Three Klansmen Go On Trial in Rights Violation

Former FBI Agent Is Defending White Trio

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Three Ku Klux Klansmen go on trial today in federal court on charges stemming from the night rider shooting of a white civil rights worker.

The three men were charged in an indictment with conspiring to violate the civil rights of an unnamed citizen. The charges were filed shortly after Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, a Detroit housewife, was shot and killed.

U.S. District Court Judge Frank F. Johnson Jr., was hearing the case against Collier Leroy Wilkins, William Easton and Eugene Thomas.

Former Birmingham mayor and FBI agent Art Hanes was defending the three Klansmen.

"Ridiculous" Charges

Hanes, who was successful in defending Wilkins last month against murder charges, called the federal indictment "ridiculous and fantastic."

"The indictment is extremely

Strike Attempt Fails Again in South Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — Another underground attempt to set in motion a general strike by African workers failed Monday.

Authorities said absenteeism was at the normal rate despite a broadcast from neighboring Zambia which urged Africans to stay home Monday in protest against the white-ruled secessionist government of Premier Ian Smith.

Zambia earlier officially requested that Britain send troops to its border to guard the strategic Kariba hydroelectric dam on the border with Rhodesia. The request was being considered in London by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Police riot squads guarded most African districts of Salisbury and other officers rode buses and stationed themselves at bus stops in anticipation of a strike. Workers streamed to their jobs and no incidents were reported.

Ten Africans were being held by police in connection with two factory fires Sunday night touched off by Molotov cocktail explosions. Extensive damage was reported at a flooring company hit by terrorists. The other plant, a paper company, was slightly damaged.

The Roman Catholic Church in Rhodesia Sunday condemned the Smith government in its first official statement since the premier broke with Britain Nov. 11.

The statement was in a pastoral letter signed by the five Rhodesian bishops, including the Most Rev. Francis W. Markall, archbishop of Salisbury.

McNamara Says U.S. Has Stopped Losing the War

SAIGON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said Monday "We have stopped losing the war."

McNamara made the statement at an airport news conference before flying back to Washington after a two day visit to the fighting fronts and a series of briefings in which American commanders were reported to have requested an increase in U.S. manpower.

The secretary earlier said the U.S. Army would form new air cavalry divisions for possible use in the war against the Communists in Viet Nam.

McNamara said the Communist North Vietnamese regime appeared determined to carry on the war.

He said the United States will meet any threat with whatever troops and aid are necessary.

SERVED ONLY REDS?

Protest Chiefs Deny Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two chief sponsors of the Viet Nam war protest march on Washington deny charges the weekend rally served only the Communist cause.

Norman Thomas, patriarch of the U.S. Socialist party, and Dr. Benjamin Spock, noted pediatrician, said they were dedicated to America's welfare and contended U.S. involvement in the war was hurting the nation and should be ended.

Thomas and Spock Sunday appeared with Sen. Joseph Tydings, D-Md., and Georgia Gov. Carl Sanders on a televised debate (Issues and Answers-ABC) that featured the war in Viet Nam and Saturday's "March on Washington for Peace in Viet Nam."

Saunders said the demonstration "did more to help the Communists" and increased America's problem of convincing the North Vietnamese that the United States was determined to halt aggression.

Thomas replied that the United States was aiding the Communist cause by its increasing military involvement in a foreign conflict. "We are turning the torch of liberty into a torch for burning villages," he said.

The 81-year-old Socialist said

Tours Battlefield

McNamara arrived in Viet Nam Sunday for briefings on the military situation by U.S. and Vietnamese military leaders and spent Monday touring the central highlands where American forces less than two weeks ago fought their bloodiest battle of the war.

There had been speculation McNamara would recommend increased air strikes over North Viet Nam and more American troops committed to the fight against the Communists in South Viet Nam. He did or said nothing to dispel this speculation.

He said he has drawn one conclusion during his whirlwind 28 hour visit.

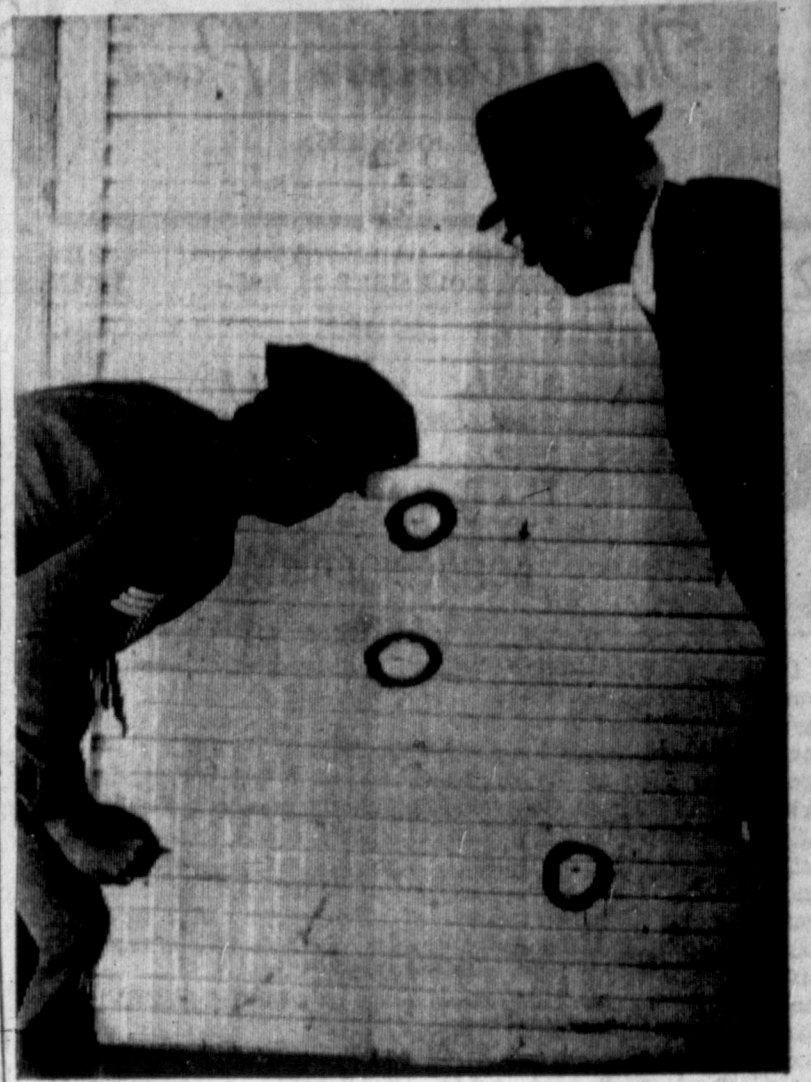

"This will be a long war," he told newsmen in the conference held at Tan Son Hut airport shortly before boarding a plane for the flight to Washington.

