EARLY START TOMORROW

Adobe Walls Scouts Leave for Jamboree

Some 120 Boy Scouts and Explorers, including 30 from Pampa, will leave at 7 a.m. tomorrow for Bristol, Tenn. The next row aboard three chartered buses enroute to the sixth National Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa.

The delegation will represent the Adobe Walls Council for the week-long encampment. They will join some 50,000 other scouts, July 17-23, on the same grounds General George Washington camped during the winter of 1777-78.

The Adobe Walls Council includes 15 counties in the northern Texas and southern Oklahoma panhandles.

The first overnight stop will be made at Fort Smith, Ark. Leaving Arkansas, the group will move to Jackson, Tenn. for the second night and will stop at Bristol, Tenn. the next evening (July 11).

Next on the tour is Washington, D. C. From there the scouts will move on to New York City where they will visit the World's Fair.

On July 15, they will arrive on the camp grounds at Valley Forge and set up headquarters. While at Valley Forge they will make several sight-seeing tours into Philadelphia.

The scouts will depart from Valley Forge July 24 and arrive back in Pampa July 26.

The Jamboree will help boys know and love America through learning more about the principles and history of our democracy by living and sharing with boys from all parts of the nation and seeing in person the freedom and greatness of America," George Newberry, a jamboree committee chairman, explained.

The roster of the Adobe Walls Council's troops includes:
TROP 41
Scoutmaster — Herb Reavis, Texhoma, Okla.
Assistant Scoutmasters — Jim Moore, Shamrock, and Tom Dunn, Pampa.
Perryton Scouts — Greg Allen, Mike Firmin, Bruce Holmes, Kenny Kelly, Walter LaMaster, Jed Monroe, Rocky Rylee, Chris Smith.

Three Are Killed In Plane Crash

WIMBERLY, Tex. (UPI)—Three persons from Austin were killed Tuesday night when their light plane crashed into a rugged hillside three miles north of Wimberly. Dead were William S. Hunt, an installation engineer at Polarmatic Corp. in Austin; Pauline McNeely, 45, and Lois Jean Foster, 39, both waitresses in Austin.

Russian Warships Shrouded in Secrecy Scranton Heads West To Battle Goldwater

U.S. Navy Checking Red Units

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Official secrecy today shrouded the two-week surveillance of a group of Soviet ships including two submarines in the Mediterranean Sea by U.S. Navy Anti-submarine warfare units.

Informed sources Tuesday attached no special significance to the presence of the Soviet force, but it was described as the largest number of Russian ships yet to enter the Mediterranean. It had every right to be there, sources said, just as the U.S. Sixth Fleet has been steaming in the same waters for many years.

The Russian naval unit was understood to be made up of two conventionally-powered submarines, at least one destroyer and several auxiliary ships and to be engaged in routine submarine operations.

Efforts by the Soviet subs to elude the U.S. Navy anti-submarine groups were reported to have been futile. They were kept under continuous surveillance while submerged, and tracked and photographed when they surfaced.

For an unknown reason, the Defense Department refused to acknowledge the cat-and-mouse game. Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester said that it was standard practice not to comment on fleet movements.

Anti-Goldwater Platform Drive Appears Doomed

BULLETIN
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Gov. George Romney of Michigan today urged the Republican party to repudiate extremists' support and block their efforts to infiltrate the GOP.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton's drive to insert anti-Goldwater planks into the Republican platform appeared doomed today even as two more GOP leaders joined in the attack.

Informed sources said there was no hope for platform committee approval of Scranton's double-barreled challenge to front-running Sen. Barry Goldwater on the issues of civil rights and extremist groups.

The appraisal was made as Michigan Gov. George Romney and Henry Cabot Lodge, former U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, prepared to tee off on the Arizona senator during the second day of platform hearings.

Scranton's eleventh-hour bid to overcome Goldwater's lead at the GOP convention next week hinged partly on a campaign to force a platform fight that might drive away delegates committed to the Arizona senator.

Platform committee Chairman Melvin R. Laird, along with other neutral members of the 100-member group, have turned thumbs down on the Scranton demand for a condemnation of the John Birch Society and assertion of the civil rights law's constitutionality.

Goldwater has refused to repudiate the backing of Birch Society members. He voted against the civil rights bill in the Senate on grounds it was not constitutional. He is reported ready to accept a plank denouncing all kinds of extremists without citing names.

Laird and others who might help swing the heavy Goldwater majority on the committee around to Scranton's viewpoint believe the governor's proposals are "gimmicks" and not policy positions.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller backed away slightly from the anti-Birch plank even while assailing Goldwater's views during an appearance before the platform group Tuesday. Romney told newsmen Tuesday night he does not favor a battle over whether the GOP should label the new rights law as constitutional.

Goldwater was a target Tuesday for two nationally known Negro leaders — Roy Wilkins and Dr. Martin Luther King—who appeared before a platform committee panel.

Wilkins urged the GOP convention to reject attacks made by Goldwater and others who question the constitutionality of the new civil rights law.

Unless this is done, Wilkins said, the GOP convention must share the blame for encouraging defiance of the law.

King issued a similar warning about the possible "disaster and discord" that could result from any lukewarm endorsement of the rights legislation by either Republicans or Democrats.

King told newsmen that a Goldwater nomination would turn the Republican party into an all-white party because he doubted seriously if one per cent of Negro voters would back such a ticket.

Wabash River No Longer Romantic

LOGANSPORT, Ind. (UPI)—Democratic congressional nominee John C. Rabe wants the Wabash River and its banks "cleaned up" for recreational use.

"We still like to sing about the Wabash River," Rabe said Tuesday, "but... most of us don't want to live too close to it."

Texas Officials 'Throw in Towel' On Redistricting

AUSTIN (UPI)—State officials threw in the towel Tuesday in a federal court test of apportionment of the Texas Legislature, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr "reluctant" concluding that the present state laws are unconstitutional.

He asked a district court in Houston for a speedy ruling to clear the way for the state legislature meeting next year to set new districts for the 150 representatives and 31 senators. Changes will give more representation to populous counties.

The reapportionment of legislative districts will be added to the problem of setting new districts for the 23 Texas members of the U.S. House of Representatives, another mandatory chore for the state legislature.

Carr sent a legal document to the judges that explained that as a result of a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision, state officials had decided to give up a reapportionment suit. The Supreme Court ruled that state legislatures must be apportioned on a strict population basis.

Carr expressed hope that the federal court in Houston would help "clear the air" with a decision in the Texas case which would guide next year's legislature in redistricting its seats. He admitted the truth of most of the allegations in a suit filed by five liberal Democrats who said the present system is unfair to big cities.

The legal action was brought by former Houston representative William Kilgarlin, now Harris county Democratic chairman, along with State Reps. Bob Eckhardt of Houston and Jake Johnson of San Antonio and State Sens. Franklin Spears of San Antonio and Don Kennard of Fort Worth.

Peter O'Donnell of Dallas, state Republican chairman, also asked that the present legislative districts be declared unconstitutional.

Scranton Claims Goldwater Has Disqualified Self

CHICAGO (UPI)—Gov. William W. Scranton said today Sen. Barry Goldwater has disqualified himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for president with a statement attributed to him that as of now he could not beat President Johnson.

"Barry Goldwater has now decided to defoliate the whole Republican party," Scranton told a hurriedly called news conference. "He has announced to the whole world that he cannot beat Lyndon Johnson."

"To add insult to injury he has made this announcement in an overseas newspaper," Scranton, reading a prepared statement, quoted the question and answer published Tuesday in the Der Spiegel in West Germany.

"It seems to me he has clearly now disqualified himself as a candidate for the presidential nomination," Scranton said.

Scranton said polls have shown that Goldwater is without popular appeal even to Republicans.

"And now we have the senator himself agreeing," Scranton said.

"Furthermore, his office has confirmed that the interview accurately reflects his views."

Scranton read this statement he attributed to Goldwater: "I don't think I would be rash enough to say I could beat Johnson in the South as of now. But come election day there is going to be another horse race."

Then Scranton said: "We must ask ourselves what events the senator is looking forward to. Tragically there can be but one explanation—he or those close to him hope to gain by racial unrest."

"Are they looking forward to the possibility of human relations being put to the torch and the hopes of finding votes in the backlash?"

"If I am the nominee I will defeat Lyndon Johnson."

"Senator Goldwater's no-win candidacy is now the central issue of the campaign," Scranton said. "The long shadow of familiarity has crept even further over the Goldwater camp."

Major Backers Hope To Stall Bandwagon

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Gov. William W. Scranton and his major backers spoke with many voices today in an increasingly desperate effort to reverse a Goldwater bandwagon which only seemed to gain momentum.

The Pennsylvania governor was due here late today to take personal command of his faltering campaign to win the Republican presidential nomination from Sen. Barry Goldwater at the party convention opening Monday.

Scranton appeared blocked at every turn. The odds were mounting against his campaign to write an anti-Goldwater party platform and thus pry delegates away from the Arizona senator.

Scranton forces wanted to shake up the convention with a few good fights, but the Goldwater camp refused to cooperate.

