

Canadian River Project Passes Halfway Mark

By TEX DEWESE
The Canadian River dam northwest of Borger will begin "cutting" water in the spring of 1965. The 300-mile aqueduct system should be finished in 1967 and, after a complete inspection of the entire project, first water should be delivered to consumers in the 11 participating CRMWA cities in 1968. This was the statement made in Borger Monday by Leon J. Hill, regional director of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation and C. O. Crane, project engineer, following a tour of the dam site and the December luncheon meeting of CRMWA directors at Borger Country Club.

Hill and Crane both made the prediction with the reservation that progress of the $90-million project should proceed on that basis if contractors are able to maintain their present schedule. Crane said the actual work at the dam site now is 54 percent completed in 52 percent of the time schedule.

While work progresses at the dam, aqueduct installations have been started to Amarillo and south on the way to Lubbock. Officials stated that the Borger-Pampa aqueduct line is under contract for completion late in 1964. Fred Thompson and Clinton Evans, Pampa's directors on the CRMWA board, were among 13 of the 18 board members who attended yesterday afternoon's meeting along with mayors, city managers, city commissioners, city engineers and other officials from the participating cities on the north and south plains.

Possible location of general headquarters offices for the dam came in for lengthy discussion when the matter was brought up on the agenda by George Finger of Borger, CRMWA president.

Several locations were suggested including a point near the dam where the present project central office is located, a point between the first two pumping stations on the aqueduct line from the dam to Borger, and a point just north of Amarillo.

The discussion on site location was ended for the time being when Director Thompson of Pampa moved that the board not take action until recommendations are received from the Bureau of Reclamation. These would include the bureau's opinion of needed staff personnel as well as location of the dam site headquarters. Thompson's motion was seconded and carried unanimously.

There also was discussion of selection of a project manager. President Finger was asked to name a committee to study requirements and qualifications of possible selections for the post. It also was suggested that the manager at the dam and reservoir probably should take over his duties in November of 1964, depending upon project progress.

Directors and other officials were taken on a tour of the dam site in a project bus. A guide explained various installations and outlined many construction details. At one point the group left the bus and walked into an aqueduct tunnel for 800 feet. They watched giant earth diggers remove and dump dirt into huge trucks at the rate of 50 to 60 tons a minute.

SEARCH FOR VICTIMS — Firemen and Maryland state troopers dig through the wreckage of a Pan American 707 that crashed near Elkton, Md., carrying 82 persons to their death. Witnesses said the huge plane, en route from Puerto Rico to Philadelphia, was apparently hit by lightning and turned into a ball of fire as it approached Philadelphia on instruments.

12 Teams Seek 'Why' Of Crash

By JOHN KADY

ELKTON, Md. (UPI) — Investigators turned today from the "what happened" to the "how did it happen" phase of Sunday night's crash of a Pan American World Airways Boeing 707.

Twelve teams of experts sifted through the twisted residue of tragedy, identified various parts, photographed the wreckage distribution pattern, interviewed eyewitnesses, delved into the background of both crew and passengers, checked the maintenance history of the plane involved and the complete story of its last flight—Number 214 from San Juan, P.R., to Philadelphia via Baltimore.

The unhappy part of their job was done—removing what was left of 81 bodies to a makeshift morgue in the Elkton armory.

What lay ahead was weeks and possibly months of probing for the reason why. The basic clues on hand included:

Lightning Strike Possible—Numerous eyewitness accounts insisting that lightning hit the giant jet when it was in a holding pattern over New Castle, Del., at 5,000 feet, followed by one or possibly two explosions.

Turbulence, reported to be severe by other airline pilots flying in the area at the time of the crash.

The tape-recorded, dramatically calm message from the Pan American pilot who told the Philadelphia approach control center: "Clipper 214 out of control... down we go... Clipper 214 going down in flames."

The plane's flight recorder, found badly dented, but which may reveal data as to the jet's final moments, the stresses it encountered and its death-throes maneuvers.

Busy Getting Facts—Traditionally tight-lipped Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) investigators offered no speculation and no theories. They were too busy getting at the facts to indulge in guessing games, but all concerned with the investigation privately remained skeptical about the lightning theory—mainly because never in the history of modern aviation has a lightning bolt destroyed an airliner. A static discharge explosion was another possibility, but one considered unlikely.

Sabotage was not ruled out, although one top CAB official said there was no indication as yet that a bomb may have blown up the giant $7 million jet.

Turbulence was a prime suspect, although the 707 and other jets like the DC8 and 880-990 series are the most powerfully built transports ever designed. The concern in this area centered around the known tendency of swept-back airliners to stall when they encounter control difficulties in extreme turbulence.

Freeman Says LBJ to Back Farm Program

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman predicted Monday that President Johnson will vigorously continue the Kennedy farm program and Congress will approve a new wheat plan.

Freeman was the keynote speaker at the opening session of the 59th annual Convention of the Oklahoma Farmers Union. More than 1,000 delegates and members are attending the three-day meeting.

"I talked with President Johnson last week," Freeman said, "and he indicated then his strong feelings that a wheat program will be necessary. He said the program must be one that Congress will pass... that it must keep costs in line and bring surpluses down."

Referring to the Agriculture Department's program of the past three years, Freeman said, "this is the emerging program of President Kennedy which will be carried out vigorously under President Johnson."

Freeman said agriculture experts estimate that net farm income next year will be down some $600 million, mostly because of lower wheat prices resulting from the decision made in the referendum last May.

Oswald's Wife Baptized Baby

LBJ Says U.S. Could Survive Surprise Attack

Tax Cut Measure Nears Panel Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee takes testimony from Chairman William McClesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board, presumably the last public witness on the $11 billion tax cut bill.

Passed by the House, the bill would provide an across-the-board tax cut beginning Jan. 1. The cut would affect about 51 million taxpayers and 576,000 corporations.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., asked that Martin be called. He said it was not clear what the effect would be if expanding business and the government—which must finance its deficits—find themselves competing for money in the same credit market.

The 17-member finance committee will meet in closed session after Martin testifies to begin voting on more than 25 pending amendments to the bill. Other congressional news: Economy: House Republicans claimed today to have helped save $7.5 billion this year. They promised to look for even bigger savings next year. Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio, chairman of the so-called economy task force, said that Republicans were "chided" when they announced in January that they planned to seek appropriations cuts. He said that while not all money bills for the current 12 months have been acted on, bills approved by the House so far have been trimmed $5.4 billion. When all have been passed, Bow said the cuts would reach $7.5 billion.

AID: Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., sought Senate support for a last-ditch effort to send the compromise foreign aid bill back to conference. The $3.6 billion authorization bill was passed by the House Monday on a narrow 195 to 164 vote. Morse said the bill had been "guttured" of Senate-approved policy restrictions by the conferees.

