within which the child must stay.

There are many extra-curricular activities which are available. It is not intended that one child should participate in everything. Such activities as band, orchestra, debating teams, dancing lessons, school newspapers, etc., are meant to meet the interests of particular children. The child should not overschedule himself, but he should plan his activities so that he has a variety of experiences.

As children grow older, the tendency is to reduce exercise. The schools have a physical education program, but this must be supplemented on the outside. Unless a child in on an athletic team he needs to participate in additional physical activity. This along with proper diet and rest are important to health.

The aim is to help a child grow in all areas.

About a year ago she took him in as a "boarder." She claims that there is nothing wrong with it because he is only a boarder and not a roomer. They go everywhere together. Her father objects and so do her sisters and brothers. She is ruining the family name. What can be done about it?

nor he is "bothered" about his careless appearance, wait until after you are married and then try to "neaten" him up. But don't be surprised if you find him careless about his person in other ways.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago I was given a set of dishes which I liked very much. The plates were large with a beautiful rosebud in the center. While sharing one of my cakes, I sent it over on one of these lovely plates. Now, the plate graces my neighbor's china cabinet. She has it standing up, glued down. I would like to have that plate back. Should I say anything?

Two Auto Stripping Cases Probed by Pampa Authorities

Strippings of two automobiles were being investigated today by Pampa city police as officers stepped up efforts to solve the current string of thefts and vandalism cases which have occurred in the past few weeks.

Police Chief Jim Conner said a 1963 Chevrolet, owned and driven by Joan Maxwell of 1001 E. Foster, was discovered stripped on Tignor St. some 200 yards out of the city limits. Patrolman Joe Brewer made the discovery after Miss Maxwell had made a report to police that her automobile was missing from the 300 block of N. Cuyler.

Conner said the car apparently had been taken between 6:45 p.m. and 9:20 p.m. It was located at 9:38 p.m.

Taken from the car was its transmission, floor shift, radio and hubcaps. Brewer said the car showed signs of being pushed to where it was abandoned.

Conner said officers were checking a report that a 1964 Ford had been entered and a number of items taken from it while it was parked in the Harold Barrett Ford Motor Company building.

The chief said the incident occurred sometime between Dec. 13 and Thursday, when the theft was discovered.

Officers said a white wall tire and wheel, four hubcaps, a jack, lug wrench, and a radio all valued at $83.85 were missing.

Investigation showed the trunk of the car was opened with a key, Conner said.

Santa Claus Gets Rare, Day-After Letter From Fan

Santa Claus doesn't get much mail with a "day after Christmas" postmark.

Practically all of his mail is received between Thanksgiving Day and Dec. 23 when little boys and girls are listing their Christmas Eve hopes.

But, the Pampa News got a radargram from Santa at the North Pole today containing a copy of a letter postmarked at "4 p.m., Dec. 26" in Pampa, Texas.

It reads like this: "Dear Santa Claus: I got the sweetest baby doll you ever brought me. I love her so much. I can hardly believe it. Have a good time at the North Pole. I love you."

The note was signed, "Leslie." There was no address.

Hudson's Fate

On his last voyage to the New World, the men of explorer Henry Hudson mutinied against him and placed him, his son and seven loyal sailors adrift in a small boat. They were never heard from again.

ESCAPED BULL ARRESTED — One of two tired, stray bulls lays his head on a patrol car before he was tied up following a three-hour romp over the city Thursday. The chase began in the 600 block of E. Security Planned For Pope's Trip

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Vatican Police Chief Col. Spartaco Angelini will help supervise security arrangements for Pope Paul VI's visit to the Holy Land Jan. 4-6, it was learned today.

Security arrangements for the Jan. 4-6, it was learned this day by the expected half million pilgrims in the narrow streets of Jerusalem, the Pope's whirlwind schedule and the fact that he will be crossing the tense Jordan-Israel border.

Angelini, commander of the pontifical gendarmes, will have four or five of his own men with him on the tour, according to Vatican plans.

Italian national policemen regularly assigned to guard the Pope at the Vatican and in Rome will also work with Angelini and with Israeli and Jordanian police to safeguard the Pope during his historical pilgrimage.

(Informal sources in the Israeli sector of Jerusalem said the Jordanian government has decided to permit free crossing of the border in both directions at Jerusalem's Mandelbaum Gate on Jan. 5, when the Pope plans to visit the Israeli sector. Crossing is normally tightly restricted. There was no confirmation of the report in Amman, the Jordanian capital.)

An additional problem on the trip will be the presence of an estimated 1,900 newsmen covering the Pope's movements for the world's newspapers, radio and television.

Indian War Vet Turns 102

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (UPI)—A veteran of the Indian wars that raged across the plains 75 years ago celebrated his 102nd birthday Wednesday at the Wadsworth Veterans Administration Center near here.

Simpson Mann, who served with a U.S. Cavalry regiment against the Sioux Indians in South Dakota, was honor guest at a special party attended by employes and other patients.

The old Indian fighter cut a huge birthday cake with 102 candles and received a Christmas stocking full of presents.

Mann, one of 22 surviving veterans of the Indian Wars, figured his stay at the veterans facility would be short. He is there for a periodic physical checkup.

Mann's Army service against the Indians extended from 1888 to 1892.

Oswald Tagged As Sociopath

DALLAS (UPI)—State Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas said Thursday that Lee Harvey Oswald was the type of personality the newly formed Committee to Study Sociopathic Personalities would look into.

Parkhouse, who sponsored the bill setting up the committee in the last session of the state legislature, was named as a member of the committee Tuesday.

The committee will study and possibly present legislation aimed at preventing the development of sociopathic personalities. A sociopathic person is not mentally ill or deranged but thinks nothing of committing violent criminal acts.

Parkhouse explained the committee's function as, "to find ways of detecting developing sociopaths and what to do to stop further development."

UN to Check Korean Incident

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI)—The United Nations Command (UNC) agreed today to a Communist proposal to send a joint U.N.-North Korean investigation team to the scene of an alleged shooting incident Dec. 17 in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

It was agreed that UNC and North Korean members of the team would meet Sunday along the central sector of the truce line, near where the North Koreans charge that two armed South Koreans acting as U. S. agents crossed into North Korea.

North Korea claimed that one of the agents was shot and the other captured.

Farm Co-ops Set Houston Session

HOUSTON (UPI)—The National Council of Farm Cooperatives will hold its 35th annual meeting here Jan. 13-15.

The council is a nationwide organization of farmers' cooperative marketing and purchasing associations which represents some 5,700 individual cooperatives serving almost 3 million farm memberships.

The three-day program will focus on the need for cooperatives to achieve the size and efficiency and market influence to meet needs of the individual producer, a council spokesman said.

In the opening general session Monday, Jan. 13, assistant Secretary of Agriculture Ronald R. Renne will discuss agricultural export trade.

