NEW TELEPHONE LINE — Construction on a new underground telephone cable that will link the northern part of Pampa with the main office is being laid under N. Cuyler. The line will join up with a similar line that has already been completed on N. Russell. The line will provide better telephone service to residents in the northern section of Pampa.

Communist Guerrillas Stage Savage Attacks

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist guerrillas today launched a savage series of attacks across the country. They overran a district capital, blew up three bridges, wiped out a Mekong Delta outpost and hit seven garrisons simultaneously within 25 miles of Saigon.

Overhead, huge jet transports from Hawaii streaked into a newly built jet airstrip near Pleiku carrying the first of 4,000 jungle-wise troops of the 25th Infantry Division. The reinforcements, from Schofield Barracks, are fresh from intensive anti-guerrilla training in Hawaii.

Government sources in Saigon meanwhile said the Vietnamese probably will accept a Communist offer of a four-day cease fire next month over the Vietnamese lunar new year. They added it would be as a gesture toward the nation's Buddhists, not the Communists.

Fanfani Stands Firm on Pledge To Quit Post

ROME (UPI) — Amintore Fanfani rejected today a plea from Premier Aldo Moro that he stay on as foreign minister. He "confirmed" his resignation in an action that could bring down the government and split the Christian Democratic party.

The "little professor" resigned Tuesday as result of a bizarre chain of events in which he was embarrassed politically by his wife's meddling in politics and because of reported Hanoi peace feelers relayed by an old friend.

Fanfani, 57, who also is president of the United Nations General Assembly, followed an abortive attempt to open peace negotiations in Viet Nam. The alleged Hanoi peace feelers were relayed to him by Giorgio La Pira who once lived in the same monastery, he did.

Moro asked Fanfani Tuesday to reconsider but Fanfani told him today: "Thank you for the telegram in reply to my letter of yesterday. It is your recognition that the foreign policy program of the government has been realized by the work I have done (which) increased my serenity at the moment in which I confirm to you my resignation."

In his letter announcing his resignation, Fanfani blamed his wife of 26 years, Bianca Rosa, and La Pira.

Harriman Takes Surprise Trip to Meet With Reds

WARSAW (UPI) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, roving U.S. diplomatic troubleshooter, arrived today in Warsaw which for years has been the scene of the only official contacts between the United States and Communist China.

Harriman arrived aboard a White House Presidential airliner accompanied by 17 aides. His arrival triggered diplomatic reports Harriman came to meet the Chinese Communist ambassador to Poland on talks centered on the Viet Nam War.

In Harriman's party was David Dean, State Department specialist on China who comes to Warsaw whenever Sino-American talks are scheduled. The embassy would say only that Harriman had come to Warsaw on "official business."

There were reports Harriman, Washington's No. 1 diplomatic trouble shooter, was accompanied by Chinese interpreters. The embassy said this could not be confirmed.

"You may expect a brief statement this afternoon on Ambassador Harriman's visit here—but it will not be a very substantial statement," an embassy spokesman said.

For a decade, Warsaw has provided the sole point of official contact between Washington and Peking.

John A. Gronowski, former U.S. postmaster general and new envoy to Poland, held the last such ambassador-to-ambassador talk Dec. 15 in a meeting with Communist China's Wang Kuo-chuan.

They talked three hours in what Gronowski called a "frank" discussion on Southeast Asia.

Carubbi To Run For County Judge

A. J. Carubbi, Jr., Pampa attorney, announced today he will be a candidate for county judge of Gray County in the May Democratic primary.

Carubbi issued the following statement: "With a pledge of dedication, I offer to the citizens of Gray County my services as their county judge — with a strong desire to serve all the people of this county by promoting sound and stable growth under a county administration dedicated to efficient services based on a sound fiscal policy. I believe I am qualified by my educational background, varied experiences and legal training to effectively fulfill the responsibilities of county judge of Gray County."

Carubbi was born Jan. 1, 1932, in Galveston, where he attended Kirwin High School. He graduated from high school in 1948, and entered the University of Notre Dame, where he received a Bachelor of Philosophy degree in accounting in 1952. He then spent two years in the U.S. Army before enrolling in the Law School at the University of Texas from which he received his LL.B. in February, 1958. Carubbi and his wife, Joann, moved to Pampa immediately following his graduation from Law School, and set up his own practice in 1960. He is now senior partner in the firm of Carubbi & Warner Attorneys. Carubbi is a member of St. (See CARUBBI, Page 3)

House Un-American Group To Probe Louisiana Klan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Louisiana will be the first state to come under scrutiny when House investigators begin taking a look next week at violence attributed to the Ku Klux Klan, it was learned today.

The House Committee on un-American Activities is scheduled to resume hearings Tuesday on the white supremacist organization.

According to sources, the second phase of the hearings will focus more attention on violence than the first phase, which wound up last fall.

The panel is expected to spend about a week hearing testimony on the Louisiana branch of the United Klans of America, Inc., the largest of several Klan organizations under investigation.

After Louisiana, the committee will move on to Mississippi and Alabama, two hard-core Klan areas, and wind up with Florida. About eight or nine weeks of hearings are expected, with some of the time to be spent on smaller Klan groups.

During its examination of the Louisiana Klan movement the committee plans to take notice of happenings during the recent civil rights activity in Bogalusa.

The Klan acquired almost unprecedented power in that city with members holding prominent positions in public and private life. A federal court obtained the names of many of them and issued an injunction prohibiting the Klan from interfering with activities of civil rights groups.

Trash Collecting Never Been Better

Public Works Director R. B. Cooke came up today with an economic barometer not often considered in the official statistics.

Happy days must be here again as far as the Pampa business economy is concerned—especially Christmas holiday business.

Cooke said Pampa trash collecting machinery has been overtaxed the first three days of the week.

"The trash collections have been nearly three times as heavy as they were during the first days following Christmas last year," Cooke said.

The director said it seemed that every trash barrel in town is brimful again as fast as they are emptied.

"Santa Claus must have been real good to Pampans," Cooke added. "We never saw so many boxes and gaily decorated barrels in the back alleys as we have so far this week."

Top Russian Leader To Head Delegation

MOSCOW (UPI) — Alexander N. Shelepin, No. 2 man in Russia's ruling Communist party, will soon lead a top level Kremlin delegation to Hanoi—a move that could spell stepped-up Soviet involvement in the Vietnamese war.

The scheduled trip of the 47-year-old veteran trouble-shooter comes on the heels of a new economic and military aid agreement with North Viet Nam and against the background of worsening Sino-Soviet relations.

The Soviet delegation was invited to North Viet Nam by the Central Committee of the Vietnamese Communist party and the Hanoi government, the official Soviet News Agency Tass announced Tuesday night.

The brief Tass announcement, however, gave no precise date for the trip or any other details.

Diplomatic observers here said Shelepin's forthcoming visit was regarded as further evidence of the Kremlin's hard-line position in the Viet Nam conflict. They said it could mean an increased Russian involvement in the war and noted that it follows the new aid agreement and renewed pledges of support for the North Vietnamese regime.

The fact Shelepin was named to head the delegation appeared to confirm signs that the ex-secret police chief has moved into the No. 2 position in the party, next to first Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev following a recent reshuffle of top Kremlin posts.

GOP Dusts Off Blueprint For Rebuilding Party

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After four long years, the GOP is dusting off its blueprint for rebuilding the party in the big cities.

The man in charge of drafting the blueprint is Ray C. Bliss, now Republican national chairman. He was Ohio Republican chairman when the GOP big city project was launched in 1961.

Bliss announced Tuesday that Republican chairmen from 17 cities would meet here Jan. 24 and 25 to discuss plans to do something about the report prepared in 1961. Another meeting for party chairmen in more than 40 other cities will be scheduled later.

After the 1960 presidential election — Republican leaders blamed the party's weakness in the cities for Richard M. Nixon's defeat by John F. Kennedy. Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, then national party chairman, named Bliss to head a committee to recommend ways to strengthen the GOP in the cities.

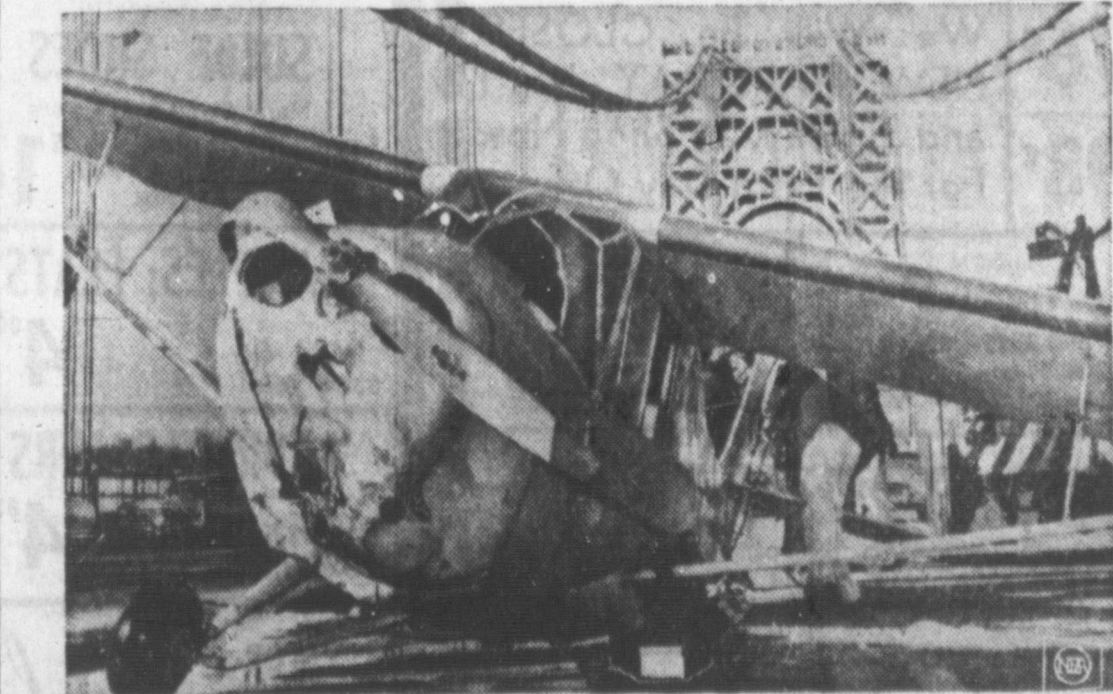

The Bliss report ignored issues, it concentrated instead on the nuts and bolts of politics — the need for fulltime professionals in party headquarters, precinct manpower, year-round fund-raising, candidate recruitment, building strength in nationality groups and other minorities.

HHH Heads for Manila on Diplomatic Trip

TRIP CONCLUDED — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, on a four-nation Far Eastern diplomatic mission for President Johnson, ended his 18-hour visit to Japan today and took off for Manila to attend the inauguration of Ferdinand E. Marcos as president of the Philippines Thursday.

TOKYO (UPI) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey concluded his 18-hour visit to Japan today and took off for Manila to attend the inauguration of Philippines President-elect Ferdinand E. Marcos.

The vice president, on a five-day "search for peace" in four Asian countries, left Tokyo carrying a Japanese pledge of help for refugees from the anti-Communist war in South Viet Nam.

affairs, has made other foreign trouble-shooting missions for Russia recently, including one to Egypt and Mongolia.

US Bolsters Oil Embargo Against Rebel Rhodesia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, bolstering its support of Britain's efforts to topple the rebel regime in Rhodesia, is moving formally to halt the trickle of oil from American suppliers to the African colony.

The Commerce Department announced Tuesday a formal embargo on oil shipments to Rhodesia. It also announced a restriction on the sale of shotguns and shotgun shells to the colony.

At the same time, other U.S. officials predicted the closing "in due course" of the only oil refinery in Rhodesia. Three American companies hold a 48.5 per cent interest in the refinery.

The oil embargo applies only to a negligible amount of oil and petroleum products sent directly to Rhodesia from the United States. Officials said the significant development was the cooperation of U.S. oil companies in helping to stem the flow of oil into Rhodesia from elsewhere.

The government asked the companies to cooperate when Britain declared an oil embargo against Rhodesia Dec. 17. The embargo and other sanctions are aimed at bringing down the regime of Premier Ian Smith, which illegally declared itself independent in November.

