Television Cable Franchise Granted by Commission

Factory Operators Awarded Contract

A 20-year-old franchise to furnish cable service in Pampa was granted by the City Commission today to Dale Greenhouse and Calvin Fraser, operators of the Form O-Uth factory here.

The franchise was awarded after ballots were marked by the mayor and four commissioners. Other than to name the successful applicant, results of the balloting were not announced.

Other applicants represented today were Worley & Worley of Shamrock and TV Cable Co. of Pampa. Mayor Siebert Worley of Shamrock spoke for the former company, and County Judge Bill Craig of Pampa spoke for TV Cable Co.

Names of two other applicants also were on the ballot. They were Viewmore of Wellington and King Community TV Co. of Houston. They were not represented.

Immediately prior to the franchise vote, the commission approved unanimously a three percent gross receipts tax to be inserted in the franchise ordinance. On the voice vote, the ordinance was approved unanimously.

It provides the cable company shall have the right to relay and distribute audio and video signals and television energy to television sets of subscribers located in and around Pampa. The company will not have the right to sell local advertising.

Under terms of the franchise, the cable company will furnish one free connection to each hospital, fire station, police station, and each public and church school, with the provision that audio and video signals will not be reamplified or reproduced at more than one television set.

No specific rates to be charged subscribers are established by the ordinance. However, the franchise provides the city may request information from the cable company to aid in making determinations regarding fair and just rates to be charged subscribers.

The city also reserves the right to inspect all books, reports, files, facilities and equipment of the company at any such reasonable times as the city may require.

Another provision of the franchise permits the city to determine and fix charges and fares and to regulate the kind of service to be rendered.

Other franchise provisions include: The company must deposit a $50,000 surety bond and agree to file in any of the franchise 1000 per person, $500,000 per accident and $100,000 property damage.

The cable company must grant a first lien on all equipment and facilities to protect the city in event the company defaults in any of the franchise terms, except for purchase money liens and any renewal thereof.

The company shall commence service to customers within 12 months.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House labor subcommittee today approved legislation to increase the federal minimum wage by half a dollar to $1.75 an hour.

The bill also would extend wage-hour law coverage to 6.1 million additional workers.

'Mystery Objects' Seen Again in Three States

By United Press International
Thousands of persons across North Texas reported seeing strangely lit unidentified flying objects again Monday night.

It was the second night in a row police had been flooded with calls of sightings. Two men in the Ponder-Justin area in Denton County, north of Dallas, reported they saw two saucer-shaped objects glowing luminously, settling quietly in a field just off State Highway 156.

Three Bright Objects
About the same time the object reportedly landed, residents in Fort Worth called police and told of seeing three bright objects streaking northward across the sky.

Sheriff's deputies patrolling Fort Worth's Eagle Mountain Lake area said the bright light in the Justin area appeared to be coming from the ground, and looked like a "magnesium flare."

A carload of Fort Worth youths reported seeing an object take off into the air, moving in dipping, jerking and spiraling directions.

Whatever the source of the light, it was never traced down. "Forget it," one officer radioed in. "There's nothing out here."

North Texas Sightings

Other sightings: —Carrollton patrolman Monroe Galloway reported seeing a "bluish light" blazing across the sky at 9:30 p.m.

A Garianna housewife, Mrs. Gerald Bostic, said a humming, buzzing object hovered over her home for a while. She said it gave off a crystal white light.

—Richardson patrolman Benetts Anderson observed "strange red, green and white lighted objects."

—Hundreds of East Dallas residents reported seeing football shaped "blinking objects" flying over expressways.

The U.S. Air Force has issued a statement saying the "flying saucers" are astrological, possibly the planet Jupiter or the stars Rigel, Capella, Betelgeuse or Aldebaran.

Oklahoma residents, weary after three days and nights of unidentified flying object reports, were uncertain today whether to believe their eyes or the U.S. Air Force — or both.

A clear, star-filled sky failed to prove anything Monday night. It tended only to add more fuel to the already hot controversy over what has been seen by people in at least eight states the past three nights.

UFO sightings were reported Monday night in Oklahoma, Nebraska and Texas.

The Air Force said Monday a preliminary survey of the reports indicated the sightings were of the planet Jupiter or assorted stars, which radar ordinarily does not pick up.

However, the Air Force statement was attacked by Robert Risser, director of the Oklahoma Science and Art Foundation Planetarium in Oklahoma City.

"That is as far from the truth as you can get... These stars and planets are on the opposite side of the earth from Oklahoma at this time of the year," Risser said.

Authorities also had an explanation for the UFO's which showed up as blips on the radar screen at the Wichita weather bureau early Monday. They said there could have been a temperature inversion.

Fuel Cells Will Make Space Shot Schedule 'Tight'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — The planned eight-day orbital flight for astronauts Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles (Pete) Conrad is still scheduled for Aug. 19, but the fuel cells problem will make the schedule "real tight."

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said the tendency of the fuel cells' gases to evaporate was "the principal bind" in preparations for the shot.

With other headaches such as an unusually intensive astronaut training schedule, the Aug. 19 date is going to push NASA, an agency spokesman said.

The fuel cells, using oxygen and hydrogen, are needed to keep Gemini-5 space capsule electrically "alive" if it is to make its record 121 orbits of the earth.

In their first six hours in orbit, Cooper and Conrad will try to maneuver to within perhaps 20 feet of another satellite, said Howard Tindall, assistant chief of mission planning and analysis at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Cooper and Conrad will first eject the 76-pound moonlet named REP — short for rendezvous elevation pod — into an orbit of its own. Later, using the Gemini capsule radar for the first time, they will try to "rendezvous" with it high above the earth.

Accomplishing it Aug. 19 will depend on whether technicians can solve the fuel cell troubles. One solution officials said, would be to "overload" the cells with additional oxygen and hydrogen. Another would be to provide better insulation.

The rendezvous experiment is designed to try out the Gemini radar system in preparation for the Gemini-6 project in which astronauts Walter M. Schirra and Thomas P. Stafford will actually try to link up with another satellite, a previously orbited Agena rocket.

Soviets Say Viet War Blocks Disarmament

By K.C. THALER

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union today declared the Viet Nam war blocks any progress on nuclear disarmament and demanded the United States "get out" of the Southeast Asian country.

The Soviets delivered an hour-long attack on American policies at the 17-nation disarmament conference.

Chief American negotiator William C. Foster immediately told the conference the Soviet position offers "little encouragement" for negotiations on new East-West accords.

Other Western officials said the Soviets were "unpromising" and quashed any hopes for progress in the near future.

Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin, who delivered the tough speech to the Kremlin, asked if the American troops "are not in Viet Nam for military conquest, why are they there?"

"Get them out," he said. He said "there can be no progress here as long as the United States persists in its aggressive policy in Viet Nam."

Despite his scathing attack, Tsarapkin said Moscow is ready to continue efforts to reach agreement.

He made it clear, however, any agreements would have to be on Soviet terms which have already been rejected by the West.

Tsarapkin repeated demands the West abandon all plans for any NATO nuclear force before there can be a nuclear non-proliferation agreement.

He charged such a NATO force would give West Germany control over nuclear weapons and allow Germany "to conduct a policy of nuclear blackmail."

House Set to Okay Negro Voting Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House members were ready today to place their final stamp of approval on legislation aimed at guaranteeing southern Negroes their rights at the polls.

A compromise voting rights bill worked out by House and Senate negotiators was scheduled as the first order of business before the House. Overwhelming approval was expected after a short debate.

The Senate plans to take up the measure later this week, in time to send the bill to the White House by the weekend.

Rusk Feels JFK Trust Violated In Schlesinger Story

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk feels that Arthur Schlesinger committed a breach of confidence by writing about official matters which took place while he was an adviser to the late President John F. Kennedy.

That was the implication drawn from Rusk's answer at his news conference Monday when asked about Schlesinger's assertion in a magazine article that Kennedy had decided to replace Rusk after the 1964 presidential election.

Rusk said he was willing to let future historians judge his actions in the light of official records when they become available in the Presidential libraries.

Meanwhile, he said, "My associates in government and my colleagues abroad can rest on the assurance that when they deal with me on the basis of confidence, that confidence will be respected. And that is all that I am going to say on that subject from now on."

Many State Department officials considered the Schlesinger article a "low blow" against an official still carrying heavy official burdens. Schlesinger's report brought an immediate reaffirmation of President Johnson's complete faith in Rusk as "one of the most competent and most dedicated men I have ever known."

