Texas 'Wins' Grim Holiday Death Race

Highway Traffic Toll Passes State 'Quota'

By United Press International
Texas led the nation in highway deaths during the Labor Day weekend. The grim figures soared well beyond those predicted by the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS).

A United Press International survey for the holiday weekend showed 46 highway fatalities and a total of 61 violent deaths during the period between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Monday.

The DPS had predicted 35 persons would die on the state's highways, but the toll had passed this point by Sunday.

Several tragic multiple-fatality smashups accounted for a big part of the highway deaths.

While Texas led the nation in holiday traffic deaths, Pampans marked the Labor Day period without a serious traffic accident.

City, county and state police all reported a relatively quiet holiday period.

Police Chief Jim Coerner said the police department observed one of the quietest holiday periods in recent years. The Pampa Fire Department reported no calls made Sunday or Monday.

Six persons were killed in a two-car collision near Kerrville early Sunday. A car-train accident in the lower Rio Grande Valley took five lives.

A two-car crash near Falfurrias on Labor Day claimed the lives of Guy Shelton Mixon, 24, of Waco and Charles Chester Buller, 43, of Premont, Tex.

An automobile and an ambulance smashed together at a San Antonio residential intersection Monday night, killing Pvt. David R. Pennie, 22, of Ft. Sam Houston. The occupants of the ambulance escaped injury.

An impromptu horse race between a Fort Worth mother and her son-in-law at Azle Monday ended in tragedy. Mrs. Dovie Marie Harris, 35, fell from her horse, hit her head against a telephone pole and died.

E. E. Sprayberry, 57, of Nacogdoches, was crushed fatally Monday by a gravel loader that fell on him at a creek near Nacogdoches where he was working.

Ryan Thomas Shivers of Houston was killed when his pickup truck struck a guy-wire in Houston Monday.

Bernardo Cisneros Vela, 30, of El Paso, was killed Monday when his car slammed into a parked vehicle in El Paso. A car struck and killed Gromino G. Realmo, 43, about one half mile from Idalou, where he lived.

At least 40 others died in traffic accidents earlier in the holiday weekend. There were three drownings, seven died in shootings and stabbings and three others died in miscellaneous accidents.

The nation's Labor Day weekend traffic death toll hovered near a record for the last holiday of summer today.

With late reports of fatal accidents still coming in early to-

Vote Reported 'Light' in Gray, All Over State

Voting was reported "light" in all of Gray County's 13 polling places today in the election to increase the state Senate from 31 to 39 members.

Polls opened at 8 a. m. and were to close at 7 p. m. today. Gray County has an estimated 10,000 voters and local election officials anticipated a local turnout of not more than 1,000 voters.

The proposed constitutional amendment would:

1. Increase the size of the Texas Senate from 31 to 39 members.
2. Retain the present size (150 members) of the Texas House of Representatives. (Article III, Section 2 says that the House may vary from 93 to 150 members.)
3. Divide the state into senatorial districts according to population (instead of the present "qualified electors" as stated in Section 2.)
4. Eliminate the constitutional rule that no county is entitled to more than one senator (Section 25.)

In the immediate Panhandle the 31st Senatorial District (Sen. Grady Hazlewood incumbent) would be somewhat smaller.

The 30th district (Sen. Andy Rogers, incumbent) would be enlarged by several counties.

The eight new senators would go; one to west El Paso County; one to east Tarrant (Fort Worth) County; two more in Dallas County; one more in Bex-

Also in the group is defending champion Bobby Greenwood, Buster Carter of Pampa and Bill Asteford, Missouri Amateur champion for the past four years. In addition to attracting top golfers, this event drew spectators from many distant points.

LBJ Watches India, Pakistan With Concern

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson kept concerned watch today on the mounting warfare between India and Pakistan. But he also maintained a drum-fire of cheerful home news ranging from federal cost cuts to survival of the whooping crane.

Through staff assistants and by telephone calls to key officials in Washington, Johnson stayed in close touch with developments in the Kashmir crisis, including United Nations efforts for restoring peace which he fully endorsed.

Johnson Monday signed into law the $3.3 billion foreign aid authorization for the 1966 fiscal year which began July 1. This, at a time of concern over the India-Pakistan fighting, had a touch of irony attached.

Earlier this year, he postponed visits by leaders of both countries because he did not want to endanger their aid allotments.

Johnson was concerned at the time that congressmen considering the aid bill would take offense over statements critical of U. S. Viet Nam policy which had been made by India's Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri and Pakistan's President Mohammed Auyub Khan.

In signing the aid bill, Johnson issued a statement pointing to past success of the economic and military aid programs and asserting "we will continue to base our assistance on the sound principle that self-help and reform on the part of recipients is the key to success."

Final Planning Meet Is Set By Water Panel

Recommendations of Pampa's Water Study Committee will be finalized at a meeting of the 15-man committee at 7 p. m. today in City Hall.

The committee has been working on possible solutions to the city's Canadian River Water project which will be ready to deliver water to Pampa in January, 1968.

Principal decision for the water study group will be whether Pampa should immediately construct a filtration plant or wait a few years and increase the city's surface water production.

A filtration plant would make necessary a $750,000 bond issue. Expansion of the surface water production would mean additional water wells.

Entering into the study group's deliberations has been the best method of paying Pampa's annual obligation to the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority. The first $200,000 payment falls due in January of 1968.

The committee's recommendations are scheduled at tonight's meeting under the chairmanship of Travis Lively Jr., acting in the absence of committee chairman James B. Massa.

City Manager Jim White said today the recommendations will go to the city commission for further study.

The city commission can accept or reject all or any part of the study group's proposals.

The water committee is one of several study groups appointed last May by Mayor Jim Nation to assist city officials in resolving some of Pampa's major problems.

PAMPA AND VICINITY — Fair to partly cloudy and warm through tomorrow. Few thunder showers. Low tonight mid-60s. High tomorrow mid-90s. Winds southwesterly 15-25 m.p.m.

Hurricane Betsy Lies Stationary Over Wind, Sea Battered Nassau

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane Betsy, standing almost stationary in the central Bahamas, gave Nassau its worst beating in 36 years today. Street, the famed straw-roofed island capital, was pounded the hour after hour with ferocious winds and seas.

Authorities in Nassau said by telephone there was extensive damage but no loss of life reported.

U.S. Marines and Vietnamese Launch Huge Offensive at Cong

SAIGON (UPI) — Thousands today when their tractors of U. S. Marines and Vietnamese infantrymen today launched a big offensive against a suspected Viet Cong stronghold on a narrow peninsula 20 miles south of Chu Lai. The Allied troops were trying to trap the guerrillas with their backs to the sea.

A military spokesman said today's assault was comparable in size to the 5,000-man Marine campaign on the nearby Van Tuong Peninsula last month which killed 600 guerrillas in the biggest American victory of the war.

The Marines hit the beach at dawn today in amphibious tractors. By mid-afternoon, a military spokesman reported the Leathernecks had seized a 600-foot hill which dominates the Ban Lang An Peninsula 345 miles northeast of Saigon.

Marine planes strafed the landing zone before dawn and a barrage of heavy artillery shells was fired into the peninsula from the cruiser Oklahoma City, flagship of the U. S. 7th Fleet.

The offensive was dubbed "Piranha" after the man-eating South American fish.

The Viet Cong has been reported increasingly active in the Ban Lang An coastal region. Only Monday guerrillas ambushed and inflicted casualties on two platoons of Vietnamese soldiers 35 miles to the south.

The Marine amphibious forces met no opposition in the cover-

While the hurricane was not predicted to move more than 40 miles in any direction within the next 12 hours, its fringe squalls threw high seas and winds against the southeast Florida coast. A 60 m.p.h. gust was recorded in Miami.

Communications with Nassau were touch and go. One cable link was knocked out but telephone calls were still getting through occasionally, including one from United Press International at 10:30 a.m. EST.

At 11 a.m. EST, the Weather Bureau reported, Betsy's center was "essentially stationary a short distance north of Nassau," near latitude 25.2 north, longitude 77.4 west.

"No movement more than 40 miles in any direction is indicated during the next 12 hours," the midday advisory said.

The hurricane center was 190 miles east of Key Largo, Fla., and the Weather Bureau warned two million south Florida residents to be "reconciled to a prolonged threat from this slow-moving hurricane."

The Weather Bureau warned southeast Florida to expect winds up to 70 m.p.h. from intermittent squalls racing on the storm's fringes. Wind gusts up to 60 m.p.h. hit the mainland during the morning and tides were running as high as four feet above normal at some exposed places.

Officials at Cape Kennedy reported the storm had cut the vital cable communications linking the nation's spaceport with downrange tracking stations in the Bahamas.

Two other Marine patrols, fanning out Monday from Da Nang, killed five Viet Cong, wounded two others and captured three suspects.

Kennedy Celebrates Birthday With Party

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — Joseph R. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain, celebrated his 77th birthday Monday at a party given by his children and grandchildren.

Kennedy, father of the late President John F. Kennedy, blew out the candles on a birthday cake, and appeared to enjoy himself immensely as more than 20 of his grandchildren gathered and sang "happy birthday."

Carr has hinted several times lately he might seek the governorship in 1966.

Spears made his pronouncement Monday at a Labor Day celebration sponsored by the Odessa Central Labor Council.

Machine Age Is Challenge

DALLAS (UPI) — Automation represents a "challenging new kind of progress of our time," House Speaker Ben Barnes said Monday at a Labor Day breakfast.

Barnes said automation should be made the servant of man, rather than man's master.

"We know we cannot stop progress," Barnes said. "We must strive with all our ingenuity to assure that these modern miracles of technology will be the servants, not the masters of mankind."

