Republican Leader Dies in New York

By CHARLES J. JUSTICE
NEW YORK (UPI) Herbert Clark Hoover, humanitarian, statesman and 31st president of the United States died today. He was 90.

Death came in his Waldorf Towers apartment at 11:35 a.m. EDT when his heart, weakened by blood toxins resulting from massive internal hemorrhaging finally gave out.

The Army immediately put into action its long prepared plan for impressive funeral rites through which the nation could express its admiration and gratitude for Hoover's 50-year career of public service. His body will be flown later this week to Washington to lie in state under the Rotunda of the nation's capital, so recently the scene of President Kennedy's and Gen. Douglas MacArthur's lying-in-state.

He was stricken last Saturday with bleeding in his upper gastro-intestinal tract and failed to rally.

Physicians said the bleeding had caused an accumulation of toxic products in Hoover's bloodstream which the elder statesman could not overcome. This morning his heart began to fail.

At his bedside were his two children, Herbert Hoover Jr., former under secretary of state, and Allan Hoover. Hoover's wife, Lou Henry Hoover, died in 1944.

Hoover, one of the great humanitarians of World War I and the post war period, lived for years in the shadow of the disastrous economic depression which occurred during his administration. But he emerged again in World War II and its aftermath as a revered participant in domestic and world affairs.

Hoover, who was 90 last August 10, had the distinction of living longer as an ex-president than any other chief executive, although John Adams lived six months longer in his 90th year than Hoover. His death left only two former presidents - Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Hoover had been more or less inactive since last February when he was bedded by an old kidney ailment and a respiratory condition. He had his gall bladder removed in 1958, underwent surgery for a growth in his bowel in 1962, and was stricken by anemia and intestinal bleeding in 1963.

His survival after each of these setbacks was described by physicians as "miraculous." Through it all Hoover continued work on the fourth and final volume of his autobiography, "An American Epic" his 30th book. It was published last May.

The "grand old man of the Grand Old Party" was born a blacksmith's son and rose to fame and fortune as a mining engineer.

He had a distinguished career of public service behind him when he was elected to succeed President Calvin Coolidge in 1929, defeating Gov. Al Smith of New York. He had served in the cabinets of Presidents Warren Harding and Coolidge.

Shelhamer's resignation will be presented to the City Commission, who will appoint a replacement.

City Tax Bills Due In Mail by Nov. 15

City tax statements to local taxpayers are expected to hit the mail around the middle of November, according to Aubrey Jones, city tax assessor-collector.

"We are progressing nicely on our 1964 tax roll," Jones said today. "but it will be Nov. 10 to 15 before we will be able to get the statements out to local taxpayers."

Jones attributed the reason for the late mailing this year to the fact that the 1964 tax rate was not available until Sept. 29, two days before the end of the fiscal year.

The tax office also processes loan company requests before statements go to local taxpayers who pay directly. The tax collector said approximately 60 per cent of real estate taxes are paid through the loan companies.

Jones said that as of last Oct. 1, the city had collected $619,388.43 of the 1963 tax roll. This amounts to a 94.91 per cent collection.

The tax collector also stated that during the last fiscal year $21,199.39 in delinquent taxes was collected. These delinquent taxes covered all years. His figures show that delinquent tax collections in the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1963 were $27,948 and for the year ending Sept. 30, 1962 the figure was $24,775.

Jones pointed out that city values have not had an overall increase in a good many years.

"Any increase in total value," he said, "has been due to new construction or remodeled construction and new businesses."

Pampa's tax rate had been $1.45 per $100 valuation since 1961. It was changed this year to $1.47. In 1959 the rate was $1.52 and in 1960 it was $1.50.

Congressman Speaks at CofC Meeting

Congressman Walter Rogers addressed the Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon this noon and briefly touched on several problems of interest to the Pampa area generally.

Rogers' main topic was the problem of reapportionment in the legislative bodies in both the state and federal government.

He told the Jaycees that this was "one of the burning issues of our time and the proper solution could well determine the course of this country in its future."

He strongly advocated the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution that he said has been proposed for some time. This amendment, Rogers stated, would permit the Congress, which is made up of duly elected people, to override the decision of the Supreme Court declaring acts of the Congress or a State Legislature unconstitutional and would require two-thirds of the Congress to override such a decision. The congressman pointed out that "this would vest the Congress with the same power concerning the judicial arm of the government as it has with regard to overriding vetoes of the President in the executive branch of the government."

Rogers called attention to the desires of Thomas Jefferson when the Constitution was written to include certain restrictions on the Supreme Court, and stated that he felt that this was a matter that must be faced sooner or later in the development of true representative government.

Membership Drive Announced By Pampa CofC

The annual membership banquet of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will be held Nov. 10, in Robert E. Lee Junior-High School Cafeteria.

Speaker will be Dr. Ben H. Wooten, chairman of the board of the Dallas Federal Savings and Loan Association. Wooten served as president of the First National Bank in Dallas until 1960, at which time he took over his present duties. Several outstanding honors have been accorded him in connection with his business and civic activities, including Dallas' Top Salesman in 1950, Dallas' Headliner of the Year in 1952, recipient of the Linz Award, Dallas' top honor for outstanding community service, and was presented New York Sales Executives' Club Applause Award in 1958.

Wooten served as president of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce in 1952 and 1953 and was one of the organizers of the Texas Research League. He is immediate past trustee of Baylor University and a member of the Dallas Executive Committee and immediate past chairman of the board of Baylor University Medical Center.

Wooten is much in demand as an after dinner speaker and Chamber of Commerce groups is his specialty.

Tickets for the banquet are now on sale in the Chamber of Commerce offices at $2.50 per plate. The public is invited to attend the annual meeting.

Reservations will be handled on a first-come, first-served basis. An outstanding program is being arranged to assure a full evening's entertainment. Approximately 500 people are expected to be in attendance. Delegations (See CofC, Page 3)

Herbert Hoover

Herbert Hoover 1874-1964

NEW YORK (UPI) - One overwhelming irony hung like a shadow over the long life of Herbert Clark Hoover and marked his many years as an elder statesman with a deep and abiding melancholy.

It was indeed ironic that the only time in a distinguished career as a public servant, Hoover suffered from unpopularity or was accused of failure on that one occasion when he assumed the highest office his countrymen have to offer.

For Hoover, the 31st President of the United States, the White House became the center of tragedy, an easy target for a nation plunged into fear and confusion.

In many ways, Herbert Hoover was a victim of one of history's most violent upheavals, but the angry cries of "the Hoover depression" echoed around him for years and filled his life with bitterness.

Still Served Nation It was a great tribute to his personal sense of "rugged individualism" that Hoover did not yield to the temptation of brooding in self-imposed obscurity after he left the White House, but instead devoted three more decades of service to the nation he so dearly loved.

Right up to his death Hoover never stopped working on what he once whimsically called his "unending public chores" and while in his 80s he maintained a daily schedule which would tax the strength of a man half his age. It required four secretaries and a research assistant working full-time just to keep up with the rugged pace of the man who tackled a work load which consumed 14 hours a day seven days a week.

During these waning years in a career that began before the turn of the century, Hoover journeyed thousands of miles by air and auto each year to receive honorary degrees from universities and colleges; to make speeches at the opening of boys clubs; and to carry on his duties as a member of 12 different boards of directors or trustees of educational and scientific institutions.

"Council of Free Nations" On Aug. 10, on his 88th birthday, he traveled from his permanent residence in a New York hotel to his home town of West Branch, Iowa, for the dedication of the Hoover Memorial Presidential Library.

On that occasion, he proposed that a "Council of Free Nations" be formed to preserve world peace. He said such a council would be in a position to step in and act in the event the United Nations should fail in its mission to safeguard global peace.

Hoover also took the opportunity at the dedication ceremony to reassert his lifelong faith in America.

He referred to "the inner forces from which comes the strengths of America" as assurances on the nation's "future and its continued service to mankind."

For two decades, Hoover was referred to in newspaper stories as "the nation's only living former president."

Then, in 1953, Harry S. Truman joined the exclusive club and the membership bulged to three men when Dwight D. Eisenhower left office in 1961.

Sets Record But Hoover set a record that will be difficult to equal—he lived longer as a former chief executive than any other president in history. And no man, after leaving the White House, matched Hoover's performance of unstinting devotion to public service.