Joseph A. Greenwald, director of the State Department's office of international trade, will be principal speaker at a luncheon session Jan. 14, discussing the political basis for European trade policies.

'Watch Dogs' Use $47 Millions on Waste

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The federal "watch dog" agency spent $47.8 million last year to see that the government wasted as little money as possible. It reported Thursday that its investment paid off with a saving to the taxpayers of $247.5 million.

In other words, for every dollar spent by the General Accounting Office (GAO), there was a return in savings of more than $5.

The five-to-one ratio was a considerable improvement over the previous year when the GAO paid out $48.2 million to produce savings of $162.8 million—a return of slightly more than three-to-one.

The latest figures were contained in GAO's annual report for the fiscal year that ended last June 30.

The 42-year-old agency is an arm of Congress and was created to keep a continual and wary eye on the spending practices of the many federal departments and offices.

It employed 4,659 people during fiscal 1963 to determine exactly how the government spent $90 billion or so that it collected from the taxpayers that year.

The GAO turned out hundreds of reports and audits on hundreds of activities and forwarded them to congress and the agencies involved.

The $247.5 million in savings described in its report was made up of "refunds, collections, measurable savings, and other financial benefits resulting from the work of the GAO." Actual refunds totaled $29.1 million, according to the agency.

The GAO's biggest concern was the Defense Department. This is by far the biggest federal agency, spending more than half of the entire budget.

Among some of the GAO findings and subsequent savings noted in the report:—The Army and Air Force were spending about $66 million a year more than they should on repair and maintenance of non-combat vehicles because of practices that were "wasteful and inefficient."

—Over a four year period the services lost at least $18 million in unrecoverable overpayment to military men.

Pampa Resident Gets Arms Rating

Paul T. Edwards, 1044 S. Christy St., has been appointed a home firearms safety instructor. It was announced today by the National Rifle Association, sponsor of a new course designed to help reduce shooting accidents in the home.

Edwards was awarded an NRA instructor's certificate following successful completion of a written examination. He is now qualified to conduct the course locally. It runs about four hours and requires no shooting range since actual firing is not included.

City Manager Schmitzer said today he thought the right of way negotiations with the Fort Worth & Denver would be resolved.

The next step then would be final approval or rejection of the street closing ordinance by the city commission.

The ordinance already had had two readings before the commission. It has been given to 2 approval each time. Commissioners L. P. Fort and Leor Holmes voted against closing the street. Passage on three readings is necessary for the legislation to become effective.

1963 Produces More News Than Any Year

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
The year now drawing to a close has produced more front-page religious news than any other year of modern history.

to choose a new Pope. Nearly everyone agreed that the outstanding candidate—in terms of ability, background and commitment to Pope John's ideals—was Giovanni Battista Cardinal Montini, archbishop of Milan. But the experts quickly added that "of course, he can't be elected." They quoted the cynical old Roman saying, "Enter the conclave a Pope, and leave a cardinal."

Work on Declarations
They began work on historic declarations condemning anti-Semitism, supporting religious liberty, and acknowledging the presence of authentic Christian spirit in non-Catholic churches. The council will complete action on these matters and take up others at a third session next fall.

In the United States, the most significant religious development of 1963 was heralded by the National Conference on Religion and Race, which met in Chicago in January. At the first interfaith meeting in the nation's history, Protestants, Catholics and Jews agreed to join forces in active support of the Negro's demand for equal opportunity.

"march on Washington" on Aug. 28, nearly a third of the marchers were white Christians and Jews.
National Council Meets
Race relations continued to weigh heavily on the minds and consciences of Protestant leaders when the National Council of Churches held its triennial general assembly in Philadelphia Dec. 1-7. The assembly overwhelmingly adopted a resolution calling on church members to bring pressure on their congressmen to pass the civil rights bill. It also approved a 10-point action program for churches to purge themselves and their agencies and institutions of racism.

Some Defy Ruling
Prior to the ruling, religious exercises were a regular part of the public school program in 39 states. While many of these states acted promptly to terminate the kind of devotional exercises which the court held to be unconstitutional, a few, like Alabama and South Carolina, openly defied the ruling, while others, like Delaware and Florida, sought ways to get around it.
On the whole, the ruling encountered rather less criticism from religious leaders than had been anticipated.
Some churchmen protested that the court had struck a crippling blow at America's religious heritage. But many Protestants, most Jews and at least a few Catholic leaders said the court had simply made clear that religious education is the province of the home and the church, and the government must keep its hands off.

Mrs. John B. Connally Once Described as Frustrated Actress

(Editor's note: The first words Gov. John B. Connally uttered when he was rushed to the hospital in Dallas with President Kennedy were for his wife Nelle. This is the life story of Texas' first lady, who played her own role in the tragedy with dignity and compassion.)
By DAVID ANDERSON
United Press International
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Idanell Brill Connally once described herself as a frustrated actress.

nally tries to be home every day when the children come home from school.
The children—John, Sharon, 14, and Mark, 11—all attend Austin public schools.
The mansion is impeccably kept, and servants and guards seem to be everywhere. Still, it looks like home—a toy gun of Mark's stands in the corner of a back hallway, and on a table are several packages, perhaps Christmas presents.
Old Friends Call
Old friends often call on Mrs. Connally at the governor's mansion, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arno Brill of Austin, are frequent visitors.

She writes detailed instructions which Mrs. Morton types and distributes to the mansion staff. Each staff member is told exactly what to do and where to be.
During the legislative session last spring, the governor entertained a group of state representatives and senators at lunch or breakfast nearly every day. Mrs. Connally never attended those sessions, but planned all of them.
She begins her day by going through the sizeable amount of mail delivered to the mansion, then outlines staff duties for the day. From then on, few days are similar.
Mrs. Connally is a member of the state official ladies, which includes wives of all state officers, and the settlement club, a service organization that maintains Austin's settlement home for dependent and neglected children, mostly teen-agers.

The governor's wife has declined many invitations to join other clubs and organizations, Mrs. Morton said, because "she doesn't want to join if she can't contribute."
Mrs. Connally is interested in all the arts, and occasionally finds time to attend an art exhibit or play at the University of Texas.
Since the inauguration last January, the Connallys have been too busy to spend much time socializing with old friends. The governor works more evenings than not, so their social life is generally limited to official functions.
One of Mrs. Connally's proudest moments was last summer when the women of the motion picture industry named the Connallys "Family of the Year."
Mrs. Connally and the three children accompanied the governor to Dallas, where each received a plaque.

Return to Austin
They returned to Austin later that year, then moved to Fort Worth where Connally practiced law. In 1960 Connally became Secretary of the Navy and they again moved to Washington.
When Connally resigned in 1961 to run for governor, Mrs. Connally seemed relieved. "Our roots are in Texas," she said. "This is where we want to be."
But there was still no time for drama. Mrs. Connally campaigned as actively as her husband in 1962, and when he won she became the state's first lady, and probably one of its busiest.
Her first duty is as mistress of the two-story white governor's mansion and mother of three school-age children.
"Such a perfectionist—the nicest way, not the way that bothers you," says mansion secretary Mrs. Frances Morton. Mrs. Connally plans the menus and directs all the activities of the mansion staff of six.

