Americus Mayor Calls For End to Demonstrations

Possible Curfew Is Being Considered

AMERICUS, Ga. (UPI) — Mayor T. Griffin Walker today called for an end to racial protests in this southeast Georgia town and said the fatal shooting of a white youth "stands as a terrible monument to so-called peaceful demonstrations by civil rights groups."

The mayor's statement came at an hour when Negroes were preparing to resume the marches they postponed following the slaying of 21-year-old Andy Whatley. Two Negroes have been charged with murder in the slaying.

Semifinals Set In Miss Texas Pageant Tonight

FORT WORTH (UPI) — A brunette college sophomore from Plano performed a pantomime to recorded music and a shapely college freshman from Abilene wore a bathing suit well enough to catch the judges' eyes for preliminary top spots in the Miss Texas pageant Thursday night.

Miss Plano, Doris Marie San Filippo, 19, delighted the audience with her gestures and movements to the Rodgers and Hammerstein song "I Enjoy Being a Girl." Miss San Filippo is a sophomore at North Texas State University.

Eighteen-year-old Linda Jo Taylor, Miss Abilene, who will be a freshman "at either Texas Tech or Texas Christian University" in the fall, filled her swimsuit with perfect 36-22-36 measurements. She is 5-foot-5½ inches tall and weighs 120 pounds.

The six judges declared the two pretty girls preliminary winners in the second night of judging the annual beauty show to pick the state's loveliest.

Friday night the 66 contestants for the crown wrap up the preliminary judgments and two more will be declared talent and bathing suit winners.

The finals in the Miss Texas show are Saturday night before television cameras. The new Miss Texas will take home a $1,000 scholarship, and a $1,750 wardrobe. She will also compete for the Miss America crown in Atlantic City, N.J., in September.

Preliminary winners the first night of the contest were Miss Houston, Julia Keith, and Miss San Antonio, Wanda Delores Smith.

Mob Storms U.S. Embassy

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — A mob of more than 1,000 Indonesians today tore down the gates and fence of the U.S. consulate in Medan, hurled rocks at the two-story building and painted anti-American slogans on the walls.

The demonstration was a protest against the new U.S. ambassador to Indonesia, Marshall Green.

Governors Support LBJ Action on Viet Buildup

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nations governors — with a single exception — were lined up solidly today in support of President Johnson's decision to double the draft calls and send more troops to Viet Nam.

The exception was Oregon Gov. Mark O. Hatfield, who said he wanted to wait and see before giving his approval to the latest administration war measure.

Johnson did manage to convert another prominent critic, however, Michigan Gov. George W. Romney said, "I support the President's actions... and I urge all Americans to do the same."

The Chief Executive summoned the state governors to the White House late Thursday for two hours of high-level briefing on Viet Nam. Among those at the session were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and United Nations Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg.

The governors of 49 states and two territories attended the briefing. The only absentee was Connecticut Gov. John N. Dempsey, who is traveling in Ireland. Dempsey, a Democrat, has expressed his support of the President's policies frequently in the past.

The President obviously was cheered by the discussion. Asked how the meeting went, he said: "couldn't have gone better... wonderful... a fine degree of unity and understanding among all of us."

Hatfield and Romney originally voted against a resolution of support for the President's policy at the governors' conference in Minneapolis Wednesday. Romney said Thursday that he did so because he felt delaying a policy statement could have made it more meaningful.

Democratic governors who flew from Minneapolis on a plane provided by Johnson expressed their support of the Chief Executive's policy as did two other prominent Republicans — New York's Nelson A. Rockefeller and Pennsylvania's William W. Scranton.

Hatfield said he felt the governors should have been more fully informed on the issues in Viet Nam before they took the vote. He said Thursday's briefing was helpful, but he wanted to wait and see what the results of peace efforts through the United Nations would be. He said he never intended to give Johnson a vote of no confidence.

Saturn Unloads Space Sweeper

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — America's last Saturn-1 rocket wound up a string of fantastic successes today by orbiting a Pegasus space sweeper satellite equipped with trophies space walking astronauts may someday return to earth.

The powerful booster, the pioneer of the U.S. breed of super space launchers, closed out its four-year test program with a perfect 10 for 10 record — a mark unmatched by any other American rocket.

Its final success was known 11 minutes after the on-time 7 a.m. CST blastoff when a space agency spokesman reported that the Pegasus satellite had zoomed into orbit.

"We had an excellent flight," the spokesman reported.

Last of Series
The space craft was the last of three Pegasus space monsters designed to sweep the sky with a 96-foot wide wing to report on the hazards cosmic debris pose to moonships.

Three minutes after orbit was reached, the ground control center reported that the satellite's bat-like wings had unfolded as planned and began its hunt for meteoroids. The satellite was large enough to be visible from earth.

Unlike its predecessors, Pegasus III was equipped to take advantage of America's fast-paced man-in-space program.

It is coated with luminous paint to catch the eye of astronauts and carries 48 detachable panels that could be retrieved in a year or so to give man his first sample of metal punctured by meteoroids.

The 188-foot Saturn-1 thundered into life at 7 a.m. CST and eased into the sky. It gained speed quickly, streaking toward space on the 1.5 million pounds of thrust from eight engines gulping three tons of fuel a second.

Shoots Into Orbit
Two and a half minutes later, the six engines on the rocket's hydrogen-fueled second stage took over and pushed the monstrous satellite toward orbit.

The shot cleared the deck for the next in the Saturn family — the more powerful Saturn-IB. It is expected to make its first flight in January and could orbit a three-man Apollo spacecraft before the end of 1966.

Saturn's 23,100-pound satellite was aimed toward a near circular orbital path 332 miles above earth — lower than the first two Pegasus dust detectors. Scientists estimated that after a year or so, its path would drop to within the reach of Gemini spacecraft.

GROWS 'EM BIG — A. E. Beddingfield, 508 Reed, hopes the rest of his garden turns out like this 28-inch cucumber did. Beddingfield said the giant cucumber is growing about two inches every week. He doesn't plan to eat it until it falls off the vine.

Last Olsen Quintuplet Placed in Incubator

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The remaining Olsen quintuplet languished in an incubator today, her chances of survival extremely slim. Fertility hormones had been given to the mothers of the Swedish quintuplets and another set in New Zealand.

Four of the five premature babies born Thursday to Mrs. Karin Olsen, 33, of Orda, Sweden, died within 12 hours of delivery. The three-day old quintuplets to Mrs. Shirley Ann Lawson, 26, of Auckland, New Zealand are thriving and doctors said it should be "clear sailing from now on."

Biochemists said the hormone has resulted in pregnancies for about 50 of 100 women who had been infertile, but multiple births were involved in about half of the cases.

Prof. Carl Gemzell, the Swedish researcher who developed the hormone treatment, said 10 to 15 per cent of the women delivered triplets but none survived. One case of septuplets — seven babies — was reported, but all were stillborn.

Gemzell warned that only a small percentage of infertile women — those with a malfunctioning ovulation process — react favorably to the treatment.

The hormones, extracted from human pituitary glands, stimulate the ovulation process. An overdose may produce more than one ovum, or egg, for fertilization and this is apparently what happened in the cases of Mrs. Olsen and Mrs. Lawson.

Per Bergstrom, medical expert for the newspaper Stockholm — Tidningen, reported to day that the treatment may work in only 2 to 10 per cent of infertility cases.

"We can only help women who are unable to bear children because of disturbances in the hormone balance (in the pituitary gland)," Gemzell said.