During all this time, Hoover never lost faith in the belief he (See HOOVER, Page 3)

Chilly City Employees Await Boiler Solution

City Hall officials today were wrestling with a major problem involving the comfort of employees this winter.

The boiler that governs the building's 30-year-old steam heating system has gone out of service. It is rusted through and ready for the junk heap, officials stated.

City Manager Harold Schmitzer and Public Works Director R. B. Cooke were studying the situation in the hope of coming up with a temporary repair plan.

Meanwhile city hall employees were hoping that the weather stays warm.

The matter came up at today's meeting of the city commission. City Manager Schmitzer called the problem "serious."

Commission members, when they heard the story, authorized the city manager to get bids immediately on plans for central heating and air conditioning the building on a unit basis.

This would mean that the city hall would be divided into several areas with separate heating and cooling units so that any one or all of them could be used. The offices of the Texas Railroad Commission and the Palm Room of City Hall already have central heating and air conditioning ducts. This also is true of the city manager's offices and reception room and the city tax office. However, all of these areas still use the steam heat system.

Other areas of the city building use refrigerated air window units for cooling and depend on the steam boiler for heat.

"We thought we could get by for awhile," City Manager Schmitzer said, "but on the first cold day it was discovered the boiler was in worse shape than we thought."

Workers were busy in the boiler room today in an effort to weld the boiler back into shape where it can again be used, at least temporarily, until a permanent solution to the city hall heating problem is reached.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Johnny Keane, who quit as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals the day after they defeated the New York Yankees in the World Series, today signed a one-year contract to manage the Yankees. The move was unprecedented in baseball history.

As I Knew Him

By LUCY SCHANEFELT
Daily News Staff Member

When Herbert Hoover was asked to head the newly formed Food Administration during World War I, my father was selected as one of the "Dollar a Year" men to serve under him and assist him in transportation problems.

My family and I followed Dad to Washington in those fateful years 1917-18, where, as a girl of 13 I spent 12 exciting, frightening months — exciting because of the hum and bustle of the city when one could see foreign dignitaries and soldiers of all allied nations dressed in their colorful uniforms — frightening because of the "War Across the Pond" that no one knew how long would last.

I think the most wonderful times, though, were spent with Dad on the Sundays that I was allowed to accompany him to his office located next to Mr. Hoover's.

There I met Mr. Hoover, who to me was one of the greatest men I had ever met.

Harassed as he was by an overload of work, the necessity of transporting and administering food to our own soldiers and allies, there never was a time that I saw him that he didn't take a moment to visit with me — a child.

As I recall, he was a giant of a man with dark hair and brows. He seemed to tower over me and yet even then was a little stooped as if trying to carry on his shoulders the burdens of the people of the world.

He was a quiet, gentle, soft spoken man and although I stood in awe of him at first, his very gentleness completely disarmed me and I loved and admired and respected him.

He was a man of great moral strength and compassion — a truly remarkable person who I am sure will live forever in the annals of our American history.

Traffic Group Has Routine Meeting

The acceptance of a letter of resignation from E. E. Shelhamer and a brief discussion on improving attendance by members was the principal business handled yesterday in the regular monthly meeting of the Pampa City Traffic Commission.

Shelhamer's resignation will be presented to the City Commission, who will appoint a replacement.

Commission Defers TV Decision

Mayor H. R. Thompson and other city commissioners decided today that they were going to need more time to study applications for a franchise to install coaxial cable, television service in Pampa.

Details of what they had to offer the city were submitted by the two firms, Worley and Worley of Shamrock and Dale Greenhouse and Calvin Fraser of Pampa.

"I just don't know anything about television cable service or what all is entailed here," Mayor Thompson said, "and I could not give an answer this morning."

Other commissioners agreed. The two applicants, both present at the meeting, said they were ready to serve the city. They said the service, which is designed to bring in a clearer television picture and additional stations, along with local programs, would range in cost from $3.65 to a maximum of $7 per month, depending upon the number of users.

Commissioners said they would study the detailed offers and notify the applicants when the next discussion will be scheduled.

In other business today, the commission deferred action on three bids for repairing, reassembling and relocating a ground storage tank. Bids were submitted by Eastern Tank & Steel Co., Atlas Tank Co., and the Water Tank Maintenance Co.

Authorization also was given today to invest $500,000 in government bonds. The sum is a portion of the $950,000 bond money derived from the recent sale of bonds for Pampa's sewage system improvements.

The commission also transferred $100,000 from the Water and Sewer Revenue Fund to the fund for general operating expenses.

Other city business included authorization to advertise for bids for two new billing machines in the water department and for new uniforms for the police department.

Also 11 new directors were officially installed into office during the brief ceremonies following the annual banquet. The affair was held in Coronado Inn.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

WATCH YOUR HAT, COAT
The sign over the coat rack read: "Not responsible for lost or stolen articles." John glanced at it as he hung up his coat and hat and then turned to assist Jean, his wife, in taking off her fur coat. He put it on a hanger beside his own.

The two of them drifted casually down the corridor into the dining salon and were assigned to a table by the hostess. The lunch was exceptionally good and both were hungry. The minutes flew by. John glanced at his watch. "Golly, it's almost 1 o'clock. Better get going."

But when they got back to the coat rack, Jean's fur coat was gone.

"I'm sorry, sir," said the manager, "but we are not responsible for lost articles. We put up the coat rack for the convenience of our patrons, but that sign you see makes you responsible for your own hat and coat rack, Jean's fur coat was just can't watch everybody's possessions."

Sign Not Factor

The fact is that in the case of Jean's fur coat the restaurant would not have been responsible for its loss even if there had been no sign. One who takes off a garment and places it on a coat rack, as one would do in a restaurant, retains the power of surveillance and control over it to himself.

Ordinarily, under such circumstances, the operators of the restaurant have no responsibility toward the customer's belongings because they have not knowingly received the exclusive possession and dominion over them.

The case would be different, however, where the coat had been delivered to an employee in a checkroom. In such event, the management probably would be responsible. So, also, in the cases where a customer checks valuables with a bathing house proprietor, or with a hotel desk clerk, or leaves his automobile with the parking lot attendant to be parked and stored for him, those receiving possession of the customer's property have the duty to use proper care to see that the customer's property is returned.

Lubbock Paper Endorses Bush

LUBBOCK (UPI) — The Lubbock Avalanche - Journal Sunday editorially endorsed Republican George Bush, who is running against Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex. The newspaper called Bush a man "who will follow majority wishes and needs."

"Texas needs a senator... whose ideas of public service are not the implementation of office as a sounding board for petulance but instead as a vehicle by which the greatest good may be accomplished for the greatest number of people," the newspaper said.

"We think George Bush, if elected on Nov. 3, fills the bill," the front-page editorial said. The Avalanche-Journal describes itself as independent Democratic and endorsed President Johnson last week.

Hoover

 formed as a young man—a belief in the American as an individual and in America as a nation.

Hoover was, as long as he lived, the exponent of a political philosophy that was swept away — perhaps forever—with the election in 1932 of Franklin D. Roosevelt.
 Domestically, Hoover felt that the American people could solve most of their own problems with little interference from the federal government. He also was a strict advocate of a rigid economical approach to government.

In foreign relations, Hoover often was labeled an "isolationist" by his opponents, but his outlook in that area softened considerably in recent years as was indicated by the "Council of Free Nations" proposal at West Branch.

American Fortress

But as late as the Korean War, Hoover expressed the belief that America was capable of building a fortress all its own. In a major speech at that time, he said "any attempt to make war on the communist mass by land invasion, through the quicksands of China, India or Western Europe, would be sheer folly."

He declared that America's defense lines should be the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Hoover brought his belief in government into the realm of his own pocketbook. In 1955 he revealed he had not personally used any of the government salaries paid him as president or for any other federal duties. Sometimes, he said, he had merely refused to accept his salary. And when he did accept it, the money became a contribution to one of his favorite projects.

It was the 1929 depression that made Hoover's years in the White House a time of pain and deep anxiety. While the depression was caused by a wide variety of complex factors, Hoover was blamed for not taking stronger action to spur an economic revival.