And there was no discernible evidence the governor was making the least progress in his most difficult chore of alluring away enough delegates to prevent the senator's nomination on the first ballot.

New York campaign button-maker Emanuel Ross, who originated the "I Like Ike" button in 1952, seemed to have caught the mood of this city when he said he is now pushing a button for the Scranton forces.

"It read simply: 'Help,'" Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who surrendered his own White House hopes to throw in with Scranton, spoke wistfully of the help Scranton would get if former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon joined in an anti-Goldwater coalition.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Scranton's convention manager, said an Eisenhower endorsement would be welcome but did not predict one would be forthcoming.

Former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, another Scranton campaigner, said at St. Louis that he expected a "positive statement" from Eisenhower before the convention opens next Monday. He then flew to this convention city where he said no endorsement was needed because the ex-President's preference for Scranton was apparent.

Lodge was scheduled to address the GOP Platform Committee today after it hears from Gov. George Romney of Michigan. Romney is a Goldwater critic but has refrained so far from endorsing Scranton.

Scranton forces are using the platform committee as a major forum in their scattergun attacks on Goldwater. The pro-Goldwater majority of the committee listens and applauds politely and shows no inclination to engage in verbal fights.

With Goldwater still in Washington, his campaign headquarters here is serene and confident. His spokesmen give soft answers to attacks on their candidate and to efforts to embarrass him.

Although Scranton and Scott have talked of delegates being weaned away from the Goldwater majority coming to the convention, they have offered no public evidence to support their claims.

Scranton was drafted for second place.

But Goldwater associates considered this unlikely.

Goldwater is understood to have told friends he considers Miller and himself to be "politically compatible." Except for the new civil rights bill, which Goldwater opposed and Miller supported, their congressional voting records are relatively alike.

Beyond this, the Goldwater forces regard Miller to be "a real gut fighter" who could wage an effective, hard-hitting campaign. As the party's chairman, he is widely known through national, state and local GOP levels.

New York Congressman Is Barry's Choice for 'Veep'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Republican National Chairman William E. Miller, six-term congressman from New York State and a Roman Catholic, is Sen. Barry Goldwater's current first choice for a vice presidential running mate.

This was affirmed today by Goldwater spokesmen who made no secret of the Arizona senator's present intention to tap Miller if—as seems virtually certain—Goldwater wins the GOP presidential nomination next week.

These aides conceded the situation could be changed only by some dramatic insistence by the convention or perhaps by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower that Gov. William Shipper lived in the rundown, debris-filled home here for years but he moved into a Southampton hotel last winter because of falling health.

In explanation of Shipper's falling as a trusted postal employee, Peterson told newsmen Tuesday:

"Lorin had been ill during those last few years and he used to have some trouble because he couldn't get around in those old cars of his in the winter."

City Requested To Remove All Parking Meters

Downtown shoppers may soon park to their heart's content without worry of parking meters.

Kirk Duncan, chairman of the Downtown Business Association, has presented a request to Police Chief Jim Conner asking for the deactivation of all parking meters for a trial period ending July 25.

Earlier this month nearly 350 meters were deactivated at the request of the association.

"The original intention of the parking meter experiment was to determine whether meters on the fringe area could be removed," Duncan said. "The experiment got out of hand when merchants deactivated meters in the 100 Block N. Cuyler and the 200 Block N. Cuyler; it fell to pieces when merchants decided to deactivate meters on the east side of the 100 Block N. Cuyler."

"We now have the ridiculous situation of inactive meters in the fringe and central areas and active meters sandwiched in between. We do not believe that any sensible conclusion can be drawn from the present experiment by July 25, which is the end of the trial period," he added. "We believe the question is no longer whether some meters are needed but whether any are needed."

At a meeting of the downtown association Monday the board of directors voted to try the removal of the meters as an experiment.

"At the end of the trial period the meters will be either permanently deactivated or restored to service," Duncan said.

Chief Conner said no action would be taken until written commitments are received from business houses. Duncan said they will be obtained.

HE HAD TROUBLE GETTING AROUND

So, Mailman Just Stashed Mail in Garage

WATER MILL, N.Y. (UPI)—Postal authorities looked for more undelivered mail today at the home of a retired elderly postman who apparently squirreled away tons of letters in the latter days of his career because he had trouble getting around in his vintage automobiles.

During most of his 33 years as a mailman, Lorin F. Shipper dutifully delivered all the mail to the people on his eastern Long Island rural route. But he slacked off before his 1956 retirement, apparently delivering what appeared to be must mail and stashing the rest in his garage.

Authorities disclosed Tuesday that more than two tons of mail was found in Shipper's garage along with his ancient LaSalle and Packard. Today, postal inspectors set about dismantling his former home in this small village on the chance that even more undelivered mail may be stashed away.

Postmaster Roy G. Peterson of neighboring Southampton said about 10 per cent of the letters uncovered so far were first class. They will be delivered with the government's apologies—or at least an explanation — stamped on them. The junk mail, including a horde of toothpaste samples, will be thrown away.

Some of the mail dated back to 1948 but most was from the years 1953, 1954 and 1955, just prior to Shipper's retirement. None had been tampered with, Peterson said.

Shipper, 75, a bachelor, will not be prosecuted for his failure to deliver the mail. The five-year statute of limitations has run out.

After his retirement, Shipper lived in the rundown, debris-filled home here for years but he moved into a Southampton hotel last winter because of falling health.

In explanation of Shipper's falling as a trusted postal employee, Peterson told newsmen Tuesday:

"Lorin had been ill during those last few years and he used to have some trouble because he couldn't get around in those old cars of his in the winter."

Gila Golan Traces Life Back to Polish Waif

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Gila Golan, a beautiful girl making her movie acting debut, traces her life back to a street corner in Poland where she was found as a "two or three year old" waif.

"I really don't know how old I was," she says. "I don't know how old I am now, about 20 or 21 I guess."

Gila was picked up off the streets of Cracow, Poland, more than 20 years ago by a family who took her into its home. Some persons assume that Gila's parents were Jews, victims of Nazi concentration camps. She doesn't know.

Miss Golan later was sent to France by a welfare organization, finally settling in Israel where she went to a girl's boarding school and lived in a community settlement.

Gila Golan is the young lady's professional name, a fact of little moment because she doesn't know her real name.

During the years, she has had other names but they were just a convenience to give friends a point of reference.

Even her professional name was taken as protection against embarrassment. She had entered a beauty contest and didn't want everybody to know her identity if she lost.

Gila won, went to London for the Miss World contest and later moved to New York where she has been working as a model.

She is now in Hollywood to play the role of a lonesome, ugly-duckling girl in the movie "Ship of Fools."

"I have always dreamed about an actress but I never thought I would be one," she said during lunch.

Gila's start in Hollywood is similar to the beginnings of other performers. Another actress had to bow out of the picture and producer-director Stanley Kramer sent for Miss Golan.

FOUR WOUNDED—A crowd mills around Lake Texarkana near Texarkana, Tex., after four persons, three Negroes and one white, were wounded by gunfire when Negroes attempted to integrate the swimming beach. Trouble reportedly started when a white man tossed a bottle into a crowd of Negroes after they entered the water.

Rear-engine Auto Baffles Lady Driver

LONDON (UPI)—A woman driver, baffled by a rear-engine auto, put the gas in the wrong end Monday and set her car on fire.

The woman, identified only as a professional car delivery driver, told police she was driving a new rear-engine Hillman Imp to a London dealer when she ran out of gas on a busy street here.

She ran off to get a can of gas, then surveyed the car.

"There was this cap at the back of the car," she said, pointing to where the oil-filler cap used to be. "I pulled it off and saw a hole—so I poured in the petrol."

"But when I started the car there was a loud bang and smoke."

The gas had gone into the engine sump. The cap blew off and firemen had to put out the fire in the engine.

Police later showed the lady the gas tank cap at the front of the car.

"Oh," she said. "I thought that was the radiator."

$38,000 Damage Suit Is Listed

A $38,000 personal damage suit was filed against Pampa rancher Bill Stockstill yesterday in 31st District Court.

The action was filed by David Stribling, a former employee of Stockstill.

Stribling alleges that on Oct. 28, 1963 Stockstill ordered him to fix a generator on an irrigation well. He claimed that while fixing the generator he was caught in an open drive shaft on the motor and thrown to the ground.

As a result he was confined to the hospital for three weeks with numerous injuries, he claimed.

He asks $1,000 hospital expenses and $37,000 personal damages.

Candidates for international president were Brad F. Anderson of Billings, Mont. and F. Bradford Stillman of Virginia Beach, Va., both high school students.

Apparently unopposed were Kenneth Ables of Waco, for international vice-president, and Tim Beckworth of Marietta, Ga. for international secretary.

The boys from throughout the nation heard an address Tuesday night from Miss Teenage America, Jeanine Zavrel. The 17-year-old beauty from Falls Church, Va. called on all members of her generation to "communicate the gift of freedom to the young people of the world."