Federal Judge Sarah T. Hughes presented labor leaders an American flag which had flown over the capitol in Washington.

Workers Battle Floods and Their Aftermath Across the World

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — Hundreds of west Omaha residents were evacuated from their homes today when a continuing downpour sent several creeks out of their banks. Seven inches of rain had fallen.

The center of the trouble were the Big and Little Papio creeks, where last year six persons lost their lives in a multi-million dollar flood.

The area hit hardest is approximately five miles west of downtown Omaha.

At least three bridges were reported washed away by the swirling waters. Others were closed to traffic. All traffic coming into the city from the west was routed on a single interstate highway. All other roads were barricaded.

The Civil Defense Agency and the Red Cross were pressed in to immediate operation. Schools, hospitals, churches and other buildings were used to house the evacuees. Many private families called relief organizations with offers of assistance.

Ham radio operators were standing by at six locations in southwest Omaha.

Breakfast was prepared for most of the evacuees at the relief shelters across the city this morning.

Thunderstorms rolling in from the plains dumped up to 7 inches of rain on the Omaha area in only a few hours during the night. More rain was forecast. There were no early reports of casualties.

A new flood moved down the Virgin River today where a group of 20 hikers were marooned for three days in the spectacular Zion Narrows following a weekend flash flood.

Meanwhile, five other hikers were feared missing in the 1,500 foot deep gorge.

The main group, led by Sheriff Otto Fife of nearby Cedar City, was without communications and low on food and clothing. They were last reported in a cave about mid-way in the narrows.

Chief District Ranger A. V. Anderson feared that the group would have been in the narrowest part of the gorge when the new flood crest hit if they had decided to leave the cave at sunrise.

"I doubt that Fife would start down, but I hope he doesn't get caught in the narrows," said Anderson.

Fife is a veteran of 26 excursions through the narrows. His party included several women

The new flood was caused by a steady rain that deposited 40 inch early in the day on the Kolob plateau headwaters of the river. The river rose as rangers prepared to enter the narrows to aid the Fife party and search for the five missing Californians.

The five left a shelter in the 1,500 foot deep narrows late Monday, as did 19 others, but they "disappeared."

Mark Richteig and Scott Atkins, 16 year old youths from Cedar City, Utah, were the last of three parties to emerge safely from the gorge, which was hit by flash floods early Sunday.

They brought word of the 10 hikers, including women and children, trying to "sit tight" in a cave known as "The Grotto," despite the loss of most of their food and camping gear.

The youths said the missing five were just ahead of them as they waded, swam and scrambled along ledges in the narrows during their eight hour escape trek Monday. They said the five went out of sight around a bend and "just disappeared."

A park service spokesman said the missing men, all from the Los Angeles area, probably decided to remain on high ground. He said, however, that trying to scale the walls of the gorge "would be likely trying to scale Everest."

Only three of the missing were identified and by names only — Bill Blair, Bob Rodman and Les Frazer.

Soldiers and civilians returned to round-the-clock sandbagging today with west-central Mexico bracing for a return of the disastrous floods that took 27 lives last month.

SHOW BEAT

Welk Rhythms Come in Color

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — The Lawrence Welk Show, over ABC, will be in color this year and the reason is Mrs. Welk. "We have a color set at home," Welk says. "And I noticed that Mrs. Welk always watched the golf show. She does not know a thing about golf — she just likes the color. So I decided I'd better put our show in color, too."
CALLAN, or MICKEY FINIC, KY
After his success with "Cat Ballou," Michael Callan figures right now is a big turning point in his life.

GRABS GOOD ROLE—It's a fat part for Roy Thinner, an up-and-coming actor who will play a lead role in ABC-TV's new series, The Long, Hot Summer.

Then I went through the sex thing in 'The Interns' and those pictures. Now 'Cat Ballou' and a picture I made in England, 'You Must Be Joking,' have given me a crack at comedy."
He figures he now has a good shot at being a leading man. "We're coming into the era of young leading men," Mickey says. "When I first came here, I was 22 — and too old. That was when it was the kids like Fabian who were making it. But now men my age are coming into style again."
Callan is a Philadelphia. His father ran a luncheonette in North Philly and Mickey had to help out — and earn $12 a week — so he could pay for his singing and dancing lessons.

"I hated it," he says, "but it paid for the lessons. I'd head off for my lessons or for auditions, and my father — I'll never forget it — would stand at the door and say, 'What are you wasting your time for?' But he would loan me the car so I could drive up to New York and audition."
An indication of his father's pride is the fact that Lou Callan has now changed his name to Callan, too. Today, he's running a successful pizzeria in Philadelphia.
ROY, or FAT PART FOR THINNES
Roy Thinner is an actor who knew what he wanted and went after it and got it. What he wanted and got was one of the leads in the new ABC series, The Long Hot Summer.

"It is one of the best parts ever written for the star of a series," Thinner says. "Usually, the guest stars get the good parts on television series; but in this one my part and Edmond O'Brien's are really good."
Thinner says he heard about the show and decided he wanted the role. He feels there is a resemblance between him and Paul Newman, who played his role in the original movie. "And I'm a good actor, too," Thinner says.

"Actors have to do that today," he says. "With rare exceptions, an actor in Hollywood today cannot get any where unless he goes after parts and works to get publicity and so on. Actors have to be businessmen today."

Migrant School Pilot Program To Be Tripled by State Board

AUSTIN (UPI) — The State Board of Education will use newly available federal funds to triple the size of the Texas Migrant School Pilot Program. It will make possible classes for adults.

The expanded migrant schools will operate in about 40 school districts, mostly in the agricultural counties of South Texas, service some 18,000 students in 1965-66. Education Commissioner Dr. J. W. Edgar endorsed the increase.

Locations for the new schools were not decided.

Last year, the program covered 6,000 students in 10 school districts, providing an enriched six-months-long school year for children whose parents move with the crops.

Jack Binion, a Houston board member, said the federal Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) will provide substantial assistance to the $900,000 budgeted state - local funds authorized for the migrants.

Binion also suggested, and the board approved, a plan to use OEO money for a special education and vocational training program for adult migrants. Binion said the state has 127,000 migrant farm workers, most of them unable to read or write and the majority practically destitute.

The adult classes would aim at giving the workers a proper footing in English and basic skills to qualify them for other programs such as the manpower training and development act.

Mower Stolen

Theft of a lawn mower valued at $33 was being investigated by Pampa police today.

The theft was reported by J. J. Rance, 100 W. Browning.

Rance told police the mower was taken from his garage sometime in the past two weeks.

Racing Planes Make Fuel Stop

Two aircraft, entered in the Trans - Continental Air Race, made a re-fueling stop at Perry, LeFors Airfield yesterday.

The aircraft, both WWII P-51s, were en route to Las Vegas, Nev., termination point of the 2,500 mile race.

The race originated at 9 a.m. yesterday at St. Petersburg and concluded about 2 p.m. in Las Vegas.

The P-51s were two of 20 piston-type aircraft entered in the annual race.

The Trans - Continental Air Race marks the beginning of the National Air Show which is being held this year in Las Vegas.

The P-51, which was later named the F-51 in the Korean conflict, flew more missions than any other type of aircraft in WWII and was the plane used by the famous "Flying Tigers."

California had 44, Illinois 36, New York 29, Wisconsin 27, North Carolina 26, Pennsylvania 21 and Ohio 20.

The Illinois and Wisconsin tolls were only one short of the state's Labor Day holiday record.

The previous national record for Labor Day weekend deaths of 561 was set two years ago. That mark also was the worst highway record for any summer weekend.

Pickett was valedictorian of the Class of 1955 at Pampa High School. He graduated from Rice Institute with a major in mathematics in 1960.

Mrs. Pickett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Gillette of Salt Lake City, Utah, attended high school in the San Francisco Bay area, California and majored in biology at Rice. They were married in Houston a few days after graduation and moved to Austin, where both had secured teaching fellowships and scholarships for work toward their Ph. D. degrees.

The young couple is presently touring Europe for six weeks. The tour will cover the Scandinavian countries, Central Europe, parts of Southern Europe, as far east as Istanbul, Turkey, and the British Isles.

Upon their return they will move to Palo Alto, California where Dr. Pickett will be associated with the Department of Plant Biology, Carnegie Institution of Washington on the campus of Stanford University.

swamp several cities in the area, and there were fears that dams already filled almost to overflowing would collapse under the weight of any more water.

Jose Hernandez Teran, Federal Secretary of Hydraulic Resources, called the situation "critical" after a tour of the three - state area by helicopter.

Fifteen communities were reported flooded and three others had to be evacuated in the face of rising waters. Two highways have been cut.

Jose Cardinal Garibi, Primate of Mexico, flew to the threatened city of La Barca and ordered the local church to buy a boat to rescue stranded villagers and provide shelter for them in the city.

A total of 24,000 persons were reported either isolated by rising waters, forced from their homes, or living in knee-deep floodwaters.

Hernandez Teran ordered work speeded up on sandbag dikes along the Lerma River, and floodgates opened in dams along the river.

Helicopter flights were begun to four isolated towns in Jalisco to supply them with food and medicine. Gov. Gascon Mercado of Nayarit appealed to the federal government for helicopters to use in evacuating villagers and hauling supplies.

Federal authorities said more than a ton of medicine had been rushed during the past three days to Santiago Ixcuintla - where floodwaters surged into the town electric power plant - to head off any repetition of the epidemics that took five lives last month. The epidemics were blamed on drinking water contaminated by hundreds of dead cattle and other flood - carried debris.

