WORST FRIGID SPELL ATTACKS SUB-ZERO BELT Snow Drifts 25 Feet High Reported In Wisconsin

CHICAGO, Feb. 6 (AP)—Continued cold and more snow were the weather bureau predictions today for the sub-zero belt as the nation's worst frigid spell in two decades extended its big push on several fronts.

Moderating temperatures reported from certain sections brought new threats from floods. Dangers of coal famine in other states increased.

Mississippi reported its first flood death victim yesterday with the recovery of the body of Ed Davis, 30, from the Pearl river near Monticello.

Heavy snow storms visited Idaho and Utah yesterday and more snow was predicted generally for the corn belt section.

All snowbound trains were released in Wisconsin but many sections remained isolated due to cancellation of railroad runs.

Some of the cold spots reported around midnight CST were: Thief River Falls, Minn., -42; Drake, N. D., -38; Pembia, N. D., -37; Moorhead, Minn., -32; Duluth, Minn., -24.

Bullet Removed From Exhumed Body of Woman

GATESVILLE, Feb. 6 (AP)—A battered bullet was studied by a ballistic expert today after the body of Mrs. Bernice Blankenship was exhumed at Coppas Cove and the slug removed from the head.

The body was exhumed by order of W. E. Davenport, father of the woman who allegedly was shot to death by Mrs. Ethel Johnson on a Corry county ranch in 1934.

Mrs. Johnson, wife of a Dallas radio inspector, also was charged with murder in the shooting of her son, Joe Dean Blankenship, at the same time her daughter-in-law was shot. Mrs. Johnson has denied both charges.

The bullet was turned over to a ballistic expert from Houston. The caliber of the bullet was not determined immediately.

Trial of Mrs. Johnson on the murder charges has been set for Feb. 10. Corry county authorities have investigated the double shooting ever since the young couple died on the ranch of Mrs. Johnson's father George Middick.

At the time of the shooting, a coroner's verdict of murder and suicide was returned. The coroner held that Mrs. Blankenship shot her husband and then herself, but either Corry county authorities were not satisfied with the verdict and continued to investigate.

COLLECTOR COMING Deputy Collector Ralph Kenniston will be at the post office in Pampa on March 6 and 7, 1936, for the purpose of assisting income taxpayers in the community with the preparation of their income tax returns.

Northeastern Oklahoma as well as the southern part of the state is furnishing peacans for tables of thousands of Americans.

OIL TAX SUSPENDED

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 6 (AP)—Collection of four-fifths of the five cents a barrel oil refining tax was suspended today by Governor James A. Noe until 20 days after close of the 1936 legislature convening on May 11.

The collection had been suspended several times by the late Gov. C. K. Allen since January 8, 1935. The suspension was by proclamation accompanied by a statement by the governor containing hints of possible action regarding the tax at the legislative session, which will last 60 days.

After the tax was imposed at one of the late Senator Huey P. Long's special sessions 14 months ago, there was a strong protest, particularly in East Baton Rouge parish where the Standard Oil company has a large refinery employing many workers.

After fiery protest meetings, the legislature at Long's direction authorized Governor Allen to suspend collection of four cents of the tax. Long said the Standard oil had agreed to use more Louisiana crude.

INCOME TAX DATA

Forms for filing returns of income for 1935 have been sent to persons who filed returns last year. Failure to receive a form, however, does not relieve a taxpayer of his obligation to file his return and pay the tax on time, on or before March 16 if the return is made on the calendar year basis, the case with most individuals.

Forms may be obtained upon request, written or personal, from the offices of collectors of internal revenue and deputy collectors. Persons whose net income for 1935 was derived chiefly from salary or wages and was not in excess of $5,000 should make their returns on form 1040A.

The return must be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer has his legal residence or principal place of business on or before midnight of March 16, 1936. The tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return or in four equal installments due on or before March 16, June 15, September 15, and December 15.

RETURN FROM TRIP Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Malone returned yesterday from a trip which took them to Mineral Wells and points in East Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas. They were gone a month.

PEACE PARLEY PROPOSAL OF BRITON FAILS

IMPERIALIST JOURNALS HURL SARCASM AT LANSBURY

BY G. H. ANDERSON, Associated Press Foreign Staff. LONDON, Feb. 6 (AP)—The Laborite George Lansbury's motion for Great Britain to sponsor an immediate international peace conference, rejected by the house of commons, drew fresh fire today from British imperialist newspapers.

The house of commons turned down Lansbury's original proposal yesterday, 228 to 137, but affirmed its "profound belief" in the utility of war and its "grave concern over world-wide preparation for war."

After deleting the conference proposal and inserting an amendment expressing confidence that the government "will take all practicable steps to promote international prosperity and better understanding between peoples," the amended motion was adopted, 164 to 118.

In the aftermath of the debate, imperialist newspapers hurled broadsides against both Lansbury and David Lloyd George, former prime minister, who supported the proposal for an international peace roundtable.

"There is a suggestion that we are ready to feed the lions because they are growling so loudly in various parts of Europe—feed them with checks of the British empire," the Morning Post said editorially.

Such an idea, this newspaper asserted, was unworthy of Englishmen. The Express commented that perhaps Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

PAMPANS AVERAGE ONLY LOSS OF SEASON BY PLUCKING TURKEY 26 TO 22

PLAINVIEW TO BE CAGE FOE THIS EVENING

STOKES AND 'FOOTSY' LEAD SCORING IN GRUDGE TILT

The Harvester basketball team wiped out the stain of their only defeat of the season last night by whipping Al Duncan's Terrible Turks on the latter's court at Turkey 26 to 22.

Harvester fans can now boast that Pampa has the better team because the Harvesters' margin of victory was greater than Turkey's here two weeks ago when the Pampa cagers lost their only game of the season 23 to 20.

