Thugs Sought in Sinatra Kidnaping

Storm Blamed In Fiery Crash Of Jet Airliner

ELKTON, Md. (UPI)—A Pan American World Airways jetliner en route from Puerto Rico to Philadelphia crashed in flames Sunday night, apparently during a thunderstorm, bringing fiery death to 81 persons.

About two dozen policemen and a like number of sailors moved out with the first light of dawn today to pick up the remains of the 73 passengers and 8 crewmen from the frost-covered cornfield where the Boeing 707 crashed at 8:28 p.m.

It was at this precise moment Sunday night that the plane's pilot radioed the Philadelphia control tower: "We're going down in flames."

Numerous eyewitnesses insisted they saw lightning strike the plane or flash near it, followed by at least one and possibly two in-the-air explosions. But, investigators said, if it were lightning that destroyed the plane, it was a 1-in-10 million shot.

The giant plane began its flight in San Juan, P.R. with 144 persons aboard, according to the airline. It discharged 71 persons in Baltimore and left for Philadelphia with 73 passengers.

Plane Crew Identified

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pan American World Airways identified the crew of eight aboard the crashed airliner in Maryland as:

- Capt. George Knuth, 124 East 9th St., Huntington Station, Long Island, N.Y.
- 1st Officer John R. Dale, 19 Shore Road, Port Washington, Long Island, N.Y.
- 2nd Officer Paul Orringer, 194 Woodhollow Rd., Long Island, N.Y.
- Engineer J. R. Kantlehner, 71 Carroll St., Brentwood, Long Island, N.Y.
- Purser Mario L. Montilla, 245-11 Union Turnpike, Bellrose, Queens, N.Y.
- Stewardess Tommie Louise Simms, 120 East 26th St., Manhattan, New York City.
- Steward J. K. Morrett, 182 Thomas Drive, Paramus, N.J.
- Stewardess Virginia Heinzinger, 201 East 37th St., Manhattan, New York City.

gers and the crew of 8 aboard. It was early today before Pan American was able to set the death toll precisely at 81, finally confirming that the 48-day-old infant daughter of Mrs. Carmen Davila of Philadelphia, one of the victims, perished with the mother.

While the big four-engine jet was en route northward, the FAA air traffic control center ordered it into a circling holding pattern over New Castle, Del., to await the final approach clearance it never received.

The jet fell in a cornfield near the Maryland-Delaware state line, missing a suburban home by 100 feet. Part of the wreckage dug a shell-like crater 15 feet wide and six feet deep in a two-lane macadam road next to the cornfield. The U.S. Weather Bureau said a thunderstorm accompanied by lightning, thunder and heavy rain swept the Wilmington, Del., area shortly after the crash.

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) took over the investigation, aided by representatives of the airline, Boeing Co., the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) and the Air Line Pilots Association. FBI agents also were present to aid in victim identification as well as investigating any possibility of sabotage.

But weather, not sabotage, appeared to offer the most obvious clues to the crash which ruined what was shaping up as the second safest year in the history of the nation's scheduled airlines.

Until Sunday night's disaster, the passenger fatality rate since the beginning of the year stood at 0.09 per 100 million miles of flight — a safety record exceeded only by the 0.07 rate achieved in 1954.

Clay Holland, a gas station owner on heavily traveled U.S. Route 40 near the crash site, said he saw lightning hit the plane followed immediately by two explosions.

Robert T. Gregg, whose home was almost hit by the plunging jet, said his brother saw a flash of lightning which he believed struck the plane. Other eyewitnesses who were (See CRASH, Page 3)

Star's Son Taken in Nevada at Gunpoint

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI) — Two young desperados, wanted for escape and bank robbery, were sought today as suspects in the kidnaping of Frank Sinatra Jr., who was taken at gunpoint from his motel shortly before he was scheduled to sing at a plush Lake Tahoe casino.

The FBI identified the suspects as Joseph J. Sorce, 23, and Thomas Keating, 21, who escaped from Deuel Vocational Institution in California and were wanted for the armed robbery of a Long Beach, Calif., bank. The two men were described as "extremely dangerous."

FRANK SINATRA JR.

Agents said they would have an official FBI comment on the kidnaping of the 19-year-old Sinatra tonight.

Nevada highway patrolmen said Sorce was armed with a sawed-off shotgun and Keating was carrying a .45-caliber automatic pistol. Authorities said the suspects were traveling in a 1962 or 1963 white Chevrolet Impala, with a California license.

They said the license number began with "EGW," but the following digits were unknown. California license plates carry three letters followed by three digits.

Sorce was described at 5-foot, 10-inches tall, 150-pounds with brown eyes and brown hair. Keating was said to be 5-8, 185-pounds, with brown hair and blue eyes. Their hometowns were not immediately available.

Two Recall Rifle Practice By Oswald

DALLAS (UPI) — Two men have told the Dallas Morning News they practiced shooting alongside Lee Harvey Oswald at a gun range on several occasions before the assassination of President Kennedy.

The men, Howard Price, 34, of Grand Prairie and Garland G. Slack, 59, of Dallas, said other people were with Oswald when he practiced.

Oswald, accused assassin of the President was himself shot down by an assassin two days after Kennedy was killed.

Price, who helps out at the Sportsdrome Gun range near Grand Prairie, said on one occasion, either Nov. 9 or 10, he helped Oswald sight in the telescope on the rifle he was using.

He said the sight on the rifle was one of the clearest he had ever seen.

Price told the News there was no doubt Oswald was the man he saw, and said Oswald came to the range driving a battered old car, despite reports Oswald could not drive.

Price said he saw Oswald fire on the range again about Nov. 17. "Somebody, I don't know if it was a man or a woman," passed a wrapped up rifle over a fence to Oswald. Price told the newspaper.

Slack was also positive the man he saw was Oswald. "I'd know that face anywhere," the paper quoted him as saying. He said Oswald made him mad because he fired at both his own and Slack's target.

"He was a good shot too," Slack said.

Pampans Take Dam Site Trip

Directors from the 12 cities participating in the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority toured the dam site at Sanford this forenoon.

Following the tour the board held its December luncheon and business meeting at Berger Country Club.

Highlight of the business session was the scheduled discussion of a permanent location for the Canadian River project's general offices.

Fred Thompson and Clinton Evans, Pampa's directors on the CRMWA board, attended today's meeting. They were accompanied by Tex DeWeese of The Pampa News.

Police Admit Determined Man Could Have Killed LBJ in Gotham

NEW YORK (UPI)—The police admitted today that a determined assassin could have killed President Johnson in spite of the record security guard laid on for the Chief Executive's 2½-hour visit to New York City.

"If someone had wanted to get the President, he could have done it," said a veteran plainclothes policeman assigned to Sunday's protective force.

"There is no way to stop a determined assassin."

The officer conceded, however, that it would have been difficult for a sniper armed with a high-powered rifle to have hit the President.

A phalanx of 35 motorcycle policemen surrounded the closed presidential car throughout the visit and the car itself was followed a few feet away by the "Queen Mary"—an armored convertible with its roof down manned by several Secret Service men, including James Rowley, chief of the federal agency charged with the responsibility of protecting the President and his family.

Two police helicopters hovered over the presidential car at an altitude of less than 50 feet.

"It was the other means of assassination we were worried about," the detective said. "Someone could have tossed a hand grenade under the car. There is just too much to watch."

Santa to Return With Big Sleigh

The sleigh is 40 feet long and will hold approximately 90 people on each trip.

27 Boys Flee State School

GATESVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Twenty-seven youths at the Gatesville State School for Boys slipped away undetected early today in a mass pre-dawn escape.