Under the grim and bitter stress of the times, the word "Depression" became synonymous with the name "Hoover" in the minds of many Americans.

ARC Highlights Teacher Banquet

Red Cross activities for the coming year at each Pampa school will be discussed tomorrow at the annual Red Cross Teacher - Principal banquet in the First Methodist Church.

Approximately 30 teachers and principals representing each Pampa school will decide activities and work programs to be carried out by the students during the year.

Joe Page, education relations director for the local Red Cross, will also explain the different changes Red Cross had undergone during the past year and how they will effect the school work programs.

The breakfast will be held at 7 a.m.

Abused As Scapagoat

In later and calmer years, most Americans realized that Hoover — to a great extent — had been abused as a scapegoat to explain a disaster that may already have been inevitable by the time he took the oath of office.

Price Speaks at Women's Parley

The Republican candidate for Congress pressed his charge today that his opponent, the current Congressman, too often ignores the "will and best interest of the people who elect him."
 Bob Price, Pampa rancher, was speaking at a coffee with Independent ladies in Amarillo when he said: "Our Congressman persists in voting according to the dictates of his Washington masters, rather than the known position of his home district. With 14 years of proven failure from our Representative, there is only one way to have our way, and that is to send one of our own to Washington."

"Even after we had voted, by a large majority, to reject a Federal Government scheme to take charge of this nation's wheat, our Congressman voted for almost that exact plan during the 88th Congress. The 1964 Farm Bill incorporated a subsidy schedule and Federal controls almost identical to those firmly refused by this district a year earlier."

Price made it clear he expects to be the man to replace the incumbent Representative as he continued his constant, and vigorous campaign whirl.

Obituaries

Newest Nation Has Oldest House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The world's newest nation may have the world's oldest house. The National Geographic Society said Monday that archeologists recently found the remains of a stone house built some 75,000 years ago near Abercorn in Northern Rhodesia, which becomes independent as the Republic of Zambia Oct. 24. "It may be the oldest actual house yet discovered," the society said. It said that rock paintings, carvings and prehistoric bone fossils suggest human occupancy in Northern Rhodesia nearly 100,000 years ago.

KILL FOUR AFRICANS
MASERU, Basutoland (UPI) — Four Africans were killed Sunday in a battle between supporters and opponents of the left-wing Basutoland Congress party at Rothe, 27 miles from Maseru. A number of Africans were injured, including deputy party leader G. P. Ramoreboli.

Misses Estimate Of 40 Million

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York World's Fair, which closed its doors Sunday night to climax its first season, attracted less than 34 million persons during the six months it was opened instead of the expected 40 million, fair officials reported. Thomas J. Deegan, Jr., chairman of the executive committee of the Fair Corp., said that as a result, it was estimated that the exposition would clear about $30 million in profits by the time it ends its final season next year. This would be about 60 per cent of the originally estimated profit. Deegan blamed the relatively poor turnout on riots in Harlem and Brooklyn, hot weather during July and overcrowded hotels during June.

In the public land survey system, a township is a square six miles on each side.

MONSTROUS MELON — Despite drought, Darcel Griffin of Sidney, Ark., was able to raise a 96-pound watermelon, one of the largest raised in Arkansas this year. Griffin's son, Dennis, 6, proudly exhibits the melon.

Foreign News Commentary

By K.C. THALER
United Press International

LONDON—Britain, which is selling buses to Cuba in defiance of the American blockade, is now pushing a similar deal with Red China.

Moves are under way for a big bus contract with Peking, to match the 25 million dollar Cuban deal.

Samples will be shown at the British Industrial Fair to be staged in Peking next month when other exhibits of British industry also will be displayed to whet the appetite of Red China's machine-starved economy.

The move is part of a determined British campaign for more trade with the Communist nations behind the Iron and Bamboo curtains.

Seek More Trade

British Conservatives and Laborites are at one in advocating more East-West trade which incidentally they also consider as an incentive for progressive easing of the cold war.

Britain has rejected American objections to her private industry supplying buses to Fidel Castro's Cuba.

She recognizes the Cuban government and holds there is no justification under diplomatic protocol to halt trade. The same goes for Red China. But Britain does not sell arms or war materials to either of them and has undertaken to bar the export of products to Cuba and Red China that are likely to enhance their war potentials.

Britain says she adheres strictly to the Allied security embargo governing relations with the Red nations, though again she feels that it could be eased substantially in the light of changing international conditions.

Economic pressures at home are likely to lead to still greater efforts to expand trade with the Communist nations on an increasing scale.

Extends Credit

In opposition to the United States Britain has thus decided to extend long term credits to Russia of up to fifteen years. Credits will also be granted to Red China if prospects for expanded trade prove promising.

Behind this policy lies partly the assumption that other nations in West Europe such as France and possibly Germany will sooner or later also seek more trade opportunities behind the Iron Curtain, and Britain wants to be the first.

But some experts have put a damper on over-extended hopes by pointing out that the Communists have little to offer in exchange and that trade is likely to be a one-sided affair for a long time to come. This would therefore require financial resources which neither Britain nor any other European country could afford for any length of time. In Cuba British trade has already come up against this problem.

TO MARRY COMMONER

ATHENS, Greece (UPI)—Prince Michael has denounced his rights as third in line to the Greek throne to marry a commoner.

A court announcement Monday said King Constantine, himself a recent bridegroom, had given Michael permission to marry commoner Marina Karelja, daughter of a Greek businessman.

GETS MILITARY GOODS

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (UPI)—The Czech ambassador Monday presented a quantity of military and civilian goods to Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian chief of state. Sihanouk, who broke with the United States last year, has been seeking aid from the Communist bloc.

JEWEL ROBBERY

LONDON (UPI)—Four men, one disguised as a policeman, robbed a jewelry shop in the fashionable Mayfair district of an estimated $84,000 - 112,000 worth of gems Saturday. Owner Arthur Berman opened the shop when the thief dressed as a policeman came to the door.

Sullivan, Mason Fight May End in Courtroom

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The show was over today, but the dispute between showman Ed Sullivan and comedian Jackie Mason may go on for some time — even leading to a court battle. The battleground ranged from Sullivan's plush Desert Inn suite at this gambling mecca to the concrete canyons of New York, where Mason threatened to sue Sullivan for libel. The issues: —Mason's alleged "obscene gestures" during last Sunday night's Ed Sullivan show, which the showman claimed was seen by 50 million viewers, including many children. —Sullivan's subsequent cancellation of a $35,000 contract calling for Mason's future appearance on five more of his shows. "The proof is on tape and all the king's horses and all the king's men can't change it," Sullivan said Monday, referring to Mason's gestures.

By United Press International
WASHINGTON — The surging pace of the economy slowed a little in September, the Federal Reserve Board says. The gain over the previous year was the narrowest of the year so far.

DETROIT — Workers at General Motors faced another payless week for the most part as stubborn disputes over local plant issues balked complete settlements with the union.

NEW YORK — Meshulam Riklis, McCrory Corp. appears definitely to have obtained control of Gen Alden Corp. from financier Albert List.

McCrory bought 35 per cent of Gen Alden on Friday and is reported to be preparing to make a tender for additional shares. Riklis is said to intend to liquidate some Gen Alden operations.

Dear Abby....

There Are Exceptions To Every Etiquette Rule

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You have said in your column that it is not proper to put "NO CHILDREN, PLEASE" on a formal wedding invitation, but if I had it to do over again, I would include it on mine. I was married in June, and there were 16 children under 12 years old at my wedding, and I don't mind telling you that they ruined it for me. At the reception they put their fingers in the punch bowl, threw food on the floor, and they were filthy from running, falling down and sliding all over the dance floor. One overgrown 8-year-old girl fell on the musician's cello and broke it to bits, and I was responsible. I don't care if it is improper. I am sorry I let my mother talk me out of making sure no children spoiled my wedding.

DEAR ABBY: Yes, it does get tiresome continually to tell a person to hold her cards so no one can see them, or "cheat your cards," as they say in Vermont. The player is so accustomed to hearing this that after a while it doesn't register. Here's how I cured someone: I said, "I see that you have four spades. Are you going to play the queen or the three - spot?" After that she remembered to hold her cards back.

