WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford urged President Johnson today to deliver "a state of emergency" message on Viet Nam "to calm growing uneasiness and unrest in the nation."

Among them were the growing addition of U. S. ground forces to the conflict, the "sudden switch" of U. S. ambassadors to Viet Nam, speculation that civilian reservists and National Guardsmen would be called up, and Johnson's disclosure that the conflict in Southeast Asia was, in Ford's words, "going badly for the side of freedom."

firm the speculation, to calm growing uneasiness and unrest in the nation," Ford said on "Comment," the weekly radio program of the GOP National Committee.

Ford also predicted that the administration ultimately will decide to destroy the missile bases—the Russians are building near Hanoi.

sions. He expressed apprehension that bombing them would result in North Viet Nam launching an all-out attack on South Viet Nam. And this, he said, would require the commitment of an entire American army to the conflict.

PRESIDENT ATTENDS FUNERAL

Adlai Stevenson Laid To Rest in Family Cemetery

By FRED MOHN
BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (UPI)—President Johnson flew to this Illinois prairie town today and led the nation in its last tribute to Adlai E. Stevenson.

The President headed a list of high government officials who flew to Bloomington for the funeral services and burial of the onetime Illinois governor, twice defeated presidential candidate and United States ambassador to the United Nations.

Stevenson was buried in Evergreen Memorial Cemetery near a plain granite monument honoring his namesake the 16th vice president of the United States. The grave, shaded from the summer heat by tall oak, hawthorn and chestnut trees, is also close to those of his father—an Illinois secretary of state—and a dozen other members of the Stevenson family.

U.S. Air Base Hit In Vicious Guerrilla Raid

Fight Likened To 'Battle of Bulge'

By MICHAEL T. MALLOY

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist guerrillas attacking under the cover of a driving rain today killed three American infantrymen at the Bien Hoa air base 15 miles northeast of Saigon. Several U.S. soldiers were wounded in some of the heaviest fighting of the war.

American military spokesmen made an exception to new security regulations covering battle casualties in reporting the three American dead. The exact number of wounded was not announced, but spokesmen said there were "several."

One veteran American sergeant who served in World War II compared the fighting to the Battle of the Bulge. Another who fought in Korea said he had never seen anything like the intensity of the Communist onslaught.

Reds Remove Casualties

The 12-hour battle raged throughout the night and some sporadic shooting was still reported at 10 a.m. today. Viet Cong losses were believed heavy but the Communists apparently hauled away their dead and wounded.

Other American infantrymen fanning out from Bien Hoa today counter-attacked Communist forces trying to seize control of the highway linking the base with Vung Tau, a vital supply port on the South China Sea.

Some U.S. Casualties Feared

In the air war, a spokesman reported that a U.S. Navy plane from the aircraft carrier Independence was shot down Sunday during a raid over North Viet Nam. Both crewmen parachuted into Communist territory, the spokesman said, near the port of Am Rong 83 miles south of Hanoi.

Attack Railroads

In another raid announced today, four U.S. Air Force F-105 thunderchief fighters-bombers attacked railroad tracks 90 miles northwest of Hanoi, marking the deepest reported penetration of the Communist north to date.

The spokesman said the planes dumped nine tons of 750 pound bombs along a 10-mile stretch of track beginning 13 miles northwest of Yen Bay.

American planes flew a total of 38 sorties against North Viet Nam today, bombing bridges, barges, ferry slips, radar sites and port facilities.

The biggest raid was flown by 12 Navy jets from the carrier Coral Sea on the Ben Tu port facility 80 miles south of Hanoi.

Two Marines Try to Steal Jet for Raid Against Hanoi

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (UPI)—Two young Marine Corps privates tried to steal a pair of jet bombers here Sunday for a freelance raid against Hanoi, it was reported today.

Reliable sources said the two Americans, both privates first class, stole flight suits and walked boldly on to the Da Nang air base flightline, to climb aboard B47 bombers.

The incident happened about 1 a.m. Flightline guards took little notice because night missions are frequently flown against North Viet Nam from Da Nang.

The guards became suspicious when one of the Marines peered out of the cockpit and asked a sentry how to start the twin jet engines.

Both Marines were arrested but not before they damaged the two airplanes by tampering with instrument panels and pulling out electrical wiring.

Compromise Seen Possible in Greek Political Crisis

ATHENS, Greece (UPI)—A compromise settlement of the Greek political crisis appeared possible today as demonstrations continued against King Constantine's removal of Premier George Papandreou.

However, tension remained high as Papandreou prepared to make his first public appearance here since he was ousted as premier last Thursday.

At the same time, the government of new Premier George Athanassiadis-Novas indicated it would gladly accept any conciliation moves to end the political turbulence marked by mass demonstrations and riots in Athens and other parts of the country.

Stefanos Stefanopoulos, who was vice premier under Papandreou, was widely mentioned as a possible premier if the middle-of-the-road politicians succeed in reconciling the two rival wings of the Center Union party.

Both Papandreou and Athanassiadis-Novas are members of the Center Union party and represent opposite poles in the split.

The change of government last Thursday was touched off by Papandreou's insistence that the King dismiss Defense Minister Petros Garoufalas and give him the job.

Constantine, however, met the ultimatum by dismissing Papandreou instead and naming Athanassiadis-Novas to form a new government.

Job Corps Youths Charged In San Antonio Shooting

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Five teen-aged boys accused of shooting Saturday night and then two more at the Camp Gary job corps training center at San Marcos, Tex., Sunday.

San Marcos is 50 miles north of San Antonio. "It is my understanding these young fellows were more or less running mates even in Chicago," detective Frank Finley said. "They came down together."

One of those arrested Sunday was believed to be the trigger man, Finley said. Police said the youth bought a 22-caliber pistol from a pawn shop and that witnesses saw him fire it at the air policeman.

Camp Gary, a World War II training center, was recently converted to a war on poverty youth corps center. Dedicated by President Johnson, the camp was the nation's first job-corps center.

A sixth trainee was booked for drunkenness and questioned about the shooting. Several other youths were questioned and released.

Police said many job corps trainees have been arrested over the past several weekends. They said one trainee was found sleeping on the steps of the city health department early Sunday.