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., brother of the late President, has refused to affirm or deny the Schlesinger report. He has said, however, that his brother had "entire confidence in the integrity and purpose of Secretary Rusk."

BLOODMOBILE CANCELS STOP

A Red Cross bloodmobile cancelled its stop in Greensboro, Ala., today because 250 Negro civil rights workers planned to march to it to make donations.

Local Red Cross officials accused the Negroes of attempting to use the blood donor program for political purposes.

Negroes suspended demonstrations Monday to take advantage of voter registration day. At least 50 applied for poll rights.

In Americus, Ga., Monday civil rights demonstrators ignored Gov. Carl Sanders' plea to end demonstrations that have brought violence and one death

Greek Political Crisis Moving Toward Climax

ATHENS (UPI) — Greek political crisis today moved toward its climax. Political experts predicted Premier George Athanassiadis Novas would lose a vote of confidence Wednesday or by Friday at the latest.

Parliament reconvened against a backdrop of backstage maneuvering to find a replacement for Novas, who took office only 19 days ago.

Former Deputy Premier Stephen Stefanovoulos was mentioned prominently as a possible compromise candidate. Stefanovoulos served under former Premier George Papandreu, Novas' predecessor.

Formal parliamentary debate on a vote of confidence in the Novas government finally began Monday night after an abortive start last Friday.

The session ended in an uproar when police stepped in to prevent possible hiccups between Foreign Minister George Mellas and a leftist deputy who heckled him.

Novas led off the debate when he got up to make the traditional presentation of members of his government. Cries of "traitor" and "liar" punctuated his every few words to the accompaniment of the noise of legislators banging on their desks.

There were so many interruptions it took Novas 45 minutes to deliver what was meant to be a 5-minute statement.

Outside the Capitol, thousands of police guarded against a renewal of the demonstrations which erupted when the crisis began last month.

The political impasse came to a head when King Constantine refused to let Papandreu take over the defense portfolio in the last government.

Instead the monarch accepted Papandreu's resignation and named Novas to succeed him.

Ford Pleased Over Skirmish With LBJ

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., is smiling today. The fact is, he isn't really angry at all about President Johnson's weekend criticism of him.

What the President did was put House Republicans on front pages across the nation and on every television news show, and in every political column. And that's exactly where Ford has been trying to keep them since Jan. 4, when he was elected their leader.

Considering the size of his forces — currently 141 members against a towering Democratic majority of 293 — and their patient inability to win any single battle this year, Ford has done mightily well at the task. Blamed Ford Johnson, irked at a "leak" from a bipartisan briefing on Viet Nam, blamed Ford, and in the process patronized him a little as a new man on the job, inexperienced, and trying to make political hay.

Ford didn't have much to say about the leak, except that he wasn't the one. But he took advantage of the opportunity to explain in the presence of 100 or so newsmen and television cameras and radio microphones that he and other Republicans were fully supporting the President's strong stand against communism in Southeast Asia, and that it was too bad some members of the President's own

191 Cong Killed in Air, Ground Attack

By RAY F. HERNDON

United Press International
SAIGON (UPI) — A U.S. military spokesman said today a series of successful ground and air attacks in South Viet Nam during the past 24 hours killed an estimated 191 Viet Cong. He said a number of small-scale Communist attacks scored little success.

In the air war U.S. planes attacked the vital rail line linking Hanoi and the city of Lao Kay on the border of Red China. Targets included boxcars and a railroad yard 30 miles northwest of Yen Bay and barely 50 miles from the border.

On the political front a Hanoi broadcast said North Viet Nam had rejected the idea of United Nations intervention in the Viet Nam war and that the only way to end the war would be the withdrawal of American troops.

The Hanoi hard line was backed up Monday by a telephone bomb threat to the hotel where they were meeting.

King planned to make a brief appearance today at Girard College, a privately endowed school where the NAACP has been picketing since May 1 to protest segregation.

Louisiana Gov. John J. McKeithen said Monday he thinks the racial trouble in Bogalusa, La., is over. He said the big problem is to head off racial trouble elsewhere in the state.

McKeithen, who set precedents by intervening in the Bogalusa troubles, said this would have been political suicide in Louisiana several years ago.

LBJ Wants Viet Nam Free of Alien Control

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson said today the United States would leave Viet Nam promptly if the local population could be guaranteed self-determination free of any alien ideology.

Speaking to members of the International Platform Association, a group of lecturers and speakers, Johnson restated his unconditional willingness to negotiate peace in Southeast Asia with any other government. But he pledged full American power would be used to fight Communist aggression as long as it continued.

"We are going to do everything we can to negotiate an agreement that will allow the people of South Viet Nam to be free and independently of any ideology of ours or anyone else," Johnson said.

Speaking at a meeting with his visitors on the White House lawn, he added:

"We will go anywhere at any time and talk to any government — you just name the place and we will be in the right chair at the right time. America wins the wars she undertakes and make no mistake about it," he said. Johnson cited the nation's war against disease, poverty and ignorance, then applied this to resistance against tyranny and aggression.

The President said one of his most difficult problems was keeping an agreement which he inherited from Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy — "how to keep a small nation independent and free of aggression."

He said the U.S. treaty with South Viet Nam is "as binding as any contract."

"In all of history we have died to keep our contracts," he asserted.

Johnson indicated he was unhappy about the fact that many Americans advocated abandonment or all-out war in Viet Nam, with little attention to the fact that the United States was protecting a small nation from aggression.

"I wonder why, oh why, why, oh why, people do not concern themselves about a country that is being invaded and about to be swallowed up," he said.

"We are trying to do the reasonable thing and say that power, brute force and aggression will not work," he said.

Johnson's talk followed a public invitation by Secretary of State Dean Rusk to the Communists to say what they are prepared to do if the United States stopped bombing North Viet Nam.

JIMMY WILLSON sets visit

Rotary District Governor to Visit Pampa Tomorrow

J.M. (Jimmy) Willson, governor of District 573 of Rotary International, will meet with the Pampa Rotary club Wednesday.

Loyal Davies, president of the Pampa club, said Willson, of Floydada, will confer with club officers on Rotary administrative matters and service activities.

Willson, a building materials merchant, was elected a district governor at Rotary's 1965 convention in Atlantic City, N.J.

Davies said Willson would be at the meeting as a counselor and advisor.

"We will discuss with him our plans for the year and such matters as expansion of membership and ways of further implementing Rotary's program of service," Davies said.

Police Investigate Abduction Report

Cheryl Ann Clark, 621 1/2 Lowery, reported to Pampa police today that a man tried to abduct her from her car and then tried to assault her.

The Clark girl told police she was driving west in the 700 block of Kingsmill Monday night and when she stopped at a stop sign a man attempted to drag her from her car.

She said when the man's attempts failed he then got in her car and tried to assault her.

She said the man was about six feet, two inches tall, weighed about 190 pounds, had a dark crew cut and was wearing a dark blue short sleeve shirt.

She said he was driving a late model dark Chevrolet.

Police Hunt For Missing Husband

Mrs. Cleo Fletcher, 717 Brunow, reported to Pampa police Monday her husband, N. W. Fletcher has been missing since July 28.

Mrs. Fletcher said her husband was last heard from in Tonepan, Nev. and she was afraid he had picked up hitchhikers and had been harmed.

Fletcher was described as five feet, eight inches tall, weighing 140 pounds, 39-years-old, with red hair and green eyes. He was driving a dark green 1950 Oldsmobile with California license plates.

City Annexes Area For Park Purposes

The City Commission today approved an ordinance annexing an area of land along the Red Deer Creek draw west of Hobart St. and South of the Coronado Inn.

The half-mile long stretch is being given to the city by the Gray County Foundation and will be developed for park purposes, City Manager Jim White said.

Final reading and passage was given to an ordinance annexing two blocks in the Jarvis-Sone Addition in northwest Pampa.

Clothing Reported Missing from Home

Vernon R. Stuckey, 2323 Christie, reported to police today the theft of several items of clothing from his home.

Stuckey said he and his family left for Tulsa early Monday morning and when they returned found two suits and four pairs of pants missing.

Police said the intruder gained entrance to the house by going through an unlocked door leading from the house to the garage.

DWI Bond Set

Bond of $1,500 was set for Loy Joe Stone, Pampa, on a charge of driving while intoxicated, second offense, by Justice of Peace Nat Lunsford, today.

Stone was arrested by Pampa patrolman, John Thomas Monday night in the 1700 block of Alcock.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plaque odor" (denture breath). Damage Suit Filed In District Court

A $10,000 personal injury suit was filed in 31st District Court Monday by N. L. Roland against Finis Gee, both of Pampa.