She accompanied the governor to the National Governor's Conference in Miami and the Southern Governors Conference in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.
She toured San Antonio, Houston and Fort Worth with the governor and President John F. Kennedy, and was in the car in Dallas when the President and her husband were shot.
Held News Conference
She held a tearful news conference—her first—at Parkland Memorial Hospital to express the governor's grief over Kennedy's assassination.
Mrs. Morton describes Mrs. Connally as a refined, pleasant woman "with a delightful sense of people's humor."
"Such works very hard," Mrs. Morton said. "She's the sort of person who inspires the best from her staff, too."
Mrs. Connally is not coy about her age—she's 44. Her friends say she has no need to conceal it, because she's one of the most attractive women in Texas public life.

BERLIN — Hermann Guesz, a waiter in West Berlin, reacting to the news that an 18-year-old boy had been killed while trying to flee East Berlin over the dividing wall opened for Christmas visitors from the West:
"Such much for that agreement (on opening the wall). We should never have signed it."

Called "Nelle"
"Nelle," as Mrs. Connally's friends call her, is famous for her easy knack of making visitors feel at home.
In college she won a string of beauty contests, including "University of Texas sweetheart," and has always been known as a friendly warm woman.
In the past year she has entertained the wives of the mercury astronauts, Mrs. Frank Morrison, wife of the governor of Nebraska, wives of the state representatives and senators, and members of the alumnae organization of her college sorority, Delta Delta Delta.
The governor's mansion is furnished rather ponderously, so Mrs. Connally brought it dozens of family items—pictures, silver, vases and mementos—to give it personality.
The governor presides over meals at a 10-foot-long table in a family dining room. Mrs. Con-

Moulton-Barrett will bring a selection of this material for display at the Armstrong Browning Library for a month following his visit.
He also agreed to loan the university any of his papers that will be useful to the edition of Browning's letters now being edited by Philip Kelley and Ronald Hudson from materials in the Armstrong Browning Library.
Baylor President Abner V. McCall and Dr. Jack W. Hering, director of the library, joined Kelley in inviting Moulton-Barrett to the university. Kelley met Moulton-Barrett in London in 1961 while making arrangements for an exhibition to mark the centenary of the death of Elizabeth Barrett Browning.
Moulton-Barrett asked to meet the major benefactors who helped in creation of the Armstrong Browning Library, the life project of the late Dr. A. Joseph Armstrong.
Kelley said that two-thirds of the 12,000 or so Browning letters have never been collected and published. He and his research associate Hudson have typewritten or microfilmed copies of letters in about 450 locations. They hope to visit all of these places to check their copies against the originals.

Scientific Nature Of Christianity To Be Explored

The scientific nature of Christianity will be explored in next Sunday's Bible Lesson at all Christian Science churches.
Scriptural readings will include this verse from 1st John (5:14): "Hearken unto me, O my people; and give ear unto me, O my nation; for a law shall proceed from me, and I will make my judgment to rest for a light of the people."
Selections from the denominational textbook will include these lines: "Our Master taught no mere theory, doctrine, or belief. It was the divine Principle of all real being which he taught and practised" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 26).
The Lesson is entitled, "Christian Science."

Top o' Texas Classic Opens Tonight

Alworth, Clay Gain Acclaim In Two Awards

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lance Alworth, the flashy flanker playing his first full season of pro football, today beat out two of his San Diego Chargers team mates for the United Press International 1963 American League player of the year award.

Alworth out-poled quarterback Tobin Rote and fullback Keith Lincoln of the Chargers for the honor in a close vote of 24 AFL writers who determined the UPI post-season award winners.

Alworth received seven votes, compared to five each for Rote and Lincoln. Clem Daniels of the Oakland Raiders, the league's record-breaking rusher was the choice of three voters. Four other players each received one vote.

Unbeaten Cassius Marcellus Clay, boxing's golden gasser, defeated heavyweight champion Sonny Liston in their first head-to-head contest — for the Ring Magazine's title "fighter of the year" that publication announced today.

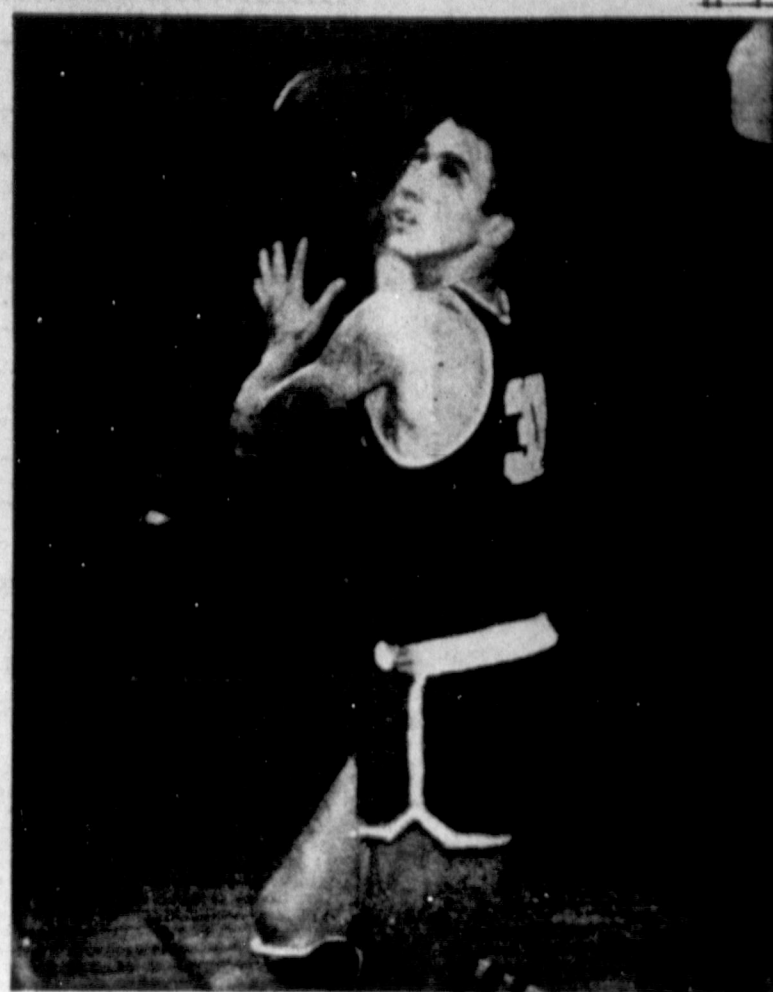

Despite Liston's remarkable repeat first-round knockout over ex-champion Floyd Patterson, Liston finished second to young Clay in the ring-staff's voting because of the lively lift that Cassius gave the fight game as he larruped and laughed his way to the challenger's role.