Americans Released

In another major development, the Viet Cong today released two captured American servicemen as a gesture of goodwill toward demonstrators in the United States protesting American policies in Viet Nam.

The released Americans, captured two years ago, were identified as Sgt. George E. Smith of Chester, W.Va., and Spec 4 Claude E. McClure of Chattanooga, Tenn.

McClure and Smith presented themselves at a frontier outpost along the border between Cambodia and South Viet Nam. Cambodian authorities granted permission for the two men to cross Cambodia en route back to the United States.

BULLET HOLES — Police Sgt. George Wallace and Chief Jim Conner are shown examining one of three shots that went wild early Sunday morning when an unnamed assailant shot and killed Robert E. Simpson of Pampa. While three of the shots missed, the fourth struck Simpson in the stomach, lodging in his spine. He died 24 hours after the shooting. The incident took place on the steps of the Peppermint Lounge, 715 S. Gray.

Pampan Sought by Police In Connection With Slaying

By RAY RODGERS JR.

Pampa police issued a warrant for the arrest of a 43-year-old Pampa man today in connection with the shooting death early Sunday morning of Robert E. Simpson, 25, of 525 Elm.

Simpson was pronounced dead at 1:55 a.m. today, approximately 24 hours after he was shot in the stomach following a scuffle at the Peppermint Lounge, 715 S. Gray.

Physicians said he died after the small calibre bullet entered his stomach and lodged in his spine.

The shooting was the apparent outgrowth of an argument between Simpson and the man being sought.

Witnesses related to police the two had been arguing on the steps of the lounge. They stated the assailant walked around the corner and returned shortly brandishing the pistol. They said he fired at Simpson three or four times, felling him with a wound in the stomach.

Simpson was loaded in a car driven by George Duke. While en route to the hospital the vehicle was involved in a wreck.

Police said the car, racing toward Highland General, ran through a red light at Hobart and Francis and struck a car driven by Gene S. Groves of Pampa.

Both Duke and the injured Simpson were thrown from the vehicle. Duke was knocked unconscious, however, treatment later revealed he was not seriously injured.

Simpson and Duke were then taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Shortly before noon today police were still searching for the accused.

Chief Jim Conner said charges of murder will be filed pending his apprehension.

Simpson was born Sept. 18, 1940, in Pampa. He served four years with the U.S. Air Force. Simpson married Loretta Colvert Oct. 22. He was a member of St. Marks Methodist Church and was employed as delivery man for B & B Pharmacy.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Loretta Simpson of the home; three daughters, Renne, Darla and Theresa, all of Pampa; mother, Mrs. Dorothy Washington of Pampa; father, Robert G. Simpson of Kermit; one sister, Miss Naida Washington of Pampa, and grandmother, Mrs. Viridia Gay of Pampa.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete with Carmichael-Whately Funeral Directors.

Nation's Road Toll Exceeds '64 Figure

By United Press International

More than 600 persons died in traffic accidents during the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

A United Press International count showed that at least 602 persons were killed between 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and midnight Sunday.

The breakdown:

Traffic 602
Fires 20
Planes 74
Miscellaneous 90
Total 794

California led all states with 49 traffic deaths. New York State had 38, Texas 35, Ohio 31 and Pennsylvania 30. Only Alaska and Nevada reported no traffic fatalities during the holiday period.

Although the National Safety Council does not tabulate traffic deaths during Thanksgiving, UPI counted 577 traffic casualties during the 1964 Thanksgiving holiday. The Safety Council said about 575 persons would die in traffic accidents during a normal four-day weekend at this time of year.

The worst accident of the holiday was an airplane crash Saturday in which 13 persons were killed. A chartered airliner crashed into a hillside near Salt Lake City, Utah, while en route to a college football game.

The death toll rose to 11 from

Pampans Feel Bite of Cold Wave

Pampa had an official low of 29 degrees early this morning for the lowest temperature so far this fall, according to U.S. Weather Bureau figures.

Unofficial thermometer readings in various sections of the city ranged from 22, to 26 degrees.

The weather bureau readings show the mercury had been down to 30 degrees on two previous occasions this month, but today's official 29-degree reading was the first time it had dropped into the 20s.

However, shortly after sunrise the mercury began to climb again and was expected to hit the mid-50s by mid-afternoon.

The forecast calls for fair and warmer through Tuesday. The low by tomorrow morning is again expected to drop into the upper-20s, with an afternoon high tomorrow around 62.

CHURCH BELL SENT TO ARMY CAPTAIN

Mails Flooded With Gifts to Men in Viet

By United Press International

Americans concerned about U.S. servicemen spending their first Christmas in a foreign war in more than a decade are flooding the military and the mails with gifts for the 165,000 GIs in Viet Nam.

A United Press International survey showed that more than 65 tons of mail and gifts, many sent anonymously, are sent daily to Viet Nam. In addition, more than 58 tons of gifts have already been flown out by the Air National Guard in "Operation Christmas Star." Another 46 tons awaits shipment.

Although no one knows where the gift drive started, newspapers and radio stations led the way, inspired partly as a reaction to the anti-war demonstrations. The gifts were large and small and they came from the very old and the young. An 8-year-old Ohio boy sent four ball point pens; a lady, 85, confined to a nursing home, sent $2. Literally tons of food, soap, medical supplies—even toys for Vietnamese children—were the most popular items.

A Minnesota man even sent his son, an Army captain, an old church bell he wanted for a chapel. Most of the gifts are shipped via San Francisco and the government has encouraged the Christmas drive with a new postal regulation permitting packages to be sent to Viet Nam at first class rates, but flying them out much faster.

At Santa Ana, Calif., a radio station sponsored the "Ma Jenkins Operation Mail Call" and got so many gifts, nearly 600 service stations had to be used as pickup points.

High schools at Neilsville, Wis., baked cookies for 24 hours straight to send to Viet Nam. Wives of law school students at the University of Texas collected 3,000 shoe boxes and filled them with canned fruit, shoe polish, razors and blades.

The Booth newspaper chain in Michigan chartered an airplane to fly gifts to 5,000 state servicemen. The Freeman (Calif.) News-Register offered to pay postage on gifts mailed from its area.

A radio station in Ashtabula, Ohio, conducted a drive and filled a boxcar with gifts. The New York Central and Santa Fe railroads immediately offered to transport the car free of charge to San Francisco.

In Chicago, the gift crush was so great, the United Service Organizations (USO) has stopped accepting packages for Viet Nam. Its three warehouses are crammed with gifts.

A USO spokesman said, "I tell people to wait until the end of January before sending us any more. By that time the boys will need things and the ones who remember us at Christmas usually forget about us the rest of the year."

GRAHAM GIVES BOOST TO VIET POLICY

President Prepares for Talks On More Aid to Asian Nations

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson resumed preparations today for top-level talks on future U.S. aid to Asian nations and possible sharing of the American nuclear arsenal with West Germany.

