VISIT ENDS — Princess Margaret brushes rain from the forehead of her husband, Lord Snowdon, on a whirlwind tour of New York department stores on the final day of the British royal couple's three-week visit to the United States. They fly to Bermuda for a brief stop before returning to England.

Rain-Soaked California Faces More

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Rain-soaked southern Californians—digging out from the second heavy storm in as many weeks—braced themselves today for another onslaught.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said heavy rains were expected to lash the area during the afternoon today and might continue through Thanksgiving Day.

Tuesday's storm, which left at least four persons dead on this side of the Mexican border and five victims on the other side at Tijuana, followed by only a few days of the worst rainstorm in a half-century.

Land and mud slides were reported throughout the area and several mountain and desert communities were hard hit if not altogether isolated. One of the worst slides blocked the Pacific Coast highway near Malibu under tons of mud.

Riverside County sheriff's deputies reported many motorists in scattered areas had to be rescued from the roofs of their cars.

Lake Arrowhead in the San Bernardino Mountains reported 12 inches of rain fell Tuesday, sinking numerous small boats.

The two-week storm has unloaded about 9 inches of rain on Los Angeles and brought the season total to about 11 inches.

Jaycees Will Put Up Yule Decorations

Members of the Pampa Jaycees will begin installing the annual Christmas Decorations early Sunday in preparation for the Santa Day Parade Dec. 3.

The Jaycees and Chamber of Commerce have urged any civic club or organization to enter a float in the parade.

Cash prizes and trophies will be presented to the winner in each of three divisions: organizations, churches and commercials. A $50 cash sweepstakes award will be given to the float judged best.

The parade will form at 3 p.m. in the Coronado Shopping Center parking lot. It will move down Hobart to West street where it will proceed to Francis and then eastward to Cuy. (See DECORATIONS, Page 3)

—AND TOMMY COLE Farewell Party Given For Visiting Royalty

NEW YORK (UPI) — Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon danced away Tuesday night on a transparent floor over a bubbling pool at a lavish farewell party attended by socialites, celebrities and Tommy Cole.

Although the royal British couple were the guests of honor, a good deal of attention was diverted to Tommy who was cheered as he arrived in his borrowed tux and slightly crooked bow tie.

Tommy, a shy grocery boy, looked somewhat bewildered by it all as many of the guests called him by name. His invitation was a reward for his honesty in returning a stray invitation to actress Elaine Stritch.

Miss Stritch inadvertently used the back of her invitation to prepare a grocery list last week. When Tommy returned it, she mentioned the incident to party hostess Sharmar Douglas, who in turn invited the youth.

Tommy arrived with Miss

Stritch and her escort, spent about 40 minutes inside at the bar and left. He apparently was not introduced to the royal couple.

The princess wore a floor-length turquoise evening gown at the "informal" party in the chic Four Seasons restaurant. She declined the frog and the jerk or "sedate fox trots" and a "graceful Charleston" and danced frequently "with anyone who asked her," a spokesman said.

The princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, arrived at 11:12 p.m. in a racing green Rolls Royce. More than 300 persons, many of them British, braved the night chill to cheer and ooh and aah as the royal couple entered.

Nearly 200 of the door-watchers remained until 3:19 a.m., when the royal couple, grinning broadly, left for the Long Island estate of John Hay Whitney, former U.S. ambassador to Britain.

A member of the royal entourage declared the princess's four hours of dancing and chatting and picking up her own supper buffet-style in the restaurant's gleaming kitchen constituted "the time of her trip."

A spokesman said the princess "felt at ease because she was with theatrical people."

Averaging three partners per number she danced with numerous show business luminaries, including Sammy Davis Jr., Leonard Bernstein and Harry Belafonte.

New York Mayor-Elect John V. Lindsay had a "serious" 15-minute talk with the princess, a spokesman said. Both he and Lindsay declined to disclose what was said.

The princess and her husband had no official engagements scheduled before their departure to Bermuda on a first class BOAC flight at 3:15 p.m. EST.

The royal couple planned to leave Bermuda for London five hours later in a divan-fitted first class compartment of a regularly-scheduled BOAC flight.

Federal Mediator Fails To Win An Agreement

Wage contract negotiations between company officials and representatives of union employees at Cabot Corp. Schafer plant in Skellytown and Pampa carbon black plant west of the city were deadlocked today.

One hundred and forty-six employees at the two plants are affected, according to Vernon E. Kisinger of Berger, representing the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union.

The workers, he stated, are members of OCAW Local 4-235 of Pampa.

Kisinger said company and union officials failed to agree after two sessions yesterday morning and afternoon presided over by Federal mediator D. R. Hunt of Oklahoma City.

Hunt was unable to bring the two sides together and when the afternoon session ended union officials said the mediator returned to Oklahoma City.

With both sides standing firm, it left the possibility of a strike hanging on an optional 24-hour cancellation notice that could be exercised at any time.

Meanwhile, the two plants continue working under the present contract on the 24-hour basis.

The contract has been open since late in August and several meetings since then have failed to bring agreement.

Yesterday's negotiating sessions with the federal mediator were held in Cabot offices in the Hughes Bldg. No further meetings have been scheduled.

At issue in the contract negotiations are wage rate increases and changes in the company vacation plan.

D. W. Bond, Cabot's industrial relations director and chief company negotiator at yesterday's mediation meeting, said the company is standing firm on its offer to the union of a six cents an hour average wage increase plus a change of 2 cents an hour in the vacation package, or a total increase of 8 cents an hour.

Bond said the union's total demand amounts to 14.4 cents an hour and the company is offering 8 cents.

Bond stated that the company's offer, including base rate pay, shift differential and bathing time for the carbon black workers would make the total wage and benefit costs $4.29 an hour.

The union, Bond said, is asking for a total of approximately $4.35 an hour.

The company negotiator also stated employees at the Schafer and Pampa carbon black plants get 9 holidays a year, while other employees get only 8 and employees of the Machinery Division

UNION LEADERS HOPEFUL

Aircraft Production Strike May Be Over

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Leaders of the International Association of Machinists (IAM) sought support from their membership today to end a strike which has halted the McDonnell Aircraft Co.'s jet fighter production for the Viet Nam war.

The union leaders returned here with a proposed new contract for 17,000 McDonnell employees following a settlement reached late Tuesday night at bargaining sessions in Washington.

A membership meeting was scheduled for noon CST (1 p.m., EST) to present the contract for ratification. IAM Vice President Robert Glover expressed the hope that most of the workers would attend and vote on the new contract, which needs a majority vote from those present for approval.

Although federal mediators who had participated in negotiations since the strike began last Friday called the contract proposal "a fair and honorable agreement of which both sides can be proud," no one predicted flatly it would be approved.

The path toward approval appeared to be cleared somewhat, however, by the cancellation of a meeting by a dissident faction aimed at removing the union's District 9 as the bargaining agent for the IAM's Local 837, which represents the McDonnell workers.