Dr. O. J. Baker, director of the training center, was out of town. His assistant was unavailable for comment.

Some 300 job trainees come to San Antonio each weekend, police said. There are 1,300 boys at the camp, opened four months ago.

Marcello told police he and Pettengill were walking on the street in downtown San Antonio when two youths approached and asked how to get to a strip joint.

One trainee asked for a dime. When Marcello handed it to him, another teen-ager pulled a pistol and demanded all their money.

The guards became suspicious when one of the Marines peered out of the cockpit and asked a sentry how to start the twin jet engines.

ONE-DAY TRUCE IS ENDED

New Demonstrations Scheduled After Bogalusa Shooting Incident

By United Press International
A one-day truce to "let the police go to church" ended abruptly in gunfire during the night in Bogalusa, La., and four Negroes were arrested on charges of shooting at a carload of white men. No one was injured.

Civil rights leaders promised another round of demonstrations today in the troubled Louisiana city.

Arrested in connection with the shooting were Joe Gatlin, 26, Harrison Andrews, 26, Gerald Simmons, 27, and Lucius Manning, 18. Police said Gatlin was charged with the actual shooting during a chase in a rural area involving the Negro and white men.

The Bogalusa leaders said pickets would be back on duty today and another march was scheduled. The papermill town of 23,000 has been torn by racial strife for more than six months. Violence has erupted a number of times, and a white man was shot early this month and a Negro deputy sheriff was ambushed seven miles north of here in June.

In Anniston, Ala., Sunday, Willie Brewster, a Negro pipe foundry worker, who said he never took part in civil rights activities, died of a bullet wound in the back.

Brewster, 38, was wounded last Thursday night when three bullets were fired into a car. State and local authorities pressed an investigation for a group of white men who were reported to have trailed the vehicle.

Highland Baptist Circles Meeting

Woman's Missionary Union Circles of Highland Baptist Church met recently for business sessions and study programs.

HLA BREEDEN NIGHT CIRCLE met in the home of Mrs. Morris Belote for the monthly Royal Service Program. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Lee Dunn after which the minutes were read by Mrs. Ron Earnest.

The Community Missions project was discussed. It was reported that the circle will send a girl to Pan Ford Encampment as an extra missions effort, since it has already given its part to help pay a church debt. For August the group will buy a book for the Church Library.

The program on "Africa" was presented by Miss Carol Markham, program chairman. For the center of interest Miss Markham used an open Bible placed on straw with the replicas of a rhinoceros, elephant, and monkey before the book, "Africa's Bible" and the flag of Africa. ## Dear Abby... Vacation Togetherness Just 'Ain't Fitter'

DEAR ABBY: Please save my sanity and print your opinion of the new fad parents are going along with to show their teen-agers that they trust them. It seems that kids are talking their parents into inviting their

"steadies" (ages 14 to 18) to go along on family week-end trips and summer vacations. My son is 17 and he is very put out with me because I refused to invite his 15-year-old girl friend to go with us on our summer vacation. We plan to drive to Eugene, Ore., from Denver, Colo. He claims all his friends parents will feel that we don't trust them. According to our son her parents already gave the girl permission to accept. I still think I am right in firmly saying no. Please help me. We are being pressured from all sides.

A MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I would say say no, too. It's unfair to generalize, but very few teen-agers can resist the inevitable temptations of excessive "togetherness." This is no reflection on their character, or home training. Human nature being what it is, we should not expect our physically mature, yet emotionally immature, children to withstand temptations that some adults aren't able to handle.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that when some people ask an organist to play at a wedding they think they are giving him a big honor and he should be glad to play for nothing? Playing an organ at a wedding is a "service" — just like the ceremony performed by the preacher. The preacher's education cost him something. And so did the suit he wears, which must be kept cleaned and pressed. Also the car he has to drive to get him there. The organist has the same kind of expenses. I hope you will consider this subject worth mentioning in your column, as it is very close to my heart. Thank you.

ALL PLAYED-OUT
DEAR PLAYED: Since the bread basket is located in the region of the heart, your point is well made. Some folks must be reminded that because a service is performed within the holy atmosphere of the church, they should not assume that the performer is donating his time to the Lord's work.

DEAR ABBY: I find myself in an awkward position and don't know quite how to deal with it. We had a lavish wedding for our daughter in a large hotel last month. Many of my husband's business acquaintances were there, including his attorney and his wife, etc. Our daughter received gifts from everyone except one well-to-do couple who attended the wedding, dinner and reception. They are lovely people and we know they would never come to the wedding without having sent her a gift. Yet no gift was received from them. We feel they may have sent a gift and it went astray. Or perhaps they intend to send one and it hasn't arrived yet. How long should we wait before asking them what happened to their gift? Or shouldn't we mention it at all? Please advise. For your information, Abby, it was my HUSBAND who told me to write to you. How do you like that?

"EAST OF THE ROCKIES"
DEAR "EAST": Do not "mention" the absence of a gift from these people. If they haven't sent one yet, they might get the impression that you are inordinately concerned with who sent what.

DEAR ABBY: Re you advice to the woman whose husband was using live cats to train hunting dogs:
Not all communities have a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. You should have told her that in case she lived where there was no such society, she should notify: The Humane Society of The United States, 1145 Nineteenth Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., 20036. Sincerely, A FRIEND TO ANIMALS

Party Success Aided By Refreshment Bar

For a successful party, nothing beats having your own refreshment counter.

Time was when the host would spend much of the evening in the kitchen mixing a wide variety of drinks for a crowd assembled in another room. Now more hosts are finding they can fill their guests' orders more quickly and efficiently with a strategically located mixing and serving counter.

An appropriate counter surfaced with ceramic tile can be purchased at various prices. Or it can be constructed by a do-it-yourselfer. Either way, it probably should be large enough to accommodate at least three stools. It should also include a hidden shelf on which the host can stock drinks mixed in advance, as well as glasses, ice, stirrers and an attractive cloth for cleaning up.

It's a good idea to locate the counter near an electrical outlet so equipment such as a coffee pot or milk-shake mixer can be plugged in.

Special attention should be given to the counter top. Rings left by glasses will leave a permanent impression on many surfacing materials. The way to avoid this is to cover your bar top with a material like ceramic tile which is stainproof and also burnproof, in case you're planning to serve hot dishes.