The Department of Public Safety said 14 of the youths were picked up within a few hours by sheriff's officers and highway patrolmen.

The other 13 were believed to be still in the Gatesville vicinity, officers said.

The youths apparently slipped away unnoticed during the early morning hours while many of the school's staff members were still asleep.

Runoff Planned in Louisiana Race

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Former ambassador De Lesseps S. Morrison and John J. McKeithen today squared off for a Louisiana Democratic gubernatorial runoff that threatened to develop into another battle over the state's presidential electors.

The runoff Jan. 11 strongly resembled the 1960 battle in which Morrison was defeated by Jimmie Davis in a campaign that stressed segregation.

Small Nuclear Shell Bared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department today announced development for battlefield use of a nuclear shell only six inches in diameter.

Developed by the Army and the Atomic Energy Commission, the new projectile will be fired from 155 mm howitzers and is believed to be the world's smallest nuclear weapon.

The range of the 155 howitzer is eight to ten miles and the Pentagon said it would be the same for nuclear rounds as for conventional high explosives.

The smallest previously known nuclear weapons were the projectiles fired by eight-inch howitzers and Davy Crockett bazooka-like weapons, both in service in Europe and elsewhere.

The Defense Department said that "the actual nuclear ammunition will be available in the near future" for army and Marine troops who already have received training in assembling and firing techniques.

Nikita Reveals Chemical Plan

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev today announced an "unprecedented" plan aimed at more than tripling development of the Soviet chemical industry in the next seven years in a crash program to boost Russia's farm and industrial production.

Gain Poise From Skill

By KAY SHERWOOD

During the first few weeks of school, the homemaker-mother becomes acutely aware of pressures on her time.

Within one week, recently, I was asked to work on the PTA board, organize a car pool for high school, supervise a Bluebird group and a Brownie troop (which is almost impossible to do simultaneously) take over boys choir night and, in my spare time, work on a water pollution survey. Then, just in case I was lazing around, a friend suggested I pitch in and help with a benefit luncheon.

I used to feel guilty about saying NO and often, said YES out of cowardice. Now, I know a homemaker should pick and choose her extracurricular activities and be the better for it.

This year I shall spend with my youngest daughter and her little friends in second grade directing weekly meetings on crafts and homely arts. Oddly enough, the decision came to mind when I was working on that benefit luncheon.

Two young matrons and I were to set the tables for 40 people. One of my co-workers just didn't know how to place the knife, fork and spoon. No harm done and no great deal, but many of us can remember learning simple table-setting rules when we were 6 and 7. I began to suspect I might do a service to my children if I

Dear Abby.... Your Husband Batted Zero in Diplomacy!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Well, my husband opened his big mouth again, and now half the neighborhood isn't speaking to us. The school is nine blocks from here. Our kids walk. A neighbor couldn't get her car started, so she ran over here all excited (my husband was eating his breakfast) and said if HE didn't drive a carload of kids to school, they'd all be late. Then my husband gave her a lecture on "how it would do them all good to walk, and the school was only nine blocks away, and that she and the other mothers in our neighborhood were spoiling the kids rotten by chauffeuring them a distance that could be walked in 15 minutes, blah, blah, blah." Well, that's not what she came over for, so I told him to shut his mouth and I drove the kids to school in our pick-up truck. My husband said I should have taken his side. Who was wrong?

LIKES IT PEACEFUL
DEAR LIKES: Your husband. Your neighbor didn't want advice, she wanted a ride for the kids. Although your husband's deas were sound, he batted zero in diplomacy.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine just moved into an old house. She and her husband redecorated it a little bit on the inside and now she is inviting all her friends to come to a "housewarming." I think she is wrong. Aren't housewarming parties only for people who move into NEW homes?

PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: No. The house is "NEW" to her.

DEAR ABBY: A woman I work with asked me to her club as a guest. A man I had never seen before was also somebody's guest at the club. He introduced himself to me and asked me my name. I told him. No one that I know had ever seen him before, and they didn't know anything about him. He asked if he could take me home. I refused. My friend said I was crazy. Was I?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: No. If he's interested, he'll find you. And if he's worthwhile, he'll respect you for your cautiousness and will gladly provide the character references you insist upon.

MEATY
NEW YORK (UPI) — For a new, impressive way to serve lamb chops, order them the thickness of two rib bones and make a pocket between them, slitting lengthwise. Fill the opening with a small amount of stuffing and broil. There's no need to fasten the opening if you slit the chop from the bone side. It will seal itself during the cooking time.

Height of Fashion Unboxed by Stylist

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — A British hairstylist invaded the other day and at once unboxed what he called "the height of fashion."

Depending on how you fracture the king's English, the thing best can be described as a hair-let or wiglet. It's cone-shaped and meant for placement on the back of milady's crowning glory. Its inventor, Raymond, of London, a curl-maker under royal patronage, claims the cone is just dandy for the American female who wants an outstanding look atop.

But that's not all. Raymond twisted his moustache, shuffled his glossy shoes and said:

"I'm recommending the two-tone look—a light cone for the woman with dark hair and a dark cone for the woman with light hair."

Six-Inch High Cone
To show what he meant, Raymond, who calls himself the inventor of the pageboy, poodle cut, petal cut and other hairy classics, asked Rosalie Ashley to take off her hat.

The blonde British film and television star, who accompanied him, obeyed. Raymond then clipped a dark red cone on her crown. Deftly, he brushed long strands from the cone onto and into Miss Ashley's yellow hair.

Miss Ashley's cone was about six inches high. Raymond quickly noted that the cone can be smashed or mashed into a smaller cone — especially if a woman doesn't want to appear taller than her boyfriend or hubby.

"The style is outrageously flattering and with slight variations can be worn by almost all," Raymond said.

For daytime, Raymond recommends that the cone be decorated with bandeaux and giant buckles — up to three inches wide. Precious jewels can dramatize it for evening.

Names Some Clients
Raymond said his international list of clients includes ladies of the British peerage, of stage and screen and of royalty. He has created hairstyles for the Duchess of Gloucester, Queen Marie of Spain and the Duchess of Windsor.

Asked what differences there are between royal and commoner's hair, Raymond replied:

"None."
He used more words when asked the difference between hair of American and European women, saying:

"European women take better care of their hair. Their hair glistens more and seems better tended."

While here, Raymond also suggested a hairstyle for Uncle Sam's teenagers.
He drew a picture of it. It looked like a slightly-mown version of the curly mop worn by Harpo Marx.

"Perfect for hootenanny," Raymond said.

Farmers to Vote on Cotton, Rice Issues

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Cotton and rice farmers will vote in three referenda Tuesday to determine whether the 1964 crops of upland-cotton, extra-long staple cotton, and rice shall be grown under marketing quotas. At least two-thirds of the farmers voting must approve quotas before they will continue in effect.

Cotton has been grown under strict acreage controls and marketing quotas since 1954, and rice since 1955. The marketing quotas actually comprise the amount of a commodity grown on allotted acreage.

The controls that have been on cotton and rice are somewhat similar to those proposed for the 1964 wheat crop. Farmers passed judgment on the wheat proposal last May 21 and defeated it soundly. Defeat of controls for cotton and rice, however, is not expected. There is no organized opposition to the controls for these commodities. Heretofore, controls have been accepted overwhelmingly.

If producers approve quotas, price support within the range of 65 to 90 per cent of parity will be available to eligible producers who stay within their acreage allotments.

If quotas are not approved, no marketing penalties will be applied to the 1964 cotton and rice crops. Price support will be available at 50 per cent of parity to growers who do not exceed their acreage allotments.

