THE FIRE CHIEF SPEAKS — Touring city officials and citizens committee chairmen listen as Fire Chief Ernest Winborne gives them the lowdown on operation of the city's three fire departments. One thing they saw was a 1941 vintage Ford pumper which no longer pumps and now is used as an emergency hose carrier. This photo was shot across the top of the department's modern rescue unit.

Council, Committee Chairmen Tour City

A tour of Pampa's municipal facilities, parks, swimming pools, city jail, fire station, warehouses and other projects was taken yesterday afternoon by four city commissioners and chairmen of six committees named to study city problems. The tour was under the guidance of City Manager Jim White and Public Works Director R. B. Cooke. A special bus carried the officials and citizens committee chairmen through City Hall, Central Fire Station, No. 3 water plant, Harvester Street, and the city park and warehouse. They also visited briefly and stopped at Marcus Sanders swimming pool, traversed a route that took them past Central, Alameda, Aspen and Beech parks. Other stops were made at the site of Pampa's new sewage treatment plant and outfall sewage line and at the Kentucky St. site of the Borger-Pampa aqueduct from the Canadian River Dam. At the latter site they saw work in progress on the aqueduct which is being built west from the Pampa end. During the tour City Manager White outlined some of the city's major problems and discussed drainage, street and highway plans city officials will have to consider in the not too distant future. Those who made the tour yesterday were Mayor Jim Nation, Commissioners Hugh Burdette and Clyde Carruth, and the following study group chairmen: Fred Thompson, highway development; Floyd Watson, school, city and county cooperative government; Gordon Lyons, drainage; Aubrey Steele, finance; Frank Culbertson, long-range facilities development, and Fred Neslage, industrial water sales. City Manager White said it is planned to take other commissioners and committee chairmen, unable to take the tour yesterday, over the same route at a later date. "The plan is to familiarize new city commissioners and committee chairmen with city properties and facilities and point out visibly some of the problems with which we are faced," City Manager White said.

GOP Heads Back To Court on Remapping Bill

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Republican party today was headed back to court after announcing Tuesday to no one's surprise that it would contest the congressional redistricting bill passed by the 89th Legislature. "There is widespread agreement across the state that the bill passed by the legislature is unconstitutional and relief must be sought in court," declared GOP state chairman Peter O'Donnell of Dallas.

AMA Declines To Endorse Surgeon General's Report

NEW YORK (UPI)—The policy-making body of the American Medical Association (AMA) declined today to endorse the 1964 surgeon general's report on smoking and health. The AMA's governing House of Delegates, in session on the fourth day of the association's 114th convention, voted not to adopt a resolution by the Oregon delegation to endorse Surgeon General Luther L. Terry's report which said that smoking is directly related to some kind of lung cancer, to respiratory diseases, and to general health. The surgeon general suggested appropriate remedial action. The AMA has begun a study of its own into cigarette smoking and health. Its reference committee on public health and occupational health, in recommending that the Oregon resolution not be adopted, said the AMA already was on record in recognizing the contribution of the surgeon general's committee in its report, but that it had also gone on record in June 1964 (See AMA, Page 3)

Cigarette Health Warning Bill Due Committee Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Legislation to require health warnings on cigarette packages appeared today to be headed for some tough sessions between House and Senate negotiators. The House, acting by voice vote, Tuesday passed Rep. Walter Rogers' (D-Texas) bill requiring the health labels. Like the measure passed last week by the Senate, it called for a label reading: "Caution: cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health." A stumbling block was seen, however, over a provision to bar the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) from requiring similar warnings in cigarette advertising. The House version calls for a permanent ban against such warnings while the Senate bill would forbid FTC action for only three years. Sources said senators strongly favored their version and were not likely to agree to the House plan when the bills go to a House-Senate conference committee for compromise. The controversy over a ban on warnings in advertising was touched off recently when the FTC announced it planned to begin requiring the warnings in advertising on July 1. The commission said advertising was the chief means of encouraging young persons to begin smoking and that it should be regulated. Many congressmen felt that this would usurp the powers of Congress and that regulation of advertising was not warranted at this time.

U.S. Jets, Troops Push Deep Into Red Territory

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Navy planes flew deep into North Viet Nam today and carried out two bombing raids against the Moc Chau army barracks 80 miles southwest of Hanoi. In ground fighting U.S. planes and Vietnamese troops killed more than 200 Viet Cong. U.S. planes flew 52 sorties against the Communist north today but the main weight of the American bombing offensive was felt in the south where scores of planes hit Communist positions. Fighting flared from one end of South Viet Nam to the other. The raids on the Moc Chau army barracks were the third in three days and emphasized the importance the military command attaches to the North Vietnamese army training center. They followed Tuesday's raid on another barracks only five miles from Saigon but were driven back. They also returned to the attack on Dong Xoai 60 miles north of Saigon where the Viet Cong attacked again with mortars and automatic weapons. Heavy fighting was reported from Thua Thien Province 200 miles north of Saigon and the border of North Viet Nam, in the Da Nang area where U.S. Marines were reported using agreement among delegates that the meeting should be postponed for both political and security reasons. It was generally agreed, however, that the preliminary conference of foreign ministers set for Thursday should take place as planned although possibly with a delay of 48 hours. The military leaders who ousted Ben Bella last Saturday were said to favor the 48-hour postponement because only 13 foreign ministers out of 15 have arrived so far. Diplomatic sources said it would be politically inappropriate to hold the summit meeting so soon after Ben Bella's overthrow. It was noted that many of the Afro-Asian heads of state are personal friends of the deposed president. The new regime was trying to improve its image despite violent rioting by Ben Bella supporters. The new government headed by Col. Houari Boumediene announced the release of 1,302 political prisoners who had been jailed during Ben Bella's tenure. It said only Ben Bella and five close aides, including two former cabinet ministers, have been arrested. An estimated 4,000 young Algerians Tuesday night staged the best organized pro-Ben Bella demonstration since the

Recalls Brother's Warning
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy D-N.Y. today called on the Johnson administration to begin negotiations at once on a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons, calling the problem more urgent than the war in Viet Nam. Repeating grim warnings made by his assassinated brother, Kennedy urged the partial nuclear test ban treaty of 1963 be extended to cover certain underground tests. He said in a prepared Senate speech: "We cannot allow the demands of day-to-day policy to obstruct our efforts to solve the problem of nuclear spread. We cannot wait for peace in Southeast Asia—which will not come until nuclear weapons have spread beyond recall. We cannot wait for a general European settlement—which has not existed since 1914. We cannot wait until all nations learn to behave—for bad behavior armed with nuclear weapons is the danger we must try to prevent." The former attorney general recalled statements of his older brother, the late President John F. Kennedy, by saying there could be "no stability" anywhere with widespread nuclear weapons. Citing recent world trouble spots, he said they "might be used between Greeks and Turks over Cyprus; between Arabs and Israelis over the Gaza Strip; between India and Pakistan in the Rann of Kutch." Or, he added, they might be used "by an unstable demagogue, or by the head of one of the innumerable two-month governments that plague so many countries, or by an irresponsible military commander, or even by an individual pilot. . . . the need to halt the spread of nuclear weapons must be a central priority of American policy. Of all our major interests, this now deserves and demands the greatest additional effort. This is a broad statement, for our interests are broad." Kennedy's speech came just a day after disarmament director William C. Foster told a Senate subcommittee that Red China's two nuclear explosions have made prevention of nuclear proliferation more than ever his agency's "most urgent mission."

Algerian Youths Riot In Support of Deposed Bella

ALGIERS (UPI)—Prospects dimmed rapidly today for next Tuesday's scheduled opening of the Afro-Asia summit conference. Continuing demonstrations in support of ousted Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella threatened the security of delegates. Reports from London today said two African leaders—President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania and Foreign Minister Joseph Murumbi of Kenya would not attend. The announcement made it almost certain that few if any other Afro-Asian leaders of the British Commonwealth would now come to Algeria. Responsible conference sources here said there is grow-

American, Soviet Relations Cooling

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Officials said today that Soviet-American relations had cooled considerably because of the increased tempo of the Viet Nam war. The Russians, who once were credited with trying to exert influence in Hanoi for a negotiated settlement, now appear to be trying to match Red China in the bitterness of their attacks on U.S. policy. No matter what Russia may say or do, however, the United States does not intend to abandon its military effort to persuade the Viet Nam Communists to stop fighting and talk peace. The stepped-up Soviet propaganda offensive coincided roughly with the beginning of U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam.