Buried cable: $10,000,000 in new life insurance for your telephone this year

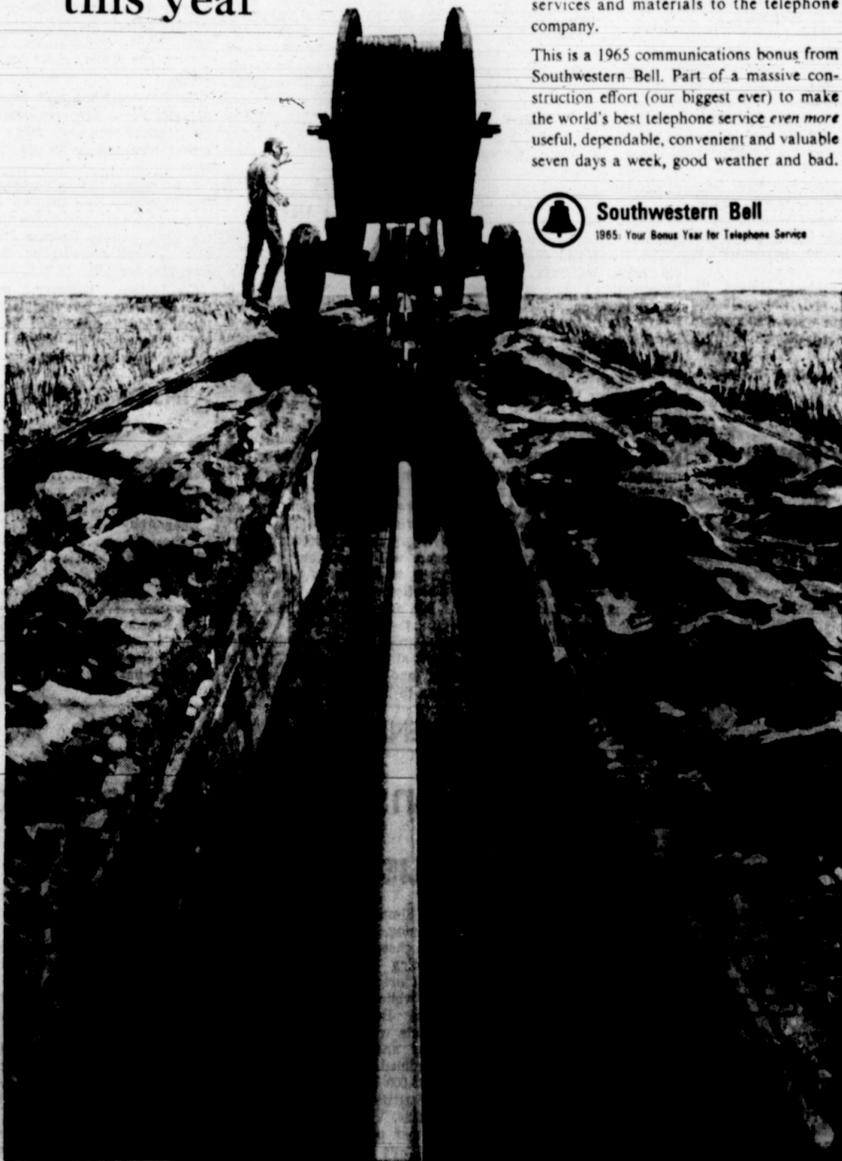

Put telephone wires underground and you've put them in a safe place. Safe from wind, rain, hot weather, cold weather, stormy weather. Safer from the slow death of ordinary weathering. Safer from man-caused damage, too. All around safer from the kinds of trouble which most often affect the talkability, hearability and dependability of your phone service.

That's why this year Southwestern Bell is spending $10 million burying hundreds of additional miles of telephone cable underground. In effect, buying life insurance for your telephone service.

There's another tangible benefit, too. Because of this buried cable construction program, new jobs will be created. Some in the telephone business (which already has 52,179 persons on the payroll), but most important, an estimated 500 new jobs among the hundreds of firms which sell supplies, services and materials to the telephone company.

This is a 1965 communications bonus from Southwestern Bell. Part of a massive construction effort (our biggest ever) to make the world's best telephone service even more useful, dependable, convenient and valuable seven days a week, good weather and bad.

Jaycee Fair Is Hailed Success

Penny Sue Bright, 1117 Crane, was the holder of a ticket that gave her a new bicycle at the Top O' Texas Community Fair, which ended Sunday.

Winners of skate boards were Stella Mulanex, 220 Ishom and David Barrett, Rt. 2, Pampa. Children's Home, Panhandle, was the winner of a years supply of candy.

First place in the talent contest went to The Tiger Boys, second to the Debonairs and third to the Parsley Sisters.

An estimated 15,000 persons took in the second annual Fair last week.

Jaycee officials termed the Fair as highly successful.

The biggest crowd was on hand Saturday afternoon and night when an estimated 8,000 persons attended.

Scientists to Get Close Look at Photos of Mars

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR., PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — While marvelous Mariner-4 chattered away from record distances in space, plans were being made today to reveal detailed studies of its snapshots of Mars to U.S. scientific meetings in the next two months.

The first scientific get-together likely to put the historic close-up photographs under professional scrutiny is the annual meeting of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AIAA), scheduled to begin July 26 in San Francisco.

By that time, informed sources said, Jet Propulsion Laboratory may release more of Mariner-4's Martian photographs in addition to the spectacular three the world has already seen.

Mariner-4, now more than 136 million miles from earth and swinging into an endless orbit around the sun, finished transmitting the ninth of its scheduled 21 pictures early today.

The delicate task, requiring about eight hours and 35 minutes to complete a single picture, is expected to be completed sometime Saturday. Dr. William H. Pickering, JPL director, said scientists may put Mariner-4's tape through another 10-day run after that, just to make sure they had everything.

In addition to the AIAA, informed sources said, Mariner-4's experimenters may detail much of their information to a meeting of the American Geophysical Union (AGU), set for September in Dallas, Texas.

As of today, however, the experts steadily declined to speculate on the exact nature of several somewhat startling markings — including an enormous haze on the Martian horizon, a mysterious W-shaped formation and what appeared to be a craterlike depression — that showed up on the first three pictures.

