Medal of Honor May Go to Patrol Member

Soldier Dies Bravely During Fierce Ambush

PANMUNJOM (UPD) — A U.S. patrol ambushed by North Korean invaders fought back so fiercely before it was wiped out that one of its members will be nominated posthumously for the Medal of Honor — the nation's highest award for valor.

Maj. Gen. George B. Pickett Jr., commander of the 2nd Infantry Division, identified the hero as Pfc. Ernest D. Reynolds, a gutsy, 20-year-old from Kansas City, Mo., who had been in Korea only 17 days and who chose to stay and fight rather than slip away to safety when the Communists attacked.

U.S. Chemist Is Named Receptient Of Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The 1966 Nobel award for physics was presented today to French Prof. Alfred Kastler, co-inventor of the laser light apparatus.

The 1966 Nobel Prize for chemistry was awarded to an American.

Mulliken, 70, an expert on chemical warfare, was a member of the super-secret wartime "Manhattan Project" team that developed the atomic bomb. His award today was for "his fundamental work concerning chemical bonds and the electronic structure of molecules by the molecular orbital method."

Kastler, 64, worked closely with American scientists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in developing the laser which is used in scientific research and has been applied to medical purposes. A laser beam was used in an eye operation on the Duke of Windsor.

Mulliken is now working with the computation center at the University of Chicago which is doing research on production of more complex computer projects. The projects are used in studying almost everything from ancient Hittite to problems relating to medicine and biology.

Mulliken is the third American this year to win a Nobel Prize. The other two were cancer researchers—Prof. Peyton Rous of Rockefeller University in New York and Prof. Charles B. Huggins of the Ben May laboratory of Chicago. They shared the $60,000 medicine prize.

Today's awards were the fourth of the year. The Nobel Prize for literature was awarded to Samuel Joseph Agnon of Israel and German-born Nelly Sachs of Sweden.

The Royal Swedish Academy of Science said Kastler was awarded the physics prize for "the discovery and development of optical methods for studying Hertzian resonances in atoms." Kastler is with L'ecole Normale Supérieure in Paris.

Sole Survivor of Attack Tells Story

(EDITORS NOTE: Following is a first person report by PFC. David L. Bibee, 17, of Ringgold, Va., the sole survivor of an attack by North Korean Communists in the demilitarized zone Wednesday in which six American soldiers and one South Korean soldier were killed).

Titan Successful In Space Feats

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (UPI) — A Titan 3C workhorse rocket rammed an unmanned Gemini capsule toward earth and then zoomed up again to orbit four satellites in a spectacular test debut for America's first military man-in-space program.

The Air Force's mightiest launcher was following a roller-coaster path through space, performing an hour of cosmic acrobatics on its unique two-in-one launch attempt.

The Titan soared 123 miles high and then nosed over to send the Gemini on its powerful reentry toward a South Atlantic recovery fleet. Once Gemini separated, the rocket's third stage turned around and fired again to zip up into orbit with a "space bus" carrying three hitchhiking satellites.

Thirty-eight minutes after launch, Titan control reported that the two-ton Gemini spacecraft's orange and white striped parachute had deployed as planned and that tracking forces 5,000 miles southeast of the Cape first sighted the descending capsule on radar and then visually.

Two minutes later, the seared spacecraft was sighted bobbing in the sea. "It is looking very nice," the Air Force said. Survival of the capsule with a new type of heat shield was the main goal of the flight.

It was the first space test in the Defense Department's drive to develop a manned orbiting laboratory (MO<sup>2</sup>) by 1969 to determine man's military usefulness in space.

The huge rocket roared off the launch pad at 7:51 a. m. CST after being delayed because of high winds aloft.

Today's Gemini capsule is the forerunner of the MOL's cabin section. The trailer size "space bus" cylinder mounted behind it carried nine hitchhiking satellites and nine experiments—including one to bounce laser light beams back to earth.

The 158-foot triple-barreled Titan 3C climbed into the sky atop a brilliant orange column of flame. It left a long geyser-like column of smoke in its wake.

The bell-shaped Gemini spacecraft, guided by an autopilot instead of astronauts, flew in space once before—as the unmanned Gemini 2 in a suborbital heat shield test.

Today the capsule was also testing a heat shield—one with a 26-inch diameter hatch cut in it. Future MOL astronauts will (See THAN, Page 3) first thing I knew a hand grenade hit right beside me. It rolled me over and I slid down the (50-foot) hill from where my buddies and I had been perched in an ambush position.

Their mission was to kill everyone. The way I see it, we just didn't have a chance the way it went. They know this country and they know how to move in it.

We had one pretty brave guy in the crowd. He could have gotten away. But he stood up and shot at 'em until they killed him.

(Bibee referred to Pvt. Ernest D. Reynolds, 20, only 17 days in Korea who won a recommendation for the Medal of Honor for his heroism.)

But going back to the beginning. We started out on our patrol about 8 p.m. We started walking up to Point Bravo and we stayed up there about 20 minutes trying to get commo (communications contact).

But we could not get any so we walked back down the lateral road.

We started going back to the company and I heard a guy call for us on the radio and we went up on top of the hill and there was Sgt. (James) Hensley (19, Stockbridge, Mich.).

He told us to come on over and we sort of helped him set up an ambush.

Red Guards Stage Largest Rally Yet

HONG KONG (UPI) — More than two million pushing, chanting Red Guards jammed a square in Peking today to receive new instructions from their leaders and shout praises for Chinese Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung. It was their largest rally so far.

Reports from Japanese newspapers in the Chinese capital said Peking's Gate of Heavenly Peace Square overflowed with militant youths who heard a brief speech from Defense Minister Lin Biao, the No. 2 man in China.

Mao, who created the Red Guard movement to spearhead his "cultural revolution" purge of Western influences on China and opponents to his regime, attended the rally but did not speak, the Kyodo news agency reported.

Besides Mao and Lin Premier Chou En-lai, President Liu Shao-chi and ideologist Teng Hsiao Ping also appeared at the rally, the agency said.

The rally was held amid reports reaching Hong Kong that the Red Guards may have outlived their usefulness and were being relegated to a supporting role in the cultural revolution.

Youth and inexperience of the Red Guards were listed as the main reasons for their reported downgrading.

There have been many reports in the past of clashes between Red Guards and other Communist Party groups that have been attributed to an excess of zeal on the part of the teen-age guards.

Fleet Clashes With Shore

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States intensified the air war against North Viet Nam Wednesday with a near-record number of strikes against the Communist shore batteries in North Viet Nam for the first time of the war.

The spokesman said Communist shore batteries near Dong Hoi, 50 miles north of the demilitarized zone, fired on two destroyers cruising in international waters in the Gulf of Tonkin on Oct. 25.

One of the destroyers, the USS Mansfield, returned the fire with its five-inch guns, the spokesman said.

No results of the American shooting were reported. The destroyers were not damaged by the Communist fire, the spokesman said.

The shore-to-ship duel came amid an intensive American campaign to cripple North Viet Nam's supply lines and hamper the infiltration of men and supplies into South Viet Nam.

They said the 7th Fleet began the unprecedented moves Oct. 25. There was no announcement of the new strategy until today, however.

The spokesmen also disclosed the United States intensified its air war against the Communists Wednesday with a near-record number of strikes against key installations in the north.

The change in sea strategy apparently began when the destroyers Hanson and Mansfield three times fired barrages from their five-inch guns in a duel with Communist shore batteries on the North Vietnamese coast Oct. 25.

The spokesman said the Communists opened fire each time—twice in the morning and once later in the afternoon. There was no report of any damage to either the Communist positions or to the destroyers.

Earlier, the spokesmen reported only one exchange of fire and said the Mansfield did the shooting.

Observers said the U.S. Government possibly did not want to announce the new war move during the Manila summit conference attended last week by President Johnson.

The President made a flying visit to South Viet Nam from Manila on the 25th, the day of the duel in the Gulf of Tonkin and the same day a fire claimed 43 lives aboard the U.S. aircraft carrier Oriskany in the same waters.

American planes Wednesday flew 165 missions against the north, eight short of the record 173. Air Force planes hit radar sites Surface-to-Air Missile (SAM) launching sites, warehouses, barges, staging areas, roads and rail lines up and down the country.

Yarborough Pushing Tower Re-election?

AUSTIN (UPI) — Activities of Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., in Texas the past week have added fuel to reports he has been working secretly for re-election of Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex.

Yarborough, champion of labor-liberals, said earlier he planned to vote a straight Democratic ticket. That would include Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, Tower's opponent.

But activities since then indicate he has not asked others to follow his party loyalty pledge and might not even want them to.

Yarborough's latest move was Wednesday when he released copies of telegrams he had received concerning complaints on use of Department of Interior franked mail.

He quoted from a wire from Wyle M. Bullock of Muleshoe, Tex., calling for an "investigation by the Senate Post Office subcommittee of the use of the government frank to mail invitations to political rally being staged in conjunction with dedication of Sanford Dam on Canadian River Nov. 1."

The dedication attracted Carr and Gov. John B. Connally, who has never been friendly with Yarborough. The governor supports Carr.

Yarborough not only made known Bullock's telegram, but also released his answer, stating he had had other complaints by telephone about use of the frank for the dedication. He also said he would send "this file of complaints...to Washington for consideration by the Post-Office Committee."

The release to news media of the telegrams a week before the election came after a Tuesday announcement by Yarborough that he was recommending Bob Sanchez, a McAllen lawyer and known Tower supporter, for a job on the Equal Opportunity Commission.

Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., said the arrests and confiscations would lead to a strong firearms control bill in the next Congress.

Dr. Sheppard Murder Trial Nearing Act II

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The drama of the divorced Houks—Spencer and Esther—in the Sheppard murder case approached Act II today with the imminent appearance of the former wife to tell of domestic rows the Sheppards had.

Esther Houk also was expected to repeat that Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, who said he suffered a neck injury grappling with an assailant in the bludgeoned wife's bedroom, once told her that in an accident where there is no obvious injury, a head injury could be easily claimed because it could not be traced.

Those were things she said as a state witness in the 1954 trial in which Dr. Sam was convicted of murdering his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31. Mrs. Houk followed her husband to the stand in the first trial.

J. Spencer Houk, a butcher in suburban Bay Village and its mayor when Marilyn was killed in 1954, was still on the stand Wednesday undergoing cross examination in the retrial when court adjourned. He had been one of Dr. Sheppard's best friends and the two families had been together a lot.

That changed quickly after the murder. The Houks got the first call, Houk testified, from Dr. Sam about 5:45 a.m. on the murder morning. He said Dr. Sam told him: "Spencer, get over here quick. I think they've killed Marilyn."

He said in cross examination that he and his wife went the three doors to the Sheppard house in their car. (Houk has had a stiff knee since age 8, he testified) without first calling police and without taking a gun or giving a thought to whether "they might still be on the murder premises." He said Mrs. Houk went right up to the murder bedroom without anyone telling her where the body might be.

The Houks were divorced in January 1962, he testified, and he remarried that same year. (See SHEPPARD, Page 3)

Federal Spending Lashed by Price

AMARILLO — Texas for government at all levels, are our greatest problem and biggest expense, and we are now facing a tax increase because of "reckless spending for Great Society Programs," congressional candidate Bob Price said here Wednesday night.