Strength Compared To Soviet's

By ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson assured congressional leaders today that the United States has the military strength to survive a surprise attack and destroy any aggressor.

Johnson made the statement at a briefing of top leaders—both Democratic and Republican—of the House and Senate on the relative strength of U.S. and Soviet military forces.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Central Intelligence Director John McCone participated in the hour-long briefing in the cabinet room of the White House.

Afterward, the White House issued only a brief statement about the meeting. It said: "The discussion covered both the status as of today and as it is forecasted to be through the decade of the '60s."

"The President emphasized that the U.S. military program will continue to provide for a strategic force sufficiently large to absorb a surprise attack and survive with sufficient power to be capable of destroying the aggressor."

Today's briefing was reported to be one more step in Johnson's efforts to keep key congressional figures "fully informed."

The session was similar to a briefing given at the National Security Council meeting last week. It covered both conventional and nuclear forces.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger noted that members of Congress have re-

Petitioners Want City to Delay Gas Rate Increase

Petitions carrying approximately 473 signatures were presented to the city commission today asking that action on an ordinance granting a 10 percent rate increase to Pioneer Natural Gas Co. be held up until the issue is decided by a vote of the people or legal contest by the City of Pampa.

The petitions were presented by Commissioner L. P. Fort. They were filed with the city secretary who was instructed to check validity of the signatures. Three hundred and sixty signatures were required on the matter.

City Manager Harold Schmitzer and City Attorney Bob Gordon also were asked to study legality of the petitions.

A gas rate increase ordinance, up for third and final reading, was sidetracked until the petitions are checked.

Second reading of an ordinance closing 1st St. to vehicular traffic was approved by a 3 to 2 vote. Mayor H. R. Thompson, Commissioners Jim Nation and MacField McDaniel voted for the bill and Commissioner L. P. Fort and Leon Holmes voted against it.

Former Mayor E. C. Sidwell told the commission last week legal action would be taken to stop the street closing if the commission finally passed the legislation.

A letter from H. O. Darby, owner of the Pampa Foundry who had requested the street closing so he could expand his plant, was read by Mayor Thompson.

The letter contained approximately 60 names of South Side businessmen and industrial operators whom, the letter stated, had no objection to the closing of the street and rerouting traffic over a another street.

Mayor Thompson and Commissioner Nation stated it appeared to them, in effect, that "only one man is opposing the street closing and everybody else is for it."

A petition was presented from colored residents asking that the street be closed to save the jobs of colored employes working at the foundry.

Commissioner Fort said he was opposed to the ordinance because he didn't like to see the city involved in the expense of a long, drawn out lawsuit. Commissioner Holmes voiced somewhat the same opinion when he asked if anyone knew what it would cost the taxpayers to defend legal action against closing the street.

Holmes also wanted to know if City Manager Schmitzer had recommended closing the street. The city manager said he had not made any recommendation and thought it was a matter for the commission to decide.

Bill Watson spoke from the audience and said he thought, not as a matter of principle but of expediency, that the commission should vote unanimously. (See PETITIONS, Page 3)

Wintry Blast Invades State

Weather warnings have been issued to stockmen within the Pampa area as well as to those throughout the state. Pampa can expect rain mixed with snow by this afternoon and more snow is predicted for tonight. Winds will increase to 30 or 40 m.p.h.

Pampa can prepare for winter weather for the next two or three days. A cold front moved into the area about 5 a.m. causing a sudden four degree drop in temperature.

The temperature tonight will be in the upper teens. The high today will not be over 30.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States announced plans today to launch a manned orbiting laboratory into space in 1967 or early 1968. The program will be under Air Force control.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced the project at a surprise news conference. He also confirmed that the Air Force's Dyna Soar manned spacecraft project will be cancelled as of Dec. 15.

Known as MOL the manned orbiting laboratory will be "the size of a small house trailer," McNamara said. It was described as an expanded effort to learn the military usefulness of men in space.

Officials Indicted in Indianapolis Blast

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — A grand jury indicted the state fire marshal, the Indianapolis fire chief and five other persons Monday and charged that "utter disregard of duty by many" contributed to a Halloween explosion here that killed 72 persons.

"No one seemed willing to carefully inspect the premises and protect the safety and welfare of the some 3,000,000 people who have entered the building during the past 10 years," the grand jury said in an accompanying 21 page report.

It called for a special session of the legislature "to completely overhaul" the department of the state fire marshal, "or abolish it entirely." The strongly worded report and the indictments came after a weeks-long investigation into the blast that shook the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum on Oct. 31 as an ice show was nearing its climax. More than 300 persons were injured.

The seven persons indicted were scheduled for arraignment Dec. 20.

Fire Marshal Ira Anderson, 68, was indicted on two counts of failure to inspect the Coliseum.

Melvin Ross, head of the Indianapolis Coliseum Corp., which holds a contract to operate the Coliseum was indicted on an involuntary manslaughter charge. The same charge was returned against Floyd James, commissary manager.

Bank Robbers Found In Kidnaping Search

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI) — Police officials in two states today turned their attention from six heavily armed bank robbers suspects to the snow-covered Sierra in their search for Frank Sinatra Jr., who was kidnaped at gunpoint from his motel room at this Lake Tahoe gambling center.

The suspected bank robbers were seized with a small arsenal 20 miles from the kidnap scene in California Monday. Authorities at first indicated the six might be connected with the kidnaping.

But late Monday night the FBI said the only eyewitness to the abduction, Sinatra's roommate, was unable to make "a positive identification of any of the six men."

The development apparently left police without a major clue to the kidnaping. Officials repeatedly refused to answer newsmen's questions, deepening the mystery that surrounds the

Tips Suggested To Aid Children In Handwriting

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist
Research shows that children's problems in handwriting usually occur with a few rather than many letters.

Parents can help by encouraging their children to practice. Don't make a big issue of handwriting but do make your child aware of its importance.

Q. My third grade child is learning regular writing and is having difficulty. His work is not neat and his letter formation is poor. How can I help him?

A. The first step is to talk with the teacher. If your child has poor coordination and has not developed the necessary muscular control, it would be best to delay changing to cursive (regular) writing. If this is not the case, there are three major things which must be learned. In cursive writing the letters are slanted as is the paper. There are various new letter forms which must be learned. In addition, the child must learn to make connecting strokes between letters.

You should find out the letter forms which are being taught in school. These vary slightly, and you do not want to confuse the child. A reasonable amount of practice is essential. Perhaps you could encourage the writing of notes and letters to friends and relatives. Also remember that manuscript (printing) writing is a useful form and should be maintained.

Q. My son, John, is in the second grade. He still prints instead of writing. When should he learn to use regular writing?