Pickets remained outside the McDonnell plant following the announcement of the settlement shortly before midnight CST (1 a.m., EST) today. It was said then they were expected to stay "until the membership votes acceptance."

Union leaders and company officials joined with the mediators in praising the latest agreement, which was understood to contain little change from the wage scales offered previously. Revision of job specifications would put many workers in higher paying brackets, however.

Thomas Spite, chief IAM shop steward at McDonnell's St. Louis headquarters, said "we felt we had a good economic package before and this agreement includes many, many advances in job specifications and other areas."

TRADITIONAL THANKSGIVING PLANNED

Pampans Expect Big Turkey Day

Pampans prepared for a traditional Thanksgiving tomorrow with all public schools being turned out, most business houses closed and the annual Community Thanksgiving service set for 10 a.m. in the Robert E. Lee Junior High School auditorium.

According to the Chamber of Commerce, no special observance of the holiday has been planned, but various organizations and individuals within the city had planned Thanksgiving programs.

Speaker at tomorrow morning's community service will be Rev. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church. The invocation will be given by Rev. John Ferguson, pastor of Barrett Baptist Church. Rev. Joe Hawn, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, will read the Litany of Thanksgiving.

The choir for the service will be made up of members of choirs of participating churches.

Pampa grocery stores said housewives still were busy buying the traditional feast of turkey, dressing, cranberries and all the trimmings this morning.

Patrick's Cafe, which serves meals to both city and county prisoners, said a complete turkey dinner would be served to inmates of both jails.

Federal, state, city and county offices will be closed with exception of the sheriff's office and city police department.

Most business houses will be closed tomorrow with the exception of a few grocery stores and service stations.

Public and parochial schools closed at 3:30 p.m. today and classes will not resume until Monday morning.

There will be no regular mail deliveries tomorrow.

Viet Reds Take Heavy U.S. Toll

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist troops killed 240 American servicemen and wounded 470 others last week, a U.S. military spokesman announced today. This costliest week of the war brought U.S. losses since 1961 to 1,335 dead and 6,131 wounded. Another six Americans were missing.

The figures included all services—army, Air Force and Navy—but most of the casualties were suffered by the 1st Cavalry Division which won an "unprecedented victory" in killing more than 2,260 North Vietnamese regulars in a weeklong battle on the slopes of Chu Pong Mountain rising above the Ia Drang Valley.

The toll of dead was almost three times larger than any other week of the war. The Army announced last Wednesday that 86 Americans died the previous week—a record. That figure was increased today to 188 and observers believed last week's total also would rise.

The week before that had been a record—77 killed, 12 missing and 264 wounded.

Military observers also believed the number of casualties would rise as more and more Americans were thrown into direct combat with the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars. The army today moved into Japan the first elements of four full field hospitals to handle any increase.

The U.S. combat-deaths for the week ending last Saturday were just four short of the total for the four-year period beginning in 1961 when the United States began its major military commitment to the war effort.

The American death toll surpassed the weekly average of 209 Americans killed during the Korean war. Most of the losses were suffered by the 1st Air Cavalry Division, the unit involved in the Ia Drang fighting.

But despite the heavy American casualties, the Ia Drang campaign was a major victory. Military briefing officers said 2,262 Communists were killed by actual body count and estimates from field commanders indicated as many as 4,000 probably died.

In another combat zone, Communist forces today withdrew their siege from the district capital of Tuy An on the coast of the South China Sea and moved into the hills to the north.

North Vietnamese regulars were reported fighting alongside Communist guerrillas in the Tuy An battle.

"The Viet Cong really missed a big opportunity for a propaganda victory," said Maj. James R. Henry of Pittsburgh, Pa., an American adviser with the Vietnamese troops at Tuy An. "They haven't taken a district town in a long time."

Henry said the Viet Cong could have overrun Tuy An "anytime they wanted." He was unable to explain why they did not.

Texans Vote To Extend Marketing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Preliminary returns showed today that Texas farmers voted along with 20 other states to extend federal marketing quotas for cotton, peanuts and rice.

Eighty-eight per cent of Texas farmers voted for the upland cotton—34,615 to 4,729. Other quotas approved by Texans included long staple cotton 329 to 47 (87.5 per cent); peanuts 2,991 to 122 (96.1 per cent); and rice 907 to 157 (85.2 per cent).

The vote extended current cotton quotas through 1966 requiring acreage allotments with growers entitled to price supports. The rice quotas were extended for one year and peanut farmers approved extending their quota through 1968.

Under a new federal cotton program, a farmer can collect government payments for diverting at least 12.5 per cent of his acreage to conservation uses. He can collect merely for participating in the program and become eligible for price support loans.

'Dropout' Confesses Kidnaping

BASTROP, La. (UPI)—Douglas Cahries Emerich, 18, a high school dropout who confessed he kidnaped freckle-faced Nancy (Peanuts) Keller, 8, and locked her in an attic, was to be jailed in Bastrop today to await grand jury action.

Emerich's confession was tape-recorded Tuesday during questioning by Dist. Atty. Albin Lassiter, who would not disclose details.

Emerich was questioned in Monroe, La., 22 miles from Bastrop.

Lassiter filed an affidavit Tuesday accusing Emerich of kidnaping.

Nancy and a playmate were in the front yard of the Keller home Sunday afternoon waiting for her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Keller, to take them to church.

A man drove up, grabbed Nancy and forced her into his car and sped away.

The kidnaping set off a massive search by police and volunteers.

Nancy escaped by crawling out a window of the house to which she was taken, and ran across the street to a plant nursery to telephone her father she was all right.

Dear Abby... Ungracious Custom Holds Little Warmth

DEAR ABBY: Where this ungracious custom originated, I do not know, but it is rapidly becoming popular in my community. At occasions where a gift is in order, a basket of tiny "scrolls" (paper rolled up and tied with a white ribbon for brides, silver for silver wedding anniversaries, gold for golden weddings, and so on) is placed on the gift table. As each person presents his gift, he is handed a "scroll." On this scroll is a typed "thank you for your gift" note. Then the honoree feels absolved from the task of writing thank you notes after the party. What do you think about this?

PROPER OLD LADY
DEAR PROPER: Not much. A "thank you" note of this kind has all the warmth of a smoked herring, and the tenderness of a hit-and-run driver.

DEAR ABBY: I am divorced, and have been ever since my son was four months old. (He is now nearly three years old.) His father has remarried and hasn't bothered to come to see him since we were divorced, but he does send support money. I am only 23 and hope to remarry some day and give my son a real "Daddy," but in the meantime, a problem has come up.

We live with my parents, and my son calls my father "Papa" because he hears me calling him that. But he's just discovered the word "Daddy" and he is confused. What shall I tell him? I tried to tell him that he doesn't have a "Daddy" yet, but he doesn't seem to understand. How do I go about telling him why? And if that doesn't satisfy his curiosity, how should I explain it?

YOUNG MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Tell him the truth. And answer only one question at a time—as it comes up. Tell him that his Daddy and you do not live together a ny more. If he asks why, tell him that your marriage was a mistake, and you decided to end it.