The Harvesters will play Plainview's Bulldogs tonight, and expect the game to be much closer than last night's grudge affair. The Pampans were keyed up for the Turkey tilt; they were physically and psychologically ready, despite the fact that Junior Strickland had to borrow shoes. He left his in Pampa. Maybe that was the reason he fouled out in the third quarter last night.

The score at the half was 17 to 8 in favor of Pampa. Stokes Green who plays much better on foreign courts than are small, low-ceilinged, and when the going is rough and tumble, led the Pampa scoring last night. Stokes has played much better games away from home this season than he has at the Harvester gym. Last night he scored 10 points, closely followed by Moose ("Footsy") Hartman with nine points. Strickland, Pampa center made four points and Roy Lee Jones, stellar guard, smothered the Turkey forwards who were lucky to get a shot at the goal in the first half, let alone make it. Strickland also played a great defensive game. Bailey, Nicholson and Kitchens also played.

Amateur Boxing Champs Crowned In Houston Meet

HOUSTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—The Texas A. A. U. had eight new boxing champions today.

The state tourney ended with finals in all weights last night. The Port Arthur team won three titles and was awarded a plaque for having the best all-around fighters.

Max Roesch of Dallas won from Vernon Shaw to take the heavy-weight crown, and Frank Pierson of Port Arthur was given a decision over James Elder of Texas Tech for the lightweight title.

Chester Hayes of Rice Institute won the middleweight title on default. His opponent was unable to be present.

Wayne Mixon of Houston won a decision over Lupe Ramirez, also of Houston, in the flyweight bout and Arthur Durrell of Port Arthur won over Louis Ledbetter of Dallas in the welterweight division.

Earl Crow of the University of Texas won on points from George Poole of Houston for the light heavyweight title.

Emery Latolais of Port Arthur took bantamweight honors in a bout with Jesse Williamson of Houston.

The featherweight crown went to Tom Walker of Houston. He won from Clarence Villemoz of Port Arthur on a decision.

Houston sport writers voted Arthur Durrell and Max Roesch outstanding performers of the tourney.

Ted Cox Named Oklahoma A. & M. Football Coach

STILLWATER, Okla., Feb. 6. (AP)—On the Oklahoma A. & M. campus, four through a year of football reverses, there was brightness today as a warm welcome was furnished up for Ted Cox of Tulane.

Cox, coach of Tulane's Green Wave for the past four years, was named head football coach here yesterday to succeed A. A. Exendine whose post was declared vacant recently by the athletic council.

There was hope that Cox might prove another Lynn Waldorf, former A. & M. mentor who had marked success with Cowboy teams before he went to Kansas State.

Caddo parish (La.) farmers reported $4,010,000 from crops in 1935, records show.

Seven Harvester Squadmen Will Return Next Season

Only One Regular Is To Be Back From 1935 Team

tion this fall The Gorilla team was composed of midgets, the biggest boy on the squad not weighing much more than 160 pounds, and there were very few who came near that figure.

The prospect of 1936 is a light, fast team. The giant of the squad will be Stokes Green, 198 pounds, letterman from last season. He will be at least 15 pounds heavier than the next man in line of weight unless some of the boys add many pounds before fall. Green will be the only "regular" back. Other lettermen played mostly in substitute rolls, although Roy Lee Jones, Woodie Woodridge, Roy Showers and Ivan Noblitt saw a lot of play.

Glenn Maxey and Sherman Morgan will be the other lettermen returning.

Showers, Woodridge, and Morgan played in the backfield last season. Jones and Maxey were ends. Green was a tackle and Noblitt a guard. Jones also was used in the backfield and it would not be surprising if the redhead was in the backfield this fall.

The Amarillo Sandies again loom as a dangerous team. Back for another season of football will be Robert Gleason, big all-state fullback and Eldon Ricketts, giant all-state tackle, and a number of lettermen of wide experience.

Phillips Beats Alanreed 28 To 21 In Close Battle

66 Quintet Will Play Friday Night in Estelline

With three regulars missing from the starting lineup because of illness, the Phillips 66 Oilers had a tough time taking a 28 to 21 game from the Alanreed Independents in a game played at the LeFors gymnasium. On Friday night, the Oilers will journey to Estelline for a game in Jack Bacuss' old home town.

Slim Windom, coming through in the pinches, led the Oiler attack with 12 points. Bacuss followed in the scoring race with seven. Dillard, Alanreed center, looped four field goals for scoring honors. Biggers and Plaster followed.

Tip Windom and Dewey, forwards, and Christian, guard, were unable to start the game because of illness. Dewey played part of the last half but was not at his best. Weston and Winkler started at forward positions with Gibson at guard to replace the three regulars. The substitutes played a good game all the way.

The win was the eighth against one loss for the Phillips quintet which is seeking stiff competition. Team managers wishing to match games with the Oilers should call M. L. Gibson at 9025, Pampa.

McLEAN CAGERS TO PLAY FOR COUNTY TITLES FRIDAY NIGHT

McLEAN, Feb. 6.—McLean high school basketball teams can win county titles on Friday night by defeating Alanreed. The games will be played in the local gymnasium, the girls playing at 7:30 and the boys at 8:30.

McLean holds wins over LeFors and Alanreed and since Alanreed defeated LeFors, McLean has only the Longhorns to hurdle. In their last meeting the Longhorns and Tigers staged a thrilling duel with the Tigers finally coming out on top. The McLean girls had slightly easier going.

ATTORNEYS WILL FIGHT FOR 150 LOST STATUTES

Case To Be Taken to Criminal Appeals Court Soon

HUNTSVILLE, Feb. 6. (AP)—State attorneys assembled here today to fight for the lives of Texas' 150 lost laws in a test case before District Judge W. W. Dean.