Tax Cut Fails To Speed Buying

The slashing of federal excise taxes spurred sales in some areas but most merchants across the nation agreed it would take months before the full effect of the tax cut is felt. Effective Tuesday, levies ended on such items as handbags, wallets, cosmetics, luggage, jewelry, furs, phonographs and records, radios and television sets, musical instruments, cameras and film, household appliances and lighters and matches. Most merchants in Pampa said they noticed little if any, increased buying attributed to the excise tax cut. Several local businessmen agreed that probably many families have been waiting until the tax cut before they purchased any big item. They agreed, however, that the ef-

Kansas Has Worse Flooding in History

GREAT BEND, Kan. (UPI)—Slowed to almost a standstill, the rising flood waters of the Arkansas river crept through this west central Kansas community today on its most destructive path in modern history. Upwards to 20,000 persons have already been forced from their homes in a three-state area and damage is in the millions of dollars. Approximately 3,000 persons in the south part of Great Bend, one-fifth of the town's population, were ordered to leave their homes as early as Monday by Mayor H.C. Davis. Belongings were stored in two schools, businesses were sandbagged and dikes were constructed to help absorb the brunt of the flood's frontal edge

Strike Halts Publication of New York Paper

NEW YORK (UPI)—Editors sought a settlement today between printers and the New York Post in the automation dispute which Tuesday forced the newspaper to temporarily halt publication. Theodore W. Kheel, New York's chief labor mediator, was asked by Local 6 of the International Typographical Union (ITU) to take a hand in the dispute. He was expected to meet later today with Mrs. Dorothy Schiff, Post publisher, and Bertram A. Powers, president of Local 6. ASKS FOR COMMENT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission has asked for comment from the industry on its new policy limiting the number of television stations under single ownership.

The FCC policy would limit multiple ownership to three sta-

Present policy permits a broadcaster to operate seven standard radio stations, seven FM stations and seven televi-

Short-Haul Microwave hurdles rivers, lakes and rugged terrain to bring low-cost, dependable Long Distance telephone circuits to more cities and towns in Texas.

Like their big brothers of the nationwide Long Distance networks, these Short-Haul microwave systems can be "sliced" electronically to accommodate television shows, radio programs, reams of business data and thousands of telephone calls—with wirephotos and fast-breaking news stories thrown in for good measure.

This year we're building more and more of them to bring the benefits of microwave to more people and more places. Via a network of towers 40 to 360 feet high, spaced 20 to 30 miles apart (each with its own transmitter and receiver) messages are relayed from point to point until they reach their destinations, riding invisible voicepaths in the sky at the speed of 186,000 miles a second.

It's part of our biggest construction program ever. Late Evening Thunderstorms Forecast for Panhandle Area

Late evening thunderstorms with hot daytime temperatures are forecast for Pampa and the Panhandle for tonight and Thursday.

High temperatures for Thursday are expected to be in the middle 90s with the low tonight in the low 60s.

The high temperature recorded in Pampa Tuesday was 87 and the overnight low was 63.

A cloudburst dumped more than nine inches of rain on the hill country community of Kerrville today and chased more than 500 families from their homes. The Pedernales River rose 13 feet and temporarily isolated President Johnson's LBJ Ranch.

The San Antonio Weather Bureau reported nine inches of rain at Kerrville from 9:30 p. m. to 2:30 a. m. The heaviest part of the torrential rain fell early today. The water quickly drained.

Water backed up four feet deep in some homes in low-lying sectors of Kerrville. At least one trailer was washed away. No injuries or deaths were reported.

Fredericksburg, 15 miles west of the LBJ Ranch, recorded 7.44 inches of rain. Low-water bridges connect Ranch road no. 1 with the LBJ Ranch were covered for a time.

Several feet of water covered three low water bridges approaches normally used by Johnson when he is driving to and from Johnson City and other places in the area. The low water bridges are the main approaches to the ranch area from Ranch road 1, which feeds off U.S. Highway 290.

The Department of Public Safety (DPS) said 50 families evacuated their homes although water was not in all of them. Six families in Legion, Tex., to the southwest of Kerrville also left their homes because of high water.

Two separate half-mile stretches on State Highways 27 and 16 inside the Kerrville city limits were covered with water. Businesses in town said two-foot of water covered some locations, but quickly drained away. There was considerable damage.

The usually placid Pedernales River, which flows past President Johnson's LBJ

Ranch near Johnson City, rose 13 feet where it crosses below Fredericksburg because of the downpour.

To the west, the Guadalupe River was near bankfull southwest of Kerrville.

In a five-day forecast, the Weather Bureau predicted thundershowers for most of Texas and temperatures 2-4 degrees above normal.

Rainfall amounts for the 24-hour period ended at 6 a. m. included McKinney 1.90, Red Oak 1.24, Longview 1.02, Crandall .88, College Station .51, Dallas .81, Abilene .69 and other lesser amounts.

"After the mature consideration, your conference committee believes there is no reason for further comment on the surgeon general's report," the committee said.

Its recommendation was adopted without discussion from the floor.

(In Washington Tuesday, the House passed legislation requiring cigarette packages to carry a warning that smoking may be hazardous to health. It was similar to a measure passed by the Senate last week.)

The House of Delegates refrained from passing a resolution by the New York delegation calling on the AMA to admit into direct membership because of race, creed, or national origin. This was a move to admit as direct members Negro doctors from Southern states where county societies exclude them.

The reference committee on constitution and by-laws pointed out the house more than once had affirmed its opposition to membership privileges based on race. It said direct membership in the AMA based on race, creed or color "would create a segregated class of membership."

Tax Cut

"It is hard to pinpoint in one day but the customers are talking about the tax cut," Warren continued.

A Washington, D.C., department store reported no significant change in sales, while a spokesman for an Atlanta store saw little effect.

Pampa Reservists Going to Camp

Approximately 25 Army Reservists from Pampa will join with members of the 90th Infantry Division from three other Panhandle towns for the annual two week encampment and active duty training at North Ft. Hood.

Other towns from the Panhandle sending units for the encampment are Amarillo, Borger and Plainview.

The Pampa unit plans to depart Friday morning and return July 10.

During the 15-day encampment, the units will undergo both day and night training on firing ranges, maneuver areas and headquarters area. Every facet of Army life from routine chores to leadership under simulated combat conditions will be duplicated.

The four Panhandle units will join with some 6,300 other reservists from 89 units in 39 Texas cities at Ft. Hood.

Highlight of the encampment will be the concentration of the division's entire artillery fire-power capability in an overall tactical exercise.

All major components of the division will spend four days and nights of the encampment under simulated combat conditions in the field.

Michigan Governor Presidential Hopeful?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Gov. George Romney, one of the leaders of the Grand Old Party at this time, tells in the following exclusive interview with UPI his views on the future of the party and his stand on key issues confronting the United States today.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
UPI National Reporter
LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—The eyes of Republican politicians across the country are on the governor of Michigan today. So are the eyes of Texas (White House division).

On the basis of his record over the last three years, George Romney looks good as a presidential candidate in 1968 to the men who are trying to pull the Republican party back together and find somebody who can give President Johnson a real race next time around the track.

And what does Romney think? Either he doesn't know now or he is keeping his own counsel. The most he would say in an interview here in the state capital is that there are two possibilities in his immediate future—to run for another term as governor or to run for the U.S. Senate.

"How about running for something a bit higher than those?" he was asked.

Calls For Unity
"That's pure speculation," he said, "and I think it would not permit a maximum contribution to the party in its current needs. I think that unless we can pull all elements of the party together and get a very distinctive and adequate sense of direction that the party could go by the boards. But I don't think you can contribute adequately to the party strength at this time and be aspiring or pointing in your activities toward 1968. I think everybody in this party at this time ought to be pointing toward 1966 or this party could be in real trouble."

While he was saying these things the Detroit News published a dispatch from Washington indicating much White House interest in Romney as a possible opponent in 1968. The dispatch said President Johnson had received the results of a private poll indicating that, as of now, Romney would be the toughest Republican to beat inside New York State. Richard Nixon was second, Barry Goldwater third, Nelson Rockefeller fourth. Last Republicans get elated. Informed of this dispatch, Romney smiled and let it go at it too soon about their prospects, the News Dispatch said the poll showed Johnson easily could beat anyone of the four as of today.

What are the credentials that Romney could bring to a presidential race if he should decide to run?

Johnson Carries Michigan
Johnson carried Michigan by more than 1 million votes in 1964. Romney defeated his Democratic opponent for governor, Neil Stuebler by about 380,000 and carried a Republican lieutenant governor into office with him. But a Democrat was elected.

attorney general and the two houses of Michigan's Legislature went like this: Senate — 15 Republicans; 23 Democrats. House — Republicans 38; Democrats, 72.

Obviously Romney is a vote getter and a good politician. Good politicians always are reluctant to jump into any race too soon. Front runners seldom win the Kentucky Derby or a presidential nomination, as Nelson Rockefeller learned the hard way in 1964. You save your strength for the run through the stretch.

Romney works in his shirt sleeves, speaks fluently and with much fervor. He is buried under invitations to make speeches and accepts more than the average governor.

His opponents in both political parties read into this oratorical activity the meaning that Romney is speaking so often so he will be well known around the country when another presidential year rolls around. This view gets no confirmation from the Michigan capital.

How does he stand on the big issues of the day?

Viet Nam-American foreign policy is in bad shape.

Civil Rights — He marched at the head of a civil rights demonstration in Detroit, protesting the events in Selma, Ala.

Fiscal Policy — So far as governments are concerned he is a pay as you go man.

Business and Finance — He is concerned because many American firms are doing part of their producing and manufacturing abroad.