American companies also are cooperating in the U.S. oil airlift to Rhodesia's neighbor, Zambia, which is expected to start next week. Zambia has been caught in a squeeze by the sanctions.

The Commerce Department said the U.S. embargo was "in furtherance of foreign policy objectives and international commitments of the U.S. and in support of the British government's embargo on imports of petroleum and petroleum products into Southern Rhodesia."

It said all petroleum exports to Rhodesia now will require validated export licenses and that "it shall be the policy of the Department of Commerce generally to deny all such exports and re-exports."

THE PAMPA NEWS STARTING MONDAY

Walter Rogers Reports:

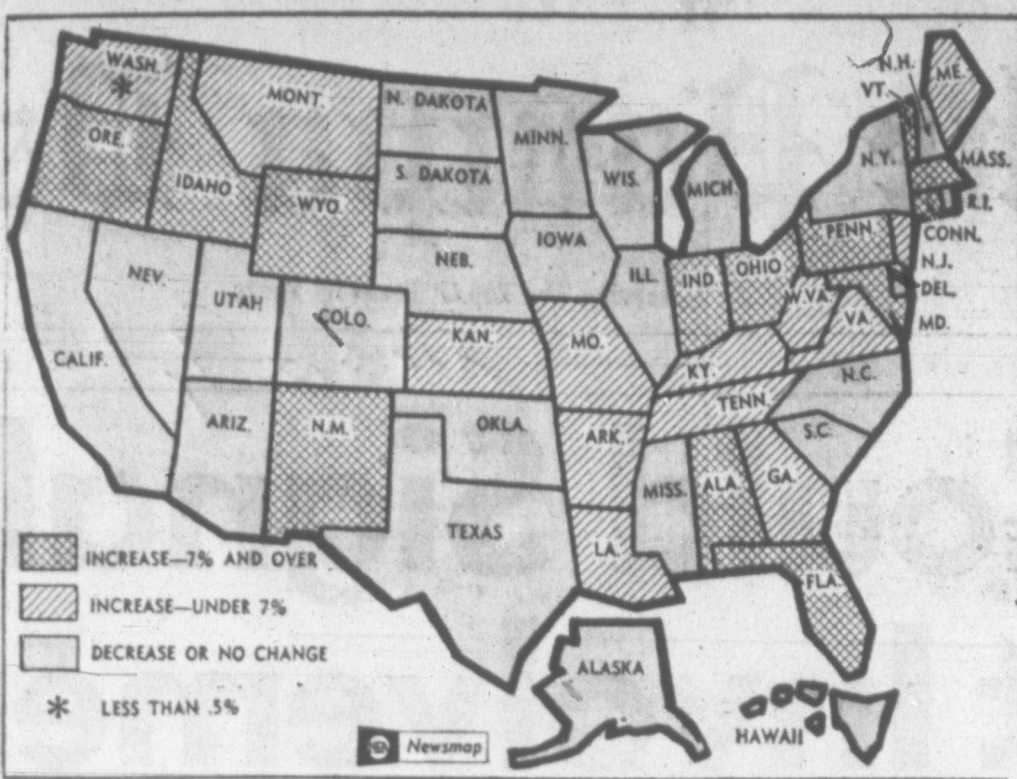

President Will Not Cut Space Spending

The President's budget proposals are still carefully guarded secrets not likely to be divulged until his State of the Union Address and Annual Budget Message are delivered next month to the Congress. Until these figures are released it is not possible to know in what areas the President might propose to make cuts in order to pay for the rising costs of the war in Viet Nam. You may expect, however, that Congress will give the next budget especially close scrutiny and probably will make cuts below the President's spending recommendations; it is customary for Congress to make budget cuts, although the reductions are never as great as many of us might wish. In the wake of the very successful Gemini 6 and 7 flights, a question uppermost in the minds of many persons is whether our space program is to be reduced. While it is too early to know definitely, I predict that because of their potential military importance, space projects will be pushed along at about the present rate, at a spending pace of more than $5 billion a year.

The orbital rendezvous carried out by Gemini 6 when it came within 10 feet of the orbiting Gemini 7 on Dec. 15 was one of the most important strides taken in our space effort. It advanced the goal of a manned lunar landing, the objective of our Apollo program. In Apollo, the plan calls for two astronauts to make a moon landing in a small craft, then to return to the main space vehicle in which a third astronaut will be circling the moon. Following their rendezvous, the three will return to earth.

The Gemini 6-7 rendezvous was militarily significant in that it advanced our objective of being able to overtake and inspect an object circling the earth in orbit. Possessing this ability is going to be vital to us in maintaining our defenses beyond the atmosphere. We know how orbital objects, manned or unmanned, can be returned to earth with relative accuracy. The menace is obvious; nuclear weapons circling in space, awaiting orders to plunge earthward, could become the next form of threat to our security. We must be able to send astronauts into space to overtake, inspect, and, if necessary, destroy any threatening objects placed in orbit by an enemy power.

One of the objectives of the Gemini program is to build a pool of astronauts skilled in rendezvous techniques, which are said to be more complex than techniques required for docking space vehicles. Our space program is directed at peaceful purposes. The planned moon landing is only one of many objectives, although it is perhaps the most spectacular. We should not lose sight of the fact that the scientific and technological advances that help make progress possible in non-military, peaceful projects also have a very great payoff in developing our defense capability. Sixty-two years ago this month the Wright brothers made man's first powered flight, and for years there was little thought given to military implications of aviation. Today we are very much aware of the military significance of space and dangers we would face if our own efforts were to lag behind those of the Communists. Just as the horse cavalry gave way to armored tanks, technological advances make it essential that we be ready with the proper response to any aggressive effective counter to a nuclear weapon hurtling down upon us from outer space; our defense against such a threat has to be mounted in space itself. We simply can not avoid the necessity of keeping pace in weapons development. As we look to 1966, we must recognize that we are not

MOTOR VEHICLE DEATHS EASE UPWARD—Motor vehicle deaths throughout the nation during the first nine months of 1965 marked a slight increase—up 1 per cent over the same period in 1964. Thirteen states showed significant increases in fatalities, 7 per cent or more, while 24 registered no change or decreases.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The General Services Administration recently announced that it was offering for sale about 5,689,800 pounds of castor oil from the national stockpile.

In this case, however, the action had nothing to do with President Johnson's campaign to hold down prices. Apparently, the GSA simply decided that it had more castor oil on hand than the national interest required. Which isn't too astonishing.

A little castor oil can go a long way, depending on what you are using it for. The GSA said castor oil "is used in the manufacture of all purpose greases, hydraulic fluid, artificial leather, printing ink, soap and cosmetics."

More Famous Used

Maybe so, but that isn't what it was used for when I was a lad. In those days, virtually every bathroom medicine cabinet in America had its own castor oil stockpile.

This provided a mighty incentive for staying healthy. Particularly among small boys. Castor oil had psychological restorative powers that even exceeded its vaunted potency. Some mothers administer it not only for medicinal purposes but also to maintain law and order. The threat of being sentenced to swallow a spoonful of castor oil was a highly effective crime deterrent in the younger generation.

In fact, I have a theory that the rise in juvenile delinquency stems in part from the development of nostrums that are easily swallowed and fairly pleasant to taste.

Economic Lever
If the childhood memories of the nation's industrialists are as vivid as my own, President Johnson could use the castor oil stockpile as a powerful economic lever.

Let us suppose that the kewpie doll industry announces a 5 per cent increase. This exceeds the President's anti-inflation formula. He summons industry leaders to the White House.

"Roll back the price, boys, or I'm going to the stockpile."
"You're planning to sell government-owned kewpie dolls on the open market?"
"No, I'm planning to release 10,000,000 gallons of castor oil."
The memory of castor oil congealing in the gullet brings the room to the brink of panic. They quickly accede to the President's wishes.

Siamese Twins Doing Fine

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The Siamese twin girls born Christmas Day to Robyn and Gerald Mantonya are "spunky, full of life and moving around a lot," according to their father.

Mantonya, a film technician, said Monday that he and his wife chose the names Sheila Norine and Lisa Marie for the infants, who were separated six hours after birth by emergency surgery.

The father said the twins were being kept alive by intravenous feeding in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital and appeared to be thriving. The twins, who weighed a total of 12 pounds at birth, were joined face-to-face by a length of tissue. Their abdomens were open.

The twins were the first children born to Mrs. Mantonya, who celebrated her 20th birthday Sunday. Her husband also is 20.

Abandoned Child Found in Paper Sack Doing Well

HOUSTON (UPI)—"Miss X," a healthy baby whose strong lungs saved her life, was doing well at Ben Taub Hospital today. The baby was found in a paper sack in an alley in downtown Houston Monday night.

A doctor at the hospital said the little girl was no more than five days old, since the umbilical cord of her birth was still attached to her naked body.

Raymond Price, a cook in the kitchen of the Texas State Hotel, was working near the kitchen door when he thought he heard a baby crying. Price went through the door, which opens into the alley, then summoned a detective when he could not immediately locate the origin of the tiny cries.

The girl was found stuffed upside down inside a paper bag between the hotel wall and a large smokestack. The smokestack was about five and one half inches from the wall. "At first I thought it (the baby) was in bad shape," Ralph Lambert, a Houston policeman who works at the hotel as a security man, said. Lambert said the baby "was resting on its head and shoulder. But I reached in and pulled it out and it cried a little."

The baby, dubbed "Miss X" by nurses at the hospital, weighed in at six pounds and one ounce.

The little girl was in an incubator today, while Houston police were trying to find out who abandoned her.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Spear & Staff says that with or without the Viet Nam situation, government spending should increase in the coming year, balancing out any cutback in military spending. Inflation, the company said, remains a constant threat.

However, Spear said, day to day war news will continue to have some temporary effect on the market but should not have too much bearing on the primary long-term trend of the list.

Newton D. Zinder of E. F. Hutton says that, judging from last week's performance, the market will be more influenced by front-page news than the technical conditions which now exist.

Alexander Hamilton Institute said the recent decline in contracting volume, plus the continued rise in short interest, indicates the possibility of a year-end rally.

Houseboat Sinks In High Seas; 14 Rescued

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—The Coast guard investigated today the near tragedy of a holiday party of skindivers whose seagoing houseboat broke up and sank "like a rock" in heavy seas in the Atlantic.

All 14 aboard—mostly teenagers from Illinois—were rescued Tuesday after several hours in a life raft and skiffs 14 miles off the coast. They were spotted by a passing oil tanker, the Amoco Delaware.

The survivors said they had no warning the boat was in trouble until water began seeping through the floor boards and the vessel started to go down.

"It went down like a rock. It was halfway down before everybody was off," said Dick Peters, 21, of Oak Park, Ill., a passenger.

In addition to Peters, seven other passengers were identified as Marlene McCullough, Chicago, no age, Ross Norton, 17, Wilmette, Ill.; Jeff Feltman, 17, Skokie, Ill.; Richard Jaanas, 18, Skokie; Sherwood Williams, Chicago; Jeff Goodman, 17, Chicago, and Richard Lee, 17, Skokie.

The owner of the 75-foot Marana, Logan Lachance, 33, of Chicago, said he was about to return the boat to shore because of the rough weather from 8-10 feet seas, but that it started to break up.

Lachance said he purchased the vessel eight weeks ago to operate a package-plan charter service carrying skindiving enthusiasts to the Bahamas. He said he was licensed by the Coast Guard.

Police Search For Cattle Butchers

In the wake of the second incident in a month, Pampa area farmers are beginning a nightly highway patrol to prevent further butchering of beves along country roads.

The second such incident occurred Monday night or Tuesday morning at the Reuben Baggerman farm 15 miles south of Pampa. Baggerman found the remains of a 500 pound calf on a dirt road running along his farm. He valued the calf at $117.

The method of operation, Gray County sheriff's officers said, was similar to that in a case occurring near Pantex last month.

The farmers' night patrol will question any drivers found on farm roads in the area, officers added.

South Viet Opposes Ceasefire, Peace Talks

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese government is opposed to a formal ceasefire or unconditional negotiations with the Communists, Foreign Minister Tran Van Do declared today.