A. Cursive (regular) writing is generally introduced in the third grade. Some schools may start at the end of the second grade while others may wait until the intermediate grades. It is not advisable to rush the change from manuscript (printing). Some of the indications that a child is ready to make the change are: his own desire to change; his ability to print all the letters properly; his ability to read cursive writing; his ability to copy printing properly and with reasonable speed. Usually a child has acquired the muscular control to make the change in about the third grade. Regardless of when it is taught, don't expect too high a standard for many years. The ability to write actually continues to grow until one reaches adulthood when all the muscular skills have fully developed.

Oil Import Restriction Upheld by US Official

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—A Federal Oil official told oilmen from 33 states Monday the nation's mandatory oil import restrictions are serving to stabilize the strength of the domestic industry.

J. Cordell Moore, administrator of the Interior Department's oil import administration, tied conservation of fuel resources in the United States to the import program in reporting that the restrictions are working.

Speaking at the first session of the 1963 Interstate Oil Compact Commission meeting, Moore said the industry first has to improve its practices in utilizing known reserves and, secondly, to find and develop new reserves.

Encourages Search
He said the government's mandatory importation program, which restricts the importation of oil to varying percentages of demand in sections of the country, is one implementation in encouraging the search for efficient petroleum use, seeking out new reserves and guarding against wasteful development.

"In order for the United States to maintain her place in the society of nations she must have economic and military power," Moore said. "The heart of that economic and military power is energy."

He said the oil import program, effected in 1958 because of the export-import imbalance, is designed to prevent erosion by imports of the nation's incentive and capacity to produce petroleum supplies, to minimize interference in normal market relationships, and to act as equitably as possible in regard to the various segments of the industry.

Says Agreement
"There has been almost universal agreement that restrictions upon oil imports are necessary," Moore said. "It is the areas of distribution of imports and the quantities of imports that there is disagreement."

He said the level of total imports was set at 12.2 per cent of estimated production "after a careful study of the domestic situation and also consideration of the treaty and foreign obligations of the United States."

As demand has increased this relationship has been maintained, he said.

Notes From Wall Street

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Prices for selected stocks may move higher over the near-term," says the Alexander Hamilton Institute.

"On the other hand," it adds, "the outlook for the mainstays of the economy — automobiles, steels and building — are not clear over the longer term. Violent fluctuations in the high-priced glamor stocks and revelations of major scandals in commodities and dealings with government agencies are also indicative of the late stages of the bull market. We advise continued holding of good quality stocks, but are not recommending new purchases at this time."

"The trend in quality stocks looks definitely up," says E. F. Hutton & Co. "The enthusiasm displayed by managements which are declaring increased dividends and stock splits is contagious, both in regard to directors of corporations which have not yet had their year-end meetings, and to investors," Hutton adds.

"There seems to be no reason to modify investment policies," says investment adviser Arthur Wiesenberger. "The long term trend of stock prices and the cyclical trend of business still appear to be upward. When and as public interest in the stock market increases, low-priced stocks should come in for greater interest and attention," he adds.

Reynolds & Co. says that "The economic background seems to justify the current lofty level of stock prices."

The Lighter Side

Book About Capitol Omits Top Queries

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—What is described as "the first full-color picture story" of the U.S. Capitol came off the presses a few days ago and was an immediate best seller.

The last time I checked, orders for the book, published by the Capitol Historical Society, were coming in faster than it could be printed.

Titled "We, the People," it is part history and part guidebook. I thought the text and illustrations were excellent. This does not mean, however, that the book is perfect.

In my opinion, it would be much more interesting if its scope had been expanded to embrace not only the Capitol but the adjacent congressional office buildings.

For example, the photographs include the first official portrait ever made of the Senate in action. One can only regret that it does not offer, as a companion piece, a color shot of the senators' private swimming pool in the Old Senate Office Building.

The book tends to stress the monumental or museum side of the Capitol at the expense of its other role as a "living" institution.

It could have struck a better editorial balance had the camera recorded a couple of senators in bikini-length togas indulging in aquatic sports.

I also feel that the book omitted several important features in a cutaway drawing that locates, for the benefit of tourists, some of the chief points of interest.

It so happens that my desk in the House Press Gallery is situated by a door that opens onto a corridor leading to the public galleries.

Consequently, I am in frequent contact with tourists who stick their heads in the door and ask directions.

Judging from the inquiries I hear, I would say that the three main things most visitors want to know about the Capitol are:

1. Where is the nearest rest room?
2. Where can I find a drinking fountain?
3. How do I get out of here?

The historical society's book is remiss on all of these points. Had it included a schematic diagram designating all of the public comfort stations, water holes and exits, it would have rendered a valuable service to me, if not to the tourists.

Finally, the East Front of the Capitol overlooks a so-called plaza, which is actually a parking lot.

In view of the prominence of this facility, it would have been appropriate to have devoted a few lines to the background of the parking lot, which is steeped in history and grease spots.

TO EXPAND FACILITIES
BETHLEHEM, Pa. (UPI)—Bethlehem Steel Co. said it will install $8 million worth of raw materials research facilities atop its South Mountain Homer Research Laboratories here.

Construction of two large buildings to house the facilities is expected to begin early next year with completion scheduled for late 1965. Bethlehem has invested about $36 million in its new laboratories so far.

BOND SALES GAIN
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Treasury reported that cash sales of savings bonds in November totaled $333 million—a 2 per cent gain over November, 1962.

The department said gross redemptions of bonds last month were $311 million. This was about 7 per cent below the figure for November of last year.

Nikita Says Stalin, Molotov Sold Grain

By Daniel F. Gilmore
United Press International
MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev told a meeting of the Communist party leadership today that two of his predecessors, Josef Stalin and V. M. Molotov, sold grain abroad while people were starving to death in the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev, addressing a plenary meeting of the Communist Party Central Committee, explained the current Soviet grain purchases in the West, the Tass news agency reported.

Western newsmen were not admitted to the meeting, which was called to discuss the disastrous Soviet harvest and the crash program Khrushchev has demanded to build up the chemical fertilizer industry to remedy farm failures.

Khrushchev again blamed the weather for the fact that "the government was compelled to purchase a quantity of grain from abroad."

He said Soviet people were asking how it was possible in the Stalin and Molotov eras to sell grain abroad at times when harvests were about the same as this year's.

"If to ensure grain for the population one had used the methods of Stalin and Molotov, then this year, too, it would have been possible to sell grain

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, calling on defense contractors to cut costs:

"It is my desire that you establish an affirmative program of cost reduction in the performance of defense contracts... if you have such a program in being, then I call upon you to accelerate, expand and intensify this effort."

PHILADELPHIA — J. Irwin Miller, outgoing president of the National Council of Churches, urging churches to speak out boldly on public issues:

"Through our carefulness, caution and patience, the disadvantaged, the hopeless, the discriminated-against, the helpless of this present day will live out their only lives on this earth unrelieved."