Through a binder's error of the statutes, which outlaw a variety of offenses, were omitted from the official copy of the 1925 codification of the state's criminal laws. The mistake of 11 years ago was discovered last week by an attorney for a law publishing company who was looking through the archives of the office of the secretary of state at Austin.

Attorney General William McCraw came from Austin to the test case. He was aided by Scott Gaines and Earl Street, assistant attorneys general; Lloyd Davidson, state's attorney before the court of criminal appeals, and Max Rogers, district attorney here.

State Representative A. T. McKinnon of Huntsville was the lone opposing counsel. He emphasized that the suit was purely a friendly one and that he hoped the state would raise all possible issues so that the question of validity of laws might be settled finally.

McCraw said he would contend that a mechanical mistake cannot supersede the will of the legislature.

"The facts that the articles in the copy in the secretary of state's office are not numbered consecutively and that the index shows the court of criminal appeals as quickly as possible. If Copeland should be successful in the higher court, it would mean that approximately 40 convicts in the state's prison system would gain their freedom.

Some lawyers have suggested the possibility that the entire criminal code might fall. They raise the question that the governor must sign or veto all bills except appropriation bills in their entirety, and that in this instance the courts might hold that Governor Miriam A. Ferguson signed the penal code only in part since she affixed her signature to the faulty copy in the secretary of state's office. State's attorneys said, however, that such a view contained "no merit whatever."

Of the approximately 500 copies of the code, the one in the secretary of state's office is the only one which is incomplete, attorneys say. It happened that the bad copy was selected as the official one, although the chances were several hundred to one against it.

WOMAN SENTENCED

CHILDRESS, Feb. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Buena Mae Richardson faced a 15-year prison sentence today for slaying Brown Warren as the state prepared to prosecute Turner Smith in the same case. A jury studied Mrs. Richardson's case four and one-half hours before convicting her late yesterday. Elgar Robertson, her defense attorney, sought a new trial. Warren was stabbed to death last August.

STENGEN GETS FRANKHOUSE IN BOSTON TRADE

TEXAN AND BABICH ARE TRADED OFF TO BEES

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (AP)—After dickering with almost everybody in the National league, Manager Casey Stengel of the Brooklyn Dodgers swung a deal today with the Boston Bees for Fred Frankhouse, veteran right-handed pitcher.

Beating several rival managers to the punch, including Bill Terry of the Giants, Stengel obtained Frankhouse in exchange for two youthful performers—Johnny Babich, California right-hander, and Gene Moore, Texan who developed outfielding promise in the Cardinal "chain-store" system.

Frankhouse, at 31, has been in the majors for nine seasons and with the Boston club since 1930. He was on the National league all-star team in 1934, when he won 17 games and lost nine with an ordinary team, and is rated one of the best right handers in the circuit.

Last year, the worst Boston Nationals ever experienced, Frankhouse was credited with eleven of the club's 38 victories. He lost 15 games.

Frankhouse came to Brooklyn in the footsteps of Ed Brandt, Big Boston southpaw, obtained along with Randy Moore earlier in the winter in exchange for a quartet of Dodgers—Al Lopez, Tony Cucinello, Bobby Reis and Ray Benge Brandt and Frankhouse have been the backbone of the Boston pitching staff for a number of years.

The addition of these two pitchers to a staff already including Van Mungo, Watson Clark and George Earnshaw fortifies the Dodger immensely, said Business Manager John Gorman. "We have always rated Frankhouse highly and believe he give us a first-division staff."

'Pinky' Higgins Returns Contract

DALLAS, Feb. 6. (AP)—M. F. (Pinky) Higgins says he didn't become a holdout when he returned unsigned his 1936 contract but that he thinks he deserves some consideration for the work he did for the Philadelphia Athletics at third base last year.

Higgins, only seasoned veteran winter trading left on the club's roster, refused to reveal terms of the contract, explaining "We're having some differences of opinion we haven't been able to straighten out."

The third baseman defined a holdout as a player who failed to show up in training camp. "I'm not a holdout," he added, "but it seems as if I ought to have some consideration on basis of last year's work."

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (AP)—Col. Jake Ruppert's "personal appearance" turned out to be something of a dud. Instead of buying Higgins or Hale, the Cannel merely announced he is enlarging the Yankee stadium. . . . But for football and fights—not the Yanks, who are picked to finish about third. . . . at that, the Yankees may have more ball parks open to be something of a dud. . . . San Francisco papers predict Oscar Eckhardt Coast league batting king, bought by the Dodgers, will be back with the Missions this year. Casey Stengel wants to know why?

If Tony Canzoneri is looking for a bloody nose, Jimmy McLarin may be just the lad who'll give it to him. . . . Jimmy has a habit of simply ruining these lightweight.

The pro tennis tour is a financial flop so far. . . . Bill Tilden and Bill O'Brien may call it a day after this season. A new five-year contract is ready for Hunk Anderson at North Carolina State. . . .

Young Horace Stoneham is very popular with the other National league mags. . . . Incidentally, Horace is a dead ringer for Crown Prince Farouk of Egypt. . . . or vice versa.

Each uniform will set the Washington club back 20 bucks. . . . Quite an item when you figure each regular draws two home and two road suits.

The Milwaukee Sentinel says regardless of the outcome of the investigation at Wisconsin, Dr. Spears will stay as head coach.

The Quins Beg You--- Drive Safely!

Don't Daydream at the Wheel — Cecilia
 Avoid Fancy Driving — Emilia
 Turn Corners Carefully — Marie
 Watch Your Speedometer — Yvonne
 Steer Clear of Drunken — Annette

Just driving the rudiments of safe driving themselves, the Dianne quintuplets have parked in a quiet spot of their nursery to pass on with fivefold earnestness some driving hints that too many grownups seem to have forgotten—judging from the mounting traffic toll. Fewer children will be maimed, killed, or orphaned if the quins' advice is followed.