Nor was there any indication Mariner-4's pictures would even begin to answer the big question: Is there life on Mars? This job, far beyond the windmill-shaped probe's abilities, was left for the pair of Voyager probes the United States hopes to land on the red planet in 1971.

Lefors Will Vote On Bonds Thursday

Residents of Lefors will go to the polls Thursday to decide a $30,000 bond issue proposal for the purchase of the Gray County Gas Co.

The bond election was called earlier this month by the Lefors City Council.

If passed, the council said there would be no increase in taxes.

The gas company is presently owned by a group of men in Amarillo.

The city council's decision to call for the bond election came after the company notified the city gas rates would have to be increased.

The council said the city then began negotiations to buy the company.

The polls will be open from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Presiding election judge will be John Lantz of Lefors.

The mercury was expected to again climb toward the high 90s today and tomorrow.

High winds and heavy rain swept portions of the Midwest. A northwest Missouri town was virtually isolated for several hours Sunday by flash floodwaters.

Overnight low readings in Texas ranged from 68 degrees at Dalhart to 80 at Dallas and several points along the coast. Pampa's overnight low was 72. At noon today it was 94 degrees and climbing.

Search by Atomic Detectives Delayed

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Trouble with a rocket guidance system today forced the Air Force to indefinitely delay its attempt to send two high atomic detectives on satellite patrol looking for violations of the nuclear test-ban treaty.

The countdown on the 104-foot Atlas-Agena rocket proceeded smoothly until 2:57 a.m. EST, when a hold was called seven minutes before the planned launch time.

The countdown was resumed twice and then finally halted one minute and 50 seconds before liftoff. A new launch date was not immediately set.

Besides the twin nuclear detection satellites, the rocket carried a third satellite, a tiny 12-pound research laboratory designed to monitor natural radiation above the earth.

The Air Force said the trouble involved guidance on the Agena upper stage — the vehicle designed to shoot the satellites into distant orbit above the globe.

The two 524-pound watchdog satellites were expected to join four others already in orbit watching space for violations of the nuclear treaty signed with Russia two years ago.

He is survived by his parents; one sister, Julia K.; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Hiltbruner of Shamrock; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Rutherford of Sweetwater, Okla.; two aunts of Pampa, Mrs. O. V. Bailey and Mrs. R. E. Harris, and an uncle, Wallace T. Matthews of Pampa.

Phone Directories To Be Delivered

Copies of the Pampa-Skellytown-Lefors telephone directory will be mailed to customers on Wednesday, George Newberry, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company said today.

There will be 76 white or alphabetical pages and 132 classified or yellow pages.

Newberry said almost 20,000 copies of the new directory have been printed but that not all of them will be mailed to customers at this time. He explained that additional copies are always prepared to have on hand for new customers moving to the area and as replacements for books in heavily used locations like public telephone booths.

Customers should throw away old directories when the new ones are received. Newberry cautioned customers to check them carefully for address and out-of-town number lists as well as other valuable papers before consigning them to the wastebasket.

Dodger Rookie Keeps Los Angeles in First

By United Press International
 Jim LeFebvre has a flair for dramatic roles that is delighting Los Angeles audiences and drawing good reviews from "rookie of the year" critics.

That's quite an accomplishment for the Dodgers' freshman second baseman, whose batting mark is only .227. But when LeFebvre hits—it usually comes at a time the Dodgers need it most, as his 10 game-winning or game-tying blows this season will attest.

And, it is generally conceded right now that LeFebvre and Joe Morgan of Houston are in front in the race for National League "rookie of the year" honors.

The Dodgers were trailing 3-1 with two out in the ninth inning and the bases loaded Sunday, when LeFebvre slashed a two-run single to tie the count and send the game into overtime.

The 22-year-old switch-hitter came up again in the 11th with Wes Parker on first base and drilled a double to score Parker with the decisive run that gave the Dodgers a 4-3 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

In other NL games, Pittsburgh edged Cincinnati 6-5 in the first of two games, then lost to the Reds 8-4; Milwaukee swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 5-1 and 5-4; St. Louis stopped Philadelphia 3-1, and Houston beat San Francisco 5-2.

Howie Reed blanked the Cubs over the final two innings to gain credit for the victory which extended the Dodgers' streak of the season to six. Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews hit two solo homers in the opener.

Tony Cloninger and Dick Kelley pitched the Braves to their double triumph that extended Milwaukee's longest winning streak of the season to six. Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews hit two solo homers in the opener.

Joeey Jay, sidelined for almost a month with a sore elbow, won the nightcap for Cincinnati with relief from Billy McCool in the eighth. The Pirates scored four times in the eighth inning of the opener, the big blow a two-run pinch double by Roberto Clemente.

Tim McCarver and Lou Brock slammed home runs for St. Louis and Tracy Stallard allowed Philadelphia five hits as the Cardinals won their fourth straight.

There were 24 golfers competing in five flights. A flight was won by John Bird with a 36-hole total of 183. B flight winner was Jimmy Keel with 168. C flight was won by Bob Shelton with 181. D flight winner was Bill Tuke with 201.

CHICAGO — Dennis Raiston of Bakersfield, Calif., the nation's top-ranked tennis player, downed Cliff Richey of Dallas, Tex., 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, to win the National Clay Courts championship.

MEXICO CITY — Mexico clinched a meeting with the United States in the American Zone final of the Davis Cup by defeating New Zealand in a doubles match.

PARIS, France — South Africa's Cliff Drysdale and Keith Diepraam scored singles victories against France and moved their country into the finals of the European Zone Davis Cup tennis championships against Spain.

ZANDVOORT, Netherlands — Jim Clark of Scotland streaked to victory in the Dutch Grand Prix auto race and virtually clinched the world driving championship for 1965.

North Gals Cage Winners
 WACO — The North's towering front line of 5-11 Alice Woolley and 5-11 Dee Gregory of Lubbock Roosevelt plus 5-10 Betty Courtney of Wellington overwhelmed the shorter South team Saturday night as the North won the ninth annual Girls' All-Star cage contest, 64-54.

It was the eighth win in nine tries for the Northerners, who led throughout after seven straight free throws had put the South in front for the only time, 7-3, early in the game. Woolley hit two free throws to tie it and Diana Lewis of Trent added two charity shots for a 9-7 Yankee edge.