DEAR ABBY: Often, in the movies, and also on television, I have seen a gentleman give a woman his handkerchief after she has had a crying session. I would like to know, Abby, just what does the woman do with the handkerchief after she has used it?—It seems odd to me that she would give him back a dirty handkerchief. Or is it just taken for granted that she can keep it?

PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: The woman should take the handkerchief home and launder it. If she knows she'll see him again, she should return it in person. Otherwise, she should mail it back to him. (I say "should," knowing full well that few do.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "AWAITING YOUR REPLY" IN MAN-KATO, MINNESOTA: I do not believe that a "shotgun" marriage under the circumstances you described has much of a chance to succeed and, therefore, would not recommend it. As for marrying to give a child "a name," good names (and bad ones) are earned by those who bear them.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for all Occasions."

Trading Stamps Become Way of Life

By AILEEN SNODDY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — A congressional investigation of the trading stamp industry failed this session to rip a hole in Santa's pack.

Estimates of the holiday buying trade have manufacturers and merchants dancing joyously at the feet of the symbolic gift giver. The expected jump in sales over a record 1964 ranges from a conservative 8 per cent gain to 10 to 12 per cent. But few merchants need reminding that most consumers spend freely, caught up in the spirit of the season.

Feeling the rush of seasonal shopping will be trade stamp redemption stores from coast to coast. Trading stamps have come a long way since first distributed by a Milwaukee department store in 1892.

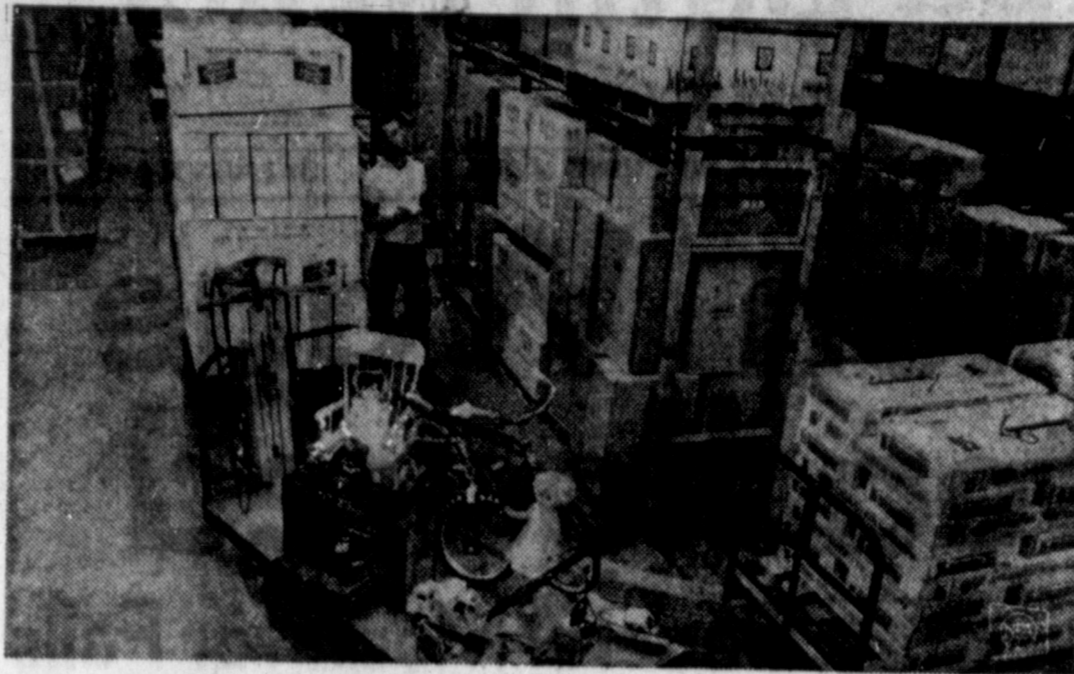

For some families, stamps are a way of life. For others, stamps are sources of irritation. Statistics indicate the former appears to be winning as the acceptance tide is flowing rather than ebbing in '65.

Approximately 48 million families collected stamps but more astutely than in the early years of the business. Man, woman or child, the stamp collector appears to understand that this is not a "something-for-free" item. This does not deter most in their quest for books.

Redemption of stamp books—between 80 and 84 per cent of American families save trading stamps—in the last two months of the year represents about 40 per cent of the industry's business. H. M. (Max) Olsen, outgoing president of the Trading Stamp Institute of America, Inc., explains the volume has led more TSIA members to streamline their handling operations. His firm, Gold Strike Stamp Co., of Salt Lake City, Utah, has a new warehouse that will hold seven boxcars—a 11 filled. Automated inventory control helps keep merchandise rolling to the customers.

The shift to certain items high on the redemption lists marks the trends in consumer desires. Olsen points out electric innovations such as hairdryers and knives are in big demand. The trend also, he says, is for the housewife to "spend" her books for items that give her better value, the high ticket or more expensive ones. Irving Axelrod, head of Big Bonus Stamps in Houston, confirms the increase in the Southwest of Christmas season redemption.

One of the big three in the trading stamp world, Sperry & Hutchinson (S & H Green Stamps) indicates more than 20 per cent of stamp saving consumers will redeem their books this Christmas season and they will use from one to six books. The sharp increase in redemption during the season is reflected in the 850,000 books redeemed by the firm in 1961 as compared to 15 million in 1961. Last year, S&H redeemed ed more books on the Saturday before Christmas than during all of 1947.

AUTOMATED GIVING — Redemption of millions of trading stamp books during the holiday season presses hard on distribution centers. To meet increased demands as Christmas nears, stamp firms use latest techniques of warehousing and merchandise handling. Carts on belts start toys on way to some 850 child from Metuchen, N.J., distribution center. Nine such warehouses serve 250 S&H redemption centers in the United States. Other stamp firms also use electronic inventory control and up-to-date warehousing to cut delays of merchandise to consumers.

Who gets what from the books? Through S & H alone, children will cuddle 450,000 dolls and stuffed toys and wheel around 100,000 doll carriages and 220,000 toy trucks. Other favored items for under the tree are roller skates, wagons and tricycles. Adults like home items. But more popular are watches, (200,000 last year) and wallets (300,000). Jewelry, toiletries, men's travel cases and women's dresser sets, lighters, umbrellas and ice buckets move from stamp warehouses in increasing numbers during this time.

Regional differences pop up during this big redemption time. Little boys in California, for example, clamored for western gun and holster sets. In Florida, fishing gear and water sports equipment were in demand. Camping and fishing items logically were big in Colorado. However, no one explained the big rush for champagne glasses by Denver redeemers.

Ruth Millett A Lady Brings Out The Gentleman in a Man

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A woman reader complains that men aren't as gentlemanly toward women as they used to be.

Before we blame the men for that, maybe we women ought to check up on whether or not we are doing all that we should to encourage men to treat us with special consideration and courtesy.

Do you, for instance, always thank the stranger who stops to hold a heavy door for you or takes the trouble to perform some other small courtesy? (Men claim many women today give them a suspicious look, rather than gentle thank you, when they do try to be helpful.)