FARM BILL IS MUCH-ALTERED BY COMMITTEE

SENATE WILL DEBATE LATEST FARM PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—Democratic leaders pushed a much-altered farm bill into senate debate today, with its pilot describing it as the last hope for immediate federal aid to agriculture.

"I think we have just about gotten out of the twilight zone as to constitutionality," said Chairman Smith (D-S O) of the senate agriculture committee. "If this won't work, we can't do anything."

The bill gives the states a much more immediate place in the crop control picture than did the Bankhead bill introduced last week. The senate committee voted unanimously yesterday to substitute the new measure for the Bankhead one.

In lieu of the invalidated AAA system of benefit payments to farmers who contracted to control crops, the new bill empowers the secretary of agriculture to grant subsidies to growers to preserve soil fertility and follow other production methods laid down by the secretary.

However, any state could come in under the plan immediately, thus gaining the right to name agencies to administer it, subject to the secretary's approval. On or before Nov. 1 each year, the secretary would grant the states money to carry out their plans during the next calendar year.

The new bill, described as similar to the Jones measure in the house but containing somewhat different language, emerged from committee about the time the house was following the senate in voting to repeal three old farm control plans—The Bankhead cotton, Kerr-Smith tobacco and potato control acts.

(All three contained a system of taxes on "excess" production, designed to limit crops. They are being wiped out because the AAA, to which they were auxiliary, was invalidated.)

The house voted late yesterday, 351 to 10, to erase them from the statutes, but the repealer must go back to the senate for consideration of a house amendment cancelling taxes assessed under the Bankhead act but not yet paid.

The administration's new farm plan is estimated to cost $500,000,000 a year, but a White House conference last night reached no conclusion as to methods of taxing to raise that amount.

Through soil conservation, involving, among other things, the retirement of land from commercial crop to soil-building growths, the administration hopes to reach its aim of "balanced" production.

By LEONARD E. SHUBERT Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—From coast to coast, the political war intensified today, with battling leaders flinging such terms as "bribery" and "predatory powers" at each other.

In Florida, Postmaster General Farley assailed the American Liberty League as "predatory powers" speaking for "reactionaries."

Colonel Frank Knox, speaking at Vincennes, Ind., last night, charged the New Deal with "bribery practiced in the name of humanity."

While Senator Borah (R., Ind.) faced the cameras for the first time as a fully caparisoned presidential candidate determined to battle the established party leadership, Colonel Knox called for Republican harmony.

With Farley attacking the Liberty League, one of its directors, former Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, criticized the administration's "brain trusters."

Another attack of the league-bitter foe of the administration came from Brooks Hays, an assistant to Rexford G. Tugwell, undersecretary of agriculture. He declared in Atlanta that if the league's principles are accepted "the South is doomed."

Farley ignored the name of Alfred E. Smith, chief speaker at a league dinner here less than a fortnight ago. But he struck out sharply at the organization whose members include such democrats as Smith, party presidential nominee in 1928 and John W. Davis, the 1924 standard bearer.

"The league," he declared at a Roosevelt dinner in Miami last night, "speaks as conclusively for the reactionaries and their party as does Mr. Hoover, the United States chamber of commerce and the National Manufacturers' association."

Farley declared not a single man in public life approaches Mr. Roosevelt "remotely" in the capacity "for public service and leadership."

Ely, campaigning to elect an unpledged delegation from his state to the democratic convention in June, had a word to say about Farley. He asserted the president "forgot the pledges of the democratic party... as well as the names of the leaders of his party," and that "fortunately for him, he did retain Mr. Farley to attend to the purely political manipulations."

Powerful Drug Is Discovered

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Discovery of a narcotic so powerful its manufacture has been prohibited was discovered today in a report of hearings before a house appropriations sub-committee.

J. J. Anslinger, commissioner of the bureau of narcotics told the committee that at the university of Virginia, under direction of the Rockefeller foundation and the national research council, "they have discovered drug 20 times more powerful than morphine."

"We thought at first it was a drug that did not have addiction properties," said Anslinger, "but we found it was so dangerous we have not permitted its manufacture in this country at all, and we will not permit it, because it is another heroin, but about three times more dangerous."

Anslinger said the drug was tried on a group of cancer patients and found to be habit forming, but the medical effect was "much more fleeting than with heroin or morphine."

Anslinger expressed belief "doped" race horses as well as their trainers should be barred instead of suspended from further racing.

"The difficulty with the racing commission is this," Anslinger told the committee, "when they get a positive test on a horse they just suspend the trainer and the horse for a short time instead of barring them. I think the animal should be barred because most of these doped horses are irreparably damaged."

UNANIMOUS NOMINATION
BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Huey P. Long was named unanimously the democratic nominee for the United States senate as successor to her husband today by the Louisiana state democratic executive committee. Her nomination was regarded by political leaders as removing the last obstacle to Mrs. Long taking her seat in the senate and she was expected to leave this week for Washington.

Amy said, startled, "What's wrong? Are you ill?"

Chapter IV

Her face flaming with swift anger, Julia read Peter's note again. She whirled impulsively, and saw Henri Lamb standing in the doorway. His heavy face, too, was slowly reddening—but not from anger. For several seconds he could not speak in his embarrassment.

"After all," he said, at last. "I— you see, Peter Kemp is a friend of mine. He once did a great favor for me."

"Did it occur to you," asked Julia, "that I might not be interested in whether Peter Kemp is in love with me? And now I— I'll never speak to him again!"

"Because he's so much in love with you?" asked Lamb quietly. Then he added, "But I am sorry. You—must think very badly of me now."