Other government sources said at the same time the Saigon government will probably accept the Viet Cong offer of a truce for four days next month during the Vietnamese lunar new year. They added it would be as a gesture toward the nation's Buddhists, not the Communists.

Do said in an exclusive interview his government was not against informal discussions "in the corridor" with the Communists, but was dead set against official peace talks under present conditions.

The foreign minister said the Viet Cong would not negotiate in good faith unless they were first convinced they could not win on the battlefield. At present, he said, they still hope to win by military force.

The probability of a truce, as proposed by the Communists, from Jan. 20-24, was almost certain, other government officials said privately.

The sources said South Vietnamese troops probably would refrain from firing during the new year holiday but no official announcement will be made until or unless it is suggested by the Buddhist leadership.

The Buddhists are sensitive concerning anything which looks like government favoritism toward the Roman Catholic religion.

Since the government announced a 30-hour Christmas truce after repeated pleas by Pope Paul VI, a ceasefire on the Buddhist new year becomes a political necessity.

Case Against Police Officials Nears End

By EDWARD J. COCKE, United Press International
NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The Justice Department was expected to complete its case today in the contempt trial of two Bogalusa, La. police officials and two deputy sheriffs accused of failure to protect civil rights demonstrators.

Two Negroes testified Monday they were dragged from their cars and beaten. One man said he got bitten by a police dog. "This sounds more like East Germany than the United States," Judge Herbert Christenberry commented at one point.

Murder Defendant Drops Damage Suit

HOUSTON (UPI)—A damage suit filed by a murder defendant against two Miami law enforcement officers has been dropped at the request of a lawyer for the complainant.

Melvin Lane Powers, charged along with his aunt Candace Mossler with slaying her millionaire husband Jacques Mossler, sued Dade County Sheriff's Maj. Manson Hill and Sgt. Charles Maddox for $100,000. He contended they hurt his reputation by sending out "prejudicial news releases," Harris County (Tex.) Sheriff C. V. (Buster) Kern and his chief deputy, Loyd Frazier, were also named in the original suit, but were dropped from it in September, 1964.

Monday, U. S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham dismissed the suit upon the request of attorney Percy Foreman, who asked Dec. 3 to have the money portion of the suit dropped.

The judge kept part of the suit that prevents officers from questioning Powers without a lawyer present.

Powers and Mrs. Mossler will be tried together Jan. 17 in Miami.

The government called 13 witnesses to tell about what they said was police brutality in the racially troubled paper mill town.

The government contends Police Chief Claxton Knight and Public Safety Commissioner Arnold Spiers failed to keep their men from mistreating civil rights workers and Negro citizens. The suit also named Deputy Sheriffs Walter Vertrees Adams and Sidney (Buddy) Lyons.

It was the second contempt trial in six months for Knight and Spiers. They were found guilty of contempt last July by Christenberry for failure to obey a court order to protect demonstrators. Judge Christenberry gave strict guidelines for police to follow in dealing with civil rights workers.

The government contends Christenberry's rules were violated Oct. 20 when police made wholesale arrests. The Negroes said the arrests were for no reason.

The four officials are charged with civil contempt and another hearing is scheduled for Jan. 4 on criminal contempt charges against Adams, Lyons and Police Detective John Hill.

Through Trucking Service to Coast Soon Available

Direct trucking service from Pampa to the West Coast will be available to Pampa shippers as a result of the purchase by Lee Way Motor Freight of a portion of the operating authority of Texas - Arizona Motor Freight, according to Reuben J. Hilton, local Lee Way manager.

The route-merger will give Lee Way direct service to and from the West Coast.

The purchase of the operating authority, a cash transaction, included terminals and equipment. It will provide single line service between cities as far spread as Pennsylvania and California.

The implementation of the new service will come about, Hilton said, as soon as new routes can be instituted by Lee Way.

Colder Weather To Strike Friday

Pampa basked in the second day of spring-like weather Wednesday and could look forward to another day of the same Thursday before colder temperatures move in Friday, the weatherman said Wednesday morning.

Hopes were high that, although the thermometer would drop, there would be little or no precipitation New Year's Eve in the Pampa area, making for safer highway conditions.

Fog and light rain lowered visibility to less than a mile for the second consecutive day today over the Texas High Plains and the upper Pecos River Valley.

In a five-day forecast, the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted temperatures 5-12 degrees above normal throughout the state with light to moderate precipitation over the weekend.

Overnight readings ranged from 26 degrees at Dalhart to 83 at Brownsville.

Skies were clear today in the country west of the Pecos, the Panhandle and a large section of East Texas. The rest of the state was mostly cloudy.

Temperatures Tuesday ranged from a high of 69 degrees at Presidio to 56 at Dalhart.

Pleiku

(Continued From Page 1) Infantry Division will be landing at several places in South Viet Nam in the next few days," an American military spokesman said in Saigon. "Initial elements landed today at Pleiku."

A spokesman at Pleiku said the brigade would eventually consist of three infantry battalions plus artillerymen, engineers, motorized cavalry and a support battalion.

The brigade is commanded by Col. Everette A. Stoutner of Keota, Iowa. The entire outfit is being flown here direct from Hawaii where the 25th Division is based. The division's other two brigades will remain behind, at least for the present.

The first planes to land, loaded mostly with equipment, touched down at Pleiku, headquarters of the central mountain region, 240 miles northeast of Saigon.

Rebel Montagnards Executed by Viets

PLEIKU, Viet Nam (UPI)—Two leaders of South Viet Nam's mountain tribes were executed by a firing squad today before 1,000 spectators for their part in the bloody Dec. 17 rebellion against the Saigon government.

The two convicted Montagnards, or mountain tribesmen, were bound to stakes set up before a wall of sand bags in the central market of this mountain city 280 miles north of Saigon.

A row of soldiers fired a volley and the prisoners sagged forward. An officer walked up and delivered the coup de grace with his pistol.

The tribesmen were among four Montagnard soldiers sentenced to death Monday for treason, murder and attempted murder. All had pleas for clemency pending with chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu, who apparently turned down the pleas.

Johnny Cash Pleads Guilty on Narcotics

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—Johnny Cash, the country and Western singing star, pleaded guilty Tuesday to a federal charge of possessing stimulant and depressant drugs. U.S. District Judge D. W. Suttle will sentence him later.

Cash was arrested Oct. 4 as he arrived at El Paso international airport to board a plane. He has been free in $1,500 bond since then.

He could be sentenced to a year in prison and fined as much as $1,000.

Harriman

Veteran diplomats here said they were surprised by Harriman's visit.

They coupled it with the post-Christmas stoppage of U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam. They said it pointed toward major diplomatic talks.

The Presidential jet carrying the Harriman party touched down at 10:55 a.m. Observers said the large number of aides indicated the "official business" was major.

Harriman's aides moved into the Europeski Hotel one of Communist Europe's finest. Harriman himself was reported to have gone directly to the embassy.

Harriman is a veteran of tough East-West negotiation. After serving Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman as a troubleshooter and later as envoy in Moscow, Harriman participated in the 1961 Laos conference under President John F. Kennedy and headed the U.S. team that negotiated the partial nuclear test ban pact in Moscow.

Earlier this year, he made a whirlwind tour of South America, for President Johnson to present the American case for intervention in the Dominican Republic.

Poland's Communist government has made no secret of its hopes of playing middleman to a Vietnamese settlement. Gronoski and other U.S. diplomats had given no hint Harriman was expected. Only Monday, Gronoski left Warsaw to visit the city of Poznan and he was not scheduled to return to the Polish capital until tonight.

Diplomats said they have not seen the Communist Chinese envoy in Warsaw for more than a week, indicating he may indeed have gone on his "vacation" to China.

Nine Men Believed Dead in Colorado Mine Explosion

REDSTONE, Colo. (UPI)—Methane gas exploded in a mine in the central Colorado Mountains late Tuesday night, killing at least eight and possibly nine men.

The men had gone to work at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the coal and coke mine. They were working overtime so they could have New Year's Day off.

Officials of the Chicago-owned mine said they could not understand how the blast occurred because of the many precautions taken to avoid gas pockets.

All of the victims lived in the area of Carbonade and Glenwood Springs. All were married and most had children.

Other miners went into the area immediately with rescue equipment and found the bodies. The men apparently had died immediately of burns and concussions.

A similar crew in another section of the mine was unharmed.

The mine, damaged only lightly, was closed pending the arrival of state and federal inspectors for an investigation into the cause of the explosion.

Police Chief Asks For Traffic Safety

In the wake of a tragic holiday weekend which saw the nation set new records for traffic deaths, Pampa Police Chief Jim B. Conner warned that Pampa accidents in December are running well above the 1965 monthly average.

With the New Year holiday weekend ahead, Conner asked that motorists make a special effort to avoid accidents.

"Although Pampa has not had a traffic fatality in a year, this is no time to be overconfident," Conner said.

He praised Pampa drivers in general, pointing out that the city leads all others in its population in reduction of traffic deaths according to a National Safety Council survey.

Most of the accidents recorded in Pampa in December have been of a minor nature, luckily, Conner said, but pointed out that the margin between major and minor accidents is slim.

He added that a concerted effort by all drivers could keep the City Hall traffic light green through 1966.

The vice president voiced his "grave concern" about the social and economic situation in Southeast Asia in general and emphasized the problem of refugees and orphans in South Viet Nam.

Humphrey called for "quick action in South Viet Nam if tragedy is to be avoided" and said the situation was "sick" in the sense that urgent medical assistance was needed.

Shortly after the interview was picked up by the international press, Ho through Hanoi Radio said the talk of peace moves was a hoax. Fanfani was bombarded with criticism both in Italy and abroad.

La Pira later denied the statements attributed to him by Miss Preda as "a lady unknown to me." The sharp-witted female editor in turn called the ex-mayor "The Holy Liar."

Finally, Fanfani quit, telling Moro of "unjust and unfounded" attacks on him and the "unexpected initiative" of a member of his family.

Dear Abby...

Odd Situation Could Land Him in the Pokey

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for ten months and am expecting any minute. Waldemar has lots of faults, but I love him just the same. Waldemar never goes out at night without me, but here is my problem. A friend of his told me that my husband is being unfaithful to me. He says Waldemar brings this girl to his (the friend's) house to make use of the spare bedroom during his lunch hour. She's a college student, but I don't know her name. Now I am thinking that maybe Waldemar put his friend up to telling me so I would leave him. This friend told me I could come to his house any day between 12 and 1 and catch them! Abby, I won't leave my husband, no matter what, even if I have to share him. Should I try to find out the truth or not? I live 1,300 miles away from my family and have no one to talk to.

DEAR TROUBLED: If finding out the "truth" won't make any difference, why bother to find out? You really should tell Waldemar that he should cut out his lunch-hour rendezvous with that college girl. If he's not familiar with the law, he could be put in the pokey.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter married a mortician. My sister's husband recently died. Will you tell me if my daughter was right in refusing to visit her deceased uncle because my sister gave the business to another mortician?

DEAR WONDERING: You daughter was dead wrong.

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and have just started going to boy-girl parties. At some of these parties, the kids play spin-the-bottle, but so far I have always sat out these games because I haven't had my first "real" kiss yet, and I don't want it at a spin-the-bottle game. Many of my friends think I am a poor sport. How do you feel about my ideas?

DEAR OLD: You've got the right idea. Hang onto it. A kiss should be a sincere expression of affection from a boy who kisses you because he has selected you. Kissing becomes cheap and meaningless (and leads to other cheap and meaningless acts) when it is "lost" or "won" in a game of chance.

DEAR ABBY: Why do parents let their small children, who don't even talk plainly enough to be understood, answer the telephone?

I know people who, although sitting right near the phone when it rings, let the little ones answer it just to keep them amused. Maybe I'm a coward, because I won't sign my name and I won't tell my friends who are guilty that this grieves me no end. If you think there are others who would also like to get this message across, please put it in your column.

A Veteran Talks of the Old Days in the Rag Business

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise
Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — A glance at any large group of women will be proof of the difference between clothes and fashion. Clothes are a necessity. Fashion is a luxury.

Today New York vies with Paris as the fashion capital of the world. Yet in the years before World War II clothes, not fashion, were the life's blood of New York's garment industry.

Ben Barrack, veteran manufacturer who assisted at the birth of fashion here, sat in his elegant Seventh Avenue showroom and reminisced about the industry's early days.