It was 17-11, North at the quarter, 35-24 at halftime, 50-38 after three stanzas.

ASU Golfer Wins T-M
 KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Steady George Boutell, a long ball hitter from Phoenix, captured the 62nd Trans-Mississippi Amateur Golf Championship Sunday with a tense 1-up victory over Jim Hardy of Hutchinson, Kan.

Boutell, a 21-year-old Arizona State University star, held a 2-up advantage after the 18th and 19th holes, but fought off a determined bid by Hardy late in the 30 hole playoff.

Hardy, 22, attends Oklahoma State University.

Sore-Armed McCool Hurls 2-Hitter at NY

United Press International
 Four years ago a shutout was just another day's work for Mike McCormick. Today, it's a treasure.

At the age of 22, McCormick, a $65,000 bonus baby for the Giants, already had amassed a total of 53 major league victories and was being mentioned in the same breath with other great left-handers such as Eddie Plank, Warren Spahn and Lefty Grove.

Mike is now 26 and in the last four seasons he has only 14 major league wins. The victim of a sore arm, McCormick has bounced around to four different teams (including Rochester in the International) in the past three years, leading this season with Washington.

Sunday, McCormick shut out the New York Yankees 3-0 on a two-hitter for his first complete game since losing to Boston in September of 1963 while with Baltimore.

In other American League games, Minnesota ended its four-game losing streak by beating Los Angeles 5-4 in the second game of a doubleheader after the Angels had taken the opener 5-3. Chicago topped Kansas City 3-2 in 10 innings then lost 7-5. Boston tripped Cleveland 4-1 and Baltimore stopped Detroit 4-1.

The shutout for McCormick was the first for a left-hander against the Yankees this year.

Don Blasingame singled in the first two Washington runs in the fifth off loser Pete Mikelsen and Frank Howard slammed a home run for the other tally in the sixth. Manager Sam Mele of the Twins, outraged by umpires' calls, was involved in a shoving and fist swinging spree with umpire Bill Valentine and was ejected from the first game. Mele lunged at Valentine in the fifth inning and had to be restrained by plate ump John Rice.

Fred Newman scattered seven hits to win his 10th for the Angels in the opener. The Twins scored an unearned run in the eighth after an error by Fregosi to win the nightcap.

Pampa Llers Open Tourney
 Pampa's Little League got into post-season action hot and heavy this week with an eight-team tournament matching all contenders from the three local leagues. The tournament will run through Saturday night. Next week, all-star teams from the three leagues will be named, and they will engage in another tourney.

Four games will open tonight's action. At 6, Crall will play One-Bull in Park I while Flint and McCathern tangle in Park II. At 8, Duncan and Rotary meet in Park I. Celanese and Radcliff in II. Winner of the Park I opener meets Richardson at 8 tomorrow, Park II winner meets the winner of Tuesday's opener Wednesday at 8. The second game winners both draw byes until Wednesday.

Borger Nips Colts in 12th
 BORGER — The home team finally prevailed, 3-2, in 12 innings over the Pampa Colts Sunday afternoon in Irrigation League action.

Borger's record is now 10-0. Cagle Davis hit a one-run home-run in the seventh for the Borger Braves in the semi-pro league.

PANAMA — Bobby Price and Larry Gregory, Phil Masie (9); Bob Connelly, Tom Johnson (8) and Jerry Johnson, W — Tom Johnson. HR — Cagle Davis, Borger.

The two all star games will be the school's features as far as the public is concerned — basketball in the air-conditioned Memorial Coliseum Aug. 4 and football in the Cotton Bowl Aug. 5.

Some 250 coaches attended the school and 2,000 fans watched Wieman's South team win the first football game 3-0 on a fourth-quarter field goal.

What a difference 30 years can make. Last year's school at Fort Worth enrolled 4,115 coaches. It attracted 39,100 (unofficially closer to 45,000) to the football game. It drew 7,224 fans to the all-star basketball game.

If early indications hold up, the enrollment record will be bettered again—as it has been nine times in the past 10 years. The prep coaches, many of whom start pre-season football practice almost immediately after the school ends, will hear lectures in their choice of football, basketball, baseball, track and physical training.

Football coaches Hayden Fry of Southern Methodist and Gene Stallings of Texas A&M head up the instructional staffs, along with Texas Western basketball coach Don Haskins and Texas A&M track coach Charley Thomas.

The trouble is all in Howard's right elbow, which frequently swells to such alarming proportions that he's unable to swing a bat, brush his hair or even straighten out his arm.

"I honestly think I'll need an operation after the season is over," confessed the six-foot seven, 250-pound Washington outfielder. "This isn't something that developed overnight. I've had this now for more than two years."

The elbow swelled up so much on Howard a few weeks before the All-Star game that his batting average nosedived 30 points in three weeks. The pain became so intense that he finally had to go to manager Gil Hodgers and ask to be benched.

"If he did a thing like that, you know he has to be hurting," declared Hodgers. "They don't make his kind of workers anymore. He's the type you'll go out there and keep playing until he drops and you'll never hear a peep out of him."

"I've taken cortisone shots and they help somewhat," said Howard. "But I get violent actions to them. My arm blows up like a balloon."

58TH YEAR MONDAY, JULY 19, 1965 5

Over 4,000 Coaches Set for Annual Clinic

DALLAS (UPI) — It started weak and anemic in Dallas 30 years ago. But when the Texas High School Coaches Association's annual coaching school returns here Aug. 1, it will come back "all grown up" and the biggest thing of its kind in the world.

More than 4,000 Texas high school coaches are due to invade Dallas for the 33rd annual coaching school, a five-day session that will be climaxed by all-star football and basketball games.

Back in 1931, the association — then in its third year — decided to add an all-star football game to its Dallas program. And it brought in Tad Wieman of Princeton and Ted Cox of Tulane to coach the two squads.

Some 250 coaches attended the school and 2,000 fans watched Wieman's South team win the first football game 3-0 on a fourth-quarter field goal.

What a difference 30 years can make. Last year's school at Fort Worth enrolled 4,115 coaches. It attracted 39,100 (unofficially closer to 45,000) to the football game.