Do you give the man nearest you at a social gathering a chance to light your cigarette or pick up something you have dropped? (Men claim that women today are so quick to wait on themselves it's often difficult for a man to get a chance to open a car door for a woman or light her cigarette or move a chair for her or pick up something she has dropped.)

Do you remember your own manners when you are behind the wheel of a car? (If you do not, you really shouldn't blame a man for forgetting his when you grab his parking space or block a residential street while you exchange pleasantries with a neighbor who is behind the wheel of an automobile coming from the opposite direction. Women do this kind of thing more often than you might suppose.)

Do you listen without interrupting when a man talks? (If you are so anxious to have your say that you won't let a man finish what he has to say, you can't blame him if he shows annoyance.)

Editor Sees Atomic War As Inevitable

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UPI) — A general atomic war is inevitable and will destroy a large portion of the world's population, an Oklahoma editor and columnist said Tuesday.

Jenkin Lloyd Jones, editor and publisher of the Tulsa Tribune, said the war would be triggered by desperation caused by uncontrollable population explosion.

Jones spoke to the Albuquerque Chamber of Commerce's annual banquet. He said man violates to his peril the laws of nature that govern other animals.

Jones said he didn't think an atomic war would kill off mankind but would certainly destroy a large portion of the population.

"Man has greatly upset the natural death rate through his newly acquired genius in preventive and corrective medicine, while he has stubbornly failed to do anything about a birth rate that was normal and necessary when the average life span was 35 years," Jones said.

Family Friends Gather Fund For Legal Aid

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Friends of the family of a youngster charged with shooting up an airliner were putting together a fund today to help his family pay for the legal matters.

The defense fund for Thomas Robinson, 16, was started by one of his high school teachers, banker John O'Brien said. O'Brien said the teacher asked him to keep track of donations and to hold the money in the First National Bank in Brownsville.

Around a dozen people have given.

Robinson, who received a court-appointed lawyer, was named in a federal charge of crime aboard an aircraft. He was accused of firing nine shots into the floor of a National Airlines DC8 jet in an apparent hijack attempt Nov. 17. The airplane returned to the New Orleans airport safely and nobody was injured.

Robinson was held on $50,000 bond.

Canadian Man Closes Long Postal Career

Friday, November 5th, saw the close of an unusually long career in post office service for Assistant Postmaster Carl W. Zybach, who retired after 44 years and three months of continuous service in the Canadian post office.

On July 20, 1921, one month and five days after his marriage to Edna Rathjen, Zybach was appointed substitute clerk by the postmaster at that time, J. W. A. Jackson. He was promoted to regular clerk the following year upon the resignation of A. Bradford, and subsequently served with Postmasters W. C. Teague, R. H. Stone, P. A. U. Bryant, Norman Magill, Preston Hutton and Harry Rathjen.

"Mr. Z", as some of the younger clerks used to call him, was promoted to assistant postmaster in 1947 and served in that capacity until his retirement this month.

It is interesting to note that his post office career really began about 1917 in the post office at Zybach, Texas, which was located in the corner of the country store about midway between the present towns of Briscoe and Allison. John Zybach, an older brother, was postmaster and owner of the store. He appointed Carl to be his assistant in the post office in connection with clerking in the store.

Zybach feels strongly that every citizen owes his community a civic duty of one kind or another and chose for his own, the volunteer fire department, in which he served for 31 years—in every capacity from rookie fireman to chief. He retired from the fire department three years ago because his health was no longer up to the rigors of firemanship.

When asked what he would do with his spare time, he replied, "What spare time? I have more to do than I can get done, what with helping take care of the place and pursuing my hobbies of stamps, coins and guns!"

HELSINKI (UPI) — Finnish officials said the "hot line" between Moscow and Washington probably was disrupted for a short time this morning because of construction work west of Helsinki.

Most cable connections between Finland and the Soviet Union were cut by the work, but were reported back in service in a half-hour.

A Finnish spokesman said the hot line, designed to provide instant communications between Moscow and Washington, was switched to a reserve cable but that it was believed a short break occurred.

Indian Troops Die In Border Clash

LONDON (UPI) — Three Indian troops were killed today when they entered a Communist Chinese occupied region of Tibet and began firing on a civilian outpost, Red China reported.

The official New China news agency, monitored in London, said the incident occurred at mid-morning.

"The Chinese personnel were compelled to fire back in self-defense," the Communist China broadcast said. "All three intruding Indian soldiers were killed on the spot."

WEATHERWISE—

Texas Gets Relief from Humidity

By United Press International
Cool, dry air surged southward across Texas today, giving relief from the humidity of the past few days.

The cold front was weak, however, and temperatures were expected to rise into the high 80s over much of the state.

The brisk west winds that pushed the front along also swept skies clear.

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast cooler temperatures in Northwest Texas through tonight with a few light showers in the extreme southwest area.

Pampa recorded an overnight low of 52 degrees after a high of 79.

Fog hung over parts of South Texas at such points as Victoria and San Antonio.

Strong southerly winds brought warm air into parts of South and Southwest Texas Tuesday, sending the mercury to 92 degrees at Presidio, the nation's hottest spot. Children had a high of 86 and it was 85 at Wink, San Angelo and Midland.

Waco's high was 76.

'Unbelievable' Groom Heads for Playoffs

GROOM (Sp) — "Unbelievable" was Groom coach Ronnie Mills reaction at the start of the football season when his Tigers were picked to unseat Wheeler for the 5-B championship. The "unbelievable" happened and Groom is the new 5-B champs, now heading into the first round of regional playoffs Friday night against Rochester, the 6-B champions. The two teams meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Childress, a neutral site. Groom is bigger and faster than the Steers and possess more experience with 10 lettermen and five starters back from a year ago. Rochester returns 10 lettermen but only three starters off a team that finished 4-6 in 1964 and are 6-4 at this stage of the campaign. The Tigers have won eight in a row since a second game tie with Claude, 0-0, and an opening game win over Vega, 14-8. Mills speedsters have a 9-0-1 overall record and finished 6-0 in the conference. They downed Wheeler, 20-12 for the league title. Groom has posted four shutouts and have been touched for 66 points, scoring 252 for a 25.2 per game average. Halfback Larry Lamberson, a 172 pound senior with three letters has been the bulwark of a solid backfield. Lamberson has tallied 95 points and finished fourth in area scoring.

Groom averages 175.5 pounds per man in the line and 168.1 pounds per man in the backfield with Lamberson and Lynn King, 215 - pound junior fullback the heaviest. Line - wise Steve Boyce, 205 pound junior tackle and end Jerry Roberts, a 188 pound senior with three letters, carry the weight.

Rochester has scored only 120 points while giving up 104. They have scored only two shutouts and have twice been blanked themselves. The Steers average only 162.6 pounds per man in the line and an even 140 pounds per man in the backfield, filled with three seniors and a junior, all of whom have two or more years varsity experience. Coach Troy Gann wouldn't single out any one star saying, "We haven't had anybody outstanding," Gann said. Rochester started slowly but has won their last five outings, including conference wins over Matador, Turkey and Rule.