Gemzell, a member of the faculty at Sweden's Uppsala University, began his research in the early 1950's and started clinical trial treatments in 1956.

He said hormones prepared in his laboratory were given to Mrs. Olsen and Mrs. Lawson. Mrs. Olsen had three boys and two girls, but they were 11 weeks premature. Mrs. Lawson has four girls and one boy.

Hoffa Has One Chance Left to Stay Out of Jail

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Teamsters union President James Hoffa's only hope of remaining out of prison appears today to lie with the U. S. Supreme Court.

The U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals here Thursday upheld his conviction and eight-year prison sentence for jury tampering. He has 20 days in which to ask the court to reconsider, which it rarely does, or to make an expected appeal to the nation's highest court.

Should he take neither step, at the end of 20 days he will be taken into custody to begin serving his sentence in a federal prison. He also was fined $10,000.

Hoffa and three other men were convicted in Chattanooga, Tenn., March 12, 1964, of trying to influence a jury trying him on another charge in Nashville, Tenn., two years earlier.

The other three were sentenced to three years in prison for conspiracy. They are Thomas Parks, a Nashville funeral home employee, Larry Campbell, Parks' nephew and a business agent for Hoffa's home local in Detroit, and Edwin King, former president of a Nashville Teamsters local.

Their appeals were considered with that of Hoffa and the court's decision Thursday applies to all four.

Hoffa contended in his appeal he was innocent and the Justice Department, headed by then Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, was out to get him.

Hoffa also faces a five-year prison sentence and a $10,000 fine on another conviction. On July 26, 1964, a jury in Chicago found him and six other defendants guilty of fraud and conspiracy in the handling of Teamsters union pension funds. That case also is being appealed.

In upholding the Chattanooga conviction, the court overruled 16 points Hoffa had raised to support his claim he did not receive a fair trial at Chattanooga.

House Pushes For Vote Bill Passage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House leaders today pushed for quick approval of the compromise voting rights bill in an effort to get the landmark legislation to President Johnson by the end of next week.

The measure — a top item on the Chief Executive's Great Society "must" list — is aimed at southern states found to be barring Negroes from the polls through complex literacy requirements and other devices.

For one thing, it would permit federal registrars to carry out the bill's intent.

House-Senate negotiators approved the measure Thursday after working almost three weeks to iron out differences between the bill passed by the Senate May 26 and the legislation approved by the House July 9.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the conference panel, said he would seek to get the bill before the House Tuesday for a quick vote. Presumably, the Senate could act on it immediately after the House.

The conferees reported the measure out after agreeing on two main sticking points: A provision on state and local

South Vietnamese Suffer Heavy Losses

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist Viet Cong forces today launched a two-pronged attack against a government military training center and a nearby provincial capital 75 miles southwest of Saigon, inflicting "heavy casualties."

In other ground action, Viet Cong guerrillas attacked a district capital 85 miles southeast of Da Nang with mortar, recoilless rifle and sniper fire early today. "Light casualties" were reported in the raid near the giant U.S. air base.

A third Viet Cong force of unknown number attacked and inflicted "heavy" casualties on a government platoon defending an abandoned airfield at Tuy Hoa, between the coastal cities of Qui Nhon and Nha Trang.

In the air war, U.S. planes flew more than 31 sorties against Communist North Viet Nam. Four of the planes, U.S. Navy A6 intruders from the carrier Independence, dropped four tons of bombs on a power

MORE TO COME — Troops of the 101st Airborne Division arrive by troopship at Cam Ranh bay to bolster U.S. forces in Viet Nam. The paratrooper landing precludes the massive influx of an additional 50,000 American soldiers announced by President Johnson.

DIVERGING VIEWS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and Jack Hood Vaughan, assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs, Thursday registered diverging views on hopes for a compromise government in the Dominican Republic.

Vaughan said after a session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he hoped compromise attempts would bear fruit "within the coming weeks."

Fulbright, the committee's chairman, said there had been no developments indicating there would be a quick solution. "If you're not optimistic, you just give up," he said.

Financial circles said the opposition of the McKesson & Robbins management to a Glen Alden takeover made some bankers wary of financing the deal.

Television in Review

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press International
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Once upon a time there was a Miss America whose figure was as pear-shaped as her vowels. She had a small bust, broad waist and hearty hips yet she moved with such elegance no one, least of all the judges, considered her unusual measurements a drawback.

For the sake of living room comparisons with your wife or girl friend she had a 32 inch bust, 26½ inch waist and 37½ inch hips.

Actually these statistics somehow seemed to fit well together and they were surmounted by a very pretty face, indeed. The case of this winner came up the other day in a discussion on what exactly this resort city's "Miss America Pageant" is looking for when it crowns its choice before a vast nationwide television audience.

"It is not specifically a beauty contest," declared Albert A. Marks, Jr., chairman of the executive committee. "We are not looking for a beauty per se. Or a brain per se. Or a performer per se."

"We are looking for a wholesome, natural American girl. In other words a lady."

And he spelled it out: L-A-D-Y.

Marks thought it was time to restate the objectives of the Miss America Pageant lest it be confused with contests designed purely to select the beautiful. As it happened the photographs we rifled through of the winners of the 50 state contests were all of extremely handsome and shapely young ladies but this, according to Marks, is merely a pleasing coincidence.

"It's not, like some others," a contest of measurements," he said. "We even tried to eliminate them one year but newspapers protested. We tried to eliminate cheesecake pictures on another occasion but" the newsreel cameramen walked out. Right out.

"We are looking," he said, "for the finer type American girl and we are more concerned with her grace and poise in an evening gown than her appearance in a bathing suit. We don't check the bathing suits the girls wear, you know. What's the difference if its an 'A' cup or a 'B' cup or a 'C' cup? You can engineer any size bust into a bathing suit these days."

He said however that the Miss America competitors all happened to look good in bathing suits.

"Coincidence again?"
"Quite," he smiled.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bache & Co. says it believes the selective investor will fare well in the trading market in the months ahead but that the emphasis should be on quality and strong fundamentals.

L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hut-ton & Co. says the continuity of any vigorous upward trend in stock prices is suspect.

Kenneth Ward of Hayden Stone Inc. says that although price irregularity and nervousness appear likely to characterize the market's overall action, he believes the market will resist any strong test of its June lows.

APPROVE MERGER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) Thursday approved the merger of Press Wireless Inc. with the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (ITT).

Press Wireless is now controlled by Time Inc., the New York Times Co. and the New York Herald Tribune Inc. Under the merger control will be transferred to ITT World Communications Inc.

The merger involves the exchange of 6,250 shares of Press Wireless stock for 63,700 shares of ITT stock valued at about $3.4 million. There is also a provision that no Press Wireless services will be discontinued unless customers are given a chance to protest to the FCC.

Plans Finalized For Top O' Texas Rodeo

All arrangements, details and activities for the annual Top O' Texas Rodeo set Aug. 11-14 have now been finalized and everything is ready to go.

This was announced by committee chairman at a rodeo directors' meeting held last night in the Chamber of Commerce office.

The wagon train recently returned from Oklahoma City where they were the official Practices for the Kid Pony Show set Aug. 10 were scheduled for 8 a.m. Aug. 3, 5, and 8.

Tickets for the rodeo will go on sale in the Chamber office Aug. 9. Merchants' complimentary tickets are already on sale.