LAKES DEVELOPMENT

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Minnesota Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag said recently one of the first moves under the new Federal Public Works and Economic Development Act will be to establish an operating Upper Great Lakes development region similar to the Appalachian region plan. "Formation of such a plan and the development of an action program to the commerce secretary would entitle the area to participate in special economic recovery programs," Rolvaag said. The region would be comprised of northern parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

GOES TO RIGHT PLACE

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Not among the thousands of disappointed Beatle fans who missed seeing the English singing group when they landed at a remote spot at San Francisco International Airport was one satisfied process server.

The process server headed straight for the mopetts' limousine as they got off the plane and thrust a subpoena into an open window. The subpoena alleged breach of contract.

"He nabbed us in the boon-docks," Beatle Paul McCartney said. "Well, some people will do anything for publicity."

massive aid to India. The United States which has supplied about $6 billion aid to India and about $3 billion to Pakistan was reported considering a review of its program in an effort to end the fighting.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson held an urgent series of conferences in London with Indian and Pakistan officials but there was no indication of success.

Informed sources said Britain would reject Pakistan's appeal for British military assistance under security arrangements of the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO). No help was expected from the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) of which Pakistan also is a member.

A Pakistani military spokesman in Karachi reported downing of 24 Indian planes today in air battles over India and west and east Pakistan. He also reported a series of Pakistani air raids 200 miles southeast of Karachi in the Rann of Kutch area.

The Pakistani spokesman said Pakistan troops and armor had halted an Indian thrust in the Lahore area. He said the Indians attacked repeatedly in brigade strength near Lahore but were turned back.

Pakistan claimed its army was "in full and effective control" throughout West Pakistan although Indian forces still were on the Pakistani soil they invaded Monday.

At the same time Pakistan threatened a new invasion of India in East Punjab where Sikh religious leaders have demanded a separate homeland and have argued bitterly with India.

"The government regretfully announces the Pakistan army might march through Sikh territory," the statement said. This mountainous area is directly below Kashmir.

Steel Industry Enjoys Tranquility Following Turbulent Nine Months

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — members of the "big 10" basic steel producers signed memorandums of agreement pending formulation of final contract today.

The captains of the industry signed contracts and memorandums of agreement with the United Steelworkers union (USW) Monday night, assuring labor peace for the next 35 months.

Bethlehem Steel Corp. accepted in full the settlement worked out in Washington last week under the admonishments of President Johnson. The other nine

The signings brought down the curtain on a tumultuous negotiating period which began last December, when the union announced its contract goals, and reached a climax last Friday, when Johnson reported to the nation of the agreement.

The contract is effective Sept. 1 and runs through Aug. 1, 1968. It provides the 350,000 USW members—employed in basic steel with sizable pay raises, permits retirement with full benefits after 30 years of service and nearly doubles pension payments.

The union estimates its cost at 47.3 cents per manhour; the industry says it is worth 51 to 52 cents per manhour; government economists place its value at 49 cents per manhour.

Workers now receive an average of $4.40 an hour — $3.40 in wages and the remainder in benefits.

MONSTER MELONS—Martin Graddy of Evening Shade, Ark., shows off giant watermelons weighing 106, 108 and 110 pounds, all on the same vine, and they aren't the only over-size numbers in his patch. He has 40 between 90 and 110 pounds. None tops his 1961 record, however—a 141-pound melon.

When Monty Agreed With God!

LONDON (UPI) — The London Daily Mail reported today that Field Marshal Lord Montgomery of El Alamein was said to have opened one of his war briefings with the following words:

"As Christ said in His sermon on the mount — and I must say, He was absolutely right."

Heinz Fortune Heir Found Dead

CHICAGO (UPI) — Clifford Stanton Heinz III, heir to the Heinz food fortune, died early today, apparently of self-inflicted gunshot wounds, police reported.

They said it appeared Heinz, 26, shot himself in the stomach and in the head with a .25 caliber pistol.

Four friends of Heinz, a student at the University of Chicago, rushed into his South Side apartment after hearing the shots and tried to save him. He died a short time later at a hospital.

The four had just left Heinz' apartment, apparently believing they had talked him out of a suicide attempt. Heinz had telephoned them Monday evening and told them he intended to kill himself.

Carol Ackerman, one of the four who rushed to the apartment, tried to treat Heinz' wounds as he lay dying under a kitchen table.

Sherman Chotowski, another friend, told police that Heinz had been morose recently and had been seeing a psychiatrist. Police found a note in a sealed envelope addressed to Heinz' father, Clifford S. Heinz Jr. of Los Angeles. Police said they did not open the note.

Heinz was the great grandson of J.J. Heinz, founder of the food company. His mother was Elizabeth Ball Heinz, who divorced his father in the early 1940's.

PREMIER RE-ELECTED — BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Lt. Gen. Amin Hafez, premier of Syria, Thursday night was re-elected chairman of the five man Syrian presidency council, Radio Damascus reported.

Plastic Progress No Heresy Charge Expected

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Huaraches — the traditional footwear that carried generations of Mexicans through life since before the arrival of the Spaniards — are on their way out.

The tough leather sandals are being replaced by plastic. The National Chamber of Shoe Manufacturers said cheap plastic shoes have reduced the number of huarache-wearers in the Mexico City area from close to three million to 30,000 — a 99 per cent drop — in the past few years.

The plastic shoes are now making inroads among the sandals-shod peasantry of the countryside, the Chamber said, and predicted the day is coming when there will be virtually no barefoot persons in the country.

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, Mont. (UPI) — The substance of the heresy charges leveled against Bishop James A. Pike of San Francisco probably will not even come before the Episcopal House of Bishops which opens its annual conference here today.

A responsible source said on the eve of the conference no charges are presently before the House of Bishops. A group of Arizona clergy accused Pike of heresy mainly because of Pike's views on doctrines of the Trinity, virgin birth of Jesus and the incarnation.

The bishop of Arizona, Joseph M. Harie, forwarded the accusations to church leaders but refused to sign it. Unless three bishops sign a charge of heresy, the machinery of a heresy trial cannot be put in motion.

The source said unless a bishop raised the issue from the floor, it would not be before the house for deliberation.

It appeared unlikely a bishop would force the issue because many, although not agreeing with Pike, feel the controversy could only hurt the American Episcopal Church.

THOMAS RECOVERING — HOUSTON (UPI) — Rep. Albert Thomas, D-Tex., is recovering "just marvelously" from surgery to remove a tumor in his neck, his daughter has reported. Mrs. Edward A. Lasater said doctors were elated at Thomas' fast recovery from the Aug. 7 operation. Thomas, 67, has undergone three previous operations and frequent treatment for cancer.

TWINS WEIGH IN — SHREWSBURY, England (UPI) — Twins weighing a total of 17 pounds nine ounces were born recently to Mrs. Constance Talbot, 37. She has seven other children.

One of the twins, a boy, weighed nine pounds five ounces. The other, a girl, weighed eight pounds four ounces.

A spokesman for Cross Houses maternity hospital said "They are the biggest ever born here."

Foreign News Commentary

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International
PARIS (UPI) — One of the toughest jobs in France is going begging at the moment — that of French ambassador to Washington.

Whoever gets it will be in the unenviable position of having to explain and defend to President Johnson the often unpredictable, prickly nationalist odd-man-out policies of French President Charles de Gaulle.

The job has become vacant following nomination of Herve Alphand, French ambassador in Washington since 1956, to the post of secretary general of the French Foreign Office.

Although nothing official has been said yet, two possible candidates have been tipped as being in the running for the Washington job.

Leading Contender

The leading contender is believed to be Charles Lucet, 55, a plump, balding career diplomat who has been head of the Quai d'Orsay's political department since 1959.

In that capacity Lucet has been in on a lot of French foreign policy - making during the entire six years of De Gaulle's Fifth Republic. He also has served two stints in the Washington embassy — one in 1935 as a young attache and the second from 1955-59 as minister counselor, ranking second only to the ambassador himself.

Lucet speaks good English. He also had an unblemished "Gaullist" record during World War II — something that still counts in making such appointments.

Other Possibility

The second most frequently tipped contender is Etienne Burin des Roziers, 52, who has been secretary general of De Gaulle's Elysee Palace since 1962 and, in that capacity, one of the general's closest aides and confidants.

Burin des Roziers is an Oxford-educated career diplomat with an English-born wife. His wartime record also is spotless. He was De Gaulle's personal aide - de - camp in London and Algiers in 1943.

In recent years he has held a number of important foreign service jobs, including that of ambassador to Poland from 1958-62.

Alphand and his socialite wife Nicole were close friends of the Kennedy clan but never seemed to hit it off with the Johnsons.

Nonetheless, officials here agree that whoever succeeds Alphand will not have an easy row to hoe.

IZVESTIA RAPS GAMBLING MOSCOW (UPI)—Izvestia, the official newspaper of the Soviet government, recently harped on the evils of gambling and took special aim at slot machines.

In a front page report on slot machines in Britain, Izvestia said, "The one-armed bandits literally kill their victim with one blow."

"The vast majority of the people ruin themselves at this game," the newspaper said. "Many of them leave in its electronic bowels their entire pay in the fervor of the irreplaceable gambling fever."

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

After having said in a recent column that I could find no record of a person having three kidneys, I have received over a dozen letters from readers who themselves have, or have relatives who have, three or even four kidneys. Usually the extra kidney is smaller than normal. Often it is also nonfunctioning and when this is the case it is usually removed because such a kidney is highly susceptible to cancer.

Q—I am a housewife, 56. My doctor says that bony spurs are forming on my spine. Shouldn't I be on a low calcium diet?

A—When bony spurs form on the spine, often there are no symptoms and the spurs are found only when an X-ray film is made for some other purpose. If, however, you have much backache, heat and massage are the best treatment. A brace or orthopedic corset may also give you relief.

Q—Odd as it may seem a low-calcium diet is not recommended because this may lead to a loss of calcium in the spine itself (osteoporosis) and a tendency for the vertebrae to collapse. This is especially common in women who have passed the menopause.