Johnson got an unexpected boost for his conduct of the war in Viet Nam from evangelist Billy Graham Sunday during the windup of a 10-day revival meeting in Houston.

"Even a little handful can make a great noise and get national attention if they are protesting and demonstrating," Graham said in scolding the anti-war march in Washington as the President listened along with 61,000 others in the Astrodon Stadium.

The President already is busy boning up for talks Dec. 14-15 with Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan. Johnson is expected to insist that peace between Pakistan and India must be preserved as a condition for continued American aid to both countries.

Meetings with Ayub and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson may be held at the LBJ Ranch. But a Washington location was rated as an outside chance.

West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, who is arriving in Texas Dec. 18 for a three-day conference, was sure to bring a demand for a greater control over the nuclear warheads now furnished to NATO allies but kept under U.S.

control for use at the President's discretion.

In a break from his ranch-home routine, Johnson flew to Houston Sunday afternoon to attend Graham's evangelical crusade.

The President, perched high in a sky-box close to the roof of the stadium, listened intently while Graham delivered a sermon on "The Great Judgment Day" to the largest throng ever to fill the new arena.

"We know that they will feel at home here," Graham said in his opening remarks. "The Christian faith profoundly influences the leader of our nation at one of the most critical periods of history."

Dear Abby....

The Direct Line To Servicemen's Allotments

DEAR ABBY: "Skip my name" advised the wives of servicemen who were "on their honor" to send support money home but failed to do so, to write to the Adjutant General's office, and send copies to her husband's Commanding Officer, captain, her husband and heaven knows who else. And you told her she could accomplish the same results with only one letter — to her Congressman! Abby, no matter to whom this woman writes, her letter will eventually end up on the desk of her husband's Commanding Officer.

I am the C. O. for over 4,000 troops, and I assure you, I would not react any faster to a letter from the Adjutant General's office, or from a Congressman, than from one written by the wife of a serviceman in financial difficulty. I wish you would have told her to give the Commanding Officer a chance to act first.

FORT BENNING, GA.

DEAR ABBY: About that woman who griped because the government no longer sent allotment checks to wives of men in the service, but put them on their "honor" to send support money home:

She said that unfortunately some men didn't have much honor, and she included her husband. I would like to point out that in cases where the allotment check automatically went to the wife, plenty of G.I.'s got a dirty deal, and cutting it out was one of the best things that ever happened to servicemen. Women used to marry a G. I. just to get her hands on his allotment check regularly, and she'd refuse to even go to where he was stationed. Now she has to either live with the guy or take it up with the civil courts. Believe me, it's better this way.

IN THE SERVICE

DEAR ABBY: I read that letter from "Skip My Name" in which she stated that servicemen are "on their honor" to support their families since the old allotment system has been discontinued? Is she talking about American servicemen, Abby? She must be nuts or something. My husband has been in the Infantry of the U.S.A. for almost a year now. I started getting an allotment right from the beginning, and I still get it. Please explain this.

RAFFLED IN VIRGINIA
DEAR ABBY: There are "grades" (rank) in the military. Men in the higher grades who have reached a certain rank are not required to submit allotments for their dependents. They are "on their honor" to support their families, and it's the rare bird who doesn't meet this responsibility. Allotment checks are sent to dependents of servicemen in the "lower" grades, however.

DEAR ABBY: Holy smokes! Of all the advice to give a woman who's having trouble getting support money from her soldier husband. Write to your Congressman, you tell her! Congressmen have enough to do without handling complaints about the servicemen. Taxpayers could save themselves a load of dough if you would educate them on where to send their complaints instead of just piling everything on their Congressmen. All that stuff has to be sorted and sifted and then rechanneled to the proper places.

Very truly yours,

Santas in Skirts Make His Christmas Happy

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (EA) — Christmas shopping for the opposite sex can be a pretty taxing proposition — taxing both the money coffers and the mental processes.

A capable business executive who runs his organization with a firm hand is reduced to helplessness in the lingerie or perfume departments. And although every woman feels sure she knows just how a man should dress, she's often nonplussed when surrounded by men's haberdashery. And then settles for some correct, but prosaic, white shirts.

Let's give the ladies a peek into what's happening in the world of men's fashions so that some of the chaps will enjoy more than just the gift wrappings Christmas morning.

Start him on a silk pocket square collection (center) with a square especially designed to color co-ordinate with a tie. Or perhaps he would like one of the new reversible mufflers (right) in camel-hair and silk paisley — teamed with gloves, of course. Be sure colors you select are flattering.

Color is your strong point, girls. It is conceded by leaders in the men's fashion field that color combination sense is more highly developed in women. In fact, even the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear admits that many an otherwise well-dressed man will spoil the total effect by choosing a scarf, socks or handkerchief in the wrong colors.

Since the correct accent for all occasions makes the difference between a distinguished-looking fellow and a Mr. Blank who gets lost in a crowd of two, here are some tips for the Santa in skirts.

If you're buying slacks to go with a brown camel or gray jacket, they should be tan, brown or gray. For an olive jacket, slacks should be gray or tan, or in warm climates, white. And a gray jacket could also be teamed with black or white.

Then there are silk pocket squares. Their use has now spread to semiformal outfits, business clothes and casual wear. With business or casual clothes avoid exactly matching ties and pocket squares. Try to find something that will complement the color scheme of his outfit rather than match it perfectly.

Don't stick to white shirts as Christmas gifts. Try one of the new shades — a versatile orange-tan, a deep blue or gray or a warm tan of "peach" color.

Ties are a touchy proposition. Christmas ties have become as great a target of so-called humorists as mothers-in-law. It may be wise to let him buy his own. But the adventurous may want to chance a gift of the new big paisley prints on foulard silks that wear well with both town and country outfits.

You can't let him out in the cold, cold world without a muffler. Surprise him with one of the new reversibles that switch from silk to wool, color to color or pattern to plain.

If jewelry is your choice for him, it will help to know that tricky geometrics and garish shapes and stones have been replaced with more tailored shapes and authentic Florentine finishes.

'Makeup Is Here to Stay' Says New York Dermatologist Dr. Irwin Lubowe

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Great-grandmother's makeup kit consisted of little more than rice powder, a dab of rouge and rats for padding out her coiffure.

Today's miss can count as many as 13 basics of makeup, says a New York dermatologist, writing to teen-agers about healthy skin and hair. A 14th would be labelled cleanliness, he adds.

Dr. Irwin L. Lubowe, a dermatologist associated with Flower and Fifth Avenue Hospital and Metropolitan Hospital Center, both in New York, listed these basics as he added, "Makeup is here to stay... wisely used, (it) can add a great deal to your own special brand of good looks."