Hurting Howard Fights On

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's a little pathetic watching a mighty bomber trying to operate on only one wing and a praver.

But big Frank Howard has a go at it most every day even though it's common knowledge in every American League dugout that he can't throw a ball as far as his 15-year-old sister.

The trouble is all in Howard's right elbow, which frequently swells to such alarming proportions that he's unable to swing a bat, brush his hair or even straighten out his arm.

"I honestly think I'll need an operation after the season is over," confessed the six-foot seven, 250-pound Washington outfielder. "This isn't something that developed overnight. I've had this now for more than two years."

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Army Tactics Won't Work in Politics

According to General of the Army Dwight Eisenhower, tardily and reluctantly a Republican politician, there's nothing wrong with Republican national conventions that couldn't be cured by hiring a goon squad of 6-foot-4 Army sergeants and keeping the press off the convention floor.

That and getting a "strong permanent chairman, and dictatorial powers," opines Ike, and the next Republican convention in 1968 will be a more decorous affair that will give the voters a better "image" of the GOP.

That's what Eisenhower told the Republican National Committee recently in Washington. In typical army fashion, Ike seems to think that most anything can be solved by:

1. Giving one man dictatorial power to run the show.
2. Giving him a strong-arm squad to enforce his orders.
3. Putting the press in its place. Which place, to him, is somewhere in the wings or, even better, in a hotel across the street from convention hall.

About all Ike forgot was to suggest that the delegates be required to goosetep in cadence, when they march around the hall in a demonstration.

What the GOP needs, in our opinion, is not more decorum but just the opposite — more fight: a good Pier 6 donnybrook on the convention floor to make the voters' blood race more hotly through their veins.

The last excitement at a Republican national convention that we can recall was in 1940 when the galleries, chanting "We want Willie," crammed a darkhorse candidate down the delegates' throats. In the conventions since then, even Senator Taft at Chicago in 1952, the final verdict was drawn long before the delegates in convention assembled.

Dewey, Nixon, Goldwater, Landrum? Remember the nominated? About as dry and dull as the campaigns they conducted after their nomination.

And what has it gained the Republicans? The Big Apple only twice since 1932.

So now Ike, it seems to us, is advocating more of the same only in a more refined and regimented manner. So that the image will be that of a church ladies' sewing circle instead of a lusty, brawling, fighting political party ready to take on all

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

IT IS HAPPENING HERE!

F.B.I. Director J. Edgar Hoover has warned: "The communist plan is to conquer the United States, if not today, then tomorrow; if not tomorrow, then the next day, next month, next year..." — with the help of our clergymen, Hollywood, press and networks, and "educators" like Professor Milton Mayer of Syracuse, who is reported to have said recently: "We must haul down the American flag. Haul it down, stamp on it and spit on it."

In 1961 Hoover summed up the situation as follows: "The successful exploitation and manipulation of youth and student groups throughout the world today are a major challenge which free world forces must meet and defeat. Recent world events clearly reveal that world Communism has launched a massive campaign to capture and maneuver youth and student groups."

It can't happen here? It already has. And it's almost too late. A recent survey conducted by several universities among high school juniors and college juniors found out this: 71 percent would deny an accused person the right to confront his accuser. 41 percent believe that freedom of the press should be cancelled. 26 percent would allow search and seizure without consent. 53 percent favor government ownership of banks, steel companies and railroads. 56 percent voted for close government regulations of all businesses. 62 percent said a worker should not produce all he can. 61 percent rejected the profit incentive as necessary or desirable. 84 percent denied that patriotism is important. On a choice between war and surrender, in a west coast university poll, 60 percent of the students voted to surrender. They have been brought up on a surrender diet.

If you're choosing a school, take Bob Jones University, Harding College or some among the few which still teach religious, moral, cultural and economic principles on which our nation was founded. I spoke at UCLA recently. (Gus Hall probably wasn't available.) I saw the largest aggregation of unwashed, zoot suited, bearded, black and white beatniks, anarchists and slobbs I've seen since I viewed the marchers carrying banners for Adlai Stevenson and John Kennedy at the 1960 Democrat Convention. (Except for Selma, of course. That was the all-un-American low.)

The speech at UCLA was in the lounge of the Student Union. One couple was "lounging" on a sofa at the rear, "making out." I became so engrossed in their progress that I had difficulty concentrating on the speech. When I discussed morality, they laughed. When I attempted to be amusing, they were stony-faced. When I talked about patriotism, they smirked. At the end, the moderator said to the assembly in all seriousness: "Just because a person expresses ideas you have never heard before doesn't mean you should ridicule him." I would much prefer my children to be high school dropouts than to graduate from the likes of UC or UCLA.

The livid left prattles about "academic freedom." That's the last thing most of the collectivists believe in. Gus Hall got a standing ovation at Yale University under auspices of the Yale Political Union. And the student body, the faculty, the administration and the City of New Haven lionized Hall while denying to a Christian gentleman and American patriot, Governor George Wallace of Alabama, the opportunity to speak on the Yale campus.

In many of our schools they now have classes in Communism taught by Socialists. Having Socialists teach anti-Communism is like employing Liz Taylor to teach a course in chastity.

Wit and Whimsy

As he was drilling a batch of recruits the sergeant saw that one of them was marching out of step. Going to the man as they marched, he said sarcastically: Sergeant — Do you know they are all out of step except you? all out of step except you? Recruit — (innocently) — What? Sergeant — I said they are Recruit — Well, you tell 'em, you're in charge.

25,000 Reservists, National Guardsmen To Be Called Up In A Few Weeks; Probably by Presidential Executive Order

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — At least 25,000 Army and Air Force reservists and National Guardsmen will definitely be called to active duty within a few weeks.

Also, President Johnson will ask Congress for another $1.5 billion for soaring military costs arising from the Viet Nam conflict. Several months ago, at his urgent request, Congress voted $700 million for this purpose.

Only unresolved question on the impending troop call-up is how to do it.

The President and Democratic congressional leaders differ on that.

The President favors issuing an executive order declaring a national emergency and summoning the desired personnel and units to the colors. Under the law he has authority to do that.