"Did you know that the first ready-to-wear street dress was not made in New York until 1913 or '14?" he asked. "Before that only shirtwaists were made. Dresses had to be fitted and sewed by dressmakers. Even in the '20s ready-to-wear was a young business. Every one was groping."

Women who read the fashion news today are familiar with the New York Couture Group. This is a trade association of leading manufacturers who show their designers' wares to the press twice a year in advance of the season. This gives the consumer a chance to know what to look for when she buys. And the clothes they show are FASHION.

But the forerunner of the Couture Group, the New York Dress Institute, was a horse of a different ilk.

"The Dress Institute," Barrack said, "started as a union label created to help a dying business. The theme was 'Don't be a one-dress Beulah.' The fight was against the then current trend to buy one black dress and a heap of accessories to change its appearance. Most of the dresses were low-priced and they were nothing to evoke raves."

New York, according to Barrack, got its real break when Paris closed down during World War II. Several things happened then.

Women who had their dressmakers copy Paris fashions had nothing to copy from. Seventh Avenue, seeing its chance, put their ideas out, but they are not entirely to your liking.

VIROGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — You are now able to hit on the right methods by which to get your routine work done very efficiently. Begin the new year properly. Buy the mechanics, etc. that are needed. Forget the dull.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Going out with some charming associate or friend to fascinating recreation will relieve those tensions that are annoying. Don't be extravagant. Put talents to work. Have delightful time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — By concentrating on fundamental affairs, you get them in order and remove possible confusions. Give attention to detail. This keeps you out of any possible mischief.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Be sure to handle correspondence which both intimate and business matters are concerned. Be careful what you write. Don't anger anyone. Use courtesy toward associates.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — If you talk over monetary affairs with kin, you get excellent advice and improve harmony. Do what you can to make close ties happy. You must be more practical.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18) — Provide you keep being so upset over some emotional affair, you can get clever ideas operating nicely. You require the cooperation of regular partners, if you are to gain your aims. Get it.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) — Getting into new outlets is fine, provided you first complete whatever is on hand. Keep your promises, etc. Getting assistance from wise experts aid to secure position you now have. Work hard.

dumb we were not too long ago," he recalled. "We were making women's clothes, but we never really studied women's figures."

"We draped on dummies and the dummies didn't have sloping shoulders. So dress shoulders is stimulated until someone stumbled on government statistics that gave us an inkling that human shoulders did."

Ben's attractive designer, who also happens to be Mrs. Barrack, feels that business today is stimulated because people are no longer sheep. They express themselves in every area, she observed. Design is important in everything from appliances to suits and obsolescence in every field is the result of continued creative designing.

"Everyone wants to be an individual," said brunette Mrs. Barrack. "And so we have Op-Art and wild busy patterns in fashion that have to be bad enough to be good."

She admits ruefully that elegance today seems to be a sign of age. "I wore a horizontal-skin black mink coat to a formal affair recently and felt terribly elegant when I started out. But when I looked around, I saw that the earthquake had caught on for evening, too — short, loose dresses, casual hairdos. I suddenly felt old."

But the kooky fashions will contribute something, her husband insists. "The Courreges look is great for the kids. Revolt in dress between age groups should exist. It's good."

"We are coming into a period where age groups will dress differently from each other. Why not? Their modes of life are different."

Ben is sure that older women will eventually realize they can look young without looking foolish. "You don't have to hike up a hem to make a dress look young, Mrs. Barrack maintains. "If you put the belts and pockets in unexpected places you'll have a new, young look."

And that's just what she has done for Barrack's collection for spring '66. In some designs pockets are placed at the fingertips, just a short way from the hemline.

Her fresh approach, striking prints and luscious colors have produced fashions that are chic and young. Yet there's not a kook in the carload.

Gardening News

By THELMA BRAY

Gardeners who rely on Bordeaux mixture for certain problems in their gardens may be interested in the following information taken from the book "Wanted: Amateur Scientists":

The fondness for grapes of the schoolboys of southwestern France had a lot to do with the course of mycology, the study of fungi, in the last seventy years. The boys often swiped clean the vineyard rows nearest the road. To discourage them the owner of a vineyard near Bordeaux had the bright idea of sprinkling on his road-side vines a foul-looking and foul-smelling mixture of copper sulfate and lime. One day in 1882, a certain professor of botany from the University of Bordeaux chanced to pass that way. He recently had taken up the study of mildew, a kind of fungus that attacks grape leaves. When he noticed that most of that vineyard was ridged with mildew but that the sprinkled vines seemed to be free of it, he put two and two together, got from the farmer the recipe for the sprinkled goo and gave to the world the famous Bordeaux mixture, the first fungicide. Ever since then the quest for more and better such poisons has taken up much of the time of professional mycologists."

Because this book includes several references of interest to gardeners, it will be quoted in future columns.

Not much can be done in the garden now, but one way to enjoy your garden is to keep food and water provided for the birds. If the food is placed outside a window so that members of the family can watch the birds feeding, much enjoyment can be derived by just sitting and watching. Since many homes have sliding glass doors or glass walls overlooking the patio, it is as if the little creatures were coming inside to visit. Chicken scratch feed is a good food for the birds and can be bought at feed stores.

Gift plants received at Christmas should be carefully tended to get the most value from them. Keep them out of drafts and away from cold windows at night and water them often enough to keep their soil always moist but not constantly saturated.

Houseplants with large leaves and smooth foliage such as Philodendrons, Dracaenas, Palms, Rubber Plants, and English Ivy benefit greatly if, at intervals, their leaves are washed on both sides with a sponge dipped in soapy water and squeezed out. This removes grime and lets the pores of the leaf "breathe" more freely.

If catalogs are desired from either foreign or domestic seedsmen or nurserymen, and you are not on their mailing lists, request them without delay.

The fact is, scientists need the help of amateurs — amateurs of all ages from eight to eighty, whose chief qualification is plain human curiosity. They need star gazers, fern gatherers, bug collectors, bird watchers, skin divers, experimental gardeners and many more. From archeology to zoology, there are dozens of both broad and narrow specialties in which anyone willing to work can make valuable contributions.

FOR THURSDAY, DEC. 29
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Despite many little annoyances and irritations you have the energy which you can channel by thoughtful intelligence to get out from under any sort of trouble by adopting means that do not leave you holding a bag of empty nothingness. Look straight at whatever arises and don't allow yourself to wear out your tired tissues.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Look to that fine acquaintance who can be the means by which to get yourself out of some very difficult situation. Avoid discussing whatever could cause you to have serious arguments with others. Be poised.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Being sure to follow every rule and regulation which applies to you can keep you from getting into trouble, which could be imminent. Be attentive for the most part. Officials are then more amenable to your suggestions.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — If you change your attitude, you are able to gain the confidence of new and important persons who can assist you in your career. Get out of that rut that is so boring. Find the right outlets for yourself.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Using your own good judgment is better than depending upon advisors who are not familiar with all the facts in your case. Trust a good friend who is loyal. He or she will help you with your ideas.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — A good associate will give you the low-down on some new plan that will put you way ahead of the game now. Don't be contented any longer. Go along with partners with more design into the clothes it produced. And, finally, in the early '40s the Couture Group was formed. Barrack was a charter member of this group clothes business.

How does this veteran of the rag race feel about the fashion business today? "It's like the theater," he said. "Every season a new show."

"You can't fall asleep in this business because you're always fighting something. This time around it's novelty fabrics. You have to know exactly how much you'll need before you buy—because the next batch won't match what you have left over after it has been dyed what's supposed to be the same color."

Barrack was the first to re-appportion the whole pattern to size when petite lines were introduced. Others simply shortened the waistline which wasn't enough for perfect fit.

Grandma Preserves Vacation Memories
By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY — When grandchildren come for a lengthy stay and without mommy and daddy, grandmas can keep in touch with the parents effortlessly. This is the way I do it. Before bedtime we jointly recall the events of the day and grandma takes notes which become "Our Diary." This running account is periodically mailed to the parents who then become a part of the children's experiences. Mother and dad save the diary pages as they are sent to them to preserve for the children a joyous memory of their vacation. Grandma, through this collective endeavor, has given her darlings the foundation of their first correspondence course.

—FREDA.

DEAR POLLY — My elderly mother had a mid-winter illness and it required some ingenuity on my part to keep her warm and comfortable while convalescing and yet not have the house unbearably warm for the rest of the family. She would sit by the hour cozy as could be in my daughter's sleeping bag. The long zipper made it easy to get in and out. The drafts did not bother her as she sat at a card table reading and writing, happy and comfortable.

—FRANCES

DEAR POLLY — When discarding a wornout or torn garment bag, I use the top frame for a bathroom laundry hanger. Cut away the fabric leaving an oblong frame with a bar in the center and two hooks. This can be attached to the shower bar or shower head with either two rings or a ribbon. I painted my frame to match the bathroom accessories. It is also good to take on a trip, to use for hand laundry, as it folds flat in a suitcase.

—THERESA

GIRLS — Do be sure to thoroughly paint the frame with good enamel paint so there will be no danger of rust spots that might harm the wet clothes.

—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Recently I received a beautiful corsage of carnations for being a winner in a 4-H Club style show. I wanted to save it so I used pure borax sprinkled around the flowers and between the petals to preserve it. When the flowers are completely covered with the borax it is left for six weeks and the flowers are permanently preserved. My mother did the same with a white orchid three years ago and it is still nice. I think this is so much nicer than pressing flowers, don't you?

—MARLENE

Marlene — I do think this is nicer. I have seen many beautiful flower arrangements that looked almost fresh but were made from flowers that had been treated with borax. Some people keep a covered box of borax just for this purpose but my understanding is that different flowers require different lengths of time. They have to be checked every so often.

War and the welfare states are likely to combine to break the taxpayer's back unless the government determines to operate always on the cuff. That would be a likely road to disaster.

President Johnson and his Democratic party are committed to the cuff in contrast to a pay-as-you-go system. That is the easy way for LBJ and company. But it piles up great problems for future generations. They will be compelled someday either to pick up the tab or to adjust to a repudiation of the public debt.

There are wooden headed citizens who will not believe that any such thing could happen. But it could happen right enough. And for all the wooden heads know, it may be happening right now. To repudiate the public debt it is not necessary for Congress or the President to say that debt shall be repudiated.

The way to repudiate a public debt is to inflate the currency until the debt has shrunk little or nothing. The process is so simple any schoolboy would understand it after reading a couple of historical chapters on defeated Germany after World War I. The Germans were charged with war guilt and were required by the Treaty of Versailles to pay enormous reparations to the victorious allies.

Germany proclaimed its inability to pay. The Allies demanded their tons of flesh. Germany's internal (public) debt was a great burden to the postwar German government. There began a currency inflation that reduced the German mark to nothing.

Pre-war value of the mark had been about 20 cents. In the early 1920's it was possible to buy hundreds, then thousands and finally millions of marks with one U.S. dollar. Germany's internal debt was paid off in those bogus marks just as the public or internal debt of the United States now can be paid off in depreciated currency.

For example: If you purchased a $1,000 U.S. government bond 25 years ago, the government could retire that bond now by paying you off in 43-cent dollars. Inflation would have depreciated your bond by about 57 per cent, more or more.

This is the sophisticated method of repudiating a government debt. It is a process that tends to destroy the middle class of any society. It embraces calamity beyond belief. But it could happen here if thrifless politicians continue to pile debt on debt.

It is a fact of life that the U.S. society, its defenses against internal and external danger, its health and its future can be no better than the value of its money. Depressed, disgraced, depreciated dollars can only underwrite a depressed, disgraceful, depreciated American way of life.

President Johnson is preparing a new budget which is expected to attempt to continue a big war in Southeast Asia and a big welfare state program at home. LBJ has forgotten the lesson he should have learned from the man he claims as his teacher, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

When the United States was gearing up for World War II, FDR told a news conference quite frankly that the New Deal was over; that his policy was win-the-war.

The liberal establishment reacted angrily as though stabbed with a hot poker. FDR laughed them off. LBJ seems less ready than was FDR to flout the liberal establishment.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Is it logical that a television network would greatly improve its programming if it could take shelter within a larger corporate framework, thereby lessening the financial pressures of ratings and Wall Street?