TORONTO, Ont. (UPI)—Since Toronto opened its $55 million Yonge Street subway line—Canada's first—9½ years ago, 10,000 cars have been eliminated from the downtown area.

The city also gained $136 million in tax assessments from the affected areas, more than double the normal increase, authorities said.

LONDON (UPI)—American Marines in Britain, who learned how to play rugby to improve Anglo-American relations, have won 13 out of 15 games with British teams this year.

Studebaker to Close Assembly Lines Today

DETROIT (UPI)—Studebaker Corp. will shut down its U. S. automotive assembly lines Tuesday, ending more than 61 years as a major automotive producer, it was learned today.

However, there were indications Studebaker would continue car production in Canada and market the cars in the United States.

The company is not dead. Studebaker recently has lost money on its automotive operation but 12 other divisions are operating at a profit, company sources said. They will continue.

Studebaker President Evers A. Burlingame and top company officials were in New York today for a board meeting.

The executives met in South Bend, Ind., with United Auto Workers union officials over the weekend to discuss the fate of about 5,000 workers who will lose their jobs as a result of the move.

Burlingame was expected to announce the demise of Studebaker's auto operations Tuesday. The company has a rich transportation history that traces its roots all the way to covered wagon days.

✓ 1963 Box Score: FORD'S TOTAL PERFORMANCE TOUGHNESS DOMINATES THE COMPETITION WORLD!

Ford has chosen the most rugged testing program cars have ever faced... full-scale open competition on the rally and racing circuits of the world. This is the dramatic way to show that Fords have changed... and the sure way to be certain they keep on changing. Changed? Just look at the record:

STOCK CAR RACING: 2-to-1 margin for Ford Ford is king of NASCAR competition and Ford Motor Company has the NASCAR Achievement Award to prove it. In the '63 season, special Ford entries won every single race of 500 miles or longer, scored nearly twice as many points as any other make. 500-mile races are the ultimate test of inherent durability and dependability. In two other major stock car racing associations (IMCA and MARC), Ford drivers have wrapped up the 1963 championships.	SPORTS CAR ROAD RACING: Ford V-8 power is the new king Here the Cobra with its special Fairlane engine emerged as the overwhelming leader in one short year. Cobra won the coveted Manufacturer's Trophy in SCCA Class A Production competition by no wide a margin as other cars—U.S. or foreign—were even in sight. And in the two major tests this fall, the Laguna Seca and Riverside races, the new King Cobras dusted off the top "contender" cars from all over the world.	RALLY COMPETITION: Manufacturer's Championship Products of Ford Motor Company and its world-wide affiliates won the 1963 Manufacturer's World Rally Championship. Ford's rally year began when two specially equipped Falcon V-8's started the automotive world in the brutal 2500-mile Monte Carlo Rally. Other special Falcon V-8's triumphed in Holland's famed Tulip Rally, and ran away with the Manufacturer's Team Prize in the 4000-mile Trans-Canada Rally.	INDIANAPOLIS: Ford ends an era Advanced Ford engineering smashed precedent in the classic Indianapolis "500." The first time out, a light alloy version of the Fairlane V-8 design in a Lotus chassis finished second. And the next time, in the Milwaukee "200" it ended the reign of the traditional "indy" racing car by leading every foot of the way from start to finish.	PERFORMANCE & ECONOMY: New laurels for Ford The Mobil Economy Run underscored Falcon's year-long reputation for thrift—a Falcon scored first in Class B (medium-engined compacts). And the Pure On Performance Trial's brought laurels to the big Fords, which walked off with overall wins in Classes I and II for total performance (economy, acceleration and braking).

✓ 1964 Result: TOTAL PERFORMANCE INSPIRES THE TOUGHEST, SMARTEST CARS FORD EVER BUILT!

Fords have changed—and that's the real reason behind Ford's racing successes. We're now making the longest lasting, best handling cars in our history. The things we've learned from the specially equipped cars we enter in open competition have helped make them that way.

The inherent qualities that make the vicious racing car—road-holding, braking, durability, precision control, resistance to vibration—also make a car safer, stronger, and smoother for highway use.

But prove it to yourself. Take the wheel of any new Ford. Five minutes on the road will show you the kind of total performance no one else can match.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Despite determined official optimism, an undertone of disquiet runs through news dispatches from Southeast Asia. In the last eight years the United States has invested so much.

In South Viet Nam, the young generals who took over after the overthrow of the Ngo Dinh Diem government are pursuing the war against the Communist Viet Cong with greater vigor. Out of 17,500 American troops in South Viet Nam, 1,000 are expected home in time for the new year.

Beautiful and sophisticated Saigon has regained its gaiety. The bistros are filled, though guarded against a surprise Communist grenade, and tiny Vietnamese women in their bright silken garments pedal through the city's tree-lined streets.

It's as if, beginning at the city's outskirts, there were no war.

And that perhaps is the source of some of the disquiet. Also Fought Reds

The Diem regime, in its own way, also fought hard against the Communists but failed to win the people. After the harsh rule of Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, in Saigon at least, the new military regime has the people's support.

But whether that support can be translated into an all-out national effort against the Viet Cong is another matter.

More and more it is being recalled that in their 10-year effort to hold Indo China, the French won every battle but the last one.

And the United States' own experience in Laos and in South Viet Nam all too often has seemed to demonstrate that only the disciplined and indoctrinated Communists feel a real reason to fight, and that a national will is lacking.

In the end, neither aid nor military success will win the battle for Southeast Asia without accompanying political and psychological determination of the people themselves.

And that is the field in which the new military regime must prove itself.

Other events give reason for disquiet over the future of Southeast Asia.

Getting New Orders
In Phnom Penh, capital of Cambodia, 200 American advisers are getting out on orders of Cambodia's elected chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk who has cancelled the American aid program which has been running at $30 million a year.

Sihanouk believes the war against the Viet Cong already is lost and that he must prepare his country for a neutrality acceptable to Red China.

In neighboring Laos, pro-Communist forces control two-thirds of the country.

In Vientiane, its capital, the fifth political assassination of a government official this year demonstrated that the country still is far from achieving the neutrality decreed for it by the major powers at Geneva.

The news is not all bad. The Communists are suffering losses and the cost of aiding the Communist effort in the South is weighing heavily upon the Reds in North Viet Nam.

President Johnson has reaffirmed that the United States will continue its efforts in South Viet Nam. It is a decision which may have to be reaffirmed again and again in the years ahead.

Supreme Court Acts on Merger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court removed the last obstacle Monday to the merger of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway with the Baltimore & Ohio.

In a brief order the high court affirmed a ruling in favor of the railroads handed down on Aug. 13, 1963, by a special three-judge federal court in Detroit. The lower court upheld a 1962 decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) approving the merger.