DEAR ABBY: We are writing to find out how to put a fabulous new idea in packaging tooth paste on the market. If we contact the tooth paste companies, what would prevent them from looking at our idea, stealing it, giving us nothing and marketing it themselves? How do you go about getting a patent on an idea without having it stolen before the patent goes through? It is an absolutely new concept in the tooth paste field, but we don't know what to do with it. Can you help us?

DEAR ABBY: You have always held my highest esteem with your replies concerning domestic problems, but you lost the bid in the bridge department. When "Honest Abe" asked whether it was acceptable to peek at an opponent's cards, you

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Re-verse. Who smiles to see the summer go, the bright leaves fall, the chill winds blow, the hoarfrost on the stubbled soil? The dealer who supplies the oil! (R. H. Granville in the Saturday evening Post.)

Mrs. O. F. Kreimeyer, one of our faithful Gray Ladies, was reported ill. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Adams were also missing. They are visiting her daughter, Mrs. and Mr. Bill Robinson in Maysville, Okla.

Guests recently of Mrs. Lida Ramsey were her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cobb of Austin.

S. A. Barnard was also missed. He is visiting his son, S. A. Barnard Jr. and family, this week in Lubbock.

Those present, and just visiting were, Mmes. Myrtle Smith, Birdie McKinney and Lela Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Adams, Mrs. Myrtle Enloe and Clarice Sublett attended the high school drama, "Skin of Our Teeth," the other night and report it was a wonderful play and thoroughly enjoyed. A nice compliment for the drama students and their teacher.

Reported ill were Mmes. Lillian Brunell, Pearl Erwin and Maggie Deal, at home and Mrs. Pauline Beard, one of our Gray Ladies, in Highland Hospital. P. G. Turner was released from Anderson Clinic in Houston following surgery last Friday and is at home, and doing nicely.

Mrs. Elma Bailey spent last week visiting her son, Bob Bailey and family, in Brownfield, and while there they drove over to Denton to see the football game between the West Texas Buffaloes and the North Texas Eagles. Mrs. Baileys grandson, Mike Bailey, played on the Eagle team. Mike is a sophomore at North Texas.

Mrs. Katie Vincent has returned from a trip to Lubbock where she visited her niece and family.

ly, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Boone. Mr. and Mrs. Shelby White of Blunt, S. D. were recent guests of old friends, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wilkies.

Hostess this week were the Twentieth Century Culture Club. Serving home made pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee were Mmes. Warren Hassel, A. L. Wagner, V. L. Hobbs, Ross Buzzard, Dudley Steele, Rufe Jordan, Ollie Specht and Elizabeth Carter.

Door prizes went to Mmes. Lizzie Gretman, H. C. Wilkie, Lola Smith, Lyda Ramsey, P. G. Gates, Lucy Whaley, Margaret Conley, Mary Lee Bullock, J. M. Forrest, Nolen, Lillie Reynolds, Stella Wagner, George Higgins, Katie Vincent; and Messrs. Lewis Henderson, McMillan, B. G. Frasher, R. W. Tucker, A. E. Ellison, L. R. Ripple, A. N. Burgin, Jay Evans, J. M. Forrest and H. C. Wilkie.

The lovely bouquet gracing the serving table was furnished by Mrs. Joe Donaldson and consisted of red miniature mums.

Altruists on duty were Mmes. Marie Fitzgerald, Jay Flanigan, Lena Pearl Hobbs and Louise Sewell. Gray ladies serving with transportation were Mmes. Lee Harrah, Jess Hatcher, George Benham, E. W. Voss and Chris Byerly.

Final P-TA Study Course Session Scheduled by Pampa City Council

Fifth and last session of the P-TA City Council sponsored study course will meet from 9:30 until 11:30 Thursday morning, in Robert E. Lee Junior High cafeteria.

Jack Edmonson, superintendent of schools, and James Truety, assistant principal at Pampa Junior High School, will discuss the "new arithmetic." This modern math is being taught in the Pampa public schools on a staggered basis in order that all students will have studied the method before graduation. Parents who would like to learn more about this new arithmetic are invited to come to this session. If time permits, a question and answer period will be held.

Following the coffee break, D. V. Biggers, principal of Stephen F. Austin Elementary School, will speak on the subject "Drop-outs." Biggers will outline some of the reasons for the increase in drop-outs and will report on the recent survey made by the Texas Principals' Association.

A nursery will be provided for pre-school children. Mrs. Bruce Riehart is study course chairman for P-TA City Council and Mrs. E. A. McLennan is Robert E. Lee chairman. Mrs. McLennan states that this last session will present material which has not been given so far in the study-course but will also serve as the make-up session for P-TA members who have already attended six hours and need two more hours in order to qualify for a study course certificate. Any interested person is welcome to attend the study course.

AAUW Meeting Slated Tonight

Miss Avril Doucette and David Wilks, Pampa High School science students, will present the program at the meeting of the Pampa branch, American Association of University Women, at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the home of Mrs. Lalar Wilkerson, 2100 N. Sumner.

Miss Doucette will speak on the National Science Fair which she attended and Wilks will speak on courses studied during the summer at Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The talks will begin the branch's study for the year, entitled "Bridging the Gap Between Science and the Laymen," according to Mrs. H. V. Wilkes, program chairman.

The business session will be led by Mrs. N. G. Kadingo, president. The meeting is open to all women college graduates, Mrs. Kadingo stated.

Yanks Rack Up More Olympic Gold Medals

TOKYO (UPI) — An Army rifleman gave the United States its 32nd gold medal with a world record at the Olympic Games today and a West German scored a stunning upset in the men's decathlon.

Army Captain Lones Wigger, Jr., of Great Falls, Mont., won the three position small bore rifle event for a 72nd American medal that boomed U.S. hopes for an over-all victory over Russia with only four days of competition remaining.

Then tonight, after 10½ hours of physical torture in National Stadium, 24-year-old Willie Holdorf won the gruelling decathlon from an elite field including the American-trained favorite, C.K. Yang of Nationalist China. Leader after five events—Monday, Holdorf grimly held his edge through all five concluding events today.

The decathlon, carrying the title of "world's greatest athlete," had gone to an American in every Olympiad since 1932 but the best Yank tonight was Paul Herman of Santa Barbara, Calif., who finished a surprising fourth — one notch ahead of Yang whose chances had been damaged by a change in the scoring system shortly before the games began.

Holdorf wound up with a total of 7,887 points. Rein Aun of Russia finished second with 7,842 and another German, Hans-Joachim Walde, was third with 7,809.

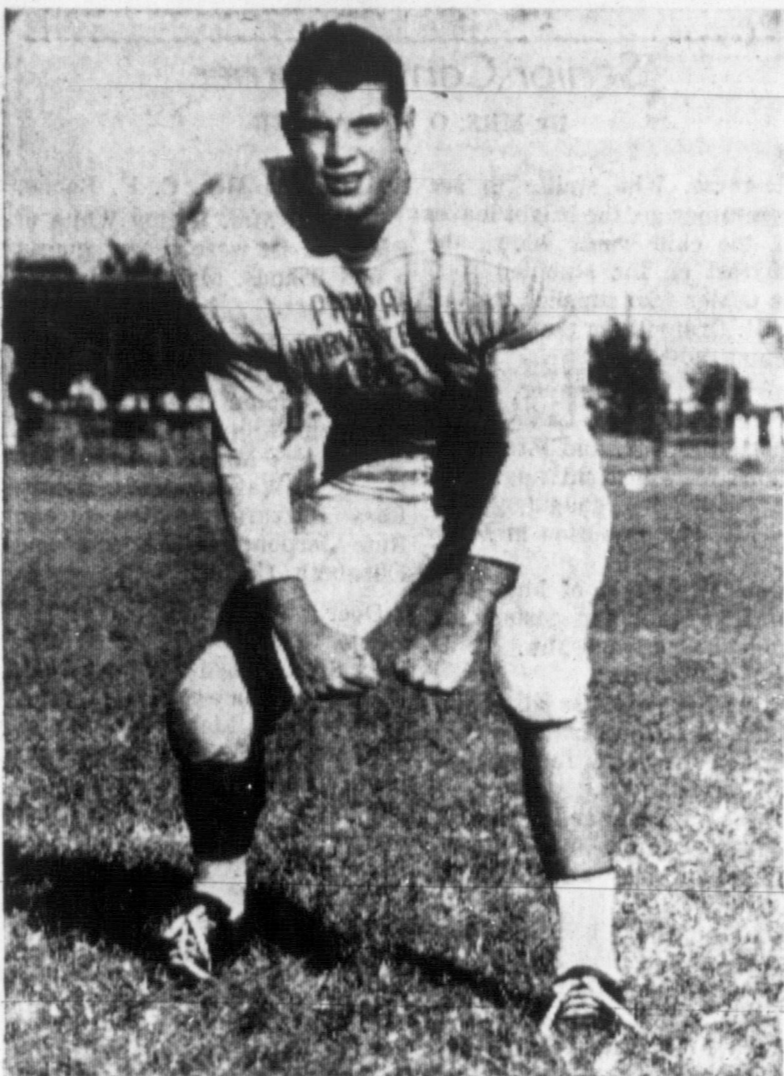

The new decathlon champion led in only two events—the shot with a throw of 49 feet, ½ inch and the 400 meters in which he clocked 48.2—but that gave him enough of a lead to hang on while finishing 10th in the javelin and ninth in the 1,500 meters that ended the parade.