"The only thing I'm interested in is whether I'm good enough to get a job in a night club, Mr. Lamb. Will you please tell me that—honestly?"

Henri Lamb shrugged. "Your voice is good for these modern songs. And you are an attractive young woman. That counts a lot, too."

"But not good enough for the Green Club?"

"I didn't mean that. As I said, I was trying to help Kemp. He smiled wryly. 'I'm afraid I've done a bad job of it.' He crossed the room. Then he turned to Julia again. 'The woods are full of passable singers, Miss Craig. I could turn down the next dozen that come in through that door—and still find others.'

Julia nodded. "I see," she said tensely, and left the office. As she passed through the little ante-room she felt the curious glance of Jim, the young man who had played her accompaniment while she sang "Accent on Youth." He followed her part way down the stair.

"Don't let it get you down," he said in a low voice. "You've got lots of stuff."

"I—thanks," faltered Julia, and stumbled into the dark lobby of the Green club. In another moment she was in the blinding glare of the street. Her cheeks were still hot with humiliation and anger, and she dreaded returning to the office.

But return to the office she did, and when she had settled herself at her desk she picked up the telephone and asked to be connected with Peter Kemp. When he answered she said slowly. "This is Julia. Quite by accident I read your note to Henri Lamb. Thank you very much."

In the silence that followed she could almost feel his astonishment at the other end of the wire. Then he burst out, "But, Julia, I—"

"There really isn't anything else to say, Peter. Goodby."

She had hardly replaced the instrument in its cradle when Peter himself was in the room. "Julia, I—I know it was a rotten thing to do. But I—can't you see that it was only because—"

Julia got up from her desk in a quick, angry movement which effectively stopped his faltering defense. "I'd rather not talk about it, Peter. I've a headache and I'm going home."

"Won't you let me take you?" "No," said Julia, putting on her hat. "I'd much rather go alone."

It seemed odd to let herself into the little apartment so early. Not since she had started to work for Woodford and Brooks had she left the office before 5:15. Somehow this realization made her more determined than ever to leave it one day soon forever. With a weary sigh of relief she dropped onto the davenport and closed her eyes.

Soon she was asleep, to be awakened later by the sound of Amy's key in the lock. Her roommate started at sight of Julia on the davenport. "What's wrong? ... Are you ill?"

Julia shook her head and smiled weakly. "Just a slight case of shell shock. I sang for Henri Lamb this afternoon."

Amy's eyes widened. "No fooling?" "No fooling, Amy. But I didn't get the job."

Amy made a sound of dismay. "I've been down at the Green Club a lot—and I never did think he knew a singer when he heard one," she said loyally.

Julia leaned forward excitedly. "He did say my voice was good, though, Amy. I—I think he might have given me a chance if it hadn't been for the note that Peter Kemp wrote."

"What do you mean?" "Julia told her of Peter's advice to Henri Lamb."

"That was a mean trick," Amy agreed. "But the poor kid's so much in love with you that he doesn't know right from wrong. Or maybe he's heard that all's fair in love and war. But I've some news of my own for you, darling."

"News?" "Royal Nesbitt is going to take me out tonight. He telephoned this afternoon and I told him about you."

Amy! He'll think I'm a fool!" Amy Sanders pierced Julia with a glance. "Listen — you're old enough to know better than that."

No man thinks a girl is a fool when she has eyes and hair like yours. When Royal drops in tonight, I want you to do a song for him."

"But why?" "I want him to know you really can sing. He knows everybody who even thinks they run a night club. He knows some song writers, too. Wouldn't it be grand if you could make your start with a song written especially for you?"

Catching some of Amy's infectious enthusiasm, Julia laughed. "You're certainly a tonic, Amy. And after this afternoon, I think I need it."

"Well," said Amy, "you know darned well that I'm all for you if you're dead sure this is what you want to do. But I'm still advising you to settle down to the simple life."

"You don't take your own advice," mentioned Julia mischievously. "Why should I? Nobody else does." Then Amy's tone grew serious. "But I will some time."

"You mean Royal Nesbitt?" "Heavens, no. He's not serious about anything or anybody. But he's fun to be with. We're just good friends."

Julia had never quite approved of Royal Nesbitt, and Amy knew it. She knew the reason for Julia's disapproval, too, though she never mentioned it. If Royal Nesbitt was not exactly wealthy, he at least had a great deal more money to spend than the other young men Julia and Amy had known. Yet the source of his income was somewhat obscure. The Nesbitt name was a pioneer one in the city, but this Nesbitt, the gayest and youngest, seemed to possess none of the attributes of the pioneer. He was likeable and had literally hundreds of friends, Julia liked him—but when it came to Amy Sanders, she wasn't so sure.

He was as gay and certain of himself as always when he called at the apartment that evening. Tall and good looking in a rugged way, he cheered Julia and she felt instinctively that with his help she could really attain what she wanted. He had been in the room only a few moments when Amy pushed him toward the davenport and announced that Julia was going to sing.

Then Amy took her place at the tiny little piano which, she often said, had cost her many an installment and was her particular pride and joy. She played well, and whenever she played for Julia's singing she played more than well. Nesbitt settled back with an amused and tolerant smile.

But as Julia's soft, husky voice drifted into one of the sad, mad tunes of our modern day, his smile faded and his expression grew serious and interested. When she had finished he did not speak for a while, and then he said, "I wish you'd do another, Julia."

This time Amy chose a curious and dragging blues song that was a combination of genuine ducky folk tune and the "hi-de-ho" of Harlem. There was a quiet quality in Julia's singing that lifted the song far above its insane lyric. Nesbitt got to his feet. "I've spent a good share of my life listening to night club singers," he said. "You can go places, Julia. And I'm going to see that you do."