"Several government officials, including the President, have already indicated an income tax increase will be the first order of business for the new Congress in January to slow down the rising cost of living," the 18th District candidate told a meeting of supporters at the Dick Bittman residence in Amarillo.

"At the present time a five-day a week employe works the first 78 days of the 250 working days a year to pay local, state, and federal taxes," Price explained.

"The Federal Government takes more than two-thirds of the total tax bite. Experts agree that, when we add all the indirect and hidden taxes, the federal government takes about 3 cents of every dollar we earn," the Pampa rancher-businessman added.

"The choice the voters of the Panhandle must make next week," Price said, "is whether they want to elect a man who will be obligated to vote for more government expenditures and higher taxes, or whether they want to vote for me and the alternative of decreasing non-essential government spending and lowering taxes."

Rotary Club Hears Speaker Talk On Texas Water Plan

The future development of the Texas Water Plan was discussed by K. B. Watson, of Amarillo, at the regular meeting of the Pampa Rotary Club yesterday in the Coronado Inn.

Watson, administrative vice president and general counsel for the Pioneer Natural Gas Co., is chairman of the water committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The speaker noted that unless proper planning and conservation methods are practiced throughout the state, our known water supply will rapidly diminish by the year 2020.

Larry Franklin, president of the senior class at Pampa High School, was introduced to the club as the Junior Rotarian for the month of November.

LeRoy Ogden was in charge of the program.

He said that for some months before Marilyn's death he had dropped in to visit her when her husband was out, having coffee, cashing her checks, bringing things to her that she had bought and left in his shop.

About the time of the inquest, he said, he appealed to Dr. Sam on the basis of their friendship that if there was a chance he had done it in a fit of anger he should tell the truth. Dr. Sam replied he hadn't—couldn't—have done it. Dr. Sheppard in turn told Houk, the mayor said, that an eminent criminal psychiatrist "had expressed a keen interest in me."

He said he soon got the feeling the Sheppard brothers were "trying to tell me something"—pointing suspicion at him.

Former Baseman Loses Law Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A jury of eight women and four men has decided against Orlando Cepeda, former San Francisco Giants' first baseman, in his $1-million damage suit against Look Magazine.

The verdict came late Wednesday night after a 12-day trial in which Marvin Lewis, Cepeda's attorney, asked for the damages on grounds that the magazine had 14 libelous statements in the disrupted article, entitled "Orlando Cepeda—Can He Slug His Way Out of the Doghouse?"

The suit stemmed from a feature written by Tim Cohane of Look in the issue of May 21, 1963. A parade of Giants stars and high brass testified during the trial. These included Willie Mays, Willie McCovey, Juan Marichal, club President Horace Stoneham and Vice President Chub Feeney.

All testified that they never regarded Cepeda as being in the team's "doghouse." But Look spokesmen contended the article was fair comment and did not damage Cepeda's reputation or earning power as a ball player.

Searching Mother Hands Out Leaflets

DALLAS (UPI)—A mother, who has been searching for her missing grandson since April, handed out pictures of Joel Barton Landingham to 8,000 delegates of the Texas General Baptist Convention Wednesday.

Mrs. G. F. Burnett of Fort Worth said she hoped the leaflets would help in finding the boy.

The boy disappeared April 21 when his cousin, Archie Pringle, 22, took him out of school. Pringle had taken Joel from school earlier this year but they were found in New Mexico and kidnapping charges were dropped.

The leaflets offer a $500 reward for information to whereabouts of the boy.

As a diplomatic mission, however, it probably will be some time before concrete results—or lack of results—become evident.

This certainly was true of the immense world tour of President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He attracted record-breaking crowds everywhere he went, but he found that this did not mean progress toward solution of international problems.

Johnson's principal diplomatic chore on his recent trip was the seven-nation Manila conference. It produced an ambitious Generally speaking, Johnson did accomplish two principal and pre-announced purposes of his trip. He focused attention on a part of the world where attention is needed, and he underlined the fact that the war in Viet Nam is much more than an American matter, but that other nations also have troops fighting there.

Johnson disclaimed any domestic political motives behind his trip, though some Republicans claimed this was its basic purpose. Motivation is one thing, results another. The fact is that a Democratic President dominated the front pages and broadcast news shows of the nation for the better part of 17 days—17 days when congressional campaigns are peaking in many areas.

New Board To Meet Monday

Cree Urges Support Of Vote Amendment

George B. Cree Jr., Gray County Republican executive committee chairman, today urged voters to give their approval to Constitutional Amendment No. 7 at the polls next Tuesday.

Cree explained that many voters do not understand the amendment which provides for annual voter registration without payment of a fee.

"Annual registration as required by Proposition 7, called the poll-tax repeal," Cree said, "will assure valid poll lists."

Cree stated present state law does not require registration of all voters. Under Proposal 7, he added, it would be mandatory for the legislature to provide for registration of all voters wherever they reside.

A vote for this amendment, Cree stated, would do away with tombstone, block and other corrupt voting practices.

Johnson Readies For Final U.S. Campaign Swing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With his grueling Asian odyssey behind him, President Johnson turned today to plans for another trip aimed at building a consensus for his policies—this time among his own countrymen.

The Chief Executive returned Wednesday night from a 31,500-mile, 17-day journey to seven Asian and Pacific nations that included a brief visit to the Viet Nam fighting front and a Manila summit conference of America's allies in the Viet Nam war.

He was expected to spend today and most of Friday at his White House desk, signing the scores of bills passed in the closing hours of the 89th Congress, before setting out on his final political swing of the 1966 campaign this weekend.

Johnson sounded what probably will be the theme of his campaign trip when he told an airport crowd on his arrival here Wednesday night, "Where there is deep division in a land, there is danger. But where there is unity, there is strength."

In appealing for unity at home, the President noted that free Asia was "counting on our dedication to freedom. Not our doubts. They are betting their lives on our determination."

He pronounced himself "more confident and hopeful than when I left," but he pledged that there would be a stepped-up effort to keep the "fires" of Red aggression from spreading in Southeast Asia.

The general elections next Tuesday obviously were on the President's mind upon his return home. A light rain was falling when his plane arrived and he noted in an aside that it was the first bad weather of his long trip.

"That shows what happens to

Last Contact

Dee Miller, the Democratic candidate for Congress, made a hurried trip to Pampa this forenoon to make what was probably his last contact with local voters before Tuesday's election.

Miller visited Democratic headquarters, made a 30-minute hand-shaking tour in downtown stores and engaged in a question-and-answer period on radio.

End Nears For Absentee Ballots

Absentee voters are nearing the closing date for casting ballots in the Nov. 8 general election.

Tomorrow at 5 p.m. is the deadline for voting absentee in person in the county clerk's office, but mail-in ballots will be accepted up to election day, Nov. 8, according to Charlie Thut, county clerk.

Two-hundred and eighty-four votes had been cast by in-person or mail-in votes as of this morning, according to Thut. "It's a rather light vote," Thut commented.

Four-hundred and ninety-three absentee votes were cast in the 1962 general election.

Even though it is too late to vote in the upcoming election, new residents meeting the requirements of living in the county six months and in the state one year, may register for the next election in the office of the County Tax Assessor on the first floor of Gray County Courthouse.

Jack Back, county assessor said this morning, voters who have lived in the county six months and who have a poll tax receipt from another county will need to have it transferred by tomorrow.

James Madison Randolph, grandson of President Jefferson, was the first baby born in the White House. He was born Jan. 15, 1806.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—G. Mar Wilde's oft-told tale, "The Catville Ghost," came to "ABC Stage 67" Wednesday night as a generally jolly and brightly zany contemporary musical, with Sir Michael Redgrave having a field day in the title role.

Wilde, whose masterful wit examined American attitudes in the tale, probably could have found the television hour slightly vulgar, but this is understandable because of a current setting inevitably emphasizes the decline of taste that accompanies the success of democracy, despite what your local culture salesman says.

In addition, Tippy Walker, as the lovely teenage daughter of the U.S. ambassador whose family rents a haunted castle, was so distant from the talents of Sir Michael in their scenes that the sequences barely came off. The ending, as well, trailed off, as aduster Burt Shevelove, like so many Broadway people who try their hand at video, was swinging free and easy until it seemed he suddenly realized his hour of time was up, and he had to finish, right now.

Despite these slight annoyances, "The Catville Ghost," taped in England, had considerable charm, joviality and liberate merriment, and was, I thought, certainly the most enjoyable "ABC Stage 67" offering since the series premiere, "The Love Song of Barney Kempinski."

The score by Sheldon Harnick and Jerry Bock, who turned out "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Fiorello" for Broadway, tripped along nicely, with the high point surely being Sir Michael's soliloquy, "Vengeance," as the insulted ghost who is infuriated because the new tenants don't mind him. Sir Michael was completely delightful, singing, posing, rendering his complaints with splendid humor, and giving the hour authority.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist
A child who is having unexpected difficulty with his school work should be carefully evaluated. The normal adjustment problems due to new classes and teachers should have been corrected by this time. A child who is not working up to his ability may need special help.

Discuss the child's problem with his teachers. They are in an excellent position to explain the existing difficulties. They may be able to suggest appropriate remedies. If the problems appear complicated, seek the advice of school specialists such as the nurse, psychologist, and remedial reading teacher. Don't overlook the potential help which the principal might offer.

A thorough physical examination is in order. A child cannot concentrate properly on learning if his health is not up to par. Sight and hearing should be carefully checked. Headaches, tenseness, sluggishness, lack of appetite, etc. may indicate that the child has a health problem. Proper sleep, exercise, and nourishment are important to school success. Discuss these aspects with your family physician.

Emotional or psychological problems will interfere with learning. Psychological assistance is a necessity in such cases. Correcting this type of problem is a job for a well trained professional. It may require guidance and advice to teachers and parents or it may involve extensive therapy. In any case, the psychologist is an important consultant.

A child's ability naturally is a major factor in his school success. There are various measures of ability. A qualified individual can give a reasonable estimate of the child's potential to learn, through the combined use of tests and observations. This may not be an absolute answer but it will give indications which can be used in the total evaluation of the child.

It is necessary to correct physical or psychological problems in order for tutoring to be effective. Tutoring may be based upon the diagnostic and achievement tests. If the need is not too extreme, the classroom teacher may be able to handle it. If a separate tutor is used, close cooperation with the school is important. The amount of time should be considered carefully. Make sure the child has an opportunity to relax and play. He should be consulted since his cooperation and motivation are essential. The advantage of tutoring is the close individual instruction. Therefore the tutor must be fully qualified and personally acceptable to the student.

The Lighter Side

By Dick West
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—For the past several months, a local television station has been presenting a weekly two-hour program called "Bullfights from Mexico."

My interest in bullfighting is something less than fervid, but curiosity caused me to tune in recently. As I watched the action I arrived at a moment of truth.

I suddenly knew the real reason why bullfighting has never caught on in the United States.

The most common explanation is that Americans are too tender-hearted to enjoy such a gory sport. But I'm convinced it's because bullfights have not been widely televised.