ORDERS AIRLINERS
SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Douglas Aircraft Co. announced that Japan Air Lines has ordered three DC8 jet airliners for delivery between November and March at a total cost of $20.85 million. They will be used on routes between Tokyo and the United States and Europe.

The banana (an African name) was first brought to America shortly after the time of Columbus from the Canary Islands. It was first established in Hispaniola and soon spread to other islands and the mainland. More than 3,000,000 tons of bananas are exported each year. The United States is the world's largest importer of this fruit, although large quantities also go to Great Britain and continental Europe, especially from the West Indies and Africa.

58TH YEAR

Dear Abby....

A Planned Child Is A Gift and a Privilege

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for four months and pregnant for two. I am delighted and so is my husband. But here's the problem: From the moment I got my engagement ring I started to get it from all sides. My mother, his mother, my grandmother, his aunts, everyone said, "Now don't go and have a baby the first year you are married!" Then I heard lengthy lectures on the high cost of living and the importance of "getting to know your husband first." I've heard this so often I feel like a complete dimwit for wanting a baby so soon. Now I'm actually afraid to tell anyone. I'm 22 and it's not like I didn't know any better. We both wanted a baby right away. How should I tell people? And what do I say when they make smart remarks? I'm sure no one will believe we planned it.

GOT A SECRET

DEAR GOT: Tell people when you are good and ready. And don't be sheepish. You owe no one any explanations or apologies. A planned child is a gift and a privilege. Enjoy it!

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from the mother who was up in arms over the fact that her child's teacher kept the whole class after school because a "few" children misbehaved, I am up in arms too. Did it ever occur to this mother that after a confining, active day of teaching, we teachers look forward to a quiet, empty classroom where we are free to plan our next day's work? We don't enjoy staying in after school with students. But believe me, occasionally this is a very effective means of handling an unruly class. Common sense would have led this angry mother to inform the teacher that her child had a doctor's appointment. What good did it do her to sit in her car for a half an hour? We are not clairvoyant. When will the parents learn to cooperate and stop fighting us?

A TIRED TEACHER

DEAR ABBY: Can't "Up in Arms" see that the teacher was staying on her own time in order to teach discipline to that group of youngsters? She was not getting time and a half overtime! I am not a teacher, but I can remember that 30 years ago that method worked. The teacher didn't know the guilty party but we did. No one told the teacher, but the culprit was told by the rest of the class, and it never happened again.

Why, oh, why do parents think they are doing their children a kindness by letting them "express themselves"? We must have discipline and consideration for the next person if we are to live healthy, happy, peaceful lives. Proverbs we lived by are unknown to young people. Even the Golden Rule has changed to "Do it to them before they do it to you." No one takes the time to teach our young people moral lessons. Everyone is hurrying — to his grave. Sincerely,

GRANDMA

DEAR ABBY: How do you know when you are in love? I asked my mother and she said there isn't any such thing, it's just something you imagine. But she is 77 years old and it's been so long since she was in love she probably forgot. I've asked several other people and nobody seems to have the answer. Have you?

THINK I AM

DEAR THINK: When a person is really "in love" (and there is such a thing!) he does not ask anyone. He knows it. So if you "think" you're "in love," I would say, think again.

Organic Gardening Is Discussed For At Society Meeting

Members of Pampa Rose Society met recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Carlson with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Radcliffe serving as co-hosts.

The vice president, Mrs. H. H. Boynton, president, Mrs. E. D. Darsey, club president, and Dan Glaxner, absent members, were remembered with floral gifts.

Dr. Weldon Adair presented a short resume on "Next Month In Our Rose Garden." Mrs. Boynton gave an informative talk on "Organic Gardening," saying "Water, soil and earth's green mantle of plants make up the world that supports all life. Organic gardening is a system whereby fertile soil is maintained by the addition and preservation of humus, which is animal or plant life. This is best done by the maintenance and use of a compost pile. This fertilizer is much more beneficial to plants than are commercial fertilizers."

Mrs. Boynton has practiced organic gardening for the past ten years and finds it most rewarding. Rather than using sprays or insecticides, she uses lady bugs and preying mantis, as the use of artificial sprays upsets nature's balance, killing the helpful insects, birds, etc., which work against the biological control of nature. Those who use sprays are warned to follow directions carefully for their own protection.

During the social hour, the hostesses served homemade ice cream with peaches, cake and coffee.

Members present were Drs. and Mmes. Weldon Adair and W. L. Campbell; Messrs. and Mmes. H. H. Boynton, Milo Carlson, A. B. Carruth and Glenn Radcliffe.

Q — Would it be harmful to have 10 chest X rays in one year?

A — No. Modern X-ray equipment gives you a very short exposure to a limited part of your body. Everyone is exposed to an amount of radiation from the atmosphere that is 100 times greater than the amount you would get from having a chest X ray 12 times a year.

Your doctor understands the dangers involved in overexposure to X rays and when he orders an X ray he considers that the benefits to be gained far outweigh any possible hazard.

Q — Can shock treatments be given in a doctor's office?

Gardening News

By THELMA BRAY

What can we eat and drink, dab on our faces put in the gas tank, and add to plastics, paint, plywood glue and floor tiles? What is equally "at home" in the Orient and on the plains of Texas? It is the soybean, whose by-products are used in foods, cosmetics gasoline and many industrial goods.

Henry Ford would have been impressed with the importance of soybeans today. During the early 1900's the automobile manufacturing genius fought hard to get widespread acceptance of the crop in the United States, but his pleas fell on deaf ears. Now the oily beans touch the lives of every American almost daily, in such forms as paints, varnishes, cooking oil, shortening, oleomargarine, baby formula, breakfast cereals, soups and sauces, a host of industrial products and livestock feed.

Soybeans are good for the soil, adding tilth and nitrogen and helping clean up weeds. Soybeans grow so vigorously under irrigated conditions that they cover the ground quickly, keeping down weeds. They can be planted fairly late, making an excellent catch crop. There is little problem with insects and diseases, and the beans work well in a rotational system.

Texas has a long history of successful research with soybeans, with the first being done in 1944 at the Lubbock Experiment Station. Looking after the tests at the Lubbock station is Dr. Clark Harvey who also serves as a professor of agronomy at Texas Technological University in Lubbock.

Several Pampa women had a small part in the National Convention of Men's Garden Clubs which was held in Amarillo last week. A placement show was staged by the Amarillo Garden Club, especially for those who were attending the convention, which was later open to the public for viewing. The show was staged in the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Barnett, a most gracious couple. Pampa's National Flower Show Judges served as judges for the show. They were Mmes. John Sweetney, Myron Durman, V. N. Osborn and this columnist.

All garden clubs to be affiliated with the National Council of Garden Clubs must stage at least one flower show each year and the shows must be judged by accredited judges. The purposes of flower shows are threefold: to stimulate interest in horticulture, to develop aesthetic sense and to educate the participants and the public.

When driving down Duncan St. one can't help but see the beautiful delphiniums in full bloom at the Lee Moore home, 915 N. Duncan. Their garden is always attractive and the succession of bloom is interesting to watch for. Irene Moore contributes much to the beautification of Pampa with her own garden as well as her faithful work in the parks.

If anyone would like to contribute an hour or two to worthwhile community service, come down Friday morning at 8:30 to Yeager and Starkweather park and help pull weeds in one of the flower beds. We can offer good fellowship and a feeling of accomplishment.

The Flower Arrangement Classes sponsored by the Council of Garden Clubs will be held in the Coffee Room of the First National Bank at 2 p.m. beginning July 1. Mark your calendar. Young people can also benefit from the instructions given in these classes.

Family Picnics Can Be Easy

SUMMER PLEASURE — Impromptu family picnic on a grassy site near a lake is a summer pleasure free for the enjoying. Simple food is safely transported in the insulated chest. The two-quart insulated jug boosts an unbreakable polyethylene liner, making it safe for rugged, family use.

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Picnics as social events will take many forms this summer and we may as well be ready for them.

I can predict, for example, that some young matron fired up by a trip to an art gallery and pictures of elaborate lawn parties in some 18th century woodland will invite us to rendezvous in a bosky dell for an "elegant" picnic with hampers of fine food and wine. With my luck she will invite me to bring peaches "en geleé."

Speaking from disastrous experience I can bet the "geleé" will be unjelled and the peaches limp and brownish shadows in the puddle by the time dinner rolls around.

We can also safely expect a family reunion-type picnic which include the church, school and civic efforts involving many, many phone calls deciding who would bring what and where to meet. Mounds of potato salad and baked ham star at these events. Remember the warnings about letting salads sit in the warm summer air to become thriving little factories of bacteria that lead to all sorts of unpleasantness, gastro-intestinally speaking.

Refrigerate, refrigerate, refrigerate is the watch word; aid Slippers To Match Gown

Peau de sole has replaced satin as a favorite in evening slippers for the winter season. You can find it in beautiful colors to match your gown.

Manners Make Friends

Small children need prodding to share toys and food.

It is the young ones who are the prime movers: "Let's go on a picnic, Mom," is the rallying cry. I know how easy, and often tempting, it is to put them off with a "No time, today, maybe Sunday." But I regret it when I do. The years for spontaneous childhood joy are few and the free pleasures of a simple picnic outdoors are to be cherished.