They are foundations, pressed powders, loose powders, foundation sticks, rouge, astringents, hand and body lotions, cold creams, cleansing lotions, lipsticks, mascaras, eyeliner and eye shadows.

"We don't suggest you need them all," said Lubowe, "but... know something about each so that you can make your choices wisely and well."

Lubowe's comments on makeup are included in his "A Teen-Age Guide To Healthy Skin and Hair," published today and written with Barbara Huss, lecturer on health, grooming and cosmetics.

He listed these pointers to teens on applying makeup: —Makeup darkens on the skin. The combination of natural skin oils and cosmetics turns powders and foundations gradually darker, the longer they remain on the skin.

—You can test a powder shade by rubbing it on the inside of the arm with a cotton pad. If the powder is too light... it will disappear completely into the skin. If it is too dark, too heavy or the wrong shade, it will show up startlingly. The "right" shade is the one that blends into the skin with a flattering, soft finish.

—If you wear glasses, your eyes should not be too made up. Go easy on eye shadow. Liner along the upper lashline is sufficient. Make sure the line of the eyeglass frame and your eyebrows are in proportion. And to balance your face, use light, bright shade of lipstick.

—Makeup should never be overdone. Learn to use cosmetics brushes for applying rouge and powder.

—Keep makeup tools and accessories scrupulously clean. A dirty powder puff, for instance, can spread dirt and oils over your skin every time you use it.

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. G. J. BOYD
Now that Thanksgiving holidays are past and Christmas projects are underway, most of their meeting time to work. Troop 214 is making Christmas stockings from the remainder of the last year's float material. Each girl is making and decorating a stocking with the name of an Indian child in a New Mexico mission. These girls are so busy that they voted to spend an extra Saturday morning at the Girl Scout Little House making candy to send with the stockings to the mission.

Heard a story, while in the Girl Scout office, last week that should make everyone proud of the younger generation. A Scout, while selling Girl Scout calendars last week, forgot to return the change from the sale of two calendars. The buyer, intending to give the entire seventy-five cents, thought nothing more about it. Later the same evening, when answering a knock at her door, she found the girl there to return the nickel and to apologize for the mistake. Now mistakes will happen, as we all know, but few will take the time or the trouble to correct them. Whether the mistake is large or, as in this instance, a nickel mistake, it should be corrected. The parents of this girl should be proud.

The calendar sales have been great this year. The office reordered and judging from the requests from the leaders, they could have sold several hundred more. This kind of response from the people is what the girls need. The profit from the calendar sales stay with each individual troop and with this money they plan their special projects.

Speaking of special projects, Troop 14 has undertaken the job of keeping the Red Cross supplied with hand puppets which are given to the children convalescing in the local hospital. Now understand why I was told that Mrs. E. A. McLennan's middle name should be Girl Scout. The ten girls in her troop ishes. And initial designs have been revived in everything from links to key cases.

14 are busy planning a bazaar to sell Christmas decorations and instant candle wax. Anyone planning to make their holiday candles can contact Mrs. McLennan at MO 9-9829. The profits from their sales are going to finance a trip for the troop to Oklahoma City. There they intend to visit art galleries, museums, libraries and other points of interest. A salute to Mrs. E. A. (Girl Scout) McLennan.

Called to the attention of the leaders; the conference to be held at Jackson's Cafeteria, Nov. 30, beginning at 10 o'clock. Remember, this is tomorrow morning. It will be worth your time and effort to attend. The committee has made special preparations for an informative program. Let us show these busy people that we appreciate their taking time to organize this.

You meet the most pleasant people while visiting the Scout office, including the office personnel. Last week Mrs. Bob Andis was there busily making plans for radio publicity and this week John McCausland was there discussing business. He is chairman of the sustaining membership drive for the Girl Scouts.

Several troops have "adopted" families to give baskets for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Other troops that would like to have this as a project can contact Mrs. W. C. Erwin, 1928 N. Zimmers.

Any Christmas items, such as world association pins or badges, that must be ordered through the office should be placed immediately. There are many gifts that may be given to girls in connection with their Scout work. To prove this, thumb through the Scout equipment catalog with your daughter and there will be half dozen or so "musts" that she will show you. Many nice gifts and several stocking stuffers.

This week will find the girls especially busy as there will be only three more meetings before Christmas. Most troops do not plan to meet during the school Christmas vacation.

Engineers Work Around Clock On Gemini Ship

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Engineers working around the clock to keep Gemini 7 on schedule for launch Saturday replaced a faulty power unit Monday in the spacecraft's guidance system.

Project officials were running a series of tests on the system to determine if an electrical "bug" found Sunday has been eliminated.

A space agency spokesman said engineers were hopeful that the problem could be corrected without causing a delay in Saturday's planned launch of astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell.

"We'll see how we stand later in the day," the spokesman said.

The trouble involved a surge of electricity in the computer aboard the spacecraft. The voltage boost apparently came from the power supply for the capsule's guidance equipment.

The electrical surge, called a "glitch" by engineers, occurred while the spacecraft was being put through a 15-hour series of simulated flights Saturday. Engineers discovered the trouble Sunday while studying data from the test.

A delay on the Gemini 7 launch would also affect the launch of Gemini 6 rendezvous pilots Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford. They are scheduled to be rocketed in pursuit of Borman and Lovell nine days after the Gemini 7 launch.

U.S. to Begin Taking Cubans Out by Plane

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. airlift of refugees from Cuba is due to begin this week, but it signals no change in American policy toward Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

The airlift, scheduled to go into operation Wednesday, is the first major negotiated agreement between the United States and Cuba since relations were broken off in 1961.

But the State Department insists it is not interested in any general talks to improve relations or lift U.S. trade and travel bans until Cuban Communism, supported by Russia, is no longer a threat to the hemisphere.

U.S. aims, officials say, remain in general to hinder Cuba's ability to export subversion, to keep its economy weak and off balance, to demonstrate to the hemisphere that Communism has no future there, and to increase the cost of the Soviet Union of supporting the Castro regime.

Officials do not contend that these policies will topple Castro by themselves, but rather that in the long run they will contribute to his difficulties and ultimately lead to abandonment of the Cuban Communist experiment.

What, then, is the meaning of the refugee agreement for long-run U.S.-Cuba relations? Washington officials frequently describe it as a Cuban miscalculation which they hope will result in good publicity for the United States and backfire against Castro. They believe that Castro probably made his Sept. 28 open-door refugee offer merely as propaganda, not intending that the United States would take him up on it.

Another possible motive was that Castro wanted to use the refugee matter to probe whether the United States was in any mood to negotiate relaxation of policies against Cuba.

On the last point U.S. officials consider they have given Castro his answer.

Army Again Seizes Power In French Colony of Dahomey

COTONOU, Dahomey (UPI) — The army today seized power in this postage stamp former French African colony and forced the resignation of the republic's warring political leaders.