The congressional leaders are advising a joint House-Senate resolution. They are not challenging the President's power to proceed by executive order; that is readily conceded. But the lawmakers contend his position would be greatly strengthened by obtaining direct congressional approval of this far-reaching action.

This backstage divergence of view was discussed at length at the President's weekly conference with the congressional leaders. He explained his preference for an executive order by expressing concern that a joint resolution would precipitate a stormy and protracted debate over Viet Nam policy, with militant opponents resorting to delaying tactics and political critics demanding even more drastic measures.

Most of these troops, the President indicated, will replace elements sent to Viet Nam. However, some, particularly specialists and Air Force units, will be assigned there.

On the Joint Chiefs' recommendation, the President has approved a U.S. build-up in Viet Nam to 150,000 by October 1. This total will exceed 170,000 by the end of the year if no agreement is reached.

The congressional leaders understand that a full South Korean division will shortly be sent to South Viet Nam. Also that Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines will increase their contingents.

Representative Melvin Price, D-Ill., a ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee, is telling colleagues that as a result of the intensifying Viet Nam crisis, Defense Secretary McNamara's controversial plan to merge the reserves and National Guard is "dead as a door-nail."

An Armed Services subcommittee, headed by Representative F. Edward Hebert, D-La., is continuing to hold hearings on the proposal, but they are getting nowhere.

SPARKS—One freshman Democratic congressman from the Middle West is ruefully discovering that President Johnson does not lightly brook straying from the administration path. The new legislator voted with the opposition on an important measure, and the very next day found he no longer could get visiting constituents included in the special early morning tours of the White House. That's a very popular privilege of members of Congress, so by his being cut off he is apparently being taught a pointed lesson.

The American Way

By HARRY BROWNE

What is self-government? Simply stated, it is the individual governing himself, assuming responsibility for his own actions and his own future. It is not a system by which individuals govern each other, no matter what the form of government.

But, self-government in this sense, is considered impractical in a world where "evil men" exploit others and seek to steal from individuals. But is it impractical?

When you enter a supermarket, you are governing yourself economically. You choose your own menu, buy products in accordance with your own standards, and protect yourself from those things you do not like by not purchasing them.

Suppose, however, that the grocer told you there were products you had to buy, in order to obtain the privilege of buying other products you wanted to buy. How would you, as a self-governing individual, protect yourself?

Consumer Not Helpless You would undoubtedly walk out of the store, find another store that did not make such requirements, and obtain the things you want. The point is: you are not helpless, despite what others may want you to do.

Suppose, however, that all grocers in your community agreed to establish purchasing requirements for their customers — requirements that were distasteful to you? What would you do? Would that render you helpless?

Of course not. For there would undoubtedly be many other buyers who felt as you do — that there are only certain products desired — and these other buyers would resent any requirements pressuring them to buy unwanted products. So what would happen? This would create a wonderful opportunity for a new grocer to make a great profit by offering people what they really want. The only losers would be the older stores that were not responding to the demands of their customers.

This is self-government in action. Individuals assuming responsibility for their own lives, and granting the same opportunity to others. True self-government does not require a majority vote to compel others to do as we say. It only requires each individual to assume responsibility for his own life.

This simple example of self-government is actually practiced daily by all individuals. Each one accepts or rejects constantly, in terms of his own standards, as he makes a multitude of decisions. These choices reflect upon his life, but involve no compulsion to make others do likewise.

Responsibility Relinquished Unfortunately, in too many areas we turn over the self-governing responsibility to the state. We ask the state, for example, to insure that merchants are not defrauding us. But why should we? If we're really concerned about fraud, we could tell every merchant to prove his honesty before doing business with us. It would be only a short time before systems were devised to quickly and readily establish a seller's honesty.

Would this be an improvement

Between the Bookends

GREATEST FORM OF CHARITY

A new booklet by F. A. Harper calls attention to the fact that a direct gift from one man to another is not always the most efficient form of charity. At least, not on the basis that the object is to provide as great a benefit as is possible.

The booklet is entitled "Savings — the Greatest Economic Charity," and is published by Research & Education Services, Box 727, Menlo Park, California (35 cents).

What is the best form of charity? The author points out that an investment in new tools for industry will be a self-sustaining charity: it will not be used up. When you invest in industry, your investment accounts for 95 percent of the increase in production output. But your return is only 15 percent of the profits resulting therefrom. The rest, 85 percent, goes to the user of the tool in the form of higher wages.

Favorable Circumstances As Harper summarizes the point, "A person is lucky if by chance he happens to have been born in the United States where he can share directly in the bounty tools create. By having been born here he is enabled to work with tools that are now available because others have saved in the past. His income from current effort will, by these figures, be enhanced seventeen times (85 versus 5) because of these tools. Had he been born where no tools had been accumulated whatsoever but would have to work as hard or even harder than in the United States, he would be getting only one-seventeenth as much for his labors."

"This bounty to the users of tools is what I call the greatest economic charity."

In short, the tool user increases production by 5 percent through his efforts, but receives 85 percent of the profit therefrom. The tool investor, however, contributes 95 percent of the increase and receives only 15 percent. This is quite a charity.

"When a neighbor knocks at one's door for a contribution to some charity, it may seem selfish to wonder if perhaps a greater good could not be done by buying a share of new investment stock instead. But such an alternative is worth pondering, even with the perspective of charity in mind.

True Charity "... whereas a crust of bread may save a man from starving for a short while, the creation and use of tools are the only effective means by which people can be pulled completely out of the mire of poverty and placed on the solid base of sustained plenty. One cannot heal all the sick, relieve all the poor, comfort all in distress, nor father all the fatherless. And so it is important that in one's efforts to do good he lend his limited support where it will bear the most fruit on a longtime basis—after he is gone and after his own direct efforts have ceased."

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank Markey

Occasionally mail chutes in office buildings and hotels become clogged when folks jam in thick envelopes, causing a blockage between floors. When this happens the Post Office Dept. must be notified and clearance men are dispatched to open the chutes. No one else is authorized to do this. So, if you have an important letter, drop it off in the lobby box. We learned our lesson some years ago when our copy arrived two days late for our editor.

Today's smile: We thought moron jokes had faded into a justly deserved oblivion, but Manny Williams, the funniest magician in show business, tells us about the simple lad who had a bad gash on his forehead. His pal asked how it happened, and the moron replied: "I bit myself." His friend wondered how he could do such a thing, and the moron further explained: "I stood on a chair."