Miss Zavrel said personal letters and conversations with young people in other parts of the world "can give them a spark of the will to succeed... and can inspire individual initiative around the world."

Hoffa's Attorney Demands Acquittal

CHICAGO (UPI) - James R. Hoffa's chief defense attorney today demanded a directed verdict of acquittal in the Teamsters Union president's $25 million fraud trial.

Maurice Walsh, attorney for Hoffa, told the court the government had failed to prove that Hoffa had any connection with an alleged scheme to defraud the Teamsters pension fund.

Walsh said the government had failed to prove that Hoffa had any connection with an alleged scheme to defraud the Teamsters pension fund.

Broken Glass in Moscow Symbol Of Soviet and Red China Alliance

By JAY AXELBANK
 MOSCOW (UPI) — A small pile of broken glass in Moscow has become a monument to the chattered alliance between Communist China and the Soviet Union.

A year ago a drunken Russian student smashed the window of a display case in front of the Chinese embassy. To this day the Peking authorities stubbornly refuse to replace the window, leaving the jagged pieces of glass heaped on the grass below.

Russian authorities last June apologized to the Chinese, and announced the offender had been punished. But the Chinese anger was not assuaged. Peking maintained it was a deliberate act of "hooliganism."

Since then Soviet policemen in front of the seven-story embassy building have been vigilant to prevent any new acts of vandalism or untoward incidents. No further ones have been reported.

The embassy has a ghostly air. One can stand for two hours in front of it without seeing anyone enter or leave. Chinese diplomats seem to have withdrawn turtle-like into a shell.

Not only the diplomats, but the several hundred Chinese university students and a handful of scientists and technicians still present in the country keep themselves isolated from Russians and foreigners alike.

Last year the Russians expelled three Chinese diplomats and two students for distributing anti-Kremlin propaganda. There have been no expulsions this year, but the number of Chinese in Moscow grows less and less. Students trickle back to China without being replaced. There are fewer and fewer official delegations.

There are even rumors that the embassy staff will be reduced.

If there have been any unfriendly incidents between Chinese and Russians on the personal, man-in-street level they have not been reported. There is virtually no daily contact in any case.

But the deep hostility of the average Russian toward the Chinese is reflected in complaints by some Japanese diplomats, correspondents and busi-

Rochelle Hudson Returns To Movies after 8 Years

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
 UPI Hollywood Correspondent
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Rochelle Hudson, a star in Hollywood's nostalgically remembered golden era who disappeared from movie screens for almost eight years, is acting in pictures again.

Miss Hudson has been living in Hollywood, Arizona and Oklahoma since appearing in the 1955 movie "Rebel Without a Cause." Her trips back to Hollywood were usually of a personal nature, to see old friends or look into her private business interests.

"Movies were something she thought about in terms of the past, a career which stopped in 1955.

Last year, Rochelle's thinking changed when producer William Castle cast her in "Straightjacket," a film which headlined one other veteran actress, Joan Crawford. She recently completed another film, "The Night Walker" with Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck.

Rochelle's desire to act in movies is not the drive usually associated with performers who look for their name on theater marquees.

Miss Hudson has seen all the glamor of a Hollywood career, films with such latter-day stars as Will Rogers, John Boles, W.C. Fields and Adolph Menjou. She's also appeared with Glenn Ford and Rock Hudson (no relative).

"I work when it's interesting," said Rochelle during lunch at the Brown Derby. "After you spend your teens and so many years under contract — owned lock, stock and barrel—you break away when you get the chance. Everybody does unless they're born in a trunk.

Miss Hudson has invested her money in real estate, a janitorial service, medical center and other holdings. She is financially independent, which means she doesn't have to take any film role offered.

Why does she act?
 "The most I've accomplished for the most people has been as an actress," she answers. "So if I don't act it's not fair to that talent."

COMPLAIN A LITTLE
 LONDON (UPI) — A doctor warned Britons today that their "stiff upper lip" can kill them.
 Dr. David Long said the tradition of carrying on without complaint could lead victims of serious diseases to postpone treatment until it was too late.

Mrs. Terry Kit Littlefield

Marie Mills and Terry Kit Littlefield Repeat Vows In Double Ring Service

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Marie Mills of Clarendon and Terry Kit Littlefield of Groom at 7:30 p.m., June 5, at the First Baptist Church in Clarendon. The Rev. Roland Moore, minister of the Methodist Church at Vigo Park, and uncle of the bridegroom, officiated at the double ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lee Mills of Clarendon and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Littlefield of Groom.

Mrs. Max Ray Faulkner, organist, played a prelude of wedding music and accompanied Miss Paula Housden who gave a vocal selection, "O Perfect Love."

Miss Janette Rumpy of Clarendon attended as bridesmaid and Miss Janis Mills, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Bobby Blalock was best man and Rickey Mills, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. Ushers were Robert Mills of Clarendon, Donald Mills of Clarendon and Stephen Mills of Quannah, all brothers of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a street-length gown fashioned of white chiffon over net with a jacket of chantilly lace with finger tip sleeves. Accenting the sleeves and back were small white seed pearls. Her short blush veil was fashioned of nylon net and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with miniature carnations and white rosebuds with long satin streamers.

A reception was held in the church parlor following the ceremony. Guests were registered by Danny Mills, brother of the bride, and wedding cake and punch were served from a table covered with white lace cloth.

The bride traveled in a burnt orange suit of linen with white accessories for their wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo. The couple is now at home in Groom.

Mrs. Littlefield has been employed as a nurse's assistant at Adair Hospital, Clarendon. Mr. Littlefield is a 1963 graduate of Groom High School and is now employed by Homen Meat Co., Groom.

Dear Abby.... Ask Clergyman for Help in Situation

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 15. She ran off with her boy friend, who is 18. They called us the next day from another state and said they were married. They stayed away ten days and then wired me for money to get their car fixed so they could come home. I sent them the money and they came home. When I questioned them about their marriage they answered very vague, so I became suspicious and asked to see their marriage certificate. They said they lost it. I told them they were not going to share a bedroom in my home unless they could prove they were man and wife. The boy's mother let them stay at her house, and said she trusted them. The boy quit school, can't hold a job and he talked my daughter into quitting school to run off with him. I don't think they ever got married, and it wouldn't surprise me if my daughter were in a family way. We are good Christian people, and this is a disgrace. What should I do?

SORROWING MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Ask your clergyman to talk to the young people. And the boy's mother, too. If they are not married, perhaps it would be better if they stayed that way until the boy grew up.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine sold her car last year, and now when she needs transportation, she never calls a cab, she calls me. I know for a fact that I have saved her over $100 in cab fares. She has never once offered to pay for gasoline or parking. She just hops out of the car and says, "Thanks a lot." Last week I got news that some house guests were coming. I was pressed for time so I asked this friend of mine if she would bake me a cake. (She is a very good baker.) She said, "Why don't you order one from Mrs. X? She's in the business." I felt as if I had been slapped in the face! What would you have done?

SPEECHLESS
DEAR SPEECHLESS: I would have called Mrs. X and given her the order. And the next time your "friend" calls for a free ride, refer her to a cab company, which is "in the business."

DEAR ABBY: Will you please explain the difference between FORMAL, INFORMAL and SEMI-FORMAL attire for men who want to be properly dressed? Everyone I ask has a different opinion. Thank you.

IN DOUBT
DEAR IN: According to Mr. B. Wien, President of the National Association of Retail Clothing Manufacturers, FORMAL is the ultimate in formal attire. It calls for white tie and tails, and is strictly for after 6 P.M. INFORMAL calls for a suit. Preferably dark. (No tweed or sports coat.) SEMI-FORMAL requires a tuxedo — sometimes called "black tie." Dark tuxedos are proper for all-year-round wear, but from Decoration Day until Labor Day, white or pastel tuxedo jackets are also proper.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. S. J.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE BRANDSTADT
As boating becomes more and more popular, boating accidents are becoming more common.

As with many other pursuits, the highest toll is among the newcomers who have not yet learned what the hazards are and how to avoid them. Even before you get your boat to the water, you must put it on a trailer and tow it behind your car. This calls for reduced speed, especially on curves and in a high wind. Otherwise, your trailer can literally pull you off the road.

Once on the water, consideration for others and common sense will go far toward increasing your safety and enjoyment. If you want all your friends to share your pleasure, take them aboard in relays. Overloading greatly increases chances of capsizing.

In any small craft avoid standing up or changing seats while the boat is in motion. If speed is your passion, don't buzz a dock or other boats, either anchored or moving. And keep a close lookout for swimmers and water skiers, who are the pedestrians of the water.

It is unsafe to jump or dive from a moving boat because you may hit a floating or submerged object or even hit the surface at an angle that will knock your breath out. For maximum safety insist that everyone aboard has a life jacket. Children should wear a life jacket at all times.

It is wise not to get too far from shore, especially in a small boat, because squalls often arise on very short notice. If your boat does capsize, stay with it. This will improve your chance of being seen and picked up. Besides, the shore may look closer than it is and even the best swimmers have trouble swimming any great distance in cold water, especially if it is rough.