It was the second time in two years the military took charge of the country under the direction of army commander, Gen. Christophe Soglo.

Dahomey is situated in West Africa, wedged between Nigeria and Togoland on the Guli of Guinea. It has a population of 1.9 million.

The coup occurred after President Sourou Migan Apathy refused orders to resign from the nation's military and political leaders. Soglo called on National Assembly President Tahirou Congacou to take over temporary control of the government.

The republic remained calm, according to first reports. Martial music blared from the national radio. Vice President Justin Ahomadegbe also was urged to resign, Radio Dahomey reported.

That means nothing much at the plate again but more than enough on the pitching mound and on the base paths.

A half hour before naming the 43-year-old Dark their new manager, Haywood Sullivan their old one, signed on as vice president and director of player personnel with the Boston Red Sox.

Then, immediately after introducing Dark, the A's announced farm director Hank Peters had resigned to accept front office job with the

Pampa Travels To Dumas Tuesday

The Harvesters and Demons will square off at 8 p.m. with the Shockers slated to play at 6:30 p.m.

Pampa will be after their second win over the Demons this season, opening the season with a 78-42 decision.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Harvesters will be competing in the Plainview tournament and won't have another home game until Dec. 7 when they host Lubbock Coronado in a B game. The varsity has their next home game Dec. 17 when Palo Duro comes in for a conference visit.

The Baltimore Colts of the National Football League got a little mixed up on their graduating classes over the weekend.

The Colts said Matson was taken as a future because his class will graduate next June. Wonder if they know he has not been playing football either?

Brown Leads Browns To Another NFL Grid Title

By United Press International

As Jimmy Brown goes so go the Cleveland Browns. Therefore it's little wonder that the National Football League's defending champions will be in the title game again and their incomparable fullback is in the midst of his finest season.

The NFL kingpins clinched the Eastern Division crown for the second straight year Sunday and once more the difference was the redoubtable Mr. Brown.

The bone crushing former Syracuse star was held to 19 yards on the ground in the first half at Pittsburgh Sunday and the Browns returned to the dressing room clinging to a slim 7-0 lead.

However, Brown and the Browns came to life in the second half as Jimmy crossed the goal line for six points on four occasions to spark Cleveland to a 42-21 trouncing of the Steelers. The triumph gave Cleveland an unbeatable four-game lead in the East with three games remaining.

Other G'mes

In other NFL games, Los Angeles upset Green Bay 21-10; Chicago clobbered New York 35-14; Washington edged Dallas 34-31; Philadelphia beat St. Louis 28-24; and San Francisco whipped Minnesota 45-24.

Winner of the $10,000 Hickok Belt as the outstanding professional athlete of 1964, Brown established a new personal one-season touchdown mark for himself at 19 with three games left and raised his total point production to 114 for another career high.

Jimmy tallied in the third period on runs of three and two yards and dashed 15 yards to paydirt to open the final session. He was on the receiving end of a 27-yard scoring aerial from reserve quarterback Jim Ninowski to complete the game's scoring.

Overall, the bruising fullback rushed for 146 yards, marking the seventh time this season, and 57th in his career, that Brown has gained more than 100 yards in a single contest.

Los Angeles's placekicker Bruce Gossett booted four field goals in the Rams' surprise victory over Green Bay that dropped the Packers 1½ games behind Baltimore, the Western Division pacesetter.

Chicago sensation Gale Sayers set a league scoring record of 14 touchdowns in a freshman season by romping to two scores. The 22-year-old half sprinted 45 yards in the first half and went 15 yards for the last score of the game. He juggled the ball 13 times for 113 yards and had a touchdown pass called back by a penalty.

Quarterback Rudy Bukich was on target, completing 16 passes for 234 yards and one touchdown. Earl Morrall of the Giants tossed two-scoring passes for New York's points.

Mike Holovak flashed his best poker face and admitted he won the pot with a losing hand.

"I sent word into the huddle when we got down to the New York 10-yard line: 'Four downs for the touchdown—no field goal,'" explained Holovak, the head coach of the Boston Patriots. "We had nothing to lose — except another game."

The New York Jets were leading 23-20 with 54 seconds left in the game Sunday when the Patriots reached fourth down and still had not scored. Ignoring the field goal, Babe Parilli hit end Tony Romeo with a two-yard flip for the touchdown that gave the gambling Patriots a 27-23 triumph.

Len Dawson tossed three touchdown passes to power Kansas City to a 52-14 triumph over Houston in the only other AFL game scheduled. The victory moved the Chiefs into second place in the West and to within one game of the front-running San Diego Chargers.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (UPI) — A 32-yard fourth-period pass from quarterback Don Allard to end Gary Gardina produced the touchdown Sunday that gave the New Bedford Sweepers a 13-9 victory over the Jersey City Jets in the Atlantic Coast Football League championship game.

Linemen Have Day in Draft

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 1965 college player draft is history and there's no doubt about it — the long-suffering, underrated, underpaid linemen finally have had their day.

No fewer than 61 of the first 80 players drafted by the National Football League were linemen or defensive backs and in the American League the count was 33 of the first 46. But when the annual checkbook war between owners in the rival leagues is over, it will be a running back, not a lineman, who will walk off with the biggest contract. As a matter of fact, the way things look right now, a lineman might not even finish second.

The biggest winner is almost sure to be Jim Grabowski, the record-busting Illinois fullback who ground out 1,258 yards this year against some of the toughest competition in the country, and broke 11 of the immortal Red Grange's school records while doing it.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Prescription for the Doctors

As if they haven't enough already of government intervention in their profession, some doctors by their actions seem to be asking for more. We have in mind those who become directly involved in or otherwise stand to profit from sale of the remedies which they prescribe for their patients. Last year, a Senate committee found that some 8,000 or more physicians owned small drug companies and pharmacies, and were thus in position to profit from their own prescriptions. Now the same committee reports that about 2,500 eye doctors are selling eye glasses as well as prescribing them.

government regulation of the medical profession, unless the more sensible majority of doctors bring the others into line. One U.S. Senator has already introduced a bill forbidding a physician to profit from the sale of any product he prescribes. In our opinion, such legislation just shouldn't be necessary. The American Medical Association once included in its code: "An ethical physician does not engage in barter or trade in appliances, devices or remedies prescribed for patients, but limits the sources of his professional income to professional services rendered the patient." We believe that most doctors still abide by that ethic, whether it's written anywhere or not. If that fact were made clear, by doctors themselves, on a local basis, there would be no excuse for Federal intervention and our good doctors would retain unblemished the reputation for selfless service which they so richly deserve. This is one case in which we would like to see doctors prescribe for themselves, rather than for politicians and bureaucrats in Washington to do it for them.