You may recall, as I do, a time when professional football wasn't very popular either. Then television came along and the games quickly became sellouts.

The upsurge of interest obviously was brought about by the play-by-play announcer and analysts.

Takes Five Minutes
Any idiot can learn all there is to know about football in five minutes. But the announcers with their mysterious talk about "z-out patterns, flood formations and other esoteric terms made it appear there was more to the game than meets the eye.

So a lot of viewers went out and bought season tickets.

I'm convinced television could do the same thing for bullfighting.

All you see on the screen is some clown in knee breeches waving a red tablecloth at the native livestock preparatory to carving himself a rare steak.

But the announcer soon has you believing that bullfighting, like professional football, is a joy to behold if only you learn to appreciate the fine points (los puntos finos).

A typical pancho (main event) goes like this:

Into the samba ride the frijoles on horseback, followed by the fritos, who are dismounted. They are armed with enchiladas, which they stick into the hide of the taco.

Tortilla Enters
When the taco has begun to resemble a dart board, we have the entrance of the tortilla. Artfully waving his manana, the tortilla entices the taco to charge at him. This is called a "caramba."

The tortilla eludes the carambas with a series of graceful maneuvers—the "viva," the "ole" and the "cha-cha." Then he takes his tequila and plunges it into the taco's guacacule, killing him with one chili.

Once you get the hang of it, it is almost as exciting as watching a quarterback being redogged from a safety blitz.

DUBIOUS DISTINCTION
NEW YORK (UPI)—Legend has it that on Sept. 13, 1899, Henry Bliss, 68, a Wall Street broker, was run over by a peculiar new invention at the corner of 74th Street and 8th Avenue in Manhattan.

The next day in Roosevelt Hospital, the story continues, Bliss achieved the distinction of becoming the first of countless hundreds of thousands of American automobile fatalities. In remembrance, a wreath was placed Wednesday at the spot where Bliss was struck.

Within moments, the flowers were crushed under the wheels of a passing car.

Birth Control To Be Included In Medical Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon is planning to include birth control assistance in its medical program for serviceman's dependents, the Budget Bureau disclosed Wednesday. Deputy Budget Director Philip S. Hughes made the disclosure in a letter to Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, summarizing the government's birth control and family planning expenditures.

Hughes said rough estimates show that federal agencies have spent or will spend $42 million for birth control purposes in the three fiscal years ending next June 30.

"No data was reported by the Department of Defense because it has lacked explicit authority in this area," he said. "However, under recently enacted legislation, defense intends to include within the medical program for military dependents provision for birth control assistance consistent with sound medical practice."

Gruening, who made the letter public, is chairman of a government operations subcommittee on foreign aid expenditures that has held extensive hearings on population control.

According to the information supplied Gruening, the government spent about $2.3 million on birth control and family planning in 1965, about $14.7 million in fiscal 1966, and will spend about $25.3 million in this fiscal year.

Powdered Milk Is Pulled Off Market

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the nations leading powdered milk products is being pulled off grocery shelves because of discovery of an infectious bacteria in samples of the product, the government announced Wednesday.

The Food & Drug Administration (FDA) said Borden Foods Co. agreed to recall all packages of Starlac instant non-fat dry milk. The FDA said in analyzing samples of the product, it found salmonella organisms in Starlac.

There are more than 1,200 strains of salmonella, which produces gastrointestinal infections "which can have serious consequences," the FDA noted. Salmonella is said to be particularly prevalent in artificial products. It forms acid and gas on many carbohydrates.

The FDA said Borden and the agency were "working in full and close cooperation to carry out the recall" of all Starlac stocks. It is a major job because the product, distributed nationally, was said to be on shelves of about 67,000 retail stores.

Starlac comes in boxes and is often used by some housewives for cooking. It also is sometimes used for baby formulas and for low-calory diet.

Pop Corn and Family Fun at Home

While the idea of "togetherness" has probably been overworked, over-publicized and over-emphasized, there's no question but that good all-family fun, especially family fun right at home, has been a missing ingredient in many modern, hurry-scurry households. Years ago, before television, drive-ins and the automobile took over, a typical family evening was spent with dad reading the paper, mom knitting or darning, and the kids doing their home-work — all around the same table. It was a cozy life, but one most of us would find dull these days. So who would want to go back to it? But, there are some nights of the week when the entire family can and should have fun right at home — with such a simple pleasure, for example, as popping up heaping bowls of light, fluffy, delicious pop corn.

Time for Tasty

Acorn Squash

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Squash are the stars of harvest time. They are double prizes, offering excellent nutrition and welcome taste.

- HERB BAKED ACORN SQUASH
- 2 medium acorn squash
  - 3 tablespoons margarine or butter
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - Dash pepper
  - 1/4 cup light corn syrup
  - 1/2 teaspoon dried parsley flakes
  - 1/2 teaspoon dried chives
  - 1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
- Cook unpeeled squash in boiling water in covered saucepan

Heart Is Flavorful Variety Meat for Dinner Menu

There's flavor a-plenty in a variety meat called heart. When prepared Italian-style to be served over cooked spaghetti it will also provide that touch of novelty which every menu needs.

- 5 minutes. Drain and cool. Peel and cut into lengthwise slices, 1-inch thick. Place in shallow baking dish. Dot with margarine or butter. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Combine corn syrup, parsley, chives and nutmeg; pour over squash. Bake, uncovered, in 375-degree (moderate) oven 30 minutes. Arrange squash in serving dish; keep warm. Pour liquid into saucepan and boil gently until slightly thickened. Pour over squash. Makes four to six servings.

Heart rates highly for protein content in the class known as variety meats. In addition, it has generous amounts of the minerals needed by the body, advises Reba Staggs, meat authority.

- Though very flavorful, heart classifies as a less-tender cut which must be cooked in liquid or be braised to tenderness. Some time can be cut in cooking procedure when the meat is cubed.
- Heart Hallelene
- 2 pounds beef or veal heart
  - 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
  - 1/2 cup onion, chopped
  - 1 clove garlic, minced
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/8 teaspoon pepper
  - 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento

- 1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
  - 1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) tomatoes
  - 1 package (7 ounces) spaghetti, cooked
  - 1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese, if desired.
- Wash heart thoroughly, removing veins and hard parts. Cut meat in 1-inch cubes. Brown meat, onion, and garlic in lard or drippings. Add salt, pepper, pimiento, tomato paste, and tomatoes. Cook slowly 2 hours, or until meat is tender and mixture thickened. Serve over spaghetti and top with grated cheese, if desired. 6 to 8 servings.

It has a remarkable effect in getting dad, mom and the kids all together doing something they all can enjoy.

Of course, it's important to start with a good grade of pop corn. . . even if it does cost a penny or two more. Nothing can dampen a "pop corn get-together" quicker than pop corn that won't pop — or is tough and full of scratchy hulls. So get a well-advertised brand, preferably in the hermetically sealed cans.

In addition to the regular way of serving hot buttered and salted pop corn, there are so many other interesting and varied ways to use pop corn. Here is one "goodie" — crunchy, chewy pop corn bars — simple and easy to make. And there are even variations on this, as you will see. Here's the latest, simplified recipe:

- 2 cups white sugar
- 1 cup corn syrup (your choice of white or dark).
- 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1 tablespoon of butter or margarine. (You can use more of this ingredient, two to four more tablespoons for richer flavor.
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 6 quarts of popped corn.

Cook first four ingredients (about 5 minutes) until a drop forms a hard ball in cold water. Remove from fire and add soda. Pour over the popped corn, mixing thoroughly. Press this mixture into lightly buttered baking pans, about 1 inch deep. Using a wet knife, cut into bars, and allow to set until cool. Now . . . for the easy variations:

- When pouring candy syrup over the popped corn, mix in your favorite nut meats, . . . peanuts, cashews, etc. Or . . . try bite-size marshmallows, thoroughly mixing them into the pop corn. Young children also like this mixture using gumdrops instead of marshmallows.
- Instead of pressing the mixture into a baking pan, simply break apart into various "nugget" size bits, and allow to cool. Any way you choose, you'll also find it's a good "keeper" in your refrigerator, making a handy snack.

Vary the Vegetables.

A recent survey on vegetables served in restaurants concluded that baked potato remains the all-time favorite of vegetables in the United States.

Mashed potatoes, green beans, french fried potatoes and asparagus were rated in the order listed.

The summary of this survey indicated that restaurant patron would like a wider selection of vegetables. Homemakers might take a cue from this survey. The family vegetable-pattern may be in a rut and could stand more variety.

With the vegetable binge overflowing in choice at the stores, now would be the time to change the pace.

Parsnip Croquettes Are Traditional

PARSNIP CROQUETTES—a tasty dish.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Parsnips, a staple winter vegetable on which early American settlers relied heavily, are not hothouse darlings. No, their sweet flavor does not develop until the weather is near to freezing. But there will be plenty around for the American harvest feast. Served in croquettes, they'll add a touch of tradition to the Thanksgiving dinner.

Brussels sprouts are another popular harvest vegetable. Baked with cheese, they are delicious with the holiday turkey.

FRESH PARSNIP CROQUETTES
2 pounds fresh parsnips
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 teaspoon sugar

1/4 cup fine bread crumbs

Pick-Me-Ups For Teen Snack Party

NEW YORK — At your next snack party, sip cider through ice cream, dip crusty meat sticks in sour cream with pickle relish, or bite into some crisp, fried chicken-wing pick-me-ups.

These and many other delectable quick snacks take only minutes to get ready at party time, says the October Seventeen. The idea is to do most of the preparation ahead — on the morning of a football game, for example.

The chicken wings, fried golden before you go off to the movies or wherever, are reheated in 15 minutes just before eating and served with hot, bubbly catchup.

Crusty meat sticks and pickle dip take seven minutes at party time. Before the party, cut luncheon meat into sticks and roll them in crumbs, and mix the dip — all in about 10 minutes.

Cider float, a blend of apple cider and vanilla ice cream, is ready in four minutes for eight.

Another quick snack, nut bread tea sandwiches, takes just a few minutes of do-ahead time right before the party, to slice the freshly-baked bread and fill with a cream cheese mixture.

CRUSTY MEAT STICKS
2 cans (12 oz. each) luncheon meat
1 box (2 3-8 oz.) seasoned coating mix for chicken
1 cup commercial sour cream
2 tablespoons mustard
1 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon onion salt
2 tablespoons pickle relish

First, cut each can of meat into three long pieces — cutting the meat lengthwise (from narrow end to narrow end). Now hold the loaf together and turn it on its side and cut it lengthwise again into four long pieces — which will give you twelve sticks. When you have cut both cans, shake the meat sticks in crumbs as package directs, and refrigerate. Combine remaining ingredients in a bowl for dipping and refrigerate it also until party time. Then, place sticks in a hot oven (400 degrees) for seven minutes.

Oversalt the soup? Put a peeled potato or two into the pot. Let soup simmer a bit. The potatoes will absorb the extra salt.