Q—My doctor says I have a bony spur on the under side of one heel. What caused it? Will it have to be cut out or will cortisone dissolve it?

A—Bony spurs on the heel may be a result of aging, the stress of carrying a lot of excess weight or weak arches. Nothing will dissolve them but cortisone may take away any inflammation surrounding them and relieve your pain. If this doesn't work and the pain is severe, surgical removal of the spur is the treatment of choice.

Q—Should a sebaceous cyst continue to drain for six months after it has been lanced?

A—No. If you have such a lesion (also called a wen) you should either have it completely removed or find out what germ is causing the infection so that appropriate antibiotics can be used.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M. D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Dear Abby... Problem Boy Friend Has Double Standards

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my boy friend. He and I have been going together for a year. He says I'm the girl he wants to marry, but first he wants a "taste of life." When I counter with the same general idea, he says he is not at all for that — he loves me and doesn't want to lose me. I really don't care to go with other guys, but I just want to get him to change his mind about getting a taste of life. How come if it's okay for him, it's not okay for me?

MAGGIE: DEAR MAGGIE: Ask him to tell you what it takes to satisfy his appetite. And if he expects you to live without it, so can he.

DEAR ABBY: The question is this: Are married children at liberty to return to their parents' home with their families and regard their parents only as servants? Our married daughter visits us with her husband and children every summer. When she was single we would give in to her to keep peace. But we expected her to mature after marriage. If anything, she's worse now. Our home has looked like a cyclone struck it from the moment they unpacked. Our daughter sleeps until noon and I am expected to look after her children. Last night we had a big blow-up when Dad and I tried to explain that they were welcome if they waited on themselves. Our son-in-law exploded all over us. He is an obnoxious loudmouth and our daughter is afraid to open her mouth except to agree with him. How do we handle this delicate situation without alienating them entirely?

GROWING GRAYER: DEAR GROWING: By "giving in" to your daughter when she was younger and should have been learning respect for elders, you won the peace, but lost the war. It's much too late to train her. Either you must continue to give in, or give up hope of entertaining your daughter and her family except on her terms.

LUNCH TREAT: Caramel coconut bars are great as a lunchbox surprise. Heat 4 cups of puffed rice or puffed wheat in a shallow pan in preheated 350 degree oven 10 minutes. Pour into a large greased bowl. Heat 14-ounce package of caramels, 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine and 2 tablespoons of water in top of double boiler over hot water. Pour over puffed cereal, stirring until all kernels are evenly coated. Press into greased 8-inch square pan; sprinkle with flaked or shredded coconut. Cool; cut into 20 bars.

Berry's World: The only way we can destroy its lingering power over us is to decide that we have lost all interest in the kind of "goodness" Mother admires. But this decision takes time, courage and much humility.

DEAR ABBY: I am 30, married (happily), have four children, all healthy, average kids, thank heavens. My husband is a good husband, father and provider, but he travels so much! He is gone all week and comes home only for week-ends. Here is my problem: I think I am an alcoholic, or could easily become one. I've tried to cut down on my drinking but I seem to have less and less will power. When my husband is home, I have no trouble controlling my drinking but the minute he leaves I seem to need it. I don't want to worry my husband about this. He has enough on his mind with his job and being a father on week-ends when he's home. The thing that scares me most is that when my kids need me, I am "out." I can't confide in anyone about this. How can I handle it without worrying my husband? I am AFRAID OF MYSELF: DEAR AFRAID: Call Alcoholics Anonymous. They are listed in your telephone directory. Someone who has faced this problem, and knows it well, will call on you. If letters from my readers mean anything, I know of no more sincere, selfless and dedicated group of people. You owe it to yourself and your children to try it.

EXCITING WAY TO REDUCE at HOME

While You Relax And Watch TV

Sam McCullum, a former Royal Air Force Physical Training Instructor, is a living example of what the figuremagic Electronic Stimulator will do to make middle age spread disappear. I lost 23 pounds and 6 inches from my waist in 60 days." Mr. McCullum stated in a recent interview. "I used the machine just before bedtime while I watched TV. It even helped me sleep better and it makes me feel wonderful. I recommend the machine to anyone who wants to lose weight without going on a crash diet."

This stimulator, invented by Electronics Engineers, causes muscle contraction and increases the metabolism to use up stored fat calories.

The stimulation rate is 115 impulses per second and the tension developed can be 4 1/2 times that of regular exercise muscle contractions. The intensity of the stimulus is easily controlled and makes the machine easy to use by everyone regardless of their present physical condition. It can be used while you rest, read, relax, watch TV or even while driving your car.

Where muscles are flabby, the machine initially will take 1/4 to 1 inch off the hips or thighs and 1/2 to 1-pound of weight in an hour, depending on an individual's problem and how high he can turn the dial.

You can continue to use it to control your weight indefinitely.

These new machines are available for rental or purchase from: Figure Magic, Inc. Free demonstrations are given in your home or in the studio, 3318 Western, Suite 105, Amarillo, Texas.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday; 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch — Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all — results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Mexicans Deny Shots

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexican government sources today denied reports that a Cuban army officer machine-gunned the Mexican embassy in Havana and almost killed the Mexican ambassador.

The report originated with Cuban refugees who arrived in Mexico City last week after spending several months in asylum in the Mexican embassy in Havana.

"Osvaldo Cruz, an inspector general in the Cuban army, crashed his car into the fence surrounding the embassy, firing steadily with a machinegun," said one refugee, who claimed to have been in the embassy at the time.

"The Mexican ambassador saved himself only because he heard the shots and threw himself to the ground. He was not hit."

Other sources said the Castro forces were chasing a group of Cubans trying to seek asylum in the Mexican embassy, and Ambassador Fernandez Pamonas Escobedo walked through the front doorway just as the Cubans began shooting

World Festival Sees Midland Theater Group

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI)—The Midland, Texas, Community Theater presented Edward Albee's "The American Dream" Monday night as the American entry in the 17-nation International Amateur Theater Festival.

John House directed the Midland group's performance which was warmly applauded by the almost-capacity audience at the 600-seat theater.

Prince Rainier III of Monaco and Princess Grace, who attended the presentation, congratulated members of the American company afterwards.

Theatergoers gave equal praise to all five of the Texas actors: Rita Buckley, William L. Adam, Marv Lou Cassidy, Elizabeth Pennebaker and Martin Buckley.

House said after the performance that his group chose the Albee play because it required no complicated stage settings and called for a small cast.

He described it as a play presenting a universal problem not limited to Americans alone—the difficulty of communications among persons.

The current festival is the third of its kind sponsored by the International Amateur Association.

There is no competition among the 17 nations, each of which presents a play as a part of an exchange of ideas.

No prizes are awarded.

Driver Faints After Scare

LOWELL, Ind. (UPI)—When the old steam engine came over the hill during the annual Labor Day parade here, its bell was clanging with all the excitement and danger of old.

The steam engine wasn't real but the danger was.

Inside the semi-truck decorated to look like a steam engine, driver Robert Hager of Hammond, Ind., had discovered he had no brakes on his front wheels. The truck was coasting down toward the majorettes and little children ahead of him.

"Call it luck or a miracle," Police Chief Delver Hall said. Eight men immediately ran into the street and managed to bring the truck to a stop as Hager skillfully spun the wheel this way and that to miss people.

As several persons rushed to the truck to congratulate Hager when the truck was stopped, he stepped out and fainted.

Foul Play Ruled In Texan's Death

DURANT Okla. (UPI)—Bilby DeWayne Cagle, 22, of Denison, Tex., whose body was found floating in Lake Texoma, was murdered, County Attorney R. H. Mills said today.

The body of Cagle was found by Edwin W. Strickland of Gilmer, Tex. and Harold Whitney of Denison Sunday night on the Oklahoma side of the lake.

Mills said Cagle had been hit in the head with a "large flat instrument because it didn't break the skin."

FAMILIES REUNITE

BERLIN (UPI)—West German authorities said today 49 East Germans were allowed by the Communists to move to West Berlin during the period from Oct. 1 to July 31. Most of the resettlers were persons who were separated from their families by the Berlin wall, authorities said.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actress Phyllis Kirk who starred in television's "The Thin Man" series, turned up Monday as hostess of a new ABC-TV discussion program for the ladies, and showed she has a head-on those pretty shoulders. Her head is pretty too.

The program is entitled "The Young Set," and it is a one-hour day-time offering, Monday through Friday, presented from 11 a.m. — noon EDT. And even those viewers who are not ladies may find some moments of pleasant chatter, if the premiere was any indication.

I should qualify that a bit. If you are by now addicted to those television shows that offer serious two-minute discussions interspersed with songs and dances, all at a zip-pace and with a what-do-we-know tone, you may find "The Young Set" slow. There is none of that.

On the other hand, if you still remember what normal conversation is like and do not believe in arbitrarily cutting off a subject because it is allotted only so many minutes, you may not have minded the dull spots in Monday's talk — on the old topic of what it is like to be the child of a famous person — and enjoyed the fact that it was given the full hour.

The guests were Sydney Chaplin, son of Charlie; Noel Harrison, son of Rex; Jill Grossman, daughter of Dorothy Kilgallen, and Sybil Christopher, a discotheque owner. I don't know what Mrs. Christopher

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teenagers frequently complain that adults don't understand them. In my case, at least, they are 100 per cent correct.

I probably have a greater capacity for misunderstanding teenagers than any other adult in America.

It is not, therefore, with any degree of compassion that I find myself taking their side in the matter of long haircuts. I simply happen to feel that as a general rule long haircuts look a lot better than short haircuts.