In the suit, Roland states Gee was the driver of a car that struck his car on Atchison Aug. 19, 1964.

Roland states he suffered serious neck and shoulder injuries.

Army to Gear Up Training Centers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army is planning to gear up its present training centers to meet the mass of new recruits expected this fall when the draft more than doubles.

President Johnson, at his news conference last week, ordered the draft doubled as part of America's stepped up military commitment to Viet Nam.

This would mean calling about 35,000 draftees a month starting in October or November, compared to the present monthly draft rate of about 17,000 inductions.

If enlistments increase in the same proportion—and some officers think they will—the Army may be turning out 600,000 to 700,000 soldiers annually compared to a rate of 340,000 annually toward the close of the fiscal year which ended July 1.

The 1965 training schedule, which taxed the present training staffs to the limit, was close to the minimum necessary to keep the Army near its authorized strength of 960,000 men. The new schedule is expected to increase the ground forces to well over a million men.

Whether or not additional training camps will be opened has not been definitely decided, centers now receiving recruit but it appears that the nine centers now receiving recruits can absorb the increased load if given additional staff.

Business Highlights

By United Press International
PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The steel industry and the United Steelworkers of America were expected to continue negotiations on a new wage contract, but under the pressure of a Sept. 1 strike deadline. Statements by I. W. Abel, USW president, and R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of U.S. Steel and chief negotiator for 10 basic steel companies, showed neither side had changed much from its attitudes announced when negotiations began last winter.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Association of Purchasing Agents in its monthly survey of members found little net improvement from June to July in new orders or in production. It concluded business had leveled off "on a high plane" in July.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Avanti Motor Corp. unveiled a new automobile, the Avanti II, a four-passenger high-styled model which is scheduled for production on a limited basis at South Bend, marks the return of automaking to the Indiana city after a 19-month interval following the move of Studebaker Corp. production to Canada.

Dear Abby....

Golfer's Sense Of Humor Is Below Par

DEAR ABBY: I'm so upset. I've been friendly with a neighbor for some time although we have different interests. She's a golfer and I am not.

A few weeks ago she was one of the winners in a golf tournament and her picture appeared in our local paper. She cut it out and came right over to show it to me. I was happy for her and congratulated her. I forgot all about it until yesterday when I needed some newspapers for a kitten I was trying to housebreak. I pulled a newspaper out of the stack I'd been saving and noticed it was the one with my friend's picture in it. So I reread the article and laid it down for the kitten.

Later that day my friend came over, and when she stepped on the porch she noticed the newspaper. She became very indignant when she saw that the kitten had wet close to her picture.

She said I was jealous and small and had done it on purpose. I tried to apologize, but she stomped out of the house. When I call her on the phone, she refuses to speak to me. Should I go to her house and try to explain that I meant no harm?

"MISUNDERSTOOD"

DEAR MISUNDERSTOOD: Let her cool off. If your friend was teed off by a small water hazard, she has a bigger hand-icap than she realizes. Her sense of humor is below par.

DEAR ABBY: I will be a freshman in high school next September and I have a problem I'm sure lots of other girls my age have. I know many girls are too free with their kisses, and people talk about them, and I don't want to become this way myself. What do you think of kissing a boy just out of friendship so he won't think you are being cold with him? I have done this once or twice myself and feel now as though I did the wrong thing. Sign me.

FEELING GUILTY

DEAR FEELING: Your conscience is still your best guide. The only reason for kissing anyone is to express sincere affection.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the volunteer really got me. She resented the secretary who "protected" her precious boss, by insisting on knowing who was calling him and why. She didn't have to say she is not a "professional" woman. It was obvious.

I wonder if "Mrs. Volunteer" has any idea how many calls a successful businessman gets every week from someone who is working for a "worthy cause"? And some of these volunteers have the impression that they should be able to see the boss without an appointment, and have their calls put through without delay. I have worked for an attorney for six years and know that most professional and businessmen are so busy during the day that they must take their mail home to read during their few uncommitted hours.

Thank you for telling "Mrs. Volunteer" to write a letter. If hers is a truly worthy cause, her letter will get the attention it deserves. And it will be much more appreciated by a busy person than a telephone call at an inconvenient time.

ONE WHO KNOWS

CONFIDENTIAL TO "O" IN JERSEY: Sometimes the best place to find a "helping hand" is at the end of your own arm. You'll never find a job unless you look for one.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

New Hair Fashion With 'Lively Curl' Look Is Forecast for Fall

FEATHERED CURL — A gentle play of softly feathered curls gives a young and lively note to this new Feathered Curl Coiffure designed for fall. The curls are an essential note of the season's new lively curl look. They form a soft rise at the top crown area and continue the rise towards the forehead. Contrast this with last year's styles, which had the rise at the back crown area.

Girls will have curls this fall. What's more, they'll be lively curls, girls.

This is the word coming from the Official Hair Fashion Committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, the hair fashion authority of the beauty profession.

The name of the new look is "The Lively Curl Look." It is a complete swing away from the severely slick and plastered-down hair styles seen in other seasons. Now, your hair is a soft and airy curly top, lively, young and free, but also highly feminine.

It's a fun style that is extremely practical. It wears well even in between beauty-salon visits, retaining every bit of playful fun. Each curl seems to have a mind of its own, some deciding to go up, others down or around, tossing, tumbling or just rolling along.

But, don't let your curls have too much fun. Their play must be confined gently within the season's small head silhouette.

From the front, the silhouette has its greatest width in the area between the top of the eyebrows and the natural top of the head. The amount of width is governed by good taste and elegance, keeping in mind that this is a small head look, one that is youthful and lively, but never bizarre.

In profile, there is a soft rise at the top crown area increasing as it moves forward. Contrast this with last year's styles, which had the rise at the back crown area.

Now the curls literally tumble forward from the top of the crown, spreading into the high temple area. The result is a highly contemporary and easy to wear version of the famous Gibson Girl of yesterday, but where the Gibson Girl used puffs for the width in her hair style, we now use airy curls.

Complete freedom is given to the type of curls used. They may be soft and feathery, or substantially full, providing there is a general effect of airy lightness. Also, the curls can rise upwards from the forehead for an off-the-face look.

Hair at the nape is shortest in length, frequently down to zero. This length increases gradually at the back of the head to its greatest length at the top of the head, and then decreasing slightly towards the front hairline.

The actual length is dependent upon individual needs. However, a universal need is to get the haircut from a professional expert. There is a drastic change in hair shaping, and the hair is now being tapered, rather than blunt cut. It is vital that the hair be cut and tapered for the proper architectural foundation of the new style, to capture its elegant proportions and provide ease of wear.

TOSSED CURL — A fun style that is highly feminine and easy to wear, this Tossed Curl Coiffure is new for fall. It features a soft and airy curly top that is dominant in the lively curl look for the season. Greatest width from the front is in the area between the top of the eyebrows and the natural top of the head. However, the proportions of the width must retain a small head elegance.

Also, vital to the new style is professional permanent waving, which puts body and movement into the hair at the places where it is needed. Your finished style must have lively curls and a lively design, but in the right places. At the back of the head, your hair is softly molded into head hugging wave lines.

Hair coloring for fall tends towards soft blends of tone. The entire spectrum of natural hair colors are indicated to blend with the soft colors of fall costumes.

TUMBLED CURL — Each curl seems to have a mind of its own in this Tumbled Curl Coiffure that is new for fall, a complete swing away from severely slick styles of other seasons. The curls literally tumble forward from the top of the crown, spreading into the high temple area. The result is a highly contemporary and easy to wear version of the famous Gibson Girl of yesterday, but now we use curls for the width, instead of yesterday's puffs.

while she vacationed in California and Arizona.

Guests of Mrs. Katie Vincent and other relatives last week were Mrs. Vincent's son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vincent and Mrs. Nancy Vincent of Van Nuys, Calif.

Three of Mrs. Noland's nephews from Amarillo visited with her one day last week.

Mrs. B. Williams attended last week's meeting following her return from a month-long visit with a daughter, Mrs. Modelle Harris and son, Gregory, in Houston.

Mrs. Mary Puckett has returned from Riverton, Wyo., where she visited her son, David Shoup, and family. Mrs. Puckett's sister, Mrs. Velma Dearth of Lima, Ohio, is visiting in the Puckett home and was a guest at the Center last week.