Elaborate food isn't the drawing card, nor is the far-distant sight seeing spot. Simple companionship, undisturbed by fussing over table manners, housekeeping routine and the telephone is the lure, I suspect.

How many picnic sites within walking distance of home or a short auto drive do you have? From our home, there are three good walk-to sites, two in parks, one on a vacant lot overlooking a little brook. Off-season school grounds, in some areas, are pleasant picnic spots. In agricultural areas, many farmers have set aside areas on their farms for recreational purposes. The county agricultural agent should know about these and so should 4-H leaders.

Equipment should be light and serviceable. I like the light-weight plastic chests to carry the food; a wicker basket for paper plates and cups. New this year is a light weight insulated plastic jug with an unbreakable plastic liner in the two-quart size—big enough for cold lemonade for the family.

Many homemakers will prefer the sandwich sack lunch; we have these every day during the school year so we shift to other foods for picnics.

ed by ice or new chemical packs which can be frozen ahead of time and used in an insulated chest to maintain a safe chill. The chemical packs are reusable; plastic sacks of ice cubes or ice blocks are also useful. Blocks of ice melt more slowly than cubes; commercially frozen ice lasts longer than the home-frozen.

But the picnics I enjoy the most are the impromptu family ones. This may not mean all the family. Bored teenagers are given the choice of going or not.

The Mature Parent Psychoanalysis for Mother Could Be the Answer

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I have raised my two sons alone as their father completely rejected them after our divorce 15 years ago. It is the 21 year-old boy—a student at our state university—that I am frightened for. Though he has a fine mind, his marks are poor. He seems to have no purpose, refuses to work during vacations and jokes about marrying some girl who will support him. When he comes home weekends he is impatient, often foul mouthed. He has refused psychoanalytic help after seeing a doctor several times.

ANSWER: Since he doesn't want psychoanalytic enlightenment, go and get it for yourself. Husbandless mothers can get their self-respect too mixed up with children's achievements. Having failed as wives, they make a secret resolution to make great successes as mothers. Thus, the children's achievements become too important.

The children, sensing this dependence on their justifying achievements, use it to make their mothers miserable by denying her the achievements whenever they feel resentment at her. Go and get yourself a good, many psychoanalyst. If you resist this proposal it may be because you've grown too accustomed to lonely struggle.

Lonely struggle can easily become a way of life for divorced mothers. Without their knowledge, the painful circumstances which compelled them to take on the father-mother responsibility for children can be felt as punishment for their failure as wives. In the hurt of their realization that they have been left alone to raise and protect the children, they feel that lonely struggle is their fate.

It's gone on for 15 years for you, hasn't it? So it may be difficult for you to consider the notion of seeking the male strength and understanding a good psychoanalyst can give you. You've jog-trotted along in the harness of the beast of burden for so many years that the idea of available green fields and freedom may be one you can't entertain.

So I am going to manipulate you by pushing the button of your sense of responsibility for the child. I'm going to try to get you to a psychoanalyst by telling you such action will be productive for your son. It's time you showed yourself to him as a woman who needs strength other than her own. The boy's talk of getting himself a wife who'll support him tells us that he thinks of woman as a burden bearing creature. It's up to you to show him that manliness is necessary to you, that you are not that all sufficient freak father-mother.

School and You

By SUSAN LIGHT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Dear Mrs. Light: To your column on sex education I say "Amen." I only wish our high school required a course along this line. They might include something about smoking and drinking. I'm worried because some of the girls in my daughter's eighth-grade crowd have already taken up smoking. They seem to think it's smart. Maybe they would take advice from a teacher better than from their parents.

What can a mere parent do about having a health course added to the curriculum?
Answer: Plenty! As a starter, you might round up other parents who feel as you do. Then approach the curriculum co-ordinator or the superintendent—and shout (figuratively, of course!). In addition, put your reasons for wanting the course in writing so that your petition can ultimately be passed on to the school board.

In our local schools, interested parents have been successful in getting Latin, French and other subjects added to the curriculum. Let us be overly optimistic, however, I must add that it took three or four years and considerable pressure.

When it comes to healthy instruction, you have allies in the National Education Association, the U. S. Office of Education, the American Medical Association, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and the U. S. Public Health Service. As the result of a nationwide study they sponsored, these agencies are urging a crash program of healthy instruction to fight the very conditions you're worried about.

The alarming facts brought out by the study are these: Most teen-agers experiment with alcoholic drinks, beginning as young as 13 or 14. Most smokers begin between the ages of 10 to 15. One million of them will die of lung cancer before they are 70 if present rates continue. Early promiscuity and illegitimate births are zooming. Nearly 40 per cent of unwed mothers in the U. S. are between 15 and 19. More than 250,000 young people are infected with venereal diseases each year.

Such figures should convince even a mossbacked parent, administrator or school board member that our students need "new health instruction" as well as "new math."

You can get a copy of "School Health Education: A Call for Action" from the School Health Education Study headquarters, 1201 Sixteenth St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Good luck in your venture. The child you save may be your own!

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — It says here that Mme. Genevieve Antoine Dariaux is the director of a Paris salon and "a French authority on entertaining."

What it doesn't say is that, like a lot of other French salonkeepers, Mme. Dariaux is a natural born troublemaker.

According to a press release put out by Redbook magazine, she has drawn up "ten commandments" to govern the conduct of a husband when he and his wife are giving a party.

With some omissions, the Dariauxian gospel for husbandly behavior as host goes like this:
3. "He should not come home from the office just 15 minutes before the guests are supposed to arrive."

6. "He should take time to glance at the table and the flower arrangements and tell her that everything is perfectly beautiful."

7. "He should pay outrageous compliments to the women guests."

9. "He should see that the men do not cluster together in one corner of the living room after dinner."

10. "After the guests have left, he should take his wife in his arms and tell her it was a marvelous party. Finally, he should help tidy up, with the conquering smile of a perfect host and husband."

In addition to being highly unrealistic, Mme. Dariaux has, in the case of commandment no. 7, concocted a prescription for marital disaster. I can see it all now . . .

The host bids the last guest goodbye and, with a conquering smile, takes his wife in his arms, unfortunately forgetting that he still has a drink in his hand.

"Don't touch me," she snarls, reaching for a napkin to blot the stain on her dress.

"But, honey, I was just going to tell you what a marvelous party it was."

"You should. You certainly were having a marvelous time with the women guests."

"I was only paying them outrageous compliments. That is one of Mme. Dariaux' commandments."

"They were outrageous, all right. Did Mme. Dariaux also command you to pat them on the knee or was that your own idea?"

In short, there is only one way for a husband to be a perfect host. Rewrite commandment no. 3 and don't come home until 15 minutes after the guests have left.

BIG THEFT REPORTED

BOSTON (UPI)—An attache case reported to contain scientific papers worth $50,000 was stolen Tuesday from a parked car in the Roxbury section, according to police.

Authorities said the theft was reported by Andrew C. Faure, who identified himself as a member of the staff of the Air Force Research Bureau, Hanscom Field, Bedford, Mass. He said the papers in the case concerned space research.

Vernon Law In Fine Comeback

By United Press International
Vernon Law is going like '60 again and the gentleman Pittsburgh righthander makes no secret of the reason for his startling comeback.

No one gave him any special tips and he didn't develop any fancy new pitches that triggered his current seven-game victory streak after a four-year battle with a serious arm injury.

Just had faith in myself and my own ability," Law reasoned. "It just proves that you can overcome many things if you don't quit on yourself. I could have quit but I was determined to see this thing through and I'm happy I did."

Law, who owns the best earned run average (1.59) of any pitcher in the National League and the lowest among all starters in the major leagues, slammed a three run homer and limited the San Francisco Giants to only four safeties Tuesday night as the Pirates won 6-0.

The league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers downed the New York Mets 4-2, the Cincinnati Reds defeated St. Louis twice 5-4 and 4-2, Chicago drubbed Milwaukee 6-1, and Philadelphia beat Houston 7-2 in other NL action.

Law, who won 20 games and the Cy Young Award in 1960 for the world champion Pirates, almost was released in 1963 when he was placed on the disabled list. Last season, however, his arm got stronger and he posted a 12-13 mark.

After losing his first five decisions this year, Law has reeled off seven straight triumphs. Included in the string are six complete games and three shutouts.

Willie Stargell hit his 16th and 17th home runs to account for the other three Pirate runs, but Law didn't need the extra support as he allowed only one man to get as far as second—Len Gabrielson on a double in the second inning. Gaviord Perry allowed five of the Pirate runs and absorbed his seventh loss against six victories.

John Tsitouris, making his first start in almost a month, stopped the Cardinals on five hits in the nightcap, after ex-Card Charlie James had won the opener for Cincinnati with a bases-loaded pinch single in the ninth inning off loser Hal Woodeshick.

Vada Pinson, Deron Johnson and Frank Robinson homered off starter Bob Gibson to give the Reds a 4-1 lead in the first game before the Cards tied it in the seventh on a home run by Tim McCarver and three doubles. Tommy Harzer drove in two runs with a homer and double in the second game for the Reds.