The issue of haircut respectability for the adolescent male had to do with this discussion, but I don't ask too many questions these days.

Actually, this was supposed to be the second show today's — and the premiere guests were to have been Peter Lawford (Miss Kirk's costar in "The Thin Man"); Woody Allen and Helen Gurley Brown — but perhaps someone felt it was a shame to waste the premiere on a Labor Day opening. In any case, a little more astute thinking in this direction would have eliminated a Labor Day debut, period, as bad judgment.

Possibly the new series drew some inspiration from the popular syndicated video show, "Girl Talk," with the bubbly Virginia Graham as hostess. But Miss Kirk is not bubbly (except when appropriate), which is a relief, and she is not gushy, which is even more of a relief. She comes across as a woman of interest, who is certainly aware of the comfortable relationship of gossip with television — as was the shrewd Jack Paar — but who is also concerned with legitimate talk and current events. She is fast on her feet, but keyed to low pressure.

arose in my suburban neighborhood this week when 25 high school students were ordered to get their mops cropped.

Restraints Himself
(I was tempted to say the haircut issue "came to a head," but I was afraid some readers would not appreciate high class writing.)

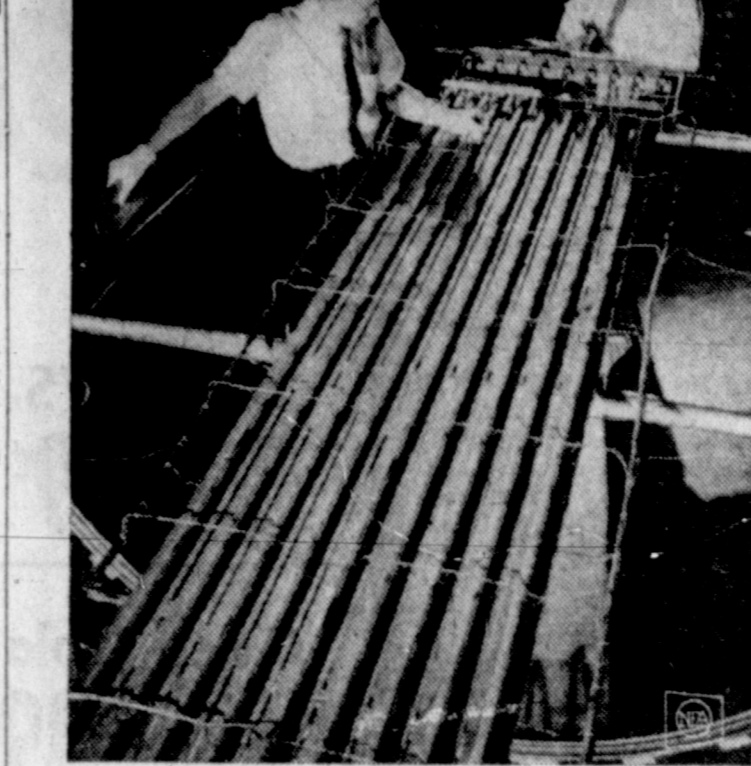

A few of the lads whose locks were shorn staged a brief protest demonstration, but school officials broke it up before it could develop into a full scale "grow-in." Or rather "grow-out."

I salute the school authorities for standing firm, but I rather regret that they chose this ground to do it on. If the dispute were to be considered strictly from a standpoint of esthetics, a good case could be made in favor of the students.

The so-called Beatle cut now so popular with the younger generation is undoubtedly repulsive and very likely unsanitary. Even a cowbird wouldn't nest in it. If you saw it in a barnyard, you would instinctively step over it.

Lesser Of Evils
Nevertheless, I think you will have to agree that the Beatle cut, with all of its faults, is less of an eyesore than the crewcuts and flattops that were in vogue a few years ago.

To permit a student with his scalp nearly peeled to attend classes while turning back

POWER FOR SPACE—Grids of stainless steel pipes such as this may someday provide electricity for space ships. those with flowing tresses is discrimination of the first magnitude. And also poor judgment of what constitutes tonsorial deformity.

The male headbone, as you know from looking at your balding friends, is one of the world's most unsightly objects when it appears sans adornment. Any trend that tends to provide it with more covering is a move in the right direction.

The school authorities, I submit, acted too late. If they were going to ban outlandish hairdoes for male students, they should have started by stamping out crewcuts.

Adjoining Homes Torn by Blasts

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Two explosions, apparently caused by leaking gas, ripped through neighboring frame houses within a 10-minute interval Monday night injuring 37 persons.

Most of the injured were bystanders who gathered across the street from the two-story transdwelling where the first explosion occurred. The second blast went off directly behind the crowd.

Eighteen ambulances carried the injured to three hospitals. No one appeared seriously hurt. Most injuries apparently were caused by flying debris.

MARINES SHIPPED OUT
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — About 1,100 Marines from Camp Pendleton boarded Navy transports Thursday for "transplacement in the Far East," a Marine spokesman reported. No additional details on the sailing were provided.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
Big labor and the Democratic congressional leadership probably outsmarted themselves when they threw the House rule book at legislators who opposed compulsory unionism without adequate protection of political minorities among the captive union membership.

Big labor demanded repeal of the right-to-work section of Taft-Hartley in payment for election services rendered. President Johnson agreed to that. He asked Congress to repeal that section of the Taft-Hartley Act, known generally as 14-B.

The Democratic leadership brought the repealer to the House floor under a rule forbidding additional amendment of any kind. Big labor's demand on Johnson was that Congress destroy all state laws against compulsory unionism; that it do no less than that and no more.

It was forbidden, for example, to except from compulsory union membership persons whose religious sects forbade them to join anything other than a church. There are such persons and such sects.

The Democratic leadership refused to permit to be offered a proposal to strengthen the Corrupt Practices Act prohibition against union expenditures or contributions in connection with federal elections. The language of existing law is strong and seems to the layman to forbid such union politicking.

The courts have not so construed that section of the Corrupt Practices Act nor has the executive department put any real muscle into its enforcement.

Also forbidden in the House was consideration of an amendment to protect a political minority captive in compulsory unionism against being compelled to contribute to political objectives opposed by said minority.

Big labor would not budge in that area of union money and political power. But the labor leaders were uneasy in the area of religious scruples. Word was passed to House members that the Senate would be permitted to take care of that matter.

Proceeding in a legislative straightjacket laced by the Democratic leadership, the House adopted the repealer by a narrow majority. The repealer would have lost but for the votes of three or four New York Republicans who, like Johnson, need union votes to win elections.

The contest switches now to the Senate where right to work forces will throw the Senate rule book at the compulsory unionists. Senate Rule 22 permits unlimited debate. Senate GOP Leader Everett McKinley Dirksen will invoke Rule 22. When the 14-B repealer reaches the Senate floor, the filibuster will be on.

Big labor and the Senate's liberal establishment will holler foul. That will make it all even at the foul line. The House rule forbidding any amendment other than repeal of 14-B was a foul if ever was one.

Two wrongs or fouls do not make a right. But in this instance two fouls are likely to retain the right to work principle because President Johnson and the Democratic congressional leadership cannot accept a long filibuster interruption of their legislative program.

The Congress is charging toward adjournment subject to enactment of remaining top priority legislation. Dirksen believes he has 26 other senators committed with him to talk to death the right to work repealer. He is confident that the administration will not have enough votes to impose cloture. It is beginning to appear that the unions are going to lose this one.

National Amateur Next Stop for Top O' Texas Champion

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor
"Nobody could gripe about his course this year. It was in great shape."
So said John Farquhar, the olden swinger from Amarillo after he had fractured par on the Pampa Country club course to win his second Top O' Texas golf title.

The Panhandle's leading amateur missed the course record by only two shots as he carded 64-68-66-72-270, which is 14 under par for 72 holes.
Farquhar won going away by five strokes over defending champion Bobby Greenwood of Cookeville, Tenn.

Greenwood carded 65-72-66-72-275 and made several charges throughout the day but his game went sour on the final 18 holes. Farquhar had nothing but praise for the Pampa Country Club course.
"The greens, the fairways, everything was in great shape and the weather never really got too bad," Farquhar said. Farquhar and several other of the amateurs entered in the tournament make their way to Tulsa today for the National Amateur tournament which starts Friday.

"I just hope I play as well," Farquhar said.
In this tournament of Amateur champions NCAA champion Roger Brown.

Hardy shot 70-73 Sunday for a tie for fifth with Amarillo's par 31 but lost it on the back side when Farquhar shot a four under 32. Both finished the first 18 in five under 66.
On the final 18 they both started off at par, but the par 4, 322 third hole actually decided the match.
Greenwood hit his tee shot up against a tree. The Tennessee golfer hit it out and under another tree, and took four shots getting down to the green.

He then three-putted for a triple bogie seven and the match.
Greenwood picked up a stroke on Farquhar on the final nine but both shot one-over par 72 on the final 18.
A blistering heat took some of the sap out of the golfers on the final 18 holes with none of them breaking 70. Seven of the golfers shot 1-under par 70s on the final 18 holes of play.
The first three finishers in each flight picked up $320 in merchandise.

Football Rally Set Tomorrow

The first of two scheduled football rallies to honor Pampa footballers and to renew fan support is scheduled Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Colorado Center.
Players will be introduced from 8-9 p.m. and a teen dance will be held from 9-10 p.m. Jaycees and Jaycee -ettes will thapron the dance.
Dr. Joe Donaldson will emcee both rallies with the other slated Sept. 17 in downtown Pampa.

Tickets for the Harvesters' first home game, Sept. 17, with Wichita Falls Ryder, are on sale by members of Pampa's many civic clubs.

TO THE WINNER — John Farquhar, right, gets his second Top O' Texas trophy. The Amarillo golfer won his first in 1963. Farquhar won the 1965 tournament with a 14-under par 270, just two shots off the course record for 72-holes. Making the trophy presentation is Joe Cree.