BAKED FRESH BRUSSELS SPROUTS CASSEROLE

1 quart fresh Brussels sprouts
1 beef bouillon cube
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
3/4 cup milk
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 cup grated sharp American cheese

Wash and trim Brussels sprouts. Place in saucepan in 1-inch boiling water and add bouillon cube. Bring to boil and cook uncovered, 5 minutes. Cover and continue cooking until sprouts are tender-crisp, 10 to 15 minutes. Drain if necessary. In the meantime, melt butter or margarine, in saucepan. Blend in flour and gradually stir in milk. Cook until medium thickness, stirring constantly. Combine with Brussels sprouts and bread crumbs. Add salt, pepper and 1/4 cup of the cheese. Toss lightly. Turn into a 1 1/2 quart casserole. Top with remaining cheese. Bake in preheated oven (350 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes or until cheese has melted over top and has lightly browned. 6 servings.

Food Buying Guide

The following guide to the nation's food shopping buys for this coming weekend was prepared by the Departments of Agriculture and Interior for UPI.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The bounty of the fall harvest is beginning to show in the markets. Meats, vegetables and fruits are all in fair to good supply, according to USDA's Consumer and Marketing service.

Rump and chuck roasts highlight the weekend beef picture. Also look for specials on corned beef and sirloin steak cuts.

Bacon and roast cuts are the bright spots in the picture of pork plentiful. Lamb is in good supply in many areas.

Broiler-fryers continue to be an economical protein buy. Turkeys are plentiful, too, in most areas.

Cabbage, green beans, carrots, celery, lettuce, onions, potatoes, and radishes are in the weekend harvest basket. Potatoes and radishes are in the weekend harvest basket.

Apples, grapefruit, grapes, oranges, pears, and bananas are the fruits available at local markets for weekend shopping.

Nationally, canned salmon is plentiful and reasonably priced.

New Way to Enhance Pheasants

By GAYNOR MAOX
Newspaper-Enterprise Assn.
Hunters and wild game enthusiasts are always looking for new ways to cook their prizes. We've just found a particularly good one.

Tom Fay, mkeeper of the Public House in Sturbridge, Mass., invited us to dine with him. The leaves outside the 18th-century inn were red and gold and an open fire burned in

Butter Machine Churns Out Tons In Day's Work

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — It's a far cry from the way grandma used to churn butter.

A St. Louis plant (Aro-Dressel Dairy) boasts a new style churning machine which produces a constant flow of butter at the rate of some 2,500 pounds per hour.

A plant spokesman said it took two of the old-style churns at the plant one hour to produce 1,500 pounds.

The churning action is much the same as that of the old-fashioned churn, said Clarence Benitz, plant production manager. After being churned the buttermilk is drained off, and the butter is fed by double augers into a chamber where the dining room. We were in a mood to enjoy the pheasant. And Tom Fay was in a mood to share his recipe.

PUBLIC HOUSE PHEASANT STUFFING:
2 cups fresh bread crumbs
2-3 cup wild rice (cooked)
1 oz. sherry
1 oz. melted butter
Clean two pheasants. Stuff cavity with wild rice stuffing. Truss legs.

Brown pheasants and 1 diced medium onion in 6 tablespoons butter. Pour over them 2 ounces warm brandy and blaze. Take out pheasants and add - cup chicken stock and 1 cup dry white wine. Simmer 5 minutes. Put pheasants in casserole or small heavy pot, pour sauce over. cover.
Braise for 30-40 minutes or until birds are tender.

Just before serving, add - cup sour cream to sauce, heat and mix thoroughly. Serve with pheasant.

salt is injected into the product. The "salter" is a separate unit where the salt solution (under constant agitation) is pumped into the churn.

After salting, the butter passes into a blending section of the churn. The butter is forced through four different plates with various size openings.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone Inc. says it would be prudent to make strategic purchases of issues at attractive technical and statistical price levels or which have held up during recent selling waves. At the same time, he says no technical evidence is at hand to indicate that the bear trend is over and a new bull market has started.

Spear & Staff Inc. suggests that selective buying of blue chip issues would be to the "best advantage" of investors at present. He says "especially fruitful" investment opportunities are available in issues of utilities, dairy products, oils, tobaccos, banks and insurance companies.

Korean Ambush Labeled As 'The Most Serious Incident'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The ambush death of seven Allied soldiers inside South Korea was the most serious incident in what U.S. officials called an intensified campaign of North Korean harassment.

Officials reported Wednesday that there have been sporadic incidents along the border ever since the end of the Korean War, but the ambush was regarded as one more incident in this series, although somewhat more serious than most.

In an early morning hand grenade attack, North Korean soldiers killed six U.S. servicemen and one South Korean soldier, and wounded another American a half mile inside South Korea.

Officials said there could be at least three possible reasons for the recent increase in military incidents.

That at least the more recent ones were timed to coincide with President John-

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — Gov. John Connally has given three of Texas leading universities a hurry-up research assignment — a detailed analysis of food costs in the state and of the causes of recent price increases.

Connally set Dec. 1 as target date for reports by the University of Texas, Texas A & M University and Texas Tech College. He gave the assignment to the heads of the three schools and left it up to them how to conduct the study. "I share the concern of Texans with the dangers of inflation," Connally said in announcing the study. "And I am particularly disturbed about mounting food prices, and their effects on the homemakers of our state."

Connally said, "While rash judgments and emotionally based opinions as to blame are inevitable, they contribute little toward determining cause or a sensible course of action for improvement of the situation."

Detailing his request, the governor asked for a determination of what part of the consumer food dollar goes to the producer or grower, to the retailer, and how much goes for such things as transportation, advertising, sales incentives, added services and whatever other costs are involved.

He asked for that determination both on long and short-term bases, expressed both in absolute dollars and in percentages.

He also suggested that the food-cost study be related to other consumer costs.

ROAD REVENUE HIGH — Texas Highway Department has been informed that Texas is expected to reap $456,000,000 in State highway-user tax revenues this year.

This would make Texas third among the 50 states in road revenue. California is expected to take in $941,000,000 in 1966. New York's income will hit $497,000,000.

Road-user taxes include state fuel and vehicle registration taxes, but not toll fees or parking-meter money.

AIR POLLUTION CONTROL — Texas' new Air Control Board came up with a tentative plan for regulating air pollution starting in 1967.

Plan includes air quality surveys and continuing studies particularly in urban areas, assistance in developing local programs, procedure for investigating complaints and plans for public education on pollution hazards.

Board is thinking about a graduated set of standards for industrial emissions from cotton gins, petrochemical plants, dry cleaning establishments and any other that could possibly pollute the air. Although the plan is directed toward pollution from smoke and particulate matter, board members indicated it would be made to apply to other air pollution sources after six to eight months compliance notice.

GAS TRANSMISSION — Texas' big gas pipeline operators disagree with their smaller colleagues over whether the state should assume regulation of the pipelines so the Federal Power Commission will not.

Major interstate gas transmission companies contend that they are doing well under the present regulations of the USA Standards Institute under sponsorship of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. But the companies which transmit gas on a part-time basis want state regulation.

Both sides are to file written statements with the Texas Railroad Commission by November 25. Commission then will consider all arguments and reach a decision.

COURTS SPEAK — State Supreme Court rejected City of San Antonio's appeal for supplemental water supply from Canyon Dam reservoir on the Guadalupe River. Decision backed a 1958 award by the predecessor to the Texas Water Rights Commission (and affirmed lower court decisions) providing 50,000-acre-feet of water a year to Guadalupe Blanco River Authority for municipal use.

Cities of New Braunfels, Seguin, Gonzales, Cuero and Victoria, along with Calhoun and Refugio Counties, joined GBRA in fighting the San Antonio application during the prolonged historic water fight.

High court reversed the lower courts and ordered a retrial of the Lubbock land condemnation case where the jury awarded $48,000 to owners without holding a hearing.

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals set November 9 for hearing on whether it should uphold, rather than reverse, the death penalty for Jack Ruby in the slaying of presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald. On October 5 the court held that Ruby should get a new trial.

College Students Can Save Money by Using Discounts

By JAMES M. MURPHY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — College students, just because they are college students, can save millions of dollars each year by using local, national, individual or specialty student discount services.

Campuses across the country are following Minnesota's example. Many urban colleges have pooled their efforts to establish citywide discount systems. One card entitles all students to all the discounts produced by the combined efforts of their student governments.

A free checking account at a leading metropolitan bank, a free American Airlines half-fare card, and free summer employment and discount directories. Intercollegiate currently has about 7,000 members on 1,825 campuses across the country.

As members of a potentially unified market of six million, they can patronize only businesses that offer student discounts. They can join a national student discount plan. They can encourage their student governments to get local student discounts. By "buying student," they can graduate without ever having paid retail price for anything. University of Minnesota students, for example, can obtain a discount card from their student government for 50 cents. Then, they get 50 per cent off on every pizza they eat at the

The largest citywide student discount plan is the New York Metropolitan Discount System. Begun in 1964, it offers discounts on many goods and services in the city. Affiliated with the United States National Student Association's (USNSA) American Discount Card System, the New York group offers its members the additional advantages of belonging to a national discount service.

If students are at a school where discount services have not been introduced, they can set one up themselves.

USNSA's Guidebook for Student Travel ($1) contains hundreds of low cost and discount lodgings in more than 250 college towns and cities, with special sections on Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, New York, and Washington, D. C. Invaluable for the hitchhiker, it also lists recently obtained student discounts on plays and films.

Even the student who avoids mass movements can save money merely by identifying himself as a student. Many major hotel and motel chains, including Sheraton and Hilton, offer special student rates.

local shop. They can "flick out" for child's price. They can get 2 cents off on every gallon of gasoline they feed their cars. How do they rate? "You have to convince the local merchants that student discounts are in their interests," explains Jim Jansson, former president of the University of Minnesota student body, who established the system four years ago. "Our biggest selling point was 'selective entry'."

USNSA (2115 S. St., N. W., Washington, D.C. 20008) makes available a report on "How to Set Up a Discount Program on Your Campus."

If students don't want to bother setting up a program, they can join one or all of three national discount and marketing systems for a nominal fee.

The Varsity International Sales Association (VISA, P. O. Box 4802, Richmond, Va. 23229) offers discount, marketing, employment services to students on 110 campuses, mostly on the East Coast and Midwest.

VISA's short history illustrates the difficulty of getting students to think of themselves as unified purchasing power. In 1965, the second year of its existence, VISA succeeded in getting only 300 of 15,000 University of Pennsylvania students to join.

Amphibious warfare dates back to the battle of Marathon in 490 B.C., when the Greeks counter-attacked a beachhead established by the Persians. In the Punic wars, the Romans used their legionnaires as marines in their invasions of Britain. And in Louis IX's crusade against Egypt in 1249, shipbuilders developed ramped galleys which could launch as well as carry landing craft.

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In Cali, in Colombia's beautiful Cauca Valley, a doctor told of his hospital's research into the tropical diseases that are among the great killers of Latin America.

The research being conducted jointly by La Hospital departmental and the University of the Valley is rated among the most important in the world.

As the doctor spoke, four American-built jet fighters of the Colombia air force wheeled high in the sky above the surrounding Andes mountains. Watching them, the doctor spoke a sad truth.

"For the cost of one of those airplanes," he said, "we could run our program for more than a year."