Crash

not so positive of an actual lightning strike reported seeing flashes about the time of the crash and there was no doubt the jet was in or near an electrical storm. Two said the plane was "a ball of fire" before it hit the ground and one woman told reporters "it looked like the sky was falling apart."

Planes Are Protected

The CAB's accident files contain no previous case in which lightning itself has destroyed a modern metal airliner. Planes are protected from bolts by tiny impregnated strips on the wings and tail which act as tiny lightning rods.

Static discharge, however—caused by an aircraft entering the electrical field of a charged cloud or by friction of particles like wet snow or rain—did cause one major air disaster, a TWA Constellation which blew up near Milan, Italy, in 1959.

The Italian government's investigation disclosed that static discharge ignited a residue of fumes in an empty wing fuel tank. Neither lightning nor static discharge is supposed to be able to ignite fuel itself.

The CAB undoubtedly will draw on the evidence from that 1959 crash in its probe of Sunday night's disaster. The Pan American plane was on the last short leg of its scheduled trip and one or more of its tanks may have been empty except for a trace of fumes.

President Shuns Decisions on Oil

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson, whose home state of Texas is the biggest oil producer in the union, today took the White House out of "basic policy decisions on oil matters" and assigned full responsibility to the Interior Department.

Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, reported this to newsmen today after meeting with Johnson. He said the President had asked him to let this decision be known. He said the department would handle oil much as it did under President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The oil import program, Udall said, is the major matter involved.

"I think we will have a heavier responsibility than in the past" Udall told newsmen with respect to making basic policy on imports of oil.

Painter Says Man Will Spurn Abstract Art

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI) — Painter Pietro Annigoni, portraitist of the British royal family, says the day will come when "the Christian man" will spurn abstract art and no longer be "ashamed of his own face."

Annigoni, whose art has been attacked by some critics as academic and photographic, issued an impassioned manifesto against "materialism." It was in the form of an introduction to an art book which includes 80 reproductions of paintings by Annigoni's young disciple, Luciano Guarnieri.

The 53-year-old Milan-born painter said he did not consider himself unmodern because he sought "advice and support" from the great masters of the past. Artists such as he and Guarnieri, he said, are just as "characteristic of our times" as abstract painters.

"To belong to one's time, to present one's time — these are ambiguous formulas," Annigoni wrote. "They are obvious if one considers that whatever a man does, he belongs to his time, whether he likes it or not, and he represents one of its aspects. They are very questionable when one intends through them to solicit artists, if not actually to impose on them a task or an obligation."

"Obviously even the times can be condemnable. There is a desolation in the air, an unconquerable nausea, one would say, over the old fact of being men."

Copying nature faithfully as he is doing, Annigoni said, is a bit like copying God and paying tribute to him.

"Guarnieri and his companions belong to a group of pilgrims, also characteristic of our times — even though contemporary culture denies it — who in smaller numbers, in far smaller numbers, felt the need to turn for advice and support to the great masters of the European tradition," Annigoni wrote. "And this is because we are full of nostalgia for the Christianity which supported those masters, and full of nostalgia for the man they conquered and revealed, and whom we think it is neither right nor desirable to consider outdated."

"Certainly life, which is continuing its course, is opening its way with a ram made of coarse materialism. Many things will change, almost all the past will be swept away, cities will be cement and glass, walls will be as shiny and smooth as the steel plates of automobiles. Speed will devour time and leave little margin for meditation."

"However, the Christian man will pass through all this and will reassert himself, without disgust for his own likeness, happy to be able to intuit something infinitely superior to himself which he can admire and love."

Although Annigoni's words were belligerent, they weren't quite as strong as those he addressed to the Florence city council in 1956.

Annigoni at the time was the recognized leader of a crusade against the planned shipment of brittle Renaissance masterpieces to the United States for exhibition. Annigoni and his followers said the change in climate could cause the old oils to disintegrate. They eventually Charges have been filed in Justice of Peace court here against Vernon Leon Moore, 22, 821 1/2 Hobart St., in connection with the last week's burglary of the pharmacy at Gibson's Discount Center.

STUFFED TIGER

CANOGA PARK, Calif. (UPI) — A toy tiger proved the undoing of four suspects picked up in a narcotics raid.

Narcotics squad officers who raided a home in this San Fernando Valley community found the stuffed tiger. But instead of the conventional filling, officers said it was stuffed with marijuana.

Arrested were Mrs. Cheryl A. Zussa, 19; Mrs. Sue C. Johnson, 18; William Walter Hain, 21, and George Odery McCulstion.

forced cancellation of the plan through street demonstrations and a sitdown strike in the City Hall.

Before they succeeded, however, Annigoni attended a City Council debate on a resolution which protested the planned shipment in terms he considered too weak.

"That's too little. Buffoons," Annigoni shouted and left the hall.

A Florence court the following year sentenced him to two months and 20 days suspended for "contempt of an administrative body."

But the paintings stayed in Florence.

POPULATION

NEW YORK (UPI) — The lower animals, at least, have a built-in mechanism for checking population growth before it becomes an explosion, according to Dr. John J. Christian, of Albert Einstein Medical Center.

Studies with rats, mice, woodchucks and deer show that increase is slowed and eventually stopped by a change in endocrine systems affecting reproduction. The process is triggered by social pressures and dwindling resources — food, water, living space — even though such resources may still be adequate.

Texas Business Index Up 4 Pct. in October

AUSTIN (UPI)—After faltering in September, the seasonally adjusted index of Texas business activity rose 4 per cent in October, the University of Texas Business Research Bureau reported Saturday.

Bureau statistician Francis B. May said the index has been on a plateau since May, fluctuating just below the peak of 142.7 per cent registered that month.

"It may break out of this range of values before the year is over," May said. "In any event, the index is currently well above its 1962 levels."

May said business this year seems to be following a cycle established last year. Last year an upswing started in February, reached a peak in May, then lost its vigor.

This year the upswing started

Closing Law Due Contest

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Dist. Judge Solomon Casseb will start testimony Dec. 23 on the constitutionality of the Texas Sunday closing law.

He continued a restraining order against Atlantic Mills and Spartan Industries last week which restricts them from operating seven days a week.

Casheb has questioned the constitutionality of Sunday closing laws. He instructed attorneys to include such legalities in their closing arguments. Last week Casheb issued a temporary restraining order prohibiting both discount houses from selling certain items on Sunday.

The defense said that Sunday purchases were permitted only after the buyer signed a "certificate of necessity" stating the item was an emergency purchase for the welfare of humans or animals.

State attorneys said that use of these certificates was just a ruse to circumvent the law.

Prison Term Started By Convicted Lawyer

STILLWATER, Minn. (UPI)—Timber Eugene Thompson, a courtroom ace convicted of buying his wife's murder in hopes of a $1 million payoff, entered Stillwater state penitentiary last week as convict No. 21893.

Scarcely 17 hours after a jury convicted him Friday night of first degree murder, the little criminal attorney was brought the 30 miles from Minneapolis under heavy guard and passed through the arched, brown door of the 50-year-old Stillwater prison.

The sentence of the court was "life at hard labor." Actually, Warden Ralph Tahash said, the prison will "try to give him a job in keeping with his education and ability. A laboring job would defeat our purpose."

He had hopes — the appeal to be filed by his attorneys Monday; the chance to apply for parole if his behavior is good in exactly 16 years, 11 months and 18 days.

But he also had to face the ordeal of becoming just another convict in the Stillwater prison yard. And there was another ordeal, symbolized by a subpoena summoning him to testify in the trial of an alleged conspirator — Norman Mastrian, the ex-college chum turned St. Paul underworld figure who allegedly hired Carol Thompson's killer.