The case was taken to court by four railroad unions and a parent group — the Railway Labor Executives' Association. Meantime a court order has been in effect protecting the job rights of all employees involved.

Dear Abby.... Sometimes From the Mouths of Babes...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 and love both my parents very much, but I'm afraid they will end up in divorce court if my mother doesn't change her ways. Dad is a lawyer, around 50, and he has a good practice. But, Abby, if most people know how hard a lawyer works on briefs, court arguments, witness testimony, etc., they would break right down and cry. Tonight Dad came home at 7:15. Right away Mom said, "Have you eaten yet?" No "hello," just, "Have you eaten yet?" He said, "No, I just got out of court." Then Mom said, "What do you think I'm running here, a restaurant?" This sort of thing goes on all the time. I know Mom loves him, but how can I get her to treat him nicer? I was taught that children should be seen and not heard.

IN THE MIDDLE
DEAR IN: I don't believe that children should be seen and not heard. Wait for the opportune moment, and when your mother is alone, has plenty of time and is in a good mood, tell her she should be more patient and gentle with Dad. Sometimes, from the mouths of babes...

DEAR ABBY: When you said a 76-year-old man was only running for the exercise, you forgot the saying, "There are a lot of good tunes played on an old fiddle."

OLD FIDDLER
DEAR FIDDLER: But who listens?

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of five children, but my 14-year-old daughter is my problem. When I tell her to clean up her room or to turn off the TV and do her homework, she tells me to shut up! I told her she was getting out of hand and if she didn't watch her step I'd tell her father. He is very strict with the children and if they ever talked back to him they'd never forget it. I think it is a mother's job, not the father's, to discipline the daughters. How can I make my daughter mind without telling her father?

Wesleyan Guild Completes Study

The Wesleyan Service Guild met recently to conclude the study, "Three Spiritual Classics" with Miss Inez Clubb as leader.

Miss Alma Wilson gave the meditation, followed by a business session presided over by the president, Mrs. Laura Penick.

Miss Clubb began the study with the question, "What is spiritual life?" She answered it, "To want; to have; to be; is the essence of spiritual life," quoting from the author of the study book, Miss Evelyn Underhill. She further stated, "The essence of spiritual life is love and being what God wants you to be is the important thing."

Mrs. Gladys Turner, hostess for the evening, served an attractive refreshment plate to the following members who were present: Misses Ila Pool, Clubb, Lillian Mullinax, Alma Wilson and Margaret Wilkerson.

Members attending the coffee were Mmes. Howard Anderson, Jim Alexander, A. J. Carubby, John Davenport, Gary Frasher, Gary Griffin, Jim Hayes, Jerry Hopkins, Paul Musgrave, Benjie Shackelford, Duggan Smith, Lynn Thames and John Warner. LONG TIME BETWEEN TRAINS—Mayor Debruyne of the French coastal town of Sangatte, near Calais, stands beside a monument marking the place where a tunnel under the English Channel was started in the 1890s. As English and French engineers and government officials move ahead with plans for the "Chunnel," a railway-tunnel under the channel, the mayor hopes that in his lifetime he may witness the coming into reality of this old dream.

Negroes Voice Desires In Big City Environment

By United Press International
What does the Negro in a large northern city want? The Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch recently asked a group of prominent Negroes of the city and its metropolitan area. Some of the answers:

Harvey H. Alston, retired police inspector: "Job opportunities in business and industry still lag far behind the need. Unemployment is high, and training for new skills and scientific fields are not within the reach of the average Negro."
Joe Roberts, professional basketball player: "We are no longer satisfied with being the first Negro or the only Negro to play a certain role in the community or to be hired for a job, but we want to be among the many Negroes selected or hired. When we no longer have to be twice as good for less money or recognition, the status of the Negro will be more and more on the rise."

Rev. Arthur A. Sebbs: "The Negro is seeking a place of equal status with the rest of the community in all walks of life. He is 'fed up' with his situation, no matter how good his job may look, or how pretty his lawn may look."
Nelson L. Newsom, executive

St. Mark Church Gives Schedule

Pre-opening services are being held at St. Mark C.M.E. Church at 406 Elm St. at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The program includes three ministers: Rev. E. Felton Nelson of Macedonia Baptist Church, Rev. L. B. Davis of Progressive Baptist Church and Rev. L. C. Laster of Church of God in Christ and music by visiting choirs.
Services will be held in the new sanctuary again on Thursday, Friday and Sunday. Rev. C. C. Campbell is regular pastor. Visiting pastors for these services are: Rev. W. A. Schultz, Carter Chapel, Amarillo; Rev. William E. West, St. Matthew's Episcopal; Rev. Jack Riley, St. Paul Methodist; Rev. V. E. Willard, Harrah Methodist; Rev. H. H. Bratcher, First Methodist.

secretary, East Side YMCA: "It is still a fact that the Negro can secure the financing to purchase fine cars but can not secure the financing necessary to purchase a home where he chooses and thus find a way out of the 'ghetto' and out of de facto school segregation."
Mrs. Jeanne Woodward, housewife: "We, the Negro segment of society, are confronted daily with segregated housing, inequality of employment, inequality of education (specifically labor unions apprenticeship programs in craft unions), denial in 90 per cent of all private civic groups in Columbus, denial to swim in any of the swimming pools with the exception of one."

Junior College Delegation Reports on Austin Meeting

The four-man delegation representing the junior college committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce returned from Austin over the weekend, after conferring with officials of the Texas Education Agency relative to the proposed junior college here.

Smiley Henderson, chairman of the committee, headed the delegation composed of Jimmy McCune, Aubrey Steele, president of the chamber, and E. O. Wetgworth, chamber manager.

Henderson reported that the survey which was conducted two years ago by C. C. Colvert of the University of Texas is now being brought up to date in order to provide current information. As soon as the survey has been completed, the committee will be in a position to petition the State Board of Education to authorize the establishment of the new district, which would be on a county-wide basis.

The present Junior College District coincides with the Pampa Independent School District at the time of its organization in 1944. Since that time, the boundaries of the local school district have changed. It is the recommendation of the Texas Education Agency that the Junior College District should be countywide as a minimum. The junior college committee has been busy for the past two years gathering information and sampling public opinion of the proposal. The response to the college to date has been overwhelming in favor of the idea.

SCIENCE SKETCHES

IODINE, the familiar cut disinfectant, can also be used for bigger jobs, namely disinfecting swimming pools, say Stanford University researchers. Iodine in pools, they have found, is safe, effective and less irritating to eyes than chlorine.

AN ADEQUATE school science program, says the National Science Teachers Association, must start in kindergarten or first grade, must be made cohesive from level to level through grade 12 or beyond and must include a full range of contemporary knowledge and ideas.