This matter is being discussed considerably lately. NBC, of course, is a subsidiary of the Radio Corp. of America. Now ABC is planning to merge with International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. And knowledgeable industry observers feel that this could mean that CBS might inevitably be forced to make a similar move in order to stay competitive—in short, so that it does not feel the pressure of having more limited resources.

To televisioners, the implications by those who are excited by the beneficial side of such maneuverings are that a massive corporate umbrella might enable a network to schedule higher class programs in greater number. The reasoning is that popularity ratings—which affect network incomes by altering the amount of advertiser charges—and stock market prices, which fluctuate for the networks according to the ratings, would assume lesser importance if ABC and CBS felt more secure because of such corporate umbrellas.

Theoretically, the potential benefit to the viewer sounds lovely. Practically this viewer feels that those who actually expect such major improvements are living in a utopian dreamworld. No matter how big, secure or excellent the company, its basic motives—like those of all basic business enterprises—are profit and power.

NBC, for instance, has hardly been ordered by RCA to sacrifice all for altruism. The network, for example, has been a major factor in RCA's honorable pioneering and promotion of color television, the parent company being a top manufacturer in the field.

In short, it is simply another case of disappointed but hopeful observers now grabbing, as always, at straws, for video-commercial video—offers little else to grab at. Hoping won't help. As always, commercial television will promise much and offer tiny tidbits, maybe a few added hours of worth, but certainly no major overhaul—in other words, nothing to go wild over. It can be no other way, for once a public treasure—in this case, the airways—has been turned over to commercial powers, the surrender has been consummated. Everything else is mere after-effect.

To change the basic system as it now operates would mean striking at the heart of the profit system, and of course no one wants to do this. Viewers, however, can look forward to the time, hopefully in the near future, when the educational television network hooks up its connections so that it can—like the commercial networks—broadcast a full schedule of programs across the nation, on the same nights, at the same times. This reviewer will welcome the arrival of such a situation so that the commercial network presentations can often be flatly ignored when educational television is superior.

LBJ, McNamara Review General Viet Nam Problem

By ALVIN SPIVAK
United Press International

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reviewed "the general Vietnamese situation" today including the truce that prevailed for 30 hours over Christmas.

But the Texas White House would not specify whether they also talked about the four-day-old lull in bombings of North Viet Nam or the Viet Cong offer to the South Vietnamese for a four-day truce during their new year's holiday which starts Jan. 20.

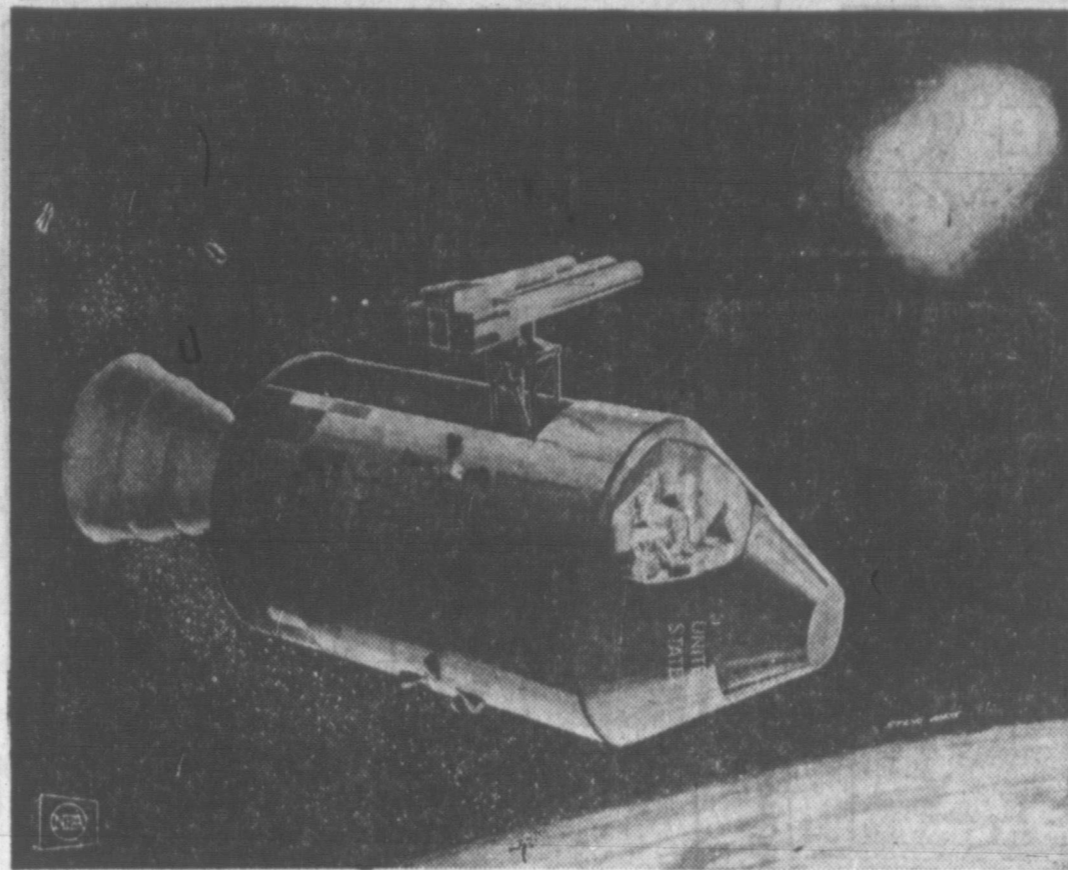

Over breakfast, then in a long early-morning walk around the LBJ ranch, and back at the President's ranch-house desk, Johnson and McNamara continued discussions that had gone past midnight Monday night.

Much of their conversation, according to acting White House Press Secretary Joseph Laitin, dealt with the rising defense budget. At the White House press center here, 65 miles from the ranch, Laitin told newsmen that the President also had talked with other aides about federal spending plans for the next fiscal year.

"There is some chance now—because of new hard looks at possible economies—it is just possible the President may have to ask Congress for a short extension on the deadline for submitting the budget," Laitin said.

Without an extension, Johnson under law would have to send his fiscal 1967 budget to Congress 15 days after the House and Senate reconvene Jan. 10.

BLOCKED SHOT — The Harvesters David Frasier (40) has this shot blocked by Plainview's Clay Woods in the fourth quarter. The Harvesters won the 3-4A conference game, 18-17.

Bing Drills 46 to Pace Syracuse But Vandy Wins

By United Press International
Dave Bing is the fastest gun in the West today, but Clyde Lee's slow draw is deadlier. Bing drilled 46 points through the net Tuesday night to break Syracuse and Los Angeles Classic scoring records but the Orangemen fell to second-ranked Vanderbilt 113-98 in the opening round of the tournament. It took Lee 18 minutes to draw a bead on the basket but when he found the range, Vanderbilt shot from a six-point deficit to a 49-44 halftime advantage. Lee's deadly shooting accounted for eight straight points in the last two minutes of the first half and he fired in 31 after intermission. Bing broke his own Syracuse single-game mark by one point and shattered the tournament record of 39 set by Utah's Billy McGill in 1961. Bing tied Jerry Lucas' field goal record of 16 while Lee's 39 points equalled McGill's performance. Billy Blair tipped in a rebound with two seconds left to give eighth-ranked Providence a comeback 81-79 triumph over Illinois in the semi-final round of the ECAC Holiday Festival tournament at Madison Square Garden. Boston College, which whipped Army 92-85 in the other semi-final clash, will face the Friars Thursday night for the championship. Louisville shaded host Miami 85-84 in the Hurricane Classic as Wayne Houston connected with a jumper at the buzzer. Louisville center Wesley Unfeld, the tourney's most valuable player, netted 26 points to share scoring honors with Miami's Rick Jones and Mike Wittman. Cincinnati jumped to a 36-28 halftime bulge and coasted to an 84-66 triumph over previously unbeaten Utah behind the 24-point performance of Don Rolf, and Ohio State overcame a 33-point outburst by Bob Leonard to beat Wake Forest 88-81, in non-tournament encounters. Iowa State and Kansas advanced to the next round of the Big Eight tournament. The Iowa State Cyclones hit 54 percent from the floor to shade Colorado 89-72 and Walt Wesley scored 24 points to power the Jayhawks to a 69-63 triumph over Kansas State. In the All-College tourney, top-seeded Wichita shaded Xavier 82-81 on Lillard Harris' 20-foot jumper at the gun and Virginia Tech rolled to a 101-74 decision over Texas A&M in first round games. Elsewhere, Detroit won the Motor City tournament by blasting William and Mary 80-65 while Princeton nipped Mississippi State 69-67 and Navy shaded Davidson 65-60 in two Charlotte Invitational Tournament games.

Top O' Texas Tourney Next for Harvesters

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor

Plainview forced Pampa's 'Go-Go' offense to play their game Tuesday night and the Harvesters did, escaping with a 18-17 conference victory over the Bulldogs.

The Harvesters see action again Thursday when they host Dumas at 9 p.m. in the second game of the annual Top O' Texas tournament.

The tournament gets underway at 7 p.m. Thursday with Phillips and Big Springs playing Friday night the affair will wind up with the Thursday night losers playing at 7 p.m. and the winners at 9 p.m. Admission to the tournament is $1.00.

Plainview followed the suit of Palo Duro and Caprock in trying to outstall the Harvesters and did a good job for more than three quarters.

But Gary Crossland's basket with six minutes left in the game gave Pampa a 16-13 lead, their biggest margin since early in the first period and the Bulldogs could never close the gap to more than one point. Baxter McAlester bucketed with just over five minutes left to cut the margin to 16-15. Then Steve Williams, who shared high point honors with David Frasier at five each, hit a pair of charity tosses to put Pampa back to a three point advantage at 18-15.

With 1:58 showing on the clock Clay Woods hit a basket to make it 18-17. Crossland missed the front end of a one and one for the Harvesters with 40 seconds left and the Bulldogs cleared the rebound and played for one shot. With seven seconds left Bob Bolding, who paced Plainview scoring with 10 points, missed a jumper and a follow shot by McAlester rolled over the rim as the buzzer sounded.

The Harvesters stand 4-1 in league play with four straight victories, good for second place, and are 11-2 for the season. Plainview is 1-4 and 5-11.

Pampa jumped off to a quick 4-0 lead on a basket by Mike Wise, their first and last in the opening half, and a pair of free shots by Williams. But Bolding hit for the Bulldogs, then David Cain put in a pair of charity tosses for Pampa and a 6-2 lead before Bolding hit two straight baskets to knot the score at 6-6 to end the first period.

In the second quarter Pampa led 8-6 on two free tosses by Frasier, this came with two minutes left in the half. But Bolding pumped in a couple of charity tosses to knot it 8-8 at halftime.

The Bulldogs took their first lead of the night at the start of the third period when Bolding bucketed to make it 10-8. But Cain hit his first basket to knot it 10-10. Plainview took their last lead when Steve Rigger hit a free toss to make it 11-10 but Williams hit a solo free shot to knot it 11-11 with 2:15 left in the period. Frasier then hit three straight free throws to make it 14-11 and McAlesters bucket with less than a minute left put

BURNETTE CARRIES BANNER

Arkansas Favored Over Louisiana State in Cotton

(EDITORS NOTE:) This is the last of 12 dispatches sizing up the college football bowl teams.)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Arkansas has had many outstanding backs from Clyde (Smackover) Scott in the mid 1940s to Lance Alworth of the current era, but tailback Bobby Burnette of the 1965 Razorbacks has topped them all in running and scoring. Burnette's attitude is similar to John David Crow, formerly of Texas A&M and now with the San Francisco 49ers, who said he would rather run over defenders than around them. But Burnette means it literally—he hurdes the defenders and dives over the enemy's goal-line defenses.

He's scored 23 times the last two seasons and he's dived over more times than he's run across.

Burnette, who is a hurdler in track, isn't as tough as Crow, as fast as Alworth or as shift as Scott, but he's just as potent in the Arkansas scoring machine.

Cotton Bowl viewers might tend to take him for granted as he rips off four, six or three yards a crack between the Louisiana State tackles New Year's Day, and chances are when the statistics are released, Burnette will have carried more times and gained more yards than any other player on the field. On the line, there are two All-Americans, offensive guard Glen Ray Hines as 235-pound tackle and 220-pound Loyd Phillips at defensive tackle. The Razorback who will direct the offensive contingent is quarterback Jon Brittenum, a fourth-year junior who is an adept passer and an excellent scrambler and ball handler.

