

Ronald Reagan Will Run For California Governor

United Press International LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor Ronald Reagan, who moved from radio sports announcer to the movie and television screen, was on the verge of seeking a new career today as Republican candidate for California governor.

Reagan, 54, was to formally announce today that he wants the GOP nomination for governor of the nation's most populous state.

The ruggedly handsome actor, now moderator and sometimes a leading man on a western television show ("Death Valley Days"), will end a year-long unofficial campaign with a 30-minute pre-recorded television announcement.

The announcement will come as no particular surprise—even to Democrats, who have made Reagan their target in California for months.

Early in 1965, the actor said he would become a candidate if enough of the state's 2.8 million registered Republicans wanted him. During most of last year, he repeatedly campaigned up and down the state.

He gained national notice for a television broadcast on the eve of the November, 1964, general election pushing for Republican Barry M. Goldwater. Reagan was co-chairman of the California Citizens for Goldwater-Miller, a campaign group. Goldwater has offered to campaign in California for Reagan if he wins the nomination—and wants help from the GOP's 1964 standard-bearer.

Six Candidates Announce For May Primaries

Six more Gray County citizens, all Democrats, have filed for County and District positions in the upcoming primary elections.

Filing for re-election are: Mrs. Helen Sprinkle, District Clerk; Charlie Thut, County Clerk; Clyde Organ, County Commissioner, Precinct 2;

Trutt Johnson, County Commissioner, Precinct 4;

Incumbent Justice of the Peace, Precinct 2, G. L. "Nat" Lunsford formally filed for the position of County Judge, an intent he announced previously.

E. L. "Ed" Anderson filed for Lunsford's Justice of the Peace office.

Mrs. Sprinkle, a native Pampa and graduate of Pampa High School, is seeking her fourth term as district clerk. She has served as clerk since 1953 and two years prior to that as deputy. Mother of four children, Mrs. Sprinkle lives at 518 N. Somerville.

Charlie Thut has been County Clerk since 1925. He started his 42nd year in that office Jan. 1. He has been unopposed for County Clerk since 1942. He resides at 1105 Mary Ellen.

Clyde Organ presently completing his first term as County Commissioner, has been a resident of Gray County since 1929. He is a stock farmer and resides east of the city.

Trutt Johnson, a resident of McLean, re-elected in 1962 is again seeking re-election from Precinct 4.

Lunsford, a former county commissioner, has already issued his statement concerning his aspiration to the County Judgeship.

E. L. "Ed" Anderson in announcing his candidacy for Justice of the Peace, Precinct 2, issued the following statement: "I have resided in Pampa for 46 years and was employed by the city for 35 years until my retirement about 2 years ago. I reside at 1002 East Francis Street and my family consists of my wife, 3 sons and 2 daughters.

"I own my home, pay taxes, and realize the responsibilities attached to the office I seek.

"Should I be nominated and elected to the Democrat office of Justice of the Peace, I am sure I will be able to serve the people of Gray County to the best of my ability."

GOP BREAKTHROUGH

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — The first Republican to serve in the Mississippi Senate since Reconstruction Days receives the oath of office today.

Sen. William E. Carr Jr., 29, of Sardis, was to be sworn in by Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin shortly after the regular 1966 legislative session began at noon.

He repeatedly campaigned up and down the state.

He gained national notice for a television broadcast on the eve of the November, 1964, general election pushing for Republican Barry M. Goldwater. Reagan was co-chairman of the California Citizens for Goldwater-Miller, a campaign group. ## Rogers Accuses Freeman of Poor Administration

Charges of bad faith with Congress were leveled at Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman by Congress Walter Rogers of Pampa Monday.

The U. S. Representative from the 18th District said that Freeman is not administering the new farm legislation according to the understanding Congress has of the Farm Bill.

In an Amarillo interview, he said: "Congress, at the request of the Secretary of Agriculture and with his recommendations, passed a bill that would, in my opinion, work very well if properly administered. But instead of administering it as we in Congress understood it would be, Freeman promptly adopted a lot of rules and regulations contrary to the bill."

Rogers pointed specifically at the skip-rop cotton and micronaire issues.

"We have the legislative records on those and understood that he was going to leave them alone. Instead he adopted regulations contrary to our understanding."

The micronaire (staple length) grading methods are a penalty to the cotton farmer and nothing in the world but a windfall for the textile mills. It is unfair to the farmer and cuts his income just as the regulations stand.

Battle Lines To Be Drawn By US Steel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson administration appeared today to be gearing up for a major showdown over steel price hikes though officials still held out hope for voluntary rollback of the increases.

U. S. Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 producer held the key. If it decided to follow the lead of Bethlehem and Inland Steel and raise the price of structural steel $3 a ton the battle would be on. If not a rollback appeared likely.

U. S. Steel was saying nothing other than that it was "carefully" considering the matter "and it will be some time before a conclusion is reached." Steel industry sources in Pittsburgh believed the giant company would raise its prices, however.

"I just cannot see U. S. Steel not going along with Bethlehem," a leading steel distributor said Monday. "I'm surprised they have not acted before this."

An announcement by Colorado Fuel & Iron Corp., a relative midget among producers, that it would boost structural steel prices by $3 a ton—$2 less than Inland and Bethlehem—raised yet another possibility.

If U. S. Steel were to follow Colorado's lead, would the administration consider the raise a compromise figure? A White House spokesman refused to comment on the Colorado action Monday night.

As U. S. Steel was considering its future course, the administration acted to crack down on the price hikes, first announced by Bethlehem last Friday and by Inland on Monday.

Four Nations Have Fallen In Seething Africa

PARIS (UPI) — French-speaking Africa seethed with unrest today. Military leaders, angered by the quarrels of political factions, have seized power in four capitals since Nov. 25.

In most cases the French-trained armed forces moved in to forestall the establishment of leftist regimes yielding to the influence of Communist China.

The latest government to crumble under the pressure of street riots and widespread popular discontent was that of Upper Volta President Maurice Yameogo.

Previous revolts occurred Nov. 25 in the Congo (Leopoldville), Dec. 22 in Dahomey and Jan. 1 in the Central African Republic. Counting the overthrow by the military of Algerian strongman Ahmed Ben Bella June 19, it would be the fifth uprising in less than seven months.

Fred Stockdale Resigns Post As High School Band Director

Fred E. Stockdale, director of the Pampa High School Band for the past 3½ years, Monday submitted his resignation from the local schools to accept an industry position.

According to his letter of resignation, Stockdale is leaving the band field to take over organization and direction of the Government Services Division of Goodrich Industries, Inc., an Oklahoma City chemical firm.

The resignation is to become effective Jan. 21, the mid-term at the local schools.

Superintendent of Schools Jack Edmondson expressed the regrets of the local schools at the loss of Stockdale. "When he came here, he assumed an outstanding band and under his leadership that band continued to grow and prosper."

Edmondson added, "It's a little early to say exactly what we will do, but we certainly will begin looking for a replacement."

Edmondson said that announcement of the resignation was delayed Monday so that Stockdale would have the opportunity to inform band members personally of his intended move.

In his final remarks to band members, Stockdale encouraged them to carry on in the same fine spirit they have shown during his tenure as conductor. "I hope you will continue on a 'business as usual' basis," he added.

Possessing a bachelor's and master's degree in music education, Stockdale will be applying his organizational abilities in his new job.

"Of course, I had to give long, hard thought to leaving the band business," he said. "In a sense, after the tremendous accomplishments and success I have enjoyed through the efforts of the Pampa Band, I have gone about as far as one can go."

He referred to such events as the Band's national television appearance, sweeping of honors in a number of competitions and trip to California.

Suspension Of Viet Air War To Continue

By STEWART HENSLEY United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson is expected to continue the suspension of air attacks on North Viet Nam for at least another two weeks—barring any new Communist military move of major proportions.

Officials said today the President wants to give Hanoi ample opportunity to accept his offer of peace talks—or at least to lower the level of its military operations—before taking the "other hard steps" he warned of in a speech Dec. 9.

They indicated that the lull, now in its 12th day, would last beyond mid-January and might extend further if the Reds give some sign, by word or action, that they want to step back from the brink of disaster.

Administration officials cling to the hope that Johnson's far-flung peace offensive would generate enough pressure by other countries on North Viet Nam and Red China to persuade the Communists they are losing ground in international opinion.

They admitted that so far there has been no acknowledgment—public or private—of the bombing lull from either Hanoi or Peking. Nor has behind-the-scenes diplomatic activity through various channels disclosed any softening of the hard line taken publicly by leaders in the two Red capitals.

Meantime, the administration disclosed the package of diplomatic ammunition the President's special envoys have been employing—in visits to allied, Communist and neutral capitals to muster support for Johnson's plea for "unconditional" peace discussions.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey gave newsmen Monday copies of a "talking paper" as the basis of discussions of U. S. peace policy in various world capitals.