Yang, scoring 7,650 points, was hurt badly by the scoring change which reduced the number of points he might have won in his specialty, the pole vault. He vaulted 15 feet, ¼ inch.

Wigger's victory, breaking the 1962 world mark of 1,157 set by Gary Anderson of Axtell, Neb., matched a Russian gold medal by defending champion Tamara Press in the women's shot put and maintained an overwhelming lead over the Soviet team.

Miss Press hiked the Russian total to 17 golds and 50 over-all when she broke her own Olympic record with a throw of 59 feet, 6¼ inches in the women's shot. Another Russian was third and Earlene Brown of Los Angeles was 12th with 48-6¼.

HARVESTER OF THE WEEK — San "The Man" Williams won the honors as top griddler of the week for his play against Monterey. Williams ran for 91 yards in 11 carries and played an outstanding defensive game.

Sawyer's Aerial Circus Comes to Pampa Friday

Tom Sawyer and his aerial circus are coming to town Friday night.

The versatile Plainview quarterback, who does just about everything with a football except center it, will lead his Bulldog mates into Harvester Stadium, seeking revenge for last year's 47-15 Pampa win.

Although still winless this year, the Bulldogs have threatened constantly, and will have to be picked as favorites Friday on the strength of the 40-35 battle with mighty Palo Duro last weekend and a 7-0 scramble with district favorite Berger earlier in the year.

Coaches Eural Ramsey and Norm Phillips, who scouted the Dogs in those two games, have nothing but respect for Sawyer and his squad.

"He's the closest thing I've seen this year to Kenny Hebert or Greg Lott," said Ramsey. "He's not as smooth all-around as those two, but he compares favorably with any quarterback around. He passes extremely well, he catches passes well, he runs well. . . not exceptional speed, but good moves, and he handles the ball as well as anyone I've seen."

Against Palo Duro, Sawyer showed his versatility by running for one touchdown and passing for three, as well as returning for one conversion and catching a pass for another. He set up the first touchdown with a pass, the second on two runs, the fifth on an 81-yard pass. He also set up a blocked field goal attempt with a 24-yard pass interception.

Phillips pointed out that Sawyer is far from all of Plainview's offense however. "The entire backfield are returning starters. Six of the boys are two-year lettermen. They're all dangerous, and they have three ends who can catch the ball."

Ramsey added that Plainview used, to say the least, a very versatile offense. "Sometimes they run out of what I would call a cross between an 'I' and a split-T, they use a balanced line, but split either end real wide. . . sometimes they run out of the I formation."

Arkansas Rated 4th, Texas Falls to 6th

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Ohio State Buckeyes, spicing their famed "three yards and a cloud of dust offense" with a pro-type passing attack, moved into first place among the nation's major college football teams today in the United Press International board of coaches ratings.

The Buckeyes handed Southern California its first shutout in 25 games Saturday, 17-0, while Texas, the defending collegiate champion and top-rated for a solid year, was upset by Arkansas 14-13. The results boosted Ohio State into the top spot for the first time since Nov. 28, 1961.

is led by strong-armed junior quarterback Don Unverferth and fullback Will Sander. But Hayes points to his defense as the key to Ohio State's early season success. It has yielded only 17 points in four games.

Ohio State is familiar with the atmosphere at the top of the collegiate standings. It has finished in the top 10 seven times in the past 14 seasons, including 1957, when the Bucks were national champions and 1954 and 1961, when they finished second.

Rickey Joins Card Exodus

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Branch Rickey, grand old man of baseball, who left the game and returned to share in the victory of the World Series champion St. Louis Cardinals, was the latest victim today of a front office shakeup which had included manager Johnny Keane.

The 83-year-old Rickey handed in his resignation, and the announcement Monday came in a 15-word statement by General Manager Bob Howsam while Rickey was in Hollywood, Fla.

Howsam said simply "I have received Mr. Rickey's resignation as consultant to the St. Louis Cardinals baseball club."

The Rickey resignation followed Keane's letter of resignation written September 28 before he (Keane) won the National League pennant, and handed to Cardinal President August A. Busch, Jr., after the Cardinals whipped the New York Yankees in the World Series.

Russians Shut Out
The Russians were shut out in the women's 800 meter run in which Britain's Ann Packer set a world record of 2:01.1, knocking .02 off the mark set in 1962 by Dixie Willis of Australia. Maryvonne Dupureur of France was second and Ann Chamberlain of New Zealand third.

Japan's Takehide Nakatani won the lightweight judo, on the Olympic program for the first time this year, and a pair of Russians tied for third.

Other events scheduled for completion today were the men's decathlon, men's saber and two medals in men's gymnastics in which Japan was threatening Russia's domination.

Two U.S. relay teams barged into the finals with the 400 meter group, led by "fastest human" Bob Hayes of Florida A&M tying the Olympic record of 39.5 seconds in winning its semifinal.

Sisler Takes Cincy Post

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Dick Sisler, a coach who managed the Reds during a spurt that carried them from low in the first division to a last day chance at the National League flag, will manage the Cincinnati team next season.

Sisler, who will be 44 years old in two weeks, will be succeeding the man he filled in for over the last two months of the season — cancer-stricken Fred Hutchinson.

William O. Dewitt the Reds' president and general manager, announced 45-year-old Hutchinson's resignation and Sisler's appointment at a news conference here Monday.

Unbeaten Survivors Worried

By United Press International
Atlanta, Taylor, Hallettsville and Sinton—four of the 21 unbeaten survivors in Texas schoolboy football's Class AA division—may find themselves dumped out of that category this week.

Each plays a tough district foe—one that has lost but one game so far this season—and will be playing for district leadership and potential trip into the state playoffs.

Atlanta faces Linden-Kildare, which has won its last games after losing to Paul Pewitt in its opener; Taylor faces Round Rock, which bowed only to Luling and which proved its mettle by defeating Georgetown last week; Hallettsville plays La Grange, loser only to Taylor, while Sinton meets Mathis, whose only setback was at the hands of powerful Class A Woodsboro.

Taylor and Sinton rank sixth and eighth in the latest United Press International schoolboy ratings. The other rated teams appear safe this week.

Top-ranked Phillips plays thrice-beaten Shamrock, second-ranked Iowa Park meets Quannah (5-2), third-ranked Ballinger plays Winters (4-3), fourth-ranked Denver City plays Station (4-3), fifth-ranked Palacios meets Ganado (3-3), seventh-ranked Rockwall and ninth ranked Crane are idle, and 10th-ranked Caddowater meets Daingerfield (1-6).

Miami Warriors at Groom for Tiger Homecoming

A coach who dreads to play and an opposing coach who can't understand why highlight Groom's Homecoming Friday night against district 5-B opponent Miami.

The two long-time foes express heartfelt fear of each other, despite losing records on both sides. The Warriors were walloped by Darrouzett in their loop opener, and then by Booker last week. Groom also fell to Booker in their first district game, with an off-date last week.

KERRY JONES
...on defense

Miami coach Lawrence Overcast was proud of his team despite their 41-0 defeat. "At first, Booker was just looking ahead to Wheeler. They just tried to get a quick lead on us and score, but we were fired up and wouldn't let 'em get it. We forced them to make mistakes and almost scored ourselves."