PIPELINES may be the nation's best transportation bet for food and supplies in the event of enemy attack, according to Tube Turns, Louisville. Welded underground pipes are virtually foolproof and can survive the blast of practically anything but a direct nuclear bomb hit.

Views Given on Rights Measure

EDITOR'S NOTE: President Kennedy's assassination came at the height of a fight to win passage of his civil rights bill. In the following dispatch, Negro leaders and political strategists evaluate the political aspects of civil rights following his death.

By AL KUETTNER
United Press International
"Everything's in a state of suspension," said Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. "He was our guy," said another Negro leader of the late President Kennedy, whose assassination threw the nation's civil rights picture into indecision.

What were the political implications of civil rights under President Johnson? The question was on the lips of thousands, and Johnson himself sought in the early grieving hours of his administration to provide something of an answer.

The new President called together all the governors who could be located shortly after the President's funeral and pledged himself to take up his predecessor's fight to win congressional passage of a civil rights bill. It seemed to have been doomed for this year.

"Among President Kennedy's unfinished business is the enactment of strong civil rights legislation," said the nation's Negro leaders in a statement signed by the Council for United Civil Rights Leadership.

Asserting that "to complete this mission would honor his memory," they pledged their support to help President Johnson achieve President Kennedy's "goal of equality for all our citizens."

Leaders Confident
From the practical political point of view, both Negro and white sides have for the moment adopted a wait-and-see attitude.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., regarded by many Negroes as the nation's No. 1 civil rights leader, expressed confidence that Johnson will follow the path charted by the late President.

"It does not mean a setback," King said.
Wilkins predicted no real change in the "steady pressure toward enactment of civil rights legislation."

The Rev. Arthur M. Brazier, head of the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations in Chicago, said the civil rights drive will continue unabated.

"We are in hopes that President Johnson will carry the fight as vigorously as did President Kennedy," Brazier said.

"If the civil rights bill is passed, this will go a long way toward abolishing second class citizenship. If it isn't, the drive by Negroes for equal rights will continue."

Politics A Factor
In Brazier's view, the Negro voters will be governed next year by "how vigorously President Johnson presses for President Kennedy's civil rights bill and who will be the Republican nominee."

Kennedy's death and the likelihood that President Johnson will be the Democratic nominee next year.

In San Francisco, U. S. Atty. Cecil Poole, a Negro, said: "I don't anticipate that the country will relinquish the promises of real progress that President Kennedy symbolized. The President's inspiration and martyrdom alone will serve as a model for progress."

"After we recover from this heavy period of grief, we will go ahead. The lesson of the Kennedy administration will not be lost on Congress. Congress will move on. We will move on."

Some congressional strategists believe even that President Johnson's appearance on the scene may enhance passage of civil rights legislation because of his recognized mastery of congressional procedure.

Same Opposition
Johnson will find, however, that he has the same opposition from conservative congressmen and senators when civil rights comes up.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, Georgia Democrat and leader of the anti-civil rights strategists, said he was "regretfully pretty sure" he and his old Senate colleague will not see eye to eye on that issue.

Almost any way you look at it — from the North, South, Middle West or Far West — the drive by Negroes for more integrated schooling, more jobs, better housing and the use of public accommodations will be major issues in the year of election.

Just how the Democratic and Republican presidential nominees size up these issues and what they mean to do about them may be presented to a mammoth civil rights convention following the "big two."

Idea for such a convention originated with A. Phillip Randolph, elder statesman of the Negro civil rights move, head of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and a vice president of the AFL-CIO.

"The convention would neither organize a political party nor endorse a candidate," Randolph said. "We would invite the nominees to address the convention and we would issue an address to the country containing the record of each candidate on civil rights."

Getting Attention
"The national political risk of a strong civil rights position is receiving increased attention from Democratic and Republican leaders as they eye the 1964 election," UPI correspondent William J. Eaton reported from Washington.

One administration official put it another way: "It's hurting like hell."
The late President Kennedy alienated many southerners with his bold moves in favor of civil rights and his backing of court decision with the armed forces. He sent troops to campuses of the universities of Mississippi and Alabama to insure court-ordered integration.

But in death there seemed to be some healing of the old wounds.

AN ENGLISH WES FERN
BRISTOL, England (UPI) — John Wakesman, 24, and Dudley White, 22, were fined $224 last week for firing flaming metal arrows into the sides of passing trains and buses.

"It reminds one," said an attorney, "of hostile Indians on the plains of Colorado, with attacks on wagon trains and the defenses of General Custer and Colonel Cody."

New Book Tells Young People Detriments of Being Arrested

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — A college student, 17, booked on disorderly conduct, conferred with his dad and the family lawyer. That he did what they agreed he should do.

He appeared before a judge, pleaded guilty, paid the fine — and got it over with.

But Judge Jerome A. Lasky, in the District Court of Nassau County, Mineola, N. Y., was distressed that the young man took so lightly the matter of having a record.

Additional "ho-hum" attitudes toward a record by youthful offenders subsequently moved Judge Lasky to give youngsters a lesson in contemporary civics.

He does the teaching in a pamphlet — "The Innocent Offender." More than 35,000 copies have been distributed nationwide, including 10 requested by the Library of Congress.

The instructive pamphlet reminds youngsters that a record — even for a seemingly innocent prank — can ruin their futures. It also tells those in trouble how to conduct themselves.

"The schools spend so much money for every kind of education," Judge Lasky, 42, said in an interview. "But they fail to teach these simple lessons in contemporary civics."

Most of the young people don't know what a crime actually is. I try to tell them in the pamphlet."

Lasky, father of two daughters, 14 and 11, makes these points in the pamphlet:

— Most youngsters do not know the consequences of an arrest and conviction record, that it can prevent them from obtaining a desirable job, from becoming an officer in any part of the armed services, from entering certain of the services even as an enlisted man, from becoming a lawyer, from entering government service.

—They do not know the difference between good natured fun and illegal conduct. They are unaware of the provisions of the laws most frequently violated by youngsters. The judge is convinced that this ignorance of the law is the cause of many violations.

—They do not know how to act if they are arrested. All too often, in fear and haste, they plead guilty "to get it over with."

"I firmly believe that our youngsters must be educated in these vital areas," Judge Lasky said.

"Their parents are not equipped to perform this task because they usually do not have the technical knowledge required."

Judge Lasky cautions young persons against breaking the law on a dare.

"It takes more courage to turn down the dare than to accept it — and your friends know this," he said.

"In the long run they will respect you for having the courage and foresight to down a dare involving a breach of the law. It is better to be a live 'chicken' than a dead duck."

He also cautions against loyalty to a friend that reaches the point of helping a friend resist arrest — and eventually involves arrest of two or more.

"Disrespect for a police officer," he said, "is an invitation to be arrested."

"The police officer cannot permit his authority to be challenged.