Learn all the rules and obey them. Then, if you are not the seaskick type, have yourself a ball.

Q—My doctor prescribed Mellaril for me. What is it for? Is it habit forming?

A—Mellaril is a phenothiazine derivative that may be used as a tranquilizer. It is not considered habit-forming, but should be taken only under careful supervision by a physician.

Requirement Change For Engagement and Wedding Photographs
Starting Monday, July 13, all pictures for engagement announcements should be two inches wide by three inches deep (hillfold size). Wedding pictures should be five inches wide by seven inches deep. Deadline for pictures and story information is 3 p.m. Wednesday preceding the Sunday paper in which they are to appear.

5TH YEAR

Couple Will Make Home In Boulder, Colorado

PANHANDLE (Sp) — In a candlelight ceremony solemnized on June 30, the birthday of the bride, Miss Paula Rose Russ, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Russ of Panhandle, became the bride of Timothy Stephen Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Lewis of Goodland, Kan.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony in the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church of Amarillo, was Dr. Marshall S. Woodson, interim pastor. Altar decorations were two large fan-shaped arrangements of white gladioli and white peonies with multi-branch white candelabra and white candles placed on either side of each bouquet. Arrangements of jade palms as a background, completed the setting.

Organ prelude music of "Sheep May Safely Graze," "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Our God To Whom We Turn," by Bach; "Deck Thyself with Gladness," by Brahms, and two wedding hymns were played by Mrs. William Weatherly. Mrs. George A. Paxton accompanied by Mrs. Weatherly presented violin prelude selections of "Meditation," by Massen, "Arioso" by Bach, "Romance" by Wieniawski, and "Bless This House," by Brahe. Mrs. Weatherly played Purcell's "Trumpet Tune and Air" as the processional and "Trumpet Voluntary" by Purcell as the recessional.

Candlelighters were Miss Elois Hall, Miss Marcia Nichols of Tulsa and Miss Jo Lynn Gray of Canyon, cousins of the bride. They wore identical formal gowns of China blue silk organza over taffeta and wristlets of white carnations.

Mrs. Glenn Cockrell, Amarillo, was matron of honor. Miss Lynne Weiser, Washington, D. C., was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Lyn Lewis, San Francisco, Calif., sister of the groom; Miss Margaret Randel of Dallas; Miss Mary Nichols of Tulsa, and Mrs. Jones

Hedrick, Stinnett, bridesmatron. They wore identical formal gowns of Dior blue silk organza over taffeta and their circle veils of maline were attached to flat bows matching their dresses. They carried cascade bouquets of white asters with white satin streamers.

Kevin Elliot of Denver, Colo., was ring bearer. Tracy Cody and Teri Cody twin cousins of the bride, were flower girls and wore bouffant gowns of China blue silk organza over taffeta.

Walt Lockwood of Denver, Colo., was best man. Groomsman were Bob Wilkerson of Pampa, Larry Hicks of Denver, Richard Gray of Canyon and Billy Bob Brown, Amarillo, cousin of the bride, and Glenn Cockrell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown designed with sculptured neckline and fitted bodice of re-embroidered Alencon Lace. The bouffant skirt of peau de soie extended to a chapel sweep with lace appliques and mock bows accenting the back fullness. Her butterfly veil of illusion was attached to a pillbox of peau de soie enhanced with re-embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white butterfly roses showered with white stephanotis blossoms.

A reception in the church parlor followed the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with a tiered white cake with a nosegay bouquet of white roses on the top. The cake and sterling silver punch bowl were encircled with greenery dotted with small white flowers. A pair of multi-branched silver candelabra holding white tapers completed the table setting.

Serving were Mrs. Roger Griffith, Mrs. Michael Elliott of Denver, Miss Ann Martin of Clarendon and Miss Cynthia Haile of Hereford. Mrs. Billy Bob Brown registered the guests.

After a trip to points in Utah, California and Nevada, the couple will be at home in Boulder, Colo.

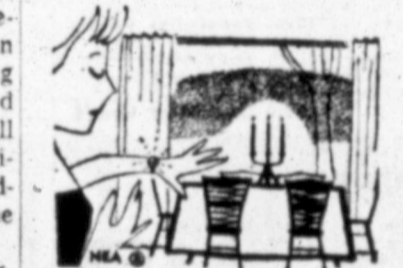

Mrs. Lewis is a graduate of Panhandle High School, Amarillo College, where she was president of Gamma Theta Chi, social sorority, and was secretary of the Panhellenic and student council, and from the University of Colorado, where she majored in Russian. Prior to her marriage she was employed in Boulder at the National Center for Atmospheric Research.

Lewis received his BA degree in Russian from the University of Colorado. During the summer of 1963, he studied in Finland with a selected group of students from the University of Colorado and traveled for two weeks in the Soviet Union with the group. He is employed in Boulder at the National Atmospheric Research.

Pre-nuptial courtesies included a shower hosted by Mmes. Elten Vance, A. J. Weiser, Cora McGregor, Amarillo; D. W. Osborne, Pampa; Dee Cummings, Howard Lane and Ralph Kirk, and a luncheon in the home of Mrs. Ralph Randel of Panhandle.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the bride's parents in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Haile, Amarillo, uncle of the bride.

NEW POWER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved legislation Tuesday to give the State Department new authority to protect visiting heads of state and other foreign dignitaries.

The measure, which would expand a 1791 law, would empower State Department security officers to arrest anyone who attempted to assault visiting chiefs of state or foreign ministers.

Delegate From Wisconsin Says 'Battle Is Over'

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — A Scranton backer in the Wisconsin delegation to the Republican National Convention today criticized the governor's efforts as "amateurish" and said it appeared to him "the fight is over" in the governor's bid to win the presidential nomination.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see practically all of our delegation vote for Goldwater because they want to be with a winner," the delegate said.

However, William Moeller, a Scranton campaign aide from New York City and a native Wisconsinite, disagreed.

Conceding "things could be better," Moeller said that in 1,000 miles of travel since he arrived here a week ago, he hasn't found all of the sentiment among the delegates to be "pro-Goldwater."

"If we can prevent Mr. Goldwater from winning on the first ballot, anything can happen," said Moeller.

The Wisconsin delegation is seen as a key to a first-ballot victory for Goldwater. The delegates are presently committed to favorite son candidate Rep. John Byrnes, R-Wis., but he could release them at any time.

Braniff Airways Control Changes

DALLAS (UPI) — Control of Braniff International Airways, Inc., was set today to change hands for the second time in three years, with the announcement of a stock purchase by Greatamerica Corp., of Dallas.

The investment and management company headed by Troy Post of Dallas said it will buy 750,000 shares in the airline for $18.75 million. Greatamerica also offered $25 a share to all other Braniff stockholders.

Old Texas Wagon Makes Debut on Paris Stage

PARIS (UPI) — The spokes and rim of an old Texas wagon were pieced together on a Paris stage today while the ring of hammers mingled with Texas accents and French.

The Dallas Theater Center Wednesday night will perform "Journey to Jefferson," the official American entry in the renowned Theater of Nations' way. The company, regarded as one of the finest year-round repertory groups in the United States, will present "Journey to Jefferson," an adaptation of William Faulkner's "As I Lay Dying" for three nights. Baker of the company's scenery, director Paul Baker reflected the did not think Parisians would be surprised to see such a skilled company exists outside of New York.

"In Europe, as a matter of fact, they can't conceive of only one city in a country having the River Seine on the historic Chatelet Square.

Baker himself speaks French from his days here as chief of the entertainment branch for U.S. armed forces in Europe during World War II. Baker and other members of the troupe also appeared in a Paris theater in 1952.

But an interpreter was on hand today to help 28 actors in the troupe, who also double as stagehands, set up their 5,000 pounds of scenery.

"It just arrived from Frankfurt at 8 o'clock last night," said Baker. "We also have about 60 costumes and brought our own props — everything including that wagon, an old one we found in Dallas."

The company opened its first European tour in Frankfurt, West Germany, June 28 with a two-night stand that was received enthusiastically. After Paris they appear at a festival in Ostend, Belgium, July 14 and 15, and then play two nights in Brussels July 16 and 17 before returning to Texas July 18.

Baker said the Theater of Nations invited the repertory company to be the official American entry after seeing its work in its startling theater designed by Frank Lloyd Wright. The money for the trip was raised in two days by Texans with traditional enthusiasm, and thus the Sarah Bernhardt Theater now is plastered with posters proclaiming "Dallas-USA."

In addition to showing Europeans that culture does exist in the Southwest, the Dallas group is benefitting in return from exposure to European culture, Baker said.

"One reason we wanted to come here was that we have worked hard for five years, and we needed to get out and see other theaters," the director said. "We've been here a week and our group has been busy seeing what's going on — the Paris opera, the Modern Museum, the Louvre Museum and its experimental theater, the Comedie Francaise, the French National Theater."

"We saw a Samuel Beckett play in one experimental theater which also had a puppet show. We saw the 'Vicar' here and thought the staging was powerful."