Amy smiled at her roommate. "You see, Julia? And when Royal says a thing like that, he means it!" Nesbitt's eyes met Julia's squarely. "I was never more serious in my life," he told her quietly.

ELEVEN-DAY CARNIVAL IN SNOW BEGINS TODAY

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 6 (AP)—The fourth winter Olympic games, drawing a record entry list of more than 1,000 competitors from 28 nations, were formally opened by Chancellor Hitler today.

A large and cosmopolitan crowd packed the ski stadium to watch the colorful parade of the nations and hear the reichsfuehrer speak the words that inaugurated an eleven-day carnival of international competition in skiing, speed skating, figure skating, bob-sledding and hockey.

From a winter sports viewpoint, weather conditions were perfect. So thickly was the snow falling that the peaks of near-by mountain ranges were entirely obscured.

As each national delegation marched past Hitler with flag lowered, the fusilier gave the Nazi salute. Most of the competitors from foreign lands returned the salute, in kind, but the Americans were among those who did not.

"We Germans want to show the world that, true to the command of our fuhrer, we desire to make these games a real festival of peace and understanding," said Dr. Ritter von Halt, president of the German Olympic organizing committee.

"It is a high honor and special joy for me, on behalf of the organizing committee, to welcome you all in the heartiest manner possible."

The contestants' varied garb presented a brightly colored picture. Dark colors predominated but red, blue, and other colors stood out against the snowy background. The most picturesquely costumed

FLUSH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 2 pounds of waste, poisonous matter may develop, causing serious trouble. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes. Get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist.

THE TEACHING PROFESSION

The program for retirement of teachers long in the service now under consideration by the Fort Worth school board is a step calculated to give progress to the elevation of teaching among the professions. It should be taken up only as a lifetime profession, not merely a stop-gap for domesticity or more lucrative work.

The training for the responsibility of preparing childish and adolescent mentalities for the serious business of living should be parallel to the requirements of medicine. Teachers should not be accepted as "Topsies" in their accomplishments and be regarded as "just grown-up" into the abilities they should have to administer to the minds, deportment, and refinement of the children who may not escape their influences. There is too much responsibility involved. Tyros can all too easily change for the worse the currents of childish impressions.

The broadening of the requirements should automatically make provision for long service. Teaching is a public service. If one entering it is expected to make it a lifetime labor, the arrival of an age where retirement has been earned should be an obligation of those responsible for the teaching service. The Army, the Navy, the Civil Service, and hundreds of private enterprises have long since grown into realization of the value of such a system. Marriage should not be an obstacle and study and application should be rewarded.

The teachers and the school board should have no difficulty in reaching a highly desirable stage of cooperation. The teachers should regard themselves as members of one of the three most responsible of professions and the public schools should broaden the service alike for the benefit of the conscientious teachers and the successive generations of children. Both factors deserve no less than the best and there should be no break in the progress.—Star-Telegram.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Liberty League backers have decided to promote a third party whose function will be to draw votes away from the Roosevelt ticket. They hope to put Al Smith in the field as its presidential candidate.

This report comes from a source which has seldom if ever proved to be wrong.

According to the same advices, the men willing to put up the money for a third and conservative party realize that it will be strategically essential to have it appear that the nomination is thrown at Smith and he accepts it only in response to clamor.

If matters can't be made to work out that way, the rumor runs, another man (the names of Ritchie of Maryland and Ely of Massachusetts suggest themselves) will be picked and Smith will appear as the new party's guardian saint and chief orator.

Assuming the accuracy of this report, some light would appear to be shed on Smith's assurance at the Liberty League dinner that he was not a candidate for the nomination of any party and didn't intend to lift a finger to obtain any such nomination.

Smith's stressing that assurance caused some puzzlement, since hardly anyone had supposed he regarded himself as a possible nominee, and later a few wondered why he didn't go right on and say he wouldn't accept a nomination if tendered.

In any event, the story chimes in with Al's promise to "take a walk."

There has never been any doubt here that the industrial and financial forces opposed to Roosevelt would be willing to promote a third party headed by conservative Democrats if that appeared to give them the best chance of defeating the president.

The one thing that had held them back was a widespread feeling that their best chances of replacing him lay in a straight Republican-Democratic fight.

The reported decision for a third party is said to be based on an increased belief that a movement could be devised under the aegis of Smith and other dissatisfied Democrats which would attract many who wouldn't otherwise desert the Democratic label.

You can be sure, for the time being at least, that the third party-Al Smith story is firmly believed at the White House. The gay optimism which pervades that mansion causes the high command to hail the news as an evidence of enemy "desperation" rather than a dangerous portent. Present New Deal tactics as to Al are to "laugh him off."

Nevertheless, checks are again being made to gauge Al's popular strength. His chief stronghold is with the New England Irish, though his influence spreads more thinly through other industrial states.

He has lost much of his 1932 strength among party politicians because:

1. The administration has taken some of them—such as Boss Hague of New Jersey—into camp with patronage and other favors.
2. Others, denied patronage, blame Al because he kept them voting against Roosevelt to the very end at the Chicago convention.

Landon is dubbed the Kansas Coolidge. Still, from his tardiness in revealing where he stands, his slogan seems to be, "I do not run to choose."

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Feb. 6 (AP)—A former state senator, travelling in South Texas, recently, was hailed by two young women hitch-hikers and he merely stepped on the gas. Farther down the highway two young men signalled for a lift and the senator acquiesced. Later he gave his reasons for rejecting one pair and accepting the second. "I didn't mind giving the rides," he said, "but if I had had a wreck I could have explained the presence of the men. I never could have explained the women's."