"Chances of your being arrested are much greater if you talk back to the police officer or are otherwise disrespectful to him."

Crisp, New Sound in Johnson City Is Cold, Hard Cash

By DAVID ANDERSON
JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — That crisp new sound in Johnson City today was money talking.

This central Texas town had been only a breakfast stop for travelers until President Johnson acceded into office.

Now it is the hometown of Lyndon Baines Johnson, 36th president of the United States. Of course it was his hometown before he became chief executive, but now it means business — money — for the 611 permanent residents.

Up until now, the town laid loudest claim to its biggest industry. Signs on the outskirts proclaimed it: "Home of the Pedernales Electric Co-Op Assn."

Home of LBJ

A gushing new business set in when Johnson became president and the local merchants already have pledged more than $1,000 for some "Home of LBJ" signs.

Besides the booming sign business, motels, restaurants and service stations are figuring on expansion.

Besides the curious tourists who are beginning to stop from

U. S. highways 290 and 281, there are the new Secret Service men who have come to town.

When the president visits the ranch, there will be the swarms of newsmen, aides and callers who will grace Johnson City's dusty streets. They'll need sleeping quarters, food and service for their cars. The new business already was overtaking present facilities.

The telephone company was installing 200 new lines into the area to handle the communications that will hum along the wires when the president comes home.

The Pact Swiftens

Bulldozers were widening the road on the LBJ ranch in a matter of days. A six-lane road at jet aircraft could be accommodated. A six-lane road between here and Austin, the state capital, was in the works before Johnson became president.

Real estate prices in Johnson City were booming. One plot of land near the LBJ ranch increased in price by 25 per cent with the presidential improvement.

Business was booming here and the residents were happy. There was, however, some jealousy across the - pasture jealousy at Stonewall, Tex., which actually is closer to the LBJ ranch and figures it should get some of the limelight and business.

But President Johnson's grandfather founded Johnson City and Lyndon grew it to manhood here.

If the president comes home for Christmas, he'll be thinking about Johnson City. And the merchants in Johnson City will be welcoming the business.

Volcanic Ash Causes Deep, Red Sunsets

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The dusty, deep red sunsets of this long Indian summer, ascribed by scientists to volcanic particles in the upper air, have stirred memories of the most shattering natural explosion known to man—the eruption in 1883 of the great East Indian volcano Krakatoa.

The present rich displays are said to reflect a tremendous burst last spring from Agung, a volcano on the island of Bali off the eastern tip of Java in Indonesia.

Agung thrust up one layer of dust to 50,000 feet and another to 150,000. In a month or so, say the experts, they will be gone.

But Krakatoa's incredible side effects lasted from one to three years and led to one of the most exhaustive scientific inquiries of a volcanic explosion ever undertaken.

On a tiny island in Sunda strait, the narrow waters between Java and Sumatra, Krakatoa in the tropical summer of 1883 appeared as only a low, jagged crater with a few small cones. Once it had towered symmetrically like Fujiyama, but ancient eruptions had gutted it.

Thereafter it had slumbered so long that rumblings early in 1883 were shrugged off. Suddenly it was too late. On August 26th and 27th, Krakatoa shook the globe with the most violent, shuddering convulsion ever recorded.

A truly titanic volcano, it virtually blew itself out of existence, wiping out two thirds of its uninhabited island, cleaving a mountain in two vertically, reverberating over nearly a thirteenth of the earth's surface.

Krakatoa fired volcanic dust nine miles high, cast a pall of blackness 300 miles wide, churned up sea waves 50 feet high that engulfed 36,000 people in hundreds of villages, sent the crashing sounds 2,200 miles eastward and 3,000 miles west across the Indian Ocean — the farthest man has ever heard sound.

A few hours after the two-day calamity began, all Java and most of Sumatra could hear the continuous detonations and feel the concussion of the blasts.

Ships caught slopping through Sunda strait had a seat at what must have seemed the earth's final spasm. Weird electrical effects pierced the blackness overhead. Molten lava and chunks of spongelike pumice, some as big as pumpkins, showered down on decks. Scorching dust ignited sail canvas. The air was choking and sulphurous.

The explosions gradually tore away the volcano's throat, letting the sea tumble into the crater through gaping holes. Massive columns of hissing steam rose to mingle with the volcano's own brew.

Giant waves rolled against the shores of Java and Sumatra. Towns vanished. Two light-houses toppled into the sea. A naval craft was propelled two miles inland on Sumatra.

On the morning of the 27th four tremendous blasts rocked the entire East Indies. The British scientists who studied Krakatoa believe they were the most thunderous sounds ever heard by human ears.

Somewhere in all this crescendo of endless noise, sounds made their way 3,000 miles over the broad Indian Ocean. A police chief on Rodrigues, east of Madagascar off the African coast, heard not one but many detonations.

Eastward, they were heard in Australia, the Philippines, Japan. Borneo natives fled a village in fear of attack from "big guns." On another distant island, troops were put under arms. Vessels searched for "ships in distress."

Destructive sea waves fanned over huge distances. Westward, where immediate land barriers were few, rollers raced 300 miles an hour to affect tidal gauges as far as Cape Horn, South America, 9,500 miles from Sunda strait. In many ocean harbors, ships twisted at anchor. Buoys were seen "spinning like tops."

"Shock" air waves girdled the globe four times. Windows were shattered and plaster cracked in buildings far from the scene. No barometer anywhere failed to record Krakatoa's impact.

The volcano in two days spewed out an immense mass of debris. This falling mass enlarged two nearby islands, created two new ones. But where the original island had stood, only a fragment remained. The sea rolled 900 feet deep over the major portion.

Sunda strait was clogged with floating pumice, some bearing uprooted trees; ships for days could not slice through it. This great carpet drifted into the Indian ocean, where vessels encountered it in 100-mile-long stretches for more than a year afterward.

On an area of 1.1 million square miles, volcanic dust settled for a week. The finer dust particles circled the earth on upper air currents, as they do now with the dust from Bali's Agung volcano.

Near the equator the sun became a bizarre green and blue. Often it sank into thick haze soon after noon. Elsewhere around the earth, the dust veil

Dumas Demons Drop WD Bucks By 51-31 Margin

By RICHARD ULRICH
News Sports Correspondent
WHITE DEER — A trio of deadly outside shooters and two big boys under the boards propelled a smooth-working Dumas quintet to a 51-31 victory over the White Deer Bucks last night.
With the 6-4 pair of Hulen Kirkland and Dennis Cathren controlling the backboards despite the efforts of Monty Hawpe, Cal Turner and Dan Simmons, the Demons dunked all the rebounds while the Bucks had shooting trouble from the floor and the field.
With Cathren hitting both inside and outside, Dumas opened a 6-0 lead, only to have Hawpe lift the Bucks back to a six all deadlock. The score went back and forth in the first frame until Doug Milligan drove in just before the buzzer to give Dumas a 15-10 margin.
Kirkland dunked a rebound to open the second quarter and kept it up as Butch Carrier was hitting from the outside and Dumas moved to a 15-point lead. Roy Armstrong's ball-handling kept bringing the Bucks back but the taller Demons swarmed him on his drives and broke up or intercepted passes and Dumas had a 28-14 halftime edge.