He passed for more than 1,100 yards and directed a ground attack which gained more than 2,200. His main receivers are Bobby Crockett, the hero of the Texas game, and Harry Jones, who runs the

Aggies Crushed In All-College

By United Press International
Texas Tech won easily Tuesday night over New Mexico State, but Baylor and Texas Christian lost close ones to out-of-state foes and Texas A & M got whipped in the All-College tournament.

Those were the only Southwest Conference teams in action Tuesday.

Texas Tech whipped New Mexico State 106-87, taking advantage of the host team's loss of its high scorer, Mike Dabich, on fouls early in the second half. Dabich had 19 for NMSU. Tech's Dub Malaise, who found the opponents' men surrounding him when possible, scored 18. Tech had 43 per cent success on their field goals, compared with 40 for their opponents.

The University of Connecticut came from 10 points back and beat Baylor 96-88 in Waco. Connecticut's candidate for Junior All-America — Wes Bialosuknia — scored 28 points. Baylor's sophomore Russell Kibee had 26.

Idaho, behind the 37 points of guard Ed Haskins, edged Texas Christian 96-90 in the Lobo Invitational tournament at Albuquerque, N. M.

Idaho led at halftime 55-48, controlling their half. Texas Christian pulled even at 67-67 during the second half, but Haskins, who stands 5-11, got hot again. He stole the ball 14 times in the game. Gary Turner was high for TCU with 21 points and Mickey McCarty had 17.

Virginia Tech rallied late in the first half and smashed Texas A & M 101-74 in the first round of the All-College at Oklahoma City. Texas A & M could not get the scoring knack, and lost the initiative early in the game.

In other Tuesday night basketball, McNeese, La., whipped Texas Lutheran 76-55 and Howard Payne upset North Texas State 76-53. In the Pan American Holiday Tournament at Edinburg, Pan American smashed St. Edward's 87-60. Lamar Tech edged St. Mary's 82-80. Eastern Illinois edged Parsons 86-81 and Arkansas A & M beat Gustavus Adolphus, 79-76.

HIGH PRICED
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — A local newspaper said Friday that bidding for Johnny Roland, Missouri's star defensive back, has gone beyond $400,000. The New York Jets of the American Football League and the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League both drafted Roland, who cannot be signed until after the Sugar Bowl game.

League Play Slated In SWC Next Week

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
DALLAS (UPI) — The Southwest Conference, holding little terror for outside opposition, begins chomping up its own basketball brethren next week and the chase should be wild. Right now, there's not a super team in sight. The games should be close, the race should be close and drug stores should do a landslide business on anti-acid pills.

From here, it looks like Texas Tech at the wire by a nostril. But the Red Raiders are going to have to quit fussin' among themselves. All - SWC guard Dub Malaise is going to have to quit shooting everytime he gets the ball and Norman Reuther and Bob Glover must become more consistent.

Rugged Slate
Tech has the advantage of playing the toughest non-conference scheduled — Wichita, Kansas, Kentucky, New Mexico, Kansas State and others. It should help the Red Raiders "jell" faster than the other clubs.

The second spot should be a tie between Texas A&M and Southern Methodist. The Aggies are tough at home and have probably the best outside shot in the nation in big John (the Bomb) Beasley. This year muscleman Randy Matson will be on hand to mop up Beasley's misses.

The Mustangs gained invaluable experience last year in the NCAA playoffs at Manhattan, Kan. Their poor pre-season showing can be blamed in part on the illnesses of guard Denny Holman and center Carroll Hooser.

Should Polish
Coach Doc Hayes will no doubt have the Mustangs on the beam again when conference play gets underway. The Arkansas Razorbacks get the vote here for the fourth spot, followed by Texas Christian, Texas, Baylor and Rice. It should be a real scramble for a first division berth between all five teams, but none apparently matches the strength of the top three.

SPORTS NOTES...
Odessa Permian successfully shackled halfback flash Pat Sheehan when it beat San Antonio Lee for the Class AAAA football championship in San Angelo, but Texas A&M Coach Gene Stallings was still impressed. "I'd sure like to have that boy," he said.

Texas Tech halfback Donny Anderson is happy his college eligibility ends Dec. 31 in the Gator Bowl. The reason: Texas. He can make more money by spreading his bonus — it will be enormous — over an extra year, 1965. This he could not do if his team had a Jan. 1 bowl date.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

1965—Year of the Protest

We may remember this as the year of the protest.

Not that there hasn't been plenty of it in previous years—sit-ins, freedom marches, demonstrations, beat poetry and the like—and not that there won't be more of it in the future.

But it was in 1965 that discontent with the way things are in this country and the world, heretofore rumbling distantly like underground streams, suddenly burst into the open and spilled into a number of channels.

The urge to protest, to change, to correct, to tear down and build up anew has infected people of all ages. If it isn't concerned with civil rights, then it's the Viet Nam war. If it is not that, then it's academic freedom.

Usually it is all of these, plus a general attack on society's conventions and beliefs to boot, and some of the same people are swimming in all of the currents at once.

We became aware in 1965, for instance, that rock 'n' roll had evolved into "folk-rock," with message lyrics bewailing the sickness and futility of the modern world and prophesying the doom that awaits it.

Three Americans burned themselves to death to protest man's inhumanity to man in Viet Nam. Others burned their draft cards.

In a Cleveland high school, some teenagers took to wearing black armbands to mourn the dead on both sides of an undeclared war.

Study groups calling themselves "free universities" sprang up to challenge the allegedly stultifying environments and curricula of our traditional schools. Subjects ranged from Communist China today to drugs as a means of personality enhancement to forging a new sexual morality.

A new school of theologians shocked the lay public by proclaiming that "God is dead" and called for reassessment of man's spiritual condition and needs in the 20th century.

Some of this revolt against custom and the status quo is silly and self-indicting, like ragged beards and dirty clothes. Some of it is even dangerous, like pep pills and hallucinatory drugs. And a lot of it could work profound changes in life.

The various streams of protest have not yet merged into a general flood knocking out the underpinnings of "the establishment" — a handily vague term for the prevailing political-religious-ethical-cultural ideas and leaders. It is unlikely that they will.

If this surging activism has any real strength and depth, maybe it will help to wash away prejudices and injustices, preconceptions and complacencies that clog society, leaving what remains better and cleaner.

Nevada Cartwheels

That wistful old saying, "If only I had my own mint . . . is no longer so wistful. The fellow who designed the Kennedy half-dollar now actually owns his own mint and apparently, as goes another old saying, "making money like crazy."

Real crazy money—adorned with birds, buildings and who-knows-what. He isn't, so far as we know, making any of the new official halves in that private money factory, or any of the copper sandwich quarters, but he is making unofficial, silverless dollars which may turn out to be equally as negotiable as, incidentally, twice as valuable as Uncle Sam's official, semi-silvered fifty-cent pieces.

It seems that shortly after Uncle Sam decided spending money has any intrinsic value, since it's only a medium of exchange, those old-fashioned BGS (Before Great Society) silver dollars began disappearing to somewhere. And with them went the clink of big coins from the gambling casinos in the state of Nevada. No more neat stacks of cartwheels being raked or pushed across the green felt. A host of big-mouthed, one-armed mechanical bandits standing idle and silent. That's no way to run a gambling casino, so we're told. Much of the thrill was gone and many of the customers. So several Nevada casinos have taken to making their own gambling dollars, or at least having someone make them, opening up rather intriguing opportunities for just about anyone with a bit of mechanical know-how and talent for engraving.

Theoretically those dollar-sized gambling tokens are not legal tender in any establishment other than the one which issues them. But by the same token, it's said one can trigger off any dollar-slotted gambling device in the state. And we expect many Nevada business establishments outside the casinos accepting them almost as readily. For that matter, many of those Nevada cartwheels have already been carted off as souvenirs by out of state customers. So whether the U.S. government wants to consider them legal tender or not, the way we see it, privately minted tokens, backed by prosperous gambling casinos are every bit as substantial a medium of exchange as are silverless slugs put out by an outfit that's up to its ears in debt.

Now that you've had a taste of Uncle Sam's sandwich money, would anyone care for a mint?

If We Keep Incentive Alive

Top government spokesmen and bureaus forecast a continued rapid growth in the demand for petroleum.

Secretary of the Interior Udall predicted that the use of liquid petroleum products in this country will rise from the present level of about 11.3 million barrels a day to around 17.5 million barrels a day by 1980.

Secretary of Commerce Connor forecasts that the amount of driving done on the nation's roadways, estimated at 870 billion vehicle miles in 1965, will rise to more than a trillion vehicle miles in 1975.

The Bureau of Public Roads anticipates that motor fuel consumption alone will reach 93 billion gallons by 1975, as against estimated use in excess of 75 billion gallons in 1965.

that the oil industry must endlessly search for new sources—at tremendous expense, and at heavy risk of failure.

The oil people do that—and, luckily for the safety and well-being of this nation, we have wisely provided fair and necessary inducements which keep them searching. The most important is percentage depletion. This is a credit against federal income taxes. It applies to oil production only—not to other facets of the industry. It recognizes the risks that are an inevitable part of exploration and helps to compensate for them.

If we keep incentive alive, we need have no fear that we will ever lack for oil.

A thought for the day: The prophet Isaiah: "And there shall come forth a rod out of the stem of Jesse, and a branch shall grow out of his roots: And the spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the Lord."

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank Markey

Did you ever hear of Elisha Gray? Well, you might have heard a lot about him if cruel Fate and the Post Office Department hadn't combined one day in 1876 to consign him to obscurity and bestow immortality on Alexander Graham Bell. Gray was an Ohio inventor who hit upon the idea for the telephone while experimenting to improve telegraphic communication. Unknown to him, Bell was working on the same idea. Both were successful and applied for patents on their inventions. Both applications arrived at the Patent Office in Washington on the same day, but Bell's arrived in the first mail and when Gray's was delivered a couple of hours later Bell had already been granted a patent.

Today's smile: One parent was commiserating with another and said: "I suppose your daughter is in the dungarees-and-loafers stage now." "That's right," said the other, "she wears dungarees and dates loafers."

If you have any old autographs of celebrities of a bygone era around your house, hang onto them because they're valuable. Poking around in an antiquarian shop in New York we saw a letter written by the operatic composer Verdi with a price tag of $185; a signature of President Franklin Pierce on a government document, $150; and a note signed by John Hancock for a mere $265. . . . And speaking of collector's items, the Churchill Crowns, worth about 70 cents in U. S. coin, are the hottest thing in the British coin market. London dealers are cleaning up on them.

Thoughts while shaving: There are a lot of crazy laws still on the books. One in Corpus Christi, Texas, forbids you to serenade your girl after midnight. If frogs bother you at night with their croaking in Memphis, Tenn., you can have them arrested. Cats are not permitted to meow loudly in Columbus, Ga., after 9 o'clock at night. And, whatever you do, don't sleep in the nude in a public park in Kansas or you'll wind up in the pokey. . . . In one of the most unusual life insurance transactions of all time, an Ohio couple have taken out life policies with a potential value of $4 million on their 38 grandchildren. The coverage is for $15,000 for each child and each can purchase up to $90,000 more insurance if he wants it in the future. The grandchildren, aged 10 months to 15 years, are equal partners in the family business. . . . The American Medical Association is trying to find a "safe" cigarette. They are experimenting to determine what ingredients are anti-people and hope to eliminate them without affecting the taste the smokers like. . . . Henry Wadsworth Longfellow holds the unique distinction of being the only American writer accorded a place in the famed Poet's Corner of Britain's Westminster Abbey. A marble bust of the poet stands close to Dryden's tomb. . . . In 1769, just 196 years ago today, Dartmouth College was chartered at Hanover, N. H. Some few years later Daniel Webster said something about his alma mater that has since characterized all Dartmouth grads: "It's a small college, but there are those who love it."

The Los Angeles (Calif.) TIMES reported: "Did you hear about the Hollywood youngster who was very proud because he had the most parents at the PTA meeting?" Well, that's something.