Observed By Johnson

President Johnson had the same thing in mind last August when, observing the fifth anniversary of the Alliance for Progress, he warned the Latin Americans that the costs of building up their military strength inevitably must undermine the alliance and "take the clothes off the backs and food from the stomachs and education from the minds of our children."

Yet in Latin America there are signs the warning is being ignored.

When any nation builds up its armed strength beyond the needs of normal internal security it does so because it feels it may have a use for them against a preselected potential enemy or for reasons of prestige among its neighbors.

In Latin America perhaps it is some of both.

Under Sharp Criticism

The sale of the warplanes to a country in deep economic trouble and with little reason to fight anybody has aroused sharp criticism even in the United States.

In any event, the sale aroused the fears of neighboring Chile which then also sought but failed to obtain similar aircraft. The U.S. turned down the request for reasons of the war in South Viet Nam and so the Chileans turned to Great Britain which has promised to sell 21 of its older model Hawker Hunters for $8.6 million.

Since Chile is also a neighbor of Peru, the Peruvians in chain reaction are reported considering the purchase of British Lightnings which are a supersonic, sophisticated fighter costing around $4 million each.

Within South America, a number of border disagreements have delayed planned meetings of American presidents and some Alliance projects requiring regional cooperation. Involved are disputes between Chile and Argentina, currently being arbitrated, between Chile and Bolivia and Ecuador and Peru.

At any rate, an alarmed Chile has warned against escalation into even more expensive weapons which could further delay development programs and is urging that other nations join her in at least regional disarmament.

Unfortunately, when nations build expensive war machines, too often they find a way to use them.

In 1965, American troops suffered their worst losses in a single engagement of the Viet Nam war in the battle of the Ia Drang Valley. U.S. 1st Cavalry troops lost 240 men but American commanders called it a victory because more than 2,200 Viet Cong were killed by body count.

Russia Accuses Red China Of Deliberate Curtailment

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Kremlin today accused Communist China of plotting the "curtailment of Soviet-Chinese relations."

The Soviet government made the charge in a stiff press statement claiming the Chinese had used "protracted subterfuges and deliberate stalling" to whittle down the number of Soviet students allowed into China this year.

It followed by less than 24 hours a bitterly angry Chinese note accusing the U.S.S.R. of mud-slinging, perfidy and collusion with the United States.

Today's statement, issued by the Soviet Ministry of Higher and Secondary Specialized Education, claimed that the Soviet Union had paid half the costs for more than 10,000 Communist Chinese citizens to undergo training in Soviet schools.

"On the other hand, only 153 Soviet citizens studied in China through the exchange of stu-

Parents Protest Civil Riot Film

DALLAS (UPI) — Parents of students who watched a film "Civil Riots, U.S.A." planned today to lodge an official protest with the school board.

Students at Bryan Adams High School saw the film Monday at a required assembly.

The film was presented by W.W. Caruth III of the Dallas Committee to Support Your Local Police.

Caruth is a member of the John Birch Society which has been engaged in police support campaigns.

Henry J. Albach III, whose son saw the film said it "had some highly inflammable racial overtones and political overtones."

Albach said he also has seen the film. He said it "intimated that Martin Luther King and other civil rights leaders are Communists." He said Caruth lauded Lester Maddox, the segregationist candidate for governor of Georgia for "restoring

Physicians Suspect Thyroid Gland As Cause of Hardening of Arteries

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two patients who received conventional treatment. Most notably, 25 per cent of the latter died while only 2.7 per cent of the thyroid-treated succumbed to their hardened arteries.

One of their studies involved 51 persons who died with severely hardened arteries. Autopsies showed that the entire 57 had shrunken or otherwise defective thyroid glands.

This was the most direct scientific evidence to date that the thyroid gland is the key culprit in heart attacks, strokes, and other disastrous consequences of hardened arteries or atherosclerosis.

The thyroid-examining physicians reported to the annual meeting of the Gerontological Society. While one researcher concentrated on the dead, the second presented indirect evidence to the same effect, that in 74 persons gravely ill from hardened heart arteries, full thyroid gland function was effected from without, in the belief that their own glands were impaired.

Over a two-year period the 74 fared much better than 74 like

Michigan Lawmen Threaten Strike

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI)—Pontiac's guardians of law and order today ignored appeals to end a sick-call boycott that threatens to become the nation's first police strike in 47 years.

Bleary eyed captains, lieutenants and sergeants-manned the desks and patrol cars of the Pontiac Police Department for the second straight day. Sixty-six patrolmen and detectives had called in "sick" on four shifts since Tuesday night. Supervisory personnel were scheduled for 16-hour work shifts to protect this city of 85,000 north of Detroit.

"As far as the public is concerned, the effect is the same as a strike," said Police Chief William Hanger.

The boycott by members of the Pontiac Police Officers Association apparently was called to force demands for higher pay on the city. The wage dispute began in July but city officials have repeatedly said there is no money in the budget for a pay raise.

The dispute could blossom into the nation's first police strike since one in 1919, when Boston police refused to work on the grounds their wages were too low. Then Gov. Calvin Coolidge got them back on the job.

MIGHTY MIDGET, this small rocket engine is intended for a multipurpose role on space missions. The engine, being examined by program managers William Brown, left, and Jim Jackson at NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., is now being ground tested. It produces up to 100 pounds of thrust. Operating individually or in clusters, it is expected to perform a variety of steering and maneuvering tasks on spacecraft.

I hope that by now you have decided to vote for me for your Representative in Austin. I also hope that you are helping me with your friends.

Several folks are a little confused about splitting a ticket. It's all very simple. Regardless of how you have voted in the primary or who else you want to vote for in this election, all you have to do is draw a line through my opponent's name and leave mine.....

Friday is the last day you can vote absentee. I have enjoyed this campaign very much and want to thank all of you who have been helping me.

Dear Abby... Sister-in-Law Has Confusing Ideas

DEAR ABBY: I have been divorced for two years and have no intentions of marrying again as I am a Catholic. My husband (also a Catholic) remarried a few months ago, which is his business. We don't socialize together and there is no reason for us to even see each other as settlement was made and we had no children.

Last Saturday I attended the wedding of my brother's daughter. I was shocked to see Joe and his new wife there. It was all very awkward, so I stayed only for the ceremony and left immediately afterwards. A relative who helped address the wedding invitations later told me that my ex-husband and his wife were sent an invitation addressed to "Mr. and Mrs. L." Later my sister-in-law explained it this way: "We are Catholic, and as far as I am concerned, Joe is still your husband, and that's why I invited him." Does this make sense to you?

NO NAME

DEAR NO: Hardly. Your sister-in-law's "holier than thou" attitude is so holy, it doesn't hold water. If she really considers Joe to be your husband, why did she invite your "husband" and the woman with whom he is living in sin? Ask her to explain that.

DEAR ABBY: Anyone who thinks a girl is lucky to have an older brother because he can introduce her to some of his friends had better think again. I am 23 and my brother is 27 and I sit home every night like 75 per cent of the girls.

Whenever I ask him to introduce me to some of his men friends, he says, "All my friends are bums." What is a girl supposed to do?

NO DATES

DEAR NO: You ought to be thankful your brother is honest. A girl can meet enough bums without her brother's help.

DEAR ABBY: Recently, out-of-town friends whom we had not seen in years called asking if they could come to visit us. We said they could. When they arrived I suggested they bring in their luggage as the guest room was ready for them. The wife then said, "Go bring in the dogs, Willie." I was horrified. I am a good housekeeper, and have no facilities for pets.

I wouldn't mistreat one, but we hadn't counted on housing any. I suggested the garage or basement, but they said no, their dogs had the run of their house — and they weren't kidding. Abby, they kept their two cocker spaniels in our guest room, and the mess those animals made was unbelievable. I could have cried! They stayed three days. Shouldn't they have mentioned their dogs before they came? What can be done? We can't demand they replace the carpeting.

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: There's no use crying over spilt milk — or anything else. Borrow three St. Bernards (not housebroken) and go to visit them.

CONFIDENTIAL TO C. McA.: Do you givin' while you're livin', then you'll be knowin' where it's goin'.

The youngest-appearing women in the middle years seem to have a number of things in common besides seeming to be younger than they are.

Most of them are interested in swimming, golf, hunting, fishing. Or they get their exercise gardening, walking or going to exercise classes regularly.

They keep experimenting with new hair shades and hair styles and make-up methods so that today's look for them is the look that does the most for them. Next season it may be a different look. Certainly they aren't trying to look just as they did five years ago.

They study fashion with a keen eye that sees what they can and can't wear becomingly, instead of making themselves look older by trying to wear styles that only the very young can wear successfully.

They manage to find time for friends—some older, some their own age, and some younger—which helps to keep them from talking and thinking exactly like those their age whose friends are limited to a small group, all of about the same age.

They are usually busy learning something new—taking a college course "for fun" or attending night school classes, or working busily at some handicraft that has captured their interest. Whatever the latest pursuit, it gives some enthusiasm to their conversation.

They always seem to be making plans for the future—not just idle daydreaming but the setting of definite goals. That keeps them from being bored and listless.

They are wise enough to have accepted the middle years as a challenge and have set about doing some of the things they used to tell themselves they would do when their busiest family years were behind them and they had time to do things simply for their own pleasure.

Study the youngest—middle-aged women you know and see if this isn't true.

In the back-to-school scramble there's been a mixup. Black and white herringbone mixed with soft, lightweight Paisley looks great on any campus. Combine pants and vest, skimmer and boots, suits and a tie and cap for that bitter-sweet charm and individual look.

The Mature Parent

Sharing Shame

Eases Heartache

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I am divorced, remarried, and the mother of a 22-year-old girl by my ex-husband. I've known for some time that she had a worrisome man in her life. But until last weekend when she was home I didn't know that he was married or that he was sleeping with her. I suspected the sex relations because she was so upset over one of their quarrels. When I asked her if she was having them, she screamed at me, "Why shouldn't I? Why should I care about his marriage vows when you broke yours to daddy?" Help me. I am so confused I can't even think any more.

ANSWER: She sounds as though she were about to end this affair. Not tomorrow, of course. But soon. So the question for you is, Can you let her blame you for it? Can you allow her compare it to your second marriage? I hope so. For what she cried out to you was, "Don't despise me, mother! I am as good as you are! I am not bad! Don't despise me because I so despise myself that I can stand no more contempt!"

She's trying so hard to wrest some dignity for herself out of this humiliating situation. If she has to get it by likening it to your second marriage, let her, in mercy's name, do it. Otherwise, self-contempt may overwhelm her and she may fling herself into trouble that makes this mess look like child's play. So please find an immediate occasion to say to her: "Do you imagine that I think I'm better than you are? Because I do not! I've made so many poor judgments in my life I can't even count them. I just wish I could feel this hurt for you. But I'm not worried about it. You're very like me. We're both healthy people who do not enjoy hurt."

If you support her likeness to you, she'll soon be able to let her resentment of this man become conscious. Now she's afraid to feel it because feeling it means feeling ashamed of herself, too. But if you quiet her sense of shame, the resentment will be able to explode into her awareness and she'll end this affair.