Mrs. Irma Tubbs has returned from a vacation spent visiting, boating and fishing in Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams, Mrs. Myrtle Enloe and Mr. Kidwell drove to Red River after last week's meeting and picked plums and made plum jelly afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Cullum and son, Eddie, of Richardson, were recent visitors in the home of Mrs. Cullum's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cullum. The Cullum's daughter, Mrs. B. Mitchell of Joliet, Ill., is visiting her parents this week.

Mr. Ellison, who resides in Pampa Convalescent Home, is a patient in Highland General Hospital. Mrs. DeMoss is also a patient in HGH.

Roy Bell of Perryton was a dinner guest Thursday of Mrs. Mollie Hethcock and sons.

This columnist is a member of the local chapter of the Governor's Commission on Aging, and any suggestions and comments from Senior Citizens' will be appreciated.

Kit Kat Klub members served as hostesses this week. Serving refreshments to those attending were Misses Brenda Shaffer, Susie Root, Diana Goodwin, Jenny Burnham and Debbie Sullivan.

Altrusans attending were Mrs. Lena Pearl Hobbs, Jay Flanagan and Lillian Snow.

Door prizes were received by Mrs. Cora Yates and Mr. Kidwell.

Gray Ladies providing transportation were Mrs. J. E. Beard and Jess Hatcher.

Senior Center Corner

NOTICE to Senior Citizens taken. Welcomed back at last Thursday's meeting, which was attended by 16 full tables of members enjoying the cooler weather and those having birthdays this month are reminded to be at Mrs. Alice Isbell, Mrs. Ru-Lovett Memorial Library by Stovall by 1:30 p.m. to have their pictures back after a two-week absence.

SIX BIG WINNERS OF $100.00 IN GROCERIES OF THEIR CHOICE Plus a grand prize drawing for a 25" COLOR TV SET Here's how Borden's "Gold Band" Sweepstakes Works: From the entries submitted in Borden's "Gold Band" Sweepstakes, six winners will be selected in a blindfold drawing. Each of these names drawn will receive a certificate good for $100.00 in groceries of their choice at one food store they select. After these winners are selected, their entries will be put back into the drawing and another drawing will be held for the 25" color television set.

That's All There Is To It! You may enter as often as you like, as long as each entry is submitted according to the Borden's "Gold Band" Sweepstakes rules and mailed separately. There is no limit to the number of entries you may submit. Additional entry coupons will appear in this newspaper; entry blanks will be available in food stores handling Borden's Milk and Ice Cream and elsewhere during the contest. Be sure each entry has sufficient postage. Start sending your entries today. Contest closes at midnight, August 31, and winners will be announced on or before September 15.

Just Follow These Simple Rules: 1. Each entry must be on the coupon from the newspaper or other advertising material, or on a plain white sheet of paper not more than 4 inches by 3 inches on which the following questions and answers are plainly printed:

a. The number of "Elsie" emblems on the Borden's Gold Band Homo carton is _____.

b. I usually buy Borden's Milk from _____ (Grocery or Food Store).

In addition, each entry must contain your name, address and telephone number. 2. All entries must be mailed to "Gold Band" Sweepstakes, P. O. Box 2051, Amarillo, Texas. 3. All entries become the property of The Borden Company and cannot be returned. 4. Drawings will be held on or before September 15, 1965, and winners will be notified by telephone or mail and their names may also appear in newspaper advertisements. Winners may receive their certificates at The Borden Company, 1945 Canyon Drive, Amarillo, Texas. 5. The $100.00 certificates may be used at any food store in this local area which handles Borden's Milk and Ice Cream products. Certificates are not redeemable at stores which do not stock Borden's Milk and Ice Cream. 6. The entire certificate value must be used at one food store of your choice and by October 15, 1965, at the latest. 7. All entries will be eligible for the grand prize drawing regardless of whether they were a previous winner. Employees or representatives of The Borden Company and their families are not eligible. 8. All entries become the property of The Borden Company. An independent organization will be the sole judge of the eligibility of entries, the selection of winners and the awarding of prizes.

LBJ Returns To Capital

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson was back at his White House desk today, a full schedule of meetings on domestic and foreign issues before him.

The President's schedule called for an early start following his return after midnight from a weekend on his Texas ranch. He was to hold his regular Tuesday breakfast with Democratic congressional leaders.

The meeting was set for 6:30 a. m. CST.

Later in the morning Johnson was scheduled to receive an award from the Platform Association and present the Distinguished Service Medal to retiring White House military aide Maj. Gen. Chester V. Clifton.

The Chief Executive planned a working lunch with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and national security adviser McGeorge Bundy. Viet Nam was expected to be a major subject of discussion.

He was also expected to confer in the near future with outgoing U. S. Ambassador to South Viet Nam Maxwell D. Taylor, who was returning today from his Saigon post.

Five Die Near Albuquerque in Crash Of Two Vehicles and Road Grader

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UPI)—A flaming collision between two vehicles and a road grader in Southwest Albuquerque late Monday killed five persons and critically injured another.

Four of the dead were identified as Billie Jean Willhite, 31, of Los Lunas, N. M.; Ramirio Jaramillo, 45, and Primitivo Lucero, 47, both of Albuquerque, and a man identified as J. L. Wallace, address unknown. Identity of another male victim was unknown.

Another man, identified as Gene Medlin, address unknown, was in critical condition.

Police said when they first arrived on the scene one of the vehicles was burning and the other was resting on its top.

Pieces of metal, automobile fabric and personal belongings covered the highway, located near Albuquerque's western end.

The President and Mrs. Johnson arrived back at the White House about 2 a. m. EDT after a long weekend at the LBJ Ranch.

FARMER FINED
POOLE, England (UPI)—Farmer Wilfred Westerman was fined and ordered to pay $200 compensation for moving another man's car—by scooping it up in an earth-moving machine and dumping it in a ditch.

VITAMIN-FED FISH SANDWICH, England (UPI)—Outside fish are being netted by fishermen along the Kent coast here. Authorities believe the monsters are growing on a vitamin-packed discharge from a nearby nuclear plant.

Defense Department Plans To Expand Forces in Army

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department is moving on a wide front to insure an uninterrupted flow of troops and equipment to the Viet Nam war.

Deputy Defense Secretary Cyrus R. Vance told a congressional subcommittee Monday of the Army's plans to expand both its active and reserve forces to cope with the manpower needs of U.S. commanders in Viet Nam.

In a related development, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara Monday ordered creation of a special watchdog task force "to prevent any possible obstacles or bottlenecks" in the flow of men and supplies to Viet Nam.

Solis Horwitz, an assistant defense secretary who will set up the 10-man task force, said it was being established as a preventive measure. "There are no deficiencies" now, he said.

Dallas Musical Good and Bad

By WILBORN HAMPTON
DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Summer Musicals opened their penultimate production of the season Monday night, a staging of "110 in the Shade" that is better than the musical deserves.

"110 in the Shade" belongs to that genre of musicals that should have remained in story form. It would seem almost as feasible to put "Death of a Salesman" to music as "The Rainmaker."

Nonetheless, the Dallas production does only what can be called justice to the music, from which there are no "hit" songs, and gives due attention to the acting requirements.

Collins Stars
Dorothy Collins does exceedingly well by her role as Lizzie Curry. She turned rather dull songs into two of the better numbers of the night. Her antics with "Raunchy" are amusing and her treatment of "Old Maid" brings the message across.

John Smith is physically perfect for the part of Starbuck, although he never emerges as a central character in the story. Part of the reason may be in the musical comedy script, but a larger part is in Smith's inability to come across as a con-man salesman. For instance, his smile has too few teeth, his voice is too conversational and his gestures are not elaborate enough.

Others Good
The other members of the Curry family along with Miss Collins, whose thespian abilities were surprisingly brilliant, kept the story interesting even when the music lagged (such as the singing invitation to a game of cards or an anthem to drought). Credits especially go to Robert Shafer, Arthur Bartow and Joel Warfield as Lizzie's father and brothers. Despite the fact Starbuck is not creditable as a super-salesman and therefore is of little essence, although pleasant, the Curry family takes center stage as an adequate replacement and turns a tiresome musical into one of the Dallas Musicals better productions of the season.

INCREASES AID
GRENOBLE, France (UPI)—The French government in a move to guarantee the success of the 1968 Olympic Games Sunday agreed to increase financial help for Grenoble. The government will pay half the cost for new roads into the town and has agreed to let Grenoble have long-term loans.

Should Philip Be Seen And Not Heard?

By TOM A. CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON (NEA) — As Queen Elizabeth's husband, Prince Philip has been acting as a national gadfly to sting a torpid Britain into action.