ON THE DRIVE — Defending champion Bobby Greenwood tees off the disastrous third hole at Pampa Country club where he took a triple bogie seven Sunday, which put him in second place in the tournament. Greenwood finished the 72-hole tournament with 275.

MONDAY'S MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Giants Move Closer; Twins Lead Cut

By United Press International
Did one of Don Drysdale's favorite weapons backfire?
The 6-foot, 6-inch side-windling righthander of the Los Angeles Dodgers often has been accused by enemy batsmen of throwing at their short-ribs, although Drysdale maintains "I never deliberately hit a batter in my life — I just pitch 'em tight. That's my bread and butter."
Two of Don's "right" tosses soared for wild pitches in crucial situations Monday and they opened the door for five San Francisco runs marked by two heated disputes, moved the Giants within one game of the National League-leading Dodgers with a 7-6, 12 inning victory. Cincinnati slipped 1 1/2 games off the pace and into a third place tie with Milwaukee by dropping a doubleheader to Pittsburgh, 3-1 and 4-2. The Braves tripped New York twice, 4-2 and 3-1, while Houston nipped Chicago 2-1, and St. Louis trounced Philadelphia 10-3 in the first game, before losing a 10-5 decision to the Phillies in the nightcap.

Dodgers Protest
In the 13th inning, winning pitcher Frank Linzy led off for the Giants with a single. After Dick Schofield fanned, Matty Alou forced Linzy at second base but the return throw to first failed to double Alou although the toss was in time. The umpire ruled Dodger pitcher Howie Reed failed to touch the base, and Los Angeles protested loudly.

The Pirates trumped the Reds on the pitching of Bob Veale in the opener and a bases loaded double by Willie Stargell in the nightcap to account for the second triumph. Hank Fischer (7-6) and Wade Blasingame (16-9) were the winners while Al Jackson and Jack Fisher lost their 18th and 19th games, respectively, for the Mets.
Lou Brock belted a three-run homer and stole his 58th base and Phil Gagliano hit a two-run roundtripper for the Cardinals in the first game to give Tracy Stallard his 10th triumph in 16 decisions. Adolfo Phillips hit his first-home run and three doubles to lead the Phillies attack on four St. Louis pitchers in the nightcap. Chris Short went the distance to win his 16th game for the Phillies.

Jim Wynn hit his 19th home run in the seventh inning off loser Larry Jackson (12-13) who was locked in a tight pitching duel with winner Dick Farrell (10-9). Farrell yielded only five hits, all singles. Two of them came in the fourth inning followed by a walk and Ed Bailey's sacrifice fly that produced the Cubs only run.
Take Nightcap Too
Smokey Burgess' 10th -inning single gave Chicago a 2-1 triumph in the opener over California and the Angels' Aubrey Gatewood wild pitched the winning run home with the bases loaded in the ninth inning of the nightcap for a 4-3 Chicago victory.
The Twins almost blew both games to Kansas City but rallied from a five-run deficit in the opener to win 8-6. The A's grabbed the nightcap on pinch hitter Santiago Rosario's ninth-inning sacrifice fly. 4-3. Baltimore swept a doubleheader from New York 2-1 and 6-2. Cleveland tripped Washington twice 5-3 and 4-3 and Boston topped Detroit 4-1 in other AL action.

Rose, Al McBean worked the last six innings of the nightcap to win his sixth game in 11 decisions.
Carty Homers
Rico Carty belted a home run, double and a single in the first game to pace the Braves victory over the Mets and Joe Torre delivered a bases-loaded single in the third inning of the nightcap to account for the second triumph. Hank Fischer (7-6) and Wade Blasingame (16-9) were the winners while Al Jackson and Jack Fisher lost their 18th and 19th games, respectively, for the Mets.
Lou Brock belted a three-run homer and stole his 58th base

15 LONGHORNS HURT

Most SWC Coaches Pleased With Drills

By United Press International
Most Southwest Conference football teams ran through light Labor Day drills Monday. The Texas Aggies were driven indoors by rain.
Coach John Bridgers, after looking at his Baylor Bears on film and on the field, made a few changes.
Bridgers moved Harlan Lane from split end to flanker back, shifted Paul Becton to starting hood and named Dwight Hood starting defensive right tackle.
He said he liked the running of Bill Hayes and that Hayes was the finest thing he saw in last Saturday's scrimmage.
At Fort Worth, the Texas Christian Horned Frogs used the last 25 minutes of a second session on hard-contact drills.
Coach Abe Martin said he was pleased with Halfback Dan Jones of Fort Worth and tackle Adon Sitra Jr. of Austin.
"It was about as fine a Monday workout as I have seen at TCU," Martin said.
Fifteen Texas Longhorns missed practice with injuries Monday. Most of the injuries were minor but Coach Darrell Royal said the practice time they were missing was very valuable.

The remainder of the team ran through a drill in which kicking and perfecting of offensive signals was emphasized.
Southern Methodist's Mustangs put on their fresh jerseys and met the touring Southwest Conference press.
They used an afternoon session in a scrimmage.

Paul Loyd, a sophomore halfback from San Antonio, scored three touchdowns of the seven made by the first two offensive units.
Heavy rains forced Texas A & M inside and they ran through their 10th fall practice in shorts and tennis shoes.

Jarrett Pockets $22,050 for Southern 500
DARLINGTON, S. C. (UPI) — Soft spoken Ned Jarrett pocketed $22,050 today as evidence that one way to win a Southern 500 stock car race is to let the hard chargers pass you by.
Jarrett did just that Monday, running a few miles an hour slower than the favorites. Eventually wrecks and mechanical problems forced all of them to the sidelines.
The tall Camden, S. C., driver virtually clinched this year's grand national racing title, it-sell worth $25,000. The win gave him a 2,900 grand national points, raising his total for the year to 32,326.
Rookie Dick Hutcherson, who had been in a neck - and - neck race with Jarrett for the title, blew an engine and collected only 116 points. Hutcherson now has a 29,096 total. Only a few more races with points remain.
A Plymouth piloted first by Buck Baker of Charlotte and then by his son Buddy Baker placed second, several laps behind Jarrett, and claimed $9,100 prize money. Darel Dieringer of Charlotte, who got plenty of lap money in his Mercury, placed third and pocketed $10,17-3.

'Baseball Immortals', TL 'All-Stars' Battle to Tie

HOUSTON (UPI) — Joe DiMaggio and Johnny Mize got good wood on the ball and Dizzy Dean and Bob Feller had control but Satchel Paige's "hesitation pitch" did not come off too well.
Carl Hubbell got Luke Appling to fly out.
When it was all over, it was 2-2. But that was not the point for domed stadium fans who saw the "Baseball Immortals" and the "Texas All Stars" shuffle and stumble to a tie.
37 Odd Timers
The "Old Timers Day" game brought together 37 of baseball's greats for two innings of baseball's past. The game preceded the Astros - Chicago game.
Twelve of the men whose names are in the Baseball Hall of Fame played.
The Immortals, managed by Frankie Frisch, opened fast. Tex Carleton gave up a double to Lou Boudreau. Gil McDoug-aid singled, driving in Boudreau. Menty Stratton got DiMaggio out on a fly that Heinie Schube caught just as he fell down in short left field.

Two Deans
The Texas all-stars pitchers got the side out in order in the bottom half of an inning in which both Dizzy Dean and his brother, Paul were on the mound.
In the second, the Immortals' Tommy Henricks and Babe Herman singled and Ernie Lombardi hit into a double play with Henrick going home.
The all-stars rallied for two runs in the second to tie the score.
Joe (Ducky) Medwick slugged a single through first and Eddie Robinson singled off Paige. Enos (Country) Slaughter got on with a fielder's choice and went home on a wild pitch.
Ernie Roy singled home one more run before the side was retired.

Mitchell Wins Labor Day Shoot

One of the largest black powder shoots ever held in Pampa was staged Monday at the Pampa Rifle range with several Panhandle towns represented.
In the men's shoot Jack Mitchell won top honors with a 100 score, followed by Cifarias Poff with 90 and Thad Bowdway with 61.
In the women's shoot Annette Horton won by two points with 43 and Dee Wilson was runner up with 41 and Mrs. Jack Mitchell finished third with 40.
In the junior shoot Lynn Gill totaled 40 points, David Brogren had 31 and Terry Horton was third with 19 points.
In the self - contained cartridge shoot Dee Wilson swamped husband Bill by 43-32 and Mat Ashley finished third with 30 points.
CLINCH PENNANT
PITTSFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — The Pittsfield Red Sox, a Boston Red Sox farm club, clinched the Eastern League pennant Monday by beating the Springfield Giants 3-1.

and Phil Gagliano hit a two-run roundtripper for the Cardinals in the first game to give Tracy Stallard his 10th triumph in 16 decisions. Adolfo Phillips hit his first-home run and three doubles to lead the Phillies attack on four St. Louis pitchers in the nightcap. Chris Short went the distance to win his 16th game for the Phillies.

Tulsa, Dallas Tie for TL Title

By United Press International
Tulsa's Oilers and Dallas-Fort Worth's Spurs play a "sudden-death" playoff game tonight at Turnpike Stadium to decide which will represent the Texas League's Eastern Division in a playoff against Albuquerque.
The Spurs, who were three games behind Tulsa three days ago, won all the games they had left, while the Oilers dropped all but one.
Dallas - Fort Worth beat Austin 3-2 and Amarillo whipped Tulsa 8-4 in 10 innings.
It left them deadlocked when the League's 77th season ended Monday night.

Dr. Schweitzer: Exemplary Life

To millions of people around the world, Dr. Schweitzer was that legendary good man who was helping the natives of Africa.