After that's done, she'll be able to say, "It was my fault, mother." But now the responsibility for fault is just too much for her. Just as a tired toddler will lift up his arms to say, "Carry me, mommy," so is this child of yours saying to you, "Take the blame for this folly of mine, mother. I am too tired to carry it myself." Take it and fellow parent. Take it and she will recover.

Poor Shopper! So Many Decisions

AWARD-WINNING RUG DESIGN — reflects color and pattern preferences of consumers. Contemporary interpretation of a Georgian documentary

By AILEEN SNODDY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — A woman who can't make up her mind when she shops is reacting normally. Confused consumers aren't unusual.

A designer who helps compound this situation admits that "it is harder for a woman to shop now than years ago." He is Austin O'Grady, director of style and design for James Lees and Sons Co.

O'Grady points out that women generally can find what they are looking for in rugs and carpets but the variety of styles and color coupled with claims and counter-claims of fiber performance give many shoppers a buying headache.

Yet, despite these agonies of decision, customers today want more color and design on the floor, he says. Much of this desire he credits to "a definite youth effect on styling."

O'Grady draws upon experience in the design and sales fields since 1936 to back up his opinion that carpet no longer is merely "basic background." There is a willingness and desire for newness and more confidence by the consumer when making a floor covering choice.

For most women, he feels, the home is still the only creative outlet. "I style rugs and carpets for women. I've yet to hear an average husband insist the home be decorated in early Greek."

With the multitude of choices in rugs and carpets, O'Grady suggests a consumer look for a store with a good reputation for quality merchandise and helpful salespersons. This, he admits, is not always easy. Perhaps this is why he is willing to discuss "the national picture."

Studies show younger consumers like more texture and this has brought textured carpeting heavily into the market, according to O'Grady.

The trend is for fabrics to be thick, luxurious in appearance but also practical. Plush, too, is in demand but "it is not always practical."

Sculptured carpets fit into the texture scheme of things and no matter the fabric and fiber. Leading colors are running to deep blue, gold, burnt, amber and multicolors, often of the same family, that give a very subtle feeling of a plain color with highlights.

Many colors growing in popularity, such as bright greens and purple, owe their commercial lives to ready-to-wear and mod fashions.

With innovations in rug and carpet designs, O'Grady spules when he points out that long life of a carpet is not the main buying consideration for women it once was.

"They always ask about how long it will last but never admit to their husbands that they plan to buy new carpet in two to five years to change the decor."

Pampa Defense Tough in First Quarter of Game

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

When Pampa meets Coronado Friday night at Lowery Field, about all the Harvesters will have to do to win is play the last three quarters as they do the first one.

The Harvesters, having given up 19 points in the first period through eight games, which actually is quite a bit, but they have given up more in each of the last three periods.

The Harvesters have given up 58 in the second period, 32 in the third and 29 in the fourth.

By the same token Pampa has scored 26 in the first, 30 in the second, 19 in the third and 41 in the fourth.

The second quarter seems to be the worst for Pampa and the fourth the best.

Although he's carried more times than anybody fullback Ted Heiskell leads Pampa rushers for the season with 582 yds. on 121 totes for a 4.8 average. L. D. Rowden has carried 0 times for 367 yards and a 5.2 average while halfback Gary McCarrell has run 81 times for 448 yards and a 5.5 mark to lead the pack.

McCarrell leads in kickoff returns with nine for 210 yards and one touchdown a 90-yard affair last week. Rowden leads in punt returns with four returns for 173 yards and two touchdowns.

Pampa's passing and pass defense both show poorly with the Harvesters throwing 64 times, completing only 21 for 343 yds. The opposition has tossed 86, completed 39 for 568 yards. To make matters worse the Harvesters have had eight passes picked off but have taken in 10 themselves.

Scoring-wise Gary Hyatt and Rowden lead the team in scoring with 26 points each while McCarrell and Heiskell are a close second with 24 points each.

James Matney leads the punting with 12 kicks for 489 yards and a 40.7 average.

Pampa has been out first-downed 112-111 but has outrushed the opposition, 1,620 to 1,552. The Harvesters have had 4 fumbles lost while recovering only 7.

Friday the Harvesters will shoot for their second straight victory and attempt to run their record to 5-4 when they visit Lubbock Coronado for a non-conference affair.

This will be the first meeting ever between the two schools and, although Coronado is 2-5, they are rated about even.

Bullets Hit Old Jinx In Windy City of Chicago

By United Press International

The Baltimore Bullets, who thought Chicago was a great place to visit but not a very nice place to live, are finding the Windy City unfriendly to out-of-towners also.

Before moving to Baltimore in 1963, the Bullets resided in Chicago and were known at times as the Zephyrs and Packers. But they just couldn't make a living and shifted the franchise.

When the National Basketball Association decided to expand this season, Chicago was selected and the Bullets couldn't wait to visit the new team to take advantage of its castoffs from the other NBA clubs.

But the Bulls have been a lot tougher than expected. In fact, they're a lot tougher than the Bullets this season, breaking up even in eight games while Baltimore has dropped eight of the nine encounters, including a 102-

94 decision to the expansion team Wednesday night.

Chicago, leading all the way after erasing a 1-0 deficit, was paced by Erwin Mueller with 26 points and Guy Rodgers with 21.

Elsewhere, Boston downed Los Angeles 133-108 and Cincinnati-shaded New York 131-129. John Havlicek netted 27 points for the Celtics, who won their fifth game in six decisions. The Lakers, playing without stars Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, suffered their seventh setback in nine outings.

Oscar Robertson rattled off five straight points to put the Royals ahead 125-120 with 1:29 left as Cincinnati whipped New York—for the 18th consecutive time at home in a streak dating back to 1962. Robertson wound up with 34 points, one less than teammate Jerry Lucas, while Willis Reed netted 38 for the Knicks.

Rambling With Red
RON CROSS

Last week wasn't too bad with nine correct guesses and three wrong ones and one tie. We did hit our upset of the week, Memphis State over the Buffaloes.

The season record is now 67-31-4 and we'll try to broaden it a bit this week with a few more college guesses and maybe a pro pick or two.

AMARILLO 35, CAPROCK 16—The Sandies really are better than Monterey and must win this one to stay in the running.

MONTEREY 7, BORGER 0—The Plainsmen suffer a letdown here but not enough to get beat by. The Bulldogs seem to have the same troubles Pampa, on-again, off-again.

PAMPA 41, CORONADO 20—Come on defense. The Harvesters should score and score in this one. Watch Ted Heiskell.

TASCOSA 40, LUBBOCK 0—The same old thing, too much offense and defense by the Rebels, still the best in the state.

PLAINVIEW 30, PALO DURC 8—The Bulldogs seem to have found themselves against Borger. But anything could happen.

CANADIAN 22, STRATFORD 0—The Wildcats break that three-game losing streak. They haven't scored in a long time and now's the time to start.

MCLEAN 0, WHEELER 0—Either team is capable of winning. But we figure here the Tigers defense will hold off a potent offense.

WHITE DEER 41, GRUVER 0—The Bucks should wrap up the 1-A title here and still have their defense unscathed on Gruver tied Canadian 0-0.

LEFORS 31, BOOKER 20—The Pirates have a lot of offense but can't get the defense to jell again. Fourth in a row for Jack York.

BAYLOR 14, TEXAS 8—Kenny Stockdale will do it for the Bears, who have a sound defense. The Longhorns are hurting too much.

TEXAS A&M 21, SMU 7—The Aggies lost 10-0 last year but should have murder in their eyes this week. This is our upset special.

ALABAMA 14, LSU 10—Bear Bryant's 11 just barely get by the Tigers, who have a good week, then a bad one. Should have a good one this week.

SOUTHERN CAL. 10, CALIFORNIA 0—The Trojans beaten last week won't let it happen again. They lost in a bad place.

WASHINGTON 10, UCLA 7—Washington has a habit of upsetting the best and that's just what UCLA is. They've scored too much.

NEBRASKA 7, KANSAS 0—The Cornhuskers suffer a letdown also. Kansas always plays 'em close.

DALLAS 28, PHILADELPHIA 17—Don't bet too heavy on the Cowboys. The Eagles have improved every game.

WASHINGTON 31, BALTIMORE 22—This is our pro upset of the week. Otto Graham has finally given Washington a team. Johnny Unitas due for an off day.

94 decision to the expansion team Wednesday night.

Irish Big Choice To Rip Weak Pittsburgh

By United Press International

That of devil upset has an opportunity to sell his wares wholesale this Saturday.

Among top-10 teams in action, only seventh-ranked Florida meets anything resembling strong competition while the other members of football's elite are prime targets for big upsets as point spreads range from a low of 24 to "off the board."

The Gators face stiff resistance from 13th-ranked Georgia in a game expected to produce the co-champion of the Southeastern Conference. Under the brilliant generalship of quarterback Steve Spurrier, Florida has swept past seven opponents while the Bulldogs have stumbled only once in seven outings.

The Gators, a six-point choice, must beat Georgia or face the prospect of losing a share of the SEC crown. Fourth-ranked Alabama is also unbeaten in the SEC but the Crimson Tide doesn't tangle with the Gators this season.

No Contest

Top-ranked Notre Dame is an overwhelming off-the-board pick to make helpless Pittsburgh (1-6), its seventh straight victim.

The Irish air attack sputtered for the first time this season last week but their ground game more than compensated for Terry Hanratty's off-day.

Second-ranked Michigan State, prepping for its showdown against Notre Dame in two weeks, is a 29-point favorite to breeze past Big Ten foe Iowa (2-5), and third-ranked UCLA is expected to move another step closer to a Rose Bowl bid by beating Washington by at least 14 points.

Alabama is picked by 19 over Louisiana State (3-3-1) but the Tigers are always at their peak for this traditional rivalry; fifth-ranked Georgia Tech, the top independent in the South, is 25 points over Virginia (2-5), and sixth-ranked Nebraska, well on its way to another Big Eight title, is picked by 20 over Kansas (2-4-1).

Arkansas Favored

Elsewhere among the top 10,

Arkansas (No. 8), heading closer to its second straight Southwest Conference flag, is favored by 19 points to send Rice to its sixth loss, ninth-ranked Southern California is 19 over traditional foe California and Tennessee (No. 10) is off-the-board against outclassed Chattanooga (4-3).

In other games of importance, Michigan is eight over Illinois in a Big Ten battle, Missouri, trying to shake off the effects of last week's humiliating loss to Nebraska, is one over Colorado, four over Princeton in an Ivy League match.

Tulane and Baylor is favored by one to pin loss No. 5 on Texas. Syracuse, in quest of the Lambert Trophy as best team in the East, is seven over Penn State and unbeaten Harvard is four over Princeton in an Ivy League match.

VAN WINKLE OUT AT RICE

Hogs Stress Defense

By United Press International

Dan Van Winkle, Rice's leading pass receiver, had just about gotten over a pulled leg muscle when he slipped in the Owls' gym Wednesday and aggravated the injury. He may miss Rice's Saturday meeting with Arkansas.