Watson said the club will greet persons attending the four-night show, Aug. 11-14 and also help in seating reserve seat patrons.

Californian Hurt In Scooter Mishap

A car-motor scooter wreck about 9:15 p.m. yesterday injured a 28-year-old resident from Garden Grove, Calif.

Treated and released at Highland General Hospital was Alice Hanneman. She was riding on a motor-scooter operated by T. V. Parks, 15, of 516 E. Browning.

Driver of the car involved was Elwood Leonard, 17, of 413 Jupiter.

The accident occurred near Cuyler and Foster.

plant 75 miles south of Hanoi. It was the second attack on the plant in two days. A U.S. spokesman said all planes returned safely to their carrier.

In the South, the Communist attacks in the Mekong delta hit the Tan An military training center and the town of Cao Lanh, the capital of Kien Phong Province. No Americans were reported involved in the action.

An American military spokesman said the defenders suffered "heavy casualties."

The fighting southwest of Saigon came as thousands of American airborne and infantry troops pushed deeper into a Communist guerrilla stronghold 40 miles southeast of Saigon. The sweeping operation went into its third day with no contact with the Viet Cong.

The air attacks today on North Viet Nam included the dropping of 420,000 propaganda leaflets over two cities, including historic Dien Bien Phu, 180 miles west of Hanoi near the Laotian border.

Other U.S. Navy and Air Force planes raided port facilities at Quang Khe, and the Quang Suoi barracks area, 60 miles south of Hanoi.

Ten tons of 500 and 1,000-pound bombs, rockets and bullet-proof missiles were rained on the target and pilots reported nine buildings destroyed and several others damaged.

Other U.S. warplanes hit a highway staging area 45 miles south of Vinh and bridge approaches 45 miles north of the North-South Viet Nam dividing line at the 17th Parallel.

The search and destroy mission—the biggest ever launched here by U.S. ground forces—continued full force as outgoing U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor left today for Washington to give his final report to President Johnson.

In a departing statement before leaving aboard U.S. Air Force One, the President's personal plane, Taylor said "with our Vietnamese friends we have the men, the equipment and the spirit to carry through to our objective."

SKELETONS UNEARTHED

PALERMO, Sicily (UPI)—When Arcangelo Benanti found five human skeletons while digging the cellar for a house, he decided the simplest thing to do was to bury them a bit deeper and say nothing.

Thursday, police found out—and tore down the house to unearth the skeletons. They were trying to determine when the five men died.

Footnotes for a Summer Day

By ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
The sands of time appear to be running out for those planning to bare their feet this summer. But don't use this as an excuse for not pampering your feet as you planned.

Daily care now adds to foot beauty and also contributes to your physical ease. You can't hide neglect of your feet. The discomfort of corns, calluses and pinching from too tight shoes is mirrored in your face. Start immediately to make yourself more comfortable.

Your first step to less painful walking may be toward a doctor for advice. The second is to the drugstore to round up proper tools to implement foot care.

You can give yourself professional foot care. Making it easier is an electric manicurist. This has a cuticle remover and four other attachments to buff, clean, file nails and remove rough edges.

You need a complete pedicure at least every 10 days and daily care until then.

You will find your feet respond to:

—Correctly sized stockings that do not cramp or pinch the toes. On hot, humid days a change of stockings helps if you work in an office.

—Shoes with good arch supports, not too high heels, properly fitted. Change once or twice a day to allow feet to breathe.

—Foot baths of soapy, lukewarm water or mineral salts. Follow with dips in cold, then hot water to encourage better circulation.

—Refreshing touches of dusting powder, perhaps from an aerosol, and cologne.

—After a long day, sit with your feet elevated on a low table or footstool.

—Go barefoot for 20 minutes

SUMMER FOOTNOTES — Summer foot comfort starts with proper pedicure at home. New unit has attachments to remove cuticle (in-set) buff, clean and file nails and smooth off rough edges. At home or in the office, refresh tired feet with asoray of dusting powder in a scent such as lily-of-the-valley.

or half hour each day. If you are near a beach, walk in the sand. This helps strengthen the feet and ankles and the sand smooths rough heels and toes.

If you spend most of your day in an office, slip out of your shoes for a few minutes each hour. This is easier if you can hide stockinged feet under a desk. Keep an extra pair of shoes at the office for a refreshing change.

And for your own sake, always wear stocking with shoes during warm weather. You appear better groomed and also avoid the risk of rubbing blisters on your toes and heels. Even when wearing sports shoes, use "footsies" and you'll be more comfortable.

Dear Abby....

Plan of Action: When In Doubt, Do Nothing

Dear Abby: I have it on good authority that a certain girl from Houston, Texas went to the Edna Gladney Home For Unwed Mothers in Fort Worth from September 1963 until January 1964. I further understand that she went there through your suggestion and arrangements. How can I find out whether she kept her baby or not? This is important. Enclosed is a check for your trouble. If you do not accept money, please donate it to your favorite charity. Thank you very much.

NO NAME PLEASE.
DEAR NO NAME: All correspondence and information between those seeking help through this column and me is strictly confidential. I do not accept money and am returning your generous check.

DEAR ABBY: Doug and I haven't been married very long. We both work but are saving our money for a lot of things we need so we're on a very tight budget. We don't believe in accepting invitations unless we pay back, and when we invite people for supper we expect to furnish the eats. Well, Doug has a married sister who is very generous with her supper invitations, but this is what she does. She'll call Doug at work and ask him to pick up a few items for the supper. It's a six-pack of beer, a quart of ice cream, some potato chips, a pound of butter or some coffee or something like that. These items are not very expensive, but they all add up. She never once offered to pay him for anything. Should we quit going to her house for supper? She must think money grows on trees.

CAN'T AFFORD HER
DEAR CAN'T: Money does not grow on trees, but lemons do. And you picked one for a sister-in-law. Let Doug tell her you can't afford her kind of hospitality.

DEAR ABBY: What is the matter with people? We have two daughters, two years apart, who are both now in their teens. One is very much prettier than her sister, and the not-so-pretty one is getting a complex about it. When people our adult friends meet the girls for the first time, they rave about how beautiful the one girl is right in front of both girls! I don't like the idea of telling our friends beforehand not to make any comparisons in the girls' presence, but that seems to be the only answer. How can this be tactfully done? Or would it be too insulting to instruct people as to what to say and what not to say when meeting your children?

TROUBLED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: If you have any doubts about the judgment of your adult (?) friends before introducing them to your children, forewarn your friends. Those who have more sense than to make comparisons will not be offended. And those who haven't should be tipped off.

WRONG WAY WILSON
DEAR WRONG WAY: Duck! Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif.

Traveling Fashion Editors Don't Always Follow Travel Wardrobe Experts' Advice

By GAY PAULEY
FLORENCE, Italy (UPI) — What fashion editors wear when they travel and what the travel wardrobe experts advise are not always the same.

For... as Mildred Whitaker, of San Antonio, observed, "I'd always read that for Europe a travel wardrobe should include at least half a dozen drip-dry blouses. I don't own a one."

"My wardrobe for the trip? A little bit of everything. A little cotton, a little wool, a little silk," said Miss Whitaker, who's with the San Antonio Express News.

"I recommend that women travelling wear shifts," said Graydon Heartstill of Dallas. "You know... anything easy fitting and without a belt or tight waist. More comfortable."

"Which is exactly what I'm NOT wearing."