At a luncheon tendered by former Senator Thomas Pollard of Tyler to Gen. A. D. McRae, Canadian parliament member and world war veteran, Governor Allred was given an elaborate introduction. Pollard hailed the governor as a potential second vice-president of the United States from Texas and the first president. Allred listened calmly, then rose to his feet slowly. "When I hear anyone talking as childishly as Tom has," he said, "I know he must be eligible for an old-age pension."

The luncheon was attended by all members of the Supreme Court, Adj. Gen. Carl Nesbitt, Secretary of State R. B. Stanford, and various assistants attorney general. McRae said the was a "forty-second cousin" of the man who wrote the famous poem, "Flanders Field." "I like that expression," "forty-second cousin," Governor Allred remarked. "You may be British, but that's a good Texas term."

McRae expressed the opinion, as out-of-state visitors frequently do, that Texas is due for tremendous business expansion.

During the depression, he said, he attended a dinner with a large number of New York bankers and pessimism was intense. He, however, had just completed a transcontinental trip with passage through Texas.

"The trouble with you bankers," he said, "is that you don't see enough of your own country. You should see the prosperous cities of Dallas, Fort Worth, and others. You couldn't look at them and not be enthusiastic."

An increase in December of 202-211 in the number of German radio owners brought the total to 7,192,592 for 1935.

BRITON FIRST TOLD EUROPE ABOUT TEXAS

GUIDE BOOK COMPILED; EARLY HISTORY OF REPUBLIC TOLD

AUSTIN, Feb. 6.—Colonization schemes sponsored by Anglo-Americans, in the vanguard of whom were Lewis and Clark, were next chronicled by Arthur Ikin, Englishman who represented his country as consul to the new Republic of Texas. Ikin's little volume, of which only a few known copies are in existence, one of which is in the University of Texas library, was subtitled "A Guide to Emigrants," and had for its purpose the attraction of English settlers to Texas.

In his history of Texas, after treating briefly the French and Spanish invasions and the Indian depredations on the white man, he turned to trace early Anglo-American influences, and outline the early phases of the Texas rebellion against Mexican dominance.

He wrote as follows:

"Throughout the protracted struggle for Mexican independence, the province of Texas excited, from time to time, much interest among the northern republicans, owing to the enthusiastic descriptions of travelers, the attractive schemes of speculators, and the daring, though abortive, attempts of one or two adventurers. The well known travelers, Lewis and Clark, were among the first to hold out to their countrymen alluring pictures of Texas. They say, 'The whole of these prairies are represented to be composed of the richest and most fertile soil. The most luxuriant and succulent herbage covers the earth, interspersed with millions of flowers and flowering shrubs of the most ornamental kinds. Those who have viewed only a skirt of these prairies speak of them with enthusiasm, as if it were only the bare nature was to be found truly perfect. They declare that the fertility and beauty of the rising grounds, the extreme richness of the vales, the coolness and excellent quality of the water found in every valley, the salubrity of the atmosphere, and, above all, the grandeur of the enchanting landscape which this country presents, inspire the soul with sensations not to be felt in any other region of the globe.'

"On the consummation of Mexican independence, Texas was, in conjunction with the adjoining province of Coahuila, constituted one of the federal states; and a plan, contemplated in the last days of Spanish dominion, for the colonization of the territory, by the offering, through the agency of the judicious contractors, or 'empresarios,' donations of land to foreign settlers, was fully adopted.

"The Americans were the only people who availed themselves extensively of this invitation. In 1821, they commenced, under the judicious direction of the empresario, Col. Austin (whose name is thus identified with the earliest Anglo-American settlement of the country) a colony which subsequently became very prosperous.

"Numerous other colonies were gradually formed; and after overcoming the obstacles which must attend the first settlement of new countries, even under the most favorable guesses, the settlers found little to complain of under their new government, except the intolerance which compelled them to profess the Roman Catholic religion, and the inconvenience to which their local interests were subjected, owing to the seat of government and of justice being fixed at a great distance, in the province of Coahuila, and under the control of ignorant, corrupt Mexicans, who neither understood nor respected political rights.

Signing the Bill That Ends 'Battle of the Bonus'

Here's the final scene in the prolonged bonus battle which has plagued Congresses and presidents since the regime of Warren G. Harding—signing the $2,000,000,000 bill into law after Congress had overridden a presidential veto. Watching Senate Secretary Edwin A. Halsey sign the bill are, standing, left to right: Senator Joseph T. Robinson (Dem., Ark.); Ray Murphy, American Legion commander; Senator Frederick Steiwer (Rep., Ore.); James E. Van Zandt, Veteran of Foreign Wars commander; Senator Joseph F. Byrne (Dem., S. C.); M. A. Harlan, Disabled American Veterans commander; and Senator Pat Harrison (Dem., Miss.). The act provides payment of the bonus in $50 bonds, cashable after June 15. Congress yet has to provide means for raising the money.

"These evils, however, as the colonists were far removed from the interior of the republic, might have been long borne, had not Mexico proceeded to inflict greater grievances.

"On the pretext of a trifling insurrection, got up in 1826, by some obscure adventurers, in connection with Indians, and promptly and effectually suppressed by the Texian settlers themselves, the supreme government quartered on the country large bodies of military, who committed acts of insolent license, and whose commanders, in several instances, interfered in an arbitrary manner with the municipal rights of the settlers, and, in some cases, with even their personal freedom. (Note: As this insurrection, commonly called the Fredonia scheme, affords the only excuse for the fatal change of policy Mexico soon after adopted towards Texas, it is of some consequence to ascertain if there were any real grounds for imputing it to the Texian settlers generally. As already stated, it was they who put the insurrection down; a fact, generally well known, and further proved by the very interesting and voluminous correspondence of Gen. Wavell with Austin, Milam, and other leading Texians, with whom he was at the time engaged in extensive projects of colonization—projects constantly opposed and counteracted by the jealousy and injustice of the authorities.