Van Winkle hurt the leg earlier and because of it, he missed the Texas Tech game. Chuck LaTourrette, Rice's outstanding safety, missed his third consecutive day because of a sore throat and high temperature.

28 Degrees

The Arkansas Razorbacks were kept on the field 90 minutes Wednesday, despite 28-degree temperatures.

The Hogs worked out in pads and Coach Frank Broyles worked his pass defense hard on holding Rice quarterback Robby Shelton.

Broyles was satisfied.

"We learned some things we needed to know," he said, "and that's good."

Southern Methodist zipped through a heavy defensive workout in preparation for its Southwest Conference battle with Texas A&M in the Cotton Bowl.

Coach Hayden Fry cut the drill short, though it was cold.

Fry said tailback Jim Hagie, injured against Texas, was still doubtful for the A&M game.

Under Wraps

The Aggies worked out for the Southern Methodist game under wraps.

A canvas covering was hung on fences surrounding the practice field.

It was a short drill, and the Aggies wore sweat suits.

Texas Tech starting guard Ronnie Pack came down with an infected kidney Wednesday and Coach J. T. King said it may miss the Tech game with Oklahoma State.

But King said it was actually too early to know.

For the second straight day, King directed a rugged goal line offense and defense scrimmage.

King said his team looked "pretty good" but not so good as they did before beating Rice.

In Waco, Coach John Bridgers of Baylor said he still did not know whether Terry Southall or Kenney Stockdale would start at quarterback for the Bear's game with Texas.

"It is still a decision I don't expect to make until just about game time," Bridgers said.

"We are working both boys with the starting team this week, so the backs will be used to both, but I want to take all the time possible to make up my mind and just hope I make the right decision for the good of our team."

Strike Hurts Mexican Open

MONTERREY, Mexico (UPI)—The Mexican Open golf tourney begins today, but if things were only slightly different, it may not have been held at all.

In its first appearance outside Mexico City, the tourney attracted 142 entrants, 87 of them pros from the United States.

Mexicana de Aviacion, one of Mexico's two chief airlines, and the only line with flights into Monterrey, was hit by a mechanic's strike Tuesday and all planes were grounded.

But with Monterrey only 180 miles from the Texas border, the players drove down by private car, easing the fears of organizing officials that many would be unable to make it.

Not only had all 140 previously-registered entries shown up by today, but two more arrived who were allowed to register late, and eight others were turned away for lack of spaces, a record enrollment for the tourney.

Among the players signed up for the tourney were Al Besselink, who won more than $23,000 last season, Bob McAllister, who placed fifth in the Sahara Invitational at Las Vegas, Ramon Sota of Spain, and Tom Nieporte, a finalist in the Bogota Open.

Grantland Rice Wins Spink Award

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The late Grantland Rice, one of the nation's foremost sports-writers, has been named recipient of the 1966 J.G. Taylor Spink Award, the Sporting News announced today.

Rice, a Tennessee-born "New Yorker," is the fourth to receive the award which honors the nation's outstanding baseball writers and which is named for the late editor and publisher of the Sporting News.

His name will be placed on a plaque in baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Rice was a young sports writer with the Atlanta Journal in the early 1900's when he got his first "big story."

He received a telegram asking him to come to Anniston, Ala., to see one of the most promising young baseball players in the nation. That player was the late Ty Cobb, one of baseball's immortals.

He began his New York newspaper career in 1913 when he went to work for the New York Tribune. Later he worked for the Herald-Tribune and The Daily News.

Bowling Titles Led by Soutar

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (UPI)—The Professional Bowlers Association championships went into second session action today with Dave Soutar of Detroit holding a slim one point lead in quest of the $10,000 first prize money.

Soutar, the 1961 champ, compiled a 12-game total of 2631 Wednesday to edge Dick Weber of St. Louis by a single pin.

The Motor City marksman put together an afternoon six-game block of 1227 and came back with a 1304 evening score. Weber had a 1338 and a 1272.

ROMEO VS BRET

WESTBURY, N.Y. (UPI)—Owners of Romeo Hanover Wednesday offered to meet Bret Hanover in a $50,000 "Horse of the Year" race at Roosevelt Raceway Nov. 12.

Milton Goldstein, spokesman for Lucky Star Stable and Morton Funder, Romeo's owners, said they "feel he (Bret) should meet Romeo Hanover and settle supremacy on the race track."

Lee, PJH 7th Grades Tangle

Pampa Lee Junior High ninth and eighth grade teams play today and the Pampa Shockers host Tascosa today but as far as the seventh graders from both schools are concerned their day is Friday.

That's the day Lee and PJH seventh grades meet for what might be termed the city championship.

Last year PJH won, 30-8 and indications are they might do it again this year. They have the best record of any football team in town.

Coach Don Huffstедler has guided his squad to a 4-0-2 record and four straight victories while Lee seventh, coached by Deck Woldt has a 2-4 mark and had a two game win streak stopped last week by Perryton.

If you want to compare scores Lee lost to Austin, 8-6 and 20-0. Houston, 20-0 then beat the Borger team, 6-0, then downed Dumas, 8-6 before losing to Perryton, 24-0.

PJH has downed Dumas 14-0 and Perryton, 14-6; tied Houston, 16-16, then beat them 18-6; tied Austin, 6-6, then beat them, 16-14.

But past records don't mean a thing to these teams, the rivalry is good, they play clean and like most good football teams they come to play.

The activities get underway at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Harvester Field.

LEFORS LOOKS FOR FOURTH STRAIGHT District Title on Line

PIRATES SPEED—Lefors has one of the fastest backfields among state high school class B teams. And Friday night Jim Gilbreath (18) sophomore halfback, Dennis Kelih (17) junior quarterback, Marvin Finney (21) senior halfback and Tony Pittman (30) senior halfback will try to speed the Pirates past Booker in a district 5-B clash.

The Bucks still have injuries, Baker galore but have enough material to lead down Gruver. Last year scorer with 78 points, an average of 9.6 per contest.

White Deer has not had a touchdown scored against their defensive unit and is scoring at a 38 point per game clip.

Gruver is 0-0-1 in district play and tied Canadian, 0-0 last week, a team that White Deer whipped handily.

Canadian hosts Stratford in a district 1-A contest and the Wildcats know they must win to stay in the running for district honors should White Deer slip.

Canadian has lost three in a row, excluding last week's tie, after winning their first four. To make matters worse the Cats have not scored in their last two games. Canadian now stands, 0-1-1 in league play and 4-3-1 for the season.

A class B district 5-B game is on tap at Lefors where Jack Yrk's Pirates host Booker.

Lefors dropped their first four contests and have now won three straight, including their first district outing last week.

The Pirates trail Groom, who leads district 5-B with a 2-0 mark. The Tigers are idle this week.

Last year Booker slayed the Pirates, 16-6.

DALLAS (UPI) — Brazosport Class AAA with a 14-10 over 8. Another losing ranked team, Bucks took over Sonora's old No. 3 spot.

and Honey Grove returned to Beeville while Alpine's once-beaten Bucks got the No. 10 spot in Class AA by clinching this week while Robstown and Alpine made their first appearances in the select list.

Brazosport climbed into the comers. Wichita Falls Rider, No. 9 spot in Class AAAA with a 21-0 defeat of Deer Park after several week's absence, ton, Okla. 21-14 ninth-ranked while Honey Grove returned to the No. 10 spot in Class A after a week's absence with a 43-0 romp over Bells.

Robstown's undefeated Cotton-pickers got the No. 10 place in Class A's No. 2 club after White Deer was held to a 12-6 victory by Wheeler. The 10th-ranked San Antonio Highlands, held to its spot in AAAA despite an 8-7 loss to San Antonio MacArthur, which dropped a notch to sixth in a swap of places with Galena Park High With Rider dropping out, Dallas-Wilson and Spring Branch Spring Woods each moved up a notch to seventh and eighth in AAAA.

The only other change in positions saw Sonora replace White Deer as Class A's No. 2 club after White Deer was held to a 12-6 victory by Wheeler. The 10th-ranked San Antonio Highlands, held to its spot in AAAA despite an 8-7 loss to San Antonio MacArthur, which dropped a notch to sixth in a swap of places with Galena Park High With Rider dropping out, Dallas-Wilson and Spring Branch Spring Woods each moved up a notch to seventh and eighth in AAAA.

The rated teams generally won easy victories as San Angelo, McKinney, Sweeny and Forney rolled on as the No. 1 teams in their divisions.

There will be matches of rated clubs in AAAA and AA this week that should shuffle the order of things.

In AAA, seventh-ranked Del Rio High hosts ninth-ranked Fredericksburg; in AA, top-ranked Sweeny meets ninth-

Anti-Trust Blackmail

The high standard of living enjoyed by the people of the United States, which the market place constantly seeks to improve, is the product of what's left of our competitive free enterprise economy. Congress pretended to recognize this fact years ago when "to preserve and promote healthy competition" it enacted anti-trust laws to prohibit monopolies and collusive practices in affairs of commerce.

Ignoring the only real monopolies that ever existed in this country — unions and political government itself — the writers of anti-trust legislation were either abysmally ignorant of how the market place functions or were intent upon destroying it.

Today, anti-trust laws are no more needed than they were when Congress passed the anti-trust legislation in 1890. And there is growing concern among the nation's most informed business leaders that recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions are changing even the basic claimed intent of anti-trust laws.

M. A. Wright, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, in a recent speech, expressed a broadly felt concern when he asked: "Are our anti-trust laws as presently interpreted and enforced promoting competition, or are they undermining the very thing they were designed to protect?"

He said mergers and acquisitions were part of economic development. "At some time almost every business... considers combining with another firm or selling its operations. Large firms often want to merge with another company or expand markets, to insure a source of supply or... diversify operations. Small and medium size firms consider mergers for these same reasons... as a means of growth or improving their competitive position against larger firms," he declared.

The Supreme Court, however, seems to think the anti-trust laws mean "the more government denied competition the better," for it is blocking many mergers and placing unusual emphasis upon arbitrary measures as indicators of competition. The Court also seems to object to mergers which increase efficiency, fearing the result might give the combined firm an "unfair" advantage over its competitors in the market.

As you can see," he pointed out, "We have a much larger staff than any private enterprise company could afford. They would have to make a profit, you know. That's another one of those free enterprise shibboleths."

Being an ambitious reporter, assigned to do a story on big business, I looked up the statistics and found that the biggest company around was an outfit called U. S. Government.

I made arrangements for an interview with an executive of this thriving combine. We decided to meet at one of their busiest offices — the Chicago Post Office.

"Yes, we're so efficient," he said as the interview began. "We're so efficient that we are getting into many new businesses. Just this year we entered the medical insurance field in a big way. I'm sure we will bring order to an otherwise chaotic medical market."

"That's interesting," I said. "Tell me, what—" "Excuse me," he interrupted as we walked through the building. "I see this hallway is blocked by backed-up mailbags; we will have to go outside and enter from another direction."

"Why are the mailbags stacked up here in the hall?" I asked. "Well, it's just a small matter. You see, we have none of the problems that plague private enterprise. That's why we are so much more efficient. We don't have to concern ourselves with employ relations or consumer demand or any of those reactionary free enterprise shibboleths."