That was scant comfort for the lonely man who made the trip to Stillwater.

Pampa High Student To Head Press Group

Miss Pat Ludeman, feature editor of the Little Harvester, Pampa High School newspaper, was elected president of the Texas High School Press Association and the Little Harvester was judged state champion among weekly newspapers at the Texas High School Press Association convention in Denton Saturday.

The 1963 Harvester yearbook received an All-Texas rating. Phyllis Daisling was editor and Rose Webb was associate editor. Both are students this year at Texas Tech.

Jennifer Turner is editor in chief of the Little Harvester this year.

Miss Elizabeth Hurley, Pampa High publications adviser, was elected state director and national representative of the Texas Association of Journalism Directors. She presided at the convention as state TAJD president this year and arranged the convention program as THSPA faculty sponsor.

Miss Ludeman spoke as a panelist on an all-student program at the convention. She recently was named Miss FTA of District 9 at the district Future Teachers of America convention in Canyon and will compete in the state contest in Austin next spring.

One of her feature stories was published in the School Press Review, magazine of the Columbia University Scholastic Press Association, New York. She also won honorable mention in a short story contest conducted last summer by Seventeen magazine.

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, explaining the recent reduction in civilian employees of the Defense Department: "We don't want to just be a tightwad... but we do want to see that money is prudently expended, and if Defense Secretary (Robert) McNamara can effect a reduction of 25,000 employees by the ceiling he has had, it will be helpful."

SAIGON — Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, on the possibility of his running for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964, reportedly advocated in a message by former President Dwight D. Just published are the makings of a big and smelly mess in Washington in which it is alleged that many members of the Congress and other U.S. officials were bribed by the late Rafael Trujillo, Dominican dictator.

These allegations appear in "Trujillo: The Last of the Caesars" (published at $1.95 by Henry Regnery Co., Chicago). The author is Ariuro Espallat, described by the publisher as "A graduate of West Point, (former) head of the Dominican army, for a time Dominican consul and U.N. representative in New York, and at the time of Trujillo's murder head of internal security." Espallat writes that Trujillo's murder was arranged by the U.S. State Department and that Prof. Jesus De Galindez was killed by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

The book's most sensational chapters, however, allege multi-million dollar bribery. A member of the publishing house said this would involve some 30 members of the Congress, mostly senators and House committee chairmen, in addition to State Department officials and other public figures.

Says Names Available

The publisher's covering letter accompanying the book to some reviewers noted the circumstantial nature of Espallat's charges and states: "We couldn't mention names in the book, but these are available through an interview printed in a Canadian paper."

So, much or all of the Espallat story has been previously published in Canada and some also in the Indianapolis, Ind., Star. On Jan. 22, 1963, reporter Robert Jonesed off a piece in the Star like this:

"A shadowy but explosive drama is being enacted behind the scenes in Washington these days. If a fraction of the whispered reports is true, a situation may be in the making which could explode with a far bigger bang than the teapot dome scandal of the '20s."

Investigation Seems Likely

Reporter Jones seems not to have overestimated much, if any, the megaton potentialities of the scandal that would billow around proof of charges contained in this newly published book. It is not conceivable that the U.S. Congress will be able to avoid investigating the charges of bribery. After all, the names of bribe-takers are said to be available in Canada.

Author Espallat names individuals in Washington who might know, as agents or otherwise, where Trujillo put his bribe money. There is somewhere a file recording all of the bribe transactions, according to Espallat. He believes it may be concealed in Washington, perhaps in official custody. If so, the file is being suppressed.

Politicians were not alone in accepting Trujillo money, according to Espallat. Some newsmen got Trujillo favors and some persons were bribed merely because of their standing in the community and not for any official position they occupied.

Espallat pictures Trujillo as a sucker for any highly placed American who might say a good word for the dictator in the right place.

The Senate now is investigating one of its clerks. Congress scarcely can afford to refuse to investigate itself.

JOHNSON PHONES TEACHER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson telephoned a former college teacher of his over the weekend to wish her a speedy recovery from the illness which has confined her to a Corpus Christi, Tex., hospital.

The White House said the President called Miss Mamie Brown at Spahn Hospital in Corpus Christi Saturday night. Miss Brown was one of Johnson's instructors at Southwest Texas State College in San Marcos in 1930.

Tulsa Woman Wins Share In Musical on Broadway

Miss Barbara Weibling of Tulsa was officially designated an authentic "Broadway Angel" as winner of an investment in the upcoming Broadway musical, "The Girl Who Came To Supper."

Miss Weibling won the so-called "limited partnership share" in the highly-touted show as first prize in the "First Nighter Sweepstakes," sponsored by Maryland Club Coffee.

The star-studded show, with music by Noel Coward and featuring Jose Ferrer and Florence Henderson, has already played to enthusiastic audiences in Boston and Philadelphia. And, if past performance can make a show a success, it is significant that producer Herman Levin also produced the "My Fair Lady" smash hit.

Added to Miss Weibling's musical prize was a trip to the New York premiere of "The Girl Who Came To Supper." Another thousand participants in the sweepstakes will receive long-play record albums of the show's original score.

Speakers and their topics will include: William Jarrel Smith of Pampa, "Secondary Recovery and Comments on Shut-in Gas Payments;" James F. Fulbright of Amarillo, "Self-Employed Retirement Plans;" Clarence P. Brazill Jr. of Lubbock, "Recent Estate Tax Changes;" and H. A. Berry of Amarillo, "Relationships Between Lessor and Lessee Concerning Surface Use." A brief open forum discussion will follow each speaker.

Bar President Donald R. Bucher of Fallett will preside. Robert D. Lemon of Perryton and T. D. Sansing of Spearman are assisting Helms with institute arrangements.

Foreign Commentary

Notes from the foreign news cables:

Christmas Spirit:

East Germany's conditional agreement to permit West Berliners to visit friends and relatives on the East side of the Berlin wall during Christmas is seen as the result of economic pressures.

Trade between East and West Germany now amounts to about $220 million annually each way, a drop in the bucket to West Germany but vital for the East. It is based entirely on barter which the West Germans cut off at will whenever East German deliveries fall behind schedule. Recently, the West Germans indicated they might be prepared to grant the East German Communist regime long-term credits in exchange for an improvement in the lot of the East German people. Officially, the East Germans scoffed at the idea. However, the Red decision to let West Berliners visit East Berlin at Christmas may be the first down payment.

No Substitutes:

President Charles de Gaulle is said to have vetoed once and for all a plan to create a post of vice president to take over in the event that he should fall. De Gaulle reportedly told leaders of his ruling Gaullist political party (UNR) that he wouldn't know what to do with a vice president who would have no other function than to sit around waiting for him to die.

Johnson vs. De Gaulle:

De Gaulle can be expected to take his time about setting a date to meet with President Lyndon Johnson. Insiders say the crusty French leader wants to see first whether Johnson is likely to be as tough on such matters as nuclear sharing as the late President Kennedy was.

Common Market?

A showdown rapidly is approaching between France and West Germany on Common Market farm price policies. In the German view this could mean the downfall of the Common Market and, at least temporarily, the dream of a united Europe. The French are insistent that German farm subsidies be cut to the same level as that paid to French farmers, and that French agricultural products receive preference within the Common Market, composed of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. The Germans are resisting on both counts. Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's Christian Democrats drew their strongest support from German farmers.

Japanese Elections

Japanese Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's Liberal-Democratic party won a major victory in last month's elections, but there are indications that Ikeda may face a fight for his political life when the party holds its convention in July. The party is divided by factionalism and party rivals may be willing to blow it apart to prevent Ikeda's serving a third two-year term.