Few may have known that he was not only a physician but also a theologian, musicologist and teacher, the author of numerous books on religion, music and philosophy, a renowned performing artist on the organ and authority on the life and music of Bach.

In the eyes of the common people of the world, Schweitzer's work as a missionary doctor outshone all his other accomplishments. In his own life his name became a symbol of all that was good and best in the human race.

For a century wracked with national and racial hatreds, which produced monsters who raised genocide to assembly-line perfection, such symbols were few and desperately needed.

Albert Schweitzer was born in Alsace on January 14, 1875. After receiving a medical degree in 1913, he put aside his other brilliant careers to found a hospital at Lambarene in pestilential French Equatorial Africa.

Africa then was in the heyday of colonialism, having been freshly carved up into possessions by the European powers. Schweitzer was the missionary, the healer, who has always followed in the tracks of the conquistadors, the type of man who brings to the people rather than taking from them.

In his later years, the almost saintly Schweitzer was occasionally the object of criticism from both Africans and Europeans. Some of the former, struggling for national independence and no longer wishing to be considered "the white man's burden," saw in him an example of the white man's superiority and condescension.

Debunkers among the latter pointed to his outmoded medical methods, his autocratic rule of his hospital, his lack of sympathy for the changes sweeping Africa.

All of this was straw blowing about the feet of a man who towered in the esteem of the world. Albert Schweitzer will be remembered and revered for his self-sacrifice, his devotion to an ideal—"Do good for the pure love of good"—for his simple humanity.

His long life of 90 years was more than a bridge between two profoundly different eras of history. It was a bridge between peoples, between cultures—a bridge pointing toward a better future for all the world.

Parley With 'Conservatives'

Recently a Freedom newspaper editor had an opportunity to visit with a splendid group of patriotic conservatives. They were a confused group. They had ardently supported Barry Goldwater at the last election. They had supported him because it seemed to them that he favored military action against communists. And conservatives, rightfully, are disenchanted with communists.

But now, Lyndon Johnson, the man who defeated Goldwater, is engaged in carrying war to one or another of the belligerent factions in Viet Nam. As one of them expressed it:

"How can you be angry with Johnson when he is engaged in carrying out Barry's policies?" The editor suggested that since everything was proceeding just as they would have wanted it, they must be entirely happy with the President.

They shifted uneasily. One said: "Well, we're Republicans. And we know Johnson has messed up our economy and is engaged in running our money by more inflation, by giving away our gold reserves, and by regulation of industry. And we don't like that. But we sure do admire the way he is taking war to the communists."

"Well," it was suggested, "if Goldwater had won, and then proceeded to carry on the same policies he professed, and which you say Johnson is doing, could he have done it without messing up the economy, ruining the money by inflation, or by other economic forays against the market?"

"He wouldn't have been as active domestically," they averred. "He would have modified our tax structure."

"But didn't Mr. Johnson give us our first income tax cut in years?" we wanted to know. They conceded the point.

"Didn't Mr. Johnson call for a repeal of excise taxes, which even Mr. Eisenhower, a Republican president, did not?"

Their eyes dropped and they were unhappy. "Yes," one admitted. "And we have to agree with him in these moves. But we don't like Medicare and we disapprove of the Peace Corps and the anti-poverty program."

"Could Mr. Goldwater, as president, have carried on a policy of counter-aggression in Viet Nam or elsewhere without it costing the taxpayers money?"

"They admitted that wars cost a great deal of money. "Then," the editor suggested, "Goldwater would have had to continue taxing at a high level, even though he might have reduced taxes somewhat, as Johnson is doing."

"This is what bothers us," they confided. "We know that as Republicans we should oppose Johnson, but how can we oppose him when he is so right?"

"Do you believe that by killing preasents in Viet Nam Johnson is doing the right thing?"

"Certainly."

"Do you believe that communism can be halted if a program is undertaken which entails the killing of men who profess to be communists?"

"It's a great relief."

"Suppose that in process of killing these peasants, some of whom may be communists, it becomes necessary to nationalize our steel industry as Britain has done; suppose it becomes necessary to seize control of all manpower in the nation and force them into governmentally approved industries; suppose the government runs into such massive debt in the process that it bankrupts the nation, entailing the total elimination of free enterprise and even the halting of freedom of choice in the market; would you still approve war?"

"We certainly approve of war against the communists, and the sooner the better."

"But suppose, in order to carry on a full-scale war, we adopt every type of communist control in this country that Lenin imposed upon Russia when the October revolution in the Soviet Union succeeded. Would you still contend that the war which kills communists is halting communism?"

"How would communism be prevented from expanding, if we adopt it here under American management?"

"Well, it would be better under American management than under Russian or Chinese management."

"In other words, you are favoring communism, if only it can be offered under American management?"

They were troubled and did not answer.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank Markey

Just 64 years ago a short stocky man, destined to become President of the United States within 12 days, addressed the crowd at the Minnesota State Fair and said: "Speak softly and carry a big stick. You will go far. If the American nation will speak softly and yet build and keep at a pitch of the highest training a thoroughly efficient navy, the Monroe Doctrine will go far." The speaker was Vice President Theodore Roosevelt, who assumed the highest office when President McKinley died from an assassin's bullet. Wonder what the redoubtable "Teddy" would think about the state of the Monroe Doctrine today?

Today's smile: A stern parent said to her offspring: "I'd like to go through one whole day without scolding or punishing you." Little Willie replied: "Well, Mom, you have my consent."

Next month one of the leading auto makers will commence marketing a new car featuring a front-wheel drive. Described as a sporty-luxury model the new automobile will sell for about $4500 and will be the first American-made front wheel drive since Cord went out of production 28 years ago. Although we remember Cord cars vaguely, we don't recall the advantages of a front-wheel drive. At any rate, some folks will want them. . . . If you want to assure your kids of a college education, get a job with Walt Disney. The super-showman offers three full-tuition scholarships and five half-tuition grants to children of his employees. Selections are made by professional educators outside the Disney organization.

Thoughts while shaving: Just to show you that conservation of natural resources is becoming increasingly more important in public interest everywhere, a state program was recently established in West Virginia to set up 75 camps where 40,000 youngsters between the ages of 12 and 18 would be taught facts about conservation. . . . Don't be alarmed by the weight of the new coins. An alloy of nickel and copper is used in more than 200 different types of coins in many countries. It's the value that really counts. . . . One of the radical changes in air travel is the new regulation permitting a passenger to take two pieces of luggage regardless of weight. We've been plagued for years by the 40-pound limit established back in the 1930's. Under the new system additional luggage will also be permitted at rates ranging from $2 to $5 per bag, based on the fare paid by the passenger. . . . Although this year's coffee crop will be the largest in five years, there's no assurance from Uncle Sam that your coffee will be any better than the stuff you're now drinking, or that the present exorbitant price will be reduced. Since we get no consideration from the coffee merchants in either product or price, why not wake them up by switching to tea?

Memory Lane: Remember when Illinois All-American football star Red Grange was the most famous ice man in the country, a summer chore he performed to condition himself for the gridiron?

Country Editor speaking: "A lot of folks today don't know the difference between free speech and cheap talk."

"Do you believe that by killing preasents in Viet Nam Johnson is doing the right thing?"

"Certainly."

"Do you believe that communism can be halted if a program is undertaken which entails the killing of men who profess to be communists?"

"It's a great relief."

Meanwhile, in the plush suburb of Darien, Conn., a wealthy steel broker and his wife have just been charged with serving liquor to minors, because a youth died in a car crash following a party at the steel broker's home. The young driver's blood showed concentration of 12 per cent alcohol—just short of absolute drunkenness. Makes one wonder who is really civilized doesn't it?

France Preparing For Extensive Atomic Weapons Tests in Pacific

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — France is completing extensive military and scientific preparations for its first atomic weapons tests in the South Pacific next month. Slated to be tested are airborne bombs and warheads for POLARIS-type submarine missiles ranging from 75 to 250 kilotons. A kiloton is equivalent to 1,000 tons of TNT.

The French submarine missile, still being developed, is to have a range of 1,500 miles. The U.S. POLARIS missile, now operational in a number of nuclear-powered submarines, has an 1,800-mile range. Undergoing test are more advanced missiles with ranges up to 2,600 miles and armed with thermonuclear warheads.

Under President De Gaulle's grandiose $5.5 billion nuclear arms program, a megaton (1 million tons of TNT) thermonuclear bomb will not be tested until 1967.

Persistent serious design and development difficulties have hampered France's giant gaseous diffusion plant producing the enriched uranium required for thermonuclear weapons. The Pierrelatte plant is still operating at only a fraction of its planned capacity.

So far, France's costly nuclear arsenal consists of 18 75-kiloton atomic bombs and 30 MIRAGE IV jet planes. For long distance flights, this 1,500 mph medium range bomber has to be refueled in the air. As France has no aerial tankers, it had to buy them from the U. S.

The first of three nuclear-powered submarines will be launched by France later this year. Also, the keels of two more are being laid down.

PARIS-LISBON DEAL—Since February 1960, when France detonated its first small kiloton device in the Sahara, it has conducted eight known above-ground and an estimated 15 underground tests there.

The underground tests were of tactical nuclear weapons, with which French ground forces are to be equipped by 1966. These relatively small arms are comparable to those the U. S. Army has had for years.

As previously reported in this column, Britain, under an arrangement with U. S. military and atomic authorities, is testing tactical weapons in the extensive underground facilities of the Nevada proving grounds. Britain does not have adequate means for such tests.

These are the first foreign tests here. U. S. officials are in general charge, but the tests are being conducted by British scientists with their own nuclear material.