Country Editor speaking:

"Most of the people who worry about status don't have any."

Wit and Whimsy

Many a man wishes he were strong enough to tear a telephone book in half—especially if he has a teen-age daughter.

Bill—How do you spend your income?

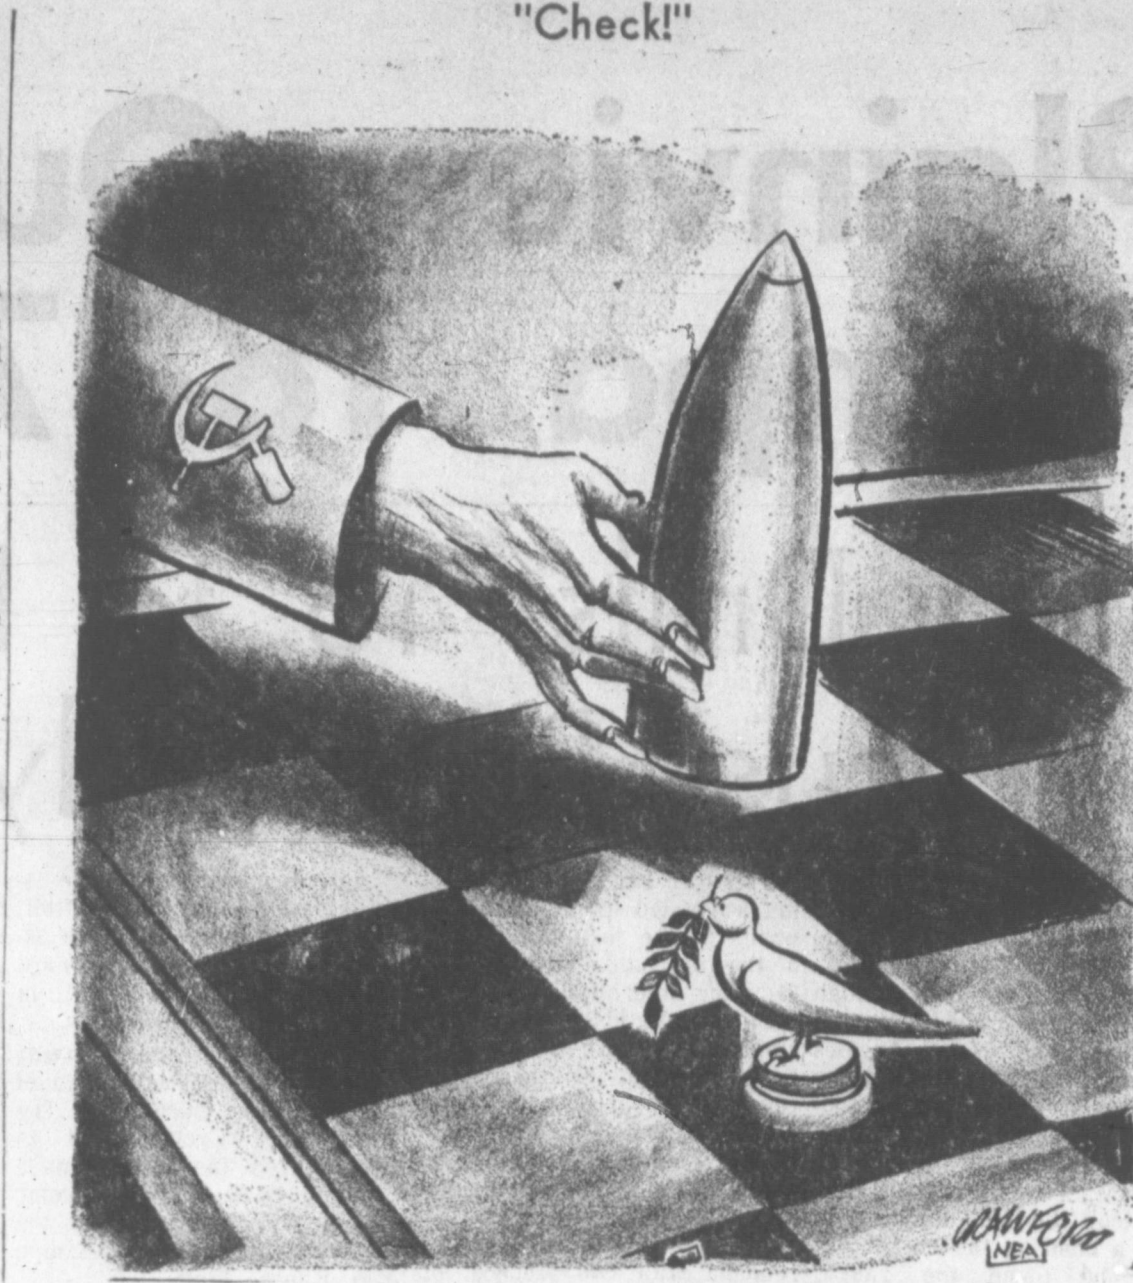

Phil—About 30 per cent for shelter, 30 per cent for clothing, 40 per cent for food and 20 per cent for amusement.

Bill—But that adds up to 120 per cent.

Phil—That's right.

May—So you told Charlie you loved him after all?

Mary—I didn't want to but he just squeezed it out of me.

WASHINGTON

Ho Asks For Viet Blank Check

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — If Ho Chi Minh's peace talk "offer" has been accurately reported, it contains six hooks aimed at delivering South Viet Nam over to the Communists. The catch lies in Ho's repeated insistence that the United States agree in advance to Ho's "four points" which he claims are merely an "explanation" of the 1954 Geneva Agreement.

But Ho's four points are NOT just an explanation of Geneva. Hidden in these points is a carefully written phrase which would have the United States agree in advance of negotiations that South Viet Nam's "internal affairs be run in accordance with the program of the National Liberation Front."

This liberation front program calls for abolishing the Saigon government and forming a "national coalition government," with Viet Cong in key agencies (known to be defense, foreign affairs, information, economics and police).

The front program calls for reorganizing the South Viet Nam army in accord with criteria set by the Viet Cong (including VC in key military posts).

Here again Ho asks the United States to write him a blank check.

The front program calls for autonomous governments to be set up in areas controlled by the VC in South Viet Nam. (They'd be largely independent of the South Viet Nam government.)

Ho's program specifies elections on unification with no supervision from outside countries or organizations, which would mean control of the vote by Viet Cong terrorists in the south and by Communist police terrorism in the north.

Other points in the front program call for a host of so-called reforms. Some are so vaguely written as to be unclear. One economic "reform" has been explained by VC as meaning the wholesale government takeover of private industry.

It must be emphasized that the reports on Ho's purported offer do not list these as points to be discussed or negotiated. These are things Ho insists the United States must agree to before talks can begin.

In addition, Ho's points call for pre-agreement by the United States that all U. S. troops must be withdrawn (when is not clear) and that South Viet Nam have no defense treaties with anyone. He talks about a cease-fire vaguely.

In other words, if reports are correct, Ho is willing to talk if President Johnson will agree in advance of the talks to give Hanoi everything it asks for.

This is no shift from where Ho stood at the beginning. But apparently there has been a slight change in approach. Before, Ho insisted he wouldn't talk until the United States first got out and let Ho put his aims

Between the Bookends

Many individuals fear that without governmental intervention, they would be helpless in a free market — little realizing how much they depend upon market services for the important things in their lives. A good example is in the field of "regulation". Some people feel that it is the existence of laws and regulations that enable consumers to get what they want from businessmen.

The truth of the matter, of course, is that businessmen succeed only so long as they supply people with what they want. And "regulation" takes place naturally as the consumer hesitates to buy what he can't be sure of. He'll drive a used car before buying it, rather than take a chance on the dealer's claims.

Free Market in Action
And where the consumer feels he must have more complicated or sophisticated knowledge in order to make a safe decision, the free market will provide a third party to offer it. Thus, since 1936, we have seen the existence of Consumers Union of U. S., and its well-known monthly magazine, Consumer Reports.

Just published is its annual "Buying Guide Issue for 1966" — a 448-page survey of what the market offers in everything from automobiles to zippers (the guide is sold on newsstands and from Consumers Union, Mount Vernon, N. Y.; $1.95).

Proceeding from one product section to another, the guide lists the leading available models of each product, its specifications, prices and other pertinent data. Then it provides its into practice before the talks started.

Now, Ho has indicated he may be willing to talk right away (before we get out) if we promise in advance to give him his way in South Viet Nam later. That is, he'll take our word we will carry out our promises.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Consumer Demand Met

Products include appliances, food products, radio and TV sets, tape recorders, phonographs, photographic equipment, boats, gardening tools, air conditioning, health aids, etc. Also included is information on guarantees, warranties and other more generalized tips for more effective buying habits.

Also listed are governmental agencies that deal with consumer protection. This is perhaps the only weak section of the book. The satisfaction one can get from calling upon the government to protect him is negligible compared to the common sense, good-buying information given the consumer in the "Buying Guide" — and available from other free market agencies that must satisfy the consumer in order to survive.

When the City Manager of Newburg, N. Y. undertook to remedy some flagrant abuses of the welfare program in that city, such as requiring able-bodied men on relief to work on city projects, and that relief money should be spent for food and clothing and not in bars, immediately the point was raised as to whether New York State would continue to receive the federal subsidy for relief, and the presumption was that these payments would be stopped. Accordingly, Governor Rockefeller denounced the Newburg official and the New York Supreme Court issued a permanent injunction preventing them from carrying out the much needed reform.

Some years ago, Harrison County in Ohio lost its fight against federal aid when the State Supreme Court ruled that it must accept it. It was asserted that otherwise Ohio would lose the federal subsidy amounting to $3 million. The county authorities claimed that the local program was sufficient and that they did not want or need the federal money; but it was crammed down their throats in order to prevent the state from losing the federal money.

The Richmond News Leader has called attention to the fact that last June the welfare authorities in Goldsboro, North Carolina found that welfare "clients" were using Princess telephones and two television sets. The board decided that such persons should not be subsidized by taxpayers who could not afford such luxuries, and an order was issued dropping them from public assistance. A little later this action was rescinded because word was received from Washington and from Raleigh that it was contrary to federal and state regulations, and that the state might be cut off from further federal relief money.

Even the most sanguine can no longer hope that federal subsidy does not mean federal control. It does. It always has and it always will. Increasingly, power is being centralized in Washington as the states rapidly lose their functions and their significance. The Constitution has been abandoned. We are in the midst of a revolution which is rapidly destroying the handiwork of the founding fathers — the brightest hope that ever dawned among men that they could govern themselves in freedom and prosperity.

Question Box

QUESTION: "I. You advocate private fire fighting companies. Without government, and laws, what recourse would an insurance company have when an arsonist destroyed an insured building? Having the private company to fight the fire certainly would be practical, but would the insurance company have to have a private army to enforce its 'laws'?"

ANSWER: 1. We do not know what recourse an insurance company would take. It could be that the company's investigators, if they found the culprit, would demand that he pay for the loss or be faced with the stigma of being identified as an arsonist. We believe the stigma would be one of severe punishment. It would be accompanied by a refusal by others to associate with an individual who showed no respect for private property.

2. Theoretically, if everyone, engaged in "self-government" as you advocate, were morally sound, and concerned themselves only with what was just.

It seems that your program might work. But is this not Utopia and beyond earthly expectations?" B. G.

2. There might be sympathizers of the arsonist, but we suspect there would be few. The power of public criticism, even boycotting, is so great we believe it would be a deterrent to wrongful acts in the bulk of cases.

Mr. G. has fallen into the same trap as have others who call self-government "Utopia." Actually, he is implying that most people are not to be trusted and that it is necessary to pass a great many laws to compel people to be good. We say, if people are so bad, why should we trust them to try to control others' lives? Utopia is a mythical socialist place where everyone's lives is controlled by the persons in power through political government.

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER
Unstoppable Federal Control
Speaking to the students of Ohio University in July of this year, David Brinkley, NBC commentator declared:
"The decline and fall of the fifty state governments will be completed in our lifetime. . . . the movement of political power from state capitals to Washington. . . is inevitable and unstoppable whether we like it or not."