"Then in the second quarter they settled down and we started making mistakes. We gave them a couple of gifts, it should have only been 8-0 at the half. "But they started playing real tough every time we got past their 30. After a while they decided they had to play ball. Then their tremendous speed and pass receiving ability made the game one-sided."

"It probably could have been worse. They were keeping a lot of things under wraps against Wheeler scouts, they didn't use much single wing or spread, the most lethal things they have. "I was real pleased with our effort. We held them to 121 yards rushing, their lowest total of the season, and 130 passing, with one pass for 70 yards. I can't say enough about Bill Hughes though. We hit him with everything we had and he kept

Barnett, 180, is a hard-hitting fullback. Phillips added that running back Lonnie Whitfield, 195, is also a hard runner.

Jerry Bryant, 170, plays the split end and is rated the top receiver. Left end Jerry James, 170, is a good receiver, and Larry Dickerson, 195, also sees action.

Left tackle is Jim Stanton, 190; left guard Jerry Smith, 180; center Richard Hunt, 180; right guard Ricky Etheridge, 185; right tackle Mike Thomas, 185.

Defensively, the Dogs two-plateau extensively, also using a number of formations, principally the 5-4-2. The defensive line, from the left, has Dickerson; Robert Ferguson, 220; Larry Crosier, 160; Smith; James. Linebackers are Whitefield, Don Houchin 150, Smith and Sawyer. Halfbacks are Bryant and Harold Scroggins, 165.

Both Phillips and Ramsey gave the nod to Etheridge as the best defensive lineman and top blocker.

Both running backs do a good job, say the scouts, with Barnett carrying most of the load against Borger and Whitfield

...tough

"Our kids were tough too. Our interior line... Ken Gill, Doug Talley, Steve Guerrere, Edwin Harris, Eddie Wilson, David Bowers, Tilden Moore, our people played tough... and Lloyd Seitz did a fine job on offense. We just didn't have enough of it."

At host Groom, Sobbin' Jack York reached for his crying towel as he moaned "O! Miami hit Booker a lot tougher than Groom did, I guarantee you that!"

"I think Miami has improved 85 percent on hitting over last year. What are you going to do," York cried plaintively, "when he puts all his folks on one side and then runs in the opposite direction?" (unbalanced line.)

Asked what he was going to do, York answered "I'm not gonna tell you! Have I got something planned? Yeah... we plan to show up... that's the only plan we've got right now!"

"Listen, they've got a half-back (Seitz) who can run and a fullback (Gill) who can too. That McCuiston (Jerry) is a fine boy, he was only playing part-time Friday, but he's improved 100 percent... toughest kid on the field that night."

Overcast said that physically "I guess we're alive, I haven't counted noses yet. McCuiston has been bothered by a bad knee, we don't know if he'll be able to go full time."

"As far as playing Groom, I dread it, I really do. I know what happened when Groom played Booker. Booker kids were sky-high. Everything they did was right. There's nothing wrong with that Groom team. I've been watching their films and that's a tough team that should have won a lot of ball games and still will. That pass attack to Jerry Roberts, I don't know if we can stop that. Then it's Homecoming too... they're going to be up and they're going to be tough."

York, in turn, snorted loudly "He needs to dread to play me after the way he played Friday the bulk of the running at Palo Duro. Wright does the backfield blocking job."

Asked if they thought Plainview was tough, both coaches answered with very strong affirmatives. "They had Palo Duro 13-0 in the second quarter and PD didn't make a first down for a long time... that's what I call tough," said Phillips.

Myers seconded him "I think they've got a pretty good ball club. When you play Borger 7-0 and get beat on a long pass, that's playing tough."

"Palo Duro's size finally wore them down," said the lattern-jawed pipe-puffer. "they held Walton and they held Mays and they held those big tackles longer than anyone else has."

night. Sure he does! Throw-to-times. (Groom has averaged 19 in good shape, Bob Garmon will Roberts? Oh, we're gonna try passes a game, throwing as be back. I don't know if he'll to throw, maybe three or four many as 28). Physically we're play guard or fullback. We're depending on him and Kerry Jones to lead our defense. "After an open date, I think we'll be up. We've been up one week, down the next all season... and this should be our up week." Overcast summed it up: "I'm proud of our tackling. I know we'll hit. But you've gotta be able to score once in a while, too."

Herbert Hoover

Herbert Hoover, the man of many careers, came perhaps as close as any man could be to being the ideal public servant. Most men who attain so high an eminence as the United States presidency have been content to rest on its distinction for the remainder of their lives. With Hoover it was not so. Admittedly, his postpresidential life, stretching over three decades, was longer than most. But the memorable fact is that he used that time to the hilt—for the public good.

Again and again, with high competence, he performed major special missions for his government and country. Most notable, beyond question, was his heading the celebrated Hoover Commission which produced a series of sweeping plans for a streamlined reorganization of the federal government.

Throughout the 30 years after he left the White House, Hoover served tirelessly, too, as a dignified, responsible, and thoughtful spokesman for the Republican party.

He was a genuine elder statesman, who conserved his voice for the great issues, who even in his most advanced years found a way to temper his sober judgments of affairs with a bubbling wit.

As if all this were not enough, Hoover managed in this long period to turn out a substantial number of books including a three-volume set of his memoirs and a perceptive biography of a Democratic predecessor, Woodrow Wilson. His wonderful memorial library at Stanford University is ample tribute to his regard for the written word. Because of this varied activity in later life, historians and other observers have been fond of saying that Herbert Hoover people only after he left the presidency in 1933.

It was his misfortune to sit in the White House when the greatest economic disaster in the nation's history struck. He went out of office with the sad knowledge that his public identity with that calamity was almost total. He had become the symbol of the great depression, to be pilloried for long years thereafter.

Historians will argue for more years to come about what Hoover might have done that he did not do in that crisis. They are already agreed that almost any man presiding at the time would have been doomed politically, as Hoover was by 1932.

None of this, however, can destroy the fact that he was an extremely able administrator in the White House, that his devotion to his most onerous tasks was complete.

He brought to the presidency an earlier set of distinguished careers, as successful mining engineer, as famous overseer of Belgian relief after World War I, as secretary of commerce in the Cabinet of Calvin Coolidge.

If this nation needs a model for its public service, if it needs to look to a man whose character is an unchipped rock, if it needs to see adversity converted to triumph, then let it honor Herbert Hoover.

He was a man — through the whole course of his long, eminently useful life.

17 Million Miles to Nowhere

In view of the recent 350 page Report of the Department of Commerce recommending an increase in size and weight limit of trucks on the public's $45 billion Interstate Highway System as of July 1, 1967, the Department does not take much stock in the famous "AASHO Road Test" in which its own Bureau of Public Roads played a prominent part.

This test, conducted under the auspices of the American Association of State Highway Officials, with various interested Federal bureaus and private business participating — was the most expensive, elaborate, extensive scientific research of its kind since the Romans built the Apennian Way.

Twent-five months of study and $27 million (25 of them out of the taxpayers' pockets) went into this colossal project at Otawa, Ill. Here, 120 sizes and weights of truck — from a 4,000 pound pick — up to a 108,000 pound five — axle combination — rolled up 17 million miles over 14 miles of specially — constructed test roads to learn the facts of highway life.

Basic in these findings (See the Special Report 73 of the Highway Research Board) is the fact that a truck with an 18,000 pound axle — load causes 5,000 times the pavement damage of the typical automobile with a 2,000 pound axle — load; and that a 32,000 pound tandem (or twin) axle — load does 7,450 times the damage of the family car's 2,000 pound axle. And it is worthy of note that AASHO did not recommend any increase in tandem axle loading. Heavier single axle loading, it seems, is not quite as desirable from the trucker's viewpoint.

But now the Department urges Congress to authorize 20,000 pound single axle — loads, with a damage factor of 7,800 times that of the 2,000 pound auto axle; and 34,000 pound tandem axle — loads that would inflict 9,600 times this punishment. Thus, it appears this fabulous test program and the millions it cost are being washed down the drain. Certainly the Congress — and the people — have a right to ask why!