Wildcatters Bring in 13

AUSTIN (UPI) — Wildcatters had four oil and nine gas discoveries last week, the Texas Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The week's activity brought wildcatters' yearly totals to 306 oil and 617 gas finds, compared with 351 oil and 930 gas discoveries by this date last year.

Regular drillers reported 156 oil and 26 gas completions last week, bringing the year's totals to 7,622 oil and 2,280 gas wells, compared with 9,633 oil and 3,152 gas wells during the same period last year.

The oil discoveries were two each in the Houston and Corpus Christi districts.

There were four gas finds in the Houston district, three in the Corpus Christi District, and one each in the San Antonio and Kilgore Districts.

AFL Comes of Age With Balanced Race

By GARY KALE
UPI Sports Writer

The American Football League has finally come of age with the best-balanced two-division race in the brief history of the circuit.

In pivotal games among the leaders, the Boston Patriots capitalized on Oiler miscues to win 46-28, Sunday and go a game up on Houston in the Eastern Division.

The once thought of wide open Western Division scramble tightened to a near-breaking point as the Oakland Raiders surprised San Diego, 41-27, and moved to within a game of the leading Chargers.

Buffalo went into a second place tie with Houston by walloping New York, 45-14, and Kansas City trampled Denver, 52-21, in other Sunday encounters.

Boston may have ended Houston's three-year domination of the Eastern Division as it turned two fumbles and an intercepted pass into touchdowns.

The Pats now need a victory over Kansas City next Saturday to sew up their first conference championship.

Fumbles by Oiler rookie Bill Tobin in the first half enabled the boys from Beantown to pile up enough margin to salt away the game. Nick Buoniconti ran seven yards for a score on Tobin's first fumble and Boston went 63 yards on two plays after his second fumble. Quarterbacks Babe Parilli and Tom Yewcic took turns in tossing touchdown passes for Boston in the second period.

George Blanda set a league passing record when he completed 12 consecutive passes during the first half. His second half replacement, Jack Lee, tossed for one Houston TD, but had another pass intercepted by Bob Snel, who ran the theft back 32 yards for a score.

Oakland, tired of playing patry to San Diego, cracked a 10-game losing streak to the Chargers as Art Powell and Cotton Davidson led a 31 point fourth quarter raider rally.

Powell scored his second and third touchdowns of the game during the torrid final period as he latched on to Davidson touchdown passes of 10 and 40 yards. Davidson tallied from the nine on a fake pass play.

Tobin Rote bombed Oakland with three touchdowns passes as the Chargers generated a 27-10 lead going into the last 15 minutes and appeared to have their third Western title in the last four years.

Stage Desperate Comeback But they failed to reckon with a desperate back-to-the-wall Raider effort that emerged out of the gloom and rain that fell during the fourth period.

Buffalo retained its title chances as fullback Cookie Gilchrist set a league game rushing record of 243 yards and scored five touchdowns against New York to tie a record that is held jointly by Abner Haynes of Kansas City and Billy Cannon of Houston.

Daryle Lamonica, the rookie quarterback from Notre Dame making his first pro start, tossed a 23 yard pass to flanker Elbert Dubenion for the Bills' sixth TD of the game.

SWC Round-up

By United Press International
It looks like the defending champion Texas Longhorns are out to be the tiger in Southwest Conference basketball this year, if first week's play is any indication.

They were the only team to survive the week without a loss. The Steers knocked down Howard Payne 89-58, Texas Wesleyan 81-46 and Tulane 95-63.

Other important SWC victories came when Baylor whipped Arlington State 90-74 and Trinity 77-66 and when Texas A&M beat Houston 61-58.

Texas Tech showed up well, even though it lost 107-91 to Kentucky and 100-91 to Wyoming, because its two games were on the road and without the services of starter Sid Wall most of the time.

Southern Methodist was a disappointment for all those who think the Mustangs will be a challenger this year. The Mustangs dropped one to Vanderbilt 79-69 and another Louisiana State 66-62, but bounced back to whip Oklahoma 83-72.

Rice also lost to Vanderbilt 83-68 but came back to beat Tennessee 61-56 and LSU 87-72. Kendall Rhine had 41 points in the LSU game.

In other games, Arkansas lost to Missouri 76-74 and Kansas 73-60, while Texas Christian lost 96-70 to Oklahoma City and 77-72 to Centenary.

Rhine High Scorer Rhine came out on top of the scoring race for the week with an 87-point total. Harold Denney of Texas Tech was second with 63.

This week's action has Texas hosting LSU Monday and travelling to Oklahoma State Saturday; Rice hosting Tulane Monday, Florida State Wednesday, then travelling to Centenary Friday; SMU entertaining Oklahoma City Tuesday, then travelling to Iowa and Northwestern Thursday and Saturday.

Texas Tech plays at Nebraska and Kansas Monday and Tuesday and hosts Alabama Saturday; A&M goes on the road Tuesday and Wednesday to Utah State and Utah; Arkansas hosts Oklahoma A&M Monday and travels to Vanderbilt Saturday; Baylor entertains Southwest Texas Monday and plays Kentucky at Lexington Saturday, and TCU hosts Houston Monday, Florida State Thursday and Oklahoma City Saturday.

Brown's Gamble Sets Steelers Up for Giants

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

Ed Brown gambled and won. So next Sunday he and the Pittsburgh Steelers take on the New York Giants in a winner-take-all showdown to become eligible for the National Football League's $250,000 jackpot.

The Steelers were desperate Sunday. The clock showed less than five minutes to play and they trailed the Dallas Cowboys, 19-17. The Steelers were on their own 16-yard line on fourth down with 14 yards to go. It was now-or-else, Brown figured.

The cagey 34-year-old quarterback with 10 years of pro experience dropped back in punt formation. Instead of kicking, though, Brown passed the ball to Red Mack for a 42-yard gain. Six plays later, Theron Sapp broke up the middle 24 yards for a touchdown that gave the Steelers a 24-19 win and kept their hopes alive for the first Eastern Division title in the history of the franchise.

Lions Upset Browns Actually, it was the Detroit Lions' 38-10 upset victory over the Cleveland Browns that made next Sunday's game in New York a winner-take-all affair between the Steelers and Giants. The combination of Detroit and Pittsburgh, Browns and St. Louis Cardinals from the Eastern race. Here is how it works out:

The Baltimore Colts defeated the Minnesota Vikings, 41-10 in Sunday's other game.

The Steelers overcame an early 9-0 deficit Sunday with the help of Brown's second-period touchdown passes to Buddy Dial and Preston Carpenter, but fell behind 19-17 on Sam Baker's 46-yard field goal and a four-yard touchdown run by Don Meredith in the third period.

Brown's gamble gave the Steelers new life in the final period and Sapp scored his winning touchdown with only 1:53 left on the clock.

Extend Jinx Detroit extended its jinx over Cleveland, exploding for 17 points in the third period and holding Jimmy Brown to a total of 61 rushing yards in 13 carries. The Browns never have won in Detroit and have won only one of 10 regular or past-season games with the Lions.

Earl Morrall threw touchdown passes of 75 yards to Terry Barr and 29 yards to Gail Cogdill. The throw to Cogdill touched off the third-period spurt that widened Detroit's 14-10 halftime lead. Defensive end Darris McCord fell on a Frank Ryan fumble in the end zone for another Lions touchdown in that quarter.

The Giants' brilliant defense intercepted seven passes, recovered three Washington fumbles, and scored three touchdowns. Dick Lynch and Sam Huff ran back interceptions 42 and 38 yards to touchdowns and Jim Katcavage scooped up a Norm Snead fumble and ran 10 yards to another score.