The next thing you'll be hearing about in connection with municipal airports is "Sound Clearways." It's a proposal to prevent the construction of homes in areas where residents would later become annoyed by aircraft noises. These buffer zones would exclude residential property; the space devoted exclusively to commercial or industrial uses, or reserved for recreation. This may put you in a lather, but every member of your family spends about $7 every year just to keep clean. That's the word from the soap industry.

Thoughts while shaving: Women have equal rights in everything except that unique organization, the Cigar Smokers of America. Due to a hassle at the last national convention, it was voted to admit females to membership, but the males denied the gal cheroot smokers voice and vote. It's good to know that the Cigar Smokers are one outfit that gives physical evidence of the resurgence of the American male and his prerogatives.

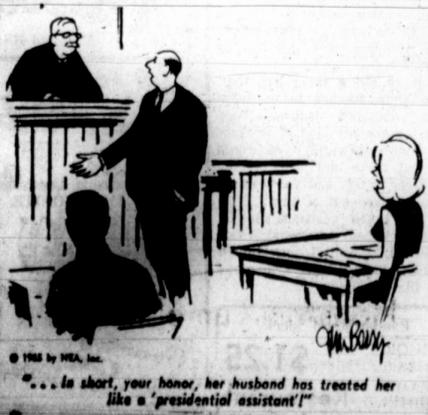

The 1966 model automobiles will have more style, more power and more optional equipment; three factors certain to make them irresistible to prospective buyers. But the automobile insurance companies say these three factors will result in higher repair costs. And last year collision costs on private passenger cars increased 7 percent, causing the most severe underwriting losses in a decade. The outlook is poor because of ever-increasing traffic congestion.

Remember when FDR, in a moment of pique, changed the name of Hoover Dam to Boulder Dam? Well, even though Roosevelt didn't like his predecessor, Herbert Hoover lived long enough to see himself vindicated of all blame for the great depression of 1929 and now Uncle Sam has designated his humble birthplace in Iowa as a national historic site.

While there is no substitute for sleep, confections do help maintain alertness for all types of driving conditions. Truck drivers consume large quantities of candy and chocolate to help fight driving fatigue. Years ago a bus driver, who made long trips, told us he kept himself awake enroute by biting into a lemon. We tried it and it worked. The Seattle (Wash.) TIMES headlined a story: "Roosevelt's 'Rough Riders' Will Reminisce." At their age, that's all they can do!

Country Editor speaking: How you ever think that a fine if an assessment for doing something wrong, but a tax is a fine for doing something right?

The local representatives are among the outstanding producers in the company's Combination Agencies Division the past year. W. W. Cherry, senior vice president and division director, reported.

Delegates to Las Vegas will go in groups either on planes or special trains, he said.

STAMP SALE BEGINS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A commemorative stamp in tribute to Dante on the 700th anniversary of his birth went on general sale today.

President Johnson, praising Dante's "Divine Comedy" as a work of "enduring meaning and significance" announced Saturday the special postage stamp in honor of the famous Italian poet, philosopher and political scientist.

Lake Powell in Glen Canyon will hold enough water to cover Pennsylvania a foot deep.

No-Roach Stops Crawling Insects And All Insects
Cockroaches usually only come out from their hiding places at night. That's why day-spraying just isn't effective enough. You need a safe insecticide that keeps on working at night, while you sleep. Good homemakers all over the world turn to effective, easy-to-use Johnson's No-Roach—the long-lasting brush-on liquid.

No-Roach is effective against all crawling insects—cockroaches, ants, spiders, and silverfish. One application stays effective for months.

It's clean and easy to use, harmless to pets.

No need to move dishes or food when you use Johnson's No-Roach. Just brush the colorless, odorless coating where you want it. Dries quickly to form an invisible film that stays effective for months. Brush Johnson's No-Roach in cabinets, on baseboards, door sills, window sills... wherever you see roaches and ants. Use Johnson's No-Roach and forget about bugs for months! Get No-Roach at Ward's, Ideal's, Furr's, and all grocery stores.

Personalized Auto Tags Selling Like 'Hot Cakes'

By DAVID ANDERSON
AUSTIN (UPI)—How do you get 1,900 Texans to fork over $10 each to the state treasury and laugh about it?

You sell a University of Texas student a license plate that says "Hookem" and a "Go Gulf" tag to a service station owner in Orange.

The "personalized license plate" program proposed by Gov. John Connally and enacted by the 59th Legislature does not become law until Aug. 31, but already it has raised $190,000 for state tourist promotion.

Connally has predicted Texans eventually will pay $5 million a year for the privilege of having unusual license plates.

The Texas Highway Department began accepting applications for "prestige" license plates May 9 and already had approved over 1,900 requests.

Stanly Elkins, a Highway Department statistician who has handled many of the requests, said the department expects the rush to really begin after Sep. 1, when the plates will be seen on the streets for the first time.

Big Sales Expected
Sales this year could total $700,000 or $800,000, Elkins predicted.

Although Elkins said 90 percent of the applicants have asked for tags bearing their names or initials, there have been plenty of more original choices.

"I Fix TV," reads the inscription ordered by a West Texas television repair man.

Many of the plates are designed to advertise a firm or product. The operator of the Jack Tar Motel in Galveston got the letters "Jack-Tar."

"IBM" went to a representative of International Business Machines, and a Remington-Rand computer man got "Univac."

"Impact" went to Dallas Perkins, the founding father of the Taylor County community of that name.

Impact's chief claim to fame is that it is the only place in the vicinity of Abilene where alcoholic beverages can be sold legally. Perkins' second choice was "6 Pack," the nickname of the thirsty West Texans have given Impact.

BEATTY WEAKENS
VENTURA, Calif. (UPI)—Attendants at Memorial Community Hospital reported today that animal trainer Clyde Beatty, 62, was "very serious" and "gets weaker every day."

Beatty was hospitalized July 6 for treatment of cancer of the esophagus.

DEFER ACTION
MANILA (UPI)—The Philippine congress deferred action until next year on a proposal to send 2,000 security soldiers and engineers to South Viet Nam.