Miss Heartstill, fashion editor of the Dallas Times-Herald, was crossing the Atlantic in a beige knit costume with straight skirt, three-quarter length coat, and beige and white print silk blouse. It was washable and non-wrinkle anyway, she said.

The two were among a group of U.S. fashion writers flown here on a Braniff International Airlines special to see the Florence fall fashion collections and also preview the new stewardess and other airlines personnel uniforms designed by Emilio Pucci.

Other travel outfits of the editors included:

A white cotton brocade suit with black silk jersey blouse (not what the travel experts would recommend but pretty), (not recommended) and the four beige knit dresses, all alike and all from Kimberly Knits, New York (travel experts would okay them), a salt and pepper tweed silk with brief jacket and sleeveless overblouse (okay), a suit of raw silk with narrow travel) and beige, raw silk skirt and white V-necked blouse slacks.

U.S. Doesn't Plan to Take Over War in Viet

By STEWART HENSLEY
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States, despite a major increase in its fighting forces in Viet Nam, does not plan to "take over" the war there at this time. The new forces, according to President Johnson's aides, will be used only to expand the security zones around American-held air bases and port installations and provide a "ready reserve" to back up the South Vietnamese against major Viet Cong assaults.

There is no intention, at present, to employ U.S. forces in the "pacification" campaign to rout out Viet Cong rebels controlling vast areas of the countryside.

No Major War

High administration officials discount the danger of the United States becoming involved in a major Asian land war—yet, they acknowledge however, that it is impossible to set any firm limits on the possible extent of American participation in view of the President's firm commitment to halt the Communists at any costs.

The relatively limited nature of the immediate American buildup, after some administration officials had encouraged speculation that a much larger involvement was imminent, indicated that the administration wishes to move cautiously in an effort to avoid giving the impression that it is embarking on a "white man's" war in Asia.

While announcing his decision to build up American forces in Viet Nam, the President went somewhat further than he had previously in bidding for "unconditional discussions" with North Viet Nam to try to reach a peaceful settlement.

He expressed the belief that the Viet Cong political organization in the South, with which the United States has refused to deal directly, could be represented at any peace conference by getting some seats in the North Vietnamese delegation.

High officials warned against attaching undue significance to these new elements in the President's Wednesday remarks. But they acknowledged there was some significance to the emphasis he placed on these matters, plus his disclosure of a new U.S. appeal to the United Nations to try to find a peace formula.

He also expressed the belief that the Viet Cong political organization in the South, with which the United States has refused to deal directly, could be represented at any peace conference by getting some seats in the North Vietnamese delegation.

But they acknowledged there was some significance to the emphasis he placed on these matters, plus his disclosure of a new U.S. appeal to the United Nations to try to find a peace formula.

the attitude of the Soviet Union would be decisive in determining whether the United Nations could play any effective role, since Moscow has veto power over any Security Council action. It might be difficult for the Kremlin, already under Chinese Communist attacks for allegedly selling out to U.S. "imperialists," to help much on this score.

There were hints, in official quarters, that Soviet-American conversations behind the scenes on Viet Nam were more significant than officials have acknowledged.

There were some indications that the United States believes Russia may be maneuvering its way into a position of greater influence in Hanoi with the eventual possibility of persuading the North Vietnamese to talk peace, despite Red China's evident desire to keep the war going.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Among the recent documents to cross my desk en route to the wastebasket was a report on charcoal making.

The rage for outdoor cooking has helped revive one of the world's oldest industries," it said. "Man probably learned to make charcoal before he invented the wheel."

It went on to note that the charcoal business slumped badly with the advent of coal, gas and electricity. But "now demand is steadily rising—thanks to backyard chefs."

"The aroma of broiling steaks or hamburgers wafting from a portable brazier across suburbia's green lawns has become a familiar part of the American warm-weather scene."

I happen to know the author of his report. He is a bachelor living in a high-rise apartment downtown. I doubt that he has ever broiled a steak in anger.

Knew Little

But even if I weren't acquainted with him, I would be able to tell that he didn't know much about backyard chafery.

Had he been conversant with the subject he would have written that the rage for outdoor cooking also has helped revive another one of the world's oldest institutions—namely, bankruptcy.

That portable brazier he envisioned on suburbia's green lawns (actually crabgrass) is the first step toward financial ruin.

The next step is to replace the brazier with a rotisserie. At the same time, an electrician is hired to install outdoor wiring so that the rotisserie will turn.

Then the rotisserie is replaced by one with a hood to hold in the smoke. At the same time, a plumber is hired to pipe in water near the cooking area.

Next, the hooded rotisserie is replaced by a charcoal oven. At the same time, arrangements are made to have a gas line put in.

Builds A Cover

Having invested in all this expensive equipment, the backyard chef naturally does not want to leave it exposed to the weather. So he hires a carpenter to build a cover for it.

The enclosure makes it possible to add a small refrigerator. Then a sink is installed, followed by shelves for dishes.

The next step is to build in a pantry so that the food will be convenient. Some of the food isn't suitable for cooking on charcoal. Consequently, either a gas or electric range joins the grouping.

In just a few short years, the portable brazier has evolved into something that—like charcoal—is also almost as old as the wheel. It's called a kitchen.

Mormon Students Set for Pageant

PALMYRA, N.Y. (UPI)—All work and no play doesn't necessarily make Jack a dull boy.

There is nothing dull about the 400 Mormon students, missionaries and laymen—average age 21—who descended upon Hill Cumorah, their church's birthplace, for two weeks of grueling work that produces America's foremost religious epic, the Mormon Pageant. The pageant opened Tuesday and runs through Saturday night. It is expected to draw a total attendance of more than 150,000.

There is no play or partying—there isn't any time for it.

No one complains, not even a little bit. The 400, most of them young college students and missionaries, come only to work—around the clock if necessary—for the single week in which they must rehearse and polish their pageant roles and the week of presentations.

They come also to study and assert their belief in their faith. And there is a chance to spread their gospel among the huge crowds.

The cast comes mostly from states west of the Rocky Mountains, many coming from Utah, present seat of the 23 million member Mormon church. The Northeast and the Midwest are also represented. Ages range from 10 to 69.

They scrimp and save money all year so they can ride stuffy, crowded buses all night across the nation for the privilege of participating in the colorful, awesome hillside panorama on a battery of stages which tells the story of their faith—according to their spiritual guide, the Book of Mormon.

Delegates Return After Week's Stay At "Word of Truth" District Assembly

Delegates from the Pampa Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses returned home this week after a week's stay in Lubbock attending the "Word of Truth" District Assembly sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society.

Jimmy J. Connor, presiding minister of the Pampa Congregation, reports that 5,011 Bible students from 21 states and two foreign countries convened for the four-day assembly.

According to Connor the convention was highlighted by the discourse entitled "World Government on the Shoulder of the Prince of Peace." The address, delivered by H. A. Fetzig, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses in Texas and nearby states, will have been repeated at 30 similar gatherings in the United States and Canada by summer's end, said Connor.

Connor said Fetzig stressed "Civilization has reached a point where the very continuity of the human race depends on world government. This is the only condition in which the nations can survive in an atomic age." The speaker then asked, "but can it come by human means?" He answered with the words, "God foretold the setting up of a world government of endless peace, for the ruler-ship would rest upon the shoulder of one who was to be called the 'Prince of Peace.' This title was to be borne by no one else but the one who would rule over mankind."

Refreshed by the scriptural information received during the four-day program, the Pampa Witnesses are better equipped to meet the needs of interested ones locally. Connor said all regular meetings at the local kingdom Hall will resume this week.