Still, Commerce would have the trucks pay. The letter transmitting the Report says: "increased highway costs accompanying increased size and weight standards should be recovered through more equitable share of such costs."

So what is "equitable"? Will Congress levy 9,600 times the fees and highway taxes paid by the average motorist on the operator of the 34,000 pound tandem axle — loads?

That will be the day . . . a day long after July 1, 1967!

The Price Tag

Medicare died in the House of Representatives — Senate Conference, without a final vote, and it will be back when the 89th Congress convenes.

It is considered a campaign issue, and to assess what the various candidates are saying about it might be helpful to look at what Rep. Wilbur Mills (D., Ark.) Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, told his colleagues.

If Medicare passes, he said, its cost will make it almost impossible to increase the size of Social Security retirement pensions in the future.

And, he reported, even the present limited plan — which most people think offers full medical payments, but doesn't — would cost $150 per year per worker in new Social Security taxes within the next few years.

Thus, enactment of Medicare would benefit a few whose medical problems happened to fit in to the limited pattern Medicare is designed to help. It would damage both those who are drawing Social Security retirement in a time of threatening inflation, and it would damage all those who work and pay the taxes that keep the system solvent.

Opponents of Medicare are often spoken of as "heartless," but many of them are simply trying to save the Social Security system from a burden that Rep. Mills and other experts are sure it could not long survive.

It would seem to be more correct to label "heartless" those who knowingly deceive older people both about what Medicare would do for them and a danger it poses to Social Security, which represents the basic income on which so many retired people live.

Playing Politics With Defense

Beginning in World War II, the Southern states were selected as the ideal areas for defense training areas. Blessed with good weather, the uniformed commanders realized that the South was the region best equipped by nature to be the site of airbases and army training camps. Thus it was not the efforts of politicians, nor the favor of the White House, that gave the South the numerous defense facilities that it has today.

This is an important truth, for in this final pre-election period, some politicians loyal to the Johnson administration are trying to sell Southerners on the idea that they keep the military bases at the pleasure of the administration, indeed, Southerners are told by these politicians that they should consider themselves lucky for having bases and defense contracts, suggesting that these are a form of handout. This is a crude political appeal, and one that is unworthy and shameless in character. Nevertheless, it is being made.

It is unhappily a fact that the Johnson administration is playing politics with defense. For that matter, defense politics have been in the news for the last 3 1/2 years. The public surely has not forgotten the TFX jet fighter controversy of past months. It was apparent that the administration had shifted a $5 billion fighter plane contract from one state to another because of the political advantages involved. In New York State today, there is politics being played with the future of the Brooklyn Navy Yard. These are by no means the only situations in which administration politics involve defense bases and contracts.

Obviously, those communities with military installations or military contracts are alarmed when politicians supporting the administration issue veiled and not so veiled threats of political retaliation if a community fails to support the administration. Mrs. Lady Bird Johnson, on her recent political campaign, swung through the South, made a point of stressing that people in areas dependent on defense contracts should make a partnership with the Johnson administration. It was a virtual confession of the crudest kind of defense politics.

This kind of statement by the wife of the President is insulting to the Southerners employed in defense work. They are given the idea that they hold their jobs, not because they do good work and are helping the country in its defense effort, but because of a form of federal patronage.

One would think that civilian workers on airfields, army camps and naval shipyards would be indignant at the administration's suggestion that their votes are for sale and that their work is simply a political handout. It is nothing of the sort, of course. Workers at defense bases owe their loyalty, not to Mr. Johnson or to his political allies in Congress, but only to the people of America. Defense base workers, moreover, should realize that the bases weren't built by politicians; they were built out of the real needs of our nation's struggle against its enemies overseas.

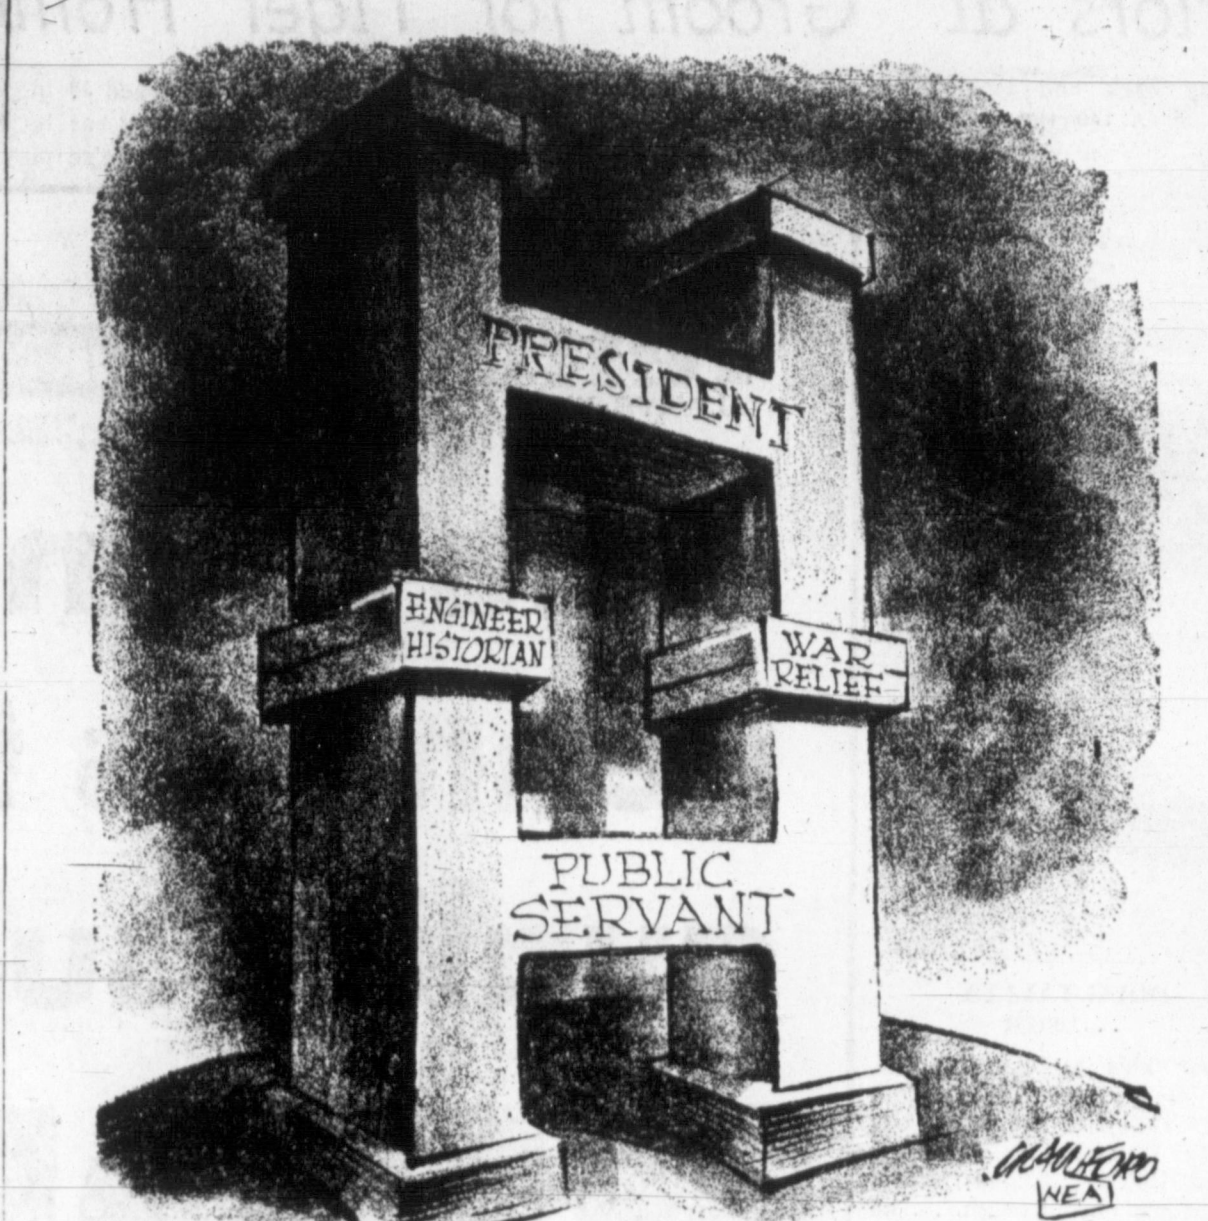

Insofar as naval bases are concerned, these bases exist in the South because of the great harbors on the Southern coast and the rising communist danger from the Southern hemisphere. Another reason the South has such bases is that it enjoys excellent weather, whereas Northern seaports are too cold for adequate training in winter.