Chris Short and Gary Wagner combined for a five hitter against Houston and Richie Allen drove in three runs with a single and sacrifice fly. Johnny Callison, Cookie Rojas and Tony Gonzalez each contributed three hits to the Phillies attack.

Austin Batters Sonics

By United Press International
The Austin Braves rattled their bats Tuesday night to remind the rest of the Texas League they are not yet dead.

The Braves have been settled in third place in the league's Eastern Division for most of the season, and are currently four games out of the top spot.

Tuesday night, they unwound for a 13-3 decision over Amarillo.

In other games, El Paso edged Tulsa 6-5 and Albuquerque defeated Dallas - Fort Worth 5-2 in the battle of the division leaders.

Amarillo, for the second straight night, got all its runs in the first inning.

Trailing 3-0 coming to bat in the first, Austin got right to work. The Braves got six runs in the first, two of them on Butler Powell's home run, and then got two more in the second. All eight runs came at the expense of Amarillo hurler Carroll Sembera.

After a shaky first inning, Austin pitcher Herb Hippaup settled down to allow Amarillo only two hits all night.

El Paso led a two run slip away and then came on to get four in the fifth.

Sporting Sidelines

By JEFF COHANE

GARY PLAYER'S giving away his entire U.S. Open purse is something unbelievable, at least insofar as the previous glimpses given of pro golfers who run the big-money route; all of whom seem only interested in squeezing the lemon to the last drop. Fantastic as it appears, it shows that some professional athletes are actually out for the sport of it, whereas almost every big-time pro in just about every sport had admitted that he or she is interested only in the big green and nothing else. Cynical observers point out however that Player's Open win will be worth far more than the purse in extras, and $25,000 might be a cheap price to pay for that kind of publicity.

THE NFL, in putting on a fight for the same cities, is really trying to give the AFL the death blow this time. Two pro grid teams just can't survive in anything but a handful of metropolitan cities, and the NFL, with the established names and drawing cards, will win almost every time, as proven by what happened at Dallas. This scribe predicts that in backing out of the Dorned Stadium, the Houston Oilers have paved the way for an NFL team to come in... and that would be the death knell for the Oilers. The only good thing out of the fight is that Texas is finally getting the professional teams they have deserved, size and population-wise, for a long time. Look for pro basketball to come dribbling in one of these days, although it will be a long, long time before any other of the predominantly cold-weather sports like hockey invades the Lone Star State.

YANKEE FANS are terribly quiet these days. Usually the most noticeable of breeds as they brag on their "greasy kid stuff" moneybags, we haven't heard a peep out of any of them this season. Guess they just do not know how to react to a loser except by hiding in their holes. Tsk, tsk. About the only thing we have heard about the Bronx Bombers lately is the result of another of their barroom brawls. I wonder what kind of example this sets the youngsters. As a matter of fact, reports these days seem to be about nothing but athletes getting into trouble with the law or officials of sports making fools out of themselves in every way possible. Boxing's bad reputation has led to the downfall of this sport, which pro sport will pull on a shenanigan too many and follow it next?

JIM SIMS, one of the friendly enemies that infest the Amarillo News-Globe sports department, assured us when the season started, that the Sonics would win the Texas League pennant. The Half-Astros are now buried so deeply in the cellar that it would take a bulldozer to dig them out. However, every time we call and ask for Jim, the answer is that he just stepped out. Guess he must be practicing running for the same bomb shelter the Sonics have fallen into.

CAN'T UNDERSTAND why the people of Milwaukee don't let the Braves go and good riddance to them. Surely it must be the restaurant owners, hotel and motel proprietors, etc. who must be fighting the switch... the average fan, upon being slapped in the face like that, usually figures said baseball team can go far away, and the farther down the better. Personally, I think the people of Milwaukee should have boycotted the team entirely. And if the people of Atlanta are smart, they ought to look at what happened in the Midwest and figuring it could happen to them... don't see why folks can't take an example from a sad history right under their very noses.

RETAINS TITLE
TOKYO (UPI) — Takeshi Nakamura of Japan retained his Orient flyweight title by outpointing Ric Magramo of the Philippines in a 12-round bout. Nakamura weighed 112 to 111½ for Magramo.

'America's Guest' Now Reformed Man, Athlete

HOUSTON (UPI) — Casey Stengel may be pleased to learn one of his all-time favorite ballplayers, a fellow he once dubbed "America's Guest," is a completely changed man.

Casey always maintains a lively curiosity about all his ex-employees, but he takes a special interest in the progress of Don (Perfect Game) Larsen, who is making his living now with the Houston Astros.

Larsen earned the nickname "America's Guest" from Stengel while both still were with the Yankees because the big rollicking right-hander not only lived it up in a style that made Bo Belinsky look like a choir boy but also made it a habit to treat everyone within a radius of 20 miles whenever he'd go out on the town. Like every night.

"Ahh, I don't think I've changed," snapped Larsen pleasantly when the subject was brought up on a green, wooden bench in the left field sector. "I'm the same as I always was. What's different about me?"

Practically everything.

For one thing, the gray is beginning to show more prominently around Larsen's temples at 35. For another, he's throwing, running and hustling in the Houston camp as if this was his first season in the majors instead of his 13th. And most important of all, perhaps, he goes straight home to his wife, Corrine, and two-year-old son, Scotty, the moment his day's work is done.

Back in the old days, the first thing he'd do would be to head for the bright lights. And the first thing he'd say would be:

"Let the good times roll, baby doll."

No more. Don Larsen has come full cycle. It was a long, rough journey but he finally made the big trip from adolescence to maturity.

"Well, you can't do the same things at 35 you did at 25," he conceded, almost grudgingly. "You have more responsibilities and you have to face them. I'd like to stay around and play in the dome a few years. And I'm trying to be the last of the active St. Louis Browns."

Larsen's first reference was to Houston's spanking new domed stadium. His second was to the fact that he and Ryna Duren of the Reds are the only two remaining members of the old Browns still playing in the majors.

Clarke, Jazy In Two-Mile

PARIS (UPI) — World 5,000 and 10,000 meters champion Ron Clarke of Australia and French star Michel Jazy "must be the favorite" to win their encounter over two miles at Melun near Paris tonight. Jazy holds the world record in 8:29.6.

Clarke said he thought it very possible the record could be broken if conditions are right, "but it's much more likely to be Michel and not me that breaks it," he added.

His best time over the distance is 8:32, set at the Modesto Relays in California, when the first lap was run in 67 seconds.

"Michel is the best runner in the world at the moment, over any distance," Clarke said. "Obviously I'll go all out to win, but I think the distance may be too short for me."

How much will your son know about business when he applies for his first full-time job?

Plenty—if he's ever been a newspaperboy. Through route experience he's already a lap ahead of his classmates. While they both mastered ideas, the boy with a newspaper route was able to put them to practical use. Business? He's learned the basic principles from the first day he started delivering newspapers. He bought at wholesale, sold at retail. Made collections. Kept his own books. Dealt with people face to face. Quickly found out that "profit" and "loss" are more than textbook terms.

The benefits of managing a newspaper route are an equation for a future successful citizen. A great number of today's prominent men started their public careers as newspaperboys. And they all vouch that a newspaper route gives a boy a head start on the future.

If you'd like more information for your son or any other interested youngster, get in touch with our Circulation Department. Although only about one boy in ten ever gets a chance to manage a newspaper route, we'll be glad to talk it over.

Ellis carded a one-over-par 72 to Snell's 73, scoring a birdie four on the last hole to take the honors in the Open division. Third was Tommy Rose with 78, followed by Ricky Roach and George McKinney, tied with 84 each.

The Novice division was won by PHS B teamer David Kihneman with an 81. In second was Mike Osborne with 82, also losing the match on the final hole. Third was Greg Gunter with 86. Cowboys Win Right To Neely OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—The Houston Oilers, who signed All-American Ralph Neely to a professional football contract before his college eligibility expired, have lost Neely in a legal tug-of-war with the Dallas Cowboys.

U.S. Dist. Judge Stephen S. Chandler ruled Tuesday that the Houston contract was invalid. He also denied the Oilers' application for an injunction to prevent Neely from playing with the Cowboys of the rival National Football League.

The Oilers of the American Football League had sought to make the former Oklahoma tackle fulfill the undated contract he signed with them on Dec. 1, 1964 — a month before the Soomers' Gate Bowl engagement with Florida State.

Attorneys for the Oilers said today they planned to ask for a new trial, and Chandler has requested both sides prepare briefs on the facts and finding of law.

Ralston Rallies, Gives U.S. Wimbledon Hope

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Yanks still to play their first-round contests. Making first round debuts today were Bill Hoogs, Los Angeles, against Don Dell, Bethesda, Md.; Bill Lenoir, Tucson, Ariz., against Colin Stubbs, Australia; and Herbert Fitzgibbon, Garden City, N. Y., against Colin Brebnor, South Africa.