Governors Are Split On Redistricting Mandate

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — At least half of the nation's governors favor a constitutional amendment to overturn the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote mandate for apportionment of state legislatures, a UPI survey indicated today.

But a number of those endorsing the amendment indicated that they felt the cause had become hopeless. A two-thirds vote of the House and Senate and approval by 38 of the state legislatures are needed to write the amendment into the Constitution.

A survey which reached 48 of the state executives attending the annual governors conference this week showed 20 giving relatively unheeded endorsements to the proposed amendment. Five others gave variously qualified "yes, but" replies.

Eight governors opposed the amendment and 15 declined to take a stand.

The proposed amendment, sponsored by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, is now before the Senate. It would permit one House of a legislature to be apportioned with weight given to factors other than population.

Although some of the governors held strong pro or con views on the Dirksen amendment, it was given only occasional mention during the conference.

The proposal was endorsed by the 1964 Republican platform and ignored by the Democratic platform, but the governors' lineup did not follow party lines. The 20 backing the amendment, 11 Democrats and nine Republicans.

The conference adjourned Thursday and the governors flew to Washington for their conference with President John-

Christian Science Sermon on Love

"We have known and believed the love that God hath to us, God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

This verse from 1 John will be included in the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon on "Love" this Sunday. A number of illustrations from the Bible will also be used to show the nature and power of God's love.

Mankind's need to bear witness to this love will be emphasized in this passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Simply asking that we may love God will never make us love Him; but the longing to be better and holier, expressed in daily watchfulness and in striving to assimilate more the divine character, will mould and fashion us anew, until we awake in His likeness" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 4).

58TH YEAR

Scientists Feel Mars Big Brother to Moon

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The informal consensus among a group of conventioning U. S. scientists is that the planet Mars looks like a big brother of earth's moon.

Formal theories to account for this somewhat baffling turn of events can be expected at a series of scientific meetings later this year.

Some 3,300 scientists and technicians attending the annual meeting of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics Thursday conducted an admiring inspection of the Mariner-4 space camera's close-up snapshots of Mars shortly after President Johnson unveiled them in a special White House showing.

The pictures, said rocket ace Werner von Braun, "raised more new questions than they answered."

To get better interplanetary answers, Von Braun suggested dispatching a three-man team on a "fly-by" mission past the red planet in 1978.

The Saturn-5 super-rocket and Apollo spaceship the United States is building to land the first man on the moon in 1969 are "virtually laying the groundwork for interplanetary exploration," Von Braun said.

If an actual manned landing on Mars could be attempted in 1982, as the former German V-2 rocket expert proposed, the astronauts might find the planet remarkably similar to the moon — only bigger.

From the pictures taken by the Mariner-4 within 10,500 miles of Mars on July 14, the planet's surface "looks an awful lot like the moon," said Simon Ramo, vice chairman of the board of TRW Inc.

Indeed it does. The Mariner-4 photographs showed a planet pock-marked with scores of craters, less spectacular indentations resembling valleys, whitish smears that could be clouds and knoblike formations that could be large rocks — but no "canals."

The "canals" are the mysterious lines that astronomers in the last 8 years have reported spotting off and on. But, said Abe M. Zarem, president of Electro-Optical Systems Inc., "I don't see any evidence of the canals I was supposed to see."

First Baptist Topic Given

Dr. Douglas Carver, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, will be in the pulpit for the eleven o'clock morning worship and will speak from the subject, "An Anxious Inquirer."

Mack Hiatt will give direction to the congregational singing in the absence of Sam Allen. He will present Mrs. Lonnie Richardson who will sing a soprano solo. The Concord Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Richardson, will occupy the choir loft and present special music. Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play "Andante" by Beethoven for the offertory.

The Church Ordinances will be observed in the six o'clock evening worship. The ordinance of baptism will be administered at the beginning of the evening worship, and all awaiting candidates are asked to meet with the pastor in his study at 5:45.

Rev. J. R. Manning, Assistant Pastor, will bring the message and the ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed, with appropriate music sung by the Concord Choir. Special music will be a sextet composed of Susan Smith, Monte Westbrook, Jo Hiatt, Carolyn McKinley, Ellen and Helen McDaniel. Miss Linda Garrett will accompany the sextet.

The Intermediates will observe "Teen-Time" August 1-10, at 7:00 each evening. Mrs. Larry Krejci will be in charge and invites all teenagers to be present.

First Christian Sermon Listed

The First Christian Church will hear a sermon on "Strength in Weakness" this coming Sunday, by the Rev. J. W. Duke. It comes from II Cor. 12:1-10.

Miss Naomi Sneider will be guest soloist next Sunday. She has been singing in the choir throughout the summer months while she has been vacationing in Pampa. She has been visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. Jack Humphrey, who is a member of the church. Miss Sneider will be a junior at Texas Western College in El Paso, where she is a music major. Her solo will be "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked."

As a part of the evening worship, all youth attending assembly in Ft. Worth and the delegates to the world convention will be commissioned.

Rev. Donald S. Hauck at First Presbyterian

The Rev. Donald S. Hauck will be in the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church Sunday morning for both the 8:30 and 11:00 a.m. services. Special music for the second service will be provided by George Henderson.

The Haucks are returning to Pampa after having completed a five Sunday pulpit exchange with the Rev. Clyde L. Mellinger of Newark, N. J.