Lynch's TD run with an interception was a record third for a season.

Y. A. Tittle threw a pair of touchdown passes and tied his own single-season record of 33 set in 1962. The total of 11 pass interceptions by both teams in this game also tied an NFL mark.

Avenge Defeat Willie Galimore broke loose for a 51-yard run on the Bears' first offensive play and they breezed to victory over San Francisco, avenging their only defeat this season. The alert Chicago defense recovered four San Francisco fumbles and intercepted four passes, Roosevelt Taylor running back one of these 30 yards to a touchdown.

At St. Louis, Charley Johnson completed four touchdowns and gained 315 air yards against the Eagles. Bobby Joe Conrad caught the last two TD tosses. Tim Brown carried for both Eagles scores.

Johnny Unitas had another productive afternoon, passing for three touchdowns in a 34-7 aerial barrage against the Vikings. John Mackey caught two of these scoring passes as Unitas set a club record of 3,158 air yards for a season.

In Saturday's game, Bart Starr threw TD passes of 25, 16 and 13 yards to Max McGee as Green Bay rallied from a 14-10 halftime deficit to beat the Rams.

No Defending HS Grid Champs Left

By United Press International
Texas schoolboy football goes into semifinals this week without a defending champion left in the race, the last one having been eliminated in quarterfinals last week.

Class AAA Dumas was thumbed out of contention 13-0 by the Graham Steers, ruining Dumas' hopes for an unequalled third straight championship. San Angelo of Class AAAA was dumped by Amarillo Tascosa and No. 2 ranked Sinton of Class AA was knocked out by Missouri City Dules.

These results along with those of the 13 other semifinals games left this lineup of survivors: AAAA—Amarillo Tascosa vs. Garland and Spring Branch vs. Corpus Christi Miller.

AAA—Graham vs. Corsicana and La Marque vs. Pharr-San Juan-Alamo.

AA—Dalhart vs. Rockwall and Hallsville vs. Dulles.

A—Petersburg vs. Albany and Hallsville vs. George West.

Three of the teams rated No. 1 in the final United Press International weekly schoolboy rankings were among the survivors—Spring Branch, Dalhart and Albany. Dumas was the AAA victor.

Corsicana, La Marque and Dalhart boast the only undefeated records left in the race, while Garland, Petersburg and Hallsville have been tied once. Tascosa and Spring Branch twice and Pharr - San Juan-Alamo three times with-out-tasting defeat.

Spring Branch, oddly enough, was tied by the same club (Pasadena) and by the same score (14-14) both times, slipping into the semi-finals by the penetration route.

Tascosa also got there by the same method in a 13-13 tie with San Angelo, while Pharr-San Juan-Alamo made the grade with a 17-13 edge in first downs in a 20-20 tie with previously undefeated-untied Gonzales.

Garland, which has emerged as the new title favorite, whipped Fort Worth Paschal 34-0 last week to go with a 58-14 romp over Texarkana in the first round.

Miller won its spot opposite Spring Branch with a 21-19 margin over San Antonio Lee.

Corsicana slipped past McKinney 14-7 and La Marque beat Conroe 21-14 to earn berths in the round of four.

Dalhart romped past Crane AA 5-0. Dalhart romped past Crane AA 5-0. Dalhart romped past Crane AA 5-0.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lineman of the year Scott Appleton is delighted over the prospect of playing professional football in Texas next season, but he won't disclose with whom he'll sign.

Appleton, a 6-foot-3, 235-pound bulwark of the national champion Texas line, won a landslide victory as the United Press International's 1963 lineman of the year.

The Texas mountain of strength received 101 of a possible 277 votes in a nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters to beat out center Dick Butkus of Illinois, who was named on 55 ballots.

Both the Dallas Cowboys of the National League and the Houston Oilers of the American League made Appleton their first draft choices.

"That's great," Appleton grinned when he heard the details. "I'm very glad to stay in Texas."

Appleton, however, can't be signed by the pros until after Texas' Cotton Bowl game on New Year's Day, or else he forfeits his right to play as an amateur in the classic.

Bob Brown, a Nebraska guard, trailed Appleton and Butkus in the polling, drawing 31 votes. Minnesota tackle Carl Eller was fourth with 27 and Vern Burke, a record-breaking Oregon State end was fifth with 18.

Ernie Borghetti, Pittsburgh tackle; Jim Kelly, Notre Dame end and Ralph Neely, Oklahoma tackle each was named on three ballots.

Sporting Sidelines

by JEFF COHANE

COLLEGE FOOTBALL scouts are starting to descend on the Panhandle in great numbers. Most of the Southwest Conference coaches can't do more than just say hello to the coaches, as most of the athletes are competing in basketball, but they will be back. Among those flitting by have been famed recruiter Willie Zapalac of UT, as well as bird dogs from TCU, Oklahoma State, etc. Good friend Melvin Brown of the University of Houston spent a week down here, plus a quick flying trip by head coach Bill Yocman.

Prizes sought by the Cougars and other schools are, of course, Kenny Hebert of Pampa as number one target, with Gray Benson of Shamrock number two. Other Top O' Texas athletes high on the list include Ricky Goodwin of Pampa, Phil Woodring and Don McCool of Jeters, Neil Rogers and Mendall Hunter of Wheeler, Keith Yarnold of Canadian, Roy Corcoran of Mobeetie, Dan Craig and Big Jerry Quirk of Groom and Bob Jett of McLean. Big Bob, incidentally, had been a somewhat overlooked at first, but after making the Fort Worth Star-Telegram All-State team, the colleges were recommended him to have been slightly swamped by a host of newcomers.

Among those high on the list of futures are Dickie Crockett of McLean, Dunk Porter of Wheeler, Richard Campbell of Matador, Tom Sawyer of Plainview and a number of other promising sophomores and juniors. Along the way, each of the coaches is trying to help his school's athletic program along with a stab at cager Derrick Welch of McLean and volleyball champion Lightning Coleman of Jeters.

Coach Brown, on his visits around the area, dropped up to see some of the fine flesh in the Tascosa forward wall. When he asked his opinion of Pat Harkins, his reply was "a good little quarterback." His opinion was that Harkins was definitely not in the class of Hebert, Greg Lott of Lubbock or Sawyer.

A certain area coach, who shall be nameless, has been trying to dissuade us from recommending one of his football players, mainly on the grounds of poor grades. Investigation shows the player in question to be a capable student, which comes to the conclusion that there is an odoriferous olfactory odor in the nordic regions. Could it be that said coach is trying to hide said boy for his own college?

A WILD AND HECTIC week-end of basketball tournaments. With nine area schools involved in tourneys, plus B teams, junior highs and what-have-you, it gets a little involved. After seeing 20 or 30 basketball games this past week, running from Perryton to Plainview to Miami, the O' Swami will be glad to get back to football prognostications.

Speaking of football, the final meeting for the season of the Pampa Quarterback Club will be held at 7:30 tomorrow night at the PHS cafeteria. The meeting will be to set the football banquet date and also to elect a slate of officers for the forthcoming year. A good crowd can mean a good election, so if you OR clubbers want some good representation next year, get out and set the votes out tomorrow night.

Grady Burnett, the old hand fox of Wheeler, was in to inform us that our charming presence and big mouth were desired at Wheeler's football banquet Saturday night. And we thought we could go tieless for the rest of the year!

Dumas' long streak of wins has finally been broken. Although the indications were there, the rough time the Demons had in bi-district, it came as a distinct shock to those of us who thought that, like O' Man River, Dumas would just keep rollin' forever! Tascosa won the hard way, by penetrations, and Pasadena lost the same way. With San Angelo out, anything can happen in 4-A.