Prior to the Ralston-Leclercq meeting, third-ranked Arthur Ashe of Los Angeles faced a crucial test against France's Pierre Darmon. The honor of opening today's center court program went to Carole Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio, who faced Christine Truman of Britain in a second-round women's match.

Ralston, the top-ranked player in the United States and seeded fourth here, injured the thumb on his racket hand last Friday and was a doubtful performer. But the 22-year-old ace from Bakersfield, Calif., proved he was ready Tuesday when he beat Richardson, of Dallas, Tex., 15-13, 9-7, 6-2. Ralston and Ashe led a contingent of 11 U.S. players into the second round with four

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York Yankee sluggers Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle are together again — on the sidelines.

Maris missed Tuesday night's doubleheader with the Kansas City Athletics because he suffered a severely wrenched finger on Sunday while Mantle pulled a leg muscle sliding into home plate during the fourth inning of Tuesday night's 4-2, nightcap victory over the Athletics.

Flash Elorde Fights Tonight
NEW YORK (UPI)—Flash Elorde, world junior lightweight champion from the Philippines, is scheduled to meet Frankie Narvaez of New York and Puerto Rico at Madison Square Garden, Aug. 4, in a 10-round non-title bout.

Harry Markson, the boxing director at the Garden, said Tuesday that the bout was originally planned for July 13 but the champion suffered a cut above his right eye when he successfully defended his title against Teruo Kosaka of Japan, June 5.

The winner of the fight has been promised a shot at Ismael Laguna's 135-pound title by the champ's manager, Isaac Kirsch. That title bout might be held at the Garden in October.

Tribe Makes Believers Of Opponents, Ex-Fans

By United Press International
The Cleveland Indians first made "believers" of their American League rivals and now their long-lost fans are beginning to get the message.

The message is that the dreary sixth-place finishers of 1964 are bonafide flag threats in '65—and it came through loud and clear to 66,948 fans Tuesday night when the Indians came from behind twice to score a 5-4, 10-inning victory over the Minnesota Twins.

The triumph stretched the Indians' winning streak to 10 games, their longest since 1961, while the crowd was the largest to see the Indians at home since June 17, 1962. The crowd was swelled by 45,273 members of the Grandstand Managers' Club, admitted on tickets sold at cut-rate prices in a special promotion, but it proved that the team is catching the imagination of fans who virtually deserted it in recent years.

Get Top Pitching
Brilliant pitching has been the key to the success of the Indians, who moved into a second-place tie with the rained-out Chicago White Sox, only 1/2 game behind the first-place Twins, but it was late-inning home run power that produced Tuesday night's victory.

Duke Sims tied the score with his first big league homer in the eighth inning and then jack-of-all-trades Chuck Hinton won it with a homer leading off the 10th. It was the seventh homer of the year for Hinton, acquired from the Washington Senators in one of Gabe Paul's big winter deals.

Luis Tiant, who pitched a one-hitter in his previous start, went 6-2-3 innings for the Indians but relief pitcher Gary Bell picked up the win for two innings of shutout pitching. Al Worthington, who yielded both late-inning homers, suffered his third loss against three wins.

The Baltimore Orioles defeated the Boston Red Sox 4-1 and then lost 4-2 the New York Yankees bounced back from a 6-2 loss to beat the Kansas City Athletics 4-2 and the Los Angeles Angels topped the Detroit

Tigers 3-0 in other AL games. Orioles Stay Hot

Russ Snyder drove in two runs with three singles and rookie John Miller and relief star Dick Hall collaborated in a seven-hitter to give the Orioles their 10th win in 11 games. Earl Wilson came through with a four-hitter to hand Robin Rovers his seventh straight setback in the nightcap. Felix Mantilla had three hits and Len Green, Carl Yaztrzemski and Bob Tillman two hits each to lead Boston's 11-hit second-game attack.

Wayne Causey's three hits and Rene Lachemann's homer were the big blows of Kansas City's victory as John O'Donoghue won his fourth game with the relief help of Don Mossi and Jim Bouton suffered his seventh defeat. The Yankees rallied to take a 3-2 lead on two walks, a hit batsman and a sacrifice in the seventh inning of the second game and Tom Tresh's 11th homer produced another run in the eighth. Pedro Ramos, who worked only 2-3 of an inning, picked up his third win although recently acquired knuckleball pitcher Bobby Tiefenauer shut out the Athletics in the last two innings.

George Brunet pitched a three-hitter to win his fifth game for the Angels. Mickey Lolich struck out 10 batters for Detroit but Vic Power homered in the second inning and singled home a second run in the sixth to pace Los Angeles' 10-hit offense.

Aid Puzzles Foreigners, Too

If you have questions about whether the foreign-aid program makes sense, what about some of the people in nations receiving the so-called aid?

The Citizens Foreign Aid Committee has released excerpts from an article in the Philadelphia Bulletin by Frederic Nelson, former editor of the Saturday Evening Post which points out some of the confusion.

"A thing that bothers a good many Americans about the billions they are sending here and there as foreign aid is not so much the money as the answer to the question: Why aren't they grateful for what we so generously hand out? In his absorbing book, 'The Italians' (Atheneum) Luigi Barzini goes into this briefly:

"After the war everybody (in Italy) tried hard to find a suitable answer to the puzzling problem: Why was the United States showering billions of dollars on their country? Communists were certain it was part of a master-plan to impoverish, starve, enslave and destroy the Italian proletariat. Non-Communists could not make up their minds. Were the Americans mad? Many possible explanations were debated and discarded. At the end, most people said, 'Why should they, who won the war, enrich us, who lost it? They must have their own reasons. Whatever

'Hangman' Rides With You

In 1955, neurosurgeons at the University of Michigan began noting strange neck fractures in routine X rays of persons involved in traffic accidents.

A call went out to other doctors to report cases of similar fractures, which seemed to be a unique product of auto accidents but whose exact cause was unknown.

Now after 10 years the mystery has been solved. The injury is identical to what 19th century British anatomists were familiar with as "Hangman's Fracture"—the result of a then-new method of dispatching con-

It's Trite, but It's True

Review of a dozen or so commencement talks delivered by important, distinguished persons in the last few weeks reveals that the gist of their advice to the graduates is about as follows:

Whatever you do, at work or at play, give it everything you have. You don't win success by half-hearted effort.

While ability is of course all-important, it rarely is enough without dependability, loyalty and dedication.

While it is true that things are pretty well messed up all over the world, there still is unlimited opportunity for achievement and success; in fact, the world is crying for leadership and new ideas.

There is nothing new or startling in this advice and cynics may write it off as trite and corny. But it does have one thing going for it, it is true.

Wife—Oh, you needn't think you're so wonderful. The night you proposed to me you looked absolutely silly!

Husband—A coincidence. The fact is, I was absolutely silly!

Reds Seek Jump on Space Base

By RAY CROMLEY Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Soviet man-in-space endeavor is run by the Russian military.

The Reds are pursuing the moon race on a course carefully designed to increase their military potential.

They haven't let even the moon program deflect them from driving ahead on the development of a military-manned, earth-circling laboratory, which both Moscow and Defense Secretary Robert McNamara agree is the next step in the eventual effective military use of space.

The Russians are believed substantially ahead of the United States in developing this orbiting laboratory. They've shown an ability to operate in space for longer periods. They are ahead in a significant number of military-useful, man-in-space experiments. Their Voskhod astronauts were not confined to oxygen suits in their spacecraft.

By contrast, McNamara seems to be leaving U.S. space initiative to the civilian National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The U.S. Military-manned, orbiting laboratory and all other military-manned space projects have been held up by McNamara's unwillingness to push through with programs unless there is a firm "operational requirement."

Since there is no known operational requirement for a manned orbiting laboratory or for any other man-in-space project at present, McNamara's aides find their safest course is to hold back.

Repeated studies and refined analyses have been made on the manned space laboratory. There have been protracted periods of indecision. Progress has been snail-like.

Red progress on the manned orbiting laboratory as such is not what makes U.S. military research and development men apprehensive.

It's the broad front on which the Russians are pushing ahead on their military-oriented, man-in-space program.

As one U.S. research general puts it: "It is the unknown that concerns us. We do not know really what opportunities may be afforded from operating in near-earth orbit—100 to 500 miles. If they (the Russians) are ahead of us in exploration, they may uncover, or already have uncovered, some operational activity that is advantageous to them, and if they discover it ahead of us, then we are in a difficult position."

Such a breakthrough could lead toward a space-based anti-ICBM, a satellite inspector-killer system, a highly effective spy-in-the-sky or any one of a dozen other possibilities which no one can now anticipate.

Despite McNamara's hard stand, there are signs that he and his top scientific aide, Dr. Harold Brown, may be starting to yield under pressure from their military and civilian advisers.

That is, McNamara and Brown may at last be ready to tiptoe into military-manned space projects in a cautious attempt to catch up with the Russians before it's too late.

BEYOND ALL REASON (Industrial News Review)

Public rebellion against further increases in gasoline taxes—which are always being advocated at the state and federal levels—has reached high pitch. And a few figures explain why.

These taxes cost motorists almost $20 million a day—$19.7 million to be precise.