Clay also was credited with participating in the "fight of the year" because of his victory over Doug Jones on March 13 before a turnaway crowd of 18,732 at Madison Square Garden as he "drove Doug out of his path to a heavyweight championship shot" in their thrilling and controversial bout.

Milk Bowl Squads Arrive For Clash

DALLAS (UPI) — While most football fans were spreading the word that the men from Navy were in town to do battle Jan. 1, a somewhat smaller band of football players arrived in Dallas for a bowl game.

The McKeesport, Pa., Tigers, the best of the East to offer in the way of pee-wee players, landed at Love Field Thursday night in time for a final day of workouts prior to their Milk Bowl struggle with the South-west Pee Wee Conference All-Stars of Dallas.

BACKBOARD STANDOUT — Kerry (Rope) Roper (6-3) will be one of the central figures in Pampa Harvester basketball hopes during the two-day Top O' Texas basketball tournament in Pampa tonight and Saturday. Roper is one of the Harvesters' outstanding rebounders and ranks high in scoring thus far in the early stages of the season. (Daily News Photo)

Pampa Eyes Coyotes In Featured Contest

By ROCKY RANDALL
News Sports Reporter

Host Pampa has drawn the nod as co-favorites in the eighth annual Top o' Texas tournament scheduled to unfurl at 7 tonight at the Harvester Field House in Pampa.

Darkhorse Wichita Falls will furnish the opposition for the Harvesters in the 8:30 p. m. clash that will highlight the first days activities in the two-day affair.

Powerhouse Lawton, Okla., occupying the other favorites berth, will battle Dumas in the 7:00 p. m. curtain-raiser. The Demons have been tabbed to finish last in the annual Pampa holiday classic.

Pampa May Hold Edge

If there is a measure of superiority accorded the Harvesters it will be only a slight edge. Pampa's home court advantage and the fact that they have never lost their own tourney may provide the impetus needed for Coach Terry Culley's five to make it number eight.

The Green n' Gold has not enjoyed one of their better seasons thus far. Inconsistency has been a major factor in the 4-win, 7-loss record posted by the Harvesters during the current campaign. At times they have looked unbeatable while on other occasions they have been somewhat erratic. Their finest hour came in a 64-41 shellacking of Borger.

Coach Culley has been working his charges hard throughout the holidays in an effort to rid the team of the mistakes that have plagued them this year.

Sporadic shooting and inability to maintain possession of the ball have been problems that Culley hopes to have straightened out prior to tip-off time.

The Harvesters are expected to start 5-9 Rick Stewart, Kenny Hebert (6-0) 6-3 Dannie Hill, 6-3 Charles Price and 6-3 Kerry Roper.

No Stranger

Wichita Falls will be no stranger to the Harvesters. The Coyotes have recorded a 59-58 spine-tingling win over the Harvesters in their only meeting to date. That victory came on a free throw after the final buzzer had sounded.

The Coyotes boast the second best record in the tournament. Coach Morris Mercer's pack has won four while dropping two. Lawton crushed the Coyotes 87-66 early this year. Besides Lawton, WF has lost to Duncan, another Oklahoma power.

Fouls have been a bug-a-boo that Mercer will have to correct if the Coyotes are to capture the championship. In three games this year Wichita Falls was tagged with an astronomical total of 73 fouls.

The Coyotes are expected to send to the starting post against Pampa, 6-3 senior Jackie Pennington, juniors David Oliver (6-0) and Tom DeVoy (6-2) and a couple of stellar backcourt men in 5-10 Tom Campbell and 5-11 Steve Keller.

Lawton Impressive
Of all the teams entered in the Pampa meet, Lawton has been by far the most impressive. The Wolverines have romped over five of their six opponents to date. Their only loss was to Clinton, Okla., probably the best team in the state. Lawton had led through three quarters but yielded in the final stanza.

Leading the Wolverines into action will be one of the finer sophomores in the Sooner state in 6-3 David Frost. Frost is pacing the Wolverine scorers with an average of 16.7 points per game. He is also one of the two top rebounders on the squad.

Coach Kenny Bridges will be bringing his crew to Pampa for the third consecutive year. On both prior occasions Dumas has knocked them out of the championship running.

Other impressive credentials presented by the Wolverines, include three of their starting five hitting in double figures and another boasting a nine point per game average.

Besides Frost, Bridges will go with 5-10 Chuck Large, junior Benny Wiggins (6-4), 5-10 Walter Gillespie, and either 6-0 Gene Cagle or 6-1 Terry Riddle.

Demons Hope to Repeat

The Dumas quintet will be out to continue their mastery of Lawton when they face the Oklahoma school tonight. The Demons have a bitter feud going with the Sooner team that stems from two prior Top o' Texas tournament meetings and last seasons gridiron battle. Lawton was undefeated until the Demons edged them 6-0.

Dumas will be pinning their hopes for an upset on the rugged defense imposed by Coach Jerry Hale. However, they will have to do it with out their two big boys Hulon Krikland and Dennis Cothren both 6-4 lads. Krikland is the teams leading rebounder, while Cothren has paced the scorers with 131 points in 12 games.

Hale plans to open with 5-10 senior Norman Bonner, 6-2 sophomore Robert David, 6-0 Jimmy Roades and a pair of 5-8 guards in Butch Cariker and Ray Stewart.

Winners of tonight's duels will vie for the championship at 8:30 p. m. Saturday while the losers will tangle at 7 p. m.

Green KO'd By Clements

A smashing left hook to the body by Don Clement of Amarillo decked Archie Green of Pampa for the count in the featured bout of the Pampa Optimist Club's boxing program Thursday night.

The end for Green came after 1:10 in the first round.

Only one other bout failed to go the distance in the 19-card affair. Larry Austin of Amarillo TKO'd James Crittendon of Pampa in the third.

Doubles Victory Puts U.S. Near Davis Cup Title

ADELAIDE, Australia (UPI) — Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston out-duelled Australia's Roy Emerson and Neale Fraser, 6-3, 4-6, 11-9, 11-9, in the 100-degree temperature of Memorial Drive Stadium today to bring the United States to within one victory of its first Davis Cup tennis triumph since 1958.

Rising to the peak of their games before a capacity crowd of 7,000, the aggressive young Yanks concentrated on the competitive staleness of Fraser to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five challenge round.

The United States will win the Davis Cup which Australia has possessed for the last four years and for 11 of the last 13 years by winning either of Saturday's singles matches. Ralston is slated to meet Emerson in one match while McKinley will play 19-year old John Newcombe in the other match.

Yanks Heavy Favorite
The crucial doubles victory — which makes the United States a heavy favorite to win the cup — followed the opening singles matches in which Ralston defeated Newcombe, 6-4, 6-1, 3-6, 4-6, 7-5, and Emerson beat McKinley, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5, 7-5.