Garland is not to be overlooked, but we still like Spring Branch, if they can get by CC Miller.

JACK JAMES of Clarendon is in a funny situation. The Broncho football mentor called it quits last season and intended to head into the insurance business. However, it seems that Clarendon had no one to take over the job of basketball coach, so Jack was literally recalled to active duty. Actually, knowing Jack, we feel that it will not be long before he is back in the head-knocking game again, that kind of guy just can't stay away from sports!

A very interesting conversation with a basketball official at one of the tournaments. Said official was one of the football flag wavers at the Borser-Pampa game. He admitted that it was obvious that the Borser player who was thrown out of the game for slugging was after Kenny Hebert, and that he suggested Kenny first. The official said, however, that he saw Kenny retaliate with what looked to him like an illegal blow, and that according to the rules, he had no option but to throw them both out. The official definitely admitted that Borger had 12 men on the field when they kicked a key extra point and that Pampa coach Otis Holladay's protest was justified. However, he said, it was just one of these cases where the officials made a mistake... they didn't catch it in time and it was too late to do anything about it afterward. All officials in the game were uttering heartfelt prayers that the kick would not be the difference in the ball game, which it almost was.

Towering Wilt Chamberlain lived up to his reputation as a poor shooter from the foul line in the Lakers-Warriors game Sunday night—until the last five seconds.

Chamberlain, although connecting on 13 field goals, had only made 3 of 12 free throw attempts. But with the game tied at 112-112 and five seconds remaining to play Wilt calmly dropped in two points for a 114-112 win for San Francisco over Los Angeles.

The Philadelphia 76ers defeated the Cincinnati Royals 126-116 in the only other National Basketball Association game Sunday night as rugged center John Kerr of the 76ers surpassed the 10,000-point mark in his 10-year NBA career. The 6-foot-9 Kerr poured in 33 points for the night.

In the only NBA game scheduled for tonight, the Lakers and the Baltimore Bullets meet in Seattle, Wash.

The Warriors and Chamberlain started slowly against the Lakers. Wilt was held scoreless for the first 18 minutes of play and the Warriors were behind 37-40 at the half. But Chamberlain warmed to the task, ending up with 31 points and aided by John Hightower's 29.

Elgin Baylor of the Lakers led both teams with 32 points. Jerry West added 27 and Dick Barnett 23.

In the game at Cincinnati, Kerr reached his milestone of 10,000 points with a short jump shot late in the second period.

Hal Greer, hitting on long shots, aided Kerr with 30 points. Oscar Robertson of the Royals had 32 points and Jerry Lucas 25.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

'Part-Time Keynesians'

Sir Maynard Keynes will probably be remembered a thousand years from now as the economist who invented pump priming.

Whether the invention should be credited to him is a moot point, for the idea is not exactly original with him.

Nonetheless, this is the general theory of the "General Theory" and if the pending tax cut in Congress is consummated there is going to be quite an opportunity to check theories in the results to be obtained.

Now, the present administration, which is highly favorable to Keynes, is contending that the tax cut, which will result in approximately $8.7 billion less flowing into government coffers, will result in "pump priming" of the "private sector."

There's nothing wrong with this, so far as it goes. If taxes are reduced by $8.7 billion, then it will follow that that $8.7 billion will remain in private hands.

But correlative to this worthy objective is the equally obvious fact that government does not pretend to be in a mood to cut its costs. Therefore, the government is going to run short of its budget by $8.7 billion MORE than it would have run short in any case.

The question to be asked is this: Is the government going to propose a non-payment of its bills? We haven't seen this advocated. But the question is a logical one.

The government has been running into debt at the fantastic rate of better than a billion a year, anyhow. Some years it has plunged into new debt by $7 or $8 billion. But there is little evidence that the government has refused to pay bills when presented.

Thus, in order to pay current expenses and to keep up with its gargantuan giveaway programs, government goes into debt in increasing amounts which now, as we know, total more than $300 billion.

Now, if the government did not pay its bills when it has no money to pay them, it would follow that less money would be spent by the government. But since the government, presumably, plans to pay its bills when presented, and since the amount of these bills is not to be reduced but rather to be expanded, then the government must intend borrowing additional billions to pay for these billed items.

Without getting involved in the complicated processes by means of which this is accomplished, the end result can simply be classified as an INCREASE IN THE NUMBER OF DOLLARS IN CIRCULATION. That is, the government, letting up on its tax-grabbing arm, will turn around and put new money on its money-creation arm. It will print new money and put it in circulation.

We can, indeed, anticipate something close to $10 billion in new money to be put into the money stream.

But any study of the purchasing power of money tends to show that the total number of dollars in circulation tends to equal the total value of goods and services available at that time for those dollars. Thus, a $10 billion increase in the number of dollars, other things being equal, will result in a $10 billion LOSS of purchasing power for all dollars in circulation prior to the $10 billion increase in circulation.

Thus, though the "private sector" can rightfully anticipate a direct saving to it of some $8.7 billion, every dollar that it retains can be confidently predicted to be worth less in exchange. The end result is going to be that when the additional billions are all spent, the new amount of purchases will be the same as would have been true before.

In simple terms, we will all have to spend more money in order to stay where we were before the "saving" occurred. And just how this process is going to "prime the pump" is a little doubtful.

It is safe to say that the tax cut, if passed, will result in another major round of inflation. Prices will rise, money will be devalued again by some degree, and the thrifty, the industrious and those on fixed incomes will all be injured to the degree of the devaluation.

Needed: More Risk-Takers

This country needs more risk-takers, large and small. And they, in turn, need more incentives and fewer restrictions from the government.

That is the point — and a vital point it is — made in an article by Henry Hazlitt that appeared in Newsweek some little time back.

Mr. Hazlitt's piece was aptly entitled "Where Jobs Come From". And he exploded the persistent myth that American business is dominated by a few great corporations. Small businesses — small risk-takers of every conceivable kind — make major contributions to employment. And it is the small operator, with limited resources, who has the most to fear from governmental laws, policies and actions which discourage profits and growth.

As Mr. Hazlitt plainly puts it, "Employees can have well-paying jobs and maximum employment only if employers and risk-takers have adequate incentives." This is something that the powers-that-be in Washington, for all of their words, don't seem to have yet learned.

PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Extension and expansion of housing legislation is one of the major new problems — not a hold-over from this year — that Congress will have to deal with in 1964.

Public housing and urban renewal sections of the $6 billion omnibus housing bill passed by Congress in 1961 will expire next year.

College housing will have one more year to run, and the veterans' direct home loan provision has two more years. But there are a number of new housing problems to face.

The National Association of Home Builders estimates there will be 862,000 new families formed in each of the next three years, rising to over a million a year from 1967 to 1970.

The increase in the number of 20-to-22 year-olds in the last four years of this decade is expected to create a new high demand in multifamily retail units. This demand has been increasing since 1960, reducing single-family home ownership proportionately.

All these changing factors force housing experts to do some pretty sharp calculating on the volume of construction to prepare for in the next few years.

Housing and Home Finance Administrator Robert C. Weaver probably will release the government's official estimates early in December.

F. W. Dodge Corp. already has made its prediction of a 2.1 per cent increase in housing construction volume to a $20.25 billion total for 1964.

A survey for the National Lumber Manufacturers Assn. predicts about 155 million new housing starts for this year and next.

Two-thirds of this new housing is expected to be built in five areas of population concentration. They are the Boston-New York to Washington "Megapolis," Central Great Lakes from Buffalo to Milwaukee, California, "metropolitan" Texas and Florida.

Atlanta, Phoenix, Denver, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Seattle are other areas picked for major population and housing growth.