In it, the United States offered if necessary to "put everything into the basket of peace except the surrender of south Viet Nam" to end the war.

By STEWART HENSLEY United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson is expected to continue the suspension of air attacks on North Viet Nam for at least another two weeks—barring any new Communist military move of major proportions.

Officials said today the President wants to give Hanoi ample opportunity to accept his offer of peace talks—or at least to lower the level of its military operations—before taking the "other hard steps" he warned of in a speech Dec. 9.

They indicated that the lull, now in its 12th day, would last beyond mid-January and might extend further if the Reds give some sign, by word or action, that they want to step back from the brink of disaster.

Nation's Progress To Surpass Booming 1965

EDITOR'S NOTE: What is the state of the nation's economy and what is the outlook for 1966? The answers are given in the following year-end review for United Press International by Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor.

By JOHN T. CONNOR, Secretary of Commerce
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation has just completed a year of outstanding economic expansion. Virtually all measures of economic activity increased substantially over 1965.

Castro Warns Of Critical Cuban Rice Shortage
MIAMI (UPI) — Cubans were on bleak notice from Premier Fidel Castro today that rice is going to be in short supply this year and they had better start looking for "substitutes."

The Cuban leader dished out the bad news in a speech Sunday marking his seventh anniversary in power. He put the blame, generally, on Red China, which is cutting back 1966 rice shipments because of "a trade misunderstanding."

Cuba is dependent on China for its rice, the island's basic food staple. Cuba depends on Russia, however, for its modern arms and Castro said the picture there was different. "We now have much more arms," he said. "We have increased the volume of our military equipment."

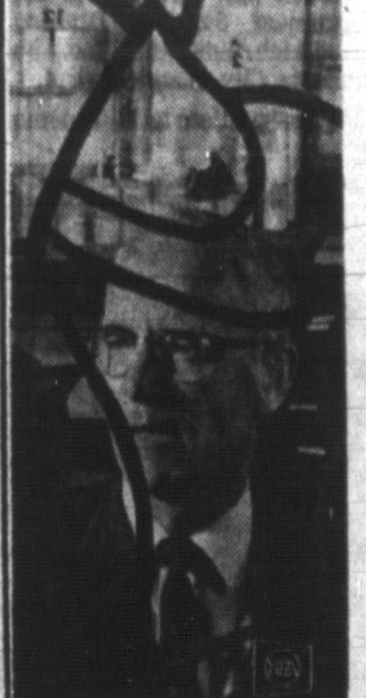

After reviewing a 30-minute military parade in Havana's Red Square, Castro made his two-hour speech. He vowed that Cuba "will be the last country on earth to make peace with U.S. imperialism" and denied reports that he was seeking reconciliation with Washington.

Watching the parade with Castro were some 500 Reds from Asia, Africa and Latin America, invited to Havana for a so-called "Tri-Continental Conference" scheduled to open tonight.

GOP May Deliver Own State Of Union Message

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Subject to several "ifs," Republicans may deliver their own State of the Union message on color television, probably a day or so after President Johnson delivers his.

After countless drafts, the GOP message has been pretty well whipped into shape. It will be revised — right up to air time — depending on developments, including the inevitable surprises in Johnson's address to the customary joint session of Congress.

The President's timetable has not been firmed up. Considering the fast-changing world situation, his message presumably is a long way from being printed right now.

Last year Johnson broke precedent to deliver his State of the Union report at 9 p.m. on the opening day of the Congress. His prime time television coverage then was in black and white. This year White House technicians are exploring with network experts the possibility of putting the show on for the first time in color.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, Mich., said the GOP's counter plans are, not firm but that he expects the

'King of Diamonds' Strikes in Dallas

DALLAS (UPI) — The infamous "King of Diamonds" apparently struck again in Dallas Monday — this time at the home of big game hunter Herbert W. Klein, 64, who owns Marine Sales Co.

The so-called King has stolen more than a million dollars worth of jewelry in the North Dallas "diamond belt" in the last four years. His trademarks are selectivity and waffle-shaped footprints.

Klein said he noticed the jewelry missing Monday from the bedroom dresser. The amount taken was expected to be large, but no estimate of the valuables taken was made immediately.

The thief entered the house by prying the screen off an unlocked bathroom window. Police found faint, cross-ridged footprints beneath the window.

networks will be asked as a matter of fair play to give equal and equally good time — and color, too, if that's what they give Johnson — to a presentation of the minority stand.

Open House Set At New Social Security Office

The new Pampa Social Security Branch Office will hold open house Wednesday, from 1-3 p.m. The public has been invited to drop in to see the new facilities and meet the staff which is headed by Virgil J. Holloway, officer-in-charge.

The office is on the first floor of the Hughes Building. Congressman Walter Rogers, 18th District, is scheduled to be among dignitaries attending the opening.

The Pampa Branch Office serves people not only in Gray County, but the surrounding counties of Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Lipscomb, Ochiltree and Hansford, as well as Skellytown and White Deer residents. The people in these surrounding areas are also invited to attend the open house Wednesday afternoon.

"This new Pampa office will enable us," said Holloway, "to provide better and faster service to the people of this area since the office will be open Monday thru Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. except National holidays."

In addition to this, regular scheduled trips to Borger, Perryton, Canadian and Spearman are planned, Holloway said. We will be in Borger on Wednesday, every week; Perryton on Tuesday, 3 times a month; Spearman on Tuesday once a month, and Canadian on Thursday twice a month.

Carubbi Named By Governor To Library Committee

A. J. Carubbi, Pampa Attorney, has been appointed a member of committee for the Texas Governor's Conference on Libraries.

In a letter appointing Carubbi, Gov. John Connally said that the purpose of the conference is to bring together state and local community leaders to investigate and discuss problems of inadequate library development in the state and agree on ways to solve the problem.

The governor said he had selected Carubbi to attend the conference in view of his activities in promoting community progress and growth.

The conference is scheduled to be held in Austin March 23.

Robert Taft Pins Political Career On Ohio Election

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Robert Taft Jr. plans to put his political career on the line by seeking to represent Ohio's 1st district in the U.S. House of Representatives.

The former congressman-at-large from Ohio will seek the Republican nomination in the May primary and probably will oppose Rep. John G. Gilligan, first-term Democrat, in the November election.

Negro Elected Mayor in Ohio

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — This city of 88,000 persons moved into the national spotlight today as the largest in the country with a Negro mayor.

The historic event showed the world a citizen who is qualified and accepts his responsibilities as assume any office, Mayor Robert E. Henry said with great emotion as he took the oath of office.

Henry was chosen unanimously by the five city commissioners Monday night because he had polled more votes than any other candidate when three commissioners were elected last November.

The 44-year-old mayor denounced extremists in race relations as he outlined his views on race and city problems. White civic leaders crowded around, stretching their hands out to congratulate him and pledge their support.

After taking the oath Henry said he felt "Springfield has made a tremendous historic movement" in two ways.

The first, he said, was in seating its first female commissioner and the second "of great importance throughout the United States, is that I became the first Negro mayor of a city of this size."

'Hobby' Shop For Sex Discovered

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A "hobby shop" dealing in barbiturates and pornographic pictures of teen-agers was discovered Monday in the same neighborhood where a torture-for-thrills operation was found recently, police said.

Agents of the Essex County sheriff's office arrested Joseph Benny Pezzino, 35 and charged him with breaking and entering, larceny, impersonating a female, possession of pornography, barbiturates and stolen goods.

Sheriff Leroy D'Aloia said several thousand obscene slides, negatives and pictures were found in Pezzino's hobby shop in the fashionable Forest Hills section of Newark. He said many of the models were teen-agers, whom authorities were trying to identify.

Two weeks ago, D'Aloia and his men raided a house of horrors in the same neighborhood that catered to erotic thrill-seekers. They said whips, chains and leather underwear were among devices used by the international "thrill" operation.

Accuses (Continued From Page 1) concerning skip-row farming do.

Rogers said it was his hope that "the Secretary of Agriculture would carry out his commitments to Congress. If his underlings are putting new rules and regulations into effect, and Freeman isn't aware of them, he should fire them. If he does know about them, then he should resign himself."

Freeman asked for flexibility in farm legislation because of geography and elements which would make it impossible to have one rigid rule applicable all over the country, Rogers said.

Klan Officials Still Refuse To Answer Questions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ku Klux Klan officials resumed their Fifth Amendment refrain today, refusing to answer questions of congressional investigators on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

John D. Swenson, described as the "modern-day father of the Klan in Louisiana," was the first witness as the House Committee on Un-American Activities reopened public hearings on the Klan after a two-month recess.