McKinley and Ralston attained their grueling doubles triumph, with an all-out aggressive attack on Fraser. The one-time southpaw ace of Australia retired from competitive tennis last year and only returned to heavy training several weeks ago at the urgent request of Australian captain Harry Hopman.

U.S. captain Bob Kelleher's strategy was to put intense pressure on Fraser in the belief that he would have to wilt sooner or later — and that strategy turned out to be correct. Fraser started slowly, seemed to grow stronger, and then let his game fall apart.

Plays Heart Out
In the end, Emerson was playing his heart out with some of the finest tennis of his career but could not overcome the weak returns and netted volleys of his teammates.

The hour-long third set was the key to the match.

The set began with both teams maneuvering for power at the net and with the Yanks exerting strong pressure on Fraser. The 30-year-old southpaw seemed to grow stronger midway in the set but then faltered noticeably and he suffered a break in service in the 20th game. The Yanks won the set when Fraser netted a high lob by McKinley.

Quarterback Major Threat For Oregon

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon's Sun Bowl bound football team, pinning its victory hopes on brilliant quarterback Bob Berry, reassembles today for a flight to El Paso, Tex., where they meet Southern Methodist Dec. 31 in the Sun Bowl's new 30,000 seat stadium.

Berry, a junior, ranked sixth nationally in total offense with 1,733 yards and threw six touchdown passes in leading Oregon to a 7-3 season. He completed 59 per cent of his passes.

Oregon head man Len Canova, who has been around a long time, calls Berry the "greatest competitor" he has ever coached.

As Oregon wound up three days of tough, two-day drills just before Christmas, there was no complacency about Southern Methodist, despite the latter's 4-6 record.

"We're in for a battle," Casanova said, pointing to the Mustangs' victories over second-ranked Navy and Gator Bowl bound Air Force.

Oregon will be without its great halfback, Mel Renfro, who signed a contract with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League after a wrist injury had sidelined him for the Sun Bowl game.

But Oregon clobbered Oregon State 31-14 without Renfro behind Berry's aerial blitz and sharp play calling.

Two of the top Webfoot line-backers, Tim Casey and Don Causey, also are absent because of injuries — but big tackle Milt Kahaha, who missed much of the season, is back and Oregon figures to be its strongest since mid-year.

Shockers Reach Finals Of Borger Tourney

BORGER (SpI) — A fired up crew of Pampa Shockers with a brilliant display of defense, knocked the Borger Bullpups out of the championship bracket of their own "B" team tournament 46-42, to advance to the finals against Perryton.

The Shockers will go after the championship and number 13 in a row at 8 tonight in the Sam Houston Auditorium at Borger.

The win stretched the Shockers streak to 12 straight and it came the hard way.

Playing like cornered tigers, Pampa came from a 15-12 first quarter deficit and a 24-24 halftime tie to victory on the strength of a gallant third quarter rally sparked by Ken McWilliams.

Coach Roy Kieval's wrecking crew was scheduled to open against the Perryton Deputies but found themselves thrown against Borger when they arrived in Borger.

As if that wasn't headache enough, Kieval lost the services of Jim Brown due to illness. Brown had replaced David Cain who was promoted to the varsity for the Top O' Texas tournament.

Undaunted, the Shockers went to work on the larger Bullpups. Fired sky-high, Pampa used the rebounding of Teddy Bird, Mike Wise and David Frusher to out-rebound the Pupps 29-14.

Ronald Curlee and Wise led the Shocker scoring with 15 and 16 points respectively. McWilliams turned in an excellent floor game.

"We had our backs to the wall and the kids came through beautifully," Coach Kieval said today. "Each boy that played did a wonderful job for us particularly on defense. I'm proud of each of our players and the efforts they put forth." Kieval concluded.

WOLVERINES BOAST TOUGH SCORING PUNCH

Lawton Hunting Second Tourney Title

LAWTON, Okla. (SpI) — Boasting a 5-1 record with 399 points in their contests, the Lawton Wolverines are seeking to grab their second basketball tournament crown in a row this week.

Coach Kenny Bridges and crew embark upon this tourney title quest in Pampa at 7 p. m. Friday against the tough Dumas Demons in opening round play of the Top o' Texas cage tournament.

Early season results have placed the Oklahomans in a favorite's position to reach the finals with possible opposition from the host school, Pampa.

squad this year are juniors Chuck Large, 5-10, and Benny Wiggins, 6-5, along with sophomore standout, David Frost, 6-3. Frost has a 16.7 season's scoring average with 558 rebounds. Wiggins is three rebounds ahead of Frost and has a 9.2 season's scoring average. Large is the No. 2 scorer with a 14 points game mark.

Bridges will use these three plus senior guard Walter Gillespie, 5-10, and senior forward Gene Cagle, 6-0, or senior forward Terry Riddle, 6-1, as starters against Dumas. Cagle averages a 7.2 scoring record, Gillespie hitting a 7.0 and Riddle

5.2 in the first six games. Lawton has won five of six starts this year. Victories were over Wichita Falls (87-66), Del City (61-58), Mangum (73-55), Navajo (62-40) and Anadarko (57-33). Last three wins were in Altus invitational tourney last weekend.

The loss was to Clinton (70-59). LHS led for three quarters, but couldn't keep up with 6-6 Melvin Bell and 6-5 Carlos Bell in fourth quarter.

Lawton has scored 399 points in six games for a 66.5 avg. per game. They have allowed 322 points, an avg. of 53.7. Frost is the leader both from the field and the free throw line. He has hit 38 of 73 from the field and 24 of 38 from the line. He has 58 rebounds to trail Wiggins by three.

Large is second from the field with 37 of 106, while Wiggins is second from the line with 17 of 32.