PASTOR, CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

LAMP TO MY FEET

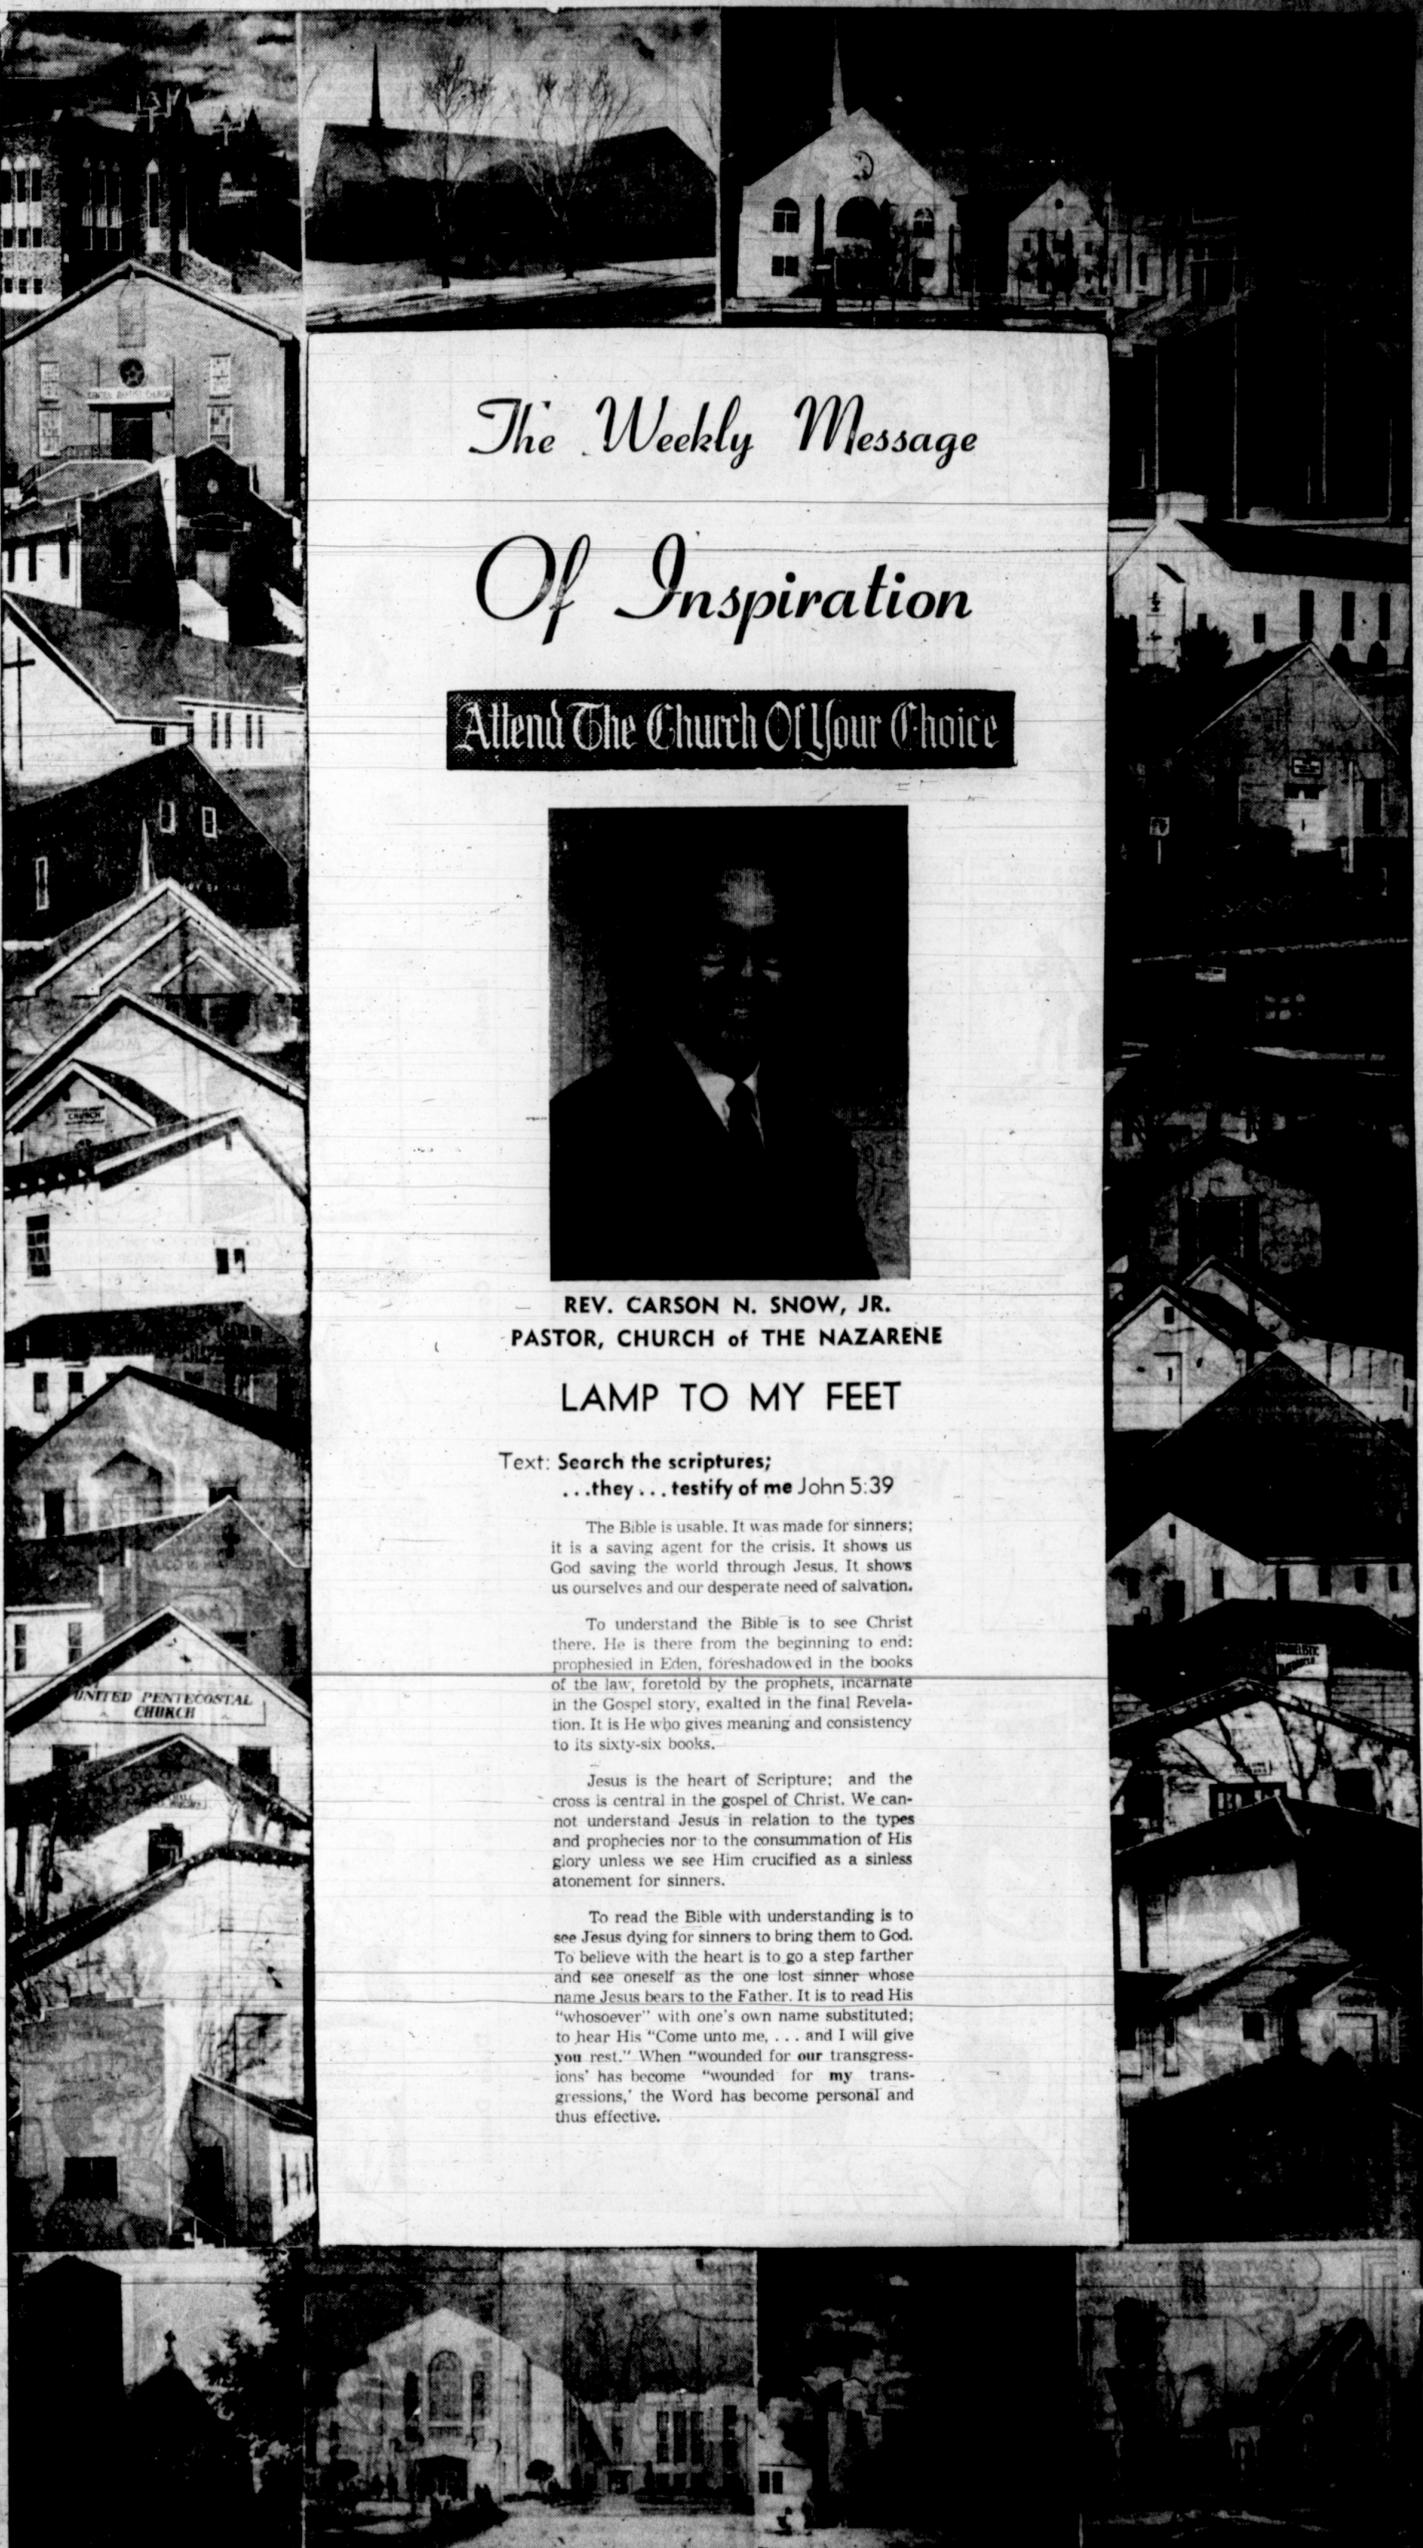

Text: Search the scriptures;
... they ... testify of me John 5:39

The Bible is usable. It was made for sinners; it is a saving agent for the crisis. It shows us God saving the world through Jesus. It shows us ourselves and our desperate need of salvation.

To understand the Bible is to see Christ there. He is there from the beginning to end; prophesied in Eden, foreshadowed in the books of the law, foretold by the prophets, incarnate in the Gospel story, exalted in the final Revelation. It is He who gives meaning and consistency to its sixty-six books.

Jesus is the heart of Scripture; and the cross is central in the gospel of Christ. We cannot understand Jesus in relation to the types and prophecies nor to the consummation of His glory unless we see Him crucified as a sinless atonement for sinners.

To read the Bible with understanding is to see Jesus dying for sinners to bring them to God. To believe with the heart is to go a step farther and see oneself as the one lost sinner whose name Jesus bears to the Father. It is to read His "whosoever" with one's own name substituted; to hear His "Come unto me, . . . and I will give you rest." When "wounded for our transgressions" has become "wounded for my transgressions," the Word has become personal and thus effective.

Sore-Arm Culp Rallies Phillies

By United Press International
 Right-hander Ray Culp, whose pitching was a question mark earlier this season, has suddenly reached exclamation point status once again and the Philadelphia Phillies are all smiles.

Culp, you remember, was the National League's rookie pitcher of the year in 1963 when he earned 14 games, compiled an earned run average of 2.97 and pitched five shutouts. The Phillies expected big things from him in 1964, but he developed arm trouble and was of little use to the team in its unsuccessful drive for the pennant. The same trouble seemed to bother Culp early this season and he started only two games during the first two months of the campaign as the Phillies looked around in the depths of the second division.

During the team's rise to pennant contention the past month, however, Culp has come along rapidly, but the Phillies were looking for a return to the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-0 on only two hits.

Other NL Action
 In the only other National League action, the New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs split a doubleheader, the Cubs winning the nightcap 2-1 in 12 innings by a homer by Ron Santo after the Mets had romped to a 14-0 win in the opener.

Culp's performance was his second straight complete game victory and topped his season's record to 7-6. The six-foot-eighty fanned 10 batters which helped to set a major league record for one game of 26 strikeouts by two teams. Southpaw Bob Veale struck out 14 in a losing effort and relief hurlers Al McBean and Frank Carpin fanned one each. The only hits Culp allowed were singles by Bill Virdon and Bob Bailey.

First Scores