Swenson, 55, of Bossier City, La., gave his age, birthplace and told the committee he was in business for himself and had a grade school education.

But Swenson refused to answer any questions put to him, including whether he was one of the original founders of the original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. He also declined to confirm or deny a statement by committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., that he was known as the "modern day father of the Klan in Louisiana."

Swenson was accompanied by James R. Venable, Atlanta, chairman of the National Association of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, a federation encompassing a number of independent Klan groups. Venable served as Swenson's attorney.

Social Security Leaflet on Proper Payment Available

A leaflet explaining the 1966 rate hike in Social Security payments is available to Pampa employers through the newly opened Social Security branch office in the Hughes Bldg.

The rate increase became effective last Saturday.

The informative leaflets are designed for inclusion with employee paychecks to explain the increased Social Security deductions.

Virgil Holloway, director of the Pampa office, said that the Social Security tax per employee in 1966 will be 4.2 percent of all wages earned up to $6,600. It had formerly been 2.625 percent of all wages earned up to $4,800.

The maximum that could be deducted for yearly Social Security in 1965 per employee was $174. The increase will boost the maximum tax to $277.20. All income earned over $6,600 will be exempt from taxes for Social Security purposes.

Holloway said the increase was to finance changes in the Social Security law enacted by Congress last July. Benefits to be paid for by the increase include a program of hospital insurance for the aged (Medicare), and a seven percent increase in benefit payments.

The current maximum Social Security retirement benefit for an individual is $135.90 per month, but Holloway said it will be possible for workers retiring in future years to be paid benefits as high as $168 per month. He said collective family benefits would eventually rise from the current maximum of $309.20 per month to $368.

Holloway said employers may obtain the explanatory leaflets by contacting his office.

Warm Weather To Continue

Cold mornings and warm afternoons continued to be the weather promise for the Pampa and Panhandle areas for the next couple of days.

After a low temperature in the mid-20s this morning, Pampa warmed up to the mid-50s this afternoon. The same low is predicted for early tomorrow with still warmer temperatures in the mid-60s tomorrow afternoon.

The official forecast calls for fair to partly cloudy tonight through Wednesday. There still was no rain in sight, the forecasters said.

Most of the wheat on the plains still needs a good rain to replenish soil moisture and insure good yields. Leaf rust is prevalent in most of the state.

Cotton harvesting was reported 92 per cent completed, compared with about 97 per cent at the same time last year.

Some sorghum stubble plowing was completed on the plains, but elsewhere land preparation was reported slow.

The Pacific Northwest was being raked today by a winter storm packing gale force winds. Temperatures were below zero in Montana and Washington, Oregon and Montana were covered with heavy snow.

Pope Worried Over Results Of Peace Message

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI is worried by the lack of response to his messages urging world powers to negotiate a peace in Viet Nam, Vatican sources said today.

So far there has been an almost total silence—at least publicly—to the pontiff's new year's messages to Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny, Chinese Communist party leader Mao Tse-Tung and the North and South Vietnamese presidents. In the diplomatic messages, Pope Paul urged the Soviets and Chinese to "intervene" in the cause of peace and urged the Vietnamese not to take any actions that would

CLEAN SWEEP

MANILA (UPI) — The new Philippine government of President Ferdinand E. Marcos Monday began laying off thousands of temporary employees in a massive austerity move. Marcos, who was inaugurated last week, says the government treasury is nearly empty. He has urged all government offices to immediately institute belt-tightening measures.

escalate the war or force new bombings.

"The holy father is worried by the silence," these sources said. "He has shown his willingness to do everything possible in the cause of peace. The Christmas cease-fire appeared to be a step in the right direction but there appears to have been little positive action since then."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — All of the medical tests haven't been completed yet, but the preliminary report is encouraging.

Apparently the human body is able to tolerate almost 9 hours of televised football without any permanent detrimental effects, except possibly a divorce.

This amazing endurance factor was demonstrated on New Year's Day, when subject W sat down before his television set at 2 p.m., EST and remained there until 10:50 p.m., with time out only during commercials.

During the period, subject witnessed three bowl games in their entirety and caught the end of a fourth.

Out of Socket At one point in the Orange Bowl game, the last of the day, subject W's eyes began doing roll-overs, rather than staying in the pocket, or socket.

The condition, however, corrected itself before the start of the professional championship, the only major difficulty noted was a temporary loss of wife. (See footnote 1.)

A slight alienation of children also took place — but was not viewed as a serious problem. (See footnote 2.)

Evidence that the human body can endure lengthy exposure to televised football without physiological damage is expected to influence network planning for the coming season.

Already a stepup in the televising of professional games has been announced. There will be several night games, games shown in "blackout" areas, and a number of doubleheaders.

Round The Clock A morning bowl game most likely will be added to the schedule next New Year's Day. Then, on Jan. 1, 1968, the games are expected to start at midnight and continue until the following midnight.

Summer reruns of the better games is the next logical step. After that, the late, late show will feature old football games instead of old movies.

Subject W is proud to have had a part in making this glorious advancement possible. (See footnote 3.)

WILL THEY DRAFT HIM?—Bouncer is the kind of pet any growing boy would love. He plays football. The 4-year-old red kangaroo can snag a pass expertly and can even run, carrying the ball with a bouncing open field running technique never seen on the gridiron. Bouncer lives in Lysterfield, Australia, and is shown with his coach and owner, Mrs. Nora Russell.

Repeal of Right to Work Law Unlikely to Get Passage in '66

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor's most-wanted legislative plum, federal repeal of state "right-to-work" laws, appears as much out of reach in 1966 as it was in the big congressional year of 1965.

In the new session, it may go down as another casualty of the Viet Nam war.

President Johnson told AFL-CIO convention delegates in December that "with your help, it will pass." Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey promised that "we will fight hard and win—I repeat, fight hard and win."

But it will take a legislative near-miracle to win Senate approval of labor's cherished objective in this election year. The bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley law's Section 14-B, under which 19 states have enacted so-called "right-to-work" laws, passed the House last July. The vote was 221 to 203.

But when Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield tried to call up the measure in October it ran into a filibuster led by GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill.

And when Mansfield asked the Senate to impose gag rule to end the talkathon, the effort failed by the wide margin of 17 votes. The Democratic leader then bowed to the inevitable and put off further action until this year.

Now the expectation is for an early Mansfield move in 1966. If he delays action until late in the session when a filibuster has its greatest impact, he and the Democrats may wind up in labor's private political doghouse. Union leaders are unhappy because the Montana Democrat refused to hold the Senate in around-the-clock sessions to kill Dirksen's filibuster.

Privately discouraged, labor leaders nevertheless will put on fresh pressure for action. While 14-B repeal is their first goal, they also want enactment of improved minimum wage and unemployment compensation legislation, also carried over from last year.

Mansfield still believes he can produce the votes to pass the repeal bill if he can get the measure to a Senate vote. He admits his chances are no better than last year and that the opposition is probably in better shape than before.

Dates for Commemorative Postage Stamp Announced

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien announced yesterday dates and places for first day of issuance ceremonies for nine commemorative postage stamps that are to be issued during 1966, according to Pampa Postmaster Lynn Boyd.

These are:
 Five-cent Migratory Bird Treaty, March 16, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15219 during the North American Wildlife Conference to be held in that city.

Five-cent Humane Treatment of Animals, April 9, New York, New York 10001.

Five-cent Indiana Statehood, April 16, Corydon, Indiana 47112, the first capital. The stamp marks the 150th anniversary of statehood.

Five-cent American Circus, May 2, Delavan, Wisconsin 53115, a town that many circus buffs regard as the "cradle of the American circus." During 1847-1894 twenty six circuses winter-quartered in Delavan.

Five-cent SIPEX, May 21, Washington, D. C. 20013, opening day of the Sixth International Philatelic Exhibition the first to be held in the capital. Additionally, a 15-cent SIPEX souvenir sheet will be issued May 23.

Five-cent Bill of Rights, July 1, Miami Beach, Florida 33139, in conjunction with the National Education Association convention in which some 15,000 teachers will assemble.

Five-cent National Park Service, Aug. 25, Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming 83020, on the 50th anniversary of the Department of the Interior's National Park Service.

Five-cent Johnny Appleseed, Sept. 24, Leominster, Massachusetts 01453—Historians are almost in accord that it was here that John Chapman was born. The stamp honoring the itinerant planter of apple trees opens the American Folklore Series.

Five-cent Mary Cassatt, Nov. 17, Washington, D. C. 20013, 6th in the popular American Painting Series. Miss Cassatt is the first woman artist to be so honored.

QUAKE HITS MOSCOW (UPI) — An earthquake shook the Tajikistan capital of Dushanbe Monday, breaking windows in some homes but causing no major damage or casualties, the Tass news agency reported.