When not urging industry to modernize, Philip is busy warning his wife's subjects that they are destroying the countryside and polluting its rivers with their pesticides and careless habits. In between, he exhorts everyone to greater efforts in the export drive.

The Duke of Edinburgh is closely identified with schemes to build more sports arenas and to develop greater initiative and athletic prowess on the part of Britain's youth. He even finds time to say a few words about increasing trade with Latin America.

Recently, however, the prince blundered when he spoke off the cuff on the problem of Rhodesia, and as a result efforts are being made here to muzzle him from discussing any controversial topic.

African leaders are in a hurry to see majority rule installed in Rhodesia, as they made plain at the recent Commonwealth prime ministers' conference. But Philip took an opposite view.

Speaking at Edinburgh University, the prince urged patience and caution. It was better to spin out negotiations for African majority rule than "to risk a blood bath," he said. A few years would not matter one way or another, he concluded.

Twenty-three Labor members of Parliament immediately signed a motion of censure. While the motion did not mention Philip by name, it stated as "a condition of constitutional monarchy that royalty shall not give public expression to contentious political opinions."

Most Britons feel that it would be a pity if the royal gaff had been deprived of its sting. Prince Philip has merely been talking common sense, in the majority opinion. He has been saying things that needed to be said.

In this connection the tragic precedent of Prince Albert, the husband of Queen Victoria, is being recalled. Almost from the moment of his marriage until his death, Albert was a target for continual public abuse, much of it of a petty nature. The British nation even begrudged him the title of Prince Consort, which was withheld from him until 17 years after his marriage.

The position of being consort to the Queen of England, is, as Albert once put it, "Most peculiar and delicate." King Leopold of the Belgians thought that the consort should be a "walking dictionary" for the Queen's handy reference.

Queen Victoria, herself, at first visualized her consort as a human blotter. "Albert helped me with blotting paper" is an entry which occurs frequently in her early diaries.

But Albert was too spirited to be content with this role. He studied the British Constitution, gradually was given access to state papers and allowed to attend audiences of cabinet ministers with the Queen. By 1845 Charles Greville noted in his diary that Albert "is really discharging the functions of the Sovereign. He is King to all intents and purposes."

Albert's unpopularity was partly due to the fact that he was a German princeling, partly to his own tactlessness. Every time he opened his mouth he alienated people.

His remark that "no tailor in England can make a coat," was resented, as was his frank statement to a clergyman that in England "there is nothing to do but to turn rogue or marry." When he declared that "the Poles are as little deserving of sympathy as the Irish" he suc-

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGNER

GENERAL TRENDS: This is a day and evening when you would be wise to allow the very powerful intuitions that are animating you to come to the surface. To do so you need to get off alone and to be very still for a little while, thus permitting remarkable hunches to clearly manifest themselves to you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Your intuition should tell you how to have improved conditions about you and be more steady in emotional matters. Get financial affairs bettered. Be more practical.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Listening carefully to ideas of partners instead of wanting to force your own is best way to proceed now. Come to fine understanding. Controversial subjects should be avoided.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Let your daily labors be uppermost in your mind and do the finest job possible. The artistic and the cultural are especially important. Be very kind with a good friend, associate who has done you favors in the past.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): A tangible show of devotion to the one you love can reap fine rewards for you. Be very charming with others as well. Come to fine understanding with everyone.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): If you want family and home conditions to improve, it behooves you to make the greatest effort in such direction. Buy the gadgets that are needed in making two sets of enemies.

The height of his unpopularity came in 1853 when crowds flocked to the Tower of London expecting the prince to be imprisoned for his alleged pro-Russian sympathies during the Crimean War.

Aside from a lively mind and an interest in science and technology, Prince Philip has little in common with his Victorian forebear. Philip is outgoing and relaxed; Albert was stiff-necked and secretive.

Albert lacked a sense of humor; Philip has this in abundance, as those who have heard his off-record remarks at various luncheons and dinners can testify.

But more important, Philip enjoys a fund of good will which was denied to Albert, who was always suspected of trying to guide British policy in accordance with Prussian interests.

As for Philip's gadfly role, most Britons feel that this is a useful one to play. Whereas the Queen cannot speak her mind, there is no reason why her husband, as a private citizen, cannot speak his, the argument runs. In doing so, he has given the nation moral leadership.

NECESSARY: Get presents for him.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You must be very earnest and enthusiastic about your work if you want it to be of the best caliber. Improve present system. Confer with experts who know their stuff.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): A better routine is necessary where important duties are concerned as well as daily requirements. Let your surroundings express YOU: show that you are solid and practical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Evading magnetism will cause others to want to gravitate around you most willingly now. State your personal aims to others. They will gladly help you to attain them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): More comfortable and beautiful surroundings will attract the right persons and information you want at this time. Study others. Don't confine aims to others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Contacting those who are more aesthetic and less practical is the best way to get ahead now. Understand the needs of others. Assist them as much as possible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Some new outside interest that means service to others will make a fine impression on higher up now. Then fine opportunities open up to you. Grasp them quickly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Stop post-ruminating where some new outline is concerned and get it started quickly. Be prepared with data and figures. Facts "Newspaper" give—fine suggestions—Accept.

Nobody Can Say, Scientifically What Good Drivers Need to Start

By BILL McCORMICK
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Almost any lawmaker in Washington who has given the matter thought will tell you the best way to produce uniformly good drivers would be to set federal standards for license tests. Something along the lines of examinations — with depth perception and reaction tests and the like — given before a student driver is granted a limited license.

Almost any lawmaker will tell you that, but, for political reasons, not one will openly sponsor federal legislation to make such examinations mandatory before a car can be driven across state lines.

The best they will do is to urge the various states to adopt uniform standards.

Most experts admit frankly that they are not certain just what physical qualifications are needed to make a good driver. "No one has yet carried out a scientifically controlled study showing that drivers with any epilepsy, color blindness, diabetes, cardiac pathology and other handicaps have a greater accident rate than otherwise comparable groups," according to Dr. Paul V. Joliet, chief of the Division of Accident Prevention of the U. S. Public Health Service.

Obviously, one of the great needs is for research into this, and other murky phases, of the safe-driving problem.

This type of research, which does not pay off in quick, spectacular results but is invaluable over the long haul, is very difficult to inspire, according to the Automotive Safety Foundation.

The foundation, a 28-year-old, non-profit organization supported by more than 600 companies and groups mainly connected with the automobile business, has spent many millions on research and educational activities, "but not nearly enough."

"We know there is no single answer," says Sterling V. Tooker, president of an insurance company which recently started about $250,000 worth of delving into man's relation with the automobile. "Although studies thus far have shown human error to be the dominant factor in highway safety.

"We know there is no single defects, liquor, lax law enforcement, highway construction, safety factors of the automobile itself, variation in traffic laws and signals all contribute in some degree to the sum total of accidents."

Psychologist James Malfetti of Columbia University, says: "We have evidence that the basic personality characteristics of an individual influence his driving. If he is basically conservative, he is conservative when he drives. If he is basically reckless, he is reckless when he drives."

In at least one instance Malfetti found — surprisingly — that bold, reckless, even downright careless, driving paid off.

"We found that New York cab drivers in general had very good accident records," he says. "When we went out with them to see what made them drive so well, we found they did about everything wrong, but the public, — in relating to cab drivers — had developed a certain expectancy. The knew that if an opening was going to take it first, and there was no question of who was going to win."

"So the public had learned to treat the cab drivers in such a way that they made it easier for the cab drivers to drive more safely."

In simple language, the cab drivers bulldozed operators of other vehicles into giving them a wide berth — with consequently lower accident rates for the cab drivers.

Everyone agrees that roads must be built with enough lanes that are wide enough and have wide shoulders, easy curvature and sufficient sight distance. It has been found that the highest degree of transportation safety is provided by freeways with controlled access, divided roadways, grade separations at intersections and other modern features.

"These finest features of safe design are embodied in the 41,000-mile National System of Interstate and Defense Highways," according to an official of the Automobile Safety Foundation. "Application of these design standards in other primary highways is equally necessary in many cases."

Even the common, household variety of skid, which is responsible for many highway accidents, could be on the way out.

"Road surfaces with low skid H. Dillard, of the Virginia Council of Highway Investigation and Research.

Dillard says that studies are under way to find compositions that will be even more skid resistant than those already developed.

Some day, perhaps, when roads and drivers are straightened out to the best of man's ability and cars are made as safe as possible, the problem of traffic accidents no longer will be a major one.

Until then, the best we can look forward to is more death by the carload.