During 1965, total gasoline tax collections will be approximately $7.2 billion, or more than twice the amount collected as recently as 1955. And that isn't just due to the fact that there are many more cars on the road. Since that latter year, the average tax rate on each gallon of gas has increased about 36 per cent.

And here's another striking comparison: Collections for only two months of 1965 equal the amount paid in the entire year of 1945.

Few out-and-out luxuries bear a tax remotely comparable to that levied on gas, which is a basic, down-to-earth necessity in this nation on wheels of ours. Regular-grade gasoline sells for around 20 cents per gallon, plus more than 10 cents in state and federal taxes, along with local taxes in some areas. In other words,

Two Non-Family Insurance Policies on Viet Cong Captive Being Probed; Applications Filed Near Time Hertz Vanished

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The case of Gustav C. Hertz, highest-ranking American civilian captured by the Communist Viet Cong in South Viet Nam, is developing into a real mystery thriller.

While Hertz apparently lingers in a prison camp in North Viet Nam, two U.S. agencies are investigating the strange circumstances surrounding the issuance of two $10,000 life insurance policies on the 46-year-old AID official approximately at the time of his disappearance.

The beneficiary of both policies is another high-ranking AID official serving in South Viet Nam who is neither a member of the Hertz family nor a relative.

Investigators of the FBI and the Agency of International Development, who entered the case at the request of one of the insurance companies, are trying to ascertain if Hertz actually made out the applications for the insurance or whether the forms were filled out and mailed by others.

In one case, the policy actually was approved by the insurance company after Hertz had vanished while riding a bicycle in a Saigon suburb on February 2. Like the other policy, it is considered in full force since the insurance became effective as of the date of application.

Adding to this baffling mystery, Hertz' wife has told federal investigators she knew nothing about the two policies, although she and her three children were living in Saigon at the time the applications were mailed to the U.S. companies.

COMMUNIST PROPOSAL — Hertz' wife and children returned to the U.S. following his disappearance and after it became evident he was a Red prisoner. Hertz, from Leesburg, Va., was serving as chief of public administration for the AID mission at the time of his capture.

The case made worldwide headlines in April when the Viet Cong offered to exchange Hertz for Nguyen Van Thai, the Red terrorist caught fleeing the U.S. embassy after it was bombed.

Both the U.S. and South Viet Nam governments rejected the Communist proposal. U.S. officials believe Hertz is still alive and a prisoner, although they have no evidence other than the Communists' exchange offer.

While U.S. embassy and AID officials in South Viet Nam have shown no enthusiasm for the investigation, AID authorities in Washington, assisted by the FBI, are pressing ahead.

They are scheduled to submit their findings, including a report on their current on-the-spot probe in South Viet Nam, to Attorney General Katzenbach if it carries a sales tax passing 50 per cent.

The tax has grown beyond all reason. Further increases would simply compound a gross injustice.

and AID Director David Bell before the end of the month.

RED SAILS FOR U.S. — The U.S. plans to buy several fishing vessels in Communist Poland unless Congress steps in and blocks the deal.

Interior Department officials are preparing to purchase two or three modern ocean-going stern-ramp trawlers similar to those the Poles are constructing for Russia.

The vessels would be bought with U.S. counterpart funds, which must be spent in Poland and were derived from the sale of hundreds of millions of dollars of U.S. surplus farm commodities to the Warsaw regime.

Before formally negotiating with the Communists, Interior Secretary Stewart Udall plans to test congressional sentiment by spelling out details of the proposed purchase in a letter to Senator Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Commerce Committee.

While Interior Department legal advisers have ruled no legislation is necessary, Secretary Udall and his aides are aware that determined opposition from influential congressional leaders could stop the deal cold.

Advocates of the proposal, originated in the Interior Department's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, maintain it would advance U.S. interests in two ways:

—An estimated $10 to $15 million in counterpart U.S. funds would be used to buy the three boats. These would be taken from the $494 million now frozen in Poland.

—The Polish-built boats, rated among the best in the world, would be used as training vessels in the U.S. fishing fleet and as prototypes for possible duplication in U.S. shipyards.

The large-antiquated U.S. fishing fleet has no such vessels. The Soviet Union, ranking third among world fishing fleets, has more than 100 stern-ramp trawlers, most of them Polish-built. The U.S. has slipped to fifth.

The Bureau of Commercial Fisheries estimates it can buy the trawlers for approximately $5 million each. Building an equivalent boat in U.S. shipyards would cost roughly $7 to $8 million.

No private American fishing company has ever been willing to invest this much money in a trawler. Neither has Congress. Legislation to build stern-ramp trawlers with federal funds has gathered dust for years in congressional committees.

Under the administration's plan, the boats would be leased to private operators who would train a succession of crews in large-trawler operations. Their catch would be processed and frozen aboard, and sold to U.S. importers while at sea rather than landed directly at American ports.

The latter maneuver would circumvent the 1972 law prohibiting the landing of fish duty-

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. HUNT

HOW COMMUNISTS TAKE POWER

A great many people who ought to know better still seem to think Communism can only seize power in a nation under the open leadership of men who wave red flags, sing the "Internationale", and publicly ask the Kremlin for instructions.

Something like this did happen in the original Bolshevik Revolution in Russia, because in 1917 that unhappy land was in chaos and the best-organized, most readily identifiable element had the best chance to seize power from the Kerensky Government. It has never happened just like this since.

In Eastern Europe after World War II, in China, and more recently in Laos, the favorite device for taking power was a coalition government. The Communists would demand to have their men given a few vital cabinet posts in a government under non-Communist leadership, and by adroit use of the powers thereby granted they would take over.

Because Chiang Kai-shek refused to agree to that arrangement in China, we cut off our aid and allowed the Communists to win.

In Cuba, so close to our shores, Fidel Castro and his close associates knew we would never agree to the device of the coalition government. So they had to try to conceal their Communist affiliations.

This was not easy to do since in his youth Castro had been openly identified with Communism. But this evidence was stubbornly overlooked by our communication media, whose duty it is to inform us, and by people who apparently did not want to believe the truth. When they finally awoke, it was too late.

free at an American port from a foreign-built boat.

The newest Polish stern-ramp trawler is in the 2,800-ton Leskov class. Built at the Gdansk yards, these vessels are 280 feet long and 45 feet wide; their refrigerators have a 15,763-cubic foot capacity; and their 2,000-horsepower engines have a top speed of 12.5 knots.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Able in Business (Others'), Industrious—That's the Devil

By SAM CAMPBELL Business Editor

I shall write a few words today in behalf of a much maligned and neglected inhabitant of our community — the Devil. You have seen this misunderstood personality caricatured as a rogue in red tights, having horns, a pointed tail, and ghastly leer.

You have seen this misunderstood as the evil patron of indolence.

And you are witness to the slander that many say he is responsible for licentious error-bawdy song, drunkenness and romantic interlude.

Libelous Falsehood

A cruel libel, all of it! Well, almost all. There may be some slight basis in fact to regard him as the occult Temptor, but primarily this accusation seems to be an endeavor by the parties directly involved to place the blame for fleshly misdeeds on somebody besides themselves.

Far from encouraging indolence, the Devil sets an example to be envied by the most trows of humans. He sticks to business. Furthermore, the Devil will never take the prize at a masquerade ball. He wears a grey flannel suit of conservative cut, has neither horns nor more tail than anyone else, and—instead of scowling—he smiles. A most pleasing smile.

As a matter of fact, the Devil believes in human uplift. He never is quite so happy as when he is preaching bootstrap morality and mass betterment from the Sunday pulpit. He is learned in psychology, sociology, recent literature, and modern politics. He has been known to quote the Scripture. He is courteous to those who disagree with him, and kindly refers to his arch Opponent as "that man upstairs."

Good Organizer

The Devil is active in business, both in the front office and on the assembly line. He also belongs to the Local, and his favorite organizing trick is to imply that you are entitled to more than what you originally agreed to. He organized the Garden of Eden with a question.

Our ancestors understood the Devil better than we. The poet John Milton, described Beelzebub's appearance at the first United Nations conference in Hell. "With grave aspect, he rose," reported Milton, "and in his rising seemed a pillar of state. Deep on his front engraven deliberation sat and public care; and princely counsel in his face yet shone, majestic, though in ruin. Sage he stood, with Atlantean shoulders fit to bear the weight of mightiest monarchies."

Desires Respect

The point is that this fellow looks responsible, talks reasonably, and behaves himself with dignity. He desires most of all to have your respect. But in spite of these niceties—if you are alert—you always can know when the Devil is present.

The business that interests the Devil always is somebody else's business. He is forever poking his nose into other people's problems and property. The terms "public business" and "public interest" are to him a license for private meddling.

Though involved with wholesale moral uplift and material betterment, the Devil invariably advocates these good things at the expense of someone besides himself.

An expert salesman and polished persuader, he nevertheless cannot refrain from the advocacy of legal and/or physical force. At the heart of every proposal is a clause that would REQUIRE others to comply with and conform to his plan.

Another point about the Devil—he is NOT concerned with those who are not concerned with him. He doesn't have to be. The unwary are already his.