Everyone Is Wearing the Ski Look

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) —

NEW YORK (NEA) — Snow bunnies come in all ages this winter. The ski look is in for every girl from the playground set to the bridge crowd. And it doesn't matter a whit whether she ever sees a slope.

Ski fashions have become so trim, colorful, sleek and lightweight that they are favorites for all outdoor winter sports, active and spectator.

For the pre-teens parkas are quilted, printed and gay. Hooded nylons show off lively prints in heraldic, Alpine or floral motifs and reverse to a solid color. Frosty pastels — pink, powder blue and maize — are the backgrounds for many of the prints. And these are teamed with stretch pants that pick up the color story.

A look of luxury and drama has been injected into ski wear for adults. There are lush quilted velvet parkas in deep jewel tones and cut velvets in a tapestry swirl of flowers.

On the wild side there are frankly faked furs, deep piles and curly lambs in shades that run the gamut from white to bright. Again these top smooth-fitting stretch pants that match or contrast.

The more conservative gals will find jackets and pants in solid colors, quilted or plain, lined with acrylic pile for warmth without weight. Even if you don't know a slalom from a salaam you can wear the ski look with aplomb. It's the sporting thing to do this time of year.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the hostess who resented her guests' well-meaning insistence on pitching in to help her clean up the kitchen after dinner reminded me that I once had that problem. But no more. I found a little poem by Susan Sawyer, which I now have pasted on my kitchen wall. When anyone offers to "help" me, I point to that poem. It says:

"Please stay away from my kitchen
From my dishwashing, cooking and such;
You were kind to have offered to pitch in
But thanks, no, thank you so much!

Please don't think me ungracious
When I ask that you leave me alone;
For my kitchen's not any too spacious
And my routine is strictly my own.

Tell you what: You stay out of my kitchen
With its sodden, hot, lack-lustre lures—
When you're here, stay out of my kitchen
And I promise to stay out of yours!"

Sincerely,
MARTHA

DEAR ABBY: I detest cards. Is there something wrong with me? Don't get the idea that I don't have the brains to play cards because I played an excellent game of contract bridge at one time. (My parents were tournament bridge players.) A few years ago I made up my mind that cards were a stupid waste of time and energy and I gave up the game. My husband says I am being foolish, that being able to play a good game of bridge is a social asset, and I should take it up again. I was recently talked into being a "fourth" and I couldn't wait until the game was over. Am I stubborn, selfish and inconsiderate? My husband says I am.

DETESTS CARDS
DEAR DETESTS: Anyone who "detests" cards as much as you apparently do, wouldn't add much sociability to a car party, so I say, stick to your original decision and pass.

DEAR ABBY: I am past middle age unmarried and have many free evenings, so I babysit for mothers in my neighborhood. I don't need the money as I have a good daytime job. My troubles started when some of the women began comparing notes and learned that I don't charge them all the same price. For instance, there is a young mother who works part-time in the evenings. Her husband has been sick and unable to work, and I know they have to watch their pennies, so I charge her half of what I charge women in better circumstances. I have made many ex-

DEAR ABBY: I have wondered how the lively fashion models maintain complete make-up beauty hours on end, while your own make-up often looks patched and unkempt, a perfect background foundation make-up application is usually the secret, says beauty authority Max Factor.

Follow five important application rules, and your make-up will remain fresh and lively too.

Begin with a completely clean skin. Remove all old make-up and refreshen with astringent or skin freshener. Camouflage all obvious shadows, blemishes and blotches with Erace.

Whether you use a liquid make-up or a cream make-up learn to apply it in the correct amount to give your individual skin a perfect sheer coverage.

Regardless of how little make-up your skin requires, blend the foundation make-up over every part of your face — over the eyelids, the inner corners of the eyes near the nose, the lips and around the nostrils. Do not forget to diminish the color into the hairline, and below the jawline.

Give your face a fresh matte finish by applying finishing powder. This unique, transparent pressed powder will give your complexion a natural, silky-smooth appearance. Then, add the eye, lip and cheek accents with artistry, and see the beautiful difference.

Teen-Age Beauty Blueprint

By ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor

"Take care of your skin when you're young and your skin will take care of you when you're older" is a truism no girl should forget.

Even with a hectic school schedule a teen-ager needs to develop a routine that she can follow the rest of her life. This includes a thorough cleansing facial, morning and night, with a brisk all-over-lightly touch with an astringent or toning lotion. This is followed by the application of cream. This is standard procedure. Special skin problems need special treatment, though, and often it is wise to consult a doctor for advice.

A good complexion is a necessary basis for make-up. But the wrong make-up, wrongly used, can detract from a good skin. Make-up for a teen-ager needs to be so natural in appearance that it is imperceptible. Too much make-up "ages" any woman.

To start, select a foundation to match your complexion. Apply this on clean skin. Follow with a complexion-keyed powder which should be dusted on the face with a cotton ball or clean, fluffy puff.

A heavy hand with powder, rubbed into the skin, contributes to clogged pores and blackheads. Be sure to blend your foundation and powder lightly and evenly from neckline to hairline.

Eye make-up is more important to the teen-ager than in any previous generation. It, too, should be used judiciously. For example, never use eye shadow in daylight and use it subtly at night for a party or dance. Key the colors to your eyes. You will find that a light-value, frosty shade is better for you than a

By Lyle Wilson

himself up as a censor on the publication of events taking place in open court. If judges can get away with that they can get away with anything. Judge Thurman got himself into this trouble last Dec. 7 during a habeas corpus hearing relating to one Donald Chambers, who was charged with murder. A jury was being selected at the time to try Chambers. One newspaper reporter was present.

Thurman told the reporter he wanted nothing published about the hearing which would prejudice jurors then being selected. Evidence presented during the hearing included an offering from the prosecuting attorney purporting to show that Chambers' finger print had been found at the murder scene.

Show Cause Order

Newspapers printed the story of the hearing and told of the fingerprint evidence. Defense Atty. Shepard Weinstein sought from Judge Thurman an order requiring the reporters and editors of the offending papers to show cause why they should not be cited for contempt.

Judge Thurman signed the order on Dec. 23. Meantime, the habeas corpus proceedings failed. Chambers changed his plea from innocent to guilty shortly after his trial began. On Dec. 21 Chambers was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Editors of the Phoenix Gazette and Arizona Republic said that accounts of the habeas corpus hearing were published because the public has a right to know—and newspapers have a right to open court.

The dispute between the newspapers with Judge Thurman lies outside the controversy now current with respect to newspaper reporting on criminal trials. Just published by MacMillan is "The Press in the Jury Box," which raises such questions as this:

"Did Bruno Hauptmann kill the Lindbergh baby or did the press make us think so?"

"Angry Examination" The dust cover describes this book as "an angry, documented, provocative, examination of the daily assaults on justice when the press takes on the paper stories that appear in the wake of sensational crime establishing an ineradicable bias in the minds of the jurors." Perhaps the book is a bit hysterical.

appeal to youngsters. He was replaced, as it turned out, by a fellow older than Lansing, Paul Burke, who is a good actor but is not as well suited for the role as Lansing was.

Bad to Worse NBC-TV's "Dr. Kildare" admittedly wasn't breaking any records as a ratings-getter when it was on for an hour each week last season—but now that it has been split into two half-hours weekly it has just about sealed its fate in the numbers game.

At CBS-TV, "Rawhide" was trotting along year after year, not setting any world records either in the ratings, but comfortable and very easy to take. Then somebody at the network decided to dump star Eric Fleming and toss in a couple of new regulars. The show has gotten slaughtered in the ratings ever since the change.

There should be several new work is opening up soon. Hit up

The Family Lawyer

Over a period of 42 years, the crime committed most often in Washington, D. C., was selling ice cream cones.

It seems that in 1921, as a health measure, the sale of ice cream in less-than-pint containers was forbidden. Yet, through the years, millions of less-than-pint cones were sold in brazen defiance of the law. They were licked in plain sight by residents, tourists, Congressmen, perhaps even Supreme Court justices. Not until 1963 did Congress finally end the scandal by repealing this obsolete law.

In Elko, Nevada, crime ran even more rampant. A 1918 ordinance passed during the great flu epidemic, required everybody to wear a flu mask in public places. Not until 1964 did the city council let people breathe easier by revoking the ordinance.

Hundreds of such laws remain on the books in various communities around the country. try. How does this happen? The reason is simple: there is far more incentive to put a law on the books than to take it off. As the original stimulus for a law fades away, people gradually lose interest in it. No one obeys, no one complains, no one prosecutes.

Yet, these dead letter laws may do real harm. For one thing, they may breed disrespect for law itself.

For another thing, they may give law enforcement officials too much leeway. If not probable, it is at least possible that a person might suddenly be prosecuted for doing something which he has been doing, in all innocence, for years.