Television In Review

By ROBERT MUSEL

United Press International
MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—When Pliny the Elder, a historian of ancient Rome, entered a barber shop some 2,000 years ago the barber asked:

"How would you like to be shaved?"

"In silence," said Pliny thus establishing a humorous premise "switched" by television writers even unto today:

Waiter—How would you like your scrambled eggs?

Customer—As fast as possible.

This is what is known as a "switch" and the elder statesman of comedy, Sid Field, mentioned it today in answer to criticisms often voiced by viewers that the more television comedy changes the more it seems to be the same.

No one has better credentials than Fields for explaining why television humor has not kept pace with the technical miracles of the medium. Since he broke into show business in Milwaukee 53 years ago he has been chief writer for such greats as Milton Berle, Abbott and Costello, Eddie Cantor, Rudy Vallee, Frank Sinatra and many others.

Many Film Credits

He has written dozens of films, literally hundreds of television and radio shows. He says he has total recall of a quarter million sketches, monologues and one-liners (the Bob Hope type gag).

Now he is straight man and comedy adviser to Jackie Gleason who is preparing here for his new CBS-TV season.

"In comedy there is only one way to go," Fields said, "and that is back. There are only a certain number of basic comedy premises and a finite number of variations or switches. Everything has been done so many different ways that we are beginning to use the original source material all over again."

"The public expects too much. It is looking for miracles. It wants something fresh all the time. Before television had an aura of mystery, it was wonderful world of its own. But now writers, producers and directors have taken the audience behind the curtain, not only onto the stage, but into the dressing rooms and into the personal lives of the performers, and dispelled the illusion which was the theater."

"Recently in Ashland, Wis., a dishwasher said to me? 'I like the way you feed Jackie. Your timing on the punch line is rocko!'"

Began To Analyze

"Here was an ordinary man in a small town using show business talk! Only the profession did that in the old days. You see the public know too much. They are no longer content simply to enjoy — they've begun to analyze."

A famous straight man (or comedy feed) himself, Fields considers Gleason the greatest in this field as well as in his own featured CBS-TV role as actor-comedian.

"Jackie shows his greatness," he said, "when he plays Joe the Bartender in the American Scene Magazine. He stands behind that bar and lets Frank Fontaine do a 10 or 12 minute monologue and never detracts one iota from Fontaine's performance but embellishes it and gets laughs by natural reaction. He's the star. He could 'catch flies' or top Fontaine if he wanted to, but he never does."

"Catching flies" is what a straight man does when he tries to take laughs away from the star. Fields said the late W. C. Fields (no relation) found there were laughs in the wrong places in a poolroom skit. Then he discovered his straight man, Ed Wynn, was amusing the audience behind his back. Fields knocked him unconscious with the billiard cue.

Fields said he thought versatile actor-comedians such as Gleason were one answer to the comedy complaints since they could take any situation and make it funnier by their talents.

To test his memory Fields was asked to switch this old-timer:

Customer—Waiter, what's this fly doing in my soup?

Waiter—Looks like the backstroke.

"Easy," said Fields: "Customer — What's this fly doing in my ice cream?"

Waiter—Can I help it if he likes winter sports?"

Twins Crippled For Flag Battle

By United Press International
How strong will the Twins be without their two right arms? That is a question the American League will answer this month—30 days that promise to be among the most rigorous and taxing in the long baseball experience of Minnesota manager Sam Mele and owner Cal Griffith.

Suddenly the league-leading Twins are minus their most potent slugger, Harmon Killebrew, and their best right-handed pitcher, Camilo Pascual, lying in sick beds.

Killebrew, a righthanded slugger, was lost for at least two weeks Monday when he suffered a dislocated elbow in a sixth-inning collision at first base with Russ Snyder of Baltimore during the Twins' 6-5 victory over the Orioles.

At the same time Pascual, who has been placed on the 30-day disabled list, underwent surgery in Washington to repair a torn muscle in his pitching arm.

In the only other American League game scheduled, Chicago shut out Detroit 2-0.

Pinch-hitter Jimmie Hall powered his 18th home run in the ninth inning off loser Jim Palmer to produce the Twins' victory. It gave them a six-game lead over the Orioles and idle Cleveland, who are tied for second place.

Rookie Jim Merritt, who was brought up from Denver to replace Pascual, had a 5-2 lead in the top of the ninth with two

US Cup Squad Sweeps

DALLAS (UPI)—The United States Davis Cup team, fresh from an overwhelming victory over Mexico in the American Zone tennis finals, heads for Spain today with a new weapon in its arsenal — Arthur Ashe.

The U.S. team packed its bags Monday after routing Mexico in the final two singles matches of American Zone play.

Ashe, 23, the first Negro to play on a U.S. Davis Cup team, aged Antonio Palafox 15 times in a 6-1, 6-4, 6-4 victory and Dennis Ralston routed Mexican star Rafael Osuna 6-0, 6-2, 6-4 in the second match.

The U.S. team flies to New York today and leaves for Barcelona, Spain late tonight. Spain is the winner of the European Zone and the United States must beat them and the Asian Zone champions — either India or Japan — to advance to the challenge round against Australia.

Mexican non-playing captain Pancho Contreras said Ashe was the surprise of the matches.

"There was no way to defeat him," Contreras said. "We did not expect Ashe to be as strong for the matches. He was the weak side that turned out to be the strong side.

Neither Ashe nor Ralston lost a singles set to the Mexicans who picked up their only point with a doubles victory over Ralston and Ham Richardson.

Joe Looney In Jam Again

DETROIT (UPI)—New Detroit Lion back Joe Don Looney deserves some close watching.

Boomed as the new bright hope of the Lions, the 23-year-old Looney will have to behave himself before taking any bows.

First he'll have to obey an 11 p.m. team curfew which he reportedly broke over the weekend when he became involved in a restaurant brawl.

Coach Harry Gilmer dished out a stiff fine, reportedly $250, to Looney for his part in the brawl. Rookie John Flynn, who was with Looney at a wall to attack one of his tormentors.

Looney said he became enraged when an employee of the restaurant pulled a knife on him after he had not paid a $3.38 check.

The former Oklahoma half-back, who has been shuffled from the New York Giants to the Baltimore Colts and to the Lions, said "some kids" took the money from the table.

He said the knife incident upset him.

"That's all I kept thinking of. And I really wanted to get him (the restaurant employee)" Looney said.

North, South Tune Up for Wednesday

DALLAS (UPI)—The North and South basketball squads, both reporting satisfactory practice sessions, got through their final tuneup drills today preparing for Wednesday night's coaching school classic in Memorial Coliseum.

The favored South, which trails the North 12 to 8 in the 20-game series, had a stiff, full-court workout Monday afternoon and looked a little ragged after an exceptional morning workout.

Coach Bobby Roberts, however, was well pleased with the outside shooting of Gary Ballard of Friendswood, the rebounding of Jimmy Hubenak of Wharton and the general all-around play of West Sabine all-star Jack Sweeney.

Starters Named

He said Ken Spain of Houston Austin and Lynn Phillips of Houston Jones were virtually certain starters, but that the other three spots are wide open with seven players vying for them.

The North finally had a good session after several disappointing ones, but came up with an injury that could prove costly.

Gary Sibley, two-time all-stater from Hurst Bell, pulled a groin muscle and extent of the injury was not immediately determined.

A new casualty cropped up in the football camp when Tommy Jackson of Lexington joined his South teammate, Larry Holder with a sore throat. On the North, Garland guard Gene Maves left the workout early with an ankle sprain but was expected back today.

Rodney Marek of Taylor, who has been nursing a leg injury, took limited part in a 40-minute scrimmage session for the South football squad and it appeared he would be ready for Thursday night's clash in the Cotton Bowl.

Muscle Better
Roland Rainey of Bonham also seemed recovered from a pulled muscle and took part in a scrimmage session held by the North football team.

It became almost a certainty that North back Donnie Hulise of Newcastle would not be able to play because of a persistent virus. If he doesn't Coach Cotton Miles said he would have Winters quarterback Denny Al-

Bragan Renews Spit War

By United Press International
Bobby Bragan has succeeded in getting umpires "worked up" over the spitball.

The Milwaukee manager, who told reporters Friday night that he ordered his pitchers to throw spitballs "to prove that the umpires won't stop anyone from throwing it," accused San Francisco's Gaylor Perry of throwing a spitball Monday and persuaded umpire Frank Secory to investigate.

Secory examined the ball in the sixth inning, but did not banish Perry from the game, which is the penalty for throwing the spitter. Secory did hint he would report the incident to the National League office.