PAMPA GUARDS — Gary Crossland, left, 5'9 senior, and Doug Altom, 5'11 senior, handled the guard chores for Pampa Saturday night in their 78-42 victory over Dumas. The two will be at their familiar spots Friday and Saturday nights when the Harvesters meet Denton at Denton.

Harvesters to Tackle Denton

By RON CROSS News Sports Editor Pampa, a solid third place choice in district 3-4A, takes to the road for the first time this season, traveling to Denton, to tackle the Denton Broncos in a non-conference affair. The teams will play Friday and Saturday nights with game time at 7:30 p.m. both nights. B squads from both teams will play both nights also. The Shocker will be seeking their second and possible third victories. Denton has average height but lots of experience on their front line. They also are trying to overcome their first losing season in nine years, suffered last season. They have a good start, opening with a 66-58 decision over Dallas South Oakcliff last week.

Last year the Broncos lost two games to the Harvesters, both in Pampa, 67-65 and 84-70. Like Pampa in its opening contest the Broncos had three players in double figures. Larry Fuller, a 6'0 junior forward scored 20 points while Tim White a 5'9 senior guard had 18 and Bill Austin a 6'3 senior center contributed 16. Austin and White are returning starters while Fuller saw only B team action last season. The Broncos also have Mark Whitten, 6'2 senior forward and a starter from last year and senior guard Ronnie Higgings, 5'10 who lettered last year but did not start. Two juniors and a sophomore make up the Denton bench strength. Wally Cochran, 6'3 junior, plays forward and saw only B team action last year as did Butch Smith, 6'1 forward and Glenn Weaver, 6'4 sophomore center.

Humorous Kerbel Banquet Speaker

The annual All - Sports banquet, honoring all Pampa High School athletes, has been changed around a bit this year and a separate football banquet will be held instead. The banquet, to honor Pampa Harvester and Shocker footballers, will be held Dec. 18, starting at 7 p.m. in the High School cafeteria.

The speaker will be West Texas State football coach, Joe Kerbel, enjoying one of his most successful seasons ever.

Kerbel's Buffaloes are 6-4 for the year and play Texas Western Saturday night. Dr. Joe Donaldson will be master of ceremonies of the event, which will see the "Fighting Harvester" award presented to one of the Pampa footballers.

The football queen will also be crowned at the event. Tickets are on sale for $1.00 per student and $2.00 for adults. Tickets may be purchased from any quarterback club member, at the high school business office or from Pampa Athletic Director, Weldon Trice.

Clay Praises Patterson; Says Terrell Will Be Next in Line for Title Shot

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Heavyweight Champion Cassius Clay's future plans were laid out like a roadmap today as he hardly had time to relax from his victory over Floyd Patterson before thinking of his next challenger. But Patterson is faced with decision whether to continue fighting or to retire to a life of ease and financial security. And the two-time heavyweight champion left Las Vegas with the urgings of his conqueror to stay over an extra day just to prove he was not "running out" early as he had been accused of doing after his bouts with Sonny Liston. Both Clay and Patterson leave Las Vegas richly rewarded for their Convention Center bout. A spokesman for Sportsvision, Inc., which owned the ancillary rights to the fight, estimated the gross receipts from all sources including the live gate would reach $3,870,000 and the net receipts would approximate $1,750,000.

The breakdown on the gross circuit telecasts: $300,111 from the live gate; and $810,000 from movies, foreign rights and other such sources. Patterson's back was the chief topic at a post-fight press conference Tuesday which the champion and challenger both attended and appeared on friendly terms as they sat side-by-side and answered questions. Doctor Questioned Dr. Donald Romeo, chief medical examiner of the Nevada State Athletic Commission, was subjected to questioning on whether he was aware that Patterson had suffered a recurrence of his longtime back trouble last Wednesday during his final workout.

Terrell next From all indications, the next victim will be Ernie Terrell, listed by the World Boxing Association as Heavyweight Champion. Clay signed a $50,000 bond the day before the Patterson fight that he would meet Terrell but stipulated the champion and his retinue must be satisfied Terrell has no underworld ties. Patterson leaves today for his Marlboro, N.Y., home where his daughter goes through her first communion rites Thursday.

The backs have combined for 382 points an average of 38.2 per contest. Only twice have the Bucks scored less than 20 points, both times against Gruver. Huffman's front line weighs an average of 177.4 pounds per man while the backfield is speedy and has average weight of 161 pounds per man. To go along with Mooney, Williams, Smith and Bates, the Bucks have, Ron Anderson, 135 pound junior and Monte Hawpe, a promising 176 pound sophomore at ends; Gary Stewart, 158 pound junior at the guard spot with Smith and they can always call on Burl Pipes, 138 pound junior at guard. (Thursday: Kress, They play defense also)

There is no way under the present rules for a third party to compel the major leagues to grant an expansion franchise other than by obtaining the necessary consent of the present owners as provided in the rules? —Do you know of no procedure for those outside of organized baseball who are anxious to have a major league team for initiating hearings or a formula whereby they can compel organized baseball to grant such a franchise? —Would you be in favor of adopting rules which would permit fair and full hearings by interested third parties before organized baseball abandons a community?

'Slow' Bucks Show Speed

By A Staff Writer WHITE DEER (Sp) — At picture taking time in White Deer, before the 1965 football season was underway, Buck coach Colie Huffman said his gradgridders were a "little thin on the experience, he felt his team did not have good speed and he was just "hoping" for a good year. Huffman was right in that he had only five seniors back, his team speed didn't look too impressive in a scrimmage session but his "hope" far exceeded his expectations. The Bucks have plowed through 11 straight foes and trouble, the Bucks responded hope to make Kress their 12th with a 40-0 trouncing of Wellington, a team that had been scored on but once before coming to White Deer. Last week the Bucks were again expected to have trouble with Gruver, a team they beat only 7-0 earlier in the season, but like good beer, the Buck players get better with age. Huffman was able to welcome back only Johnny Mooney, 210 pound senior tackle; Don Williams, 175 pound senior center; 185-pound senior guard Charles Smith; Larry Bates, 204 - pound senior quarterback and halfback. Mooney has been the Bucks' most consistent defensive player and hit 37 of 41 attempts from the conversion side of things to rank him high in the area scoring chart. Somewhere along the line the Bucks speed must have picked up for junior halfback Randy Elliott was the area scoring leader with 116 points and running mate Vernon Marlar, 181 pound fullback added 90 points. Gary Smith, 170 pound junior halfback and Hart, along with Marlar's understudy Ronnie Sargent, Rondel Alexander and Calvin Luman have brought the Bucks about the most balanced scoring attack a coach could ask for.