Accordingly, as part of a broad drive to modernize criminal law, bar associations and other attorney organizations are trying to clean out these legal anachronisms.

It is not an easy job. Some laws are plainly useless. But others, while rarely invoked, may still have a useful deterrent effect. Still others might represent a kind of gentleman's agreement whereby the community salutes a moral standard in principle while ignoring it in practice.

But it is a job well worth doing. No law should remain on the books for no better reason than that it has been forgotten.

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

QUIET BIRTHDAY LONDON (UPI)—Earl Attlee, Labor prime minister from 1945 to 1951, celebrated his 83rd birthday quietly at home Monday. Lord Attlee said in an interview he is "quite well... a bit old and feeble."

PAIR LOST PIERRE LIGURE, Italy (UPI)—A six year old boy and his 74 year old grandfather were swept off a mediterranean beach here Monday and dashed to death on a rocky outcrop by a giant wave. Witnesses said they were sitting in the sunshine watching the sea when the wave swept over them.

Duke, Kentucky Scramble

By United Press International
Duke beat the shifting zone press of Penn State Monday night with the weapon it is supposed to stop—the fast break.
The zone press ideally puts two defenders on the man with the ball while the other three fall back to block off the lines through which his passes must travel. The idea is to slow the progress of the ball down the court to give the defense time to set up.
But Duke's Blue Devils, who maintained their No. 1 ranking in the UPI board of coaches ratings this week, were too fast with their passes for the Nittany Lions' zone. Stymied for only a short time, Duke quickly built an eight-point lead over the cold-shooting visitors and romped to an 83-58 victory.

Jack Marin led the Blue Devils with 25 points, Bob Lewis added 21 and Bob Verga chipped in 17 to the cause. Tim Reed's 16 points were high for Penn State. The Blue Devils, who led 47-27 at halftime, outshot the visitors 45 per cent to 29 per cent and outrebounded them 72-51. Penn State hit only nine field goals in the first half.

Colorado halftime advantage, but stormed to a 69-55 Big Eight Conference opener. Walt Wesley, Del Lewis and Al Lopez each scored 13 points to pace the Jayhawk attack, which shot a blistering 61 per cent in the second half after a cold first stanza.
Creighton used superior rebounding ability to upset and humiliate Syracuse 103-87. Neil Johnson led the Creighton rebounders with 19 of the team's total of 54. Syracuse got only 31 rebounds. George Hicklers led all scorers with 28 points for Syracuse, all on field goals. Dave Bing, Syracuse's 31-point-a-game scorer, was held to 20. Wally Andrunzas of Creighton led his team with 23 points.
Loyola of Chicago, the nation's highest scoring college outfit, had five men in double figures for a 91-68 breeze past Indiana. Jim Coleman and Doug Wardlaw each had 18 points to pace Loyola, which has averaged 101 points per game in the first 11 games.
Paul Morenz sank two free throws with 16 seconds left to ease Wisconsin past Marquette 73-72. Mike Hammond pumped in 20 points to help Ohio University to a 70-61 victory over the touring Polish national team in an exhibition, superior rebounding gave Detroit a 68-57 triumph over West Texas State and Utah found the road still rocky by losing to Miami in Florida 88-87. Utah started its present tour with a 7-0 record and is now 7-3.

Norm Inks Pact With Vikings

MINNEAPOLIS — St. Paul (UPI) — Norm Van Brocklin, who resigned as Minnesota Vikings head coach last season, then returned the next day "for as long as they'll have me," signed a five-year contract Monday, affirming they'll have him through 1970.
A previous contract had one year to run, but Vikings President Max Winter said Van Brocklin had received a bonus and salary increase despite his team's disappointing 7-7 finish this past season.
"We came to a most amiable meeting of minds," Winte said. "We are thankful for the way the team came back after some setbacks and completed the season in a sensational manner."
In their last three games, the Vikings narrowly missed beating the eventual National Football League champion Green Bay when two apparent touchdowns passes were disallowed, then defeated Detroit and Chicago.

Adams To Go After Chargers Ladd

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Oilers, stunned at the rookie signing table this year, turned today to the trade possibilities, including a $100,000 deal Owner K. S. (Bud) Adams said he will offer for huge tackle Ernie Ladd of San Diego.
Adams said Monday he would offer four men, including the Oilers' top passer and catcher of years past, to the Chargers for Ladd, 315-pound native of Orange, Tex., who is playing out his option with San Diego this season.
"We'll make the Chargers an offer they can't refuse," Adams said Monday. The offer will include quarterback George Blanda, 37, flanker Charlie Hennigan and middle linebacker Doug Cline. The fourth player was not named but is a recent signee to Houston's roster, Adams said.
Adams said he would propose the deal next week to Charger Owner Baron Hilton when the American Football League meets in Houston.
Blanda's contract says he cannot be traded without his permission, but Adams said he thinks he would not mind, in view of San Diego's recent successes.

Sandies Host Five

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor
AMARILLO (SpI) — Pampa will try to throw the muddy four-team 3-A basketball race into even muddier water starting at 8 o'clock tonight when they meet the Amarillo Sandies.
The fourth place Harvesters (4-1) could put the race into a four-way tie with a victory over the league leading Sandies (5-0).
Amarillo does not have a clear-cut lead, being tied with the Lubbock Westerners (5-0) and Lubbock Monterey still in the running, now in third place at 5-1.
Pampa will put a six-game winning streak on the line tonight, which ties their previous winning string, broken in the first conference game of the season by the Westerners.
The Sandies are 13-1 for the season having lost only to El Paso Austin 62-61 at El Paso and having gained a victory over Monterey at Amarillo.
The Sandies also have the league leading scorer in 6'11 1/2 forward Charles Wells. The senior letterman is averaging 19.4 points per contest and for the season carries a 17.7 mark.
Jeff Harp, a 6'0 guard is scoring in double figures, 11.8 in conference action and 14.6 for the season while Bill Jordan, 6'5 forward has a season average of 10.1 and league mark of 9.9.

Amarillo's other starter, Dennis Faulk, 5'11 guard has a 9.6 conference mark and 7.5 season average to show why the Sandies have been so tough.
Figures show that Pampa will have to put up an air tight defense if they hope to derail the Sandies.
The Harvesters are capable of doing so, having the best defensive average of any team in the league, conference and season-wise.
In 15 regular season games, Pampa with losses to Denton and Lubbock has given up but 43 points per game while scoring at a 60.8 per game clip.
In their five conference attractions the Harvesters have let opponents score a paltry 27.3 points per game but have not done much better offensively, carrying a 45.3 average.

The Sandies are no slouch either way scoring at a 69.7 regular season average and 61.4 league pace.
On defense Amarillo has given up 49.9 points per game and in conference action have a 48.8 average.
Although they are capable the Harvesters have nobody scoring in double figures in conference play but in the 14 regular season games three players are over the 10 point per game mark.
David Cain, the Harvesters' 6'5 center paces Pampa in league scoring with an 8.3 average, followed closely by Kenneth McWilliams at 8.1 and Mike Wise at 7.2.
Season-wise McWilliams is 14.0, Cain 11.9 and Wise 11.6.
In pre-game action the Pampa Shockers, 11-1, will put a 10 game winning streak on the line when they tangle with the Sandie B team, starting at 6:15 p.m.

Robertson Paces Royals, 130-114

By United Press International
The site was strange but the scene was familiar.
Cincinnati and St. Louis played a National Basketball Association game at Memphis, Tenn., Monday night and the Royals came out ahead 130-114 as Oscar Robertson worked his usual magic on the basketball court.
Robertson scored a game-high 37 points and also added some key assists to help the Royals climb within two games of the Eastern Division leading Boston Celtics.
Cincinnati jumped off to a 35-19 first-quarter lead, only to be outscored 19-1 at the start of the second period. But Robertson rallied the Royals to the front again and they held on. Jerry Lucas had 22 points for Cincinnati while Cliff Hagan topped the Hawks with 30.
No other games were scheduled.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Where's Our Backbone?

Where's our backbone? What's the matter with Americans?

Have we lost so much backbone that we look like a bunch of Russian peasants taking orders from their Communist bosses? Are we so afraid we might lose some social security benefits, or unemployment insurance benefits, or checks from the needy children program, that we dare not make changes because we might be deprived of some dubious government benefits?

Why do 30 Americans watch a madist kill a New York girl, and not even call the police?

Why do we put up with the rising tide of juvenile delinquency and with a legal system lost in technicalities?

Are we so confused by confusion that we sit like inert dummies, waiting to be told how to vote by some "liberal" Pied Piper who promises to reward us with still more gravy from the public trough?

Unquestionably, we have elements of all these things in our society. Unquestionably, too, more and more of our people have become so busy with details of their over-organized lives that they just don't have time to consider important things in life.