"At least they got worked up enough to go out there," said Bragan, who claimed the Giants' Bob Shaw also throws a "loaded" pitch.

"It wasn't just saliva, it was saliva plus," added Braves pitcher Ken Johnson, who beat the Giants 4-2 on six hits for his 12th win and ninth since coming to Milwaukee two months ago. "It was sticky or something. I tried to rub it off but it wouldn't come off and I handed it to the umpire and told him I wanted another."

Red Schoendienst, who was handed a contract earlier in the day to manage the Cardinals again next season was given another present when St. Louis tripped the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers 6-5 in the only other NL game.

Perry was tagged for all four Milwaukee runs, which came in the fourth inning on a three-run double by pinch-hitter Jesse Gonder and a single by Felipe Alou. Willie Mays accounted for one of the Giants' runs with his 25th homer in the sixth inning.

The Cardinals and Dodgers split their four-game series and both St. Louis wins came at the expense of reliever Ron Perranoski. St. Louis kayoed Johnny Podres with a three-run rally in the sixth inning to tie the score and won it in the seventh with two runs off Perranoski.

What Did He Say?

Having heard some conflicting views on the substance and intent of President Johnson's recent speech commemorating the United Nations' 20th anniversary, we decided to take a close look for ourselves. And some of the things we found in the transcript caused us to wonder if LBJ is fully aware of what he is saying when he reads those staff-prepared rhetorical flourishes from his invisible (to the audience) teleprompter.

Just what did he mean, for example, when he said during his speech: "Where the United Nations requires readily available peace forces, in hours and days, not weeks of months, let all pledge to provide those forces. And my country is ready?"

Does this mean that the Commander-in-Chief of our nation's armed forces is ready and willing to turn over some of the American servicemen under his command to do the bidding of the UN Secretariat or Security Council? That is exactly what was proposed under State Department Publication 7277 back in September 1961. Just a few weeks ago, six members of Congress got down to specifics — proposing a US military brigade set aside exclusively for duty with the United Nations.

Also, we note that something along those lines has long been advocated by a number of influential persons in and around the US Department of State, including the chairman of that department's policy planning staff, Walt W. Rostow. Coincidentally, we find, according to one journalist friend of President Johnson that the UN speech was actually prepared by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and one of his chief subordinates.

Another passage in the President's speech bothered us: "After peace, high on the agenda of man is devotion to the dignity and worth of the human person."

Somewhere along the line, perhaps in part from the Declaration of Independence, and the actions which followed it, we acquired the notion that the dignity and worth of the human person had a higher priority, in the American concept, than making peace with tyrants.

The Doctor's Quandary

"Thou shalt not murder" says the ancient code. "Nor," adds modern man, "shouldst strive officiously to keep alive."

This latter-day corollary to the Sixth Commandment is becoming of increasing concern to medical men, whose improving science enables them to prolong the lives of dying patients for greater and greater lengths of time.

In the not distant future, it may be possible with tubes and pumps and injections to maintain a vegetable kind of existence in a patient for an indefinite period — at enormous expense in equipment, medicines and the services of large numbers of technicians, nurses and physicians, not to mention the emotional and financial cost to a patient's family.

Along with the growth of the awesome power of the physician has come a moral quandary.

"Need every patient spend his last hours on the pacemaker," asked one doctor recently, "with a tracheotomy and artificial respiration, with tubes in every orifice and in the process of being dialyzed and transfused? Clearly not, but decisions as to when are becoming tougher."

The decisions, he added, often amount to "playing God."

The questioner was Dr. Thomas H. Hunter of the University of Virginia, speaking before a symposium of 40 top medical experts at University Hospitals in Cleveland.

But there are always, as Dr. Hunter himself noted, examples of seemingly hopeless individuals being restored to healthy, useful life through the heroic efforts of teams of attendants. And even in those instances where death is inevitable, medicine learns something from the effort to postpone it.

Man, of course, has always played God, ever since he stopped snatching burning brands from chance forest fires and learned to call this magic servant into being at his own convenience.

The history of medicine is nothing but the story of men playing God — ever pushing back the boundary line between what they could accomplish with their knowledge, and what they had to leave "in the hands of God," which too often was merely a pious cloak for ignorance.

Strive officiously to keep this man or this woman alive, or allow them to die in peace and dignity in their own time?

This is a prime medical-moral question of our day. Unfortunately for medical scientists, who created it in the first place, they are really the only ones qualified to answer it.

Married Men Seem Safe From Draft

By RAY CROMLEY Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Johnson's decision to double the draft means that if you are 19 or 20 years old your chances of being called up this year are somewhat greater than in the past few months.

Exactly how far the Selective Service will reach down depends to a considerable degree on conditions in each draft area.

Who will be exempted depends in many (perhaps in most) cases on the discretion of the local draft board. Therefore no hard predictions can be laid down.

The men who do the planning here in Washington believe that in the foreseeable future the draft will be limited to single men between the ages of 19 to 26, as in the past.

The planners aren't aiming at calling up married men. They expect the local boards to begin with the oldest single men in the 19 to 26 bracket and work down. In the recent past men have usually been called up around 21 or in the latter part of their 20th year. Now more 20-year-olds and probably some numbers of 19-year-olds will get the nod.

Local draft boards are expected on the whole to be a little tougher in deciding who will and who won't be deferred for schooling. Just how the criteria will change again depends on the local boards. No new instructions are being sent out from Washington.

A local board might decide, for example, that all or part of its part-time students would no longer be exempted.

Students in certain "non-essential" courses of study could lose their deferment rights. This would, of course, vary from community to community.

In the same way, local boards will probably make it more difficult for a man to be deferred because of being in an important critical occupation — meaning an essential occupation in short supply in the area.

These critical skills, for example, could be scientists at Cape Kennedy or school teachers in a town short of school-marmas. Local boards will undoubtedly decide that some occupations are not as critical as they'd been assuming.

Boards will take another look at single men who claim deferment because they're supporting a relative.

Thus what is going to happen is a small but appreciable tightening up all around the country. The tightening in one town is likely to be quite different from that in another.

The President talked of a monthly draft of 35,000 men. This compares with Korean War calls which ranged roughly from 25,000 to a peak of 80,000 a month.

Draft experts at Selective Service and the Pentagon point out, however, that the mild tightening which they talk about could shift if the present rules don't bring in the men — or if the President decided on an additional sharp increase in the draft.

If the local draft boards say the men aren't available under present criteria, then physical and mental requirements could be lowered and deferments made even tougher. It's not likely that married men would be touched even then, unless, of course, there is a further sharp expansion of the war, or so experts here reason.

Officials here are optimistic. They believe the mild tightenings outlined above will be sufficient to meet the doubled draft call announced by President Johnson.

Wit and Whimsy

A badman rushed into a saloon brandishing his guns and shooting to the right and left. He stood in the middle of the floor and shouted.

Badman — All you dirty skunks get out of here.

The bar was virtually emptied in one wild burst of confusion, but as the smoke cleared it revealed one imperturbable man calmly finishing his drink at the bar. The badman lumbered over to him.

Badman — Well?

Man — Well, there was sure a lot of 'em wasn't there?

Overheard: "It was a lot of fun collecting stamps, but when I reached 9999 stamps, I gave it up." "Why did you stop there, why didn't you make it an even 10,000?" Said the first one: "what would I do with 10,000 stamps?"

Chemical and Biological Warfare Techniques Suspected Part of Reds' Stepped-Up Terror Campaign in Viet Nam

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — U. S. military authorities in Saigon are on alert for possible chemical and biological warfare by Communist forces in the growing Viet Nam conflict.

While the White House has clamped a tight secrecy lid on all intelligence on this new threat to U. S. forces, these ominous developments can be reported:

—Mortar and artillery shells containing chemical warheads have been captured by the South Vietnamese and are being examined by U. S. experts.

—South Vietnamese and U. S. troops have become seriously ill after drinking water believed to have been contaminated by Viet Cong guerrillas.

—U. S. servicemen have suffered internal bleeding caused by fine pieces of glass frozen into ice and served at U. S. messes and in Saigon restaurants and bars.

According to reliable congressional sources, intelligence authorities report that this deadly type of warfare appears to be an integral part of the Communists' stepped-up terror campaign to drive U. S. forces from South Viet Nam.

The intelligence officials are warning that the North Vietnamese, aided by Soviet and Chinese technicians, now have the capability to conduct widespread chemical and biological warfare.