 Philadelphia scored its first two runs in the fifth on singles by Pat Corrales, Bobby Wine and Cookie Rojas and a wild pitch by Veale. The Phillies added three more in the eighth with doubles by Wes Covington and Corrales the key blows.

Santo's 22nd homer of the season off relief pitcher Larry Bearnarth came in the inning designated as the last one that could be played before darkness set in. Chicago scored in the fifth and looked as if it would make the run stand up as starter Bill Faul blanked the Mets over the first eight innings. New York, however, tied it in the ninth on a sacrifice fly by Gary Kolb. Ted Abernathy, who relieved Faul in the ninth, was the benefactor of Santo's blast as he recorded his second victory of the season.

Johnny Lewis and Galen Cisco shared the spotlight for the Mets in the opener. Lewis, who collected seven hits on the day, banded out four in the first game, including two home runs, as the Mets hit their high scoring mark of the season. Lewis' 13th and 14th round trippers plus six Cub errors made it an easy win for Cisco, who limited the Cubs to only four hits.

As Usual, Unknown Leads First Round

HARRISON, N.Y. (UPI)—Pat Schwab, a 32-year-old club pro from West Orange, N.J., put his one-stroke lead on the line today in the second round of the $100,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic with a flock of tour regulars threatening to bury him under a barrage of birdies.

The burly, 230-pound Schwab, who looks like Bill Casper did before Bill went on an exotic diet to combat a food allergy, won the opening round in the birdie battle Thursday with a six-under par 66 as 47 players in the brilliant field carded sub-par rounds and another 15 matched par 72.

But hot on his heels were six four-hardened veterans including Casper. Masters champ Jack Nicklaus and Gene Littler with 67's and a group of four at 68 led by Arnold Palmer.

Among the nine 69 shooters was U.S. Open champion Gary Player and the fat list at 70 included defending champ Tony Lama, who proved his mastery of the 6,573-yard course at the Westchester Country Club last year with a winning score of 276.

Schwab, who played the tour in 1957 and 1958 after graduating from the University of Florida, had been troubled by a shoulder injury and barely qualified for the Thunderbird by finishing second in a recent New Jersey championship.

He had five one-putt greens and chipped in from 50 feet out at the 15th where he had missed the green with his previous shot.

Nicklaus, Littler and Pete Brown all had 33-34-67. Rocky Thompson rolled in with 35-32-67, Harold Knece had 34-33-67 after birdying two of the last three holes, and Casper completed the group with 37-30-67.

The Panama Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panama News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less.

Where They Get That Way

At uncertain intervals, various research groups, schools, publications, and others of the curious, conduct surveys to try to discover what our young people are learning in school.

It can only be that these immature and aspiring juniors are being spoon-fed the socialist line. And the feeding occurs at the "educational" money trough where our dollars, forcefully exacted, are paying the salaries of many collectivist-minded instructors.