During one of our Freedom Newspaper editor's seven weeks behind the Iron Curtain last summer he observed how he thought control works. One phase is continuous propaganda holding up the green light which always points to an ideal, and falsely charges the enemy (usually the U.S.) with cruel deeds. The people get only one-sided information — news approved solely by Communists to aid Communist motives. Everything is controlled, from the telephone to the post office, to all other types of communications.

Dole Grabbing

Social "welfare" programs continue to expand at a galloping pace. It seems a certainty that regardless of the party in power federal tax payer money or assistance of one kind or another will be made available to an ever greater number of members of groups which will be singled out to be cuddled under the protective wing of the welfare state.

Individual need for assistance will be ignored and "eligibility" for benefits will depend on such factors as age, where you live, who you know, your race, occupation and even the amount of rent you pay; relative to your total income. In this way, large blocks of citizens are given a common vested interest in the extension of the welfare state. As this process continues, practically every person in the country will find himself, sooner or later, in a group being favored by some sort of public welfare. At this point, we will have to ask ourselves a very personal question — Is freedom really worth a monetary loss or can we be bought with tax plunder? In one breath, people com-

What They Said

Those Senators who-against most of the predictions-prevented repeal of section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, which authorizes the states to enact Right-to-Work laws if they so choose, were not against the unions, they were against coercion.

Senator Dirksen said: "... Is there a more fundamental right than the right to make a living for one's self and for one's family without being compelled to join a labor organization?" Senator McClellan said: "If I were a wagger earner, I might well be inclined to join a union. But I would want to have the choice of joining a union. I would not want to be compelled to join. Have we lost all sense of reason... have we forgotten the dedication to fundamental rights?" Senator Smathers said: "I am for organized labor.

So when you ask what happened to Khrushchev, the people merely shrug their shoulders. They don't know and dare not express an opinion for fear some Communist spy may overhear them.

Is that any worse than witnessing a girl being murdered and failing to help or even to report to the police?

In Uruguay the chief executive or president of the country is a committee of nine men. The country has such a liberal set of welfare benefits that the people are frozen into a political mold. They dare not vote changes to head off paralyzing inflation for fear any change made would deprive them of some benefits promised under their socialist government. Uruguayans frankly admit the situation.

Please note that the AFL-CIO leaders now are calling for retirement at 60. We already have Medicare. It will be "improved," just as unemployment insurance has been extended so many times that it has become a political form of public welfare. Politicians now espouse more and more aid and relief, and it may be that we are past the point of no return, as Uruguay is.

We pride ourselves upon being a Christian nation. We like the morals of our Pilgrim fathers. Yet murders and major thefts in America are more than twice as high as they are in the godless country of Russia. Divorce rates are higher here than almost anywhere else in the world. Juvenile delinquency is higher in our society than it is in countries which outlaw a belief in God.

Yes, our people have some serious things to ponder.

If we inherited any courage and moral stamina from our forefathers we'd better begin to show it.

plain of 'big government' and in the next demand their share of the loot. The fact is that between asking for dole, and merely accepting it when offered the difference is so slight as to be invisible, at least to the eye of the average congressman. He judges the popularity of a dole by the number of takers and this statistic usually tells him to vote for it.

Social evils become established because of their acceptance by individuals, one by one. Likewise, such evils wither on the vine when individuals one by one, condemn them and refuse to participate in their "fruits."

When a dole gets around to you, make a decision. If you prefer freedom, refuse it, thereby registering a vote of "no confidence" in government domination over your life. Your senators and representatives in congress will hesitate to collect more taxes from you, annoy you with regulations, depreciate your money and wreck your business in order to pay you a dole of one sort or another that you don't want and won't accept.

I like organized labor. But the right of each and every wage earner to make a free choice concerning union membership must be paramount over the desires of any single private group." Senator Eastland said: "One of the most incredible elements in the whole movement to repeal 14(b) is the fact that the very liberals who talk the loudest and longest about civil rights are now bent on destroying the freedom of an individual to choose what organization or association he shall or shall not join."

So it went. The battle is not over-compulsory unionism will again become an issue when the second session of this Congress convenes this month. And, once more, that issue will be whether a man can be forced against his will and his beliefs to join a private organization in order to hold a job.

CAPITOL EYE

Rocky And Lindsay Fire Still Burns

By BRUCE BLOSSAT Washington Correspondent NEW YORK (NEA) — Leading New York Republican figures are working hard to moderate further the diminished but still persistent hostility between the camps of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Mayor-elect John Lindsay of New York City.

The chief go-betweens are Herbert Brownell, former U.S. attorney general, and Walter Thayer, president of the New York Herald Tribune. They have spoken directly to the two principals and to others involved.

Encouragement is felt on both sides that some improvement has occurred and more seems possible. All top hands agree that any sort of open warfare could be severely damaging to Rockefeller's re-election hopes and to Lindsay's prospects as mayor (and beyond).

Even with maximum good will in the two camps, one GOP leader suggests that in 1966 the Rockefeller-Lindsay relationship inevitably will be subject to "heavy strains" as the new mayor's need for large new sums comes athwart the governor's determination to hold the state tax line and keep within presently seen fiscal capacity.

It might take a small book to explore fully how the links between the two men became so badly twisted. Here only a few key threads can be followed.

Aides for both men profess puzzlement as to why the "other side" is either hostile or thinks hostility exists. A Lindsay man said:

"They say we're antagonistic, but I don't know where they get that idea."

A Rockefeller associate shook his head glumly:

"I don't understand what the motive for it is, unless they think Nelson is just in the way."

The bewilderment and the mutual wish to find better common ground seem genuine. Yet, even as these things are expressed, lingering coals of hostility glow visibly.

Lindsay associates mutter that "Rockefeller is used to having his own way," and argue further that the Rockefeller official entourage is heavily faction-ridden.

They say that the governor is going to have to cough up a good deal more state money for New York City than the added $101 million due the city under escalating formulas in present law.

In equally aggressive rebuttal, Rockefeller men say the state treasury is "no pot of gold" for easy tapping by the city. They contend that the balance of state legislative power rests with suburban lawmakers "who don't rush to help New York City."

A few in the governor's camp insist that Lindsay has "never learned the art of co-operative politics" and is so little interested in the "substantive detail" of government that he is too dependent on such aides as Robert Price, one of his two deputy mayors.

More detached onlookers think both Rockefeller and Lindsay are loners and that this may be the real key to their problem. Heretofore, neither has had to accommodate his purposes and ambitions to so intrusive a rival figure within his state.

But, runs the argument, they are not in fact rivals for any office (Lindsay is seen by some as Rockefeller's natural heir). Instead, they badly need each other. Any notion the Lindsay people may have had that the governor was headed for political disaster is now shaken by the mounting evidence he is on the upgrade for 1966 and cannot safely be kept at a distance.

Contentions of this sort, underscored by the careful Brownell-Thayer ministrations, are carrying weight. Consequently, despite the continued grumbling on both sides, the momentum is all the other way — toward the kind of Rockefeller-Lindsay understanding considered vital to their good prospects and to the Republican party's prosperity in New York.

Administrative Weaknesses at All Levels Impeding Great Society Program — Muskie Subcommittee

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's numerous and immensely costly Great Society programs and projects are being seriously impeded and impaired by glaring shortcomings of federal administrators.

This major factor is further compounded by widespread inadequacies and laxness on the part of state and local authorities. As a consequence, intergovernmental conflicts are an increasingly critical problem as the range and magnitude of federally-financed activities expand.

These are the principal findings of a penetrating study of the "bureaucratic structure" by the Senate Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations, headed by Senator Edmund Muskie, D-Me.

The 215-page survey minces no words in pinpointing the basic failings of federal administrators. Designated as the "four behavioral norms," they are:

— "Standpattism, or the rigid defense of traditional practices, procedures and principles. . . . This norm and its adherents must be recognized as a major obstacle to reform in the problem areas. . . ."

— "Functionalism, or the preoccupation with protecting and promoting the purposes of their individual program. . . . It is this norm that generates the special brand of politics — program politics — which successful management administrators so adroitly practice. And it is this norm that produces their general insensitivity to many of the niceties required for more successful intergovernmental relations. . . ."

— "Indifference, or the cavalier dismissal of serious questions and topics as being irrelevant or unimportant. . . . Management executives with a strong functional, professional and status quo orientation are not likely to approach broad questions of a multifunctional, interlevel, interagency, or coordinating nature with any great enthusiasm or concern. . . ."

— "Professionalism, or the deep commitment to the merit system principle and to the technical and ethical standards of the specialized group to which they belong. . . . It is this norm that explains their difficulty in arriving at a balanced definition of the public interest as it applies to the state or metropolitan level. . . ."