"From these papers, especially those written in 1822-23, and from others subsequently written for the information of the British government, the writer has obtained many interesting details respecting this portion of Mexican and Texian history, with which no other individual in Europe is perhaps so well acquainted as Gen. Wavell. That gentleman deserves the credit of having, from the very earliest period, urged that the only safe and wise policy of Mexico—unable to control even the population of her own capital—was most carefully to avoid giving cause of offense to the population of the remote provinces, and more especially as regards Texas; that the only mode of rendering it an integral and valuable part of the Mexican republic, was to pursue the most just and liberal policy towards it.)

"About the same time, the intrigues of the diplomatic agent of the United States, in Mexico, for the purchase of the province, still further aroused the national jealousy, and induced the authorities to persevere in their vexatious and shortsighted policy, until the feelings of the first settlers, who in the language of Austin, would have been, if treated with justice, true as steel to Mexico, were not only alienated but highly exasperated.

"Under this state of things, several petty collisions took place between some of the people and the military, in which the former were invariably successful; until, in October, 1832, they formed a convention, and in a memorial, addressed to the supreme government, respectfully set forth their various grievances, asserted their capacity for self-government, showed how their interests were sacrificed to those of Coahuila, and requested the separate state rights which had been originally promised them.

"While the Texians were thus employed, the intriguing Mexican general, Santa Anna, backed by the army and priesthood, was in the capital, busily engaged in a conspiracy, the aim of which was the total overthrow of the federal constitution, and the state rights for which the petitioners prayed, and the inviolability of which they, in common with every other Mexican citizen, had, on taking the oath of citizenship, sworn to defend.

"After illegally dissolving the general congress, Santa Anna procured the sanction of an unconstitutional assembly, the militia, the only remaining check on the government, or rather military dictatorship, commated. Several Mexican states rose, however, in arms against this usurpation; and while Santa Anna was engaged in coercing them, he sent General Cos into Texas, where he anticipated opposition, at the head of 1,300 men.

"It was not until Cos had actually proceeded to disarm and imprison the numerous citizens, and all the terrors of military rule were impending over them, that in solemn convention, the Texians deliberately resolved to take arms in defense of the constitution. Their whole population did not amount to 30,000 when they decided on this bold and irrevocable step. Untiring their small volunteer companies under Austin, they, however, immediately proceeded to attack Cos, in the fortified city of Bexar; and, though inferior in numbers, after several days' severe fighting, stormed the city, and obliged him to capitulate in the adjacent fort of the Alamo, which he did on the condition of evacuating the province, with all his troops. Thus successfully terminated the first campaign, and not a Mexican soldier remained within the borders of Texas; when Santa Anna, flushed with his bloody victories over the patriots of the other states, resolved to proceed there, not simply to re-establish his authority, or chastise the refractory, but with the avowed purpose of destroying the American settlements.

GREAT THREAT IS DENOUNCED BY POPE PIUS

ANSWERS CRITICS OF POLICY TOWARD ITALIAN WAR

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 6. (AP)—Pope Pius XI, dedicating his pontificate to peace, observed the 14th anniversary of his election to the throne of St. Peter today amid alarms of war.

The 78-year-old pontiff passed the day in comparative quiet. He devoted most of it to reading hundreds of messages of congratulation which came to him from virtually all the world.

Otherwise, in accordance with his practice of avoiding every unnecessary strain, he took no special notice of the occasion.

The Osservatore Romano, however, asserted the pope had already spoken and acted in the "great threat" against civilization—an editorial interpreted by informed sources as an answer to any possible reproach that the pontiff has not stopped the Italo-Ethiopian war.

"The great threat, hitherto vague and distant, seems to be flaring up as a devouring flame of every good of civilization," the Vatican newspaper said.

"There are some who still invoke His Holiness' word, as if he had not clearly pointed out the path of righteousness made by law and respect for all laws."

"There are some who say he is absent, whereas he has not only spoken but acted and labored, without stopping, actuated neither by egoistic aim nor by worldly scheme."

"There are some who want him to pronounce a condemnation when the whole world groans under tremendous punishment caused by its voluntary abandonment of God, of his laws of truth, justice and charity, and therefore of true peace."

Next Wednesday, the anniversary of his coronation, His Holiness will attend a pontifical mass in the Sistine chapel.

"It was not until Cos had actually proceeded to disarm and imprison the numerous citizens, and all the terrors of military rule were impending over them, that in solemn convention, the Texians deliberately resolved to take arms in defense of the constitution. # Spears Invited To Present Case In Controversy

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 6. (AP)—Dr. Clarence W. Spears, head football coach, was invited to present his side of a controversy raging over the troubled University of Wisconsin athletic situation, at a second hearing before a university regent's committee today.

Among the charges to be aired was one that Spears offered coffee spiked with whiskey for his football staff. Affidavits to that effect were presented to the regents by certain players. Other members of the team and staff denied the reports.

Charges were made and denied that the coach sent players into games while they suffered from injuries and that others had not had a fair change to show what they could do.

At the regents' first session, Dr. Walter Meanwell, athletic director, charged with encouraging a student petition for the removal of Spears, defended his policies as head of the department, admitted giving liquor to two players as a stimulant after a football defeat and explained agreements with Badger coaches through which he could remove them quietly.

ALL kinds of people choose Luckies, each for reasons of his own. But everyone agrees that Luckies are A Light Smoke of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco. It is a rather surprising fact that the leaves of the same tobacco plant may vary far more than the leaves from plants of quite different types. Chemical analysis shows that the top leaves contain excess alkalies which tend to give a harsh, alkaline taste. The bottom leaves tend to acidity in the smoke. It is only the center leaves which approach in Nature the most palatable, acid-alkaline balance. In Lucky Strike Cigarettes, the center leaves are used.