Television In Review

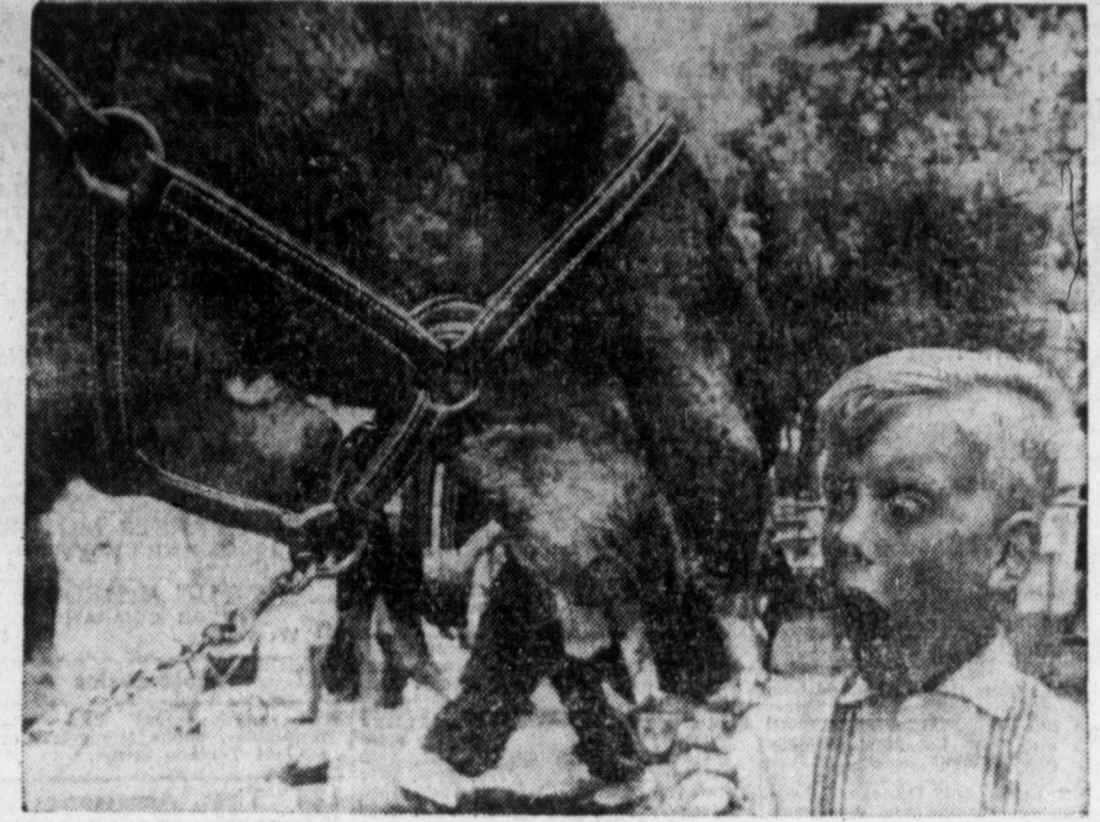

By RICK DU BROW
 United Press International
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — ABC-TV, which shook up television this season with a soap opera ("Peyton Place"), a comedy about a housewife ("Be-witched") and a teen-age dance show ("Shindig"), will seek to maintain its entertainment level in the fall.

Gone are all but a few flickering memories of its grandly-announced series entitled "Crisis," which was to thrill us all in the coming months with the best of original television drama, writers and actors. Instead, ABC-TV's ney fall shows will feature western, stories about teen-age girls, more soap, and yet more spoofs inspired by the James Bond secret agent craze.

Missing in the new season will be "Wagon Train," "No Time for Sergeants," "Wendy and Me" (with George Burns), the Bing Crosby series, "The Tycoon" (with Walter Brennan), "Broadside," "Valentine's Day" (with Anthony Franciosa) and the animated cartoon show "Jonny Quest." Fred MacMurray's "My Three Sons" series will switch to CBS-TV. And Mickey Rooney's "Mickey" show died a white back.

"Peyton Place" expands from two to three nights a week this Friday and will continue in that form in the coming year. "Shindig," now an hour, will be split into two half-hour shows a week next season. "12 O'Clock High" will return, but with a new star, Paul Burke, replacing Bob Lansing. "The King Family" musicale will be sliced from an hour to 30 minutes a week. "Burke's Law," with Gene Barry, returns — but in a different form and with a different title — the form being that of a secret agent tale, and the title, appropriately being: "Amos Burke-Secret Agent."

The new ABC-TV series include: "Honey West," with Anne Francis as a lady detective (half-hour). "Tammy," about a backwoods girl who works on a wealthy man's plantation (half-hour). "The Long, Hot Summer," with Edmond O'Brien and Ruth Roman in what has been described as "Peyton Place South" (one hour). "O.K. Crackerby," with Burl Ives as a man who is "long on coin but short on couth" and who hires a young fellow to give polish to his children (half-hour).

ICE CREAM ROBBER — Jameely, a camel, turns into an ice cream robber. A character in the Zor Shrine at the Madison, Wis., zoo, Jameely is widely known for stealing straw hats and eating auto radio aerials. Very seldom, though, has she been heartless enough to steal ice cream, like she is doing here from eight-year-old Randy Fey.

LBJ, Business Advisers Busy On Reserve Board Warning

By LYLE WILSON
 United Press International
 President Johnson and his business advisers have been busy this month trying to knock down a Federal Reserve Board warning that the nation's economy may be in for some bad trouble.

Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin stated his concern for the economic situation in a June 1 speech. Martin's speech got LBJ's instant attention. No one knows better than the President and his associates what a shot of depression can do to the political party in power. Martin certainly did not predict a depression.

But Martin did cite some disturbing similarities between current conditions and the situation leading up to the great depression that began in 1929. Herbert Hoover and the Republican party were in power in 1929. The party has not yet recovered from the damage. Indeed, it is not certain that the Republicans have yet hit bottom.

Re-Assure Voters
 Small wonder therefore that the President's business advisers have been busy since Martin spoke re-assuring the voters that all is well and will remain so, or even get better.

VIEWS SU BWAR
 LONDON (UPI)—U.S. Adm. Thomas E. Moorer, newly appointed supreme Allied commander for the Atlantic, said Tuesday the Russians would not find a submarine war in the Atlantic "a pushover" although the West has insufficient anti-submarine escorts.

"As you know only too well, submarine warfare is a war of attrition," Moorer said during a visit to London.

In 1812, Henry Clay, former U.S. senator, speaker of the House and secretary of state, died in Washington.

Sustained prosperity was the promise from Washington on June 19.

TERRORISTS SET BOMBS
 GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (UPI)—Anti-American terrorists set off home-made bombs at 10 places in this big Pacific port Tuesday night, causing some damage but injuring no one.

One terrorist was caught in the act of planting a bomb and arrested. He was identified as Mario Garces, a member of the Castro-Communist union of revolutionary youth.

SARAGAT IN OSLO
 OSLO, Norway (UPI)—Italian President Giuseppe Saragat arrived in Oslo Tuesday on his first state visit to a foreign country since he took office last year.

King Olav V braved a torrential rain to greet his guest, who was accompanied by Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani and other Italian officials.

It's The Law In Texas

Lawyers in Petticoats
 Chief Justice Ryan, of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin, could hardly have been more scandalized. Think of it! A young woman — unmarried, at that — wanted a license to practice the ancient masculine profession of law. He rejected her application in no uncertain terms:

"It would be revolting to all female sense of the innocence and sanctity of their sex, shocking to man's reverence for womanhood, that women should be permitted to mix professionally in all the nastiness of the world which finds its way into courts of justice."

But the year was 1875, and the tide of feminism was starting to rise. Four years later, the same Wisconsin court (with Chief Justice Ryan still protesting) finally did accept the young woman as a lawyer.

By 1942, women were practicing law in every state in the land. Today, more than 7,000 are licensed to practice and many of them sit on the bench as judges. It was cause for only mild surprise that the judge who swore in Lyndon Johnson as president, 99 minutes after President Kennedy's death, was a woman.

True, women still play a relatively minor role in the legal profession. Many large offices flatly refuse to hire female attorneys. No doubt some of this hostility reflects the view expressed 2400 years ago by Euripides, that "a woman should be good for everything at home, but abroad good for nothing."

But men also argue that women don't stick to law, that they are too emotional, that they make clients uneasy, and even that they can't keep secrets.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Leslie M. Pollack of Reynolds & Co. says he believes the future of the stock market will be determined mainly by economic forces and as long as one cannot foresee an economic recession in 1966 a positive investment policy still appears advisable.

Ralph E. Samuel & Co. says the "fair weather investor" who wants a large share of his capital in cash and treasures at the first sign of trouble will not be the investor who profits most in the years ahead.

Oppenheimer, Newberg & Neu says that excellent economic news and the forthcoming second quarter earnings statements next month should outweigh the heavy calendar of new offerings and the foreign news.

GETS RESOLUTION
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress Tuesday sent to President Johnson a resolution calling on the United States to rededicate itself to the principles of the United Nations on the world organization's 20th anniversary.