Callison, Mays Stars of Stars

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — Man-of-the-hour Johnny Callison has the feeling this may be Philadelphia's year, but whether it is, or not, the rest of the National League All-Stars were convinced today this definitely is their year.

Down 12 games to four at one stage of the 31-year old All-Star competition, the National League finally squared the series at 17 games apiece Tuesday by beating the American League 7-4 before a perspiring, pop-eyed crowd of 50,850 at Shea Stadium.

The 25-year old Callison, a key man in the Phillies' surprising surge to first place at the All-Star break, was the fellow who popped all the eyes.

Coming up with two out, two men on and the score tied 4-4 in the ninth inning, he ripped into an inside fast ball served up by Boston's ace reliever, Dick (the monster) Radatz, and deposited it high into the right field seats for the clincher.

Phillies' Players Star
Callison's climactic homer, coming little more than two weeks after Philadelphia teammate Jim Bunning pitched the National League's first perfect game in modern history against the New York Mets, prompted one clubhouse visitor to suggest it would be the Phillies' year.

"It just may be at that," grinned the elated Callison, as he accepted congratulations from winning Manager Walt Alston and the rest of his triumphant NL teammates.

Callison, of course, didn't do the entire job himself Tuesday. Willie Mays, participating in his 12th All-Star game, was a major factor, too, even though he failed to hit safely in three official trips.

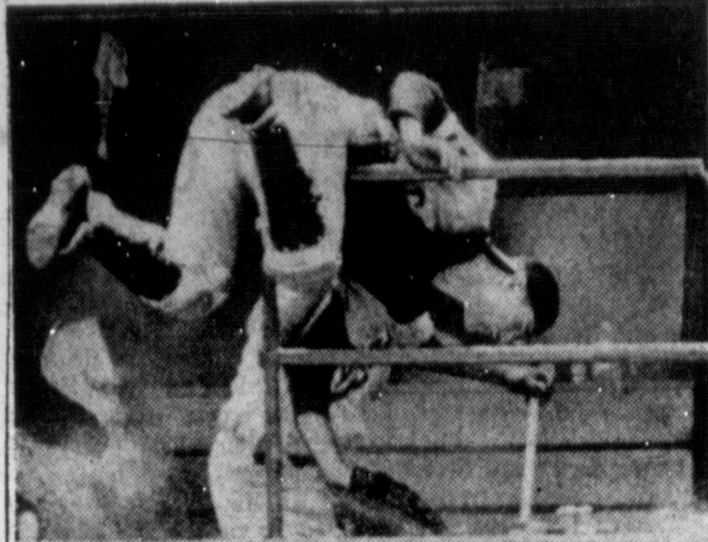

It was wondrous Willie who ignited the National League's spectacular four-run rally in the ninth inning when he coaxed Radatz for a walk and then slid safely into second base with his sixth stolen base in All-Star play.

Mays, Cepeda Rally
Mays' San Francisco sidekick, Orlando Cepeda, kept the rally going by dumping a Texas League single into short right field and that turned out to be the pivotal play of the game.

"Nobody had a chance to catch it," Lopez explained later. "Cepeda hit the ball on his fists."

In his haste to keep Mays from scoring, Yankee first baseman Joe Pepitone threw hurriedly toward home plate past catcher Elston Howard's outstretched reach.

Willie, who was playing it perfectly cool all along at third base, immediately took off for the plate and made it easily to tie the score.

PERILS OF POP-UPS

Chasing pop flies offers all sorts of perils for catchers. Left, Gerald McNertney of the Chicago White Sox dives into the dugout in his eagerness to capture one. Bob Tillman of Boston, lower left, beats a fan to the draw to make his retrieve. Lower right, Merritt Ranew of the Chicago Cubs collides with teammate Ernie Banks as they pursue a pop-up.

Nicklaus Heads Potent Field in British Tourney

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus was the man to beat today when 120 golfers from 20 nations teed off for the first round of the 93rd British Open golf championship.

Although this famed old tourney offers little in prize money, with only $4,200 going to the winner, it is rich in tradition and carries enormous prestige.

"The British Open is one of the world's major golf tournaments and every top golfer must play it as often as possible," Nicklaus said.

Nicklaus Favored
Nicklaus had only a day and a half to familiarize himself with the St. Andrews course after remaining in the U.S. long enough to take the $24,000 first prize at the Whitmarsh Open last Sunday, but he is still a solid 3-1 favorite to hoist the British title won last year by lefthander Bob Charles of New Zealand.

Nicklaus, along with Tony Lema, Doug Sanders, Doug Ford and Gary Player, jetted here immediately after the Whitmarsh Open at Philadelphia. Many local observers said they had burdened themselves greatly by their late arrival and Lema agreed today "You can play this course for 10 years and still not know it properly."

But Nicklaus averted the skeptics with a one-under-par 71 practice round Tuesday played in a howling gale and big Jack quipped: "This is some golf course—even without that weather."

The weather forecast called for better conditions Wednesday.

Third Try

This is the third time Nicklaus is competing in the British Open but the first time he's seen St. Andrews. He was third last year at Lytham after finishing way down on the list at Troon in 1962 when a 10 at one hole gave him a round of 80 he still hasn't forgotten.

Other Americans entered for the three-day competition are Phil Rodgers, Johnny Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz., Bill Johnston of Phoenix, Ariz., and amateur Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md.

There will be single rounds played on the 6,926-yard course today and Thursday with the top 40 qualifying for the final two rounds on Friday.

Australia May Forgive Stars

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI) — The Lawn Tennis Association of Australia will decide on Friday whether to reinstate "outlaws" Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle to the Davis Cup Team.

Victoria Tuesday became the third state to call for the reinstatement of Emerson, Stolle and the other rebels, and it appeared likely that the outstanding amateurs would be forgiven.

Emerson, who beat Stolle for the Wimbledon championship last Friday, said in Baastad, Sweden, Tuesday that he already had been contacted by Australian officials. Emerson said he agreed to the stipulation that he promise to remain in Australia from October 1, 1964, to February 28, 1965, if his suspension is lifted.

Emerson, Stolle, Marty Mulligan and Ken Fletcher were suspended from representing Australia for one year in international competition because of their refusal to comply with a ban on overseas trips prior to March 31 of this year.

Colts Defeat Braves, 5-4 In Tri-State League Game

By KARL O'QUINN
Daily News Sports Editor
BORGER — Jerry Glover's booming bat and Mike Clark's clutch pitching carried the Pampa Colts to a 5-4 win over the Borger Braves last night in Huber Park.

Glover hit a single, two doubles and a home run in four trips to the plate to pace all hitters and account for four of Pampa's five runs.

Clark gave up a two-run home run in the second inning but when he got ahead he protected his lead. He struck out the side in the ninth to end the game.

Borger pitcher Mike Hyatt was more spectacular but not as effective in the long run. He struck out 15 batters for the second game in a row and has now fanned 57 in 40 innings.

Bob Fink walked to open the Brave second frame and scored when Gary Temple, with two out, slammed an 0-2 pitch over the light standard in left field.

Pampa then scored in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh to total enough runs for Clark's victory.

Jerry Glover doubled, went to third on an error by the right fielder and scored on a passed ball to put the Colts back in the game in the fourth.

Glover drove in the tying run in the next frame when he doubled on the hit and run play and sent swift Kenny Hebert to the plate. Hebert had walked.

Mike Stewart put the Colts ahead in the sixth when he walked, went to second on a wild throw by the pitcher, to third on a wild pitch and home on Royce Harnsberger's single.

The Colts finished their scoring in the top of the seventh. Roy Stephens beat out a throw by third baseman Vernon Welch, who had momentarily bobbled Stephens' ground ball. After Hebert fled out, Glover hit one across the street which borders left field.

Pampa did not threaten again but Borger picked up single runs

Kansas Team Here Tonight

The Pampa All-Stars take on the powerful Rosel softball team of Liberal, Kans., in a doubleheader at 7 tonight at Lions Park.

All-Star manager David Gantz said he would start his own Charlie Vaughan in the first game and Panhandle Packing's Raymond McKinney in the second.

Other than McKinney, the Pampa team will be almost solely the team entered in the Industrial Softball League.

The Liberal team has a 59-8 record over the past three years and has consistently been one of the High Plains' better teams.

Two pitchers who were named to the Kansas All-State team in 1962, Carlos Frey and Lynn Chadd, will start for Rosel.

BUNNING PARK

FORT THOMAS, Ky. (UPI)—Jim "Perfect Game" Bunning of the Philadelphia Phillies will have a park named for him in his home town later this month.

in the seventh and eighth to tighten the score.

A double by Warren Bell and a single by Hyatt brought in one run. Singles by Vernon Welch and Bell scored the other one in the eighth.

All Borger hopes for a comeback were quickly squelched in the ninth when Clark struck out Temple, Bill Riordan and pinch hitter Benny Hill.

Kenny Hebert turned in a sparkling performance at third base. He had seven assists and started two double plays.

The victory was Pampa's first in the second half of Tri-State League competition against three losses. The Colts are 5-4 in the first half with Thursday's Umbarger game still to be counted.