Also sharply assailed in the report is the "critical view a high percentage of federal administrators have of state and local personnel. . . . (on the ground) they are generally less qualified and more subject to political and bureaucratic pressures than those at federal level."

WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT — Senator Muskie proposes a five-point program to deal with these widespread causes of intergovernmental friction and costly and wasteful ineffectiveness, as follows:

(1) "Creation of the position of Assistant Secretary for Intergovernmental Relations in all departments administering two or more federal programs of aid to state and . . . or local governments, in order to create a focal point within such departments where matters of intergovernmental concern, especially those of an urban nature, can be considered and resolved.

(2) "Enactment of the Senate-passed bill (sponsored by Muskie) designed to assist those states that seek to reform their budgetary and administrative procedures and to bring greater focus and coordination to federal urban development efforts.

(3) "Enactment of an intergovernmental program of personnel improvement in order to minimize much of the conflict that makes this one of the major trouble spots in contemporary federal-state-local relations.

(4) "Establishment of a full fledged, properly staffed unit within the Office of Legislative Reference of the Budget Bureau, in order to strengthen the presentation of the intergovernmental viewpoint within the President's chief instrument for management and program development.

(5) "Expansion of the Federal Executive Board's role in line with the directives of Presidents Kennedy and Johnson in order to achieve more effective program co-ordination in the field and better communications with affected state and local officials."

Muskie's subcommittee will hold public hearings on these proposals at the coming session of Congress. Leading federal, state and local officials will present their views and suggestions.

Muskie deems prompt remedial action of utmost importance to eliminate serious barriers to federal cooperation with the states and localities. "It is not enough for Congress to enact programs and appropriate funds," says the tall New Englander. "We must make certain that the benefits from these funds get to the people in the fastest and most effective way possible. This is a major challenge to every citizen involved in making our democratic government work toward the preservation of a free and viable society."

FLASHES — Assistant Commerce Secretary Eugene Foley, in charge of depressed areas, is being widely mentioned in inner administration quarters as a strong likelihood as the No. 2 official in the new Department of Housing & Urban Development. Foley, former head of the Small Business Administration, is highly regarded by President Johnson. Also, Foley's Commerce Department section is slated to become part of the new department. . . . During 1965, President and Mrs. Johnson entertained 30,230 guests at

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank Marky

Teddy Roosevelt was one of our most colorful Presidents, but he also knew how to win votes. One of his tricks was to instruct his personal secretary to make an error in typing his letters. Teddy then corrected it in ink to indicate he had personally read the letter before signing it. It was good salesmanship and endeared him to the fellow who received the missive. . . . The American housewife's time is so valuable these days an insurance company has come out with a health insurance plan to compensate her family for the loss of her services if she is hospitalized. It pays up to $200 a month for a year toward the costs of hiring temporary help to perform child care and housekeeping duties usually handled by the little woman.

Today's smile: A European history teacher asked her class to tell her what the monarch of Russia was called in the good old days. One bright lad answered: "Tsar." The teacher next asked him what his wife was called and the lad answered: "Tsarina." The teacher persisted with another question: "What were the Tsar's children called?" This time the lad answered: "Tsardieses."

This promises to be quite a year on the highways. No matter where you drive you'll be seeing Mustangs, Broncos, Wildcats, Thunderbirds, Falcons, Tigers, Cougars, Panthers, Stingrays, Barracudas, Marlins and even Skylarks. And they'll all be traveling at least 60 mph. . . . Speaking of animals, the craziest thing we saw during the Christmas season were greeting cards, signed with a paw print, and sent from one pet to another. What next, Pussycat?

Thoughts while shaving: It may surprise you to learn the perfume and cosmetic companies spend 15 per cent of their revenues on advertising, the highest of any U. S. industry. We would have bet the auto makers or tobacco companies would have held that distinction. . . . An insurance company survey revealed the average American male stands five feet, ten inches, and the average American beauty stands five feet, five inches. The male weighs an average of 165 pounds while his mate tips the scales

138 parties of various kinds in the White House. The guests included seven heads of state — three last week. In addition to the listed dinners, dances, receptions, teas and luncheons the President also hosted an unknown number of private functions. The latest of these was an intimate dinner for new French Ambassador Charles Lucet and his wife. They are long-time friends of President and Mrs. Johnson, and last week, before returning to their Texas ranch, they quietly entertained the Lucets and talked over old times.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functioning of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "Which is more conducive to progress? To have a job created from the necessity for employment or to have employment created from the actual need for a service or product?" Mrs. E. M. K.

ANSWER: Unless there is a need for a service or product, there is no excuse for a "job" to exist.

So progress can come only from jobs which do fill a need.

No great harm can come from an individual using his own funds to provide employment for one who is in need. The only persons who can be hurt are he who provides the "make work" job and he who receives it, thinking it is his "right" instead of realizing that he has been given a privilege by the donor. The harm and impediment to progress comes when compulsion is used to force others to assist in such a project.

No real progress can come from creating a job because it is determined that someone "needs" employment. It may take some of the onus off acceptance of an outright gift of funds, and it could help the recipient to believe he was earning what he received.

Progress comes from some individual discovering a need for a good or service and then investing his time, energy and funds to attempt to supply that need.

All human wants and needs are so great that there is no reason to create jobs. We know of no person who has all his wants satisfied. If artificial barriers are removed, inventive and industrious humans will find ways to satisfy each others' needs, and will benefit all others in the process.

The Almanac

Today is Tuesday, January 4, the fourth day of 1966 with 361 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born today are under the sign of Capricorn. English mathematician and philosopher, Sir Isaac Newton, discoverer of the Law of Gravity, was born on this day in 1642.

On this day in history:

In 1885, Dr. William Grant of Davenport, Iowa, performed the first appendectomy with the patient making a complete recovery.

In 1896, Utah became the 45th state.

In 1948, Burma became an independent country.

In 1965, poet T.S. Eliot died at the age of 76.

A thought for the day: A American humorist James Thurber said: "Early to rise and early to bed makes a male healthy wealthy and dead."

at 127. . . . A New York physician, who is also an inventor, has patented a system of inflatable furniture. In addition to inflating tables and chairs with compressed air (just as you would an automobile tire) he believes entire rooms could be converted from living to sleeping quarters with inflatable walls and partitions. Somehow or other we think any hostess might be somewhat embarrassed if she started to serve dinner some evening and her dining table sprung a leak and went flat on her. . . . European businessmen prefer to be called by their titles, usually "Doctor," "Professor," or "Director." And the title Doctor is not limited to the medical profession; neither is Professor restricted to education. Professor does not necessarily imply an academic status, but in business it can be an honorary title conferred for achievement in any field of endeavor. . . . The Lexington (Ky.) LEADER reported in a story: "Fat hens, eggs, pullets, ready to lay lima beans."

What next?

Country Editor speaking: "A bore is the fellow who insists upon talking while you're interrupting."

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. HUNT

DEFENSE IS PROVOCATION?

At the Pugwash disarmament conference held in Moscow in November, 1960, Dr. Jerome Wiesner and Walt Whitman Rostow, in closed talks with Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov of USSR, discussed the disarmament of the United States, as a concession to avoid "provocation" of the Russians.

In a confidential memorandum, Rostow urged the adoption of a strategy which would be inoffensive to the Russians. Out of the Rostow Memorandum grew State Department Document 7277, which outlines a suicidal plan for "general and complete disarmament" in a "peaceful world" which simply does not exist.

Wiesner told the Moscow conclave that world peace would be encouraged if the Russians could develop a nuclear capacity equal to that of the United States; he advised the Soviets to harden their missile sites to safeguard them from enemy attack. Since the U. S. is the enemy for which Russian missiles are intended, it is hard to figure out just whom Dr. Wiesner was representing at the Pugwash Conference.

Wiesner and Rostow, who worked on super-secret CIA projects at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, have seen their theories come to pass in the policies of Defense Secretary Robert McNamara. One of the specific proposals of the Moscow conference, to scrap our manned bombers and missiles surrounding the Communist empire, was carried out early in Mr. McNamara's reign over the Pentagon.

McNamara, diligently carrying out the covert provisions of the 7277 disarmament plan, recently announced his schedule for completion of one of the advanced stages of the plan: the scrapping of the SAC bomber fleet.

And now Dr. Wiesner has declared that the development of an anti-missile defense network by the U. S. would be "provocative." But most provocative is our liberty.

The Nation's Press

Nation's Press SOVIET UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM "The Indian Libertarian," Bombay, India)

There is today large-scale unemployment in the Soviet Union. This remarkable revelation is made in the Soviet monthly journal Problems of Economics by the Soviet economist Yefim Manevich.