TWO TEXANS HEAD LIST

Anderson on Coaches Offense Team; McAdams Makes Defense

CHICAGO (UPI) — The 76th annual All-American football team, originated by Walter Camp in 1889 at Yale and selected by the American Football Coaches Association, has taken on a two-latoon look in 1965. A glittering backfield that includes junior quarterback Bob Griese of Purdue, speedy Donny Anderson of Texas Tech, and hard-hitting Mike Garreath of Southern California and Illinois' Jim Grabowski head the honor roll of 22 collegiate stars. Tulsa's pass catching marvel Howard Twilley and Florida's

Charles Casey are listed as ends; Kentucky's Sam Ball and Glen Ray Hines of Arkansas are the tackles. Notre Dame's Dick Arrington and Doug Van Horn of Ohio State are at the guards and Alabama's Paul Crane snaps the ball from center on the offensive "dream team." Over 500 members of the AFCA participate in the voting. They cast their ballots on the basis of their personal observations and from special game films supplied by the Eastman Kodak Company. The defensive squad is led by

Texas' bruising linebacker Tommy Nobis and Oklahoma's Carl McAdams. The defensive secondary boasts Notre Dame's Nick Rassas, Missouri's Johnny Roland and George Webster of Michigan State. Another Spartan, Charles Smith, is the biggest defensive lineman at 6-6, 240 pounds. Balancing the other end is Nebraska's Tony Jeter at 6-3, 227 pounds. Nebraska Favored Over OU; Middies Choice Over Army

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nebraska is heavily favored to make 1965 a perfect season with a Thanksgiving Day victory over Oklahoma and Navy is expected to make Saturday a perfect day for sailors everywhere by beating Army in the annual service classic. Odds-makers have established Nebraska as a prohibitive 21-point pick in one of the handful of turkey day games scheduled this year. A victory would enable the third-ranked Cornhuskers to finish the campaign with a 10-0 mark—their first perfect football season since 1915. In other Thanksgiving Day games, Pennsylvania is 6½ points over Cornell, Virginia Tech is 12 points over Virginia Military Institute, Tulsa is 18 points over Colorado State and Texas is 12 points over Texas A&M

Although there is little to choose between the records of Navy and Army, the odds-makers have made the Middies a seven-point choice. Navy will be bidding for its fifth victory in six years in the service classic while Army Coach Paul Dietzel will be trying to even his personal record against the sailors at 2-2. Grudge Match Navy has won four games, lost four and tied one while Army has won four games and lost five. Fifth-ranked Alabama, seventh-ranked Notre Dame, eighth-ranked Tennessee and 10th-ranked Southern California also are favored in their Saturday games, Alabama is rated seven points over Auburn, Notre Dame is 12 points over Miami, Fla., Tennessee is 14 points over Vanderbilt and Southern California is 20 points over Wyoming.

Horns Favored Against Ags

By United Press International The Texas Longhorns, for whom Thanksgiving Day offers little to be thankful for this year, are glad at least for a favorite's role in their Turkey Day game with Texas A & M. Both teams finished their heavy work Tuesday in preparation for the game. Coach Darrell Royal had his Texas squad working more than an hour and welcomed back punter David Conway. Conway pulled a muscle in a physical education class a week ago, but has recovered. Defensive tackle Bob Stanley was away from the practice with a pinched neck nerve, but is expected for the game. Bonfire, Rally Students cheered the Texas squad at a bonfire and pep rally Tuesday. A & M had around an hour's workout Tuesday, looking at every part of the game — running, passing, defense and kicking. The A & M - Texas game in College Station will be the 72nd in their series.

Frick Dodges Probe On Atlanta Franchise

NEW YORK (UPI) — Questions involving the ways and means for a city to obtain a major league baseball franchise were left unanswered today by retiring Commissioner Ford Frick. The 71-year-old Frick, who will be succeeded on Dec. 15 by Gen. William D. Eckert, was advised by legal counsel Tuesday to refuse to answer a variety of questions tossed at him by representatives of Milwaukee and the State of Wisconsin seeking to halt or postpone the transfer of the Braves to Atlanta, Ga. Among the questions Frick was advised not to answer were: —Is there any way under the present rules for a third party to compel the major leagues to grant an expansion franchise other than by obtaining the necessary consent of the present owners as provided in the rules?

against baseball by Milwaukee County and the State of Wisconsin. In an earlier deposition, taken Nov. 12 in the law office of Clark, Carr and Ellis, Frick had contended that the primary concern of a baseball owner was to himself and other club owners, not to the fans. National League President Warren Giles said in his sworn deposition Monday that he saw no reason to investigate apparently conflicting statements made by the Braves' management about their intentions to switch their franchise to another city. Counsel for Frick was Paul A. Porter. Among others present were Louis Carroll and Bowie Kuhn, counsel for the National League, and Earl A. Jinkinson, representing the Braves. Cross examination of Frick by all parties will proceed at a date to be fixed. A pre-trial conference for the state case in Milwaukee is scheduled for next Monday.

A Thanksgiving Story

The coming of the Pilgrims to the New England coast in 1620 forms a glamorous chapter in American history. The fact that it is generally ignored, overlooked and unknown about this landing at Massachusetts Bay 345 years ago is that it marked the first Socialist settlement in America. The main lesson about this settlement that is generally ignored, overlooked and unknown is that this experiment in socialism failed within three years' time, and — for their very survival — the Pilgrims had to turn to what we know as the free enterprise system.

Through the years, it would have been — and it still would be — a valuable lesson to the pupils in the classrooms studying American history if this lesson in the failure of socialism (the dictionary gives the same definition for communism) were emphasized.

Before landing, the Pilgrims entered into what is known as the Mayflower Compact. Under this compact, Plymouth was set up as a share - the - wealth community. Nobody owned anything. Whatever was produced belonged to the community as a whole. They called this system "the common course and condition." They lived under this system from the desperate, disease-ridden first winter of 1620-21 until the hungry spring of 1623. Then they changed to private enterprise. Why? We find the answer in a book written by William Bradford, one of the leading original Pilgrims and second governor of Plymouth Colony, entitled "Of Plymouth Plantation."

BERRY'S WORLD

"I told you we'd have to watch our step if Medicare went through!"

Cannel At Bay

By Ward Cannel
The Topic Is Turkey
NEW YORK (NEA) — The last Wednesday in November being what it is, we usually take a late lunch and then stand around on some convenient street corner to watch the city empty for the Thanksgiving Reces.

Over the years we have found it much better to be alone in our misery. So it is rather comforting in a grim sort of way to stand like a tragic rock amidst the receding tide.

By noon the rootless and uncommitted are all aboard something, going to such lengths as Spartanburg and Rushville Center to have their Thanksgiving dinners.

By mid-afternoon, the well-established are on the highways, heading for places like Cambridge and Silver Springs, where they will celebrate the holiday with their children and grandchildren.

Long before sundown, the householders have gone home to Begen County and Westchester to polish the good silver and glassware which will adorn the traditional dinner their wives have been preparing all week.

The Pilgrims offered thanks for deliverance from socialism with a great Thanksgiving feast in the fall of 1623.