A special report of the Central Intelligence Agency flatly states that "mass poisoning of water reservoirs, bacteriological warfare and mass infection with typhus — using bacteria supplied by the Chemical Directorate of the Soviet Ministry of Defense — represents types of clandestine destructive techniques available to the North Vietnamese."

U. S. medical authorities in Saigon are quietly investigating to ascertain whether an increase in typhus cases among South Vietnamese troops and civilians since the first of the year is traceable to Viet Cong tampering with water supplies.

They have documented accounts of both U. S. and South Vietnamese troops being stricken after drinking water contaminated by the Viet Cong, but so far none of the typhus cases have been attributed to their covert activities.

SOVIET WEAPONS — The shells containing chemical warheads were discovered in the ammunition supplies taken from a 100-ton North Vietnamese ship sunk by U. S. naval units in shallow coastal waters north of Saigon.

This Red vessel was intercepted while carrying latest-model Soviet and Chinese arms from North Viet Nam to Communist Viet Cong forces operating in South Viet Nam.

Markings on the shells and captured documents clearly indicate the weapons were part of a much larger shipment of chemical and biological warfare supplies furnished the North Vietnamese by Russia.

This shipment reportedly arrived at Haiphong via a Soviet freighter last January.

While U. S. military officials have a wide variety of chemical and biological weapons that could be used in South Viet Nam, all are banned due to the adverse public reaction stirred up last year when non-lethal tear gas was employed.

The Communists mounted a worldwide campaign falsely accusing the U. S. of using poisonous gas. It was so successful that President Johnson, on the recommendation of Secretary Rusk, banned this non-lethal gas despite the fact that it was the most humane weapon being used in Viet Nam by either side.

INFLUENCING THE PRESIDENT — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., played a major backstage role in President Johnson's decision not to call up the military reserves at this time.

The President temporarily shelved a Joint Chiefs of Staff proposal to use the reserves after Senator Mansfield made a dramatic plea against such action during a bipartisan White House meeting of legislative leaders.

Reading from two pages of handwritten notes, Senator Mansfield startled the other legislators by contending a call-up of reserves would be "politically, economically and militarily unwise." He pointed out that many of the reserves have "twice been summoned to military duty by Democratic presidents since the end of World War II."

Mansfield, who favors establishment of a neutralist government in Saigon, told the President he was making the statement in behalf of himself and several other liberal Democratic senators.

The President said he would carefully consider Mansfield's statement before making a final decision. The Joint Chiefs, who had been informed by the White House earlier in the day that the President would increase the draft and call up reserve units, were told only a few hours before his press conference announcement that plans had been altered.

Of the congressional leaders present, Mansfield was the only one who opposed using the military reserves to bolster U. S. forces in Viet Nam.

Speaker John McCormack, Mass., urged the President to take whatever action he deemed necessary to win in South Viet Nam, saying:

"Congress and the American people will support every demand that you must make of them."

After the President indicated he planned to increase the draft, Senator Richard Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, stated that both single and married men should be drafted.

Let us meet on the level and part on the square.

TAXES GOING IN TWO DIRECTIONS

(Oklahoma Live Stock News) Some of the politicians in Washington may think that they are fooling the people by giving them a $4.6 billion cut in federal excise taxes. But, as Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., pointed out, congress is taking a nowhere ride on both the up and down elevators.

At about the same time that the excise tax cut was being speeded through congress, the senate finance committee voted to increase the Social Security tax rate and the earning base on which it is collected. At present, an employee pays a tax of 3.625 per cent on the first $4,800 of income and the employer pays an equal amount. A person now earning $4,800 a year or more pays a maximum Social Security tax of $174.

But under the senate committee bill, the rate would be increased to 4.125 per cent and it would be paid on the first $6,600 of income. A person earning that much or more would thus pay a tax of 272.25 — and his employer would have to match that amount.

Thus the Social Security tax for many workers would climb almost $100 a year, which would offset the lower price tag on quite a few items subject to excise taxes.

The jump in Social Security taxes will be required to finance the medical program and the larger Social Security benefits.

Congress also took a ride on the up elevator by voting to increase the national debt limit from $324 billion to $328 billion. The interest on the national debt is now $12 billion a year, or a billion dollars every 30 days. "That's enough to scare the wits out of a frugal citizen."

Question Box

QUESTION: Is association with another person or a group a privilege or a right?

ANSWER: That is a difficult question to answer with a yes or a no because under certain circumstances it becomes a right. It is a privilege right when each person agrees that they are benefited by the association, or when the group agrees that they are benefited by the association, it becomes a right. There is no such thing as a right to association without all parties believing they are benefited by the association. That is, all parties believe they are making a material, spiritual or intellectual profit by the association.

It is like voting. Voting is not a right, it is a privilege granted by the contract and the permission to enter the corporation or the unit of government.

Of course, we have gone so far as to say that if you are born in a country you can vote. But that was not the intention of the Constitution as originally written. It only guaranteed that each state would have a republican form of government.

The belief that association is a right without the consent of all parties has caused a lot of ill will, confusion and discord and in some cases war and chaos.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Business Condition Is Not Set of Statistics, But Fact

By SAM CAMPBELL Register Business Editor

You remember the wheeze about the tamale merchant who didn't know that business was bad. He just kept right on selling tamales — he was out of the mainstream of the thought of his day. Finally, his son disclosed to him the true condition of business.

The old man was impressed. After all the boy had been to college. The peddling man took down his signs and put his cart in the garage. Sure enough, he didn't sell any more tamales, and business indeed was bad.

The little story raises a significant question: what does create business? What is the prime generator of the economy? What starts the wheels of industry to turn?

What Is Basic?

The economists of our day refer to steel, coal, agriculture and oil as "basic industries." The implication is that a country must have steel mills, coal mines, farms and oil wells before it can have a thriving commerce.

You see this point of view manifested in the so-called foreign aid program wherein Congress votes a half-billion or so to build a hydro-electric dam in Zambawanga so the natives can start a small Chicago of their own.

But when you sit down to think about it, why would anybody want steel or coal etc.? Why, unless that anybody was planning to turn the basic material into some type of goods that was desired by somebody else? And why would that secondary somebody want the modified substance except that he either can consume it or else process it for trade to yet a third person?

The answer, when you finally get to the bottom of the matter, is that the consumer is the first link in the productive chain. When you can get to him with something that HE wants, then and then only do the wheels begin to turn at the mill, the mine, the well, and the farm.

And how do you get to the consumer, how do you communicate with him? By selling, of course. Selling, therefore, is the first of all economic activities. And the original economic activator is the salesman, that wily agitator who causes the consumer to understand what he wants.

But if that is true, the only business condition that amounts to anything is that condition that exists between the salesman and a potential buyer. If that condition is correct, the so-called general business conditions have no bearing on the transaction.

In fact, general business conditions are nothing more than a summation of a number of individual transactions — a statistical report on what other salesmen been doing up to that time.

Unquestionably, such statistical reports do exert a psychological effect on both buyer and salesman and, particularly on the salesman. If, like the tamale peddler, he didn't know the statistics were adverse or, to take the other extreme, if he understood the statistics for what they really are, the salesman could not be "sold" into not selling.

The true condition of business is not a statistic. Rather, it is the pungent flavor of red pepper, the steam of hot corn meal wrapped in a cornhusk. It is, in short, that which stimulates the consumer to consume.

A Tax Pauper's Reply

The next time you are pressed to pay a bill and you are reluctant to part with the greenery without a struggle, I suggest you mail this letter along with it, just to show your creditors how difficult it is for you to pay off.

"Dear Sirs: In reply to your request to send a check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My shattered financial condition is due to federal laws, state laws, county laws, city laws, corporation laws, liquor laws, mother-in-laws, sister-in-laws and out-laws.

"Through the laws I am compelled to pay, business tax, school tax, gas tax, water tax, sales tax, liquor tax, food tax, furniture tax and excise tax. Even my taxes are taxed.

I am required to get a business license, car license, truck license, not to mention marriage license, driver's license, dog license and gun license. I am also required to contribute to every society and organization, which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life; to woman's relief, the unemployment relief and the gold-digger's relief.

"For my own sake, I am required to carry life insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, burglary insurance, business insurance, earthquake insurance, tornado insurance, unemployment insurance, old age insurance and fire insurance. My business is so governed that it is no easy matter for me to find out who owns it.

"I am inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, re-examined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire, or home of the human race. If I refuse to donate to something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, held up, held down and robbed until I am almost ruined.

"I can tell you honestly that except for the miracle that happened, I could not enclose this check. The wolf that was at my door just came and had pups in the kitchen. I sold them and here is the money."