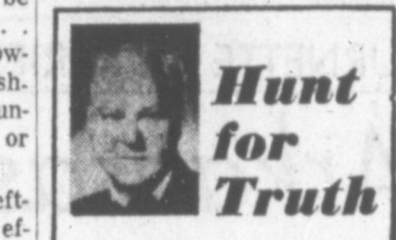

A generation ago various left-wing groups devised a very effective instrumentality for gaining their ends — the Federal Subsidy Club. States which would do their will would be aided with subsidies for roads, education, unemployment benefits, relief payments, states which refused to do their bidding would not receive these benefits. When the legislation was being urged it was, of course, vigorously emphasized, that Washington would impose no requirements upon the states, and that the states would be quite free to do as they wished. After the laws were passed however, the federal agencies began to enforce their demands upon the states.

When the City Manager of Newburg, N. Y. undertook to remedy some flagrant abuses of the welfare program in that city, such as requiring able-bodied men on relief to work on city projects, and that relief money should be spent for food and clothing and not in bars, immediately the point was raised as to whether New York State would continue to receive the federal subsidy for relief, and the presumption was that these payments would be stopped. Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. HUNT

A NECESSARY EVIL
Many of the debates that rage over the place of government in our lives could be clarified if we understood better just what government really is.

Government is an organization set up to employ force and to spend money collected by force. By definition, it is entirely outside the judgment of the market-place. As the greatest economists have pointed out, there is no way to measure in the market-place the value of the services government offers, because people have no choice whether or not to pay for them.

Government is evil because force is evil. The only justification for government is that it is necessary to prevent a greater evil. Government is a means, and as far as we can tell the only effective means, of mobilizing the resources of a civilized community to protect its citizens against crime and foreign invasion, and to require that freely signed contracts be honored.

In this way, government's function is very similar to that of a good man defending himself against physical assault. A good man wishes to injure no other person. If he must injure another who attacks him, in order to protect himself and his family, he will do so. But, as a good man, he will not enjoy it. He will recognize his use of force, even in self-defense, as a necessary evil.

That is the only way good men can rightly regard government. Those who see government as a "positive good" are saying that the use of force against their fellow-men is positively good. You can draw your own conclusions about their ethics.

The Nation's Press

SECRETLY ILL ADVISED (California Feature Service)

Revelation that the Johnson administration last fall concealed from the public the fact that it had rejected offers of peace negotiations from North Viet Nam has shocked a great many Americans.

Not that the people necessarily think the offers were honest, or would have been fruitful; they just don't like the fact that they are not trusted by their government, and that foreign policy can be used for political purposes.

During the presidential campaign a great deal of effort went into building up Barry Goldwater as a dangerous, trigger-happy candidate. He was accused of advocating the horrible tactic of bombing strategic North Viet Nam targets, a tactic that became unhonorable for President Johnson after the election. Our readiness to negotiate was often stressed; yet we find now there was considerable un-readiness.

Rejection of the Viet negotiations may have been sound; the blindfolding of the American people was not. No wonder so many are confused by the war that is so far away but stalks terrifyingly through so many American homes.

Foreign Commentary

By WELLINGTON LONG
United Press International

BONN (UPI)—West Germany has at last won a place on the Western team racing for the stars.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and President Johnson agreed, in their pre-Christmas talks in Washington, that Germany should join the United States in several space research projects, including perhaps probes to the sun and to Jupiter.

Their agreement is potentially of more importance to Germany than their parallel discussion of a possibly greater role for Bonn in nuclear defense planning.

Nuclear defense planning involves existing weapons systems. But the space research programs require the invention of new or refined techniques. A nation unable to keep abreast of these developments soon will lose out in the industrial race, with a disastrous effect on its international trade, productivity and standard of living.

At first glance, West Germany seems among the most prosperous trading nations in the world.

But a second look reveals certain basic weaknesses. West Germany pays about five times more for foreign patents and licensing fees than it earns by the sale of patent rights.

In the last 20 years, almost none of the Nobel Prizes have gone to Germans.

Not only did the Western allies and the Russians alike recruit hundreds of German rocketry technicians in 1945, but a large proportion of graduating scientists leave Germany each year for greener pastures.

American-owned companies already have acquired an edge on the computer market in Germany, and even the defense ministry hired an American outfit to build and program a computer to review the armed forces' cost effectiveness.

German participation in American space programs, it is hoped, will reverse this trend.

So far, Germany has indicated her main interest is in the satellite and communications systems. But she may also join Britain in the development of launcher and guidance systems.

When Erhard mentioned the sun probe in an after-dinner toast at the White House, German journalists nicknamed him "the sun king." Not only does the tag suit his round countenance, but if the agreement gets Germany back on the mainline of industrial development, it may stick with even more justification.

Hollywood Report

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Take a kid like Gary Lewis, Jerry's son, who cut a smash record his first time out.

You figure the youngster got lucky or maybe his old man gave him a helping hand. If his name had been Gary Muckenthaler, maybe nobody would ever have heard of the kid.

But Muckenthaler... er, ah, Lewis, had gone on to be voted the No. 1 new male vocalist by one prestige recording trade paper and the No. 1 leader of the year by another.

Moreover, the 20-year-old youth has had three successive hits. His first, "This Diamond Ring," sold some 1.2 million copies. Another, "Save Your Heart For Me," notched 34 of a million. His first album, "A Session with Gary Lewis and the Playboys," has surpassed 200,000 in sales and is still going.

All this in a year's time, mind you.

Lewis is no collar ad for looks. His voice doesn't scare Sinatra. He lacks sophistication.

Yet Gary is no fluke. He has no gimmicks going for him—long hair, far-out clothes, squalling sound. His lyrics are clearly understood and the music, essentially rock n' roll, has a distinctive sound.

While Gary plays the drums, he's no virtuoso. I mean, Gene Krupa's place in the hall of musical fame will not be usurped.

Neither is Gary a trained musician or performer.

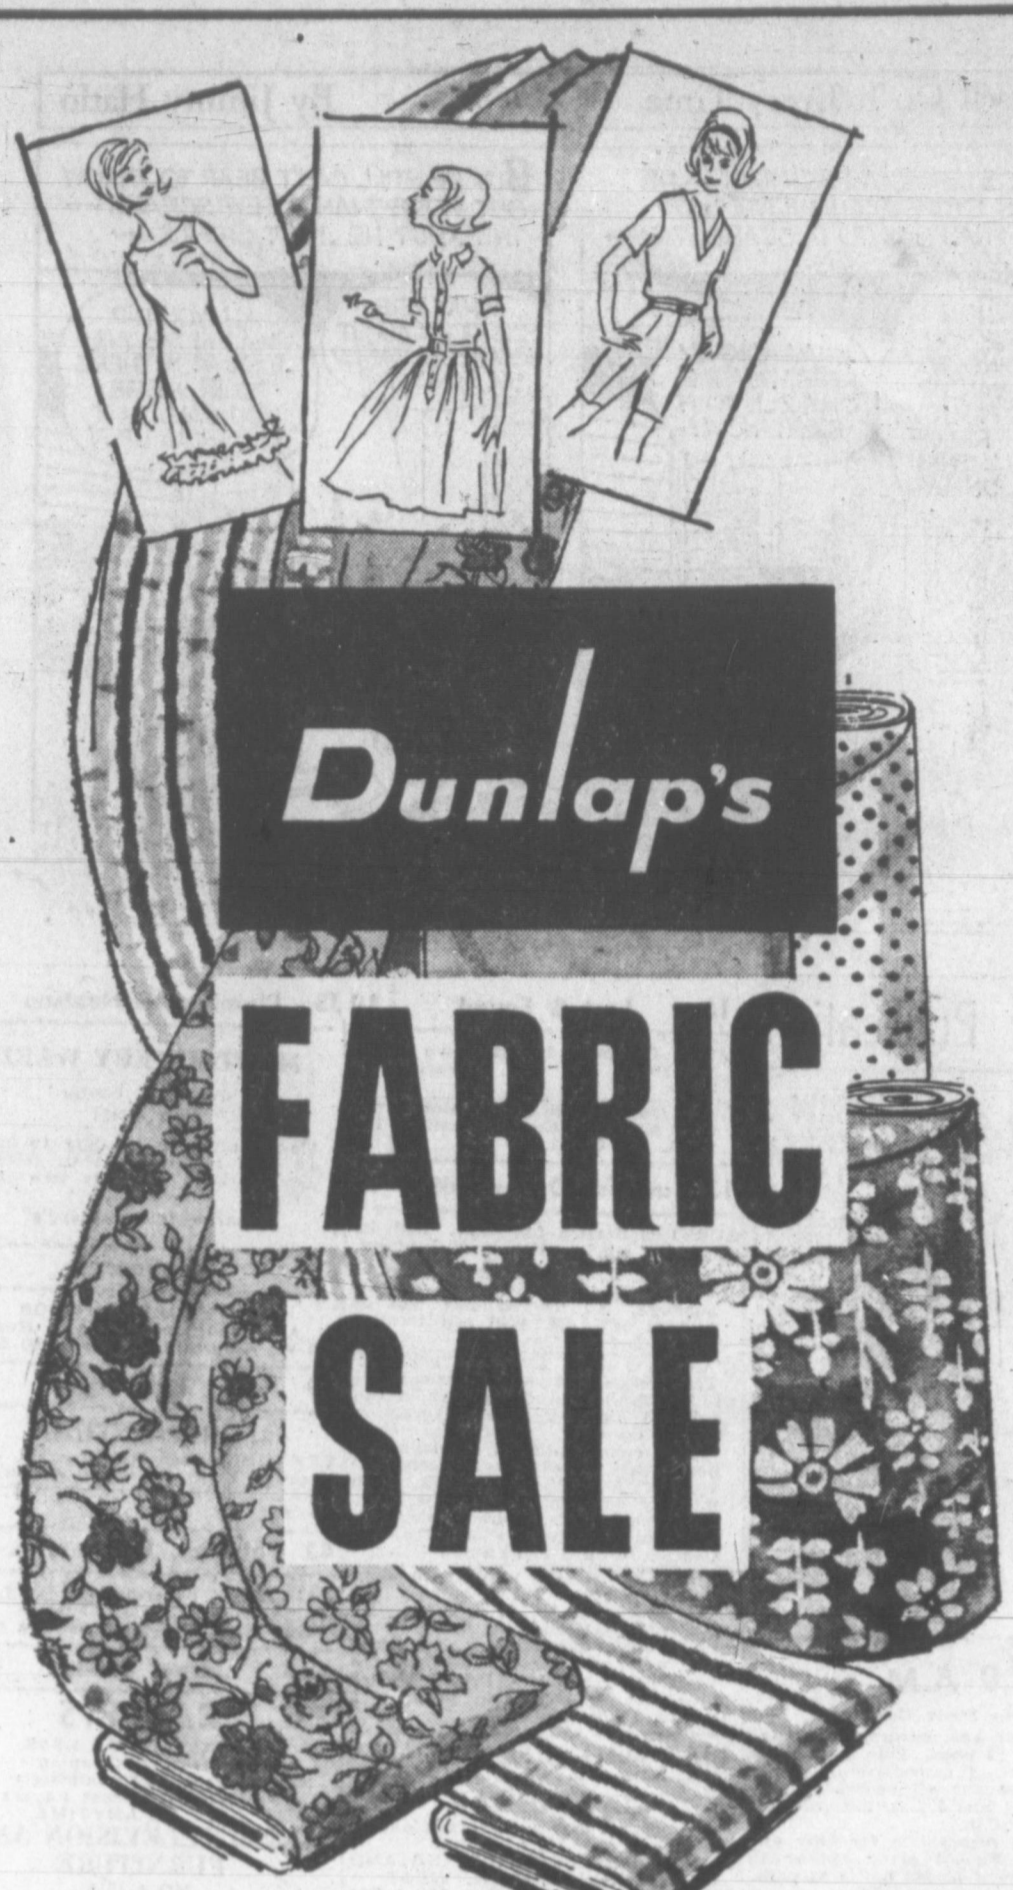

What he does have is an unerring instinct for what teenagers want to hear. He's also a mannerly young man who happily admits his mother, Patti Lewis, manages his career. He lives at home with his parents and brothers and is untainted by the problems of most other offspring of major entertainment personalities.

"When our first record came out I was scared to death," Gary said. "But when it hit big I began to get confidence in myself."