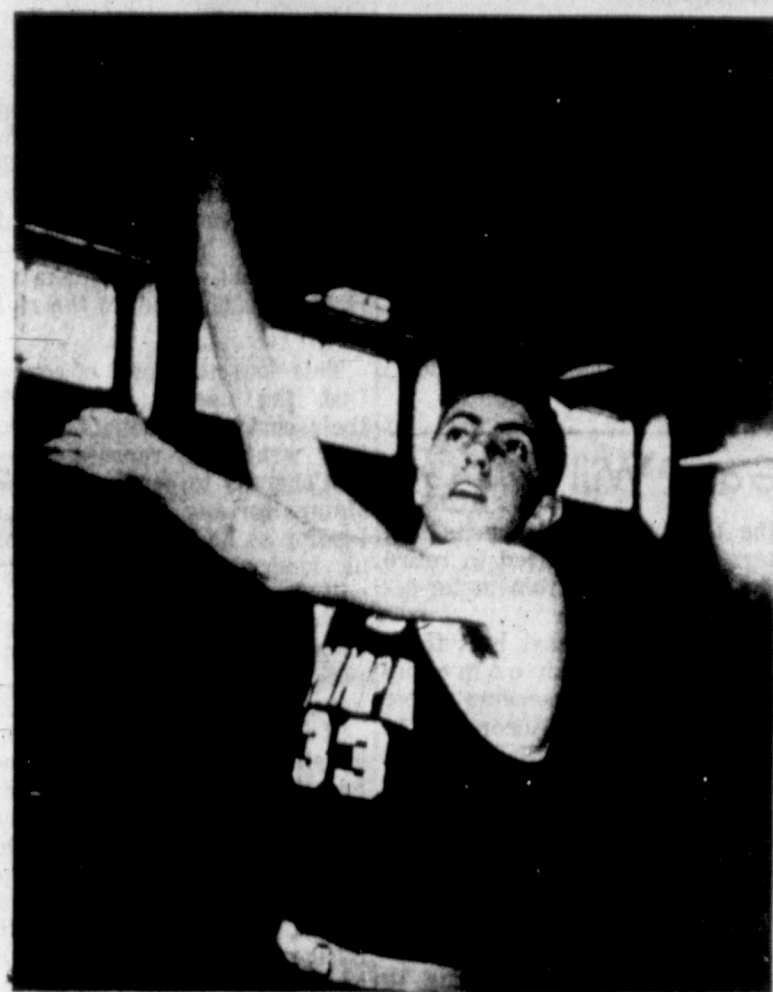

Overall, LHS has hit 151 of 368 from the floor and a poor 97 of 171 from the line. They own a 263-163 rebounding edge. Lawton was supposed to be "down" this year, but Clinton has offered the only serious competition so far. Frost, Large and Wiggins, all underclassmen, have carried most of the load, although Wiggins hasn't lived up to expectation.

Bridges is now in his third year, having won Lawton's first state championship in history his first year, finishing 13-9 last season. He has a 35-17 record overall.

This will be Lawton's third straight trip to the Pampa tourney, and so far the Wolverines haven't reached the finals. They bowed to Dumas in the first round in 1961, and lost to Pampa in last year's opener.

They defeated Elk City in the second round in 1961, but lost to Dumas in the second game last year.

DANGEROUS POINT PRODUCER — This 6-3 senior Harvester is one of the Pampa High School offensive dangers that the Wichita Falls Coyotes will have to watch come game time tonight in the first round of the Top O' Texas cage classic. He's Charlie Price who has become a danger in scoring and rebounding in recent Pampa contests. (Daily News Photo)

Aggies, Pan-Am Hit Semi-Final Contests

By United Press International
Texas A&M and Pan American made their way into semi-finals at a pair of holiday basketball tournaments today, but the University of Houston was forced to take the consolation route in search for a trophy.

A&M used a strong second half to finish Washington 61-53 at the All-College tournament at Oklahoma City, and Pan American smashed Central State of Ohio 94-80 in the Quincy College Holiday tournament at Quincy, Ill.

Houston battled to a near upset, but finally fell to Wyoming 75-72 in the All-College tourney.

A&M and the Juskies were tied up 33-33 at the half, but a strong second half performance by Benny Lenox shoved the Aggies ahead to stay.

A Houston rally in the last stanza pushed the Cougars to within two points of Wyoming with 20 seconds left in the game, and a last-second basket by sophomore Denny Heumann sent the contest into overtime. But Wyoming had too much in the extra period.

Pan American rode on the hot shooting of Mitchell Edwards and Lucious Jackson. Edwards tallied 26 points, and Jackson scored 22. The Broncos took an early lead over Central State and were never headed. Bill Wilburn of Central State was the game's high scorer, however, with 32 points.

Today, A&M meets the All-College tournament's top-seeded club, Wichita, which routed Montana State 85-69 Thursday. Pan American clashes with Western Illinois in its semi-final game.

In an also-ran contest at Oklahoma City, Houston faces Idaho, which was smashed by Oklahoma City, 104-66 Thursday.

Tar Heels, Falcons End Gator Drills

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The Air Force Academy and the University of North Carolina went through final tune-ups today on the eve of their clash in the 19th annual Gator Bowl.

The Carolina Tar Heels, a slim two-point favorite, went to nearby St. Augustine to work on defenses aimed at stopping quarterback Terry Isaacson whose running and passing accounted for half of the Air Force's offense during a 7-3 season.

The Falcons flew into the naval air station here Thursday afternoon after a morning workout at McCord Air Force Base in Orlando, Fla., where they spent Christmas.

The rival coaches for Saturday's Gator Bowl game are old rivals even though their present teams have never met.

SOONER SCORING CHIEF — Leading the strong scoring punch of the Lawton, Okla., Wolverines so far this season is sophomore standout David Frost, 6-3, with a blazing 16.7-point average in six games. He is also the team's second leading rebounder with 58. Frost is the pace-setter in Lawton's 1-2-3 punch that will be revealed at 7 p. m. when the Wolverines play Dumas in the first game of the Top O' Texas basketball tournament at Pampa High School. Packing Meters and Good Will

Out in Santa Maria, California, merchants have come up with a "gimmick" which may definitely spur both good feeling and good business. After working things out with the local authorities, the merchants went around last week and decorated the parking meters in front of their respective stores...

Actually, the movement in Santa Maria grew out of a rather unhappy situation. Some years ago the Santa Maria city council got into the parking meter business. In order to put in the meters, the council went into debt and floated bonds, the retirement of which debt is to occur as a result of income derived from the meters.

The Sea - Horn of Plenty

The sea, which covers 70 percent of the world's surface, has often been called the last remaining unexplored frontier. Indications of how vast that frontier may be, and what treasures await man's discovery, continue to pile up.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Just as important today

Down South

By THURMAN SENSING

By THURMAN SENSING As President Lyndon B. Johnson picks up the reins of government, he can depend on the personal good will of a united American people.

This does not mean, of course, that the people will abandon their customary beliefs or that they want their representatives in Congress to serve as rubber stamps for any administration.

Reaction to the President's speech seems balanced. Conservative leaders in Congress praised what they thought ought to be praised, such as Mr. Johnson's pledge to work for thrift and frugality in government.