Borger, 7-2 in the first half and one win away from the title, is also 1-3 in the second half.

Windsor shaded Dixie 7-6. McCathern bumped Coronado 1 in 16-10 and Rotary walloped Radcliff 19-0 in games this week.

Both Windsor and Dixie used extra-base hits to score their runs. Dixie played catch-up all night and never led. Windsor's largest lead was three runs.

Bobby Cloud of Windsor hit two home runs in three at bats. Johnny Jenkins homered for Dixie in the second inning.

Windsor's Larry Kotara hit a home run but did not touch home plate and was credited with a triple.

Gary Haynes relieved Mike Pearson and received credit for the win. Vernon Johnston was the loser.

McCathern survived a ten-run first inning by Coronado Inn and went on to win. The victors scored eight times in the fourth and six times in the sixth.

Jeff Hogan went the route for McCathern and took the win. Tim Jones, the third Coronado hurler, was the loser.

Jones also hit four for four, and Kenneth Wallace of McCathern was four for five. Wallace and Oliver each hit two doubles.

Rotary scored in every inning and completely dominated its game with Radcliff.

Snell, the winning pitcher allowed just one hit in blanking Radcliff. The loser, Irvin, gave up 16 hits.

Snell hit two home runs and Roper one.

TIM ADSIT

VIC KEYES

BOUND FOR STATE — Tim Adsit and Vic Keyes left today for Abilene where they will compete in the state Junior Tennis Tournament as representatives of the Pampa area. Adsit, winner of the local Jaycees tournament, is in the 16-and-under class. Keyes is in the 18-and-under division.

Industrial Softball

The Pampa All-Stars upset Weathered Humble 13-6 and Panhandle Packing moved into a first place tie with a 2-0 win over Miami last night. Cabot edged the Jaycees 3-1 in a third game.

The All-Stars broke a 3-3 tie with four runs in the fourth inning and went on to win handily. Humble never led.

Charlie Vaughan outpitched Delbert Daniels to gain credit for the victory. Vaughan was three for four at the plate, also.

Jerry Wright hit two home runs for Humble. Raymond McKinney shut out Miami on three hits and his teammates scored single runs in the first and fifth innings to give him the win. Larry Rider was the loser.

There were just five hits in the game. Cabot broke open a scoreless game with two runs in the fourth inning and took a close one from the Jaycees.

Nelson Kitchens allowed five hits in winning Ben Sparks

Americans, Aussies Oppose Open Tennis

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — Delegates from 45 tennis-playing nations arrived here today prepared to do battle over the issue of open tennis tournaments.

The problem threatened to turn the annual meeting of the International Lawn Tennis Federation (ILTF), opening today, into the hottest in the federation's history.

Great Britain and France were expected to head the countries favoring throwing open the Wimbledon tennis tournament to professionals like Ken Rosewall and Pancho Gonzales.

Australia and the United States were expected to oppose the proposal. Delegates of these two tennis powers, each of which has 12 votes, indicated they do not want the professionals to dominate the game of tennis. They also do not believe that the pros should get the lion's share of the receipts of major tournaments like Wimbledon.

Rumors of Braves' Moving Are Frequent

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — More than 20,000 persons turned out at the airport to welcome home the Milwaukee Braves at the end of the 1956 season after they had finished second.

It was the heyday of the Milwaukee miracle—the third year of attendance over 2 million. Things were going to get better. But they were also going to get worse.

Ahead were two pennants, a World Championship and a National League attendance record.

Ahead also was one of the biggest attendance slumps in the history of baseball.

By 1962 the number of people coming out to see the Braves had slipped to 766,927. In 1963, the "corner was turned" according to Board Chairman William Bartholomay, who headed a 12-man syndicate that purchased the team from Boston construction baron Lou Peripi in the fall of 1962.

Attendance rose slightly to 773,018. Then came the first rumblings.

The once miracle franchise of the National League was being transferred to Atlanta, Ga., Oakland, Calif., Seattle, Wash., or any other city that could "support" the club and had

5TH YEAR WEDNESDAY, JULY 8, 1964 11

Avalanches Taking Heavy Toll of Stars

CHAMONIX, France (UPI)—Death by avalanche has claimed its third renowned victim in three months.

Charles Bozon, a 31-year-old Frenchman who won the world slalom ski championship in 1962, was hurled to his death with 13 mountain climbing companions Tuesday when a massive avalanche swept down from Mont Blanc, Europe's highest peak.

On April 10, American skiing champion Bud Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., and German star Barbi Henneberger suffocated when tons of snow enveloped them while they were making a skiing film at St. Moritz, Switzerland.

It was also the second time this 13,500 foot Aiguille Verde (Green Needle) slope has claimed a member of the Bozon family. Charles Bozon Sr., claimed as France's greatest mountain climber, was smothered by an avalanche here in 1938.

Ironically, it was on these same slopes that the younger Bozon won his skiing championship.

Tuesday's tragedy began as a routine climbing feat for the 14 mountaineers. The group included Bozon and three instructors and top pupils at their skiing and climbing school.

Rebels Go To Dumas

The Pampa Rebels travel to Dumas tonight to try to sew up the championship of the north zone of District 18.

Pampa, 7-0 in district play, has already clinched a tie for the title since both Dumas and Borger have lost three games and the Rebs have just three games left.

Dumas faces possible elimination from the district playoff. Both champion and runner-up in each division will compete in the district tournament in Optimist Park July 16-18.

Dumas and Borger split two games but Dumas was upset by Perryton, also. Borger's only other losses were to the Rebels.

Hereford, which draws most of its players from Hereford High School's state semi-finalists, is the favorite in the south zone. Other teams in that zone are Tulia, Childress, Nazareth, Friona and Dimmitt.

One Negro's View on Race

That a great many Negroes are not in sympathy with the compulsory integration programs being pushed by some groups in this nation has been demonstrated a number of times.

The view of one southern Negro is given in the following letter which was published recently in the Jackson, Miss., Clarion Ledger:

"In these days of racial turmoil and strife I am wondering if we as Negroes are thinking seriously of where our so-called leaders are attempting to lead us.

"When we clamor to patronize white establishments, we are saying we are inferior to the white man. We are saying that we do not have the ability to build establishments for ourselves. This I cannot believe to be true.

"The NAACP, CORE, SNCC, Martin Luther King and Aaron Henry are using us for their own personal gain. While they have grown rich and famous, the Negro masses grovel in frustration and reap the ill-will created by these leaders and organizations.

"I believe in the integrity of the races and believe that racial amalgamation would destroy both the black and white races that God created. I believe in black people. I am proud to be black.

"Perhaps the NAACP meant to help us at one time but someone got the idea that they could use the Negro as a political football to gain for themselves power and wealth.

"I have a dream about my people. I dream of separate development for the races.

"The little city of Mound Bayou (Miss.) proves that we can operate our own municipalities. In Mound Bayou they do not have a jail. This proves that Negroes behave better when left to their own environment and without the frustration caused by integrated leadership like they have in Northern cities.

"I appeal to all Negroes that would like to build something for themselves. To stand on their own two feet and tell these integrationist organizations to get out and stay out. I propose that when these organizations send their professionals to picket and demonstrate in the South that Southern Negroes should counter-picket. It would be appropriate and would be a good means of expressing how the Southern Negro really feels.

"I further propose that when the 'Invasion of the South' takes place this summer that Southern Negroes act. I propose that when these white students start mingling and mixing in Negro establishments that the proprietors call the police and ask that they be removed. These outside white agitators should be told by Southern Negroes that their presence is neither desired nor appreciated."

State Dept. 'Policies'

This nation's policies (if any) certainly get more and more curious.

The above remark is prompted by revelations in the recent column by Robert Allen and Paul Scott about current State Department antics to help out President Gamal Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

The United States has a big supply of long-staple cotton which the taxpayers subsidized in the first place and on which they are compelled to pay storage. There's a shortage of this quality cotton in the world, and the United States could sell some of its surplus at world prices. But it won't.

The reason, according to Rep. Thomas Morris, New Mexico Democrat, is to help the economy of Mr. Nasser's country further. The U. A. R. is another big producer of long-staple cotton, but if the United States were to sell some of its $50 million stock of cotton, Mr. Nasser might not be able to do so.

Nasser's supply of hard currency is running low, and the United States is helping him out. Meantime, the U. S. supply also is low, but in the interest of "internationalism" this opportunity to help the United States and its balance of payments is disregarded.

Rep. Morris again brought out one of the other follies of the U.S. foreign aid program: The U.S. "sells" some of its surplus wheat to Nasser. But, it does not get money that can be spent on the world market. The pay is in what are called "counterpart funds." These may be spent only in the issuing country.

The money stays in the United Arab Republic for use of any sort of spending the State Department representatives choose to use it for. Oh yes, the department makes it available for touring congressmen to spend when they come on jaunts at taxpayer expense.

Relative to the cotton problem, Rep. Morris said: "Not only would the export of this cotton yield the Treasury upwards of $25 million in foreign exchange, so vital to our international balance-of-payments position," said Morris, "but also save the government what it costs to store this cotton for three years.