According to Dr. Manevich, unemployment is considerably higher than in the industrialized countries of the West. In Leningrad and Moscow between six and seven per cent of people capable of working are without proper employment; throughout the Soviet Union generally the figure is much higher. In Siberia it reaches more than 25 per cent and in the Siberian town of Toguchin, 38 per cent.

There is also large-scale hidden unemployment. A survey of 60 Moscow industrial plants had shown increases in the labour force despite advances in automation. "As a result the plants employ quite a few people for whom there is absolutely no need," says Dr. Manevich. Surplus labour led to weakening of labour discipline and irrational use of workers-time.

Manevich suggested the introduction of unemployment benefits—an unnecessary measure if unemployment was only temporary. Seasonal unemployment is of course, nothing new to Russia. For some years past it has been experienced on a large scale throughout Soviet agriculture. Yet this is the first time that anyone has suggested unemployment relief is necessary.

The Soviet Government is obviously concerned about Dr. Manevich's revelations and its Press and radio is trying to explain them away. What it has not yet done is to show how the problem of unemployment will be tackled in a society that has boasted for over 40 years that it is free of social illness attributed to capitalism.

Cut Your Own Taxes: Part 2

Payment Should Be Figured On Joint, Separate Returns

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer

Almost without exception a married couple will reduce their income tax by filing a joint return rather than separate returns.

But since there are situations where separate returns are advantageous, a safe rule of thumb is to try both methods. Then use the one that produces the smaller tax payment or greater refund.

Here are some typical cases where saving results from the use of separate returns.

Where one of the marriage partners died during the tax year the surviving spouse may file a joint return in the year of death and claim a full year's exemption credit for the deceased spouse. For two years thereafter, if the surviving spouse has not remarried and is maintaining a home for a dependent child he is entitled to compute his tax using Tax Schedule II, but including his own income, exemptions and deductions.

In those two years after death no exemption credit may be taken for the deceased person. Nevertheless, a reduced tax

As a husband and wife each has a small income and standard deductions. The combined tax on separate returns frequently is a few dollars less than the tax called for on a joint return.

A husband and wife each has income and one of them has considerable medical expense for the year. Since such expenses for taxpayers under 65 are deductible only after they exceed 3 per cent of income, a greater deduction is possible on the separate return.

A husband and wife each had a sizable capital loss for the year. On a joint return they would be limited to a $1,000 net capital loss. On separate returns each might be eligible for the $1,000 loss.

Or, one of the mates could have a capital gain and the other a capital loss for the year. On separate returns the gain could receive favored capital gains treatment (only one-half taxable if it was a long-term transaction) and the full $1,000 net capital loss could be claimed on the other return.

There is one cardinal rule in the filing of separate returns: Each spouse must itemize his individual deductions or each must use the 10 per cent standard or the minimum standard deduction. Of course, the standard deduction is limited to $500

India, Pakistan Open Talks

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (UPI)—India opened its summit conference with Pakistan in this colorful Soviet Asian city today by demanding that Pakistani troops respect its "territorial integrity and sovereignty."

Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, in his opening speech at the conference, did not mention Kashmir by name. But he has already said that Indian sovereignty over the disputed province is not negotiable.

In an answering speech, however, Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan in effect rejected Shastri's claim to the non-negotiability of Kashmir's status saying "No one nation can lay down the terms of peace."

After the Pakistani leader's speech, the conference adjourned. It was not known when Shastri and Ayub would meet again in public, but they were expected to continue talks in private later tonight.

Their meeting, arranged by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, marked the first time the two have ever met to discuss the Kashmir dispute which erupted into a bloody three-week war between the two countries last September.

Republicans To Go After Big City Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss decided it was time for a belated launching of his "big city plan" on the basis of evidence that the Democrats may be slipping in their urban bastions.

This evidence, in the form of private polls for the GOP, was supported by victories for at least some kind of Republicanism over aging Democratic machines in 1965 elections in New York and Philadelphia.

Hence Bliss announced last week that something was to be done at last about the big city organization plan drafted by a committee he headed in 1961, four years before he became party chairman.

City elections last November indicated that the GOP could win back part of the Negro vote which was cast as a bloc against Barry M. Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee in 1964. The GOP also heard that Polish-Americans were unhappy at the departure of John Gronowski from President Johnson's cabinet to serve as ambassador to Poland, that Italian-Americans were unhappy because Anthony Celebrezze left the cabinet for a federal judgeship.

Particular Bloc

When the political professionals talk about the big city vote, they are referring particularly to the vote of such minorities as the Negroes and nationality groups.

How to reach those voters will be one of the major topics at the two or three conferences to which Bliss is inviting Republican city chairmen from the nation's 61 largest cities. Meanwhile, national party headquarters is recruiting specialists to serve as advisers or instructors to local party

French Refinery Fire Kills 30

LYONS, France (UPI)—Exploding tanks of petroleum and butane gas turned an oil refinery fire into a holocaust near this southeastern French town today.

At least 30 persons were reported dead or missing, with at least another 80 hospitalized with burns, 20 of them in critical condition.

Fire broke out in the refinery about 7:20 a.m. and scores of Lyons firemen rushed to the scene.

Shortly after 8 a.m., a liquefied butane gas storage tank exploded with such violence that every window in the village of Feyzin, more than half a mile away, was shattered.

At least two more storage tanks were reported to have exploded later. A radio reporter at Feyzin said it was impossible to get near the refinery where there was "complete confusion."

The refinery is one of the most modern in Europe. It is owned by the French state-controlled Union Generale des Petroles.

The fire was reported to have started when a truck on the neighboring super highway set fire to butane gas which had escaped from the plant.

The gas escape had been reported immediately to Lyons police but they were unable to stop the highway traffic before the truck rolled into the gas cloud.

Most of the victims were believed to be firemen and members of the refinery staff who were fighting the tank farm blaze when huge spheres holding liquid butane started exploding.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

For Fidel Castro the moment that should have been one of triumph had turned somber indeed.

It was the seventh anniversary of his rise to power and the eve of the "Tri-continental Congress" which had been in the planning since 1961 and which was designed to draw Latin America into the circle of the Communist-supported Afro-Asian solidarity movement.

In the presence of an estimated 500 delegates to the congress, Castro reviewed a 30-minute display of Cuba's Communist-supplied military strength and then let the blow fall.

Red China had reneged on five-year trade pact, cutting by more than half the rice supplies on which the Cuban people depended for their sharply rationed diet.

In 1966, Red China would supply Cuba with only 135,000 tons of rice as opposed to the 285,000 tons of 1965.

For the Cuban people it was especially bitter news. Under rationing each Cuban has been allowed six pounds of rice per month or about 60 per cent of normal consumption in pre-Castro times.

Cuban People Suffer

Now it would be cut still further, for Castro said the country had no money with which to seek supplies elsewhere. The people, he said, would have to find substitutes.

In the growing bitterness of the Chinese-Soviet feud, Castro steadfastly has tried to walk a middle course.

But the struggle for leadership of world Communism has small room for neutrals, and, whatever the published reasons of the Red Chinese, a better explanation seemed clear.

So long as Ernesto (Che) Guevara, Castro's one-time economic minister, remained in power to advocate violent revolution everywhere in Latin America, the Red Chinese had an ally.

But Guevara is gone, no one knows where.

When Castro's personal friend, President Ben Bella of Algeria, fell to a coup engineered by Houari Boumediene, Castro denounced the new regime as a product of "treason."

He further added that such action could mean falling "into the most repulsive political opportunism."

The latter widely was regarded as a denunciation of Communist China's quick recognition of the Boumediene regime and allegiance to the Soviet Union.

Baby With Heart Condition Improves

DALLAS (UPI)—Velisha Rollerson, a two-month-old girl whose heart once beat so fast doctors feared for her life, was expected to be removed from the critical list today.

"She's acting like a normal baby," a physician said.

Doctors feared brain damage because of lack of oxygen during the time her heart was beating at nearly twice the normal rate.

The child was brought to Children's Medical Center from Paris, Tex. Christmas Day. She is the daughter of Navy Seaman and Mrs. Robert Rollerson of Paris, Tex.

Horse Sense—and the Mustang Six

I don't know much about engines. If mine's smooth, powerful and gives great gas mileage, I'm satisfied. That's why I got a Mustang Six.

You don't have to be an engineer to appreciate the Mustang Six. Just get comfortable in one of those deep-foam bucket seats, fire up that husky 200-cu. in. powerplant... and let yourself go.

Nor do you have to be an investment banker to realize you've made a great buy. Standard Mustang Six luxury includes: all vinyl upholstery; push wall-to-wall carpeting; padded instrument panel and many other extras at no extra cost.

Sound sweet? Mustang makes lots of nice sounds. Optional stereo-sonic tape is one. Another is money jingling in your pocket, thanks to Mustang Six's meager appetite for gasoline.