Don't suggest, on the strength of the foregoing, that we are opposed to education. But let's not confuse the present conforming methodology with education, either.

1. 71 per cent would deny an accused person the right to confront his accuser.

2. 62 per cent thought a worker should not produce all he was capable of producing.

3. 56 per cent said it is the responsibility of government to provide jobs.

4. 61 per cent felt the profit incentive was unnecessary to the survival of free enterprise.

5. 56 per cent would like to see close government supervision and regulation of all business.

6. 41 per cent felt freedom of the press should be abolished.

7. 40 per cent felt that certain groups they don't like should be forbidden the right of peaceful assembly.

8. 34 per cent would deny free speech to some people.

9. 26 per cent would favor search and seizure without consent.

There was more of the same genre. Researchers in going over the data are convinced that if these findings foreshadow political tendencies, a full-fledged welfare state is about to emerge.

Now, where do our young people come up with these ideas? Obviously, they don't originate them. Original thinking is not considered a worthy procedure in large government-supported institutions where memorization and conformity make it so much easier for teachers to grade papers.

Wood That Isn't

Man may not be able to make a tree, but thanks to his atomic and chemical wizardry, the wood from trees is being turned into something better than Mother Nature was ever able to produce.

A new process, developed by West Virginia University under contract with the Atomic Energy Commission, involves impregnating wood with a liquid plastic, then subjecting it to radiation.

The result is an immensely tough but easily worked wood-plastic combination which retains the natural beauty and appearance of the original wood.

GAO Uncovers More Instances of $Million Waste of Foreign Aid; Arab Tallow, Brazilian Currency

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The malodorous record of foreign aid waste, squandering and innumerable other shortcomings and failures continues to grow and grow.

While President Johnson is adamantly demanding Congress vote another $3.3 billion for foreign aid, the General Accounting Office is uncovering new instances of costly mismanagement, bungling, inconsistencies and inaccuracies.

Latest GAO findings reveal the Agency for International Development (AID) has been needlessly spending millions in direct conflict with the government's strenuous efforts to combat the critical balance-of-payments deficit.

In one case $3.8 million was unnecessarily spent for shipping costs that could have been paid with Brazilian currency.

In another, some $5.5 million in surplus U.S. tallow was sold to the United Arab Republic for its "soft" currency that stayed in that country — thus displacing U.S. commercial sales of the commodity for dollars.

As a result of these two AID snafus, close to $10 million was added to the balance-of-payments deficit.

Representative Vernon Thompson, D-Wis., member of the Foreign Affairs Committee who has long sought to drastically overhaul foreign aid operations, caustically cited these two instances as glaring examples of the "confusion, conflict of program and lack of policy in the foreign aid program."

Wit and Whimsy

Ned — You don't seem to think of anything but motoring. Why don't you put your wife before your car sometimes?

Ted — I'm scared of being found out.

An American in London, who was badgered by the English on almost every topic, at last determined to go on the Mississippi steamboat style, and brag about everything. His first chance occurred at an exhibition of paintings, where a picture of a snowstorm attracted general admiration.

Britisher — Is that fine? Could you show anything as natural as that in America?

American — Pooh! That is no comparison to a snowstorm picture painted by a cousin of mine a few years hence. That painting was so natural, sir, that a mother, who uncannily left her babe sleeping in a cradle near it, on returning to the room found her child frozen to death!

The lady visiting the marriage counselor was obviously distraught.

Lady — My husband worries me so much that I'm losing weight every day.

TO HOME: A world of strife shut out and a world of love shut in.

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. MUNT

THE WORD CURTAIN

Every government which engages in propaganda on a large scale soon masters the art of spinning a bright and shining curtain of words which cuts off all view of the hard reality lying behind them.

Americans, whose training and inclination tends more in the direction of practical matters, are perhaps not fully aware of the enormous importance of words and the multitudinous ways in which words can be used to twist or hide truth as well as to reveal it.

As a test, think of a sum of money you are about to receive from government, regardless of its purpose or justification. If someone calls that sum of money a "dole," a "handout" or "public charity," the chances are that you will be infuriated.

If it is called a "grant," a "matching fund," a dividend from a "mutual assistance program" or a "payment," even though you may have done nothing for which you might reasonably expect to be compensated, your conscience is likely to sleep undisturbed.

This is not to say that everyone who receives money from government should automatically feel guilty about it. It is to say that any guilt or lack of guilt we may feel should result from the actual reason we got the money, not from the word used to describe it.

If we face realities squarely we cannot be fooled. But if we let ourselves be wrapped in the word curtain, then almost anything can be put over on us.

CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS—Sgt. I. C. Edward A. Barrow, stationed at Fort Gordon, Ga., would have to be excused if he crossed his fingers while taking aim with the Army's new M72 light antitank weapon (LAW). The weapon consists of a rocket grenade fired from its own disposable carrying case. After one round is fired the launcher is thrown away.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
The general welfare requires a two-party system in the United States.

This, in turn, may require amendment of the Constitution to amend the Republican party or any opposition party to survive.

The amendment can be had. But first Republican politicians must understand a situation that gives them an enormous potential advantage over the Democrats. The Republican big chance is to rally the little states against the big ones. It can be done.

The situation which demands this Republican breakthrough is the political favoritism accorded by the Electoral College to the great urban areas where the Democratic power structure is firmly founded on racial, religious and economic minorities.

Republicans can cut the Democrats and their minorities down to size if they have the will to do it.

Voters in the great concentrations of population such as New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and California tend to follow the lead of their big cities in presidential elections.

The United States, in turn, tends to follow the lead of the great industrial states. The smaller, less populous state are unable to cope with these massive political currents.

The gimmick which so benefits the greater states and so penalizes the lesser is the system by which members of the Electoral College are chosen by state-wide vote. They run at large on what is known as a general ticket. This permits the most outrageous excesses of multiple voting.

Each voter in New York state votes for 43 electors. New York's allotment of electors being equal to the state's representation in Congress.

The great cities in the great states enjoy more than their share of influence in electing a president of the United States. There could not be a more extraordinary example of a violation of the Supreme Court's recent rule on one-man-one-vote.

It should not be difficult for Republican leaders to rally two thirds of the states behind a constitutional amendment to require that presidential electors be chosen in congressional districts in each state — one from each district — plus two at large in each state as U.S. senators are elected.

Under such a system, a voter in New York City would vote for one only member of the electoral college as would a voter in Boonock, Nev.

Republican leaders generally are slow to develop good political issues. This is a good one. The smaller states would support an amendment if they understood the prevailing situation.

There is another route to reform of the Electoral College. That would be by legal action undertaken by a state to challenge the constitutionality of the present system on grounds that it violated the Supreme Court's one-man-one-vote rule.

General Motors
Sets Record
Setting Sales

NEW YORK (UPI)—General Motors, the world's largest industrial corporation, has announced record shattering figures for the second quarter and first half of 1965.

The giant manufacturing firm in its report released Tuesday said that new records had been set in unit and dollar sales, net income, per share earnings, dividends, employment and payrolls.

Chairman Frederic G. Donner and President James M. Roche said that the new records were due to "the health of the economy and the public's recognition of the value built into GM products."

GM reported sales of $5.657 billion for the second quarter compared with $5.682 billion in the same period last year. This resulted in net income of $639 million of $2.23 a share, GM said. The comparable 1964 figure was $602 million or $2.11 a share.

The first half sales amounted to $11.215 billion and a net income of $1.270 billion or $4.45 a share — all records, GM reported.