McNamara's Aluminum Band

A couple of weeks back the aluminum companies announced to the public that modest price increases were to be put on that metal. Washington promptly organized an orchestrated propaganda campaign against the companies. We were led to believe that such a price increase would breach or destroy the effort to hold back inflation in our national economy. After a two-day chorus at this refrain, Mr. McNamara's Band broke loose with a marching tune at the Pentagon.

nounced price increases. At least two things are clear: the first is that the government's stockpile of aluminum was not essential to the military requirements of Mr. McNamara's Department of Defense. It was procured under that guise; but Mr. McNamara clearly doesn't need it, if he can dump it on the market in a war with domestic aluminum producers. The second is that Mr. McNamara's threat was government price control imposed on taxpayer investors in the aluminum industry without any similar pressure, present or past, ever having been imposed on labor leaders seeking wage increases, fringe benefits, cost-of-living adjustments, etc. There is a very ugly word which defines the activity of a government which pursues such selective procedures. The word is Fascism. And only that word properly defines what has taken place. Unless America's industrialists, businessmen and farmers stand up and fight back against such political demands, they, and all of us, will come to the time when we will be doing a Fascist goose-step to the tune of McNamara's Band.

Hold What You've Got

Some elderly people have already suffered financially and perhaps physically - because they cancelled private health and accident insurance almost as soon as they heard the Medicare bill was passed. But the fact is Medicare benefits do not begin until July 1, 1966. Even then, many people "over-65" will still have need for some private insurance coverage. Official information on Medicare, put out by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in its leaflet "Health Insurance for the Aged," notes that while government programs "will pay a large part of the cost of health care for most older people... they do not pay the entire bill."

care" which answers many questions about what will and what will not be covered by Medicare. Having satisfied ourselves that it is really a public sales gimmick, we're glad to inform our readers that this 12-page booklet can be obtained free of charge by writing to: Medicare Booklet, Continental Casualty Co., Continental Center, Chicago, Illinois, 60604. With all the fanfare and hoopla which accompanied its passage and signing, we're not surprised that many folks got the idea they had no more need for private insurance from the moment the President signed the Medicare bill. So we offer this reminder to all our elderly friends and neighbors - hold on to what you've got until that bill actually goes into effect, and then make sure you'll have what you need.

HOW TO ADDRESS OUR LAW MAKERS

You may wish to write your senator and representatives in Washington and Austin. Here are their addresses: (FEDERAL) Rep. Walter Rogers, House Office Bldg., Washington 25, D. C. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Senate Bldg., Washington 25, D. C. Sen. John Tower, Senate Office Bldg., Washington 25 D. C. (STATE) Rep. Grainger McIlhenny, Wheeler, Texas Sen. Grady Hazelwood, Amarillo, Texas

By HARRY BROWNE "It is hard to live by one's principles. It is always easier to give in to temptation and be like others." Do those words sound familiar? I've read them and heard them often. The man who says it is difficult to live by principle does not really understand his own principles. For living by principle should be the easiest task in the world. What is a principle? It is simply an unchanging fact of life that one recognizes. The object of living by principle is to realistically obtain more of what you want in life—whatever that may be. So you formulate a set of principles as guideposts to follow in order to obtain what you want. If you have thought out your principles for yourself, they will be fully consistent with the real world as it is, and with your goals in life. In this case, living by them is not difficult—but violating them would be very hard to do, because you'd be unwilling to accept the consequences of violating what you know to be the truth. For example, is it wrong to lie? Once a man has determined for himself that it is wrong, he will have no trouble being honest thereafter. For he knows that to violate this principle will bring unpleasant reactions—the fear of being discovered, the disrespect of others, etc. On the other hand, if he finds it difficult to be honest, it simply means he has never fully understood the consequences of dishonesty that would apply in every case. To be livable, a principle must be consistent with the real world. For example, the tenet "live your life completely for others" would be impossible to live by. Anyone who tries to do so will inevitably experience frustration. Why? Because the "principle" is not realistic. Every man lives for himself and what he feels is meaningful. To live for others is conceptually impossible. Whatever a man's motives, they are all part of satisfying his own objectives. The man who devotes himself to charity is only attempting to satisfy his own motivations—perhaps even to the exclusion of others who can conceive of "better charities". He is pursuing self-interest no less than the man seeking wealth. On the other hand, the individual who realizes that others will offer him more in proportion to what he offers them, is also selfish—but constructively so. Why constructive? Because he is adopting principles that help him to obtain what he wants in life. Living by principle is not torture or self-denial. If you believe you are living by principle—but find yourself sometimes envying those who don't live by yours—then you should seriously consider adopting their principle. For there is something wrong with yours. "Living by principle" means to take the time to think out your life, to determine your highest goals, and to formulate principles that will take you to those goals. To live by those principles is always easier than rejecting them—if the principles are consistent with your understanding of life itself. What are your principles? Draw up your guideposts and live by them.

An influential member of the Finance and Commerce Committees, Hartke is in Japan with a group of other senators discussing financial and economic problems. They are scheduled to hold similar talks in India and Pakistan. On their return they will report to President Johnson. Pointing out that "both the dollar and pound are now strong and stable," Hartke held "there is no better time to iron out our international monetary problems and to improve trade balances." "The U. S. should throw its full weight behind Britain's admission to the Common Market," continued Hartke. "We should take the initiative on that, and force a showdown with De Gaulle if necessary. It's time we backed our friends in the struggle for international monetary and economic stability." Anglo-American cooperation has traditionally formed in three fields—trade, money and politics. The U. S. has just helped Britain through the worst crisis ever faced by the pound. Now the U.S. has the opportunity to give vital assistance to Britain's foreign policy, which means helping ourselves. "On the European continent the U. S. can back Britain on a new bid to enter the Common Market. That can be accomplished by exerting so much leverage against De Gaulle that he will have to let Britain in. For that purpose a bilateral conference on international monetary reform, convened by the U.S. and Britain, could do a great deal to 'persuade' France to bargain."

WASHINGTON — The U. S. and Britain are preparing to press for a potentially fateful showdown with President de Gaulle. Shortly after the December 5 election, in which the imperious 75-year-old French leader is certain to be re-elected, Prime Minister Wilson will make a new bid for membership in the six-nation European Common Market. This momentous move will have the full and forceful support of the U.S. While not a member of the Common Market, the U.S. will exert the utmost economic, financial and political influence in Britain's behalf. Toward that end it will be announced that an Anglo-American conference will be held to deliberate possible far-reaching changes in the international monetary system. Japan and a number of other countries favor such a parley, and have signified willingness to participate. So far, the De Gaulle government has been against a world monetary conference. Washington and London authorities are privately saying flatly this meeting will be held regardless of whether the French attend or not. Declared one high-placed U.S. official: "France's presence isn't necessary. The U. S. dollar and the British pound constitute the free world monetary system. The French franc is of no consequence as an international currency. If De Gaulle wants to be haughty and self-willed, let him. He won't be missed. On the other hand, his country has everything to lose and nothing to gain by abstaining." Another important authority stressed the determination "to take the initiative as soon as the French election is out of the way."