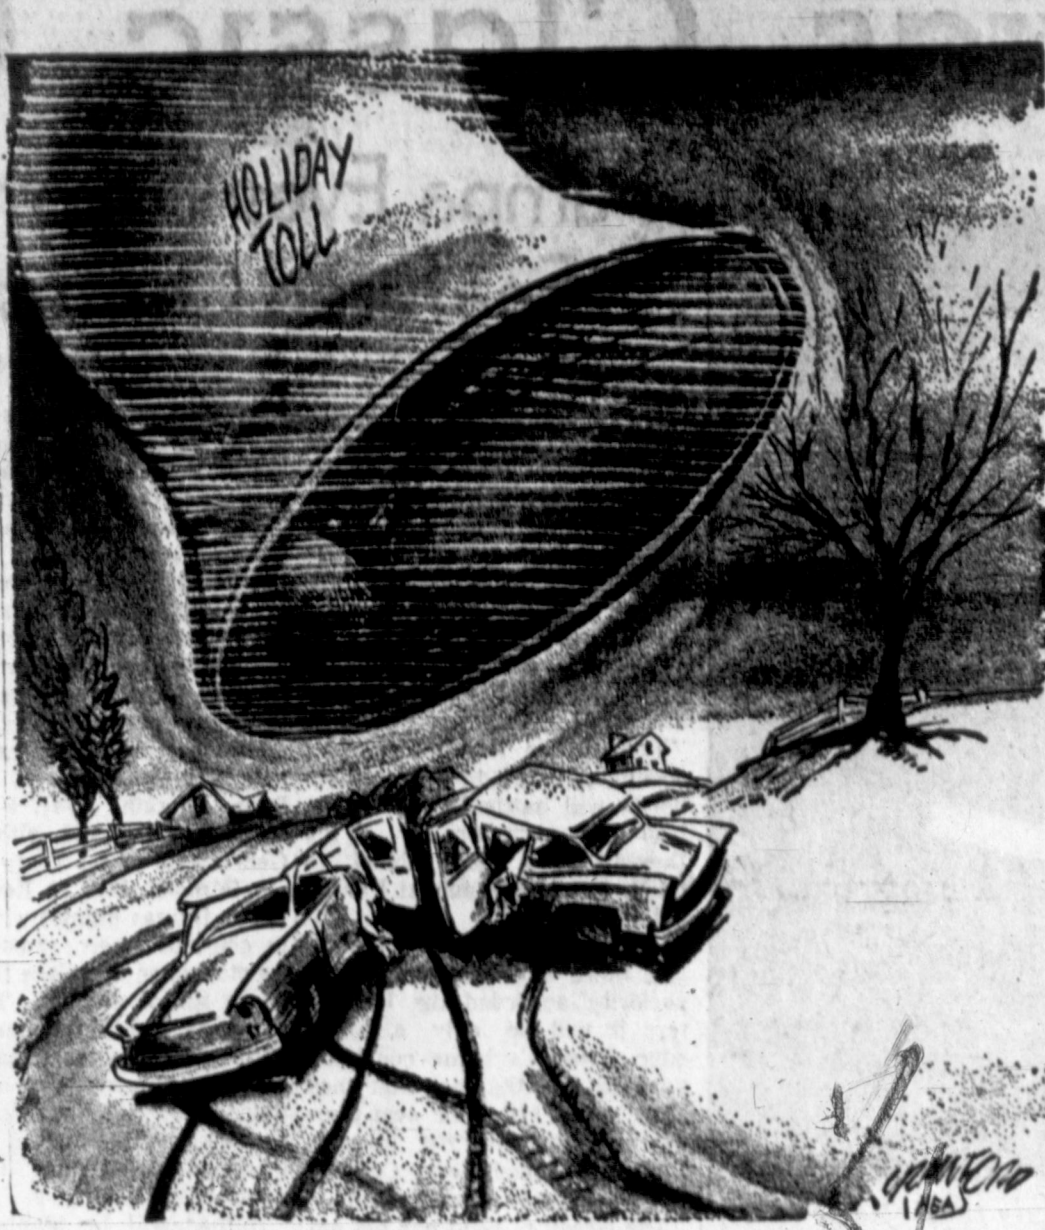

It was to be expected, given the manner of Mr. Johnson's coming to the presidency, that he would voice a call for rapid enactment of President Kennedy's program.

The legislative enactments of the Congress should not be regarded as a funeral wreath or as a symbolic tomb honoring the slain President.

Another danger must be considered. As President Johnson is a personal friend of many congressmen, there is the possibility that Congress may be smothered in a close embrace.

Government in the United States is a two-way street, if Mr. Johnson will give to conservatives the recognition they have been denied in recent years, he surely will be able to count on their cooperation.

Trouble-Plagued USIA Due to Loose Heads And Be Returned to State Department

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON - The long trouble-plagued U.S. Information Agency is headed for a new upheaval in both personnel and organizational set-up. Major changes due are as follows: Director Edward Murrow and Deputy Director Donald Wilson will leave. Murrow is going on his own initiative, as a consequence of his recent lung cancer operation.

The USIA to lose its independent status and again be made a part of the State Department. The agency was under State Department jurisdiction in the Eisenhower administration, but was made autonomous by the late President Kennedy when Murrow gave up his career as a prominent radio-TV broadcaster to become director.

FAGER REAVERS - Now that the official mourning period is over, watch for a lot of activity booming Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver for Vice President.

CRYSTAL BALL - There is a good possibility the long-pending $11 billion taxcut bill won't emerge from the Senate Finance Committee until spring.

HOW TO ADDRESS OUR LAW MAKERS

You may wish to write your senators and representatives in Washington and Austin. Here are their addresses:

- (FEDERAL) Rep. Walter Rogers, House Office Bldg., Washington 25, D. C. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Senate Bldg., Washington 25, D. C. Sen. John Tower, Senate Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.

- (STATE) Rep. Grainger McIlhenny, House of Representatives, Austin, Texas. Sen. Gray Harkwood, State Senate Bldg., Austin, Texas.

Calif. is still very much up in the air about seeking another term, but he has definitely made one decision: He has no intention of resigning.

Others that have deprecated the USIA are the Senate Committee, named by President Eisenhower, the Herter Committee, appointed by President Kennedy and Brookings Institution. All reported adversely on the agency.

State Group Asks Safety On New Year

AUSTIN (Sp) — Keep your New Year's Eve happy by not losing your head, motorists and pedestrians were advised today by J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association.

"The last day of the year traditionally is one when many citizens cast aside all restraints," he declared.

"Traffic safety officials are not opposed to the pursuit of happiness unless such pursuit threatens public safety," Musick noted. "But when the use of intoxicants reaches a point where a person jeopardizes either his own life or the lives of others by daring to drive, then it becomes necessary to enforce action to prevent accidents."

The safety director also said even those citizens who prefer to observe the last hours of the year in a house of worship cannot afford to relax their vigilance in traveling between home and church.

"Although drink increases a person's chances of accident involvement, many motorists and pedestrians could sober have ended up cold because they ignored simple rules of safe driving and walking," he concluded.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
The era of good political feeling now warming the Johnson administration in its toddling weeks probably will end with a bang in the second week of January when the new President addresses to the Congress his first annual message on the State of the Union.

Until then, the voters can continue to amuse themselves with the new word game: "Is he or ain't he?" The game, of course, seeks to identify Johnson as a conservative or as a liberal. It is not easy.

There is in Washington, D.C., an organization known as Americans for Constitutional Action (ACA). It keeps account of congressional votes on which it scores senators and representatives on their support of the nation's welfare as ACA sees it. ACA is a hard-nosed conservative outfit.