Making a survey on existing U.S. housing — the base for all the new construction — Department of Agriculture's annual Outlook Conference in Washington has turned up much interesting data.

Of the 58 million occupied housing units reported by the 1960 census, one-fourth had been built during the preceding 10 years.

Another fourth were reported structurally unsound and lacking in essential facilities. A fifth of these units — 5 per cent of the total — were classed as dilapidated.

It was so bad that these units should be torn down or extensively rebuilt. This is where the government's urban renewal and rural development programs find their major work to do.

The number of occupied housing units in 1960 was 23 per cent greater than in 1950, although the population increased only 20 per cent in this decade.

One surprise finding is that 21 per cent of rented and 9 per cent of owner-occupied housing sheltered a person living alone. Half of these people were over 60 years of age. This is where part of the demand for special housing for the aged comes from.

Nearly two-thirds of America's housing units are owner-occupied. But 60 per cent of them were mortgaged and 9 out of 10 had been mortgaged since 1950.

Farm housing and rural non-farm housing have shown great improvement in the last decade. Twenty years ago only 15 per cent of rural housing boasted mechanical refrigerators. Today practically every farm house has one.

Seventy-five per cent have running water, 62 per cent have flush toilets, and more than 50 per cent have freezers and other appliances.

Farmers Home Administration loans are responsible for much of this new construction and modernization. For the year ending last June 30, FHA made 20,000 housing loans for a total of $186 million.

But the rural South still presents the greatest problems in housing, since 40 per cent of all farm homes are found in that area and many of them are classed as dilapidated.

WHAT DIFFERENCE?

Names of Politicians Are Not Important

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

A few days ago a reader of the daily newspapers in which my column appears scolded me for my reluctance to mention the names of politicians. She wrote, "Why not name the names so I'll know which name to be mad at?" I'll try to answer that question because I believe it's important and because it is indicative of a frame of mind that got me into a lot of trouble.

After writing a political action column for a few years, I discovered something which amazed me. It makes no difference which politician violates what principle in which I believe. Then I began to understand why no politician really wants to reduce the size and cost and power of the government of which he is a part. At this point, I began to understand that every public office holder must be involved with some action which is designed to control me at my expense and for his support, and about that time I realized that every politician and public office holder is on one side of a fence and I am, inevitably, on the other. The name of the person who tries to control me at my expense and for his or her benefit and support is of absolutely no consequence.

So, when I say I have instituted a personal and social and political boycott against every political figure, this obviously includes anybody who decides to try to become a part of government. There's no point in asking me if I think Joe would be a better president than Pete because I prefer to govern myself. I will not make a choice between chickenpox and measles because I prefer to remain healthy and must devote my energy towards that end. If you tell me I MUST make a choice between chickenpox and measles, I will suggest that you take a running jump at the moon, because I'm busy.

In the early months of 1960 I was completely involved in a political campaign. The candidate had discussed his political beliefs with me for a couple of years and we both wanted the size and cost and power of government drastically reduced. By the end of that campaign I realized we had selected the correct direction but that the method being used by those we believe to be the absolute enemies of our freedom.

This brought a vital point into sharp focus. For years I had inwardly cringed every time a political figure said, "Our side holds the balance of power. We must unite and exert this power for the good of all mankind." Yes, I cringed and I wrote violently against those who were plagued by a positive lust to hold power over me, but I wanted others to gain power over those whose power I feared. It just didn't make sense, nor does it!

So you see, Mrs. J. B. S., it doesn't matter which politician you name. If he seeks public office, he seeks power over others. If he does not seek public office, he cannot use the horrible force of government to achieve power over me. Sure, any human being afflicted by delusions of grandeur and a lust for power may attempt to control and enslave me but without the aggressive force of government backing that person up, I've got a chance.

No, Ma'am. The Constitution does not protect me. It has not protected me. Look at it for yourself. The Constitution provided a method of amending the Constitution. The 18th Amendment states, "The Congress shall have the power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states and without regard to any census or enumeration."

This amendment makes it possible for Congress to tax 100 per cent of my income regardless of the source from which my income may be derived and do you know something else, Ma'am? I have no interest in the names of the power-hungry politicians who voted for the amendment because I fully understand that every politician must be hungry for power over others. But let's go with this all the way, I do not seek power to control those who hold this power over my head. I just want to get them off my back, I'll not bother with their names. Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "Do private vices make public benefits?"

ANSWER: Early in the 18th Century Bernard De Mandeville wrote a book called, "Private Vices Made Public Benefits Or Fable of the Bees." It was his contention that the rich wasting their wealth benefited the poor, that it made jobs. At that time about the only rich people were those connected with the government and about all they had to do was have big dances and other entertainment in their homes. This entertaining of a large group of people, of course, employed a lot of help and consumed a lot of food, linen, and other things.

At that time of course, there was not much else the rich could do but to entertain because the Industrial Revolution had not produced the myriad of things that people now enjoy. Such as, refrigerators, radios, televisions, automobiles, telephones, and transportation. Thus about the only way they could spend their wealth and distribute it was in entertaining.

Now, however, it is quite different. No one has all his wants satisfied. If he has his physical wants satisfied, he knows that if he invests his capital, his savings, in tools that furnish jobs and reduce the cost of living and make more comforts available to mankind in general, he gets a spiritual enjoyment out of being useful to his fellow man. It is a real form of love, a real form of charity. So now it is hard to conceive how private vices can make public benefits. Private vices or waste, now just keep people poor. It is entirely different.

Pareto, the great Italian philosopher, says society is like a pyramid of sand. The higher you let those people with ideas and capital rise, the wider the base will be, the more people that can live, and the more people can live in comfort because people are freed to accumulate capital and tools and reinvest it for things and research that harnesses the forces of nature and makes them useful for health, enjoyment and good will.

LBJ May Have to Review Judgeships

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson may have to review two controversial judgeship appointments which he inherited from his predecessor in the White House. The nominations, submitted by President Kennedy, are pending in a Senate judiciary subcommittee. Appointees are Detroit Police Commissioner George C. Edwards Jr. to the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati, and David Rabinowitz of Sheboygan, Wis., to be a federal judge in the Western Wisconsin district.

Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., told newsmen after a 30-minute subcommittee meeting Thursday that he hoped to submit a report to the full Judiciary Committee on the two appointments before Congress quits about Dec. 20. Senate sponsors of the two nominations were said to be confident that the nominations will get committee approval before Congress quits. But the Senate itself still would have to act. Last-minute approval has sometimes been given in the Senate to nominations which have been hung up for long periods.

Space Project Now Under Way

WARREN, R.I. (UPI) — A federally supported program designed to set a pattern for adult education in space exploration began here recently. The pilot project, entitled "Mankind and Space," is sponsored jointly by the State Department of Education and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) in cooperation with the Warren School Department.

This is one of the first space education programs for adults in the nation to which NASA is giving financial and technical support.

The program is designed to attract adults with a wide variety of educational backgrounds and increase their knowledge in a new area of 20th century living.

"One of the purposes of adult education," said Commissioner of Education Edward P. Robinson Jr. "is to provide the adults in our society with the opportunity to keep abreast of developments that are taking place in a rapidly changing world."

He said the need is greatest in the field of science where the information a person acquires during his formal education becomes obsolete almost before he leaves school.

Plans for the program began early this year when the NASA approved a $2,500 state-requested grant to make non-technical information about space exploration available to adults.

The grant is being used to pay instructors, support an advisory committee and purchase teaching materials.

Each lecture is tape-recorded and a copy of each instructor's material is kept on file. At the end of the 10-week program, the course information will be compiled and sent to NASA.