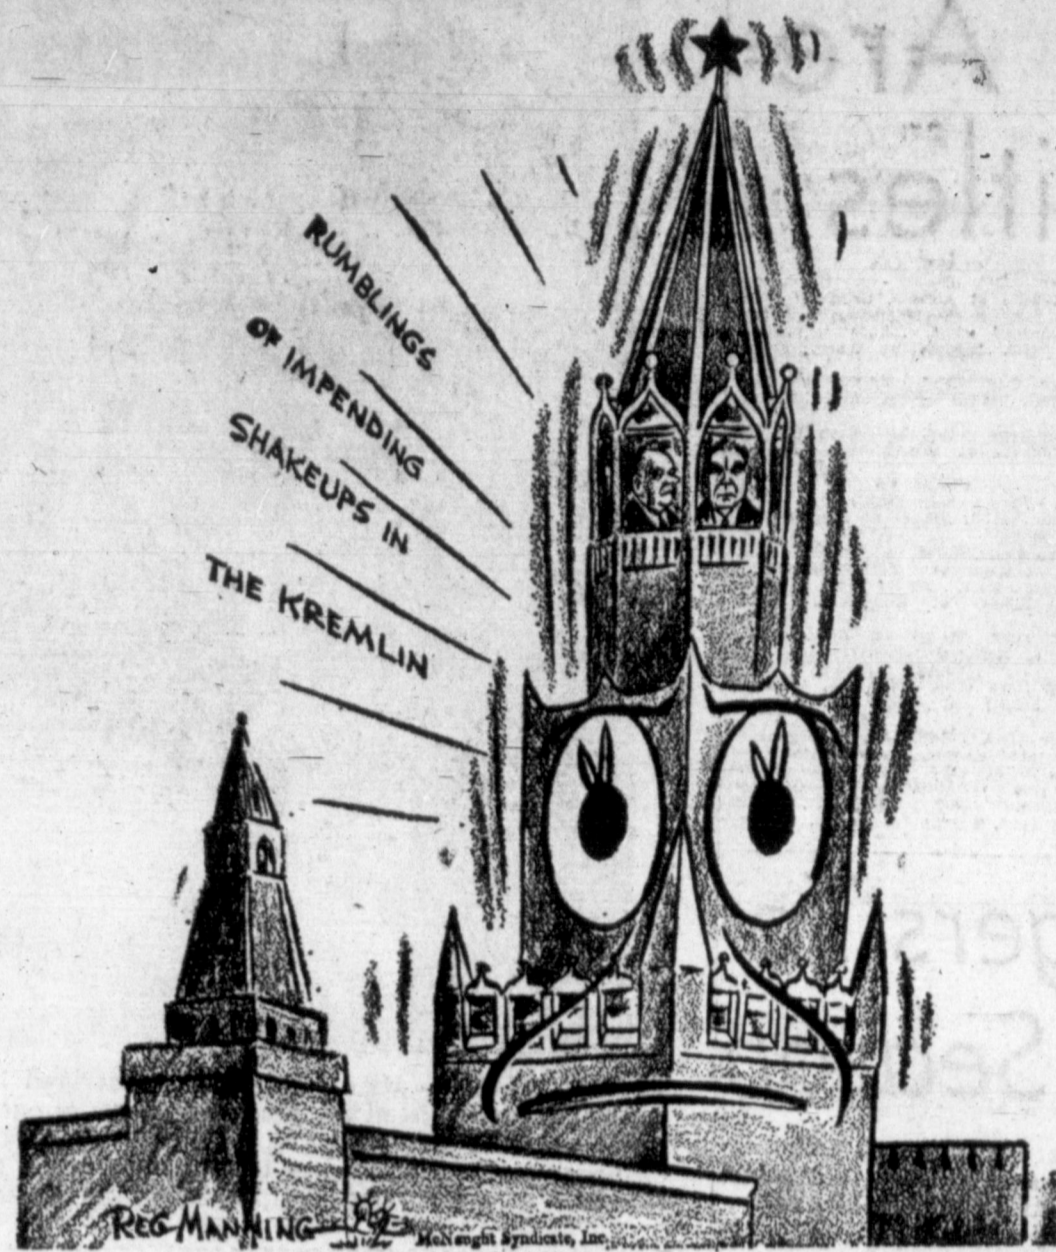

De Gaulle has had his obstructive and disruptive way too long," he asserted. "Re-elected for a second term, he will undoubtedly intensify his efforts to put over his ultra-nationalistic concepts. We don't intend to sit idly by and wait for him to move. It is our fixed intention to act first." Backstage discussions on the double-barreled U.S.-British strategy have been underway for some time. Also taking part in these closely guarded talks have been the governments of Japan, Italy, Brazil and several other countries. De Gaulle blocked an attempt by a conservative British government to gain admittance to the Common Market several years ago. While no actual vote was taken he made it bluntly clear he was prepared to exercise France's veto power to bar Britain. Under the Common Market charter, a unanimous vote is required on major decisions. STRAW IN THE WIND—Significantly indicative of what is afoot is a little-noticed state-

Wit and Whimsy

Wife—Isn't it wonderful how the waves keep rolling in, darling? Husband—Yes, they remind me of the household bills at home, dear. The nice thing about a dull party is that you get to bed at a decent hour. Six-Year-Old Kathy announced to her mother that she was going to marry a seven-year-old schoolmate. Mother asked if the projected groom had a job. Kathy—Yes, he erases the blackboards in school. The man who wants a girl who is good, clever, and beautiful, does not want one; he wants three. Coming down with a bad cold, a man slumped at his desk, clasped his head in his hands, sniffed, and complained. Man—How can a man feel so rotten from a disease that doesn't even have a national foundation? Jan—The violinist's execution was simply marvelous. Janice—Wasn't it though. You could see the audience hanging on every note.