"What's a shibboleth?" I asked. "And so," he went on, "when we found we were paying too much overtime, we just plain cut it out. Slash—I ducked a karate swing he was making for emphasis. "Just like that we saved untold amounts of money. Of course, there's a small storage problem as we figure out what to do with the mail that's backed up."

"Ah here," he said as we entered another hallway, also loaded with mail sacks. "We can get through here, I'm sure."

He pulled a mail sack out of the solid wall of sacks and we crawled through the hole into the main workroom of the Post Office.

"As you can see," he pointed out, "We have a much larger staff than any private enterprise company could afford. They would have to make a profit, you know. That's another one of those free enterprise shibboleths."

"What's a shibboleth?" I asked. "Of course," he went on, "what you see here is only about one-third of the staff. There are twice as many more upstairs in those tunnels, behind the two-way mirrors. Those people spy on the ones down here to make sure that everything is safe and sound."

"What are some of the other lines your company markets?" "Oh, I couldn't begin to tell you all of them. But we're in electric power generation, loans to just about everyone, urban renewal, overseas charities, agriculture — you name it, we're in it. And you might not believe it, but some of those divisions are even more efficiently-run than this one."

"I find that hard to believe," I said, climbing over a loose stack of mail that had piled up in the center of the floor. As I climbed down the other side, I brushed the cobwebs off of me and we resumed our conversation.

"The really exciting developments," he went on, "are in our new lines. We're in the poverty business now, you know. And we're getting ready to produce special demonstration cities."

"Oh, I see. You're going to produce cities that are specially made for demonstrations and riots?" "I received no answer, only a look of contempt for what apparently was my ignorance. We finally said goodbye and I climbed back through the escape hole in the stack of mailbags to the front lobby of the Post Office."

I returned to my office and wrote my article — pointing out that any company as big and powerful as U. S. Government...

One Out of Every 15 SA-2s Launched At U.S. Pilots Hits Target — Highest Kill-Ratio

—WASHINGTON — The Air Force is having second thoughts about the effectiveness of the Russian-built SA-2, surface-to-air missile, being used against U.S. aircraft flying over North Viet Nam.

Despite the numerous early failures of the Soviet missile, the SA2 is proving to be the most deadly anti-aircraft weapon ever encountered by U.S. fliers.

One out of every 15 of these missiles is striking its target — the most sophisticated U.S. fighter-bomber ever produced.

That's the highest kill-ratio recorded by anti-aircraft gunners in any war in history.

In striking comparison, German gunners had to expend more than 3,000 rounds of 88-mm ammunition to bring down one U.S. aircraft during World War II. In the Korean war, the kill-ratio by the Red Chinese and North Korean gun crews was the same as in the Second World War.

In the Viet Nam conflict, an estimated 450 SA-2 missiles have been fired at U.S. aircraft since the Kremlin began installing its complex radar-guided SAM system throughout North Viet Nam in June 1965.

Air Force records, stamped secret on orders of Defense Secretary McNamara, show that these Soviet-built missiles destroyed "more than 30 U.S. aircraft" — or slightly more than one for every 15 missiles launched.

No other anti-aircraft weapon has come close to equating that kill-ratio.

Even though the SA-2 used by the North Vietnamese is a relatively old Soviet model, originally deployed around Moscow in the late '50s, the missile is considered the most sophisticated ever used against aircraft.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

A professor at a Georgia college nearly flipped recently when he called on a male student in a course on Corporation Finance and a female voice responded. Seems the student was out selling insurance, or real estate, or something, and had sent his secretary to the class to take notes.

A student like that fellow could teach the prof a few things... Few folks these days recognize the name of Button Gwinnett, but he was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. He faded into obscurity soon afterward.

However, his signature is the most valuable of all the signers of that famous document. The last time one was sold it brought $50,000... And speaking of autograph collecting, did you know that hobby originated with the ancient Egyptians? They collected their prized signatures on stone tablets and papyrus.

Today's smile: A young wife showed up at a beauty parlor with a black eye and asked the cosmetician to help her get rid of it. "My husband gave it to me," she explained. The cosmetician said: "But I thought your husband was away on a business trip." The young wife said: "So did I."

Portland cement, used in almost every type of building construction, was so named because it resembled building stone found on the Isle of Portland off the English coast. It was invented in 1824 by Joseph Aspdin, who burned limestone and clay, then pulverized the residue and mixed it with sand and water to make an adhesive mortar. Aspdin thought that name Portland would be easier to remember in marketing the product than his own.

Thoughts while shaving: There are several explanations of the origin of the expression "shaving the head."

Additional planes are needed by the Air Force and the Navy. According to McNamara's own report, the two services "now estimate that more than 600 attack aircraft, valued at $1.5 billion, will be lost over the next 12 months."

ISSUE IN DOUBT — General John P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff, is warning the White House that the Russians are constructing "the greatest concentration of anti-aircraft weapons in North Viet Nam that has ever been known in the history of defense of any area in the world."

Once the Russians replace the present SA-2s with SA-3s, he states, the kill-ratio against U.S. aircraft will more than double. This rate of loss, if inflicted for any length of time, could become too high a price for the U.S. to tolerate.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Diet and Drugs Can Help Control Overperspiration

Q—What would cause my husband to have drenching sweats at night? He may sweat three or four nights in a row, then be dry for a few nights.

A—Night sweats are commonly seen in persons who have tuberculosis but they usually occur every night. Other possibilities include a deficiency of vitamin C or D, nightmares which may be due to a variety of causes, a general run-down condition or, according to some authorities, a decrease in male hormones (male menopause). The treatment is to remove the cause if it can be found.

Q—My son, 18, has excessive sweating of his hands. What causes this and what can be done for it?

A—Sweating limited to or chiefly on the palms is usually caused by instability of the nervous control of the blood vessels in the skin. When the surrounding air is warm or the victim is emotionally keyed up, these blood vessels dilate and sweating occurs.

The antiperspirants applied to the armpits will not control this type of sweating. Your son should avoid coffee and other drinks that contain caffeine. Propanteline bromide, obtainable only on a doctor's prescription, has helped some persons with this complaint.

Q—I am a housewife. I am taking Tylosterone. What is it given for? Are there any harmful side effects?

A—This combination of male and female hormones is used chiefly in the treatment of menopausal symptoms and especially of the osteoporosis (softening of the bones) associated with the change of life. Such side effects as nausea, a sense of fullness in the breasts, headache and abdominal distress can usually be controlled by adjusting the dosage to your individual needs.

Q—What are streptomycin shots for? What effect do cortisone shots have on lung viruses?

A—The chief use of the antibiotic, streptomycin, is in the treatment of tuberculosis. Cortisone has no direct effect on any kind of virus but is given to reduce inflammation. It is also used with streptomycin in the treatment of tuberculosis.

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. HUNT

THE MONEY PIPELINE

Informed Americans are well aware that the highly publicized "administrative budget" of the federal government each year by no means accounts for all the tax money available for federal spending. It does not include, for instance, the vast sums collected and spent each year for social security, or for the interstate highway program.

Even when all tax collections by the federal government for any purpose are added up, along with all current spending, the full story of the gigantic concentration of wealth in the federal treasury is not told. There is also the backlog of money already authorized for spending, but not yet spent. Federal bureaucrats can spend it whenever they are ready. Often, new appropriations simply add to the backlog.

Information is not easily obtained on the spending backlog or the "money pipeline" as it is sometimes called. Naturally, federal officials are very reluctant to let out the disturbing truth. But by persistent inquiries, Senator Karl Mundt of South Dakota was recently able to get this information from the Budget Bureau.

The Budget Bureau figures showed 130 "revolving funds," many of which have accumulated spending authorizations, 78 permanent appropriations already authorized indefinitely by Congress, and 16 "backdoor spending" arrangements. Over $40 billion is already authorized for spending through these channels. In addition, over $47 billion has been authorized without a requirement for annual approval by Congress.

The grand total, to be exact, is $88.4 billion in the money pipeline, a sum almost as great as our annual administrative budget, over which Congress and the people now have no control whatsoever.

"O.K." One relates to an Indian chief named Old Keokuk, whose official signature was his initials. Whatever its origin it has been spread around the world by American travelers and is used in all countries to signify all right, or correct... One phase of the aircraft industry where little research and development has been done in recent years is the giant airship, or dirigible. Interest in that form of air travel plummeted after the Hindenburg disaster at Lakehurst, N.J. in 1937. At one time it was hailed as the way masses of people could be transported by air power. But today, they're talking about building supersonic jets that will carry 800 passengers, plus cargo... Synthetics have supplanted wool, cotton and silk in the clothing industry. Many of today's newest creations are made of vinyl... There are more TV sets in U.S. homes than in those of any other country, but we read recently that Japan ranks second in TV viewing and, of all things, the U.S.S.R. ranks third... Ever hear of appensellerbitter? Well, it's the most popular liqueur in Switzerland. It's made from herbs, roots and flowers that grow on Alpine slopes. A fellow who tried it says it is guaranteed to make you yodel... The Trenton (N.J.) EVENING TIMES reported in a story "Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton University, suggested that the Senate amend the administration's 'gill.' Where there's a gill there's a way, but it might be better if they amended the administrations' gill.

Business spending on plant and equipment has climbed sharply during the four-year existence of the 7 per cent tax credit on new investment which President Johnson is now moving to set aside for 16 months as an anti-inflation measure. Critic Calls Erhard 'Rubber Lion'

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst

In West Germany, the critics of Chancellor Ludwig Erhard are writing his political obituary.

The question is not whether he will be forced to step down but when, they say, and there is guessing it will come shortly after the Nov. 30 Bavarian elections.

It is a sad thing for Erhard who, as the father of West Germany's fantastic post-war economic recovery, won the affections of the German people and who, if he falls now, will do so not entirely through his own fault.

Erhard took over his job on Oct. 16, 1963, from Konrad Adenauer over Adenauer's opposition and he won it in his own right in general elections a little more than a year ago.

Erhard is a round man, lacking in sharp corners or contours.

Adenauer called him a "foam rubber lion."

He did not believe Erhard had either the nerve or the political know-how to lead the Christian Democratic Party and the nation.

Together, Adenauer, the stubborn, irascible leader, and Erhard, the far-sighted economist, in 14 years had restored both West Germany's economic position in the heart of Europe and a measure of its voice in world affairs.

Separately, they blamed each other for whatever failures had occurred.

Adenauer, now 90 years old, never missed a chance within his own party to tumble Erhard.

He blamed Erhard for the failure of his dream of a "European Community."

On his side, Erhard publicly had blamed Adenauer's weakness against France for Britain's failure to receive membership in the European Common Market.

And it is an irony of this story that one reason for Erhard's downfall, if it comes, will be his loyalty to the United States.

Last week, the four ministers of the Free Democratic Party in Erhard's government quit, ostensibly over an increase in taxes which would balance the federal budget.

A part of the imbalance was some $900 million dollars which West Germany had contracted to pay the U.S. for military equipment in an agreement which ends next June.

The United States, pressed by its own imbalance in the outflow of gold, rightfully in the opinion of this correspondent, rejected Erhard's request for a cut in the German commitment.