Then Bradford philosophizes somewhat. "The experience that was had in this common course and condition, tried sundrie years, and that amongst Godly and sober men, may well evince the Vanitie of that conceite of Plato's and other ancients, applauded by some of later times; — that the taking away of propertie, and bringing in communitie into a common wealth would make them happy and flourishing; as if they were wiser than God!"

It is almost the worst breach of propriety to bring the subject up in polite company.

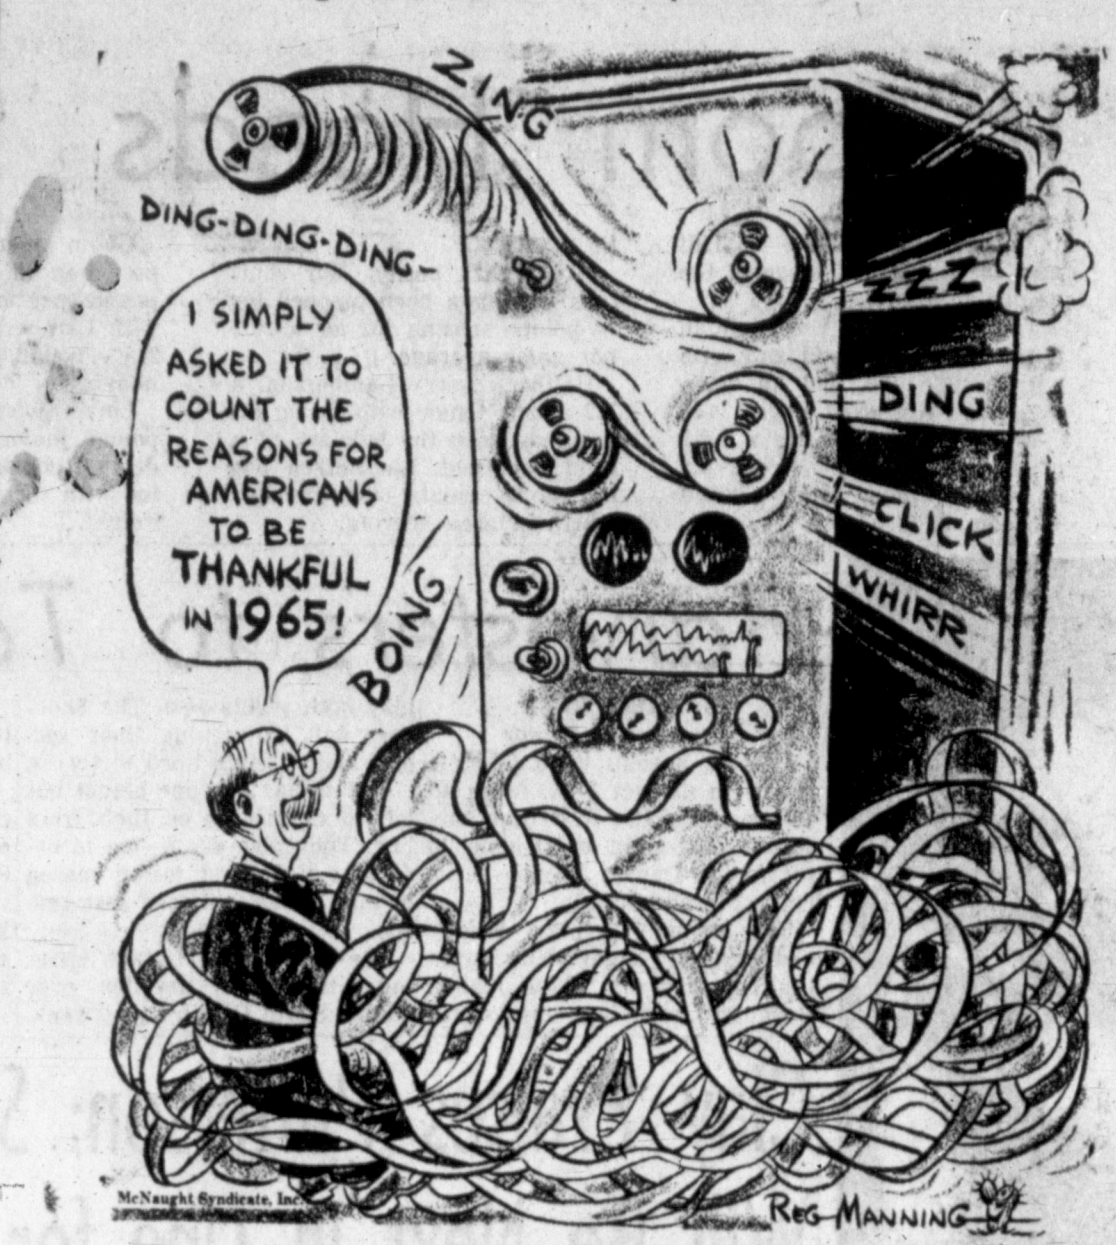

Another massive attempt to escape comes to mind. But it is too involved and embarrassing to spell out in detail.

But whatever the principle, it most certainly does not apply to Thanksgiving dinner.

HOW TO ADDRESS OUR LAW MAKERS

You may wish to write your senator and representatives in Washington and Austin. Here are their addresses:

Too Big For Even A Computer To Handle

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The House Armed Services Committee is on a new collision course with Defense Secretary McNamara.

The controversial Pentagon boss has been bluntly told that, as the first step in this huge eventful plan, the committee has decided to both "authorize" and "direct" the Navy to begin construction of a $400 million nuclear-powered carrier in 1966 — which McNamara vigorously opposes.

The committee's proposed atomic surface fleet will be built around giant super-carriers and match in size and cost the Navy's current program of 41 nuclear-powered Polaris submarines, nearing completion.

While the committee has decided to authorize only one atomic carrier next year, the lawmakers plan to make it crystal clear that it is the "intent of Congress" that several of these mighty floating "airbases" be laid down in the next five years.

THE MANDATE — Representative Rivers has privately notified Defense authorities of the committee's far-reaching plans, for a two-fold purpose:

To serve warning on the Johnson Administration that the legislators are adamantly determined to go through with their backstage plan; and to open the way for avoiding a head-on clash — by having the needed funds included in the new budget that will be sent to Congress in January.

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The House Armed Services Committee is on a new collision course with Defense Secretary McNamara.

Today's Smile: One fellow asked his friend: "Did your wife have you on the carpet for getting home so late last night?" The friend replied: "Maybe it was the carpet, but she sizzled so much it seemed more like a hot stove."

of all types immediately, and all of them should be nuclear-powered.

NAVAL FALLOUT — House members, who recently made an on-the-spot inspection of the Viet Nam fighting, report that "in spite of all the advances we have made in technology, the U. S. still has not found a sure-fire method of detecting enemy troop movements at night in the jungles."

Secretary McNamara is vigorously against large-scale construction of nuclear surface vessels, on the ground the Navy can build a larger number of conventional powered ships with the same amount of money. He contends that the steadily mounting costs of the Vietnam severely limit a massive naval construction program at this time.