MORE GOVERNMENT CONTROL

Banking, finance, transportation, and communication are rigidly controlled by government in America today. There is also much control in the field of education, and government is reaching rapidly and persistently for more. Our steeply graded income and inheritance tax exceeds the wildest dreams of Karl Marx. We have already adopted most of the Communist Manifesto, and now Washington is reaching definitely and greedily for full control of employment, housing, and voting. Government, and not the states, as provided by the Constitution, specifies the conditions under which we may vote. Housing is rapidly being socialized. The new subsidies for renters and the older ones for construction are long step toward government control or socialized housing. The United States Employment Service, which had a budget of $1 million in 1932, spent $200 million in 1964, and is working hard for control over all employment. Bernard Teets, Director of the Colorado State Employment Service, recently boasted: "In five years if we are not hampered by new restrictions, and if we can get adequate funds from Congress, we will be handling 90 per cent of the job placement business. We are not living in a free enterprise system, but rather operating under a controlled economy." Mr. Teets has declared that he now controls 40 per cent of all placements in Colorado, and looks forward to eliminating private employment agencies. Robert O. Snelling Sr., president of the Pennsylvania chapter of the National Employment Association, said about a year ago: "It may amaze you to know that there is now a bill in Congress called the Fogarty-Bill that if passed, would make jobs and job-seeking a federal monopoly, and would do away completely with the private employment agency industry. The United States Employment Service has declared open war on the private employment agencies, and is blatantly spending billions of your dollars to compete with private employment agencies." Efforts are being made to reduce the fees of private employment agencies which, if adopted, will put them out of business. Meanwhile, government employment agencies continue to exaggerate the number of jobs they are finding for those seeking work. A determined effort is being made to federalize the whole process of finding employment. We are well on the way toward the time when jobs will be assigned by government, as well as hours and wages. Secretary Wirtz remarked noted Screvane for the No. 2 place—a prize he is highly unlikely to get, particularly as the President hasn't yet decided who will head the new agency.

Articles for this column are preferred to be 500 words or less in length. However, longer articles may be printed. All letters must be signed.

Editor: During the past years many editors and columnists have written about the ever-increasing unnecessary government spending, higher taxes going higher and the spiraling of the national debt to astronomical heights, but the puzzling fact is that very little, if anything, is said about the one specific plan which will correct the problem—the Liberty Amendment Resolution, approved so far by 7 States and the other 43 are acting on it. Further bewilderment is encountered when in the absence of any other specific answer why isn't this resolution brought out into the open, discussed, analyzed and constructively criticized with the hope that in doing so perhaps another better plan may emerge. Not being able to find in government or private industry statistics, certain computerized information, 3 schedules were prepared by me and sent to a few colleges and electronic data processing firms with the request that they—(1) feed the figures on our national debt for the past 35 years into the computers and program them to come up with the answer when we go broke, if the present trend continues; (2) feed the figures on our social security system into the computers and program them to come up with the answer as to when this fund becomes, or became insolvent because on this one I honestly believe the computers will come up with a retroactive date; (3) feed into the computers the information that in 1789 the 350 civilians on the federal payroll amounted to 1 for every 11,225 Americans; in 1883, 1 federal worker for every 215; today, 1 federal worker for every 76 Americans; program the computers for the answer when all will be government workers. If you want to inject a real shocker into the discussion—current statistics show 1 of 7 civilians working for government—federal, state and local

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "Medicine used to taste dreadful. Today medicine tastes so delicious kids gulp the whole bottle of it as though it were candy. How should medicine taste?"

ANSWER: We are not qualified to say how medicine should taste. Frankly, we are not sure the all-inclusive statement is correct. We can remember medicine which used to taste pleasant, and we have encountered medicine in the present day which was not what we would call "delicious."

We wonder if the questioner may be referring to the political medicine which is being dispensed? It used to be that political panaceas which were offered up usually were accompanied by a price tag which made them bitter pills to swallow. Now, it seems the sugar coating has been increased to where the people seem ready to "gulp the whole bottle." The over-use of the "medicine" may make them seriously ill or kill them, but they appear to be unaware or unconcerned because of the pleasant taste.

FIDEL'S BEARD SNAGS IN BARBED WIRE (Chicago Tribune)

Whatever Fidel Castro's motives in permitting thousands of opponents of his regime to leave communist Cuba, he has caused acute embarrassment to Walker Ulbricht, another of the boys in the communist "camp." Ulbricht is the architect of the infamous Berlin wall, intended to keep his captives shut inside the East German concentration camp. Suggestions have been made that he emulate Castro by knocking down the wall and giving his subjects a choice. As far as that goes, why not tear down all the watchtowers, dismantle the barbed wire, and root out the land mines all along the iron curtain? But the communist dictators know better and won't take the chance. They'd see whole populations heading west.

ONE SET OF ILLS FOR ANOTHER (The Freeman)

The results have been astonishingly uniform. The history of government limitation of price seems to teach one clear lesson: that in attempting to ease the burdens of the people in a time of high prices by artificially setting a limit to them, the people are not relieved but only exchange one set of ills for another, which is greater. The man, or class of men, who controls the supply of essential foods is in possession of supreme power. They had to exercise this control in order to hold supreme power, because all the people need food and it is the only commodity of which this is true. (Mary G. Lacy, Food Control During Forty-six Centuries)

long ago: "One of every eight workers in the nation is on the public payroll... more than one third of all U. S. payroll."

How long will it be until most of us, or all of us, are on the public payroll? Already an increasing number of high schools and colleges are turning over aptitude testing and counseling to the Federal-State Employment Service. Government thus increasingly moves into the position of guiding youth in seeking government. The guidance may be advisory now, but it will become compulsory.

Fugate Continues As Leading in Business Printing

Fugate printing continues as the leader in the production of modern business forms and stationery in the Pampa area.

Bob Fugate, owner, has been known in Pampa since 1951 for his fine quality printing and lithographing, and on this reputation has built the modern, progressive Fugate Printing Company plant at 210 N. Ward in Pampa.

Fugate's are known for the speed and accuracy with which they produce every printing order, and the personal regard for the customer whether his order be large or small. Fugate's regularly produce complex business forms, attractive stationery, brochures, catalogs, invoices, statements and hundreds of other custom-made items—all with that efficient, crisp, modern look. Fugate's are proud to represent the Siegrist Engraving Company of Kansas City with their exquisite line of genuine steel die engraved wedding invitations, calling cards, stationery and related items.

The name "Siegrist" on engraving is like sterling on silver. We also handle a beautiful line of the more economically priced simulated engraved invitations to fit the more modest budget.

In keeping with their policy of "More and Better Services for Pampa's Business Men," Fugate Printing has added new equipment to their Xerox (Zeerox) copying facilities. The miraculous new Xerox 813, will make copies of almost anything typed, written, drawn or printed. This fabulous, new copying machine makes perfect, black-on-white copies in a "jiffy"—no sloppy, dull, hard-to-read copies here! Why waste time, money and patience on old fashioned "copier" with expensive special paper and messy solutions and the "I get a decent copy this time" attitude in your office, when Fugate's can give you "guaranteed good" copies in seconds for only pennies.

Our copying facilities are unequalled anywhere in Pampa—anything from a single copy of a legal document, marriage license, birth certificate to hundreds or thousands of copies of form letters, report, etc.

Fugate's also have a complete line of office supplies and accessories. Everything that keeps your office running smoothly and efficiently will be found in our office supply department from paper clips to file cabinets. The famous brand names familiar to office supply buyers are all represented. Finest quality mimeo and duplicator papers, stencils, ink, carbon