ACA has an overall rating on the basis of a legislator's consistency in voting to promote sound economic growth through constitutional government and opposing collective morality and socialized economy through centralized power. President Johnson's Senate votes in 1960 were rated a poor 10 per cent by ACA's yardstick.

Gets Low Scores

ACA gave him a sorry 9 per cent for 1960 support of sound money and opposition to inflation; 7 per cent for support of economy and conservation against waste; 7 per cent for supporting the private competitive market and opposing government interference; 13 per cent for supporting local self government against central government interference; 9 per cent for support of national security. ACA graded Johnson zero on opposition to government ownership and in defense of individual liberty. A perfect score from the ACA standpoint would be 100 per cent.

An opposite number to ACA is Americans for Democratic Action (ADA). ADA had been condemning Johnson for years as a Democratic leader until he succeeded to the presidency when ADA began to have kind words for him. In September, 1955, ADA bracketed Johnson together with Sen. John F. Kennedy in voting during the first session of the 84th Congress only 66.7 per cent in favor of liberal legislation.

In 1959, ADA was accusing Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of surrendering to President Eisenhower on Democratic party principle, especially in unholy appeasement on the issue of civil rights. "Early in the session (first of the 86th Congress)," ADA complained, "Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senator Johnson snuggled into a straight-jacket offered them by the (Eisenhower) administration."

Singled Out
On Oct. 18, 1959, ADA said: "All senatorial hopefuls, except Sen. Johnson, scored 100 per cent on the ADA voting record presented at the quarterly national ADA board meeting this week." This referred also to the first session of the 86th Congress.

On June 30, 1960, in opposition to Johnson's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination, ADA said: "He (Johnson) is a conservative, anti-civil rights, gas-and-oil senator. He has supported all of the major anti-labor legislation enacted during the past two decades and bragged about it."

After Johnson's nomination for vice president, an ADA spokesman said: "The nomination may prove to be a disaster in November." Last February ADA said: "Vice President Johnson has demonstrated once again that his first loyalty is to the southern racists."

Last Nov. 27, five days after Johnson became President, ADA issued a statement supporting Johnson's unequivocal progressive program.

As so often asked: "Is he or ain't he?"

Firm's Foundation Grants at $323,800

HOUSTON (UPI) — The chairman of the Humble Oil and Refining Co. education foundation said Wednesday that the foundation awarded $323,800 in grants to 57 colleges and universities in the United States in 1963.

Chairman Hines H. Baker said 1963 was the first full year of the foundation's operations and that half of the money was given in grants and fellowships to improve teaching and research on the graduate level.

The grants were given to accredited colleges and universities in which at least four years of undergraduate study are offered.

Texas Oil Rigs Show Slight Drop

DALLAS (UPI) — The number of oil rigs in operation in Texas as of Dec. 23, showed a decrease of 60 wells from 1962.

A report by Hughes Tool Co. showed 547 rigs actually making holes in Texas compared to 607 on Dec. 24, 1962. Total operating wells in the United States was six less than the previous year, 1700 to 1706.

Both Louisiana and Oklahoma showed increases over wells operating in December, 1962. Louisiana has 299 rigs operating compared to 254 a year ago. Oklahoma shows 213 rigs now in actual use as opposed to 190 this time last year.

Speaker Here For Assembly

A district supervisor for the world headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses, Peter D'Mura, arrived in Pampa earlier this week to direct activities for the three-day assembly to be held in the Pampa Junior High School beginning Friday.

He will be the principal speaker, with his keynote discourse set at 7 p.m. tomorrow when he will speak on the convention theme, "Feed My Little Sheep."

The Bible training meeting is expected to attract some 500 ministers from 30 communities in Texas, Oklahoma and western Kansas.

D'Mura will preside over a model ministry school following his opening discourse, which is a ministerial development course designed to increase the efficiency of Jehovah's Witnesses in their ministry. Saturday he will conduct baptism services for new ministers at 1:30 p.m. and in the evening he will speak on "Examining Our Ministry."

Foreign News Commentary

Gunfire echoing on the Mediterranean island of Cyprus is a reminder of an unhappy past and an uncertain future.

For three years since Cyprus achieved independence on Aug. 16, 1960, a restless peace has prevailed under a constitution which sought to protect in equal portions the rights of 400,000 Greeks and the 100,000 Turks who form the island's minority.

It is an impossible constitution patched together to escape an impossible situation marked by years of bloody violence and a near-break between Greece and Turkey and an accompanying threat to NATO defenses in the eastern Mediterranean.

The violence began in 1952, when a black-bearded, American educated Orthodox priest became archbishop of Cyprus under the title Makarios III and used his office to press his campaign for "enosis" — union with Greece, and independence from Britain.

It reached its peak in 1955 and 1956 when Eoka, the Greek terrorist organization turned the main street of Nicosia, the capital, into "murder mile" and nearly 1,000 persons were killed or wounded.

Agreement A Patchwork
With Turkey demanding partition of the island and Greece demanding its union and neither the nor the Cypriots able to agree on a solution, a council of Zurich reached a patchwork agreement later completed in London.

It provided for a republic of Cyprus to be headed by a Greek president and a Turkish vice president, each with a right of veto.

The division of authority extended even down to the community level, and affected all phases of government, including foreign affairs, tax laws and the makeup of the army.

This is the issue which has proved unworkable. The division between Greeks and Turks has led to failure to collect taxes and Turkish Vice President Fazil Kutchuk to complain that he is kept ignorant of affairs which he has the right to veto.

Makarios, who became the country's first president and still holds the post, on his side has complained that separate Greek and Turkish authority in the communities is unworkable, and he blames the Turks for making it so.

He has demanded constitutional changes which the Turks say would infringe upon their rights.

Cause Of Violence
These changes were the underlying causes of the most recent clashes in which both Greeks and Turks died.

Underlying the violence also was the Turkish belief that the Greeks still have not given up their desire for union with Greece, although it specifically is forbidden by the Zurich agreement.

Feeding Turkish suspicions was Makarios' own assertion last March that the Eoka "struggle is not yet ended." Makarios has said that Cyprus is "more inclined to the West than the East," but he has not hesitated to complete many barter deals with Communist countries.

Meanwhile, the struggle in Cyprus can only be of benefit to Cyprus' own Communist party, the best organized in the country, powerful in municipal governments and in labor.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Analyst James Dines says the best advice he can offer at this time is to regard December as an unusual month.

Dines feels that only traders should be active at this time and that both long and short positions are justified.

Ralph Rotnem of Harris, Upham & Co. feels that gains in 1964 are most likely to be best in some of the formerly neglected or depressed sections such as chemicals, steels, metals, rubbers, sulphurs, machinery, papers, aluminum, aerospace and rails.

J. W. Sparks & Co. expects a drive to the 780 level in the Dow-Jones industrial average over the near term.

Thomson & McKinnon says that perhaps the best indication of how things are shaping up for 1964 is in the large number of optimistic predictions coming from corporate circles.