FRANK MARKEY

Taxation, with or without representation, is always resisted as the Governor of Kentucky recently discovered. He proposed a new property tax program and soon afterward three dissenting citizens appeared at the State Capitol in Frankfort carrying placards and leading a donkey. Despite the protests of elevator operators, the men succeeded in getting the donkey to the outer doors of the legislative chamber on the third floor.

Between the Bookends

Amid all the furor over "rights", privileges, and whatnot for "minority races", a New England publisher is re-issuing a paperback reprint of Booker T. Washington's autobiography. The famous Negro leader's story of his own life, entitled "Up From Slavery", is a blueprint for success for any man — of any color.

Here in a nutshell is the secret of success: "make my work . . . so valuable that my services would be indispensable." Where is the demand for "free education"? Where is the assertion of a right to a "decent" living, etc.? It was never a part of Booker T. Washington's character to believe that anyone owed him anything. He knew instinctively that others will exchange with him as each merits the other's respect and confidence.

STARTING POINT FOR TAX REFORM (Industrial News Review)
Tax reduction and tax reform are prime matters of domestic discussion. We have had reductions in income tax rates and elimination of some federal excise taxes.

Double taxation of dividends is no small matter these days. More than 20 million Americans, the majority in the middle income brackets, own stocks and most of them receive dividends. There is neither rhyme, reason or justice in a tax policy that singles out a group of earners out for punitive treatment.

Walter Rogers Reports: Liberty Our Best Reason For Nation To Give Thanks

Not only for our material bounty but for our American freedoms and family blessings let us offer our thanks to Divine Providence.

Across Independence Avenue from my office in Washington, the gleaming white dome of the United States Capitol rises against the clear autumn sky. It is an inspiring sight at any time, but it has special meaning in this season of Thanksgiving. It is the symbol of our precious freedom, truly the grant to Americans of a generous Almighty. And for our liberty we Americans have the best reason to be thankful. Our blessings, stated the President of the United States in his annual Thanksgiving message, "lie in those steadfast principles that the early pilgrims forged for all generations to come: the belief in the essential dignity of man; the restless search for a better world for all; and the courage—as shown by our sons in Viet Nam today—to defend the cause of freedom wherever on earth it is threatened."

Nearly 350 years ago, Pilgrims who had earlier sailed to the new land on the Mayflower expressed thanks for the bountiful harvest Providence had bestowed upon their colony. Their tribulations had been many, and starvation had been possible. Today, still, continuing the tradition of that first Thanksgiving we give thanks for bountiful harvests and our general state of national prosperity.

School children know all about the Mayflower and re-enact the occasion of the first Thanksgiving. They learn, too, that the Mayflower was crowded to the limit with the colonist and their livestock, farm implements and household possessions as it sailed to the New World. Poor diet and poor health standards generally were commonplace in the Europe of that time (and for centuries to come) and the typical colonist could hardly be described as physically impressive. The typical young Panhandie man and woman of today is much taller and stronger than his Plymouth Colony counterpart, and the Mayflower could hardly have remained afloat with an equal number of 20th Century Texas Panhandle folks aboard. But inner qualities of spirit and character build nations. The rugged sense of enterprise, the drive for accomplishment, the compelling urge to make a better land—these are the strengths that continue to motivate our Panhandle people, as other Americans, and which gave the Plymouth colonists their will to civilize a wilderness.

These shared ideals trace the legacy in a direct line to the early colonists. May it remain a legacy never broken.

We should be thankful for the harvest, as were the Pilgrims. But we ought not to forget that our forefathers were able to give thanks only after they had planted and harvested, and that they were thanking Divine Providence for assistance—not for taking over the job and doing it for them. Texas Panhandle people know of work's virtue, as well as of the Almighty's part in the scheme.

May this Thanksgiving be a day of rest, meditation, and pleasure for you and your family.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

Unified Press International HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—When television gets around to this year's award season, the best-actor prize will have to be shared—by Melvyn Douglas and Ed Begley, for their portrayals Thursday night in NBC-TV's adaptation of the stage play "Inherit the Wind." There will be no better acting on television this semester.

It was, of course, totally predictable. Both men were simply re-creating the parts they had handled brilliantly, opposite each other, in the theater. And the roles, as every schoolboy must know by now, are actors' dreams: The fiction counterparts of Clarence Darrow (Douglas) and William Jennings Bryan (Begley) as they clashed at the historic 1925 Scopes "monkey" trial in Dayton, Tenn., over whether a school teacher had the right to teach Darwin's theory of evolution in the play, Darrow is represented as "Henry Drummond" and Bryan as "Mathew Harrison Brady."

Even cut down to Thursday night's 90-minute "Hall of Fame" production, "Inherit the Wind" is gorgeously theatrical—perhaps even more so for television than the stage, because it focuses on the close quarters of a trial, one of the surest attention-holders a playwright can devise. Furthermore, the central issue—that of the right to think freely—is constantly pertinent to every generation. The play is basically simple, but the issue and characters are riveting.

The core of the play is reached when Drummond, denied the right to call expert scientific witnesses to the stand, decides to call Brady—the prosecutor, frustrated three-time presidential candidate and interpreter of the Bible as literal truth in every Brady agrees to testify as an expert on the Bible, and thereby seals his doom. For Drummond, with the world looking on through the reporters present, uses his massive intelligence and ability to humiliate and destroy Brady, the rural idol, on the stand. When Brady says God speaks to him, even his followers leave the court. Shortly after the trial is over, he dies.

To Mr. and Mrs. Davie E. Price, Pampa, on the birth of a boy at 8:13 p.m., weighing 5 lbs. 13 1/2 ozs.

Guy Lombardo Reported Better

HOUSTON (UPI)—Guy Lombardo, whose music has set couples dancing for decades, was reported doing well today recovering from removal of a kidney stone.

Band leader Lombardo, 63, had surgery in St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital Saturday. He came out of the operation smoothly and was recovering normally, a hospital spokesman said.

He and his "Royal Canadians" played an engagement in Houston recently.

MAYOR TICKETED NEW YORK (UPI)—Despite the hand-printed sign saying, "official car, Mayor-elect John V. Lindsay," Patrolman Thomas Mara Wednesday, tagged the illegally parked auto with a $15 ticket.

Thursday, Mara got a letter of commendation from Lindsay. "Your ticket was deserved and of course it shall be paid immediately," the mayor-elect said. "There will be no special privilege in my administration in city hall and if there are any requests for the same I want them reported to me."

Say, Have You Heard This One..

RICHARDSON Tex. (UPI)—Somebody finally did it. Put all those Aggie jokes down on paper that is.

The book "101 Aggie Jokes" was written by three Dallas advertising men who insist they remain anonymous. "Drs. X or Somebody" is the way the author is listed.

Samples: "Why does it take four Aggies to pull off a kidnaping?" "One to carry the victim and three to write the ransom note." "Why do hairdos cost $4 in Aggie land?" "The charge is $1 per corner." But the book has a cheery note in the back for Aggies. "Did you know that A&M dropouts are sent to the University of Texas?"