These facts should be clearly understood, so that the defense base workers aren't misled or terrified by the administration politicians. And the best way for defense base workers to keep their jobs is not to show obedience to the administration, but to do a good, efficient day's work on the job.

If defense base workers bow to the Johnson administration's spokesmen, they will be turning themselves into slaves of the party in power. The leader of the Johnson "Great Society," it must be understood, is trying to turn defense workers into dependents who dare not question the decisions of the man in charge of the federal payroll.

By saying that the defense workers have no choice but to

Intelligence Reports Indicate Castro's Own Raiders Sank Spanish Ship To Position U.S. — And Succeeded

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Navy now finds itself in the extraordinary position of "escorting" Spanish vessels carrying supplies to Communist Cuba. While the State Department claims the naval patrols are only keeping the ships under surveillance, Navy officers involved in the Caribbean operation tell a different story.

They are privately complaining to congressional leaders that since the highly publicized sinking of the Spanish vessel Sierra Aranzazu in mid-September, the Navy is operating under a White House directive to take all action necessary to prevent further attacks on the high seas.

Rubbing salt into the Navy's wounded esprit de corps, aides of President Johnson are suppressing an intelligence estimate frankly stating that Dictator Castro's own raiders sank the Spanish ship and not anti-Castro refugee gunners.

According to the eye-opening report of these naval officers, the U.S. intelligence estimate reveals that the Sierra Aranzazu was sunk by "unmarked" raiding boats that returned to their bases in Cuba after the attack.

All Cuban refugee groups capable of undertaking such a naval action, including those controlled by the Central Intelligence Agency, are flatly denying any involvement in the mysterious raid. Leaders of these exile groups were as surprised by the unprovoked attack as were U.S. and Spanish authorities.

CASTRO'S STRATEGY — After studying all information gathered on the highly explosive Sierra Aranzazu incident, U.S. military intelligence experts are attributing two reasons for Castro's piracy.

By directing the successful attack, Castro sought to increase the strained U.S.-Spanish relations over the Franco government's disputed trading with Cuba by making it look as if U.S.-backed anti-Castro raiders were to blame.

Press reports at the time indicated that Castro succeeded in this objective. A group of 700 people paraded before the U.S. embassy after the incident protesting the attack. The Spanish government made an informal protest to the U.S., while stories from Madrid, Washington and Havana blamed anti-Castro support the administration, the Johnson-Humphrey forces in effect are declaring that these federal workers have been de-franchised. It is hard to believe that these workers will allow this to happen, that they will act in such a way as to serve as rubber stamps for the administration.

They can best defend the country and their own rights by refusing to be the slaves of would-be political bosses who threaten economic retaliation.

Britain plans to re-enact the 1770 voyage of Capt. James Cook in connection with the 200th anniversary of the discovery of Australia. Planning six years ahead to 1970 the British government has already engaged Capt. Alan Villiers, noted seafarer who captained the Mayflower II on its voyage to America a few years ago. He will supervise the building of an exact replica of Cook's ship "Endeavour" and sail it to Botany Bay. He will retrace Cook's route down the Atlantic, around Cape Horn, and across the Pacific to New Zealand and Australia. The expedition will cost $300,000 which will be raised by public subscription.

Question Box

QUESTION: "A common argument heard from supporters of the Foreign Aid programs is that most of the money is spent here in the United States for goods and that what cash is taken out bears handsome interest. I have heard differently. What amount of 'aid' really helps American businessmen and just how much interest does our money bear?"

J. S. ANSWER: This was well answered by Rep. Otto Passman, a Louisiana Democrat, in May, 1963. He said in part: "One of the myths advanced by the administration in attempted justification of its foreign aid policy is the claim, addressed to the American taxpayer, that approximately 80 per cent of the dollars appropriated for the program are spent in the United States. The fact is, 100 per cent of the dollars appropriated for foreign aid will ultimately have an effect on the U. S. economy — in one of three ways: For the payment for goods and services shipped free of charge to foreign countries; for the purchase of U.S. gold by foreign nations as a result credited to them; or for speculation.

"A question we might well ask is this: If 80 per cent of the foreign aid dollar is spent in the United States and this expenditure is beneficial to our economy, would there be more prosperity in America if expenditures for the program were doubled or tripled? The answer is, of course, that our own resources would soon be depleted, our false prosperity would come to an abrupt end; and we would be a bankrupt nation.

"Another myth used by the administration to sell foreign aid to this country is that the program provides employment for approximately 600,000 people. But, looking at this matter objectively, it should be understood that the wages and salaries of these 600,000 are not paid by the foreign governments, but by checks drawn on the U. S. Treasury from funds provided by the American taxpayers.

"Still another myth about the aid program is the widely held belief, fostered by the administration, that we are now making loans, rather than grants, for development assistance abroad. The truth is that a realistic analysis of our so-called development loans makes it clear that appropriations for this purpose are no different, actually, than for the aid programs of the past.

Although this aid is represented as being on a 'loan' basis and 'repayable' in dollars — obviously intended to make the program more palatable to the taxpayer — even a superficial examination of the terms of these 'loans' makes it clear that, in reality, this is essentially a grant-aid program. Most of the 'development loans' are repayable over a period of 40 years with no interest, but the agency does impose a service charge of three-fourths of 1 per cent a year. After a 10-year grace period the recipient country is then supposed to start paying 1 per cent a year on the principal. As frankly acknowledged by Mr. Fowler Hamilton, the most recent former administrator of the aid agency: '(It) is more than half grant to begin with, if you figure in the cost of the money.'

Wit and Whimsy

John — Did you say the man was shot in the woods, doctor?
Doctor — No, I said he was shot in the lumber region.

Sam — Why do they have most all radio broadcasting stations on top of tall buildings?
Charlie — So nobody can throw bricks at the performers.

Trying to sell a housewife a home freezer, a salesman pointed out,
Salesman — You can save enough on your food bills to pay for the freezer.

Housewife — Yes, I know, but you see we're paying for our car on the carfare we save. Then, we're paying for our washing machine on the laundry bills we save, and we're paying for the house on the rent we're saving. We just can't afford to save any more right now.

A virtuous woman has a fiber more or a fiber less than a other women. She is stupid or sublime.

Every institution under a weak government, may become an instrument of danger.

USE THE GLASS TO FIND FOR YOUR PROFIT

They'll Do It Every Time

THAT ONE LOVELY ON YOU—THERE'S A RICH SIMPLICITY ABOUT IT—

THAT'S NOT ALL—HERE I MUST SAY THERE'S NOT MUCH OF A SELECTION—OH, MISS—DO YOU HAVE THE ONE I SAW LAST WEEK—THE FISH SCALE WITH THE COCKLE BURRS ON THE SIDE—?

YES—I DO LIKE IT—WHAT DO YOU THINK, STILETTA?

STILETTA WILL MAKE HER TAKE A FOLLIES OF 1920 NUMBER—BACK IT'LL COME ON THE MORROW—

NOT MUCH OF A SELECTION? BIG STILL WENT THROUGH EVERYTHING IN THE STORE BUT THE BASEBALL CAPS—

Scientists to Be Sought for Space Flights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government will recruit between 10 and 20 volunteer scientists to accompany U. S. astronauts on future manned space flights.

The National Aeronautics & Space Administration (NASA) said Monday the program is beginning at once and the selection of the first group should be completed by next spring.

NASA said the applicants must be U. S. citizens, under six feet tall and have been born on or after Aug. 1, 1930. The deadline for filing the applications is Dec. 31.

In addition to the age, height and citizenship qualifications, additional academic and medical standards must be met, NASA said. The screening of candidates will be conducted by NASA's Manned Space Flight Center at Houston, Tex.

The expression "gat" is derived from the inventor R. J. Gatling, who developed a type of machine gun.