Carrier led the way as Dumas opened the second half with eight straight points. Hawpe hit on three consecutive jump shots, but Kirkland was blocking shots and Dumas upped it to 40-22 at the three-quarter mark.
With Simmons heading the defense, WD kept Dumas from scoring in the first three minutes while Armstrong drove for five points, but the Demons started adding it up at the free throw line for the win.
Hawpe and Armstrong had 10 points each for the Bucks. Carrier had 16 and Cathren 11 for Dumas. Cathren also pulled down 12 rebounds and Kirkland had seven. Turner topped the Bucks with eight, Simmons had six and Hawpe five off the boards.
Dumas also won the B team 60-38. Johnny Mooney had 13 and Larry Bates 12 points for the Little Bucks.

Namath Kicked Off Sugar Bowl Squad

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — Star quarterback Joe Namath, the mainspring of the Alabama offense, was kicked off the team Monday for the rest of the season and the Sugar Bowl game for breaking training rules.
The action left Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant with the immediate problem of finding a capable replacement in time for the Miami game Saturday. The contest will be televised nationally from Miami's Orange Bowl Stadium.
Bryant promoted senior defensive specialist Jack Hurlbut, who has carried the load only four times for minus 18 yards and completed one of three passes for 41 yards and a touchdown, to the starting unit. Sophomore Steve Sloan moved up to the No. 2 quarterback post.
In a terse announcement of Namath's suspension, Bryant said the Beaver Falls, Pa., junior was being dropped from the squad "for an infraction of training rules this past weekend." He did not elaborate.
"Joe has indicated to me he will remain in school and concentrate on his studies," Bryant said. "He will be allowed to remain on scholarship."
The 6-foot, 2-inch, 189-pounder Namath, who directed the Crimson Tide to a 7-2 won-lost record so far this season, could not be reached for comment.
Alabama began the season with only three quarterbacks and Namath kept his two understudies on the bench most of the season. He completed 63 of 128 passes for 785 yards and 7 touchdowns and gained 201 yards on the ground for a total offense of 986 yards, seventh best in the Southeastern Conference (SEC). With all other SEC teams through with their regular seasons, Namath probably could have moved higher in the conference statistics after the Miami game.

The Los Angeles Lakers were still in first place in the frantic Western Division of the National Basketball Association today — thanks to their hot-shooting guards.
Dick Barnett and Jerry West smoked the nets for 75 points Monday night at Seattle, Wash., as the Lakers rolled over Baltimore, 134-120, in the evening's only NBA contest.
The win gave Los Angeles a 16-10 record. The hot race is quite a contrast to the Eastern Division, where the Boston Celtics hold a five game lead.
Baltimore and Los Angeles were tied at 64-all early in the third stanza of their game at Seattle when Elgin Baylor sunk several shots and then West got a hot hand to push the Lakers well out in front.
The jump-shooting Barnett pumped in 38 points, West had 37 and Baylor, who earned All America honors at Seattle University, scored 29 for his old fans.
Terry Dischinger hooped 37 for Baltimore.

Panhandle 'Dark Horse' Tournay

PANHANDLE (Sp.) — "A tournament full of dark horses," is the way host coach Calvin Murray rates the boys bracket of the Panhandle Tournament which opens Thursday and runs through Saturday.
"Although Stratford, and Sanford-Fritch should be the favorites on their season record and their performances in recent tournaments, Lefors, Price College, Channing and my team (Panhandle) could all come up and take the tourney," warns Murray.
"Actually, on the record I think Price College is the best team. They have a 6-1 record and their only loss is to powerful Quitaque. They just got through winning the Happy Tournament, where Mike Walsh, their high scorer, was named the outstanding player in the tournament."
"Lefors shouldn't even be considered a dark horse, after the way they won the Shamrock Tournament, beating McLean. They started the season out slowly, but since their football boys have come back, led by Don McCool and Terry Bromlow, have been tremendous. If they can beat Stratford in the first round though, they will have to come up against Sanford-Fritch (assuming SF can down White Deer) and Sanford has beaten them once, with Toby Ware, their best player, not in the game."
"I would call Channing a real dark horse. I don't know much about their record, but they

"We have one of the toughest teams to open with in PC, but Panhandle has been coming along. Since we lost to Groom, we beat Spearman in our second game, and then lost to Stintner by four points. We're improving and Leon Duckett, our 6-6 boy, is learning fast."
"Anyone can win that boys bracket," summed up Murray, "but the girls bracket should be

Kentucky Back As Cage Power

By JOE GERGEN
UPI Sports Writer
Kentucky is back as a national basketball power — in case no one noticed that they were away.
One man who did notice is Adolph Rupp, the Kentucky coach who has compiled a fantastic 83.6 winning percentage in his 33 years at Lexington. The "Baron of the Blue Grass" suffered through a "dismal" 16-9 season last year, the worst in his career, and uncharacteristically declared he was going into this season with "possibly the poorest outlook for a winning season since I have been coaching."
But the Wildcats appear to be heading back to the top after disposing of strong North Carolina Monday night, 100-80, at Lexington. Kentucky, ranked seventh in the nation in the latest United Press International poll, now has won all four of its games this year, all by substantial margins.

Unbeaten and ninth-ranked Texas also captured its fourth victory of the year by tipping Louisiana State, 70-65.
Roger Suttner, a 7-foot center, paced Kansas State to a surprisingly easy 93-84 win over Indiana. Suttner scored 28 points while Indiana's Van Arsdale twins combined for 40 before both fouled out.
Two other Big Ten teams fared just as poorly. Previously winless Wake Forest held on for a 77-72 upset of previously unbeaten Purdue.
An Illinois rally fell short at the final buzzer as Oklahoma edged the Illini, 105-104.
Iowa salvaged some Big Ten prestige by surprising St. Louis, 79-77, on the strength of Dave Roach's 32 points.
Rice rolled to its third victory in four games over an SEC rival with 90-62 whipping of Tulane.
In other major games, Utah routed University of the Pacific, 90-72; Texas Tech won its first game by beating Nebraska, 76-60; Alabama defeated Florida State, 62-53; Mississippi State whipped Delta State, 67-52; Creighton nipped Idaho State, 63-61; Texas Christian topped Houston, 65-59; Oklahoma, State dumped Arkansas, 74-65; Seattle drubbed St. Mary's (Calif.), 84-60; and Baylor bounced Southwest Texas, 71-61.