De Gaulle and Portugal's long-time Premier Salazar have made a significant military barter deal.

In return for building four submarines and four frigates for Portugal on easy terms, the latter has given France long-time rights for a missile tracking station on Flores Island in the Azores. France also sold at bargain prices a number of helicopters to Portugal for military use in its embattled African colonies.

De Gaulle's helpful generosity to Portugal is in glaring contrast to his treatment of the U. S.

Despite the $9.5 billion the U. S. has given France in economic and military aid since 1945, the $6.4 billion France still owes the U. S. in World War I debts, and the more than $200 million the U. S. spends annually in France on NATO defenses to safeguard that country (dollars which De Gaulle uses to drain off more than $1 billion of our gold reserves), several weeks ago he virtually gave away to Cambodia a number of propeller-type combat planes France originally got from the U. S. and which this country sought to buy back for use in Viet Nam.

De Gaulle refused to sell them to us, but handed them over for a token payment to Cambodia. IN THE MONEY — James Hoffa, twice convicted Teamster boss, is the highest paid union official in the U. S. — and probably the whole world.

In addition to $75,000 salary, he also drew $16,208 in expenses last year.

While leading the procession, the chunky, scrappy Teamster mogul is only one of a score of labor presidents drawing $25,000 or more in pay and expenses. In some instances, their expenses are in excess of half their salaries.

Every major union does handsomely by its top officials. Big labor pays big — both salaries and expense accounts. Following is this significant record from Labor Department reports:

President — George Harrison; Union — Railway Clerks; Salary — $60,000; Expenses — $3,522.

President — H. P. Wharton (Only college graduate among union chiefs. Attended Carnegie Tech.); Union — Operating Engineers; Salary — $5,000; Expenses — $9,099.

President — I. W. Abel; Union Steel Workers; Salary — $50,000; Expenses — $5,873.

President — W. A. Boyle; Union — Mine Workers; Salary — $50,000; Expenses — $9,003.

President — J. A. Sutcliffe; Union — Retail Clerks; Salary — $50,000; Expenses — $8,535.

President — Joseph Moreschi (At 78, oldest union president. Has held his 430,000 member organization since 1926); Union — Hod Carriers; Salary — $50,000; Expenses — $5,818.

President — George Meany; Union — AFL-CIO; Salary — $45,000; Expenses — $5,818.

President — Maurice Hutcheson; Union — Carpenters; Salary — $37,700; Expenses — $4,662.

President — Herman Kenin; Union — Musicians; Salary — $35,000; Expenses — $2,385.

President — John Murphy; Union — Bricklayers; Plasterers; Salary — $35,000; Expenses — $2,031.

President — David Sullivan; Union — Bldg. Serv. Employees;

Salary — $35,000; Expenses — $2,939.

President — P. T. Shoemann; Union — Plumbers, Pipefitters; Salary — $30,000; Expenses — $7,535.

President — David Dubinsky; Union — Ladies' Garment Workers; Salary — $28,600; Expenses — $9,150.

President — Walter Reuther; Union — United Auto Workers; Salary — $27,000; Expenses — $4,436.

President — Richard Walsh; Union — Theatrical Stage Emp.; Salary — $26,958; Expenses — $7,846.

President — Paul Jennings (At 47, the youngest president. Average age of the others is 64.) Union — Int'l. Electrical Workers; Salary — $25,958; Expenses — $7,846.

President — Russell Berg; Union — Boilermakers; Salary — $25,000; Expenses — $5,325.

President — Albert Hayes; Union — Machinists; Salary — $25,000; Expenses — $3,021.

President Joseph Beirne; Union — Communications Workers; Salary — $24,500; Expenses — $2,696.

President — Jacob Potofsky; Union — Amalgamated Clothing Workers; Salary — $23,697; Expenses — $2,756.

President — L. M. Raferty; Union — Painters, Paperhangers; Salary — $22,800; Expenses — $4,080.

President — Michael Quill; Union — Transport Workers; Salary — $22,500; Expenses — $6,683.

President — William Pollock; Union — Textile Workers; Salary — $18,856; Expenses — $3,170.

Steelworker insiders are saying recently-elected president Abel is acting like a one-termer. He has ordered drastic cuts in "casual" salaries and expenses. Under his defeated predecessor, David McDonald, these expenditures soared to $855,000 in the last half of 1964, an increase of $420,000 over the first half.

If Abel does retire in 1969, vice president Joseph Molony is the most likely successor. Next to Abel, Molony wields the most power in the USW.

The AFL-CIO payroll last year was $4,362,742, with another $990,583 for expenses.

FLASHES — Jake Jacobsen, Texas lawyer who joined the White House staff earlier this year, is the most likely successor to Lawrence O'Brien, Kennedy holdover, when he leaves as top liaison assistant in the fall to become Postmaster General. Jacobsen has established influential contact on Capitol Hill and is well regarded by Democratic leaders. . . . Sen. Ted Kennedy, Mass., is following the example of his brother Bobby, New York senator, and has hired a full-time press assistant — Richard Drayne, Boston and Washington newspaperman. Bobby's press man is Wesley Bartholmes, former Washington reporter. Also joining Ted's staff is Alan Novak, New York attorney and former clerk of Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart. Novak functions as legislative assistant.

Cannel At Bay By Ward Cannel

Mind Over Matter, and Such NEW YORK (NEA) — One of the great benefits of writing a column, we have found, is that you get a lot of new books free in hopes that you will review them in the newspaper.

In this way we have amassed a rather impressive home library at a saving of many hundreds of dollars and 95 cents. And on that account we are deeply indebted to the publisher who sends us all these books.

We have not been able to review any of them, however, because it is impossible to read one of his books faster than he can publish another. But from what we have managed to get through, we can heartily recommend the following several as excellent examples of all:

The Power of Your Subconscious Mind; The Miracle of Mind Dynamics; Secrets of Mental Magic — How to Use Your Full Power of Mind; The Wisdom of Your Subconscious Mind; Psycho — Cybernetics; The Magic Power of Self-Image Psychology; The Knack of Using Your Subconscious Mind.

What these books contain is most easily described by simply reprinting the front cover of our favorite in its entirety:

"Money — Honors — Fame — every goal in life is within your reach when you discover THE MILLION DOLLAR SECRET THAT LIES HIDDEN WITHIN YOUR MIND. Here is the magic wand that stirs into life the sleeping giant of your unlimited psychic power. . . . the secret that summons forth awesome powers now buried deep in your mind. . . . powers you never knew you possessed. . . . powers that actually MATERIALIZE riches for you!"

Now, we must confess to having been extremely skeptical about these promises when our library began. But over the past half-year or so, we have become more and more convinced that there is quite a bit to be said for this sort of book — and for the people who read it.

To begin with, if you scoff at a title like "The Knack of Using Your Subconscious Mind," how can you explain the Honors bestowed on writers such as Bridget Murphy, Patience Worth, and Tom Wolfe?

If you deny "The Magic Power of Self-Image Psychology," where does that leave you regarding the Fame of Gen. De Gaulle?

And as to the rest of those books — "The Miracle of Mind Dynamics," etc — well, we have it on good authority that the Prentice-Hall publishing company is not exactly hurting for money.

All in all, we have almost wholly surrendered to the idea that there are awesome powers buried deep in the mind and, in fact, have proved to our satisfaction that they do indeed work as advertised.

We have not actually MATERIALIZED any riches yet. But then, it has not been our aim to do so. Rather, we have been summoning forth the sleeping giant for insignificant little jobs around the house in order to make friends with him.

When harnessing any natural force it is best to start out in a

Hunt for Truth BY H. L. MUMF

NATIONAL PRIDE LEADS TO LOYALTY

The reams of startling publicity given to the confused or malvolent agitators who object to our defending South Viet Nam against communist aggression could easily cause us to lose sight of the devotion and loyalty of the great majority of American young people, especially on the fighting front. We need to pay much more attention to how the best of our young men who are asked to risk their lives really feel about it.

American boys have repeatedly written home from Viet Nam making it crystal clear to their families and friends, and in some cases through letters to newspapers, that they are still proud to fight for America and in defense against brutal, naked aggression in a foreign land allied with us.

All the years of false and twisted teaching by those who scorn patriotism, all the pseudo-sophistication of those who sneer that it is no longer "fashionable" to "wave the flag," all the scorn and the scoffing have not yet eradicated this true, native patriotic feeling in those who may make the supreme sacrifice for their country.

This is the authentic voice of America we love, not the walling of the beatniks and the jitters of those who are terrified by any show of strength even in a good cause. Our men in Viet Nam face the reality of danger and death, not the mere shadows conjured up by the "peace" agitators at home. They know how great is the task before them, and they are proud to be given the responsibility of performing it.

small way, as Polly Adler always used to say. Consequently, our experiments have been childishly simple. We wait each evening after dinner for the wife to pour the coffee. Then we stir into life our unlimited psychic power and bring it to bear so that she is unable to reach out and pick up her cup.

That it works is beyond question. But we have to admit that there are still a few bugs in our application of the process.

For one thing, we do not know if it is better to operate the miracle of mind dynamics on others with your eyes open and burning ahead the way William Buckley does; or with your eyes closed the way Adam Clayton Powell does; or with your eyes neither open nor closed and a Transylvania smile on your lips the way Lyndon B. Johnson does.

And for another thing, we have not yet been able to keep the wife from drinking her coffee.

That does not mean the experiment is a failure. Quite the contrary. We have been assured by our books and our experience with successful people that the formula cannot fail. If anything has failed, it is the wife. But that, it seems to us, is highly unlikely from what we have read.

The only thing we can figure out is that somebody somewhere else is having a devil of a time trying to drink afternoon coffee. If that is so, would you please write in as soon as possible? We need your help for a great plan we have in mind.