"Our growers urgently favor the sale of this surplus cotton. Foreign buyers are clamoring for it. It would net the government a handsome profit and save taxpayers millions in storage costs. There is every reason why this cotton should be sold. Only the State Department is balking at it — in line with its policy of constant trucking to Nasser."

SENSING

PLANNERS OF INSURRECTION

Nothing in the American experience has prepared the nation for the invasion of the State of Mississippi now in progress by youths trained and organized by the National Council of Churches and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

Indeed the average American, planning a peaceful summer vacation, can hardly imagine what is involved in this extraordinary combined operation to push through revolutionary changes in the customs of one state. Few churchmen, certainly, understand that the NCC is devoting its personnel and finances to the invasion or that it is working hand-in-glove with SNCC; an organization that is insurrectionary in character and infiltrated by communists.

Whatever opinion the vast Negroes behave better when left to their own environment and without the frustration caused by integrated leadership like they have in Northern cities.

If it is social change that the American people desire, there are plenty of peaceful means achieving it in this republic — ways of bringing it about gradually without a social explosion. The principal means embodied in our U.S. Constitution is the amendment process. But those who desire radical change are afraid to attempt to use the amendment process, for they fear that change is wanted only by a tiny radical group, not by the great body of the American people.

Another legitimate instrument of change in our society is the system of states. They amount to 50 laboratories. Their utility lies in the fact that each traditionally has had its own special approach to the problems of popular government, allowing for progress geared to the special characteristics and needs of its people. Now the liberal intelligentsia, concentrated in a few crowded, hectic metropolitan centers, are determined that everyone must live the same way and have precisely the same system of state government. This desire already is productive of ill-will among the American people.

If this weren't bad enough, the states have to reckon with militant extremists who aren't satisfied with the slow but regular processes of the law and social custom. They are determined to launch a mass agitation movement against a state or a community, such as Mississippi and St. Augustine, Fla., in order to turn the established order upside down. They care not in the least how they torment a community, disrupt its economic life, turn its churches into centers of strife, and blacken its image around the nation. These militant radicals are so morally insensitive that they do not care that people are injured, that peaceable people are inflamed, or that social warfare inundates a community or state.

To find a parallel to the invasions of Mississippi or St. Augustine one has to look back to the 1930s when Nazism was spreading across Germany, when radicals were meeting in beer halls, and when the Hitler Youth were being trained to invade communities and destroy law and order and social peace. The same type of behavior is manifest in America this summer as hard-eyed leftists recruit confused youths to send them into communities as a spearhead of insurrectionary social revolution.

This is the kind of behavior and social attack for which the United States is ill-prepared. Cities and states are prepared to defend established rights in the courts. But they aren't familiar with the use of the "human wave tactic" against places of business and community facilities. This revolutionary device is remarkably similar to what the Chinese communists advise in the way of political action. The waves of demonstrators are used to topple the property rights of merchants, motel owners and other businessmen.

One can only wonder how long it will be before the home-grown revolutionaries will make larger corporations their targets — how much longer it will be before swarms of specially recruited demonstrators will be urged to conduct sit-ins at the plants and factories of U.S. companies.

This is the classic pattern of what the Soviets call partisan warfare, and it is a pattern that is becoming clearer all the time

President Okays Young Citizens Rally at Convention
Despite Warning of Possible Stampede
for 'Bobby' as VP

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — While Republicans are grabbing the spotlight in San Francisco this week, President Johnson is enlisting the nation's youth — at some personal political risk.

He has given convention planners the go-ahead to bring between 12,000 and 13,000 youth leaders, many attracted to the Democratic party by the late President Kennedy and supporters of Attorney General Robert Kennedy, to Atlantic City next month to "kick off" the presidential campaign.

The Democratic leaders of tomorrow are being invited to take part in an unprecedented Young Citizens Day rally to be held on the convention floor on Tuesday, August 25.

This colorful youth rally — which some Johnson advisers fear "Bobby" may use to push his vice presidential ambitions — is being billed as a convention within a convention.

The "brain-child" of Senator Birch Bayh, Ind., chairman of the National Johnson Youth Organization and a close friend of the Kennedys, the rally will include the party's top speakers and the nation's outstanding young entertainers.

The political significance attached to this youth rally is indicated by the decision of the convention planners (named last fall by the Kennedys) to shift the memorial service and tribute to the late President to Monday, the first day of the convention, rather than Tuesday.

This unannounced change in the program already has caused some of President Johnson's congressional advisers to warn him that if these arrangements stamped into accepting a vice presidential candidate he does not approve.

They point out that the supercharged youth rally will come the day before the delegates nominate the presidential and vice presidential candidates, and follow the day-long glowing tributes to the late President Kennedy, highlighted by an inspiring two-hour movie on his life.

This impassioned chain of events, the advisers stress, could set off a wave of emotion in the convention that could sweep "Bobby" into the vice presidential spot — and do it quickly. The delegates will number hundreds from political organizations "Bobby" himself set up for his brother.

It may be, as some of his closest advisers are now hinting, that President Johnson would be satisfied with such a result. But if not, as others claim, the President has little time left to head off this imminent Kennedy blitz.

sent out hundreds of letters to state Democratic leaders notifying them of the number of "youth delegates" they will be permitted to send to the convention.

These youth leaders, who will have convention floor privileges on Tuesday, are being asked to pay their own transportation, but are being given bargain-rate housing accommodations — at $5 a day.

As an extra inducement, 2,000 of them will be given paying jobs as guides and program handlers at the convention; also attractive uniforms to catch the eye of the millions of TV viewers.

TAKING OVER — At their "convention within a convention" the youth leaders will sing their praise of Democratic party leaders, hammer out their own platform and shape final plans for a nationwide youth enlistment drive.

According to one confidential memorandum circulated by the "Bayh group," youth clubs will be up on all college campuses during the September registration week for students returning to school.

All clubs are to be integrated and include as many Negro officers as possible. Other organizations will be set up in all large industrial cities and rural areas.

Prime objective of the youth clubs, in addition to enlisting voters for President Johnson, will be to keep the image of the late President alive. This is also the goal of Attorney General Kennedy, who is saying he wants to do this by staying in "government and being involved with young people all over the world," but especially behind the Iron Curtain.

Since the brother of the late President has so far failed to respond to a presidential offer to continue his government service in either a high-level defense or diplomatic post, political signs are mounting that he will let the Democratic convention decide his fateful next step.

POLITICAL FALLOUT — Attorney General and Mrs. Robert Kennedy were accompanied during part of their recent European tour — including the visit behind the Iron Curtain to Warsaw — by the wives of a Washington newspaper friend and a high U.S. Information Agency official. Pierre Salinger, Democratic candidate for the Senate in California, is quoting President Johnson as privately saying that "Robert Kennedy, is completely qualified for the vice presidency." Salinger, who worked with "Bobby" on the staff of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, is campaigning for a Johnson-Kennedy ticket. Samuel Pryor, airlines official and former Republican National Committeeman from Connecticut, is faced with a hard political choice this year. Democratic Senator Thomas Dodd, a close friend, has asked him to raise money for his re-election. Dodd's GOP challenger, John Lodge, has told Pryor that he expects both a large campaign contribution and a public endorsement.

Cannel At Bay

WASHINGTON — We find it a great inconvenience to have to stay indoors and save the Republican party just now when the good weather is here, and we are taking on the job only because we feel a basic responsibility to all oppressed minorities.

By rights, of course, this task belongs to the party leadership. But nobody seems to know where Teddy Roosevelt hid it in 1912. Teddy would think that after a half-century of progress some big company like DuPont or Kraft could make another one.

In any event, Richard Nixon says he cannot look for it. "When you lose your party," he told us, "you have to wait until they come to you."

Sen. Goldwater does not have it, according to Gov. Scranton. Meanwhile, Gov. Scranton may not even be eligible for it as he is becoming a Democrat. We have learned from insiders at Goldwater headquarters.

And as to Gen. Eisenhower, we cannot tell if he wants the Republican leadership because nobody is home at the Gettysburg address.

Whatever the reasons for the situation, we have come away from a tour of the Republican civil war with an overwhelming desire to save the party without, of course, actually accepting the nomination.

And to this end, we have called a number of friends and colleagues who have been very active in other public services such as stamping out mental illness and campfires. But almost without exception, we have heard the same response from all of them, namely:

"Leave it alone. There is nothing you can do for these people. They are determined to fall apart. And besides, it is time for a realignment of our political parties."

This is a very popular diagnosis and remedy nowadays, the theory being that if the Republicans blow themselves up, the Democrats will have no reason for staying together and the law of natural selection will prevail — all the bad guys will drift into one party and all the good guys will drift into your party.

Well, it is a wonderful plan and would work out quite nicely if there were enough bad guys to go around. But the whole problem with politics, it seems to us, is the difficulty in telling virtue from sin.

Whatever it looks like going into the race, it usually comes out remarkably moderate. And a party of moderates, we think, is a pretty dull prospect, akin to living in one of those cozy, look-alike suburbs where people know what everybody else is doing and only read the papers to see who is getting caught at it.

The only people remaining to form an opposition party, as we see it, would be a little band of radicals, leaving Barry Goldwater as the coalition chairman of the John Birch Society and the Communist party.

Around the World

VIET NAM — A KOREA
OR WORSE?

The South Viet Nam crisis looms larger every day. More often than not it seems to be another outcropping of the underlying retreat policy of our State Department which has disclaimed victory over Communism as its goal, even while our sons are dying for us in that remote part of the world.

South Viet Nam does give the appearance of being out of joint with policy elsewhere. There, and elsewhere else, we are actually clashing with Communists. But there is much evidence that this clashing is not in earnest.

The late President Diem was uncompromising with the Communists. The leading Buddhist agitator, Trich Tri Quay, with an extensive Communist background, proclaimed neutralization of South Viet Nam as his goal. He was quoted by Marguerite Higgins, the competent foreign correspondent: "We cannot get an arrangement with the North until we get rid of Diem and Nhu."

Yet, this is the Buddhist monk to whom Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge gave sanctuary in the American Embassy. Thereafter, Lodge, Roger Hillsman and others did work to overthrow Diem and Nhu and to bring to power a chrysalis Buddhist regime which the current Premier Khanh in turn overthrew because he contended that it was planning the neutralization of the country.

The impression one gathers from listening to the utterances of our leaders is that our policy is not one of neutralization but of unconforming struggle, even with Red China, the fount of Viet Cong power.

However, there is much to indicate that the belligerence is mostly talk. We have made it abundantly clear that we will not carry the war beyond South Viet Nam and, in fact, Adlai Stevenson has already indicated that he would like to see the UN move in, not only on the Cambodian-South Viet Nam border, but to explore the whole area. When you read our expression of purpose, you find our goal something like taming the Viet Cong by one means or another. Neither Ho Chi Minh in North Viet Nam, nor Mao in Red China, much less Khrushchev who has been instigating the Viet Cong, is being included as a target of our martial purpose.

Meanwhile, there is to be shooting and dying by very real Americans. The impression is being given that we are forcefully clashing with the Communists, even while we are working toward a massive accommodation with them everywhere else.

Last week, Khrushchev promised superior weapons to his front-runner in Indonesia, Dictator Sukarno. Earlier, he sent encouraging greetings to the dread Viet Cong. Yet we continue to exempt him from the bloody business and even reward him. Fears are widespread that this will be the situation until after the November elections.

And Henry Cabot Lodge, part and parcel of the State Department under three administrations, tells the nation that Viet Nam should not be a campaign issue.

Pull Up A Chair

Disease took more lives in all wars than actual combat. During the Peloponnesian War in 429 B. C. the plague of Athens took 55,000 lives, more than died at Nagasaki in 1945. In the Crimean War (1854-1856) the 25 per cent died from enemy action. There were 15 cases of disease for every battle casualty in the Boer War (1899-1902).

And influenza in Europe in World War I caused more deaths than the war itself. Medicine was able to hold the old diseases in check in World War II, but a new affliction arose — psychological stress. Stomach ulcers led to the discharge of 25,000 British Army recruits in the first 16 months—30 times more than in the same period in World War I. Psychiatrists accounted for nearly one-half of those needing medical care.

Today's smile: A fellow who had run out of gas on the outskirts of a Vermont town greeted a boy coming along the road carrying a large can: "I hope that's gasoline you're carrying." The lad said: "I hope it ain't. It wouldn't taste so good on mom's pancakes."

The party conventions cut the field of Presidential possibilities to two major candidates, but the final choice is left to the voter. His qualifications for such an important duty vary from State to State. Georgia and Kentucky permit 18-year-olds to vote, in Alaska the age is 19 and Hawaii it's 20. Only 15 of the 50 states require a literacy test, and 5 States insist on prepayment of a poll tax. In Idaho an applicant for naturalization can vote if he has taken out his first citizenship papers, but in nearby South Dakota you've to be a five-year resident before they'll give you a ballot.

Thoughts while shaving: Haven't heard a Goldwynism for a long time. A few years back you were always running into the quaint sayings of the veteran movie producer. We were always skeptical that Goldwynisms were the product of Sam Goldwyn's press agent, but in any case they were amusing. Perhaps his most famous remark was "Include me out," and how can you forget "A verbal contract is not worth the paper it's written on." Goldwyn is the last of the movie magnates who made Hollywood a fabulous place, a distinction it no longer possesses — More and more middle income families are installing their own swimming pools. Many of them take up the entire back yard. The presence of frost conditions during the winter months is a factor in determining the cost of a private pool. One fellow, who recently installed his own pool, tells us his home is now like a country club every week — end with so many friends dropping in for a dip and a drink — Headline in the Connellsville (Pa.) DAILY COURIER: "Zoo Camel Bumps Into Woman, Shes." No doubt the camel sued the jury the lumps in its humps.

Country Editor speaking: "There's no such thing as equal rights until a husband can get alimony by crossing his legs and winking at a judge."

If Adam came back to earth, the only things he would recognize would be the jokes.

Southern Democrats See GOP Win if Kennedy Runs

By CLIFF SESSIONS
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—There is a strong feeling among southern Democrats that a Republican ticket headed by Sen. Barry Goldwater would sweep Dixie if Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy were the Democratic vice-presidential candidate.

This became evident in a poll of two dozen Democratic congressmen from the South.

At least one congressman from each of nine southern states predicted his state would vote either Republican or for unpledged electors if Goldwater is the GOP standard bearer and Kennedy is President Johnson's running mate.

The congressmen were polled for their opinions of which potential Johnson running mate is favored back home. Most of them said Defense Secretary Robert McNamara is the most popular, or the least unpopular, prospect in their states.

A little sentiment for Sargent Shriver and Sen. Eugene McCarthy and a lot of opposition to Sen. Hubert Humphrey also was reported.

But most of the congressmen said vice-presidential sentiment within their state parties had crystallized only against Kennedy and not for anybody.

Said a Tennessee lawmaker: "If the Republicans nominate Goldwater, they'll run strong at home because of the race issue, but I believe we can lick them unless Kennedy is on our ticket. In that case, we can kiss our chances goodbye."

"The only thing my constituents are sure of is that the guy they don't like is Bobby Kennedy," said a South Carolina congressman.

A Georgian said the nomination of Kennedy would be "the one thing that could cause us to lose Georgia."

A Florida congressman said the Republicans could defeat a Johnson-Kennedy ticket in his state even if Gov. William Scranton beats out Goldwater for the nomination.

"In my area," said a Virginian, "the feeling is negative rather than positive. The people are strongly opposed to the attorney general and not too happy with Senator Humphrey."

"No formulation of opinion," reported a North Carolinian, "except a tremendous anti-Kennedy sentiment."

The congressmen who responded to the poll asked that they not be quoted by name because, as one put it, "I must live with whoever gets the vice-presidential nomination."

"If it's Kennedy," he added, "there will be hell to pay."

KISSING TAILOR — KINGSTON - ON - THAMES, England (UPI) — Italian tailor Joseph Pascale learned Monday that there is a difference between Italy and England. Pascale, 22, was fined $5.50 for kissing a passing girl on the street despite his plea that "I didn't mean any harm." The girl burst into tears and called a policeman.

And think how nourishing they'll be. Cook Book adds protein, B vitamins, minerals, and energy galore to any sandwich filling. Take home the Cook Book Giant! P.S. The new Mister Twister Bag is re-usable as well as re-closable. Mighty handy for storing vegetables, cookies, anything you want to keep fresh.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

YOU CAN'T ENFORCE A BET is a bet with a friend, with witnesses present, a valid contract upon which you can collect in court? Can you force a person to pay off a bet that he made with you?

Jim was the town's most loyal supporter of the Marysville baseball team, even though the team was having a disappointing season. Tom, a supporter of Johnstown, a rival team, offered to bet Jim a sizable sum of money that Johnstown would beat Marysville.

Jim was quick to accept and asked several bystanders if they would be witnesses to the bet. That weekend Marysville won, but Tom refused to pay. Jim claimed that the bet amounted to a valid and binding contract. He wanted to bring a lawsuit against Tom to collect the money that he felt Tom legally owed him. However, he was advised that he did not have a case.

The bet that they made was a gambling contract, and as such was illegal. Where both parties assert rights founded on a contract which is illegal and void, the court will refuse to enforce it, leaving the parties just where they placed themselves, and as they were before coming into court. The court has said that they owe it to public justice and to their own integrity to refuse to enforce contracts essentially violating morality or public policy. It is a judicial duty always to turn a claimant upon such a contract out of court regardless of how the character of the contract is made to appear.

In this case, even though Jim could prove that he had made a contract with Tom, and regardless of the number of witnesses Jim could call into court to swear to the terms of the contract, the contract itself was an illegal one, made for an illegal purpose, gambling, and as such the courts will refuse to enforce it.

The courts will allow great freedom to people in the making of agreements between themselves, but they draw the line when the agreement made is illegal. The courts will not aid people in breaking the law.
